HAIG STRIKES NEW BLOW ON YPRES SECTOR

DIVISION TONIGHT OVER COMPULSION ENDS LONG TALK

Thirteen Days' Continuous Debate On Conscription Will Culminate In Vote This Evening—Government Majority May Be Sixty—How the Provinces Will Ballot.

(Special to The Advertiser.)

Ottawa, July 5.—After thirteen days of continuous debate the vote of the second reading of the conscription bill and of the amendments thereto will be taken late tonight or early tomorrow morning. The debate has been sustained from the outset, and the parties have put up man for man in the discussion. There have been placed on the Hansard upwards of six hundred thousand words, more or less moderate in tone. The debate has encroached upon party lines more than any other probably since confederation. Some sixteen Liberals have broken with their leader, while on the Conservative side a round dozen have defected. In addition, some widely divergent opinions as to details and application have been expressed, even among those who have agreed on the general principle of the bill.

Liberals Want Wealth Conscripted.

Nearly all the Liberals who have favored the measure have also favored the extension of its principle to wealth and resources. None on the Conservative side, with the possible exception of Capt. Burnham, have done so. The referendum amendment of Sir Wilfrid Laurier finds support in all the provinces of the Dominion but one, not including the Yukon territory, where the one member will vote for the bill. No less than 21 members, or about one-third of the supporters of the amendment, are to be found outside of the Province of Quebec, which provides 44 supporters for the referendum.

How Votes May Go.

From present indications and without making allowance for absentees, there will be 65 votes in favor of the Laurier amendment and 111 against. This will give a majority against the main amendment of 46. As many of these who vote for the amendment will thereafter vote for the second reading, the bill will reach committee with a majority of nearly 60. On the amendment division the vote will be as follows: Prince Edward Island, one for the referendum and two against; Nova Scotia, six for and eight against; New Brunswick, four for and seven against; Quebec, forty-four for and seven against; Alberta, one for and three against; Saskatchewan, two for and five against; British Columbia, seven against; Yukon, one against.

Ontario's Vote.

It will be noticed that Ontario itself will give a vote against the referendum almost equal to the vote for it in all parts of the Dominion. Conservative bolters are confined entirely to Quebec.

The representation of the House will be 45 shy. Half of that is due to vacancies and half to absentees for various reasons. As the thing has worked out, however, the Government will have an almost record majority on the second reading stage of the measure.

More Amendments Likely.

On the committee stage of the bill, lengthy discussion will occur on the provisions of the measure. On the third reading other Liberal amendments may be looked for, and another division expected.

There are strong indications at present that an election will follow in the autumn. Further extension proposals cannot secure unanimous consent, inasmuch as anti-conscriptionist members cannot be expected to vote for an extension whereby conscription would be put in force. In any case it would seem that the only way by which the atmosphere can be cleared is by an appeal to the people.

Monday and Tuesday will be spent in New York City, and on Wednesday, the kilties will leave for Chicago, where they will remain for Thursday and Friday. The return trip will be begun on Sunday, arriving in Toronto Sunday morning, July 22. HUNS MAKE PRACTICE OF SHELLING CREWS WHEN FORCED TO BOATS

Copenhagen, July 4.—The survivors of two Danish vessels sunk by German submarines gave evidence today before the maritime court. The bark Consul Nielson, proceeding for Stornaway, Scotland, with a British prize crew aboard, was sunk on May 26. Firing continued from the submarine while the crew were entering the boats. The mate was seriously injured, and several others were slightly injured. The commander of the submarine, which was the U-66, according to the testimony, declined to give medical assistance or dressings.

The schooner Freden had an even worse experience. This vessel was also being taken to Stornaway by a French prize crew. She was sunk on May 16, without warning, 80 miles from the Bute of Lewis. The lifeboat was damaged and several of the crew were wounded while trying to repair it. One Frenchman was killed and another was severely wounded.

Firing lasted, at the rate of ten rounds per minute. Finally the whole crew got into one yawl, where it was impossible to store provisions, and only a scant supply of water. The master and cook died the second day. The survivors were picked up the third day and taken to Leuh, but their condition was so serious that all of them had to be taken to the hospitals for treatment.

St. John, N. B., July 5.—In a thick fog which enshrouded Fort Howe magazine last night Lance Corp. W. S. Hamm, in charge of the guard there, approached Pte. Arsenault, the sentry, in a skylarking spirit and disobeyed the halt order. He ran away calling out: "You can't get me now." Arsenault, not knowing Hamm, fired and he fell mortally wounded. He died early today. Arsenault is under arrest. Hamm exonerated him.

NOT A GUN LOST BY BRITISH SINCE THE SPRING OF 1915; PRISONERS 117,776, GUNS 739

London, July 5.—Since the beginning of the war the British have captured 117,776 prisoners, exclusive of natives taken prisoner in the African campaigns, many of whom have been released, said Major General F. B. Maurice, director of military operations at the war office today. The British have lost to the enemy 51,088 men, including Indian and native troops. These figures take in all theatres of war.

The British have captured 739 guns during the war and lost 133. Of the guns lost 37 were recaptured, and of the 96 remaining in enemy hands 84 were lost by the British on the west front early in the war.

The British have not lost a single gun on the western front since April, 1915, says the general.

Among the officers on board was Major-Gen. John Hughes, who has been overseas for a few months visiting Canadian troops in France and England.

The steamer also brought several hundred civilian passengers, including a large number of women and children, and the crews of two torpedoed Newfoundland schooners.

RUSS BATTERIES DRIVE OFF GERMAN AIRPLANES

Petrograd, July 5.—A German airplane attack on the Russian aviation base on the south end of the island of Oesel, off the Gulf of Riga, was rendered futile by gunfire from Russian ships and land batteries, says an official announcement today. The statement reads:

"On the Baltic Sea on July 3 nine enemy airplanes executed two flights over the southern extremity of the island of Oesel. Twenty-four bombs were dropped on batteries, hangars and buildings. The enemy's attacks were diverted by the concentrated fire of our naval units and shore batteries which prevented the bombs from hitting their mark. There were no casualties or damage."

CHILDREN SENT TO TORONTO TO AVOID BEING TAKEN OVER

Mother Wished To Keep Them Out of Shelter.

UNCLE REFUSES THEM

Unaccompanied They Were Placed On Train and Sent to Toronto.

In order to prevent the Children's Aid Society from gaining control of five of her children, the oldest 14 and the youngest 2 years of age, the mother, a city resident, and the wife of a soldier overseas, sent all unaccompanied to an uncle in Toronto last night. The children upon arrival in Toronto were met at the depot by the uncle, who had been communicated with by local officials of the Children's Aid Society, asking that they be returned to the city at once. This was agreed upon, and a representative of the society has been on hand at the depot and met every train since, but the children had not arrived on the last train from Toronto at noon today.

The children were in the shelter for some months last winter, because of the mother's inability to care for them properly.

Inspector Saunders, in telephonic communication with the uncle in Toronto at 1:30 o'clock today, was informed that he would come to the city to discuss the matter, and if satisfactory arrangements could be made he would take the children, although he had refused them last night because they had been sent on without any previous notice. He was notified by telegram that the children had been sent after they were placed aboard the Toronto train here last evening.

PRUSSIA IS EXPECTING NEW BLOW BY HAIG

Copenhagen, July 5.—Lieut.-Gen. von Stein, Prussian minister of war and state, told a committee of the German Reichstag yesterday, according to dispatches reaching here, that a further British offensive was expected north of Arras, where General Haig apparently is preparing actions on a large scale. The minister said the abandonment of the Saloniki campaign was improbable, but he regarded the Italian offensive on the Isonzo and in the Tyrol as shattered. His views of the Russian offensive are unreported if expressed.

Haig "Uppercuts" Once More, This Time Near the Ypres Canal.

London, July 5.—The British made an attack last night southwest of Hollebeke, in Belgium, near the Ypres Canal. Today's official statement says the British line was advanced on a front of 600 yards. The announcement follows:

"Southwest of Hollebeke we advanced our lines slightly on a front of 600 yards. Last night we carried out successful raids in the vicinity of Wieletje and Nieuport, and captured several prisoners."

A NEW UPPERCUT.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

London, July 5.—Continuing his tactics of "mixing" his blows at the Germans, Field Marshal Haig last night struck successfully at the enemy southwest of Hollebeke in Belgium.

"We advanced our line slightly over a front of six hundred yards," the report stated today.

"This new uppercut" at the German lines found its impact in that section near where the British achieved their great gains by the Messines—Wytschaete Ridge victory. There has been but little fighting in the salient for a week.

Hollebeke is three miles southeast of Ypres. It is the northernmost point in the sharp angle formed at Comines by the junction of the Ypres-Lille Canal and the River Lys. At the time of the Messines-Wytschaete victory, the Germans were reported to be evacuating this angle because of the difficulty in defending it in marshy lowlands and because the two waterways hemmed in their forces. The evacuation, however, was mostly of the southern part of the angle, and the German lines held firm around Oostavernem, Wambeke and Hollebeke.

ASHPLANT IS AFTER AUDITORS, OTHERS ARE NOT. ALARMED

Controller Saunders Hands Complaining Alderman a "Roast."

DR. SHAW IS SATISFIED

Says Affairs Are in Good Shape After Making an Investigation.

At the last meeting of the city council, Ald. H. B. Ashplant presented the following resolution, which was referred to the finance committee for consideration:

Moved by Ald. H. B. Ashplant, seconded by Ald. Drake:

"Whereas, Messrs. Dale and Streaton have failed to comply with the terms of the bylaw and agreement under which they accepted their appointment as city auditors; and

"Whereas, the audit of the books and accounts of the London Railway Commission (operating the L. and P. S. R.) has been wilfully neglected, and absolutely nothing done by the said city auditors, to protect the interests of the city by auditing the expenditures of the said railway commission, as required by their agreement, the audit of the department being at this date a full twelve months in arrears, and whereas, the auditors' report on the general city finances for the fiscal year ending December 31, 1916, has been unreasonably delayed by the inefficiency of the city auditors, and at this date, July 3, 1917, is not yet presented to the city council, and

"Whereas, Mr. Andrew Dale was for several years joint auditor with Mr. Frank Jewell, C.A., and also assistant to Mr. W. Dunlop, C.A., and was therefore fully conversant with the audit situation at the date of his application and appointment for 1917, and must have misled the city council in regard to the facts of the situation:

"Therefore, it is resolved that a special committee, consisting of the mover, the chairman of the finance committee, and chairman of the board of control, and one member of the two committees, be appointed to investigate, and report on the present status of the audit in all departments, and that committee is hereby empowered, if it so deems it to be desirable, to secure the services of a competent chartered accountant to audit and complete the report on the London Railway Commission books and accounts, up to the 1st of July, 1917; the cost of such audit and report to be charged to the account of the city auditors.

"This special committee is further instructed to see that all audits and abstracts in all departments are fully complete to the half-year ending June 30 by the city auditors, before payment is made for same."

What Mr. Dale Says.

Andrew Dale, in discussing the motion, declared that the work was well advanced, as well advanced as in other years, possibly more so. The auditors were held up by the necessity of concluding the audit of 1916, and as a result they could not get as far ahead as they would like.

"Ald. Ashplant is continually bothering us about the audit," said Mr. Dale. "Other members of the council are satisfied, but he does not seem to be. There seems to be some other reason than is manifest."

"The work of the audit is in a most satisfactory condition," said Controller Shaw. "Following some of the criticisms of Ald. Ashplant, I went into the matter thoroughly and I am perfectly satisfied with it. We are in good shape. The London and Port Stanley audit will be reached in good time."

"Ald. Ashplant is hounding the auditors all the time, and if it is behind, he is as much to blame as anybody," declared Controller Saunders. "We have good men on our books, and we have no reasons for interfering with their work at all. I have gone into the thing, and I feel perfectly satisfied with the progress made."

GOLD FROM DOMINION DEPOSITED WITH MORGAN

New York, July 5.—An additional $12,000,000 worth of gold from Canada has been received by J. P. Morgan & Co., and sold to the Federal Reserve Bank, it was announced here today. This makes total imports from Canada received in the present movement, $119,531,000.

27,000 Canadians Are Awaiting Ships To Cross Atlantic

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Winnipeg, Man., July 5.—Lieut.-Col. A. L. Bonnycastle, who has returned, after taking a battalion to France, says there are twenty-seven thousand Canadians discharged on account of wounds, unfitness and age in England at present, waiting for ships to bring them back home.

WAR TIES BIND AMERICANS TO BRITISH EMPIRE

Sundered Friendships Brought Together Through Common Cause.

BALFOUR ON NEW ALLY

Believes United States and Great Britain Will Be Firm Friends Forever.

London, July 5.—The speeches of both Sir Wm. R. Robertson, chief of the imperial staff, and Foreign Secretary Balfour at the banquet of the American Society last night, were distinguished by great earnestness. After the toast to King George was drunk, General Robertson proposed a toast to President Wilson. Ambassador Page then proposed a toast to Secretary Balfour, to which the latter responded.

Praise for Wilson.

In his speech General Robertson said: "The achievement of the American people in entering wholeheartedly and unreservedly into the world struggle is due largely to the efforts of one man—their president. He has been called upon to display unexampled insight, patience and courage. As the result of his success America stands today higher in the eye of the world than ever before.

"The United States is being put to a sterner test than at any other time in her history—a test not of her fighting qualities, for she has always displayed the greatest intelligence, resourcefulness and bravery in that respect, but a test of her ability for big scale modern warfare, and to do it quickly."

"This is not a mere war of armies; this is a war of nations. Every section of the nation has a part to play. It is essential that England and America and all parts work in full co-operation and without friction. I doubt whether the British nation has yet done its whole duty in this respect. The

Rome, July 5.—The sinking of the Argentine steamship Toro last month by a German submarine was announced today in the following official statement:

"The Argentine steamship Toro, laden with wool for Switzerland, was shelled and sunk by a German submarine in the Atlantic outside the barred zone on June 22. The Toro had the Argentine flag painted on her sides, and before the shelling showed papers demonstrating her nationality to the submarine commander.

"A French steamer picked up an officer and thirteen sailors. The captain and the remainder of the crew were landed on July 2."

The torpedoing of the Toro was announced in Buenos Aires on June 25. The Argentine foreign office declared a claim would be entered against Germany.

"All From One Little Want Ad"

"Do I think that advertising pays? I most certainly do," said C. L. Gray, manager of the London branch of the Mason & Risch Co.

"Let me give you one instance. The other day I had a rare bargain in a talking machine with a number of records. It was a fine buy at $50 and I inserted a small advertisement in The Advertiser. The ad came out that evening and before 6 o'clock the machine and records were sold and I had the check of a prominent London man in the cash register. Next morning at least five others came in to buy the machine, and while we were unable to give them that machine we sold two others. All from one little want ad that cost a few cents. I could relate all manner of such experiences. I don't need to say any more about my belief in advertising."

CHI LI GOVERNOR THROWS IN HIS LOT WITH REPUBLICANS

Powerful Army Added to the Forces Hostile to Chinese Monarchy.

London, July 5.—A dispatch from Tien Tsin, China, to the Morning Post, says that Tsao Kun, military governor of Chi Li, whose attitude hitherto had been dubious, repeatedly sent an ultimatum to Gen. Chang Hsun, who restored the emperor, demanding that he withdraw from Peking within 24 hours. Tsao Kun is now mobilizing his forces. His action, it is considered, will endanger the chances of the monarchy.

Tuan Chi Jui, former premier, has reaccepted that post, and is mobilizing 20,000 men in the Province of Shan Tung to march against the monarchists.

Nine alleged traitors, including Prince Pu Lun, chairman of the council of state, have been executed by Chung Hsun.

A dispatch from Shanghai says the military commissioner of Shanghai and the military governor of the Province of Che Kiang refused to recognize the empire.

JAPAN ANXIOUS.

Tokio, July 5.—Viscount Motono, foreign minister, interpolating the Diet yesterday, said the restoration movement in China is causing anxiety in Japan, but as it concerns Chinese domestic policies he believed that peace in China would best be served by Japan remaining a spectator and refraining from interference at least for the present.

DENOUNCES HSUN.

Tien Tsin, July 5.—Tuan Chi Jui, former premier, has issued an eloquent denunciation of the Manchu restoration, accusing Gen. Chang Hsun, who played a leading part in the restoration, of overweening ambition and of committing crimes of inconceivable magnitude. Tuan Chi Jui charges that the general was betraying the Manchus themselves who were favorably situated until he, Tuan Chi Jui, interfered. Tuan Chi Jui said he had intended to remain in retirement, but saw that the Manchus were being used as catspaws for brigandage. Now he calls on all provinces to put out every ounce of strength to save China from Chang Hsun.

ARTILLERY ENGAGEMENTS ALONG FRENCH FRONTS

Paris, July 5.—Today's official statement reports heavy artillery fighting near Moronvilliers, in the Champagne and Hill 304, on the Verdun front.

The statement follows:

"There was rather pronounced activity of the artillery in the region of Moronvilliers, Prunay and Hill 304. There is nothing to report from the remainder of the front.

"An enemy aviator, reached by machine gun fire, fell to earth northwest of Moronvilliers."

"GETTING BACK" AT MITCHELL AIM OF BECK IN REFUSING HIM BYRON WORK

RIGHTS OF A CITIZEN

LETTERS ARE PUBLISHED

Supplies Manager Asked For Fair Treatment—The Reply He Received.

Commissioner F. G. Mitchell of the London Engine Supplies Company, has made public two letters, one written by himself to Sir Adam Beck, when the latter had issued instructions to the architects, Watt & Blackwell, not to have any dealings with F. G. Mitchell, and the reply of Sir Adam to that communication.

Mr. Mitchell points out that his tender would have saved the sanatorium authorities $2,000, a considerable portion of the money for the sanatorium being contributed by citizens of London, but says he is denied the contract through spite. Sir Adam admits that he gave the instructions, professing that Mr. Mitchell had opposed some of his enterprises, and that was the reason he had given the instructions mentioned.

The letters speak for themselves. Mr. Mitchell's was as follows:

To Sir Adam Beck:

My Dear Sir,—I have been informed by Mr. Eggett, the contractor for the plumbing and heating material, for which he had contracted with us, is cancelled, and the reason given is that those goods must not come through the London Engine Supplies Company, Limited, notwithstanding the fact that we had secured this material far below the present market price for him, in order that he would be protected against any advance, all of which was done in good faith, and the securing of such price enabled Mr. Eggett to put in a tender $2,000 below any other tender, thereby saving the citizens of London this difference, and it is hard to believe, sir, that you would issue such instructions as above mentioned, or rather stoop to any personal grievance that might be between yourself and the writer.

Such actions are certainly not in the best interest of the city of London, and as the city has guaranteed a very liberal amount towards this hospital, I think, sir, that every possible dollar should remain in the city and come back to the citizens as far as possible.

This sort of spirit, if true, might be carried to a very far-reaching point.

I have also been informed that you have quoted me as still opposing the London and Port Stanley electrification. I wish to say, sir, that my instructions to the shipping department of this company have been to route everything possible over the London and Port Stanley Railroad, and, furthermore, I have authorized their agent, Mr. McGregor, to have all Welland shipments, or rather carloads routed Wabash, via L. and P. S., and further, all our Ohio shipments were last summer routed by boat to Port Stanley, via L. and P. S. R., because I believe this road belongs to the city of London regardless of what they thought of the electrifying of the same, also regardless of any personal feelings that might exist between you and me, if there are any. I, therefore, claim that personal vengeance, especially where the city is likely to suffer, would be very bad policy to pursue.

I trust that you will see this in the same spirit as I do, and if there are any personal differences between us the city be not asked to suffer by such. I am, sir, Yours very truly,

F. G. MITCHELL.

The reply of Sir Adam Beck was as follows:

Mr. F. G. Mitchell,
Care London Engine Supplies Co.,
London, Ont.

Dear Sir,—Yours of January 8th to hand, and I note what you say respecting the placing of the contract for the material for plumbing the Queen Alexandra Sanatorium.

Inasmuch as you have always opposed public enterprises, viz., the installation of hydro-electric power, the artesian well system, and the electrification of the London and Port Stanley Railway, all of which have been in the interests of the public and the city of London, I feel justified in directing the architect to advise the contractor that all things being equal as to price, quality and conditions, you should not be favored with the contract for the buildings to be constructed by the London Health Association at the Queen Alexandra Sanatorium.

I am not aware that I ever accused you of not patronizing either the hydro-electric or waterworks system or the London and Port Stanley Railway.

I notice in the concluding statement of your letter that you express your anxiety that the citizens of London should not be asked to suffer. In this regard I think it might be in order to ask you to what extent would the citizens have suffered had you been successful in your opposition to the various schemes that I have mentioned.

Yours truly,
A. BECK,
Chairman London Health Association.

"Skinner's Bubble"—Essanay

HAZEL DALY WEARS 40 GOWNS IN FILM.

Motion picture actresses necessarily are far busier bodies than those on the speaking stage. For instance, Hazel Daly wore 40 different costumes in Bryant Washburn's Essanay feature, "Skinner's Bubble." For each one, she was forced to give up hours of her time to her dressmaker, and that was only one production. As many more costumes almost will be required for her next picture. On the speaking stage, however, one set of costumes last an actress throughout the run of her production, which may be a year or more.

"SLOBBERED" OVER BRUTAL BOY, BUT DO NOT AID GIRL

Women of London Assailed by Secretary McElheran.

MISS THOMPSON IN JAIL

And Her Sisters Have Done Nothing To Assist Her from Incarceration.

Secretary R. M. McElheran of the board of education, is strongly of the opinion that Miss Margaret Thompson, who is incarcerated at the county jail for refusing to divulge the whereabouts of Miss Link, should be liberated at once. Incidentally he expresses his ire at the women, who have so far failed to seek relief for Miss Thompson.

"Some time ago, the women, or at least a lot of women in this city, were greatly excited because a young blackguard in this city was to be whipped because of a horrible crime against a little girl," said Mr. McElheran. "They defended this young man and slobbered over a criminal of that type. I have not heard one of them come to the defence of Miss Thompson, whose incarceration in the county jail is a scandalous thing. It is an outrage against the name of this city. Miss Thompson is a decent, respectable woman, who is suffering because she wanted to do right, and the women of the city do not defend her. Yet they defended a brute who outraged a girl. I am glad some of the men of London have had the courage to stand behind this unfortunate woman in her predicament."

The petitions are being circulated to release Miss Thompson, and are being signed by a large number of prominent citizens.

RETURNED MAN IS SENT TO JAIL FOR TWO MONTHS' TERM

James Kain Committed an Assault On Liquor Inspector.

A PLEA FOR LENIENCY

Magistrate Answers That All Classes Are Amenable to the Law.

James Kain, a returned soldier, convicted at his trial two weeks ago of having committed an aggravated assault on Inspector J. E. Keenleyside, was sentenced by Magistrate Graydon today to serve two months in the county jail. J. M. McEvoy appeared for Kain, and asked that a fine alone be imposed, in view of the fact that the assault was committed in an outburst of passion. "Men who have been under shell fire are subject to greater irritability because of the experiences through which they have passed," said Mr. McEvoy. "Every effort has been made to make reparation to Inspector Keenleyside, but we have not been successful in procuring the $70 required.

All Amenable to Law.

In passing sentence Magistrate Graydon pointed to the seriousness of the offence. "As a returned soldier, and one who had done his duty to his country you are deserving of admiration," said the magistrate. "But notwithstanding your good record as a soldier, it would be unfortunate if the impression was to prevail that any one class was less amenable to the law than another. I agree with your counsel that as a result of your experiences at the front you may have been left especially subject to sudden temper. I have been approached by many citizens who believe that returned soldiers should be shown special consideration, and others who believe that they should be dealt with as other individuals. I think I will be dealing fairly by sentencing you to two months in the county jail."

Guilty of Desertion.

Charles Gall and Rudolph Ferrari, both of Windsor, pleaded guilty to desertion, and both were remanded to jail one week for sentence. Gall enlisted with the 99th Battalion, and illegally absented himself from that unit prior to its departure overseas. He was arrested and brought here to military headquarters, where his trial was dispensed with and a full pardon granted when he agreed to attach himself to No. 1 Special Service Company. After a few weeks he absented himself from the company, and was arrested on April 4 last at Windsor. He refused to offer any explanation for his conduct. Major Osborne, representing the military authorities, asked that a severe sentence be imposed, as Gall would not be taken back under any consideration.

Ferrari, who claimed to be only 17 years of age, deserted from the 63rd Battery on April 30 last, went to his home in Windsor, and since has been employed as driver on a bread wagon. His attestation papers showed that he give his age as 19 when he enlisted without the knowledge of his parents. He also refused to make any statement except to plead guilty.

Kept Disorderly House.

A Clarence street man was fined $25 and costs when convicted on a charge of keeping a disorderly house at the above address, John Wilson, teamster, 265 Clarence street, found guilty as a frequenter, was fined $10 and costs or ten days in jail. A young woman whose home is in Toronto, but who has been in the city the last two months, was discharged, the case against her having been withdrawn to allow her to give evidence for the prosecution. The owner of the house protested that he believed the couple was married.

Patrolman William McCullough testified that he had found the pair in a room in "September Morn" attire, and had arrested them at 1 o'clock this morning and brought them to the station.

FOOD CONTROLLER ASKS FOR PRICES OF BREAD IN CITY

Hon. W. J. Hanna, food controller for the Dominion of Canada, today wired Mayor Stevenson, asking for information as to bread prices in London. His telegram is as follows:

"What was the price per pound of common loaf white flour delivered from bakers' wagons in your city today? Please wire answer.

"(Signed) W. J. HANNA, Food Controller."

The telegram was handed over to Inspector McCallum, who notified Mr. Hanna that the price here is 11 cents for a loaf weighing 24 ounces, or a pound and a half, and 6 cents a loaf for 12 ounces, or three-quarters of a pound.

He was taken into No. 53 Casualty Clearing Station on July 2nd, according to the report.

The names of G. A. Mount (602732), 106 Egerton street, and G. Elsey (401-683), also appear in the press casualty list today, as presumed dead.

NEW SYSTEM FOR TAX DISCOUNTS IS PROVING FAILURE

Collections Are $400,000 Behind Those of Last Year.

WORK ALSO INCREASED

Citizens Able To Get Reduction On Each Installment by New Arrangement.

The new system of discounts, adopted by the city council, in the matter of tax collection, is working out very poorly, according to returns at the city hall this morning. Out of a total of $1,506,525.97 on the rolls, just $682,568.82 has been collected by Assistant Collector Charles Turner. This is a little better than 40 per cent of the total amount to be collected.

Last year, the collectors received $1,057,720 on the first installment, or about 80 per cent of the total amount to be collected.

In 1916, and in previous years, the city allowed a discount of approximately 5 per cent for prompt payment of taxes. As a result, the council always had about 75 or 80 per cent of the taxes in hand in the middle of the year, with which to finance itself.

This year, the council decided to add one mill to the tax rate, to be deducted from the bills, if the taxes were paid promptly on the three installments. Citizens found that it would be much to their advantage to pay in three installments, rather than take the discount as in other years, and pay the whole thing up at once.

The city is behind about $400,000 on the transaction, and the work of the tax collecting department increased about one hundred fold.

The city treasurer has been handed $371,714.82 in cash, and $310,854 in checks.

JULY LINEN SALE

Wonderfully Well Fortified To Meet All Demands

The growing scarcity is not reflected here. All over the world the demand for linen grows faster than the flax fields can produce the raw flax. A recent Government order for 8,000,000 yards of linen aeroplane cloth demonstrates and confirms this statement.

With linen prices soaring and fine linens becoming scarcer every day, the price quotations for July sale are remarkably low compared with prices now quoted for similar and inferior grades. They are even more extraordinary when prices sure to come are considered.

RETURNED MEN MOTOR TO DENFIELD AND ARE GIVEN ROYAL WELCOME

More than 100 returned soldiers from the Central Military Convalescent Hospital made a trip to Denfield yesterday afternoon in automobiles loaned by citizens, and spent a most enjoyable afternoon and evening there. The arrangements were in charge of Alderman Frank E. Harley, and about thirty cars loaned by auto-owners of London were on hand to transport the men.

The party left the city about 2:30 o'clock and with good roads and bright weather the journey proved most pleasant. On their arrival in Ilderton, the men were served lemonade and fruit by the people of that village. Continuing on their way, they arrived in Denfield in good time, and went to the Baptist Church, where patriotic songs were sung by the school children, after which an address of welcome was read by Mr. Johnson of Denfield on behalf of the Women's Red Cross Auxiliary, to which Mayor Stevenson, who piloted one of the cars on the trip, replied.

The party was then invited into the basement of the church, where an excellent chicken supper was provided for the men, and during the meal entertainment was provided by the Vanneck orchestra. When the men had done ample justice to the delicacies, Sergt. Joseph briefly thanked the ladies on behalf of the men.

The party then proceeded to the ball park, where an interesting baseball game was staged between the Greysteads of Denfield and Poplar Hill, which was much enjoyed by the soldiers, and which was won by the home team by a score of 5 to 3. The pitcher for the Greysteads broke one finger and his thumb in catching a fly. The proceeds will amount to over $200, which will be donated to patriotic purposes.

A short informal concert in aid of the Red Cross Society then followed, and a number of the soldiers rendered selections. Songs by Messrs. A. Edwards, Wade, R. S. Robson and Wilkinson, readings by Miss Florence Leitch, Miss Alice Harding and Miss Lancaster, and selections by the Vanneck orchestra were among the pleasing numbers on the program.

The following ladies and gentlemen kindly loaned their automobiles for the trip: Mesdames George McLachlan and Mara, Miss L. Dillon, His Worship Mayor Stevenson, Ald. J. E. Harley, Messrs. T. H. Baker, W. J. Blackle, J. A. Brownlee, George F. Copeland, Charleton, Forsythe, D. H. Gillies, John Graham, Wm. Gray, A. H. Keene, E. S. Little, S. R. Manness, Garfield McCormick, John M. Moore, McClurg, E. E. Nobbs, R. F. Pearse, S. J. Radcliffe, A. Talbot, J. Taylor, M. Wyatt and the Service Garage.

MAYOR ASKED TO FORM AERO CLUB BRANCH

Mayor Stevenson announced today that a branch of the Aero Club of Canada would be established in London for the purpose of securing recruits for the Royal Flying Corps Reserve. A local committee will be named, his worship has added the names of W. L. Mara and Charles H. Abbott to his own, as a start on the committee. He will secure half a dozen others, he says, to join him.

"Recruits are wanted for the Flying Corps," said Mayor Stevenson. "I have been requested to form a branch of the Aero Club here, to assist in securing suitable men. We will start to work at once. Formerly it cost a considerable amount of money to join the fliers, but this will be done away with now."

48 CASES OF DISEASE NOW UNDER QUARANTINE

There are signs that the epidemic of infectious diseases, prevalent during the past few months, is decreasing. There were 48 cases in the city at the end of the month of June, of which 26, or more than half, were scarlet fever cases. Only four new cases of the disease were discovered during the week ending June 30. Forty-eight cases are isolated altogether, of which 8 are chickenpox, 11 of diphtheria, 7 of measles, 25 of scarlet fever, 2 of smallpox, 4 of whooping cough, and 1 of scarlet fever and diphtheria. 500 KHAKI-CLAD LADS WILL SOON START TO FRANCE

Lack of Transportation Has Held Units in the City.

TWO DRAFTS OF 100 MEN

21st Regiment, Hussars and Forestry Drafts Will Be Among Those Leaving.

Troops to the approximate number of 500 men are expected to move eastward early next week, warnings to prepare for such a movement having been received within the past few days by the officers commanding the various units concerned.

Several units have been up to sufficient strength, and have reached the required proficiency in their training to enable them to proceed overseas, and apparently the only thing that has been holding them up is the question of transportation. As soon as transportation can be secured, it is expected that they will move on short notice.

The 21st Regiment overseas Company is 100 men strong, the 1st Hussars' Draft-giving Depot has an equal number of men, the Army Medical Corps Training Depot is sufficiently strong to send away a draft of 50 men, and No. 1 Forestry Company is at full strength of 170 men, so that when the order comes to move it is likely that upwards of 500 men will leave the city for points east.

A number of other units are coming along rapidly, and are approaching the full-strength mark, among these the 7th Regiment Overseas Company, but it is not probable that any other than the four above-mentioned units will be ready to send away at the present time.

MR. NORWOOD CERTAIN TO ACCEPT HIS CALL

It is stated on unimpeachable authority that Rev. R. W. Norwood, rector of Cronyn Memorial church, will announce to his vestry on Friday evening that he intends accepting the call tendered him by the Episcopal Church in Philadelphia.

Friends of his say that he will leave London, assuming his new pastorate on September 1.

In the meantime, he will conduct the services in his church here, taking a few holidays in the meantime.

The vestry is convinced that Mr. Norwood will leave, although the members will urge upon him the duty of remaining in London. He has decided to go, and will notify the vestry to that effect.

No steps will be made to fill the vacancy until after Mr. Norwood's departure, it was stated today.

WEDDING BELLS

JENKINS—ANDERSON.

The marriage took place on Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Anderson, 349 Adelaide street, of their daughter, Anna Robinson, to Arthur Jones Jenkins of the Canadian Engineers, in training at the present time at St. Jean, Quebec.

The ceremony was performed in the presence of relatives and a few intimate friends, Rev. W. R. McIntosh, minister of King Street Presbyterian Church, officiating.

Quantities of peonies made festive the rooms for the happy event. The bride, who was given away by her father, was most becomingly gowned in white silk crepe de chine, and carried a shower of bride roses and fern.

Following the nuptial service, a tempting wedding breakfast was served, after which the young couple left on a honeymoon trip east. The bride wore a smart traveling suit of taupe silk, and cream leghorn hat.

The groom, who expects to leave for overseas in a few weeks, was in London last winter, recruiting for the engineers, and it was during his stay that he met for the first time the charming bride.

Mrs. Jenkins will remain with her parents during the absence of her husband overseas.

McHARDIE—GALPIN.

A pretty wedding was solemnized at the residence of the bride's brother, when Miss Ruth, the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. Galpin, was united in marriage to David A. McHardie. Rev. Canon Tucker conducted the ceremony.

The bride was dressed in white crepe de chine over white rosebuds. The bridesmaid, Miss B. Gingey, was gowned in blue crepe de chine, and wore a picture hat.

After a delightful wedding breakfast, the happy couple left on the noon train for the east. On their return they will reside in Hamilton.

AT MOBILIZATION CAMP.—The employment of Capt. J. W. Crane in the Mobilization Camp, Carling Heights, has been approved, according to a statement in camp orders today.

PTE. DAWSON WOUNDED.—J. H. Dawson, 474 Grovernor street, who left London with the 135th Battalion, has been seriously wounded, according to word just received.

MR. KELLY GOES THROUGH.—Howard Kelly, first vice-president of the G. T. R., passed through the city today in his special car Ontario, en route Montreal to Chicago.

SUES FOR SALARY.—Action in the county court has been taken by Albert A. Hewitt, against Ernest A. Cotton to recover $237.25, which the plaintiff claims is due him as salary while in the employ of Cotton.

MEETING CANCELLED.—The meeting of the board of control, scheduled for Friday morning, has been called off, as there is no business to be disposed of. There will be no other council committee meetings this week.

PATS TO ENLIST HERE.—A Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry Depot has been authorized at Camp Borden, and any men enlisted for this depot may be furnished transportation from this district, according to camp orders today.

IN CHARGE OF TRENCH WARFARE.—Lieut. W. H. Bevan, who saw service at the front with the 3rd Field Company, Canadian Engineers, has been appointed to take charge of the instruction in trench warfare at Carling Heights Camp.

BOARD RECONSTITUTED. — The standing medical board at Wolseley Barracks has been reconstructed, and is now composed as follows: Capt. T. J. McNally, A.M.C. Training Depot No. 1, president; and Capt. W. F. Galiow and Lieut. E. N. Ballantyne, as members.

BAND CONCERT SUNDAY. — The Abigail Becker Chapter, I. O. D. E., is giving a band concert on Sunday, July 8th. The proceeds to be devoted to the Soldiers' Comfort Fund. It has been arranged with the 7th Regiment Band to render special patriotic music and a fine program is expected.

BARN BEING INJURED.—Mrs. William Gray may bring an action against the board of education for damages done her stables, at the rear of the Technical School. There is an enormous mass of building material, sand, etc., piled against the building, which is not on the line of the school, and it is cracking in several places.

TEST AS HORSEMEN.—Candidates who have taken the equitation course will be examined at Carling Heights camp on Friday by a board composed of the following officers: Lieut.-Col. Brown, A.A.G. of the district; Lieut.-Col. T. S. Mayberry, 24th Regiment (Grey's Horse), and Major W. Baty, D.A.A. and Q.-M.G. of the district.

STARTS ON FOUNDATION.—Contractor John Putherbough, who is in charge of the construction of the brick-work of the hydro shop, started a gang of men on the foundation work this morning. This work will be rushed, with the expectation that the roof will be on the structure by the time the cold weather sets in this fall. The permit for the work will be issued this week.

PENSION CHECKS DELAYED.—Pension checks for soldiers and soldiers' dependants were expected to arrive today, but owing to some unavoidable delay at Ottawa they did not come. They will be here in a few days however. More than 500 checks are issued by the pension office in this district each month, according to D. E. Campbell, district pensions officer.

UTILITIES BOARD MEETS. — The utilities commission will meet this afternoon with little business to be taken care of. The communication of the city council, asking that the finances of the commission be placed in the hands of City Treasurer James S. Bell, will be dealt with. As a matter of fact Mr. Bell is treasurer for the commission, and he signs the checks for that body, though not as city treasurer.

WILL WORK ALL SUMMER.—Almost everyone is taking a holiday these days after all the hard work during the winter, but the members of the Abigail Becker Chapter, I. O. D. E., have decided that they will continue their meetings all through the summer. There is so much to be accomplished in such limited time in the way of hospital supplies, and the members are making it their duty to keep those who are at the front supplied with the various necessities that they continually require. The members of the chapter will take an active part in the French Flag Day campaign, July 14.

OFFICER FOR ESTATES.—Instead of depending upon the officers in command of units to look after the pay and personal effects of men who die or become deceased while on active service, the militia department has placed these matters in charge of a special officer, to be known as the officer in charge of estates at Ottawa. Frequently it has been impossible for relatives to obtain any trace of personal effects, and from now on these will not be handled through the battalion or other unit concerned, but through the officer in charge of that work at Ottawa. Persons desiring information concerning such matters should communicate with district headquarters in this city, and thence the matter will be taken up with the officer in charge of estates at Ottawa.

BOYS ARE HELPING.—Members of the Live Wire Boys' Club of King Street Presbyterian Church are prone to wonder this year as they turn out of bed betimes to turn into farm work at an early hour if it is really possible that just one year ago they were gay campers on the banks of the Thames, some miles out the Hamilton road, with the most serious problem of life, for the time being, that of rounding up enough to eat, and fetching the water and fuel. They have in the meantime enlisted as soldiers of the soil or are rendering first aid to King and country making munitions. They naturally look back with pleasure to the freedom of camp life of a year ago, in which the drill was all a part of the fun. But even if their backs do ache occasionally and a continual round of duties sometimes oppresses, it wouldn't be fair to say they have regrets. They are too busy for that and not having achieved the age for donning the colors they have the satisfaction of knowing they are doing their part in the war to the best of their ability.

GODERICH TOWNSHIP MAN DEAD IN HOME WITH SHOT IN HEAD

Police Investigating Death of Charles R. Warcup.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Goderich, July 5.—Charles R. Warcup, for 25 years or so a resident on the 2nd concession, Goderich Township, about three miles from town, was found dead this morning by his sister. He was living alone, and his sister was staying at Mr. Bichans. Last night, Warcup asked her to come over to his place this morning, and when she went over she found her brother shot in the head. Coroner Dr. Hunter and the police are investigating the circumstances. It looks like a case of suicide.

SURVEYS COAL OUTLOOK WHILE IN THE FIELDS

W. H. Moore of Lambeth, who has been traveling through the Pennsylvania coal region, writes to The Advertiser from Philadelphia, as follows:

The Coal Situation.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

The coal condition at this end of the line looks serious. I have spent a day in the largest anthracite-producing fields. I learn from high authority that the Pennsylvania Railroad Company and the Lehigh Valley Railroad are reported to have put an embargo on coal to Canada. The reason given is the holding back of cars after they reach Canada. Unless quick relief is given by the returning cars, all the people of Canada will suffer by the action of a few greedy speculators. The United States Cabinet officials and legal advisers are investigating closely the coal conditions. They are not satisfied with the prices demanded by the operators at the mines, $3 per ton. I learned at Wilkesbarre, where from 20 to 30 million tons are produced annually that the men or miners get about $1 to $1.10 per ton, and they pay their helpers and expense of tools, fixtures, explosives, etc., so the miner gets about $3 per day net, possibly a little more or less. Six leading railroads and coal companies control nearly the entire output. The Philadelphia and Reading Railroad is credited with owning about one-half of the anthracite coal area. The Lehigh Valley Company, the Jersey Central, and several others, are big operators. To evade the law passed by Congress some years ago, prohibiting the railroad companies from operating coal mines, it appears that auxiliary companies were organized to handle the output. For instance, it is reported by members of the board of trade at Wilkesbarre, Pa., that the Lehigh Valley Railroad Company transfers at the mines its full output to the Lehigh Valley Coal Sales Company. The Wilkesbarre district, lying in a valley between two spurs of mountains, is about 20 miles long by 4 or 5 miles in width. The coal stratas are found from 500 feet to 2,000 feet below the surface.

Coal will not sell in Canada much below present prices until the evil of holding cars is stopped.

The Duty of the Dominion Government of Canada.

Why don't the Government at Ottawa act immediately with the authorities at Washington to help run down the reasons for the embargo?

All kinds of business and all classes of people, rich and poor alike, are suffering millions of dollars of loss and kindred privations by reason of governmental neglect and a wide-awake supervision.

The editorial from the Philadelphia Evening Telegraph will illumine your readers of the situation here:

REPUDIATES COAL-PRICE AGREEMENT.

Evidently the cost of bituminous coal to the Government and, incidentally, to private consumers, has not been definitely settled by the action of representatives of the Council of National Defence and coal operators in Washington last week.

The price of $2 a ton at the mines is repudiated by both the secretary of war and the secretary of the navy. The former, who is president of the Council of National Defence, characterizes the price as exorbitant, while the latter is buying coal at $2.33 a ton, leaving the price to be determined after the Federal Trade Commission has ascertained production costs.

Under direction from the president, the Federal Trade Commission is now engaged in the investigation. It is upon information which the secretary of war has as to the progress of the work that he bases his statement that $3 a ton at the mines is an unjust and oppressive price. It is apparent that there is no authority which can definitely fix a price without all the facts.

The coal operators were menaced by Government seizure of their operations, and by yielding a large percentage of the price at which they have been selling their product they confessed to unreasonable charges. Whether the reduced figure is still too high will not be determined by the secretary of war or the secretary of the navy, but will be by what the trade commission learns in its investigation of the cost of production.

There can be no disposition on the part of the Government to do an injustice to the coal operators, and it cannot afford to suffer injustice to itself. Intelligent and fair action can only be had upon full information, if the price offered by the operators is repudiated by the Government.

EXPERT AGRICULTURAL JUDGES PRESENT CANE TO J. LOCKIE WILSON

Interesting Finale to Conference Held at O. A. C.

GUELPH, July 4. — At the Ontario Agricultural College at Guelph for the past three days several hundred Ontario Government judges held short courses in field crop, live stock and poultry judging. Before the close of today's session John Gardhouse, the veteran horseman and live stock breeder, stepped on the platform in Massey Hall, and on behalf of the several hundred expert stockmen and agricultorists present, presented Lockie Wilson with a carved gold-headed solid ebony cane, with the following inscription engraved thereon: "Presented to Mr. J. Lockie Wilson, the Friend of the Farmers, by Ontario Expert Judges, Guelph, 1917."

Mr. Gardhouse, in a brief speech, outlined the many new departures inaugurated by Mr. Wilson during the ten years he has held office under the Ontario Government. Among them were the standing field crop, garden and Ontario vegetable growers' competitions, departmental short courses, the Ontario Plowmen's and Horticultural Association, together with the splendid reports issued each year from Mr. Wilson's branches.

Mr. Wilson warmly thanked his friends for their confidence and kindness, and said that little could have been done by him had not his legion of friends stood solidly on either side of him, and working as they had for a decade, shoulder to shoulder, something had been accomplished, and much remained to be done.

MYSTERIOUS FIRE

Princeton Rink Has Close Call From Flames When Papers Ignite.

PRINCETON, July 4.—Timely discovery by Mrs. Davis Sen. of a fire in the rink undoubtedly prevented a serious blaze. Mrs. Davis noticed smoke, and on investigation it was found that a pile of papers and magazines, collected by the children of the school to be sold for Red Cross purposes, was on fire.

The origin of the blaze is a mystery, but it is possible that children playing with matches may have been the responsible agents.

The wooden buildings and the adjacent barns of Messrs. Davis and Pellows would have been excellent fuel for the blaze had it not been discovered and extinguished when it was.

WEDDED, HAD PICNIC, THEN WENT TO A MOVIE SHOW

Local Couple Spends Honeymoon at Springbank and Were Just as Happy as Though They Had Gone to Some Swell Resort.

There are war brides and then again there are simply war brides. Economy is the watchword of the latter kind, and it starts right with the wedding breakfast and the trip too.

Yesterday afternoon shortly after 1 o'clock a local divine, who of is stated marries half the young couples in London that decide even in war times two can live cheaper than one, was called upon to put the embarrassing question to a London girl as to whether she would obey her lord and master in sickness and in health, etc. However, she promised, and all was serene. The knot was handed for his holiday duds and half an hour later was ensconced in a Springbank car. On arriving at the park he was more than surprised to see the newlyweds moving across the sward hand in hand, the bride clutching a good-sized shoe box, containing the wedding breakfast.

It was a fine, happy and economical wedding trip. In the cool of the evening the return trip was made to London, and the last seen of the bride and groom was when they entered the darkened pit of a movie theatre.

To make the story complete it would be a nice shining example to other newlyweds to state that the happy couple (all brides and grooms are said to be happy in the columns of a newspaper), bought a few war loan certificates with the money saved on the wedding tour. It is to be hoped they did.

PICNIC OF W. M. S.

Annual Gathering Held at Beechwood Church Yesterday.

NAIRN, July 4.—The regular meeting of Sarnia Presbytery and the annual picnic of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society were held at Beechwood Church here today. Rev. James Menzies, a native of Nairn, who has spent some time as a missionary in Honan, China, and is now home on furlough, gave a fine address on the work being done and conditions in China. Rev. Mr. Lawrie, of Forest, also spoke. About $100 was collected for mission work. The picnic was a splendid success.

DENIES MR. NUTTER SENT HIM A LETTER ABOUT CHECK DEAL

It was rumored today that Arthur E. Nutter would make a defence of his actions as architect of the Technical School, and would produce evidence in an effort to show that he was not guilty of any wrong doing.

It was hinted that there was a letter in existence by which it would be proved that Mr. Nutter acknowledged the receipt of the check, specifying that it was for certain work which he did for Contractor Putherbough in a private capacity.

Contractor John Putherbough denies absolutely having received any such letter from Mr. Nutter.

MONKEYS DISPLACE POODLES AS PETS

London Girl Carries One Into Ice Cream Parlor.

The secret is out. The organ grinders, who of late times gone by used to enveigle coppers from the public via the monk, have not been seen on local streets for some time and why? The monkeys are being grabbed up by young ladies, who in former years used to cuddle poodle dogs and bushy-tailed cats to their bosoms.

One jabbering little fellow is proud to be owned by a London girl, who created quite a sensation in an ice cream parlor yesterday when she trailed in with the monk on a chain.

The season for nuts is not over, and the monkey was well fed before his mistress emerged refreshed by a Coca Cola.

FEARING ARREST, MAN TRIES TO END HIS LIFE

WINDSOR, July 4.—John Armstrong, 28 years old of St. Thomas, fearing arrest for non support of his wife attempted to end his life here early this morning by taking paris green.

Armstrong was lying unconscious on the lawn of a Ouellette avenue residence when found by a passing chauffeur. He was removed to Hotel Dieu in police ambulance and is expected to recover.

According to the police, Armstrong visited his wife here with the idea of settling differences. His failure to do so caused his action.

PREPARING DETAILS FOR "FRANCE'S DAY"

Out-of-Season Squall Does Heavy Damage at Ancient Capital.

An enthusiastic meeting of the members of the "France's Day" general committee, conveners of sub-committees, and captains of teams, was held today in Cronyn Hall when glowing reports were presented of progress in connection with preparations for flag day on July 14th, of which the proceeds will go to the French Red Cross for sick and wounded French soldiers and prisoners of war.

Some thirty-five captains have been secured, and these were allotted their district's. Mrs. J. B. McKillop has accepted the convenership of the automobile committee, and a feature of flag day will be a grand parade at the noon hour of decorated cars. Mrs. Gemmill is convener of the committee to make tri-color badges to be worn by the taggers, of whom, it is expected, there will be a regular army.

Several artists of ability have come to the assistance of the advertising committee, of which Mrs. D. C. MacGregor is convener, and are making striking original advertising posters, which will be placed early next week.

A letter has been sent to each clergyman in the city asking him to announce the campaign for French relief from his pulpit on Sunday next. Mrs. Donald McLean was named convener of a sub-committee to assist the advertising committee.

Two or three managers of picture theatres have expressed their willingness and pleasure to display announcements of flag day, and the object for which it is being held on screens in their houses next week. It is expected that others will follow their example.

ALL STORES CLOSED.

ST. THOMAS, July 4.—Today was the first full half holiday. The entire business being suspended at 1 o'clock. Every businessman in the city has agreed to observe each Wednesday afternoon in July and August as a holiday.

MESOPOTAMIAN FORCE IS STANDING HEAT WELL

No Effort Spared to Make the Troops Comfortable.

LONDON, July 4.—An official statement relating to the campaign in Mesopotamia was issued tonight, reading:

"On June 28 a convoy proceeding from Bakuba, was attacked by Turkish irregulars, but the enemy was driven off with loss.

"June, July and August being the hottest months of the year, no effort has been spared to render life in the Tigras valley as bearable as circumstances permit. All reports indicate a great improvement in the comfort and health of the troops. The weekly returns of the sick continue to show a decided improvement over the corresponding figures of last year. Some relief may be expected from the northwest wind which usually blows throughout part of July and August."

DECLARES THE LIBERALS WILL BE AUTONOMISTS

MONTREAL, July 4.—"The time is not far distant in Canada when the parties will be formed on a new basis, one accepting imperialism as its program, and the other the complete autonomy of Canada," declared L. A. David, M. L. A., at an anti-conscription meeting in the Massomenve market hall tonight, at which he and Oscar Gladu were the principal speakers.

Mr. David declared his belief that the Liberal party would be the party favoring complete autonomy for Canada, despite whatever divisions come in the present crisis in its ranks. Those who would accept the principle of autonomy with greatest facility would be the Liberals of the province of Quebec, and their numbers would be united with groups from the other provinces.

MR. WATTERS' PLAN.

THE president of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada is a thorough radical on conscription. He insists that if the man power of the country is conscripted, the Government must also take over the entire wealth and material resources, that every mine, mill and railway must be devoted to war service; that everything in the nature of a private industry must cease operation forthwith. He proposes moreover, that if the Government does not take action the labor organizations should take the initiative by going on strike from one side of the Dominion to the other, and thus paralyze all business.

Mr. Watters, it may be presumed, does not propose to overlook anything, although it may be noted that he does not ask to have the agricultural wealth of the country conscripted, and does not suggest any method for tying the farmers' hands.

In a general way, the proposal has merit, but only in a general way. To enforce it literally, and especially in the way Mr. Watters suggests, would be fatal not only to the business interests of Canada but to the labor interests. No one should realize this better than Mr. Watters himself. To plunge Canada into socialism overnight would be to turn the wheels of progress back for years. The wealth of a country does not consist in the money in circulation, or in the brick, concrete and steel which houses its machinery. It does not consist of the machinery which turns out the factories' products, or of the goods on the merchants' shelves. These are only tokens of wealth. It is the business organization making the buildings and machinery profitable which contributes to the wealth of the country. This organization is composed of the men who do the work and the men who direct it, and to break it is to impoverish the country. It is a co-partnership in which both parties are essential to each other and to the commonwealth.

If Canada's business organization, speaking broadly, were wiped out, the country would be in the same condition as before Christopher Columbus had his happy dream. Would Mr. Watters like to start on a 400-year marathon to catch up again?

It is to prevent such a catastrophe that the Government is to adopt a selective method of conscription. Canada's business must go on so that she can pay her war bills. Bankruptcy would be the inevitable result of business disruption, just as truly for the nation as for the individual. The men who are not essential in keeping business going are to be sent overseas; those who are essential will be kept at home. In view of the needs of humanity the labor organizations can ask nothing fairer.

WEALTH CONSCRIPTION.

WITH CONSCRIPTION of men a certainty, the call for conscription of wealth grows more insistent, but the term "conscription of wealth" is being greatly abused. Just as it is not proposed that the country be robbed of its ultimate man-power, so clear-thinking advocates of conscription of wealth do not propose that the country be made financially bankrupt. It is intended that all the men who can be spared, above the number absolutely necessary to carry on the country's affairs, be enlisted; so it is intended that the earnings of individuals and corporations be taken, in excess of a reasonable amount. The proposal, in short, is for a graded income tax which will make the very wealthy bear the burden of the war expenses.

In particular, it is hoped, that those who have grown wealthy out of the war will be required to pay in proportion as the world catastrophe has favored them, and to a greater extent than those who have made wealth by keeping the country's industries normal. There will be a howl of righteous indignation from the people if the men who have become wealthy through war speculation are not made to give up more than 99 per cent of that which they gained. Rumors of millions made in speculation in wheat and other foods must be investigated, and the millions must be regained for the public treasury; and this must be done before there can be any claim on legitimate earnings.

SUMMER HOLIDAYS.

WITH the close of weepy June the idea of summer holidays becomes insistent. In olden times the poet wrote that "in Aprille, folk long to go on pilgrimages," but we plan in April to go in the dog days, we in the towns, that is,—the farmer earns his rest at another season.

The flight from office, shop or school was up to 1914 an unmixed bliss, a recess that brought a grown man back to something like the carefree schoolboy outrushing from classroom and its durance vile. In the last four summers this annual intermission of labor has become increasingly uncertain and even where the opportunity has not failed, the will to use it and the spirit of enjoyment have grown hesitant. Still, the practical need and value of relaxation in the hot season have not diminished as work in war time speeds up, however we may be willing to forego the more liberal benefits of a fortnight off the grind. So at this time the heart turns desirously to old and new scenes of delight or change.

School boys and girls, at any rate, take a hop, skip and jump into the long vacation with the ancient abandon. Childhood knows no more change in its temper than the wild bees and flowers. One of Edmund Vance Cook's amusing pieces represents the soliloquy of a lad who enters on the term of freedom full of his mother's conviction that what he needs after the arduous toil in school is "a good, long rest," and considering a dozen strenuous ways of putting in that rest. This summer many a larger boy and girl will take a potato or berry patch as their holiday game, and be none the worse for such semi-serious play. Someone once devised a game of shaving golf, keeping score of the strokes to various sections of the facial area under soap. Boys and girls ought to make exciting matches in potato or raspberry golf, both handicap and scratch.

Almost any man of serious years will feel a little nervous this summer about a mere dolce far niente vacation, and yet it is often not the worst thing, if you can manage it. Many men and women will put in their holiday at "producing," but there are also some who might about as well close down their serious activities for a spell. He who has planned his work will usually be in no hurry, and will have his time for easy repose. It is the level-headed, deliberate character who can find hours of leisure even amidst the crises of life. Pictures of men at the front show our soldiers off duty sometimes placidly fishing in the lazy old streams of rural France. And do they never so far forget the girls of Canada as to exchange broken sentences or even a laughing word to be still more broken than its speech, with the fascinating daughters of that fair country? A little fishing, then, or even a little discreet summer flirtation may still be allowed to the workers at home if they can get away from desk or bench for a brief season.

To the more serious and to the frivolous as well, reading always makes an appeal. It is a sheer delight to bury one's self in a book, or in book after book for a week at a time, with nothing to break the solid joy but calls of recreation. In this midsummer dream of literature let the elements be mixed, the solid with the light, a little more solid than usual in a year of war and semi-centennial. J. Storer Clouston is the man for mere fun, with no taint of a moral or an uplift. Then there are graver readings. A lady with a noble forehead appeared one New Year's day unto a public librarian, announcing her purpose of undertaking some more serious course of reading, something decidedly more solid and improving. Upon his eager inquiry as to what line she had in view, she disclosed her projected field of study as palmistry. Well, then, a pinch of palmistry or something still more severe may be added to the literary pudding a la hammock.

But this year we owe a birthday present to our country, or is it a golden wedding present to those who were joined together in 1867 and who, we pray, may never be put asunder? Whichever way we take it, what better present can most of us make to our Canada than to give time to learn her history, especially the period of confederation and the economic, social, constitutional, political, artistic and spiritual developments since 1867? We can heroically set ourselves to read "Canada and Its Provinces," the "Chronicles of Canada," or "The Makers of Canada;" if less heroic, we may read the agreeable little book by Mr. M. O. Hammond on the "Leaders of Confederation," or Mr. Bridle's "Sons of Canada." A holiday will be made memorable, in this jubilee year, by the devotion of a part of it at least to the pious study of our country's modern history.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

To the making of speeches there is no end—at Ottawa.

What a pity it is that offensive movements by the Allies seldom occur in the east and west simultaneously.

Those politicians who are so eager to speak on conscription don't appear to be interested in what others have to say.

"We all hope to be taken prisoners," says a German soldier, writing to his people. That tells the tale of lost morale.

Because the King and Queen of Spain cancelled an engagement to attend a polo game, it is thought the situation is serious. If war broke out they might even go so far as to miss a bull fight.

Hindenburg says he wishes enemy statesmen had the same knowledge of the Austrian monarchy as he has and they would then abandon their present plans. Evidently he is keen on this abandonment.

Baron Hardinge appears to have had little real authority as far as the Mesopotamia expedition was concerned. He was to some extent in the position of the king, and who blames the king for the Gallipoli blunder?

British officers help to celebrate Independence Day at New York, and King George ordered the American flag to be flown from the British Houses of Parliament on that day. Next thing is for Roman Catholics to join in celebrating July 12th.

BISHOP ENDOWS CHARITIES.

TRENTON, July 4.—The greater part of the estate of the late Bishop James A. McFaul of the Catholic diocese of Trenton is left by a will probated with the surrogate to carry on charitable and religious work by the bishop's successor, who is yet to be named. The value of the bishop's estate is not given.

THE WINNING SIDE
[By Louise Oliver.]

Tom got out of his car at the gate, and went up the gravel path to the house. The great trees, arching overhead, formed a roof of bright yellow-green. All around was spring, from the white and pink orchard on the hillside to the robin's nest indifferently hidden under the eaves of the house.

Just as he stepped on the porch the front door opened, and a girl came out. Tom was very much surprised. He had hardly expected this. She was his next-door neighbor in the city, and their relations may be guessed from what followed. At first neither spoke. Tom politely lifted his hat, and the girl raised her chin about two inches. Then the silence became embarrassing. Tom asked, "Is Mrs. Caruthers at home?"

"Yes, she is," answered the girl stiffly.

"Do you think I could see her?"

"You probably could!"

"I mean, may I see her?"

"I suppose you may. Will you come in?"

"Oh, I'll just wait out here, thank you," he said, seating himself on a cane rocking-chair as the girl disappeared indoors.

"Oh, Mrs. Caruthers," cried Edith, rushing upstairs where an old lady was quietly knitting by a front window.

"Yes, my dear! I see we have company. I was just going down. Can't you stay a few minutes longer? It's early and——"

"No, I can't stay, thank you, but I shouldn't if I could. I know who that man is, Mrs. Caruthers, and I want to warn you against him. He's come to get an option or something on your land. I don't know what it is, of course, but I feel sure he's up to something. Whatever it is, you can count on it he'll come out ahead, and you will lose, so if I were you I wouldn't see him at all. I'll tell him you are busy if you like."

"How do you happen to know so much about him, Edith?"

"They live next door to us in town, and dad had an awful time with them about the line between the lots. Dad had to take it to court, and the Wilsons acted awfully mean about it. Just because they had had a new hedge put in and some shrubs, they didn't want to move them, but there were six inches of ground coming to us, father said. But the Wilsons must have done something, for the decision was in their favor, and dad won't let us speak to them now."

"But why are you so hard on the young man, dear? Perhaps, in fact most likely, he had nothing to do with it."

"It doesn't matter. I don't ever intend to have anything to do with any of them, if I can help it, and I really think you ought not to, either. You'll see. He'll sell you bogus stock or something. But I think I'll slip over home the back way now. Do you care if I go through the orchard and get some blossoms?"

"Certainly not, dear; help yourself. There! I must go down now and see my visitor."

Edith could not reach many blossoms from the ground, so, since the trunk of an apple tree was crooked and bent, she crawled up into the branches. What heaven it was up among the fragrant pink blossoms! She spied an oriole's nest hanging like a purse just above her head, and spent some time watching the father and mother birds dart in and out with food for their babies.

Then suddenly she realized that some one was below and, looking down, she recognized "that Wilson man." He had a spade and a box and was looking cautiously in every direction—except up. He didn't dream of her nearness, evidently.

"I knew it!" thought Edith, triumphantly. "I knew he wasn't here for any good. Now, what do you suppose it is—money or the flat silver? He'll come back some night and dig it up. I'm sure he has taken something!"

Tom began to dig—not very deep, but a little hole just big enough for the box. Then he covered it over with dirt and departed.

Edith waited until he had gone and then, forgetting her blossoms, slipped down the tree and dug up the loose earth with her bare hands. The box, of light pasteboard, came up easily, its contents featherweight. Now what in the world do you suppose? Bonds, maybe—or perhaps paper money.

"I'll go right down and tell Mrs. Caruthers," she declared. "There's nothing to be gained by waiting. Dear knows—maybe he's gone now. No, there's his car. We'll call him in and confront him with the evidence."

But Tom was already in the house.

"I—I saw you burying this in the orchard, Mr. Wilson," said Edith accusingly, coming into the living room with the box, "and I thought I'd find out what it was. You see, we all think a lot of Mr. and Mrs. Caruthers and I couldn't run the risk of their losing anything." She handed the box to Mrs. Caruthers.

"You open it dear. I can't see very well."

"Do you mind if—if I go out on the porch?" asked Tom. "It might be better for everybody."

"No. I think you'd better stay here," said Edith firmly, taking off the lid.

Tom whistled and walked to a window. Mrs. Caruthers went on quietly knitting.

Edith picked up an envelope—the only thing in the box. It was addressed to her. Queer! She opened it and read:

"Dear Miss Edith—I saw you go up into the tree. I hope you won't come down until I get this written and posted. (?) Grandma says you don't like me. I knew it before But we Wilsons always get what we go after, and I've made up my mind that I love you and am going to marry you. I hadn't a chance in town with the families scrapping, but with grandma on my side we're going to do what we can to get you.

"If you'll only give me a little hope I'll see that the pater digs up the hedge in town and gives yours the six inches. Surely that is an inducement. For further references see grandma. Yours devotedly, Thomas Caruthers Wilson."

Ruth had a sense of humor. She sat down and laughed hysterically.

"I've fallen into my own trap," she acknowledged ruefully. And then, "What do you think of him, Mrs. Caruthers? Do you advise me to fight the case or give in at once?"

"Suit yourself, dear. But, remember, the Wilsons never lose."

WILTON GROVE

WILTON GROVE, July 4.—The garden party held last evening was a decided success. Appropriately decorated refreshment booths were in place and a concert was given in a commodious tent, the open sides allowing the crowd outside to enjoy the program. C. Kenney entertained the audience in his usual pleasing manner, while Misses Clowes and MacGregor rendered piano and violin selections. The Seaforth quartet was well received.

The union picnic of St. Andrew's and First Church, Westminster, will be held to Port Stanley on Tuesday, July 11.

Gordon Crawford, of Wilton Grove, now in the entymological work in Strathroy, has been notified of winning the degree of M.Sc. from the university of Illinois. Mr. Crawford, on graduating from O. A. C., won a scholarship from Illinois and continued his studies there. During the present year in addition to receiving his degree he was offered a scholarship for the ensuing year.

Miss C. Nichol, one of the members of the Fergus High School staff, has left for Toronto to take the summer course in physical culture.

PATRIOTIC SERVICE.

CAMLACHIE, July 4.—A Patriotic Service was held in Knox Church, Sunday morning, and the universal patriotic programs used. The superintendent of the Sunday school, R. S. Jardine, presided, and Rev. R. Simpson and Dr. Brown gave two appropriate addresses. William Allan gave the assigned reading, and the choir led in the music, and rendered an anthem.

CONSCRIPTION VOTE IS COMING TODAY; EXPECTED TO PASS

Majority of About Forty Is Anticipated.

GOVERNMENT MINUS CASH

Two Months' Supply Granted, But Senate Must Sanction It.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

OTTAWA, July 4. — Parliament expects tomorrow to divide upon conscription. There were enough eager orators to provide the House with a long sitting today, and enough speeches have been prepared to defer the division tomorrow until a late hour.

The Government expects a majority in the vicinity of forty. The referendum will be beaten by a far narrower count, as a good many men will vote for the Laurier amendment, referring the bill to the people, and will then vote for the Borden bill applying compulsion to the people.

The committee stage follows, and is expected to occupy the attention of the House for a week. It will be a fortnight before the Senate can expect to get a chance at the measure.

Daylight-saving waits on conscription. Sir George Foster stated to the House that before the law putting forward the clocks an hour would be pushed, the bill to raise 100,000 infantrymen would have to be out of the way.

Government Is Strapped.

However, even conscription has to make way for other legislation occasionally, and one of the occasions came today. The Government has to have money with which to keep the country running. The fiscal year terminated with March, and at that time Parliament gave a three months 'supply. This was good until the end of June only. This morning the Government was without funds. The prime minister went to the Opposition leader and arranged for a fresh supply. Money for two months was agreed upon as a fair advance. The finance minister stated his case to Parliament and the House voted the money. The Government cannot get its hands upon the funds, however, until the Senate gets back next week and gives its sanction, and the administrator comes down and gives the royal assent. There will be few bills paid by the Government for some time to come.

One Hysteria to Another.

The conscription debate passed into the hands of E. M. MacDonald, Liberal, of Nova Scotia. He declared against conscription, and criticized the Government for lack of foresight and hysteria. Early in the war there should have been a conference with the authorities of England and France to settle upon the program Canada was to follow throughout the war, he said. There should have been mobilization of wealth, organization of production and food supply, transportation should have been perfected, and there should have been a great program of shipbuilding arranged. There has been the machine gun hysteria, three election hysterias, when ballots were sent to England for the soldiers to vote; a hysteria of dispute between the premier and Sir Sam Hughes, and finally the conscription bill was hysteria.

It should have provided definite information upon the classes to be exempted, for at present it was merely assumed that farmers, railwaymen, miners, fishermen, lumbermen and others engaged in essential occupations would be barred from military service. Volunteering had lagged, but had not failed, and for the failing off the Government was to blame for the manner in which it had handled pensions, assigned pay and separation allowances.

Mere Political Moves.

The conscription bill and the coalition proposals were political moves by the Government, said Mr. MacDonald. The exemption tribunals would be named under the same political influence that had inspired the compulsory service bill. Mr. MacDonald asked the prime minister if it was the intention of the Government to have the agricultural classes of the country exempt from service.

"The honorable gentleman can draw his own conclusions; this is not the time to discuss the matter," said Sir Robert.

Mr. MacDonald stated that the prime minister had given assurance that there would be no conscription. What the country would do in a general election was indicated by the recent result in Saskatchewan, where the slogan of the Conservatives had been "vote for Willoughby and Borden." The prime minister had shown himself eager to tax the poor and willing to let accumulated wealth escape. Mr. MacDonald concluded by declaring that if Sir John A. Macdonald were alive today he would be against conscription.

Big Bugs Want Conscription.

Roch Lanctot of Quebec said that when the national service cards were issued he had warned his electors that conscription would follow. He noticed that the big bugs, who were making money out of the war, wanted the war to continue, and all favored conscription. He would have all the money taken from the millionaires but $100,000 for each, this money would provide the funds with which to send 100,000 men to the front, pay them $3 a day and provide for the wives, children and dependents they left behind. As a French-Canadian he would not have one of his people go to the war until they had been given their rights in Canada.

"Not all of the Huns are in Germany," said he. "There are some in Ontario and Manitoba. The French-Canadians should stay home and await developments."

Clarence Jameson, Conservative of Nova Scotia, held that in time of peace a referendum would be right, but now it was faltering and dangerous. He favored conscription, as it would send to the front the men who best could be spared, and keep in Canada those that were required.

J. J. Hughes, Liberal of Prince Edward Island, said that in fighting for the liberties of the world Canadians should be careful not to lose their own. He declared for referendum.

J. A. Decarries, Conservative of Quebec, declared for the six months' hoist.

Son Convinces Father.

W. S. Loggie, Liberal of New Brunswick, is going to vote for conscription. His mind was made up for him by one of his three soldier sons, who wrote to his sister, who is nursing soldiers in a hospital near Paris: "What is the news regarding coalition and conscription? I am strong for conscription myself. What does father think of it?"

"That decided me," said Mr. Loggie. "I cannot see my way clear to vote for referendum." Mr. Loggie said he could not see that we were fighting for England, but held that we are fighting for ourselves. He wanted to know what would be done when the bill became law, and suggested that the two parties should get together and give an extension of the parliamentary term, that there should be renewed effort to arrange coalition, and, if necessary, Sir Wilfrid Laurier should be made head of the coalition government. There should be a final effort to get enough men through volunteering, and finally, if this failed, men should be taken by selective draft.

A. A. Mondou, Conservative of Yamaska, declared against conscription, and announced his intention hereafter of following Sir Wilfrid Laurier, whom, he declared, to be the greatest of all French-Canadians.

Levi Thompson, Liberal of Qu'Appelle, stated that he would vote for the referendum, and afterward for the compulsory service bill.

DIVINE SERVICE FOR HENSALL ORANGEMEN

Lodge Members There Will Parade to Church Next Sunday.

HENSALL, July 4.—Orangemen of the town will have divine service on Sunday, July 8, when they will be addressed by Rev. Mr. Moore of St. Paul's Church. The lodge members will march to the church headed by the Citizens' Band.

The cloudburst early in the week had the effect of covering a number of fields in low sections. In the village for some time it taxed the drains to the limit. The downpour was so great that it washed in on the sides of foundations and cellars. The fact that in the northern part of the county considerable loss was sustained by carrying away of bridges and culverts was sufficient for thankfulness for the little damage, in comparison, done here.

The holiday passed quietly here, there being no local celebration. Large numbers left by train, carriage and motor for the lake, the greater portion going to Grand Bend. The Rebekah Lodge of Oddfellows, accompanied by a number of Oddfellows, held a very successful and largely-attended picnic at Grand Bend. A fine day's sport was reported by the local bowlers for the holiday games.

Rev. Mr. McIntosh of Toronto, occupied the pulpit of the Carmel Church on Sunday. Rev. Mr. McConnell of Chatham is expected to preach on Sunday, July 8.

The large new drain on Brock street, west of the railway, is rapidly nearing completion.

The school grounds are much improved by the recent leveling and grading. The new flagpole and a new flag, the gifts of Principal Wm. McKay, will soon adorn the grounds.

DISCOVER BODY OF GIRL LOST MONDAY

INGERSOLL, July 4.—The finding of the body of Miss Myrtle Petrie, the victim of Monday night's tragedy on the Thames river, at 11:15 this morning, brought to an end a search that had been continued almost without interruption and with unremitting energy, from the time of the fatality.

While it seemed that everything possible had already been done, a reward of $50 as an incentive, was offered by Mayor Buchanan. There were the usual searchers, as well as others, and at 11:15 the body was found probably three hundred yards from the spot where the unfortunate girl went down. The discovery was made by Harry Petrie, an uncle of the unfortunate girl, assisted by Fred Dickson a member of the fire department.

MANITOBA GAINS $80,000 YEARLY ON SCHOOL LANDS

Dominion Government Raises Its Interest Payment.

WINNIPEG, July 4.—The Dominion Government has acceded to an application made by the Manitoba Government to pay five per cent, instead of three per cent, interest on school land moneys. This announcement was made today by Hon. Edward Brown. This means, in brief, that the revenue of Manitoba is now increased approximately $80,000 per year, an additional two per cent being given on a four-million-dollar investment. This additional money will be put into school improvements.

It is confidently expected that the Dominion Government will accord the same treatment to the other western provinces.

SASKATCHEWAN SOLDIERS NOMINATE MAJOR ASHTON

REGINA, Sask., July 4.—At a largely attended meeting of the Regina and district branch of the Great War Veterans' Association, held tonight, the name of Major E. J. Ashton, of the military hospitals' commission was unanimously accepted to be choice of men overseas as one of Saskatchewan Legislators under the soldier's representation bill of last session.

A week ago the association named Private Kirk, but, he having withdrawn Major Ashton received unanimous support.

Major Ashton is a veteran of the Boer war, and in the present war has seen considerable active service.

ARMIES OF RUSSIA TO BE WELL SUPPLIED

PETROGRAD, July 4.—M. Stephanoff, temporary minister of trade and industry, today received John F. Stevens and the other members of the American railroad commission to discuss the best methods by which America may assist Russia. Mr. Stevens inquired about the present system of supplying the army and the civilian population, and M. Paltchinski, assistant minister, gave a detailed description of it. The members of the American commission expressed satisfaction at what they learned, and promised energetic co-operation in improving the system of supply.

LADY BORDEN SLIGHTLY INJURED IN COLLISION

OTTAWA, July 4.—An electric brougham, containing Lady Borden, wife of Premier Sir Robert Borden, and Mrs. J. G. Foster, wife of Hon. J. G. Foster, consul-general for the United States in Canada, collided with a street car this evening at the corner of Queen and O'Connor streets. The front left wheel was torn off the machine. Lady Borden injured her wrist slightly in bringing the vehicle to a standstill, but was otherwise uninjured. Mrs. Foster is suffering slightly from shock.

Enthusiastic Convention Held at Durham, With Stirring Addresses.

DURHAM, July 4.—An enthusiastic convention of South Grey Liberals was held here today. J. P. Telford, barrister, of Durham, is the new president, and a woman, Mrs. J. S. Knechtel of Hanover, is 1st vice-president. Thomas H. Binnie of Glenelg was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

W. A. Mearns, M.D, Hanover, candidate for the local House, and W. H. Wright, candidate for the Commons, addressed the meeting, but the chief interest was in the addresses of Thomas Marshall, M.P.P. for Lincoln, and Mrs. Hyslop, organizer for the Ontario Women's Liberal Association.

Mrs. Hyslop gave an inspiring address on recent legislature, feeling sure the advent of woman to the ballot would tend to the betterment of the country and make cleaner politics. Women had previously been relegated to prayer as the avenue where they would exercise the greatest usefulness. Now they were rising from their knees to take action with the ballot. She complimented N. W. Rowell, whose policies had been largely adopted by the Conservative party.

Mr. Marshall dealt with the incapacities of the departments of education and agriculture, and the bungling of Government House. He demanded the abolition of model schools, and claimed that Ontario is now a laughing-stock compared with other provinces as regards education. He had warm praise for Mr. Rowell for legislation passed that was really due to him.

Dr. Mearns, local candidate, stated he would maintain a consistent attitude on every platform in the riding. He wanted a clean election, and with proper organization was sure of redeeming the riding.

W. H. Wright, the federal candidate, claimed that in allying with the Nationalists the Conservative party had sowed with the wind and was reaping the whirlwind. He thought the outlook similar to that previous to the 1896 election for the Liberals, and asserted that scarcely a man could be found completely satisfied with the Borden Government. He predicted a general election in the fall, and thought a greater degree of independence would then be shown than ever before.

WAR TIES BIND

essential things are: first, the nation must be given clear orders what to do and sufficient information to enable it to carry out the orders. Second, the orders must be obeyed, whether congenial or not; third, there must be mutual confidence between the classes and the industrial population as in the army and the navy.

Endurance Means Victory.

"There comes a time in warring nations when the strain is heavy, when a little extra effort will suffice to turn the scale. In this war final victory will incline to the side that can best endure.

"America's entry bring us fresh hope, fresh reserves of strength and power. Germany says that America will not count. It is our business together to show her that America will count for a great deal—and I shall be greatly surprised if America fails.

"One hundred and forty-one years ago she declared independence. That declaration lost us a colony, but today we know it won us a friend in deed. President Wilson has before him a greater task than that of Washington, namely, by following the principles whereon independence was established to lay the foundations for a newer and better world."

Balfour's Tribute.

Secretary Balfour said:

"The whole world has for one hundred and forty-one years which elapsed since the declaration of independence, watched with admiration and witnessed the greatest expansion in population, wealth, power and material and spiritual resources in the history of any nation. We of the British nation regard this expansion with pride born of the fact that the thirteen colonies were British, and that it was the British wars with Spain, Holland and France which gave the thirteen colonies the opportunity to develop into a great country without European interference.

"We cannot look back on the separation of England and the United States as one of our political successes. No doubt something could be said for those on our side who fought for unity—that is, the cause to which Americans themselves sacrificed rivers of blood. The mistake we made was in supposing unity possible without common freedom. All I can say in excuse of my forefathers is that utterly defective as our colonial policy was it was far ahead of that of any other country. Profoundly as we misconceived relations which could bind the colonies and the mother country we miscalculated less than any other imperial mother.

Canadian Union.

"We have just been celebrating the fiftieth anniversary of Canadian union. There is a great difference between fifty years and a hundred and fifty. It took us a long time to learn that if you want to make an empire of the Anglo-Saxon race you must found it on terms of absolute equality.

"It is impossible to dwell upon how many ills would have been spared if in 1776 those who preceded us could have seen the true path of political wisdom, and the people of a hundred millions and infinite resources never separated from us. If it could only have been a friendly separation. It would have been an infinite gain if there could have been no sting and no soreness of defeat or victory between us, but if I rightly read the signs of the times a truer perspective is now recognized.

Deplores Bitterness.

"I do not grudge the glories of Washington and his soldiers which ended in the triumphant establishment of the American republic. My only regret is that memory should carry any trace of bitterness. Surely there is none on our side. In true perspective the past should not interfere with the continuity of history, and the considerations binding us together, which century by century must bind us closer.

"Hitherto battles in America have been between people of the same speech and same feelings. Henceforth we shall find a new sphere of action, binding us together in a world task. We are united in a great struggle against a power which seeks to destroy the roots wherefrom we derive all our strength. Are we not bound thus forever, and shall not our descendants say that the greatest result of the world war was the bringing together in a common purpose and understanding, the sundered branches of the English-speaking race."

SUFFICIENT CANADIAN COLONELS IN BRITAIN TO FORM BATTALION

Lieut.-Col. Bonnycastle Cites Useless Expense.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

WINNIPEG, July 4.—"There are 27,000 Canadian soldiers in England today waiting to be sent back to Canada," said Lieut.-Col. A. L. Bonnycastle, who returned today after taking the 200th Battalion overseas. "The 27,000 men have been discharged from service on account of wounds, physical unfitness, age and other causes. A few are coming home on leave. This army of men will be shipped back as soon as boats can be found to bring them," Col. Bonnycastle said. He explained that at the present time every Atlantic liner is crowded.

"There are colonels sufficient in numbers in reserve camps to form a battalion. They are all drawing pay and doing little service. No officer over 35 years of age is allowed to cross to France. Few officers under that age go over, as promotions are made in the fighting ranks. Col. Glen Campbell is in command of a forestry battalion at the front. That's how he was accepted for the war area."

Horn was convicted in the United States district court two weeks ago of illegally transporting dynamite on a passenger train from New York to Vanceboro, after the supreme court had denied his appeal in habeas corpus proceedings, in which he set forth the claim that he was exempt from punishment in this country.

To Quickly Remove Ugly Hairs From Face

(Beauty Notes.)

Beauty-destroying hairs are soon banished from the skin with the aid of delatone paste, made by mixing some water with a little plain powdered delatone. This is spread upon the hairy surface for 2 or 3 minutes, then rubbed off and the skin washed to remove the remaining delatone. This simple treatment banishes every trace of hair and leaves the skin without a blemish. Caution should be used to be certain that it is delatone you buy.—Advt.

WAS TOO WEAK TO LIFT HER LITTLE 6 MONTHS' OLD BABY

Bound Hard and Fast to Her Bed, Could Eat No Solid Foods.

CONDITION WAS TERRIBLE

Now Does Her Own Work and Weighs More Than in Eighteen Years.

"I was down in bed and couldn't raise my head or move without help, and now I am able to do all my housework, even to my cooking and garden work, and I weigh more than I have in eighteen years, and have been taking Tanlac only about four weeks," said Mrs. Dollie Hawkins, 4906 Second avenue, South Birmingham, Ala.

"For many years," continued Mrs. Hawkins, "I suffered with rheumatism in my shoulders, arms and in my sides and neck, and I had indigestion, too, in its acute form. The rheumatism got me down in bed and had me bound so hard and fast somebody had to move me about, and the pain was terrible. I couldn't so much as lift my little 6-months-old baby, and we had to hire someone to wait on me and do my work. I was so nervous and full of pain the least little thing dropping on the floor would startle me, and my heart would almost stop beating, and the only way I could get any sleep and rest was from hypodermics. I had indigestion so bad I couldn't eat any solid food at all, and I was so thin and weak and in such a rundown condition, that my baby fell off until it was just a little skeleton and fretted and cried all the time except when it was given something to make it quiet. My condition was too awful to try to describe it all. No kind of treatment or medicine did me any good and I was getting worse all the time, and I don't know what I would have done if it hadn't been for Tanlac.

"If ever a medicine did wonders for anybody, Tanlac did it for me and my little baby. I felt better in just a few days after I began taking it. I could eat something and sleep better and my baby showed improvement almost as soon as I did. I have taken three bottles of Tanlac and I am not nervous in the least now and my sleep is fine and rests me. The awful rheumatic pains and misery are all gone, and I don't need the servant any more. I can eat anything I want and my food not only gives me nourishment, but my baby is as fat as a little pig, and sits for hours at a time on a pallet and plays without a whimper. It has been a long time since I felt as well and strong as I do now, and as I have already said, I weigh more than I have before in eighteen years. Tanlac has made a well woman of me and a fat, healthy baby out of my little sickly one, and I don't know any better way to tell what a wonderful medicine it is than that I'm just so thankful for what Tanlac has done for us I want everybody to know about this great medicine."

Tanlac is sold in London by Standard Drug Stores.

CRISIS OF WOMAN'S LIFE

Change Safely Passed by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Wagoner, Okla.—"I never get tired of praising Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound because during Change of Life I was in bed two years and had two operations, but all the doctors and operations did me no good, and I would have been in my grave today had it not been for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which brought me out of it all right, so I am now well and do all my housework, besides working in my garden. Several of my neighbors have got well by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. Viola Finical, Wagoner, Okla.

Such warning symptoms as sense of suffocation, hot flashes, headaches, backaches, dread of impending evil, timidity, sounds in the ears, palpitation of the heart, sparks before the eyes, irregularities, constipation, variable appetite, weakness and dizziness should be heeded by middle-aged women. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has carried many women safely through the crisis.

TRAVELLER'S FIRST AID

We are ramblers, my husband and I, often starting off upon a trip without much time for preparation, and, as I have found that railway trains—like time and tide—wait for no man (or woman either), I have adopted a plan which has been a comfort on occasions varied and various, writes "L. T.," in Canadian Countryman. Some time ago, I arranged a dresser drawer, which I call "First aid to the traveler." I keep therein a change of underwear, as fresh and dainty as I possess, ready to be packed at a moment's notice.

In my housefurnishings, I always carry out a color scheme for each room, so, for my traveling accessories, I chose pale blue. At the "5, 10 and 15 cent" store I procured the necessary toilet articles in that shade, for example, soap-box, comb, hand-glass, button-hook, and these with toothbrush, whisk, etc., I placed in a bag made of art sateen of a pretty figured blue. The bag is lined with plain blue sateen, and, attached to the lining are eight little pockets, wherein I deposit toothpaste, tiny can of talcum powder, safety pins, toilet pins, shoestrings, a tiny bag for hair-combings, and whatever other trifles I deem advisable. Within this bag I keep also an initialed wash-cloth and towel. One finds such a collection most convenient when making one's toilet on a train, even on a short railway journey.

All Kept Together.

The dresser drawer contains also a bag made from a pretty bordered kerchief with blue ribbons attached. In this I keep two or three fresh handkerchiefs. For a long journey I have a bag with needles, thread and a blue thimble.

Here, too, I keep a nifty little boudoir cap of pale blue Jap silk, net and lace, and a pretty dressing sacque of blue, with coin spot of black, trimmed with lace and beading, threaded with black velvet ribbon. I have also light blue felt bedroom slippers, grey bedsocks, edged with blue, and a blue flannelette bag for the hot-water bottle, in case the trip be taken in the winter.

We women usually like a bit of fancy work along when on a visit, so I made a pretty little sewing apron of crepe (as wrinkles do not show much), a white with blue spots, edged it with lace, and added blue ribbon bows and ties. For my cruchet work, I made a bag of Dresden ribbon figured in blue.

The length of the journey, the character of the trip, and the time of year, all determine how many of these articles are needed, but, having them in sight, the ones required may be speedily selected.

'Tis an old-time query, "Is it better to be ready and not go, or, to go and not be ready?" I confess a preference for the former proposition, but my "First aid to the traveler" often makes it possible for me to go and also to be ready.

"The Poor Man's Potato" has become the rich man's luxury. Whether at three dollars a bushel, or twenty-five cents a bushel, potatoes are not a complete food. Two or three Shredded Wheat Biscuits with milk furnish more real, body-building nutriment than a meal of potatoes or meat, are much more easily digested and cost much less. Shredded Wheat is 100 per cent. whole wheat, nothing added and nothing taken away—gives mental vim and physical vigor for the hot days. Delicious for breakfast, or any meal, with sliced bananas, berries or other fruits, and milk.

To Store Celery.

Dear Miss Grey,—Can you or any of your readers tell us how to store celery for winter? We are going to have quite a bit of it, and want to know some good way. A constant reader. R. E.

Ans.—This is the suggestion of a gardening expert, which I hope meets with your approval: "If you have grown enough celery to make it worth while storing some, you can keep it in good shape up till the middle of February either in the roothouse, if you have one, or by the following method: Dig out a trench ten inches wide by fifteen inches deep, and put one-inch boards on either side. Dig the celery up by the roots, leaving as much earth on as possible, and place between the boards. Cover the top over with clean litter of straw or hay, then as the severe cold weather comes cover over with earth, patting it down with the shovel, and sloping it so the water will be shed. Have a vent in the centre, made of a drain tile or small square wooden chimney, for air to get in and dampness to get out."

Real Lonely One.

Dear Miss Grey,—I have been interested in your page of correspondence for some time. I have no help to give this time, or no suggestions, but I do want a lonely soldier's address. Will you send me one, Miss Grey? One that you think is real lonely; then I will know I am doing a little bit of good.

DOT.

Ans.—Well, "Dot," I have tried to select the name of a "real lonely" one for you, and am sure any parcels you may send him will be highly appreciated. He has no mother and few relatives, I believe.

Here Comes "Bluebird."

Dear Miss Grey,—Will you let "little me" venture into your little corner? Seems like getting a letter every morning when the Tiser comes—it's a good substitute for one anyway. I have a kiltie's address which I am sending you, and it would help me a lot if somebody would adopt him. Seems I have so many friends in France to write and send boxes to that it takes up every bit of my spare time, and they are so grateful and glad, always sending me souvenirs and pretty trifles. I saw two letters from "110th Girl." I wonder if she is from this city? I have a "special interest" in the 110th myself, so am interested in anyone claiming that battalion. Could anyone give me the address of the last draft of the 64th? Would be most grateful if I could get it.

If anyone has teeth that simply won't get white, try using a 5- or 10- cents' worth of precipitated chalk; it's good. I used it. Here's a few good recipes for the pageites. Miss Grey, where is that "Calamity Ann" and "Beautiful Doll" gone to anyway?

Read "Tipp's" letter and, like you, could not make out what he was coming at. Please criticize my writing frankly, and, please, oh please, do not banish my letter to the waste paper bogie, else I'll be afraid to venture again, and I do want to give my views on motion pictures, women's rights, and goodness only knows what else.

BLUEBIRD.

Ans.—Dear bird of happiness—you surely have a cheery disposition, for one reads it in your letter—by all means let us have your views on anything you like, and forget the waste paper bogie. Now are you not surprised that "Calamity Ann" has desrted the circle of sphisters in our midst? She is "Mrs. Calamity" now, and I wonder if our page will ever hear from her again? Of "Beautiful Doll," I have had no news for so long I just know she has forgotten us entirely. Having only a heart of sawdust, I suppose we must not blame her too much.

Watch the page for printing of your recipes. I have that lonely kiltie's name for any inquirer.

Seeks Her Daughter.

Dear Cynthia Grey.—This is the first time I have come to your Mail-Box, but you are so obliging I wonder if you will do me a favor. I am the mother of nine children. Please ask in your page if that girl that left Welburn a year ago and never wrote a line since will please write to R. R. No. 1, Belton, Ont., to her lonely mother. Hoping I have your sympathy in seeking to find my daughter, I am HER MOTHER.

May Be Sent to England.

Dear Miss Grey,—Here I am back again, but when my last letter appeared I found I had forgotten the cake recipe. It must be on its way to England, as I was writing letters for overseas at the same time.

I see friend "Tipp" is back again. Well, it's raining here, as usual.

Will you please give me "Little Charlie's address? I will write him a letter or two and send him a parcel when I can, but I have nine relations to send to, but I'll make room for him. Am inclosing stamped envelope.

I think I saw where you had some soldiers' kiddies' pictures, so will you please put this among them? She is only four years old and as sweet as she looks. Well, I can see in imagination the W. P. B. with its mouth wide open, so will stop, as before.

4TH BATT. SOLDIER'S WIFE.

P. S.—If when thinning out turnips you save those pulled out they make good greens, not unlike dark green cabbage. Also, if anyone using liver will put the water in which it was soaked on the house plants it will be found good.

Ans.—That is a dear little girlie's picture you inclose. I am sure she is as sweet and lovable as she looks, and must miss her soldier-daddy a great deal.

The address of "Little Charlie" is sent you. I forget who asked for war cake, but shall print the recipe for the benefit of all under head of "Cook Book." Rather funny to think of the first one traveling overseas.

Be Glad of Reading.

Dear Miss Grey,—I have a number of names of soldiers whom I know would gladly appreciate magazines or papers which some friends would be kind enough to send. I have just today sent each one a parcel of magazines and I thought I would send the names to you, as I see numbers are asking for addresses of "lonely ones," and I feel that the boys cannot receive too much of anything which will give them pleasure. "Pte. J. T." has not (that I know of) many relatives, and if friends could send him a little remembrance once in a while, the boy would appreciate it so much.

Will you please print the names and address, Miss Grey, and keep them in case someone may ask for a name.

Yours sincerely, MRS. W. A. M.

Ans.—I have the names of these several young men and will be so glad to supply one or more to any inquirer wishing to send them reading matter. It seemed best to me, "Mrs. W. A. M.," not to publish the address, as the young men or their friends might take it amiss. I can promise you, however, that they are sure to be looked after by our Pageites, who are ever ready to send a bit of cheer overseas.

Another Pageite Gone.

Dear Miss Grey,—Here I am again, only this time with a little help, I hope. Oh, and I have some news, too —I am "Mrs." now, and my husband, like "Sweetheart Girls," is in khaki. He goes overseas very soon now.

Perhaps these "hints" may help someone: When cork stoppers are too large for bottles, soak them in hot water. They can then be fitted in easily and will not let the air into the bottle. To make celery crisp, stand it in cold water, to which a little lemon juice has been added; this will not destroy the flavor. To loosen a rusty

"Isaiah's Call to Heroic Service." Isaiah vi.

Golden Text—"And I heard the voice of the Lord, saying, 'Whom shall I send and who will go for us?' Then I said, 'Here am I; send me.'" Isaiah, vi., 8.

10. Verses 9-11—If a belligerent nation does not treat enemy prisoners humanely, or not as well as they treat their own soldiers, what is their degree of guilt before the God of the nations?

11. Verses 12-14—Why should good men be called traitors, who seeing their country is at war for an unrighteous purpose, protest against the war?

12. Can a good man retain the favor of God, who knows his country is at war for an unrighteous purpose, if he keep silent? (This is one of the questions which may be answered in writing by members of the club).

screw, hold a red-hot iron at the head for a short time, then use the screwdriver while it is yet hot. This is a lovely recipe for muffins: One cup of boiled rice, one cup of milk, two well-beaten eggs, five teaspoons melted butter, one-half teaspoon salt, one tablespoon sugar, three teaspoons baking powder, and 1½ cups flour. Mix into a soft batter, which will drop from a spoon. Stir after all ingredients are in lightly, but thoroughly, and drop batter into hot buttered muffin rings. We just love these for breakfast and they aren't very expensive either. When you mix mustard, if you use milk or cream instead of water, it makes it ever so much nicer, and it doesn't get dry so soon then.

Miss Grey,—my mother always said, "Let a girl of fifteen or more play with boys, provided she knows how to act nicely, and it will never hurt her but will prepare her for future years." I've always had a nice boy friend since I was about thirteen (I am twenty now, but don't tell), and I have always had a good time, but have never had a bad name. Some girls think that boys mean to marry them if they even look at them, and those same girls should have that spanked right out of them, because a boy hates to have a girl lop all over him. "Let the boys alone and they'll come home"—only too gladly.

I think if some mothers took their daughters into their confidence more there would not be so much trouble, but a daughter whose mother does not talk to her and confide in her, will not go to her mother in her trouble. Well, Miss Grey, I must close now, or you'll run me out. I'm afraid, but just one question: How do you put initials into socks when you knit them? I've tried and tried, but the wool always comes out at the wrong end. We expect to go away soon, so could you print this "in a hurry," please? I hope you will let me write again soon, but "I hae me doots," because this is a terribly long letter and it's getting longer and longer every minute, so I must stop. Love to all the Pageites—and, of course, yourself. Ever,

MARY SUNSHINE.

Ans.—Well, well, this is news indeed, "Mary," but not too late, I trust, to offer the very best of good wishes on behalf of the Page. We shall all be glad, too, that your "new estate" is not going to change your interest in the Mail-Box, for we want you to write us often. As for initials in socks, I've never tried it personally, so appeal to more experienced knitters who have. Who can help "Mary" initial "Mr. Sunshine's" socks? And has anybody anything to say about "Mary's" views re "boy friends"?

WOMEN IN WARTIME

Now more than ever must the housekeeper be an efficient manager. Foodstuffs of all kinds must be conserved, for we all know that the one who wins the victory in this war is the one who has the most abundant food supply.

Our tables and our kitchens are already showing the effects of the war, with everyone trying to do with less or using substitutes, but of course it is impossible to find substitutes for everything. In many homes the daily business of providing food that is both nourishing and appetizing is in itself a "war task," and the woman who does this with the least amount possible is on an equal with the woman who is making shells for the destruction of the enemy.

To personally buy and carry home and takes advantage of the cheap market is a golden rule of the housewife in these days. The two months that come to our assistance are July and August, with their fruits and vegetables, which enable us to partake of many meatless meals. The food problem has assumed such proportion that almost everyone is consulting the dietary table. Here are a few suggestions that may fill in the meatless menu.

Recipes Quoted from the Pictorial Review.

Carrots and Rice.

1 doz. young carrots, 2-3 cupful rice, butter, breadcrumbs, ½ cupful white sauce, salt, pepper, chopped parsley.

Scrape the carrots, cut them into rather thick slices and boil them until tender either in water or stock. Cook the rice until tender, then drain it. Season both carrots and rice highly with salt and pepper. Make a white sauce, and, place alternate layers of rice, sauce, and carrot in a buttered baking-dish; a little chopped parsley may be sprinkled over the layers of carrots. Put buttered crumbs on top of all and bake in a moderate oven about twenty-five minutes.

Kentucky Corn.

2 cupfuls corn, 1 cupful milk, 2 eggs, seasoning, 2 tablespoonfuls melted butter.

Beat the eggs until light, add them to the milk, then stir in the corn and the melted butter. Season to taste, turn into a buttered baking-dish; place in a pan of hot water and bake in a moderate oven just until set, like custard. Either fresh or canned corn may be used.

Spanish Rice.

1 cupful rice, 4 fresh tomatoes, 1 green pepper, 1 small onion, 2 tablespoonfuls olive oil or butter, ½ cupful hot water.

Chop the onions fine, also the pepper, and cook ten minutes in the butter or oil, but without browning. Add the tomatoes. Canned tomatoes may be used if fresh ones are unobtainable, use two cupfuls and omit hot water. Let these come to boiling point, then put in the rice, together with the hot water. Add more water as needed, but only just enough to keep the mixture moist. Cook very slowly for at least an hour.

LONDON AND ST. THOMAS Y. W. C. A. MEET AT PORT

The annual conference of the London and St. Thomas Board of Directors of the Young Women's Christian Association was held in the Invercle Hotel July 3rd. Mrs. W. A. Tanner, who presided at the conference, opened the meeting by introducing Miss Lane. Miss Lane, who is a fluent and convincing speaker and city secretary for the whole Dominion, pressed upon her hearers the urgent need of keeping in mind certain fundamentals.

The first fundamental pointed out was "The Girl." Miss Lane, in talking of the girls, stated that the conditions under which the girls work, where and how they spend their leasure hours, are matters which should all be looked into, for without knowing these things nothing definite could be accomplished. Another fundamental was the "Democracy of Work," to advance the work in any degree, women must work with women and not for them, and that implicit faith should be put in the girls of the association and so obtain their co-operation. We cannot always work under hard and fast rules or stick to any traditions, Miss Lane said. What happened last year may not happen this year. The conference adjourned for lunch. During the afternoon Miss Lane discussed other important subjects. Each department should bring before the board each year its financial budget, and each department should do an equal share from a financial standpoint. A question was raised "How to make board meetings more interesting," the majority of people knowing what a boredom most meetings are. If different speakers were obtained for the occasion and the good work of the association discussed and a little social enjoyment intermixed, there would be larger numbers in attendance.

BLUE LABELS AFTER TWO GOOD FIELDERS

The Woodstock nine will be the attraction here Saturday afternoon, and a good game should result. Yankee Flint has yet to lose on the lot across the river, and is out to keep his record O.K. Saturday.

FEW RACES WILL BE ALLOWED IN ENGLAND

LONDON, July 4.—Yielding to the strenuous protest of the Jockey Club, the war cabinet has decided that "A limited number of meetings will be allowed in England from the middle of July to the close of the flat racing season."

It suggests that the Jockey Club may arrange approximately forty days of racing during this period, but that the race meetings be limited to Newmarket and such places as are sanctioned by the war office. The running of special trains to these places, however, will be prohibited and owing to the shortage of petrol, motor cars and taxicabs cannot be employed.

HUGO BEZDEK TO MANAGE PIRATES

PITTSBURG, Pa., July 4.—Hugo Bezdek, supervisor of athletic instruction at the University of Oregon, has been named to succeed James J. Callahan as manager of the Pittsburg club of the National League, it was announced here tonight. Bezdek, who is 33 years of age, has been acting as scout for the local club. Since Callahan was relieved as manager of the team last Saturday, J. H. (Hans) Wagner has been acting manager.

WILLOW HAL WINS $1,000 STAKE AFTER FIVE FAST HEATS

Two Favorites Went Down in Fast Races at Saginaw.

SAGINAW, July 4.—The three races on the "Shortship" program today furnished fifteen heats of stretch-driving, witnessed the downfall of two of the three favorites, and brought out a crowd of 8,000 fans.

The 2:10 pace, the $1,000 stake of the day, went five heats before Willow Hal finally took first honors. In the fifth heat, with only three horses left, Theda Bara and Waynetta came together in the eight-mile post and locked wheels, slowing both horses down and putting them out of the running. Mussel Shell made a vain attempt to reach Willow Hal in the first half, but left the latter an easy winner the second time around. Theda Bara was distanced and Waynetta paced third, the judges ruling that Driver Whitney deliberately drove into the other horse. Theda had won one heat and stood a chance for second money. Mary Rosalind Parr, the favorite, did not win a heat, the first three being divided between Willow Hal, Theda Bara and Mussel Shell.

Wattie McCluckey, the only favorite to win, captured first money in the 2:14 pace, but needed six heats to do it. Wattie took the first, Daisy Direct the next two, Bertha Walsh the fourth, and Wattie came back for the fifth. The sixth was easy for Wattie, but the first five were all great battles. In the fourth College Boy came in ahead of Bertha Walsh, but broke badly in the stretch, giving the latter the heat.

Lillian Van, a prohibitive favorite in the 2:20 trot, was put out of the running by pulling a tendon in one leg in the second heat, after having finished second and fourth. Anne Cecil took the first, third and fourth heats, the second going to Baroness Aquilin, who showed better than 2:15 speed, turning the mile in 2:14¾.

Stephen and Ingara, the Canadian trotting kings, will meet for the second time this season tomorrow in the 2:19 trot for $2,000.

LACROSSE TANGLE TO BE PROBED TONIGHT

MONTREAL, July 4.—The tangle which came into the affairs of the National Lacrosse Union on Dominion Day, when the Toronto Tecumsehs defaulted the game at Cornwall, will be examined at a meeting of the Union which is to be held here tomorrow night. It is very likely that at this meeting the Tecumsehs will formally withdraw from the circuit, and there is a probability that Ottawas will do likewise. Ottawas, according to reports reaching here, are also troubled by a shortage of players, though to a lesser extent than are Tecumsehs. Even should both these clubs withdraw the Nationals and Shamrocks, with Cornwall, will probably continue throughout the season.

CENTRALIA BEATS SALEM

CENTRALIA, July 4.—Two fast games of ball were played here yesterday between Centralia and Salem, Centralia winning both games by a close score.

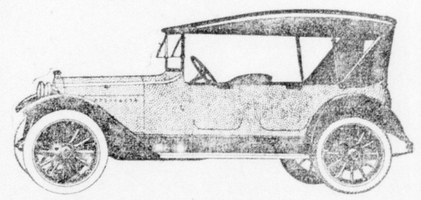

Several good plays were made by the Centralia team in the last game.

THE LOCAL MARKET

Home-grown green peas were offered for the first time on the market today in pods at 12½c per quart. They were much in demand and the supply was soon exhausted.

New potatoes of the imported variety sold at 80c per peck, bringing down the price of old potatoes from $4 and $4.50 to $3.50 a bag, on account of the former's comparative plentifulness.

There was a slight drop in strawberries, but not enough to warrant preserving. They sold in boxes at 12c to 14c wholesale, and 14c to 16c retail, some being of a much better quality than others.

Oats advanced from $2 to $2.10 per cwt., and sold at 71c per bushel.

Wheat was steady at $3.33 per cwt., and $2 per bushel.

Dairy produce was stationary, creamery butter bringing 42c a pound retail, and 39c wholesale, while eggs were unchanged at 34c to 35c a dozen.

An advance in live hogs of 25c was shown, selling at $15.50 per cwt. Fat sows also advanced from $12 to $12.50, and small pigs sold at the unchanged price of $11 to $15 per pair.

Dressed hogs brought a higher price today, advancing from $19 to $19.50. Few were offered, however.

Hay was brisk, and vegetables sold for practically the same price as yesterday. Lettuce brought 5c to 7c per head. Beets 5c a bunch. Asparagus 7c to 10c a bunch. Spinach 15c to 20c a peck. New carrots 10c per quart, and cucumbers 12c to 15c each.

The market was comparatively small but very brisk.

WALL STREET.

New York, July 5—Wall Street, 10:30 a.m.—Resumption of trading after the holiday was accompanied by general firmness in most of the leaders and decided strength in speculative issues, motors again proving the exception. Equipments and shippings were in fair demand at gains of 1 to 1½ for Baldwin Locomotive, Crucible Steel, Marine preferred, Atlantic, Gulf and West Indies, Ohio Gas and Sinclair Oil. Tobaccos supplemented their gains of the early week, and Industrial Alcohol rose 4 points. Rails and metals were fractionally higher with United States Steel.

1:30 p.m.—The weakness of the motor stocks, which became more acute in the afternoon, finally impaired prices elsewhere. United States Steel reacted a point, other industrials 1 to 2 points, and representative rails were inclined to droop.

MORE LIBERAL TRADE ON WINNIPEG BOARD

Winnipeg, July 4.—Trading on the Winnipeg wheat market today was very limited. Offerings on the whole were more liberal than on Tuesday. There was a fair demand from eastern millers. There was a good demand for oats to fill space in boats arriving at Fort William, but no business was located.

Cash prices at Winnipeg were unchanged for the day for wheat, but ⅝ to ½c higher for oats, and 1¼ to 1½ on flax. October wheat closed ⅜c lower, July oats were ½c higher, October oats ¼c lower, and December ½c lower. July flax closed 1½c higher. October was not officially closed.

Winnipeg cash prices:

DETROIT MURDERER BINDS TWO GIRLS, THEN SHOOTS BOTH AND MAKES ESCAPE

Thirteen-Year-Old Child Slain and Companion Wounded by Degenerate.

Detroit, July 5.—Seizing two little girls as they were picking flowers in Sylvan Garden, near Woodward avenue and the Nine and One-half Mile road, Wednesday afternoon, a man who is said to have been terrorizing women in Highland Park for the last two months, bound them together and then shot them, killing Hope Irene Alexander, 13 years old, and seriously wounding Elizabeth Stilvers, 10. Both girls were attacked after they had been shot.

The slaying occurred in a thicket close to a picnic ground occupied for the day by deaf mutes. It is the theory that the slayer was lying in wait for one of the women in the picnic party.

According to the description of the slayer given by the Stilvers girl, he is white, about 28 years old, 5 feet 10 inches tall, and wore a grey checked suit.

Bound Together, Then Shot.

The man carried a sock when he approached the children and took a rope with which he bound them, the older girl uppermost. Then producing a revolver, he fired three shots, one piercing the brain of the Alexander child, killing her instantly. The other shots went through her chest, one of them lodging in the chin of the Stilvers girl.

Then the assailant dragged both children into a thicket and loosened their bonds.

According to the Stilvers girl, she and her companion left their homes at 2 o'clock and entered the thick wood one-half mile from the farms where they lived.

Gathering Flowers When Attacked.

Intent upon gathering flowers, they were startled by the command "Hands up."

Their screams brought a shot, but it did not take effect. Then they were seized and bound.

The dead child was the daughter of Bertram C. Alexander, who lives at Woodward avenue and the Nine Mile road. The Stilvers girl lives at 82 Hendrie avenue.

O, MY GRACIOUS!

Trouble Galore for the "O Cecil" Chorus Girl.

Montreal, July 5.—Reduced to wearing their pink silk fleshings in lieu of stockings, which were worn threadbare, and having no money with which to procure others, the Toronto chorus girls of the "Oh Cecil" company, whose brief and inglorious career closed on Saturday, would have been completely on the rocks but for the help of some racing men staying at a Montreal hotel, who made up a purse to help them out.

The history of the company is one long story of ill-luck. In Ontario the lady pianist of the company eloped with a soldier. Certain men of the company drowned their sorrows too frequently in the flowing bowl to the detriment of their work. Wherever it looked like getting a good house, the proceeds would be taken in large part for charity, and when they hit one fair-sized town, it happened to be a night when the soldiers were leaving, and the house was empty. The leading lady was taken suddenly ill when the show opened in Montreal, and the manager's wife was so upset by a malevolent rumor that she was unable to take the part as understudy.

The manager and his wife have stuck sturdily to the sinking ship, the former having even sold his gold watch, diamond pin and other jewelry to help the company out.

SAXONY'S PARLIAMENT WARNS GOVERNMENT; MUST HAVE REFORMS

Copenhagen, July 5.—Saxon soldiers are not fighting out of loyalty to the king, but for love of the fatherland and monarchical principle. Saxony is suffering sadly from the mistakes of an incompetent bureaucracy and conditions have reached such a state that all parties in the Saxon parliament are forced seriously to warn the Government of the danger of this situation. Such were the disagreeable declarations which the Government was forced to hear from all parties except the Conservatives, in a debate in the Saxon diet yesterday, a report of which has reached here.

The discussion was on necessary internal reform. The occasion for the debate was a Socialist resolution demanding that the Government make an effort to secure liberal reorganization in the empire.

After this debate almost unparalleled in a German Legislature since the days of 1848 the Diet adopted the Socialist resolution, the Conservatives alone dissenting.

ANOTHER OF 110TH LISTED.

STRATFORD, July 4.—The name of Pte. D. F. Doering appears among the list of wounded today. The young man enlisted here with the 110th Battalion, having previously been employed on a farm at Milverton. He is 29 years of age, and was attached to D Company while in the city. He is unmarried.

Shop Superintendents—Read This:

For all ordinary work the Dodge Universal Hanger will meet your shafting requirements completely. The frame is sturdier and better balanced than most hangers. The four point adjustment feature coupled with a reinforced bearing and high grade bearing metal, keeps the shaft running true with little need for attention. Consequently there is less friction and less danger of power waste through belt slippage.

We will demonstrate this at your plant upon request.

BENEFICIARIES ON LIST OF PATRIOTIC FUND ARE 792

The names of 792 beneficiaries appeared on the list of the London patriotic fund for June. This, however, is not the greatest number of dependents of soldiers to receive allowances at one time. Very few new names have been added in the past few weeks owing to the falling off in enlistments. At the time of recruiting for the Railway Construction Battalion, a big jump was made. The largest number to receive allowances in any one month was 900. This number has been reduced owing to the return of men from overseas, in the majority of cases owing to their being over age or medically unfit, and not because they have suffered from wounds.

PERSONAL MENTION

Miss Grace Mair, teacher of the pipe line school, left the city on Tuesday for Prince Albert. Miss Mair is to be married in the west and will probably reside there. Her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. John Mair, accompanied her, and numerous friends and relatives were at the station to bid them farewell.

CLOSES CONTRACT WITH NATHANSON FOR GREAT FILMS

Manager Stewart of Patricia Signs Up for New Goldwyn Program.

FAMOUS STARS, AUTHORS

Maxine Elliott, Mary Garden, Jane Cowl, Irvin Cobb, Edgar Selwyn Among Them.

S. L. Nathanson, managing director of the Regal Film Company of Canada, and managing director of the Goldwyn pictures and Sydney Taube, traveling representative of the companies, yesterday concluded arrangements with Manager W. L. Stewart of the Patricia Theatre to play the Goldwyn pictures for this city immediately after the first release of the plays early in September.

This is regarded as the most important announcement concerning motion pictures which has been made since the first film was shown in the city.

At Work for Year.

The Goldwyn syndicate represents the largest collection of motion picture stars ever gathered together, and the plays to be released every two weeks will be the joint product of famous authors, stars and producers. For more than a year the company in its vast studios near New York has been at work on its first pictures, but none will be released until September. Such stars as Maxine Elliot, Mary Garden, Jane Cowl, Madge Kennedy, Mae Marsh and such writers as Irvin Cobb, Porter Emerson Brown, Margaret Mayo, Roy Cooper, Megrue Edgar Selwyn and such producers as Arthur Hopkins are under contract with the Goldwyn interests and have been at work for some time on the production of the plays.

Pays Highest Price.

Manager Stewart secures the pictures for London at the highest prices ever paid for a motion picture program in the city. One notable feature of the booking is that London will secure these pictures two weeks after they have appeared at the Strand Theatre, New York, and immediately after they have been shown at Toronto. Most of the films now shown in the city are several months old by the time they reach this city. The Patricia policy will be for the best and newest pictures, and every two weeks after the commencement of the program one of the new Goldwyn features will be presented.

General Manager Nathanson has been placing the pictures in Canada, and London is the third city in the Dominion to secure the films.

Pictures of New Order.

"I witnessed the trial runs of several of the pictures in New York last week, and my enthusiasm for the Goldwyn program will be understood after the people of London have seen them," he said to The Advertiser. "Such a play as 'The Eternal Magdalene,' with Maxine Elliot in the leading part, is more than a picture. Produced under the most painstaking direction and with every detail built for the picture, with every location specially constructed, and with the woman of Maxine Elliot's art, this photoplay story ranks with the few film classics that will live. The other pictures are of an equally high order. They are clean, first of all. Then they have the best brains that can be secured for authorship, direction and acting. A broad intelligence and a new grasp of the necessity for advancement are displayed in the pictures in such a manner as to show that the Goldwyn people mean to perpetuate the art and to carry it on to greater things.

A New Forward Movement.

"Moving pictures as the ordinary run of them appears to the expert, must either transcend the present run of stories or go back. The Goldwyn people have studied the outlook. We know that the new broom of fresh ideas and sweeping change must be set to work. We have brought the production of pictures to a new standard, and they will be greeted in London as the most meritorious program ever launched."

The first release will be "Polly of the Circus," with Mae Marsh in the leading part, and the second will be "Baby Mine," Margaret Mayo's famous play of the same name.

Means to Have Best.

"I signed the contract for the Goldwyn pictures because I mean to have the best program of photoplays that can be secured," said Manager Stewart. "The exhibitors of the continent have been watching for the release of these pictures, and there has been eager competition to secure them. They combine the greatest stars and authors and they promise to freshen up the whole business. London will get these pictures immediately after their release in New York, and there will be 26 during the year."

MONSTER PICNIC AT QUEEN'S PARK FOR LABOR DAY

Parade Will Be Cut Out This Year by Trades Council.

At last night's meeting of the trades and labor council it was unanimously decided to hold a picnic and celebration at Queen's Park on Labor Day instead of a parade. The outing will be along the same lines as that held last year and which proved such an unqualified success. A meeting of the various committees will be held immediately to arrange for the sports program and other features. It is expected that there will be a record attendance this year, as the outing last year proved one of the most successful which the trades and labor council has ever held. A fine program is to be prepared.

Organizer John T. Kennedy of Toronto, who is in the city organizing the tinsmiths and sheet metal workers, gave an address, asking the assistance of the delegates from the various unions in his work.

The council decided to raise the salary of Secretary Wakeling from $25 to $50 a year.

It was decided also to ask George S. Gibbons to became the official lawyer of the organization.

Notice of motion was given by Delegate Cummings that at the next meeting he will move that the per capita tax per member be raised from 1 cent per month to 3 cents.

NEW SYSTEM SUCCESS

CLINTON, July 4.—The new system of collecting taxes semi-annually, June and December, has for the first half of the year proved successful, more than $12,000 having been paid in to date. This places the town in good financial circumstances, and does away with the necessity of borrowing funds for any of the current expenses.

MRS. WESTON'S DEATH ENTIRELY ACCIDENTAL, IS FINDING OF JURY

Grand Trunk Crew Is Exonerated From All Blame in Case.

A verdict of accidental death, which at the same time exonerated the G. T. R. from blame, was returned last evening by the jury empanelled by Coroner Maclaren to inquire into the circumstances surrounding the death of Mrs. May Weston, Bathurst street, who was killed on the Grand Trunk tracks on Saturday morning last.

The investigation was held at the police station, and the evidence of yardmen and other employees was taken. Crown Attorney McKillop conducted the examinations of witnesses.

John P. Thompson, 654 Lyle street, G. T. R. yardman, was the first witness to be called. He testified that prior to the accident he was standing just south of the tracks of the old main line. An engine was attached to the string of cars, and pulled up the slack, the rear cars moving about four or five feet. He noticed a woman at the end of the cars, who then appeared in the act of falling. She fell on the south rail, the shunting back of the cars passing over the body the first time, and the taking up of the slack of the train causing the wheel to again go over her when the cars were pulled ahead.

Ernest Patterson, 158 John street, yardman, was about two carlengths from the east end of the train when the engine coupled on to the string of cars. He saw a market basket fall out from the back of the last car, and saw a head. He went up and found Mrs. Weston lying on the south track, the wheel of the car having passed over the body.

Howard E. McDonald, 453 Horton street, yardman, was near the engine when the coupling was made, a distance of about fifteen carlengths from the locomotive. Mrs. Weston's house, he said, was directly south of the scene of the accident.

Special Constable John Hughes, 639 King street, gave evidence as the location of Mrs. Weston's house to the tracks, stating that it was necessary that she cross several tracks in order to get to the track on which she was killed.

George W. Graham, G. T. R. engineer, was in charge of the engine that coupled on to the cars. He made the coupling in the ordinary way, obeying the signals of the yardmen. He had not seen Mrs. Weston, and knew nothing of her being on the tracks until after the accident.

Andrew Sinclair, 474 Charlotte street, fireman, corroborated the evidence of previous witness.

Dr. F. R. Clegg was called to the scene of the accident. He afterwards conducted the post-mortem examination, and found that death had resulted from destruction of the upper part of Mrs. Weston's chest. Both lungs had been crushed, a portion of the heart and the spinal cord.

Death, he believed, to have been instantaneous.

The jurymen were: Samuel J. Bell, Joseph A. Newell, Percy Ashton, Alfred McGee, Thomas Cockrell, Benjamin Tripp, Theodore Thomas, A. J. Montague and James Clark.
