SALMON SEASON JUST CLOSE WAS GOOD ONE

Something About the Local and Visiting Sportsmen and the Luck They Had on Their Fishing Trips--Hon. E. A. Hitchcock's Big Catch.

What has proved one of the finest seasons for salmon fishing that this province has ever known closed on Tuesday last September 15, and the fishermen who wandered about the coast in search of the younger, and smaller grise are thoroughly satisfied with the success attending their efforts. And they might well be satisfied for the catches made, not on paper, but with line and fly were chronicled them to a sublimely would at once be named Annanias.

But the catches were really in the nature of record breakers. All the favorite streams and resorts seemed to be more prolific than ever before and although monster fish were reported as not plentiful yet the average fish was heavier than in previous years.

Among the St. John fishermen who have been successful in their quest for salmon this year was James F. Robertson. Mr. Robertson spent the month of July in his comfortable camp on the Upper Mitchell, a tributary of the Restigouche.

Mr. Robertson, who is also an ardent angler, has had a most successful season. He has taken a total of 128 fish.

Mr. Robertson spent the month of July in his comfortable camp on the Upper Mitchell, a tributary of the Restigouche. He has taken a total of 128 fish.

These returned satisfied. S. A. Jones, F. W. Fraser and Alexander McMillan spent two weeks there and returned with sixty old salmon and grise.

One of the most successful visitors of the season on the Metepoula was Hon. E. A. Hitchcock, secretary of the Interior in the cabinet of "Strenuous Teddy." Mr. Hitchcock with two friends visited there early in July and after three weeks fishing the aggregate catch numbered 128 fish.

The Tobique Salmon Club on the Tobique River, which is composed mostly of Americans, principally residents of Philadelphia, had a successful season. Some twenty rods were fishing the club's limits and there were no disappointed ones.

Mr. Brown was most enthusiastic over his trip. "One day," he said, "His Lordship Bishop Dunn, of Quebec, was invited into camp and dined with two fellow sportsmen--Mr. Coleman and Rev. Mr. Doory. The bishop was surprised that day when he saw Mr. Brown's boatmen bring home his three salmon and one grise from the forenoon's fishing."

Mr. Brown has travelled over all Europe and prior to his trip to the Restigouche he has never seen a more wonderful view than that from the top of Morneau Peak, looking down the Restigouche seven miles above Campbellton.

Generally all salmon fishermen who visited here were more than satisfied with their trip. Salmon fishing is rather expensive sport and it is reported that this year's fishermen spent more money than in previous years.

For once at least, St. John is giving generous support to the Opera House management in bringing to the city a company and a performance of genuine merit.

The Plan line people and the longshoremen of this city have not yet quite settled their grievances. The men still refuse to work at half rates unless they receive double time (50 cents per hour) which the company will not pay. As the result of the strike, the company has lost a great deal of business.

There will be a matinee this afternoon at 2 o'clock. The programme will consist of the evening's performance. Theatre goers should not miss this exceptionally fine performance.

ISLAND FARMERS FIGHT A PLAGUE

VERY GOOD IN AUGUST

St. John Hotel Men Say Tourist Traffic HAS PICKED UP

June and July Were Bad Months Compared With Other Years, but the Present Month is Well Up to the Mark.

Tourist travel for August has thus far proved a success. The hotel men here are very optimistic about the present month. They say that the month has picked up considerably since the beginning of the season.

Mr. Brown has travelled over all Europe and prior to his trip to the Restigouche he has never seen a more wonderful view than that from the top of Morneau Peak, looking down the Restigouche seven miles above Campbellton.

Pernicious Ragwort Has Caused Many Deaths

AMONG LIVE STOCK

How Prohibition Laws Work in the Island--Charlotte-town Has Prohibition Law Vigorously Enforced, While Summerside is Wide Open.

CHARLOTTETOWN, Aug. 18--The commissioner of agriculture has issued a circular to the farmers warning them against the pernicious weed commonly called Ragwort, which has been allowed to obtain a foothold in the province and is rapidly overrunning large sections of Kings and Prince counties and smaller areas in Queens. Ragwort, where it has appeared in the eastern part of Nova Scotia has a most disastrous effect upon farm land and cattle, not only has it caused the death of large numbers of cattle but it has, by taking possession of the best land, reduced the earnings of the farmer to 75 per cent.

The experiments conducted by Dr. Pethick, V. S., at Antigonish, to determine the exact nature and cause of the Pictou county cattle disease have demonstrated beyond question that this disease was caused by Ragwort in the hay in which the cattle had been fed. The commissioner urges the farmers in every infected locality to eradicate this weed. In places where it cannot be uprooted it should be cut down before the seed matures. If this is done before flowering two years in succession the pest may be exterminated.

This week the work on the substructure of the Hillsboro bridge, of which M. J. Haney of Toronto is the contractor, was completed. The superstructure of this bridge will not be completed until November. The contractor for this part of the work is now building real property for the swing span, which was completed by the Dominion Bridge Co. of Montreal. This bridge is the connecting link between Charlottetown and Summerside on the Murray Harbor and Belfast Branch Railway. The whole road will therefore be open for traffic in about three months.

INSPECTOR CARTER HOLDS VERY PRONOUNCED VIEWS

St. John: Could Provide for Modern Commercial Education, Manual Training and Household Science at Comparatively Small Outlay.

It is a notable fact that among all who are up to the present time have been approached on the subject of manual training not a single dissenting voice has been raised, but on the contrary everyone favors it most enthusiastically, and would welcome its introduction in the public schools of St. John.

The subject has been talked of more or less for some time past, and at a meeting under the auspices of the Fabian League, held here on the 13th of January last, Inspector W. B. Carter read an interesting paper on "Modern Education," in which he referred to manual training.

Mr. Carter in introducing his subject spoke of education as "the chief business of the state," and referred to the position of the countries of the world today as being governed by their expenditure of money for common school education.

even more popular than the manual training. In New Brunswick there was not as yet any school of this nature connected with the public schools, although two or three private ones were in existence. Summing up the difference between the old and new systems, Mr. Carter said the old system compelled work, while the new system attracted work, uniting hand and mind, and thought and action.

The inspector then referred to several matters which are at present attracting attention. The state, he said, should provide free text books if they provided free schools; such a course had been found not only cheaper, but it permitted of advantageous changes which in educational matters were frequent. Taxpayers were very sensitive about changes in text books, and their prejudices were usually respected to the loss of the children. The life of the average text book should be from five to ten years, and if, for example, two or three sets of readers were purchased, each set, after use in one section could be substituted for another. The interest would be increased and the readers would not become stale in the eyes of the pupils. In Milltown (N.B.) the legality of supplying free school materials had been established and any school board in the province could adopt the principle if desired.

Vacations were regarded by about one-fourth of the taxpayers (those who have money in the country) as now too long, while the remaining three-fourths for whose children no playgrounds were provided would be willing to do with less. The teachers were in any way responsible; the legislators were supposed to voice the sentiments of the people in this matter and the teachers were paid only for the number of teaching days in the year. Vacation schools had been established in large cities and were very popular, and if started in St. John would afford an excellent opportunity to start the various branches of the new education.

Mr. Carter was of the opinion that while all branches of modern education could not be introduced into St. John at present, yet provision could be made for modern commercial education, manual training and household science. The cost would be commensurate with the benefits received.

FANATICAL DOUKHOBORS AND THEIR LATEST MARCH

Further Particulars of the Pilgrimage of the Thirty-two Who Sought to Imitate Adam and Eve with the Fig Leaf Eliminated.

WINNIPEG, Aug. 18--A special correspondent of the Free Press writes from Yorkton:

"The latest example of Doukhorb fanaticism is in some respects the most peculiar. The facts are briefly these: Under the leadership of some men, who have already given the authorities trouble, a band of men, women and children, 18 men, 16 women and 5 children, collected from various villages north and north-east of Yorkton, marched to within two miles of the town, drawing a wagon loaded with rough provisions. At the ford of the Little White and some two miles from the town, the whole party discolored and made a bonfire of their clothes, burning the wagon at the same time. They then proceeded with the intention of marching in a state of nature through the town. Word was sent in by telephone to the police and Sergeant Junger, acting with commendable dispatch, sent constables to arrest the movement.

"It appears that a young girl of 18 or 20 refused to remove her clothing and was stripped by the older women, there being three old women in the party besides a girl of 12 or 13 years of age.

"I observe," said Mr. James Jones this morning, "that some property owned by Thomas W. Lawton of Boston is advertised for sale in that city for non-payment of taxes. Hereafter I shall have a personal interest in the career of millions. I find that I have some things in common. I have myself had a similar experience, and a kindred aversion to taxes."

WILL SEEK TO STOP CITY FROM CHANGING CONTRACT

Citizens Will Apply for Injunction to Prevent Council from Paying More Money to McArthur & McVey.

The prospect of an injunction to restrain the city from paying the contract with contractors McArthur & McVey was the feature at city hall yesterday. The deliberations of the sub-committee appointed to discuss the terms on which section 2 of the water extension would be completed were concluded, and it is likely despite the suggested legal process, that Engineer Barbour's suggestion may be carried out.

A communication from Messrs. Hastings, Teed & Hamilton acting on behalf of a prominent citizen and taxpayer, received at city hall yesterday morning asking for access to the city's agreement with the contractors for the purpose of making a copy. The letter referred to the rumors which are in circulation that it was proposed to pay McArthur & McVey the contractors additional sums of money over and above the contract price on section 2 and it was intimated that the council on an investigation such a course was found to be illegal.

The name of the legal firm's client is not at present available for publication but it is understood that he is a citizen of considerable weight and influence who has expressed his determination to use every legal means to prevent any change in the contract already existing. It is claimed that such a course would be taking an unfair advantage of the other tenderers who were not so low as McArthur & McVey and that in a strict sense the council would be exceeding their legal powers.

Members of the board who were seen last evening did not attach much importance to the letter. It was, however, said by one alderman that the recorder had given an opinion that the city had no authority under the contract to effect a compromise with the contractors, but that the contract must be carried out or relinquished in its entirety.

It is learned that no further steps will be taken in the matter of the injunction until the date of settlement with the contractors is known, and until the solicitor some have had an opportunity to review the contract and the act of the provincial legislature under which the city obtained its powers in connection with Lake Lattimer.

Extracts from the agreement with McArthur & McVey, which bears more directly on the present situation will prove of interest.

The following section deals with the showing up of the contract: If the work to be done shall be abandoned, without the consent of the board, or if the contract is not carried out, the contractor shall be liable for the cost of the work done, and the board may determine, complete the work of such part thereof, as it may see fit.

IT HAS COME AT LAST

Car Grants a National Assembly of the People of Russia —The Proclamation Which was Issued from Peterhof Yesterday.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 18.—Emperor Nicholas has today announced the grant to the people of Russia of a national constituent assembly to be formed by elected representatives from the whole of Russia. The imperial manifesto which is published simultaneously here and at Moscow and which will be read in all the churches of the empire, is dated at Peterhof today.

The Emperor of Russia is formed and strengthened by the indissoluble solidarity of the people with the people, and of the people with the emperor. This solidarity of the people is the great moral force which has created Russia in the course of centuries by protecting her from all misfortune, all attacks and has constituted up to the present time a pledge of unity, independence, integrity, national well-being and intellectual development.

It is for this reason that while preserving the fundamental law regarding the autocratic power, we have deemed it well to form a Constituent Assembly (lower house of the assembly) and to approve the regulations for elections to the Duma, extending the validity of these laws to the whole territory of the empire, which such changes only can be considered necessary in the case of some regions in which special conditions obtain.

As regards the participation in the labors of the Constituent Assembly of Duma in general and the Grand Duchy in particular, we will take special measures. At the same time we have ordered the minister of the interior to submit immediately for our approval regulations for the elections to the Duma and that deputies from fifty governments and from the military province of the Don may be able to assemble not later than the middle of January, 1906.

We reserve to ourselves entirely the care of performing the constitutions of the Constituent Assembly and when the course of events shall have shown the necessity for changes corresponding completely to the needs of the time and the welfare of the empire, we shall not fail to give at the proper moment the necessary directions.

HOPE OF PEACE TREATY ABOUT ABANDONED NOW

Crisis Came Yesterday and a Straight Deadline Resulted--Both Sides Now Turn to Home for Last Word Before Final Cards Are Played Next Tuesday.

Portsmouth, N. H., Aug. 18.—Back pessimism reigns at Portsmouth tonight. The prevailing view is that the fate of the peace conference is already sealed, that it has ended in failure, and that all that now remains is for the plenipotentiaries to meet on Tuesday, to which they adjourned this afternoon upon completing the ratification of the Japanese terms, sign the final protocol, go through the conventions and bid each other farewell. In other words, that the meeting Tuesday will be with diplomatic calls the "Seance D'Adieu."

But there is still room for hope of a compromise. Neither President Roosevelt nor the powers will see the chance of peace shipwrecked without final effort and that measure being exerted, especially at Tokyo, to induce her to moderate her terms is beyond question. Just what is being done or is to be done is not ascertained, but in these days a modern means of communication much can be accomplished.

Mr. Witte accepted outright seven of the twelve Japanese conditions, one in principle and four including the main issue, indemnity and Sakhalin, the remaining three being the limitation of naval power and the surrender of interned warships, might have been arranged had there been any prospect of agreement on the two points upon which the divergence seemed irreconcilable.

In the oral discussion of the terms Mr. Witte yielded upon two articles but substantially the results of the thirteen sittings of the plenipotentiaries has been to emphasize the position taken by Mr. Witte in the written reply he presented last Saturday to the Japanese terms. And on both sides there has been for the last word before the cards are thrown face upward upon the table next Tuesday.

For the impasse reached today by the plenipotentiaries is recognized to be only a diplomatic fiction. If in the interim fresh instructions are received by either side compromise is yet possible. But the chances are recognized to be slim. So far as the Russian plenipotentiaries are concerned there never was a chance of their yielding both indemnity and Sakhalin. The ostensible of the most competent, was, according to the best inside information, the extreme limit to which Mr. Witte would ever consent to go and to concede that. And tonight suddenly a new factor has been introduced which in the opinion of those most competent, lessens materially the chances that he might do so, namely the issuance of his manifesto giving a popular representative body to his subjects. The bearings of this "historic document" as Mr. Witte described it four days ago, are not easily comprehensible. It is bound to ameliorate the internal situation in Russia. It is to be followed by a referendum of the most competent, a responsible ministry, a premier, and Russia will become a constitutional monarchy.

It is pointed out that the manifesto is "one of the most important of a 'group de faits' and that its significance is too plain to be questioned. It was to have been issued last Saturday when the Russian reply was presented but it was held over until the conclusion of the oral consideration of the Japanese terms. Meanwhile the terms had been published everywhere throughout Russia. The press-view of the Liberal press had replied that Russia could not pay for the privilege of getting out of Manchuria. The emperor had publicly proclaimed that the July 28 in reply to a telegram of the Oregon clergy. "The Russian people can rely upon me. I will never conclude a peace humiliating or unworthy of great Russia."

The manifesto of Emperor Nicholas' answer to the Japanese demand for the payment of a war tribute. The grant of this great reform is regarded as virtually an appeal to the Russian people for support to resist it. At Tokyo it is impossible to tell what view will be taken. Peace can probably be even now secured by the exercise of the indemnity.

Vague intimations tonight come from the Japanese side that the demand for the cost of the war might be moderated but Mr. Witte's reply is that he will pay liberally for the maintenance of Russian prisoners in Japan but "not a copeck for tribute."

The gravity of the situation from the Japanese point of view is contained in the following authoritative statement given to the Associated Press: "I cannot say positively, because all things are possible, but I fear that the meeting of Tuesday will be the farewell session of the Washington conference. Japan has done her utmost for peace. Russia now knows Japan's irreducible minimum."

Mr. Witte himself tonight gave not the slightest encouragement. For publication he said: "We meet Tuesday only to sign the protocol," with the accent on the word "only."

Straw Hats in Dark Brown, Blues, Reds and Grays, With Velvet and Wing Trimmings—Rough Riders Will Be Used for School Hats.

Misses' garments are always slower to change than those for women, therefore the first Autumn styles show but slight departures. Spring and late summer effects are in a great measure repeated, with such modifications and materials as the new season calls for, and with some small new touch for novelty.

Naturally the first fall articles to be considered for any wardrobe are coats and hats, for the minute winds begin to blow light wraps and seasonable looking headgear are necessary.

The coats and ready-to-wear hats now being shown for misses by many shops admirably suit the unsettled moment between the heat of summer and the chill of late autumn.

Advices from Paris on this subject state that the large makers are continuing a coat button which will exactly imitate the larger of the copper coins used in Japan.

The influence of the automobile is decidedly felt in misses' rainy-day coats. The three coats pictured represent new and practical cuts.

The first Autumn headgear is the case of all to manage, as this season lends itself especially to the stiff effects of ready-to-wear millinery.

The straw hats are in the main darkly colored, browns, blues, reds and greys standing out with prominence.

ance for black. Quite young girls and even children are to wear black this Winter, with little smartenings of white and color upon the coat or bodice.

Some striking plaid effects are seen among the new wool materials, those of special effectiveness being of the old checked order.

Touching upon the figure, it appears that there is a rebelling against putting very young girls in corsets.

The honed underbodices, which are in vogue in the best circles, are made fully as the outside waist, and cordings are sometimes used instead of whalebone.

The ready-made boned and corded waists are heavier and clumsier, but all such boned bodices are preferred for young girls to the regular corset, as they do not admit of lacing.

The finishing touches to a child's bodice are the various flower-sprinkled draperies. These lend harmony to all the quaint, half-finished details.

Because you have had some admirer dangle every attendance of your every wish, do not expect the same of the small brother or the ever-willing mother.

Next morning Mr. Vorobev, who owned the clothing store, told the story of the incident.

This is the most difficult time of the year to tempt the appetite of the convalescing patient. Dog-day heat has dulled even keener senses, and every wife of the cook's art is needed to coax the invalid to take nourishing food.

In the first place, eggs, which are the simple article of diet for the invalid, should be chosen with particular care.

To make an egg poached in water look as delicate as possible, lay on a piece of light brown toast that has been cut with a round cutter.

THE EDISON BATTERY FOR AUTOMOBILES

It Should Revolutionize the Auto. Business--It is a Combination of Constancy, Lightness, Cheapness, and Durability, Says the Wizard--Very Satisfactory Experiments Made.

The most practical things about my storage battery, as I have developed it, said Thomas A. Edison, as he sat in his library in his home on top of the Orange hills, putting rings from a big black cigar toward the ceiling.

The electric delivery wagon is the coming thing for city traffic. In ten years the congestion, if horses continue in use, will be something terrific. There will be thousands and thousands in the streets.

only 50 per cent. of what it costs to maintain a horse and wagon. This includes the cost of repairs to the automobile, replacing tires, oils, and such things.

The great thing that has handicapped me heretofore--and the same thing has worried others who have been experimenting along the same lines--has been the great weight necessary to carry along with electrically equipped vehicles.

I put out about 14,000 battery cells to experiment with. These were divided up in all conceivable ways and put on about one hundred and sixty automobiles.

The great wizard leaned back in his heavily-reclined chair and smiled with a glaze for a moment; then, with a twinkle in his eye, he continued:

Up to the Auto People. I have done my work; now it is up to the automobile people to do theirs and produce the proper car.

All the vehicles that we are equipping for business purposes will be equipped with what we have figured on as the standard battery--sixty cells. These will be able to carry a ton of weight from forty-five miles to seventy-five miles, according to the weight and thickness of the cells, on one charging.

Advantages of Machine. Manifestly if you have a gasoline machine you have to have an expert to run it. There are a thousand things to get out of order at a second's notice.

Difficulties Mechanical. The troubles in the battery that I have been trying to remedy, he concluded, have been purely mechanical.

Jersey roads. I have a number of runabouts using the battery now, and they are doing very well; they are making from 100 to 120 miles on one charging.

Equipped. I think it is a very few months people will be converting their gasoline machines into electric. It will be very simple. The gears in the transmission can be adapted without much alteration. The same oil can be used.

Several forms of entertainments have been provided for the children. Among them is the blowing of soap bubbles which is a favorite pastime with the little ones.

At night the mothers and grandmothers with the little ones, come to sit in the grounds and watch the children enjoy themselves.

The playground will be kept open until the end of September. During the last month only afternoon sessions will be held, as the public schools are open during the mornings.

into very fine pieces and heat with a quarter of a pound of melted butter. Add a little sweet cream just before serving.

Where the blood has become somewhat depleted, carrots should be served to the patient. After scraping four carrots, cut into long slices. Cover with cold water for half an hour.

Two tempting sweet dishes for hot weather are cocoanut custard and rhubarb jelly served with cream.

Cocoanut Custard. Add gradually to the beaten yolks of two eggs, a cup of milk, two tablespoons of sugar and a pinch of salt. Mix the ingredients together well, and add two ounces of shredded cocoanut. Pour into a greased pie dish and bake.

Rhubarb Jelly. Skin and cut one-half pound of rhubarb into small pieces. Put in a saucepan with half a cupful of sugar and cook slowly until soft, not broken.

Soak one tablespoonful of gelatin in a quarter of a cupful of cold water. Jill soft. Then add to the hot rhubarb with one teaspoonful of lemon juice. Place in a mould and thoroughly chill. Serve in squares with whipped cream or soft custard.

What a comfort the exchange system is! exclaimed one woman shopper to a friend she met in the elevator of a big department store. "Yesterday I bought a hat which I didn't like after I got it home, so today I brought it back and got three pounds of butter and a mousetrap for it."--New York Sun.
