The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

When a man once complained to Alice Freeman Palmer, the famous president of Wellesley, that he simply could not remember the names of half the people he met, Mrs. Palmer answered him:—

"Oh, yes, you could if you had to. It is simply that you never had to do it. Whatever we have to do we always can do."

As an abstract statement I suppose that is true. Indeed, I own it sounds very much like some remarks of my own in former chats, but I do wish the great college president had gone a step further, and contributed a few definite details as to just how that impossibility could be made possible.

One of my readers asked me recently to put into this column an infallible method of teaching one's self to remember the names of the people one meets.

If I had such a method, my friend, I would probably have aired it long ago. But, as it happens, that is one of the will-o'-the-wisps that I myself have been hunting for many years.

It certainly is a path-smoothing ability to be able to readily attach the right name to every familiar face, but an ability that few people seem to possess.

The person who never forgets a face and never remembers a name is a familiar friend of all of us, may be lives in the same house and sleeps in the same bed.

"I remember your face perfectly, but I can't quite recall your name." Who of us hasn't had that said to him a thousand times and very likely said it about as many?

Of course, to an extent this defect in the memory can be overcome, and although I know no infallible method of doing so, I can give my inquiring friends, and any who like her are troubled by this irritating weakness, a few suggestions while long struggling with my own difficulties along this line, has given me.

In the first place, when you are introduced to a person, use the name in acknowledging the introduction. Make it an invariable rule to add to your, "I am glad to meet you," or "How do you do?" the name of your new acquaintance.

If you don't catch it, ask who it was. It will be much less embarrassing to do so at once than later.

Secondly, in conversing speak the name of your vis-a-vis occasionally. Don't just call him "you" all the time. Not only does this use of the name, for some unknown reason please most people, but, of course, it also fixes the names in your mind.

Again, when you see an acquaintance on the street, or in the car merely to bow to, and find you cannot at once recall his name, do not let the matter drop simply because you do not have to say the name just then. Rather do all in your power such as running over the alphabet recalling the circumstances under which you met him, etc., to bring the name back. If you recall it this time it will be much easier to do it the next time when you are obliged to use it.

"Oh, yes, that's all very well," I can hear some one saying, "but when you have a memory like mine such things are no more than drops in a bucket."

Quite so, my friend, but I confess in the beginning that I couldn't give you the bucketful. And if it's a question of drops, maybe you can remember what it is that makes "the mighty ocean and the beautiful land."

No Man is Stronger Than His Stomach

A strong man is strong all over. No man can be strong who is suffering from weak stomach with its consequent indigestion, or from some other disease of the stomach and its associated organs, which impairs digestion and nutrition. For when the stomach is weak or diseased there is a loss of the nutrition contained in food, which is the source of all physical strength. When a man "doesn't feel just right," when he doesn't sleep well, has an uncomfortable feeling in the stomach after eating, is languid, nervous, irritable and despondent, he is losing the nutrition needed to make strength.

Such a man should use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It enriches the blood, invigorates the liver, strengthens the kidneys, nourishes the nerves, and so gives health and strength to the whole body.

You can't afford to accept a secret nostrum as a substitute for this non-alcoholic medicine of known composition, not even though the urgent dealer may thereby make a little bigger profit. Ingredients printed on wrapper.

Fads and Fashions.

Neck ruffs of tulle, the exact tone of one's costume, are seen whenever a cooler day comes.

Crocheted pearl collar pins is one of the latest fads, and very much in keeping with summer tolets.

The Persian belts are usually finished with a very narrow edge of patent leather or dark yellow suede.

The majority of bathing shoes are low, but a few high models laced with silk ribbon are also seen.

The world is quite infatuated with the use of black and white stripes for simple morning frocks.

White kid gloves are stitched in colors to match the frock. Lavenders and pinks are especially favored.

Most of the parasols this season have handles from five to eight inches longer than those of a year ago.

Jet necklaces with pendants of jet continue in favor. They are seen more with collarless gowns than ever.

Accordion plaiting is seen to good advantage in many of the dressy silk negligees, whether long or short.

Rich cords as fastenings on the afternoon coat are a relief after the various hook and button arrangements.

One of the prettiest novelties of the season is the hat pin of Irish Crochet to be worn with the dainty summer hat.

AWFUL ACT OF MAINE MAN.

BANGOR, Me., June 27.—Coroner Raskliff, of Oldtown on Monday visited the scene of the Springfield tragedy, and after viewing the remains of David Downes and his two victims, Mrs. Elizabeth Downes, wife of David, and her mother, Mrs. Ivy Woodard, decided that an inquest was not necessary. The funeral services will be held on Tuesday, Mrs. Downes and her mother to be buried side by side, Downes in a separate place. Later accounts of the tragedy vary somewhat in interesting details from the first story. The shooting did not occur in the home of the Downes family, but at the house of Mrs. Downes' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ivy Woodard, across the road. Mrs. Downes had spent Saturday night with her parents, and was still in the house when at 9.30 o'clock Sunday morning, her husband appeared in rather an ugly mood and demanded to see his wife. Mrs. Woodard refused him admittance, and when he insisted, seized an axe and stood brandishing the weapon in the doorway, whereupon Downes raised his rifle and shot the woman dead in her tracks.

Hearing the altercation, followed by the shot, and the fall of her mother's body, Mrs. Downes appeared in the doorway, and after a few words she too fell before Downes' rifle. Ivy Woodard and Mrs. Mrs. Gibson, neighbours, who were in the house at the time, fled through the back door, and Downes retreated to the road, where with rifle ready, he gazed about as if seeking another victim, presumably Mr. Woodard. No one being in sight, Downes, after a brief pause returned to the bloody doorway, stepped over the bodies of his wife and Mrs. Woodard, and placing the muzzle of the rifle in his mouth, fired, his corpse falling across the others.

It is said that Downes and his wife had been living apart for five weeks, and that he blamed Mrs. Woodard for their estrangement.

Notes From Our Iron Island.

Regret to record another sad fatality whereby Charlie Cox, son of Sergt. Cox, was killed by being run over by an ore car on the N. S. S. C. Co. tramway Tuesday evening. While sitting on the car he accidentally fell off, and before being noticed two loaded cars passed over him. He lived but a half hour after the accident. His parents have the deepest sympathy of all the residents in their great affliction.

The Crescent Amusement Club held their annual excursion here Wednesday and had an ideal day. A team from the city played a football match with the Dominion A. A. team, who defeated the visitors by 2 to 1, thus keeping up the honor of the island as well as the laurels they have already attained this season.

Saturday last witnessed one of the greatest football games ever played on the island. For the last month all Bell Island anxiously awaited the 7th of July, when the rival teams from the two companies, the Nova Scotia and Dominion, would face one another for the mastery of this noble game. As expected, the game was a close one and fast from start to finish. Early in the first half the Dominion, through W. Burke, scored. The shot was a beauty and well placed, going just under the bar and so swift that Bastow, the N. S. custodian, was beaten. No other scoring was done and the Dominion retired victorious, having retrieved their defeat of last summer. After the game the winning team, accompanied by their friends, were driven to the Wabana House, and on Tuesday evening they were dined by a gentleman from the city, who on more than one occasion has proved himself a true sport.

I would like to call the attention of the Postmaster General to the urgent need of keeping the East End P. O. in St. John's open till 11 a.m. to receive mails for Bell Island. I understand the mail there for the island closes at 7 a.m., while it does not close at the G. P. O. till noon, exactly five hours later. Why this? Because the P.M.G. has not recognized that it would only be justice to the East Enders and the residents of Bell Island to keep the East End P.O. open till 11 o'clock. This state of affairs is anything but creditable to the P. O. authorities, and the time is ripe that they should wake up at least in his matter. Imagine an East End of the city of St. John's having to walk a half mile or more to the G. P. O. to post mail for the island, while there are several branch offices alongside their doors, but the mail is closed there since early morning. Let us hope, Mr. Editor, that the East Enders will be better looked after by the G. P. O. authorities and that soon we shall see the day, when the East End P. O. will be open till 11 a.m. to receive the Bell Island mail. The time when this mail happens is certainly not far off. Let it be immediately.

Yours truly,
BELL ISLAND.

THE FAIR IMPOSTOR.

CHAPTER XI
WINNING TRUE HEARTS.

Laura made the Priory almost unbearable; day and night muttering over her part, requesting everybody and anybody to hear her recite this and that; trying this attitude and that before every glass in the house, and either proclaiming her conviction that she should inevitably break down in the middle, or prophesying that she should be too hoarse to speak; but Lillian seemed to think the matter of very little consequence. Sir Talbot, Harold, Gerald—all of them—were surprised. They were still more surprised at the first rehearsal, when she, and she alone, was letter perfect; and, unlike the other—who doddled about the stage after the manner of amateurs—took up her right positions and responded to her "cues"; once or twice, too, she volunteered, very reluctantly, to offer hints and suggestions which seemed to set the confusion straight. Gerald was consumed by mingled surprise and delight.

"How thoroughly you seemed to understand everything," he said, leaning on her arm and looking up at her with eager admiration in his violet eyes. "Have you ever acted in amateur theatricals before?"

"No, never," she said, quietly, and after that she looked on, and offered no more suggestions. Neither did she join in the innumerable little fussy meetings at the Priory, the Grange and the Hall itself; little parties, at which nothing but theatrical matters were talked about, and at which the various costumes were hauled about and tried on, altered and generally spoiled.

"I am afraid dear Lillian doesn't take much interest in our little discussions," murmured Laura Warner, at one of these gatherings, when an excuse came instead of Lillian herself.

Once there, her manner—that mixture of reserve and pride which provoked so much criticism among her equals—would disappear, as the early morning mist before the sun, and the heiress of Woodleigh Hall would be transformed into the pitying, loving sister of mercy.

There is always a prejudice against new c-mers.

The cottagers, when they heard of the arrival of Sir Talbot's daughter, grumbled, and prophesied that there would be no more old port and thick blankets, and they were proportionately surprised when the beautiful, young mistress came among them, bringing not only port and blankets, but womanly sympathy and pity.

She had been at the Hall only two short months; the people of the village who had heard of her proud, reserved manner, and been prejudiced against her, had in those two short months entirely veered round from cold suspicion to warm and enthusiastic praise.

"Call her proud," gasped an old man to a servant from the Hall, who had 'looked in' upon him. "You may be a fool! She tuk off her gloves and made my gruel w' her own hands, and white as milk they be!"

"God bless her lovely face!" cried a woman, whose sick child Lillian had sat nursing through the whole of one hot day, while the mother went hay-making. "God bless her lovely face! She's an angel, if ever there was one on this earth!"

But the people at the Grange and the Priory never heard this. Once outside the sick room, the heiress of Woodleigh was the proud, reserved girl again; and her associates, who met her on the road, and received the slight, cold bow of recognition, would never believe that the lovely face could grow wistful and tender as it bent over some feverish child.

In two short months Lillian had won the entrance to every cottage in Woodleigh, and the heart of every inmate.

Sometimes that reserve and pride which was so marked would disappear. At times her lovely face would be all smiles, and the musical voice would be broken with girlish laughter. Sir Talbot sitting in his study, would hear her running across the lawn, laughing, full of glee, with half a dozen dogs tearing after her, barking and yelping with delight. All the animals about the place loved Lillian. There was an old dog—so old that no one could date his age with certainty—whom, on account of his crustiness and general bad temper, was avoided by old and young.

Lillian found him, one morning, chained to his kennel, snarling grumpily at a stable boy, who was pushing his food at the end of a long stick.

With a laugh, she took up the earthenware dish, and, going boldly up to the kennel, laid her hand caressingly on his head.

Old Gip started for a moment, as if he were trying to make up his mind whether he should seize the round, white arm or make a dash for the slender throat of the intruder, but suddenly he came out of his hole and commenced to lick the hand instead.

It was the same with the horses, and with the cows, even.

She stole the hearts of every one of them.

It was only with her equals that Lillian was cold and reserved.

Her moods changed; she was like an English summer day—one hour all smiles, the other cold and repelling.

Sometimes, when Sir Talbot was caressing her, patting the soft, white hand, and calling her his darling and his pride, she would suddenly throw her arms about him and lay her head on his shoulder; then suddenly she would spring up, as if some bitter memory had seized her, and, throwing him far from her, spring from his sight.

"My poor darling!" Sir Talbot would murmur, with a spasm of remorse; "she cannot forgive me yet! The past—the cruel past—comes back to her. It is my punishment; Heaven help me to bear it and win her love!"

But to Harold her manner never changed. At all hours and seasons it was the same. Not cold, but reserved and guarded; it was as if she were keeping watch upon his every word and action.

Never since that first evening, when he had offered to give her all that remained to him of his heritage, had she allowed him a chance of speaking to her alone and in confidence.

He could not complain; she was always courteous and attentive, but nothing more.

Harold took to heavy swims and long walks, and tried to solve the problem.

"Sometimes," he mused, pulling his tawny moustache, "I think she has me. If—if I thought so, I would get out of her sight!"

But he could not; her beauty, her very coldness, drew him to her, as by an unbreakable chain.

The Papal Secretary.

Cardinal Merry del Val, who is reported to have named the State officials of the recent archbishop's outrage in Spain, is a Londoner by birth, and on his mother's side is connected with England. His grandfather was at one time Member of Parliament for Southampton, and his Eminence himself was educated near Slough. His father was for many years Secretary to the Spanish Embassy in London.

In his young days Cardinal Merry del Val, although not a particularly brilliant scholar, was nevertheless a brilliant athlete.

He is still an exceedingly athletic man; in fact, it is said that he is the only one of the august body to which he belongs who ever makes any attempt to take physical exercise. This, perhaps, is not surprising when it is remembered that most of his brother Cardinals are nearer seventy than sixty.

Last year the Cardinal was the hero of a very amusing incident arising out of an action in the Italian courts concerning a bequest of two million lire to the Holy See. The Papal authorities were not represented at the proceedings, and the judgment could not be carried into effect until formal notice had been served either upon the Papal Secretary or on the Pontiff himself.

For two months a court official made, repeated, but unsuccessful, attempts to catch the Cardinal. One day it came to the official's knowledge that his quarry had gone to the lake Bracciano. Hurrying thither, he came face to face with the Cardinal while bathing, whereupon he flourished his all important paper.

But his Eminence, who is an excellent and powerful swimmer, made off for the shore and regained his cabin. When he emerged, the official was nowhere to be seen, and the Cardinal immediately drove off to a restaurant, where he lunched in a private room.

Presently he called for his bill. He was handed a slip, only to find that he had been given the court decree. But the judgment was simply to the effect that the Italian Government had authorized the Vatican to accept the legacy of two million lire.—M.A.P.

ADDRESS

Delivered by Monsignor Roche, V. G., at the Reunion of the Alumni of St. Bonaventure's College, July 14th, 1910.

Mr. Vice-President and Gentlemen of the St. Bonaventure Association:— I will not deny that though I shrink from the task to which I am about to devote myself this morning, I could not but esteem it an honour and a privilege to have been asked to deliver what I might term the inaugural address of the annual reunion of the alumni of St. Bonaventure's. It was a distinction of which any past student might be justly proud. And if I betrayed any hesitancy when I was requested to address you by your esteemed Vice-President and Secretary, it was because I felt I could not give that time and thought to the preparation of a paper which the importance of the occasion demanded. We are assembled here this morning in this beautiful Aula Maxima of the new St. Bonaventure's for a purpose which might be called sentimental, but sentiment plays a larger part than we realize in human affairs. We are here this morning to strengthen those ties of affection and regard which we feel towards this grand old College, which is the Alma Mater of us all. For more than half a century this College has been the centre of instruction for the Catholics of Newfoundland. Within its venerable walls have been trained most of those of our Catholic citizens who have risen to prominence in their professions, and who have been and who are reflecting credit alike on their College and their Church. Within these venerable walls have been trained for generations those who in turn have been the teachers of others throughout the land. This College has played an important part in the last half century of our Colonial history. It is from the very beginning of its history it has been amongst the foremost educational institutions in the Colony. And to say that it is to say that it has had much to do with shaping the destinies and framing the fortune of the Colony. The history of any country, great or small, is largely the history of its educational growth and development, and that growth and development will be reflected in its systems and institutions. Educational problems are amongst the most important and the most vital with which any State or Government has to deal.

A great educational authority, Dr. Henry Barnard, says "The Education of a people bears a constant influential relation to its attainments and excellences—physical, mental and moral. The National education is once a cause and effect of the national character; and accordingly the history of education affords the only ready and perfect key to the human race, and of each nation in it—and its unfolding standard for estimating its advance or its retreat upon the line of human progress."

The study of the development of education is most interesting and instructive. However it is a part of my purpose to enter at length on any such this morning. I would merely in the most general way refer to what I might call the Genesis of education and indicate the stages of its development by which education has reached its present condition, and by which Catholic Education, of which this College is the exponent and type of to-day. Education has been described rather than defined to be "that form of social activity whereby under the direction of mature minds and by the use of adequate means and powers of the immature human being are so developed as to prepare him for the accomplishment of his life hereafter." The development of work here, and his eternal life hereafter. The development of work here, and his eternal life hereafter. The development of work here, and his eternal life hereafter.

The classical nations of ancient Greece and Rome shared a marked advance in educational ideas. These great nations of antiquity are the source and origin of all modern culture. Since the days of the glory of Greece and Rome, culture has indeed broadened and deepened, and the ever-growing victories of science, and the new achievements in every domain of research, its broad sense of enlightenment and cultivation of mental powers, must be traced to the cities of ancient Greece and Rome. In literature, in poetry, in history, their works are still considered

CHURCH POINT, July 31, '08.

Blacking & Mercantile Co., Ltd., Amherst, N.S. Dear Sirs,—Nearly one year ago I had my first order of "Mathieu's Syrup" from you. It was not known in this country, and I gave samples to several families whom I knew would use it. After a few weeks I began to have a call for it, and trade has increased wonderfully since. I have not the least doubt but that it will soon be the best selling remedy for coughs, colds, etc., on the market. In my store here sales are good and our people ask for it. Several stores in this country now keep it in stock and report sales increasing. I have bought from you since August 16th, 1907, 4 Gross and have only 3 dozen on hand at this date, and which I am holding for retail trade in my store. Yours truly, LOUIS A. McLANSON.

necessary for a complete liberal education. Aristotle and Plato, Cicero and Demosthenes, Homer, Horace and Virgil, Xenophon and Tacitus, these great names can never lose their place in the literature, philosophy and history of the world. These classical nations, which always possess such a fascination and charm for the student, have lost much of their ancient glory by contrast with the development of science by modern nations. The aesthetic, the artistic, whose ideals must always exercise a powerful influence in the world's thought. It need hardly be said that education was profoundly influenced by the introduction of Christianity into the world. It is little more than a truism to many that the advent of Christianity was the greatest event in the history of the world. The Christian conception of life differs radically and essentially from the pagan, and that difference made itself felt in all the relations of life. A new set of truths was thrown into the world destined to change its character, a set of truths of which no system could therefore refuse to take notice. The world entered upon its final period of development with the advent of the greatest teacher in history. As someone puts it when the truths announced by Him have exhausted their force upon mankind, then come the end." Since education depends on teaching, and teaching depends on the teacher, it could not but be that His coming would profoundly influence educational methods and systems. His teaching Church was to continue His work, to reach all nations, no doubt in the first instance applied to the preaching of His Gospel. These words are the charter of the Church as a teaching institution. But they are regarded as the greatest educational force in the Church in modern times. We have also, amongst others, the orders of the Christian Brotherhoods—the French Brothers of St. Sallie and our own Irish Christian Brothers. The Church's activity in the interest of education, elementary, secondary and university, has been unceasing during the last three hundred years and our own Irish Christian Brothers. The Church's activity in the interest of education, elementary, secondary and university, has been unceasing during the last three hundred years and our own Irish Christian Brothers.

For the last three hundred years the Catholic Church has been carrying on the struggle for the defence of these great principles on which Christianity was founded. Her ideal in education has been to combine the natural and supernatural. In this struggle she has had to contend against tremendous odds, negatively and positively, by fierce antagonism to her most cherished Catholic ideal, the heresies which were equal to the occasion. She has produced these magnificent teaching orders, male and female, founded expressly for the purpose of educating Catholic youth, and which have done the work done in the cause of Catholic education by the sons of Ignatius of Loyola, the founder of the Society of Jesus. It will not be denied that as a body and an order they must be regarded as the greatest educational force in the Church in modern times. We have also, amongst others, the orders of the Christian Brotherhoods—the French Brothers of St. Sallie and our own Irish Christian Brothers.

And now to come nearer home; with us in this Colony religion and education, science and faith have ever gone hand in hand and have ever happily blended. Almost coincident with the birth of the Colony and the appointment of the first Bishop, towards the end of the 18th century was the establishment of the Benevolent Irish Society, a society that has done yeoman service in the cause of Catholic education. During the first half of the 19th century in Newfoundland there was little education in progress. Matters ecclesiastical and political were in an unsettled condition; sectarian prejudices were rife; our Catholic forefathers felt the effects of the great struggle of Emancipation which was being waged in the Homeland; and the shadow of the penal laws seemed to loom across the broad Atlantic on our forefathers in this Colony. In the year 1827, under the auspices of the B. I. S. the school known traditionally as the Orphan Asylum, was opened and this may be said to have marked the beginning of our educational development. In 1884, nearly twenty years later, was established the Academy for higher studies, whose principal was the late John V. Nugent, and one of whose professors was the late Hon. Thomas Talbot who ended his days in this College. From this time forward progress was more rapid. Towards the middle of the century, the great Prelate who then presided over the Church, His Lordship Bishop Fleming, saw that the time was ripe for the erection of a Cathedral and the noble concept of a noble mind—was begun. In the true spirit of the Catholic Church, immediately following the erection of the Cathedral, adequate provision was made for the increasing educational needs. No sooner was the Cathedral completed, than the Old St. Bonaventure's arose within the protecting shadow of its majestic towers. For more than half a century it has supplied that higher education which our local conditions demanded. For more than fifty years, our Catholic young men have received within its walls that training which enables them to share the ranks of the learned and liberal professions. Many afterwards have gone abroad to seek training in these high branches which could not be supplied here; but the greater number went forth from the class halls of this college to take up their work in life; and the many who have figured honourably in the public eye have laboured and are labouring successfully in the less conspicuous but not the less honourable walks of life bear testimony to the worth of the training imparted within the walls of the St. Bonaventure's. The highest positions of Church and State have been held and are being held by students who received their early training here. Men who have come to the top in their chosen professions owe their success to St. Bonaventure's.

In comparatively recent times the College changed hands and is present cap under the control of its present capable and energetic management. A century of the Christian Brothers have been labouring unselfishly and unostentatiously to uphold the noble and unostentatious tradition of St. Bonaventure's past. It will always be a pleasing reminiscence for me that I was one of those who came to the College in 1889, when it was first opened under the new management with pride to the fact that I was the first priest to be ordained from the College after the change of the old to the new.

And now, we have come to the latest development and we look with pride on the latest phase of this grand old College. The increasing number of pupils, the need for more spacious accommodation and for more modern and up-to-date buildings, the erection of the new St. Bonaventure's, with magnificent liberality the Catholic people of the Island responded to the call, and this noble Catholic church in this country—arose within the past few years. Foremost in the work which called forth the establishment of St. Bonaventure's was the Association of the ex-students of the College. All the latent reverence and love for their venerable Alma Mater, which all students of the College feel, was aroused, and they set on foot their own noble St. Bonaventure's worthy of themselves worthy of their country, and worthy of their church. It is earnestly to be hoped that the enthusiasm displayed up to the present day, and the satisfaction of the last cent of indebtedness is paid off and we can feel that the new St. Bonaventure's is in very good luck. It is to renew our love for the old College, an stimulant to enthusiasm in the cause, that we are assembled at this reunion this morning. I hope it will be only the beginning of many such, that it will be taken up enthusiastically by the bonds of loyalty and love which we should feel for this venerable mother to whom we all owe so much. I trust be only the beginning of many such, that it will be taken up enthusiastically by the bonds of loyalty and love which we should feel for this venerable mother to whom we all owe so much.

A few personal references will not be out of place. I know I am only expressing the sentiments of all present when I say how pleased we are to have with us as the celebrant of the Mass this morning the Dean of the Mass this morning, and one of the oldest students of St. Bonaventure's. The fruitful years of the venerable Dean's priesthood spanned the long space of three Episcopates. Ordained by Bishop Mullock in 1846, he was in his prime and vigour under the late Bishop Power, and we still find him active in the work under the present Archbishop. It is surely a happy event that the celebrant of the Mass to-day should be one who is not only the Dean of the Archdiocese in point of honour, but who in the number of years in the ministry is the Dean of the Catholic clergy of Newfoundland. We wish him many more fruitful years in the ministry, and we hope that his golden jubilee in a few years time will find him as active as he is to-day.

I must not conclude without an expression of regret at the absence of some ex-pupils whose presence would have added lustre to the occasion. We all deeply regret that the Archbishop is not here to witness the honour of his patronage in this gathering of the students of his College. His Grace must be regarded as amongst the most distinguished of St. Bonaventure's pupils. He was the first to be elected to the Episcopate, and he was the first to wear the Pallium when the Diocese was made a metropolitan See. It is also matter for regret that His Lordship Bishop Marsh of Harbour Grace, the second of St. Bonaventure's Bishops, should be prevented by Diocesan duties from being with us this morning. Nor can we forget the President of St. Bonaventure's Association, an ex-pupil of the College, who is to-day filling the proud position of Premier of his native land. He has been indefatigable in his efforts to promote the objects of the Association, and has shown himself deeply interested in the work of building the new St. Bonaventure's. We surely may be pardoned on an occasion of this kind, if we at the present time the destinies of our Church and State in Newfoundland are being directed by sons of St. Bonaventure's. Long may it so continue. May the new St. Bonaventure's give us as the old has ever given men who will be qualified to occupy any position in the land; men of learning and of culture; men of high and noble character; men who will be honoured place in the councils of their country; men who, if need be, can wear with grace and dignity the royal purple of our Holy Church. "Farewell St. Bonaventure's."

Collegians Beat Irish. There was quite an audience on St. George's Field last evening to witness the League match between the Collegians and B. I. S. football teams. It was an excellent evening for the match, a slight breeze blowing from the west. The Irish won the toss and defended the western goal. The line up was as follows: Collegians—B. Butler, goal; G. Gear and E. Gear, halves; Sparks, Haddon and Pike, backs; Bastow, Thompson, Aitken, Penney, James, forwards. B. I. S.—W. Brophy, goal; J. Kavanaugh, J. Cooper, backs; N. Vinnicombe, J. O'Reilly and J. Bennett, halves; W. Cantwell, E. Brophy, G. Downs, S. Baird, H. Pedigrew, forwards. Slow play was witnessed for some time after the ball was kicked off, after which the Collegians made a determined descent on the Irish goal but were repulsed. Fouls were recorded against both teams the Collegians secured several corners but no scoring resulted, and erratic shooting kept both teams from finding the net. The half time whistle blew and the teams crossed without scoring. When the second half began the men in green and gold called on Butler, who cleared neatly and the Collegians retorted by getting the leather down field. Here Aitken captured it and made a nice shot, hitting the cross bar. Rebounding, Cooper tried to head it out of danger, but it went in the air and fell over Brophy's head into the net. Collegians won therefore "first blood." The Irish now braced themselves up to try and get the equalizer, but could not pass their opponents, who again got the ball east and Aitken again getting it sent a hot one from the wing and again beat Brophy. The Irish fought hard for the rest of the game, but their active opponents blocked any chance of scoring, and the game closed Collegians, 2; B.I.S., 0. Mr. W. J. Higgins refereed.

Regatta Meeting. The Regatta Committee met last night at Wood's. Hon. Jno. Harvey presided. The Secretary has had no reply from the Council yet as to the ground for the Derby. Cocksain Chafe of the Calypso asked that the Naval Reserve race be changed. Cant. Innes made a similar request to the President. It cannot be done this season as the programme is settled upon. The matter of the log rolling contest was left to the Executive to report upon at next meeting. Mayor W. J. Ellis wrote thanking the Committee for their congratulations. He presents Newfoundland gold medals for the tradesmen's race, and this was received with great applause. The collectors reported as to their work. They are not up to last season's work as yet, and if the Regatta is to be a success funds must be forthcoming quickly. Mr. Walter Irving will be official driver for the Committee Regatta Day. Mr. Higgins intimated that most of the truckmen would prefer money prizes, and this they will receive. The commanding officers of the city brigades will be written to and furnished with rules governing the inter-brigade swimming race for the McGregor trophy. The programme was reviewed by the President and all the events will be well contested, not less than three crews appearing in each race. Mr. Higgins stated that tradesmen and tradesmen from Bell Island would compete. They must apply quickly for boats. There will be several boats in the Society race, and it may be run in heats if possible. Mr. A. G. Williams stated that the Boulevard is in a bad state. The Council will be asked to see to it. The Board of Works Department will be asked to place bridges at the head of the lake. The name of Mr. John S. Munn was omitted from the Committee purely by an accident. He has always been an active and efficient member and a Regatta enthusiast, and he was immediately added to the Committee when the mistake was discovered. If the necessary funds are forthcoming, this year's Regatta will be the most interesting for some time.

A Great Hardship. Those who are given to swimming during this hot weather are much inconvenienced for want of a proper bathing place. The two houses which were at the Battery have not been replaced since being swept away in the sea, and neither men nor boys can now get a swim. For lads who are eager to learn this necessary and useful art there is no provision made. Boys must go to deep ponds and pools to bathe and at the risk of their lives. It is a shame to see so many boys thus deprived of amusements themselves while learning an art which may mean for them at any time the preservation of life. Mr. W. J. Ellis, now our esteemed Mayor, moved in this matter a few years ago after a drowning accident at Quill Vidi, and he would be doing a beneficial work now if he would move for the institution of swimming-baths.

Sciatic Rheumatism. Unable to work or sleep—Six years of suffering—Cured by DR. A. W. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD. Mr. Alex. I could not work, was unable to sleep, and had no appetite." "Nothing seemed to help up my nerves until I made use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. After having used about $12.00 worth of this medicine I feel like a new man. I can walk all right. To a great deal of work, have a good appetite and sleep well every night."

Coronation Day.

By a happy inspiration the anniversary of Queen Victoria's Diamond Jubilee has been fixed upon as the date for King George's Coronation. On June 22nd, 1897, there were gathered together not only the might and majesty of those in authority at home, but the principalities and powers from the dominions and dependencies beyond the seas had also their place in that notable festival. As Her Majesty's reign had been distinguished not only for the expansion in area and population of the Empire, not only in great industrial development and not only in extraordinary extension of commercial intercourse, but also in a most marked strengthening of the bonds of love for the good Queen and of the sentiment of loyalty to the homeland and for one part of the Empire to another, it was a grand conception to manifest visibly to the Empire itself and to the world at large what the Empire meant, and so the Diamond Jubilee Festival took the form it did.

It augurs well for the future that the Coronation of our King has been fixed for June 22nd, 1910, for that date associates with the King's Coronation, the first great Festival of Empire which took place on June 22nd, 1897. As His Majesty's training consisted largely of the education of travel within the confines of the world wide British Empire, and as his destiny will lead him into more intimate relations with the peoples of the States beyond the Seas, it is especially gratifying that the exalted function of the Coronation should be historically connected with a festival, the influence of which has been profound in consolidating the sentiment which holds our sea separated states in the bonds of love and loyalty.

At the Wadhams dogfish are a great pest and no cod is being taken.

Flavin, Mrs. H. Montgomery, C. H. Brady, C. Babcock and wife, Miss Edith and Master Steward Babcock. Mr. and Mrs. H. Houseman, W. Horwood, Miss K. Carroll, Miss Gertrude Benson, Miss L. Carnell, Miss L. Mundy, E. M. Edgcombe, Marie McNeil, Miss K. McCarthy, Miss Nellie Bell and T. J. Morris.

BOY KILLED.
Mr. Hutchings, K. C., had a wife yesterday from Magistrate McDonnell, of St. George's, saying that a little boy, aged 5, a son of Jas. Campbell, of Searstown, was killed there yesterday for being caught falling on him. He will be buried to-day.

KILLED BY DOGS.
People who recently arrived from the Labrador Coast report a horrible accident at Indian Islands near Cartwright last week. A little girl named Davis, aged 5 years, was playing about with her brothers while several Indian dogs prowled around the place. The little girl's mates left her and went some distance away when suddenly they heard the shrieks of the child intermingled with the growling of the dogs. The children hurried to the spot and were horrified to see their little sister being mangled by the ferocious brutes. Her cries had been reduced to but feeble moans when they came near the spot and the children had to fly to save themselves from a similar fate. When grown-up people came in answer to the appeal of the children they found the little one dead her body being torn by the dogs. This is the third accident of this kind within two years on the Labrador.

A DANGEROUS WOUND.
Jas. Darcy and Harold Neary, two members of the C. C. C. band were cycling Thursday night. The former was thrown with force and had his left hand split open tearing the veins and arteries. His companion helped to staunch the flow of blood and getting him to Dr. Mitchell's surgery, seven stitches were put in the cut. Mr. Darcy as a result cannot leave with the C. C. C. Band on the excursion on Monday.

A MAN DROWNED.
By the Susu we learn that on Tuesday the 12th inst., a sad drowning accident occurred at Gander Bay. Arthur Mills and Arthur Blake, two young men were returning from a picnic at Salt Island in a small boat with a big breeze of wind blowing. They went to see if there was any fish in a salmon net, on their journey both got on the side of the boat and turned it over. They were thrown into the water but clung to the boat which they uprighted five times only to upset it again by falling against the side of the boat. They were thrown into the water and reached the buoy of the net to which he clung until men from Salt Island rescued him. Mills sank to bottom and his body was recovered at 8 a.m. Wednesday. He leaves a wife and two small children.

NARROWLY ESCAPED DROWNING.
Last evening, Thomas Austin and Ralph Herder, two young men, went to Long Point for a bath. The Herder had a pretty good swimmer and while swimming about he suddenly noticed that his friend who could not swim, had disappeared. Seeing bubbles rising to the surface, where Austin had gone over an overfall, young Herder pluckily dove and brought his unconscious friend to the surface and then ashore. It was some time before the rescued man revived. An accident of this kind emphasizes the necessity for youths to learn swimming. BROKE HIS LEG.
Mr. J. Parsons of the Customs Department who was examining freight on the 11th inst., yesterday morning with a painful accident, a bale fell on him and broke his leg. He was taken home and a doctor called in. He will not be able to work for several weeks.

During the past week the engine has been installed in the new ferry-boat and she was christened on Tuesday, Rev. Fr. Gough, breaking the bottle on her stern. She afterwards took crowds to the N.E. and S.E. arms. On Wednesday the nuns and priests were taken out for a run. On Thursday she went on the Gut but after the first trip her reversing gear refused to work and she was repaired during the afternoon and another run told that it was still out of order. However, it was fully repaired and she is running the service to day (Friday).

There still seems to be no decrease in the amount of salmon caught in the S.E. River. If any there is an increase. During the past week Mr. W. Walsh caught seven and Mr. Taylor six, while others have landed from one to five.

Notes From Harbor Grace.

A large number of holiday seekers took advantage of the delightful weather on Wednesday for a trip in the country, troutling, etc. The day was very much enjoyed, and would have been more so but for the altogether too friendly mosquito.

Miss Madge Oke goes to Carbonary by to-day's train on a visit to friends.

A large number of the troutlers joined the train at Peddleton. This favorite resort is badly in need of a platform for the convenience of the traveller. It is dangerous in joining or leaving the train, especially in the night time, and the wonder is that some accident has not occurred. We would take the liberty of drawing the attention of the Reid Mill Co. to this, and trust that in a short time we will see a platform there or even a siding where a car could be left when a sufficient number of passengers offer.

Your correspondent had the pleasure on Wednesday of visiting the Archibald party in camp, and enjoyed the hospitality of the thoughtful manager. The camps, six in number, besides the "dining camp," where the entire company of 50 persons can be seated at one time, are situated in a delightful spot about four miles from Peddleton, between Tickle and Island ponds. We arrived at a very opportune time, about 1 o'clock, and before making our presence known we viewed the surroundings. The lads were all seated at the tables, with the waiters busy supplying their wants. The manager, H. H. Archibald, Esq., was at the head of the table making sure that all of his guest-employees were feeling at home and doing full justice to the good things provided. Boats had been brought along and placed in each pond, for the amusement of the boys. A number of life-belts were also provided for those who wished to learn the useful art of swimming. Nothing was forgotten, not even the engine which was given a good position on the largest tent, this to show that they were British and were proud of it. All arrangements for comfort and amusement were so complete that the outing was being thoroughly enjoyed. We secured some beautiful pictures, which the public will no doubt have the pleasure of viewing in the near future. The party returned to town by to-night's train.

A good joke was played on an innocent young trout on Wednesday. He was given a bottle what was supposed to be "bad for mosquitoes" and he applied it to all parts of his face, neck and hands. Shortly after he went to a shady place and fell asleep, but he found he could not wake up, as the mixture was none other than glue, and his eyes were firmly fastened. Even a smile that happened to be on his face when the mixture was applied remained there for some time, and try how he would for some time, and try how he would

Miss Nellie Parsons, of R. Rutherford & Co's. employ caught a monster eel at grove siding on Wednesday. Mr. Bel, not caring to be caught by a female, wriggled and fought hard and long to escape, but Nellie was equal to the occasion, and at last she lugged the prize. The monster measured nearly three feet. We hope some young millionaire may visit this town during the coming celebration and that the above young lady may again be successful.

The New Council.

Most of the business of the Council consisted of the regular routine work of which there was a large amount, so that the meeting did not end till after midnight.

The Road Inspector was ordered to give attention to the roads on the South Side, and to take the gravel offered by Mr. T. J. Pike, Secretary of St. Mary's Building Committee, should it be suitable for road purposes.

In reply to the letter of J. J. Noonan, Secretary of the Regatta Committee, who asked for the use of the ground around the Lake for the Regatta, the Secretary was instructed to confer with him and explain the matter.

A receipt was laid on the table from the Minister of Finance acknowledging the receipt of half yearly interest owed the Government to June 30th, 1910, viz., $25,201.85, also $8,000 half yearly payment to upkeep of the Fire Department.

J. Cox, Springdale Street, says that he cannot afford to undertake the expense of connecting his house with the main sewer, and asked the Council on what terms would they do the work for him. The Plumbing Inspector will be ordered to make a report before an answer is given to Mr. Cox.

The Road Committee of the E. End, Councilors Coaker and Ryan, will attend to Mr. R. F. Goodridge's request to have the rail at the Mall near St. Thomas' Church, painted.

CORONATION DAY.

Special to the Evening Telegram. LONDON, July 15.—The coronation of King George has been fixed for June 22nd, 1911.

EARL GREY SAILS.

Special to the Evening Telegram. LONDON, July 15.—Earl Grey sailed to-day for Canada where he will resume the duties of his office as Governor-General of Canada pending the appointment of his successor, the Duke of Connaught.

ANOTHER AIRMAN DEAD.

Special to Evening Telegram. GAND, Belgium, July 15.—Daniel King, the Belgian aeronaut, who held the rudder of his aeroplane broke last Saturday, died from his injuries to-day. He held the world's record for an aeroplane flight with a passenger. On May 15 he remained in the air with a companion for 2 hours and 51 minutes.

COTTON DISPUTE SETTLED.

Special to Evening Telegram. MANCHESTER, July 15.—The long pending dispute in the cotton mills was settled to-night at a joint meeting of the employers and operatives, when the employers withdrew their demand for a 5 per cent. reduction in wages. Both sides agreed there should be no change in wages for the next 5 years.

REGULUS IN COLLISION.

Special to Evening Telegram. PHILADELPHIA, July 15.—The steamer Regulus, which collided with the British steamer Karena off Nantucket Wednesday morning, arrived here to-night. The Regulus was damaged but not very seriously. The captain stated that he saw nothing of the Karena after the collision because of the fog, and after staying around for a time he proceeded to this city.

GULNARE ASHORE.

Special Evening Telegram. HALK, N.S., July 15.—The Canadian Government steamer Gulnare, of the Hydrographic Survey, is ashore in the Labrador coast, near the entrance to the bay of Bell Island. The steamer has been ashore for three days. The Government steamer Earl Grey will leave this morning to go to the assistance of the Gulnare, which is commanded by Captain Knowlton, formerly of the cruiser Canada, and has been at work since May on the present survey.

CHINA SATISFIED.

Special Evening Telegram. PEKING, July 15.—In acknowledging the receipt of the text of the Russo-Japanese convention, which was presented to the Foreign Office by the diplomatic representatives of the contracting parties yesterday, China will express her satisfaction over the avowed purpose of Russia and Japan to adhere to the terms of the Portsmouth treaty. The Government will not be satisfied until the maintenance in Manchuria of the status quo and the principle of the open door for commercial developments.

NO MAILED-FIST FOR KOREA.

Special to Evening Telegram. TOKIO, July 15.—Lieut.-General 'Isocunt' Terauchi left today for Seoul to investigate the situation of the resident General of Korea. At the moment of departure he stated that Japan would not use the mailed fist in Korea or of those of foreign residents. Radical changes in the system of government would, however, be made if necessary. In view of the general belief that the annexation of the hermit kingdom by Japan would not be long delayed, a formal expression of opinion on his part on the proposed policy was sought. "I am unable to outline a policy in detail regarding the future of Korea until after a full investigation of the spot. Koreans and the world may rest assured that there is no intention of using the mailed fist. The policy for the development of the country and the improvement of the condition of the people, which was adopted by Prince Ito, will be mine. Doubtless radical changes will be necessary in the present system of the government in order to co-ordinate and make practical, but there is no intention on the part of the Government of Japan to take any steps antagonistic to the real interests either of the foreign Powers or of the Koreans."

Price of Flour.

The wheat situation in Canada and the States at the present time is rather alarming. Making all due allowance for the exaggeration that is inseparable from the first reports, the wheat crop is certain to be very much short of that of last year in the great American wheat belt. During the past week flour has advanced at Winnipeg 32 cents per bushel, equal to an increase of $1.60 per barrel on flour. This abnormal rise has been caused by the extraordinary drought in June and July. The rainfall in June was only one-tenth of the average. Many fields are already ruined beyond hope of recovery owing to want of rain. Others may recover somewhat. The district of North and South Dakota and all the N. W. of Canada are affected by the drought. The United States Government crop report for June 30th reduces the prospects of spring wheat from $8 to $1—falling off of 37 points. This is equivalent to a shortage of one hundred million bushels. In Canada two weeks ago the prospects were on a careful estimate, from 140 to 90 million bushels. To even realize this figure favorable weather is required, and if the drought continues the estimate will be further reduced. The whole situation summed up is that flour is going to be high. At Manitoba the shortage amounts to a disaster. Still the outcome may not be as bad as the circumstances at present indicate.
