The Queen's Italian Residence Selected. Edmund Yates says: "The Queen has decided to accept Dowager Lady Crawford's offer to place the villa Palmieri at her Majesty's disposal if she visits Florence in the spring. The celebrated villa stands in lovely grounds on the Fiesole road. It was reconstructed and greatly improved by Lord Crawford, and the Queen was delighted with the place when she passed a month there during the spring of 1888. The Queen will arrive in Florence shortly before Easter. The Queen passed every afternoon during the last ten days of her stay at Balmoral in paying a series of farewell visits to the tenants on the Balmoral, Abergele and Kirkcaldy estates and to the cottagers around the village of Crathie. She visited the site of the new church of Crathie, toward the building of which her Majesty and Mr. Farguherson, of Ivercauld, each subscribed £200. The foundation stone will probably be laid by the Queen in May, during the next residence of the court at Balmoral.

Not a Famous Victory. LONDON, Nov. 25.—A Paris correspondent says that the passive manner in which Abomey was captured by the French is a disappointment to the French, who expected a brilliant victory and a correspondingly brilliant celebration of it.

The Press Excluded. LONDON, Nov. 25.—The Paris correspondent of the Daily News says the Panama Canal Investigation Commission has decided that no reports of the proceedings shall be issued to the press, but that members of the committee may impart to journals such information as they may see fit on their own responsibility.

British Policy in Uganda. LONDON, Nov. 25.—It is announced officially that the Government will not interfere with the evacuation of Uganda by the East Africa Company next March, but will send out a special commissioner immediately with a native expert to report on the best policy to be pursued as regards the territory in question.

A Shocking Accident. CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 25.—A correspondent says an inebriate coachman, who yesterday was driving a carriage in which rode Keman Bey, with two distinguished friends, brought about a shocking and fatal accident. The man persisted in attempting to drive the carriage over the drawbridge connecting Simion and Galata, in spite of shouted warnings that the bridge was open. The coach went into the water and Keman Bey and his friends were drowned. The coachman and footman were rescued.

Lively Trade in Forged Manuscript. LONDON, Nov. 25.—The Edinburgh Evening Dispatch says that forged manuscripts purporting to be the work of Robert Burns and Sir Walter Scott have been placed in the market during the past few years, and all right. Let the officers charged with the enforcement of the law do their duty and trusts and combinations will go to pieces as quickly as they sprang into existence."

RESULTS OF THE COMBINES. "There is nothing in the claim. The act is unquestionably constitutional. It was passed unanimously by both House and Senate, but not until after the most searching and exhaustive discussion and investigation. Every line was carefully reviewed by the best constitutional lawyers in Congress, and every possible feature that could be questioned was stricken out before passage. There is not the shadow of a doubt in my mind about the constitutionality of the act."

THE INTENTION OF THE LAW. "What was the act designed to cover?" "It is intended and I think will cover every form of combination that seeks to in any way interfere or restrain free competition, whether it be capital in the form of trusts, combinations, railroad pools, agreements, or labor, through the form of boycotting organizations."

"There is no doubt, then, in your mind that the intention of your committee was to cover, with the law as passed, all such cases?" "None whatever."

"If that law is enforced, do you think it will smash the trusts?" "Most certainly. The law is all right, the courts are all right, and the people are all right. Let the officers charged with the enforcement of the law do their duty and trusts and combinations will go to pieces as quickly as they sprang into existence."

Russian Persecution of Jews. LONDON, Nov. 25.—The Times this morning quotes extensively from an American commission report on the persecution of the Jews in Russia. An editorial article on the subject concludes: "The question of the persecuted Jews seeking refuge in America concerns only the American nation. But what concerns the whole civilized world and revolts the human family itself is the revelation afforded of a system of persecution sanctioned and sustained by the Russian Government and the personal authority of the Czar."

Effect of the Guion Line's Action. LONDON, Nov. 25.—The Liverpool Post, in commenting on the action of the Guion Line in taking off the steamers running between New York and Liverpool, says that while action of the Guion Company was probably provoked by the recent action of various quarantine laws in New York, the United States cannot afford to provoke a strike among the big English shipping companies, which, while producing something like a famine in Great Britain, would be felt acutely in the United States, where the British market is the most important of all, so that even temporary closing would be disastrous.

Twenty-Nine Vessels Burned. ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 24.—A dispatch from Astrakhan on the River Volga states that on Tuesday a naphtha barge caught fire. The flames spread with startling rapidity and before any attempt could be made to save them 29 other barges, some loaded with naphtha and others empty, were a mass of flames. Two steamers also caught fire and were destroyed. All the barges were burned to the water's edge. The bargemen and the hands on the steamers hastily evacuated by the recent explosions that followed the communication of the flames to the naphtha sounded like discharges of cannon. The fire presented a magnificent spectacle.

The Latest London Scare. LONDON, Nov. 24.—The St. James Gazette to-day says that a number of the unemployed workmen who meet at Tower Hill, boast of possession of firearms, and declare that they are trained in their use. The Gazette says many of the unemployed men belong to the volunteer force and have failed to return their arms when through drilling, and that orders given for restoration of arms have been ignored. Arrangements are being completed for a midnight march of contingents of the workless men. Centers have been appointed, at which the several contingents will meet and thence torchlight processions will march to some place in the western part of the city. This place is kept a secret by the leaders. The day of the procession will not be fixed until the eve of the march.

Number Nine. LONDON, Nov. 24.—The new ninth Duke of Marlborough, who succeeded to the title on the death of his father a short time ago, was born at Simla, Nov. 13, 1871, the son of the then Marquis of Blandford, which title he has borne since 1888, and of Lady Alberta Hamilton, daughter of the first Duke of Abercorn, and who still bears the title of the Marquise of Blandford. The young duke came of age a few days after his father's death. He has always lived with his mother, and naturally took her side of the quarrel that brought about the divorce. The young Duke Charles took possession of Blandford immediately after the funeral of his mother, who is now a resident all tied to her at Woodstock, and retains possession for the present of

And Every Pound of Coal Shipped Can Be Confiscated—Remored Reduction of the United States Tariff on Soft Coal—The Congressional Committee Will Begin the Investigation at Once.

CHICAGO, Nov. 24.—Ex-Senator George F. Edmunds, who is now in this city, believes that the Reading coal combine is amenable to the Sherman anti-trust law, and its product is liable to seizure by the Government, while the principals are liable to arrest and imprisonment. Ex-Senator Edmunds, as chairman of the judiciary committee of the Senate, reported to that body in July, 1890, that he is now known as the Sherman anti-trust law. In an interview with an Inter-Ocean reporter he said: "The Government can legally seize every pound of coal shipped by the Philadelphia and Reading Coal Company across the State line in Pennsylvania if that company is violating what is known as the Sherman trust law."

"If the Philadelphia and Reading or any other coal company has combined with another company for the purpose of controlling either the price or the output of any commodity it is amenable to seizure, while the principals are liable to arrest and imprisonment."

"What do you think of the contention of the trusts that the act is unconstitutional?" "There is nothing in the claim. The act is unquestionably constitutional. It was passed unanimously by both House and Senate, but not until after the most searching and exhaustive discussion and investigation. ONLY ONE WEEK TO LIVE. Five Thousand Persons Petition the Governor to Commute Buck's Sentence.

MONROE, N. B., Nov. 24.—A week from today the execution of Buck, of Dorchester, is to take place, and the death warrant is daily expected. Petitions signed by nearly 5,000 names have been forwarded to the Governor-General for its commutation, but the general belief is that it will be of no avail. The rumor that Olsen had disclosed his real name to Sheriff McQueen is daily expected. It is now believed that these two convicts are known to Montreal as Buck Wieland and Jim Christie. Mrs. Harvey Atkinson visited Buck and found him in excellent health. Rev. Father Connor administered the sacrament of the communion to the condemned men.

A Woman More Brittle Than Glass. RIVINGTON, Ky., Nov. 25.—The bones of Mrs. J. N. Thomas, of this place, while she is lying or sitting perfectly still, often break with a report that can be heard all over the house. Sometimes the bones will break in several places at the same time.

DEADWOOD, S. D., Nov. 25.—The cowboys of Nebraska and Dakota have organized a long-distance race to be run from Chadron, Neb., to the Nebraska State building at the World's Fair grounds. The prize is to be $1,000 and a gold medal. Nearly 300 entries will be made. Bronchos will be the animals ridden, and the race will begin on May 15.

Fatally Shot by His Little Son. VAN WERT, O., Nov. 25.—James Neer, a farmer residing near this city, has been fatally shot by his 5-year-old son. Neer was loaded on a barrel of his shotgun, and as he was about to load the other barrel the child came up and, unnoticed by the father, raised the hammer of the loaded barrel. The hammer slipped from the child's fingers, the gun was discharged, and the head of shot struck Mr. Neer on the face.

A Remarkable Operation. BALTIMORE, Md., Nov. 25.—E. L. Beard, of Locust, W. Va., has just recovered from a remarkable surgical operation, performed at the Johns Hopkins University. Beard was afflicted with a peach stone, which lodged in his esophagus. Dr. Balam and Harkes cut an entrance into the esophagus. Then a string with a fanfare arrangement was taken in at the mouth, and the obstruction was thus removed through the mouth.

Met a Horrible Death. PORT ARTHUR, Nov. 25.—Wm. Gehl, a son of Conrad Gehl, the proprietor of Gehl's brewery at this place, while walking through the building when a peach stone, which lodged in his esophagus. Dr. Balam and Harkes cut an entrance into the esophagus. Then a string with a fanfare arrangement was taken in at the mouth, and the obstruction was thus removed through the mouth.

Shot Dead for Whistling. HELENA, Ark., Nov. 25.—Safford Schwartz a day or two ago passed the house of Joseph Sparks, in the Coffee Creek neighborhood, singing and whistling. Sparks came out and told him that white people were living in his house and he must not make so much noise. Schwartz went on his way and finally turned back and met Sparks in the road. Sparks shot him three times, killing him on the spot.

Gas that a Crowbar Can't Penetrate. MUSKE, Ind., Nov. 25.—What is undoubtedly the strongest natural gas well ever found in the Indiana belt is a roaring monster north of this city, which cannot be gotten under control. A few days since Walley & Spelacy, contractors, drilled in a well on the Spilker farm for the Whitley Reaper Works. The well was more than the average, but was thought to be a gas well. The pressure had raised to an enormous degree, and it has since hourly increased until it has become impossible to anchor the well or do anything with it. It is impossible to force a wedge hammer, crowbar, or anything in the hole, and the gas roars until a man's voice cannot be heard within several hundred yards of the well. The earth trembles in a frightful manner. A great deal of fright is entertained as to what the result will be. The well is estimated at over 10,000,000 feet, and the apparatus used to anchor the monster Jumbo well at Fairmount is useless here. Great caution is being used to prevent the gas from becoming ignited.

Probably Buried in Grain. NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—Last Friday morning 25-year-old Patrick McDruiry left his home at 491 Hicks street, Brooklyn, to work at loading grain on the steamer Bolivia, lying at the foot of Harrison street. He has not since returned to his home, and his mother, with whom he lived, thinks that he was buried in the grain and that his body is in the hold of the vessel. Mrs. McDruiry became alarmed when her son failed to arrive home from work as usual on Friday night, and on Saturday made inquiries at the vessel. All she could learn was that at about 10 o'clock on Friday morning he was seen by some sailors climbing up a ladder in the steamer's hold, but no one seemed to know what became of him afterwards. The mother and other relatives of the missing man visited the vessel half a dozen times, and the police authorities, who were notified were equally unsuccessful in getting any trace of him. The vessel was detained at 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon for Mediterranean ports, and Mrs. McDruiry is confident that her son is buried in the cargo of grain in the hold. Wednesday morning she made an unsuccessful attempt to have the vessel detained in port until the cargo had been unloaded. McDruiry was a steady, industrious young man, and for several years had supported his mother.

ON AND OFF. THURSDAY AFTERNOON. The Court of Revision Still Sitting at the Court House—The Successful and Unsuccessful Ones.

Mr. Joseph Foster appeared at the court and complained that he had seen in the papers that his name had been struck off the day previous on the Conservative objection. Mr. Foster happened to move a few doors away from his previous place of residence and upon the evidence of a Conservative witness that he had moved away to somewhere unknown, his name was removed. Judge Davis ordered it to be replaced and hinted that such evidence must be more explicit in the future.

"Many good municipal voters are struck off in this way, and that is the reason the Liberals do not issue any objections," said Mr. R. K. Cowan. "They knew they could catch unqualified voters at the polls."

The Conservatives added the following: George Young, Wm. Friendship, M. Warren, H. Plewes, Harry Short, Isaac Squire, Wm. Cohoon, Charles Boyce, John Gartley, John Fernel, John Rogers, James Gibson, James J. Cheverton, W. H. Macdonald, J. Bolivar, W. L. Armitage, Alfred Moore, L. J. Freshorn, A. Conservative objections to F. McMahon, Harry Burton and John Wesley Brown were dismissed. They succeeded in striking off Martin Morkin, who is in Barrie. Adjourned until 11 a.m. FRIDAY MORNING.

A good deal of the court's time was occupied with Conservative applications to add names already on the list, which were disallowed, of course. Much of the evidence offered in support of objections was too flimsy to cause those objected to be struck off. The mere fact of a man moving round a corner seemed to have sufficient ground for the Conservatives to ask his disfranchisement. The wind-up of the court business hardly appears to be in sight yet, as objections in No. 1 ward alone have not been disposed of. There will be a wholesale slaughter of voters soon if it be not appear to support the applications to add made in the afternoon. The following Liberals added the following: John F. As the Meeting Place of the Methodist General Conference in 1894.

The General Conference Committee of the Methodist Church, in session at Toronto, decided yesterday that the next meeting of the General Conference should be held in London in 1894. The question of expense decided the committee in favor of London.

THE CHURCH WAS BARE.

Beattie Harrison Was Not Elected—The Saloon as a Political Power.

New York, Nov. 24.—Calvary Baptist Church in West Fifty-seventh street was bare of decorations on this holiday for the first time. Its pastor, Rev. Dr. McArthur, had made a bet with one of his congregation by which if Harrison was elected the church was to be decorated at the said member's expense and in the most lavish style. If Harrison was defeated the pastor was to preach on Thanksgiving Day in a church destitute of decoration. And so it was, except the yellow and black Princeton colors on the lapsels of the ushers' coats.

After mentioning that the election had resulted adversely to the decorations Dr. McArthur said there were still abundant causes for thanksgiving; even the calamity howlers had to admit the general prosperity of the country. Other reasons also were named. On the other hand, the preacher could not lose sight of causes for anxiety. He said: "I find as never before that the saloon—the rum power—is dangerous, is determined. I am not referring to personal indulgence in strong drink to the duty of total abstinence, but to the saloon as a political power. The saloon influence is a tremendous force used against all that is good and for everything that is bad, and he would lift up his voice against it as long as God gave him power."

SMART SNEAKS

Get Away With a Bag Full of Watches and Diamond Rings.

OMAHA, Neb., Nov. 24.—Sneak thieves entered the jewelry store of S. Jonason & Co. this morning and succeeded in getting away with $10,000 worth of diamonds and $5,000 worth of gold watches. Jonason had stepped out of the store to get shaved, leaving only a watch-repairer in charge. A man came in with a clock which he wanted repaired at once, and walked back with it to the repairer's bench. While the jeweler was at work the stranger stood in front of him and so hid from him his confederate who entered and filled a bag with watches and diamond rings. After the clock had been repaired the stranger left. It was a half hour before Jonason returned; then the robbery was discovered. No trace of the men has been found.

OTTAWA, Nov. 24.—Prof. Wiggins was seen to-day repeating the alleged collision of the earth with the comet last night, as stated by Prof. Snider, of Philadelphia. Prof. Wiggins denies that any collision took place; first, because there was no comet near us, and secondly, because a comet could not strike the earth. Planets and comets, he says, are electrically positive and therefore repel each other. During the last century Lexell's comet actually revolved about Jupiter for several months within the orbit of his furthest satellite, and then went on its course through the heavens. "If a comet were to hit the earth it would smash her into meteor dust in twenty minutes. Comets are solid bodies like the earth, which run toward the sun, where they are again ignited and the debris is flung into space, according to the law of like electricities. If there is one heavenly body more liable than another to fall on the earth it is the moon, for in June her orbit is nearer us than in January. It is plain that the earth and the moon are not in collision. Prof. Snider's assertion that the earth collided with a comet last night is a disgrace to science and himself. The great comet of 1744 had six tails, and though it has, no doubt, visited us more than once since the world has been discovered. This is while I believe it to be Biela's Comet. A lady resident of Kent street, who has been reading the newspaper comments on the near approach of a collision between the earth and the comet, has become fully convinced that the comet will pass in front of and is preparing to pass into a more blessed state of existence. The endeavors of friends to turn her meditations have so far proved futile. She refuses to do anything but spend her time in religious devotions. F. H. P.

BALTIMORE, Md., Nov. 25.—Prof. Charles Lane Poor, of the Johns Hopkins University, who has been watching the comet for a week, says that nothing definite could be determined in regard to its identity for several months. "It is useless," he said, "to discuss the probability of its identity with Biela's comet or to attempt to sketch its course through the heavens until many more observations have been made. Usually only three observations at intervals of two or three days it is possible to obtain, very roughly, the orbit of such a body. "An accurate determination of the orbit of a comet requires a continuous series of observations extending over a period of several months. The work of computing the path may well last a month or more, so that the orbit of no comet is known with any accuracy until long after the body has made its appearance. "The comet now in question has been visible only seven or eight days. Had the observations during this period been of the best we could then only very roughly determine the probable path of the stranger. Unfortunately, however, it is impossible to make satisfactory observations in size, but it is possible to measure the position of the comet's nucleus. At present the comet appears as a large, very faint, and diffuse haze, showing no marked point from which to make measurements. During the first few days there was quite a sharp and definite nucleus in the comet, and this could readily be taken as its center in measuring its position among the fixed stars. Since those first days the strange body has increased remarkably in size, but it is possible to measure the position of its nucleus, and to fill the field of view of the telescope, and to measure the position of such a body is impossible. "Two equally good astronomers, side by side, at the same time, with different telescopes would hardly agree as to the position of their estimates of its position. As a consequence of this indefiniteness of the comet's real position, all attempts to compute an orbit from the few observations now at hand have proved of slight avail. The comet has been watched by the astronomer, Mr. Tuohy, of Traverston, Ont. The work was supported by Miss Lucy Dunn, of London, and the groom by Mr. James S. McDougall, also of London. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father Hinchey. The happy couple left for Chicago on their wedding trip, followed by the best wishes and congratulations of their many friends. —[Hamilton Times.]

"The Advertiser" is an organ of news and of thoroughly independent opinion. The ADVERTISER alone is responsible for opinions expressed in these columns.

"The Advertiser" advocates Continental Free Trade, and as early as possible after, free trade with the whole world.

"The Advertiser" looks forward with hope to Canada's future as that of an Independent Canadian Nationality, in equally friendly alliance with the United States and with Great Britain, believing that such a status would be best for Canada, best for Great Britain, and promotive of the best attainable relations with the United States. As to Imperial Federation, sometimes spoken of, the ADVERTISER as yet has seen nothing proposed that bears any stamp of practicability, and in any case infinitely prefers the grander and more really hopeful scheme of a federation of the English-speaking peoples of the world.

"The Advertiser" advocates prohibition and sale of intoxicating liquor; and all expedient general legislation and persuasion in the meantime.

"The Advertiser" is an advocate of equal rights for women, whether as regards the franchise, or equal wages for equal work.

"The Advertiser" is a believer in Christian Union, and considers the time has come when the various Christian denominations should come closer together. Those bodies which are now nearest should unite first. Under the present system there is an unjustifiable waste of men, means and effort. The ADVERTISER will endeavor to promote the movement for Christian union not alone by direct appeal and argument, but by seeking to present the best rather than the worst side of each denomination.

"The Advertiser" advocates Obligatory Voting as both necessary and practicable. Nothing would so much purify electoral contests. Nothing would so much enforce the idea that the franchise is a duty, not a chattel.

God's in His heaven,
All's right with the world.
—BROWNING.

London, Friday, Nov. 25.

It is pointed out by Bradstreet's that Canadian banks have $28,000,000 in Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis and New York, which is used as call loans. The total amount in circulation in call loans in Canada is $19,828,270. Complaint is made that the money now placed in the States is not used to develop Canadian resources. It will be easy to keep it here when the restrictions on trade are removed. That is what Canada chiefly needs to-day.

A CORRESPONDENT, calling from the British metropolis, says that there is no life in the Imperial Federation movement. It is difficult to get people to read, even much less to discuss the propositions put forward by men who are so anxious to have the colonies pay a portion of the British army and navy expenditures. "No other conceivable subject," adds the correspondent, "can set the average Briton to yawning like Imperial Federation."

THE ADVERTISER is trying to make folks believe that a pork packer located in London because of its "splendid position".—[Hamilton Spectator.]

The ADVERTISER did not try "to make folks believe" anything of the kind, as the fact is acknowledged in answer to the question what made them choose this city. "Because we recognize the fact that London is a splendid center of a great agricultural district." Our contemporary cannot gainsay the fact that is here set forth.

In a recent sermon, Rev. P. C. Parker, Toronto, strongly condemned the Quebec public for lionizing Mr. Mercier, after condemning him at the polls. He continued: "The way that Sir Adolph Caron's indictment had been manipulated was enough to make one blush for his country, and there was no doubt that before long even Sir Hector Langevin, the scapegoat of the Government, would come whitewashed and smiling up again into public life." The trouble lies in the people who are willing to condone the wrongdoing. If the seat stealers and the bribers and the pilferers of other people's money were ostracised by the community, as common thieves are ostracised, there would be better government and fewer crimes to hide away by parliamentary legerdemain. The rascals would be kept out of place and power.

CONFESSES THE CORN.
Canadian farmers have informed the ADVERTISER that they need cheap corn to aid in the feeding of their "stockers." But the London Free Press tells them that they do not know what they are talking about, that it would not pay them to import corn, even if the duty were thrown off, and that they do not know their business if they are not contented to feed their cattle with frosted wheat, oats, barley and hay.

When expert farmers tell us that they need free corn in order to make the most of their "stockers," we are prepared to take their word for it in preference to that of the newspaper office agriculturist, whose knowledge of the subject is at best theoretical.

Our city contemporary's confession that the duty on corn is of no use to the Canadian farmer should be noted by every one who has entertained any doubt on the subject. If the duty is taken off, says our contemporary, the farmers will not import corn because it will not pay them to do so. Then why not let the farmers be the judges? Take off the duty, and let the farmer make the most of his opportunities to compete with his neighbors, who have free corn for feeding purposes. Our farmers are put on a level with the United States farmers in the British market, seeing Canadian cattle must now be killed as soon as they are landed. This arrangement, against which there have been so many protests, and out of which some have stupidly attempted to make political capital, the Free Press says is "a blessing in disguise" to Canadian farmers. If that is so, and it is advisable to remove every obstacle to the success of the cattle feeder, let him have all the opportunity he wants to buy corn or any other article of food where he can purchase it to the best advantage. He will not buy corn if he does not find it cheaper than frozen wheat, oats or barley. But he is surely entitled to choose the raw materials of his manufacture where it best pays him.

A MARKED CONTRAST.

When the Government of Hon. A. Mackenzie was defeated in 1878, the Premier made haste to give up his office. Writing to a friend, he stated one of his reasons in this expressive sentence: "I have, too, the uncomfortable feeling that I am living in another man's house." "This sentence," remarks the biographers of the dead statesman, "might be pondered over with possible advantage by a so-called representative in the Commons for a constituency which he knows to be not his own." Without a doubt. We ask the usurper who occupies Mr. Hyman's seat in the House of Commons to spend a few minutes in solitude contemplating the gulf that lies between him and the Hon. Alex. Mackenzie, who could not bear the thought of holding a place to which he had not been selected for one moment longer than it was in his power to give it up.

WANTS "A MAN."

The editor of Toronto Saturday Night, who has himself been a candidate for parliamentary honors on the Conservative side, bewails the absence of "A Man" to take the lead in political life. He is apparently tired of the men in power, for he dubs them "nobodies," thus adding to the strength of the indictment brought against them by Nicholas Flood Davin, M.P., who last session, in a moment of candor, dubbed them "a Cabinet of incapables and antiques." In Great Britain, when a ministry reaches a state of decrepitude where even its former ardent supporters can no longer look on it with moderate satisfaction, it is the invariable habit to turn it out and give the other side an opportunity to show what it is made of. The country needs a change, and could not be better employed than in cutting its administration away from dependence upon the combines.

GRAND RAPIDS AND LONDON.

Of the two London has much the advantage in superior position, delightful surroundings, railway facilities, etc. They were the same size in 1870. Now Grand Rapids is 75,000 and is growing very rapidly. The chances are it will be 100,000 within three or four years. An old citizen visiting here now tells us now that the furniture and other factories are working twelve or fourteen hours a day. Hundreds of Londoners find employment in that city. The reason of all this is plain to see. They have a market for their products, and a market that is expanding every day.

TWO MORE STATES.

Before another Congressional election takes place the new Democratic Government of the United States will constitute two territories States, thus granting them the power to select Senators and in due course to add their quota of Presidential electors. New Mexico, with a population of 153,000, and Arizona, with 59,620, when admitted to the full rights of Statehood, will bring the total number of States in the Republic up to 48, with a total population of 65,000,000, enjoying the greatest measure of free trade within its limits of any collection of States in the world.

"Let the office seek the man, not the man the office," writes a correspondent. If that rule were generally adopted, many men would pine away in obscurity.

WORKS, NOT TALK, WANTED.

[Ottawa Free Press.]
A Kingston Tory paper assures its readers that the Canadian Conservatives "are free traders in the abstract." If so their whole trade policy must be based upon hypocrisy and fraud. Free traders in the abstract who uphold combism and monopoly are entitled to about as much respect and confidence as the habitual drunkard who poses as a temperance man "in the abstract." By their works, not by their pretensions, must the parliamentary agents of Canada's combiners be judged.

THE REWARDS OF GENIUS.

"Browsing in a Library," in Wives and Daughters for November.
When Mediocrity is quoted as being rude to the milkman, or wasteful with the shoe blacking, all the neighbors of course discuss the important fact with promptitude and thoroughness, but it is discussed only by the neighbors, and in process of time it fades from memory. But let Genius snore in his sleep, or bolt his food, and it is graven forever upon the hearts of his countrymen. There are thousands of people who know nothing of Carlyle except that he had a bad temper, nothing of Shelley except that he was a little too enterprising in a matrimonial way, nothing of Shakespeare except that he was a thief. And now I regret to say that there is one abominable fact associated in my mind with the name of Tennyson. It is that three or four fifth-rate poets have, since his death, written three or four fifth-rate poems upon him. Ah, dear! What is that old saying about the meanness of hiding a lamp when he is down? If the disembodied poet laureate is permitted to revisit the glimpses of the moon, he will be justified in coming with a club in his hand.

THE HEALTHY EXCITEMENT OF POLITICS.

[New York Sun]
The subject of discussion at the meeting of the Nineteenth Century Club in this city on Tuesday evening was the educational influence of Presidential campaigns. One of the principal speakers was Mr. James Scherer, who thought that the excitement of a Presidential election every four years was an evil. "This is the kind of talk we hear every four years for some months before the election of a President and some months afterwards," he said. "I thought that sometimes become much perturbed in spirit by the fear that the community will suffer injury by devoting too much heavy thought to the government of the country, and to the various questions of national politics which policy will be wisely answered in order to maintain the perpetuity of our free institutions."

We have no sympathy or toleration for this view. It seems to be based on the idea that the best possible condition for a man is the condition of an oyster. We suppose an oyster is ordinarily quiescent and practically undisturbed most of the time, at least by any considerations except such as relate to his sustenance. If that is so, it is worth while for a man to do is to make money, and the ideal of happiness and progress is to acquire and store up material possessions, then any portions of one's time which is devoted to other subjects may be regarded as wasted; but if anything that makes life worth living, outside of procuring an abundance of food, clothing and shelter, then there is no reason to depreciate the degree of attention which the people of this country give once in four years to the conduct of our great and excellent Government.

There are many countries which are not thus disquieted. Persia, for example, is a land where the people are not very often disturbed by their choice of a ruler. Those great souls who cannot abide the frequent turmoil of our Presidential elections should emigrate to some part of the world where the inhabitants sluggishly exist under the soporific influence of an absolute despotism.

CHILDREN'S CHARITY.

The Problem of Caring for the Poor Solved.
St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 24.—As a means of teaching the children practical charity the principals invited them to bring thanksgiving offerings to be distributed by the St. Paul Relief Society. For three days the children have been carrying their offerings to school—meat, vegetables, canned goods and provisions of all sorts, as well as clothing.

In these three days the children have given enough provisions to last the 2,000 poor in the city all winter and more than the city has given in three years. The 43 schools in the city gave 172 immense wagon loads of clothing and provisions for distribution, and it is believed that the problem of caring for the city's poor has been solved.

THE PEOPLE'S FORUM.

The School Heating Question. To the Editor of the ADVERTISER: In your issue of the 21st inst. Mr. Jeffrey occupied considerable space in attempting to justify the position he has taken in regard to heating and ventilation in the city schools, and at the same time as much advertising as possible for Smead-Dowd & Co. He attempts to belittle us in the eyes of the public by accusing us of "in kind" false statements. As in his other letter he is writing on a subject which he evidently does not understand, and makes many wild assertions without any seeming regard to truth. We again repeat the statement that giving the contract for heating and ventilating Princess avenue school to S. & D. Co. will cost the citizens exactly $1,367 more than a thoroughly satisfactory job could be done for by local dealers. The brick and carpenter work cost $142 more for S. & D. Co.'s system than it would have cost for ours, while their tender for furnaces and connections was $1,225 in excess of either McClary's or our own. We are aware that the pot furnaces were taken out of the Collegiate Institute after being in use many years and were purchased by teachers at the institute for use in their own houses, and the pupils who attended the school when these furnaces were in use, were just as healthy as those who have attended since the Smead-Dowd & Co. system has been put in.

Mr. Jeffrey infers that the letter which appears in our signature was not written by ourselves. In this he is mistaken. No suggestions were offered by anyone. We wrote the letter, and maintain the position we took therein in every respect. As regards Tallent's school, we were prepared to heat and ventilate it to the entire satisfaction of the school board and engineer at our figures; and if we choose to do a job for less than one-half what some other dealers ask, that is our business. We sign a guarantee in every instance, and are responsible for the school, while the work is not satisfactory we are the losers and no one else. What is the object in spending money advertising for tenders if the work is to be given to Mr. Dowd at any figure he chooses to name? There are a large number of responsible firms manufacturing furnaces and heating apparatus in Canada who have heated and ventilated schools and buildings successfully in all parts of the Dominion, but Mr. Jeffrey claims that the only firm capable of reference to the tenders at Princess avenue school, he states that our tender was the same as the lowest tender put in by the McClary Company, and that they had another tender in for more than double the amount. Had he been looking after the interest of the school, he is elected to do, he would know that their highest tender was for a complete combination system of warm air and hot water. Mr. Jeffrey evidently does not believe in awarding a contract to a low tenderer, no matter who is responsible and capable or not.

Mr. Jeffrey's statement that we saw the Smith-Anthony furnace at work years ago is correct, but the statement that we imitated it or copied it in any way is utterly false. As regards the heating and ventilating at Assiniboia street school, we guarantee to heat and ventilate the school satisfactorily, and we hold a testimonial from the principal of the school that it is as guaranteed. The furnaces and flues are fully capable of heating and ventilating the school as well as the building.

Mr.

Danesbury House.

It is his own fault, sir. He spends ten times more than he ought, and makes a name for himself. But he associates with other men of his rank—which is but natural—and plunges into all their follies and extravagances. And plunges into it he must, he says, as long as he is a bachelor.

and one from his tutor. A pretty person he'd make! And the companions that help him to do it, pretty persons they will make! I wonder the heads of the university don't find means to stop these, their embryo clerical men, from making animals of themselves. They ought. The colleges should be models of moderation.

Her daughter, a girl of 12, was with her mother when the latter was arrested, and refused to leave her, and so was locked up for the night with her.

One of the street cars ran over a dog on the South London viaduct yesterday afternoon, cutting off one leg and the tail. Somebody threw the animal, canine into the mill race, from which it crawled out. Master Jack Leys mercifully picked it up and carried it to a blacksmith shop, where he ended its sufferings by a crack from a hammer.

Last evening about 5 o'clock a pedestrian in the vicinity of the casket factory saw what he supposed to be smoke escaping from the company's building. The discoverer hastened to give the alarm, which was answered by the brigade, but on reaching the spot the firemen found that what had been taken for smoke was merely the escaping steam that had been used in heating the establishment.

The attraction at the Grand to-night will be Guy Bros.' "Elite" soloists. The Montreal Daily Herald, Sept. 23, 1892, says: "A large and appreciative audience greeted the Guy Bros. minstrel show on their first appearance in Montreal last night. The Guy brothers themselves began all first-class vocal and terpsichorean entertainments. Vanerson and McDonald brought down the house with their comical personages, dances and songs and banjo specialties of Messrs. G. R. and W. H. Guy were very clever and thoroughly enjoyable. Taking the show as a whole it was a strong feature. The orchestra is a strong St. George's Guild Concert.

The Thanksgiving supper and concert held in St. George's Church school house, London West, last evening was most successful. The attendance was large enough to crowd every part of the building and to tax the hospitality of the bountiful providers of the feast to an alarming extent. Mr. W. W. Fitzgerald, Q.C., presided at the entertainment which followed the supper, and an enjoyable programme was presented. It included a chorus by the choir, solos by Miss Mutch, Miss Barnard, Miss Nixon, Mr. Pink, Mr. Max Armstrong, a quartet by Messrs. Greenway, Pink, Amundson and Wright and an instrumental duet by Mr. Wilkins and Miss Gurd. The guild of the church are to be congratulated on the success of their entertainment.

"Jiderton to San Francisco." This was the topic of a very entertaining and instructive lecture delivered last evening in the First Presbyterian Church by Rev. W. S. Ball. The pastor of the church, Rev. W. J. Clark, acted as chairman and introduced the lecturer, who was well received, and held the close attention of his much-interested audience. The speaker took his listeners from Iderton as a starting-point, all the way across the continent, pleasantly describing the places and features of interest on the way, and left them at San Francisco. It is sincerely hoped that at a future time Mr. Ball will complete the narrative and describe the homeward journey. The lecturer received a hearty vote of thanks for the enjoyment which he had given his hearers. Not the least pleasing part of the evening's entertainment was the suitable music given by the choir under Prof. Barrow's direction. Theft at Lambeth.

While Mr. and Mrs. Knechtel were driving from Shakespeare to Delaware on a visit, they rode to Lambeth with Henry Garnett, reeve of Delaware, and while making some purchases in L. M. Vander-made's store, a sneak thief escaped with the valise. After they became aware of their loss they procured a warrant from Squire Burch and searched, but failed to find the valise. On the following Monday, Mr. Knechtel receiving a valise to a certain house in the village. On Tuesday the loser, along with Constable Drake, searched the house, but up to the present they have not found it.

Dawson, grand scribe, has this year excelled himself in the always well printed, is this year issued on finer paper and with more than any of the former issues. We congratulate our esteemed brother on the Journal of 1892, and hope he may be long spared to the city, for he has for over 23 years so faithfully served as grand scribe. May his shadow never grow less." The journal referred to was printed at the office of the Advertiser, whose book and job department is noted for the superiority of its work, which is always turned out "on time."

The Board of Works. The Board of Works met last evening and after reading over the by-laws with the city clerk, who is preparing them for consideration, started their regular business at 10.15. The matter of the payment of the balance due Contractor Guelich for the artificial stone walk on Danforth street between Waterloo and Colborne streets was discussed with the engineer and city solicitor. Contractor Maurice Baldwin is suing the city for payment of an account for supplying cedar blocks to the street for the company. The difference between the claim and the amount due him as estimated by the city engineer was $428, and for this sum he has entered the suit. The engineer said that the blocks supplied were not up to the standard. The city solicitor will be instructed to enter an appearance on the claim of Mr. Haynes for payment for the street. There is a sewer on the street and the drain was constructed by residents without first consulting the committee. Ald. Connor (chairman), O'Meara, Jones, Gerratt and Shaw, Secretary Bell and City Engineer Graydon were present.

THE CITY HOSPITAL. Strong Testimony From a Patient as to the Standing of the Institution. To the Editor of the ADVERTISER: I cannot leave the city without in some way giving expression to my deep appreciation of the benefits as well as kindness received during a short stay in the London General Hospital. I believe that not enough benefits derive from the advantages which these institutions (established for the purpose) afford. I seek space in the columns of your valuable paper to make known to those whom it may concern my opinion of the hospital. I came to this city from Woodstock to supply for the Grosvenor Baptist Church. On Sunday I was taken ill, but was able to finish my day's work. Monday I was unable to return to college, and on Monday evening my illness was pronounced typhoid fever. I consented very reluctantly, like many others not here, to always having an impression that it was the worst of what I was in case of sickness. However, on the next day I found myself in a very comfortable room in the hospital, so different from what I expected. The room was in the best order, the room heated by steam, and well regulated. For two or three days I received the very best attention. I need not mention any names in particular, secure my comfort and speedy recovery. I know also that all patients are treated the same. I can therefore strongly recommend the hospital to any who may be suffering from any disease. Even if they have the advantage of a good home and all that means to anyone, still the hospital can give better treatment. I shall never regret having gone there. J. C. McFARLANE. London, Nov. 25.
