As Hiram Sees It

"Well, sir," said Mr. Hiram Hornsman to the Times reporter, "I had a shake hands yesterday with a lot of them nose-paper fellers from the Old Country an' Austray an' South Africa, and Lord knows where. Me an' Lord Burnham got quite chummy. He wanted to know about the Settlement, an' said he wished he had time to go out an' spend a day with me an' Hanner on the old place. He's a fine feller. I used to think them lords was kind of snazzy an' wouldn't talk to common folks any when they wanted to order 'em around—but if they're all like him an' the Dook of Devonshire I wouldn't mind havin' one for a neighbor—sort of 'wished on 'em—ahnt they? I liked that labor feller, too. He made a real good speech out there to the Manor House. If they're all like him they aint too bad. He's got a hull lot of 'hose-paper fellers' in his papers, too. When you git up close to an Englishman he aint half as bad as they make him in the funny papers. I had a real good time yesterday, an' I me an' Hanner ever takes that weddin' tower we been talkin' about fer forty years I guess we'll just foller the flag an' see some of them places where this crowd come from—yes, sir. Don't it beat all? If them Loyalists in the Old Buryin' Ground could see what we seen yesterday they'd remember what the Good Book says: 'They rest for their labors and their works do foller them.' I aint sure that's just right, but Hanner—she'd know if she was here. Well, well, I must go home an' tell 'er all about it."

TRADE OPINIONS ON FOOTWEAR SITUATION

There May Be a Keen Demand and a Curtailed Supply for Fall.

Two paragraphs on the boot and shoe situation, one from a big Canadian leather company, and the other from Boston correspondence in the Financial Times give clear statement of the trade situation. The leather company says:

"The tanners have very largely curtailed production, the manufacture of shoes has been speedily reduced, the retailers instead of placing orders have spent their mental energy in seeing where they could cancel orders previously placed."

The Boston correspondent writes: "We are approaching what is ordinarily the busiest season of the year in the shoe industry—the fall season. More shoes are always bought in the fall than in the spring. The test will come then when dealers seek to stock up with fall goods and find that manufacturers have not been producing the leather into the vats. It is possible that, if labor continues unemployed at high wages and general business conditions are fairly good, there may be a search of a substitute by dealers to replenish depleted stocks as there is no way to unload."

Of the conditions in Canada the leather company adds: "Many tannery soaking vats for weeks upon weeks have seen no skins. The shoe cutters have been holidaying instead of cutting shoes, yet the shoes already made have been hoarded up. The retailers shelves and no provision made in tannery or shoe factory to replace the supply."

GOOD THINGS COMING TO THEATRES OF ST. JOHN

PREMIER-SCOTCH VENTRILOQUIST MAKES BIG HIT

Has Feature Act in Opera House Week-End Bill—In Addition There Is a Good Musical Offering, Clever Acrobatic Dancing, Motion Picture, etc.

One of the best comedy acts staged in the Opera House in some time was enjoyed last evening by large audiences in attendance at the two performances. The act in question was presented by "The Great Howard," a premier Scotch ventriiloquist, and that it made a decided hit was evident from the hearty and appreciative applause, the interest manifested and prolonged laughter. The scene presents a red cross hat which is visited by two soldiers seeking treatment. Their amusing remarks and remarks put the audience in an uproar from the beginning of the act until it terminated. Mr. Howard is no stranger to St. John having participated in feature musical performances with the Royal Scots Concert Company in 1907. He also opened the Old Star theatre in Halifax and was married there prior to returning to Scotland. He will undoubtedly have a popular attraction during his engagement in this city.

In addition to this feature act there was also a pleasing piano and violin offering by the Misses Janie and Segal. Their solos and duets, on these popular instruments were thoroughly enjoyed and they received appreciative applause.

Castleman and Play also "sang high". They are two of the cleverest acrobats and acrobatic dancers booked on this circuit and they were given a flattering reception.

Harrietta Pitt also made a popular hit by her classic and comic songs. She has a pleasing, rich soprano voice, which is heard to advantage in two of her numbers. In addition she has a couple of comic songs, which evoked hearty laughter.

Armed to Teeth, Three Youngsters Set Out to Conquer

Quincy, July 31.—Three modern Alexander, slipping fit words other than Noddie Island to conquer, reluctantly gave up their quest of a "place in the sun" when they ran into the arms of Patrolman George Fallon at Wollaston shortly before midnight.

The three conquering heroes ranged in ages from nine to eleven and were "armed to the teeth" and then some. Officer Fallon met the straggling youths, who were footsore and weary, as he was patrolling his beat between Norfolk Downs and Wollaston. Two of them had revolvers, fully loaded, one had an air rifle and a shotgun.

The lads gave their names as Norman Lerdinger, eleven years, of 240 Lexington street, East Boston; John Tracy, twelve, of 442 Stratford street, East Boston; and Loring Powell, nine, of 92 Tatham street, East Boston.

Lerdinger had an air rifle and a policeman's club. He explained possession of the latter by saying it belonged to his uncle who, he said, is a member of the Windrop police force. Tracy had a revolver, fully loaded, and with thirty-two extra rounds of ammunition in his pocket.

One of the boys said his mother had given him $2 last night and bade him go into the country and seek work on a farm. He said he started from home at 9 o'clock and at the South Station he and the other boys bought tickets for Wollaston and got off at Norfolk Downs, one station the other side of Wollaston. To these boys Wollaston represented the end of the earth and they thought that would be a good place to start in at the conquering business and work back toward civilization.

No doubt the good people of Wollaston who awoke from a sound sleep this morning to find their village intact and their property still in their own possession, will be thankful to know how two extra rounds of escaped capture and, perhaps, slavery, by an invading army from Noddie Island during the night.

THE DECLINE IN WHEAT (Bangor Commercial)

A decline of twenty cents a bushel has occurred within a few days in the price of wheat. This does not mean as much as it would have meant four or five years ago when the wheat prices were less than half those of the present, but it does indicate what prices are on the downward trend and will not take the upward tendency that was the passage of governmental control. The law of supply and demand is working in the case of wheat with an unexpected large crop tipping the balance downward.

HON. DR. ROBERTS HOME FROM OTTAWA
Hopes to Secure Partial Restoration of Franking Privilege in Interests of Provincial Public Services.
Hon. Dr. W. F. Roberts, minister of health for New Brunswick, who delivered an address on "The latest ideas concerning public health" at the convention of the Canadian Union of Municipalities at Quebec, returned to the city yesterday.
The only other representative of the maritime provinces at this convention was Mayor Schofield, of St. John and Arthur Roberts, a barrister of Bridgetown (N. S.), the vice-president of the Canadian Union of Municipalities and secretary of the Nova Scotia Union.
Dr. Roberts also visited Ottawa on this trip on behalf of the provincial government to make some arrangements regarding the recent franking legislation that went through during the last hours of the federal session. The postmaster-general, in order to overcome certain abuses of the franking privilege, apparently without considering that it effected very vitally several important instruments of the government, among which was that of vital statistics, had this legislation passed.
The deputy minister, after conversing with Dr. Roberts, said that he had no idea of the far-reaching effects of this legislation and was willing to bring the matter before the minister of the department, saying that he felt satisfied that remedial measures in some form would be brought about to provide for the interim until amended legislation is obtained.

IRELAND NOT IN SAME POSITION AS OTHER COLONIES
Argument to the Contrary Is Fallacy, Says Henry Arthur Jones—Canadian and Australian Interests More Remote, He Says.
(Canadian Press.)
London, July 31.—"Every argument based on the assumption that Ireland holds, or can ever hold, the same political relationship to England as that which is held by Canada or Australia is a mischievous fallacy," writes Henry Arthur Jones, the famous playwright, in an open letter published in the Evening Standard addressed to J. H. Thomas, railwaymen's labor representative.
The letter was written by Mr. Jones in reply to a discourse by Mr. Thomas, which was made public recently, regarding the future relations he proposed or desired should exist between Ireland and England. The particular cause of Mr. Thomas' discourse to which Mr. Jones took exception was:
"If in Canada and Australia the government would be in jeopardy."
"Canada and Australia are on the other side of the world," Mr. Jones continues. "Their daily life and intercourse are remote from us, have never been absorbed in ours and can never be absorbed."
"But the case is altogether different with Ireland. Ireland lies at our very doors. For centuries the daily life and intercourse of these two islands have been intertwined. The two countries are absorbed with each other and must always be absorbed with each other. Whatever separate or united form of government is established in Ireland is bound to us by a thousand ties."
"And if Canada and Australia were to throw open to our sea their interminable circumstances of seaboard, with every harbor, creek and inlet for shelter and aid to his submarines, and with every acre in their wide contents for space to build his aerodrome, would that advantage him and disable England to the extent of a fifth part of the irrevocable injury that Ireland might work us by opening to him one single port on her easily accessible coast?"
"For centuries the daily life and intercourse of these two islands have been intertwined. The two countries are absorbed with each other and must always be absorbed with each other. Whatever separate or united form of government is established in Ireland is bound to us by a thousand ties."
"Our attitude towards such an outbreak in a distant colony, and our methods of dealing with it, would be quite different from our attitude towards an outbreak of civil war in Ireland, and our methods of dealing with it. In the one case we should have to rely mainly, if not wholly, on our intervention would have to be swift, compulsive, irresistible and decisive. For the whole fabric of our life in England, for safety of every one of us, would be endangered by civil war within an area nearer to London than some of the English counties."

CAUGHT UNDER SIX TON SAFE AND LIVES
Resists Crushing Force for Forty-five Minutes—Street Lined With Excited People.
Natick, July 31.—William J. McCarthy of Brookline, employed by the Natick Safe Company, resisted the crushing force of a six-ton safe for forty-five minutes in the Natick Five Cent Savings Bank and was conscious all the time while workmen were lifting the safe with block and tackle from him.
With his neck and shoulders McCarthy held the ponderous weight which crushed his flesh, though did not break any bones. He is now at the Morse Hospital giving promise of a speedy recovery.
The big safe was on rollers on a small platform and was engaged in moving it into the savings bank. Without warning the safe fell off the rollers and landed on McCarthy's back and shoulders. He was crushed under the safe for forty-five minutes. He is now at the Morse Hospital giving promise of a speedy recovery.

TRADE OUTLOOK MORE BUOYANT
Leather and Textile Reactions Checked, Says Boston Bank.
"Recession in business which began this spring has continued and spread during the past thirty days. In the industries badly affected, hides, leather, shoes, silk, wool, woolsens, and to a lesser extent cottons, there have been drastic declines in prices and severe curtailment in production. It is perhaps a natural fact that the same industries are experiencing identical conditions in practically all countries. The movement is world-wide. Nevertheless, it should be noted that these declines are very largely limited to articles, purchases of which are made infrequently and postponeable intervals, such as shoes and textiles. In the long series of increasing prices, which now fortunately seems checked, some industries outran others both in production and price advances. These have been the first to run against the restrictions of credit and disinclination of the public to pay increasing prices for inferior and inadequate service and unseasonable weather accentuated an already over-extended market."
New England Recovering.
The foregoing is the analysis of general business conditions in the New England states by the First National Bank of Boston in its commercial letter of July 16. The conditions described affected Canada to a great extent, indicating a similar movement in this country, though to a lesser degree. The signs of recovery in New England are of vital interest to Canadian business.
"The problem is not one of counteracting a long period of over-production and over-construction," continues the bank, "but rather of determining a new and lower price level on which, under a strained credit condition, business may go forward to do the immense amount of necessary work which is pressing. Already in this market there is a more optimistic feeling and a growing opinion that in the leather and wooden businesses, for example, present prices are at or near bottom. There are more inquiries and more actual sales than two weeks ago. In some instances prices are slightly higher, indicating that the lower prices already realized are helpful to the householder has not yet found his average cost of living reduced."

BATH BOY BROKE NECK IN THREE PLACES WHILE DIVING
Although Walter E. Dingley, aged twenty-three, of Bath, broke his neck in three places while diving at Sunset Beach, in Europa, Fla., in May, he has recovered so that he has returned to Bath, and will be the guest of his parents, Capt. and Mrs. C. W. Dingley. Mr. Dingley does not require any support for his neck and is able to turn and bend as that he is able to dress without assistance. He was formerly chief boatswain on the motor ship Solitaire, a bath built boat in the Texas Steamship service. While at Tampa, the members of the crew went in bathing in too shallow water and Mr. Dingley struck in such a way as to break his neck. He was taken to a hospital, where he was under treatment for two months, and, while he has not fully recovered, he is gaining rapidly and there is every reason to believe that he will be all right, although it will be some time before he can take up active work again.

Imperial Press Party Royally Entertained

Were Guests at Civic Luncheon Reception at the Government House, Motor Car Trips, Lunch and Social Evening at Country Club—Left This Morning.

A warm welcome was extended to the members of the Imperial Press party who were in the city yesterday, and from the expressions of gratification on the part of the visitors the efforts of the city and its people were fully appreciated.

arisen from the ashes of the old, he said, and since the Canadian Pacific Railway had made this their terminus in 1889, the port had grown in size and importance until now it ranked as the chief winter port of the country.

Wards were inadequate, he thought, to express appreciation of the kindness that had been shown upon the party since its arrival in Canada. "Our hearts cry out for utterance of the gratitude we feel and I am sure that all will join with me in saying that you are showing us kindnesses now that shall never fade from our memories," he said.

One of the purposes of the coming conference was to discover and to suggest a means of retaining a truthful news service and to press the importance of honest comment to pass current through the whole empire.

Among the matters to be discussed at the conference would be increased cable facilities and cheaper cable rates and the fact that wireless telephony kept the party constantly in speaking touch of land was a reason why that means of communication also would be considered at the conference. The delegates were approaching the present problems with a clear vision which would not be dimmed by official procrastination.

A rearrangement of the postal rates, a recognition of the freedom of the press and a source of paper supply were other matters that would be taken up. It was hoped by the visitors that authentic information regarding the great national resources of Canada would be obtained, that they would become intimately acquainted with the good citizens of the country and would learn to know each other better.

There had been scattered in the dominion and in the empire, he said, the great rippling here, and it was in the prairie provinces, and as it was in all the dominions of the king's domain, in the fulness of time the reapers would be they were in this reunion taking counsel about family affairs.

He wished that the visitors could have had the opportunity to see more of St. John which was growing greater with the years. He referred to the harbor, which is always free from ice; to the dry dock and shipbuilding plant at the foot of the harbor, which was the largest on this continent; the accommodation for the shipping of the port of St. John and the manner in which the city and the country were working towards a common goal.

Three cheers for Governor Pugsley were proposed by Viscount Burnham, as the speaker said down and they were given with a will. T. E. Naylor, chairman of the London Federation of Printing Trades and one of the important figures in the labor movement of Great Britain, said he appreciated the honor of being associated with Sir Robert Bruce as a spokesman for his colleagues.

The speaker said he was glad to know that St. John port was owned by the city and he thought that the value and the importance of the port was due to that fact and not through any help that was given by the government.

In delightful entertainment and relaxation the remainder of the program was carried out most successfully, even the weather lending its aid. It held back the storm which had threatened and sent warm sunshine.

The automobile association provided cars and took the guests from the luncheon for a drive through the city and on out into the country, in some instances, as far out as to Goudville Point before reaching the residence of the lieutenant-governor where His Honor and Mrs. Pugsley held a reception in honor of the visiting Press party.

After the party approaches Quebec tomorrow, an opportunity will be given to leave the cars and walk across the famous bridge, the largest of the kind in the world, which spans the St. Lawrence river below the ancient capital of French-Canada.

Bolshevik Envoy Leaves London Apparently In A Disturbed Frame of Mind

It Is Thought He Was Not Given Free Hand By Soviet Authorities

Not So Many Americans in London This Year—Many Leaving Employ of Foreign Office—Thrilling Air Pageant—Gossip From the Empire Capital.

(From Our Own Correspondent) London, July 30.—Mr. Krassin has just returned to Russia, and if all accounts of his recent proceedings in London are correct, it seems doubtful whether he will be here again in the near future. Lloyd George can speak very plainly when he likes, and apparently the last afternoon when Mr. Krassin went to Downing street was one of the occasions on which he felt himself in form for saying what he thought. Mr. Krassin was observed by the faithful watchers who report the intrigues and outgoings at 10 Downing street, to have left the building looking very cross. What happened was that the prime minister made it very clear to him with some emphasis that there would be no further discussions unless Mr. Krassin could bind the Russian government, both in the matter of Persia and in the matter of prisoners. Mr. Krassin unfortunately, in answer to the wireless messages to Moscow, is apparently not given a free hand by the Soviet authorities and he has been unable to get it, leaving behind him in London 23 spent on a rose on Alexandra Day, a building in Bond street, popular and suspicious and embarrassed Bolshevik trade delegates, and a couple of leases for an office and flat. It is being widely said in clubs, by the way, that one of the main negotiators in bringing him over has been a Russian gentleman who has been widely, and has recently become publicly, known in matters connected with theatrical finances. Most of all, this gentleman better luck next time, but after all Krassin was a much less sound speculation than a musical comedy.

The Tribulations of a Minister. Sir Alfred Mond is a sad man these days, not that he ever publicly bubbled over with humor to any great extent. He is at present engaged in a most unfortunate controversy with Lord Curzon, that monarch, if it may be so expressed, having contemptuously rejected symbolic paintings for the Foreign Office which Sir Alfred had accepted on behalf of the government. Lord Curzon is by way of being an art connoisseur and he is believed by our competent experts for sustentation funds, the oldest temple in this country, and probably one of the most venerable in Europe, is in the process of official restoration. Workmen are now busy, aided by great mechanical cranes, re-building St. Dunstons, which is a masterpiece of architecture, and the mammoth bones of this vast structure, which were placed in original position, are being re-erected. Wonderful recoveries of antiquities have resulted from the restoration. The huge lintel stones which were taken from the ruins of the abbey and placed in the new building, are being re-erected. The Half-Crown Bet. There seems to be no end to the sartorial sessions of the season. I am not thinking of the moment of what the pretty ladies wear—or don't wear—but of suits for mere men. First we had the Malibally Deesley sensation, when measured suits of quite good cloth were offered at prices which some of us had been paying West End tailors for part of a waistcoat. Then came the numerous challenges to Mr. Malibally Deesley from suspiciously agitated millionaires, who take the late Colonel Rosevelt's views on eugenics, give away half-a-dozen electro-plated spoons with each guaranteed 12-carrot wedding-ring. And as a fact, that area really shows its principle that some philanthropic tradesmen, who take the late Colonel Rosevelt's views on eugenics, give away half-a-dozen electro-plated spoons with each guaranteed 12-carrot wedding-ring. And as a fact, that area really shows its principle that some philanthropic tradesmen, who take the late Colonel Rosevelt's views on eugenics, give away half-a-dozen electro-plated spoons with each guaranteed 12-carrot wedding-ring.

With the king's departure for Scotland, the London season may really be said to be over, and indeed you can already see the difference in the restaurants and in the streets. From what I have seen, the American invasion has not been so large as was anticipated, at any rate so far as London was concerned. Most of our American guests are almost at once to the continent or else they spread themselves in motor cars in the like district and in Scotland. I do not suppose that even in a few days there has ever been a season of hospitality which begins with a dinner and is followed by a dance to which people come who have not been invited to dinner. For people who are on hostesses' invitation lists, there has been a wide choice of these entertainments. With the beginning of July, however, as I have said, they are practically over, and people are thinking of yachts, if they have got one or can be invited to one, or the seaside if they cannot. In spite of the fact that the franc is not quite so favorable to us as it was a few months ago, crowds are crossing the channel to the watering places on the French coast, which are quite full up. The rush of travel to the continent is making even the air service, at its present price, popular. I was at the Whistler aerodrome the other day when twenty passengers went off in one afternoon. This is not taking into account the main service which leaves in the morning. The place was more like a railway station than I had anticipated, though the responsibility of station master is undertaken not by a uniformed official but by a palatially demobilized R. A. F. officer in a golfing suit. The diplomatic service is not taking much notice of the appointment of Lord D'Abernon as ambassador to Paris, which I believe it was cordially approved of by Lord Curzon in spite of statements to the contrary. The three chief embassies—Paris, Washington and Berlin—are now all held by people who do not belong to the regular diplomatic service, and in the case of Paris and Washington, if the posts had to be filled from the regular diplomatic service, the policy would be adopted. This of course, makes a lot of difference to the prospects of young men who want to take up diplomatic service as a career, and quite a number of them are looking about for opportunities in business rather than waiting on the chance of competing for big posts with people who have never gone through the diplomatic mill. Lord Easton Percy left some time ago to go on to the board of the Shell Company. Alwyn Parkes, who was one of the senior clerks at the foreign office, has gone on the board of Lloyd's Bank, and Lord Drogheda is also now in the city. There is talk of other resignations, and I believe the embassies at Brazil and in Belgium will both be vacant in the course of the next two or three weeks. Brazil is sure to go to a professional diplomat, but it is by no means unlikely that the prime minister may again appoint an outsider in the case of Brussels.

Technically the R 50 is believed by our competent experts to represent a greater advance potentially even than the surrendered German simlip. Older Than The Abbey. It is an interesting coincidence that at the same time that the middle-aged Abbey and young Paul's are making their way into the world, the oldest temple in this country, and probably one of the most venerable in Europe, is in the process of official restoration. POLICE COURT

In the police court this morning three men charged with drunkenness pleaded guilty and were fined $8 each or two months in jail. No other arrests were made during the night.

IN THE MARKET.

The following prices were quoted in the city market this morning: Beef, 20c to 45c; veal, 35c to 40c; pork, 40c; lamb, 35c to 45c; ham, 45c; butter, 65c; eggs, 65c; potatoes, $1.20 a peck; carrots and beets, 10c a bunch; turnips, 5c a bunch; lettuce, radishes, onions, mint and parsley, 5c to 60c a bunch; celery, 10c a bunch; peas and beans, 7c a peck; Bermuda onions, 10c a pound; Egyptian onions, 5c a pound; cabbage, 15c each; cucumbers, 15c and 20c each; tomatoes, 20c a pound; blueberries, 80c a box, and raspberries 80c a box. There were large quantities of native produce on sale this morning and the demand was apparently equal to the supply.

SOUTH END PLAYGROUND.

With two teams and a motor truck a great deal of work was done on the south end playground last evening, but the number of workers was small as usual, although hundreds of men stood around and watched a ball game on the diamond. But for a faithful few there would have been no diamond and the indifference of both ball players and on-lookers to the work that is still needed is nothing short of a disgrace to the south end of the city. Strapping young fellows stand around and watch the ball game while old men wander about the diamond. The series ball games should really be stopped until the grounds are completed. Every morning and afternoon boys are playing on this ground, and greatly enjoying the privilege. If the young men and their team followers did nothing the grounds should be reserved for the boys in the evening.

ADDRESSES MEMBERS OF CANADIAN CLUB

R. S. Ward-Jackson, Chairman of South African Press Delegation, Tells of Country's Problems.

The members of the Canadian Club were interested last evening in the address by R. S. Ward-Jackson, chairman of the South African Press Delegation to the Imperial Press Conference.

A. M. Belding, the president, introduced the speaker with a few appropriate words.

The speaker took his own country, South Africa, for his subject. He said that after the war the country was left with many problems, which the government had to settle and the animosity between the Dutch and English made it extremely difficult to accomplish. He was loud in praise of the late General Botha, saying that he was the biggest man whom he had ever met.

Mr. Ward-Jackson said that there is complete religious freedom in South Africa, that the Dutch language is on an equality with English in parliament and in the schools. The national party rose out of the language question and is formed mostly of old Boers with their ancient prejudices, but that the danger to be apprehended from them is extreme republicanism.

The speaker remarked that South Africa is now where Canada was seventy-five years ago, and that she was developing her resources and would one day be a great dominion like our own. He told of the land possibilities in his country and advised Canadians not to neglect so promising a market.

NOT ENOUGH ACCOMMODATION

Dressing Room at Bathing Scows Not Adequate, Is the Complaint.

Many complaints are being heard from citizens in this city regarding the inadequate dressing accommodation at the swimming scows in the North End. It is said that children go to the scows to bath and after waiting their turn for more than an hour in several cases have had to go home on account of not being able to find room in the present bath houses. It has been suggested that the present houses be enlarged for the children and another building nearby acquired and renovated so that it would be suitable for the purpose for which it would be used, and a small admission fee charged to defray any incidental expenses incurred in the up-keep. This is a live subject among those who frequent the swimming scows and are able to understand the conditions.

GOVERNMENT INSURANCE FOR RETURNED MEN

How the plan of government insurance for returned men is to be worked will be told on Monday evening at the regular meeting of the G. W. V. A. in their hall in Wellington Row. Men who are now physically unfit and unable to qualify for insurance with any private company are enabled to secure government aid in this respect. C. F. Sanford has prepared an interesting address on the question and all returned men should be present to hear just what the government has proposed. The meeting will commence at 8:15 o'clock.

ONE OF PARTY IS NATIVE OF FREDERICTON

Visiting Press Men Being Entertained at the Capital Today — To Woodstock This Afternoon.

Fredricton, July 31—The Imperial Press party, which is visiting Fredericton today, includes one native of this city in its membership. He is Adam R. Anderson, who was born at Elmcroft, Waterloo row, now the residence of Mrs. H. G. C. Ketchum. Mr. Anderson is a grandson of the late Hon. Neville Parker, who in the early days of the province occupied the office of Master of the Rolls, which corresponded to the modern appointment of judge of the Court of Chancery. Sir Robert Parker, who was a member of the supreme court of the province several generations ago, was a great uncle of Mr. Anderson.

The walls of the supreme court chamber in the Parliament buildings bear the portraits of both Sir Robert Parker and Hon. Neville Parker. One of Mr. Anderson's requests which was transmitted far in advance of the arrival of the party was that arrangements be made for him to visit the place of his birth in accordance with his wish he was met on the arrival of his train this morning and taken to Elmcroft.

The special train bearing the Imperial Press party arrived from St. John over the Valley Route of the Canadian National Railway on time today and the reception of the distinguished guests of Canada as far as Fredericton is concerned began.

Points of interest were visited and luncheon at the assembly chamber of the parliament buildings followed. The party will leave for Woodstock at four o'clock.

TODAY'S GAMES

Amherst and Fredericton Teams in the City to Meet Local Aggregations.

The Amherst baseball team arrived in the city this morning to play two games with St. Peter's nine, the first at 2:30 this afternoon and the second at 6:45 this evening. The Amherst team is one of the strongest in the Nova Scotia league and will undoubtedly make a good showing against the local champions. Rattery and Brownell will pitch for the visitors, Hansen and Chestnut for St. Peter's.

The Fredericton Y. M. C. A. team will play two games on the East End diamond against the Alerts, the first at 2:30 this afternoon and the second at seven o'clock this evening. Lawlor is booked to pitch the afternoon contest for the Alerts, and Paynter for the visitors.

The newly ordained priest celebrated his first public Mass in the church of the Sacred Heart, East Boston. The Dainty Dressing Table

If there is any one piece of furniture in a woman's bedroom that to her seems indispensable—we, of course, except the bed—it is the dressing table. When one considers the many conveniences of these handy little boudoir beautifiers, it is, indeed, a wonder that the triple-mirror type—an acquisition of recent years—was not put on the market a long time before it finally came.

It goes without saying that the women of St. John are as tasteful in their dress as those who live in any other city, and that our women take as much pride in their personal appearance, around the house, when out calling or on the street.

It is a credit to any woman that she should wish to own one of the handsome dressing tables that we are showing, and it is even more to the credit of any husband, father or brother who is thoughtful enough to buy it for her.

ALL READY FOR THE SCOUT CAMP

Long Awaited Outing Takes Place Next Week

The Work of the Scouts in Barbados—Scouting Regular Part of Curriculum in College—Publish a Fine Paper.

The provincial camp is the one theme of conversation in scouting circles at present. A large number of expectant Scouts will arrive at the camp on the Belleisle next Thursday and will find the site prepared for them by the advance party which leaves today for camp. Although all applications for camp were to be in by today, any which have been withheld for any reason will be considered. It is gratifying to the provincial officers to find that almost every Scout who was at the leaders' camp last summer is registered for this summer's camp.

THE BOY SCOUT.

In connection with the camp a canteen will be open each day selling chocolate bars and other delicacies. Each boy will be permitted to buy only a limited supply each day, this having been the best means to avoid pains and aches. A supply of Scout literature will also be carried so that the Scouts may secure information on any badge for which they wish to prepare.

Those boys who were at camp last year will be pleased to hear that Mr. Timberley of the Halifax headquarters will be in camp and will have charge of the swimming instruction and water sports. A large delegation will be present from Sussex, and several other out-of-side points will be represented.

Among other things a ball of stout twine or cord is very convenient to campers. It will enable him to make an splendid camp lamp and help in innumerable other ways. Pins, needles and thread should not be forgotten. A Barbados Scout.

Further information has been secured regarding the Barbados Scouts. There are eight registered troops and one Wolf Cub pack on that island, as well as five troops not yet registered. Barbados, it seems, is a scholastic centre for several islands due to its location and climate and in one of the larger of the educational institutions, Codrington College, the principal has introduced scouting and it now forms a regular part of the curriculum. His Excellency the Governor, Lieut-Colonel O'Brien, takes a keen interest in the movement and is doing his utmost to promote its welfare. The Barbados Scouts publish a small monthly paper which is written in a very attractive style and is widely used for advertising by the local merchants. A copy of this excellent paper has been secured by headquarters and visitors have shown considerable interest.

"DANDERINE" ST. LAWRENCE PLAN ENDORSED BY 35 STATES

Detroit Conference Confident Government Action Will Be Secured.

Detroit, July 29.—When the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence Tidewater Congress concluded its deliberations at noon Saturday there was conviction in the mind of every individual who had participated in making the gathering a success, that a substantial advance had been made toward securing government action.

The next move must be made by the International Joint Commission, with concurrent action by Washington and Ottawa. The conference closed with thirty-five of the United States endorsing the prospect and before another year is over it is expected by those who are leading public sentiment in favor of the movement that there will not be a dissenting state in the entire union. It was an evidence of the interest of the men and women attending the congress that faithful attendance was maintained all through the oppressive heat of Friday, and it was one o'clock Saturday afternoon before adjournment was finally reached.

Quite the most important message read Saturday morning was from Herbert Hoover, War Food Administrator of the United States. Devoid of any sentimental argument, he discussed the scheme in cold, calculating terms of the national need.

Constructive programs needed, "There is absolutely no question that requires so definitely a constructive program as our whole transportation problem," Mr. Hoover wrote to the congress. "Today both railways and waterways are doing the productivity of our country on every hand. Agriculture and general industry are embarrassed by the lack of transportation; the margins between the producer and consumer are extravagantly widened by failure to secure proper distribution. As our country grows in its productivity it will be found that the outlet for the proper transportation of bulk commodities will lie rather by water than by rail between those points where such transportation is possible."

"We need a national study and a national program of transportation development, co-ordinating both rail and water, and such a programme will not only enhance the productivity of our interior waterways, but will unquestionably call for the improvement of the St. Lawrence route. Just the port on the Great Lakes can be put effectively on seaboard with a comparatively modern facility and at a cost which will enormously improve the prosperity of life in the interior."

Charles H. Campbell, president of the Board of Commerce, said "I believe the calling of this congress the most useful thing the Board of Commerce has ever done, and that its effects will be of benefit not only to the country, but to the whole world."

Ponghepsis, N. Y., July 31.—Without investing a cent in liquor, Franklin Fraiser of Verbank Village, got his liquor habit last week, as easily as drawing his breath—in fact, that he had to merely inhale the fumes which were being blown into his "vapor jar" brought him a pleasant surprise, he explained how it happened.

Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis

If there is an ailment in the throat or chest, it is surely essential that the remedy be conveyed direct to the affected part. It is because the healing power of Catarrhoxone is breathed into the sore, irritated throat and bronchial tubes that its balsamic fumes kill the germs and destroy the cause of the trouble. These are the reasons why Catarrhoxone never yet failed to cure a genuine case of Catarrh, Asthma, Bronchitis or Throat Trouble.

The wonderfully-cooling vapor of Catarrhoxone instantly reaches the farthest recesses of the lungs, produces a healing current, soothes the inflamed membrane, and relieves the irritation of the stomach, and falls easily to help the throat or lungs.

Catarrhoxone Just Breathe It

To permanently cure your winter-ill you must use Catarrhoxone. It is a powerful cough medicine and Catarrh, by all means use a trial and prove remedy like Catarrhoxone. But beware of the substitute. Large outfit lasts two months, costs $1.00, small size 50c, trial size 25c, at dealers everywhere.

Want To Keep Your Hair Perpetually Curly?

Perpetually wavy or curly hair is now within the means of every woman to possess. One need only get a few ounces of plain liquid simerine from the druggist and apply a little of it occasionally with a clear tooth brush before doing up the hair. When this dries the most beautiful and creases imaginable are in evidence. Wind and heat do not touch the hair, and when a heated iron has been used.

Liquid simerine is so pure and harmless that it is not the slightest danger of spotting the scalp or streaking the hair, and it leaves no sticky or greasy trace. It will also be appreciated as a beneficial dressing, as it keeps the hair soft, silky and lustrous.

To Keep Skin Fresh and Fine These Heated Days

It would be much better for the skin if little cream, powder or rouge were used during the heated term. Mixed with perspiration, dust and grime, these things are anything but beautifying. Ordinary mercurized wax will do more for the complexion, and without giving an oily, streaked, spotted or pasty appearance. It is the ideal application for the season, as it not only keeps the pores clear, but daily removes particles of dirt or weather. By constantly keeping the complexion clear, white, satiny, it does more toward perpetuating a youthful countenance than any of the arts or articles commonly employed. One ounce of mercurized wax, obtainable at any druggist, will completely renovate the most complexion. It is applied at night like cold cream and washed off in the morning. There's nothing better for tanned, freckled or reddened skins.

Hungry At Christmas; Famous At New Year's

(Musical America.) Last December, a young Bohemian violinist started for Italy, which he had always dreamed of as "The Land of the Arts." His name was Vasa Prihoda, and in appearance the golden-haired lad was strongly reminiscent of those slender young princes of the story books who always rescue the gilded princesses from dragons and live happily ever after. Unfortunately for the present history, the prince in this case was soon in need of rescue himself, and neither king nor princess came to his aid, but a kindly Italian restaurant keeper. Perhaps some day the young violinist will build a monument to his benefactor with strands of golden spaghetti.

Vasa Prihoda was born on August 24, 1900, at Vodnany, Bohemia. He came by his music honestly; his father was a master of several instruments and of composition. He studied under Maestro March at the Prague Conservatory, that institution of great traditions that produced Kubelik and many other distinguished violinists. During the late war the boy studied and gave some concerts, but the public was too distracted with the things of war to pay much attention to him. When finally peace came, such was the misery of his country that he decided to realize one of his earliest dreams—to go to Italy to earn his living as a violinist. Leaving Prague with a few thousand of Bohemian kronen in his pocket he discovered that the exchange had dropped to such a point that he was obliged to stop at Zurich. He played a few concerts in Zurich for the means of "carrying on" and with his small stock of money a little replenished, struggled on to the Land of the Arts. The Zurich papers praised him as a true genius, but Vasa Prihoda was already paying tribute to the fickle goddess of Fame. He would have preferred less praise and a square meal.

Hungry and penniless. When finally he landed on Italian soil he found himself almost without money.

and absolutely without friends that he could recognize or ask for assistance. Travelling with him was a young Czech-Slovak named Facetti, and as their "bank account" was a joint affair now reduced to a few francs, things looked gloomy indeed. At nineteen, on Christmas Eve, most tragic of all days for the appetite of nineteen, Prihoda was compelled to face the distressing fact that there was a wide gulf separating his nine francs from the two meals necessary for himself and fellow traveler. He resolved to play in a cafe, but not under his own name. But he arrived at Christmas Day with breakfast and lunch joined together in one meal. Not that the kind of meal at that, bread and an apple eaten in the street.

Some good soul led his faltering feet to the door of a small restaurant "Le Grande Halla," over the door of which was written "Concert." Vasa Prihoda introduced himself and his comrade to the proprietor of the restaurant, not without a little humor: "We are two Czechs; we come from Bohemia via Zurich. This is our program. I am Signor Vasa Prihoda, the first violinist of the world, and we wish to eat first and pay you with a concert afterwards."

Signor Ferrario, the rotund proprietor of the cafe, laughed heartily at this simple statement, but having a good heart—concluded the pact by which meals were traded for music. The two hungry boys were served like disabled warriors returning from the war, and they did justice to the chef's culinary skill, he it is said. "Either Mad or Genius."

They commenced to recount their adventures to the little group of artists who occupied the "Artists' Table," the round table which is the feature of many Italian restaurants, and (rare fortune that awaits the hungry genius of nineteen with his face to the stars!) Gaetano Bavagnoli, well known to New Yorkers as a Metropolitan Opera conductor of a year or so ago, came to their table and read the Zurich program. In the general silence that followed his reading aloud this ponderous document, Bavagnoli remarked: "Either we have with us a madman or a great artist. Let us hear him."

Accordingly, Prihoda borrowed a violin from one of the orchestra and played for the artists seated at the table with Maestro Gaetano Bavagnoli in the "chair." A pair of his own pieces, intended to display his bravura playing, came first. The waiters put down their dishes, the listeners were astounded and their enthusiasm unlimited. The fortune of Vasa Prihoda, Bohemian violinist, was almost made. Maestro Bavagnoli was as astonished as if he had beheld something unreal, something that would melt and disappear. He immediately arranged for a concert to be given for the blond Bohemian at the Milan Permanente, and such was the interest caused in its preparation that Arturo Toscanini, well known to American music-lovers, was prevailed upon to come and pass judgment upon the new wonder. Toscanini came and saw; heard and was conquered. After a complete program of stupendous difficulties in the way of technical execution and artistic interpretation had been performed by the nineteen-year-old wizard of the bow, the famous conductor added unreservedly his endorsement to that of the critics present.

Here was fame indeed. The public went wild, and offers poured in from Rome, Genoa, Turin, Paris and other cities. Two days before, Vasa Prihoda had been eating his lunch-breakfast-dinner a meal that consisted of bread and an apple, on the street. Now, the restaurant keeper was his "enchanted prince." Arturo Toscanini and Gaetano Bavagnoli were the "fairy godmothers." Fortune Galle will bring Vasa Prihoda to America on his magic broom next season. He will arrive in November, and he will make his fight through the principal cities of America and Canada. The young Bohemian is to play fifty-six concerts under Mr. Galle's direction, his initial appearance in New York being scheduled for Nov. 16.

Young Men Don't Get Bald Cuticura Does Much To Prevent It

Dandruff, itching, scalp irritation, etc., point to an unhealthy condition of the scalp, which leads to thin, falling hair and premature baldness. Frequent shampooing with Cuticura Soap and hot water do much to prevent such a condition, especially if preceded by a gentle anointing with Cuticura Ointment to spots of dandruff and itching. Soap 25c, Ointment 25c and 50c. Sold throughout the world. Cuticura Ointment, Cuticura Soap, Limited, St. Paul St. Montreal.

BUSINESS HELPS HARVEST

"In Montana business men and clerks in the cities have signed an agreement to assist the farmers in harvesting and thrashing this fall," said James H. McGivry of Billings, Mont., while in Washington recently. "The plan worked well a year ago, when a labor shortage on the farms as it is now."

"For a long time it has been the custom of towns in California, Oregon and Washington to run city businesses on the lowest possible force during the fruit packing season so that the growers might have available all the man power possible to submerge at a critical time. The custom is spreading east slowly but surely, and a year ago Kansas turned out to help garner the wheat. Recently word was sent from Columbus, Ohio, of 2,000 business men ready to sign up for one day a week in the fields of any farmer who may need them."

"Some day this interlocking of city and country labor will be taken as a part of the settled order of life. All the farms, and agriculture is a business in which peak loads and rush seasons cannot be avoided. They can be spread out to some degree, but they remain a problem which only co-operation can solve, and the cities must take part in the co-operation."

"If the industrial districts want food, they must help gather it. That is a fact long obscured by peculiar notions and conditions, but now beginning to be made clear,"—Washington Post.

Long Distance Telephone Rates

The new schedule of Long Distance Rates as ordered by the Board of Commissioners of Public Utilities of New Brunswick, will go into effect on August 1st, and in order that the public may understand and take advantage of the different classes of service available, the following information is given:

Station-to-Station Calls—Make your call for the number wanted; or if you do not know the number, give the name and address of the subscriber to the toll Operator and tell her you will talk with ANYONE there.

This is the simplest form of toll call and carries the lowest rate. There will be no charge for it unless connection is established with the TELEPHONE of the subscriber wanted. In most cases, this form of toll call will be found satisfactory and will save about 25 per cent. as compared with the person-to-person rate.

The station-to-station rate is computed on the basis of 5 cents for each six miles, up to 24 miles, and 5 cents for each eight miles beyond that distance, with a minimum charge of 10 cents from 0 to 12 miles.

Person-to-Person Calls—Where it is absolutely necessary that you speak to some particular person, tell the Toll Operator so.

The operator will endeavor to establish direct communication with the person wanted. If the call is completed, it will be charged at the person-to-person rate. If the particular person called for cannot be reached, the Operator will so report to the person calling; and if no further particulars can be supplied which will enable the Operator to locate the called person, and the order is then cancelled, there will be a report charge for the service rendered, approximately one-fourth the station-to-station rate. If the caller desires, the Operator will continue her efforts to locate the particular person at any one toll center during the same day with but one report charge. If communication is finally established the same day on which the call was filed, the charge will be the regular person-to-person rate and there will be no report charge.

Person-to-Person calls require greater effort and, therefore, are charged for at a rate about 25 per cent. higher than the station-to-station rate. The minimum charge for such a call is 15 cents.

Collect Calls, that is calls on which the charges are to be reversed or paid for by the called party, are charged for at the person-to-person rate. The charges on a station-to-station toll call cannot be reversed.

There are also two special classes of person-to-person calls, Appointment Calls and Messenger Calls.

(1) Appointment Calls are person-to-person calls which provide that communication is to be arranged for establishment at a specified future time. The rates for appointment calls are approximately 50 per cent. higher than the rate for station-to-station messages between the same points or approximately 25 per cent. higher than the corresponding person-to-person rate to provide for the greater operating effort required to complete them. The report charge is applicable on this class of call.

(2) Messenger Calls are person-to-person calls on which the called person is not available at a telephone and on which the telephone company undertakes to notify him, by messenger or other means, that communication is desired with him by long distance telephone. Messenger service is furnished at cost on guarantee of payment by the calling person and the charges for such service are, in every case, in addition to the regular rates for messenger long distance calls which are the same as those for appointment calls, as explained in paragraph (1) above. The report charge applies to this class of call.

Reduced Rates for Night Long Distance Calls—Reduced rates for night service apply when the calls are on a station-to-station, person-to-person, appointment or messenger basis and are effective between 8.30 p.m. and 7 a.m. (Atlantic Standard Time). The night rates are approximately one-half of the day rates. The minimum night rate is 25 cents. Day rates apply on calls made at night when the charge is less than the minimum night rate.

Table with columns: Station to Station Rate, Person to Person Rate, Appointment and Messenger Call Rate, Report Charge. Rows list various destinations like Fredericton, Moncton, Newcastle, St. Stephen, Sussex, Hampton, Rothesay, Westfield.

These rates are for an initial period of three minutes; overtime per minute is approximately one-third of the initial rate. The rate for Two-Number No-Delay service from St. John to Rothesay and Westfield is 10 cents for three minutes and 5 cents for each additional two minutes. If any further information is required as to long distance rates call Exchange Manager.

End League last evening, the Franklins, league leaders, a hard run to win, losing out by only one score, the final tally being 9 to 8. The Pirates scored all their runs in the early innings and apparently were easy winners when the Franklins took a fancy to Field's shots in the fifth innings and before they were retired had scored five runs. In the final inning the Franklins scored again and with a man on third looked like trying it up when Cox caught him napping by a sharp throw to Fraser and retired the side. Diggs pitched great ball and had the better support would have won his game. Fields was tight except for the one inning. Nelson's rousing catch in the first inning with two men on robbed Barton of a sure hit. Ryan, for the Franklins, scored twice, hit safely three times in as many trips up and stole three bases. McGowan kept up his 500 batting average when he got one hit out of twice up. He scored four of the Pirates' runs and stole four bases. Kerr, who was injured last Monday night, played on first for two innings but had to retire, Knodell taking his place. This is the eighth straight win for the Pirates, but the Franklins deserved to win, playing better ball at the bat. The score:

THE TURF. Grand Circuit. Columbus, July 30—Interest in the mid-summer race meet here was maintained up to the very last day, another excellent crowd being present and one that broke all records for a get-away day programme. More than 6,000 were entertained by the four events, of which the feature was the 2:04 pace. Princess Mary won it easily by speed in the home stretch, when Fleming called on her to pass Edgewood, who was a pace-maker each mile until the seventh mile was reached. The second mile in 2:08 1/2 was a new record for the Canadian mare. Geers drove another winning race today when he put over Leco Gratten in the second division of the 2:14 pace. Bonique won the third heat and General Wilson the fourth heat, both against Leco Gratten in the first two heats.

In the 2:15 trot Dottie Day won a straight heat victory over a field of ten. Alicea the original favorite could get no closer than second in the first heat, and then showed ordinary form the other miles. The last event was a split heat affair, finally won by Eliza Dillon.
