Tortured Priests
in Belgium.

The following is published at the request of the Belgian Legation in London:
The Catholic clergy appear to have suffered in a most special measure
from the German invasion of Belgium.
Sacerdotal and religious houses have been destroyed or profaned in almost every village, and in many towns. In most cases these edifices have been filled as stables or prisons. In many places the sacred vessels were plundered.
Members of the clergy have been subjected to special maltreatment by the German soldiery. In the dioceses of Liege, Namur, Malines and Ghent
many priests and other religious persons have been shot or hanged, and many have been carried off into Germany, where some of them appear to have been subjected to abominable tortures. Many have been insulted, illegally detained and molested.
At Louvain a group of over seventy priests, including an American and a Spanish priest, were dragged about on one place to place all through the day on August 27, molested, insulted
and threatened with military execution from time to time. Finally they were taken to the church of Campen-ne, where they were shut up for the night.
On August 21 the priest of Buechen, the Rev. M. de Clerck, was arrested by German soldiers and accused of having fired on them. This was entirely false, for he was ill, and for some time had not even been able to conduct Divine service. This poor infant was hoisted on a cannon, then killed down and cast into a ditch.
Next some soldiers took him by the arms and legs and dragged him along in pavement. The old man, tortured in this fashion, and absolutely exhausted, said that he would rather endure death than the continuance of such cruel treatment. He was then shot; he was eighty-three years of age.
A witness makes the following description:
"I saw the priest of Gerolme brought to Aerschot on August 24 with three hundred men. The Germans said he was an English spy. They took him to the Town Hall, where he was very differently handled. Next day he was led in front of the church, where he was beaten cruelly with the butt-ends
of rifles; his hands were dripping blood. He was then taken away and put on the bridge over the Demer;
the body lay there on the ground till next morning, when it was cast into the Demer."
A priest, who escaped death by a miracle, makes the following deposition:
"On Tuesday, August 15, at about 9 o'clock, the Germans arrived in swarms in the village of Schaften. Pretending that shots had been fired at them—
which was wholly untrue, for no one had even thought of resistance—they

THE GAME.
Opening at a brisk pace the Terra Novas gave their opponents a busy time of it defending. Higgins captured the disc, made a fine run and called on Burnham who cleared in style. The Terra Nova forwards started some pretty combination and in quick succession scored six goals.
Just before the period closed Higgins
made a brilliant run, passed all opponents and recorded the first goal for St. Bon's.

2nd Period.
The St. Bon's started well and owing to fumbling lost a goal. The Terra Novas again settled down to business. Their combination was some of the best ever seen in the rink.
Stick, Jr. landed No. 7 goal, followed by Tobin notching up No. 8, after one of the best bits of individual play of the evening. Not satisfied with their tactics, the Terra Novas kept up a strenuous pace and added seven goals
more to their credit through Trapnell, Stick, Gear and Mews.

About two minutes before full time
Higgins cleaned the ice and succeeded in beating Burnham for the second time.

NOTES.
Nothing like the young blood after
all.
The fans were delighted to see the Terra Novas resurrected, especially
"Nix" was itching on the fence to be in harness again, but he has a worthy successor in Burnham. Volunteers and we hope he will prove as sturdy an opponent to the Germans as he did to the St. Bon's last evening.
Jack Tobin got back. He is in better form than ever. His work was in a large measure responsible for the success of his team.

The Stick brothers, Mews, Trapnell
and Gear are clever stick-handlers and have wicked shots.
Captain Tobin is to be congratulated on his selection and for the training he gave his team.
The St. Bon's rely too much on one man.
Higgins, as usual, was really good.
He got the only goals for his team
by his individual runs.

The St. Bon's made a poor attempt at combination and some players should get notions of other pastimes
out of their heads when on the ice.
"Rubber dolls" were much in evidence last evening.

What benefit to any team are players who spend, at least, half the time in the penalty box.
The fans are in favor of the matches starting earlier.
The Feldians and St. Bon's will meet to-morrow night.

A Theatrical Treat.

No sooner is one entertainment over, than the public is promised another delightful one, this time in the form of a theatrical performance. On the 9th of February the screamingly
funny farce, entitled "French Before Breakfast" will be put on at the Cassino Theatre. When we tell the public that their old favorite Mr. Charles Hutton has been prevailed upon to appear on the boards again as Mr.
Spriggins, with Mr. Blackall as the dashing Major of the Cape Coast Slashers, the public may expect some fun. Mrs. Outerbridge as Mrs. Sprig-gins, with Mrs. Chater, Mr. Basil Jackson, Miss Mare and Miss Emerson complete the cast. The same evening that charming comedietta called "Between the Soup and the Savoury" will also be put on in which Mrs. Outerbridge, Mrs. Chater and Mrs. Colville will delight the audience. The proceeds of this performance will be given to help the suffering refugees, whose claims upon us must continue till the war is over;
but we know that the generous hearts
in St. John's will respond to this call and ensure a full house. Tickets will be on sale at the Atlantic Bookstore
from Feb. 1st.

A Wise Spider.

A subscriber once wrote to the editor of a leading paper, to tell him that he had found a spider in his paper. The writer, who was evidently superstitious, said he would like to know whether this was a sign of good luck or bad. The editor gave the following answer: "Finding a spider in your paper was neither good luck nor bad luck for you. The spider was merely looking over our paper to see which tradesman is not advertising,
so that he can go to that shop, spin
his web across the door, and lead a life of undisturbed peace ever afterwards."

GERMANY'S TERRIBLE CREED.
(By Dr. Charles W. Eliot in the New York Times.)
Be efficient, be virile, be bloody, be rulers, worship according to the rites of the religion of valor, adopt the dogma that might makes right, teach the individual that he must sacrifice
life, liberty, everything to the state, ride down and trample upon whoever stands in the way of imperial pregress along the bloody road—this is the creed of Germany, this is its theory and practice of the state's duty to itself, this is the use made of the power it has by the useless sacrifice of finer things built up. To maintain that the power which has been adopted in practice that new morality; and in accordance with its precepts promised Austria its support against Serbia, and invaded Belgium and France in hot haste, is not the responsible author of the European war, is to throw away memory, reason, and common sense, in judging

the human agencies in current events.

Bryan's Answer to Pro-Germans.

Earlier in the week a despatch told us of the satisfaction of the London Press with a reply of Secretary Bryan to charges made by Pro-Germans. The reply takes the form of a letter from the Secretary of State to Senator Stone, of Missouri, Chairman of the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations. Two of the most important paragraphs are these:—

"If any American citizens, partisans of Germany and Austria-Hungary, feel that this Administration is acting in a way injurious to the cause of those countries, this feeling results from the fact that on the high seas the German and Austro-Hungarian naval power is thus far inferior to the British. It is the business of a belligerent operating on the high seas, not the duty of a neutral, to prevent contraband from reaching an enemy. Those in this country who sympathize with Germany and Austria-Hungary appear to assume that some obligation rests upon this Government, in the performance of its neutral duty, to prevent all trade in contraband, and thus to equalize the difference due to the relative naval strength of the belligerents. No such obligation exists; it would be an unneutral act, an act of partiality on the part of this Government, to adopt such a policy. If the executive had the power to do so."

"If Germany and Austria-Hungary cannot import contraband from this country, it is not because of this fact the duty of the United States to close its markets to the Allies. The markets of this country are open upon equal terms to all the world, to every nation, belligerent or neutral."

As to the complaint that the British cut the German cable between the Azores and the United States, Secretary Bryan replies that a belligerent has an unrestricted right to cut a cable on the high seas, and that the Germans themselves exercised the right in cutting a British cable in the South Pacific near Fanning Island. And in reply to the charge of censoring communications by wireless at a United States land station, he makes the point that "Wireless messages can be sent direct to warships at sea which can prey upon public or private vessels and make neutral territory virtually a base of naval operations, to permit which would be essentially unneutral."

As to the acquiescence without protest at the inclusion of copper as absolute contraband, Bryan says copper is on the list of articles which the United States has declared to be contraband. As to petroleum, he says it is used by submarines, and as to rubber that it is used by army motor cars.

As to the non-interference by the United States with the sale of arms, ammunition, horses, uniforms and other munitions of war by private traders to Great Britain and her allies, Secretary Bryan declares there is no obligation either in international law or in the domestic law of the United States to prohibit private trade in these articles, and that Germans themselves did an enormous trade in such articles during the Russo-Japanese war.

These are in the main the chief points in the letter which furnishes a complete refutation of the objections of the Pro-Germans and should give their agitation a "quietus" in the States.

Eighty-Third Annual Report.

The fiscal year of The Bank of Nova Scotia ended on 31st December and its Eighty-third Annual Statement appears in this issue. As usual it exhibits a unique position of strength, for the quickly convertible assets, comprising cash, bank balances, investments and call loans total $49,232,412, which amounts to no less than 64 per cent of the Bank's liability to the public; of this 20 per cent is in holdings of cash alone. The total resources of the Bank mounted during the year from $80,151,829 to $95,733,670 by reason of the purchase of the Metropolitan Bank last November in addition to an increase of $3,900,000 in deposits.

The profits for 1914, like those of the other large banks reporting at this time, are smaller than in 1913—$1,196,116 as compared with $1,210,774—for the strengthening of cash reserves made necessary by the unusual financial situation, means a sacrifice of profits. The Bank paid its usual Dividend of 14 per cent, contributed $37,433 to the various Patriotic Funds in Canada, Newfoundland and Jamaica, and the Fund raised to provide for the families of the Newfoundland Sealers who lost their lives in the disaster of last March; contributed $50,000 to the Bank's Pension Fund and $100,000 to the Reserve Fund. This sound old institution easily holds its strong position and sets an enviable example of preparedness, despite the financial stress of wartime.

Had Not "Turned In."

Capt. Coward tells us that it is not correct that he had "turned in" at the time the Earlshall was in difficulties. The snow storm came on at 3 a.m. An hour later it became very thick and "Cape Spear" light was not visible. Fifteen minutes later a crash was heard, when the vessel struck the land. Capt. Coward was on deck for 48 hours. He thought at first that the vessel struck a heavy part of ice. The vessel after striking then went over on the starboard side and began to pound to pieces. The crew escaped in the boats.

The Logging Industry.

The lumbering companies operating in the region of the Exploits have large cuts of logs to date, the weather this season being most favourable. The number of men employed is not as large as in previous years, and consequently this season's cut will not be equal to that of last year.

WHAT TOMMY ATKINS SMOKES.

Tommy can get plenty of the tobacco he likes in France. Knowing that he preferred Virginia tobacco, the French factories had tons of it supplied from England. This is called "Tabac a la confiture." In honor of the heroic resistance of the Belgians at Liege, a new brand of cigarette has been brought out by the state factories called "The Cigarette Liegeoise." They are done up in packages of twenty, says The Daily Telegraph's Paris correspondent, with the coat-of-arms of France and Belgium on the outside, and a band of Belgium colors. Some of the new packages supplied to the French army consist of tricolor paper with the motto, "Vive la France."

"The Tonic of War."
 Not only does war brace nerves, but to a very large extent purifies our minds.—Daily Graphic.

Shall war bring nought but misery and ill?
 See how its shadow falls athwart our land.
 And mark all joy and mirth on eve of war—
 Our hearts are filled with strains foreboding pain,
 O'er fields afar, there lies a blood-stain.
 And husbandry must lose her joy reward;
 For reaping-hook behold a sharpened sword!

Shall war bring nought but misery and pain?
 Look, look again with clearer eye and see
 Strong hands held out and clasped in unity
 To form a chain which girdles all the world.
 And Britain's sons, beneath her flag unfurled,
 A wondrous brotherhood for Right shall stand.
 To help the weak and guard the Motherland.
 Each difference sunk, forgetting jealous strife—for her they'll give their life.

Shall war bring nought but misery and ill?
 See yet again, how dauntless courage leads
 To self-forgetfulness—to glorious deeds—
 Rise, Britons rise! Cast off all deadlier sloth,
 Face valiantly the foe, keep steadfast troth.
 Fear God and trust in Him, come gain come loss,
 So shall you purer be, purged from all dross—
 With higher aims, with stronger, finer will.
 Then War shall bring you good—no wholly ill. A. E. B.

British Aviator Killed
 Capt. Channery and His French Pilot Fall to Death Near Paris.
 Paris, Jan. 22.—An aeroplane accident, involving the death of a British Officer, Capt. Channery, occurred on Monday afternoon at the Quai de Javel, near Auteuil.
 The French pilot Laporte, with an English observer on board, was testing a Voisin biplane belonging to the Paris squadron when the breaking of a wire caused him to lose control. The machine swerved wildly for some moments as the pilot tried to maintain its balance, and then fell on the railway tracks bordering the Seine, and immediately burst into flames.
 Laporte jumped clear at the moment, but died just after his removal to the hospital. Channery held fast under the machine and was burned to death.

Fun and Kitchen Stoves.

By RUTH CAMERON.

"I'm having such fun with my kitchen stove," a little friend said to me the other day. One does not instinctively associate fun with a kitchen stove, so I naturally asked for further details. "Why, I'm trying to see just how little coal I can use and still get results," she exclaimed. "When I first went to housekeeping I used two hods or more a day, but I've cut it down to a hod, or less. I've studied the drafts, you know, and just the right moment to put coal on. My next door neighbour and I are having a race to see who can use the least. You can't imagine what fun it is."

As Much Fun as a New Gown.

I couldn't doubt that it was fun. If she had been telling me about a pleasure trip or a new gown her eyes could not have shone more brightly. She is a girl who, before her marriage, lived in comfort and some degree of luxury. She never did any housework and I doubt if she knew whether a kitchen range consumed one hod of coal a day or ten. To-day she is running her little home on a limited income and doing every bit of the work except the washing. People have said that when the novelty and the first shimmer of her love wears off she will be heartily sick of it. I don't believe it. No girl with that spirit could be.

ridicule the idea of getting fun out of a kitchen range who get sick of things.

Nothing will take the dullness out of routine work like some contest of this sort. I know a woman who cordially detested housework, until she came into contact with the science of household efficiency which is the study of cutting down the time necessary for routine tasks by saving steps and motion. She was deeply interested in it and at once began to put the theories into practice by putting her implements in more convenient places, standardizing her method of doing dishes and dusting, and by various other schemes. Not only did all this shorten the hours which she had to devote to housework, but it sweetened them too. "It's positively fascinating," she told me the other day, "to see how much I can cut down the time for my various tasks. I've cut my dishwashing ten minutes a meal, not by hurrying but by doing things more efficiently. Just think of it, that's thirty minutes a day."

Again a certain typist when she has some particularly uninteresting copying to do finds new zest in it by trying to see how few mistakes she can make, and how exceptionally well she can make her copy look.

One of the greatest happinesses in life is to be always interested; one of the greatest misfortunes is to be eternally bored. No one who has learned to make a game out of life will ever be bored.

SIR GEORGE ROOK died 1710, aged 59. One of the most notable seamen of his time, and for his spirited attack on the French fleet off Cape La Hague in 1692 was knighted.

GENERAL GORDON born 1833. The well-known soldier, administrator, and earnest Christian, who had a most adventurous, useful and self-sacrificing career. He saw active service in the Crimea, China and India, the Soudan, and finally was killed while holding Khartoum against the insurgent forces.

SIR HENRY STANLEY born 1841. Born of humble parentage and placed in the work-house, under the name of John Rowland, he went while young as cabin boy on a sailing vessel to New Orleans, where he was adopted and educated by Henry Morton Stanley, whose name he afterwards took. After his benefactor's death, he had to sell newspapers on the streets and eventually turning his attention to writing, established a connection with the New York Herald. He was sent as special correspondent on many quests notably to find Livingstone in Africa which he succeeded in doing in 1871.

COLONIAL BUILDING, St. John's, first opened in 1850.

SIR FRANCIS DRAKE died 1596. The typical "Sea-dog" of Elizabethan days, born within sight of the sea, lived on the sea most of his life, died on the sea, and was buried at sea, near Porto Belo, West Indies.

The waves became his winding sheet; the waters were his tomb; But for his fame the ocean sea was not sufficient room.

TOO MUCH.

Phyllis, your method of raising recruits Smacks of the press-gang a trifle. Here am I wearing impossible boots And matching about with a rifle Because you have said We can never wed Until I am carried home wounded or dead.

Now I've a number instead of a name, The cut of my clothes is atrocious. Daily I'm drilled until aching and lame, By officers young and precocious, Who force me to lie On my tummy to try And shoot an imaginary bull in the eye.

Please do not think I'm unwilling to go—I've no intention of quitting; But Phyllis, there's one thing I really must know: For whom is that muffler you're knitting? I don't care a lot If by Germans I'm shot; But if that is for me, I'll desert on the spot.

AMERICAN RAILWAYS—The CHICAGO AND NORTHWESTERN.

The Chicago and Northwestern was formed from the ruins of half a dozen western railroads built in the fifties by enthusiastic men who made the fatal mistake of trying to fill a long-felt want before it existed.

One of these lines ran west from Chicago towards the Mississippi river. Others ran through Wisconsin in an enthusiastic but aimless manner. When the system was finally tied up and buckled together, it provided lines from Chicago to Milwaukee, St. Paul, Lake Superior, Omaha, South Dakota and Wyoming, and helped the great Middle West to become greater.

The Northwestern system has almost 11,000 miles of road and has paid eight per cent dividends with a regularity that has entirely overlooked hard times and legislation. It has double track lines to Omaha, St. Paul and Milwaukee and is about the only railroad in the country which still affords to run yellow passenger cars.

It also runs its trains left-handed on double-track, has built a modern, thirty-acre station in Chicago and in other ways has demonstrated its entire indifference to local customs.

The Northwestern has never been monkeyed with by financiers but has depended upon the support of the plain people at the customary rates. Because of this fact its bonded indebtedness is so low as to cause tears of despair among those eminent captains of transportation whose idea of railroad is to trade gold bonds for steel rails, equal weight. The capital stock of the Northwestern is about $150,000,000 all told, and it owes $185,000,000 in bonds on 9,000 miles of track. When we consider that the New Haven system has managed to balance $350,000,000 in debts on 2,000 miles of system we cannot but feel that the Northwestern has neglected its opportunities.

The Northwestern hauls the millionaires of Chicago to their retreats on the north shore and fights with the other granter lines for the privilege of hauling the crops of the west. It earns about $85,000 a year and its only luxury outside of its Chicago station consists of four Vanderbilts on the board of directors.

The Northwestern is one of the few American roads managed by a president with mutton-chop whiskers. This may be unimportant and then again it may pay the other roads to investigate carefully the effect of mutton-chop whiskers and English superintendents on indebtedness.

Fads and Fashions.

Silver Venetian lace and white chiffon make a lovely combination for a bridal gown.

The new blues for spring are powder blue, acro blue, artillery blue and blue-gray.

Apparently the spring fashions are to have inspirations from all the warring countries.

Young girls are wearing the modified Cossack costumes with shorter waist lines.

Narrow scarfs of velvet embroidered with beads are among the new hat trimmings.

High buttoned military boots are promised for the near future for both women and children.

The all-black velvet gown is always a valuable asset to the woman who goes about much.

Evening sleeves may be of the most meager sort or may fit all the way close to the wrist.

A rest gown of dull blue with a post impressionist flower pattern has a loose coat of transparent blue.

Ultra-smart mourning millinery uses dull jet for its bonnets, and strings of black pearls are effective.

Suits of white gabardine and serge are among the novelties. White braid and buttons are used for trimmings.

Black, blue and gold embroidery is one of the best possible ornaments for gowns of dark blue cloth.

Long trains of white broche metal tissue are used in a detached way on robes of soft white chiffon or charmeuse.

Half-and-half stockings are new and striking. The upper part of these new stockings are in decided contrast to the lower part.

In the coming season there will be a great deal of black military braid used, also neutral shades and shades matching the dress goods.

The return of tiffets is very welcome in millinery—it makes such smart bows. It is especially good for the present draped styles.

Waists are just a shade smaller than they have been—and it is even whispered that the really smart waists is to be fashionable once more. However, nobody knows.

Frock aprons are new; the slip off and on just as the kitchen aprons does but the fastening which attaches the apron to the gown is invisible. These aprons are worn on afternoon or evening gowns in back or front and are made of the garment material or a matching shade of chiffon edged with fur.

In an article which recently appeared in the London "Evening News," Mr. W. G. Faulkner stated: "In making my inquiries I discovered one significant fact. This was that one company—the Gas Light and Coke Company—had among their consumers 2,500 doctors who had gas fires installed in their houses, some as many as ten or a dozen; that 1,500 of these doctors had become users of gas during the past three years; and that not one had ever given them up."

Professor C. V. Boys F.R.S., says, in the "Standard": "Sentiment and inertia are the only obstacles against the general adoption of gas fires and cooking appliances. Wonderful strides have been made, in spite of deep-rooted prejudice. A gas fire, burning with a blue, is an admirable agent for heating a room; and as a scientist, I fail to understand how such a gas fire dries the air in a room more than any other fire."

Have You an Itchy Spot?

Somewhere on your body? If so, attend to it at once. In Eozema—and Itchy spots, whether dry and scurfy, or moist and inclined to "weep," are generally eozematous—delays are foolish, allowing the disease to spread and affect more of the good skin. Your best chance for a cure is to use Zylex, which will give almost instant relief, and if used in the earlier stages of the trouble will almost certainly bring a cure, and in any event will greatly ameliorate the trouble. Ask your druggist about it. Price 50c. a box. Zylex Soap, 25c. a cake.

The Finest Novel
RALPH CONNOR HAS EVER WRITTEN.

"The finest thing Ralph Connor has done, and when we remember his past achievements that is no mean praise. His style throughout is strong and forceful, he has an intimate knowledge of what he is writing about, and his inspired descriptions of the heroisms of the North-West Mounted Police make one glow with the same feeling of pride as do the accounts of our heroes in the battles that are raging now. Ralph Connor shows us what magnificent men and what brave, noble women, the sons and daughters of the Empire, are. It is a joy to meet some of our old friends again, and in the dangers and anxieties they undergo they more than ever show of what pure gold they are made." RALPH CONNOR, THE PATROL OF THE SUN DANCE TRAIL. Cloth 80c., Paper 60c. See the New Magazine, the New War Pictures, the New War Papers and the New War Books.
