BIRTHDAY PARTY.
Mrs. Edward Watson entertained ten little girls for the pleasure of her daughter on Monday afternoon the occasion being the eighth birthday of her daughter Ethel. A pleasant afternoon was spent in games and music, after which supper was served. The tea table was decorated with flowers and all kinds of confections. In the centre was a large beautifully decorated birthday cake. The favors were fancy boxes of candy at the plate of each guest. The guests were Elnore Collins, Ruth Drake, Estelle LeGue, Jean, Friedilla and Edith Willis, Muriel Nonnenman, Frances and Matt Peat and Edid Alexander.

INFLAMED GUMS—CAUSE OF LOOSE TEETH
Pyorrhea is undoubtedly a vital danger to both gums and teeth. Tender gums indicate it, and with it come loosening teeth. Imperceptibly, at first, the gums recede from the normal gum line. They inflame. They present many tiny openings for millions of bacteria to attack the unannealed tooth base. Tooth-base decay quickly follows. Even if the cavity be filled and the tooth saved, the gums continue to recede. Remember, too, that inflamed and bleeding gums act as so many doorways for disease germs to enter the system—infecting joints or tonsils—or causing other ailments.

Against this Pyorrhea (Riggs Disease) ordinary tooth-pastes are powerless. Yet Pyorrhea attacks four out of five people who are over forty, and many under this age. But Forhan's—
—if used in time and used consistently—positively prevents Pyorrhea. It is a scientific tooth cleanser as well. Brush your teeth with it. See how promptly bleeding or gum tenderness ceases and how your teeth are kept white and clean.

If gum-shrinkage has already set in, start using Forhan's and consult a dentist immediately for special treatment.

The Evening Times and Star

ST. JOHN, N. B., OCTOBER 16, 1919
The St. John Evening Times is printed at 27 and 29 Canterbury Street, every evening (Sunday excepted) by The St. John Times Printing and Publishing Co., Ltd., a company incorporated under the Joint Stock Companies Act.

THE GRAND TRUNK

The Ottawa correspondence of the Times-Star today is very interesting reading for maritime province people. The debate in parliament yesterday on the taking over of that railway led to a discussion of the relative positions of St. John and Halifax on the one hand and Portland, Maine, on the other, in relation to the ocean traffic of the Grand Trunk under government ownership.

THE ALIEN AGITATOR

The United States is threatened from two quarters by Bolshevism. Congress has not only been considering of late the question of deporting foreign-born agitators who go about advocating the overthrow of the government, but the secretary of state is urging the enactment of legislation which would prevent from 10,000,000 to 15,000,000 impoverished Germans and Austrians from coming into the United States.

PUBLICITY AND REPORTERS

Without particular application or reference to past, present or future occurrences in this city, but solely on his own account, a few observations concerning the newspaper reporter are quite in order. These observations may be regarded as somewhat biased because they are an office production, but the man who from the loftiest motives led pious prattle a church with a furnace was described by some people as getting ready for the hereafter.

A HOPEFUL INDICATION

A correspondent of the Christian Science Monitor, in a letter from Russia, writes that, contrary to the general belief, non-Bolshevist Russia at least is by no means starving, and that "despite all the upheavals, catastrophes, socialistic experiments and destructiveness of the civil war, Russia is still rich."

THE BIRTH OF TORONTO

It is a far cry from the Toronto of the present generation—one of the most beautiful cities on the continent—to Muddy Little York, the name it received frequently in the days of its youth. The site was originally a great camping ground of the Indians; in 1790 the site was chosen as the place for starting a town designed to be the capital of upper Canada as it is called now, Ontario.

POST-VACATION PARODY

(John D. Wells in Buffalo News.) I've taken my graft where I've found it. I've grafted it on the American and critics all said I was subtle. I fancied my methods were prime. By Erie's wild, turbulent hen, I mixed with the genial called "natives." And I learned about grafting from them.

LIGHTER VEIN

Mr. and Mrs. West Parkinson, of Richmond, Carleton county, announce the engagement of their eldest daughter, Kate, to Newton Rhodes Spackman, of Bath, England. The wedding will take place in December. Mr. Spackman recently returned from overseas, having served three years with the 20th Battalion.

Free-Handed

Lights and noise were taboo, but thought in undertones. The column was slogging forward the night before the attack on the St. Michel salient. "Wonder where we're bound for now?" spoke one doughty digger a momentary check.

LIFE'S EVENING. When a man is waxing old, and his whiskers change from gold to a sort of bristled gray, when his pep has slipped away, if he's fast some can rest, letting work go gaily west, he will find life's glowing gay, cheerful as a circus day. In my younger years I toiled till my gulluses were spoiled, and I sailed down some scads, saved the dollars of my dad; when six dollars came to me I would pickle two or three. Now I'm in the yellow leaf I am free from dread and grief. I don't have to work a hundo all the day; in my stately limousine I am burning gasoline, for the clera how much money I may burn. It is dire to see old lads going forth to earn some scads; it is sad to see old gents counting up their play. Age comes on us, and sure; then it's beauty to be poor. You'll be old yourself, full soon; therefore, save the bright doubloon.

CANADA—EAST AND WEST

Domestic Happenings of Other Days

THE NEED FOR THRIFT. (Conservation.) Saving is not always looked upon as a saving grace. If it were there would not be over five per cent of the inhabitants of the United States and probably an equally large percentage of Canadians who are dependent upon public charity.

PROHIBITION IN TORONTO

(Toronto Star.) The Liberty League literature shows that the objects of the prohibition which were supposed to be strong have been abandoned. It used to be that the law could not be enforced, and that its partial enforcement would be economically bad for the community.

A WORD OF CAUTION

(Conservation.) "Let me warn you of the words of caution which went far and wide about the city. The epidemic of influenza cut a swath through Canada and brought suffering and distress to our loved ones. A timely word or two may not be out of place to health authorities and the public generally.

TIMBER SCARCITY

(Conservation.) The progressive diminution of timber supplies in the United States is reflected in the constantly increasing demands for the importation of forest products from Canada. For example, the United States in 1918 imported a total of 1,270,027 cords of pulpwood, valued at $10,962,666.

FARMERS AND MILK

Frederick Gleason—On account of the fact that the dairy keepers of this city have refused to pay an increased price to the farmers for milk, the farmers in this vicinity may organize a buyers' cooperative milk dealers' association to consumers with milk at a price which may be lower than the rate now charged by the dairies of the city.

PARLOR, COURTSHIP AND BATH

(London Daily Mail.) While contemplating a necessary new house in rural areas, the Easton Bryn Council, Bedfordshire, is including in its cottages, and foregoing a bathroom. One member said they must provide for courting couples; a girl's young man would not go to a house unless he was sure of seclusion from the father.

MUSICAL CRITICS BEWARE

(Pleasant Valley, Ark., Palladium.) The third number on the programme was a saxophone solo by Miss Birnie Puffer. Musicians are agreed that the saxophone is an instrument out of which country increased 28 per cent, since the war, as compared to the more than 100 per cent. throughout the civilized world. The Year Book points out how noticeably increased in the two important cities of Auckland and Wellington, due to an increase in population, the rise throughout the country has been comparatively small.

Wages Lag but Little. Contrasting with the 28 per cent. increase in the cost of food is the 17.58 per cent. increase in wages up to September, 1918. The Year Book points out how, however, that since perhaps much less than half of the householders' wages are expended for food, the discrepancy between the two figures is not as large as would appear upon first thought.

FLEEING THE BOLSHEVIKI

"The whole village is in flight. Along the road, fleeing to the woods or to the next village, are people hurrying on foot, some driving pigs and cattle, some carrying what they could gather in their haste, so great is their dread of the Bolsheviki, a thousand times stronger than any fear of the worst tyrant of the old regime," writes William V. Duncan in the Yale Review. "Here in my car is an old woman crying her poor heart away. Our train is picking up all who can jump on as we move slowly along. It is growing dark now and the line of wagons is indistinct along the road. We will meet slowly, tearing up the tracks here and there, weakening the little bridges. The Bolsheviki must have made an awful mess with these people, so few friends to welcome them, so many in mad terror at their return. We have stopped for the night at this little station, Kurgan. The fugitives continue to pass; it is too dark to see them, but one can hear them and sense them there, fleeing they know not whither, but fleeing—anywhere from the Bolsheviki, the friends of the people."

ALEXANDER HAMILTON

The death of Alexander Hamilton, aged twenty-seven years, which occurred yesterday in the St. John County Hospital, will be heard of with regret by many friends. He had been in failing health for about a year, coming back from Halifax, where he was a member of the garrison band to enter the hospital here. He had been in the service since early in the war, but had been unable to get overseas. Besides his wife he is survived by one child and by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Hamilton of Eastmount with a brother, W. W. Hamilton, and sister, Miss Margaret, both at home. The funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon.

RECORD FREIGHT RATE PAID TO SCHOONER

The Quacco Queen Takes Coal Cargo to France for High Price

Halifax Chronicle—North Sydney is said to have established a record for high freight rates for coal, when the tern schooner Quacco Queen recently sailed for Marseilles, France, with 720 tons of coal. Eighteen thousand dollars was paid to the owner of the schooner for the freight on the cargo. The Quacco Queen is one of the finest vessels that ever sailed out of the port of North Sydney and is the first to sail from there with crude oil burning engines.

The Quacco Queen was built at St. Martins and is owned by the St. Martins Shipbuilding Co. in which St. John men are the chief owners.

GET PASSES GOOD ALL THE YEAR ROUND

Distribution of Members of Operating Department of Government Railways

All the great round passes for the members of the operating department of the Canadian Government Railways are now being distributed. They are good for visits at any time to any part of the system, and employees are looking forward with interest at present to see what action will be taken with regard to the Grand Trunk, for should the merger go through making it a government road, it will mean their being entitled to travel by pass from coast to coast.

It is contended by former members of the government railways who have been superannuated and would receive these passes but for that, that an injustice is done them by their not having the privilege of members of the other departments. At present, though, the annual pass is not extended to them, although some of the members of the road but a few of that time is entitled to it. The privilege has not yet been extended to clerks and members of the other departments, but it is said that an effort will be made to have the favor granted them also.

SAYS TITUS HAS WIFE AND FOUR CHILDREN

The Bangor Commercial, reporting the arrest of Wm. Titus of Eastport on charge of breaking into the Bangor jail and taking out Miss Scott, a prisoner here, says that Titus planned to get to Grand Manan. It says he "is said to have had considerable trouble in getting a family in Canada and has a wife and four children there. He had not been with them for over six years and at the time of his arrest was working in a factory near Eastport." He was out on bail, having been arrested in April, charged with evading the immigration laws when he came from Canada, and Alice Scott was being held on the Bangor jail and was being held awaiting papers from the United States officials. Titus, however, thought she might be kept in a long time and he sawed a bar in her cell window from the outside and got her out.

It may be recalled that a similar question arose some years ago with regard to goods imported under the British preference, when it was urged that only those imported through British ports should receive the preference. The business men of the upper provinces opposed this strongly and it is pretty certain that, with the control and management of the government roads removed to Toronto, as it now is, the sentiment will be strong for importing and exporting everything possible by way of the shorter distance at Portland.

LADY MACKENZIE GOING TO EXPLORE RIVER OF MYSTERY

Planning Trip of Discovery on Tana, in East African Jungles; Dense Forest Region.

New York, Oct. 15—Heading an expedition to East Africa, which has as its object the exploration of the Tana River and the hunting of big game, Lady MacKenzie, the English woman hunter, is in New York compiling details of the trip and arranging to dispose of trophies obtained in two expeditions she already has made to Africa. Lady MacKenzie, who is staying at the Hotel Astor, expects to sail within three weeks on her mission.

Upon her arrival at Mombasa, Africa, she will remain several days, superintending the shipment of nine tons of trophies she has stored there. These include many rare specimens of heads and skins of animals, and will be presented to the Bronx Zoological Museum, the American Museum of Natural History, the Smithsonian Institution and other institutions.

One rare trophy is the head and skin of a garrak, an animal with a neck and head like a giraffe, which is seldom seen in the open, according to Lady MacKenzie, who shot the beast. The specimen is perfect and is to be given to the Herbarium of the University of Cambridge.

In her forthcoming expedition Lady MacKenzie said she would be accompanied by F. Postma, who was with her on her other hunting trips; William ("Bill") Judd, who was with Colonel Roosevelt's hunting expedition in Africa; E. Shelley, one of Paul Rainey's hunters, and Pete Pearson.

The Tana River, Lady MacKenzie said yesterday, is one of the most treacherous streams in the world. It is full of whirlpools, waterfalls and dangerous rapids. At places along its winding course the forests are so dense that travel is possible only by literally climbing over the tops of the trees. The length of the river is estimated at from 2,000 to 3,000 miles.

"I am returning to continue work that was interrupted by the war," she said. "In 1916 I was about to start the exploration of the Tana, and had established my camp at the junction of the Tana and the Theki, when I was told I would have to stop."

"I appreciate the danger that lies before me, but I feel the discoveries that will be made will be worth risking my life for. What is along that river can only be guessed at. The Somalis and the Wandobas have at times reported 'too much elephants' meaning a great herd or great herds of elephants. At other times they have told us of huge lions, great rhinoceroses, hippopotamuses, and other great beasts. I want to find out if their tales are true and to get some specimens. I know that big snakes are to be found along the river, for I have seen them. They are what I really fear."

test. I must be supported by men whom only death or serious injury will stop. The Canadian Indian guides stop only for those reasons."

How Germans Prepared.

Illustrating some conditions she will face on her trip, Lady MacKenzie told of incidents of her expedition in 1914. She gave an interesting sidelight on how thoroughly the Germans in German East Africa had prepared for the war. She said:

"We were hunting lions on the German East African border when one day we saw a party of blacks manœuvring. We could not make out what they were doing until they crossed the border. Then we thought they were going to attack the British Africans. Things looked very serious and we decided to move camp. The rapid approach of the blacks forced us to leave hurriedly, but we were able to hide nearly all of our supplies and equipment."

Back of Canada's Victory Bonds

WHEN you loan money you make sure the borrower is able to repay the loan and that he will pay you the interest regularly as it falls due.

When you loan money to Canada you know your money is absolutely safe.

Back of Canada's Victory Bonds is the entire wealth that Canada possesses—all her industries and all her resources in minerals, fisheries, forests and lands.

Canada is one-third of the area of the whole British Empire; she is larger than thirty United Kingdoms; twice the size of India; eighteen times as large as France. She is practically as large as all of the European countries put together.

Canada is larger than the United States including Alaska (Canada, 3,729,665 square miles; United States and Alaska, 3,617,673 square miles).

Canada has over 440,000,000 acres of farm lands—and only one-eighth of it is yet under cultivation.

Canada has the most extensive and best stocked fisheries in the world—232,000 square miles of fishing waters.

Canada has over 225,000,000 acres of commercial timber—she is the great forest resource of the Empire.

Canada's mineral deposits have scarcely been scratched—yet her mines yielded $210,204,970 last year.

Canada's field crops have doubled in five years—from $52,771,500 to $1,367,909,970.

Canada's people have increased their cash balances in Banks and Post Offices nearly seventy per cent. in five years—from $1,086,013,704 to $1,740,462,509.

Canada's trade has more than doubled in five years—from $1,085,175,572 to $2,564,462,215. Canada emerges from the war one of the world's greatest and strongest nations—her natural wealth equals $2,000 for each man, woman and child of her population.

Canada's Victory Bonds are the finest possible investment where safety is the chief consideration.

Moreover, when you loan your money to Canada you know that the interest will be paid every six months—all you have to do is to go to the nearest Bank and get it.

Canadians will soon be given another opportunity to buy Victory Bonds.

This will probably be the last time you will be able to purchase Canada's bonds on such favorable terms.

Prepare to buy—All Canada is Your Security.

MUST CURTAIL USE OF SWEETS REST OF YEAR

Heavily increased use of sugar in candy, soft drinks, ice cream and other luxuries in the United States during the first nine months of 1919, it is announced in New York by the United States Sugar Equalization Board, means that such over-indulgence in sweets "must now be curtailed in some sections of the east for the next three months."

George A. Zabriski, president of the board in a statement to the press, declared that although the talk of "shortage" persists, it was a fact that from last January to September inclusive, 500,000 tons or 18 per cent. more sugar had been delivered to American consumers than for the same period of 1918. The normal increase in consumption for the period named, he said, would have been four per cent.

The west should secure immediately relief from the harvesting of an average beet crop, said the statement, which will be in full swing within a week. Louisiana supply of 100,000 tons available after November 1, while disappointing, will serve to supply the south until the new West Indian crop is ready next January. The east is dependent, however, it was said, on the old Cuban supply and "conservation" therefore would have to be practiced for a time in this section of the country. To meet the condition in the east Frank C. Lavery, it was announced, will supervise and direct the distribution of all sugar by the eastern refiners.

After October 15 and until January 1, it was said, all territory west of Pittsburgh and Buffalo and north of the Ohio river will have to depend upon the sugar beet producers. Deliveries of sugar to the trade in the east, it was said, during October, November and December, would approximate those made in October, 1918. Considerably more beet sugar will be marketed this year than last.

NEW BRUNSWICKERS LOSE THEIR SUIT OVER POTATOES

Montreal, Oct. 15.—Heber H. Hatfield, of Hartland (N. B.), and his partner, who do business in Montreal under the name of Hatfield & Scott, bought a car of potatoes from Jules Cases, of St. Flavie in Rimouski county, which they claimed were "scaly" and therefore not as ordered. The judge in superior court this morning found that the potatoes were in fact "first-class cookers and good eaters," and that their only defect was in their "scaly" quality, which did not affect their wholesomeness, but made them harder to sell owing to the condition of the public mind.

Backache only a Symptom

"It Seems as Though my Back Would Break."

This is a common expression among women, yet they toil on day after day heedless of the significance of this distressing symptom.

Backache is often a warning of some inward trouble that requires attention, and which unless relieved will sooner or later declare itself in more serious ailments.

If it is caused by female derangement Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is what you need. It quickly asserts its curative powers in all those peculiar ailments of women.

For more than thirty years this good old fashioned root and herb medicine has been restoring women to health.

The Splendid Recovery of Mrs. Fleet

Brantford, Ont.—"I have been a user of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and find there is nothing better for female troubles. I was taken sick with sharp pains in my right side and up over the hip to the back and the doctor said I would have to be operated on. I was in the hospital three weeks and did not get any better so I went home and took the Vegetable Compound. I stayed in bed three weeks more, then I was able to get up. Now I am all right and I have recommended your medicine to several friends and my daughter is taking it and all are pleased with the results from its use."

Detroit, Mich.—"I was in a general run-down condition, was very nervous and tired, had backache and other troubles. I suffered for several years, was not able to work at times and tried doctor's medicine with no results. I saw Lydia E. I am still taking it myself and giving it to my daughter, and am glad to recommend Vegetable Compound at any time."

FINE EXHIBITS AT LOCH LOMOND

The Simonds and Loch Lomond Agricultural Society fair was held yesterday afternoon on the grounds at Loch Lomond and proved to be one of the most successful held in years. While there have been larger crowds in attendance there was never a more enthusiastic gathering and the keenest interest was manifested by all present.

Among the visitors to the fair were Premier and Mrs. W. E. Foster, Judge J. B. Armstrong and J. B. M. Baxter, M.L.A., in addition to many other citizens from the city.

The judging of the agricultural exhibits, cattle and horses took up the greater part of the afternoon, and the results were awaited with interest. Alexander Johnston, secretary-treasurer of the society, was kept busy looking after details and the success achieved was in no small part due to his efforts.

TWO CONVICTIONS ALREADY AGAINST HIM

In the police court, yesterday afternoon, a case against John Campbell, charged with having liquor in his residence, Peter street, for illegal purposes, was resumed. George A. Henderson, clerk of the court, produced the records of the court and gave evidence of two previous convictions against the defendant. A deposit of $200 was put up by the defendant and he will appear before the court next Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Two Portuguese sailors, Manuel Teixeira and Antonio Antunes, were given in charge by Captain Elms of the S. S. Oceana for being absent from the vessel without leave. It seems that these men were article sailors, having signed up in Halifax to go to Lisbon on board the Oceana. Their pay was increased fifty-three dollars and they now receive ninety dollars per month for the trip. On reaching this port they had evidently become dissatisfied with the sea-faring life and left the ship. They were arraigned before the court after being given a hearing, were remanded. Captain Pina, of the vessel gave evidence.

Harold Smith was charged with acting with another and stealing a quantity of lead pipe, the property of the city, valued at $75. He was remanded to jail for a further hearing.

LABOR DISPUTE ENDED BY AGREEMENT

The directors and the employees of the Bedford Construction Company yesterday signed a contract binding both to abide by the recent finding of the conciliation board. The finding granted a five-cent per hour increase to the employees above previous rates, with time and a half for all over time and Sunday and holiday work. The board also found that all men who had been laid off were to be reinstated. Speaking to The Telegram last night C. Garniel of the Construction Company said that no man had been laid off on account of the wage disagreement and that men previously discharged had been dismissed for other causes and would therefore not be taken back.

F. A. Campbell, president of the Trades and Labor Council, said last evening that the employees of the sugar refinery were perfectly satisfied with their present conditions of employment and that there was now no labor unrest of any kind in the city.

IN JUVENILE COURT

At a session of the juvenile court yesterday morning the two boys arrested on suspicion of breaking, entering and stealing from the store of Robert Carroll, Rodney wharf, were given a further hearing and one, after a severe reprimand from the magistrate, was remanded to jail. The other lad could not be dealt with as his parents were not in court and he was also remanded.

A fourteen-year-old girl charged with vagrancy was remanded. Detective Saunders gave evidence to the effect that the girl's mother had called at the police station on Tuesday night, stating that she was unable to do anything with her daughter. Further evidence of the detective disclosed a shocking state of affairs.

Tenth. They shall give every man a square deal. This is the last and great commandment, and there is no other like unto it. Upon this commandment hang all the law and the profits of the business world.

Retires After Selling Eight Million Toys.

After making a record of selling 8,000,000 toys in six years, A. P. Brenner of Reading, Pa., has retired from business and is now looking for some other field to conquer. He believes that he has worked the "toy game" dry and is perfectly willing for other people to take it up where he left off.

When he started out Brenner rented a store room, sixteen by forty feet in size, out of the high rent district of Reading in a section where only advertising could make a business a success. Later he moved into a building with three stories and a basement and was hard pressed for room at that. As his original capital he had $20,000 two show windows and two eyes that say every possible opening for business.

"If you interest the child, you will soon get the father and the mother," was the motto he followed. Therefore, with his newspaper advertising, his show windows and his novelties, Brenner used to picture shows and their advertising slides, billboards and an extensive mailing list which he obtained through making deliveries.

Postcards mailed to children seldom failed to bring repeat orders and every now and then Brenner would issue out hundreds of invitations to holiday openings, distributing souvenirs to the children. In the last place—Brenner kept track of the proper way of figuring profits and the exact amount of his turnover, so that he would not only know that the business was going well, but how well it was going.

When it is remembered that Reading has only about 110,000 people, it will be seen that Brenner sold more than seventy toys to every person in Reading in the six years of his business, or an average of twelve a year per person.

He never let an ad go stale and no novelty space, movies or other mediums was neglected by this enterprising chaser after toy buyers. His retirement has left a gap in the toy trade of Reading, but his success has firmly impressed upon the merchants of that city the value of consistent and persistent advertising.

Price-Tagged His Store Into Profits.

Hugh McWilliams's success dates from the night he slipped outside his store and overheard the remarks of two men who stopped to look in the window—and passed on.

It was all a question of the little price tags which were not there.

When he had moved his stock of clothing, trunks and gents' furnishing goods to the new location in Miami, Okla., he had high hopes, for there was an opportunity to spare for another such establishment. He was a good salesman and he employed competent clerks. He brought with him the name of "a good man to deal with."

And this proved true enough with those permanently located there and those who happened to come from his former location, but as in all mining cities, people "come and went." In a locality of strangers "Mac" failed to do as well as he had a right to expect.

One evening, after closing hours, he happened to be standing in front of his store when two men stopped for a moment to admire the really splendid values there displayed.

"Good stuff, that," said one. "Just look at that brown suit, that shirt, that pair of shoes, and that" (pointing at each in turn) "wouldn't that make a swell outfit?"

"It sure would," answered his friend, "but he's got no mark on them to show what they are priced at. They probably cost more than we could pay."

He had solved the problem. People wished to see the price of an article that struck their fancy, and not be compelled to ask for it. Yes, he had a good stock, splendid value, attractive displays, but they were not "marked."

That was all very well for his old home town, where every one knew him and his reputation for square dealing, but it wouldn't work in this "city of strangers."

McWilliams now has not only his window display plainly priced, but each and every article in the store, no matter how insignificant. All who enter may read.

The first month after "decorating" his stock with price tags his trade increased fully 30 per cent. And since, in six months, it has doubled.

Names Changed, Result of War

Many Residents of England Have Discarded German Patronymics—Odd Names Also Vanishing London, Sept. 30.—(Correspondence.) A name to Englishmen had so little in it that until the outbreak of the war a man could call himself anything he liked without consulting the law. A privilege which enabled him to indulge his fancy for a resounding name or to get rid of an ugly patronymic like Bugge, which it is recorded was exchanged by a saloon keeper for a combination of the old English names Norfolk-Howard.

200,000 Canadian, American and Imperial troops. This was her war record. Besides she had assumed no inactive part in the actual theatres of naval warfare. She rescued the officers and men from H. M. S. Audacious when that dreadnaught was sinking off the Irish coast. Of the Olympic's combats with the German submarines, Capt. Hayes said: "I think that we sank three, but we are only credited with one by the Admiralty Office, since it is necessary to bring in adequate and material evidence before a genuine count is registered. We were attacked ten times by enemy submarines.

During the last four years alone the following names have been abandoned: Baggs, Bagey, Gotobed, Onions, Outlaw, Pickles, Scragg and Tart. When the war broke out there was a rush among people who bore German names to change them but in 1916 the Defence of the Realm Act stopped enemy aliens from doing so, but British subjects were still permitted to make a change, and they have done so ever since, and continue to do so. Up to date over 2,000 changes of enemy surnames have taken place since the war broke out.

Establishes New World's Record

Wishaar Diving Motor Cycle Covers 50 Miles in 32m. 57.2-5 s.

Ray Wishaar of Bridgeport, Conn., smashed the world's fifty-mile record for motorcycles at the Sheephead Bay Speedway, and young Albert Burns, of Oakland, Cal., came within fourteen seconds of accomplishing a similar feat in winning the national championship at 100 miles. Both of the big heroes of the day rode Harley Davidson machines. Wishaar negotiating the half-century in 32 minutes, 57.2-5 seconds, while Burns continued for the additional fifty miles in one hour seven minutes, 37 seconds.

mile title fell to E. H. Farrell, of New York, and side-car races at ten and twenty-five miles were won by S. J. Riddle and Teddy Carroll respectively. The fifty and 100-mile races were held simultaneously, the riders continuing without interruption after Wishaar's record-breaking achievement had been automatically registered. If the Bridgeport speed demon had not run out of gasoline, he would almost certainly have lowered Otto Walker's mark of 1 hour, 7 minutes 45 seconds, set in Chicago in 1915, as easily as he cut off nearly a minute from Lee Huniston's old fifty-mile record of 33 minutes, 55.1-2 seconds. Wishaar was leading the field by at least three-quarters of a mile when his mishap occurred, near the finish of the thirty-fourth lap.

ONE AUSTRIAN ARCHDUKE WHO MAY RETURN

Leopold Ferdinand Only One Who Has The Privilege

BANISHED BY EMPEROR

Made Homeland Too Hot For Himself in Days Before The War; Married Commoner Whose Relations With Him Had Precipitated Banishment

(Toronto Mail and Empire.)
What remains of the Austrian empire is forbidden ground for any former archduke, and the whole litter of them with their descendants, are now refugees, mostly in Switzerland, with orders never to come back. Of only one is this not true. Only one of them can enter Austria and not alone enter it, but become a citizen and a welcome citizen. This archduke is Leopold Ferdinand, who was banished from the land of his birth by the emperor some seventeen years ago. Since then he has been living as a private citizen in Switzerland as Leopold Wolfing, almost forgotten by the great world where he was formerly a conspicuous if somewhat eccentric figure. He was easily the most humane and intelligent of the Austrian archdukes, and it was because of his realness, questioning, essentially democratic mind that he was forced into exile by Francis Joseph. Had he remained in Austria and submitted to the imperial yoke he might well have played a big part in the later history of his country. Had he been the son of middle class parents he might have distinguished himself in art or letters. As it was, he succeeded in doing nothing much more important than figuring in scandals and wrecking a promising career.

Like Lucifer Flaming.
It was a considerable fall in a social sense, for Leopold Ferdinand was once His Imperial Highness Archduke Leopold Ferdinand of Austria, Grand Duke of Tuscany, Royal Prince of Hungary and Bohemia, Knight of the Order of the Golden Fleece and Colonel of the Imperial and Royal Army of Austria-Hungary. By these entitlements, those familiar with the Almanac de Gotha will identify Herr Wolfing as the brother of the famous Crown Princess Louise of Saxony, whose sensational escape from her husband, the former King of Saxony, lately deposed, attracted the attention of the world in 1902. Brother and sister were much alike in their hatred for the world into which they were born. From childhood both were determined to live their own lives with as little interference as possible on the part of those about them. They were very different from the other little archdukes and archduchesses and it is to be feared caused their parents much trouble.

A Stormy Career.
As Leopold grew up he was, of course, sent to the army, and soldiering was made rather more real and unpleasant for him than for other royal apprentices because it was hoped that the discipline would break his unruly spirit. It failed, and instead, Leopold found himself in one continuous brawl with superior officers and the adult members of his family. He was transferred from one regiment to another, from one to another purple martinet, and from one gloomy garrison town to one a shade gloomier whenever it could be discovered. He received the tedium of his existence by various scandalous affairs. He was transferred to the navy, but nothing could be made of him in that service either, and the report given by his captain was that he was incapable, dissolute and lazy. So he went back into the army. In 1902 he was openly living with a noted Viennese beauty, Miss Adamovic, daughter of a college professor, and this so enraged the emperor that he was peremptorily ordered to give up his friend. In return he asked permission to marry her, and when this was refused, his name was dropped from the army list. A month or two later when he became involved in the escape of his sister, he was banished from Austria and made to sign an abdication to all his claims upon the succession in exchange for a pension of 200,000 francs.

Quarrelled With the Heir.
The emperor might have ignored the general looseness and rebelliousness of Leopold's conduct were it not that the latter had incurred the undying hatred of the Archduke Francis Ferdinand, heir presumptive to the throne, a year or two before. The quarrel was not to the discredit of Leopold. He was one of Francis Ferdinand's entourage, as we are told in an article in the Berliner Tageblatt, when the haughty young heir made his tour of the world. One day on shipboard Francis Ferdinand was amusing himself by using a shotgun on the gulls that followed the warship. Some he would miss some he would hit and kill outright and others he would maim. This brought forth a fiery protest from his cousin, Leopold, who said he did not consider it good sportsmanship to have wounded birds on the water to starve or drown. He was sharply rebuked by his kinsman for interfering and an altercation followed in which one word led to several others. The unfortunate Leopold with his amazing gift for putting himself in the wrong, drew his sword. He was thereupon seized by the bystanders and put ashore at the next port.

Difficult to Settle.
Following his banishment from Austria, he married Miss Adamovic, who had been one of the party which helped the Crown Princess Louise to escape from Germany, and they settled down in Switzerland. At least, Mrs. Wolfing settled down. Had her husband settled all might have been well. He refused to really light, with the result that in 1907 he and his wife were divorced. Later on he married a petty Silesian girl, a commoner, with whom it is presumed he has lived ever since. When the war broke out his love of the democratic countries did not outweigh his love for his own country, and he requested the Emperor of Austria to give him a commission. When this was refused he asked permission to enlist as a private soldier. This too was rejected by the implacable Francis Joseph, and so through the war the former archduke has remained an involuntary neutral. It is his privilege now to return to Austria and become a soldier in whatever ramp of an army the Allies have permitted his native land.

BEADED AND EMBROIDERED BLOUSES

AT MANUFACTURER'S PRICES

COMPARE our $10.00 Georgette Blouses with those sold elsewhere at $15.00. See our $9.50 Crepe de Chines. You cannot buy their equal in material, style and finish for $12.00 anywhere. It scarcely seems possible to women familiar with blouse values, that we can sell heavy Georgette Crepe Blouses, beautifully beaded and embroidered, at from $8.50 to $15.00. Equally difficult is it to understand how we can employ Crepe de Chine of such weight in our blouses from $6.50 to $10.00.

Why We Can Do It—

As we make all our own blouses in our own factories, and sell them exclusively in our own stores, we eliminate the middleman, and we do not require any travellers. When you buy a D'Alaird Blouse you buy it direct from the maker. That is why D'Alaird Blouses can be sold at such very low prices. But we want to impress upon you that we do not aim to make the "cheapest blouses," we make only superior blouses of serviceable materials, but we sell them for less than waists of similar quality can be purchased elsewhere.

Scores of New Styles—

This season's display of blouses far surpasses in beauty and variety any previous showing in the D'Alaird shops. You will find tomorrow blouses of every type in infinite variety. Exquisitely embroidered and beaded blouses for dress occasions, blouses in contrasting colors, blouses for the tailored suit—in fact the loveliest Georgettes and Crepe de Chines any woman could wish to possess. Each blouse, too, is practically exclusive, for we make just three or four waists of each style for each store.

We have blouses in all sizes from 34 up. An excellent showing of sizes 46 and 48.

TIME WHEN BUFFALO BILL LACKED COURAGE

Married Pair as Justice of Peace
—Stories of The Great Scout
And Indian Fighter

(Kansas City Star.)
It is difficult for this generation of boys, even though they be born on the "Great American Desert," to believe that Buffalo Bill was ever anything except the star of a tent show, but old-timers know of his perilous life of earlier days as an Indian fighter, scout, overland freight guard and pony express rider.
When the Kansas Pacific Railroad was building to the coast it employed Will Cody to supply its construction gangs with meat. One of the greatest shots of the plains, he won his name and his spurs killing buffalo for the builders of the iron trail.
During Indian campaigns Cody rose to be chief scout for the army and Indian adventures became a part of his daily routine. The fame of Buffalo Bill spread throughout the army. None doubted the courage and resource of the great scout and Indian hunter.

Yet one day his courage was sorely tried. There was one time when Buffalo Bill admitted he was scared.
Gen. Emory, in command at Fort McPherson, induced the county authorities to make Buffalo Bill a justice of the peace.
"Why, General," protested the scout, "I don't know any more about law than a mule knows of singing."
But the appointment was duly and legally made, and the new justice had to serve. His first task was to perform a wedding ceremony. A wedding was a great event at McPherson, and the whole fort resolved to attend.
In vain his wife and sisters tried to coach Buffalo Bill. Nobody could find a copy of the marriage service. The great day came. The guests assembled. Cold sweat stood in beads on the brow of the old Indian fighter. His hands trembled.
Yet at first the ceremony moved without approach. The bride and groom were counselled in the conventional manner until the close of the ceremony, when Buffalo Bill started the congregation by announcing:

"Whom God and Buffalo Bill hath joined together let no man put asunder."
As a marrying justice he was voted a great success.
Before the days of the telegram news traveled by pony express, nine days from St. Joseph, the end of the railroad, to Sacramento, Calif. The distance over the short route was 1966 miles.
Will Cody was twice in the employ of the pony express as one of the relay riders in the western wilderness. It was during his second engagement that he saved his life by his knack of shooting straight and thinking quickly.
Will was riding from Red Butte, on the North Platte, to Three Crossings, on the Sweetwater, a distance of seventy-six miles, when a station boss one day lured him:
"There's signs of Indians about, Billy. Better keep your eye peeled."
The young rider nodded comprehension as he swung into the saddle on a fresh pony and dashed out of the station with his mail sacks.
Plainsmen learned early to keep their eyes open. As Will Cody rode he scanned the country ahead of him with tireless gaze. Every rock and hummock had his attention.
It was grim, wild country he rode through. Great cliffs overhung his narrow path and darkened the way. Forests of black pine stood thick on the precipitous slopes of the Rockies.

His Opinion

They sat in sweet converse in the parlor, while the family hid themselves in other old corners of the home.
But the delicious silence was broken by a loud rat-tat at the front door.
"George, dear," said the daisied, "I'm afraid that means another caller."
"But you—there is such a thing as being 'not at home,' Ethel," implored the youth.
"Yes—or being engaged!" added Ethel, meaningly.
Brown was going to have some alterations made to his home and asked Jones—who had just got rid of the builders—the best way to go about it.
"Oh," said Jones, "you call in a decent builder and you tell him the limit you are prepared to lay out, being sure that the sum you mention to him is about a quarter of what you have for the alterations, and then, if you are lucky, and keep your wife away while the work is proceeding, you may get half of what you want done for about twice the total sum you wanted to spend."
