"But of that day and that hour knoweth no man, no, not the angels which are in heaven— neither the Son, but the Father."—Mark 13th ch.

'Mid the realms of boundless space Where God holds his dwelling place Hangs, conceal'd from other eye, The dial of eternity! Not with Time's great Lord the Sun, Did those wheels begin to run; When for ever he is dim They shall circle reft of him. Somewhere on that dial-plate GOD hath fixed an hour of fate, He alone the time can tell. When it strikes upon the bell: Not the Son Himself has power To declare the fated hour, And upon man's sleepy sight, It striketh like a thief at night. There are signs—but none will mark— Light—but darkness fits the dark, Characters which all might spell, Heralds its approach to tell. Hark! the trumpet! at its sound Swarms with life the teeming ground, Earth opens her sepulchral bed, And the sea gives up her dead. Ev'ry spirit flesh hath cumber'd Breaks the tranco in which it slumber'd Suppliant, tyrant, master, slave, Burst their universal grave; Sire and son meet side by side,
Matron, maiden, mother, bride,
Those who drew but one short breath,
They whose years defrauded death.
Who shall count the Who shall count that countless clan, All the families of man Puo He is there—the first whom GOD Summon'd from the lifeless clod, Who—too soon by sin betray'd, Shame and sorrow on us laid; Now he springs again from clay, Shame and sorrow pass'd away,
Planting his triumphant tread
On the bruised serpent's head.
He is there whose living ear
Heard the gathering trumpet near,
Who with quick and unclosed eye
Watched the path of Deity! Hath seen the angels who unfurl'd The banners of another world. High above in glittering station Powers are ranged in domination.
From the fiery circled wheel
Chorus'd halleluja has peal,
Voices, thunderings, lightnings, flame, abilee, with loud acclaim, Till the re-echoing depths of sky, Kindle with the symphony.
Legion'd scraphs there unfold
Wings of fiery flaming gold.
Saints, array'd in raiment white,
Elders crowned with golden light,

SEVENTH SESSION OF THE NOVA SCOTIA CONFERENCE; TRURO, 1880.

" Invents"

Princedoms, virtues oh! the glory!

Man but that his forehead bears

Empire more than mortal shares. God!—but that his temper'd eye

Seems touch'd with our humanity.

Millions, millions round him press

Voiceless, powerless, motionless. Now he speaks! but who shall say

What the doom his lips convey?

Fer that sentence reach our ear

Wash us with thy blood of healing,

Stamp us with thy spirit's sealing. Thou hast given us life—oh give

More than life—the way to live.

Father, Saviour, comforter!

Of that matchless consistory.

Who is he that sits alone?

And upon the judgment throne

The Nova Scotia Conference commenced its Seventh Annual Session at Truro on Wednesday at 9 o'clock a. m. President Huestis in the chair.

After the singing of the hymn comanderfally change

And are we yet alive, the 3rd chap, of Ephesians was read by the Secretary, and the Rev. Mr. Hennigar and Bent led the Conference

The roll having been called the President addressed the Conference briefly referring to the work of the past year. He was thankful that it had been one characterized by peace throughout all our borders. It had never been necessary even to call together the Conference Special Committee, except for a short time in connection with the session of the Missionary Committee. The year had been one also of generally successful labor. He thought it probable however that a decrease in membership might be reported, but it would be owing largely to the numerous removals from the bounds of our Conference. God had kindly given him such a measure of physical health that by the assistance of his brethren, and the sympathy and forbearance of his peo-Ple he had been able, with some degree of comfort, to discharge the weighty and responsible duties devolving upon him, and he stood there on resigning this position still to serve his brethren and the church to the best of his abilities in whatever position it might please the providence of God to place him.

The Conference then proceeded to subject having been assigned ballot for president. At the first ballot it was evident that the Rev. R. Smith who took so heavy a vote last year was the coming man. At the second ballot he secured, over several strong competitors, just enough votes to place him in the position, Rev. J. Lathern standing next on the list

The president in welcoming the president elect to the chair congratulated him upon the honor to which he had attained, and congratulated himself also in being permitted, on laying aside the responsibilities of office, to lay them upon shoulders so broad, and expressed the hope that the incoming year might be a prosperous and happy

The President elect addressed the retiring President and the Conference, briefly congratulating the President on his successful administration of affairs during the past year, and thanking the Conference for the mark of honor which they had conferred upon him. He referred to his ferty years of ministerial labor and the changes which he had seen during that time, and the ad wancement which had been made by Methodism in the Lower Provinces and Methodism in the Lower Provinces and ledge of Christ within reach the Dominion. He closed by warning the Conference that he should make to Christ. The speech was we large demands upon their patience and ed, well delivered, and well reconference. forbearance.

But little time was spent in electing the Secretary and Journal Secretary. Revds. J. A. Rogers and C Jost, A.M., who filled these offices respectively last year, being elected at the first vote by a large majority,

J. B. Giles, Assistant Journal Secretary,
J. R. Borden, Conference Reporter, and
J. Cassidy and J. M. Pike, Conference
Letter Writers,

After some routine work the Secretary brought to the notice of the Conference and read several communications which he had received:

The first was a report from the mittee of the Supernumerary and Ministers Widow's Fund. The principal points in it were a statement of receipts and expenditure, shewing the fund to be in a satisfactory state with a surplus to be carried to capital stock. A resolution moved by Bro. Coffin last year in reference to admitting second wives on more favorable conditions, was considered by the Committee as unadvisable. It was recommended by the Committee, however, that the allowance to Supernumeraries be increased twenty per cent. The report was laid on the table and resolved that the discussion of the points involved be made the order of the day for Morday afternoon next A memorial from the London Copference which was intended for the Conference of last year, and which referred to the action of the General Conference in permitting the return of ministers to circuits after three years absence, was read and laid on the

The afternoon session was held with closed doors, the order of the day being he examination of character.

WEDNESDAY EVENING.

The Conference missionary meeting was held on Wednesday evening according to announcement, the President in the chair. After the devotional exercises led by Rev. J. McMurray, and a few introductory remarks by the President, the secretary of the Missionary Society, Rev. W. H. Heartz, read a concise and interesting report of the year's operations. The amount of the contributions for the year just closing was given at $8,900, a decrease of $1,-100 on last year. future consideration. A communication from Rev. J. Read was read by the Secretary, applying for his proportion of travelling expenses disallowed last year. It was decided, however, that the action of the Committee was in accordance with a well understood law of the Conference, and the claim was disallowed.

The Educational Meeting opened on Thursday evening at 8.30 p. m. Rev. J. McMurray in the chair.

After the devotional exercises, the chairman made a few remarks, refer-ring to the success which has attended our educational efforts, and also to the fact that whilst our Institutions were denominational, they were not sectarian in an evil sense; not intended to proselyte from other denominations, but to educate, under Christian principles, our own youth, and those other denominations who may wish to avail themselves of these advantages.

The Secretary, Rev. T. Rogers, A. M. read a short but excellent report, in which was expressed regret that this Fund did not receive the support which it deserves. The income for this year is somewhat below last year, unless a generous collection at this meeting shall make up the deficiency.

These Institutions had been the nusery of the church, not only because in them our ministry was educated, and a higher culture diffused among our laity, but also because upon them had descended abundantly the converting grace of God.

Lathern desired to economize the time, and would simply refer to a few points which he had jotted down, without attempting any formal speech He spoke of the Institutions which we possessed throughout the Dominion as a denomination; of our central and commanding position as a nation; of the influence of institutions of learning as affecting the intellectual and religious life of nations. referring especially to Oxford, Princeton, and Middleton, and to the great work accomplished by such men as Charles F. Rev. Principal Paisley felt somewhat delicate about attempting to speak, after the glowing recommendation of Bro. Morton. Bhe audience would remember, however, that he and Mr. Morton were old friends before ecclesiastical arrangements had so widely separated their fields of labor. In his excellent address, he dwelt first upon the fact that the history of the world had been a history of intellectual development. He illustrated this by a reference to the characteristics of the different ages. He dwelt also upon the fact that whilst Dugald Stewart says that almost all the great discoveries in science and philosophy have been made by men favourable to natural religion. he would go further and say that they were made by men favorable to revealed religion. The work of a Newton, a Faraday, a Bacon, a Dawson, and others caused the work of such men as Voltaire, and Bolingbroke, and Paine, to dwindle into insignificance. He gave an interesting account of the revival which had extended so generally through the institution during the last year, and closed with an earnest appeal for sympathy and support.

All the speeches were of a high order, the music excellent, the attendance good, and the whole meeting a decided and unusual success.

PRIDAY MORNING SESSION.

The committee appointed to consider the case of the Rev James Burns of the California Conference who makes application for admission into our Conference made their report. It was to the effect that from the crowded state of our work, the age of Mr. Burns and other considerations it was not advisable to entertain the application. The report was adopted.

The committee on the case of the brother who had been writing in the Presbyteman Witness over the signature of "A Methodist Minister," also reported. It was to the effect that whilst the Conference disapproved of the brother's course, it accepted his apology, and trusted that the experiences of the past would not be without their salutary influence in the future. The report was adopted.

The Conference Temperance Meeting was held on Friday evening, the President in the chair.

Your reporter did not take any notes of the speeches, but the meeting was a very enjoyable and, so far as the interest manifested seemed to indicate, a successful one. The speakers were Revd.'s
J. McMurray, W. H. Evans, R. Wasson, and G. O. Huestis. The speeches were all good and well received, the old being young again in their fire and energy, and the young old in their wise and well-considered utterances. The music was, as usual, excellent, and the congregation, as has been the case with all the congregations during our session, was large and appreciative.

(From the Halifax Evening Mail, June 19.) THE WESLEYAN.

AND ITS NEW EDITOR-REV. T. WATSON SMITH.

The Methodist Conference, now being held at Truro, has confirmed the appointment of Rev. T. Watson Smith as the editor of the WESLEYAN-the organ of the Methodist Church in the Maritime Provinces. The first number of that paper for the ensuing month of July, will be issued under his direction. The first series of the WESLEYAN made its first appearance in Halifax forty-two years ago (1838), under the editorial management of Rev. Alexander Mc-Leod, D.D., and Rev. Charles Churchill. The contributions to its columns, its selected articles, and its editorials were of marked excellence. Being in large octavo form, it was convenient for binding, and its volumes may yet be found in households where, during its brief existence, it was a welcome visitor. It is remembered by many as a highly interesting journal. Its career was closed in 1880. The new series of was commenced in 1849, under the efficient editorship of the Rev. Alex. McLeod, D.D., who possessed qualigeations for the position rarely excelled. His style was distinguished by clearness, precision, and strength. His thoughts were vigorous and weighty, and sometimes spiced by wit and satire. He was an able controversialist, and could reveal the weak points of an opponent with great effect.

THE PAPER PROSPERED his management, and wielded much influence as a denominational or-

Upon the retirement of Dr. McLeod from this position, in 1854, at which time be removed to Baltimore in the United States, the WESLEYAN was placed in the hands of M. H. Richey, Esq., whose editorial management was bighly creditable. Mr. Richey was succeeded by the Rev. Charles Churchill. The Conference of Eastern British America was organized in 1855, and Mr. Churchill was then appointed editor and book-steward. He continued in their offices for fix years, and his ability as editor received the repeated acknowledgements of the Conference

Rev. James R. Narraway as corresponding editor. In 1873 the Rev. A. W. Nicolson was called to this position, and was editor and book steward until 1879. Mr. Nicolson was assisted during part of this period by Rev. S. B. Durn, as assistant editor. At the General Conference held in Montreal, in September, 1878, it was decided to separate the officers of editor and book steward. Rev. 1'r. Pickard was elected book steward, and editor of the WESLEYAN, by the General Conference at that time, for the quadrennium from 1879 to 1883. The Rev. Dr. Pickard retires by resignation from his position at the close of his first year, and is succeeded in that office by Rev. S. F. Huestis. Mr. Huestis has been for the last three years pas. tor of the Brunswick Street Church, in Halifax: and is now ex President of the Nova Scotia Conference. The Rev. Mr. Currie having received an urgent call to the pastorate of the Centenary Cnurch, in St. John, also retires at the close of the present month from his connection, as editor, with the Wesleyan Conference office.

who succeeds Mr. Currie, has been twenty-three years in the ministry. He is a native of Windsor, in this Province. He has had the pastoral charge of important circuits in New Brunswick and Nova Scotia. He was Superintendent of the circuit in Bermuda during four years. The labors imposed upon him, in that semi-tropical climate, proved to be too much for his physical strength. He returned to this country with impaired physical energies, and for several years since his return from Bermuda has had to sustain a supernumerary relation to his Conference. During the last year he has been Assistant Book Steward. Mr. Smith is the author of a " History of Methodism in Eastern British America," the first volume of which has been before the public for several years. His history displays pains-taking research, a thorough acquaintance with his theme, and the mastery of a fine style of composition. The second volume of his history, we understand, is now nearly ready for the press, and will probably be published during the latter part of the present year. Mr. Smith brings to world. The fact is that they only his position eminent qualifications for the editorial chair, and will be condially the strait gate or conversion the editorial chair, and will be condially the strait gate or conversion the editorial chair, and will be condially the strait gate or conversion. A CHRISTIAN

Is "the highest style of man." We mean a genuine Christian. But some who call themselves Christians are worse than Turks or infidels. Only think of a swearing Christian, a lying one, a cheating one, a licentious one. Those who do such things are not among God's people. The name may be there, the nature is not. Nor can a dishonest man be a Christian, any more than a rumseller can be one.

Our holy Christianity is suffering greatly, from inconsistent professors. The world says very hard things against professors of religion, and all they say s not untrue. The judgment of unconverted men is not always correct, or unprejudiced, but they can tell an apple from a thorn, a prayer from an oath, fair dealing from deception. There must be some special cause for such a general outcry against those who are members of the churches. Taking the most favorable view of the matter we are convinced that real Christians, are but a small percentage of the number, who are in communion with the organizations called churches.

There are to be found in every religious denomination a few who have a good report of them that are without. They are men and women of clean hands and pure hearts. Everybody says they are honest, then undeubtedly it is so. For if there was a flaw in their moral character, some sharp envious eye would see it, and magnify it too. We often hear the expression, Mr. - is a good man if there be any good men on earth. Mrs. — is a pious woman, no one can say a word against her. Were there not among us a few of this stamp, we should think that religion was losing its power. The question often comes welling up from our hearts. Why are there not more genuine Christians in this Gospel land? One reason is that so many join the churches who know nothing of experimental religion. And the churches hesitate not to receive them, and regard them as children of God, while there is no clear evidence, that they have been born of the Spirit, renewed in the spirit of their minds,in other words have become new creatures in Christ Jesus. These are very ready to conclude that because they are in the fold, and attend to the ordinances of God's house, that all is well with them. Talk to such about repentance sus, of joy in the Holy Ghost, peace of conscience and a good hope of glory, and they stare at you as though you were talking strange things. They are entire strangers to a genuine work of On the removal of Mr. Churchill to Engand in 1862, was appointed editor and Book Steward by the Conference. He held those of fices seven years. Mr. McMurray was followed in 1869, by Dr. Pickard, with Rev. James R. Narraway as correct that to talk thus will be regarded by the conference. Tames though you as though you habit? We form ruts. We use favorite phrases in prayer. Familiarity begets indifference to truth. The best "order of worship" gets tame when unvaried of worship gets tame w that to talk thus will be regarded by some as indicative of a bigoted spirit, and unchristian insinuations. But those who are set for the defense of the truth. must speak, whether it please or offend men. We appeal to the word of God, "If any man be in Christ, be is a new creature." Again, "Now if any man have not the Spirit of Christ, he is none of his." This spiritual union with Christ will most certainly produce fruit to the glory of God. It will correct the morals and influence the whole life of those who enjoy it. Much of the theology of the present day is adapted to encourage a superficial religious experience. We hear little about repentance, but the ery is only believe. We have heard some talk as though faith could save them, even while living sin. We say fearlessly that until sin is renounded, there can be Lord Jesus, is the old doctrine. Let us ask for the old paths, and walk therein. Another reason for the looseness of moral in the churches is the want of discipline. How few are ever expelled from the churches in our day! Gross sins are covered up, in some cases for fear of offending some who help to sustain the enterprises of religion. Money often silences the voice of discipline.

Perhaps we might learn a useful lesson from that great and good man John Wesley. Many in our day seem to admire him, who are slow to follow his example. 148 years ago he expelled from his society in London, 64 persons for the following reasons:—

2 For cursing and swearing. 2 For habitual Sabbath breaking. 17 For drunkenness.

2 For retailing spirituous liquors.
3 For quarrelling and bra wling.
1 Eor beating his wife.

3 For habitual, wilful lying. 1 For idleness and laziness. 29 For lightness and carelessness,

If there were as much strictness as that in our day, all the churches would report a sudden decrease. A general revival of religion is needed, to increase the number of true Christians. Not a spasmodic, religious influence, but something that will last more than two or three months, / Prejudices against reviseem to start, they do not get through

PUBLIC WORSHIP.

In the first place, diversity is desi-rable in the order of worship in a congregation and also among congregations of the same faith and polity. It neither seems wise for a people to have one un-varying stereotyped method, ordered by the pastor or consistory, nor for a denomination to be under the direction of Synod, National Council or General Assembly. We have just finished a seven years' service in the matter of uniform Sunday-school lessons. Some long ago threw off that yoke as grievous. True, there are many obvious advantages in this uniformity, but there are also drawbacks to all Procrustean equality of measurement or motion. A French Minister of Instruction once took out his watch and said to a foreigner who was inspecting schools, "At this moment ali the boys in France, of the same class, are studying grammar,' So, with some sentimentally, we may say Sunday afternoons, "All over this land there are thousands of schools engaged in studying the same Scripture esson." But neither in study nor in worship is a stereotyped process desirable, in all respects. Take the local Church. It may be well to begin worship with a prayer of invocation, usually. But the recital of a few words of Scripture may be sometimes more profitable as a preparative to prayer, "Keep thy foot when thou goest to the house of God!" "Holiness becometh thine house, O Lord, forever!" Some invariably begin with singing "Praise God"; but even this sometimes jars. We do not begin funerals with the long-metre doxology of thanksgiving, yet almost the last time the writer heard this, it was sung by a congrega-tion whose paster had, a few hours before, passed away from earth. The black pall on the pulpit, and the draped chair and signs of grief did not comport with the jubilant song. But the order of exercise was fixed.

There should be room always for the exercise of common-sense. It is unwise to be shackled by laws as unalterable as those of the Medes and Persians. Custom comes to be the most tyrannous of toward God, and faith in the Lord Je- vokes. A great problem of Christian take hold" on God. Paul urged men "to strive together with him," to "labor fervently" in prayer. Real piety is an effectual antidote, but variety in methods of worship is not to be forgotten.

2. Besides diversity in the order of public service, we need also to disentangle it from secular manipulations. Members of the Church should appoint the hours and forms of worship, the organist, singers, books of song and other adjuncts of its sanctuary service. If left to the congregation indiscriminately, the most disastrous results may be

3. Household worship is to be more generally reinstated as a preparative to that of God's house. The connection is vital between the home-life and th church-life. The one ought to corrono exercise of the faith that saves. Re- borate and enforce the spirit of the pentance toward God and faith in the other. Voices that are trained to sing and pray in concert at every morning and evening meal make the sanctuary tuneful with praise and sweetly solemn in prayer. Families, who have no domestic altar, are poorly prepared to join in the united supplications of the house of God.

4. Theological seminaries need to supply the deficiency now existing in the curriculum of study, and train their students in regard to this part of pulpit work. The seminary, as the sanc uary, monopolizes attention with the sermon. The devotional exercises are regarded they are even soberly called—"prelimin-aries" as though the didactic element was, like Moses' serpent, to swallow up everything else. In the selection and in the reading of hymns there is care-lessness and slovenliness often shown, as when one preacher said, "Sing the first and last stanzas," not looking to see the mockery it made. The first proposed the question, and the last answered it, thus:

"Shall I among them stand?"
"O Lord, forbid it by Thy grace!" Another, on an exquisite June morn ng, amid the beauties and bounties of ural life, gave out the hymn:

"Lord, what a wretched land is this That yields us no supply!" Dr. Crosby, in his Yale lextures, recently said that not a few in the pulpit have mistaken their calling, and would do better as sextons. Let, then, the way be made narrower, and the initial discipline more practical and thorough, and there would be less ground for this severe criticism on pulpit oc-ing itself. Hence have no root in them / Let the sanctuary be regarded as losophy or faith? What makes the God's house of prayer," and not Dr. So-and-So's church; the didactic and devotional parts of the service better balanced, and the whole made more reverential, hearty, and the business of the whole people, and the results will be immediate and most beneficial.-Homiletic Monthly.

> EVOLUTION ADMITTED. WHAT THEN?

> > BY BISHOP HAVEN.

Is there any reason whatever to believe that God at any past period, large or small, had any more or less to do than now with this earth and all that it contains? Could we have lived "three-score ears and ten," included in which should have been that initial instant styled in the first word of Genesis. " In the beginning," should we have then seen any more or clearer evidence of God's presence and action than in any other instant in any other three-score years and ten since ?

Whoever is disposed to answer both hose questions No, and still maintains reverent faith in God, need have no fear from the doctrine of evolution. It is the men of weak faith who suffer, not the men of strong faith. Men are prone to associate their religion with its drapery. This becomes obsolete and must be changed, and the lookers on fancies that the very body and soul are gone. There are others whose religion-however it became so-so constitutional that no changes whatever of forms can affect it.

"No changes of season or place Would make any change in my mind.

If any man can make himself believe that this earth could run of itself half an hour, in its present condition, without the producing force and superinfar from atheism. It is to be feared that the disproof of evolutionism would not save him and right more shamed on

The fact is theories of evolutionism and special creations, of monisms and dualisms, of protoplasms and wasted or burnt-out planets and suns, and others of the kind, are all superficial, so so far as the heart of religion is concerned. They do not touch religion. They belong to another class of concep-tions: They do not appeal even to the same faculties of the reason of the soul. The two classes of conceptions have scarcely more to do with each other than magnetism with political economy. or the manufacture of pottery with connatural and certain in any one moment or spot as in another. He would not see God, though he stood by his throne, any more than the spiritually stupid enemies of Christ saw him when he called Lazarus from the tomb. Would an irreglarly conducted universe exhibit its author better than one regularly conducted? Must God act intermittingly to be beileved in? There are indeed, rings of wood of a tree to denote periodic cessations of growth; but when the dark ring is depositing in one grove in the other hemisphere the light ring is depositing. When evolution prevails in one kosmos, the opposite (shall we call it devolution?) may prevail in another. As Longfellow

Think every morning as the sun peeps through
The dim: leaf-latticed windows of the grove How jubilant the merry birds renew Their well-remembered madrigals of love And as you think of this, remember, too, Tis always morning somewhere and above The riving continents, from shore to shore Somewhere the birds are singing evermore"

Evolution is merely a mode: not a power. It is just as easy to conceive a universe or any part of it, to create itself in sixteen millions of millennums.

We are told that conscience certain v cannot be the product of evolution. Pray, why not conscience as easily as as anything else? If evolution can change a piece of dead matter into a vegetable spore, and that into a plant, and that into a thing that has sensi-tive antenne and nostrils and ears and eyes, and that into a creature that has a memory and power to generalize, classify and talk, why not add a little conscience? It is a strange plan to stop right there. If evolution ever did anything, it, or something like it, can do everything. Evolution, if it ever made a blade of grass, or a chicken, or s gnat, can so far as we see, make an-gels. If evolution made the Newton capable of solving the problem of gravita-tion and writing the "Principa," it could probably by one effort more make the Newton capable of worship and writing the book on Scripture prophecy.

No; the proper place to interrogate this theory is at the beginning. What is it, and what does it propose? Simply to generalize observations. To show that from what we have seen and do see probably higher growths and organisms have succeeded lower. Well, what then? Does that touch, or even begin to touch, the realm of either phi-higher succeed the lower? Nothing? Believe it who will or can, Can a higher come out of a lower? Can cent develop into a dollar ? Could it in a millennium any more than in a minute? Must not the human reason claim its right, and is there anything that it asserts with more certainty than the impossibility of creation without a Creator?

Had we all been educated in a theory of gradualism and constancy and in provement, and thoroughly saturated with it, and yet aroused into a profound belief in God, as is certainly conceivable on that theory, and then should the theory of a Deity sometimes awake and sometimes asleep be suggested, it would shoe's some feeble minds into atheism What! God asleep? God occasion absent from a part of his universe? Why not, then, eternally absent?

Let not Christians, then, be alarmed by evolution. It is a mere word. At best, it shows only a mode of existence and action. Its sphere is superficial. It does not touch the heart of things. The delusion of those who worship it is nothing but the same old idolatry that has always led away superficial thinkers The worship of law or of evolution is but another form of the worship of atomism or chance; but one step bisher or lower than the worship of idols of wood and stone.

Col. McClure telegraphs from Chicago to the Philadelphia Times that cago to the Philadelphia Times that Gen. Grant expects Garfield to be beat-en; a Democrat elected President, and Grant himself called to power in 1884. He concludes: Gen. Grant is repulsed, not defeated, and he no more doubts his election to the Presidency, if he lives, than he doubted his conquest of Richmond when his lines retreated in bloody confusion from Cold Harbor.

Mrs. Garfield is a lady who will hopour the White House by her gentle presence. She is a woman of sweet and winning spirit, and of bright and cultivated mind. As Miss Lucretia Redolph she was an exceedingly pretty and interesting girl, and her marriage with the General was on both sides one of ideal affection. Her intellect has kept space with that of her husband's; she has studied the books he studied, taken up languages with him, and has so trained herself as to fit her boys for colege in the most thorough manner. She is an excellent Latin scholar, and is also proficient in several modern lan-guages. She is a little lady, graceful in carriage, and having a most frank and charming manner.

A few facts supposed to be familiar to all Methodist preachers :-

1. In 1808, the body of Methodist preachers surrendered their right to meet en masse in General Conference, and determined henceforth to meet by delegates.

2. When they surrendered this right and voted for delegated General Conferences, they formed a series of regulations ever since known as the Restrictive Rules, or acknowledged as the constitution of the General Conference, and by implication of the whole M. E. Church.

3. The Rules (Discipline, Part II ¶62-71) cannot be changed except by the concurrent voice of the entire body of the Methodist Episcopal travelling preachers.

President Hayes in the outset of his administration was confronted with grave difficulties, and the disposal which he made of some of them gave great offence to the leading politicians of his own party. He did not suit Senator Conkling, and he no better suited Senstor Blaine. For the first two years if was common for Republican state con-ventions either to snub him by a sig-mineant silence or openly condemn him as a quasi-traitor to the party. All this has wonderfully changed, and to-day the general sentiment of the people is that President Haves has not only been honest in his purpose, but that he has managed the affairs of the country with great wisdom. His Cabinet is an able one and its course has left no just occas ion for scandals. His administration will compare favorably with any which will compare favorably with any which

AND DAUGHTER OF D. J. HOLMES, ESQ.

Farewell, dear Mary, for a while, farewell, And only for a while, since who can tell How soon, like thine, our labor may be o'er, And we shall join thee on the other shore. Our bosoms heave with tearful sympathy Thy doubly orphan'd little ones to see, No more a father's fond embrace to share—No more to know a mother's love and care. No more a father's fond embrace to share—No more to know a mother's love and care. Thine and thy Joseph's last and dying care Committed them to God's especial care, And Faith looks up and takes the gracious word And promise of an ever-faithful Lord, That he will be their guardian and their guide, And that their needs shall all be well supplied: Committing to the earth a sacred trust Not without hope we laid away the dust, But with consoling faith that it will rise At last, and pass triumphant to the skies. No more shall anxious cares disturb thy rest Nor pain, nor sickness, agonize thy breast; No more shall anxious cares disturb thy rest
Nor pain, nor sickness, agonize thy breast;
No more temptations shall thy peace assail
Nor chilling doubts against thy faith prevail.
Soon as thy spirit raised its wing for flight,
What scenes celestial opened on thy sight?
Did not some well known, dear-loved, form appear
To guide thee upward through the heavenly sphere?
Did sweep scraphic harps in ra, turous strains
Sound a glad welcome o'er celestial plains?
This is not ours to know, or thine to tell,
But, we believe, all with thee is well.
Dear Mary, we are coming—for a while Dear Mary, we are coming—for a while
Gur paths may he through trouble care and toil,
May ours, like thine, be a victorious faith
That smiles serenely in the hour of death.

In fact, the indications, wherever the lock has been introduced, are that the sales will be very large this season, and that the promoters of the enterprise, who have spent a lrrge amount of money and labor in perfecting the locks, and in getting up the different patterns, will be well repaid. It might be mentioned that the company has recently started a branch office in Boston, and has contracted for the manufacture of 50,000 locks.

A little more than a year ago (May 10th 1879) a large meteor fell in Emmet Co., Iowa. The largest piece, weighing about 470 pounds, has been purchased for the British Museum; another, weeping about 170 pounds, is in the museum of the State University, at Minneapolis; and a third, weighing about 95 pounds, with a number of minor fragmens, amounting to some 50 pounds more, is in private hands. At the time of the fall some boys were herding cattle near a small lake, some five or six miles southwesterly from the place where the larger masses fell, and reported that just after the fire ball passed over their heads they saw and heard what seemed tike a shower of hailstones falling upon the water. Within a few weeks persons have been picking up pieces of the meteor from the size of a pea to that of an egg, all along a track some half a mile wide. all along a track some half a mile wide, and soven or eight miles long. In all more than a thousand of these little pieces are reported, weighing in all from 75 to 100 pounds. What is singular is that most of these small pieces are metallic, with a much smaller proportion of stony matter than the large masses, though a few of them are similar in composition. They are for the most part black, well crusted, and apparently perfectly formed and independent meteorites; not mere fragments of a larger piece, broken up by The New Brunswick R'y Co., finding their present freight house at Gibson, N. As the course of the meteor was from northwest to southeast, this shower of attendant particles must have been "following" the larger mass, a little to one side, much as the shooting-star shewers pursue the comets to which they are related.

MESSRS. SCOTT & BOWNE—Gentlemen—Within the last two months I have fairly tried SCOTT'S EMULSION OF COD LIVER OIL with HYPOPHOSPHITES, and I candidly declare that it is the finest preparation of the kind that has ever been brought to my notice; in affections of the lungs and other wasting diseases, we consider it our most reliable agent, in a perfectly elegant and agreeable form.

In May last I was taken with a violent bleeding which brought me to my bed and my life was despaired of for many weeks; violent symptoms appeared, night and morning coughs, night sweats, short breath, and a return of the spinal trouble. My physician stopped the bleeding and then ordered Cod Liver Oil and Lime: and I used various preparations, but they did me no good. I lost all hope of lite, and was an object of pity to all my friends. Last September I purchased a bottle of your Emulsion, before it was all taken I was better. I then bought a dozen bottles and have taken all with the following results: Cough subsiding, night sweats stopped, appetite returned, pains in spine disappeared, strength returning, and my weight increased from 118 to 140 pounds in sixteen weeks. I have taken no other medicine since commencing with your Emulsion and shall continue its use until I am perfectly well. I frequently meet some friend on the street who asks, what cured you and I answer Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil, &c. I have a friend who has not spoken aloud for 15 months and he is getting better, I gave him a bottle, and he bought two more, then got a dozen and says that it is food and medicine for him. He was given up to die a year ago; but he is improving now wonderfully. My recovery is exciting the surprise of many people, and I shall do all I can to make known your valuable medicine.

Very truly yours, HF SLOCUM, Lowell, Mass.

About the 25th of last April I got a bottle of your EMULSION, and at that time I was so prostrated that no one who saw me thought I could live but a few days at most. I could retain nothing on my stomach and was literary starving. I commenced the use of the EMULSION in small doses; it was the first thing that would stay on my stomach; I continued its use, gradually increasing the dose; and from that hour I commenced mending, and now am able to ride and walk and am gaining flesh and strength rapidly. I have advised other parties to try it, and some two or three have already ried it. I am sure I shall entirely recover.

ONWARD AND UPWARD.

Having been elected by the General Conference, at its session in Montreal, in 1878, to the office of Editor of THE WES-LEYAN, for four years, from 1879 to 1883. we, accordingly, entered, at the proper time, upon the discharge of the duties of the office. We did not do so without recognizing that we were in "a strait betwixt two." Many voices came to us, expressing regret at our leaving the pastoral work, even for so important a position as editor of our connexional organ. We never sought the editorship. came to it in chedience to the command of the highest authority in the church.

Within a brief period of our assumption of the duties of our new position, a call came from one of the most important circuits of the connexion, asking us to accept the superintendency of the circuit. Soon, thereafter, another similar call came from another Conference, and from another Province. And, again, soon afterward, a third request, of a like nature, came to us from still another Conference, and another Province. Each of those three circuits is deservedly regarded as among the most important in the whole con-

Those voices demanded a comprehensive consideration of our work, and of our duty. Deliberate reflection led to the conviction that, under existing circumstances, we, probably, could be of greater service to the church in the regular work of the ministry, than in the editorial office. Those voices seemed to us like the voice of God calling us to the regular pastoral work again. We, therefore, tendered our resignation, as Editor of THE WESLEYAN to the Book Committee, at its annual meeting in May last, and were allowed by the Committee to be released from the responsibilities with which we had been invested by the General Conference. We, accordingly, return to the much-loved work of the regular ministry: not because we love journalistic work less, but because we love pulpit work and the pastorat office more

Only one short year ago we entered into this profession, as an apprentice to a trade which we had yet to learn. For a merchant, for a physician, for a barrister, for a politician, for a statesmen, for a student, for a Christian minister, or for one in any other department of earnest endeavor, one swiftly passing year is too brief a period in which to make a permanent impression. So it must ever be in the important profession of journalism.

We change our suhere of ministerial work, with the conviction that we are swittly moving onward and upward in or third, or fourth scholarship of the same the path of duty. In deciding to leave value, and that the names of the Districts the editorial chair, we were largely influenced by the consideration that the services of one of our most excellent ministers was available for the position. The Rev. T. Watson Smith, who succeeds us in this office, possesses qualifications which render him peculiarly adapted to his new relation to our church work. He has had large experience as a writer, and wields a ready, versatile, and graceful pen. Though unable, on account of the state of his health, to do the work of the pastorate, he will be none the less adapted, on that account, to do the work of the editorial chair. While we are confident that the entrance of the incoming editor into his new position, will be for him a step onward and upward, we also cherish the hope that onward and upward, in strength and in usefulness, will be the career of THE WESLEYAN.

THE LONDON CONFERENCE.

The London Conference of 1880 closed on the 9th inst. The Report of the Relief and Extension Fund for the whole church as laid before this Conference shows the amount subscribed by 587 circuits $83,503 and by 949 ministers $28,300, making a total $111,803. The average contributions of the ministers was $29.81. Cash received for the whole work $70,380. The ordinary Missionary income for the London | dent. Conference shows a deficiency of about $900.

One minister of the Conference received a year's notice of location by a vote of the Conference.

A resolution expressive of the kindly regard of the Conference toward Dr. Rice, who is about to leave for Winnipeg, Manitoba, was passed unanimously. Dr. Rice, in reply, said he had been preaching for forty-three years. Dr. Sanderson, Dr. Jeffers, and Dr. Pickard of the New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island Conference entered the work in the same

THE TORONTO CONFERENCE.

The seventh session of the Toronto Conference was held in the Bridge Street, Church, Belleville, commencing June 9th. Rev. John Shaw President of the last Conference opened the Session. On the first ballot for President, Dr. Dewart received 5 votes, Dr. Jeffers 6, Dr. Potts 31, J. G. Laird 46, and N. R. Willoughby 83. Total ballots east 179; necessary to a choice 90. On the second ballot the vote stood, Dr. Potts 14, Mr Laird 61, and Mr. Willoughby, elected, 91. President Willoughby then addressed the Conference. On the second ballot for Secretary Rev.

S. J. Hunter was elected. The following resolution was moved by the Rev. E R. Young, seconded by the Rev. Dr. Hunter: "That whereas the Canada Temperance Act of 1878 declares, section 57, as fol lows: "In case more than one-half of all the votes polled are for the petition, the same shall be held to have been adopted, and the Returning Officer shall make his return to the Governor-General in Council accordingly: And whereas the following amendment to the above section received a majority of the votes in the recent session of the House of Commons, viz: That section 57 of said Canada Temperance Act is hereby repealed and the following clause sub stituded therefor: 'If a majority of the voters whose names are entered on the voters list used at said polling vote for the adopting of the Bill, the same shall be held to have been adopted, but not otherwise, and the Returning Officer shall so make a return to the Governor General:

And whereas we believe the effect of such an amendment would be practically to trustrate the benevolent designs of the said Act as originally passed:

Therefore resolved, that we, the Toronto Conterence, in session in the city of Belleville, do hereby strongly disapprove of the aforesaid amendment. (2) That we hereby convey our hearty thanks to those members of the House of Commons who spoke and voted against such amendment. (3) That we cordially approve of the action of the Senate in restoring the original section. (Carried unanimously,

The Rev. Dr. Hunter gave notice of motion anent the action of the Board of Victoria College in disregarding the decision of the General Conference that Dr. Burwash should be appointed to that Board in case any vacancy occurred, and appointing another person to that position instead of the late Dr. Greene

The following resolutions were read rom the Senate of Victoria University:

1. The Senate desires to convey to the several Conferences and to the Districts within their bounds their sincere thanks for the establishment of the District scholarships.

2 The Senate would respectfully suggest that each scholarship hereafter be of throughout all the Districts.

3 That any District desiring to contribute more do so by establishing a second, be announced in connection with the schoarship when awarded by the Senate.

The subjoined recommendations from the Stationing Committee were adopted after very careful consideration:

That the Prairie Grove Mission, in the Winnipeg District, be divided in a two missions, to be called the Plympton and Caledonia Mission.

Also, the formation of a new mission in the Portage la Prairie District, to be called the Big Plain Mission.

Also, the formation of a new mission. to be taken in part from the Lakefield Circuit, on the Peterborc' District, to be call the Holt's Bridge and Chandos Mission.

waonda Mission in the Algoma District. Also, to constitute St. Joseph Island, in the Algoma District, a new mission.

Also, to form the Thessalon Mission, in the settlement east of Bruce Mines.

A notice of motion was given concerning the General Conference Special Committee, and its recent decision concerning the Transfer Committee, and the rights and privileges of Annual Conferences.

THE MONTREAL CONFERENCE.

The seventh session of the Montreal Conference opened at Stanslead, June 16, by Rev. G. McRitchie the retiring Presi-

The Conference then proceeded to the election of President, the second ballot securing the election of the Rev. W. Hansford with seventy-seven votes, the Rev. then taken for the election of Secretary, which on the second cast, resulted in the re-election of the Rev. T. G. Williams. Upon the nomination of the Sceretary the the following appointments were made ;-Assistant Secretaries, the Rev. M. L.

dingly, upon the nomination of the chair, the following were appointed: Rev. Messrs, McRitchie, Dr. Elliott, Bland Stafford and Gilbraith. Some discussion arose as to the responsibility to the Conference of clerical reporters for the secular press. It was felt that this was a matter of private arrangement, and it was allowed to drop.

At the hour of noon the Conference prayer meeting was held for one hour under the direction of the President.

At three p.m. the afternoon session was conducted with closed doors during the annual examination relating to the moral and doctrinal integrity of the ministers. This examination is peculiar to Methodism, and requires satisfactory answers to specific questions presented relating to the ministers who are called name by name. The enquiries were satisfactorily answered in the case of the entire number of the one hundred and eighty-five ministers and forty-five probationers. On the resumption of the usual business the Rev. G. Cornish and the Rev. J. Grav. of the London Conference, were introduced.

CORRESPONDENTS.

Our correspodent " A Regular Hearer. will please excuse us for not publishing his communication, concerning the references of the correspondent of the Presbyterian Witness to the laity of our church. The Conference at Truro has accepted an apology from the writer of the Witness letters, and therefore it is advisable that all public reference thereto should now cease. There is no doubt but that the Conference has intelligently protected the fair fame of our laity. Although the offence involved the three Maritime Conterences, and the laity of each of them, yet, we assume that the apology of the Witness correspondent was as comprehensive as his offence had been. In declining to publish the letter of our lay brother, we only deal with him, as we have done with our ministerial brethren, who have written to our office on this subject, except in the one instance of the letter of the Rev. A. W. Nicolson, which we published some weeks ago, and which was one of the mildest of the series.

AT a meeting of the Board of Governors of the Mount Allison Wesleyan College and Academies, held at the College building, Sackville, on Tuesday, the 3rd inst., t was moved by the Rev. Dr. Pope, seer onded by the Rev. Dr. Stewart, and

Resolved,—"That the members of the Board of Governors of the Mount Allison Wesleyan College and Academies, at this their annual meeting, are solemnly affectwhich they have been called it the order of Divine Providence to sustain by the recent death of the Rev. Joseph Hart, who, for several years as their secretary, has discharged the duty of such relation with eminent fidelity and efficiency. The Board desires to place on record its sense of the many excellencies of our departed brother, and conspicuously of his zeal for the promotion of the higher education on Christian principles; and while it bows submissively to this visitation of an infinitely wise Providence, it would also tender its condolence to the widow of our deceased brother, and beg to assure her of our prayer that the God of all Grace may afford her consolation and support in this time of trial and bereavement."

Further Resolved,-"That a copy of this resolution be forwarded by the Secretary to Mrs. Hart."

THE SALON OF MADAME NECKER-Standard Series. I. K. Funk & Co., New York. Price, 15 cents.

Taken from documents among the Archives of Coppet. Collected and edited by her great grandson, Othenin d'Haussonville. Parts I. and II, Translated from the French, for the Standard Series publications, by Mary Stuart Smith. This remarkable book has created much interest in France, where it has been just issued. This translation is the first published in America. Madame Necker, one of the most famous w men of her age, perhaps of any age, was the mother of the celebrated Madame de Stael. Her husband was for years the Controller General of Finance, taking a prominent part in the tumultuous events which ussured in the Reign of Terror. Madame Necker's house was the resort of the most distinguished writers of the time. This volume is rich with the conversations and correspondence of these great men, never before published. As is well known, Gibbon, the historian, was engaged to be married to Suzanne Curchod (the maiden name of Madame Necker), and this engagement was broken. Correspondence is here published, which it is thought, will reverse the verdict of history on this point. The book has the interest of a thrilling novel, yet every word is history. London Quarterly Review for April has recently appeared from the press of the of the LEONORD SCOTT PUBLISHING Co., 41 Barclay Street, N. Y. Being the organ of the Conservative party its publication was delayed till the result of the recent elections in England was ascertained, that the political article which usually concludes each number might be framed in coordance with the event. The leading article on "David Hume." gives a brief sketch of that philosopher's ife and character, and enters with some minuteness into his theory of morals and philosophy of religion. "The Book of Common Prayer" has for its subject the Convocation Prayer-Book, which exhibits the alterations proposed in Conformity with the recommendations of the Convocations of Canterbury and York; and the arti le invites attention to some of the hief characteristics of the present Book of Common Prayer, and some of the conditions under which it has come to be that which it is.

In common with all the other Reviews, there is a long article on the subject of the Memoirs of Madame de Remusat, with copious extracts from her natative illustrative of the inner history of the Consulate and Empire, and of the new light thrown upon all the members of the Bonaparte family.

An interesting article entitled "The Slavonic Menance to Europe" takes for its text a work recently written by a Russian lady of distinction, entitled "Russia and England, 1876 to 1880," the purpose of which work is to justify Russia and its government, and to show how the coninct of England is looked at in Bussia Much space is devoted to a consideration of the doctrine of Nationality as applied to the Slavs which menaces the destruction of the Austro-Hungarian Empire.

Among the many interesting contents of the Editor's Drawer is a very humorous illustration by Abbey, entitled "Little Robert Reed."

The Chancellor of the German Empire is unquestionably the most astute politician of our time. But he differs in one important particular from the current type of the European diplomatist. The Metternichs, Gortschakoffs, Beusts, et idomne genus, with all their imitators big and little, look on diplomacy as a sort of legerdemain, or, perhaps we should better say, as a game of cards, where the player must under no circumstances "show his hand." The diplomat must use language to conceal his thoughts, and he must never commit himself to anything. But Prince Bismarck has repeatedly proclaimed his purposes in advance with the greatest candor. As for his fellow diplomatists of other governments, they have never yet-grown accustomed to the great Chancellor's frankness, and still persist in reading only between the lines of his manifestoes. The reader who is curious to obtain an inside view of Prince Bismarck's character as the genius of Statecraft, will find much to interest him in a paper contributed to the North American Review for July by the great Chancellor's Boswell, Moritz Busch, entitled "Bismarck as a Friend of America and as a Statesman." Other articles in the same number of the Review are "Canada and the United States," by Prof. Goldwin smith : " The Exodus of Israel." by President S. C. Bartlett,-a defense of the Pentateuchal account in the light of The Etnica of Sex," by Miss M. A. Hardaver,—a calm, philosophical study of the woman question; "The Panama Canal," by Count de Lesseps; and "Pro-digacy in Fiction," by A. K. Fiske.

LITTELL'S LIVING AGE.—The numbers of The Living Age for the weeks ending June 12th and 19th respectively, contain the following articles: Animal Intelli-gence, and The Letters of Charles Dickens, Westminster; Memoirs of Madame de Remusat, Quarterly; "Cymbeline," in a Hinhoo Playhouse, Macmillan; What Shakes peare Learnt at School, Fraser; Music in St. Paul's Cathedral, Leisure Hour; Social and Literary Dandyism, Saturday Review; The Pinch of Wealth, and Matthew Arnold on Poetry and Beligion, Spectator; Professional Fools, Globe; Anchor Ice, Nature; and in the way of Fiction, "A Young Lady's Letter," and instalments of "Adam and Eve," and "He that Will Not When He May," with the usual amount of poetry.

For fifty-two numbers of sixty-four large pages each (or more than 3,300 pages a year), the subscription price ($8) is low; while for $10.50 the publishers offer to send any one of the American $4 monthlies or weeklies with The Living Age for a year, including the extra numbers relating to the present ministry, the other of the latter, both postpaid. At the close of the sessions several of the members spoke of the harmony and brotherly feeling that had existed throughout. Two preaching services were held during the sitting of the District. On Wednesday evening, the Rev. Wm. Tippett, preached from "The wages of sin is death, but the gift of God is eternal life." On Thursday morning Mr. C. SACKVILLE DISTRICT.

The session of this District began at Dorchester on Tuesday the 15th inst., at three o'clock in the afternoon, under the chairmanship of Rev. R. Duncan. Most of the brethren answered to their names on being called, some were absent owing to pressure of Connectional work, to these and Dr. Kennedy dispensations were granted. The Rev. O. W. Hamilton was elected Secretary with Bro. McCully, A. B., as his assistant.

The return of members showed an in crease for the District. Rev. J. J. Colter was compelled on the ground of poor health to ask for a Supernumerary rela-tion; the meeting whilst sympathising with Bro. Colter, unanimously granted his request.

On Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock we had a fair representation of laymen, who took an active interest in the discussions as they proceeded. The funds reported a decrease, with the exception of the Educational, in this there was a slight increase. The District however did well for the Relief and Extension Fund, the Minister's Subscription list footing up about $1088, that of the Laity about $500. It was recommended to Confer-ence that the Baie Verte Circuit be divience that the Baie Verte Oronit be divided, to be known in the future as the Baie Verte and Bayfield Orients respectively. Two new charches were reported, others had been repaired, and parsonages farmished. Rev. J. S. Allen was elected on the second hallot as representative to the Stationing Committee, Rev. R. Wilson to the Sabbath School Committee. Messrs. Fawcett, Sackwille, and Anderson, Hopewell, were elected by the laymen on the Musicionary Committee.

Religious services were beld during the holding of the meeting. On Tuesday evening Rev. J. S. Allen preached, on Wednesday morning the candidate for ordination, Rev. T. Stebbings con ucted the service, and on Wednesday legs in the Secretary of District p which the sacrament of the Lord's Supper was administered. All the services were well attended.

After the usual votes of thanks, the meeting was dissed with an address by the Chapman and the benediction by Rev. D.

sionary report. It was found that there was a deficiency of about $1100 as compared with last year; all the Districts showing a decrease except the Guysboro' and Cape Breton District, The Conference then passed to the order of the day, the examination of young men for ordination.

Four young men presented themand been recommended by their District Meetings, -G. O. Robinson, P. H. Robinson, J. C. Ogden, and Benj. Hills. The examination was conducted by Rev. J. McMurray, and was eminently satisfactory. It was voted that they be received infoful connection and ordained on Monday, evening, Dr., Stewart, to deliver the ordination charge, and was to deliver the ordination charge.

The afternoon session was held with closed doors. In the evening was held a meeting for the promotion of baliness. We were not able to attend.

The text was John 12: 26. "If any man serve me let him follow me," &c. Not having taken notes of this excellent discourse any outline that we might attempt would be too imperfect to be of any service. It was a loving. faithful presentation of Christ as the master claiming our service. He dwelt also upon the nature and characteristics of this service, as well as the nature of the reward. It was listened to with deep interest and satisfaction by the large congregation assembled, and proved, we believe, a season of refreshing to many weary souls.

In the afternoon the Sabbath School was addressed at 2 o'clock by Brethren Taylor, Pickles and Purvis. The Conference Love-feast was held at 4 o'clock. led by Rev. J. G. Hennigar, when many testified to the preciousness of the religion of Jesus.

In the evening we listened to a very able and interesting sermon by Rev. R. Brecken, A. M., from the words of the Apostle-" I am not ashamed of the gospel of Christ, &c." At the close of the service the sacrament of the Lord's Supper was administered, when about 150 joined in commemorating the Saviour's death. It was an interesting and we believe very profitable day.

MONDAY MORNING.

Session opened as usual. After the reading of the minutes the Temperance Committee presented its report. The report among other things recommended the formation of temperance organ-izations in connection with the church and expressed opinion in reference to the Dominion Temperance Act. Considerable discussion ensued taken part in by Revs. Messrs. McMurray, Temple, Coffin, Hanni, ar, Evans, Lathern, Lane, and others. It was generally felt that it was inexpedient to make any deliverance upon these points just at present, and the report was recommitted for further consideration.

Dr. Pickard the Book Steward entering the Conference Room was called to the platform, and the Conference pro-ceeded with the order of the day the consideration of Book Room affairs. A lengthy report was read by the secretary, thowing a loss in the year's operations. The surplus capital of $6,000 reported a few years since had dwindled until there is but a small amount above liabilities. It expressed Conference the necessity of faithfull supporting our Interests. The present Book Steward Dr. Pickard resigns as well as the Editor Rev. D. D. Currie, and Rev. S. F. Huestis and T. W. Smith have been appointed to these positions respectively. A question having arisen as to what should be done with the report it was concluded that we could take no action in reference to it, as the Book Room was the property of the General Conference and under its direction. Dr. Pickard addressed the Conference in a few words deeming it unneccessary to add anything to the very full report which had been given.

Rev. W. H. Heartz moved the following resolution which was manimously adopted :-

Whereas from the fluancial statement formished to the brethren and the explanstions afforded, the condition of the Book Room affairs is such in these times of financial stringency as to require mest judicious management; and

Whereas vacancies have occurred in the position of Editor of the WESLEYAN and Book Steward of the Eastern section of the Book Room; and

Whereas the Eastern section of the Book Room Committee have a pointed to those responsible positions the Bev .T. Watson Smith and the Rev. S. F. Huestis. Therefore resolved, f church wark. Rev. S. F. Huestis took the opportu nity to say a few words in reference to the position to which he had been called. He did not seek it-he did not desire it. Financially it voild place him in a worse position than an appointment to a circuit. He accepted simply because he believed that for the present, at least, that was where God would have him work. He asked for heir sympathy and support, and trusted that although matters did not seem ery bright, that there might be better ays in store. He referred to Mr. mith's "History of Methodism, tating that the second volume was bout ready for the press and would be ublished if the author could receive sufficient encouragement. The first

After singing the 327th hymn the President led in prayer.

The text was John 12: 26. "If any three was intended."

It is thought to complete it with the forthcoming volume, although originally three was intended.

Rev. T. Watson Smith, editor elect spoke a few words concerning his ap-pointment. He did not know whether he was the right man in the right place or not. If he should fail, however, the Conference would remember that it was a position in which greater men than had failed. He trusted that the brethren would co-operate with him, however, not only by striving to increase the circulation of the WESLEYAN, but by sending articles—not long articles containing little, but short articles containing much-short and crisp and sharp.

Considerable conversation ensued, and a great amount of good advice was tendered the incoming editor, for which he was doubtless duly thankful.

The schedules of receipts were read and passed. The receipts for missions was $8,866.58, decrease $1,157.18. Contingent Fund $361.84, decrease $31.22. Sup. Fund $1,277.61, increase $26.18. Educational Fund $433.70, decrease $15.68.

Rev. S. F. Huestis brought again to the notice of the Conference the matter of the Ecumenical Council, and moved a resolution to the effect that a committee be appointed to act with a similar committee from the N. B. & P. E. I Conference in electing the representa-tives from these Conferences. The resolution after some conversation was aid on the table.

The Educational Report was presented by Rev. T. Rogers, Secretary. The report was adopted.

Mr. McMurray moved a resolution as follows.

That the Conference regrets to learn that the Western Section of the Book Commetee has recoded from its previous ly expressed purpose in regard to a riving-L'une Book; out nopes that the messures so well in progress, in the hands of the Committee of the Eastern Section, in testing the style and harmonies of the music recommended for adoption, may be continued to complesion, watil the work is ready for publication; and would com mend turs matter to the very favourable consideration of both Sections of the Book Committee.

The session was occupied with a couideration of the question concerning the Supernumerary Fund, which had been designed as the order of the day. Notice of motion to amend the Countitation of this Fund so as to admit an increased ahowance to supernumeraries of twenty per cent. was given last year, After the reading of the Report of the Supernumerary Fund Committee, Rev. Dr. Pickard addressed the Conference 51 in an elaborate and exhau tive spech. arguing strongly in favor of the pro-posed change. Brethren Lathern, Nic-olson, Brown, Coffin, Heartz, and others followed, principally opposing the change as unwise and imprudent. LONDON CONFERENCE. BRUSSELS, ONT., June 16, 1880.

MR. EDITOR,—We have just returned from our Annual Conference, and by its from our Annual Conference, and by its appointment sit down to write you a summary of its doings. We hait this annual appointment because it is a recognition of the esteem in which our Conference bolds the brethren of your Conference—and Western Canadian Methodism shakes hands with Eastern Canadian Methodism shakes by our instrumentality, and wishes you peace, prosperity, unity and joy through us, Your church organ is received by many of us and read with interest. We mark with sympathy the indications it mark with sympathy the indications it gives us weekly of your trials, your conflicts, and your successes—and the zeal manifested by the missionaries on many of your lonely coast stations calls forth our admiration and our prayers. We have men in our midst who have come from you, and from the homorable position they austrain among the position they austrain among the property of the state of the property of the state o tion they sustain among ne we form a high ideal of the character of your minishigh ideal of the character of your ministers, and of the intelligence and loyalty of your membership. We met in Wesley Church, Hamilton, June 2nd.; Leonard Guetz, so familially known in your midst, Pastor. It was in fact his persuasive and almost pathetic el quence a year ago which determined us to John Street, or Wesley, in preference to its more pretensious rival. "The Centens y Church." There are many things which make Hamilton our mest favorable seat. By ith doboit Harbor Joseph M. liten our mest favorable seat. By its eize—a city of forty thousand—its Me thodistic history and status, the princely liberality of its membership, it is entitled to be esteemed the Metropolitun City of the London Conference. Its benutiful situation on the southern shore of Burington Bay, the rich fertility of the surounding country, its climate so ;avorable for floral and morticultural cultivation, the steady growth of its citizens into wealth, the stately character of its buildings, mostly of stone, cut out of the mountain at its rear, and the increasing beanty of the villas of its merchants, as well as its R. K. and Steambout connections, make it a city to be desired. None of its villas can vie with the the superb home of that Methodist Prince, W. E. Sandford, Esq The rarest exotic flowe: exhale their sweetness in his gardens and conservatories, smidst fountains and statues and lawne, and trees and plante of Southern climes, while internally it made to the superbuess of the furnishings and advenments of his home. And to no home in Hamilton is the Methodist pioneer made more heartily welcome.

The Methodist churches of the city are more remarkable for their internal excellence of arrangement and furnishings and richness of decoration than for their external architesture | pretensions. The Centenary has always been pointed out as the model church of the West. Its vestibule and its auditorium are unsurpassed by any church & know. On the eve of Conference a magnificent new organ was dedicated in it by the ablest performers and a choir of near a hundred voices, among whom were noted singers from Rochester and Buffalo and Toronto. It was a rare treat to lovers of good muse. It is a magnificent instrument having three backs of keys and forty seven stops, and the synd is supplied by two capacious bellows, one of which is worked by a hydraulis engine. The key board is so extended that the organist is located in the centre of the chair—and its deep tones as drawn forth by Professor Tarington in the "dead March of Saul"—made a perceptible tremor through the whole

At mine o'clock on Wedneday morning, June 2nd, there were as-sembled in Wesley Church about two hundred and thirty members of Conference. There was a special appropriate-ness in the opening hymn, "And are we Middleton-Richard Smith, Presi yet alive," that we have scarre ever realazed before and that was in striking contrast with the experience of a year ago. Not one, save an aged supernumerarywhom we had never met at Chaleren had railen. Our active ranks presented as unbroken front, and there was a hue of health and youthful vigor in the gener R soluta Wak hearts the Prontegual chair by a vote which was sufficiently unanimous to indicate simply by its minority vote, that Alex. Langio. was the (Continued on eight page.)

In an old Parliamentary Sketch Book of 1838, we have the following portraiture of the rising statesman, in the House of Commons : 1) House

"Mr. Gladstone's appearance and manner are much in his favor. He is a fine-looking man. He is about the usual height and of good figure. His countenance is mild and pleasant, and has a highly intellectual expression. His eyes are clear and quick; his eyebrows are dark and rather prominent. There is not a dandy in the House but envies what Truefitt would call a "fine head of jet black hair." It is always carefully parted from the crown downwards to his brow, where it is tastefully shaded; his features are small and regular, and his complexion must be a very unworthy witness if he does not possess an abundant stock of health. Mr. Gladstone's gesture is varied but not violent. When he rises he generally puts both his hands behind his back; and having suffered them there to embrace each other for a short time, he unclasps them and allows them to drop on either side. They are not permitted to remain long in the locality before you see them closed together and hanging down before him. Their reunion is not suffered to last for any length of time. Again a separation takes place, and now the right hand is seen moving up and down before him. Having thus exercised it a little, he thrusts it into the pocket of his coat, and then orders the left hand to follow its example. Having granted them a momentary repose there, they are again put in motion; and sn a few seconds they are to be seen reposing vis a-vis on his breast. He moves his face and body from one direction to another, not forgetting to show a liberaf share of attention on his own party. He is always listened to with much attention by the House, and appears to be high ly respected by men of all parties. He is a man of good business habits; of this he furnished abundant proof when Under-Secretary for the Colonies, during the short-lived administration of Sir Robert Peel."

"It is curious to know that some of these mannerisms of forty years ago are preserved by the great statesman we know to-day. It is particularly no-ticeable that to this day when Gladstone rises and begins what he intended to be a great oration, he has a tendency This attitude, however, like the subdued mood of which it is an indication. prevails only during the opening sen-tences. Age has fired rather than dulled his oratorical energy. He has even, during the existence of the present Barliament, increased in rapidity of gesture almost to the point of fury. The jet black bair of forty years ago has faded and fallen, leaving only a few thin wisps of gray carefully disposed over the grandly-formed head with which he told a Scotch deputation the other day, London batters had had so much trouble. The rounded cheeks are sunken and their bloom has given place to pallor; the full brow is unwrinkled; the dark eyes, bright and flashing still, are underset with innumerable wrinkles; the 'good figure' is somewhat rounded at the shoulders; and the sprightly step is growing deliberate. But the intellectual fire of forty years ago is rather quickened than quenched, and the promise of health has been abundantly fulfilled in a mainphenomenal. Mr. Gladstone will out sit the youngest member of the House if the issue at stake claims his vote in the pending division. He will speak three hours at a stretch, and he will put in the three hours as much mental and physical energy as judiciously distributed would suffice for the whole debate: Mis magnificent voice is as true in tone and as insensible to fatigue as when it was first heard within the walls of the House. By comparison he is far more emphatic in gesture when addressing the House of Commons than when standing before a public meeting. Trembling through every nerve with the intensity of conviction and the wrath of battle, he almost literally smites his opponent hip and thigh. Taking the brass-bound box upon the table as representative of the right honorable gentleman or noble lord opposite, he will beat it violently with his right hand, creating a resounding noise that sometimes makes it difficult to catch the words he desires to emphasize; or, standing with his heels closely pressed together and feet spread out fan wise, so that he may turn as on a pivot to watch the effect-of his speech on either side of the house, he will assume that the palm of his left hand is his adversary of the mement and straightway he beats upon it with his right hand with a ferocity that causes to curdle the blood of the occupants of the ladies' gallery. At this stage will

Condimention of the gray of GLADSTONE AT TWENTY-NINE. be noted the most marked retention of the early House of Commons habit, in the way the orator continually turns round to address his own followers, to the outraging a fundamental point of etiquette which requires that all speech-es should be directed to the chair."

WALL STREET, NEW YORK,

Across the island of New York, in 1585, a wall made ef stone and earth, and cannon mounted, was built to keep off the savages. Along by that wall a street was laid out, and as the street followed the line of the wall, it was appropriately called Wall Street. It is narrow, it is short, it is unarchitectural, and yet its history is unique. Excepting Lombard Street, London, it is the mightiest street on this planet There the gouernment of the United funds. States was born. There Washington held his levees. There Mrs. Adams and Cardwell and Knox and other brilliant women of the Revolution displayed their charms. There Witherson and Jonathan Edwards and George Whitefield sometimes preached. There Dr Mason chided Alexanded Hamilton for writing the Constitution of the United States without any God in it There negroes were sold in the slave mart. There criminals were harnessed to wheelbarrows, and, like beasts of burden, compelled to draw or were lashed through the streets behind carts to which they were fastened.

There fortunes have come to coro-nation or burial, since the day when reckless speculators, in powdered hair and silver shoebuckles, dodged Dugan, the Governor General of his Majesty, clear down to yesterday at 8 o'clock. The history of Wall Street is to a certain extent the financial, commercial, agricultural, mining, literary, artistic, moral and religious history of this country. Only a few blocks long, it has reached from the Canadas to the Gulf of Mexico, from San Francisco to Bangor. There are the best men in this country, and there are the worst. Everything, from unswerving intergrity tip-top scoundrelism—everything from heaven-born, charity to bloodless Shylockism.

The Committee on Solar Physics of the British Committee of Council on Education have made a report recommending a careful study of the sun for the next three or four years. They attach the greatest importance to the return of the sun spot cycle in its relation to the meteorological concitions of the to the meteorological concitions of the earth, and intimate that the study of solar phenomena may prove of much practical use in foreseeing the character of the seasons. It would be unfortunate if amateurs in astronomy should think this a study too abstruse for them. In recently referring to the theories of some astronomers about the sun's disturbing influence upon the earth's atmosphere, we called attention to the coincidence in time between a very remarkable chain of sun-spots that were visible in the last days of April, and the terrible tornadoes that wrecked the Missouri town of Marshfield, and car-April, and suggested that it would be well to note whethet any remarkable atmospherical disturbances followed. These spots have not yet disappeared, in some respects directly influence the meteorological conditions of the earth, there can be no harm in recording coincidences of this kind, as they certainly will help in attaining a knowledge of what are the real relations of our earth to the luminary, without which the human race could not exist, and by whose agency the Day of Wrath, foretold in Scripture, may be brought about.

(For Our Young People.) CAT FIGHTING A RATTLE-

SNAKE. The following tale of an encounter etween a cat and a rattlesnake is told by a correspondent of the Americus (Ga) Republican ! About three weeks ago, during the ceautiful sunny weather we have had which induced the trees to bud and bloom, I was walking in my garden one morning, thinking about preparing for an early start of Spring vegetables, when I saw a large rattlesnake sunning. My first impulse was to go to the house get a gun, and kill it. But looking around, I saw a very large house cat cautiously creeping upon the reptile. Anticipating a fight, and equally desirous of getting rid of the cat, which killed the chickens, I concluded to witness his attack upon the snake. The cat crawled upon its stomach, pulling along on its feet, whisking its tail from side to side, and every now and then stretching its neck to view the

When about eight or ten feet off, the snake suddenly coiled up, sprung its rattle, faced the cat, and darted its forked tongue out rapidly.

The cat commenced a rapid circle around the snake, so fast in fact that the eye could scarcely keep up with it. At last it got near enough and made a dart at its enemy, but through provi-dential reasons went high above the snake which also struck at the cat, thus breaking its coil.

The cat went too far, and by the time it turned to face its foe, the reptile was again coiled ready for the attack. The same method was adopted and carried on for four or five times, occupying at least half an hour.

The cat wished to catch the snake, but seemed aware that if it missed the neck it would be certain death.

At the sixth assault they met, and instantly the snake was wrapped in several folds around the body of the cat, which used its sharp claws with deadly effect. The cat had been bitten on the head and neck several times, and both continued to fight. The snake was torn nearly to shreds, but did not unloose its coil around its victiment of the property of the state of The poison was swift and deadly, but before the cat died it caught the snake's head in its mouth and crushed it, and fighting they died, the snake enwrapping the cat in its coils.

The snake measured four feet eight inches, and had thirteen rattles.

LOST IN THE SKY. When Mr John Wise of this city was lost in his balloon, called the "The Pathfinder," several months ago, the newspapers printed many accounts of ing until all the rest were through talking. Then she told the editor of the themselves. On that day an aeronaut or sailor of the air, named Brooks, filled his iron ship with gas on the farm of a Mr. Harvey, who lived near Centralia. He expected to sail in the afternoon. About noontime Mr. Harvey put his two children into the basket of the balloon, just to please them, not thinking for a moment of any danger. The bal loon was tied to a tree by ropes. All at once a gust of wind broke the ropes and the balloon shot up into the sky. with nobody but the two children in the basket. Mr Harvey wild with grief, and shouted aloud, "They're lost! they're lost !" All the neighbors ran to the spot, only to see the balloon drifting off to the north, and more than a mile high.

One of the children was a girl, Nettie, eight years old, and the other was her little brother, Willie, four years old. Both cried when they found themselves leaving the ground and on a very, very strange journey indeed. Nettie looked over the edge of the basket and saw her father wringing his hands away below. Soon the people looked smaller than babies, and the houses like toy houses. She and Willie were going up, up, up all the time. "I expect we are going to heaven, Willie," said Nettie. Willie thought it would be very cold in heaven. then, for the higher they went the cold-er it grew. Nettie wrapped Willie in her apron and held his head in her lap until he cried himself fast asleep. Then Nettie folded her hands and waited. She said, "I think we must be near the gate now." She meant the gate of heaven. that she had heard about in Sunday-School. But Nettie fell asleep too. When she awoke she found that some strange man was lifting her from the basket. The strange man was a farmer in Nothern Illanois, who had seen a balloon drifting low across his field. The rope was dragging, and so he caught it and landed the children safely. The balloon had floated all night. Nettie and Willie's father soon learned that they had been found, and took them home two days afterward. Nettie is now a woman—the very same one who teld the Republican to look back in its files for the story.—Philadelphia Times.

RHEUMATISM.

I had for some years been very much troubled with Rheumatic pain, and weakness in my knees, so that it was with great difficulty that I could walk about; and from the failure of every thing I had tried, I had despaired of ever finding any thing that could cure me : but, by the advice of a friend, I gave GRAHAM'S PAIN ERADICATOR a trial, one bottle of which have completely cured me, as I have not felt any return of that complaint since using this medicine, more than seventeen years ago.

FROM A. H. PECK, M.D., Peticodiac, N.B. Messrs. T. Graham & Son, - Dear Sirs : -I have tried your "CONSTITUTIONAL REMEDY" in several cases of Neuralgis with marked effect. I have used it for Chronic Lumbago that has troubled me more or less for several years; I took two or three doses (large ones), and applied your PAIN ERADICATOR externally, and I am in hopes they have made a permanent cure; at all events, I have not had any return of that complaint since using thes medicines, more than nine months ago.

I have had many opportunities of observing the good effects of your PAIN ERADICATOR in the past ten or twelve years in Rheumatism and other com-plaints. From what I have learned of their efficacy, and from what you hav-told me of the ingredients composing them, and the evident skill with which they are prepared, that their combined use constitutes a very valuable remedy for Rheumatism and Neuralgia complaints. coming man-was a tribute to a man and a brother, whom his brethren have always delighted to honour and confide in. A man of sterling rather than brilliant abilities—who will add dignity to the chair, and hand it unstained to his scucessors in office. The retiring President, Rev. W. S. Griffin, was highly complemented upon the efficency and wisdom of his administration, and his ordination sermon preach. ed on Sanday, the 6th inst., was spoken of in very high terms. W. R. Parker, M A., was elected Secretary-with W. C. Henderson, M. A. and J. L. Wilkinson, as assistan's Dr. Evans and C. Lavelle, M. A., as official letter writers-Revs. Rigsby and Scott reporters for the Guardian—and James Harris for the WESLEYAN.

A Nominating Committee of five was elected by ballot, consisting of W. Wlliams, Dr. Williams, A. Langford, J. Gray. and W. Griffin. No case of delirquency and W. Griffin. No case of delirquency had occurred during the year, and, in consequence, the question of character was speedily disposed of. Two names were, however, allowed to be dropped off the roll in silence, and Hev. James Watson to remain in England, where he is employed in Home Missionary work. Much attention was given to the reception of memorials from districts, and in addition to the usually appointed Memorial Committee two of these were considered of sufficient importance to demand special committees. The one was on the use of tobacco, the other on the employment of evangelists. The report of the first of these is strongly condemnatory of its use by both members and ministers; and the report of the second favors the employment of evangelists. The Committee on Temperance reporteds resolution strongly condemnatory of the amendments recently proposed in the House of Commons of the Canada Temperance Act of 1878.

The Chatham District reported a resohad occurred during the year, and, in

The decision of the General President in refusing to allow the delegates elected by the Annual Conferences to sit on the Transfer Committee, after the refusal of the Conferences to allow the legislation of the General Conference on the subject, and the action of the Court of Appeal on the same subject, awoke an unanimous expression of disapprobation, which resulted in the re-election of the same delegate, and the expressed request that should be be refused again, the President also would retire from the Transfer Committee, and this Conference would assent to no transfers until after the next General Confer-

The Committee on Church Property reported fewer cases of sales or changes of property than usual, and there were much fewer alterations of boundaries, and formations of new circuits, and no new districts were formed. The Contingent Fund Committee, after meeting the numerous contingent expenses which annually pressupon it, find themselves with but a very meagre balance to divide among the districts for distribution among claimant circuits. The Children's Fund, by a tax of forty-two cents upon the membership, have met the full claims of 500 children, at $30 per child, and has a sufficient balance to enable it to reduce the tax to forty-one cents.

The Educational Fund is inadequately sustained, and can only afford a very insufficient amount to its students requiring assistance while attending the Theological Schools. The Relief and Extension Fund

Council, to be held at City Road, London, in Sept. 1881.

No subject engaged more carefully the consideration of the Conference than the reception and continuation of candidates to our ministry. There is a general feeling that we must not force our elderly ministers as we have done in the past, into the ranks of the superannuates, in order to make room for young men.

Nine were received into full connex-Nine were received into full connex. Nine were received into full connexion, and ordained. One of these was in his third year, but was designated as a missionary to the Blackfeet Indians in the extreme North-West. The examination of these young men before the Conference was conducted by the Principal of the Wesleyan Ladies', College, Dr. A. Burns, and was remarkable for the questions being quite out of the ordinary rote of such examinations. The evening meet. tions being quite out of the ordinary rote of such examinations. The evening meeting for their reception was addressed by the President, by five of the roung mea, and by Dr.'s Burns and Rice. They are a class who from their culture and piety excite great hopes of their fature useful ness. The testimony borne in a latter to the Conference from Dr. Douglas, and corroborated was seen by Professor Shaw, of Montreal, to the stamp of the young of Montreal to the stamp of the young men whom this Conference has sent up to the Theological School of Montreal was highly gratifying. Professor Shaw, in addressing the Conference, showed that this Branch now enjoyed superior advan-tages in being affiliated to McGill University, in which some of our students had taken a very high rank as medalists.

Dr. Nelles, in his eloquent plea for superior education, at the public meeting of the Educational Society, stated that Victoria was the only University owned by the Methodist Church outside of the United States. United States, with the exception of Sackville. He showed that with only an endowment of $6000 it was doing as much for the country as any other. That To ronto University, with $30,000 endowment felt itself seriously crippled. Victoria had now got rid of the old scholarship scheme, which had so much embarrassed it. It needed only new buildings and a much better endowment to make it vastly more useful. He spoke with great hope-fulness of its future. If the church won't endow the college, the graduates will ere long. The most successful colleges of to-day were those which had struggled with the financial difficulties in the first fifty years of their existence. Harvard College was an example. The New Scholarship Endowment Scheme adopted by our Con-ferences a year ago, by which each district endows one or more Scholarships, worth endows one or more Scholarships, worth 25 per year, had been and would be of

The Conference listened with interest to the report given of the Wesleyan Fe-male College in Hamilton It has felt the pressure of the hard times and more still the keen competition which has arisen from other similar institutions, but it holds on its way, and this year is able once more to declare a dividend to its stockholders. Many of the members of the Conference accepted an invitation to spend an evening in its Halls—which, I assure you, was the most pleasantly spent evening of the week.

The removal of Dr. Rice to Winnipeg, and his consequent transference into the Toronto Conference was an event which this Conference extremely regretted, and a resolution expressive of its feelings was unanimously adopted. It is safe to say that no other man could be so much missed by us.

The presence in our midst, for a few hours, of the Rev. F. McDonald, MA., the associate delegate of Dr. Arthur, to the General Conference of the United States, from Great Britain, and his address, was a source of unmingled satisfaction.

The election of chairman is always an event of much interest, as it always brings to the front one or more new men. This honour was given this year, for the first time, to Rev. James Harmon, the successor of Dr. Rice at St. Mary's, and D. L.

Brethour, of Simcoe.

The presence, also, in our midst of Rev. Jas. Messmore, of Lucknow, India, and his address at the Missionary Meeting, on Monday night, was highly gratifying to his brethren.

his brethren.

Besides many brethren from the Toronto Conference, the presence of Rev. John Williams, a son of Dr. Williams, who is in charge of a Methodist church in Rochester, N. Y., Rev. Mr. Jones, of the same city—gave additional interest to our sessions. Your correspondent feels that his letter gives but a very defective account of one of the most pleasant Conferences he has been permitted to attend during nearly thirty years.

With fraternal greeting,

DR. C. GATES, Dear Sire-I have great pleasure in informing you that the Ointment made by you, and used by m; self, according to your directions, has, in m; case, proved completely effectual, and I firmly believe has worked a perfect cure. For twelve months previous to using your valuable preparation I was almost constantly trobled with a very annoying affection in my throat, causing an unpleasant tion in my throat, causing an unpleasant hacking, which was generally believed would terminate in consumption; but since using your Ointment (internally and externally). I am wholly clear of said cough, and now feel it my duty to inform you; and would add, you are at liberty to use this Certificate in and way that will induce others to give your preparation a trial.
