DRESS AND MANTLE MAKING

The Fashionable West End.
To the Ladies:
We have during the past two years contemplated the establishment of a Dress Making DEPARTMENT, in connection with our other branches. The difficulty of obtaining a suitable person to take charge, has up to the present time, only prevented us from doing so. We have now great pleasure in informing you that we have secured the services of Miss Morrison, of Toronto, a lady of first-class abilities, highly recommended to us, and who believes eminently qualified to give complete satisfaction in every respect. Miss Morrison has for the past ten years occupied the position of cutter and fitter in one of the leading Fashionable Dress Making Establishments in the City of Toronto. Miss Morrison is also an experienced Mantle maker, and all orders entrusted to her will be executed in a style equal to anything that can be obtained in the largest cities. Orders for these departments will be received on and after Monday next, the 4th of May. A. O. BUCHAM, Fashionable West End Dress, Mantle and Millinery Establishment.

Local and Other Items.

Messrs. Jas. Woods and Alfred Taylor have secured the business established by the late F. Guggisberg, in Galt. GLOVE FACTORY IN GALT.—We are pleased to note that the enterprising proprietors of the Paper Collar Works in Galt, Messrs. Young & Spiers, have established in Galt an extensive glove manufactory. The opening in this branch of trade seems to offer great inducements, and we do not doubt the enterprise will be highly successful.—Reporter.

BURGLARY.—A daring attempt at burglary was made in Strathroy on Wednesday night. An entrance was effected into the office of Messrs. Fawcett & Bro., and the safe blown open, but fortunately no money had been left in it, and the burglars secured no spoils. A sledge hammer and chisel were found in the office, and Mr. McBride, carriage-maker, identifies them as his property.

Drainage the year ending June 30, 1872, of the United States imported 490,631 tons of coal, whereof 257,447 tons came from the New Canadian Dominion, and 233,184 tons from other countries. The United States exported during the same time 400,872 tons, of which 291,047 went to the Dominion, 86,000 tons to Cuba, 37,000 to the States of Colombia, and 18,700 to China.

A Very Remarkable Story.

There lived in Brooklyn, not long ago, a man possessed of a devil. He had inherited the devil from his father, in the first place, and had nursed it until it grew so strong it took entire possession of him. The devil was a very familiar one, and its name was RUM. The man had many noble instincts, and, better than all these, he had a loving, faithful, brave wife, who made a skillful war upon the demon, her husband's master. Recognizing the fact that her husband was under an overpowering impulse, that he longed and struggled manfully to free himself from the passion for drink, she bent all the energies of her woman-nature to the task of helping him. She loved, and suffered, and toiled, until at last the longing, and suffering, and toiling accomplished their purpose. She took her husband by the hand, and shared with him his struggle, until, after years of labor, she overcame his devil, and saw him a free man again. Her battle with RUM had been a fierce one, tiring and wasting her strength sorely, but she was conqueror at last. Her husband stood upon many feet, and showing no sign of falling again. Several years passed away and this reformed man fell ill of consumption. The distinguished physician from whose lips we have the story, prescribed alcoholic stimulants as the only means possible of prolonging his life. The poor wife was in terror, and begged the physician to recall the prescription. She told him of her long struggle and her victory, and she preferred that her husband should die then, a sober man, than that he should fill a drunkard's grave a year later. But the freed spirit of the man was strong, and he under took to take alcoholic liquors as a medicine, and to confine himself absolutely to such times and measures in the matter as the physicians should prescribe. This he did and during the months thus added to his life he never once drank a single drop more than the prescription called for, and he died at last a sober man, as the wife had so earnestly prayed that he might. But the end was not yet. When the loving and patient woman laid him in his grave, and saw her long labor thus ended in the victory for which she had toiled so hard and suffered so bitterly, she burst into a grief, to the branny which had been left in the house, and drinking it, she fell herself into the power of the devil which she had fought so heroically. And that woman died not many months later, a hopeless, helpless drunkard.—Herrick and Howe.

FRIDAY EVEN'G, MAY 2, 1873.

Town and County News.

SOLD.—Mr. T. B. Patterson, of Mimico, has sold to Mr. Samuel Sugg, of the same township, his thorough-bred bull "Sheet Anchor."

MR. GEORGE BOLAN, of East Garafraxa, lost a fine six year old mare last week. Thought quite well at 9 o'clock at night she was found dead at 4 in the morning. She was good value for $120.

FIRE IN FERRIS.—On Thursday night the harness shop of Mr. J. Tangney was discovered to be on fire. Owing to the plentiful supply of water the fire was soon extinguished. Fully insured.

WELCOME HOME!—A party of 40 or 50 Harristownians and others assembled in the Royal Hotel, Harriston, on Monday evening last, to welcome home Mr. John Henderson, station-master, and his bride, which was warmly done. The ladies were in gala dress and were a pleasant sight both at the supper-table and in the ball-room. There was, we understand, a very agreeable time spent.

Effects of the Thaw on Roads in Dumfries.

The last spring thaw has made bad havoc with the roads in Dumfries, and the petitions asking for speedy repairs are being handed into the Council "fast and furious." The outlay, over and above statute labour, which counts up over 3000 days, will be very heavy. The lands also, have been very badly washed, and fields appear in a very ragged condition. We report no increase in the wheat. The backward weather since our last issue has thrown the plant further back in every way. This township must turn out a very small wheat crop this year.—Reporter.

Martin's Mills—This well known

Mill, situated on Mill-creek, about three miles from Galt, is now being rapidly put in order, and will soon be running. Some time ago the property was purchased from the Shand Estate by Mr. Geo. T. Strickland, and sold again by him to Mr. Austin, a practical miller of long experience, who expects to effect a commence work at an early day. The whole property has undergone a thorough renovating. This mill will be a great convenience to the locality, and, we trust, will prove a profitable undertaking to Mr. Austin.—Reporter.

The preternatural sharpness of a St. Louis

sheriff beats anything of the sort we ever heard of. He held an execution until dinner for 150 guests. He was placed upon the table. He then simply leaved on the dinner, closed the dining-room doors, and refused to admit one single hungry patron of the establishment. There must have been an awful row in that hotel. For his little effort the hotel proprietor has sued him, fixing damages at $2,000.

Electron Petitions.

In the East Toronto Election Committee petitions were examined to prove that the petitioners were electors of the division. The further examination was postponed till Saturday morning. The West Toronto Committee was occupied in hearing further arguments from counsel.

The Speaker overruled the objections to the North York and North Wellington recognizances. In these cases it is probable the Committees will be struck the week after next.

The recognizances in the Rochester (Mr. Langstaff's case; Lewis, Chieocini Sagurny, Missisquoi, and Pontiac (all Ministerialists), and the Bertisher and Rouville (Opposition) cases, were declared objectionable; several of the former class on the ground that members of Parliament were not eligible as sureties, although it appeared, from the records of the House that Sir John Macdonald, Mr. John Carling, Mr. Angus Morrison, Mr. Currier, and Mr. Sherwood, had been sureties in former election cases.

It is likely the Brockville petition will, at the request of the petitioners, be adjourned till next session.

Opening of the Vienna Exposition.

VIENNA, May 1.—The exposition was inaugurated to-day by the Emperor of Austria in the presence of the members of the Imperial family, Royal and illustrious guests, and State and civic dignitaries. The weather was unfavourable, but crowds from all parts of the world, who witnessed the imposing ceremonies, were in the rotunda and transepts of the building, and in the portions of the grounds surrounding it. At noon the Emperor Francis Joseph entered the rotunda with the Crown Princess Victoria of Germany on his arm. He was followed by the German Crown Prince, Frederick William, who escorted the Emperor's son, the Prince Imperial of Austria. The Emperor took a seat on the throne, when the combined bands, numbering several hundred musicians, performed the Austrian hymn, which was succeeded by the Prussian Anthem amid the cheers of the visitors. The Archduke Charles then rose, and addressing the Emperor, in a few words besought him graciously to declare the exhibition open; to which the Emperor replied with lively satisfaction. The ceremonies closed with the chorus, "See the conquering hero comes," sung by the united musical societies and chorists; the Emperor and Empress, followed by the distinguished personages, then traversed the western and eastern wings of the Exhibition building, being received everywhere with thunders of applause. Having completed the circuit of the Exhibition, they departed amid the salutes of artillery and cheers of the of the immense crowds gathered outside the building.

The Dangers of Drink.

The entire medical profession in New York have published the following declaration under their signature regarding the lawful effects of alcohol:—

In view of the alarming prevalence and ill-effects of Intemperance, with which none are so familiar as members of the medical profession, and which have called forth from eminent English physicians the voice of warning to the people of Great Britain concerning the use of alcoholic beverages, we, the undersigned, members of the medical profession of New York and vicinity, unite in the declaration that we believe alcohol should be classed with other powerful drugs; that when prescribed medicinally it should be with conscientious caution and a grave sense of responsibility.

We are of the opinion that the use of alcoholic liquors as a beverage is productive of a large amount of physical disease; that it entails diseased appetites upon offspring; and that it is the cause of a large percentage of the crime and pauperism of our cities and country.

We would welcome any judicious and effective legislation—State and national—which should seek to confine the traffic in alcohol to the legitimate purposes of medical and other sciences, art, and mechanism.

The Northern Pacific Railway.

An expedition will depart from Fort Rice, Dakota, on the 15th of June next, for the protection of the engineering parties of the Northern Pacific Railroad in making surveys between the Missouri and the Rocky Mountains. The expedition will be composed of ten companies of the 7th Cavalry, 4 each of the 8th and 17th Infantry, 6 of the 9th, and 5 of the 22nd Infantry. In addition to the foregoing troops, there will be a detachment of artillery, and one or two Indian scouts. Col. D. S. Stanley, of the 22nd Infantry, is assigned to the command of the Expedition. Keeping such staff officers as may hereafter be assigned to him, he will select the requisite staff from his command. This expedition has been organized by Gen. Terry, commanding the Department of Dakota, under the instruction of the General of the Army.

The Holywood Murder.

The sisters, Charlotte and Mary Rea, charged with the murder of Miss Kerr, at Holywood, near Belfast, Ireland, have been found guilty of manslaughter, and sentenced to penal servitude for life.

South Brant.

Table with 3 columns: Name, Votes, Total. Lists candidates like East Ward, King's Ward, Brant's Ward, Queen's Ward, North Ward, Brantford Tp., Darford, Oakland.

Very Gratifying.

Brantford gave a majority to Sir Francis Hincks of some 77, and in Hawkins' case it was swayed to over 100. This is gratifying.

Dominion Parliament.

The Committee on Expiring Laws reported in favor of allowing the Insolvency laws to expire by efflux of time, and that no legislation on the subject should take place during the present session.

Mr. Forbes moved for correspondence relating to the establishment of a mail service with the West Indies, and censured the Government severely for their delay in dealing with so important a question.

The Hon. Jas. Young and Mr. Donville supported the views expressed by Mr. Forbes.

Hon. Dr. Tupper admitted the importance of the subject, and the inviting nature of the trade to be done between Canada and West Indian ports.

The Government were anxious to foster such an enterprise if they found a corresponding spirit on the part of the mercantile classes most directly interested, but there must be co-operation in order to make it successful.

Sir Francis Hincks did not think the case would be met by a mail service to St. Thomas. His opinion was that one service to Demerara and Barbadoes, and another to Havana would be the best arrangement, if it were practicable.

The motion was agreed to.

Mr. Mills then moved a resolution declaring that before the arbitration, to take place under the terms of the Treaty of Washington, is entered upon, it is proper that the merits of our jurisdiction, shown by reference to national law, that the Canadian view of the three-mile limit was fully sustained, and ought to be insisted upon.

The decision, of course, would equally affect our rights on the American coast, and if the American pretensions were sustained as to our waters, it would open up to us some of their largest bays and harbours, but how could we be compensated for our fisheries until we knew what these fisheries were? If we did not have the preliminary question settled we should be held to have abandoned our claims, and be at a most serious disadvantage if at a future time we had occasion to urge our view of the matter.

If it was worth while for the Premier to have sent one of his colleagues home to England to obtain a recognition of our rights, it was surely worth his while to have this question settled.

Sir John Macdonald opposed the motion on the ground that it would prevent any compensation being obtained during the existence of the Treaty. He admitted that only a rough estimate of the sum due could be arrived at, and stated that the Canadian and Imperial Governments were in communication respecting the Headlands rights, which would be referred to international jurists for decision.

Mr. Blake shewed that the protocols had suggested a separate reference of the Headland dispute to international commissioners, and by their own proposition, had thrown away their opportunity for referring the Headland question to arbitration. The persistent claims of the Americans to the recognition of their pretensions was sufficient proof of the value of the prize they sought to obtain, and it was utterly impossible for a just award now to take place on any intelligible grounds, unless our international rights were first determined. Either those rights must be considered in the settlement or abandoned, and abandoned they would be if the Canadian Parliament failed to do its duty at this moment. If this motion were carried, the matter could be sent before an international commission--not, be (Mr. Blake) hoped constituted like the last--to decide what were merely the rights to be adjudicated upon. The action of the Treaty would not be in any way affected by the passing of such a resolution.

The debate was adjourned.

In the Senate the division on Senator Christie's resolution respecting the Pacific Railway resulted in years, 15, nays 37.

Ottawa, May 1.

At the opening of the House, Mr. Jettie introduced a Bill to abolish the real property qualification of members of Parliament.

Hon. Mr. Mitchell moved a resolution respecting the registration of inland vessels. Adopted.

Mr. Costigan then made another attempt to resist the finding of the Committee appointed to try the Kent, N.B., election petition, by moving that the report of the Committee be referred to the Committee on Privileges and Elections to report whether it was regular or not.

Mr. Hillyard Cameron argued that the precedents in New Brunswick Parliamentary practice were all conclusive against any re-opening of the question, and in favour of regarding the report of the election as final, which view was sustained by Messrs. Dorian and Blake, and to some extent by Mr. McDonald (Pictou).

In reply to Mr. Mackenzie, Sir John A. Macdonald said he had the permission of the Governor-General to state that His Excellency's Ministers had advised him to assent to the Oaths to Witnesses Bill, and that that advice was now under His Excellency's consideration.

Several Bills were read a third time and passed.

The House went into Committee of Supply, taking up the salaries in the Customs Department.

Mr. Mackenzie pointed out the large advantages accruing to some of the higher officers by seizures, and would prefer that these persons should be paid higher salaries rather than retain the benefits from these causes.

Hon. Dr. Tupper said that since arranged by Mr. Mac kenzie had been suggested by the Public Accounts Committee last year, it had been adopted by the Government.

GUELPH, APRIL 26 1873

Mr. Wilkes raised the question of abolishing the excise duty on petroleum.

Mr. Mackenzie explained to what extent an inspection of petroleum existed. That used for home consumption was inspected and must be a specific quality. He considered the statement of Mr. Wilkes that the oil manufacturers originally promoted the imposition of this duty was true. He denied the reckless statement made by Sir John A. Macdonald on the hustings at Lambton, that he (Mr. Mackenzie) had been engaged in an oil speculation. He had never in any way been connected with any oil speculation.

The vote for expenses in connection with the management of public works chargeable to revenue was then taken and agreed on.

Mr. Mackenzie urged that the salaries of the staff employed in this department should be given in detail, and asked for a statement of the amount due for damage by vessels to Government canals, and the manner in which they had been respectively dealt with.

Hon. Mr. Langevin promised that on concurrence he would supply the information desired, including a list of the employees.

On the vote for Government Railways the Minister of Public Works gave some explanations, upon which Mr. Holton asked for some information as to the regulations respecting freight and passenger rates, and the "dead-head" system, and a discussion arose, in which Messrs. Langevin, Dr. Almon and Mackenzie took part--the latter giving notice that he would call attention to abuses connected with the Intercolonial Railway, which gave rise to a further discussion as to the necessity or uselessness of that line.

After some discussion the vote was agreed to, some unopposed motions were consented to, and the House adjourned at 12:30.

SINGULAR LOSS.--Mr. John Wells, market-gardener, Galt, met with quite a loss on Wednesday afternoon last from a very singular cause. The afternoon, was comparatively still and quiet, when suddenly one of those small whirlwinds that are often noticed in summer weather, entered upon his lands and worked its way across in a south-easterly direction. In its course it struck Mr. Wells' green-house, the door of which was open, and in a twinkling threw off the greater part of the glass roof, of course breaking the glass therein to atoms. It is estimated that it will take about three boxes of glass to repair the damage done.--Reporter.

 FRIDAY EVENING, MAY 2, 1873
ANNABEL
 OR
THE TEMPTATION.
 CHAPTER XVII.

THE DEATH OF ELLEN MATTOCK.
 The principal thing which she had to fear was the coming of her husband, and this was in point of fact the danger which she had most difficulty in averting. As was natural enough, Mr. Langton had an inclination to pay them a visit in their Continental residence, but inasmuch as this would have utterly frustrated the whole business, she put forth every effort to prevent it, representing to him how needless it was to lose the time and incur the expense. Annabel was not improving much she wrote, but nothing was being left undone to effect her restoration, and were he on the spot he could not possibly add anything to the care or solicitude with which she was being treated.

Had Mr. Langton been less perplexed and harassed with business matters he would have disregarded these earnest dissuasions—dissuasions so earnestly offered as to amount to positive prohibitions—and would in spite of them all have journeyed to the Continent; but, alas for the safety of the innocent, his business affairs were causing him more anxiety than ever, and so occupying and absorbing him that he was glad to receive Mrs. Langton's assurances that he need not come. Thus circumstances wrought in her favour in this critical direction, and as she managed to secure the doing of all the correspondence, she wrought the matter as regarded her husband on the one hand and Annabel on the other in such a way that no direct communication passed between them, and yet so as that no suspicion was raised in either of their minds that they were being deceived and played upon.

Of course, letters had ere this come from Philip Weston, apprising them of the arrival of Jim Poole and himself in America, and detailing the efforts they were making to discover Jerry Just, Philip went to had seen York, who had proved to be a very disinterestedly give them any information—who had rather tried to prevent them from learning anything of the man they were in search of, and had, with the view, made statements which they had found were absolutely false and misleading. By a piece of singular good luck, however, they had received authentic intelligence from another quarter, and had found that Jerry had gone away to a far distant part of the interior of the vast American continent, where they were about to depart in search of him. The journey would be a long and arduous one—very dangerous also, Philip might have added, but he was careful not to alarm them by saying a word of this—and it might be months ere they heard from him again; but he promised to write—whenever an opportunity for the conveyance of a letter could be had—under cover to the agent at Montreal, and he requested that their letters to him should also go through this medium.

Mr. Langton despatched these letters from Philip to France, and his wife, after careful consideration, put them into Annabel's hand. But she took care that the reply which Annabel wrote should not be put into the Post Office. She could not, of course, hinder Mr. Langton from writing to Philip; but, inasmuch as he could give him only such news of Annabel as she felt it desirable Philip should receive, she was under no apprehension in this respect. And Mr. Langton unwittingly assisted his wife in her evil design by giving Philip information of Annabel's poor state of health, and where Mrs. Langton had taken her for change of scene and mildness of climate. In fact, the report he sent was but a repetition of that which he himself received from France, and Philip was thus deceived without any trouble on the part of the author of the dark and iniquitous plot.
