HUNS MAKING DESPERATE STAND TO CHECK THE ALLIED ADVANCE

GERMANY IS REPORTED AS HAVING ACCEPTED WILSON'S TERMS

GERMANY IS REPORTED TO HAVE ACCEPTED THE TERMS AS DEMANDED BY WILSON, BUT MAY ASK THE SAME

Semi-Official Teuton Sources State That Berlin's "Answer Will Make Far-Reaching Advances, and It Is Hoped That the Discussion Between Germany and President Wilson Will Bring Forth a Durable Peace For the Whole World."

Berne, Oct. 12.—The Wolff Bureau, the semi-official German news agency, has circulated a Frankfurter Zeitung dispatch from Berlin, stating that the German reply to President Wilson's note was sent last night and that it is in a sense an acceptance.

INTIMATES REPLY WILL BRING DURABLE PEACE FOR WORLD

Copenhagen, Oct. 12.—The Nord Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung says that the German answer to President Wilson's note of inquiry is ready, and believes that it was handed to the Swiss Government today.

The newspaper understands that "the answer will make far-reaching advances, and it is hoped that the discussion between Germany and President Wilson will bring forth a durable peace for the whole world."

It is stated by the newspaper that the note was carefully considered by the war cabinet, consisting of the chancellor, the vice-chancellor and secretaries without portfolios, and that an answer in principle was agreed upon after a conference with the supreme military command. There could be no definite formulation of the answer, however, it adds, until the official text of the president's note was received, which, it understood, occurred late Thursday night.

GERMANY MAY DEMAND THAT ALLIES EVACUATE TERRITORY

Paris, Oct. 11.—Semi-official summaries from comments in the German press, issued tonight, indicate that Germany, in answer to the demand for an evacuation of occupied territory, will ask as an offset the evacuation of Geman colonies and occupied Turkish territory. According to some newspaper comments published in Germany, Prince Maximilian will have no difficulty in announcing the adoption without restriction of President Wilson's program.

Germany is apparently hurrying, in view of the latest ministerial moves, to appear to be a democratic state. Political amnesty will be announced and a new governor will be appointed for Alsace-Lorraine, martial law be modified and a Liberal minister of war will be named. The whole movement is expected to result in the establishment of a responsible ministry, which is now said to be but a veneer. The rumor persists that these ministerial and governmental readjustments have been undertaken with the view to causing the Allies to regard Germany as democratic and to welcome her reply.

FRANKFORT GAZETTE DOES NOT BELIEVE IT IS AN ACCEPTANCE

Basel, Oct. 12.—The Frankfort Gazette announces that the German answer to President Wilson, which has been completed in principle, probably was forwarded on Friday night. The Gazette says it has no reason to believe that the answer expresses adhesion of Germany to the demands of President Wilson.

REICHSTAG MEETS OCTOBER 16.

Copenhagen, Oct. 11.—The German Reichstag will meet on Wednesday, October 16, according to advices from Berlin.

ALL ALLIED GOVERNMENTS HAVE AGREED ON ONE LINE OF ACTION

London, Oct. 12.—The ministers of the Allied governments, says the Express, have discussed the German peace overtures and agreed upon a line of common action. The British, French and Italian ministers first conferred and reached a decision, after which the British and French cabinets confirmed the conclusions.

DR. BEAL IMPROVING.—A wire received at 1 o'clock today from Rochester, Minn., states that the condition of Dr. Norman H. Beal continues to improve.

GOES TO TORONTO.—Secretary J. F. Hicks-Lyne of the local branch of the Honorably Discharged Soldiers' Association left today for Toronto, where he will meet the officials of the provincial branch of the H. D. S. A. regarding the work of the local association. The secretary will present a report at the next meeting.

TREE VOLUNTEERS.—Three volunteers from the British and Canadian recruiting mission at Detroit were examined by the medical board at the local mobilization centre on Friday. S. T. Hoching and G. G. Purdon were placed in category A2 and attached to the Canadian Siberian Expeditionary Forces and the Canadian Engineers respectively, while J. J. G. Fee was placed in the Construction Battalion, with category B2. No draftees or men surrendered under the M. S. A. appeared before the board.

U. S. CONVOYS COLLIDE; 366 SOLDIERS ARE LOST IN GALE

Steamer Otranto Rammed by the Kashmir

OFF THE SCOTTISH COAST

More Than 300 Are Picked Up by British Destroyer Mounsey.

200 BODIES RECOVERED.

London, Oct. 12.—More than 360 American sailors were lost on the transport Otranto, sunk in collision with the steamer Kashmir off the south Scottish coast. This developed from checking the Otranto's list at American headquarters, where it was found the death roll of soldiers stood at 364 or 366.

More than 200 bodies had been recovered up to this morning. Many of these were given burial by a party sent from Liverpool.

The discrepancy between the figures now arrived at and those previously given is due, it was explained, to the mixing up of two identification lists.

KASHMIR LEFT SCENE.

Belfast, Oct. 12.—The Telegram states that it was in obedience to orders from the Otranto, which was the flagship of the convoy, that the steamer Kashmir, after the collision, proceeded without attempting to rescue anyone from the Otranto.

An Irish Port, Oct. 12.—American soldiers to the number of 364 or 366 perished when the British armed mercantile cruiser Otranto and the transport Kashmir collided in the north channel, between Scotland and Ireland, last Sunday. Three hundred American soldiers and 30 French sailors and 266 members of the crew of the Otranto have been landed at a port in Northern Ireland. Sixteen other survivors have been picked up at Islay. More than 200 bodies had been recovered this morning, and many of them have been buried. The Otranto is a total wreck on the Island of Islay. The Kashmir landed its troops at a Scottish port without loss of life.

The troopships collided while a heavy storm was raging, and the Otranto, with a gaping hole in her side, then drifted helplessly toward the rocky coast.

A number of the troops on board were from the interior of the United States and were without experience at sea. They preferred to remain on the troopship than to risk themselves on the small boats. The hopes of the men that they would be able to make a safe landing were dispelled by the Otranto's captain, when he shouted from the bridge: "Well, boys, we will have to swim for it." About that time the troopship slid with hardly a jar onto the shelving rock, which, as the waves receded, bit its teeth into the ship's timber and held her in a viselike grip. After that the tragedy moved quickly to its climax.

Fury of the Storm.

The fury of the storm seemed vented on the pinioned and helpless vessel, and in league with the vicious sea, which began to rend and tear the ship to pieces.

The steel deckhouse was wrenched

CONSENT TO BUILDING IN AUSTRALIA MUST BE GRANTED BY TREASURER

Restrictions Have Been Put Into Effect by Defence Council.

Melbourne, Oct. 11.—Construction of buildings, tramways and markets without first obtaining the consent of W. A. Watt, Australian treasurer, is forbidden in regulations just issued by the Australian treasurer, is forbidden in regulations just issued by the Australian defence council, of which Mr. Watt is a member. This restriction also applies to churches costing over $5,000 and to alterations and additions to buildings involving an expense of more than $1,250. All persons, firms, companies, societies, clubs, associations and state authorities are included in the order.

The defence council will inquire into and collect information over a wide field relative to the prosecution of the war, including exports, imports, manufacture and trade inventions, transports, censorship and legal questions generally.

PREMIER OF AUSTRIA IS REPORTED TO HAVE QUIT

Baron Von Hussarek Said To Have Been Succeeded by a Pacifist.

Zurich, Oct. 12.—Baron von Hussarek, premier of Austria, has resigned, according to the Vossische Zeitung's Vienna correspondent. Emperor Charles, the same correspondent says, has chosen Prof. Lammasch, a pacifist and an adversary of an alliance with Germany, to succeed to the premiership.

CONFIRMS RESIGNATIONS OF TURKISH OFFICIALS.

London, Oct. 12.—The Turkish embassy in Berlin officially confirms the reports that Talaat Pasha, Turkish premier, and Enver Pasha, the war minister, have resigned, says a Central News dispatch from Amsterdam. It does not, however, confirm the reported appointment of Tewfik Pasha, former ambassador to London, as premier, stating that he, with Izzet Pasha, former Turkish commander-in-chief, has been mentioned for the premiership.

PORTO RICO REPORTED TO BE VISITED BY A HEAVY EARTH SHOCK

Great Destruction Is Said To Have Resulted From Upheaval.

Havana, Oct. 12.—Widespread damage has been caused by an earthquake in Porto Rico, according to an unconfirmed report received here from Santiago de Cuba. Many buildings are said to have been destroyed. The report fixes no definite locality, and no loss of life is mentioned. Cable communication between Cuba and Porto Rico is badly hampered.

MESSAGE FROM OFFICER.

New York, Oct. 12.—A message reading: "Terrible earthquake and tidal wave at San Juan, Porto Rico, at 11 o'clock this morning," was received here late last night by a New York businessman from his son, who is an officer in a military camp in Porto Rico.

CHINESE MILITARY GOVT. DECLARES WAR ON HSU SHIH CHANG

Canton, Friday, Oct. 4.—The southern military government has formally declared war on the government of President Hsu Shih Chang because he accepted a bogus parliament election, thus recognizing the new parliament and refusing to respect the provisional constitution.

GERMANS BLOW UP ALL THE BRIDGES ACROSS THE SELLE AND ARE MAKING A STAND TO THE EAST OF THE RIVER

HER THANKSGIVING OFFERING, 1918

Advertiser Illustrations

Enemy Forces Making Desperate Efforts To Blow Up Allied Advance Southeast of Le Cateau--Canadians are Fighting Their Way Into the Town of Forest Against Stubborn Foe Resistance.

With the British Army in France, Oct. 11.—The enemy today began an attempt to slow up the Anglo-American advance on the main battlefront. All the bridges across the River Selle from Le Cateau southward were blown up, and the Germans seem to have been digging in furiously along the line of the high ground some 2,000 to 4,000 yards east of the river, which already has been crossed by the British and Americans at several places. Apparently the Germans intend to make a stand here. In this locality all of today's operations were devoted to gaining the river crossings and establishing a firm footing on the east bank. There has been sharp machine gun fighting, and the Germans, from the high ground of Le Cateau, have poured a heavy fire upon the west bank of the river.

As soon as the Americans and the cavalry entered St. Souplet, south of Le Cateau, they came under a heavy fire from the German gun concentration. It is reported that the enemy gunners fired their weapons here over open sights. Luckily their aim was not as good as it might have been.

FOE TERRITORY PENETRATED.

South of here the British and the French have driven deeply into the enemy territory, and the French now control a long strip of the west bank of the Oise Canal. British advanced mounted patrols also have reached the canal bank at Longchamps, but they had made too rapid progress, and consequently returned.

The British by their drive launched this morning on the fringe of the battle area are now operating well on the other side of the Scarpe River, and have reached positions less than three and a half miles from the important centre of Douai.

The troops are driving northeasterly toward this city, and at the same time are widening the already wide salient which has been made in the former German positions. There are strong indications that the Germans realize they must get out of the entire Douai salient.

It is not improbable that one of the enemy's principal ideas in trying to slow up the advance in the area southeast of Le Cateau is for the purpose of protecting his forces in the Douai salient, for every foot gained in this battle area increases the menace to the Germans in the Douai pocket. The British encountered hard opposition to the Scarpe operations, but despite this they have made rapid progress. They have further relieved the pressure east of Arras, and are now well to the east of Vitry-en-Artois and Noyelles-sous-Bellone.

SOLD LIVES DEARLY.

The German machine guns have been fighting hard in the environs of Le Cateau, and the better part of the day was required to clear them out. Little posts of the enemy, well supplied with ammunition, apparently had been left behind by their commanders, with instructions to sell themselves as dearly as possible. They obeyed orders, and frequently held out manfully. By the end of the day, however, it appeared that most of them had been driven out or killed, and the British were reported to be moving eastward on the road between Le Cateau and Bazuel, some three miles to the southeast, from which they seemed to be about three thousand yards distant.

Northwest of Le Cateau the Canadians were in the outskirts of the town of Forest, fighting their way forward against other stubborn enemy machine gunners.

It was during last night that the first reports that the Germans were digging in were received, and these were confirmed today. By midday the enemy seemed to have a continuous line all the way from a point southast of Le Cateau southward in front of Mennevret and east of Grougis, while in Aisonville and the area near it fires were burning briskly.

The enemy is by no means sure of holding on to his quickly-arranged line for any time, as it offers little protection, being simply a scratch on the surface, probably protected by a few strands of wire. Moreover, the roads to the east are stilll cluttered up with enemy troops and transport. The airplanes report that the retreat is in progress far back of the present location of the enemy.

AVIATORS KILL MANY.

The British aviators have become fatigued with the labor of killing Germans. During the last 24 hours they have fired hundreds of thousands of rounds from their machine guns, and dropped hundreds of tons of bombs upon targets it was impossible to miss. The road between Le Cateau and Bazuel offered some exceptional targets for the bombers. Again and again the 'planes swooped low over this road and emptied their machine guns into masses of men and transports, which were so thick that the bullets could not help but take effect. The road was more than once blocked with dead men and horses, upset wagons and masses of equipment. All this was cleared away and the retreat continued, only to be again quickly upset from the air.

FIGHTERS OF 22 NATIONS FILE PAST THE "ALTAR OF LIBERTY"

New York, Oct. 12.—New York's patriotic fervor, already thrilled with the knowledge of brilliant successes for the Allies' arms against Germany, was quickened today when the fighting men of more than 22 nations—from five continents and islands in every sea—marched down flag-bedecked Fifth avenue in review before President Wilson, in joint celebration of Liberty Day and Columbus Day. It was a grim, business-like procession—even with the picturesque and colorful uniforms of fighters from other lands that swung down the Avenue of the Allies and under the banners of the nations arrayed against Germany and her allies. Scores of airplanes, flying in battle formation, preceded the marchers from Seventy-Second street, past the "Altar of Liberty" in Madison Square and to Washington Square.

Guns, tanks and other trophies captured from the Germans at Chateau-Thierry and other battlefields were towed by military tractors.

The United States division was composed of 10,000 soldiers, who have completed their military training, and soon will sail overseas for France, and Liverpool, 700 sailors. The total number of all troops in line was estimated at 25,000.

ATTEMP MADE ON THE LIFE OF PRESIDENT WILSON TODAY

Man Arrested During Parade Is Found With Loaded Revolver In His Possesion.

New York, Oct. 12.—Just as the president passed 51st street a man broke through the police lines and started toward the president. He was immediately seized by secret service men and placed in an automobile, which sped away with him down 5th avenue. A few minutes later a loaded revolver was found on the street.

In the apparent belief that the man may have contemplated harm to the president, the crowd started toward him, but the secret service men were too quick. Spectators noticed, as the secret service machine drove away, that the man's head was bleeding. The revolver picked up afterwards contained five bullets.

The man was taken to a police station, where he gave his name as H. J. Mooney, a printer. He denied, according to the police, having any harmful intentions, saying he merely wanted to shake hands with the president.

MOTOR PASSES OVER BOY'S BODY WITHOUT DOING SERIOUS INJURY

Campbell Edwards Fell From Wheel In Front of Car.

Campbell Edwards, aged 12 years, and residing at 528 Quebec street, was thrown from his wheel directly in front of an auto driven by Dr. C. Jarvis, about 10 o'clock on Friday night. The car passed right over the young lad's body, bruising him considerably, but his condition is not serious, and today he was very much improved. Dr. Jarvis attended him. The boy was turning the corner of Adelaide and Dundas streets, when the wheel skidded, owing to the wet condition of the street.

JAP EMPEROR CONGRATULATES KING ALBERT

Tokio, Saturday, Oct. 5.—Emperor Yoshihito has cabled King Albert of Belgium, expressing his congratulations over the brilliant success of the Belgian army and highly praising the chivalry of the Belgian soldiers, who are under the personal comamnd of King Albert.

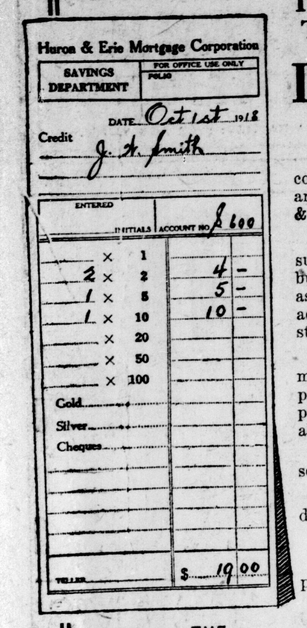

BRITISH CAPTURE VILLAGES IN ADVANCE NORTH OF SENSEE

London, Oct. 12.—British forces last night continued their advance north of the Sensee River, Field Marshal Haig announced today. The advance is in the direction of Douai. The villages of Hamel, Brebieres, less than three miles from Douai, and Cuincy, less than two miles from Douai, have been captured. Further north, the British have pushed to the east of Henin-Lietard, northwest of Douai, and they are in the environs of Ennay.

GOURAUD'S FORCES CROSS THE SUIPPE IN PURSUIT OF ENEMY

With the French Army in France, Friday, October 11.—Gen. Gouraud's troops have crossed the Suippe River almost everywhere along the 20-mile front between Bertricourt and Betheniville. The Germans still hold the bridgehead at Boult-sur-Suippe.

The enemy is retiring to his next zone of resistance on the Retourne, but there are unmistakable evidences that he is preparing for a still further retreat.

CAPT. C. GALBRAITH IS HOME ON LEAVE

His First Return Since Going Overseas in 1914.

Capt. Campbell Galbraith is home on his first Canadian leave since going overseas with the first Canadian contingent in the fall of 1914.

Enlisting the first week of the war, he has served since that time with hospital staffs in France and in England. His younger brother, Lieut. Gordon Galbraith, who has been home on furlough after a couple of years of service at the Macedonian front, leaves today to report for duty. On his return home, the beginning of September, he expected to go back directly to the Balkans at the expiration of his leave, but subsequent events there have made this problematic.

DEATH REPORTED

An old offender that hung on for years. Nothing touched his stony heart but Putnam's Corn Extractor, and out he came, root, stem and branch. All corns cured just as quickly when Putnam's is used; try it, 25c, at all dealers.

LETTER WRITER SAID BISHOP FALLON WAS HOARDING UP COAL

Fuel Controller Finds He Has Only 23 Tons.

Fuel Controller J. W. McCallum had a long letter this morning, calling his attention to an alleged coal "hog" in the city. The letter first referred to the possible investigation of cellars in the city, and then followed with the exposure. The letter referred to was none other than the Right Rev. M. F. Fallon. The letter stated that not only was the cellar at the bishop's home on Central avenue full, but that outhouses were also packed. It stated that Pinney & Shannon had "numerous" teams drawing coal to the residence of the bishop for over a week. It added that 100 tons could be easily removed from the bishop's premises, and he would not miss it.

Mr. McCallum has been running down many such reports. He does not delay when a complaint is made to him, and the latest was no exception. His inquiry showed that last year Bishop Fallon had used 35 tons of egg and one ton of stove coal. So far this year he has had delivered nineteen tons of egg and four tons of chestnut coal. In other words he had 23 tons of coal, and his requirements are 36 tons.

"It's just like a case I had up north," said Mr. McCallum. "I was told that a person had a cellar full, and the side of the barn bursting out with coal. I investigated and found six tons of coal in the barn and not a pound in the cellar."

REFORMATORY TERM FOR JEWELRY THIEF

Geo. Slater Given Two Years, Less Day.

Two years less one day in the common jail was the sentence imposed on George Slater this morning by Magistrate A. H. M. Graydon for theft of jewelry, to which charge the youth pleaded guilty in police court recently. In moving the sentence of the court on the prisoner, Crown Attorney J. B. McKillop called attention to the fact that the amount of jewelry taken was much in excess of that named in the information.

Magistrate Graydon in passing sentence told Slater that his youth saved him from serving the term in Kingston. He will be taken to the Ontario Reformatory for the duration of his detention.

Archie Hilton was charged with assaulting Mrs. Norah Jeffcott's little boy, but after hearing the evidence the case was dismissed by Magistrate Graydon. The lad said Hilton had kicked him, and his sister corroborated his evidence. Hilton denied that he had struck the boy, but admitted shaking him, and he had also threatened to slap him. Witnesses for the defence said that the lad had been making a deal of trouble in the neighborhood by throwing stones at other children.

Harry F. Cowhard was sentenced to 21 days in jail for a breach of the wives' maintenance act.

One drunk paid the usual fine of $10 for his little celebration.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

"THE WEAKEST LINK."

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

I notice that the old saw, or axiom, "No chain is stronger than its weakest link," is being continually exploited just now by ministers and editors in connection with the failure of Bulgaria. Now, to begin with, the saying, while axiomatic in a general sense, is not always true, even mechanically, when applied in practice, as a great deal depends on how the chain is used. Thus we may use the chain in connection with a sheaf of pulleys, where the weakest link may only have to bear one-fourth, one-eighth, or even one-sixteenth of the strain the rest of the chain bears. Neither is it true in a metaphorical sense invariably, as if we assume that as Bulgaria is the weakest link in the enemy chain that measures its actual strength, what about Russia? Are we prepared just as flippantly to admit that Russia measures the real strength of the allied chain? "Saws" are all right in their place, and have a legitimate use.

L. O. C. C. FIRST TO PROTEST.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

I read your editorial on the subject of the license given to print a paper in Kitchener in the German language with much interest.

As secretary of the London's Own Comrades' Club (142nd Battalion), I was requested to call the attention of the G. W. V. A. to the first information concerning the matter that appeared in the press, and to inquire if they intended to protest, and if so, my club was prepared to support them in any action they might take.

I write this yetter, as you mention that the G. W. V. A. and the 33rd Comrades' Club had raised a protest, but no mention was made of the London's Own Comrades' Club. Yours truly, (SERGT.) H. J. MYERS, Secretary.

LOCAL BAPTISTS GET NOTICE CONVENTION IS OFF FOR THE PRESENT

Baptist ministers of the city today have received telegrams from J. N. Shenstone, president of the Baptist Union of Ontario and Quebec, as follows: "The annual convention will not be held on date announced owing to the prevalence of Spanish influenza, by order of the M. O. H., Toronto."

The convention was to have taken place in Jarvis Street Baptist Church, Toronto, October 16 to 22, the church by the way, of which Rev. Dr. T. T. Shields, formerly of Adelaide Street Baptist Church, this city, is pastor. A large number of delegates from the city and throughout Western Ontario have been appointed to attend, six or seven having been named to represent Talbot Street Baptist Church, this city, alone.

Concerning the postponement, Rev. H. H. Bingham said today: "No doubt the convention will be held as soon as the epidemic subsides."

WELFARE WORK FOUND OF GREAT ASSISTANCE TO McCLARY EMPLOYEES

That there is a great opportunity for, and that results are obtained from factory welfare work, were facts clearly demonstrated at the reorganization meeting of the McClary Welfare Association, held in the York street dining-room of the McClary Manufacturing Company on Thursday evening, October 10. At the close of the meeting the president of the association, Lieut.-Col. W. M. Gartshore, briefly reviewed the work which had been done, and the prospects for a very great extension of the work in the future. Reports from all the committees were received, and were very gratifying. Suggestions were offered for the coming year, pointing to the fact that greater efforts would be made to extend the work of the association still farther, in order that the benefits might be felt more largely by the families of the employees, and also by the employees themselves, not only during their working days, but their evenings. It was realized that the word "welfare" did not embrace only the care of the employee when actually employed at the works, but also the welfare of the employee's family, and an interest in the proper amount of amusement, as well as care of their health.

McClary's Welfare Association is one of the pioneer welfare associations on this continent, and has maintained itself among the premier positions of the different organizations of a similar nature both in Canada and the United States. The work necessarily is done in such a quiet manner that the general public may not appreciate to what extent the employees are benefited, but the association welcomes a visit from any of the citizens or representatives of manufacturers interested in such work, and is always ready and pleased to explain how the work is handled.

At the meeting on Thursday night the new welfare supervisor, Nurse Malloch, was officially welcomed to the association, and her work and status definitely defined. Especially at a time such as this, when there is a prevailing epidemic, the work of the association supervisor is very heavy. Nurse Malloch comes to the association well equipped to fill the position, even in the face of the exacting demands which necessarily are made on the supervisor of such a large organization as the McClary Welfare Association.

CAPTAINS SUPPLIED WITH AMMUNITION FOR BIG CAMPAIGN

All Set For Opening of Trade Board Expansion Drive.

Twenty-four teams are to conduct the intensive campaign of the London Board of Trade next week. Each team consists of a captain and seven men, making a total force of nearly 200. This little army had its first meeting last evening in the Y. M. C. A. building. The 24 captains are: W. H. Abbott, E. V. Buchanan, Col. W. G. Coles, E. R. Dennis, Ald. F. E. Harley, J. B. Hay, Joseph F. Hickey, Major Gordon Ingram, A. A. Langford, C. E. Marley, Adjt. F. W. Martin, William A. Martin, C. R. May, Frank A. McCormick, Duncan H. McDermid, C. W. McGuire, E. C. Mitchell, Emerson Nichols, T. B. Parkinson, G. F. Pearson, Harry Ranahan, Jared Vining, Dr. C. Cameron Waller, William R. Yendall.

Fortified For the Drive.

The purpose of the meeting last evening was to give the teams part of their campaign supplies and to fortify them for their work on Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of next week with a "sales talk" which will enable them to cover their districts rapidly and efficiently.

The number of calls allotted to each team is about 100. J. C. R. Foster, the campain manager, told the men they could make these calls, which have been definitely listed, without trouble in the first three days of the drive, leaving the fourth day for a sort of "clean-up."

Enthusiasm a Feature.

Enthusiasm for the effort was a feature of the meeting. Scores of the workers expressed their fullest confidence in the result and there were some among them who urged that the goal of the campaign, 800 members, be raised to at least 1,000.

Interest in the plans for the expansion and reorganization of the board of trade has been shown by the Builders' Exchange. Mr. Foster spoke informally before the members at their last meeting. Several of the members expressed their willingness to give the plans their active assistance.

One of those who spoke put his sentiments in this form: "If I had waited until this campaign was over to find out what it means and then had learned what I know now, I would have been ashamed of myself."

Missing An Opportunity

If the average working man and his family spend $1,000 a year in London, and London misses an opportunity to bring a new one here, that missed opportunity is an actual money loss to the city. If 100 such oppqortunities are missed in a year it means the tidy little sum of $100,000.

Nobody on this green earth is going to help this city if the citizens do not themselves show some disposition to help it. It is time to look to the future. Other cities are doing it. Their citizens are finding the small cost in time, effort and money the best investment they ever made.

MUST DECLARE THEY HAVE NOT ANY COAL

The wives and widows of soldiers who wish the local command of the Great War Veterans' Association to assist them to secure coal must sign a declaration which has been specially arranged by the G. W. V. A.

They must give the name of the coal dealer from whom they have been securing coal in the past.

They also must declare that they have no coal in or on their premises.

The coal committee of the G. W. V. A. is working hard and doing all in its power to secure sufficient coal to supply the wives and widows of soldiers.

The declaration must be declared before the fuel controller as well as the secretary of the G. W. V. A.

MRS. C. ROBINSON IS INFLUENZA VICTIM

Dies From Pneumonia Following Attack.

The death occurred at midnight Friday night of Mrs. Robinson, 18 Charles street, wife of Clifford Robinson, a well-known young businessman of the city. Especially sad circumstances surround her death from the fact that she leaves three little children, the youngest, a babe only a few days old. About a week ago, Mrs. Robinson was taken ill with Spanish influenza, pleuro-pneumonia developing.

In addition to her husband and three children, she is survived by her mother, Mrs. A. Hodgins, 24 Wilson avenue, and three sisters, Mrs. Clifford Schott, Wilson avenue; Mrs. James Vanstone, 103 Wilson avenue, and Miss Marcella Hodgins, who is in training for a nurse in the Sarnia Hospital.

Mrs. Robinson was a highly-respected member of Talbot Street Baptist Church.

The funeral will take place on Monday to Mount Pleasant Cemetery. Rev. H. H. Bingham will conduct the service at the house at 10:30 o'clock.

PTE. T. C. ROBSON KILLED IN ACTION

Has Been at the Front Since May, 1917.

Sad news reached Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Robson, 289 Oxford street, this morning. It was a message from the director of records, Ottawa, announcing that their only son, Thomas Charlton Robson, had been killed in action on September 27.

Pte. Robson enlisted in London with a Middlesex battalion and went overseas as sergeant in the paymaster's office. After he had been in England a short time, he wrote his mother that there were lots of young men returning from the front wounded who could handle his job easily, and he felt that he ought to make an effort to reach the front with the fighting units. He did so, and underwent an operation in England to fit himself that he might pass the medical test to cross to France. This he succeeded in doing in May, 1917, and had been up in front ever since with a Toronto Highland unit. This is the first time his name has appeared in the casualty list.

Pte. Robson was well known and popular in London. Prior to enlisting he was a member of the staff of the local branch of the Bank of Nova Scotia.

Andrew Robson, the father, was last night re-elected president of the Liberal Club.

VEGETABLE EXHIBITION SET, OCTOBER 16 AND 17

Mayor C. R. Somerville Will Give Opening Address.

The prize committee of the London Vacant Lot Gardening Association met in the city hall last evening to make arrangements for the vegetable exhibition to be held in the Masonic Hall on October 16 and 17. The object of this exhibition is to show what has been produced by London gardeners during the past season, and those eligible to exhibit are all private amateur gardeners, members of the Vacant Lot Gardening Association, industrial gardens, school children's gardens and Y. W. C. A. gardens. The time for entries has been extended until 8:30 p.m. on Wednesday, so as to give the working man a better chance to place his exhibits.

Mayor C. R. Somerville will be present at the opening of the exhibition on Wednesday afternoon to deliver an address, and also on Thursday evening to distribute the prizes.

The committees in charge of the various wards as are follows:

Ward 1—Thomas F. Elliott, George Rowntree and J. C. Middleton.

Ward 2—Dr. J. F. Bryant, G. L. Spry, R. P. Pearce and F. E. Harley.

Ward 3—J. Kirkpatrick, J. Taman, Sergt. Dace.

Ward 4—W. W. Gammage, Rev. H. B. Ashby, Charles Gilbert.

The judges for the exhibition will be W. H. K. Talbot, Thomas Wistow and George H. Poad.

The prize list is as follows:

For general collection of vegetables—Three cash prizes, $5, $3 and $1.50.

For best single exhibits of potatoes—Three prizes, $3, $2 and $1.

Carrots, onions, turnips, beets, cabbage, parsnips, winter beans—Each three prizes, $2, $1.50 and $1.

Five each only of smaller vegetables, and 2 cabbages; 15 only of potatoes, and 1 pound of beans are required for exhibit.

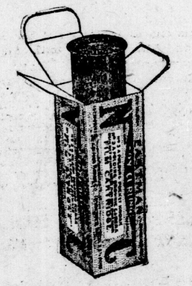

Four first prizes of $1 each will be given for the best Hubbard squash, pumpkin, vegetable marrow, and display of celery.

Spanish Influenza

This is due to the Influenza Germ and has a tendency to develop into Pneumonia, every precaution should be taken to guard against this disease. If you feel a sudden chill or get a sore throat or a rise in temperature, you may have caught the Influenza Germ. Here is a remedy that I will absolutely guarantee to be better than any drug or medicine on the market. It is called "Old Doc Hemlock," and has been curing Colds and La Grippe for forty years. Guard against the Spanish Flu by using "Old Doc Hemlock," put one teaspoonful in a cupful of water and take a dose every few hours, use it as a Gargle and a Spray, snuff it up the nostrils, keep the bowels moving freely to drive out the poison germs, with a gentle laxative, like Hacking's Kidney and Liver Pills (25c). This treatment will knock the Spanish Flu endways. Price 50c a bottle, postage and war tax 10c extra. Owing to the scarcity and high price of materials that go into this preparation, we can spare only two bottles to a customer. C. B. Hacking & Co., Listowel. 13u

Thanksgiving

OUR OBLIGATIONS multiply as this war goes on. We have a great many more things to think about this year than a year ago. We have, of course, the feast at home, the social function that the season brings, and we have those brave lads who are without the comforts of the home fireside of the days, and the "boys over there."

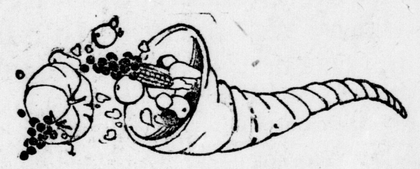

LET THIS Thanksgiving Day not pass without expressing our sincere thanks for another bountiful harvest, which will enable us to contribute to the needs of those who are dependent upon us, who are fighting our battles "over there," also those who are in distress through the devastation of war.

WE HAVE cause this year for greater rejoicing than ever before—let us not fail in our duty to give thanks both for recent successes and the bountiful harvest, which enables us to carry on.

Are Weak Nerves and Lack of Physical Strength Holding You Back In Life?

You Must Have Plenty of Iron in Your Blood If You Want the Power and Energy to Win, Says Physician.

When the crushing grip of worry, trials and care saps your vitality and keeps you from the full enjoyment of home, social and business life—take Nuxated Iron and watch its strength - giving, upbuilding effect—it will increase the strength and endurance of weak, nervous, rundown folks in two weeks' time in many instances.

THOUSANDS are held back in life for want of sufficient iron in the blood," says Dr. James Francis Sullivan, formerly physician of Bellevue Hospital (Outdoor Dept.), New York, and the Westchester County Hospital, in commenting on the relation of strong nerves and physical endurance to the attainment of success and power.

"A weak body means a weakened brain; weak nerve force means weakened will power, and like the racehorse beaten by a nose, many a capable man or woman falls just short of winning because they don't back up their mentality with the physical strength and energy which come from having plenty of iron in the blood. That irritable twitch, that fit of despondency, that dizzy, fearful feeling—these are the sort of signals nature gives us tired, listless folks when the blood is clamoring for strength-giving iron—more iron to restore the health by enriching the blood and creating thousands of new red blood cells.

"In my opinion the greatest curse to the health and strength of American people of today is the alarming deficiency of iron in their blood. Iron is absolutely essential to enable your blood to transform the food you eat into muscular tissue and brain. It is through iron in the red coloring matter of the blood that life-sustaining oxygen enters the body. Without iron there is no strength, vitality and endurance to combat obstacles or withstand severe strains. Lack of sufficient iron in the blood has ruined many a man's nerves and utterly robbed him of that virile force and stamina which are so necessary to success and power in every walk of life.

"Therefore, I strongly advise those who feel the need of a strength and blood builder to get a physician's prescription for organic iron—Nuxated Iron—or if you don't want to go to this trouble, then purchase only Nuxated Iron in its original packages and see that this particular name (Nuxated Iron) appears on the package. If you have taken other iron products and failed to get results, remember that such preparations are an entirely different thing from Nuxated Iron, which has been used and strongly indorsed by many physicians formerly connected with well-known Hospitals, the Hon. Leslie M. Shaw, former Presidential Cabinet Officer, former United States Senator and Vice-Presidential Nominee, Charles A. Towne, former members of Congress, distinguished United States Army Generals (retired), Judge Atkinson of the United States Court of Claims at Washington, and others.

In regard to the value of Nuxated Iron, former Health Commissioner of Chicago, William R. Kerr, said: "As Health Commissioner of the City of Chicago, I was importuned many times to recommend different medicines, mineral waters, etc. Never yet have I gone on record as favoring any particular remedy. But, in the case of Nuxated Iron, I feel an exception should be made to the rule. From my own experience with it, I feel that it is such a valuable remedy that it ought to be used in every hospital and prescribed by every physician in this country, and if my indorsement shall induce anaemic, nervous, rundown men and women to take Nuxated Iron, and receive the wonderful tonic benefits which I have received, I shall feel greatly gratified that I made an exception to my life-long rule in never before given out any medical information or advice for publication, as I ordinarily do not believe in it. But in the case of Nuxated Iron I feel I would be remiss in my duty not to mention it. I have taken it myself and given it to my patients with most surprising results. And those who wish quickly to increase their strength, power and endurance will find it a most remarkable and wonderfully effective remedy."

No matter what other tonics or iron remedies you have used without success—if you are not strong or well, you owe it to yourself to make the following test: See how long you can work or how far you can walk without becoming tired. Next take two five-grain tablets of Nuxated Iron three times per day after meals for two weeks. Then test your strength again and see how much you have gained. Nuxated Iron will increase the strength, power and endurance of delicate, nervous, rundown people in two weeks' time in many instances.

Manufacturers' Note: Nuxated Iron, which is prescribed and recommended by physicians and which is now being used by over three million people annually, is not a secret remedy, but one which is well known to druggists everywhere. Unlike the older inorganic iron products it is easily assimilated and does not injure the teeth, make them black, nor upset the stomach. The manufacturers guarantee successful and entirely satisfactory results to every purchaser or they will refund your money. It is dispensed in this city by Standard Drug Company, Limited, and all druggists.

SUGGESTIONS FOR NAME FOR HOSPITAL CONTINUE TO REACH ADVERTISER

Two Citizens Favor Memorial to Edith Cavell.

A suggestion that the new military hospital should be called The Edith Cavell Memorial Hospital reaches The Advertiser on the third anniversary of her murder by the Germans. The name is sent in by Mrs. Harding of 589 York street, "in remembrance of our heroine nurse." Mrs. Harding also offers Langemarck Military Hospital as an alternative, recalling as it does the first victorious charge of the Canadian troops in the European fighting.

John Wyse of 55 Tecumseh avenue chooses the location of the hospital as a means of deriving a fitting name, and would call the institution The London-Middlesex Military Hospital.

The King George Military Hospital is sent in anonymously.

Cavell Memorial is a name suggested by S. Archibold, 104 High street.

Mrs. W. Holmes, 102 High street, submits "Canadian Heroes' Hospital."

MISS BESSIE AITKEN IS LYING AT DEATH'S DOOR

Fire Chief's Daughter's Life Hangs in Balance.

Yesterday, Fire Chief Aitken was notified that his son had been killed in action, the second to give his life in the war within a few months. Today, his daughter, Miss Bessie, lies at the point of death, through complications developing from Spanish influenza. At 1:30 o'clock, the statement was made that she was very low, her life just hanging in the balance. The deep sympathy of the whole community is felt for Fire Chief Aitken and his family in their troubles.

CITY BREVITIES

MEETING POSTPONED.—The regular monthly meeting of the St. George's Mother Club will not be held until the last Tuesday in October, owing to the epidemic of Spanish influenza.

ORGANIST OF NEW ST. JAMES'.—The session of New St. James' Presbyterian Church has appointed Mr. William Pearson, bandmaster of the W. O. R., organist and choirmaster.

APPLES FOR SOLDIERS.—The boys of the W. O. R. were delighted this morning to receive a large sack of beautiful, hand-picked snow apples from Mrs. George Morgan of Alisa Craig.

ATTENDED THEATRE.—After their sports at Tecumseh Park yesterday, the pupils of the London Collegiate Institute paraded the streets and attended the Majestic Theatre. The L. C. I. song was rendered by John Feddes, the chorus being thrown on the screen, and the students joining in heartily.

ST. LUKE'S MEMORIAL SERVICE.—Tomorrow will be Communion Sunday at St. Luke's, Broughdale at the morning service. In the evening a special memorial service will be held, having reference to the late George Lance, of the Royal Flying Corps. An address will be given by Sergt. Stanley Young, who has recently returned from service in the war.

"VICTORY" SERVICES.—The "Victory" Thanksgiving service conducted under the auspices of the Methodist churches of this city in Dundas Street Church at 11 a.m. on Monday will, in view of the present hopeful war situation, attract a capacity congregation. Dr. F. L. Barber of Colborne Street will speak, and Parnell Morris will have charge of the musical service.

DR. McLARTY ILL.—Dr. J. McLarty, house surgeon at Victoria Hospital, is dangerously ill with pneumonia. His condition today was reported as serious. Dr. McLarty recently underwent an operation and he was taken ill, and the disease finally developed into pneumonia. For the last four years he was the star rugby player of the Western University team. His home is near St. Thomas.

WILL SOON BE WELL.—J. K. Locke, of 5 Wabban street, St. Thomas, who was found lying unconscious on the Hamilton road on Friday evening, is reported to be recovering by the Victoria Hospital authorities, where he was taken. He has completely regained consciousness, and will be able to leave the hospital soon. It is thought that there is nothing serious wrong with him.

SUCCESSFUL EUCHRE.—A euchre drive was held for the members of the Honorably Discharged Soldiers' Association in the clubrooms at 428 Park avenue Friday evening. The drive was largely attended, and was a great success. Comrades G. Blackwell and T. Lunn were the prize-winners. The committee in charge of the euchre drive was composed of Comrades T. Lunn, A. Belland and R. Pearce.

SPECIAL SERVICES.—Special Thanksgiving services will be held in Memorial Methodist Church tomorrow. The preacher for the morning service will be Rev. F. L. Barber, Ph.D., and in the evening the minister will have charge. Appropriate Thanksgiving music will be provided by the choir under the direction of Miss H. Powell, and will include solos by Misses I. Bartlett and A. Webb.

LIEUT. BURGESS WOUNDED.—Lieut. Edward Frank Burgess has been wounded. This is settled definitely by a telegram from Ottawa received by Mrs. Jane Burgess, 66 Stanley street, on Thursday. There has been some doubt, because an official telegram on Wednesday said he was missing and believed wounded on October 1. The next day came the confirmation of his wounding, but, much to the joy of his friends, not missing.

BRANCH FORMED HERE.—The East Middlesex women teachers at the close of their convention on Friday organized a branch of the Federation of Women Teachers' Association of Ontario. The aims of this federation are to promote the professional and financial status of the women teachers and develop a spirit of co-operation among them. Dr. Cody, minister of education, has given his support to the movement. Miss Fannie Cleveland was elected president.

MEMORIAL SERVICE.—On Sunday morning in Talbot Street Baptist Church a memorial service will be held in memory of Pte. Norman E. Evison, son of Corp. and Mrs. F. H. Evison, 1 Seale Terrace, York street, who was killed in action August 27. Pte. Evison enlisted at Komoka, where he was well and favorably known. He went overseas with the 135th Battalion. In the evening, Rev. H. H. Bingham will preach on the subject, "Is What Occurs on Earth Known in Heaven?"

THANKSGIVING CANTATA.—Rev. R. Milliken, D. D., pastor of Metropolitan Methodist Church, Regina, who is attending the General Conference at Hamilton, and is one of the great preachers of the west, will preach Sunday morning in the First Methodist Church. Dr. Milliken is a London boy and has many friends in this city. In the evening the choir, led by Mr. Jordan, will render Weber's "Thanksgiving Cantata," a realistic, fervent and devout presentation in music of harvest gratitude and of the "spirit things" harvest so beautifully suggests. Mrs. Wyatt, Miss Laymon, Mr. Johns, Mr. Learn and Mr. Matthews are the soloists.

PUP MAY ESCAPE, AS CITY HAS NO OFFICIAL DOG-SLAYER—BOY GLAD

"Mister, where can I take my dorg to be killed," was the surprising question a little lad between knee and waist high shot at Inspector J. W. McCallum at the city hall this morning.

"What," almost shouted Mr. McCallum, who could hardly believe his ears, that any lad should want his purp sent to dog heaven.

The lad repeated and told a sad tale. His father, lord and master of the household, had decreed that the little white fox terrier, not the finest looker in the world, should die. Why he did not say. Perhas the hard times and the dog tax were responsible. The lad said his father absolutely refused to preside at the killing, and told the lad to take the poodle to the city hall.

"Well, you go home and tell your father that there is no lord high executioner at the city hall, and if he wants your dog killed he will have to do it himself," said Mr. McCallum.

The lad ran for all he was worth, calling: "Come on, Jeff; come on," to his pup, which frolicked with him. He was a tickled boy to learn that there was no one who would kill his playmate, mongrel and all, that it is.

NURSES DOING FINE WORK IN FIGHTING SPANISH INFLUENZA

V. A. D.'s Successfully Handle One Hundred Cases.

EPIDEMIC STILL MOVING

Seventy-five New Patients Reported During Friday to M. O. H.

"Spanish 'flu' still moving" is the bulletin which comes today from the statistics bureau of the board of health. The number of cases has run up to more than 700, though Dr. Downham, M. O. H., states that several of these have recovered and that this does not represent 700 people sick with influenza at the present time.

Seventy-five cases were reported yesterday, a reason advanced for the big increase being that more doctors are now reporting cases. Several of the doctors are also calling for nurses, in line with the offer made by the board of health to supply nursing help in urgent cases. The school nurses are helping, five cases being referred to them yesterday afternoon from the board of health office in the Institute of Public Health. Seven cases have been referred from the same office to No. 4 Nursing Division, St. John Ambulance Association. Eloquent tributes are being paid to the unselfishness and efficiency of the services being rendered by the V. A. D.'s, the No. 4 Division nurses, who are giving not only time, but supplies as well, for the nursing of the sick.

Not One Case Lost.

About 100 cases are in their charge, and though some of them have been very serious, not one has been lost. Several of these volunteer nurses were out all night last night, and, in addition, eleven cases are now being cared for in the headquarters of the division at 446 Talbot street, which has been fitted up for a temporary hospital, the superintendent, Mrs. J. F. Thompson, herself supervising there.

In response to the appeal made through the press, several donations have been sent in towards the equipment of this temporary hospital. The following are gratefully acknowledged: Cot and bedding, Mrs. McTaggart; cot, mattress and pillow, Mrs. Bryan; linen for bedding, Red Cross; sheets, pillow cases and pillows, Mrs. James. Towels and old linen which can be thrown away after it is used are among the requirements badly needed.

"I sincerely hope the city will recognize the work of No. 4 Nursing Division in fighting the epidemic in a substantial monetery way," was a comment made today by a prominent citizen.

This year, the division has spent in the neighborhood of $1,100 in such service to the public, given gratis, and of this amount $700 has been raised and contributed by the girls themselves.

Shortage of Oil.

It isn't possible to put on a pneumonia jacket without camphorated oil and absorbent cotton, stated a member of the division today. So much camphor oil from the division's store has been used up that the other evening some of the girls who were looking after serious cases ran out of the oil. One especially wanted it for a pneumonia jacket for her patient. It was after 11 o'clock, and the drug stores were closed. The search party finally saw a doctor's night light, and rang his bell. They were rejoiced to get some of the camphorated oil, for which they paid 20 cents out of their own pockets.

Talking of Spanish influenza preventatives, the writer stepped into a drug store last evening to ask for listerine. The face of the druggist twitched as he tried to repress a laugh.

"Many people asking for listerine?" inquired the shopper.

"Are there?" said the druggist. "Every drug store in town has had a run on listerine, peroxide and every recognized germicide. I believe ours is one of the few drug stores that have an ounce of camphor left. Fortunately we had about a hundred pounds in when the big drive on our stock started. I understand the schools are recommending the children to wear a camphor bag around the neck. That is the way it is being used, tied up in a little package and hung around the neck.

Pleasant Outlook.

"Judging by the number who are using it, the public has great confidence in it. Pretty soon, if everybody gets to wearing it, no one will notice the smell. It will be just like everybody eating onions."

An incident is related today by the chairman of the board of health to illustrate the expedition with which urgent cases are looked after by the nursing forces.

"A man came to my house the other night about 20 minutes to 9," said Mr. Russell. "His wife, children and two sisters had been ill all week with the epidemic. He was getting sick himself, and couldn't look after them. He was afraid some of them would die before morning. I notified Miss Friend, public health nurse, and in 15 minutes a nurse was on the way to the house."

METHODIST VOTE NOT TO INTERFERE IN GUELPH RAID

Majority at Hamilton Conference Believe in Dismissing Question.

Hamilton, Oct. 12.—By a vote of 144 to 107 the Methodist General Conference this morning declined to interfere in the affair of the visit of the Dominion police to the Jesuit novitiate at Guelph on June 7. The vote was taken on a motion to lay on the table a resolution demanding a full parliamentary investigation into the affair.

It was Rev. Herbert B. Christie of Guelph who brought the matter to the notice of the conference. He was launching on a long recital of the events leading up to the raid, when he was interrupted by Cyrus Birge, a Hamilton lay delegate, who declared that it was a serious mistake to bring up the matter. The facts had been thrashed out in the newspapers, and the affair was dead.

"It is not dead," Mr. Christie declared, "and I want to give you the facts." There had been four attempts to secure information at the novitiate, he said, and in every case they were blocked. This was the case as long as the administration of the military service act was in the hands of the department of justice. When it was put under the minister of militia the deputy provost marshal was given instructions and the visit of the police to the institution took place.

At this point the president of the conference told Mr. Christie that he had better submit his resolution before going further with his recital.

Mr. Christie then moved, seconded by Rev. J. C. Reid of Strathroy, that, in view of the facts, the conference indorse the demand for a complete and impartial parliamentary investigation into the raid on the Jesuit novitiate at Guelph on the evening of June 7.

2,500 CASES OF INFLUENZA IN BRANTFORD CITY

Hospital Accommodations Are Taxed Beyond Capacity.

FACTORIES ARE CLOSED

Every Public Gathering in Paris Prohibited Until Further Notice.

Brantford, Oct. 12.—With the permission of the militia department, the Tabernacle Building on Brant avenue, used last winter as mass headquarters for the 2nd C.O.R., was taken over this morning by the board of health for use as an emergency hospital. Work was at once commenced to turn it into a hospital, 100 beds being secured from a local plant manufacturing them. There are 2,500 cases of the disease in the city, and there are no indications that the epidemic has even reached the crest. Some local factories have been so hard hit as to be forced to close down, while there is not an office, store or factory which is not crippled to some extent. The board of trade will conduct a publicity campaign to teach the people how to avoid, as far as possible, contact which will bring the disease. The situation, according to Dr. F. G. Pearson, M.O.H., is more serious than if there were a smallpox epidemic, and even the chairman of the board of health, who has contended that there was not a case of Spanish influenza in the city, has entirely changed.

Accommodation Overtaxed.

The Brantford General Hospital board of directors has issued notice that no cases will be admitted to the hospital save in case of accidents or emergent operations which must be at once performed. The accommodation there, though two wings were added in recent years, is now overtaxed.

Among the factories closed are the Pratt & Letchworth Company and the Dominion Steel Products Company, the latter on war orders.

There were four more deaths from pneumonia following Spanish influenza this morning. No action has yet been taken to close up theatres, but the feeling is growing that such action should be taken. In Paris this morning Dr. Lovett, medical officer of health, has issued a proclamation closing schools, churches, theatres, poolrooms and other places of public gathering until further notice.

There have been a number of deaths in Paris, and the disease is epidemical there also.

OPENS SPECIAL WARD.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Toronto, Oct. 12.—At the Hospital for Sick Children there are now 20 influenza patients, and nine of the nurses' staff are ill. Thus far there have been no deaths. "No sign of improvement in the situation," stated the hospital authorities. "In fact, it looks as if it were just beginning."

Nine emergency beds have been placed in Wellesley Hospital, and there is an influenza patient for every one of them. No new cases have been admitted within the past 24 hours.

Yesterday a special influenza ward was opened at Toronto General Hospital. Another may be added today. Every available cot is filled, and no further patients can be admitted until an equal number are discharged, or the accommodation is extended. Within 24 hours 54 applications for admisssion were held up. The total number of influenza patients now in the hospital is 96. Forty-six nurses out of the regular staff of 211 are themselves victims. Seventeen new cases developed yesterday.

Grace hospital has 50 influenza cases, of whom 34 are staff nurses.

"Things are quieting down a little," was the good word from St. Michael's. Only two more influenza patients have been admitted, the total in the hospital now being fifteen, including two nurses.

At the Western Hospital four deaths were reported within the last 24 hours. Seventy-one cases of influenza are being cared for, including 20 nurses. Of this number four are seriously ill. The superintendent declared that as few operations as possible were being performed, in order that all influenza cases may be lent to combat the prevalent epidemic.

DEATHS AND FUNERALS

DEATH OF SISTER ROBERTA.

Sister M. Roberta of the Sacred Heart Convent, formerly Miss O'Neil of East London, who died Thursday evening of Spanish influenza, was buried Friday morning in St. Peter's Cemetery. Sister Roberta was ill for only a short time, and was a member of St. John's Community. The services were conducted Friday in the chapel of the Sacred Heart Convent, and requiem high mass was sung by Rev. Father P. J. McKeon. Rev. Father James Harding acted as deacon, and Rev. Father M. Brisson a sub-deacon. Six sisters from the convent acted as bearers, and Vicar-General O'Connor officiated at the grave.

DIED AT STETTLER, ALTA.

J. P. Grigg, formerly of the Township of Caradoc, died at his late residence, Stettler, Alberta, on the 9th inst. Mr. Grigg was born in the township of Caradoc 67 years ago, and resided there until about ten years ago, when he moved to Stettler, entering the real estate business. He served two years as mayor of the town of Stettler, and some three years ago was appointed sheriff of one of the districts of the Province of Alberta, which position he held until his death. While in Caradoc he was active in municipal affairs. He was county councillor several years, serving one term as warden. He leaves a widow and one daughter at home, and one son, manager of the International Harvester Company at Lethbridge, Alta. Three sisters and two brothers reside in the vicinity of Mount Brydges, one sister, near Bath, Ont., one brother, Dr. A. Grigg, Saginaw, Mich., and one brother, James of the G. T. R., London.

DEATH OF CHARLES BODFISH.

The death of Charles Bodfish occurred at his home, 642 Princess avenue, Friday evening, after an illness of only one week. Mr. Bodfish was an employee of the Tip-Top Cap Company in the Greene-Swift Building, and came to this city from Montreal. The funeral will be held Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock to Woodland Cemetery, and will be of a private nature. Rev. W. M. Walker of the South London Baptist Church will conduct the services.

DEATH OF MISS M. J. SMITH.

The death took place Friday evening in this city at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Smith, 578 Ottaway avenue, of Mary J. Smith. Miss Smith was only 19 years of age and had been ill only a short time. She had lived in this city all her life, being educated in the public schools, and making a large circle of friends. She is survived by her parents and one sister, Minnie. The funeral will take place on Monday at 2:30 o'clock to Mount Pleasant Cemetery, where interment will be made. Services will be conducted at 2 o'clock.

FORESTRY CORPS MEN ARE TRANSFERRED TO FRONT

OTTAWA, Oct. 11.—Word has been received here from overseas to the effect that for some time past the directing authorities of the Canadian Forestry Corps have been inundated with applications from officers and men of the forestry service to transfer from the corps in order to have a hand in the fighting. It has been decided to allow a certain number of transfers, and the first draft of officers and men of the forestry corps has reached the corps' reinforcement camp and will shortly be ready to take their places in the line.

TURKEYS FEW AND FAR BETWEEN FOR THIS THANKSGIVING

Poor Showing in Market—Lots of Fowls.

Where, oh where are the big, juicy, plump Thanksgiving turkeys gone, the impressive hen turkeys and turkey gobblers of other days? The pumpkins for the luscious, spicy pumpkin pie were on the Saturday market all right today, but turkeys will be few and far between on Thanksgiving tables. There were ducks, though, a goodly number of them, bringing $1.50 and $1.75 each, and sizable geese for $2.50 and $2.75, not to mention "chickens as usual."

It didn't seem quite such a big market or quite such a lively market as might have been expected on the Saturday before Thanksgiving, doubtless due to the fact that many people were kept away by fear of "Flu" germs. Then, it rained early in the morning, though the moisture seemed to have settled on the pavements and sidewalks, and to leave the square itself nicely high and dry.

Some Queer Characters.

The market of a Saturday morning affords a fine field for the study of human nature. Today, a man and woman stopped at the reserve of an open-air fruit merchant to take away the basket of fruit they had evidently bought and paid for earlier. Looking round for the basket, while the merchant and his assistants were busy with other customers, their backs turned, the man tipped a basket of nice green grapes. Did he right it, replace the bunches that were overflowing and set the lid in order? He did not. He yanked out his own basket, thereby tilting the grape basket right over, bunches of green grapes strewing the moist ground.

Another Type.

Did he pick up the grapes, put them back in the basket? He did not. Did he wait to apologize? He did not. He stalked off with his own basket, uniform and all, not even the woman giving a backward glance. There was another person in khaki in the neighborhood, not an officer, who was helping the fruit merchant. He turned and spied the spilled basket, ruthlessly left on the ground, and the look on his face was deadly. The ruthless one was pretty well out of sight by that time.

"How did that happen?" asked the fruit merchant, who heard the young soldier's exclamation of indignation.

"Some lobster pitched it over and hadn't the decency to mention it," said the boy.

JAIL BREAKER NOW RETAKEN; HELD FOR TRIAL ON TUESDAY

Frank Tailor and Two Others Captured.

Frank Taylor, who escaped from the jail on August 1, was captured this morning by the city detectives. Taylor, in company with James Scott of Hamilton and James Redden of Brantford, was taken off a G. T. R. freight train arriving in the city from the west about 11 o'clock.

Many pairs of boots were stolen from a Chatham shoe store recently, and five pairs of boots were found on the trio.

Taylor was remanded until Tuesday, when he will be tried on the charge of breaking jail. Scott and Redden will be held pending the arrival of Chatham officers, when they will be turned over to stand their trial there.

Frank Taylor was serving time in the jail for the theft of some articles from a King street restaurant when he made his escape. He was working in the hall of the county court on the day he got away, by taking advantage of the moment when the turnkey's back was turned and by slipping out of the side-door. The authorities were confident that he would be taken sooner or later.

REPORT TERRIBLE LIST OF INFLUENZA DEATHE IN THE AMERICAN CAMPS

Col. W. H. Moore and his sister, Miss Ray M. Moore, of Lambeth, returned last night from a 2,000 mile tour of the Central and Western States. They report a terrible death rate in the military camps of the United States from the epidemic of influenza, 150 soldiers dying in 24 hours at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, and 13,000 cases out of a population of 63,000 soldiers at Camp Funston, adjoining Fort Riley, Kansas. The governors of western states have promulgated the closing of all churches, schools, colleges, theatres and any other public places where over twenty persons are usually assembled. Even the numbers of persons carried by electric cars is restricted.

Col. Moore expressed surprise that the authorities of London and other Canadian cities are not rigidly enforcing quarantine restrictions as a precautionary step. Many of those stricken in the United States die within 48 hours, he stated.

That the disease may arise from virus disseminated by the ruthless German beasts, who would destroy the earth and all its people, is hinted at Kansas City.

KAISER HAS SUMMONED VASSAL KINGS IN CONFAB

AMSTERDAM, Oct. 11.—Emperor William has summoned the sovereigns of all the German federal states to Berlin for a consultation before answering President Wilson's note, according to a Cologne dispatch. Such a conference is unique in the history of Germany.

COAL DEALERS ARE WILLING TO SUPPLY ALL FUELLESS HOMES

Will Fill Orders Taken by the Fuel Controller.

WILL TAKE ONE WEEK

Dealers Declare the Outlook Is Promising, But People Are Panicky.

The coal dealers of London with but three exceptions were present at a meeting with Mayor Somerville, Ald. F. Harley, Ald. E. S. Holmes and Fuel Controller J. W. McCallum this morning. The dealers were presented with the lists of persons out of coal. These are the declarations which Mr. McCallum has received, and the dealers agreed to take care immediately of the 450 persons said to be without coal.

Without exception the dealers agreed to Mr. McCallum's proposal. R. J. Webster said it was a move in the right direction, and the dealers were willing to co-operate.

Several of the dealers on looking over their lists stated some of these names were on the list where coal had been delivered. Mr. Webster said there were one or two on his list. Mr. Orchard said there were many names of people on his list who had owed him money for years.

W. Heaman stated that there was a large number of names on his list that he had never seen before. These were exclusive of the many newcomers' names which he said he readily accepted.

Mr. McCallum Fair.

Mr. McCallum said that many people had been in chasing him for the ton he had promised to try and secure for them. He said his reply was that if the dealers did not deliver the ton until the cold spell set in it would be better. They should burn wood until that time.

W. Heaman said that the dealers feel that Mr. McCallum is fair and trying to do his best for the dealers and the consumers. He said the dealers would assist as much as possible.

R. J. Webster congratulated Mr. McCallum on his action. It was a move in the right direction. He said the situation last year was aggravated by others trying to take he business out of the dealers' hands. Coal distribution was a day-to-day problem, and it will be again this year for a time. However, had the dealers not been interfered with last year not a fire would have been out, and the same will be the case this year.

Too Late for Cards.

Speaking of Dr. Holmes' proposal for a card system, Mr. Webster said he thought it was too late. Such a system was the proper solution, but it should have been inaugurated in March instead of now. He said that the people were very panicky.

Mr. McCallum said that London had received so far more than 46,000 tons of its 100,000 ton allotment.

The dealers stated that they had 50 per cent of their coal delivered now, as compared with about 30 per cent at this time other years.

Mr. Webster wanted to know what Mr. McCallum was doing about the postoffice and customs house coal.

The fuel controller replied that he had tried hard and was not through trying yet.

The dealers were agreed that the amount of coal which Mr. McCallum asks is small. Mr. Orchard said they should clean it up in a week; that is if the people go to the dealers and pay for it. They will be notified by Mr. McCallum that they can get a ton of coal by going to their dealer.

E. HICKIN DRAWS 3 MONTHS TO 2 YEARS IN ONT. REFORMATORY

ST. THOMAS, Oct. 11.—Ernest Hickin, the young man who pleaded guilty a couple of weeks ago to the theft of some valuables from the hydro electric commission, was today sent to the Ontario Reformatory for a term of not less than three months nor more than two years. Hickin was very penitent and pleaded for one more chance. His worship, however, informed him that he had exhausted all chances and had proved that he could not keep straight.

BE PRETTY! TURN GREY HAIR DARK

Try Grandmother's Old Favorite Recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or grey. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is mussy and troublesome. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this famous old recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, at a small cost.

Don't stay grey! Try it! No one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the grey hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy and attractive.

Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite for those who desire dark hair and a youthful appearance. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

1 at 7 p.m. (after meal).

If you smoke 2 cigars a day—
Smoke 1 at 1 p.m. (after meal)
1 at 7 p.m. (after meal)

If you smoke 1 cigar a day—
Smoke it after your heavy meal.
(1) Don't smoke continuously.
(2) —nor immediately before meals.
(3) —nor immediately before retiring.
(4) Always smoke slowly; it increases your enjoyment and is better for you.
(5) Never smoke the heavy, oily type of cigar at any time.

A good many cigar smokers smoke the wrong kind of cigar. A good many smoke at the wrong time of day. Some men do both. If smoking makes you nervous, it is most likely due to these practices. To help men smoke at the right time of day and to smoke the right kind of cigar, we have prepared the above suggestions. Keep them handy, and follow them as closely as you can.

The Travellers Cigar, which we manufacture, is the most famous cigar in Canada today, because it "never gets on your nerves." And at the same time it is a mellow, ripe, rich, delicious Havana smoke—satisfying down to the last puff.

Total Value of Prizes	- - $235.00

CAN you answer this question—When will the war be over? Every boy and girl wants to know. You can, if you are able to read this puzzle. The answer is contained within the 48 squares above. What is this answer? Solve it, and valuable prizes await you.

HOW TO SOLVE IT

The above squares hold the answer. It is in one sentence of nine words, containing forty letters. Each letter is represented by a number, and that number is the position of the letters in the alphabet. For instance, A is represented by the figure 1, as it is first in the alphabet, and so on. Now, to help you get started, we will tell you that the first letter in the puzzle is "W," because W is the 23rd letter in the alphabet. Get to work and figure out the words in the sentence, and try to find the answer to the great question, "When will the war be over?" It is not easy, but it is worth while trying for.

Copy your answer upon a plain white sheet of paper as neatly as you can, because neatness, spelling, hand writing, and punctuation count if more than one answer is correct. Put your name and address in the top right hand corner of the paper. If you have to write a letter, or show anything else, put it upon a separate sheet of paper. We will write as soon as your answer is received, and tell you if your solution is correct, and also send you a complete illustrated list of the grand prizes that you can win.

TOO MUCH LEARNING OUT OF THE BOOKS IN MODERN SCHOOL

E. Middlesex Teachers Shown Importance of Practical.

CONVENTION WINDS UP

Criticism of Readers, Which Are To Be Revised—New Officers.

After a most successful two-day convention the East Middlesex Women Teachers' Institute closed on Friday afternoon in the council chamber. Peter Sandiford of Toronto gave an interesting address on "Craftsmanship and Education." Mr. Sandiford impressed upon the gathering of teachers that craftsmanship was education. "Too much time is devoted to obtaining an education out of books. Hand-weaving, basket-making and pottery work are almost a thing of the past with the people of the nineteenth and twentieth centuries. Our grandmothers," said the speaker, "used to be able to take the wool off a sheep's back and in a short length of time have several yards of dress goods made from it. But in these days it is impossible almost to find a woman who could do this."

The Practical Pioneers.

Mr. Sandiford claimed that the pioneers of Canada were better educated than we are today, that is, practically. Perhaps they did not know much about reading, writing and arithmetic, but they excelled in craftsmanship. The times demanded it of them. A person that could not use his hands would not have brains worth ten cents. Without the use of the hands it is impossible for the brain to develop, he said. Mr. Sandiford then gave interesting descriptions of the wonderful and exquisite craftsmanship on notable buildings in England, and mentioned some of the well-known sculptors and their work.

Criticizes Readers.

Criticisms on the readers at present used in the public schools, and changes that could be made to advantage, were given by teachers from the various rural schools represented at the convention. As there is to be a revision of the readers in the near future, the minister of education requested that the suggestions be recorded and sent to the revision committee. Some of the teachers favored more illustrations and more patriotic selections substituted for other stories, which at any time were of no value to the pupil.

The officers elected for the ensuing year are: President, Miss E. Sproat, Lucan; vice-president, George Priddle; treasurer, J. A. McNaughton; librarian, J. P. Thompson; secretary, Miss Farnie Cleveland.

STRONG PEOPLE NEEDED

The need for people to be healthy is urgent. Those whom illness has put outside the ranks of robust men and women feel their position keenly. They are handicapped in every walk of life and weak men and nerve-worn women need more earnestly than ever to put their health right and become active and strong. Many who began "patching" months ago are as ill now as on the day they began vainly tinkering with common drugs. Every ailing man and woman should remember that the ills of debility, nerve exhaustion, indigestion, sleeplessness, neuralgia, and depression come from a faulty blood supply. Worry, overwork or other causes have impoverished the blood and left the life-stream impure. The nerves thereby are starving and the whole system is languishing for new blood. In this condition many thousands have won back strong nerves and new health and strength through the new, rich blood Dr. Williams' Pink Pills actually makes. In a weak or bloodless condition it is not only a waste of time and money, but also a further menace to your health to tinker with common drugs. Follow the example of so many thousands by giving Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a fair trial, and they will transform you into healthy, active men and women.

You can get these pills through any dealer in medicine, or by mail at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Brockville, Ont.

Men, When in Chicago Come and See for Yourselves

The Dr. Lorenz Electro Body Battery is the greatest invention for debility the world has ever known. No drugs, no medicines, no dieting, no unusual demands of any sort; just cease all dissipation and this invention will do the work. It sends a stream of vital life into your nerves, organs and blood during the time you are asleep. For the treatment of rheumatism, weak back, nervousness, stomach, liver and kidney disorders, it is incomparable. Dr. Lorenz's Dry Cell Storage Battery is a high grade battery, requires no charging with vinegar or acids, is 300 per cent easier applied, gives 400 per cent greater service, and is sold at a lower price without added cost for fancy books.

The Quick Way to Stop a Cough

This home-made syrup does the work in a hurry. Easily prepared, and saves about $2.

You might be surprised to know that the best thing you can use for a severe cough, is a remedy which is easily prepared at home in just a few moments. It's cheap, but for prompt results it beats anything else you ever tried. Usually stops the ordinary cough or chest cold in 24 hours. Tastes pleasant, too—children like it—and it is pure and good.

Pour 2½ ounces of Pinex (50 cents worth) in a 16-oz. bottle; then fill it up with plain granulated sugar syrup. Or use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup, if desired. Thus you make 16 ounces—a family supply—but costing no more than a small bottle of ready-made cough syrup.

And as a cough medicine, there is really nothing better to be had at any price. It goes right to the spot and gives quick, lasting relief. It promptly heals the inflamed membranes that line the throat and air passages, stops the annoying throat tickle, loosens the phlegm, and soon your cough stops entirely. Splendid for bronchitis, croup, whooping cough and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway pine extract, famous for its healing effect on the membranes.

To avoid disappointment ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Toronto, Ont.

MEMBERSHIP RALLY OF 'YOUNG WOMEN'S' A GREAT SUCCESS

Big Step Forward Taken by This Admirable Association.

The Y. W. C. A. membership rally, held last evening at "Lenmore," King street, was an undoubted success. The spacious hall and diningroom had been skillfully decorated with autumn leaves and berries, giving a most cheery aspect to the surroundings. Strains of the Devonne Orchestra greeted the entering guest, this orchestra, led by Jack N. Chapman, giving several numbers during the evening.

Mrs. Chas. Leonard, in her address from the chair, spoke of the great step in advance which had been made since last year, maintaining that last night another step forward was being taken in the Y. W. C. A. work of the city.

Delegates' Reports.

The big feature of the program last night consisted of the reports read by the girl delegates sent to Lake Couchiching city girls' conference this spring. Each girl represented one of the five Y. W. C. A. clubs, organized under the leadership of Miss Archibald, industrial secretary. Miss Alice Turney, sent by the Comrades; Miss Lily Brooks, representing the Pollyannas, and sent through the kindness of the manager of D. S. Perrin Co.; Miss Mona Seger of the Empire Club, sent by McClarys; Miss Evelyn Clayton, sent by the London Milling Company, and Miss Ruth Mansell of the Excelsior Club, sent through the kindness of the Holeproof Hosiery Company, were the fortunate delegates, who presented their reports last evening.

These reports, many of them exceedingly humorous, were remarkable in that they gave such a clear impression of the life at the Y. W. C. A. city girls' conference, and showed that the girls had brought home with them something far more valuable than merely memories of experiences—a determination to give to their comrades whom they represented, a stimulous toward a better life and better club activities, such as they had received while at the conference.

Community Garden.

Another interesting report was that read by Miss Jessie Hollins on the Y. W. C. A. community garden on Hunt's Flats. Her humorous account of the work accomplished and good times spent was an inspiration to all. By her own liberal offer to deliver on her bicycle many of the vegetables sold, the clubs were able to retain $15 of the $27 raised from the garden, for Red Cross work.

Mayor Somerville was present and spoke to the girls, telling them to keep up their good work, not letting it go at this time of world rejoicing, for the Allies are not yet ready to accept terms of peace until the enemy surrenders absolutely as did Bulgaria. "Still we must remember that while we at home wish to carry on the war, we must leave the deciding of the matter to the boys at the front who have made so many sacrifices," declared the mayor, "and we must not think that any sacrifice on our part at home is too great. Now is the time to put forth our greatest energy, and when the boys know that the people at home are willing to help, they will be willing to go on as they always are."

Two selections from the New St. James' male quartet, as well as a singsong from the club girls, completed the program.

DOUBLE FUNERAL FOR SISTERS AT GODERICH, VICTIMS OF INFLUENZA

GODERICH, Oct. 11.—The double funeral of Miss Hazel and Miss Retta Wilson, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. James Wilson, took place from their residence on Quebec street, this afternoon, and was largely attended. Members of the Victoria Helpers' Class of Victoria Methodist Church went in parade for the funeral. This was one of the saddest events that Goderich has seen for some time. The rest of the Wilson family, who have been so sick from influenza, are now believed to be on the mend, and much sympathy is felt for Mr. and Mrs. Wilson.

The town turned out in large numbers to welcome two more returned soldiers who have been invalided home after serving about two years in France. They were Pte. Carroll and Pte. O'Reilly.

John Barker received a cable today stating that his son, Pte. John Henry Barker, infantry, was killed in action on September 27. Pte. Barker had been overseas for over a year, and was a member of the 161st Hurons.

FOREST GIRL BURIED.

FOREST, Oct. 10.—The funeral of Marguerite Theresa Burke, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Burke, took place yesterday from the Roman Catholic Church to Beechwood Cemetery, Rev. J. G. Labelle officiating. Deceased, who was 15 years of age, had been ill a long time, and endeared herself to all by her patience and kind disposition. Among the many floral tributes was a sheaf from the pupils of the public school. The bearers were Everett McCrae, Sidney Fraleigh, Donald McKellar, Claire Leonard, Donald Livingston and Will Watson. Besides her parents she is survived by three brothers and two sisters, Joseph of Lansing, Mich.; Pte. James J. of Camp Custer, Mich.; Irene, C.P.R. operator at Sarnia; Celia and Jack at home. Among those from a distance who attended the funeral were: Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Moore, Brompton; John Moore, Lansing; Will Moore, London; Werlick Dennis, Preston; Mrs. P. Walker, Weston; Mrs. Boyle, Mrs. W. Parker and Miss Deegan, Sarnia; Tom and Miss Josephine Gavigan, Watford, and D. Hagan, Parkhill.

SPEEDERS AND OTHERS HELP COURT REVENUE

The police court funds were greatly increased Friday by visitors of the motor vehicle act. Walter Wilkey was fined $5 and cost for speeding. K. J. Kelly was charged with speeding. He pleaded not guilty to the charge, and the case was dismissed. Arthur White was fined $3 and cost for passing on the left side of a standing street car. George Charmer was fined $5 and costs for speeding. The following paid $5 and costs for breaches of the motor and vehicle act: M. M. Ferguson, George Blackwell, A. Rumnall, E. F. Edworthy, William Hunter, James Ruddy and L. Braund.

MELBOURNE'S FAIR WAS BEST IN YEARS IN ALL RESPECTS

Fine Weather and Fine Show Made Unbeatable Combination.

SPLENDID HORSE SHOW

Ladies' Section Was of Exceptional Interest—Results of Races.

Ideal weather was handed out by the weatherman, and this helped to make the annual fall fair of the Melbourne Agricultural Society, which was held at Melbourne on Friday, a success in every sense of the word. The large list of valuable prizes was the other factor that perhaps more than anything else made the fair a record-breaker. In attendance and entries it was pronounced by the directors the best exhibition that has been held by the society for years. It is estimated that between 5,000 and 6,000 people were on the grounds, and judging by the number of autos that were parked in all the available space inside the gates and on both sides of the village streets for blocks, one would say that the estimate was a modest one.

Good Livestock Show.

There was a good showing of livestock, especially in horses, cattle and sheep. Great interest was shown by the men and boys present in the judging of the various animals. The judging was rather prolonged, it was said, on account of the good class of stock shown. It was not easy to pick the animal that was entitled to the red card. The poultry pens were also well filled with fine birds. Geese, ducks, chickens and some pigeons were exhibited.

Farm and garden produce of all kinds was much in evidence, wheat, oats and corn predominating in the grains. While the fall wheat crop in this part of the province was not a good yield, what was shown on Friday in quality would compare well with that of other years. Among the vegetables there were squash of extra large proportion, pumpkins to match, watermelons, muskmelons, citrons, potatoes, carrots and onions of all varieties.

The Ladies' Section.

In the dairy, domestic manufacture and ladies' work sections the ladies of the community certainly showed that they had taken an interest in the fair. Butter such as one can scarcely buy now, pies, cakes and bread that would tempt any mere mortal to break the commandment referring to stealing, if the directors were not watching so closely. Several blankets that had been woven by the women were shown in the domestic manufactures. Fancy-work of all kinds occupied a large space in the halls also.

An exhibit of clothing by R. H. and J. Dowler attracted considerable attention on the grounds. All sorts of winter suits and overcoats were on display. Souvenirs were distributed among the children by Messrs. Ball and Caven, two employees of the firm.

The Races.

As usual the races provided an attraction that held the crowd near the racecourse for the major portion of the afternoon. In the green race there were seven entries, and six in the 2:50 class, while only three entered in the free-for-all.

Following are the results of the races:

DEATHS AND FUNERALS

FUNERAL OF MRS. McDONALD.

The funeral of Mrs. Helen Henderson McDonald, who died in this city on Wednesday, took place on Friday to Mount Pleasant Cemetery. The services, which were conducted at 2 o'clock by Rev. D. C. MacGregor, were largely attended by many friends and relatives. Mrs. McDonald was 91 years of age, and was a widow of Donald McDonald, who died in 1869. She had lived in this city all her life, and is survived by one daughter, Annie, of this city.

DEATH OF MORLEY THOMAS.

The death of Morley Thomas occurred at his late residence, Tempo, Westminster Township, on Thursday. Mr. Thomas had been ill for only a short time, and his death comes as a shock to his host of friends in that vicinity. He was an active church worker and had lived at Tempo for many years. He is survived by his widow, Alice, and one son. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Thomas of this city, also survive, as well as three brothers and one sister: Frank at home; Russell and Earl of this city, and Mrs. Archie McGugan of Tempo. The funeral arrangements have not yet been made.

BURIED AT LAMBETH.

The funeral of James Vanstone, who died in this city recently, took place Friday at 2:30 o'clock to Lambeth Cemetery, where interment was made. The funeral was a motor one, and was attended by many friends and relatives.

DEATH OF HERBERT C. HEATH.

The body of Herbert C Heath, who died at the Guelph Military Hospital recently, arrived in this city Thursday evening. Mr. Heath was well known about this city, having been employed at the Empire Brass Company prior to enlisting for overseas. He left this city with the 135th Battalion, and later transferred to the 124th, with which unit he went to France. He remained in France for about two years, and was wounded at Vimy Ridge. He then returned to this country and was undergoing treatment at Guelph at the time of his death. He had one brother killed at Ypres and another brother is fighting in France after being wounded three times. One sister was killed by the Germans in their air raids on England. The funeral took place today from the undertaking parlors of George E. Logan to Mount Pleasant Cemetery, where interment was made with full military honors. The bugler, gun carriage and men were furnished by the W. O. R. Battalion at Carling Heights, and Rev. Col. Emslie conducted the services.

DEATH OF MRS. FINCH.

The death of Mrs. Euphemia Finch occurred in this city on Thursday after an illness of about ten months. Mrs. Finch was a wife of Silas Finch, 261 Talbot street, and was 66 years of age. She is survived by two sons, Silas E., now in France, and Roy, at home. A. J. Finch, a returned soldier, who died about a year ago, was also a son. One sister, Mrs. Murdie of Seaforth, also survives.

The funeral took place this afternoon at 3 o'clock to the Woodland Cemetery. Rev. E. H. Young officiated at the services, which were conducted at 2:30 o'clock.A

DEATH OF CHAS. NETTLESHIP.

Charles Nettleship of this city died at the home of his son-in-law, O. L. Deacon, 59 Craig street, on Friday, at the age of 76. Mr. Nettleship was born in England and came to this country many years ago. He resided in Montreal for some time, and later moved to this city, where he has lived for the past 25 years. He was an active church worker and an official member of the quarterly board of the Askin Street Methodist Church. The funeral will take place on Sunday afternoon at 2:30, to Woodland Cemetery, and the services will be conducted by Rev. J. T. Cosby Morris of the Askin Street Methodist Church. Mr. Nettleship is survived by his wife, one daughter, Mrs. O. L. Deacon, and five sons, William of Grimsby, Arthur, Ernest and Harold of Montreal, and Frederick of the American expeditionary forces now fighting in France.

PEACE OFFERS TO U. S. FROM DUAL MONARHY AND TURKEY

Cttoman Government Reported To Have Made Definite Proposals.

LONDON, Oct. 11.—Turkey has made a definite peace proposal to President Wilson, according to reports in circulation here.

According to other advices Austria-Hungary and Turkey have informed Germany that they will accept President Wilson's peace terms. A dispatch to the Central News from Amsterdam is to this effect.

MARTIAL LAW IN TURK CAPITAL.

PARIS, Oct. 11.—A rumor was circulated on the Paris bourse this afternoon that Constantinople had been declared under martial law. Ottoman values jumped three and four points. Turkish securities were in demand, and there was much trading in them.

HUNGARIAN PREMIER RESIGNS.

BUDAPEST, Oct. 11.—Via Basel.—Dr. Alexander Wekerle, the Hungarian premier, announced his resignation after an audience with King Charles.

Vienna newspapers received here say that a ministerial crisis in Hungary is imminent, and that a coalition cabinet is probable.

WASHINGTON NOT ADVISED.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—Proposals of peace on the part of Turkey, reported in London dispatches, had not been received in Washington tonight. State department officials anticipated this proposed move by the Turkish Government, but stated positively that no proposals had reached them.

Germans Engaged in Blocking Harbors of Ostend, Zeebrugge

LONDON, Oct. 11.—(By the Associated Press.)—Latest allied reconnaissances show that the Germans have nothing of a military nature afloat and nothing in the air along the Flemish coast.

The Germans are now engaged in blocking the harbors of Ostend and Zeebrugge.

GOVT. BARS DOMINION NORTHWEST MOUNTED POLICE FROM UNIONS

OTTAWA, Oct. 11.—Regulations passed by the Government forbid the Northwest Mounted Police and the Dominion Police from joining labor unions. The regulations have been adopted under order-in-council.

U. S. FLYING SQUADRON SCORES 100TH VICTORY

WITH THE ARMERICAN ARMY IN FRANCE, Oct. 11.—(By the Associated Press.)—The first American aviation pursuit squadron completed its one hundredth successive victory Thursday night with a "Boche straffing raid," which netted six machines. Of these, Lieut. Edward Rickenbacher, of Columbus, Ohio, got two, bringing his official total to fifteen, with three more which probably will be confirmed soon.

Why the Wily Hun Plans Sudden Peace and How He Prepares

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—Frank H. Simonds, writing for the New York Tribune, says a Belgian's story soon to be revealed to the public will "stagger humanity" in its disclosure of the real German intent regarding peace. The Germans while preparing for peace are not only carrying off all machinery in occupied French and Belgian territory, but are systematically destroying all buildings, with the design of crippling industrial competition when the world settles down once more to business.

SPANISH INFLUENZA RESULTS IN CLOSING OTTAWA'S CHURCHES

Toronto M. O. H. Calls Off Baptist Convention.

WINNIPEG SHUT TIGHT

No Street Cars, Theatres, Saloons or Schools Running in Buffalo.

OTTAWA, Oct. 11.—In deference to the wishes of the local board of health all the churches in the city will be closed on Sunday as far as public services are concerned. In addition to the churches which closed last Sunday the Roman Catholic and the Anglican Church authorities have written the mayor that they will close this Sunday. A number of representative clergymen had a conference with Dr. Law, acting medical officer of health, and it was agreed that it was best to close for Sunday.

BAPTIST CONVENTION OFF.

TORONTO, Oct. 11—The annual convention of the Baptist Church for Ontario and Quebec, which was to have met in Jarvis Street Baptist Church October 16 to 22, has been postponed indefinitely by order of the local medical officer of health. As soon as the "flu" epidemic is over on sanetion of the M. O. H., the convention may be convened by the order of the executive. Notices were sent off tonight to all churches in Quebec and Ontario.

30 DIE IN TORONTO.

TORONTO, Oct. 11.—Over thirty deaths from Spanish influenza in this city were reported at the city hall today. Hopes of medical health officials that the epidemic was being checked were dashed to the ground by the increase of 21 deaths over the previous day. Hundreds of new cases were reported, but admittances to the local hospitals could not be gained. Cots have been placed in corridors and everything has been done to accommodate patients.

To combat the disease Dr. C. J. Hastings, medical officer of health, ordered that no convention be allowed to meet in Toronto for a month. Another edict issued was that only relatives of influenza victims be allowed to attend the funerals.

Col. Irving, A.D.M.S., for this military district, has issued an appeal to the civilian population to release nurses for work among the soldiers on account of the seriousness of the situation.

GERMANS CARRIED OFF ARCHBISHOP OF CAMBRAI

ON THE BRITISH FRONT IN FRANCE, Oct. 11.—Monsignor Chollet, archbishop of Cambrai, was carried away by the Germans when they evacuated the city.

Over 100 Women and Children —Several Die After Rescued.

LONDON, Oct. 11.—According to the latest estimate 480 persons perished, when the passenger liner Leinster was torpedoed and sunk by a German submarine. The vessel carried 687 passengers and had a crew of about 70 men.

100 WOMEN AND CHILDREN.

DUBLIN, Oct. 11.—Of the 150 women and children aboard the steamship Leinster when she was destroyed by a German submarine, only 50 have been accounted for. Several of the survivors have died since they were brought to port.

Iodine and Creosote Combination Cure For Spanish 'Flu"

PITTSBURG, Oct. 11.—Dr. George F. Baer of the homeopathic hospital staff here, announced this afternoon that he had found a successful cure and preventive for Spanish influenza. Dr. Baer said tests on patients suffering from the disease and having fever of 103 have recovered under the treatment, which also has proved a successful inoculation against the malady.

In announcing the result of his experiments since the epidemic began, Dr. Baer said the preparation used is not a scientific secret, but a combination of iodine and creosote.

10,000 Liberated Civilian French in Tears of Joy

WITH THE ANGLO-AMERICAN FORCES EAST OF CAMBRAI, Oct. 11. —Nearly 10,000 French civilians have been liberated from the Germans by the advancing British and Americans.

Four thousand civilians were found in Bohain alone. They were in a pitiful condition, having been without food for three days when rescued.

The 2,500 civilians rescued from the Germans at Caudry, rushed from the town as the British stormed toward it, waving their arms and cheering. Tears of joy streamed down their thin faces. The Germans had robbed them of their belongings.

10,000 ITALIANS IN CANADA WILL SOON COME WITHIN M. S. A.

OTTAWA, Oct. 11.—A proclamation will shortly be issued, it is expected, calling all friendly aliens, except Americans, within the Dominion, to register for military service. The conventions with the Allied governments have been practically concluded, and the final call is now understood to be under consideration by the Government. The conditions will be practically the same as have been provided in the convention with the United States. Exactly how many men will be available under the new conventions for service in the Canadian forces has not yet been determined.

Italians, it is estimated, will be shown to be the most numerous, and of them it is thought there will be about 10,000 to come within the scope of the M. S. A.

MINIMUM SALARIES OF PREACHERS GIVEN RISE IN CONFERENCE

$1,200 for Married, $1,000 for Unmarried Men.

$800 FOR PROBATIONERS

Government Will Be Implored Not to Relax Prohibition.

HAMILTON, Oct. 11.—More generous treatment for its ministers, both in the active service of the church and in the retired list, was authorized by action of the Methodist General Conference today.

Minimum salaries for ordained men and probationers were fixed at $1,200 a year for married ministers, $1,000 for unmarried ministers, and $800 for probationers.

At the same session the conference approved the raising of the scale of superannuation. Retiring allowances of $15 for each year of a minister's services and $10 for ministers' widows were definitely decided on. To meet the increased budget required the raising of at least $1,000,000 increased endowment for the superannuation fund. Ministers' salaries in addition may be assessed up to 20 per cent more than the present rate, but provision is made for the reduction of this as revenue from other sources becomes available.

Proposals to relax the Dominion prohibition act during the present influenza epidemic met with unqualified condemnation by the conference, which decided to wire protests to the prime minister of the Dominion, of all the provinces of Canada and of the Dominion of Newfoundland.

The appointment of a special secretary of evangelism was authorized.

No change will be made in the four-year itinerancy.

Rev. W. Hodson Smith of the Wesleyan Methodist Church of Great Britain addressed the evening session, telling of what had been accomplished towards church union in Britain, and making a plea for closer political union of the British Empire and all English-speaking people.

N. Y. STATE MAKES IT CRIME TO COUGH OR SNEEZE 'UNCOVERED'

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—Dr. Herman M. Biggs, state commissioner of health, was directed by the public health council of the state department at a meeting here today to take charge of the Spanish influenza situation in the state. He was ordered to spare no expense in getting the machinery of his department into immediate action to check the alarming spread of the disease. The epidemic was reported to be more serious up-state than in New York city.

Instructions will be sent by Dr. Biggs to every health officer in the state, concerning means for combating the disease and preventing its spread.

The council adopted a rule making it a misdemeanor for any person to cough or sneeze in public places anywhere in the state without covering the mouth or nose. Punishment will be $500 fine or one year's imprisonment, or both.

From September 18 until today there have been 25,852 cases of influenza in the city, and 2,752 cases of pneumonia. Deaths from influenza numbered 1,052 and from pneumonia 1,509.

Another Telephone Call

"Hello! Is that Professor Mulveney?"

"Yes, speaking."

"Well, Professor, I just wanted to ask you a few questions in regard to advertising, if it would not be taking up too much of your valuable time. Does it pay to advertise? I think it must, or you would not keep it up."

"Yes, it pays me to advertise, because I advertise remedies that are saving people's lives, and I do not have to lie about my remedies to get people to buy them. All I have to do is tell them what good results have come from using them. When they come to my office I have the evidence of what my remedy has done, which is sufficient to convince the most skeptical. The goods are sold at sight. The thousands of parasites and worms that are to be seen, the result of what my remedy has done, make a convert of those who see them. They ask no questions, simply say, 'I'll have the remedy.' I would consider I had my light under a bushel if I did not let the people know what a blessing my remedies are to humanity. The expression of joy and satisfaction pictured on the faces of those relieved of the horrid Tape Worms gives me joy and satisfaction, and I am satisfied. I am in the business that God has ordained for me, and I am a faithful servant, letting my light shine before men that they may be drawn unto me, and get the relief that my wonderful remedy has in store for those who are so afflicted. I use the money I am advertising the most wonderful remedy on the face of the earth, and my advertisements have been a veritable messenger of joy and relief to thousands of people, and these people are all my friends and never hesitate to recommend my remedies that have relieved so many thousands and restored them to health and happiness."

"Then your remedy is not a fake?"

"Well, call at 211 Ossington Avenue and see for yourself, then you will know there is no fake about it."

Read This Announcement

No doubt you have read of Prof. R. L. Mulveney's World-Famous Tapeworm Remedy. But have you called at his office? Have you seen the collection of the horrid monsters his Remedy has expelled from people of all ages, from the baby less than two years old to the aged grandfather and grandmother? People of all ages seem to be afflicted with these internal monsters that sap away the life of their victim. If you have not been already, you will be more than surprised and repaid for your visit, for the most interesting exhibition in the world is there to be seen, and no one can realize, or imagine, or believe that such horrid-looking things could be expelled from a human being. Why, he has bushels of these life-destroying horrid monsters from human beings, also letters and testimonials from those relieved, expressing their heartfelt gratitude and thankfulness for being relieved from them. No one can visit Prof. R. L. Mulveney's place of business without being impressed with the fact that Prof. Mulveney's remedies are saving the lives of thousands of sufferers and restoring them to health and happiness. Thousands of people are being operated on for some supposed internal obstruction, when Tapeworm is the cause of their misery. The Professor has many from people who have suffered the pain of the surgeon's knife, when one or more of these horrid monsters were eating their lives away, and one dose of his World-Famous Remedy expelled them in from 20 minutes to two or three hours without previous starving and without causing any sickness or distress.

The joy and satisfaction expressed by those relieved of them must certainly bring joy and pleasure to the proprietor of such a valuable remedy and convince all that it is a blessing to humanity from the Most High.

WORMS.

Produce miserable feelings, in some cases their victim is so uneasy and feels so miserable she cannot describe his feelings. They cause irritable dispositions and melancholy. The victim constantly thinks something is going to happen, a fearful feeling is produced, and a fear of Death. Some people think everyone is their enemy and imagine that everything they do will hurt them. They get nervous at everything and think their case is hopeless. Some have desire to commit suicide, and ask their friends to watch them, as they will tell them they are afraid of themselves. The awful feelings make life unbearable. Children roll and toss in their sleep, some holler and others grind their teeth, complaining of pains in the bowels, some children are feverish and have bad breath, others wet the bed, take spasms, wake up in frightful dreams, take convulsions or fits; some children of strong constitutions look perfectly healthy, while others pine away and die. Many children have died from convulsions, and in a short time after death worms have crawled out of their nose and mouth; showing the cause of their untimely end. It is sad to think that thousands of people are suffering from some kind of worms and are being treated for the wrong disease, as different worms produce different kinds of diseases and produce the symptoms of many other kinds of disease. Pin Worms cause an irritation that many people mistake for Itching Piles, and are treated for this trouble, and, of course, cannot be cured, because the cause which is Pin Worms, is still left. There are other small Intestinal Worms that cause no end of trouble. The Spike Worm, which crawls backwards, sticking the spike in at every movement, is an awful tormenting creature; in appearance they are like a large maggot except that in the small end there is a spike about three-eighths of an inch long; this spike is black, like the point of a black pin, and looks like the stinger of a bee. This beast sticks the spike in to pull itself along; they measure from ¼ to ⅜ of an inch long. There are other small worms like the thousand-leg species, and some like wood bugs. It seems that the different species of bugs, grubs and worms that are found in water and under stones or rotten wood will live in the intestines, as I have a number of different kinds that have been expelled from the human bowels that have the same appearance, and it's horrifying to think so many people are suffering from some of these kinds of pests. The small maggot or grub with a black head and two little eyes and six legs is another specie of seat worms, and is certainly a nasty, irritating creature. The Tapeworm is found extend the whole length of the bowels; many people find out they have them by noticing segments in the stools.

The symptoms of Tapeworm are many, and differ, as some constitutions seem to stand the ravage of this vile parasite without causing much alarm, while others are nervous, melancholy and miserable, and waste away to a shadow, a ravenous appetite, pain or distress and sometimes a loathing for food, dizzy spells, gas or wind, nervous feelings, headaches, also a feeling as if something was moving in the bowels. Sometimes there is a feeling as though something was crawling up the throat. The only certainty of knowing one is there is when segments or joints come away at almost any time. They are flat, and measure from ½ to ⅝ of an inch long, and have often been mistaken for pin worms by those who do not know the difference. There are many other feelings of distress which would take too long to enumerate. Strange to say, some people of strong constitutions have very little distress. Tapeworms are bred from a parasite, and measure from 9 to 30 or 40 feet long, and sometimes whole colonies of them are expelled. The Professor has 18 from a man who was wasted away to a shadow, 7 from a lady who was operated on for internal troubles, 6 from a lady who was treated for nervous prostration, and many from others who were treated for different diseases and complaints, and quite a number from people whom their doctor tried to persuade to have an operation, when one or more of these vile pests were eating their lives away. The Professor has letters from Physicians who have used this remedy in their practice. The worms they relieved there patients of by this World-Famous Remedy are in his office, with words of praise from these many doctors, void of prejudice, and willing to aid the patient by using what they considered to be the most valuable, sure, and certain remedy.

The pages of all the newspapers in the city could be filled with testimonials of those his remedy has relieved, and they would not contain half or quarter the testimonials he could furnish. A visit to 167 Dundas street will convince you that he has a remedy that certainly does its work, and as health is the greatest wealth, this remedy is invaluable, and can be obtained at a very reasonable price, which is not given to only those calling at his office or writing for information. The Professor will be pleased to give a free demonstration and explain everything without money and without price. The only charge in connection is for the remedies, which are guaranteed as per directions on packages, which are, of course, conditioned.

Toronto, Feb. 26, 1916.
Sept. 24, 1914.

Dear Sir,—Your wonderful remedy received, and I took it according to directions, and am pleased to say the tapeworm was expelled, the head and all, in one hour and a half—first motion of the bowels. Your medicine is certainly a wonderful discovery, and no words can express my thankfulness to you. During the last nine years I have taken five other doses of medicine and starved for 36 hours to 48 hours and 50 hours before I took their medicine, and it would only fetch part of it away. I shall tell my doctor at once of your great cure, that he may direct others to you. I know of another lady who has been troubled longer than I, and will send your address to her. I feel it a duty to let all who need help, as I did, know of your worthiness, for what you can do for me I know you can do for others. I hope you may be spared a long life to continue your noble work, but sincerely hope you will in some way leave your discovery so that it won't die with you, for it is so easy to take and acts so quickly.

Gratefully yours,
Mrs.

Dear Sir,—I have tried one package of "Mother's Friend" for my little girl, and I found it has helped her a lot. She doesn't seem to have the dizzy spells, or fits, whatever they were, nearly so much, and she sleeps better, so I want you to send me one package of "B'Well." I am going to try that, as I thought it might help her head, and will enclose $1.25, for which you can send me one package.

Yours truly.

Hamilton, June 23, 1913.

This is to certify that my son was in poor health for some time We did not know what was wrong with him. We doctored with several doctors without any success. I went to the druggist and got medicine for him several times without any benefit to him whatever. I was beginning to think there was no cure for him. I went into a grocery store one day and I noticed part of a Toronto paper on the counter. I picked it up and looked at it. The first thing I saw was Prof. Mulveney's Wonderful Tapeworm Cure. I told my son about it. That is how I found out about the Tapeworm Cure; so we decided to try the remedy. I sent for the medicine; he took it according to directions, and one hour and thirty minutes after taking, the tapeworm was expelled from the system. Words would fail to express our gratitude. It is my earnest prayer that Professor Mulveney may long be spared for the sake of suffering humanity.

Mrs. May McKenzie,

Ravenna, Ont., Feb. 13, 1916.

Dear Sir,—Enclosed please find $1.25 for a package of 'B'Well." I have used one package, and found it the best medicine I ever tried. I have been bothered with stomach trouble for years, and I am now about all right.

Thanking you for your medicine, I remain, Yours truly.

Hanover, Oct., 1916.

Prof. R. L. Mulveney:

Dear Sir,—We are giving your "B'Well" to our daughter for epilepsy, and since taking it she has not had one fit. Before, every month she had from one to fourteen at an attack.

I am enclosing $6.00 for six packages. Yours truly.

St. Catharines.

Prof. Mulveney, Dear Sir:

When I was in Toronto a few months ago I got a bottle of your remedy called Mothers' Friend Worm Medicine, and it has been a treasure, and I am now out of it, and want to get more. The first time I gave it to her there came from her like a nest; it was just full of worms, four or five inches long, and also small worms most like maggots; and some pin-worms, and ever since, when I give her medicine she passes several worms and a great many pin-worms. This morning there were three, like fish-worms. She was also restless, throwing herself and kicking, and getting scared and talking. I got up and gave her the Mothers' Friend Worm Medicine, and this morning her stool was full of pin-worms and those three large worms, like fish-worms. I have one more dose yet to give, and I must have more. I enclose an order for $1.25, as I don't know what it will cost to send it here, so if it is any more than 25c to send it, let me know. Thanking you very much for your valuable medicine. My little girl is four years old. Hoping to receive this medicine by return mail, I remain, yours respectfully.

This letter can be seen at Prof. Mulveney's office.

It Makes People Feel Well

B'Well is a medicine that assists nature, made from roots, barks, herbs, leaves, etc. The concentrated extracts of these herbs tone up the stomach, regulate the liver, act on the kidneys, and it contains a harmless worm destroyer that is sure death to worms, and can be used with perfect safety.

B'Well is not a tapeworm exterminator, and is not recommended for that trouble. B'Well is restoring thousands of people to health. I am not going to enumerate the different diseases and complaints that people have been relieved of from the use of B'Well, as it would take up too much space. I can simply say that restlessness and disease cannot remain if you take this medicine for a time, and it will surely make you feel fine.

It does not contain poison in any form, or narcotics that only relieve pain, but the different roots and herbs that regulate the system. It stimulates the stomach, liver and kidneys into health action, helps digestion and keeps the bowels regular, expels all gases from the system and takes away the bad feeling round the heart and fearful feeling from the head, depressed spirits and melancholy simply vanish and a cheerful spirit takes their place. B'Well is a blessing to those that feel life is a burden, to them that are down-hearted and unhappy from disease. B'Well carries the poison out of the system through the natural channels of health, and, as the poison is carried out of the system, nature restores herself, and a cheerful spirit follows, as there is nothing like good health to make a person cheerful and happy. People treated for Epileptic Fits have been restored by its use. Don't ask me if it cures this, that and the other diseases. It is different from most medicines advertised as cure-alls, and I am not advertising this remedy as such, but simply advertising it as a medicine that has and will regulate the system, carry the poison out of the blood, and common sense must surely tell you the result. Men and women who have been nervous wrecks, with hollow cheeks and sunken brow, have become plump, healthy and cheerful from its use, and I can only say what it has done for others it will surely do for you. Young men and women whose faces are covered with pimples and a sickening sight to look at, are now free from them from its use. Men, women and children who had eating ulcers and running sores have been healed, and what it has done for them it is likely to do for you.

Prof. Mulveney's World Famous Tapeworm Remedy is saving thousands of valuable lives, and B'Well is doing just as much for those requiring this kind of medicine.

B'Well is put up in powder form for convenience to send to foreign places by mail, which does away with all breakages. The package of powder makes twice as much medicine for the same amount of money. Full directions for making. Price $1.25, six packages $6.00.

Write for further information, free, and send self-addressed, stamped envelope with your address written plainly for reply. These remedies are sold only by Prof. R. L. Mulveney, 211 Ossington avenue, Toronto, Ont.

Fairground, Ont., March 6, 1917.

Dear Sir: Your medicine that you sent me has done our girl a lot of good. She has never had any fits since we gave her the medicine. It has been a great relief for her and for us. Everybody says she is looking so much better, and I am glad we have found some help for her. As it is doing her so much good, we thought we would send for another package of the medicine.

Yours truly,

Telephone Call

Dear Sir,—I have the pleasure of writing to you in regard to your "B'Well" Medicine, which I can recommend to all sufferers. I have been cured myself by your wonderful medicine.

Hoping this gets to you safely, I am,

Yours truly.

Brocton, N.Y., Sept. 19, 1917.

Mr. Mulveney.

Dear Sir,—I am much pleased to recommend your medicine for the removal of tape worms, as I had doctored with many different doctors, with no success, but I am delighted to say that just 35 minutes from the time I took your medicine I had the worm, head and body.

Hoping every person having trouble with tape worm will have the pleasure of trying your cure, as it is a success,

I remain, yours truly,
J. C. GARDINER.

Montreal, Jan. 23, 1916.

Dear Sir,—Will you kindly send me another bottle of your "B'Well"?

I daresay you will remember me sending for a bottle on the 23rd of December. My boy, 13, passed a lot of stomach worms, some of them two inches, and some a little more than the third day after taking it he passed thirty-seven. No wonder the poor boy had such an appetite. I assure you I am very thankful I got your medicine, and am sending for another bottle for my boy of 14 years. I enclose $1.25 for same, and 22 stamps for postage.

Yours truly.

Hello! Is that Prof. Mulveney, Parkdale 4830?

Yes, lady.

Is Prof. Mulveney there?

Yes, Prof. Mulveney is speaking.

Have you a worm remedy for children?

Yes.

Could you tell me, if I brought my little girl down, if she had worms?

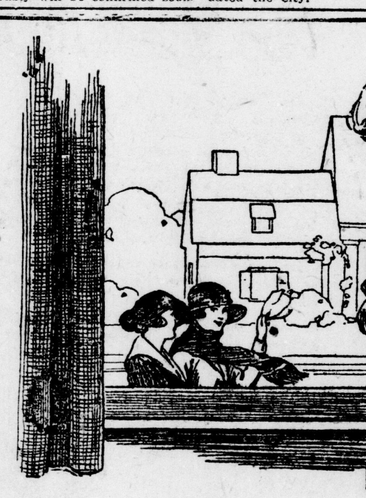

No, lady, I cannot tell by looking at children if they have worms.

You can't?

No, madam.

Couldn't you tell me if I told you all the symptoms?

No, madam. My remedy called Mothers' Friend expels worms, is an excellent Tonic and Builder, good for the Nerves, and is an excellent medicine for Regulating the Bowels; it brings away all filth and small intestinal worms, is perfectly harmless and can be given to the smallest infant without fear of doing harm. A lady who is living on Shaw street got a bottle of this medicine for her baby two years old. She said she had no peace with this child night or day for four months; the doctor was calling regularly and did not help the child in the least; the little one took a bad spell and was choking, the mother opened its mouth and pulled out a stomach worm that was strangling the child. She rushed over to me and brought the child, also the worm, which measured eight inches long, with her. She purchased a bottle of Mothers' Friend, and the second dose brought 17 more away. She was horrified at the sight, and brought the worms to me, which I have here in a bottle in my office, and many others from happy mothers. So if you think it is a good investment to try Mothers' Friend, it is $1.00 per bottle and 6c for postage in the city, and 20c extra for postage outside Toronto. Now, you understand, it is not necessary to waste car fare bringing your children here, as I do not practise medicine, and have only the one remedy for sick children, which expels worms if they are there. It is an excellent medicine for children and has cured many little ones of St. Vitus' Dance and Convulsions, also Fits. Call or send to 211 Ossington ave. (formerly Dundas street), Toronto. 'Phone Park. 4830. Mothers' Friend in powder form; each package makes twice as much medicine for $1.00; no danger of breaking and no cost for sending. Just send $1.00.

"If I Could Only Be Strong and Healthy Like Other Girls."

THIS is the longing of the girl who is pale, weak and anaemic.

She is lacking in energy and strength, and is so easily tired out that she does not feel like taking outdoor exercise or joining others in social gatherings.

The healthy, happy outdoor girls get in the way of leaving her to herself, and she gets lonely, discouraged and despondent.

The source of trouble is in the condition of the blood, which has become thin and watery, and utterly lacking in nutritive qualities.

The anaemic condition is shown in the pallor of the lips, the gums and the eyelids, as well as in the pale face and angular form.

Nature has provided for the purifying of the blood by having it sent to the lungs periodically to come in contact with the fresh air and take up new oxygen.

Unfortunately this plan of nature has been defeated by human beings living too much indoors and breathing over and over again the vitiated air of ill-ventilated rooms. This is the usual cause of anaemia, as well as a reason for its continuation.

The blood gets ever thinner and more watery, until the human system is literally starved.

The digestive system has failed, and your health must go naturally downhill until you can find some means of restoration.

Fortunately, Dr. Chase's Nerve Food furnishes the vital substances needed for regenerating the entire organism when in a run-down condition.

Gradually and certainly the building-up process is established, and the pure, rich blood created in the system carries health and strength to every part of the body.

Weakness and disease, the cause of discouragement, failure and unhappiness, give place to new hopes, new confidence and stronger determination to succeed.

The appetite is sharpened, digestion improves, and you find yourself enjoying your meals and taking a new interest in life. As you gain in strength and energy you feel encouraged to keep up the use of this restorative treatment until thoroughly restored to health.

The rosy cheeks and healthful appearance of people who have used Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is its strongest recommendation, and accounts for its ever-increasing popularity.

It is for sale by all dealers, 50 cents a box, 6 for $2.75, or by mail from Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto. Look for the portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M.D., the famous Receipt Book author, on the box you buy.

PRACTICE WHAT YOU PREACH.

MOST OF THE MEN who secure Government positions quickly come to regard themselves as the favorite children of the fond political parent that appointed them. While in many public offices there is need for application, constant efficiency and ability of a high order, there are many other positions which call for only an indifferent, mechanical service. Men often become arrogant after they are appointed civil servants or occupy other positions which are paid from the public purse. They also become extravagant and reckless in the handling of Government funds, and it is doubtful if there ever was a time in the history of Canada when so much money was being thrown away in the name of paying for war effort as during the regimes of the wildest of the old time patronage hunters.

Patronage has many disguises. It can load up offices with employees so that the public may never suspect that "pull" or "social drag" may be a factor in securing lucrative employment for many people who have never worked before and will never work again at such tasks. The average businessman is disgusted and filled with amazement when he sees the thousands of positions that have been created in various branches of service at Ottawa and other places. The salaries are above the figure usually paid for such a kind of routine effort, and the multitude of employees suggests that no friend of the present Government has asked for position and gone away empty handed.

The awarding of contracts seems to bear the same stamp of wild spending and recklessness. The manner of putting through big works at this time is calculated to bring all the plums into one basket with all other interests ignored. One will not look far away from Ottawa to find the select patronage that is securing practically all of the war contracts being given out at the present time. Millions are being spent from coast to coast, and there is no scanning of the accounts in parliament in order to ascertain how much of "velvet" is given the contractors. It is common talk that 25 per cent is the least the friends of the present administration receive.

An example of the wasteful practice in at least one department is shown by means of the press sheets received from the publishers of "Reconstruction," the official organ of the Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment. These sheets come in printed on a good class of newsprint paper and are advance proofs of what is to appear in the October number of the magazine. The intention is to give the newspapers advance information on the subject, and this desire would be appreciated were any of the topics discussed of such immediate interest as to involve a necessity for printing them as forerunners of the magazine, which the newspapers also receive. In the first place there is a waste of paper at a time when the Government by arbitrary edict is compelling the newspapers to cut down the amount of news space to be given the public, the professed idea being to conserve the supply of pulp. And secondly there is no item of such sizzling, hot appeal as to make its publication in advance of prime importance.

If every newspaper in Canada receives a copy of the completed "Reconstruction" when it is sent from the press, it will not require advance proof sheets. Every newspaperman is aware that this case is cited merely as an example of the tremendous waste which goes on at Ottawa in the supplying of documents to the outside public which are of so little value that the large proportion, at least 99 per cent, is immediately consigned to the waste baskets of editors and others, often without a glance. It is all very well to complain, but constructive criticism is necessary to bring about reform. This has already been suggested through the practice in one or more departments of sending out postcards stating that a certain book has been printed, and asking the editor if he requires it. In nine cases out of ten, the newspaperman, having no desire to sort over more tons of printed junk each week than is necessary, would reply in the negative. Think of the trains from Ottawa that might be laid off, and the salaries that might ultimately be saved!

Waste at such a time when practiced by Government departments is ruinous to the thrift campaign which the Government is carrying on in anticipation of the Victory Loan. If the people see on all sides a prodigal use of money and material on the part of the preachers of thrift, they will not be inclined to take the appeals seriously. And there is a strong impression in the public mind that in many, if not all branches of Government service there is extravagance in the employment of such large numbers of persons and the unnecessary use of vast quantities of supplies. Such instances as the recent decision of Mr. Rowell to publish an official Government paper, which gives a further chance for numerous bureaus to unload their official documents, make it clear that there is little real desire to conserve at Ottawa. Mr. Rowell certainly is a believer in publicity, and the director of public information, who is a relative of one of the ministers, was no doubt glad of the opportunity to direct public information in a more spectacular manner, his efforts heretofore having been confined largely to an occasional item sent to the newspapers and to looking after the arrangements for the conveying overseas of a specially-chosen list of Conservative editors to serve as the press agents of the particular propaganda which the Government wished to have dished up. The Government recently decided that no more daily newspapers could be published during the war. This was only a few days after the Rowell Tidings had been launched.

PROMISE OF PERMANENCE.

WILL THE London Board of Trade be a permanent organization? Shall we have to again reorganize and rebuild it three years from now?

The answers to those questions will be made by London as a community. There is no individual who can answer them today. The nearest approach to correct answers is to be found in an examination of the organization plan and application of the test of continued interest by the individual in a community movement.

In scores of cities the business and professional men have banded themselves together in a more or less intelligent effort to ascertain what things will advantage their communities, and, having fixed upon the things worth while, to seek and strive for them unitedly. That they are accomplishing what they set out to do, there can be no question.

But are they permanent? will be asked. Do communities continue to support them? Many of these organizations have been in existence for periods ranging from three to fifteen years, and these without exception are bigger and stronger than when they were started. Critics of such organizations who are fond of asserting that "nothing ever comes of them," should pause long enough to reflect that serious-minded and intelligent men do not support worthless local organizations year after year.

Civic-commercial organizations that have lived through the trial of years in scores of places and under the questioning eyes of hundreds of thousands of clear-seeing men prove that the board of trade idea can and will stand on its own feet and continue to grow in size and influence.

If it is true that a voluntary association of men will not live after its members have lost interest, then again the question of the permanence of the London Board of Trade is answered, for it is being expanded along the most modern lines, lines which have held the interest of memberships elsewhere far beyond the experimental stage.

AFTER THE GERMAN VOTE.

CLOSE on the heels of the Government's granting a license for a German language newspaper at Kitchener comes the news that Hon. J. A. Calder, minister of immigration in the cabinet at Ottawa, is making an effort to restore the franchise to aliens who were disenfranchised at the last election.

Mr. Calder has been permitting large numbers of people of German descent to come into Canada from the United States as a part of his immigration policy. This no doubt has the sanction of the premier and other members of the cabinet. The announcement that Mr. Calder proposes to enfranchise his new-found citizens has caused the greatest excitement among the Great War Veterans of the west, and a meeting will be held at which Mr. Calder is to be present to discuss the issue. The press discusses the proposal with much bitterness, and the whole thing is looked upon as an Ottawa intrigue to secure renewed favor with the foreign element to which the strongest sort of attachment existed in the time of Hon. Robert Rogers.

The manner in which the Government is "playing up to" these elements in the country is strongly suggestive of the desire of the present members to perpetuate the "Unionist" party. They see the squalls ahead, and are deferring another session of parliament in order to avoid the full force of the storm as long as possible.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Turkey, Austria and Germany. Three out and the side is retired.

It is difficult for the coal bogey to frighten anyone during this weather.

A fine Thanksgiving Turkey appears to be ready for the Allied mess table.

Will the new moon see the world restored to peace by complete Allied victory?

We are not quite certain this is Indian summer, but it is something just as good.

The fight against Spanish influenza must be carried on as though Spain were a German ally rather than a neutral.

Londoners visiting in Toronto do not fail to notice that street lighting is curtailed to a far greater extent in this city.

The attitude of Turkey and Austria to Germany is "You dragged us into this, but we are going to get out of it ourselves."

The Americans have done wonders in getting 1,900,000 men to France. Must have used the Mayflower to get the Sammies over in such numbers.

Two fine sons of Fire Chief John Aitken have given their lives to defeat the Germans and preserve the liberty of the world. They will forever take a place among the native sons of London who have triumphed over death through the sacrifice.

Changing from daylight saving means hydro power spending. The extra hour of darkness will mean an enormous addition to the power load, and manufacturers may have to curtail. Would it not be much wiser to continue the daylight saving system while the power shortage is acute?

INSECT POWDER.

[Philadlphia Public Ledger.]

In our grandfathers' day the so-called Persian insect powder (commonly sold nowadays under the name of "pyrethrum") cost $16 a pound. Pretty dear for a bug-killer.

The stuff was a mystery. Beyond the fact that it was of a vegetable nature, nobody knew what it was.

As a matter of fact, it came from Transcaucasia, where its production was a very important industry. For centuries it had been widely used in Asiatic countries, and the source of the material was a secret carefully kept.

Eventually the secret was revealed by an Armenian merchant, who, traveling through Transcaucasia, discovered that the insect powder was simply the ground-up flower-heads of a plant nearly related to our own field daisy.

Later on, attempts were made to introduce the plant into the United States, but the seeds refused to sprout. This (as finally ascertained), was due to the circumstance that the persons from whom they were bought had baked them.

At the present time we grow all our own insect powder in California.

THE RETURNED SOLDIER.

[Toronto Star.]

No man who is really a returned soldier from the front needs to be in want. There may be too much red tape sometimes and things may go wrong, but even so, the man who limps home from the war need but get in touch with the organizations that exist and he will be put in the way of having his needs looked into. The best friends of the soldiers are those who have set themselves the task of seeing that the veterans of this war shall not have to go from door to door in quest of a living.

TREMBLING IN IMAGINARY DANGER, EVERYBODY STOOD UP TO REAL ONE

H. F. Gadsby Describes U-Boat Attack on Liner in First of a Series on Recent Overseas Experiences.

(Written for The Advertiser by H. F. Gadsby.)

Somewhere-in-Mid-Ocean——"I suppose," said the Professor, edging up to me, "it is permissible for one gentleman to tell another that he is afraid of torpedoes." We shook hands upon it.

And yet the Professor, who is a son of the Old Land—though Canadianized these many years—was making his customary summer trip "over home," spite of all the German U-boats between hell and Montreal. To have done less would be to admit that Britannia did not rule the waves, which, as our old friend Euclid says, is absurd.

The Professor was simply not letting the war interfere with his habits and ways of life—that was the English of it. He did his bit when he snapped his fingers at the German submarine menace, incidentally staking his life for sixteen long days against the perils of the deep. He was full of proud statistics of the glories of the British Merchant Marine which had ferried so many millions of soldiers safely and so many million tons of munitions, not quite so safely, across the seven seas. The Navy, yes! But what would the Navy be without the Merchant Marine to feed the great maw of the war with the necessaries of life and death? What's more, it is all in the day's work and there is no extra pay or war bonus for doing it.

The Professor recalled that the Merchant Marine had, in the course of duty, salted the sea floor with sixteen thousand of its bravest, and he wondered why there were not more medals for distinguished service flying about.

The First Officer did not wonder at all. "The Admiralty," he said, "won't give us gold medals, which are reserved for the Navy, and we think ourselves too good for silver ones. "A British destroyer," he added with grim North Country humor, "rammed the Irish mail packet in the Channel the other day, and her commander was decorated for it. But we haven't done anything wrong yet—so we haven't got any medals."

"The Commander of this ship," the Professor remarked, "had four days ashore, and now he has to take her back through a devil-haunted ocean. He looks as if he had come through the torture chamber of the Spanish Inquisition. How he stands it beats me."

We shook hands on these sentiments and exchanged addresses in case his lifeboat should be luckier than mine, or the other way about. We agreed that nobody should travel for pleasure these days. He was traveling as an Englishman to flout the Hun, and I was traveling as a newspaper man to get a little copy, and so we had a right to be there. But we were not so sure about some of the others.

One thing we were sure of—that everybody on that ship was as afraid of torpedoes as we were, not only the officers who had had active interviews with torpedoes in many waters, but the gallant gentlemen in khaki who had stood up to shells and bombs at the fighting front. They were of the same mind as the Irishman who preferred trainwreck to shipwreck. "Trainwreck?" said Pat. "Why, there ye are; but shipwreck, where are yez?"

True! where are you? There is a weary waste of blue chill in the Atlantic, and many a man has survived torpedoes to curl up and die of cold water.

Did I say everybody was afraid? Well, nearly everybody. Everybody, that is to say, except the cabin boy, rosy of cheek, blue of eye, and about as tall as a minute. "Have you ever been torpedoed?" I asked. "No," he chirped, "but I dearly hope I shall be." Can you beat it? On what literature has that young mind been feeding to wax so dauntless?

"Of course," said the Professor one sunny afternoon when we were inclined to look on the bright side of things, "this German submarine campaign is impersonal. It's not you and me they're after. It's tonnage."

"At the same time," I replied, "the last thing I want to see is a low, rakish periscope in the offing. The more offish it is, the better I like it. You offer me cold comfort, Professor, when you say that the one hundred and seventy pounds dead weight which I contribute to the general disaster will be regarded merely excess tonnage."

"Last night," said the Professor, "a sheep-voiced tenor got up in the lounge and bleated a thing called 'Baby Mine.' I think the captain ought to put a stop to it. One may mention babies when women and children are present—that's all right—but not mines. They have no place in polite company. They are a painful remine-der," added the Professor, who will have his joke.

"We are beset by painful reminders," I chipped in. "The lifeboats swung outboard, the lifebelts worn everywhere except in bed, the two howitzers at our bow, the four point seven at our stern—all these are reminders that we live on the crumbling verge of a great tragedy. How I hate my lifebelt! I drag it about with me like a bad conscience."

"Don't slang the lifebelt," said the Professor. "It is made of the best material available—Kapok—ten times as buoyant as cork. It is cut in the latest fashion. The high ruff neck gives it a fifteenth century effect, and the hump on the back makes me feel like Richard III. on Bosworth Field. Moreover, it is as good as an overcoat on a cold night, and from what I notice on this ship it does not interpose any obstacle between the V. A. D.'s and their flirtations with the young lieutenants."

"True," I murmured, "the lifebelt is the one best bet. Lifeboats may capsize or be smashed to pieces, but your lifebelt is always with you—or ought to be. When I go to bed at night I do three things. I sleep in my underclothes, and I put my trust in God and my lifebelt under the pillow."

"Humph!" said the Professor, who is a confirmed cynic, "Are you sure that is the exact order?"

"This darkened ship," I complained, "making night darker with its closed ports and doused lights. It gets on my nerves. I have a gone feeling at the pit of the stomach. "It must be a torpid liver."

"No," said the Professor, "I have the same thing. The mesenteries shrivel—the duodenum whammies. It's not torpid liver. It's torpedo liver. A good old Anglo-Saxon name for it is fear. It's a popular disease on this boat. We're carrying enough fear this voyage to sink the ship. Last night a man told me that he was in love with two women at home, and preserving a good average. I don't think a sin like that ought to be allowed aboard. It overloads us."

"Do you find," I asked, "that a door slamming wakes you up in the middle of the night, that a bigger wave than usual slapping at the keel causes your heart to beat faster, that heavy footsteps on the boat deck start you fumbling for the light—?"

"No need to go further," chimed in the Professor. "The symptoms are the same with all of us. A periscope in every ridgy wave against the skyline, a torpedo wake in every crest of foam. It certainly does get one's goat. Once upon a time the sailor believed in the Flying Dutchman. What he dreads now is the Sneaking German, beside which the sea serpent and the octopus are mild as gold fish."

"The other night," I volunteered, "I went up on deck. I saw what I took to be the white comb of a torpedo. It did not fade away as waves usually do. However, nothing came of it, and I decided finally that it was the Hon. Newton Wesley Rowell swimming home in the midst of his favorite element."

"Forget politics," was the Professor's gruff comment. "There's a war on."

Sometimes we sought doubtful comfort from the First Mate. "This ship," he said, "has nine lives. We're up to the ninth right now. We've been torpedoed eight times—six of 'em in the Mediterranean. The Atlantic is pie compared to the Mediterranean—but it's no sweet job at that. This old hulk has been through a lot. Once we brought the wounded home from Gallipoli. They died all over the ship—went west a hundred a day. The place is full of ghosts. I hear them sometimes at night. The wind in the rigging, you know."

"Of course," I said, "our troubles will be all over when the destroyers meet us."

"Over!" he snorted. "Just beginning, you mean! Destroyers! Humph!" The First Officer spat violently. "They get you both ways. When they come out to shepherd you in they practically say to the Hun, 'Follow me if you want to find 'em.' And when they go back after shepherding you out they say to Fritz, 'Here they are—sic 'em!'"

One fine evening in mid-ocean—just at the spot where Admiralty wireless had warned us that we should find him—the Q boat on our port bow opened out on a distant shadow. The range was ten thousand yards, and the periscope was not visible save to the sharp eyes aboard the mystery ship, which cut loose at it with half a dozen six-inch guns. Some thirty shots were fired in the space of five minutes. Those were smart gunners aboard that American ship, as our First Officer was constrained to admit. Moreover, she was a ship of great importance, as was plain when four American destroyers took her in charge off the Irish coast and sped off with her on some other mysterious errand.

Fritz, as I said before, met us in mid-ocean, and when the Professor came tumbling up from his interrupted dinner, all he said was, "When my grandchildren ask what I did in the Great War I shall reply, 'I ran the gauntlet in the middle and at both ends.'"

What surprised us all was the calmness of the great moment. Trembling at imaginary danger, everybody stood up bravely to the real one. The seasick people forgot that they were sick and the well people hailed the excitement as a welcome relief to the monotony of a long voyage. It might have been gunnery practice—trying out the ballistic qualities of our ammunition—so coolly did everybody take it. The V. A. D.'s—bless their hearts!—were not alarmed one little bit. They clapped their hands and said, "How jolly!"

When I came up from my cabin, where I had been reading "Wild Beasts and Their Ways," I found the Q boat pounding away at a wilder, more devilish beast than any mentioned in Frederick Courtenay Selous' pages. The lurking monster had submerged. I could not have seen it in the half light, anyway. However, there can be no doubt that the Q boat got Fritz, because he did not bother us afterwards. What's more, there can be no doubt that he was there to get us, because he dispatched a piece of evidence in the shape of a torpedo which our stern gun nailed at two thousand yards from the ship. The torpedo broke water just long enough for the Mate's keen eyes to spot it. A fine shot that, when you consider what zigzagging a twelve-knot convoy must do to dodge a forty-knot torpedo! Our zigzags made the Grand Chain look like a straight line.

When I approached the Mate with words of praise shortly afterwards he said: "It would have missed us, anyway."

"Still," I said, "there was something in our fears after all."

"Well," smiled the Mate, "sometimes something happens."

THE FOOLISH LETTER.

[By S. B. Hackley.]

"Stacy, I've got a new job."

His thin, dark face lit with his engaging smile, Kent Traile pushed open the door of the shabby combination sitting-room and bedroom in the Trailes' rented quarters.

Mrs. Traile sealed the letter in her hands before she spoke, and her voice was perfunctory. "What is it, Kent?"

He waved a yellow handbill and read aloud:

"Six hundred acres of hops ready for picking! Five hundred pickers wanted! Fine camp grounds, good water, free wood, a month's pleasant work in the open country at good pay. Apply to Bloom Bros."

"I applied this morning, Stacy. Bloom, the elder Bloom," he chuckled at the pun, "says a fellow may go out tomorrow and live in one of the tents if he wishes, though the actual work doesn't begin until Monday. John Wharton says the money end ought to be good. Said he'd hopped some and never failed to make as much as $4 a day. Said it wasn't hard work, and lots of women and girls made more than he did." He glanced at her indifferent profile a bit uncertainly. "How would you like to try the picking, Stacy? You were saying the other day you wished we could afford to go out camping."

"We surely need money," her tone was as soft and as cold as a snowflake, "and if you don't mind doing that kind of work, and it seems any sort of work appeals to you, you'd as well take it. I am going to Eleanor Meade's Monday. I haven't felt I could afford proper clothes before—I can't now—there's very little of my savings left in the bank, but I'm going downtown now to buy some things. I've got where I'm going to let the tomorrow take care of itself."

Kent, surprised into silence, colored darkly, and she went out.

From the moment of her first acquaintance with Anastasia Purcell, Eleanor Meade had admired and loved her. Both were trained nurses, but Eleanor had hated the work and had eagerly seized her opportunity to marry a rich man. Then two years later, in the face of Eleanor's strong disapproval and insistence that she was "throwing herself away," Anastasia had quit the nursing which she loved, for Kent Traile, whom she loved even better.

An attack of pneumonia had almost ended his life, but her fingers held him back, and when he could sit up he had talked to her very confidentially. He had tried many things in his life, he told her, first school teaching—two years of it—then he had given up that and studied law a while; then he had inherited a little money and tried farming, but he'd lost money at that, and, trying storekeeping, lost the rest of it.

"I've nothing to offer you," he had whispered, his dark eyes brilliant with feeling, "and so I don't dare ask you to marry me. But I want you to know I love you, and shall be loving you all my life—I want you to know that, Anastasia, dear!"

And with his wasted hands holding her strong fingers Anastasia had felt her better judgment swept away.

"Oh, Kent," she had said, "I want you to ask me to take you for better or for worse!"

For five months after their marriage Kent had held his place as bookkeeper for a soap manufacturing firm, and Anastasia had made his salary go a long, long way in their modest housekeeping. Then he thought he saw a better opening and left the bookkeeping and it was weeks before he got the next job, clerking in a hardware store. After that he had retained his jobs for a shorter and shorter time, and in the last year he had done anything he could get. Six weeks before he had given up a carpenter's job, thinking something better would turn up. But nothing had turned up until he had seen the hop growers' advertisement. It would be more pleasant for Anastasia to be with Eleanor, he thought, and when the hop-picking was over he could meet her at the station near the Meades's and they could come home together. Then he'd try to get a job and keep it permanently; he was afraid Anastasia was getting out of patience with him. He was still sitting, planning, when Anastasia came back with her bundles.

A week in the Meades' luxurious home had not passed before Anastasia had made up her mind to something she had contemplated for months—to leave Kent.

She was weary of financial uncertainty, she had to draw on her savings in the interims between Kent's jobs, until there was but a pittance left; he had never wanted her to work, but she would go back to the nursing, for which her heart craved, and be earning while she was in her earning years, and let poor Kent go his foolish unpractical way alone!

Early one morning at the end of the second week, Arnold Meade announced that he was going to take Anastasia and Mrs. Meade to see some hopyards 20 miles from their home. Anastasia seated the letter she knew would be a knife thrust in Kent's heart, and slipped it in the pocket of her skirt for mailing in the next town.

They passed through one town, another, a third, but Anastasia still clutched her letter.

"I'll mail it tomorrow," she thought unhappily, "there's plenty of time to break his heart!"

"Here we are, at the Blooms!" Meade called out as he drove into the wooded campyard. Anastasia caught her breath. Kent was here and she must not see him—she must not!

Suddenly, and without warning, a standing dead tree crashed across one of the tents. Anastasia felt her heart stand still, then skip a beat. Meade jumped down.

"Wait, girls," he said, "I'll go see if anybody's hurt." After a considerable time he came back.

"The top of the tree caught one of the pickers—he's badly hurt, I guess," he told them, "unconscious—looks as if he might be done for. They've got a woodsaw, sawing the tree so's to get it off him; the doctor'll be here directly—let me take you girls out of here!"

But despite Meade's protests, Anastasia pushed her way through the crowd that had gathered to the injured man. She knelt down by him and turned his face, ghastly white, the lips red with some blood drops, toward her.

"O Kent, don't leave me! I can't do without you—don't leave me, dear!" Meade heard her say in a sort of quiet agony, and saw her slide her trained nurse's finger to his wrist.

At the city hospital it was days before he could speak to her—days before she left him, even to sleep.

"Why didn't you let me die, Stacy?" he cried out bitterly the day the doctor told him he would never walk again. "I had my life insured for you the day I went to the hopyards. You would have had the money now, if you'd let me die! I know I've fretted you beyond endurance, going from one job to another and making good at none, but I've got a permanent job now—sitting in a wheel chair! Stacy, Stacy! Why didn't you let me die?"

She held him close. "Hush," she whispered, "it's a lovely job, this one. You'll always be close by where I can pet you, and scold you, when I'm off duty nursing!"

The next day the Meades came in to see him. When they were leaving Meade handed Anastasia a sealed envelope.

"I found it when I shook out one of the auto rugs this morning," he said; "you must have dropped it in the car the day of the accident."

Anastasia crimsoned, then paled as she looked at it, then thrust it in her apron pocket. When the callers were gone she flew out to the hospital kitchen.

"You haven't read your letter, sweetheart," Kent reminded her when she came back. "It might be important."

"Oh, it wasn't anything," she smiled; "just a foolish letter I forgot to mail."

PAGE OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

WOMEN AND THE BOARD OF TRADE EXPANSION

A new era has surely dawned for women when they are invited to become members of a new board of trade in the process of formation during the present board of trade expansion campaign. It's not so very many years ago when such a suggestion would have been received as too radical for practice, but today it is taken as a matter of course. Women have traveled far along the road to equal citizenship with men, especially during the present war, and it now remains to be proven, whether they are willing to take full advantage of the opportunities afforded them.

Who is more wishful for a clean, wholesome and beautiful city, than the mother who must make it the environment of her children? Who is most concerned about a proper garbage system and child welfare bureau, proper milk inspection and milk depot, than the women of London? Who would benefit most from a Woman's Building, which would house all the women's clubs of this city, with an auditorium for big meetings? Who but the mothers' clubs have been urging lower motor speed laws and stricter censorship of motion pictures? Who have been asking for increased salaries but the women teachers of London? Who then should seize this opportunity of becoming members of the London Board of Trade with greater alacrity than the women of London?

A few women in the city may be directly interested in London's trade expansion, but on the whole that problem may be left in the hands of the men. The women will concern themselves more directly in the settling of such civic problems as those mentioned above. But are they going to come forward and join the London Board of Trade?

At the women's meeting held in the Tecumseh House for the purpose of interesting the women of London in this new organization, it was decided that each women's organization should send at least one representative to the board of trade, but surely more are necessary. The membership fee is $25 a year for a period of three years. But plural memberships may be taken by any large concern, that is several memberships are subscribed for and handed over to individual members. Surely some of the women's organizations will be able to subscribe for more than one membership.

By the way, we wonder how many memberships subscribed for by large London business concerns will be handed over to women employees? This is merely a suggestion.

"What, in your opinion as a citizen, is the thing of first importance to be done for the community as a whole?" and "What do you expect the organization to do for the promotion of your own line of business or activity?" are the two big questions to be asked, the answers to which will be the basis of activity, on the part of the city board of trade.

JIMMY COON STORIES

Copyright, 1917, by George Matthew Adams.

SNAPPER FINDS HIS FRIENDS.

Poor Snapper, he thought he had lost his little companions, or that he was losing his mind. For he could not see hide or hair of Teddy Possum, Jimmy Coon or Peter Rabbit anywhere.

Now, Chatterbox knows all the new words, and he often studies the dictionary night, with old Mr. Owl. And then, too, he knows some words that are not in the dictionary, for he runs around and hears all the new words. He loves to show off, and all the Coon family love new words and love to use them.

"Well," said Chatterbox, "I will tell you just what it is; it is a long word to learn, but it is 'camouflage.' That's a French word. Teddy Possum knows all about it, as he was almost the first to act it out—he and his family; they are always 'playing possum.' Come here, Teddy Possum, and own up to your tricks."

Very near by, Teddy Possum was lying near a piece of driftwood, and he was so still and his fur coat looked like driftwood and sand, with the sunlight on his soft fur.

Up jumped Teddy Possum, and he laughed and said: "That's the way to do it. I fooled Uncle Tim; he didn't know that I was near. Come on, Jimmy and Peter," and they were both hiding in the same way, and no one would have seen them, certainly no stupid, slow Uncle Tim Turtle.

Teddy Possum said: "That's nothing, Snapper; my family is one of the oldest in the whole world, and that is one of our best tricks, and soon all the others copied us. Now look at little Peter. He looks like a little piece of driftwood, and the white tip of his tail like a little seafoam. Come out, Jimmy Coon, and tell Snapper about that word." At that very minute Jimmy appeared, and he thought it a good joke on Snapper that they all could hide under his very nose.

The wise Jimmy Coon said: "One night I was near the window, and Little William was talking, and his father was too, and his father said: 'Camouflage is the word you want to use, Little William; and there is nothing new about that word, or what it means, for all the animals have been doing it forever and ever.'"

"Well," said Chatterbox, "I will tell you just what it is; it is camouflage."

"Wasn't that a smart thing for that man to say," said Teddy Possum, "for who would have thought they would learn from us?"

All this time Snapper was scraping sand away from the pantry door and now he opened it, and oh, joy! there were 36 lovely fresh eggs, and every one had all the eggs they could eat, and the yellow yolks were running down on their fur coats. Only little Peter sat on one side of the pantry door (it was the outside), and he sighed, and he didn't dare say a word, but he thought: "Those pigs have eaten up all the eggs and there isn't one to take home to my

Daily Bible Question Club

SUGGESTIVE QUESTIONS ON THE UNIFORM LESSON FOR SUNDAY, OCT. 13, 1918.

ONE GOLDEN TEXT SUGGESTION (By Rev. T. S Linscott, D.D.)

Abraham's Helping Lot—Gen.xiii: 5-18.

QUESTIONS FOR TODAY.

16. Verses 14-16—How do you harmonize Christ's teaching of non-resistance to evil with this noble act of Abraham?

17. How do you distinguish between what is known as militarism, and a nation being armed sufficiently to protect itself from invasion or to prevent gross unrighteousness in other nations?

18. Is it right, or wise, or otherwise, and why, in a country like this, for a man to go about armed, or to have deadly weapons in his home?

Golden Text: A friend loveth at all times, and a brother is born for adversity.—Prov., xvii., 17.

WHY NOT LOVE EVERYBODY?

God's heart is big enough to love us all, and he has the ability to be a friend to us at all times. When in adversity he is always on hand to help us out of our trouble. This wonderful love of God was manifested in Jesus, and he is our example. Our ambition should aim to be like our Master, to love everybody, to do good to everybody as we have opportunity. When we have the opportunity to help a friend or an acquaintance let us count it a prize to immediately grasp. The spirit of friendship as a sentiment can be cultivated, but to bring it to reality it is necessary to cultivate the actions which naturally spring from this precious sentiment. Jesus went about doing good and that should be our objective.

WHY NOT A BUREAU OF CO-OPERATION IN CITY OF LONDON?

Kingston, Too, Should Be a Farm Centre, Says Marjory Mills.

As a class, we are really opening our eyes to the need for and value of organization. Let us think about another need of farmers if we are to attain our goal—co-operation. Of course, before that can come, the wider vision of which we have talked must be our new point. When we go about our work we should think of all the others who are doing the same thing. Let the class thought be dominant. Now, will you please tell me why we have been so blind?

A co-operative bureau—or is there a better name?—exists right now in Toronto. Why can there not be other such in some leading city in each district, London and Kingston, say? Why do we not co-operate on the farm and send our wheat, our pigs, our cattle to them in carload lots? For the life of me, I can't see why the farmer's cattle in this vicinity don't fill cars consigned to the Farmers' Co-operative Company just as well as they fill the cars consigned to we don't know where by the local buyers?

We have seen these buyers rise from poverty to wealth through their positions as middlemen. Why not make a change? That scheme has been tried out on a small scale. Why not make it general and turn the profit of these middlemen back to the farmers?

To Control Wholesale Business.

Of course, as the co-operative business increases, it will require more capital, even so "we" will own and control our wholesale business, instead of its owning and controlling us. For if the farmers will co-operate and ship their products to their own company, these other wholesalers must of necessity go out of business. The source of supply is the farm, and we do not realize it apparently.

Creamery Run by Farmers.

It is said that the best equipped creamery in Ontario is one run by the farmers in one of the Lake Erie counties. Their business is constantly increasing; the shareholders receive a dividend of 6 per cent on their investment, and the remainder of the profits are put into the business. What has been actually accomplished in that line can be duplicated in all others.

Moreover, we could do our buying in like manner, and I believe that we would find it a great advantage to deal with the manufacturers through our own co-operative companies in the articles which we use as a class, and we only, use. Why should not these profits be ours? Of course, articles in general use can perhaps be handled just as advantageously as they are. But it looks to me as if the farmer needs to realize his power, and the tilt that some townsfolk give to their nose when the farmer appears in sight and his interests are discussed makes me for one think that perhaps there are others who would be benefitted by a like realization.

Mutual Helpfulness Necessary.

There should be mutual helpfulness and sympathy between the people of the town and the farmer, and I would like to foster it. But this feeling cannot be brought about until the farmer assumes the dignity which is his by right as the operator of the chief of the basic industries of the country and the townspeople accord him his rightful position. In this, as in all other conditions which need reform, it is all too true that

"The thorns which we have plucked
Are of the tree we planted;
They have torn us, and we bleed."

But it is high time that we destroyed the said tree, root and branch.

"Self-knowledge, self-reverence, self-control, these three alone lead men to sovereign power" is as true of a class as of an individual.

Furthermore, these co-operative companies would fill another need, namely, become the channel through which the government would find it possible to consult the farmer on legislation affecting his interests, when it is disposed to do so, as it will of necessity be unless the present tendencies are undeveloped. If we turn back now we shall deserve all that comes to us, and more.

Applies to U. F. W. O.

Perhaps you think that all this does not apply to the U. F. W. O.. But it does, very word of it, for in no other walk of life are the interests of men and those of the women associated with them so nearly identical.

The merchant, mechanic, manufacturer, etc., can carry on his business without his wife's help, but the farmer cannot do so. It is "our farm," not "his."

We do practice co-operation in farming communities; our threshing is done in that way, "bees" for barn-raisings, shingling buildings, quilting, etc., are part of country life. We could carry this spirit more fully into our private enterprises with great advantage to all concerned. It would promote sociability and foster that which we must never lose sight of in our discussions—organization, co-operation through organization, power through co-operation, progress through power, satisfaction through progress.

And the life of the whole nation will feel the impulse which shall come when the farmer comes to his own.

The marriage is announced of Mrs. Catherine Cooney, Dearborn street, Chicago, and formerly of this city, to P. F. O'Brien of Russellville. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father Kearns of the Immaculate Conception. Nuptial high mass was celebrated with a full choir. The groom's gift to the bride was a diamond ring, and to the bridesmaid a pearl crescent. After the ceremony a reception was tendered them at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. G. Hanaway. Mr. and Mrs. P. F. O'Brien will make their home in Russellville.

Miss Margaret Simpson of Simcoe, is spending a few days with her parents.

Miss Mabelle Broughton of Brantford is visiting her parents.

Miss Gamauf of St. Marys is visiting with friends on St. James street.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Hayes, St. Thomas, was the scene of a very pretty wedding, when the latter's sister, Miss Viola Winnifred Hankinson, was united in marriage to Nelson McLennan, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman McLennan of Florence. The bridal party entered the drawing-room to the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march, at three o'clock, and took their places before a bank of palms and ferns. The bride was dressed in old rose tafteta and carried a bouquet of white roses and maiden-hair fern. Miss Kathleen Hankinson made a pretty bridesmaid, dressed in white silk, and carried pink and white carnations. Harry McLennan attended the groom. Rev. Mr. Smith of Port Burwell, officiated. After the ceremony a buffet luncheon was served by four girl friends of the bride, after which the couple left amid showers of confetti and good wishes for Niagara Falls and Toronto, the bride traveling in taupe velour suit with hat to match. During the signing of the register Miss Welly Hankinson, sister of the bride, sang "I Love You Truly."

The bridegroom's gifts were: To the bridesmaid, a sterling silver purse; to the groomsman gold cuff links; to the pianist and soloist each a pearly ring.

Guests were present from Toronto, Brantford, London, St. Thomas, Aylmer, Port Burwell and Florence.

The bride before marriage was a school teacher, and taught in St. Thomas for several years.

Mr. and Mrs. McLennan will reside on their farm near Florence, and their friends wish for them much prosperity.

CYNTHIA GREY'S MAIL-BOX

To Soften a Robe.

Dear Miss Grey,—Here are two ways "Girl of the Apron" can try to prepare a change from her way of cooking the eggplant: My way is: Peel and slice about one-half inch, put salt and pepper as you would on an egg, fry in Criscoe till brown. Or perhaps this would be more to her liking: Beat one or two eggs, according to how much you intend to cook, roll soda biscuits and mix with the egg, peel and slice, place in a frying-pan same as above, salt and pepper to taste.

I wonder if anyone could tell me how to remedy a blunder I made. I was washing my baby's robe, and before I thought I put the whole thing in the water. It became hard, the back of it, I mean. How can I soften it again? It is mountain goat skin. The fur part is all right.

I am as before, M.O.S.B.

Ans.—Perhaps some of our mother-readers may be able to tell you of some way to soften the skin. I am sorry, but I have no suggestion to make myself.

Chronic Diseases Take Hold Slowly

Kidney and Bladder Troubles don't attack you suddenly. Chronic diseases of these organs are generally the results of neglect. Nature gives you plenty of warning when your Kidneys are out of order and need assistance; you notice a dull pain in the back; you are dizzy, have headaches, feel languid, tired and lifeless.

There is no mistaking the symptoms, and when Nature warns you—obey—or later you will regret it.

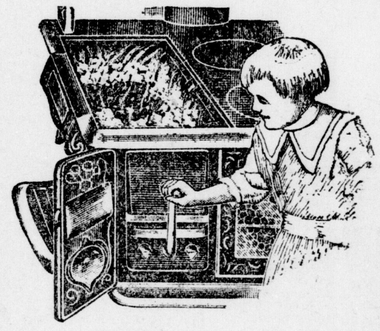

Putting off never cures. Gin Pills do. At the first sign of Kidney or Bladder Trouble, buy a box of Gin Pills and take them. They will help your Kidneys to perform their proper function and renew your previous strength and vigor.

Among our hundreds of testimonials is one from Mr. B. C. David, King's Co., N.S. Mr. David writes:

"I was suffering from a dreadful lame back and hips, so much so that I could hardly straighten up. I got a box of Gin Pills and they helped me immediately. I have continued to take Gin Pills, and now the pains in both hips and back are gone. I shall always recommend Gin Pills to my friends and other sufferers."

Mr. David's case is only one of the many to which Gin Pills have brought immediate relief. Sufferers from Kidney or Bladder trouble should heed what has been done in such cases and try Gin Pills.

Rock These Grates Gently

The fire-box is the heart of the range, but the grates are the heart valves of the fire-box.

If the grates fail, the fire-box cannot make good.

The Pandora grate has three bars and each bar has three working sides which gives it three times the life of an ordinary grate.

They are fitted together like the parts of a good machine.

LOCAL COLLEGIATE STUDENTS TRIM ST. THOMAS BOYS 11 TO 1

London collegiate students heralded the opening of the football season in this city with a win over St. Thomas in an exhibition match at Tecumseh Park yesterday afternoon. The score was 11 to 1.

So evenly matched were the teams that no score was made in the initial quarter. The students pushed each other back and forth and it was not until the middle of the second period that "Dunc" McLean, receiving a nice pass from Weld, trotted past the St. Thomas wings and penetrated his opponents' line for the first five points of the game. London added another counter when Gillies converted.

But for a pretty onside kick by Gillies, which was nicely handled by McLean and resulted in another try for the local collegiate, the game was a close but see-saw affair. Neither team appeared to have much on the other on the line. London, however, was particularly strong in the back division, and the superiority here accounted for the game's favorable result.

McLean Stars.

From the official scorer's point of view, McLean was the shining star of the fray. This boy carried the ball over enemy territory and across the St. Thomas line on two occasions. He was not only directly responsible for 10 of the 11 points scored by the locals, but his tackling was a revelation to spectators. Whenever a St. Thomas back crashed through the London line, there was always one man between him and the goal posts whose tackling was as effective as a veritable stone wall. This man was McLean. Lauton and Bryant were death on St. Thomas backs nine times out of ten. MacPherson, who bucked the Railway City line on the half-shoulder, was not so effective as he would have been had he crashed into the opposing team with full force. However, MacPherson gained yards for London and proved a big asset, as did McCormick, the local left inside.

Laing, of St. Thomas, was valuable on the line and also proved to be the best booter on the enemy lineup. Ingram, Chamberlain and Westmerry were formidable half-backs and threatened to score on their combination side runs several times. Carr, who held up the scrimmage for St. Thomas, is a 12-cylinder Packard of no less than 250 odd pounds of flesh. A British tank had nothing on him when it came to stopping attacks in massed formation. The locals evaded this player of elephantine dimensions as much as possible, and despite his enormous weight, his presence was of little practical use, except to inspire fear.

Arthur Can Kick.

Gillies' kicking came as a surprise. With Ernest Dennis absent owing to an attack of "flu," it developed on Gillies to take care of the booting. His punts were long and sufficiently high to give his wings plenty of time to break through.

The contest was fairly clean. Once or twice Laing was admonished to refrain from rough tactics, but on the whole both teams adhered to real sportsmanship.

The lineup yesterday was:

GRAHAM SENIOR CHAMPION OF LONDON COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE

Successful in every detail, the annual London Collegiate field day, held at Tecumseh Park on Friday, attracted more entrants and furnished greater competition than any similar event staged by the local institution for years. The championship went to A. Graham, who won the majority of senior events by substantial margins. The only contestant to come near Graham was Hicks. The latter did not participate in all events, however, saving his strength for the football game which brought the festivities to an end.

The length and height of the jumps, and the time in the various sprints was up to the mark for high school sports, but no remarkable performances were on the bill of fare. H. Deeley secured the junior championship and C. Wilson made a good runner-up. R. Brooks was the choice of the girl athletes, obtaining more points than any of her competitors. Burlesque and novel races and jumps were not pulled off, the entry list for these events not being large enough to warrant them being held.

Graham's broad jump of 16 feet, 9 inches was below the standard of collegiate athletes, but the hop-skip-and-jump of 36 feet, 9 inches was, if anything above the ordinary for high school students. No records were broken, except perhaps in a 100-yard dash which went to Hoffman in 12 3-5 seconds—an extraordinarily slow time, but justifiable because of the poor track.

Graham's Good Jump.

Five feet, 3 inches was the height for the running, high jump. This event was captured by Graham and stands out as the most creditable performance on the card. Kennedy was next and Deeley made a good third.

The best race on the program was the half-mile, which was won by Hicks. Rapley, one of the contestants, started off well, but failed to display the necessary "pep" in the final grind for the ribbon. Hicks was behind until the last stretch, when he made a game sprint and was acclaimed victor by three yards.

The junior boys went at it with a will and H. Deeley, the champion, was forced to go the limit in every event.

Girls Real Athletes.

While the boys from St. Thomas went down to defeat in football, the fair sex of that celebrated burg upheld its reputation by trouncing feminine members of the L. C. I. in a basketball game. The score was 8 to 4. Jean Cameron proved the "whole works" of the Railway City quintet, scoring a brace of points with the assistance of her co-experts, and accounting for four more points on fouls. Pearl Blackwell was the iron man (or rather woman) of the locals, her four fouls being the only points secured by the L. C. I.

The basketball teams lined up as follows:

LONDON.		ST. THOMAS.
Ruth Shosenberg..		Jean Cameron .. 6

Doctors Stand Amazed at Power of Bon-Opto to Make Weak Eyes Strong---According to Dr. Lewis

Guaranteed to Strengthen Eyesight 50% In One Week's Time in Many Instances

A Free Prescription You Can Have Filled and Use at Home.

Philadelphia, Pa. — Victims of eye strain and other eye weaknesses, and those who wear glasses, will be glad to know that according to Dr. Lewis there is real hope and help for them. Many whose eyes were failing say they have had their eyes restored by this remarkable prescription, and many who once wore glasses say they have thrown them away. One man says, after using it: "I was almost blind. Could not see to read at all. Now I can read everything without my glasses and my eyes do not hurt any more. At night they would pain dreadfully. Now they feel fine all the time. It was like a miracle to me." A lady who used it says: "The atmosphere seemed hazy with or without glasses, but after using this prescription for fifteen days everything seems clear. I can read even fine print without glasses." Another who used it says: "I was bothered with eye strain caused by overwork, tired eyes which induced fierce headaches. I have worn glasses for several years both for distance and work, and without them I could not read my own name on an envelope or the typewriting on the machine before me. I can do both now and have discarded my long distance glasses altogether. I can count the fluttering leaves on the trees across the street now, which for several years have looked like a dim green blur to me. I cannot express my joy at what it has done for me."

It is believed that thousands who wear glasses can now discard them in a reasonable time and multitudes more will be able to strengthen their eyes so as to be spared the trouble and expense of ever getting glasses. Eye troubles of many descriptions may be wonderfully benefited by the use of this prescription. Go to any active drug store and get a bottle of Bon-Opto tablets. Drop one Bon-Opto tablet in a fourth of a glass of water and let it dissolve. With this liquid bathe the eyes two to four times daily. You should notice your eyes clear up perceptibly right from the start and inflammation and redness will quickly disappear. If your eyes bother you even a little it is your duty to take steps to save them now before it is too late. Many hopelessly blind might have saved their sight if they had cared for their eyes in time.

Note—Another prominent physician to whom the above article was submitted, said: "Yes, the Bon-Opto prescription is truly a wonderful eye remedy. Its constituent ingredients are well known to eminent eye specialists and widely prescribed by them. I have used it very successfully in my own practice on patients whose eyes were strained through overwork or misfit glasses. I can highly recommend it in case of weak, watery, aching, smarting, itching, burning eyes, red lids, blurred vision or for eyes inflamed from exposure to smoke, sun, dust or wind. It is one of the very few preparations I feel should be kept on hand for regular use in almost every family." Bon-Opto, referred to above, is not a patent medicine or a secret remedy. It is an ethical preparation, the formula being printed on the package. The manufacturers guarantee it to strengthen eyesight 50 per cent in one week's time in many instances or refund the money. It can be obtained from any good druggist and is sold in this city by Standard Drug Co., W. T. Strong and others.

The Pay Office nine of the W. O. R. triumphed over No. 1 Team of the same unit in a scheduled game of indoor baseball at the Heights yesterday. The feature of the contest was the work of Hawkshaw at third base. Hawkshaw got everything that came his way, and was responsible for many brilliant plays. Williamson of the Pay Office was effective in the box, as was Crooker for No. 1 nine, but errors by the latter's teammates proved a great handicap. The lineup:

What Your Five Pints of Saliva a Day Does For You

By DR. LEONARD KEENE HIRSHBERG,
A. B., M. A., M. D., (Jo hons Hopkins University.)

DR. HIRSHBERG

The emotions act upon the various glands in diverse ways. The salivary glands, which manufacture the digestive fluids of the mouth and tongue, may be checked or made gushers, according to the extent they are affected by cheer, joy, gayety or good feeling on the one hand, and fear, anger, worry, grief, sadness, misery or anxiety on the other.

An emotion or feeling is the result of a sensation, perception or memory, which affects the salivary, adrenal, thyroid or other glands. Each group of glands in the more complex animals such as man, seem to be specifically susceptible to either pleasure or pain perceptions.

The salivary and the stomach glands are no exception to the rule. You lose your taste for food or your appetite at disturbing or irritating news, because the emotion stirred up is responsible for the impediment to the action of the glands.

Physiologists used to think that "centres" in the brain, when irritated or given an electric shock, will make saliva, gastric, thyroid or almost any other juice overflow. The conclusion drawn from this is false, that the nerves and the brain control the flow of such juices.

While this is partially true, it is a mechanical and very small part of the truth. The so-called "centres" are merely crowded areas, where special groups of message-paths accidentally come together.

True Digestive Juice.

The saliva flows from the openings of the glands in immense quantities. It forms an immense portion of the ration you swallow. Over five pints are made in a day.

Your awareness of what you perceive, a distinct psychological effect, is what alters the amount of saliva produced. Thus chewing, swallowing and eating are physiologically aided and abetted.

Saliva is a true digestive juice. It digests certain hydro-carbons or carbohydrates, such as the starches, and thus changes them into sugar.

A cheap substitute for sugar is starch. It is a marvel to me that the average person is not "hep" to the fact that a lump of starch dropped into coffee, soft drinks, and the like will do as a substitute for sugar.

Chew Food Well.

If you are well and hearty, your saliva will convert this starch into sugar and help it on its way and in the role of a sugar substitute.

Boiling does not digest the starch, but aids its digestion by opening the grains. The enzymes of the saliva are now able to act more swiftly upon the cooked starch.

Evidently, then, the saliva is one of the definitely useful digestive fluids. If you chew your food well, you will have gone a good way toward giving first aid to your stomach.

Answers to Health Questions

A CONSTANT READER: G.—Please give me something for superfluous hair.

A.—Remember that there are few if any methods to kill the roots. About twice a week, or when needed, a little of the following may be tried:

Calcium sulphide	2 parts
Zinc oxide	1 part
Starch	1 part

When you are ready to use this make a paste with water and apply to the parts. Let it remain on the skin for about five minutes and then wipe off gently with a soft cloth.

W. W. R.: Q.—Please give me something for dandruff.

A.—Use a little of the following for your dandruff three times a week:

Sulphur	1 dram
Resorcin	10 grains
Salicylic acid	10 grains
Sulphate of quinine..	10 grains
Petrolatum	1 ounce

E. B. A.: Q.—Please give me something to remove warts.

A.—Of course, some warts are so mild that a little cold, heat, dryness, vinegar or other simple domestic "hocus-pocus" will cause them to drop off. Many, however, require more radical treatment, such as a little caustic soda, salicylic acid, 1 dram to the ounce of collodion; or the surgeon's lance.

Good Night Stories

MR. MOON-MAN SETTLES A DISPUTE.

Mrs. Katydid opened her eyes and shook out her wings.

"Why, dear me, I've over-slept!" she laughed merrily. "It's going to be one lovely day," and tilting herself on a cool, green leaf she began to sing in a shrill voice:

"Katy did, she didn't, so what's the use to sigh,
Up yonder in the clouds the sun is sailing high,
It surely seems to be one wonderful grand day,
So come out, all good neighbors, and let us play."

"Play, indeed!" exclaimed Jenny Wren, poking her head from her window on the branch above. "It's high time all sensible folks were tucked in bed!"

"Why can't you see the sun is shining brightly?" asked Mrs. Katydid, pointing to the moon.

"Sun!" exclaimed Jenny Wren, looking up among the clouds. "The moon you mean! It's night time and time to sleep, not to play and sing!"

"Why, I've just awakened from a good night's sleep," retorted Mrs. Katydid.

"You mean day's nap," corrected Jenny Wren.

"You surely must be mistaken," chirped Mrs. Katydid. "I never saw a more glorious day!" And she began once more to sing merrily when a twig crashed down upon the leaf on which she sat and nearly upset her.

"Will you stop your silly screaming and go to bed?" cried Jenny Wren. "It's time everyone was sound asleep."

"Well, if you're silly enough to sleep on a lovely day like this, then stop up your ears, for I'm going to sing!" chirped Mrs. Katydid.

"Will You Stop Your Silly Screaming and Go To Bed?"

And there's no telling what might have happened if the old man-in-the-moon hadn't heard and looked down and laughed.

"Why, you foolish folks quarreling over such a silly thing," he cried. "You're both right, so why argue?"

"How can we both be right?" asked Jenny Wren. "Night's night, and there's no day about it."

"From your point of view, I should say you're right," laughed Mr. Moon-man, "but from Mrs. Katydid's point of view you're wrong. You see, Mrs. Katydid can't stand the heat and brightness of the sun, so she sleeps when the sun shines. You birds love the sunshine, so you play and sing through the day and sleep when I come out to keep guard. You entertain Mr. Sun-man with your merry songs, so why not let Mrs. Katydid and her friends entertain me? It would be a funny world if everyone saw and thought alike, you know. I'm glad I can be a Sun for someone and I'm sure Mr. Sun-man is glad to have someone call him their Moon."

"Then we're both right," laughed Jenny Wren, good-naturedly, "and I'm dreadfully sorry I disturbed your song."

"Oh, well, I love to argue," replied Mrs. Katydid, "and if I can't find anyone to argue with, I contradict myself, so you're forgiven. If my song bothers you, I can move."

"Nothing of the sort!" exclaimed Jenny Wren. "I love your music," and bidding Mr. Moon-man and Mrs. Katydid good-bye, Jenny Wren closed her window and was soon sound asleep, lulled by Mrs. Katydid's merry song.

To-morrow's HOROSCOPE

By Genevieve Kemble

SUNDAY, AND MONDAY, OCT. 13-14.

A long chain of peculiar mutual aspects promises to make of Sunday a day memorable for singular experiences. The occult and mystical influences are dominant, and with Mars and Venus in aspect the probability for either unconventional or unusual occurrences is enlarged. All call for discreet conduct.

Those whose birthday it is may have an interesting year, calling for the most discreet management. A child born on this day may have peculiar gifts, and be proud and independent.

Monday promises to be a day for initiative and enterprise along all lines, in commercial as well as social, artistic, domestic and romantic interests. New projects are fostered, and new friendships favored, although in both a certain amount of caution is called for lest intrigue or betrayal nullify fortuitous conditions, owing to a sinister aspect between Luna and Neptune, although Mars trining Neptune may abruptly dispose of such a menacing situation.

Those whose birthday it is may have a year of pleasure and profit in new friends and new businesses, but should beware of secret enmity. A child born on this day will be active, enterprising kind and affectionate.

Why You Look Old?

Your hair is lustrous, your teeth are good, your eyes are bright, then why the strange? It is your SKIN. It is losing its youthful freshness. This is not necessary.

Our Double Creams Retard the Inroads of Age

One is an all cream for application on retiring, to soften and feed the skin, while the other is a vanishing FLESH tinted cream which, applied after the day, protects the complexion from the wind, sun and dust, and with the addition of a good complexion powder will give you the softness of a peach. Get your druggist to SEELY'S DAY and NIGHT CREAMS. If he is not acquainted with them give full instructions for use. Don't forget, we guarantee you will look much younger after a few days' use of SEELY'S DOUBLE CREAMS. If your druggist cannot supply send us $1.00 and we will send them postpaid.

GIRLS! LOTS OF BEAUTIFUL HAIR

A small bottle of "Danderine" makes hair thick, glossy and wavy.

Removes all dandruff, stops itching scalp and falling hair.

To be possessed of a head of heavy, beautiful hair; soft, lustrous, fluffy, wavy and free from dandruff is merely a matter of using a little Danderine.

It is easy and inexpensive to have nice, soft hair and lots of it. Just get a small bottle of Knowlton's Danderine now—it costs but a few cents—all drug stores recommend it—apply a little as directed and within ten minutes there will be an appearance of abundance, freshness, fluffiness and an incomparable gloss and lustre, and try as you will you cannot find a trace of dandruff or falling hair; but your real surprise will be after about two weeks' use, when you will see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—sprouting out all over your scalp—Danderine is, we believe, the only sure hair grower, destroyer of dandruff and cure for itchy scalp, and it never fails to stop falling hair at once.

If you want to prove how pretty and soft your hair really is, moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair—taking one small strand at a time. Your hair will be soft, glossy and beautiful in just a few moments—a delightful surprise awaits everyone who tries this.

REVELATIONS OF A WIFE

Who Sent Madge the Cryptic Message That Worries Her?

I felt strong arms lifting me from my kneeling posture and placing me in a big armchair turned, so that my eyes couldn't rest upon either the body of poor old William or that of the crazed woman who had caused his death and her own. But the position brought me directly beneath the flashing eyes of Grace Draper, who, from every indication, had looked perfectly unmoved upon the horrible thing which had just happened.

"Poor, nerveus Madgie!" she mocked, her beautiful mouth curved in a smile of contempt. "What a narrow squeak you had! But don't waste any breath sorrowing for your poor old age. Keep your tears for yourself. You'll need them now any day."

Her words were full of a vague menace, which I, knowing her, realized was no idle threat. Bound, defeated, she yet looked more like a conqueror than a prisoner as she stood facing me, her beautiful head held high, her red lips curling scornfully.

The cool incisive voice of Allen Drake cut across the silence like the whistle of a whip lash.

"I have the mate to that little stop gap in your friend's mouth, Miss Draper," he said smilingly, "I trust you will not compel me to use it."

She faced him unflinchingly, but I saw her nostrils quiver and a look in her eyes which only a woman could interpret. I knew that this wound to her vanity was the bitterest draught she had had to drain, this realization that her beauty, the remembrance of her wiles weighed nothing with Allen Drake when my comfort was in question.

"She Means Something Awful!"

"I have so much choice in the matter!" she mocked, but Mr. Drake ignored the thrust.

"Better get them out of here, Dixon," he addressed one of the guards curtly. "Mrs. Underwood, I'll relieve you of your charge. Mr. Gordon, please keep that Asiatic here. I'm going to put him through the third degree."

Kato's shiver of very real terror was a lucky thing for him. It changed suspicion upon the part of his Teutonic master to a passing contempt, reflected in the gleam of his eyes as he passed, bound and guarded, out of the door, followed closely by the man with the scarred hand.

Grace Draper came last. As she passed me she turned her head and looked full into my fascinated eyes filled with a nameless terror of her that would not down.

"Remember," she said softly. "I have one string left, a very little one, but you will know it."

"You won't be able to use it for 20 years, and the federal pen ought to render it quite harmless by that time," Lillian retorted caustically as she came swiftly to me.

The girl made no answer, simply kept her eyes upon me with that enigmatic, mocking smile until she had passed out of my sight. When she had gone I shivered and hid my face in Lillian's shoulder.

"She means something awful," I whispered.

"Fiddlesticks!" Lillian returned, but her tone was unconvincing. "And now you must get out of this. Hide your eyes, dear, and come with me to your own room."

"From 1 to 5."

I obeyed her, and she turned me over to my mother-in-law's ministrations, loving, gentle attentions, supplemented, I shrewdly surmise, by some powerful sleeping potion adroitly given, for I soon fell asleep and knew nothing of the gruesome duties that must have occupied the rest of my household in the hours before morning.

I didn't see Lillian again for several days. At her request I did not leave my room, indeed, was hardly able to leave it for nearly a week. And it was through my mother-in-law's shrewd surmise alone that I learned of Lillian's thoughtfulness in taking charge of the body of Mrs. Allis, of whose relatives we could find no trace, and giving it decent Christian burial. I had directed that William should be laid to rest in the little village cemetery, but Lillian had forestalled any morbidness upon my part by securing burial for his slayer in another town.

That Lillian had done this primarily to save Robert Savarin pain I well knew, and I could not help contemplating with thankfulness the fact that one very real obstacle to their future happiness—if it should ever be vouchsafed them—had been removed by Mrs. Allis' suicide. Of course, in the strictly legal sense that woman was not—and never had been—Robert Savarin's wife, but I knew that for both their sakes as well as for the poor crazed creature's own it was far better that she was resting quietly beneath her six feet of earth.

Thoughts of Mrs. Allis, dead, brought in their train speculations concerning Harry Underwood, living, the man to whom Lillian was legally bound, even though his life was an offence not only to her but to all decent, law-abiding people, the man who, though unloved and unloving, was yet the insuperable obstacle to her happiness.

Where had he been while his fellows in conspiracy had played their best trick and lost while the girl with whose fortunes he had been so closely linked had been pinioned and led away to prison? Had he really been secretly protecting me as he had claimed, and had the others found it out and taken swift, secret, deadly vengeance upon him, or was cowardice the answer to his absence from the expedition?

Cowardice! The word caused a swift veering of thought to the gnawing pain which was never far distant from my heart and brain in these anxious days. After all, it really mattered little to me what motive actuated Harry Underwood. But it meant something more than life itself to me and to the child soul coming to me, to know the reason for my husband's apparent pusillanimity.

But Fate, in the unromantic person of the daily postman, brought me the key to my problem in the shape of an ordinary looking typed envelope that bore inside the cryptic message:

"If you wish to know the disgraceful truth concerning your husband's recent activities go to the flying field at Mineola next Wednesday afternoon. Stay there from 1 to 5."

Why Canada must borrow money to carry on

Because Canada has put her hand to the plow and will not turn back:—

—our country is in the war on the side of liberty and justice and will stay in it till complete victory is won and the unspeakable Hun is smashed and beaten to the ground;

—a nation at war must make tremendous expenditures in cash to keep up her armies and supply them with munitions, food and clothing;

—Canada must finance many millions of dollars of export trade in food, munitions and supplies which Britain and our allies must have on credit;

—for these purposes Canada must borrow hundreds of millions of dollars—

And, this money must be borrowed from the people of Canada:—

Therefore, Canada will presently come to her people for a new Victory Loan to carry on.

\+ \+ \+

Canadians will loan the money by again buying Victory Bonds.

The national safety, the national honor and the national well-being require that each and every Canadian shall do his duty by lending to the nation every cent he can spare for this purpose.

Be ready when the call comes to see your country through in its great war work.

Issued by Canada's Victory Loan Committee in co-operation with the Minister of Finance of the Dominion of Canada.

"The Unbeliever," a Startling Photo-drama, Showing at the Patricia Theatre on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday Next.

One of the most intense films ever shown in London will be shown at the Patricia Theatre next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday under the title of "The Unbeliever" by George Kleine.

Aside from its lofty, patriotic motive, its great lessons, its startlingly realistic scenic effects, the thrill of the story itself makes for an entertainment that holds the spectator in breathless absorption. It has been capped by few productions, regardless of the amount spent upon them. The war department "loaned" many hundred members of the Marine Corps to carry out the effects the story demands, and as a result the military scenes are done with an exactness and convincing snap that gives a grimly perfect setting for this tragic but inspiring glimpse into the horrors of "No Man's Land."

The film tells the story of a young American aristocrat, who has little faith in God, humanity or the brotherhood of man. He joins the Marines and once "over there," he finds his unbeliefs are but shadows and that God, humanity, and brotherhood are real.

Raymond McKee in "The Unbeliever," showing at the Patricia Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Mabel Normand, in "Peck's Bad Girl," Showing at the Patricia Theatre Next Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Mabel Normand, the idol of many fans, comes to the Patricia Theatre next Thursday, Friday and Saturday in her latest Goldwyn picture, entitled "Peck's Bad Girl," written specially to exploit her talents, by Tex Charwate. This film is notable, in that it marks Miss Normand's return to the type of picture which made her famous under Mack Sennett's management. She is to be seen as the harum-scarem tomboy-girl of the town, who thinks nothing of arguing with the bank president and putting the village fire department out of order. Nor does she stop at capturing a trio of crooks who arrive in the village to purloin gold from the vaults of the bank. However, we proceed too fast. That is the end of the picture.

In the beginning, Peck's bad girl drags her father to town in a futile effort to secure nine dollars due him from the president of the bank. Their pleadings all for naught, our tomboy-girl takes revenge on the president by pasting a sign up over the bank door to the effect that the noble institution is, in plain language, "busted." A run starts, and to quiet it, or rather, to make matters considerably worse, the village fire department is called out. However, instead of dispersing the mob the fire department succeeds in dispersing itself, owing to interference from one party or another. The hose breaks loose and havoc reigns.

But it is futile to elaborate on the many comical points of "Peck's Bad Girl." Suffice it to say that Miss Normand has never had a feature comedy that could compare with this Goldwyn picture. It is the type that her admirers have been asking for for quite a while. That the Goldwyn Company has produced it is a great credit to the concern itself as well as a compliment to the choice of the fans. Earle Foxe is the leading man and the supporting cast is fine from beginning to end.

PRINCESS

"The Mysterious Client," a Thrilling Photoplay, Showing at the Princess on Monday and Tuesday Next.

"The Mysterious Client" is a five-part Pathe play, starring Irene Castle, the best-known woman in the world, with Milton Sills and Warner Oland, screen favorites of the highest standing at the Princess Monday and Tuesday next. The cast, in other words, is composed of the three big stars who "put over" the highly successful serial "Patria." All three of these stars have received the widest publicity throughout the country and have attained the greatest popularity with motion-picture fans.

"The Phantom and the Girl" at the Princess.

Heart throbs and thrills are numerous in the third episode of the thrilling serial, "Hands Up," released by Pathe. The title of this episode is "The Phantom and the Girl." It will be presented on Wednesday and Thursday at the Princess Theatre. In the second episode of "Hands Up," a mysterious dark-robed rider of the hills kidnaps Echo and bears her away, followed by Hands Up, his cowboys and the swift Inca riders. With the coming of dawn the searchers are scattered and the pursued are lost to sight of cowboys and Inca Indians. The story of this episode is one that grips from start to finish.

GRAND ARMY OF CANADA TO START BRANCH HERE

Those Interested Will Give Out Little Information.

According to returned soldiers, a branch of the "Grand Army of Canada" will be formed in this city, but when it comes to giving out facts the returned men are shy.

Sergt. John Rawlings stated to The Advertiser that he had been talking on the telephone with some of the officials in Toronto, and that everything is progressing nicely.

Sergt. Cresswell, when asked if he knew of the new organization, said: "Yes, and I have known of it for some time." That is all he would say.

As far as it can be learned this new organization will take in all men who have been honorably discharged whether they have served in France or in Canada.

The names of the officers or head men of this new organization have not yet been announced or the date of a gathering to organize a local branch.

According to Sergt. Rawlings, a number of returned officers are interested in this new organization, but as to its aims and objects he and others interviewed are extremely reticent.

APPLICATION OF BELL COMPANY TO INCREASE NIGHT RATES DROPPED

City Notified of Fight Coming Against Rental.

The Bell Telephone Company will not present its request to increase the night long-distance rates at the present time.

The city has been notified that the company has withdrawn the application it made to the Dominion Railway Board for permission to increase these charges.

City Clerk Baker also had a copy of a letter to hand which the Bell Company sent to the railway board, asking that it deal with the city's demand that the company pay a rental for the use of streets in extending its lines. It is likely that this will develop into a big fight, and it is just possible that many other cities will join with London. At the recent meeting of the Ontario Municipal Association in Toronto a number of cities agreed to demand a toll similar to London in the hopes of bringing the matter to a head.

It is understood that the Bell Company contends that under its dominion charter it is not required to pay a rental for the use of the city streets.

ADVISORY COMMITTEE FOR BOYS' WORK NAMED

The London Y. M. C. A. advisory committee in co-operation with boys' work held its annual meeting Thursday, and the results from last year, read by the secretary, were found to be the most successful since the committee's organization. Four years ago this committee was organized, and the year of 1918 has been the most successful of any. The committee is composed of representatives from Presbyterian churches, Y. M. C. A. workers, and Sunday school associations. The committee elected to represent each church or association for the coming year are as follows: Anglican Church, Rev. W. Armitage, Rev. Mr. Latimer, H. E. Simpson, H. R. Franks; Baptist Church, Rev. J. N. Norton, E. A. Miller, Nelson Fisher, G. C. Raymond; Presbyterian Church, Rev. W. R. McIntosh, Rev. J. P. Laverie, W. D. Beamer, F. N. Phelps; Methodist Church, Rev. H. T. Ferguson, W. J. Ashton, Rev. L. C. Morrow, C. R. Myrick; for the Sunday school associations, Rev. W. J. Knox, G. W. Hofferd, J. T. Parkinson, J. S. Lovell; for the Y. M. C. A., Ed. E. Reid, P. T. Robinson, G. C. Gifford, and R. E. G. Davis.

The officers elected for the committee on industrial work, vocational guidance and juvenile delinquency are: E. A. Miller (chairman), H. E. Simpson, Ed. E. Reid, Rev. J. P. Laverie and G. W. Hofferd. The officers elected for the advisory committee on physical activities, recreation and amusements are: W. D. Beamer (chairman), Nelson Fisher, H. R. Franks, L. C. Morrow, J. T. Parkinson and David Allan. Officers for the Canadian standard efficiency training are: J. N. Norton (chairman), F. N. Phelps, Rev. Mr. Latimer, P. T. Robinson, Rev. W. J. Knox, W. J. Ashton and R. E. G. Davis. Officers elected for the first committee on conference and training are: Rev. W. R. McIntosh (chairman), Rev. Mr. Armitage, C. R. Myrick, G. C. Raymond, J. S. Lovell and G. C. Gifford. The officiating officers elected for the ensuing year are: Hon. president, Canon Tucker; president, Rev. H. T. Ferguson; first vice-president, Rev. Mr. Armitage; recording secretary, G. C. Gifford; corresponding secretary, R. E. G. Davis.

GIVE THANKS!

Thanksgiving in Canada should most certainly not be limited to one day. We have only to think of the splendid record of our soldiers, of the sure defeat of Prussian militarism and of the assured welfare of the Dominion, and we will give thanks every day and all day.

As individuals, too, we should "count our blessings". Here in the midst of the most terrible struggle the world has witnessed, we are enjoying comforts unthought of 20 years ago.

No one, 20 years ago, even dreamed of a razor where you could replace in a few seconds an edge that had been slightly dulled by hard service with another edge of perfect keenness—

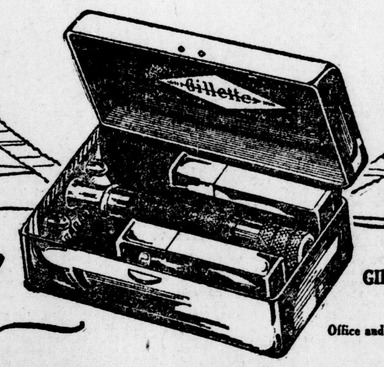

Gillette Safety Razor

Shaving is now a JOY, where it used to be a JOB. Gone are the days of honing and stropping, operations which sometimes improved the shaving edge, and sometimes failed, as your chin showed afterwards.

We have letters of Thanksgiving from the men in the trenches, full of the most cheery optimism—and there are days when the Gillette furnishes the only bright spot in the day's routine.

Any dealer will be glad to show you an assortment of Gillette Razor Sets. Decide today to purchase a Gillette for your own daily benefit, or that of a friend "over there".

"The Hun Within," a D. W. Griffith War Production, Featuring Dorothy Gish, Showing at the Majestic Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Seldom will the patrons of motion picture houses have the opportunity of witnessing such pictures as D. W. Griffith's special Artcraft productions at regular prices, and less frequently still will be the opportunity of seeing such a gem of photo-production as Mr. Griffith's second picture, "The Hun Within," which is the Thanksgiving attraction at the Majestic Monday Tuesday and Wednesday. The New York Times is quoted as writing: "It is seldom that spectators in a motion picture theatre are held as tensely and stirred as frequently to spontaneous applause as were those who witnessed 'The Hun Within.' The play is highly colored by the temper of the time, but it is free from the too prevalent buncombe and bombast by which some producers are turning the passions of the people into dollars for themselves without giving anything worth while in return. It possesses elements of the photo-dramatic excellence that put it far above the average of all productions. Dorothy Gish, as the American girl, will conquer new worlds of motion picture spectators. George Fawcett gives realistically sympathetic portrayal of the German-American father."

Douglas Fairbanks at the Majestic Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Next Week in "He Comes Up Smiling."

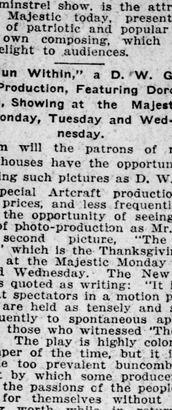

Douglas Fairbanks, that ever-popular screen star, has sent out another winner. It is "He Comes Up Smiling," and it will be shown at the Majestic Thursday, Friday and Saturday next week.

The story of the picture is a novel one, and the performance of Mr. Fairbanks, who is seen as a tramp, may safely be said to be one of the finest of his screen career.

Jerry Martin is a bank clerk in a small town, whose principal duty is to care for the pet canary of the vice-president of the bank. The bird flies away one day, and Jerry rushes in pursuit. This brings him far into the country, and after he has done some surprising feats in his efforts to recover the bird, which he captures, but permits to escape a second time, he meets with some tramps. Instantly his old longing for the life of a hobo returns, and he becomes one of the clan, but not until he has proved his fitness to join the brotherhood by thrashing King Bean, a massive tramp who later becomes his valet.

Thus Jerry is dubbed "The Watermelon," but his cleanly habits which are resented by his valet, who steals Jerry's clothes while he is bathing in a lake, involve him in a most whimsical mesh of adventures. He finds the clothes of a stock broker, whom he personates with thrilling results. He thus meets Billy Bartlett, daughter of the president of a trust company with whom Batchelor, whom Jerry is personating, has a financial axe to grind. When Jerry, who loves Billy, learns that he is supposed to be the bitter enemy of the father of the girl he loves, he gets busy to straighten out the tangle. This is finally accomplished after a series of exceptionally interesting happenings, in all of which Mr. Fairbanks is entertainingly in evidence.

The photoplay establishes its popularity instantly. The story, based upon the farce in which Mr. Fairbanks appeared in New York in 1914, was adapted for the screen by Frances Marion, and the picture was directed by Allen Dawn. The support is excellent, the performance of Marjorie Daw, as Billy Bartlett; Frank Campeau, as Bartlett, a scheming financier; Bull Montana, as Baron Bean, a hobo, and Herbert Standing, as Mike, a tramp, being especially praiseworthy.

At the Majestic next week, Jack King, the famous American tenor, will sing a number of his own song creations.

Lila Lee at the Majestic Today Only, Matinee and Evening in Her First Photoplay.

The face of Lila Lee is a new and charming addition to the films. If her first Paramount picture, which was presented at the Majestic Theatre yesterday, and will be shown again today, matinee and evening, is fair evidence of the sort of acting she is to give us in later screen plays, it is safe to assume that she will soon find her way to the hearts of thousands of admirers, and will be known as one of the prettiest and most popular little actresses in animated pictures.

"The Cruise of the Make-Believes" is a charming and fanciful story that holds the interest of the spectator throughout, and little Miss Lee's beautiful and mobile face expresses the changes of emotions evoked by the characterization in a thoroughly delightful way. It is doubtful if a more suitable first story for Miss Lee could have been found than this charming screen version of Tom Gallon's famous novel.

Roscoe "Fatty" Arbuckle at the Majestic Today Only in His Newest, "The Cook."

The popular verdict of the critics is that "The Cook," in which Fatty Arbuckle is presented at the Majestic on the program today, is that the corpulent comedian never had a finer vehicle for the display of his powers to provoke healthful laughter. The comedy is an excellent one, and is well worth seeing. Mr. Arbuckle is finely supported by an excellent cast of small, large, thin and fat comedians, not to mention a bevy of beautiful comediennes.

ONE MORE CAMPAIGN BEFORE HUNS QUIT, IS SIMONDS' VIEW

Warns Allied World That It Is Likely a Stupendous and Supreme Effort Will Be Required Next Year Before Enemy Surrenders Unconditionally.

By Frank H. Simonds

Author of "The Great War," "They Shall Not Pass."

(Copyright, 1918, Tribune Association, New York Tribune.).

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—For three months, ever since Foch launched Mangin in the decisive counter-thrust south of Soissons, our armies, the armies of all the nations fighting Germany, have been marching from victory to victory. Since Napoleon was defeated at Leipsic, a century ago, there has been no such amazing transformation in military history as we have seen in something less than a hundred days.

As a consequence of military events and the resulting peace offensives, both Austrian and German, there has developed everywhere, but particularly in this country, where there has been no such series of disappointments as have tempered European optimism in the past four years, a quickly mounting conviction that the war is rapidly coming to an end and that the present will prove the last campaign.

On the face of the military situation as it now exists this belief seems to me unwarranted, and I purpose in this article to lay stress upon the military reasons why it seems inevitable, on the basis of things as they now appear, that there will be one more campaign, and a campaign likely to make a supreme demand upon the human, the material and the moral resources of the nations at war.

It is well to recognize at the outset that there exists a remote but still patent chance that the German armies may in the two or three weeks left for active campaigning be decisively defeated, meet a colossal Waterloo or Sedan. Marshal Foch is unquestionably striving for a decisive victory, a win-the-war success, exactly like that sought by Ludendorff in the opening months of the campaign. Under the terrific pressure which is being exerted German military strength may collapse at any moment, but I do not believe there is one chance in fifty of such a collapse, given the practical certainty that within three weeks the weather conditions will place a final veto on further general offensive movements. If we had two months, or three, then the chances would be even, but we have, perhaps, no more than a fortnight.

Doubts Early Surrender.

In the same fashion political developments between November and March may make further fighting unnecessary. Germany may surrender; she may offer the same proposals which have been accepted from Bulgaria, and she may be forced to offer such terms because of internal conditions, concerning which we are at best only imperfectly informed. Again, it seems to me that such a surrender is almost out of the reckoning, but not quite, and, of course, if Germany surrenders there will be no more fighting.

But we have to face the situation which we have deliberately created. As a nation we have said, and we have meant, that short of a German surrender we will not make peace with Germany. We have clearly demonstrated that we mean to continue the battle until the capacity of the German army for resistance is exhausted, until the German people are compelled to recognize that the doctrine of force invoked by them at the outset is altogether false, that their army cannot conquer the world, that it is not even strong enough to defend Germany herself against the collective strength of aroused civilization.

This means, if it means anything, that short of the destruction of German military power by a victorious battle, or series of battles, peace can only be attained by the unconditional surrender of the German people to the will of the nations which are now at war with them, a complete resignation of all power to resist, an unqualified consent to accept when their armies have been demobilized and their conquered provinces evacuated the decisions of their enemies in the matter of the payment for past crimes and the guarantees for the future safety of the world.

Huns Must Take Back Seat.

In sum, Germany must resign not merely her grandiose dreams of Mitteleuropa, not merely her domination of Russia, still continuing, but she must resign in the world, for the present, that position which has been created by a long series of aggressive wars and has enabled her from the Treaty of Frankfort to that of Brest-Litovsk to dominate European counsels. She must see the economic edifice which she created in Europe and out of it at the expense of her neighbors, and by the use of threats and blackmail, propaganda and corruption, demolished. She must consent to return to many of the conditions existing before the Franco-Prussian War, politically, and in a sense economically, and she must consent to have her future, during the period of the new settlement, determined by the nations whom she has attacked. This is what surrender means: It means that the German must submit his will to that of civilization and take his chance.

Now, does the military situation warrant the expectation of such a surrender at the close of the present campaign? Let us analyze the facts. We have by our victories of July deprived the German of the initiative, not for the time being, but for the balance of the war. We have by our August offensives turned him out of the lines of 1916 on which he accepted battle. We are at the present moment sweeping him out of the Hindenburg line. It is already clear that he will end the campaign at the Meuse and the Belgian frontier, and he has in two months and a half lost more than a quarter of a million prisoners, nearly four thousand guns and war material without measure.

Must Leave Belgium.

On the basis of what has happened since July 18 on the west front, we are justified in demanding and expecting that Germany will consent to evacuate the rest of France and all of Belgium, abandon all claim for indemnity or for the return of any of her lost colonies. Meanwhile, in the east the victory of the Army of the Orient has eliminated Bulgaria and broken the German edifice of Mitteleuropa into fragments. Coincident with this disaster has been the defeat of the Turk in Palestine, and the creation of a situation which must inexorably lead to the surrender of Turkey on Bulgarian terms and the final liquidation of the estates of Germany's eastern allies on the terms of Germany's enemies.

At no distant date all of Serbia will be free, all of Bulgaria will be in our hands, the Turk will have surrendered or be at our mercy; Mitteleuropa, which yesterday reached the Euphrates and the Jordan, will end at the Carpathians and the Danube. Germany has only her Russian conquests left, and upon these her hold is precarious, while she has now to guarantee her Austrian ally against Rumanian as well as Allied attacks at the south. And unless she can do this she must expect to see Austria at no distant time make a separate peace or fall into anarchy and ruin.

To Restore Little Nations.

At the present moment, then, Germany and her Austrian ally must and unquestionably will make peace, if they can, on the basis of 1914. But we are all of us in America and Europe agreed that the basis of 1914 must not be restored. We mean to erect a stronger Rumania, a greater Serbia, to bar forever Teutonic expansion toward the south; we have recognized the Czecho-Slovaks in Bohemia, we have given unmistakable pledges with respect to Poland, we have in a very large measure committed ourselves to a program which, in liberating the Slavs of Austria and the Poles of Russia, insures the dissolution of the Hapsburg empire and the erection of a Polish barrier to Teutonism in the east.

In the present mood of the world it seems to me unmistakable that any list of peace conditions would include a Poland which reached the Baltic at Danzig and comprehended Posen as well as Western Galicia. In the same fashion we have accepted the view that the Jugo-Slavs shall occupy all of the Adriatic Littoral save for the portions which belong rightfully to Italy. We have determined that Alsace-Lorraine shall return to France, and we have resolved that Germany shall pay dollar for dollar and brick for brick for the terrible devastations of her army in Belgium and in France.

Is Germany All In?

All of this means but one thing. It means that the Germany which emerges from this war will be weakened as no other nation at war will be weakened it means that the Germans will have to lay aside all the dreams which they have cherished for half a century, dreams of world power, and accept conditions growing out of their conduct of the war which will for a generation leave Germany crippled. I do not think there is a single one of the conditions which I have sketched above which is not consonant with the conscience and the sense of justice of civilization. I do not think any one of them is non-essential to the making of a safe peace and an honorable peace, a peace which shall guarantee the world against another tragedy. But granted all this, is the German military situation so bad that Germany will accept such terms?

I do not believe this is the case. On the contrary, the German armies, despite great reverses, are still numerous, powerful, capable of sustained resistance. They have before them a whole winter for recuperation after a few weeks more of fighting, and they have behind them admirable lines of resistance still far outside of German territory. If we conceive that the Germans will halt at the line of Antwerp-Tournai, Mezieres-Metz, at the end of the present campaign, we may see them standing on the far shorter and stronger line of Antwerp-Brussels-Namur-Mezieres-Metz in the spring, or even at the line of the Meuse from Holland to the front north of Verdun, and behind this line is the line of the Ardennes. Last of all there is the line of the Rhine, strong, as we all know, and certain to be strengthened in the next months.

Germans Still Have Hopes.

Is it not conceivable that the German general staff will calculate that it can break the force of allied attack between the Scheldt and the German frontier by the end of one more campaign, and that an exhausted world will, at last, consent to peace by negotiation, which will save for Germany, not her conquests of 1914-1918, but her position of August, 1914, her position when she set forth on her great and tragic adventure? As it stands, peace on such terms as are conceivable means the surrender of all Germany's aspirations, ambitions and not a few of her actual assets.

The military situation of Germany is bad, but it is not yet sufficiently bad to lead German rulers and leaders to accept the only terms on which peace is to be had from the enemy. Napoleon refused better terms than William II. can now obtain in the months between Leipsic and Fontainebleau; the result was ruin, but the alternative was the sacrifice of his dreams of European domination. For many months Napoleon believed that he could wear out his foes, that he could separate them by playing upon their mutual rivalries; he believed that France would rise against the invader in 1814 as it did in 1792. His calculations were wrong, but the German general staff is not likely to see more accurately.

Must Fight On.

It seems to me that the decision of the world, of the Allied world, with respect to Germany is so clear, so definite and so fatal to German hopes, to German future, that those who rule Germany are bound to fight on, because between the terms which are now obtainable and those which would be obtainable after military defeat, complete defeat, there is no great margin of difference, and there is still, for them, the chance, remote but real, that they may escape the decisive defeat and endure until war weariness and domestic unrest in Allied countries make peace by negotiation inevitable. And peace by negotiation means the salvage for Germany of much, of very much, from the wreck.

As I see it, the situation is this: The German general staff expects to escape any decisive defeat this year and to stand with its main mass of armies still unbroken on some strong defensive system when bad weather closes the campaign of 1918. Despite its losses of men, material and territory, it will then claim that it has defeated the Allied effort to win a decision and that it has demonstrated that no decision is possible and that the war must go on indefinitely at a terrible cost unless it is ended by negotiation. Then will begin a period of reorganization by the German armies for the next campaign and the fortification of new lines on the basis of the lessons of the present campaign.

Meantime, Berlin and Vienna will launch a tremendous peace offensive designed to separate the rulers of the various countries, that is, the leaders from their people. They will make every conceivable verbal concession, put aside all claims for profit themselves, and argue that only the imperialistic ambitions of their foes prevent the making of peace. Such an offensive will certainly have a great effect in Germany; we shall have to be on our guard to prevent its making progress in our own countries.

A Spring Campaign.

We may assume that the peace offensive will fail; we may assume that the Allied nations will stand firm and insist upon a complete surrender as the only condition of peace. Then, when spring comes, Germany will have made her plans for another campaign; she will retire to her selected positions, leaving devastated districts behind her, and strive to break our first offensive blows as she broke those of Nivelle and Haig in 1917. All of her still considerable resources will go into this first effort, and the German leaders may calculate they will prolong the fighting for another whole summer and see the campaign end with the Germans at last within their own boundaries, out of Alsace-Lorraine and behind the Rhine. In such a situation Germany may hope and will hope that peace can be had without surrender, with her position with respect to Russia unshaken and with the essential integrity of Austria assured. This would be a far better ending to the war than is now obtainable. And there is always the possibility, certain to be counted upon by Germany, that some Allied nation would weary, that, for example, the new election in Britain might turn out a victory for pacifism.

Sees Campaign Next Year.

Short of a military victory this year, wholly improbable, I believe that there will be a campaign of 1919 because the only conditions on which we are willing to make peace with Germany are conditions which the mass of the Germans will not accept until their capacity for military resistance has been exhausted, and that is far from the case at the present moment. Frederick the Great and Louis XIV. successfully defied Europe, after terrible defeats, and even invasions. Germany hopes now to make a peace on the basis of things as they were in 1914, while keeping alive the possibility of profiting from the destruction of Russia. But this means nothing more nor less than that Germany will consent to abandon now what she feels that she cannot accomplish in the present war, and that she will begin on the morrow of peace to prepare a new attack upon civilization, building on the same foundation on which she built in the years before the present struggle.

No Middle Ground.

There is no middle ground for compromise between the world and the Germans; not to break his military power or compel him to surrender is to consent to the continued existence of his military machine, is to leave open for the future all the old avenues of attack upon democracy. Victory is not and will not be geographical. Frederick the Great lost Berlin, but won his war and retained Silesia. Victory is not comparative; it is in the nature of things absolute. The destruction of German militarism is the destruction of the German army, whether by defeat on the battlefield or by even more ignominous surrender in advance of the final blow.

Looked at calmly, our successes since July 18 are only a degree more impressive than those of Ludendorff before that date. We have not yet progressed as far north of the Hindenburg line as the German got south of it in the spring. He took 200,000 prisoners and 2,500 guns; we have taken 250,000 prisoners and 3,500 guns. He has Belgium behind him and the lines of the Meuse, Ardennes and the Rhine. He arrived within forty miles of Paris; we are not yet as near as that to Brussels. He has lost a campaign, but we have lost the campaigns of 1915, 1916 and 1917. Bulgaria has quit him, but Russia quit us. Turkey is falling, but Belgium, Serbia and Rumania fell and still we endured.

The Moral Factor.

Now, the moral factor cannot be estimated and cannot be exaggerated in its importance. The German may be morally conquerer, but there is yet no sign of it. He is fighting doggedly, determinedly, and his defense is not a shade weaker than our defense between March 21 and July 15. He is fighting with no idea of victory in his head, but with a growing consciousness of what absolute defeat means. He sees about him the ruins of Belgium and French cities and provinces; he knows that the same ruin or the price of the ruin must be found in Germany. His courage may depart or is a wild and agonized determination to avert impending national ruin may fire him to still more determined resistance.

I find about me a growing conviction that the war is over and that we are seeing the last phase of the decisive battle—that "peace by Christmas" is assured. It may be so, but it is at least as likely that we are seeing the end of one more campaign in which there has been no ultimate decision, no breaking of the armed resistance and no taming of the will of the opponent. For myself, I expect to see a campaign of 1919. I believe the German will still be in arms and fighting desperately when next spring comes, and that it will take all of our best strength to break his military power next year in a full and terrible campaign.

May Risk All.

Negotiated peace is and will remain possible, if we are willing to make it, at any moment now. Between the present hour and the opening of the next campaign the German terms will grow more and more reasonable. The German manoeuvre to catch the weak, the blind, the weary of the enemy nations to break the home front, as it was broken in 1917, will be repeated. But the German is not likely to accept the only terms which he can obtain, for he is almost certain to conclude that he would do better to risk all the consequences of another campaign rather than accept terms which will not have become materially harsher if he fights and loses next summer and may be greatly modified, if he fights and postpones a military decision.

This much at least is to be said and must be said: It would be the height of folly to make any calculation of any sort based upon the assumption that this year will see the end of the struggle. Two evils would instantly flow from such a calculation. Insensibly, but inevitably, our effort would slacken, and equally inevitably disappointment would weaken our moral strength next year. By each of these weaknesses the enemy would profit; by both he might succeed in escaping from the defeat which must come if the war is to be ended properly.

Historical Instances.

Reading history one may see that bad as is the German's present posture, nations have escaped from worse, as did Prussia in the Seven Years' War. That victory which, now assured, is only assured if we increase rather than lessen our effort and strengthen rather than weaken our determination. Two years ago we were just as sure of immediate victory as now, and with almost as sound reasons. Then the German peace offensive surprised and routed us. A new German peace offensive is in preparation, and there is the same peril.

Constant victory, the interminable reports of the forecasts of captured Germans, the large scale map, the catalogue of captured positions, all these build up an optimism, natural, within limits useful, but dangerous when it gives rise to unbounded confidence in a speedy and complete collapse of the enemy. It took the Leipsic campaign of 1813, the Marne campaign of 1814, and the Waterloo campaign of 1815, to rid Europe of the Napoleonic peril and to destroy the Napoleonic legend. If we have won the Leipsic campaign this summer we have done nothing more. We have not advanced a foot in Germany; we are still demanding that the German make peace on the basis of what we expect to do, not what we have done and not what he believes we can do. Our victory is still limited, our terms absolute.

Can't Win This Year.

In sum, on the military side no Allied success up to the present hour supplies any conclusive or impressive evidence that the German army can be decisively beaten this year or that it will surrender rather than bear the cost in blood of another campaign. On the political side the peace conditions, which we are agreed must be imposed upon Germany, are such that the Germans may not improbably prefer to risk all the sacrifices and burdens of another year in the hope of escaping our present terms, satisfied that even if they lose that campaign they can hardly face much stiffer terms. On the moral side we know little, but two years ago, when we were counting upon a moral collapse of the German, our own morale broke down in Russia and Italy and was severely shaken in France and in Britain as a result of the German peace offensive.

All through this war there has been nothing more striking than the utter failure of the people of the two contending groups to grasp in any degree the actual state of mind of the enemy. We have been wrong just as often as the German. We have again and again been convinced that German masses were eager for a surrender peace, we have been convinced that a starving Germany was on the point of throwing off its rulers and embracing democracy and peace, and at the critical moment we have found that we had calculated on our hopes rather than with regard to the facts.

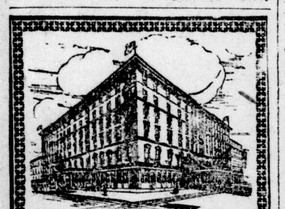

Army Must Be Beaten.

Today the German people may be willing to surrender, they may compel their generals and their statesmen to abandon the struggle and pay the price of surrender. They may, on the other hand, be in the mood of France after Sedan, when the people rose to the defense of the nation. Until the German army is decisively beaten we shall not be assured of peace, and the German army is much further from decisive defeat than was French military power after the opening disasters of 1870. We have never yet failed to blunder when we based our military and political calculations upon what we believed to be the German state of mind and the German situation materially, and all our past mistakes have led to disastrous disappointments.

The issue between the Germans and ourselves is one that cannot be settled by compromise. Either he or we must surrender, and for either surrender means the abandonment of national faith. Bernhardi said nearly a decade ago that the issue of the next war for Germany would be "world power or downfall." Time has not changed the issues, nor can the German now escape downfall by any other means than arms. Therefore, it seems wisest to believe that he will fight on until he can fight no more, conscious that his fate then will be but little worse than it would be should he surrender now.

As I close this article, on Monday, October 7, the world is discussing the latest German peace offensive. But nothing which has yet been disclosed with respect to this offensive modifies the views expressed above and in earlier articles. Germany is seeking to acquire immunity for the past and preserve her army and the Prussian tradition for the future. She proposes not surrender, but compromise. She is willing to bargain, but the very proposal to bargain indicates that she does not believe that surrender is necessary.

By the campaign of 1918 we have brought Germany to the point of resigning her plan to impose her terms of victorious peace upon a conquerer world. I see nothing now to suggest that short of the campaign of 1919 we can bring the enemy to accept those terms, which we all agree must be the foundation of the future, the basis of any just and enduring peace. We have driven the wild beast back into the jungle, but he will return if we do not pursue him into his own fastnesses.

SPANISH INFLUENZA RAGES IN CANADA

Thousands of Cases Reported, With Many Deaths.

THOSE WHO ARE MOST SUSCEPTIBLE TO IT

"FRUIT-A-TIVES"—The Wonderful Fruit Medicine—Gives the Power To Resist This Disease.

The epidemic of Spanish Influenza which played such havoc in Europe, has reached this continent. Thousands of cases of the strange malady have appeared and many deaths are already reported; Surgeon-General Blue of the United States Public Health Service having stated that "Spanish Influenza will probably spread all over the country in six weeks."

Practically every ship which touches our shores from abroad, brings those infected with the disease.

Surgeon-General Blue urges that "the individual take all the precautions he can against contracting the disease by care and personal hygiene." Plenty of exercise should be taken; the diet should be regulated, etc.

Spanish Influenza affects most severely elderly persons and others whose powers of resistance are weakened by illness, work or worry, especially those who are "rundown" or "not feeling up the mark."

The really great danger from the disease is not so much in the disease itself, as that it often develops into pneumonia.

What everyone needs now is a general tonic like "Fruit-a-tives." This wonderful fruit medicine is not a germ-killer. It is a body-builder; a strength-maker; a blood-purifier; a power in protecting against the ravages of disease.

"Fruit-a-tives" regulates the kidneys and bowels, causing these organs to eliminate waste regularly and naturally as nature intended. "Fruit-a-tives" keeps the skin active, and purifies and enriches the blood. "Fruit-a-tives" tones up and strengthens the organs of digestion, insuring food being properly digested and assimilated.

Everyone can take ordinary precautions, avoid crowded places, and use "Fruit-a-tives" regularly to insure sound digestion, to keep the bowels and kidneys regular and the whole system in the best possible condition. Then we are safe from disease.

"Fruit-a-tives" is sold by dealers everywhere at 50c a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size 25c, or sent postpaid on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives, Limited, Ottawa, Ont.

U. S. CONVOYS

bodily from its fastenings by the enormous waves, and was hurled into the breakers, sweeping many men away with it.

The ship had struck about a mile from shore, and on the cliffs stood groups of islanders eager to send aid, but which it was impossible to even to attempt. Owing to the terrific wind there was no chance of getting a line to the ship, which was now fast breaking up. Scores of men began to jump, and many immediately were seized by the waves and hurled against the sides of the ship.

At noon the Otranto was lifted on the crest of a high comber and dashed back to the rock so violently that the vessel broke squarely in two. The mast snapped short, killing men as it fell.

One section of the hulk turned sidewise, emptying all hands still clinging to the deck into the boiling surf. The other section proved a plaything of the waves, and speedily was ground to pieces on the rocks. The ship's remaining company were now struggling in the water. The slim chance they might have had of getting ashore was virtually dissipated by the wreckage from the ship, through which the best swimmers were unable to win their way.

The Otranto and the other vessels of the convoy were battling with the heavy seas and high winds Sunday morning. The storm was so severe and the visibility so bad that the Kashmir, a former Peninsular and Oriental liner, crashed into the Otranto squarely amidships.

The Kashmir backed away badly damaged, but was able to make port.

As the bows of the Kashmir were pulled from the great hole in the side of the Otranto, the water rushed in, but for a time it did not serve to stop the engines. The Otranto tried to proceed, but made no headway against the gales in her crippled condition.

Within a short time the water put out her fires and the Otranto drifted helplessly toward the rocky coast of Islay Island, where most of the Tuscania victims met their death.

Thirty minutes after the crash the British destroyer Mounsey, herself damaged by the heavy seas, appeared out of the haze in answer to the distress calls of the Otranto. When the destroyer manoeuvred to get alongside, Captain Davidson of the Otranto warned Lieut. Craven, commanding the destroyer, not to make the attempt.

When it was seen that Craven would make the attempt anyhow, the men were ordered to remove their shoes and heavy clothing and try to save themselves as best they could.

The destroyer stood off about a hundred feet and then gradually came nearer against the great odds of high waves and the wind, which threatened momentarily to carry her entirely away from the Otranto or dash her to pieces against the side of the wounded vessel.

The Otranto struck the rocks Sunday night south of Saligo Bay, Islay Island, an uninhabited section, where the coastline in many places rises straight out of the water to the rocky peaks many feet above.

As the destroyer neared the side of the Otranto the men began to jump from thirty to forty feet from her decks. The more experienced sailors of the crew of the vessel had better success than the soldiers, many of whom had never seen the sea until this trip.

As the destroyer steered toward the side of the steamer, many of the men leaped too quickly and missed their reckoning and dropped between the boats. Some of these disappeared in the water, but others of them were caught and crushed to death between the boats and the lifeboats which had been lowered to act as buffers. The destroyer was badly battered.

The captain of the destroyer, each time it was brushed away from the side of the Otranto, again would push near enough for many more men to jump to the deck of his vessel. He described as a veritable rain, the number of men landing on the destroyer.

Many of those who reached the decks of the vessel suffered broken bones or were otherwise hurt. Those who missed the deck of the destroyer went to almost instant death.

Four times the battered destroyer came alongside and each time the previous scenes were repeated. At the end of the fourth trip she had 310 Americans, 236 of the crew, 30 French sailors and one British officer on board. The boat was full, and, having done all possible, she started for port.

The survivors saw the Otranto drifting helplessly towards the rocks as they pulled away toward the Irish coast. The destroyer barely had time to send a brief message when her wireless was carried away. The little overloaded vessel had a rough trip to port.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

THE LOCAL MARKET

Although the Thanksgiving market is supposed to equal that of Christmas, the inclement weather had a great effect on the local market this morning, and an attendance not exceeding that of former Saturdays was present. No more produce than is offered on other Saturdays was in evidence, and the majority of the prices remained firm. Poultry was much in evidence, especially ducks and geese. Some very choice fowls were offered. Chickens, dressed, retailed from 29c to 33c per pound, while ducks brought from 28 to 30 cents. Geese sold for 25 and 28 cents per pound and from $1.75 to $3 each. Turkeys brought 32c and 35c. Hay and oats remained firm in price and scarce in quantity, hay especially. There was no great change in the prices of vegetables or fruits. Apples were steady in price and slow in demand. Potatoes went up in price 10 cents per bushel, and retailed for $1.40 to $1.60.

WALL STREET REVIEW.

New York, Oct. 12.—On a very pronounced expansion of operations the stock market this week underwent further readjustment of quoted values as a result of the foreign military and political developments.

The cleavage between so-called war shares and those most likely to be strengthened by the collapse of the central powers became more marked, shippings, oils and utilities gaining from 3 to 15 points, while "war brides" reacted in some instances to minimum prices of the year.

Rails preserved an even balance, evincing neglect until the latter days of the week, when transcontinentals, grangers, colliers and low-prices Western and Southwestern issues jumped suddenly forward at gains of 2 to 5 points.

Despite the previous week's enormous expansion of local bank loans, due primarily to Liberty Loan requirements, traders in the more mercurial specialties again had little difficulty in obtaining accommodations for the furtherance of their bullish commitments.

The only direct reflection of the impressive advices from abroad was seen in the continued decline of exchange on virtually all neutral countries. Remittances to France also eased on cessation of the recent inquiry for bills on Paris.

Railroad and industrial conditions indicated a slight halt, although earnings of the leading transportation systems were in keeping with the very favorable returns for August.

General mercantile conditions were reported as quite satisfactory, shipments of textiles thus far this month exceeding the large volume of the corresponding month last year.

Barley—$1@1.05, new crop, outside for malting.

Montreal, Oct. 11.—At the present level there was a better demand from local dealers here today for cash oats, and a fair amount of business was done, with sales of some fair-sized lots of extra No. 1 feed oats. Spot prices remained unchanged.

There was an improved demand for American corn for shipment from Chicago, and quite a few cars of sample corn were sold.

Oats—Extra No. 1 feed, 93c.

WEEKLY HIGH COURT

Two Cases Before Mr. Justice Kelly Today.

Two cases were heard in the weekly high court this morning, with Hon. Mr. Justice Kelly presiding.

Judgment was reserved in the application for the construction of the will of Duncan Macpherson, late of Delaware Township, the question being whether Dan Macpherson, a brother of the deceased, is entitled to all of the estate, or whether he has unlimited power to appoint those among whom the estate shall be distributed. P. H. Bartlett for the motion, and F. P. Betts for the official guardian.

M. P. McDonagh, acting for the administrator of the estate of William Calcott, was given leave to register a caution after the expiration of three years. This action was taken under the statute which preserves the administrator's rights regarding any debts against the estate.

CAPT. D. C. MACGREGOR REPORTS FOR SERVICE

Rev. Dr. Grant Will Occupy St. Andrew's Pulpit Sunday.

Having donned uniform as a result of being appointed to the chaplaincy service, the minister of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church has reported today at Toronto for duty as Capt. (Rev.) D. C. MacGregor. He left for Toronto Friday evening. Considering that Capt. MacGregor has been appointed through the recommendation of the national service commission of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, it is especially fitting that the pulpit of St. Andrew's is to be occupied on Sunday at the morning service by Rev. Dr. A. S. Grant, chairman of the national service commission, which was formed at the last meeting of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in St. Andrew's Church, this city, in June. The commission has been appointed to deal with all matters affecting the military in relation to the Presbyterian Church, such as the chaplain service, returned men, etc. Dr. Grant, one of the best-known men in the Presbyterian Church, is always associated in the minds of the public with the Yukon, where he had a hospital.

INTERNED ALIEN'S WIFE OFFERS U.S. ARMY HOME REMEDY TO FIGHT "FLU"

Says Plan Successfully Used in Incipient Stage.

A German woman, wife of an interned alien, is reported to have provided the best treatment yet for the fighting of influenza in its incipient stage. It is said that the authorities at Camp Sherman, in the United States, where 691 soldiers had died of the disease up to Thursday, are taking it up. In suggesting this home remedy, she told the authorities that it had been successfully used in Germany to combat outbreaks of a similar nature. The authorities also announce that the same woman in question has tried repeatedly to join the United States army nursing staff, but was barred because of her husband's position. Her cure is:

Take a steaming cup of parsley tea and go to bed for one hour. Get under three blankets with a hot brick at the feet, and one at the right hip. In the time set, a thorough sweat should result. A hot bath and then an alcohol rub should follow. Repeat this 3 or 4 days, and it will stop the disease in its incipient stage, she says.

BRANTFORD, Oct. 11.—Word was received here today of the death in action of Lieut. Allan Gray, prominent young Burford man. Lieut. Gray enlisted in the British Columbia Horse at Vancouver.

Ten others were added today to Brantford's toll of wounded.

Life Insurance Fills the Breach

With the cost of living advancing, it is very difficult for even the cautious spender to save much during each year, and it is sometimes difficult to invest that little at a rate of interest that is remunerative, if the investment is secure. And savings accounts grow too slowly to be of great account in the case of your death.

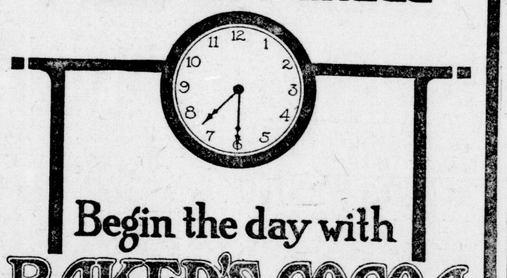

It is into this breach that life insurance comes as an aid to the man who desires to save a little, and at the same time protect his family from want in case of his death.

You may ask why we urge life insurance; it is because it creates the habit of saving; it insures the protection of widows and orphans; it means a lesser number of helpless persons left to the mercy of a meagre charity; it means fewer children forced to labor for hire at an age when they should be in school; it means a greater interest in the home; it means a better citizenship.

Died of Starvation
Many a Belgian mother could have these words engraved on her child's gravestone—"Died of Starvation".
Perhaps the child has wasted away with Consumption, or has been twisted into a mockery of happy childhood by Rickets, but starvation is at the root of the tragedy.
What else can be expected for a growing child whose daily ration is the bowl of soup and two pieces of bread provided by the United States loans to the Belgian Government?
The only hope for the destitute children of Belgium is that we who can afford three meals a day will be moved to pity and send help immediately. Even a small contribution will help to take some child, sinking under its load of trouble, over to Holland, where with good milk, nutritious food, medical care and loving treatment, he or she may regain health, strength and the wish to live.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

SUGGESTS INDIGNATION MEETING.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

What would the boy think, over in France, re German newspaper, of a Government like this, to try and bring Germany over here, and set it in the midst of us. Surely it must be a German trick. It never can be English. I should think the best way would be for the people of London to form into a body and march to the market square and exchange a few views about the matter.

Our boys are there shedding their blood to get free of such tyranny, and the best that we can do is to try and put the likes of this down. Yours respectfully, F. WATTS.

London, Ont., Oct. 10, 1918.

THAT GERMAN NEWSPAPER.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

Regarding your editorial of protest re the German newspaper in Kitchener, what was the use of changing the name of Berlin to Kitchener? Some more of Germany's "white flag tricks." If they have been here long enough to be earning their living in Canadian factories, then the English language is surely good enough for them to read.

Are all our internment camps full? Isn't there room for the ones that would (in the face of the things that the Germans are doing) have nerve enough to ask such a thing or any M. P. to grant it?

In Ford City, not long ago, the Roman Catholics asked to have the French language taught before English in their schools. The Government wouldn't allow it. Far better French than the dreadful Hun language.

What a lovely time they would have publishing anything they liked in German. Wouldn't we all be safe, for, of course, they wouldn't publish anything that they shouldn't? A German wouldn't.

Why should we trust a German—one of the kaiser's own people? What are our men at the front for? I say, take the men out of the Government who are Germany enough at heart to grant such a thing, and put the right kind there. A soldier's wife.

MRS. ALICE LINDSAY.

TORONTO FAT STOCK SHOW.

Every show a better one is the slogan of the Toronto Fat Stock Show, and the 1918 Show promises to be no exception. The sale which follows the show is attended by buyers from all over the continent, and each year the prices paid are better than previous. There is always a demand for choice meat at Christmas time, and farmers are realizing the big advantage of marketing their stock this way. b

Thanksgiving, 1918

We reach another season when a wise proclamation calls to our mind the opportunity and duty of giving thanks for our many privileges of life which so many others in this world have not been permitted to enjoy. We feel that we have much here in Canada to be thankful for, while the prospects of an early peace promise still greater and better things for us.

Let us enjoy Monday in reflective gratitude and peaceful contemplation.

MANY WERE TRAINED BY MAJOR JOHNSON, KILLED IN ACTION

One of the Best-Known, Popular and Efficient of Officers.

The announcement that Major Andrew Johnson has been killed in action in France. recalls the fact that he wat prominent and exceedingly popular in local military circles for a number of years before the outbreak of war, having also many warm friends among the civilian population.

Trained Many Officers.

Formerly quartermaster-sergeant instructor of the R. C. R. here, the majority of the senior officers from No. 1 Military District who are serving overseas at the present time received their instruction from him. During the first year of the war his time was largely occupied with giving instruction to officers' training classes. In March, 1915, he received his commission and was attached to the 33rd Battalion, C. E. F., with the rank of lieutenant, and appointed as assistant adjutant. His ability and efficiency were invaluable in getting the unit into good shape, and he was popular alike with officers and men, as he had been with the regulars in the days before the war.

Went Over With Perths.

Subsequently he was transferred to the 70th Battalion as adjutant with the rank of captain. When the 110th (Perth) Battalion was raised he was made junior major of the unit, going overseas in this capacity. Another promotion came in England, when he was appointed senior major of the 156th Battalion, commanded by Lieut.-Col. C. M. R. Graham. When the 5th division was broken up he reverted to the rank of captain in order to get to France, and was posted to the 38th Battalion in command of A Company last March.

Served In South Africa.

Born in Hamilton, Ont., "Andy" Johnson, as he was known to his many friends and associates, entered the R. C. R. at Halifax in 1901.

After the close of the South African war he was transferred to Toronto, where he was stationed until 1910, marrying to 1906, Alice Simpkin, daughter of Sergt.-Major Simpkin, of the Royal Canadian Dragoons, In 1907 he was transferred to Wolseley Barracks, coming here as a drill sergeant, and was a quartermaster-sergeant instructor at the time of the outbreak of war.

Major Johnson was prominent in Masonic circles, and belonged also to the Foresters. He was a member of the Church of England.

Since the 110th went overseas, Mrs. Johnson, with her daughter Margaret, their only child, has been living in the home of her father in Toronto. Previous to leaving London Major and Mrs. Johnson made their home at 676 William street. Major Johnson was widely known throughout No. 1 Military District.

LONDON LIBERALS RE-ELECT MR. ROBSON TO THE PRESIDENCY

Arthur Sippi Becomes First Vice-President by Acclamation.

EXECUTIVE NOMINEES

Twenty-Two Names Up For Contest Four Weeks Hence.

Andrew Robson was re-elected president of the Liberal Club at a meeting last evening in Hyman Hall. There will be a keen contest for the executive from now until election, four weeks' hence. There are twelve members to be elected to this body and twenty-two have been nominated. All have agreed to stand, and as the majority are keen and enthusiastic members of the club, it is expected the contest will be the best in recent years.

Mr. Sippi Re-Elected.

Arthur Sippi, a former president of the club, was rewarded for his good work in the club's interest by an acclamation to the position of first vice-president. Peter Cameron and Capt. Harry Greenlees will contest the second vice-presidency.

Alex. F. Tytler is a true and tried secretary, and the meeting decided he could not be improved upon. He was returned unopposed with his chief, Mr. Bobson. Charles Ferguson and William Boyd will battle for the honors of handling the club's funds in the office of treasurer.

President-elect Robson thanked the members for re-electing him to the presidency. He predicted an excellent year for the club, and urged all to get out and get new members.

The Nominations.

The nominations for the executive are: J. S. Brown, John Webber, Chas. Oliver, N. Wanless, G. E. Perry, Wm. Lawrence, R. Scott, John Wilson, Capt. H. Greenlees, Chas. Keene, John McAlpine, Percy Hooper, D. A. Graham, Stewart Seymour, Harold Bailey, Jos. Russell, Scott Murray, Thomas Nickel, Hugh McAlpine, John Lamey, Henry Jenkins, Guy Andrews, James McNaughton and Fred Pace.

The elections will take place on November 8 and 9. Mr. McIntosh will act as returning officer.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY SECURES MR. McARTHUR

The London and Middlesex Historical Society has secured Peter McArthur, the well-known Canadian writer, as the speaker for its opening meeting of the season which will be held on Tuesday evening, October 22, in the Normal School auditorium. Mr. McArthur will take as his subject, "The History of the Future—the History of the Common Man," and in a letter to the president of the Historical Society he explains the subject by saying: "The new world was established by commen men, the pioneers, and now the world is being set to rights by armies of common men." The meeting will be open, free to the public, as are all meetings of the society, which has an attractive program ready for the season. At the November meeting Dr. James H. Coyne of St. Thomas will speak on "The Early Exploration of Southern Ontario," and at the December meeting Mr. J. D. Barnett of the Western University library will speak on "The Books Written by the Returned Exiles of 1837."

To Every City Comes Its 'NOW' and This Is London's "NOW-TIME"

FOR cities, as for men, there comes a time when Opportunity knocks—yes, and presses against the door.

If the moment is seized and turned to account, that city takes on new growth, flourishes and becomes a bigger and a better place to live in, trade in, bring up families in and own an interest in.

London's golden opportunity comes with the soon-to-be-expected winning of the war, and the demobilization of scores of thousands of men at this military centre.

This city will have first chance to secure these men as citizens and copartners in its future development, but to do so will require that an active, capable and public-spirited body of earnest men GET ON THE JOB.

Such a body will be the reorganized Board of Trade, with every interest represented on its membership and having the power to speak for the entire community.

You will want to have a share in this long-needed surge forward. Membership will cost you only $25 yearly, and you will be asked to pledge for three years' membership. Is LONDON worth that to you?
