Jealous Woman of Ninety-two Years Kills Her Husband—Proposal Made to Place Boulevard in Centre of Wellington Street—Suffragettes Active in Many Localities—London and East Middlesex Elections May Be Protested.

READER SUGGESTS BOULEVARD FOR CENTRE OF WELLINGTON ST.

Believes That Cost Could Be Greatly Reduced and Section
Beautified—Shrubs or Trees Could Be Planted in the Strip of Lawn.

A reader of The Advertiser who apparently has the beautification of the city at heart, sends in a diagram which appears on Page 11, outlining a scheme for the pavement of Wellington street at a much reduced cost and with a scheme of civic improvement combined.

As will be seen on the diagram his idea would be to place a boulevard in the centre of Wellington street, in the section which it had been planned to pave. This centre strip of lawn, with trees or shrubs planted on it, would be kept in condition by the city.

MOVE THE CAR TRACKS.

The street car tracks would be moved so as to run down each side of the boulevard, and as the street is one of the widest in the city there would be ample room for traffic on each side.

The Advertiser commends its reader's suggestion to the board of control and city council. Here is a plan to secure a smooth roadway to the hospital and to inaugurate a new style of civic beautifying. The residents of the south portion of the city will do well to support such a movement. The cost would be considerably reduced when compared to the former estimate, and as the street must be paved sooner or later, it will be generally agreed that such a plan would be advisable to undertake.

New York, July 8.—For two hours today the Progressive leaders of New York State used every argument at their command to force Col. Roosevelt to agree that he would accept the nomination for governor.

After it was all over, Col. Roosevelt said that he had nothing to say at this time, and would not change his previous statements declining to run.

It was understood that the question was still an open one, with the colonel continuing to stand out against the proposal that he held the state ticket.

DRUGLESS PHYSICIANS CALLED "QUACKS" AT MEDICAL COUNCIL

Loud Outcry Against Their Assuming Title of "Doctor"—
Hanna's Department Accused of Breaking Its Word.

[Canadian Press.]
Toronto, July 8.—Members of the Ontario Medical Council, in session this morning, protested loudly and long against "Every Tom, Dick and Harry" being permitted to assume the title of doctor, and work to the disadvantage of the community.

"Either this council has no power or else it has no backbone," said Dr. Ryan. "We should force to the attention of the Government the harm that is being done to the community by these alleged drugless physicians. I don't think that they are hurting the medical men so much as they are hurting the community. Something should be done, and done at once. We should act and not allow this sort of thing to drift."

Oxford University Professor.

Leeds, July 8.—Sir William Osler, regius professor of medicine at Oxford University, today startled the huge audience attending the conference of the Association for the Prevention of Consumption, by telling them that they were practically all tuberculous. He said:

"If, with the aid of radium and a microscope, I could look at the chests of the audience I am addressing, in 90 per cent of you I should discover a small focus or area of tuberculosis."

Sir William demanded, in the interests of the state, the establishment of rigid control over consumptives.

Bombs at Robbie Burns'
Erstwhile Residence.

[Canadian Press.]
Glasgow, Scotland, July 8.—An attempt to destroy the cottage at Ayr, where Robert Burns, the Scottish poet, was born January 25, 1759, was made just before daylight today by two members of the militant suffragette "arsenal squad."

The two women were surprised by a night watchman as they were in the act of placing large bombs against the doors and windows of the poet's birthplace, which is venerated as a shrine by the Scottish nation. The watchman captured one militant, but the other escaped.

The women were stockings over their shoes in order to deaden the noise and hide their footprints.

The arrested woman gave her name as Janet Arthur. She created a noisy scene when arraigned at the police court, fighting the wardens and shouting quotations from Burns' poems. She was remanded.

HARD DRILLING IS ON Older Battalions Are Coming
Along—Parade in City
Thursday Evening.

The number of cadets in attendance at the camp at Carling's Heights now is just over a thousand. Up to yesterday the muster was below the thousand mark, but several late-comers arrived today and brought the total up to the round-figure number.

This morning the boys spent most of their time in preparation for the great general march past and inspection, which has been set for Friday, going through battalion movements under the direction of instructors who, surely, must be direct descendants of Job. The patience with which they took the boys over the movement again and again until they had it right was something at which to marvel.

The battalions are arranged in order of seniority; that is No. 1 battalion is made up of the companies having the longest record; No. 2 of those which have not been in existence quite so long, and so on.

Veterans in First Battalion.
The first battalion thus contains only veterans. Here are the boys of Galt, London, St. Thomas, Stratford, Chatham, Guelph and Essex, all of which companies have been in existence for many years, and these as a consequence drill like old-timers. In fact, the way they move is as nearly perfect as anything not actually mechanical can be.

As one of the officers from the barracks said: "Those boys have the militia trimmed miles," which is not altogether surprising when it is remembered that the former drill on an average three times a week, while the training of the latter most often is confined to the twelve days put in at camp in the summer.

The young boys, of course, are not so efficient, and the instructors of numbers three and four battalions spent a solid

The board yesterday accepted the resignations of Miss Gladys Baker, a teacher in the Aberdeen School; Miss H. M. Stapleton, of the Rectory Street School, and Miss Janet D. Cairncross, of the Portersburg School, who, according to this report in school circles, are shortly to be married.

Perhaps the members of the board of education were not aware of the fact, but at their meeting yesterday afternoon they accepted without comment the resignation of Miss C. A. Cannell, a teacher in the Simcoe Street School, who has been on the teaching staff for over thirty years. She has rendered long and faithful service to the city, according to the school officials, and leaves her employment to take a well-earned rest and vacation. London makes no provision for pensioning school teachers nor for rewarding long service. The resignation of John Elliott, mathematical master at the Collegiate Institute, was accepted. Mr. Elliott has accepted the principalship of the Mitchell Collegiate Institute.

CITY AND EAST MIDDLESEX SEATS ARE BOTH LIKELY TO BE PROTESTED

Blunder Has Caused Serious Row in Whitney Cabinet—Sir
Adam Says Mr. Foy Made a Fool of Contest—Liberals Almost Sure to Win.

There is every probability that the provincial election in East Middlesex and London will be protested and that both contests will be set aside when the protest is heard in court.

The claim will be advanced that the annexed district residents who voted in the riding or East Middlesex voted illegally through the inclusion in the riding of the annexed district and that by the same token the citizens of London voted illegally in the city.

GIVEN HIGH AUTHORITY.
The Liberals have been assured by one of the highest constitutional authorities in Canada that both elections are voided because of the fact that through a blunder in the department of Hon. J. J. Foy, the Representation Act was made to include the annexed district in the city.

The Liberals at Toronto believe that if these elections were illegally won they should be held over again.

and they will make every effort to bring on by-elections in both ridings.

LECTURED BY PREMIER.
It is said that the present illness of Hon. J. J. Foy is the result of a tongue lashing he received from Sir James after the election because of the blunder in the London and East Middlesex elections.

Sir Adam Beck is said to have complained that the mistake in the act was likely to "make a fool of him" in London and stated that he would not contest the riding again in the event of a by-election being made necessary, but would secure the Dominion nomination, and while retaining the chairmanship of the hydro-electric commission, would have a seat at Ottawa instead of at Toronto.

BOTH ARE ABSENT.
Sir Adam was not present at the cabinet meeting held in Toronto yesterday. He and Mr. Foy were the only absentees, the latter being confined to his home through illness.

OTHERS LITTLE LATER

As Main Party Had Terrible Struggle, the Worst Is Feared.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Ottawa, July 8.—That eight men left the Karluk party seeking land after the boat sank in the Arctic, and that they have not been heard from is announced in a report which Deputy Minister Desbarats has just received from Captain Bartlett, written from Nome. It is feared that some of them may be lost, for the main party had a terrible struggle before reaching Wrangell Island, and the smaller parties must have had as strenuous experiences, if not more so.

The first report from the Karluk party was generally read as a statement that all had reached Wrangell Island, and were waiting for a boat to take them home. It turns out that ten days after the Karluk sank on January 11th, a party of four, with a supporting party, set out for Herald Island. The supporting party returned and reported that progress had been stopped by open water, three miles from shore. Two days' effort failed to span the gap. Four men were left with provisions on the edge of the ice, waiting for a chance to land. That is the last heard of them.

May Have Landed.
They may have landed and they may not. The four were Officer Alexander Anderson, of Inverkeithing, Fifeshire, Scotland; Second Officer Charles Bartlett, of Victoria, B. C.; Seaman John Bredy, of Victoria, B. C.; and Seaman Archibald King, of Victoria, B. C.

On February 5 another party of four set out for the land which the report states to have been visible, though it was 60 miles distant and arctic night prevailed. This party consisted of Beauchamp, of Paris, the anthropologist of the expedition, Allister Forbes McKay, of Edinburgh, surgeon of the expedition, who had accompanied Shackleton on one of his expeditions, L. Murray of Foxfield, Hants, England, the oceanographer of the expedition, and another Shackleton man, and sailor Thomas Morris.

Seen a Week Later.
This party was seen a week later by an exploring expedition from the main party, which was nearly frozen. The men were frozen and seemed to be in poor shape, but refused offers of assistance and transportation back to camp. That was the last heard of them.

Either of the two parties of four may have succeeded in making Herald Island, which was within sight, or they may have succeeded in making Wrangell Island, 40 miles distant, or the Siberian coast, a hundred and fifty miles away.

On February 24 the main party of fourteen white men and several Eskimoes, left their camp at the base of the wreck and set out for land, which they reached on March 12 at Wrangell Island, after a struggle of sixteen days over the ice.

A Terrible Journey.
Here they found driftwood and made camp. There were traces of caribou, bear and seal, though no game had been taken when Captain Bartlett left with an Eskimo on March 18, sixteen days. It took him seventeen days with a dog train to reach the Siberian coast, at a point about fifty miles west of North Cape, after a journey of 150 miles. From his landing point, Bartlett made a 50-mile journey on land to Emma Harbor, where he was welcomed by the representative of the Russian Government, Baron Kleise, who has charge of Eastern Siberia. He reached Emma Harbor May 16, where he was picked up by Captain Peterson, of the steam whaler Herman, who interrupted his whaling trip to land Captain Bartlett at St. Michael, Alaska.

Bartlett in Bad Shape.
A letter from Capt. Peterson gives a statement of the condition of Capt. Bartlett, which that lucky mariner did not think it worth while to mention. Captain Peterson says that Capt. Bartlett was in bad shape. On the long sledge journey his hands and feet had been badly frozen, and he was suffering greatly. However, Bartlett has apparently recovered, for he is at Nome waiting for the American revenue cutter Bear to take him with supplies to Wrangell Island.

When Capt. Bartlett left Wrangell Island the thirteen men who remained were apparently in good shape. Chief Engineer Munro was in charge, and it was proposed to send two to Herald Island to search for the Anderson party and the McKay party. The day before Bartlett left, Munro and two men set out with dogs to return to the camp at the scene of the wreck for more supplies. The fate of the parties cannot be known until nearly autumn, as navigation will not be open until August, and under the most favorable conditions, word of the parties will not reach civilization until September.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

STAG ISLAND, July 7.—The summer season at this beautiful island has just nicely got under way and promises to be one of the best since it was first opened.

Although the season has been a little backward, still the summer cottages are already occupied, and the rest will be taken up by the end of the present week. The week-end visitors at the Stag Island House and the regular summer resorters are now being signed up for the season.

At Coruna, the numerous private homes on the river bank are now occupied and it is expected that this resort will also be on the full speed ahead by the end of the week.

Many Registered.

The following guests have been registered at Stag Island House:—Clarence H. Rice, of Detroit; Mrs. Burns and family, of Detroit; C. Z. Metzler and wife, of Cleveland; Mrs. R. J. Hardy, of Detroit; Mrs. James Southwick, of Detroit; Mrs. J. J. Dwyer, of Detroit; Misses Blanche and Helen Dwyer, of Detroit; John P. Stokes, of Detroit; Noble Larkin, of Detroit; H. E. Corey, of Detroit; Miss Nancy Ross and wife, of Detroit; Miss Scheiman, of Detroit; Miss M. Pettie, Ben J. Scheiman, H. L. Phillips, George B. Shivers, Henrietta Purfield, Mrs. M. Torrence and three children, of Detroit; H. C. Shier, of Detroit; John Campbell, of Petrolia, is now settled with his family in their cottage at Coruna.

Lake Huron Beaches.

A twenty-minute car service, four dances a week at the beach, and a new cup on the pump in the park are the latest additions to the summer resort business. One of the best features this year is the street car which leaves the beach at 6:40 a.m. instead of 7 a.m., thus allowing the people to get down to work earlier in the morning. This season is expected to be a record breaker.

Several new boats of the punt variety have arrived at the summer resort boat house, and under the management of "Jerry," are doing a thriving business. Most of the boats at the beach were destroyed during the big storm of November 9.

A very large crowd of Methodists went to Belle Isle today on the annual picnic of the Sunday School. The steamer, City of Toledo, which accommodated the crowd, left here at 8:00 a.m.

POINT EDWARD PEOPLE HOPE TO GET NEW FACTORIES

[Special to The Advertiser.]

SARNIA, July 7.—Work on the system of water pipes which will supply water to the citizens of Point Edward is now being rushed forward by the contractors, McFee and McFee. The pipes at the present time are being laid on St. Clair street.

Residents of the village are most optimistic that when they get the water supply about the village they will be able to corner a few of the manufacturing concerns that are locating along the Canadian border.

The village of Point Edward is in a good financial condition at the present time, and has a low tax rate. It is argued that the waterfront is a great point in favor of new concerns for the village.

The burning of the Grand Trunk elevator was a severe blow, but it is expected that that structure will be again erected in the near future.

CARL COOPER DROWNED IN HOLE IN A DRAIN

Lad's Body Quickly Recovered But Nothing Could Be Done.

NO PULMOTOR AVAILABLE

Coroner Decides, After Investigation, That no Inquest is Necessary.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

SARNIA, July 7.—Carl Cooper, a lad about 11 years of age, was drowned this afternoon about two o'clock in the cut-off drain, where it crosses the river road on the Sarnia Indian reserve.

Cooper, together with a smaller brother and two other lads, had taken off their clothes to play in the water, and Carl evidently got beyond his depth. It appears that the water is only shallow, while the facts are that the hole is over 18 feet in depth. The water pouring through the culvert for years, has worn the hole to this depth.

Two ladies on the road notified three Indian men, Wm. Whitebird, John Mahanin and John Rogers, of the accident, and they immediately started a search, which resulted in the recovery of the body, after being in the water fifteen minutes. As the city has no pulmotor, the life of the lad could not be saved. The Indians made a valiant effort to bring the lad back to life, but were unsuccessful.

The drowned lad is a son of John Cooper, G. T. R. conductor, 255 Queens street. Coroner Logie decided that no inquest was necessary.

FLOATING BODY SEEN BUT NOT RECOVERED

Remains Were Those of Youth About Eighteen.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

SARNIA, July 7.—A floating body passed down the river here about ten o'clock today, being sighted by several persons at different points; it was not recovered.

The body was first sighted by a passenger on the ferry going to Port Huron. Farther down the river it came in close to the Canadian shore, and a man employed on Gibbs' pile wharf, tried to secure it before it passed underneath the boat. It never came up again in sight, owing to the extremely heavy current at that point. The man on the driver described the body as that of a man, about 18 years of age, with a blue or black coat on. The body was doubled up considerably.

SENTENCE WAS SUSPENDED

[Special to The Advertiser.]

SARNIA, July 7.—Thomas Sullivan, who was arrested last night by Officer McLaughlin, on a charge of stealing a horse belonging to Rosenberg, appeared before Magistrate Gorman today, and was given suspended sentence. Sullivan claimed that he found the horse wandering on the street, and took it home for safe keeping.

STRATHROY MEN INJURED FALLING OFF SCAFFOLD

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Strathroy, July 7.—Nelson Smith, in the hospital with a badly fractured right arm, severely cut head and probably internal injuries.

Frank Richardson, slightly hurt.

Such is the result of an accident which occurred here this afternoon.

The men had just returned to their work on Phil Keyser's house after dinner, and had mounted the scaffolding. Richardson was passing Smith, when he fell backward, grabbing Smith as he went.

Both men fell twenty feet to the stringers of the porch, their combined weight breaking an eight-inch stringer. Smith was underneath, and got the worst of the fall.

Dr. Bateman was called and sent Richardson home in J. A. Chapman's motor car, but Smith had to be taken to the hospital.

It cannot yet be stated how serious Smith's injuries are, but his condition is dangerous.

Wingham, July 14.—During the absence of Rev. W. J. Hibbard and family, some lads stripped his cherry trees of their fruit. Some of the lads are said to be known, but whether action will be taken against them depends on Mr. Hibbard, who is at present in Gorrie.

Miss Mole and Mrs. Frailek, the two women who were hurt last week when the grandstand collapsed, expect to be able to be out soon.

Miss Mole expects today to visit friends in Verdon, Manitoba.

Some of the factories which have been stocktaking have opened up again. Some men who were out of employment have jobs on a foundation of a building which is needing repairs.

DR. HILL THROWS BIG BOMBSHELL AMONG DOCTORS

Director of London Institute of Public Health Says Dirt Has Little To Do With Disease—Dr. McCallum Honored

[Canadian Press.] ST. JOHN, N. B., July 7.—A bombshell was thrown into the meeting of the public health section of the Canadian Medical Association at their opening session this afternoon, when a paper prepared by Dr. H. W. Hill, of London, Ont., promulgated the doctrine that dirt has little to do with disease.

Dr. Hill contended that much of the activity of boards of health and medical men was based on the mark, and that they might be much better occupied promoting conditions enabling men to live a more natural life than is possible for many city dwellers at present, than giving so much attention to dirt and other unsanitary things. He said that statistics from Port Hope showed that the sanitary law breakers had not one-third less deaths and only half as many cases of infection as the law keepers.

Dr. Hill's views called forth strong protests from Dr. C. A. Hodgetts, medical adviser to the conservation commission, and other prominent doctors.

In the evening there was a general session, presided over by Dr. McCallum, of St. John, the new president, and addresses of welcome were delivered by Lieut.-Gov. Wood, Hon. J. D. Hazen, and Mayor Frink, followed by an address in medicine by Thomas MacFarlane, of Philadelphia.

The following were elected to the executive council: W. W. White, New Brunswick; H. A. McCallum, Alex. Primrose, F. W. Starr, A. McPhedran, Dr. Kidd, W. G. Anglin, Ontario; W. A. Thompson, Saskatchewan; A. Mader, Ontario; J. H. MacCallum, Nova Scotia; J. A. Hutchinson, Quebec; Dr. Dorman, Manitoba.

Suffragettes Break Out In Police Court

Bombard Officials With Pens and Paper and Shout Complaints About Treatment—Mrs. Pankhurst Has Brief Freedom.

[Canadian Press.] London, July 8.—An end was put today to the brief respite in the militant suffragette agitation, when Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, the leader, resumed command of the forces of the Women's Social and Political Union at their London headquarters. Mrs. Pankhurst, who reoccupied the offices at noon, was not molested by the police, although they knew of her intention, and had detectives on duty in the vicinity.

Simultaneously with the reappearance of Mrs. Pankhurst, a violent scene was created in the central criminal court, where Mrs. H. F. Alice Hall, Miss Grace Roe, Miss Julia Jameson and Miss Ellen Armes were brought up for trial for conspiracy. The charge against them was that of "conspiring with others maliciously to commit damage and injury, and to spoil certain real and personal property of the liege subjects of our lord the King."

ARE PROVINCIAL CHARTERS GOOD FOR WHOLE DOMINION?

This Question To Be Argued Before Privy Council—Important to Companies.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Ottawa, July 7.—The companies act will be argued before the privy council tomorrow and E. L. Newcombe, K.C., the deputy minister of justice, will leave for England shortly to uphold the federal contention.

The provinces claim that companies which they incorporate have the right to do business throughout the Dominion. The federal government claims that such companies can do business legally only in the province which incorporated them.

Should the decision go against the provinces, a few hundred provincial companies will have to seek federal charters.

Such a judgment will put at least a million dollars worth of fees into the Government treasury.

WESTERN RAILWAYMEN PREPARE AN ULTIMATUM

Employees of 67 Companies Decide to Take Strike Vote.

[Canadian Press.] Chicago, Ill., July 8.—Representatives of the freight handlers, warehousemen and trainmen of 67 railroad lines west of Chicago, were occupied today in preparing an ultimatum to be sent to the board of managers of the roads. The executive committee of the employees yesterday voted to take a referendum strike vote in the organization. A strike vote by the engineers and firemen of the roads already is in progress. At the meeting yesterday the committee decided that all the railroad employees would act together in the matter of their demands.

WESTERN ONTARIO HAS A SERIES OF MOTOR ACCIDENTS

Leamington Woman Seriously Injured and Goderich Man Has Ribs Broken—Several Other Women Also Hurt.

[Special to The Advertiser.] LEAMINGTON, July 7.—Mrs. Arthur Ludlam, wife of one of Leamington's largest lumber dealers, is in a very critical condition as a result of being pinned under an auto driven by her husband near Comber lake last evening.

Mrs. Ludlam was unconscious for four hours, and J. D. Ainslie, his partner, who was riding with him, and Miss Medd, of Essex, were badly cut and bruised.

Mrs. Ludlam had her shoulder broken, and received serious internal injuries.

Overturned at Roadside.

The accident, it is stated, was caused when one of the occupants rose to adjust the wind shield. The car, however, and Mr. Ludlam, who was driving, tried to right it. It swerved again, however, and going into the ditch at the side of the road, overturned all the occupants beneath it.

Mr. and Mrs. Ludlam were taken at once to the home of Mr. Ludlam's brother, who lived close by.

Slight hopes are held out for Mrs. Ludlam's recovery. She is suffering greatly from shock.

WOMEN THROWN OUT.

[Special to The Advertiser.] LUCKNOW, July 7.—Half a dozen women, guests of Mrs. George Smith, have been thrown out of her house for being badly hurt tonight when, as she was taking them out for a ride after a tea at her home, the car skidded over a freshly gravelled road and overturned in a ditch.

All the women were hurled from the auto, and Miss Rose was very badly shaken up. The others escaped with bruises. The accident happened on the hill at Grey Ox, about two miles and a half north of Lucknow.

HAS RIBS BROKEN.

[Special to The Advertiser.] GODERICH, July 7.—Fred Williams, of Colborne Township, had four ribs broken tonight and was badly shaken up generally when an auto, driven by his employer, crashed through a fence at the approach to the Maitland Bridge and tore down a steep hill.

The accident was caused by Mr. Maskell losing control of the car. The auto was badly damaged, and Mr. Maskell received many bruises.

HANNA LIKELY TO BE NEXT PREMIER

Sir Adam Beck Will Not Accept, It Is Said—T. W. McGarry May Be Given Portfolio.

TORONTO, July 7.—Today's cabinet meeting was barren of any results so far as an announcement from the Prime Minister was concerned. "We only dealt with an accumulation of routine business and were unable to reach the appointment of a workman's compensation board or other matters of public interest," said Sir James Whitney at its conclusion.

Council sat for several hours, the only absentees being Hon. J. J. Foy and Sir Adam Beck.

The feeling is gaining ground that there will be no hurry over the appointment of a successor to Hon. J. O. Reame or even his retirement. There is no doubt, however, that Dr. Reame will eventually retire from the Government and make way for a representative of another section of the party, and this gives weight to the rumor that the appointment of Sir Adam Beck as Premier is being considered.

The fact that Mr. Hanna will remain in the cabinet is taken by his friends to mean that he will succeed Sir James Whitney as Premier.

At the time comes, as Sir Adam Beck has let it be plainly understood that he would not accept the office even if it were possible for him to do so. This means that Sir Adam has no other purposes in mind cannot now be said.

[Canadian Press.] WOOLWICH, Eng., July 7.—The strike at the Government arsenal here which began yesterday and involved 12,000 men, ended tonight. The men will resume work tomorrow, the Government having promised to investigate their grievances.

LISTENED TO CLERGYMEN

[Special to The Advertiser.] TORONTO, July 7.—Speaking today regarding the reinstatement of Paul Morand as license inspector of North Essex and his enforced resignation in April, following disclosures before the public accounts committee, Hon. W. J. Hanna said Mr. Morand was restored to his position about two months ago and that many clergymen supported the request for his reappointment.

ST. JOHN, Nfld., July 7.—Great preparations are being made on the west coast for the reception of the Duke of Connaught, who arrives tomorrow. Preparations are being made at other points where the Duke will stop during the next week.

WAS LURED TO TOLEDO AND ROBBED OF $5,000

Young Blenheim Farmer Said to Have Been Victim of "Con" Men.

[Special to The Advertiser.] BLENHEIM, July 7.—A young farmer who a few months ago sold out his property, was done out of about five thousand dollars some ten days ago in Toledo, Ohio, according to a story going on the street today. It is said the young man was drawn into a scheme by some party, and he succeeded in getting him to draw it. It is said, some five thousand from a bank, of which about three thousand five hundred was his own, and over a thousand an advance by the bank.

With the deed he proceeded to Toledo with bright prospects. On his arrival he was taken care of, and it was not long, he claims, before he was completely under the spell of the "con" men, and his money gone.

He is not a drinking man, and has always borne a good character, and it is believed he was drugged. The facts of the matter are just coming to light, and what will be done in the matter remains to be seen.

London Is Spending $200,000 on Asphalt

Forest City Has Undertaken Active Permanent Paving Program.

Asphalt pavements, which will be laid down in London this year, will cost the city upwards of $200,000, with three important stretches yet to be initiated.

The following streets will have to be paved, if the pavements are not down already, before October:

York street from Waterloo to Wellington.

Talbot street from York to Simcoe.

Clarence street from Horton to York.

Victor street off the Wharncliffe road.

Yale and Harvard streets (now completed).

Park avenue from Queen's avenue to Dufferin avenue (completed).

Waterloo street from Princess avenue to Wootton road, for its entire length (five blocks now completed).

Wellington street from Queen's avenue to Dufferin avenue.

Burwell street, Dundas street to York street.

King street, Wellington street to Colborne street.

King, Burwell and Wellington streets will be completed in about a month, or the time the Old Boys will be here.

The three streets upon which asphalt will be initiated if the council passes the work with a two-thirds vote are: Talbot street from Fullarton street to St. James street; York street, from Richmond street to Wellington street, and Waterloo street, from the G. T. R. tracks to South street.

The cost of all these pavements will run over $200,000, but will not exceed $225,000.

LOBO MAN TAKES ISSUE WITH REV. MR. NORWOOD

Says Memorial Church Rector Is Striking at Fundamental Truths.

To the Editor of the Advertiser:

Your morning issue of July 6 contains an account of a sermon preached in Cronyn Memorial Church by Rev. Mr. Norwood, on Sunday evening last.

Many of the dear children of God, as he entirely misunderstood Mr. Norwood. If not, then the words printed in your paper are not the words of an orthodox Christian, but the words of an apostate. Many of the dear children of God, as he entirely misunderstood Mr. Norwood. If not, then the words printed in your paper are not the words of an orthodox Christian, but the words of an apostate.

Mr. Norwood, by his words of "man's law," endeavored to destroy the fundamental truths of God's Word, and "if the foundations be destroyed what can the righteous do?"—Psalm xl, 3. But all God's children may be grateful to the Lord for the words of God's Word, which he read that sermon, will only conclude that this is apostasy in one of its boldest forms. If this is what Mr. Norwood believes, is it right for him to say so; but a Christian pulpit is not the place to make such attacks upon the Word of God.

If this is what Mr. Norwood believes, is it right for him to say so; but a Christian pulpit is not the place to make such attacks upon the Word of God.

As to "Average" Preachers.

Mr. Norwood speaks of the average preacher making a mistake as to this parable. Where does he draw the line? I am sure that reading the report of such a piece of bosh as reported in your paper, reasonable people will not have the opinion that Mr. Norwood is above the average.

Mr. Norwood says "that the soul is fundamentally divine and will ultimately find its way to God." No doubt many would be glad to know just when the soul of the rich man in hell found his way out of the "impossible gulf" into the presence of God. But perhaps this is only a "fair story."

Jesus taught the doctrine of everlasting punishment. The Scriptures prove it. He came to save us from it. Hundreds of passages bear me out in this.

Jesus Christ must have been the biggest idiot that ever lived to suffer what He has suffered, to die the death that He died to save us, if there was nothing to be saved from. But, bless His name, we can truly say "Thou art the Christ, the Son of the living God." We wouldn't be surprised to hear Mr. Norwood say before long that Jesus was simply a hero, and died a hero's death. In closing I am reminded of a story which runs thus: A preacher was once preaching in a town to a large congregation which had gathered to hear something new. He endeavored to convince his hearers that there is no punishment after death. At the close of the sermon he informed the people that if they wished he would preach there again in four weeks, when a Christian merchant rose up and said: "Sir, if your doctrine is true we don't need you, and if it's false we don't want you."

May God help his children to turn a deaf ear to the words of those following the lead of all other apostates.

Thanking you, I remain,

FRED P. EMMONS.

LOBO, Ont., July 7, 1914.

[Editor—We can assure Mr. Emons that the sermon printed was not the creation of our reporter. We believe it to be a fairly correct summary of the preacher's remarks.]

BEATEN INSENSIBLE AFTER MAKING JOKE

Striker at Pittsburgh Said He Was Going Back to Work.

[Canadian Press.] Pittsburgh, Pa., July 8.—Stanley Flak, formerly employed in one of the Westinghouse factories, last night, told some of his friends, jokingly, he would declare that he was going back to work today. Soon after midnight he was rescued by the crew of a street car from three men in Braddock avenue, who had beaten him into insensibility. Two arrests were made and deputy-sheriffs and state troopers were looking for the third assailant.

LOOKS AS IF "BOS" CONVENTION IS ON IN LONDON TOWN

Birds of Passage Appearing in Police Court in Large Numbers.

SLEEP IN LARGE ROOMS

One Has Whole Box Car to Himself—Chose This Existence to Life in Hamilton.

London has been hit hard lately by transients, mostly from Toronto and cities east. Scarcely a freight train enters the city which does not carry several of the birds of passage. Just why London is selected as the hesitating point for the "we won't work" crowd is not known. In police court the same stereotyped excuse is given: "We thought there was work here."

This morning four trespassers on the railways appeared before the magistrate. They were James Maher, Charles Morrison, James Brown and Robert McGee.

Who Would Blame Him?

Maher stated that he was from Hamilton. He was found sleeping in a C. P. R. box car. He was let go with a warning.

The other three were found blissfully unconscious that the law was bearing down upon them, in a Michigan Central merchandise car. They explained that finding the door open and having no other place to sleep they had hopped inside to spend the night.

Finally it came out that Morrison was from Kerwood. He told the court that he had telegraphed last night for money to his employer there. He will be held until his statement is investigated.

Never Again.

The other three were let off with the understanding between the trio and the court that if they make their appearance before the magistrate again, either bunched or single, they will be sent to practice farming at Guelph.

"This is getting altogether too common an occurrence," said the court in disposing of the cases.

PORTUGAL TO CONSTRUCT SECOND NAVAL SQUADRON

In Spite of Strong Opposition From Socialists and Republicans.

[Canadian Press.] Madrid, July 8.—Despite strong opposition by Socialist and Republican deputies, the Lower House of Parliament passed yesterday, by a large majority, a bill providing for the construction of a second squadron, consisting of four battleships and several minor vessels to be completed in five years.

Frederic Dato stated that the purpose of the Government was mainly to keep the navy yard at Ferrol working, as any suspension in the naval program would put several thousand men out of work.

ROCKEFELLER QUIETLY CELEBRATES BIRTHDAY

Seventy-Five Years Old, He Spends Day on His Estate.

[Canadian Press.] New York, July 8.—Although John D. Rockefeller is 75 years old today, no celebration is being held at his estate, where he is spending the summer. Mr. Rockefeller planned to follow his daily practice of playing his eighteen holes of golf. Weather rarely interferes with that exercise. Later in the day he may take an automobile ride. He will probably also go the rounds of the estate with his superintendent. There will be no birthday gathering, as Mrs. Rockefeller and her sister are in feeble health, and John D. Jun., is at Seal Harbor, Me.

Many congratulatory messages have already been received, which pleased Mr. Rockefeller, although he said he wished the day might pass without publicity.

WAKEFIELD, Mass., July 8.—An explosion, which the police believe was caused by a bomb hurled through a window, wrecked two rooms in the residence of Richard S. Stout early today. No one was injured. Mr. Stout is superintendent of the Cane Splitting department at the factory of the Heywood Brothers and Wakefield Company, which was closed recently after a prolonged strike. No trace has been found of the person thought to have thrown the bomb.

SAGINAW CHINAMEN DENY BEING ILLEGAL RESIDENTS OF U. S.

Sensational Evidence of Smuggling in Orientals on Large Scale Expected.

Bay City, Mich., July 7.—The six Chinese arrested at Saginaw yesterday were brought to the United States court here at noon today and arraigned on charges of illegal residence in the United States. All pleaded not guilty, and their bonds were fixed at $2,000 each for five of them, while the bond of Lee Mon Tip, who is only 16 years old, was placed at $1,000. Two attorneys from Saginaw represented the prisoners and said that bail would probably be furnished for their clients at once.

No testimony was taken. District Attorney E. J. Ladd, Detroit, will be here July 21 and 22 to conduct the examination.

In the meantime federal immigration inspectors are expected here from Chicago to assist Inspector C. V. Mallett, and it is expected that sensational developments of smuggling Chinese into the country on a large scale will be unearthed before the examination is ended, and that more and more serious charges may be made against some of the prisoners, together with others not yet under arrest.

The five beside Lee Tip are Lee Chung, who has been operating a laundry in Saginaw; Lee Tong Kai, Lem Chee Hong and the Bay County Jail pending release on Lam Kin Shin. The six are being held in jail.

MEXICANS TO CONFER ON THEIR OWN SOIL

This Is Constitutionalist Wish, to Divorce Proceedings From Mediation.

[Canadian Press.] Washington, D. C., July 8.—Mexican territory probably will be chosen for the scene of the proposed conference between Huerta's envoys and Constitutionalists delegates over plans for the establishment of a provisional government. Constitutional representatives in Washington today expressed preference for a neutral place in Mexico—probably along the border—for the peace parley. Two of the Niagara mediators—Ambassador Da Gama and Minister Suarez—were to confer in New York today over details of the meeting.

THE REBELS' DESIRES.

With discussion among the Constitutionalist leaders apparently nearing adjustment, members of the revolutionary junta here repeated expressions of confidence that the proposed Huerta-Carranza conference would take place. The Constitutionalist wish to divorce the mediation proceedings, so that the Mexican people may thereby understand the method by which their new chief executive is agreed upon.

NEW LAREDO LIKELY.

Nuevo Laredo, Mexico, has been considered as a most likely choice for the scene of the parley. It is opposite Laredo, Texas, where quick communication by telegraph and cable can be arranged with Mexico City for the Huerta delegates. Communication southward with Constitutional headquarters also would be easy. All troops would be withdrawn from the scene of the peace conference, so that the delegates of both sides would be free from local influences.

TAXATION OF INCOME.

THIS is one of the most difficult subjects with which legislators have to deal. Many of the most competent men have tried to legislate justly, but it cannot be claimed that any have wholly succeeded. The best yet attained is liable to criticism.

George R. Sanderson, now a member of the Chicago bar, and formerly a member of the Middlesex bar, contributes an able article on "Income Taxes Illegally Exact—Remedies and Procedure" to the Illinois Law Review. The principles discussed apply to a large extent to our own law. He says: "The collector is required to collect the sums ordered by the commissioner. His certified list is guide and authority, leaving him no discretion, no latitude, no equity. He is like a sheriff with an execution, bound by the direction of his writ."

The article discusses the remedies open to the taxpayer who pays under protest. Mr. Sanderson comes to the following very just conclusion: "I consider that a fair view of the entire body of the law (common and statutory) justifies the hope that the supreme court, when the question is fairly presented, in a proper case, will announce the law to be that the liability of the collector and of the United States is identical, and that in a suit brought against either or both, the taxpayer who has suffered loss through the action of the Government agencies, may recover not only the sum paid, but interest during the time he has been deprived of its use."

That his conclusion, however fair, is too much to hope for at all once, is plain from his comment. "Is it too much to ask the court to take in one stride, what seems to need two—to do directly and at once what it can do indirectly and after many months or years of litigation?"

In our own income taxation some odd conclusions have been reached, for instance: an individual or firm carrying on a manufacturing business is taxed according to the assessed value of the premises occupied by them for the purposes of their business, but if they become an incorporated company the basis of taxation is changed. Why this is so is puzzling, but in time this and other methods by which taxation is doubled up on the same taxpayer may be remedied. Mr. Sanderson's article is instructive. He is a son of the late Rev. Dr. Sanderson, and practiced his profession in this city for a short time in partnership with the late Judge Fitzgerald.

THE ULSTER CRISIS.

IF the Lords refuse to pass an amending Home Rule measure acceptable to moderate Irish opinion, the bill already passed will have to go into force. If, then, the Orange party should decide to fight to resist incorporation of any part of Ulster with the rest of Ireland, the newly-constituted Irish Government at Dublin would be compelled to employ the Irish Volunteers in enforcing its authority and peace in at least five of the Ulster counties, and protecting the interests of those menaced in the other four counties by the bullies at Belfast. As the Irish Volunteers thus become a national force, would be safeguarding legislation of the Government at Westminster, that Government would at least supply them with arms and ammunition, and probably also more aid than that. But a peaceful settlement is a probability.

A CONTRAST.

WHEN the United States undertook to cut down its tariff there was a great outcry from parties interested in keeping up protection. Business would be ruined, and it would not be possible to raise sufficient revenue to carry on the government. But the fiscal year has just closed, and the prophesies of disaster do not appear to have materialized. So far as business is concerned, manufacturers and merchants appear to be prospering. Republican papers still talk about depression, but to the average observer the depression is not visible. In the matter of revenue, however, there can be no room for dispute. It exceeds by $22,000,000 the amount estimated. There is a surplus of $30,000,000 over ordinary expenditures. The only extra expenditure contemplated is a sum of $35,000,000 for the Panama Canal. Even with this counted in, there will only be a deficit of $5,000,000, which, the Government announces, can easily be taken care of from the accumulated surplus in the treasury. Had the income tax been in operation for a full year, instead of only a part of it, the result would have been still more satisfactory, and the slight deficit would have been wiped out.

In contrast to this record we may place that of Canada. The reports from our finance department show a drop in the revenue for the first two months of the fiscal year of more than $5,000,000 as compared with April and May of last year. The actual figures were for the two months of 1913, $26,964,374; for the same two months of 1914, $21,572,161. It was in the customs department that the greatest loss appeared—no less than $5,230,074. Then there was a drop of $400,000 in the inland revenue returns, besides a slight falling off in the receipts from the Inter-colonial.

The United States brought down its tariff walls, and by its reduced tariff has facilitated trade, and increased its revenue. In Canada we "stand pat" on the old protection idea, and our revenue diminishes. The contrast is an object lesson for all of us. Not that it will make much difference to our Government. Public expenditures will continue on a scale of magnificent figures. Col. Hughes will still continue to put up armories in little villages, and the Minister of Public Works will not cease his activity in building where it will do his friends the most good. We may have less money to spend, but Mr. White can borrow some more at a high rate of interest. The Tory system of government may not be much good in improving business, but it has no equal in its capacity for spending. The contrast between the results of the fiscal laws of Canada and the United States will not teach the Conservative-Nationalist combination anything. But it may teach the people something.

SAYS CONTROLLERS NOT ENCOURAGED TO ADVANCE CITY

Mr. Ashplant Hoped to See Many More Pavements Put Down.

WANTS CITY TO GROW

But Believes Everyone Must Help, Getting Behind Men in Office.

Feeling discouraged largely because the board of control was not being sufficiently encouraged in its program for large undertakings of public works in London, Controller Hubert Ashplant gave out a statement yesterday in which he intimated that he was probably serving his last year in public life in London.

"I am very much interested in seeing London develop," declared Controller Ashplant, "but the board of control has not been getting much encouragement for the work it has been doing and I don't know if I will serve again or not. There are quite a few things I would like to see initiated here before I get out and one of them is more pavements."

"All the little towns around us have got more pavements than we have. I think the board of control plan of government is the best thing that ever happened to London. However, the citizens must back up honest and fearless men for this board. I don't like to see any controller accept favors from companies expecting to do business with the city. It isn't right and it isn't good business."

Everyone Must Help.
"I know I don't know all there is to know about city affairs, but I try to do the best I know how. I would like to see London three times as large as it is, but if we don't help the city it certainly can't help itself. If I was a platform orator I would take the stump and tell the people that it is improvements which help them more than anything else."

INSANITARY CONDITION OF THAMES AROUSES BOATMEN

Complaints to City Council and Board of Health Are So Far of No Avail.

The Thames river is still insanitary. No person who has gone down the stream in any size craft, from the biggest motor launch to the smallest canoe, would dispute that. For several months launch owners, particularly those who are members of the Thames Motor Boat Club, have been raising a strenuous kick about the scum and filth that comes down the river from the docks at the foot of Dundas street.

Boat men state that they have complained to the council and to the board of health. So far nothing has been done to remedy conditions. Monday the river was down almost two feet, as the hydraulic pumps were working full time at Springbank. At lower water the stench that rises from the river becomes almost unbearable. Residents along the banks are kicking at the nuisance. Apparently their appeals that something be done to alleviate conditions are to go without consideration.

Acids Damage Boats.
Monday night boating on the river was almost at a standstill because of the state of the water. Yesterday the current was running somewhat stronger and part of the filth has been carried down. Scarcely a night passes that from five to ten feet of scum and slime does not collect, several inches deep at the docks. Launches that have only been in the river for several weeks have practically all the paint below the waterline eaten away by the acids and dyes that come down from the north branch. The loss to the boatmen is considerable.

SCHOOL BOARD BUYS MACBETH PROPERTY

Conference Called to Decide Building for Site.

OBJECTION TO CADETS BILL

Larger Boilers Needed for Tecumseh and Boyle Memorial Buildings, Board Hears.

The board of education, at a meeting yesterday afternoon, adopted the report of committee No. 2 for the purchase of the MacBeth property on Princess avenue, for a new school. An offer of $30,000 has been accepted by Miss Annie MacBeth, who reserves the right to remove the building now on the premises. Before the plans of a new school are considered, the members of the industrial committee, No. 2, committee, Inspector of Schools G. B. Edwards and Dr. R. S. Shaw, chairman of No. 1 committee, will meet and discuss the question of what kind of school to build on Princess avenue. The industrial committee has in mind at the present time a site for a new industrial school. Plans being considered involve making Alexandra school into an industrial building, or using the MacBeth site for a new industrial school.

Larger Boilers Needed.
The board looked over the plans again of the Tecumseh and Boyle Memorial schools, and upon the recommendation of Engineer Elliott voted $1,200 additional to bring the heating system up to the requirements. Engineer Elliott explained that larger boilers than those contemplated in the first specifications were needed, and that the change would cost about $600 in each school. Preventorium Teacher Named.
Miss McKenzia, of Chelsea Green, was appointed to fill the position of teacher at the Byron Preventorium. Her compensation will be fixed later. She starts her work at once, and will probably be paid on a twelve months' basis.

The W.C.T.U. was granted permission to use the tent which the board purchased for a temporary school in the east end. The tent will be pitched at Springbank, and will be used to give free outings to poor girls of the city during the summer months.

Object to Cadet Bill.
A bill for $37 for instructions to Collegiate cadets was objected to by the board on the ground that the students incurred the debt, as they had incurred debts once before, and passed it on to the board to be paid. Trustees Rowe and Dr. Tensdall objected to the unbusinesslike procedure. The bill was ordered paid upon the endorsement of Principal Rogers, and the later was instructed to keep the students in check in the future upon incurring expenses until the permission of the board authorized them.

Teachers salaries in the industrial school were adopted as follows: J. C. Anderson, $1,500; G. W. Weaver, $1,400; Agnes W. Stewart, $1,000; L.

NEW HEALTH DIET SOLVES THE HIGH COST OF LIVING

Controller Hubert Ashplant Finds Corn Meal a Panacea, and Originates New Health System of "Hominy-pathy."

Controller Hubert Ashplant has solved the high cost of living for Londoners. Mr. Ashplant lives on corn meal. He eats it three times a day. It may be five cents' worth and it may be ten cents' worth, it depends on how hungry Mr. Ashplant is. Never more than ten cents' worth. Corn meal is nourishing and fattening. Mr. Ashplant first started in to diet on corn meal to benefit his health, and the results were so surprising to him that for the present he is living on corn meal altogether.

Like most persons who have stomach troubles, Mr. Ashplant tried various diets without success until he hit the corn meal.
"I used to feel quite bad before I started in on corn meal," said Mr. Ashplant, "but since I have tried it I feel like another person. I am able to take more of an interest in things and can take exercise and long walks without being very much affected. I attribute all this to corn meal, and if there is anyone who doesn't exactly feel like himself and can trace it to what he eats, my advice to him is to try corn meal."

A Charter From the Public

IF PUBLISHERS of daily newspapers were to cease issuing their papers during the summer months, saying: "It's too hot in July and August to publish papers, and, anyway, people don't read papers in summer," what a cry of protest would go up all over the land!

The public would say to the publishers:

"We must have the news and you must give it to us. You are our servants in this matter—our news gatherers and scatterers. We are ready to pay you for this service. You have no right or liberty to take it upon yourselves to cease publishing your papers at your pleasure or convenience."

Think of it! The Daily Newspaper exists by the mandate of the people. It alone among all publications may not continue or cease at its pleasure, for it holds its charter from the people whose servant it is.

Then think of this:

Have those other servants of the people—the merchants who supply them with their daily necessities—any right to be silent with respect to the news they have for those who depend on them? Has not the public a right to demand that the news of the stores shall be published along with other news of value and interest? We put it up to the people of this community and to the merchants of this city that the store news of this community is necessary news and should appear regularly in the public press at all seasons of the year. Think of this, you merchants of this city.

THE HOROSCOPE

THURSDAY, JULY 9, 1914.

This is not a fortunate day according to the reading of astrology. Saturn and Uranus are in aspects strongly malefic and caution should be the watchword.

The rule is held as an unlucky one for travel and change. Danger to engines, and all vehicles propelled by electricity, is believed to be greatly increased by adverse conditions, due to the planets.

During this rule it is well to avoid making acquaintances of opposite sex. Courtship and romance are subject to a sinister influence, which indicates liability to disappointment and disillusion.

Mental disturbances of all sorts are said to multiply when Uranus exercises evil sway. A great increase of insanity is indicated and the mania for suicide will affect many prominent men and women.

As the aspect operates to increase the mental activity, discontent and resentment against things as they are may be widespread. It is prophesied that labor unrest will lead to deeds of violence, even more tragic than any recently recorded. Factories will be the scenes of extraordinary strike activities after winter begins.

There is a prophecy that the German army will resent severe criticism of its officers. Trouble for the Kaiser is foreboded.

The King of Norway has an ill omen of health and other troubles. Race difficulties are presaged by the planets. There will be a great deal of the Pacific coast and will involve Orientals.

Dancing comes under an influence that is said to be fortunate, even though the prevalence of the pastime is not so noticeable in restaurants and other public places.

Chicago is subject to a rule that promises progress in the art. Music and dramatic entertainment will gain in popularity. An actress will gain fame there next season, it is prognosticated.

Persons whose birthdate it is should be diligent and self-controlled, in order to be successful the coming year. Children born on this day may be too fond of pleasure and variety in life. Boys may be inclined to seek adventure and neglect business.

BIGGEST THING ABOUT THIS "PARIS CREATION" IS THE PRICE TAG.

Every year in June and July Paris sends out hats trimmed heavily with feathers. They are worn only over here by those who dress for extreme fashion, however.

The one pictured was worn by a well-known society woman in Paris the other day. It was of dark tobacco brown hemp, with quantities of white crepe aligettes on it.

One wonders how the lady will smuggle the $500 worth of feathers into America, where this kind of plumage is interdicted.

Cynthia Grey's Mail-Box

(Correspondents are requested to make their inquiries as brief as possible, and to write on one side of the paper only. It is impossible to give replies within a stated time, as all letters have to be answered in turn. No letters can be answered privately.)

Recipe For Agnes.

Dear Miss Grey.—Please give me a recipe for elderberry wine. AGNES.

Ans.—Stem the fruit and crush in a crock, either with a potato masher or fruit press. Strain this juice through several thicknesses of cheese cloth and then replace the juice in the crock, allowing half pound of white sugar to each quart of the juice.

Stir until the sugar is dissolved. Then cover the top with a clean cloth and set it in a warm place for about four weeks for it to ferment. When it has ceased to ferment, drain off carefully through the cloth and pour into bottles. Seal tightly and lay on their sides in a cool, dark place.

Looked the Other Way.

Dear Miss Grey.—This is my first letter to you, and I am very sorry to have to bother you at all; but will you please answer a few questions for me?

I just came to town last spring, and shortly after I came I met a boy friend, whom I think a great deal of, and went with him steadily until just lately; he made different engagements with me to meet him, and then when I would go out to meet him he would never be there, and afterwards I met him on the street and he turned his head the other way when passing me. Now, do you think it would be proper for me to write to him and ask him over to the house some evening, or will I not? But as I haven't any other boy friends in town—in fact, I am acquainted with hardly anyone—I would like to have his company. So please tell me what to do and how I might win him back, because I haven't the slightest idea as to what he is offended at.

2. Could you tell me what it means to let the following things fall: A dishcloth, a fork, knife, tablespoon and teaspoon? Hoping to see this in print in your valuable column soon, I am,

A LONELY GIRL.

Ans.—1. Well, my dear girl, it seems to me that you had better let him alone and make no efforts whatever to "win him back." You surely have become acquainted with some girls, and should not be so terribly lonesome. Your boy friend certainly has acted as though he did not wish your company, and I wouldn't run after him a bit if I were you. You'll surely make other friends among the boys, so cheer up!

2. This is a lore or science quite beyond me—that is excepting the dishcloth, which is not its fall supposed to predict company? Wonder if our girl readers can throw any light on this most perplexing question?

Removing Grass Stains.

Dear Miss Grey.—I have read your interesting column for some time, and now I shall be much pleased if you will kindly answer the following:

1. How can I remove heavy grass stains from a white cotton (Indian head) dress?

2. What is a good cure for dandruff? Thanking you in advance,

CURLY HEAD.

Ans.—1. Rub a little molasses into the scalp, let stand a few minutes, then wash out in warm water with soap. If the scalp still remains, soaking for a short time in diluted chloride water should remove all trace. Rinse thoroughly afterwards and hang in the sun.

2. Persevering and regular massage of the scalp is excellent to prevent the growth of dandruff. This tonic has been found very helpful in curing the trouble: some scurf: Bay rum 5 ounces, fluke oil of cartharides 1/4 ounce, olive oil 1 ounce. This will make a larger quantity than you desire, but have the druggist make up in this proportion. Rub the scalp with the amount of sugar to use for plums depends largely upon the acidity of the fruit. Generally, one-half pound of sugar to the pound is enough, but if decayed and very rich, some housewives use three-quarters of a pound of sugar. Boil the fruit and place in the kettle with stem, etc., and place in the kettle with tender. Then place in jars and pour over them a boiling syrup made of a scant half-pound of sugar to each pound of fruit. Seal up at once. For canned pears, use less sugar.

Songs We Used to Whistle and Sing

This song, while not very old in years, was requested by a reader last week, and copy sent by Mrs. H. G. appears below: JUST AS THE SUN WENT DOWN. After the dim of the battle's roar, Just at the close of day: Wounded and bleeding upon the field, Two dying soldiers lay.

One held a ringlet of thin gray hair; One held a lock of brown, curly, Bidding each other, "Good-bye," Just as the sun went down.

CHORUS— One thought of mother, at home alone, Feeble and old and gray; One of the sweetheart he had left in town, Happy and young and gay.

One kissed the ringlet of thin gray hair, One kissed the lock of brown, Bidding "Good-bye" to the dear old flag, Just as the sun went down.

One knew the joy of a mother's love, One of a sweetheart fair; Thinking of home, they lay side by side, Breathing a farewell prayer:

One for his mother, so old and gray; One for his love in town. They closed their eyes to the earth and skies, Just as the sun went down.

Then came the news from a comrade's lips: One who survived the fight; Sweetheart and mother are listening there.

Oh, most pitiful sight! Two hearts nigh broke, two nobles lives lost, Fighting, defending the crown. Still they were proud of the heroes who died, Just as the sun went down.

WHERE MEN AND WOMEN ARE EQUAL

Complete Recognition of Their Equality in Salvation Army.

The current issue of Woman's Century comments as follows upon the status of women in the Salvation Army:

Not the least notable of the more commendable characteristics of the wonderful organization created by General Booth and his saintly wife is its complete recognition of the equality of men and women. In the Salvation Army there is no distinction of sex, nor does there seem to have developed any of the difficulties which so troubled the British civil service commissioners regarding the risk of having high administrative positions occupied by women. However extraordinary the idea of a woman in command may be in England, the astonishment is more the result of convention than of conviction based on reason. After all is said by way of theory and speculation, the true and only test comes from experience. That many women have displayed exceptional administrative ability in positions of the highest responsibility cannot be denied and on this continent at least few indeed are the spheres of life and work in which a woman has not made good. Nor do men employees and heads of departments find it revolutionary or derogatory to their dignity to obey orders issued by a woman, any more than did the ministers of Queen Elizabeth or Queen Victoria.

SUMMER LAUNDRY NOTES. Green, yellow, lavender, or pinks should not be bleached. There is special starch prepared to be used with black materials.

Cold and materials must be ironed on the wrong side if the color is to be retained; and the iron must not be too hot.

Several wash dresses of different colors should not be washed together, for if one garment should happen to run it might spoil the others.

When laundering cretonnes, and tickings, and chintzes, use bran instead of soap. Cook four cups of bran in a gallon of water for twenty minutes, and use half of it in the wash water and half in the rinse water.

Colored wash goods should not be soaked, nor should they be washed in very hot water, nor boiled. To use soap with colored materials, melt one cake in two quarts of water, and use this instead of rubbing soap on the goods.

Salt is best to set the color in pinks, browns, and blacks only, using a cupful of salt to a gallon of water. Vinegar is best for setting the color in shades of blue, using half a cupful to a gallon of water.

Glitter frames and mountings soon lose their luster. They should not be rubbed. If very dirty wipe gently with a little borax water, and dry carefully.

Canning and Preserving Fruit

[Some hints for Advertiser readers.—Published by request.]

CANNED CHERRIES.

Remove the stems from fine red cherries, stone them if desired (many cooks think the flavor better if the stone is left in), and place in the preserving kettle with one-half pound sugar to one of fruit. Add a little hot water, just enough to prevent the sugar sticking, and bring to a boil. Have the jars scalding in a separate kettle. Let the fruit boil ten or fifteen minutes, then pour hot into the sterilized jars, and seal at once.

CANNED ELDERBERRIES.

Pick over the berries, removing bits of stem, etc., and place in the kettle with one-third pound of sugar to each pound of fruit. Boil for fifteen minutes, then fill into sealers. For raspberries, one-quarter pound sugar to each pound of fruit, is quite sufficient.

PRESERVED PEARS.

Peel the fruit and place in a kettle with stem, etc., and place in the kettle with tender. Then place in jars and pour over them a boiling syrup made of a scant half-pound of sugar to each pound of fruit. Seal up at once. For canned pears, use less sugar.

OTHER METHODS.

Some women prefer to preserve fruit by the following method. It keeps the fruit more whole, but has not the delicious flavor of the old-fashioned way. Place the fruit into the clean jars, filling them nearly to the top; make a syrup, using one-third to one-half pound sugar to a pound of fruit. According to the ripeness of the fruit, pour this syrup over the raw fruit until the jar is well filled. Put the covers on loosely, and set the jars in a large-bottomed kettle, or boiler, filled with enough cold water to reach the necks of the jars. A wooden frame, or thick cloths, should be in the bottom of the boiler, or the jars will crack. Bring the water to a boil, and boil for fifteen minutes, or until the fruit is well heated clear through; remove from the stove, and when the water is cool enough to permit handling, take out each jar, wipe seal, and seal at once.

CAUTION.—Be careful to inclose above illustration, and send size of pattern wanted. When the pattern is sent measure your neck, bust, and waist, and write on it "24, 26, 28, 30, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48, 50, 52, 54, 56, 58, 60, 62, 64, 66, 68, 70, 72, 74, 76, 78, 80, 82, 84, 86, 88, 90, 92, 94, 96, 98, 100, 102, 104, 106, 108, 110, 112, 114, 116, 118, 120, 122, 124, 126, 128, 130, 132, 134, 136, 138, 140, 142, 144, 146, 148, 150, 152, 154, 156, 158, 160, 162, 164, 166, 168, 170, 172, 174, 176, 178, 180, 182, 184, 186, 188, 190, 192, 194, 196, 198, 200, 202, 204, 206, 208, 210, 212, 214, 216, 218, 220, 222, 224, 226, 228, 230, 232, 234, 236, 238, 240, 242, 244, 246, 248, 250, 252, 254, 256, 258, 260, 262, 264, 266, 268, 270, 272, 274, 276, 278, 280, 282, 284, 286, 288, 290, 292, 294, 296, 298, 300, 302, 304, 306, 308, 310, 312, 314, 316, 318, 320, 322, 324, 326, 328, 330, 332, 334, 336, 338, 340, 342, 344, 346, 348, 350, 352, 354, 356, 358, 360, 362, 364, 366, 368, 370, 372, 374, 376, 378, 380, 382, 384, 386, 388, 390, 392, 394, 396, 398, 400, 402, 404, 406, 408, 410, 412, 414, 416, 418, 420, 422, 424, 426, 428, 430, 432, 434, 436, 438, 440, 442, 444, 446, 448, 450, 452, 454, 456, 458, 460, 462, 464, 466, 468, 470, 472, 474, 476, 478, 480, 482, 484, 486, 488, 490, 492, 494, 496, 498, 500, 502, 504, 506, 508, 510, 512, 514, 516, 518, 520, 522, 524, 526, 528, 530, 532, 534, 536, 538, 540, 542, 544, 546, 548, 550, 552, 554, 556, 558, 560, 562, 564, 566, 568, 570, 572, 574, 576, 578, 580, 582, 584, 586, 588, 590, 592, 594, 596, 598, 600, 602, 604, 606, 608, 610, 612, 614, 616, 618, 620, 622, 624, 626, 628, 630, 632, 634, 636, 638, 640, 642, 644, 646, 648, 650, 652, 654, 656, 658, 660, 662, 664, 666, 668, 670, 672, 674, 676, 678, 680, 682, 684, 686, 688, 690, 692, 694, 696, 698, 700, 702, 704, 706, 708, 710, 712, 714, 716, 718, 720, 722, 724, 726, 728, 730, 732, 734, 736, 738, 740, 742, 744, 746, 748, 750, 752, 754, 756, 758, 760, 762, 764, 766, 768, 770, 772, 774, 776, 778, 780, 782, 784, 786, 788, 790, 792, 794, 796, 798, 800, 802, 804, 806, 808, 810, 812, 814, 816, 818, 820, 822, 824, 826, 828, 830, 832, 834, 836, 838, 840, 842, 844, 846, 848, 850, 852, 854, 856, 858, 860, 862, 864, 866, 868, 870, 872, 874, 876, 878, 880, 882, 884, 886, 888, 890, 892, 894, 896, 898, 900, 902, 904, 906, 908, 910, 912, 914, 916, 918, 920, 922, 924, 926, 928, 930, 932, 934, 936, 938, 940, 942, 944, 946, 948, 950, 952, 954, 956, 958, 960, 962, 964, 966, 968, 970, 972, 974, 976, 978, 980, 982, 984, 986, 988, 990, 992, 994, 996, 998, 1000.

CHAPTER III.

The Weak Link.

The day began white and chill, for February nights and mornings are not particularly comfortable on the Irrawaddy. The boat sped down the river, smoothly and noiselessly. For all that the sun shone, the shore-lines were still black. The dust had not yet risen. Elsa passed through the dining-room to the stern-deck and paused at the door. The scene was always a source of interest to her. There were a hundred or more natives squatting in groups on the deck. They were wrapped in ragged shawls, cotton rags of many colors, and woolen blankets, and their turbans were as bright and colorful as a Holland tulip-bed. Some of them were smoking long pipes and using their firsts as mouthpieces; others were scrubbing their teeth with short sticks of fibrous wood, and still others were eating rice and curry out of little copper pots. There were very few Burmese among them. They were Hinds, from Central and Southern India, with a scattering of Chinese. Whenever a Hindu gets together a few rupees, he travels. He neither cares exactly where the journey ends, nor that he may never be able to return; as long as there is a temple at his destination, that suffices him. The past is the past, tomorrow is tomorrow, but today is today; he lives and works and travels, prisoner, to this creed.

Elsa never strolled among them. She was dainty. The world and the life she led were new and strange to her, and as yet she could not quite dominate the fear that some of these brown-skinned beings might be coming down with the plague. So she stood framed in the doorway, a picture rare indeed to the dark eyes that sped their frank glances in her direction. "No, Sahib, no; it is three hundred." "James, I tell you it is three hundred and twelve, and a half." "Sometimes I wish I were a man and could do things like that!"

Up on a bench, backed against the partition, almost within touch of her hand, sat the man Warrington and his servant, arguing over their accounts. The former's battered helmet was tilted at a comfortable angle, and an ancient rusty hung pendant from his teeth, an idle wisp of smoke hovering over the blackened bowl.

How to Rid the Skin of Objectionable Hairs (Aids to Beauty.)

A simplified method is here given for the quick removal of hairy or fuzzy growths and rarely is more than one treatment required. Mix a stiff paste with some powdered detolene and water, apply to hairy surface and after two or three minutes rub off, wash the skin and every hair is vanished. This simple treatment cannot cause injury, but care should be exercised to get real detolene—adv.

"Splendid!" cried Elsa, clapping her hands. She could see it all the quiet termination of the man, the penury of the lean years, his belief in himself, and in what he had found, and the disinterested loyalty of the servant. "Sometimes I wish I were a man and could do things like that!"

"Recollect that landing last night?" Elsa's gesture signified that she was glad to be miles to the south of it.

"I am glad. I like luck, I like endurance, I like the lone man who, against odds, tells me, he is going back to America!"

"The weak point in the chain," the pursuer looked diffidently at the deck floor. It would have been easy enough to discuss the Warringtons, but the Warringtons of this morning was backed by twenty thousand good English sovereigns; he was a different individual, a step beyond the casual damnation of the medicine. He says he doesn't know what his plans will be. Who knows? Perhaps someone ran away with his best girl. I've known lots of them to wind up here on that account.

"Is it a rule, then, that disappointed lovers hit their penmen?"

The mockery escaped the pursuer, who was a good fellow in his blundering way. "Chaps gamble, you know. And this part of the world is full of fleas and mosquitoes and gamblers. When a man's been clobbered, he's always asking what's trumps. He's not the romantic background and the professional gambler takes advantage of his condition. Oh, there are a thousand ways out here of getting rid of your money when the girls given you the go-by."

"To that I agree. When do we reach Rome?"

"About six," understanding that the Warrington incident was closed. "It isn't worth while going ashore, though. Nothing to see at night."

"I have no inclination to leave the boat until we reach Rangoon."

She met Warrington at luncheon, and she greeted him amiably. To her mind there was something pitiful in the way the man had tried to improve his condition. Buttons had been renewed, some with black thread and some with white; and there were little islands of brown yarn at the elbows, at the bottoms of the pockets, along the seams. So long as she lived, no matter whom she might marry, she was convinced that never would the thought of this man fade completely from her memory. Neither the romantic background nor the professional gambler had anything to do with this conviction. It was the man's utter loneliness.

"I have been waiting for Parrot & Co. all the morning," she said.

"I'll show him to you right after lunch. It wasn't that I had forgotten."

She nodded, but he did not comprehend that this inclination of the head explained that she knew the reason of the absence. She could in fancy see the strong brown fingers clumsily striving to thread the needle. As a matter of fact, her imagination was at fault; James had done the greater part of the repairing.

Rajah took the centre of the stage, and even the colonel forgot his liver long enough to chuckle when the bird turned somersaults through the steep hoop. Elsa was delighted. She knelt and offered him her slim white finger. Rajah eyed it with his head cocked at one side. He turned insolently and entered his cage. Since he never saw a finger without flying at it in a rage, it was the politest thing he had ever done; little began?" laughed the owner. "That's the way, his hand, or claw, rather, against all the world. I've had him half a dozen years, and he hates me just as thoroughly now as he did when I picked him up while I was at Jaipur."

"Have you carried him about all this time?" demanded the colonel.

"He was one of the two friends I had. He was the two I trusted," quietly, with a look which rather disconcerted the Anglo-Indian.

VILLA TO VISIT-CHIEF IN NAME OF FRIENDSHIP

SALTILLO, Mex., July 7 (Via Laredo, Texas).—Gen. Villa will come to Salt Lake City by a personal visit, seal a bond of friendship and allegiance to Gen. Carranza, according to a report received today.

It was asserted here that the confidences of the commissions representing Villa and Carranza which met at Torreon to smooth out the difficulties which existed between the two chiefs had been entirely successful, and that Gen. Villa would accompany the Carranza commission on his return to Saltillo. This latter report could not be confirmed officially, but there is a spirit apparent in official circles here which would seem to confirm that the mission of the delegates sent to Torreon has been successful.

It was reported that regular traffic between Saltillo and Torreon would be resumed within the next few days.

FINANCIAL and COMMERCIAL

SMALL VEGETABLES BECOMING CHEAPER

Hay Scarce and Brings Good Price—New Hay Offered on Market.

Hay was the only offering and it was scarce on the market square this morning. Hay sold for $12 and $14 a ton. One load of new hay sold on Thursday for $10 a ton. Small vegetables are becoming cheaper in price. Radishes, green onions, rhubarb, lettuce sell at 20 cents a dozen. New beets sold yesterday for 25 cents a dozen. Asparagus sells for 50 and 60 cents per dozen. Potatoes are still dear, at 17 to 20 cents a pound. Wheat remains at the low price it took nearly a week ago, dropping from $1.05 to 95 cents per bushel. Cherries were plentiful Tuesday, but none were on sale today. Strawberries are almost done. No raspberries have been on the square as yet, but a supply is expected on the Saturday market. Potatoes will probably be scarce on Saturday, which is the only market where they are offered. New potatoes sell for $1.50 and $1.60 per bag. So far few have been offered for sale.

lower American markets. Following the opening there were further declines in July and October months, and a fairly brisk trade was carried on at the declining values. Later reports of the spread of black rust in the spring wheat states caused a considerable reaction in prices, and at 12:30 were 1/2 to 3/4 over opening figures, closing finally unchanged to 1/4 higher.

The cash demand for all grains was slow, apart from No. 1 northern wheat, for which there was a fair inquiry. Export inquiry was very limited on this date, a dispatch from Chicago stated that about 15,000 bushels of winter wheat has been sold for export. Cash wheat, 1/2 to 3/4 higher; cash flour, closed 1/4 lower. Deliveries through the clearing house—Wheat, 55,000 bushels; oats, 20,000 bushels; flax, 25,000 bushels; barley, 11,000 bushels. Inventions—Monday, 495 cars; in sight, 237 cars.

HUSBAND ILL, BUT MOTHER REFUSES TO ACCEPT CHARITY

Has Been Placed in False Light by Solicitation of Kind Neighbors.

Mrs. Ernest Caton, of 13 Childers street, declared today that the kindness and solicitation of neighbors had served to put her in a false light with regard to the family condition and she resents the assertion that her children are neglected.

The family came here about a year ago from the old country, the husband being in the best of health as are his wife and all his children. A few weeks ago, however, he was taken ill and his case has been pronounced incurable and he is now in the Alexandra Sanatorium.

As he did not bring the disease with him, but evidently contracted it here, the authorities are at a loss on how to apply the three-year deportation clause.

Praised by Inspector. The Children's Aid Society, who is familiar with the Caton case, said today that Mrs. Caton deserved great praise for her heroic efforts in providing for the family while her husband is ill. "They are all healthy and may be worth thousands of dollars to London in the future," said Mr. Sanders.

It was said today that deportation of the family would not be considered as there was an excellent chance for Mr. Caton to recover.

Distressed by Publicity. "We do not need assistance," said Mrs. Caton today, "although I am greatly obliged for the kindness of neighbors in seeking to bring me relief. I did not know that we were threatened with deportation at any time as I am able and willing to work and provide for the family. It has distressed me considerably to be brought into this publicity because my husband has been unfortunate enough to be taken ill."

PICNIC CROWDS FLOCK TO SUMMER RESORT

Sunday School Picnics Galore at Port Stanley and Springbank Park.

Record crowds were at Springbank park today. During the morning and the early afternoon, 22 special cars ran Sunday School picnics to the park. Besides these, thousands of persons took advantage of the Wednesday afternoon half holiday. It is estimated that there were more than 4,000 people at Springbank.

Port Stanley too had its quota of visitors. Eight London churches picnicked there today. The following churches sent several hundred to port on their annual outings. All Saints, Anglican, Hill street Methodist; Askin Street Methodist; St. James, Anglican; Talbot Street Baptist; St. Paul's Catholic; and the Salvation Army.

Both resorts were alive this morning and in the early afternoon, with the crowds, with racing events and games. Tons of food in the shape of picnic lunches were consumed. Special service was given on the Springbank carlines, the Traction, and the Pere Marquette.

CLAIM NO. 3.

At the Majestic Theatre Wednesday and Thursday.

CAST.

Dorothy Brown.....Dolly Larkin

Lafe Brown.....George Routh

Jack Clifton.....L. C. Shumway

Dick Clifton.....Frank Brozage

Jack Clifton finds a rich spot in gold and stakes his claim. On the way to the recorder's office he falls sick with fever, and Lafe Brown, another prospector, finds him dying. Lafe refuses to give Clifton his claim, and hearing of the claim, tears the card off and returns to find Clifton dead. Brown records the claim in his own name.

Clifton, before dying, addresses a letter to his son, Dick, telling him to find Lafe Brown and avenge his father's death. When Clifton's knapsack is forwarded to Dick in New York, he is away on a tour of Europe, but returning in two years he finds the letter and immediately goes west to find his father.

He is informed that Brown and his daughter are living in luxury in Los Angeles and by patient scheming becomes secretary to the man who owns the mine. He then kills Brown and cannot bring his mind to kill his father in cold blood, but hearing that he has a weak heart, resolves to frighten him.

He sends an anonymous letter, telling him that when he meets the numbers one, two, three, he will be called to stone for his act to Clifton. On the day the office clock has stopped at 1 o'clock. He then casts his eye on the calendar and sees it is April 2.

Endeavoring to flee from the mine, he is overruled by the police. He is about to board the train a porter hangs out a sign on the back of the train, "Number Three," and Brown falls forward dead. Awed by the vengeance of Providence, protectively puts his arm about Dorothy.

HEAVY RIFLES

hour this morning in putting their charges through the different movements of the march.

First of all, they marched past in column, and were told "See that the space between the ranks is equal to the length of the rank, so that you can form in line easily."

Ten paces before passing the inspecting officer the boys were told that on the order "Eyes right" from the company commanders, they must all turn their heads in the direction of the inspecting officer, and remain like that until twenty paces farther on, when they received the command "Eyes front."

Made Movement Perfect. The company leaders, of course, saluted when passing the inspection point, with their swords, if they were carrying them, or with the left hand otherwise, and at first the youngsters nervously followed suit, bringing their left hands to their foreheads and forgetting all about looking to the right. They soon picked it up, however, and before long were doing it to the entire satisfaction of their instructors.

Then came the return march, this time in quarter-column formation. This time it was "Eyes front" for everybody, and the company leaders, at the word of command given by the battalion commander, as the first rank reached the inspecting point. The position must be held by each rank until the word "March" was given, and then they were to march on.

Over by the C. P. R. tracks, the massed bugle bands marched, wheeled, right-about-turned and played their bugles and beat their drums, until boys and instructors bathed in perspiration.

A little further over a signal instructor was teaching boys "flag-wagging." He had a station rigged up, of which were received and written down correctly by each one of the little groups to whom the signals were being sent.

Some of the older members of the sign-making corps are beyond the point where they need instruction. These were practicing at different parts of the field, and during the day the sign-making corps were read between a group of boys a t Springbank and another group on the roof of the barracks. It is hoped this afternoon to establish a helio station at Paushan, and for the time being they were allowed to drill without arms. Colonel Hodgins later will endeavor to have them provided with 22 rifles.

BLACKFOOT INDIAN HERO OF LEGEND FREED FROM JAIL

After Spending Thirty-Four Years Behind Prison Bars, Found by a Party of Indians and Released.

WASHINGTON, July 7.—After 34 years behind the bars, under life sentence for murder, Spoopee, a Blackfoot Indian, was unconditionally pardoned today by President Wilson. He will be released at once from the federal hospital for the insane here, to return to his home in the Blackfoot reservation, where he has not been seen since she was a baby.

A party of Blackfoot Indians visiting in Washington months ago happened upon Spoopee, grown gray with his long imprisonment. They established his tribal identity by an Indian song, and one of the interpreters recognized in Spoopee the hero of an old legend, who had disappeared a score of years ago into some white man's jail. Blackfoot mothers have been singing their children to sleep with a song about him ever since.

Officials of the Indian office, advised of the discovery, began an investigation which resulted in his pardon.

Murder in Self-Defense. Spoopee was charged with the murder of a white man near the Canadian border north of the Montana line. It is thought by the department to be a case of self-defense. The territorial courts of Montana which tried him at Fort Benton, had no jurisdiction. Moreover, it is now believed that Spoopee committed the murder in self-defense. He and another Indian, Good Rider, asked a white man for food. Their request was denied, and the white man denounced Spoopee, finally assaulting him with an axe. The Indian claims to have fired the self-defense shot, and his story is credited by the department of justice.

Indian Refused to Talk. After Spoopee's conviction at Fort Benton and sentenced to death, he was removed to the federal prison at Leavenworth. While awaiting execution the Indian maintained absolute silence. He has since told interpreters he felt sure he would be hanged and decided not to talk or make any effort to be released. His conduct was so unusual that he was taken to the insane asylum, and after two years was removed to the federal hospital here, where he has been held a prisoner for 32 years.

[Special to The Advertiser.] CHATHAM, July 7.—The reports from several sections of Kent are to the effect that the hay crop this year is a very bountiful one. PETROLEA TEACHERS TAKE SASKATCHEWAN POSITIONS

[Special to The Advertiser.] PETROLEA, July 7.—From the movement of some people of Petrolea toward Western Canada it would look as if Ontario will lose many of its teachers. Petrolea, loses one teacher, Miss M. McColl, who is leaving for a position at Petrolea, and several young ladies who have been teaching outside, including Miss M. Burr and Miss M. MacColl. These intend to go to the coast and return to Saskatchewan, where they take positions at much higher salaries than in Ontario schools.

There are also several Petrolea teachers and bookkeepers who are leaving to look over the West and see if better opportunities will be offered there.

LEAMINGTON MAN LEASES 4,000 ACRES OF OIL LANDS

[Special to The Advertiser.] LEAMINGTON, July 7.—Ed Winter, during his recent visit to west, secured the lease of 5,000 acres of oil lands in the Fraser River Valley. He is an old experienced oil man, and he believes the indications are such as to warrant testing with the drill. He came east to secure several drilling rigs to take them out there to operate.

The child writes thanking him for some money sent home, and hopes that he can send some more for her birthday, which she reminds him is not far off. The letters and other articles, found in the dead man's pockets, will be sent at once to the Austrian consul in Toronto, and he will trace the man through records kept at headquarters, and advise the family in Austria.

[Special to The Advertiser.] CRINAN, July 7.—Farmers of this section are all busily engaged at having. The crop in most cases is rather lighter than the average yield, being only from one to one and a half tons per acre. Other crops have been very much benefited by recent rains, and have shown great improvement. Wheat, oats and barley are in good condition. Mr. Thompson comes highly recommended both as to experience and qualifications, and will take up his residence here in the near future. What might have proved a serious accident was narrowly averted today when a team of horses belonging to Mr. Clime, of Lyons, broke loose and ran away with a wagon load of machinery on Main street. When opposite the Methodist Church sheds the horses ran in there, coming in contact with the wall with such force as to break the tongue of the wagon. Several children who were playing on the road barely escaped being run over.

WANT ESTIMATES ON CIVIC ELECTRIC HEATERS

[Special to The Advertiser.] ST. THOMAS, July 7.—The city electric department has asked the provincial hydro commission to determine the rate to be charged for power furnished for electric heaters, which are being installed throughout the city. The department claims that at the present rate this class of business would be a losing venture. Instantaneous heaters do not require much power, but the power that is used plays havoc with the peak-load.

Hull Indemnity Company Said to Have Bid in Big Freighters. MONTREAL, July 7.—It is said the Storstad was not bought by her former owners at the judicial sale which took place before the local branch of the Admiralty Court this morning. Durr, K.C., local counsel for the former Storstad owners, declared tonight that his clients had not nothing to do with the purchase of the steamer.

CIGARETTE SELLERS MUST PAY $100 TO SELL IN BLENHEIM

After a Long Delay, Council Passes Ald. Ross's Bylaw.

CROPS IN SPLENDID SHAPE

Hay Will Be Fairly Plentiful and of Good Quality—Fruit Abundant.

[Special to The Advertiser.] BLENHEIM, July 7.—Blenheim Town Council has had the cigarette evil up for discussion at several meetings this year, and as a result Councilor A. W. Ross saw his cigarette bylaw finally passed last night at the monthly meeting. This bylaw provides that any person selling cigarettes, cigarette tobacco or cigarette paper after December 31 next must first have taken out a license so to do and pay a license fee of $100.

A first violation of this bylaw means a fine of $1 to $50. At present there are several who deal in these articles which are alleged to be much sought after by youths below the age limit, who in some way succeed in getting a supply. It is thought that this bylaw will be easier to trace the sale.

Will Oil Streets. The proposal to oil the streets has been so favorably received in town that the council has ordered a double quantity, to apply on other streets. Cedar Springs, a hamlet four miles to the west, has ordered with the council and is to have a quantity of this, as it is proposed to oil the main street in that place for a distance. The through auto traffic there is very heavy, and the annoyance from dust very great.

Farmers Are Busy. Farmers are right in the midst of hay harvest. The crop, though not a heavy one, is of good quality and is being harvested in splendid shape. The acreage seems to be quite up to the average and the present there is no sign of a shortage in feed here. There are some splendid fields of wheat and the yield, judging from appearances, is the yield as a quantity up to the average. This section has not been going in for wheat very extensively for some years, but this year's outlook is encouraging.

Corn, though late, is coming along nicely and favorable weather will see a good yield of this popular grain. Tobacco acreage does not show up as large as usual. There are some good settings, but it is early yet to foretell the prospect. Lots of Tomatoes. Tomatoes of which there is a large acreage than ever before, have done well and the weather of late has been ideal for the plants, which are beginning to show signs of an abundant yield. The strawberry season is just over, and raspberries are beginning to put in an appearance. There is a good sufficient rain during the harvest but there will be some good pickings; the crops are well set. As for cherries, where there are trees there are cherries in abundance, and the local demand should be well supplied.

Taken on the whole, the farmers in this vicinity have every reason to be encouraged and thankful for the good prospects for the year.

MAYOR OF ORANGEVILLE

Dr. G. H. Campbell Elected After Strenuous Contest. ORANGEVILLE, July 7.—Dr. G. H. Campbell was today elected mayor after more of the most strenuous contests after here in years, over ex-Reeve J. J. White, by a majority of 217.

The contest was occasioned by the resignation of Mayor Island, on his appointment to the crown attorneyship of the province, last month, at the same time Mr. White resigned the reevehip, and Walter Fairbairn was elected to that office.

LAD PAINFULLY INJURED

[Special to The Advertiser.] ST. THOMAS, July 7.—A rapid delivery boy named Allen, was badly bruised and shaken up today when he was thrown from a rig near the traction station on Talbot street. CALL EXTENDED TO VANCOUVER PASTOR

Ingersoll Presbyterian Congregation Wants Rev. R. McLeod.

[Special to The Advertiser.] INGERSOLL, July 7.—The congregation of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church has extended an unanimous call to the Rev. R. McLeod, of North Vancouver, at a salary of $2000. Mr. McLeod was heard here recently, and left a very favorable impression. Rev. Alfred Bright, the former pastor, resigned some time ago to go to Toronto.

Will Oil Streets. The oiling of a few of the streets has given such general satisfaction that the council has been given by the council for the purchase of an additional supply of oil to include other streets that formerly have been sprinkled. Merchants are especially pleased with the oil, as the dust is kept down and their stores are much cleaner. The sanitary aspect is a feature on which much stress has been placed by Chairman McDougall, of the board of works, who, being in the grocery business, knows what merchants have had to contend with on account of the dust.

Will Return Thursday. Ingersoll boy scouts will likely arrive home Thursday morning, after their hike to Port Burwell. The boys broke camp today, and they will doubtless make good time on the homeward trip by reason of the training they have received. On the trip to the lake they walked eleven miles in three hours on Saturday, which, considering the sand they had to wade through, is a record of which they have no reason to be ashamed.

UNCONSCIOUS AFTER BEING STRUCK OVER HEART PLAYING BALL

[Special to The Advertiser.] WOODSTOCK, July 7.—John Deadman has been unconscious at his home near Princeton for many hours, as a result of being struck above the heart by a ball, while playing at a picnic at Pine Pond, this afternoon. Deadman was playing with some other who had not been in the game for some time, and misjudged a swiftly thrown ball. It went through his hands, and struck him in the chest, and he has been unconscious ever since. It is expected that he will recover, although his condition is regarded as serious.

REFER LIQUOR CASE TO ATTORNEY-GENERAL

[Special to The Advertiser.] WOODSTOCK, July 7.—W. E. Cunningham, of Norwich, was prosecuted by License Inspector Bell in Norwich village before Magistrate Harvey on a charge of having in his possession, unlawfully, a quantity of liquor without having a license, and for the purpose of sale.

According to the evidence taken in the case, Cunningham had for some time been in the habit of ordering ale from Woodstock, and having it expressed to him at Norwich, which is a local option district. A few days ago, according to the evidence, a man named Mitchell, asked him to order a keg for him, and he charged to himself at a Woodstock liquor store. Kegs were purchased for both on June 24, and the ale was delivered at Cunningham's place. When Mitchell called for his order he found that the inspector had called and seized the wet goods.

The magistrate expressed the opinion that the ale had been ordered for private consumption and not for sale. However, he adjourned the case for a week, and in the meantime will refer the matter to the Attorney-General's department.

Bowes was practicing with a rifle near the St. George Street Bridge and nearly killed a young Englishman named Slaughter, who resides nearby. FOUND GUILTY OF BRINGING WOMAN FOR IMMORAL PURPOSES

Peculiar Matrimonial Mixup Discovered in Windsor Court.

SAM KAVALA'S WEDDING

Bride Wanted His Bank Book and Groom Demurred, But Later Gave In.

[Special to The Advertiser.] WINDSOR, July 7.—A peculiar matrimonial mix-up came to light in a police court today when Louis G. Merren was charged with bringing Mrs. Martha Merritt, wife of a Detroit man, into Canada for immoral purposes. He was found guilty and remanded until Saturday for sentence. The evidence showed that Mrs. Merritt left her husband five years ago soon after he came from Montreal to live in Detroit and had been residing in Windsor with Merren as his wife. She has two children, and a short time ago her husband, who lives in Detroit, persuaded her to come back to him. She did so, and took the children with her. Merren went over a few days ago to see them, and induced Mrs. Merritt to come back with him. She started back, but the pair were held up by the immigration officers, who at once laid an information against Merren and deported the women. Now her real husband refuses to have anything more to do with her.

Liked Each Other. Both Merren and the woman took the matter quite coolly, declaring that they liked one another "pretty well." The wedding of Sam Kavala, which took place today, was attended by not a few difficulties. Kavala was charged some days ago by Kathleen Karrol with seduction under promise of marriage. The girl said she liked Kavala and was very anxious to marry him. She insisted, however, that he give her his bankbook and $500 he had in the bank.

Kavala put up an awful wall when the girl said she wanted the money, but he finally agreed to give it to her and go to a priest and be married. When they arrived, escorted by a constable, Kavala had no ring or license, and it was agreed to postpone the wedding for a short time, until he had a chance to get these things. Just about this time Kavala decided that he didn't want to marry Kathleen after all. He was once hauled into court again, and then again decided that he had better get married. He tried, however, to get the girl to give him $250 of the $500 he has in the bank, and she was obstinate, and he finally gave in again. The pair went away to the Church of the Immaculate Conception and were married.

Failed to Prove Charge Against Windsor Man. [Special to The Advertiser.] DETROIT, July 7.—Harry La Tour, alleged head of a Chinese smuggling gang in Windsor, was discharged from the custody of the Federal authorities on Tuesday by U. S. Commissioner J. S. Hurd, following a hearing on a charge of smuggling two Chinamen into this country. The immigration department failed to prove that La Tour was the white man seen in Chicago with the two smuggled Chinamen.

GUELPH TO DO WITHOUT PUBLICITY COMMISSIONER

AYR TAX RATE WILL LIKELY BE HIGHER

Many Improvements Made Recently Will Cause Jump.

DEATH OF MRS. MANSON

Had Resided in the District for Over Half a Century.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Ayr, July 7.—At the regular meeting of the council the clerk made an estimate of the proposed tax rate. So far it has not been made public and is awaited with no small interest. Citizens expect that owing to the extensive improvements in the town, there will be a large increase in the rate. The funeral of Mrs. Margaret Manson held today was very largely attended. Deceased had only been ailing for about a week, and the end was totally unexpected. She came from Scotland, where she was born 81 years ago, to this country at an early age. A short time after her arrival in this land, her family moved to this vicinity. Here she married her late husband, Henry Manson, who predeceased her by thirteen years. She leaves two sisters and three brothers. Of the family there remain—William, in Missouri; Robert, in Nebraska; Lyon, in California; John and Bessie at home. Now her real husband's garden party was held on Miss Morrison's lawn last night, under the auspices of the Anglican Church. Rev. H. Snell's rendition of "Down on the Rio Grande" was greatly appreciated. The Ayr Citizens' Band furnished a splendid program, under the direction of Leader Schmidt. The receipts from the gate and booths amounted to a goodly sum, and will be used as a building fund for the new church.

LEASE OF L. E. AND N. R.Y. TO C. P. R. CONFIRMED

Important Developments Are Expected at Port Dover.

[Special to The Advertiser.] GALT, July 7.—The report of the lease to the Canadian Pacific to the new Lake Erie and Northern road, which was made exclusively in The London Advertiser recently, has just been confirmed. The engineers who have been at work figuring out the situation have made their reports, and it is understood that the C. P. R. looks on the new line as a valuable feeder from the south, just as it esteems the Galt, Preston and Berlin road a good auxiliary north. The connection will give the C. P. R. access to Port Dover, and enable it to operate a coal service of inestimable importance to this western peninsula. It was the aim of the late Dr. J. C. Ives, an American, who built the Grand Valley road from Brantford to Galt, to extend to Lake Erie, and make his railway a freight carrier. To do so would have meant the acquisition of large funds, but back of this progressive man was immense capital, and if he had lived, there would have been no reason for the Lake Erie and Northern, which virtually duplicated the Brantford-Galt service for ten years in operation. The L. E. and N. road is to be a steam railway. Its completion will mark the passing of the Grand Valley, which, despite all its disabilities, has proven of much value to the district, and has given a service most remarkable under the adverse circumstances which surrounded it.

GREAT DICTOGRAPH MURDER MYSTERY OF NEW YORK!

FIRST PHOTOGRAPHS OF PRINCIPALS IN BAFFLING CASE OF WOMAN SLAIN BY SUDDEN BULLET AS SHE LEFT DOCTOR'S OFFICE—PHYSICIAN'S WIFE, JEALOUS OF HUSBAND'S PATIENTS, SUSPECTED IN TRAGEDY.

The Suspect

Mrs. Carman, wife of Dr. E. Carman, outside whose office Mrs. Louise Bailey, a patient, was shot and killed. She is being held as the principal suspect, although after cross-examining her for two hours, the prosecuting attorney declared he was still without a clue in the mysterious murder. She placed a dictograph in her husband's office to learn his conversations with women patients.

AGED ARTIST WEDS HIS CHAMBERMAID

Sir Francis Powell, Born 80 Years Ago, Marries Girl of 23.

SIMILAR OCCURRENCES

England Has Long List of Titled People Who Married Servants.

Sir Francis Powell, the distinguished painter, president of the Royal Society of Painters in Water Colors, and who has received honorary degrees from the universities of Cambridge and Oxford in recognition of his artistic eminence, has created a sensation by contracting in his eighty-first year a marriage with a chambermaid in his household, Annie Muncie, who is twenty-three years old, and the daughter of one of his gardeners. He lost his first wife two years ago, not long after the celebration of their golden wedding.

Sir Francis Powell (who must not be confounded with the admiral of the same name and title), has made his home for more than half a century at Tor Albion, Dunoon, a place which he built for himself on the Firth of Clyde, and which came into the limelight not long ago, when he was violently assaulted in the grounds by one of his gardeners; though whether by the father or the brother of the new Lady Powell, I am not prepared to say.

Lord Mayor Wedded Servant. Sir Francis is one of a long list of men of title who have taken their wives from the servant's hall, one of the most notable instances being that of Sir David Evans, who was Lord Mayor of London just twenty-two years ago. Sir David, as a young merchant, was wont to spend his week-ends at the Oak Hotel in Sevenoaks, Kent, almost under the shadow of Lord Sackville's magnificent Elizabethan mansion, Knole Park, for the sake of fishing in the neighborhood. Among the chambermaids of the inn was Mary Bookes. He fell in love with her, and, having obtained the consent of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Bookes, the one a village plumber, and the other an ex-cook, he married her in due form.

Lady Evans Honored. The union proved a very happy one, and at the close of his term of office as chief magistrate of London, a very distinguished company, including the premier, the two archbishops, cabinet ministers, peers, and city magnates, assembled at the Mansion House to present to Lady Evans, whose parents were present, a testimonial in the form of a life-sized portrait of her husband by a famous academician. "In kindly remembrance of the graceful help rendered by her as Lady Mayoress during the term of office of her husband, Sir David Evans, as Lord Mayor of London."

Among other cases of such marriages, which occur to me at the present moment, are those of the late General Sir Henry de Bathe, one of the most popular men in London society, and who married one of the chambermaids of his mother's household, not, however, until she had borne him several children. It is for this reason that Sir Hugo de Bathe, a younger son, but the eldest of those born subsequent to the marriage, succeeded to his father's baronetcy, instead of any of his brothers born prior to the wedding. Sir Hugo is married to the former Mrs. Langtry, in turn professional beauty, actress, and owner of racing stables.

Case of French President. Then there was Jules Grevy, president of the French Republic, who had married his cook, in order to legitimize the daughter whom she had borne him. Mme. Grevy's social faux pas and unconventionalities as Madame la Presidente were a source of mingled merriment and mortification to the French people, during her husband's two terms of office at the Elysee Palace.

The late Lord Brampton, better known on the bench as Sir Henry Hawkins, was generally credited with having married his chambermaid. But this was not the case. For his wife had been a footlight favorite at the Haymarket Theatre, in London, when he first became infatuated with her, a few years after the death of his first wife. Then there is the ex-Archduke Leopold Salvator, of Austria, now known as plain Leopold Wodlitz, whose second wife was formerly his chambermaid in an inn at Munich, but who now can claim close relationship with the historic house of Hapsburg.

Persees Mary Grooms. Two English persees of the realm married grooms, namely, Emma, Dowager Countess of Ravensworth, and Mabel, Countess of Russell, after her divorce from the present Earl; while Lady Ida Duff, sister of the late Duke of Fife, after eloping from her husband, Adrian Elias Hope, married the co-respondent in the case, a name of whom was William Wilson, who had been her butler.

Lord Becomes Porter. Finally, there was the case of that unfortunate young Lord Drummond, who was cast off by his family in consequence of the match, and came with her to America, where after many vicissitudes, he died as a night porter of a New York daily newspaper, from tuberculosis contracted through exposure as a ticket-chopper on one of the elevated railroad stations of that city. Had he lived, he would have succeeded his grandfather in the Earldom of Perth and of Melfort, as well as in the French dukedom of Melfort. His daughter, when last I heard of her, was earning her living as waitress in a small restaurant in Brooklyn.

Titles for Benefactions. So much fuss has been made in Germany over the alleged sale of titles of nobility, which has engaged the attention not only of the press, but even of the Imperial Parliament at Berlin, that it is only fair to point out that charities and philanthropic enterprises seem to have been the principal beneficiaries in such transactions that have taken place. In Germany, as in other monarchial countries, great benefactions by very rich men are almost invariably recognized by the grant, either of a title of nobility, or of an Order of Knighthood; while in Republican France, such persons are rewarded with the Order of the Legion of Honor, always providing that their antecedents will pass muster.

The reign of the present German Emperor new Emperess has been particularly prolific in the creation and endowment of churches and philanthropic institutions. More have come into existence since they accented the throne in 1888, than all the other reigns of the Prussian kings put together.

RECORD JULY FOR BUILDING ACTIVITY

Amount To Be Spent Is Shown To Be $123,750 in the Record.

The Imperial Bank took out a permit today for a new front and other repairs to its building at the corner of Richmond and King streets which will cost $17,500. The work will start at once and the building will be of handsome and modern design when the alterations are completed.

So far this month there have been 45 permits issued amounting to $123,750, a record which far eclipses any preceding July in the city's history. Other permits issued to day went to George Everett for a brick dwelling at 625 Central avenue, to cost $1,800; to W. and T. W. Copp, for four two-story brick dwellings on Belgrave avenue, to cost $2,500 each; to T. Liege for a brick dwelling on Oxford street, to cost $2,500; to G. A. Burdick, for a brick dwelling on Queens avenue, to cost $2,235; to W. Cromwell, for a frame building on McDonald avenue, to cost $1,600.

Figures In New York Mystery Murder

The slain woman, Mrs. Louise Bailey, killed by a bullet just as she left the office of Dr. Carman, whose wife had a dictograph installed near his desk to learn of his conversation with women patients. It is believed the shot was intended for the doctor. In the centre is W. D. Bailey, husband of the slain woman.

DISTRICT ATTORNEY THINKS HE KNOWS BAILEY MURDERER

Will Ask Grand Jury for Indictment Against One He Suspects—One Theory Implicates Gunman.

[Canadian Press.] Freeport, N. Y., July 8.—That the murder of Mrs. Louise Bailey on Tuesday of last week in the office of Dr. Edwin Carman is no longer a mystery, is the belief of Louis J. Smith, district attorney of Nassau County. Tomorrow Mr. Smith will appear before the grand jury, and, according to a statement made by him, he will ask that an indictment be returned against the person he suspects of having killed Mrs. Bailey.

The presentation of the case before the grand jury will go on, no matter what verdict is given at the coroner's inquest. It will be resumed today before Coroner Norton, and promises to be an interesting session. District Attorney Smith and Sheriff Pettit have eliminated Norton as a co-worker in the case, it is said, but despite the split, a prosecutor will be present to ask questions of the witnesses, and the sheriff will be there ready to start out on any new clues that are developed.

New York Gunman Suspected. Detectives today were running down a new theory of the killing that was advanced in Freeport yesterday. This was to the effect that a New York gunman played a part in it; that he brought the weapon from New York, broke the glass of the window looking upon Dr. Carman's office, handed the gun to the slayer, took it back after the shooting, and then fled. For some reason, this theory was regarded by both official and unofficial investigators as more worthy of credence than any of the other wild stories which have been drifting about Freeport ever since the night of the shooting.

Subpoenas Issued. Several subpoenas have been issued ordering witnesses to appear before the grand jury. Among those in Freeport who received one is Miss Hazel Coombes, the young girl who testified at the last session of the inquest that Mrs. Carman was downstairs, fully dressed, about half an hour before the shooting. "The inquest today will no doubt bring out some highly interesting things. One of the important witnesses will be Gaston Boissonault, manager of the company who dealt with Mrs. Carman when she rented and purchased a telephone device, one end of which was concealed in the doctor's office and the other in a desk drawer in her bedroom."

An Eyewitness? Just before the inquest was resumed the district attorney announced that he had discovered a new witness, a man who says he was an eyewitness to the murder. The man, an insurance agent, said he was passing the Carman house about 8 o'clock on the night of the murder when he heard a crash of glass, and turning to see what caused it, saw a woman, dressed in white, looking into a window of the physician's office. Then, he told the detectives, he heard the report of a revolver and saw the woman disappear toward the rear of the house.

It was said that the man might be placed on the witness-stand provided preliminary examination did not disclose flaws in his story.

Daughter's Story. Elizabeth Carman, 12 years old, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Carman, was called.

She said after dinner on the night of the murder she went in the dining-room and sat down. The dining-room was dark, and the curtains between it and her father's waiting-room were pulled aside. She saw two persons, a man and a woman, in the waiting-room, ten minutes before the murder. She saw no one in the hall. Directly after the shot was fired, she ran upstairs and saw her mother, her aunt and her grandmother there. Her mother, she said, was in a kimono.

No Verdict. The inquest was closed shortly before noon. No verdict was immediately announced, but one was expected later in the day. The district attorney informed the coroner after the inquest that he believed a woman should immediately be arrested and held for the return of some exceptions. The coroner answered that he would review the testimony taken at today's inquest, and might order an arrest before night.

Installed Phone Device. Gaston Boissonault, manager of the detective division of a company which manufactures telephone devices to record conversations, was the first witness called today at the resumption of the inquest into the death of Mrs. Louise Bailey. It was Boissonault's company that installed a telephone device in Dr. Carman's office some time before the murder, at the order of Mrs. Carman. The witness told today of the first call of Mrs. Carman at his office. She first said she was a dressmaker; then admitted her identity, admitting that she had many domestic troubles and wanted to learn what went on in her husband's office. This was on May 19.

Took Husband Away. On the same day Mrs. Carman made plans to take her husband away for two days, while the instrument was being installed.

The witness said Mrs. Carman had told him about seeing a nurse kiss Dr. Carman.

"She said she was so mad," he went on, "when she saw that kiss that she almost broke the window by knocking on it."

Annoying Their Majesties

[Canadian Press.] Dumbarton, Scotland, July 8.—Militant suffragettes made desperate efforts today to attract the attention of King George and Queen Mary, who are making a tour through Scotland. At Balloch Bridge, at the foot of Loch Lomond, the women cut down all the decorations, and at Dalmuir, ten miles from Glasgow, they managed to break out a huge banner, bearing the words: "Your majesty, stop the forcible feeding and torturing of women," across the route, as the procession arrived. At the same time, one woman, armed with a megaphone, howled denunciations of forcible feeding.

Neither the King nor the Queen paid the slightest attention, but the crowd which had gathered to see their majesties displayed such a hostile attitude that the militants beat a hasty retreat.

Province's Rich Bird Life Feathered World, Middlesex

The "Sport of Bird Study" is one which is claiming an increasing number of followers each year, and in point of interest and enthusiasm the bird-lovers of London stand well to the front among the cities of Canada.

The members of the ornithological section of the London Biological Club, have been busy since the first of the year gathering data respecting the bird life of this vicinity, compiling lists of species seen, dates of arrival and departure, and such other information as might be found useful and interesting. It may surprise the average reader to learn that some two hundred and thirty different kinds of birds have been recorded from Middlesex County. The appended list of one hundred and fifty-one contains, of course, all of the common ones, besides some of the rarer varieties, the Cardinal, Saw-whet Owl, Redhead Duck, Florida Gallinule, Evening Grosbeak and Long-eared Owl. The remaining seventy odd are largely birds of rare or accidental occurrence in our midst, some of which the Passenger Pigeon, Wild Turkey and Raven are now extinct as far as Middlesex is concerned.

The date given after each species is the earliest one on which it was seen. Of course it would take a small army of observers continually on the lookout to be sure of seeing the very first of each kind, but the dates given reflect pretty well about the time when we may look for their return. Some exceptions should be mentioned, however, for the benefit of any who may wish to take this list as a guide. The dates on the Song Sparrow, Robin, Bronzed Grackle and Flicker all refer to birds that wintered here, the spring arrivals not appearing until about April 15 for the Flicker, and March 12 to 20 for the others mentioned. The Migrant Shrike and Cliff Swallow were both well on with their nesting before they were discovered, their usual time of arrival being about 12th and 28th April respectively.

The following list of the different species observed from January 1 to May 31, is arranged in order according to the American Ornithologists' Union check list. Some of the birds noted are found here all year round, such as the Crow, Chickadee, White-breasted Nuthatch, etc., some are found only during the winter months, such as the Snow Bunting, Pine Grosbeak, Northern Shrike, etc., while perhaps more than half arrive from the south during the months of March, April and May, and after spending a few days in our midst, wing their way to the far north to nest, returning again in the fall on their way back to spend the winter.

The brilliant plumage of some, the more sober dress of others, combined with sprightly songs and interesting habits, tend to make the hobby a most fascinating one, and it is safe to predict that the popular interest in the study of birds will continue to grow even more rapidly than it has in the past.

It is the intention of the local club to hold an open meeting about the middle of July at which some topic of general interest will be discussed. Any desiring to attend will kindly communicate with the secretary C. G. Watson, 201 Ridout street south.

BRITISH GOVERNMENT MAJORITY FALLS TO LOWEST MARK YET

Asquith Has Only 23 on Motion to Limit Debate on Finance Bill.

[Canadian Press.] London, July 8.—There was dramatic suspense in the House of Commons last night when the Government's majority fell to 23, the lowest Premier Asquith has yet secured, except on one or two occasions when a snap division was called.

This situation, which gave rise to great excitement in the lobbies, where the talk is on an almost immediate general election, arose from the Premier's motion to adjourn only seven days to further discussion of the finance bill. During an animated debate, this application of the guillotine was sharply criticised by the Opposition, and a vote was taken at 8 p.m. When the figures were announced (268 to 245), members on both sides were amazed to make any immediate demonstration, though a few cheers were raised by the Tories, but later the excitement grew intense.

A speech subsequently made by Walter H. Long, ex-chief secretary for Ireland, added to the electricity of the atmosphere. He complained bitterly of the absence of the Premier, and threatened to move the adjournment of the debate. It was explained by Lloyd George that Premier Asquith was keeping an important engagement.

Meanwhile, in the House of Lords, the Government's bill to remodel the council of India, the body which in London advises the secretary of state for India, was rejected by 86 to 48, so that altogether ministers had a very bad day in Parliament that later.

TEN PEOPLE INJURED IN VERMONT RLY. ACCIDENT

Train Runs Into Washout in Chadwick Cut—Only One Seriously Hurt.

[Canadian Press.] Sheldon, Vermont, July 8.—Ten persons were injured, one seriously, and many others were shaken up and bruised, when a Central Vermont train ran into a washout near Sheldon Springs last night. The accident happened in what is known as Chadwick Cut. The roadbed had been washed away by a terrific rain storm, leaving a gully twenty feet deep below the tracks. The engine passed over before the track fell in, but was derailed on the further side of the gap. All of the injured, four trainmen and six passengers, were taken to a hospital at St. Alban's today.

IN POLICE COURT.

Kelly Had a New Dance.

Walter Kelly, who is on the "go-without" list, and was seen by an officer introducing a new step dance to the London public that put the tango in the shade, was assessed $10 and costs or 21 days by Magistrate J. C. Judd in police court this morning.

"Were you drunk, Kelly?" asked the court. Kelly readily acknowledged that he was. All he wanted was time to get the money down to satisfy Mr. Moule, who looks after all similar cases. "We'll see about that later."

City Too Much for Mike.

Michael Langley told the court that he had come to London on business from the country. It was while he was here that he fell, and then the policeman got him. He was advised not to come back again or he would not be let off so easily. He promised that he would not.

DR. J. B. COLERIDGE DIES; WAS ACTIVE IN POLITICS

Former Mayor of Ingersoll Had Declined Conservative Nomination.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Woodstock, July 8.—Dr. James Bruce Coleridge, of Ingersoll, passed away at the home of Sheriff McGhee in Woodstock shortly after 8 o'clock this morning.

The late Dr. Coleridge was born in Ingersoll and was the son of John Coleridge, of that place.

He was in his thirty-sixth year, and is survived, besides his wife and one-year-old son, by one sister, Mrs. J. D. McDonald, of Ingersoll, and one brother, Dr. J. G. Coleridge, of Detroit.

He was a resident of Ingersoll practically all his life, having received his early education first in the public schools of that place and then at the Ingersoll collegiate. He finished his course in medicine at Trinity College, Toronto.

The late Dr. Coleridge was mayor of Ingersoll in 1912 and 1913, also serving a term as mayor about six years ago. He took active part in political affairs, having received the nomination from the Conservative on several occasions, which he declined.

He has been in poor health since April, only a few weeks ago was his condition considered serious. The funeral arrangements have not been completed up to the present.

Kaiser's Fifth Son.

Prince Oscar of Germany

The engagement of Prince Oscar, fifth son of the German Emperor, to Countess Ina Marie von Russwyl-Leytens, maid of honor to the Empress, has been announced. Much comment has been aroused by this announcement owing to the fact that the marriage will be the first monarchical union which has occurred in the Hohenzollern family since 1853.

ACTION OF LORDS AROUSSES WRATH OF NORTH OF IRELAND

Giving Home Rule Bill Second Reading Is Called Traitorous.

BIG GUN-RUNNING STORY

Carson's Return to Belfast May Cause Uprising, It Is Feared.

London, July 7.—Despite assurances that the House of Lords merely passed on the second reading of the amendment to the home rule bill, to give opportunity for drastic amendments, word comes from Ulster this morning that Ulsterers are in a threatening mood. Fears are expressed that Carson's return to Belfast Friday will be the signal for an outbreak.

A sensational story published today is that, under the very noses of the class, a gun-running vessel named Mabel slipped through last night, and landed thousands of rounds of ammunition on beaches and rocks at various points. Admiralty officials decline to commit themselves regarding this rumor.

There is a feeling of deep resentment against the House of Lords, which Ulster regarded as its protector. The word "traitor" is being freely used in the north and west of Ireland today, in regard to the lords' action.

Merely a Preliminary Skirmish. The lords' amendments to the amendment bill are considered by the Liberals as a mere preliminary step to a real bargaining over a compromise.

"None can think a Unionist Government itself, were it suddenly called to office, would dare to give national volunteers, as would be involved in the exclusion of the whole of Ulster by the Imperial Parliament, without consulting a single Ulster voter," says the Chronicle.

While hopefulness of the settlement continues in London, Ireland, both the south and the north, remain pessimistic. The national volunteers are growing amazingly. The Times today estimates their present strength at 153,500, or an increase of 261 centres and nearly 40,000 men since June 10. County Mayo is reported to have 5,000 former soldiers drilling and County Roscommon 2,000 more trained men ready to move into Mayo at brief notice.

Fear Redmond May Weaken. The opposition to Redmond is steadily gaining ground in the south and west of Ireland, where the extremists fear he will make vital surrenders over Ulster, because of his desire for peace.

The Daily Chronicle today says people are waiting in quietude for the arrival of the tailor shops to get admission for ordering national volunteer uniforms. While all Ireland is drilling, serious crime has almost vanished from the country. Yesterday, in addressing the grand jury at Leitrim assizes, Justice Madden said the county was absolutely peaceable and clean of crime. No one was under police protection and there was no boycotting. This is true of many other parts of Ireland.

DINING WITH U. S. AMBASSADOR POOR. EXCUSE, SAYS CECIL

Unionist Criticizes Asquith's Absence From House, and Is Reprimanded by William Redmond.

London, July 8.—A strange incident occurred in the House of Commons last evening. Shortly before 11 o'clock Hon. Water Long and Lord Robert Cecil drew attention to the absence of the Prime Minister from the debate on the budget, which was going on.

Chancellor of the Exchequer Lloyd George explained that Mr. Asquith was keeping an engagement with the American ambassador. Lord Robert Cecil taunted the Premier with merely dining with the American ambassador, whereupon William Redmond rose, amid an uproar, and cried, "You have no right to sneer at the American ambassador." Lord Robert retorted: "You will not understand me. I like to dine with the American ambassador myself."

Lord Robert added that he deemed it perfectly ludicrous for the Chancellor of the Exchequer to tell the House that because the Prime Minister was dining with somebody, however exalted, he could not be present at ten minutes to 11. Such an excuse was scandalous and an insult to the House.

The Unionist leader, Bonar Law, in supporting Lord Robert Cecil, said if Mr. Asquith had an engagement with the American ambassador, and if it were a question of peace or war, there would be an excuse, but as it was there was no excuse.

Real Estate Men Propose Changes

Would Abolish Tax on Mortgages and Limit Interest Rate.

Pittsburg, Pa., July 8.—The abolition of taxes on mortgages, and the establishment of an interest rate not to exceed five per cent, through the co-operation of the several states, was one of the projects officers of the National Association of Real Estate Exchanges expected to be launched during their seventh annual convention, which opened here today. Approximately 100 cities in the United States and Canada are represented. The convention will adjourn July 11.

DATE OF ELECTION SET. [Canadian Press.] Le Pas, Man., July 8.—The deferred election in Le Pas has been set for July 20.

CANADIAN PRESS ASSOCIATION IN ANNUAL CONVENTION AT TORONTO

Postal Rates on Newspapers and Clean Advertising the Most Important Topics for Discussion.

For the second time within a few weeks Toronto is to be the scene of a great gathering of newspapermen on Thursday and Friday, when the Canadian Press Association convenes for its 16th annual meeting. That the "Swat the lie" slogan of the advertising convention was no mere jest is shown by the fact that the editors, managers and other members of the Press Association intend to devote some time to the consideration of a standard for the guidance of members in the censoring of advertising copy and there will be an address on the subject "Why newspapers should clean up their advertising columns."

Another important matter that will be dealt with is that of postage rates on newspapers. That the rate of postage on newspapers fixed by the post-office act is one-quarter cent a copy instead of a bulk rate of one-quarter cent a pound is the astounding claim of the postoffice department, in a circular mailed at Ottawa on the 26th inst. In that circular the department makes the announcement that where letter delivery is in operation a separate charge of not more than one cent a copy will be made for the delivery of newspapers by carrier. It is not stated when the rates referred to will go into effect and it appears the purpose of the circular is to force the issue of newspaper postage rates before the next session of Parliament.

Section 71 of the postoffice act, by which reference is made in the department's circular reads as follows: "The person to whom any letter is delivered by a carrier for the delivery of a newspaper or pamphlet one cent, all of which receipts by the carriers in any city or town shall be accounted for to the Postmaster-General."

The newspapermen point out that the rate for delivery by lettercarrier authorized by section 71 of the postoffice act is to be paid by the person to whom the newspaper is delivered rather than the publisher. That provision, they say, is a relic of the days when newspaper postage was collected from the subscriber on delivery. The whole matter of postal rates on newspapers has been discussed by the publishers with the Postmaster-General on several occasions and the action of the association will be awaited with much interest.

The proposal to eliminate all commissions and reductions in rates on Canadian general advertising not placed through advertising agencies recognized as official solicitors of general advertising for the newspapers in Canada is another matter of great importance which will be taken up.

A standard of newspaper practice will be submitted for discussion and adoption. The adoption of such a standard will be a further step in the direction of standardizing Canadian newspaper practice—particularly in relation to advertising.

Five provinces and the United States are represented in the list of speakers, and newspapermen from all parts of Canada will be at the meeting. Forty or fifty members from Western Canada are expected to be in attendance. Among the addresses to be delivered are:

H. B. DONLY, of the Simcoe Reformer, retiring president.

J. R. IMRIE, Toronto, secretary.

W. E. SMALLFIELD, Renfrew Mercury, second vice-president.

J. F. MACKAY, Toronto Globe, chairman paper committee.

V. E. MORRILL, Sherbrooke Record, member of executive.

W. J. TAYLOR, Woodstock Sentinel-Review, chairman advertising committee.

J. H. WOODS, Calgary Herald, member of executive.

W. A. FRY, Dunnville Chronicle, chairman weekly section.

are: "Who Makes Fraudulent Advertising Effective?" by James Schermerhorn, of the Detroit Times; "Co-operation with National Advertisers—How Far Should a Daily Newspaper Go in this Direction?" by J. H. Woods, Calgary Herald; "Facts and Figures for the National Advertiser and How to Get Them Home," by H. A. Robert, La Presse, Montreal; "Keeping Track of Space Used on Space Contracts and Enforcing Short Rates," by W. B. Preston, Brantford Expositor; "Costs Systems for Daily Newspapers," by Pierre C. Starr, Newspaper Cost and Efficiency Expert, Chicago; "Placing City Subscriptions on the Ten-Cents-a-Week Basis," by A. C. Hunt, Regina Leader; "Keeping Track of Subscribers and Following Up Expansions," by James McLeod, Almonte Gazette; "What Can Be Done in the Direction of Securing More General Advertising for Weekly Newspapers," by John Shaw, Tillsonburg Observer; "What It Costs Per Inch to Produce Advertising Space in Our Newspapers and How and for What Should It Be Sold," by W. E. Smallfield, Renfrew Mercury; "How I Would Get Local Retail Advertising for a Town Newspaper if I were Its Publisher," by C. Kirkwood, Toronto; "Would it be Advisable or Practicable for the Weekly Newspaper Publishers of a District to Join Forces in Employing a Trained Advertising Solicitor to Serve Them Turn About—So Many Days Each Week or Fortnight?" by Louis Blake Duff, Welland (Ont.) Telegraph; "Getting the Local News," by H. B. Anslow, Campbellton (N. B.) Graphic; "The Measure of Political Independence Which Weekly Newspapers Should Exercise," by S. N. Wyman, Yorkton (Sask.) Enterprise; Mr. Hal B. Donly, of the Simcoe Reformer, who has served as president of the association for the past year, will retire, as will also the other officers elected a year ago. Their successors will not be nominated till the convention is in session.

NEW ORLEANS FIGHTING TO ERADICATE PLAGUE. Authorities Tracing Movements of Infected Boy to Fix Focus of Infection. [Canadian Press.] New Orleans, July 7.—Dr. William C. Rucker, assistant surgeon-general of the public health service, today opened headquarters here, preparatory to conducting a still more active campaign for the eradication of bubonic plague. Effort was being made today to trace the movements prior to July 2, of John Jackson, the nine-year-old negro boy who died from plague on that day. The purpose was to ascertain if a second focus of infection exists. Although bacteriologists confirmed the suspicion that Jackson's death was due to plague, health authorities declared today that the situation was not alarming and that they soon expected to thoroughly stamp out the contagion. The rat survey, originally confined to the affected area, will be enlarged so as to include all territory within the corporate limits.

LAMBETH CONDUCTOR KNOCKED OFF CAR

Harry Woods Has Right Hand and Head Injured as Trolley Was Backing Up.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Port Stanley, July 8.—Harry Woods, conductor on the L. and E. R. and T. Company, of Lambeth, was struck and knocked down by a traction car at 11 o'clock today.

The car was backing up, and Woods was standing on the step. An express truck knocked him off the step, and he fell so that his right hand and head were struck by the wheels. Several fingers of his right hand were cut off, and he was cut about the head. Motorman Hunter brought the car to a quick stop.

Dr. Jackson was called from Union, and Woods was taken to the Amass Wood Hospital at St. Thomas. He will recover.

KING BEGAN TO READ FROM WRONG ADDRESS

Amusing Incident at Glasgow, When McKinnon Wood Made a Mistake.

[Canadian Press.]

London, July 8.—A visit of the King and Queen to Glasgow yesterday provided an amusing incident. In the city council chamber the King received a series of addresses. One address was from the corporation. McKinnon Wood, the minister in attendance on the King, handed his majesty the royal address in reply.

For two minutes the King continued reading, then came to a sentence which could not possibly have anything to do with the city council. He turned to McKinnon Wood, and laughed heartily. The Queen, Princess Mary and everyone else joined in the laughter.

Mr. Wood was the only person who did not appear to appreciate the joke. Very solemnly he handed another document to the King, and his majesty began again.

TWO WELL SHOOTERS BLOWN TO FRAGMENTS

Nitro-Glycerin Explodes and There Is Hardly Trace of Men Left.

[Canadian Press.]

Findlay, Ohio, July 8.—Charles Armstrong and P. B. Longabaugh, oil-well shooters, were instantly killed this morning by the explosion of several hundred quarts of nitro-glycerin, which they were taking to Buckland to shoot an oil well. The men were literally blown to atoms, as not a shred of flesh or an inch square can be found, and of the automobile in which the explosive was being transported, only a small piece of the axle is left.

Two children were knocked to the ground and severely injured. Several houses nearby were wrecked, and thousands of panes of glass in the vicinity were broken.

LUMBER MILL BURNED.

Dalhousie, N. B., July 8.—In a short time yesterday afternoon the principal industry of the town, the Dalhousie Lumber Company's mill, was destroyed by fire. The mill was comparatively new, and was valued at about $25,000. The loss is well covered by insurance.

NEW LEGISLATURE IN MASSACHUSETTS MAY SAVE TROUBLE

Attorney-General Hopes to Settle New Haven Railroad Question Without Court Fight.

[Canadian Press.]

Washington, D. C., July 8.—Although the department of justice is preparing to go ahead and file its long-planned anti-trust suit for the dissolution of the New Haven Railroad system, Attorney-General McReynolds still is hopeful of a settlement without a prolonged fight in the courts.

As was announced some time ago, President Wilson and the Attorney-General have agreed that the suit should be filed this month, unless the Massachusetts Legislature and the executive committee of the railroad agree on certain legislation necessary for disposition of some of the stocks, which the Government contends are being held in violation of law.

The Attorney-General had agreed to withhold the suit until July 15. The Massachusetts Legislature adjourned yesterday without taking the necessary action.

Administration officials pin their faith of a settlement on the fact that a new Legislature comes into existence on January 1. Under ordinary procedure, a suit filed this month would not proceed very far by that time, and could be halted whenever the necessary legislation for a peaceful settlement was enacted.

IS NO SURPRISE.

The fact that a bill may be filed this month comes as no surprise to Administration officials. That has been their announced plan all along in the present circumstances.

SAYS RALPH CONNOR WAS STOCKHOLDER IN NEEPAWA HOTEL

Meighen Seeks to Discredit Liberal's Sincerity, But Does Not Say It Was in Prohibition Time.

[Canadian Press.]

Winnipeg, July 8.—A new canvass was injected into the campaign last night, when, addressing a meeting in Portage la Prairie, Hon. Arthur Meighen declared that Rev. Dr. C. W. Gordon (Ralph Connor), whom he described as "leader of the so-called opposition campaign of purity," was a shareholder in the King Edward Hotel at Neepawa. Mr. Meighen added that he had actually seen checks endorsed by Dr. Gordon, which he had received in payment of dividends. Dr. Gordon is billed to speak at Portage on Thursday night, under the auspices of the Social Service Council. It is pointed out on the Liberal side that Mr. Meighen did not state whether this was during prohibition times in Neepawa.

A number of meetings remain to be held in various parts of the province tonight and tomorrow night, Hon. Mr. Meighen and Hon. Dr. Roche being down for one each night. Premier Roblin will address no more public meetings.

THOUGHT SHE COULD NOT LIVE

Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Unionville, Mo.—"I suffered from a female trouble and I got so weak that I could hardly walk across the floor without holding on to something. I had nervous spells and my fingers would cramp and my face would draw, and I could not speak, nor sleep to do any good, had no appetite, and everyone thought I would not live."

Some one advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I had taken so much medicine and I thought he could do me no good so I told my husband he might get me a bottle and I would try it. By the time I had taken it I felt better. I continued its use, and now I am well and strong.

"I have always recommended your medicine ever since I was so wonderfully benefited by it and I hope this letter will be the means of saving some other poor woman from suffering."

Mrs. MARTHA SEAVEY, Box 1144, Unionville, Missouri.

The makers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound have thousands of such letters as that above—they tell the truth, else they could not have been obtained for love or money. This medicine is no stranger—it has stood the test for years.

If there are any complications you do not understand write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential), Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

Horse Exhausted From Heat.—A horse belonging to J. Sutherland, a London Township farmer, dropped exhausted from the heat on Dufferin avenue yesterday afternoon about three o'clock. It was nearly six before the animal recovered sufficiently to be removed to the stables of Dr. W. J. Wilson, veterinary surgeon, King street, who was summoned. In the meantime a large crowd had gathered and commented on the delay experienced in removing the animal. The suggestion was made that the Humane Society ought to take up the question of having the city secure apparatus similar to what is in use in other cities for removing sick horses from the street.

Boomer's Motor-Driven Delivery Van Tips Over Sprinkling Cart.

Boomer's motor-driven delivery cart hit a city sprinkling cart at the corner of Grand avenue and Ridout street yesterday afternoon and knocked the sprinkling cart into the ditch on the northeast corner.

WOMAN TO DEMAND ADMISSION TO BAR

Examiners of Quebec Association Would Refuse Her Permission to Practice.

MONTREAL, July 7.—The local courts will be called upon to decide whether the legal profession is or is not closed to the fair sex, and this as a result of the decision today of the board of examiners of the Province of Quebec Bar Association to the effect that Mrs. Anle McDonald-Langstaff, the brilliant young graduate of the McGill Law Faculty, could not be admitted to the bar, and that, consequently, it was useless for her to take the examinations.

S. W. Jacobs, K. C., chief of the law firm wherein Mrs. Langstaff studied, announced immediately after the decision of the examiners that he would not lose any time in making an application to the courts for the issue of a writ of mandamus to compel the bar to admit Mrs. Langstaff as a member, after she had taken the examination establishing her fitness. The matter will also be brought to the attention of the general council of the bar.

ON GUARD DUTY AT CADET CAMP

The Turn of the St. Thomas Corps Came Yesterday.

L. C. I. CADETS WIN SHOOTING TROPHY

For Second Time Local Corps Captures Beck Silver Shield.

BOYS ARE ENJOYING CAMP

Veteran Cadets Have Fun With Recruits Who Are Camping for First Time.

A team of twelve London boys yesterday afternoon successfully defended their title as holders of the Beck trophy for rifle shooting, defeating teams from Waterloo, Chatham, Essex and Galt at the cadet camp at Carling's Heights. Shooting at 200 and 500 yards, London, Waterloo and Chatham ran each other pretty close but the final count showed the local boys just a few points ahead, with Waterloo next.

When the London boys won the silver shield last year it was claimed that they had had an advantage in being allowed to use their own rifles, while their competitors were supplied with weapons only. This year, however, all rifles were supplied from the store, so that all the contestants were on an equal footing in that respect.

Waterloo's showing was remarkably good in view of the fact that few of the boys comprising the team had used rifles at all previously. Some of them even did not know how the breech-blocks worked.

At one time Seaford was a pretty consistent winner of the Beck shield, but last year a boy was killed accidentally in the Seaford ranges, and since then shooting has become almost a lost art in the town, the Seaford ranges having been closed on a prejudice against the use of firearms. This afternoon teams from several of the companies will shoot-off for the Barnard trophy, and on Thursday afternoon a skirmishing and firing competition will be held.

For this the boys are arranged in open order, each team firing at its own target, which appears suddenly in front of them at an unknown distance, remaining stationary for fifteen seconds and then disappearing again. Except the youngsters taking part in the shooting competition, those taking advanced flag-signaling instruction, and the company on guard duty, all the boys were free during yesterday afternoon, and devoted their time to the various games of the day.

Half a dozen baseball games were played. Some of the youngsters indulged in football practice, some came downtown for a swim in the sulphur bath plunge, others visited the ice cream parlours in the city, and others still were content to remain in camp, and patronize the ice cream and soft drink stand, run under the direction of the Y. M. C. A.

Peanuts Prohibited.

Here may be purchased ice cream cones, watermelon, drinks, popcorn—but not peanuts. One of the officials volunteered the reason for the latter prohibition. He said: "We want to have as few boys needing a doctor's care as possible, and a combination of ice cream, watermelon and peanuts has been found to be too deadly, even for boys, and so the peanuts have been eliminated."

All the boys must be back in camp for supper time. As a matter of fact this order is hardly necessary, for the open air life of the camp produces an appetite which practically insures the presence of every cadet at meal time. To watch the boys stow away eatables is a sight to be remembered.

FRENCH SUBMARINE SUNK BY DESTROYER DURING MANOEUVRES

Vessel Goes to Bottom and May Be Lost—All the Crew Are Saved.

[Canadian Press.]

TOULON, France, July 7.—The French submarine Calypso was sunk today by the destroyer Mosqueton during manoeuvres. The crew of the Calypso were saved.

It is thought that it will be impossible to save the submarine on account of the great depth at which she is lying.

The Calypso was navigating on the surface at the time of the collision and most of the men were on deck. The shock was severe and a great hole was torn in the submarine's side.

The boat sank in a few minutes. A heavy sea was running at the time, but the other warships carried out the rescue work with great skill and daring.

The Mosqueton was badly damaged and put into port. The admiral's command has ordered a court of inquiry to investigate the disaster.

OTTAWA EMPLOYEES MUST BE ABSTAINERS

Mayor Issues Order Forbidding Any to Enter Barroom On Or Off Duty.

[Canadian Press.]

OTTAWA, July 7.—Mayor McVeety tonight issued an order to the heads of the civic departments, instructing them to notify their various staffs that drinking will not hereafter be countenanced among employees of the corporation.

His worship's mandate states that any employee or head of department who enters a public drinking place or bar-room will be penalized.

The order is in effect whether the employee is on or off duty.

CARRYING OF RIFLES VIOLATES REGULATIONS

Colonel Hughes Believes All Religious Bodies Will Desist From Using Them

[Canadian Press.]

OTTAWA, July 7.—The Hon. Sam Hughes, Minister of Militia and Defence, has addressed an open letter to the Orange order, in reply to resolutions passed by several lodges of that body, protesting against the participation of the Sixty-fifth Regiment in recent Corpus Christi ceremonies in Montreal.

Colonel Hughes pays a high tribute to the Orange order, and says, "But this is not the first time I have calmly faced the wrath of a few fanatics, yet I have lived to be endorsed, and justified, by every sensible man in the Orange order."

The minister expressed the belief that the religious authorities will desist from carrying rifles in religious processions when they learn that it is in violation of the regulations.

relieved the St. Thomas boys for guard duty. The company detailed for this must keep to its tents for 24 hours, taking turns at sentry-go.

Practical Jokers Busy.

Some of the older boys, those who have attended camp on former occasions, have been having great fun at the expense of the younger, rawer boys, sending them on all kinds of fool's errands. For instance, our youngsters wandered almost all over camp trying to find out where he could get twenty yards of kilmish line, before he tumbled to the fact that he was the victim of a farce. Another boy was sent for "just enough white-wash to cover the last post." He went to the store's department, from there, was directed to the Y. M. C. A. tent, thence to the same kind of things themselves in their "greener" days, and besides, they don't realize that there is any cruelty in it. No harm is intended and, as a matter of fact, none results. The victim usually enjoys the job when he realizes it just as much as do the perpetrators.

MOTOR BUSES FOR STRATFORD STREETS

[Special to The Advertiser.]

STRAFORD, July 7.—The Stratford Council tonight entered into an agreement with a Brantford promoter to give this city a street motor bus service. The service will be begun in about fifteen days by a joint stock company, which has been awaiting the decision of the city council before becoming incorporated.

The company is granted the exclusive right to run motor buses on the streets of Stratford on and after July 25, 1914. It agrees to operate three motor buses of between 30 and 40-horsepower, with a passenger capacity of fourteen each.

Service Six to Eleven.

The buses are to run between 6 a.m. and 11 p.m. each day, each bus to complete at least once every half hour, one of a series of circuits mapped out by the company and the city engineer.

DR. MCARTHUR PRESIDENT

TORONTO, July 7.—Officers were elected at the annual meeting of the Ontario Medical Council today as follows: President, Dr. J. L. Bray, Toronto; registrar, Dr. J. L. Bray, Toronto; solicitor and council, H. S. Osler, K.C., Toronto; public prosecutor, John Fyfe, Toronto; official stenographer, George Angus, Toronto; treasurer, Dr. Wilberforce Aikens, Toronto.

TUNNEL INUNDATED.

BRIGUE, Switzerland, July 7.—The Simplon tunnel was inundated today by a subterranean stream, which burst through the retaining wall and flooded the tunnel to a depth of two feet. A train was derailed in the middle of the tunnel, but not one was hurt. The passengers were obliged to wade several miles to Iselle.

Janet Dunbar Gets Salamander Role.

ONE of those surprises which help to keep a Broadway theatrical colony in a pleasant state of ferment and gossip comes with the announcement that Selwyn and company have at last decided to name the actress who is to create the leading role of Dora Baxter in Owen Johnson's play, "The Salamander."

The fortunate young woman, for the part, from all accounts, will provide exceptional opportunity for Selwyn and varied acting, is Miss Janet Dunbar, who was the leading woman for David Warfield in "The Music Master" and "The Return of Peter Grimm," and who, for the past five years, has enjoyed the superior advantages and training of David Belasco's personal stage direction.

The producers have had Miss Dunbar in mind for the role for some time, but the fact that she might be free to negotiate could not be determined until it was learned that Mr. Warfield would continue next year in "The Auctioneer." There would require her services, Miss Dunbar accepted the flattering offer of Selwyn and company.

MR. MALONEY'S TROPICAL PET TIES UP TRAFFIC IN STREET

Truant Ant-Eater Starts on a Hunt for New Bugs and Finds His Way Up a Friendly Tree.

St. Catharines may have an alligator that disports itself in the Welland Canal, but London has an ant-eater that goes through the streets hunting ants in the evening.

The ant-eater, which was born in some part of tropical America, has been a Canadian citizen for some time. He has made his home with R. Maloney, 233 Wellington street, and he has developed a wonderful appetite for June bugs, potato bugs and all other sorts of bugs. The June bug supply must have been running low lately, because yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock he went on a bug hunt. Why he chose the hour that people are coming home from work is not just understood, but he headed up Wellington street to Horton and turned on to Horton. A crowd collected and followed him, and finally he took to a tall tree.

Hundreds gathered around, and street railway traffic was blocked by the autos and wagons that stopped. Finally he emulated the immortal coon and came down into the hands of Mr. Maloney, or someone else he knew.

DRAYMAN SPRAINS A LEG

George Chandler Meets Accident Alighting From Wagon.

George Chandler, a colored drayman, while alighting from his dray yesterday evening at Clarence and York streets, stepped between the whistle-trees and an iron bar bracing the shaft of the dray, severely wrenching his leg. He suffered great pain from the injury, and his leg was believed to be broken. Dr. D. H. Hogg was called, and Chandler was taken to Victoria Hospital, where it was found that his leg was only sprained.
