COSGRAVE'S.

THE great brewing firm of Cosgrave Prohibition. & Co. have adopted an entirely new Cosgrave & Co.'s Brewery.

Extra Stout. The new label is a regiswed trade mark, containing in the centre d an oval a crost-an aroused tiger, sursended by the announcement of the im on a background of deep green enised in a border of old gold; the whole ming a very artistic piece of work, ism the lithographic presses of Rolph with & Co. For the porter the backpound is brown instead of green. The w label looks well, of bold but approinte design, and is a fine index of the also within the bottle. Being registered Ottawa as the trade mark of the firm cannot be duplicated in whole or in

The Cosgrave firm are among the oldest Toronto brewers. Their premises at m West and Niagara Streets are very ous, comprising several acres, and main ample accommodation in the spe of buildings and appliances for all ches of the brewing trade. Their thouses are very extensive, fitted out th the latest improved appliances, and ir brewing apparatus is not exceeded gneral completeness by any establishat on the continent.

It present the process of malting for season's operations is being actively ed on, and the vast amount of by being used is an index of the of the company's operations. If of a desperado.

farmers could see the thousands of bushels of their grain thus being utilized it would give them a practical illustration Rew Label Adopted by the Well- of the effect of cutting off their market in this respect through the adoption of

The company's cellars and storehouses libel for both their Pale Ales and their are spacious in extent and thoroughly adapted for the purpose. Whether for storing stock ale or for bottling they could not be improved upon. None but the best barley and hops are used, and the facilities for properly keeping the product until delivered to the customer cannot be surpassed.

The result of this careful attention to every detail is noticeable in the quality of Cosgrave & Co.'s ales and porters. They are known and appreciated throughout all Canada. Their sales have constantly increased and popular favor is always with them. Nor is this a new thing or confined to Canada by any means. In 1878 Cosgrave & Co. were awarded the highest mark of merit at the Exposition in Philadelphia in 1876 they destrian liberated him and assisted him carried off the medal and repeated this success at Antwerp in the World's Exposition in 1885. Since then they have carried off any number of awards in various competitions until competition has practically ceased.

By close attention to business, resulting in general excellence of product, the firm has well deserved their position among the leading breweries of Canada, a position to which the genial and widely-known manager, Mr. L. J. Cosgrave has contributed materially. He is still a young man, but his business attainments and personal qualities have already placed him in the front rank and will push him still farther forward in the future.

A foolish word in the mouth of an unwise man is more dangerous than a sword in the hand

THE truth is always best. Intemperance in statement is quite as bad as intemperance in

Mr. John P. St. John carried Kansas for Prohibition ten or twelve years ago. Since then he has run for President and has lectured all over the country. But now he refuses to leave his native State. Why? Because there is so much whiskey lying around loose that it takes him all his time to fight the battle on his native heath. Ten years of Prohibition has wonderfully increased crime, drunkenness and poverty in

A particularly interesting illustration of how Prohibition prohibits comes from Biddeford, in Maine, a factory town which the Royal Commission on the liquor traffic visited when in that State. The Standard, of Biddeford, says: "One night recently home." It would be hard to beat that, a drunken constable hand-cuffed himself even in Kansas. to a fence on Alfred street with the idea Paris Exposition. At the Centennial that he had grabbed a prisoner. A pe-

IT must indeed be gall and wormwood to the faddists to find as is shown in another column, that beer was manufactured and beer houses existed 2,000 years before the Christian era. They have continued to exist up to the present time, were in existence in the time of Our Saviour, and yet were unrebuked by Him as were the Pharisees.

MR. WILLIAM LIVESEY, son of "Livesey of Preston," the famous father of teetotalism, in an interesting letter to the London Times, tells how his father gave special attention to the question of local option for a very long period, seeking for information from all quarters, and reading everything he could procure that was published on the subject. His verdice, published in 1873, was as follows: "] have considered the matter carefully, and do sincerely believe that it would be difficult to invent a scheme calculated to serve the temperance cause so little and yet irritate its enemies so much. I believe it to be unwise and impracticable, and if it could be adopted would grievously disappoint its most sanguine friends."

FOUND DEAD IN BED.

Carter W. J. Fowler Dies Suddenly at the Grand Trunk Depot, London.

For the last twenty-two years, as regularly as clock work, Mr. Wm. J. Fowler, of Detroit, who is well-known over the western end of the Southern Division of the Grand Trunk Railway, as lessee of the railway refreshment rooms lessee of the rankey refreshment of the and lunch counters at London and Chat-ham, has spent every Wednesday night in this city. He always came Wednesday afternoon and returned home Thursday

He came as usual this week, and after arranging some business matters with his local manager, Mr. James Butler, the two sat and chatted pleasantly at the latter's office until after the Eric Limited ent east, a little before midnight. Mr. Fowler retired to his private bedadjoining the refreshment rooms, Mr. Butler left for his home on and Mr.

Lichfield street.

Yesterday morning at 7.20 o'clock Mr. Butler called his employer, but receiving no response he went in, only to find the old gentleman cold in death. The bed clothes had not been disarranged more than usual, and the deceased died without any perceptible struggle. Dr. Moore was summoned at once, but, of course, he could nothing. The apparent cause of death was apoplexy.

The deceased has been lessee of the refreshment rooms here for upwards of twenty-two years, and has been connected with the railway as a caterer for about thirty years. Prior to that he was a lake sailor, and made quite a competency at it. He leaves a widow, a son and three grown up daughters. He was over seventy up daughters.

The son, who is employed in a Detroit bank, was communicated with by telephone as soon as possible, and made acquainted with the sad fact. He arrived here on the Wabash express yesterday afternoon and took charge of the body. London Free Press.

ANTIQUITY OF BEER HOUSES.

Some menths ago the trustees of British Museum acquired, through the agency of Dr. E. A. W. Budge, a series of very early Babylonian contracts, dating from B.C. 2300 to B.C 2150, and contain ing the commercial transactions of several trading firms who had business transactions in Ur, Erech, Babylon, and Sippara. In such primitive times it is difficult what manner of medium the thirsty Chaldean could have paid for his lass of beer, for beer there was, and public-houses in which it was retailed. Moreover, we know that the Chaldean publican drew his ale from the "cellar from one of the small clay tablets which form the commercial papers of Messrs Zini Istar and Sons, general traders and lawyers of Chaldea in the days of Abram. The deed in question is one of a class known as envelope tablets—that is, the deed is induplicate, one tablet being placed inside the other. It contains the rec-ord of the purchase of a plot of building land by a man named Ikbi-Istar. plot of land was adjacent to the "beer-house" ("bit sikari") which belonged to two brothers named Sin-abu-su and Nur-ili-su. The piece of land is thus describ ili-su. The piece of land is thus a may be built "eligible building "a room being in the foundation the property of the beer-house adjacent together with a portion of its wall. This means that the cellar of the beer-house ran under the property to be sold. The deed now states that the purchaser of the ground "has firmly placed beams and drawn out the ties (clamped them) and so made the room and party wall secure. The full purchase price has been paid, and the bargain is complete. May there be satisfaction to all future days and no re May there be We now have a carefully adjusted clause: "Sin-abu-su and his brother for this house shall not claim (damages). They swore an oath that they will not break this contract." This document is dated in the reign of Kham murati, King of Babylon, about 8.c. 2230 Its purport is perfectly clear. The new se might injure the cellar, so, before building, the walls are trussed up and tied to the satisfaction of the owners. strange visions are conjured up by this record of a public house which more than four thousand years ago "cheered the heart of man" with good ale at least, if not wine, which is described in one of the hymns as "that which maketh glad thy heart," as in the parable of Jotham (Judges ix., 7-15) "wine which maketh glad That the the heart of God and man. beer-house" was a regular institution in Babylonia in very early times there is very little doubt, for in a hymn which is certainly as old as B.C 2000 we read the complaint of a people to the god who neglects them. "Thou comest not near our sheepfolds, or our oxen; near our city, or our market-place, or our 'public-house.'" market-place, or our 'public-house.'

The beer formed part of the temple offerings in Chaldea, as in Egypt, and, as we know from an inscription of Assarbanipals, large quantities were given away on occasions of rejoicing. Of the meaning of the tablet quoted above there can be no doubt,

WINE-MAKING IN CALIFORNIA

Is a few days wine-making will begin in the various districts throughout the Indications point to a certain and considerable shortage in the vintage compared with previous years. This, hand are far from formidable, leads to the conclusion that the demand for California wines the coming season will equal the supply. The natural deduction under such circumstances would be that wine growers might safely count on a substan tial increase over the exceeding low prices that have prevailed for several years past Unfortunately for the growers, howe none of the several schemes projected for their unification and co-operation have se far developed into anything lengible or practicable. It is now probable that the producers will this season be without that nost important factor in the marketing of their products at fair prices—the protec-tive association. But they are awake and on the right track. They now realize fully the necessity of such organization. Another season, if not this, their efforts to organize will result in plans both practical and potent. - Ex-

THE WORLD'S BEER PRODUCT.

THE figures of the world's beer product during 1893, which have been compiled nna, show that Germany heads the list with a production of 1,202,132,074 gallons. There was an increase of 34, 000,000 gallons over 1892. The consump-000,000 gallons over 1852. The consump-tion was 33 gallons per head, ranging from 62 gallons in Bavaria to 12 gallons in Lothringen. Great Britain is second in the list of beer-producers with a output of 1,165,752,000 gallons, or 30 per head. America, including the whole of the western hemisphere, is third, with more than a billion gallons, or 16 per head—a method of calculation that does not show the heavy per capita const tion of beer in the United States. as interesting and significant as those figures of production and consumption is the consideration of the many elements entering into the manufacture of One is financial, another is industrial an the third—to which especial attention should be called—is agricultural. The total product of the world is 4,500,000,000 gallons according to the Vienna experts. The manufacture of that enormous quan tity creates a market for 7.270,00 tons of malt and 82,000 tons of hoja Next to the flour and feed mill, th malt house and brewery appear to offer the farmer the largest single market for his product. The figures furnish an idea of the tremendous proportions which the brewing business has reached of the millions of money invested; of the hundred thousands of wage-workers en and of the demand for agricul tural products created.

Downey, Irwin & Co., Oawego, write.—New Canadian barley is commercing to arrive here more freely, but it is not receiving the attention and favor from maltsters that it otherwise would, on account of the cargoes being so filled with count of the cargoes being so filled with which we have been also been always to be a considerable of the count of the cargoes being so filled with which we have been and free from all foreign grains, all foul mixtures of seeds, etc. We, therefore, urge upon you the necessity of seeing to it that the Canadian grain is cleaned and prepared properly for the market. The advantages of this will be apparent to you. H grain comes from Canada property cleaned a better price is obtained for it, but for the consensual count of the proper of the property for the property cleaned a better price is obtained for it, but for the consensual count of the property for the staff which is blown out of the first which is a loss to the consensual count of the grain before it leaves Canada. The market is steady for all grades. No. No. 1 has yet arrived. We could sellsome at 60c. We quote extrn No. 2 Canada at 62c. Canala freight barley to New York, 20c.

Oswego telegraphic report is:—Barle market steady; Canada quoted at 61 jc. western a shade lower; 19,000 bush western add at 56 jc. Stock in store 275,000 bush. Shipments for the wee ending to-day, 100,000 bush. Can freights to New York—barley, 2c. pc

THE NEW LEADER.

MR. MARTER is the man.

He is the elect who is to lead the childen of Meredithism out of their political

He is to guide their weary feet through he stony wilderness of four years of op-

He is to stretch forth the rod of leaderhip and pilot them soberly across the had Sea that lies between Mr. Speaker's eft and Mr. Speaker's right.

He is to ultimately rescue them from heir oppressor, Pharaoh Mowat, and land them among the fertile plains of the ressury benches.

Unanimously he is the chosen of the esple as represented by the Ontario Op-

It is well.

But where is the manna to come from ?

The meeting of the Conservatives elect as well attended, only three of the enty-six being absent. They met in The Empire office and Dr. Willoughby ted as chairman. There were speeches. hen nominations for the leadership were nade and Mr. Marter, Mr. Howland, Mr. Ryerson and Mr. Whitney stood. hese four retired and the situation was hen fully and frankly discussed. It was scussed for hours. The conclave was at inharmonious except that there was a afference of opinion as to which was the est man for the position and all phases the question had to be considered bere coming to a conclusion. Finally a ite was taken and Mr. Marter had a slity of two over Mr. Whitney, the her Toronto members only polling a de of votes each. A suggestion to ke the selection of Mr. Marter unanus was then cheerfully agreed to. so the choice was made after due de-

It is needless to say that in this selecwe think the Opposition have made a ided mistake, and in politics a blunder wase than a crime. We have before en our reasons for thinking Mr. Maris not the man for the position and ed not repeat them. But there is a at that we did not raise and that must the overlooked. Does the selection of Marter mean an alliance of the party th the Prohibition element in Ontario. so claimed, with a howl of delight by every prospect of attaining power for all with the matter even at the risk of pay-

But softly. An executive committee was appointed, with advisory powers, and it may be that it's committee will round off the ragged edges and acute angles of Mr. Marter's fads. The brilliant young member for South Toronto is chairman of this committee, and he has ideas of his own as to the lines that should constitute the policy of a party calling itself Conservative. It is to be hoped so. There are many Conservatives in the trade, they have in the past spent their time and their means in support of the party, they will regret to be forced into a severance of political ties. Time will tell

Yet again where is the manna to come from ?

Lack of manna is what has always ailed the Opposition.

If Heaven would shower down manna, in the shape of a policy and of the means to run an election, then might Mr. Marter be a glorious success.

But the age of miracles is not now, and as manna will not come down, manna will have to be grubbed up, and where is it to be got?

We greatly fear that in the time to ome, when Sir Oliver has collared the Patrons, and a general election is to be met, the people will demand to know where they are at, and the men who voted in The Empire office the other day will cry, one to another, from the fastnesses of their constituencies, "where was Moses when the lights went out." And Moses Marter will wish he had stuck to the general grocery and provisions line, for therein was profit and restfulness of spirit. That's what !

PROHIBITION STATISTICS.

THERE were, according to the last published official report of the Dominion Minister of Justice, 11,651 convictions for all crimes put together. Of these Ontario led off by 3,870. Quebec came in a good second by 3,778, which was a much greater number in proportion to its population. It has als greater proportionate number of li-censed liquor sellers. New Bruns-wick's list stood next highest, being British Columbia came next, hay ing 725, which is larger than any in proportion to its population. There is less Prohibition in force in British Columbia than in any other Province in the Dominion, which accounts for it. reported 592. It has nearly double the pulation of British Columbia, but has ble as much Prohibition territory, under the working of local option in license law, and therefore not quite half as many proportionate convictions of that class. Prince Edward Island closes up the list of Provinces, with but 233 such cases on record, being the smallest actual and proportionate number of any.

The above from The Citizen and Home Guard, one of the official organs of the Ontario Prohibitionists, is put forth as proof "that the amount of drunkenness in any locality very largely depends on the number of places where facilities for drinking are afforded." So glaring are the inaccuracies, so gross the perversions my Prohibition organ in the land. If of fact, so open the juggling with the 1880 to 311 in 1891. In the decade her then that party may bid good-bye to figures that we feel constrained to deal population increased 0.18 per cent.

ing greater attention to the paper than its worth deserves

Nearly every statement in the paragraph is wrong

Let us take them as they come. That 11,651 are the "convictions for all crimes put together" is a blunder. That is the number of convictions for drunkenness, ad crimes total up to 37,706. Quite a difference, it will be perceived.

"Of these Ontario led off by 3,870" is wrong. Assuming that the writer means convictions for drunkenness throughout the article, Ontario's figures are 3,787.

The figures as to Quebec are given correctly, but it is not true that Quebec " has a much greater proportionate number of licensed liquor sellers" than Ontario. In 1891 Ontario had one liquor seller to about 500 of population, and Quebec one to about 550 of population, but Quebec has since been greatly reduced, some hundreds having been cut cit in Montreal

New Brunswick's convictions are given orrectly, but why are no deductions drawn when the fact is that the Province stands second in the Dominion with regard to drunkenness, and has more than double the convictions in ratio of population as compared with Ontario. New Brunswick is about three-fourths under Prohibition. A fact suppressed is as had as a fact wrongly stated.

British Columbia has the largest num ber of convictions in ratio of population of any of the Provinces, but the deduction drawn therefrom is only an individual opinion. We have travelled through British Columbia and think decidedly otherwise. However, one man's opinion is as good as another's. But the comparison made with Manitoba is not just. Compare Manitoba, an agricultural constituercy, with Ontario, another agricultural constituency. In ratio of population Manitoba would have 7,696 convictions to Ontario's 3,787, more than double the number, yet Manitoba has a lot of Prohibition territory we are told.

Finally Prince Edward Island's 233 being the smallest actual and proportionate number of any " is all astray, Compared with Ontario's population the Island would have 4,427 to our 3,787, and P.E.I. has not had a license for years.

But how is it that the Territories are not mentioned? They also have 233 convictions, equivalent with regard to population to 7,123 to Ontario's 3,787. Our contemporary would have us believe that there is a tremendous temperance sentiment in the Territories. Is that why he suppressed the figures ?

Now, let us give a few facts to prove the contrary of our contemporary's contention. A comparison of Provinces in a single year is often deceptive. We will take a term of years. Prince Edward Island, under total Prohibition for the whole Province, increased her convictions for breaches of the Liquor Act from 4 in 1880 to 90 in 1891, and convictions for drunkenness from 260 in Nova Scotia with Prohibition everywhere outside the city of Halifax, but latterly with open, unrestricted sale in one-half of the counties, increased convictions for breach of the liquor law from 55 in 1880 to 118 in 1891, while drunkenness decreased from 677 to 635. Her population increased 2.25 per cent.

New Bronswick, claiming to be the banner Prohibition Province and which has turned out more faddists than all of the other Provinces puttogether, increased the convictions for breach of the liquor laws from 36 in 1880 to 245 in 1891, and drunkenness from 850 in 1880 to 1,628 in 1891. New Brunswick's population increased in that time 0.02 per cent. She had the least increase in population and the greatest increase in drunkenness of any Province in the Dominion.

Quebec which is claimed to be from one-third to one-half under Prohibition had 339 convictions for breach of the liquor law in 1880 and 434 in 1891. Drunkenness increased from 1,348 in 1880 to 4,199 in 1891. Quebec added 9.53 to her population in that time.

Now, take Ontario which is all under license law. Convictions for breach of the license laws were 1,089 in 1880 and 1,220 in 1891, but drunkenness decreased from 5,282 in 1880 to 4,973 in 1891. Population increased 9.65. But for a portion of this period three-fourths of Ontario was under Prohibition. True ! and with what result? Convictions for breach of the liquor law were 1,646 in 1886 under the Scott Act, 2,664 in 1887, 3,108 in 1888, dropping to 1,982 in 1889, when the Scott Act was given up as a bad job. Convictions for drunkenness in the Scott Act years were: 1884 - 4,694 : 1885-5,868; 1886-5,453; 1887-6,200; 1888-6,633; 1889-7,059. That was the effect of Prohibition.

Manitoba had 62 convictions for breach of the liquor law in 1880 and only 11 in 1891. Convictions for drunkenness decreased from 525 in 1881 to 518 in 1891. Since then local option has had some sway and drunkenness has gone up to 592. Her population increased in the decade 148.06 per cent.

No comparison can be given of the Territories for the period and we have not the figures for British Colambia. But have we not given enough?

WE will give a table that we submit clinches the matter of whether or not "the amount of drunkenness depends on the number of places where facilities for drinking are afforded." This is a list of the number of licenses in the Province of Ontario during a term of years, and the number of committals to prison for drunkenness during the

Look at the Scott Act period, when the number of licenses decreased and the committals for drunkenness increased in direct ratio and tell us what it means. Look, too, at this: that under the license law the committals for drunkenness were largely below the number of licenses, that is, that there was nothing like the proportion of one committal for one license issued, but under the Scott Act the committals for drunkenness quickly exceeded the number of licenses issued, that while one went down the other went up until in 1887-88 there were twice as many committals as there were licenses, and in the following year, the last year of the Scott Act, the committals for drunkenness reached the highest point they have ever attained in Ontario. How is that fact to be met

We have by no means exhausted the subject, though we have treated it at some length. But we see in our contemporary's mass of misstatements a little more than the usual Prohibition carelesses as to accuracy; we see a part of the campaign that, if this is a sample, is to be carried on by the most absurd of arguments and a boundless perversion of the truth. Let our friends be on their guard.

PARKHURST DENOUNCED.

ONCE again there is dismay in the Prohibition ranks, for another idol has fallen. This time it is Rev. Dr. Parkhurst, the great New York reformer. We may not all agree with Dr. Parkhurst's methods, we may some of us think it slightly unbecoming a minister of the gospel to dandle upon his knee a vile prostitute even when the object is to gather facts in the interest of moral reform. But nobody can question either his earnestness or his thoroughness nor deny that he has aroused in Gotham a wave of popular feeling that is sweeping the city as with a besom. He has fought corruption in high places and in low, corruption among the law makers, and law enforcers; has fought against tremendous odds, for a time almost single-handed : sustained defeat after defeat, yet with energy as mar. vellous as his determination is invincible, has turned defeat into victory until now the modern Babylon is undergoing a cleaning up process that is surprising even itself. The faddists all burned incense at the feet of Dr. Parkhurst. Because they thought they saw in him a leader and in his movement a vehicle to the accomplishment of their dearly loved fads.

They think so no longer. Dr. Parkhurst is a man of practical ideas, as his extremely practical methods of acquiring information indicated. He says you must take men as you find them and teach them to be better. He does not believe they can be efficiently taught by being clubbed through the law. Nor does he believe their liberties should be unduly curtailed or that good is to be achieved by being unduly strict. All this was bad enough, but when he went further and said that if men wanted to drink beer he in benighted Ontario.

saw no reason why they should not do so in moderation, the eyeballs of the faddists rolled upward in holy horror. To this Dr. Parkhurst retorted promptly that his experience taught him that an increase in the number of respectable beer gardens would tend to establish more happiness and comfort throughout the city. was too much, faddist flesh and blood could not be expected to stand it; but when the reverend gentleman piled on the agony by saying that most men in New York had enough to do to reform themselves without undertaking that duty for their neighbors; that furthermore he cas tired of feminine gabble, and was opposed to the woman suffragists whom he characterized as "greatly troubled with manhood mania," patience ceased to be a virtue. The Prohibitionists washed their hands of him, the W.C.T.U passed a resolution denouncing him, the female suffragists shricked at him in one grand concerted unison of detestation, and he was solemnly given over to reprobation and the service of the Evil One.

However Dr. Parkhurst goes serenely on his way, is right in the thick of the campaign, is addressing crowded meetings of men and women interested in municipal reform daily and nightly, and never seems to care whether the faddists approve of him or whether they do not.

KANSAS PROHIBITION.

The faddists have had their way in Kanass for twelve years. For that length of time they have had Probibition in that State. For those dozen years the "accursed traffic" has been tabooed, the baneful saloon has not been permitted, and the glories of Prohibition have had full sway.

The candidate for Governor on the Prohibition ticket in the campaign now going on, addresses the people as follows: "If you elect me Governor of Kansas I promise to cause every open saloon in the State to be permanently closed within ninety days after my inauguration."

Open saloons in Kansas.' Yes, hundreds of them. There are more open saloons in Kansas under Prohibition than there are in Ontario under the license law. There is more drunkenness in Kansas than in Ontario, more crime of all kinds, and Kansas is decreasing in population while Ontario is increasing. That is where your Prohibitory law gets in its work.

The people will not elect the Probibition candidate for Governor. Not much. He will not pell one vote out of one hundred for the office. The law will remain and be set at open defance as it now is. But cranks from Kansas will come east, they will come here as elsewhere, and they will rave over the beauties of Probibition in Kansas when they know that the law has been a curse to their State and a ruination to their young people. We have ourselves seen institutions running openly in Probibition Kansas that would not be permitted for ten minutes is benichted Cottario.

THE Quebec Government have adopted a very sensible change in their license law. Hotel keepers against whom no complaints have been made for breaches of the law, are now relieved from the necessity of getting a license petition signed by the ratepayers. This is a move in the right direction, as it relieves the license holder of a great aumoyance and is an incentive to him to preserve the law in every respect.

The liquor traffic is the greatest enemy on the face of the earth to civilization.— Part Hope Guide.

A very eminent historian lately deceased, says that the greatest enemy civilization has met with is the Christian religion. Another great writer affixes the blame to the eating of meat. Still others maintain that it is the centralization of wealth in the bands of a few. We have a lurking suspicion that the greatest of all possible menaces to the progress of civilization, now and \(\text{leretofore}\), is the babbling of fools.

Fair Playsays: - "State Saloonist Till man, of South Carolina, may be obliged The decision to close his bar, after all. of constitutionality which his reorganized Supreme Court passed upon the State Dispensary law will not avail to save the system if Attorney General Olney shall refuse to permit Governor Tillman to confiscate the bonded liquor now held by the Internal Revenue custodian within the boundaries of the Palmetto State. The Governor would have no sympathy from the citizens of the commonwealth in a contest with the Federal Government. The Dispensary law is an obnoxious monopoly wrested from many of the private citizens of the State at the expense of their true legal privileges and of their business interests. The despotic will that has destroyed the rights of one class of the State's constituents will undoubtedly seek to coerce another class to sell in a compulsory market; but defeat may be safely predicted for Governor Tillman in the Supreme Court of the United States."

THE ST. CHARLES.

THE genial "Tom" Best of the St. Charles, on Yonge street just below King, has just completed some very extensive alterations and improvements in that well known hostelry. The large room at the rear of the bar, formerly used as a lunch room has been turned into a sitting and reading room, fitted out with all the comforts and conveniences imaginable. Two new side rooms have been created for the accommodation of guests wishing for privacy. At the same time the lavatories have been greatly enlarged and are very convenient and lunch counter have been oved to the front, while upstairs are large dining and sitting rooms for both ladies and gentlemen. There is a side entrance for both the sitting room down stairs and for the dining and sitting rooms upstairs. As now refitted the St. Charles cannot be excelled by the best in the city.

NOTES.

THE Cambridgeshire was another all round surprise. The good showing made by Callistrate in the Cesarewitch had caught the fancy of many, while El Diablo, Son of a Gun and Medicis all had strong supporters, but nobody had a word to say of Indian Queen, Mr. E. Hobson's three-year-old bay filly; yet she cantered home an easy winner by three lengths. Sir J. Blundell Maples' four-year-old bay colt Gangway finished second, and M. A. Abeille's four-year-old brown colt Callis trate third. The other starters were Colonel North's El Diablo, Baron de Rothchild's Medicis, Mr. F. Alexander's Son of a Gun, Mr. D. Hollis' Xury, Mr. Dick's Athel, Mr. Manton's None the Wiser, Mr. F. J. Douglas' Encounter, Lord Hastings' Sir Jacob, M. Ephrussel's Brocatelle, Mr. James Best's Worcester, Lord Howe's Farndale, the Prince of Wales' Florizel H., Mr. W. W. Fulton's Comedy, Sir H. Jardine's Llanthony, Lord Cadogan's Stowmarket, Lord Bradford's Beighterton, and Mr. T. Cannon's Mel-

The post betting was 25 to 1 against Indian Queen, 12 to 1 Gangway, 9 to 2 Callistrate, 5 to 1 El Diablo, 8 to 1 Medicis. 9 to 1 Son of a Gun, 14 to 1 Xury, 17 to 1 Athel, 20 to 1 None the Wiser, 25 to 1 each Encounter and Sir Jacob; 40 to 1 each, Brocatelle and Worcester; 50 to 1 each, Farndale, Florizel II., Comedy and Llanthony; 66 to 1 Stowmarket, and 100 to I each, Beighterton and Melancholy. The horses got awayat the first attempt, Farndale making the running, followed by Indian Queen, Worcester, Xury and Sir Jacob in the order named. Llanthony, Athel, Son of a Gun and El Diablo were running in a bunch some distance behind, with Comedy bringing up the rear. Up on nearing the bushes Farndale and Xury found the pace too hot and were obliged to drop back; and Sir Jacob, too, was soon seen to be in trouble. Indian Queen then drew to the front, closely followed on the left by Gangway, and on the right by Callistrate. Neither of these two, however, could do more than they were doing, and Indian Queen won in a canter by three lengths. There was a similar distance between Gangway and Callistrate

GALEN BROWN'S colt Libertine, by Leonatus-Falaise, has now the proud honor of holding the circular track record for a mile, having run the distance at the the mark made by Chorister at Morris up to the galloper. That is all.

Park last year by half a second. The Straightaway mile record is Salvator's 1.351. Libertine ran the race against the sensational western three-year-old Cash Day and it was a grand run. The fractional time was : Quarter, 0.231; three eights, 0.35%; half 0.47%; five-eighths, 1.00, three-quarters, 1.121; seven-eighths, $1.25\frac{1}{2}$; and the mile in $1.38\frac{3}{4}$.

 The running season ended some weeks ago, excepting as to the "skates," who are yet laboring about the tracks contiguous to the Virginia and Tennessee lines, and from whom nothing beyond oats for the box can be expected. And what is the result? The aged division of the bang-tails have been as a rule, off-color, the colts, with the exception of Henry of Navarre perhaps, have been disappointing and the youngsters have given us no reason to expect anything great. Decidedly it has been an off year. We do not look upon the Royal Henry as a "wonder," we have been disappointed in Domino, in Clifford, in Dobbins and a score of others and on the top of it all there is the almost certainty that the constitutional amendment to the betting law in the State of New York will carry, and then good-bye to racing in that state. The year has not been good, and the outlook is not good. Prices of thoroughbreds are about as bad as they can be, and locally the O. J. C. trouble is developing a tendency to ruin racing in Ontario. This is written without knowledge of what the result of Tuesday's meeting will be

The light harness horse has done better. In fact, he has done remarkably well. If there is a record that has not been broken, it must have dropped to the bottom of the pile and been lost in the waste paper basket. Sweet little Alix, one of the truest hearted trotters that ever stepped before a "bike," has taken the Crown, while the pacers have knocked things endwise, and have brought the twominute mark well in sight. Yearlings, two-year-olds, three-year-olds, all-kinds of-olds, have made new marks, the development has been wonderful, the end no man can see. The raging discussion over the different "families" has become of tornado-like proportions, while the 2.30 class has dwindled into an object of contempt.

WHAT does it all mean! That the thoroughbred is depreciating? Not so. He has had some centuries of development, and his progress must of neccessity now be slow, and fitful. The harness horse, whether trotter or pacer, is a comparatively modern institution and his point of average development has not vet been reached by a large majority. We will see the two-minute pacer next year, and the two-minute trotter the year afterwards. Flying Jib can pace a mile in two minutes and under, with a running mate to pull him along, and keep his feet. Another will come out and do it without the pulling and keep his feet. Harlem track, Chicago, in 1.38%, reducing It means that the gaited horse is catching

The terrible blunder of the judges at Cumberland Park undoubtedly spoiled the greatest pacing race of the year. The Horse Review thus says: "Both the drivers of Robert J. and Gentry were determined to beat; an enthusiastic crowd, many of whom had come hundreds of miles to see the race, were on hand; expectation was on the tiptoe of excitement; the bookmakers had their hands full, and money was as free as water; a great heat was paced, one worth going a thousand miles to see, every point contested, the grandest general ship exerted by great drivers and the greatest nerve and pluck exhibited by flying horses, ending in as grand a finish as ever came out of a home stretch with Gentry, who was far from being a favorite, clearly the victor and then came the sickening thud of official incompetency like a bolt out of heaven, a cloud out of the sky, a dead cat out of a stable loft! It was too bad. Six thousand or more people went away disgusted, one of the best associations in the country had been wronged, a splendid horse deprived of his just dues, the owners and driver of the champion, always more than anxious to see simple justice done and get only what their great horse is entitled to, equally as dissatisfied, a great race, pres aging bursted records, untinished, and a lot of Tennessee lung-splitting shouting smothered into a dismal grunt

With the above we quite agree. We do not believe that on their merits Gentry can beat Robert J., nor do we believe that Geers was afraid to lose the one heat. The whole thing was bungled, the race was set too late in the afternoon and the judges were shall we say insane. The drawing of Gentry was not warranted by the rules, but was warranted by circumstances, and the racing record of the year which otherwise would have been easily disturbed was let go by default. It was

But what about the match between the champion trotters? Shall we drop the mantle of charity over the Alix-Directum race! The mare was in the pink of condition and was there to win. She was ready to trot the race of her life. What about the stallion? He had been sore for weeks, he was sore when the match was made, he was taken out of the way so the public would not know of his condition, he was holstered up for the stallion race at Boston and did one good heat against Nelson at Rigby Park, then the best they could do was to give him slow work with an occasional fast brush. When he came to the post he was not fit to race, his fore feet were terribly sore, he would take any kind of a gait to relieve the pain, it was barbarous to send him out at all.

BUT what else? For three weeks beforehand the papers had been filled with accounts of his excellent condition. "Pink" was no name for it. He was ready to go record breaking miles, and when the day of the battle came his party controlled everything. They charged

$1.50 at the gate and $2.00 for the grand stand, they bled the public right and left. they took all the money in sight and they kept him favorite in the betting ring until within an hour of the race. Then they played their money so eagerly that they ran the stallion down from an odds on favorite to $60, while they gave $150 for the mare. The public lost their money, there was no race that could be called such, and the gentlemen who ran the Directum part of the show-will perhaps there was good reason why the race was not arranged for a western track

Possibly all this explains why the match race arranged for Robert J. and John R. Gentry at Buffalo has fallen through. The papers say there could be no betting and we do not wonder at it. However it will not do to blame all for the "indiscretions" of one party. The harness horses are going into winter quarters or to California, and so there is an end of it for this season.

THE bicycle riders have been as free with the records as the harness horses In the last week two wonderful efforts have been made. Johnson's straights: mile, beating the great Salvator's runni time would have been thought sufficient but it certainly is not as great a perform ance as that of Tyler at Waltham, Mass. on Saturday. The "little demon" role a mile on the circular track in 1.4835 lowering the record by 1 2-5 seconds and his own best previous time by nearly a seconds. On Monday Tyler lowered the two-mile flying start record from 4.0445 to 4.04 flat

From 15.3 to 16 hands, reply, "and weighing from 1,050 to 1,150 pounds, is the desirable size; color is of no particular importance, and is depend-ent solely upon the taste of the purchaser, white as a rule being tabooed and now quite generally bred out.

"Too much importance cannot be paid to the animal's style of moving; he should be high-headed and stylish, with a pure, clean, open gait. A mixer or a horse that interferes or requires booting is particularly to be objected to. A hard-headed puller cannot be too strongly condemned, as such an animal converts pleasure into a decided burden. macadamized roads of the city and the concussion resulting from rapid driving are particularly trying on the horse's feet, and nine-tenths of the lameness in horses can be correctly located there. is, therefore, obvious that a good foot is of the utmost importance. Although good horses are bred in all sections of the country. I am partial to the horse raised in a high, rolling country, as compared to the one raised on the more marshy land. The effects of environment are too well-known to need any comments, and horses raised on low lands have, as a rule, the walled, loosely constructed, flat feet, that in wearing qualities cannot be compared with the tough, thick, and high-walled hoof of the colt raised on a higher and more flinty soil.

When hitching on the street or in exposed places do not force your horse face the wind, and be careful blanket, even if only for a few moments. It saves your horse wonderfully, and prevents rheumatism and a host of troubles.

AT LOUISVILLE.

A Splendid Revival of Harness Racing in the Kentucky Capital.

First Day.

ALL doubt regarding the success of the endeavor to revive harness racing in this city was removed by the splendid patronage accorded to the trotters and pacers at Churchill Downs this after-Quite a number of society peo noon. ole were present, and the grand stand was crowded. The weather was enough for midsummer, and the horses stepped some wonderfully rapid miles on the track that was not considered at all Flying Jib was on the card as the special attraction, his task being to beat the mile in 1.58\(\frac{1}{2}\) he paced with a run-ning mate at Chilicothe three weeks ago. The California meteor was on his b behavior, and after numerous attempts McDowell had to take him to the stable.

In both classes for trotters the issue was soon decided, Miss Nelson and Camlet both having speed to spare in their respective engagements. Miss Nelson respective engagements. Miss Nelson took the lead on the backstretch in the first heat of the 2.13 trot, and won as she pleased in 2.144. Answer, who was well up in this mile, dropped back in the next vo heats, while Georgie Lee and William Penn took turns in trying to stop the e inquering march of the swift footed mare from Virginia.

Camlet's victory in the 2.29 trot marked the downfall of the original favorite, Prince Edsall, who sold at even money over the field before the start. second heat, Camlet scored with a frac-tion of 2.20, and could have gone faster.

He was successful in the first heat only, Coleridge setting a faster pace in the second one, when he finished in 2.09?, the best mile of the day. Then Lottic Loraine flashed out for two heats, only to fall before Colonel Thornton in the fifth mile.

Second Day

The harness races continue to be in favor here, another profitable crowd pat-ronizing the second day's card at Church ill Downs. Three more heats were re-quired to decide the 2:10 pace, and Frank Agan finally added two more scores to the one in the first heat of the contest. spite their previous efforts, the pacers kept up the chp so that all of the eight were in 2:13 or better.

The trotters followed the example of the side wheelers, in the 2:21 class, so that their dispute lasted through six heats. Sarah G. won the first two clearly, and was only beaten by a very close decision in the third heat, the camera being used to determine that Charming Chimes had the best of it. Both trotters took records of 2:18½, but were not game enough to last with Isabelle, who captured the next three heats in much slower time.

Though the money was on Phoebe Wilkes for the 2:09 trot it was expected that Azote and Dan Cupid would make it lively for her. The soft footing proved such a handicap to the stallion and the gelding that Phoebe disposed of them in straight heats. David B. cut out the pace in the first mile, but lost ground so coming home after opening a gap of five lengths, that the favorite had him beaten at the distance and finished at her ease in Azote and Nightingale chased Pheebe from start to finish in the second heat, the Buffalo mare getting to the other one's saddle in the lsst furlong and forcing her out in 2:104. This was a ter-rific clip for such a track and told so much on the trotters that a mile in 2:13] gave Phoebe Wilkes the race without much McDowell tried to through next the rail with Azote in the third heat, but there was not room for him, and he swung outside too late to be dangerous. One heat of the 2:14 pace was all that the remaining daylight permitted and the favorite Venture won this by an open length During the afternoon Directly, the phenomenal two-year-old put in an exhibition mile in 2:10, making the first half in 1:03 and second quarter in 301 seconds. Third Day

Harness racing at this point continue to receive a brilliant patronage, the crowd that came this afternoon being than any of the preceding days. J. was the star attraction, but the champion pacer was plainly off, and would not go as fast as Geers expected. His first attempt resulted in a break just past the half-mile post, after he had reached there in 2.02, and it took 34s, for the third uarter. From there the gelding came ome in 31s., which made the mile 2.07. quarter. He was brought out half an hour later and did no better, though he kept steady At no part of the journey did the pacer have his speed, as shown by his quarters in 32½s., 31½s., 31½s. and 31½s. mile was in 2.07, as before.

Flying Jih was also out of sorts, and affer a lot of coaxing refused to come down on his stride whenever his running mate carried him fast. Finally he squared away round the turn, and starting fast from the first quarter paced in 2.00½, the first half in 1.00½.

There was only one class for trotters on to-day's card, and it was decided without any excitement. Rex Americus was in his best form, and his ten competitors could do nothing with the big colt. He started an even money favorite, and after stepping the first heat in 2.13‡ was in demand at any price. Wheatland Onward sampled his younger relative in the second heat, but was never dangerous, while Autrain made the clip a little faster in the third mile

The 2.14 pace, one heat of which went to the favorite, Venture, yesterday, had an unlooked for termination this afternoon. Venture was unsteady in the second heat, and went lame the next time, so that he retired from the contest. Sable Gift proved the best of the survivors, but his victory was largely due to the clever driving of George W. Sanders. who owns the stallion. A very ordinary lot appeared in the 2.18 pace, and Martin Box, from the southern part of the State, opened a big gap in every heat. Besides the special for Alix, the closing card cludes the 2.24 trot and 2.06 pace. Dilard and Halbraden are to meet in the latter. The summaries :

STOPPED BY RAIN

After three delightful days the harness racers were provented from comple their engagements here by a storm which began Oct. 25th. The course at Churchill Downswas fetlock deep in mud thismorn ing and there was no chance to go on After consulting v this afternoon. majority of the horsemen it was decided not to postpone till Saturday, but to de clare the 2:24 trot and 2:09 pace of Monroe Salisbury knew nothing of this until informed of it late in the afternoon

He was anxious to show Alix, having made the long trip from Boston for this special purpose. There is general breskspecial purpose. There is general bresk-ing up from this point, and most of the campaigners go into winter quarters. A few will follow the balance of the Texas circuit, which is on at Dallas next week

The great local interest which the light harness cracks have awakened here among the best people of the city encourages the new association to arrange for a more extensive meeting next season. is pr posed to lay out a more modern driviong park equipment in the best style and offer some large purses for next year, about this same period.

SPAVIN LAMENESS.

A New Cure Advanced in the by H. M. Ball, D.V.S.

PERHAPS a few lines on the above subject would be of interest, as most anyone that has had any experience with horse has had more or less to do with this The experience they have had, trouble. and the different cures, as well as advice offered, would fill a large volume. Yet how few of those who are so free with their advice and sure cure remedy really know what a spavin is, or anything abou the anatomical construction of the hock joint. The horse is the only animal that has a spavin, and such and such thing are sure shot on spavins. If the advice is taken and the remedy applied, the poor horse's days of grief have come. He is now a subject for experiment and each will be tried on him until finally he will be taken to the professional practioner who will recommend firing. does he do it? Did his last operation of this kind prove successful? Has the majority of his cases of this kind prove a success? To such a question, if he is honest, his reply will be most emphati-But something has to be done cally no. But something has to be dot and this is the last resort. not place any faith in the operation unless it be his first case after getting his diploma. Then he is excusable as he is simply putting into practice what he has been taught, that the free use of the had iron and plenty of blister will kill any spavin. If he is a veteran at the busine he knows full well that the owner will become disgusted before he has operated many times and will have a horse for sa cheap with nothing the matter with bin but a small spavin, but that small spavin looks like a mountain to him and he is willing to part company with it for a ridiculous price.

But what is a more gained treatment for this trouble, and one that is attended with less pain and few chances for complications to arise, and leaves no ugly blemish, is what is known as resection of the cunean tendon. I did it first as an experiment, as anything was preferable to the hot iron, and it gave good results. Since then I have had gave good results. Since then I have not ensiderable experience with the opera-tion and find it far superior to the old method of firing and blistering, more hamane and a more scientific mode of treatment for this old time trouble. This operation can be done without casting the animal. By the use of a small amount of cocaine the parts become insmible to the pain, the tendon can be taken up and a portion removed, closing the wound with a stitch or two after cleansing it antiseptically. It readily heals. With the experience I have had, ad from what I hear from others who e tried this treatment, cunean tenotosy will give better results in less time dan any other for this trouble.

FOOD FOR SICK HORSES.

F. T. McMahon, veterinary surgeon to the Chicago Fire Department, communi-cates to the Street Railway Review an interesting article on the treatment of sick horses. After specifying the principal substances from which to select articles of diet for the sick horse, such as bran, carrots, oatmeal, linseed, etc., the writer

Bran stands decidedly foremost as the food most generally in use for the invalid horse; it acts as a laxative, is fre quently tempting to the appetite, and easy of digestion. There is no part of thegeneral treatment more universal than offering this substance as a change of food. Is this suitstance as a change of tood. Is the horse very weary, and his powers weakened in consequence? We induce him to take warm bran mash, which comfort-ably distends the stomach and satisfies any craving for food, thereby enabling him readily to lie down and rest his enfeebled system until repose restores its wonted vigor. Does he show slight symp-toms of cold or fever? A warm bran mash is a convenient plan of steaming, and consequently of soothing, the irritable mucous membranes of the air passages; it is a substitute for the more stimulating diet he is accustomed to, and gently promotes the activity of the digestive apparatus; it is also a convenient medium for the exhibition of certain simple remendies? lower diet than that with which he is indulged when in full work is judicious, and bran is selected. Is it necessary to adpurgative medicine. mash renders the bowels more susceptible of its action, and a smaller portion of the drug is therefore required to produce the desired effect, and there is, at the same time, less risk of painful spasms accom pauying its operation. Bran mashes may be given hot or cold—cold are perhaps, quite as grateful to the horse; but the mbbeing of the hot mash in catarrhal affections is particularly beneficial, from the necessary inhalation of the steam.

Of all the roots with which horses are tempted, the carrot, as a rule, is the favor ite, and perhaps the most beneficial. I is said to be somewhat diuretic in its effects, and to exercise a salubrious influence on the skin. Certain it is, that a sick horse may be coaxed into eating carrots disenclined to partake nourishment, with the greatest beneficial For the ailing horse then, carrots are most valuable as an article of diet and a few may be given with advantage to a horse in a healthy condition

"Oatmeal is extremely nutritious, and as a food for the convalescent horse is most valuable; the bruising process the grain has undergone breaks the husk, and renders it more easily acted upon by the di-gestive organs. It is usually given in the form of a gruel, and in that form it is one of the most essential articles of diet for the infirmary. It is also a ready mode nourishment after exertion, when he returns to the stable.

"Linseed is decidedly to be included in the sick diet roll. It is nutritious, and from its oleaginous nature, soothing to the frequently irritable mucous membrane of the alimentary canal, and hence is particularly to be recommended in the treat ment of sore throats. Nor is its bland effect local only; its more general influ-ence is particularly observable in affections of the kidneys. It may either be boiled, so as to form when cool a gelat-inous mass, and then mixed with bran, or the liquid, after boiling, may be offered

"Grass, hay-tea, etc., are also very u ful in the treatment of disease, should be used in connection with other straightaway course at Buffalo, John S. Johnson, the phenomenal bicycle rider, made a mile in 1m. 35 2-5s. breaking all previous records on wheel and beating by one-tenth second the mile record for a running horse, that of Salvator, 1m. 35½s. on a straightaway track. This mile was alfourteen seconds faster than any made by a single rider and six seconds faster than the tandem record for the The time for the quarters was: distance. First quarter, 21 2.5s.; second quarter, 25 2.5s.; third quarter, 25s., and final quarter 23 3-5s.

BICYCLE AHEAD

The weather had been threatening all and less than a hundred people gathered on the Tonawanda boulevard witness the race, as it was expected it would have to be postponed. The course, which was paved with brick, recently laid and smooth as asphalt, had been thoroughly cleaned for the trial. It was thoroughly cleaned for the trial. It was found necessary to reverse the course, as a cold wind was blowing into the faces of the riders. The ride was, therefore, made toward Buffalo. This change made the first quarter of the course down hill, the first quarter of the course third and the second up hill and the third and the second up hill and the third and fourth courses about on a level. With the wind at their backs, the riders had a slight advantage.

Electrical timing apparatus had been ovided so that the quarters werech off at both the start and finish and all the timekeepers agreed as to the time when they compared notes afterward.

The quad team which was to make the The quad team which was to make the pace consisted of C. H. Callahan, first; W. A. Seavey, second; Patrick O'Connor, third, and W. A. Rhodes, fourth. The starter was T. J. Sayles, and the timers were: Start, John Courley and T. Mayo; first quarter, T. W. Eck; second quarter, O. D. Kennedy and S. Sheehan; third quarter, C. M. Murphy and H. R.

of supplying the tired, thirsty horse with Stemson; the finish, W. A. Lutz. The Bryan and B. Van Velsor.

Johnson mounted for the start quarter to five o'clock. He wore black tights and a double sweater and a small American flag around the waist. He and the quad team went back half a mile behind the starting tape for their start. As the five riders went across the tape the sound of the pistol they were pedalling over the down grade course at a breathless pace. The spectators saw pedaling over the down grade course as a breathless pace. The spectators saw that something was going to happen to the records and they were not disappointed, for the first quarter registhe remarkable time of 21 2-5

When they struck the uphill course, the pace fell off a little, but Johnson rode easily, with the quad men. This quarter was made in 25 2-5 seconds. As they fleeted the third quarter, which should have been made in better time, two of the quad men showed signs of weakening. The pace, considering that this quarter was over a level course, was the poores of the four, taking just 25 seconds to cover it. The quad men bent to their work with energy in the last quarter, but they could not go too fast for Johnson, who kept his front wheel right in the shadow of the big machine. The last quarter was made in 233-5 seconds, making a total of 1m. 35 2-5s.

The Dangers of Teetotal Teachings.

From the "Licensing World THE tectotal fanatics are everlastingly wing highly-colored pictures of the ects of alcohol. True it is, that in nine es out of ten, the audience upon whom se grossly untrue representations are yed off are either persons of immature or of imperfect education. dess, the serious harm done by the nters against alcohol is beginning to ske itself felt, not so much in manner urious to the trade, as to the nation itif. At Band of Hope meetings, com-sed principally of children, the false tion is inculcated that brandy "drives e mad." Another favorite yarn of the ctotal preacher is to say that "whiskey e, of course, inclined to believe all they n, or course, mellined to believe all they are spoken from a platform, and so they ow up in the belief that spirituous quor is, under any and all circumstances, deadly poison. As an instance, we may cite the particulars of a case related to recently by a well-known London doc-He was called in to attend an ghteen-year-old boy who was dangerous-ill. The high state of fever in which he patient was, rendered it necessary has been strongth should be kept up by the himistration of brandy in minute doses frequent intervals. The patient hap-med to be a youth who had been in the abit of attending Band of Hope lectures, ad so deep-rooted had his belief become at brandy would kill him, that he absoitely refused to take it, notwithstanding ne fact that his very life depended on it. he doctor reasoned, but to no avail; the illy patient was obdurate. The teetotal an begged this fellow, who was a local traper, to use his persuasive powers upon the young man to take some brandy. as was to be expected, this bigot absorately refused to urge the dying man to utely refused to urge the dying main to artake of the brandy, and actually had he audacity to "Thank God" for giving he patient strength of mind enough to resist the "liquid sent him by the Devil." Something had to be done, for life was sbhing fast away, and so the doctor wisely made up a bottle of medicine, composed of brandy and a coloring matter, which he patient took in the belief that it was A drug, and subsequently recovered. Now, here we have a case where the stupid toetotal teaching actually endangered life. Surely, it is high time some steps were taken to stop the wholesale lying of teetotalers, which is really exert

That king of modern humorists, Mr. Jerome K. Jerome, in his smart journal, To-day, deals with the subject in a re-To-day, deals with the subject in a re-markably clever way, by showing what a delusive, yet withal, truthful lecture could be delivered about water. The ex-treme cleverness of the "skit," and its applicability for showing how abominably wicked are the teachings of teetotalers, impel us to reproduce it in extense "That the evils of alcohol should be known to every child I highly approve of, but then its immense benefits and uses should also be explained. I could give a lecture on water, which should be quite correct so far as it went, and yet be hardly educational. 'Water, my dear child-ren,' I could say, 'is a terrible fluid that drowns people. It is composed of two drowns people. gases, on neither of which could life be gases, of definer of the sustained. Every year thousands upon thousands of people are killed by this dreadful fluid, leaving sorrowing widows orphans behind them; and yet our wicked parliament refuses to prohibit it. Water sometimes gets into houses and ruins the walls and the ceilings, and spoils the carpets. Many horrible diseases are brought about by this water, eases are brought about and pleurisy. Water such as rheumatism and pleurisy. Typhoid is the home of disease germs. Typhoid fever and cholera are both brought about by drinking water. Water rises in the form of floods, and then whole towns are swept away, and hundreds of people meet their death. Often the poor farmers' crops are completely ruined by this

"Sometimes people get water in their boots; they catch cold and die. If you put sponge-cake in water, you will find that it becomes pulpy and uneatable. Water will take half the value off a new Mud is made of water mixed with earth. Sometimes water freezes, and then it becomes very dangerous people often break their legs walking up When water descends from the clouds we call it rain, and in this form it spoils picnics, and makes our streets and lanes dirty. Water left standing for a certain time gives off an offensive smell, and will be found to contain thousands upon thousands of tiny insects, and to breed disease and death. If you put your boots in water, you will find that all the blacking comes off them." A similar lecblacking comes off them." A similar lec-ture might be delivered on the subject of fire; perhaps our Board School author-ties will arrange for a series. It is every whit as correct and as sensible as those being given on alcohol."

The projectors of the new track associa-tion at Peoria, Ill., have been twice refused incorporation because the names selected have conflicted with other incor-porated associations. The committee on ame will keep at it until they get there.

The black pacing stallion, Altana, by Almont Raven, that took a record of 2.25 Oct. 18, at Tipion, Ia., drew a high-wheel sulky and went the first half in 1.10\frac{1}{2}. Altana is owned by J. H. Fulwider, of Tipton.

There are laws in several states against driving horses out of their classes, yet the most upright men in the business drive horses out of their classes almost daily— because they have to. This is a distinction with a large difference.

The late Duke of Somerset was, in his day, one of the most famous anateur whips in England. For the pure love of it he would often drive the coach from London to Oxford, and drive the Gloucester mail back again from Oxford to London—twenty-two hours continuous work. As Lord Algerion St. Maur, he contributed a fascinating chapter on "Old Coaching Days" to the coaching volume of the Badminton series.

THE New Brunswick horses, Helena B., 2.27, gr. m., by Harry Wilkes, 1896, and Helena, 2.3H, rn. m., by Mambrino-Chartn, 808, trotted one heat of a named or match race at Eastport, Me. on the 28th ult. Helena B. won the first heat in 2.48, when Helena, being very lame on account of an accident in shipping her, had to be drawn. Helena B. was then sent an exhibition mile, which she did in 2.27, without a skip or bread.

Aluminum horseshoes were tried on a horse weighing 1,600 pounds by a cavalry officer, and a report on the result has been recently published. The shoes were set on February 22, and react on March 22. One on the hind foot broke on April 21, and the whole four were then removed. In the two months the horse had traveled over 140 miles. The front shoes had bits of steel in the toes, and wore better than the hind ones. The former could have been used a little longer, though reduced

A very common stable vice among racehorses, is tendency to roll completely over. Nobody on earth has ever ascertained why a horse does this. In a state of freedom this is not attended with any danger, though sometimes, when the ground is hard, the withers have been injured by constant attempts to roll over. Horses seem to regard the process as fun. When the attempt is made in the stall the horse is often completely thrown upon his back against the wall or travis and is unable to get back again.

"I have instructed Ed. Geers to drive Fantasy in 2.65 before the close of the season, said Mr. J. C. Hunlin. "The filly can trot a second faster than her present record, and I want her to gain the four-year-old championship." Mr. Hamlin's filly is in the hands of Geers and he is preparing her for the record mile. When Fantasy made her mark of 2.00 she covered the mile with so much case that Geers is confident she can go under the wire in 2.05. The four-year-old mark is 2.05\(\frac{1}{2}\), held by Directum.

August Belmont has announced his intention to breed Lady Violet to Knight of Ellerslie at the close of the season. He hopes that another Henry of Navarre will be fooled. It is not generally known that Belmont came very near buying the champion three-year-old last year. The price McCelland a-ked was $20,000, and Jack Joyner was very anxious to get possession of the colt. Belmont, however, thought the price a trifle steep, and so let the colt go.

The Montreal pacer Little Pitt that has had a very successful campaign this senson in the States, was in the worst of luck at Philadelphia on Thursday last. Six horses started in the 2.4 claes pacing and Pitt finished fifth in the first heat, which was laid up. Unfortunately, however, he was distanced in the next as he had been suffering from rheumatism and was unable to finish out. Robert C. came under the wree first in 2.44. The same horses which competed have been beaten by Pitt already this year.

Sir John Astley was once at Newmarket with Lord Randolph Churedill, who asked nim for his race card, saying: "I dreamt last night was read to be a supported by the saying of the combination of the comternative. I'll back it to win a thousand." This he did, taking a thousand to thirty. The near won. Of course the fortunate nobleman was congratulated, but Sir John, having had a bad race, his felicitations were hardly happy, his comment being: "Ah, you always were a dreamer, Churchill."

In scoring at Bridgewater, one horse put his foot through a wire spoked wheel of another horses suity. The was alonger of the horses suity. The was alonger of the horse of the wire with the suit of the property of the suit of the suit

At the meeting recently held at Point Breeze Park, Philadelphia, a new method of starting the horses was tried. Two professional starters were caphayed, of give the word, while the horse was the same the starter of the horse the spoint somewhat faster at the stretch than the distance. At the latter's signal the drivers moved away, and, if they were well aligned at the wire, the word was given. The results of this experiment are reported to have been very acceptable, the average number of attempts to get of was unaterially lessened and the spectators better pleased in consequence.

Says the Torf, Field and Farm: "Only five of the thirty trotters in the 2.10 list made their records to high wheel sully. These are Sund, 2.08]; Mand 8, 2.08]; Palo Alto, 2.08]; Alberton, 2.09]; Jay-Eye-See, 2.10. All the others had the advantage of a bicycle sulky, which is from five to six seconds faster than the high wheel. Only two of the select five trotted to their records on an oral or regulation track. These are Mand 8, and Jay-Eye-See." Has our older contemporary forgotten that at Saginaw, Michigan, Sept. 17, 1891, before a bicycle sulky was in existence, Nelson trotted over the oval track, pulling high wheels in 2.10.

In reference to the proposed long distance trotting races at Fleetwood, we are reminded that the best time on record for the black horse Pascal, at Fleetwood Park.
