EFFORTS FAIL TO FORM NEW GERMAN CABINET

FOX BROTHERS OF THIS CITY EACH GET THIRD OF ESTATE VALUED AT SOME MILLIONS

Brother Maurice, Known in New York As "King of the Vanilla Beans" Died Suddenly Without a Will—Sister in U. S. Will Get Portion.

The death of Maurice Fox, known as "King of the Vanilla Beans" in New York City, and rated there as worth several millions, makes Thomas and Joseph Fox, pawnbrokers in this city, and brothers of the deceased, heirs to his fortune, along with a sister, Mrs. Fannie Langdon, of New York City.

The death occurred on February 7, 1919, at the island of Guadeloupe, French West Indies, where the millionaire owned huge vanilla plantations, but Messrs. Atwater & Cruickshank, New York City, the law firm in charge of the deceased's estate, have only just communicated with the brothers here, it now having been ascertained that the late Mr. Fox died without a will, and hence his estate must revert to the next of kin. The two brothers, Thomas and Joseph Fox, leave the city for New York tomorrow night.

Never Married.

Maurice Fox, who never married, went to the West Indies in 1880, and soon became the owner of vanilla bean plantations which increased in magnitude with the years, until he had amassed a great fortune and practically ran the island of Guadeloupe, where he lived six months of the year at Bassee Terre. The other six months he spent at the Netherlands Hotel, New York City, being known everywhere as the "King of the Vanilla Beans."

Thanked by President.

During the war, he proved his patriotism to France by loaning a fort to the French Government and permitting 10,000 soldiers to train on his land in Guadeloupe. For this, he received special thanks from the President of France.

The deceased was a man of but 56 years of age, and apparently in the best of health. He left New York two weeks before his death perfectly well, only to die shortly after his arrival in Guadeloupe by the bursting of a blood vessel. His money is largely deposited in the Lincoln Safety Deposit Company, New York City.

Thomas and Joseph Fox leave for New York tomorrow night and possibly will be there some weeks in regard to the settlement of the estate. Martin Fox, jeweler at Grand Rapids, Mich., and son of Thomas Fox, is in London to attend to his father's business during his absence.

Quite Excited.

Both Thomas Fox and Mrs. Fox are naturally very much excited over the golden windfall, although they are today still on the job in their little shop on Clarence street and Mr. Fox, in spite of his nervous manner, is able to make the shrewd calculations of the business man that he is. Indeed, so loath was he to leave his business with no one at the helm, when the settlement of the estate called him to New York, that his son Martin, in Grand Rapids, was besieged with telegrams on the day the news of the legacy arrived, asking him to come to London at once.

Canny!

In the shop on King street, belonging to Joseph Fox, an undercurrent of excitment also prevails, although Mr. Fox and his children put off congratulations with the excuse that "Oh, it may possibly not come to anything after all. We're not going to lay ourselves open for agents trying to sell us a Rolls-Royce or the Custom House just because we've got a letter from a New York lawyer," declared the son of the house.

SIX MORE ALIENS OF WINNIPEG ARE PUT UNDER ARREST

Members of R. N. W. M. P. Carry Out Action Quietly.

ARE HELD IN ONTARIO

Men Are Held in Detention in Penitentiary in This Province.

Winnipeg, June 21.—There were six more arrests yesterday of Winnipeg men charged with seditious conspiracy. The men gathered in were all of the alien class and said to be active agitators. The names were not disclosed last night.

The arrests were made by members of the Royal Northwest Mounted Police, who carried them out as quietly and effectively as on Tuesday morning, when ten of the strike leaders were taken into custody and conveyed to Stony Mountain penitentiary.

The aliens arrested yesterday were sent to a penitentiary in Ontario, pending arrangements for their trial.

It was officially stated last night that there was every possibility of the six English-speaking strike leaders released from Stony Mountain penitentiary on bail being tried on June 25, as arranged.

STRIKE LEADERS TO GET FAIR TRIAL BY JURY, SAYS MINISTER

Winnipeg, June 21.—The minister of labor, Hon. Gideon D. Robertson, smiled when shown the report from Toronto that the trades and labor council was demanding his resignation because of the alleged proposed summary trial of Winnipeg strike leaders taken into custody Tuesday morning. The minister remarked that they seem to be committing the offence they are taking exception to, and condemning without a trial at all.

"Jumping aliens without evidence or knowledge of the facts has led to many wrong conclusions," he said.

"There is no intention of denying the accused a fair trial by jury, and if found guilty the immigration authorities will deal with the question of deportation. Say to labor men that when the trials are held, they, together with the general public, will be placed in possession of evidence and facts that will cause every honest Canadian citizen to experience the indignation felt by Winnipeg citizens, who suddenly found themselves under the rule of a soviet government lasting about four days."

C. P. R. CARMEN TO RETURN TO WORK ON MONDAY MORNING

Winnipeg, June 21.—Canadian Pacific Railway officials have been verbally notified that the striking carmen will return to work on Monday, whether or not the sympathetic strike is called off by that time, it was announced by a prominent railwayman last night. The reason given is that they consider the chief point at issue, the principle of collective bargaining has been conceded to the metal trades workers. It was also announced that the Canadian Pacific Railway freight handlers are anxious to return. They have asked the company for a statement of the terms on which they will be taken back. In the reply, it is pointed out that the returned soldiers who were engaged for duty when the freight handlers quit their jobs will be kept on permanently if they care to stay with the company.

RETURNED MEN OF WINNIPEG PLAN A "SILENT PARADE"

Winnipeg, June 21.—Plans for a "silent parade" this afternoon of returned soldiers sympathetic to the strike, announced at a meeting in the market square last night, has led to the re-publication of Mayor Charles F. Gray's proclamation forbidding all street parades during the continuance of the strike. The demonstration is scheduled for 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

A call was made at the meeting for the disbandment of the Winnipeg citizens' committee, and this was accompanied by a demand that the convention in the board of trade building be thrown open to meetings of the returned men. More street cars were in operation today and officials state that with the men engaged today the park line may be added to the lines on which service is being given.

VICTORIA METAL WORKERS VOTE IN FAVOR OF STRIKE

Victoria, B. C., June 21.—The metal trades council last night voted in favor of a sympathetic strike with Winnipeg, and at 10 o'clock Monday morning nearly 5,000 workers will be called upon to drop their tools in local industries, chiefly shipbuilding.

The metal trades unions, in their vote on a general strike here, favored a walkout by a small majority, but their influence on the strike committee was not sufficient to bring about the calling of a general strike, when the matter was taken up by that body last Tuesday. Since then matters have been working to a climax, and the men sent their shop stewards to the metal trades council with practically a demand that it call a strike.

LONGSHOREMEN WILL JOIN SYMPATHY STRIKE

Victoria, B. C., June 21.—At a meeting of local longshoremen held last night, it was decided to call a strike in sympathy with the coastwise seamen and the mainland longshoremen. As a result of this decision all work has been stopped and the longshoremen are taking a self-inflicted rest. The action of the longshoremen will not materially be felt here until the end of the month, when a number of ocean liners are due to make this port.

STRIKE NEARING AN END.

Winnipeg, June 21.—T. J. Murray, solicitor for the trades and labor council, in an interview last night, said:

"The progress being made now will probably result in the strike being called off early next week. Negotiations have been opened between the metal trades employers and employees which may result in an understanding tomorrow (Saturday)."

Mr. Murray added that Mr. Winning, president of the trades and labor council, was "exerting every energy towards bringing about an agreement between the metal trades employers and employees."

BRITISH PREMIER HAS BAD ATTACK OF SORE THROAT

Unable To Attend Yesterday's Session of the Supreme Council.

GERMAN GOVT. FAILS TO PICK NEW CABINET

Various Factions Are Unable To Agree On Members.

EFFORT POSTPONED

Dr. Eduard David Is Entrusted With Responsibility.

Berlin, June 20.—After futile all-day conferences with the various factions, the Government this evening declared itself unabe to pick a new Cabinet, and decided to postpone the effort for 48 hours.

MAJORITY SOCIALIST LEADER CALLED UPON TO FORM A CABINET

Paris, June 21. — President Ebert has requested Herman Mueller, Majority Socialist leader, to form a new German Cabinet, according to advices received by peace delegates.

The opposition attitude of the Democrats and German Nationalists on the question of the treaty will probably exclude Count von Brockdorff-Rantzau and Count von Bernstorff from the Government.

Urges Speedy Signing.

The German provincial press is strongly urging the speedy signing of the treaty.

Berlin advices summarizing the situation in Germany up to midnight show the sentiment throughout virtually all Germany to be in favor of accepting the peace terms. The advices cover Leipzig, Dresden, Chemnitz and other representative regions.

Geographically analyzed, the advices indicate that the Southern German states are all favorable to the acceptance of the treaty, while the Prussian regions are maintaining some opposition.

THEODORE WOLFF DECLARES TREATY WILL BE SIGNED

Berlin, June 21.—Theodore Wolff, editor-in-chief of the Tageblatt, has telephoned that newspaper from Weimar that those in favor of signing the treaty are so active and numerous among the Majority Socialists and the Clericals that a peremptory refusal to sign the terms is hardly possible. Members of the National Assembly who take this stand, Herr Wolff says, are being given active support by several Majority Socialist members of the cabinet, who are now openly urging the appointment of Mathias Erzberger to head the new cabinet.

Herr Wolff states that the solution now being sought will be in the nature of a compromise.

PEACE CONFERENCE EXPERTS CONSIDER NEW GERMAN NOTE

Paris, June 21.—The council of four of the peace conference, received a note today from the German peace delegation asking if Premier Clemenceau's note, explaining the reparations clauses of the peace treaty was a binding part of the treaty and having the same force as the treaty itself.

The council, at its meeting, considered this note, calling in its experts on the question. Baron Sonnino, the Italian foreign minister, was present.

According to a Berlin dispatch Friday night, the German note to the peace conference cites twelve instances in which the covering note of the Allied reply to the German announced concessions which are not contained in the altered text of the peace treaty. The Allies are asked, the dispatch adds, how far they bind themselves in these concessions, and written confirmation is required that the contents of the covering note and the memorandum on these points form part of the new peace offer.

ERZBERGER SEEKS MODIFICATION OF THE PEACE TERMS

Berlin, June 21.—Mathias Erzberger, mentioned as probable head of the new German peace delegation, is reported to have sent a note to Premier Clemenceau, as president of the peace conference, asking whether the Allies will agree to the immediate admission of Germany to the league of nations.

Herr Erzberger also desires to know if the powers will consent to the limitation of Germany's indemnity to 100 billion gold marks and renounce their effort to have former Emperor William surrendered.

The note says neither that Germany will sign or will not sign the peace treaty, but the inference seems clear that she would accept the treaty if these concessions were made.

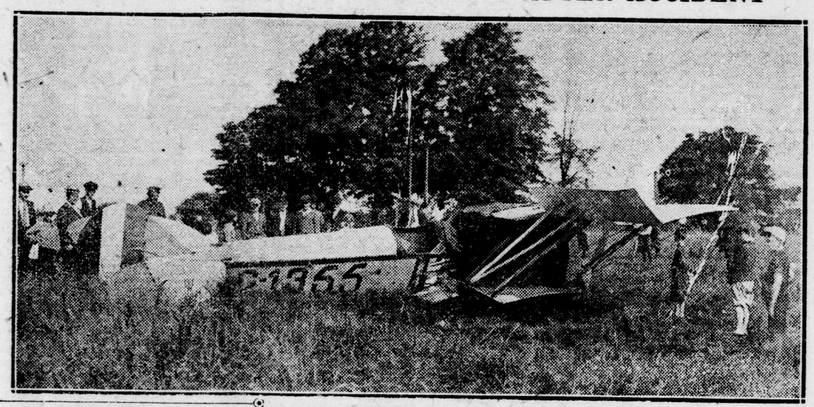

It is known that difficulty is being experienced in securing a majority without the German demands for the formation of a government, and the conditions named by Herr Erzberger are those upon which the demands would would re-enter the majority bloc.

The Centre party has declared that it desired similar concessions, but its position as to this has not been regarded as an unshakable one.

DR. EDUARD DAVID ASKED TO ORGANIZE GERMAN CABINET

Paris, June 21.—Dispatches received over the American military wire into Germany early this afternoon stated that Herr Mueller, having failed to form a cabinet, Dr. Eduard David, former president of the National Assembly, had been asked to assume the task.

GRIEF-STRICKEN MOTHER BEARS UP FOR SAKE OF OTHER CHILDREN

Mrs. Jones Terribly Shocked by Her Son's Tragic Death.

PAYS TRIBUTE TO HIM

Was Ideal Son and First Thought Was Always For Her.

"Whatever will I do, now that my boy has gone from me! I don't know how I am going to be able to bear it." It was the only moan which escaped the lips of Mrs. J. B. Jones of 193 Langarth street, the stricken mother of Flight Lieutenant Arthur Borden Jones, this forenoon as she talked for some time to an Advertiser reported about the accident last night which was responsible for the loss of the life of her gallant young son.

Surrounded by her daughters she was attempting to get a little rest, reclining on a davenport. But there could be no rest with such a heavy load on the heart, such a consciousness of severe bereavement. "I have dozed off," she said, "but the awakening is so terrible that I feel it is better for me not to sleep," she said.

His First Accident.

Then she spoke of her boy, her second son, who had served his country for almost four years, enlisting on Jan. 19th, 1916, serving in India, German East Africa, Egypt and England. Going overseas with the mechanical transports, he met with a painful accident which severely injured the calf of his leg. He subsequently transferred to the R. A. F., obtaining his commission in Egypt. His first airplane accident was after he had returned to civilian life, the fatal accident of last night.

About four weeks ago he returned home from overseas, and in a couple of weeks went to work at the Ford garage. Deciding to purchase an airplane for service as a taxi, he went to Toronto

INFLUENZA CAUSED DEATHS OF ALL MEN IN LABRADOR VILLAGE

St. John, Nfld., June 21.—An official investigation of the influenza epidemic in Labrador, where several villages are reported to have lost a majority of inhabitants, was ordered today upon receipt by Archibald Piccot, minister without portfolio, in the Newfoundland cabinet, of messages detailing the ravages of the disease.

The information was to the effect that all men in the village of Okak had died of the disease, and that only 60 women and children had survived. Many of the bodies were devoured by dogs because there was no one to bury them. At Hebron only five women and seven men survived.

STATE OF SIEGE IS DECLARED IN MUNSTER AREA

Drastic Measures Taken Because of Spartacan Disturbances.

Coblenz, June 21.—A state of siege has been declared in the district of Munster, in Westphalia, northeast of Cologne, because of Spartacan disturbances, according to information reaching American headquarters here. General Von Watter, commanding the German 7th Corps, with headquarters at Munster, has appointed General Von Brauschitch to be military commander of the Munster district.

Paris, June 21.—The striking coal miners returned to work everywhere in France this morning owing to the adoption by Parliament of a durafeur bill, applying the eight-hour day to the coal mining industry.

ARRIVES AT VATICAN.

EX-MINISTER WILL BE ASKED TO FORM ITALIAN CABINET

Francesco Nitti To Replace Premier Orlando, Is Expectation.

Rome, Friday, June 20.—As a result of interviews between King Victor Emmanuel and political leaders it is expected that Francisco Nitti, former minister of finance, will form a new cabinet to succeed that of Premier Orlando, which resigned on Thursday.

Francesco Saverelo Nitti, one of Italy's most noted statesmen and economists, has been active in Italian governmental affairs for many years, and has held portfolios in two cabinets. He was opposed to Orlando's Adriatic policy. Nitti was born July 18, 1868, at Melfi, Italy. He was graduated in law and became professor of financial sciences and financial law at the University of Naples, his present home. During the war, Signor Nitti represented his Government in the allied conferences at Paris, and before his resignation from the Orlando ministry he was suggested as a member of the peace conference.

WESTMAN SAYS LT. JONES TRIED TO CLIMB FAST;

Air Resistance Too Light For It, Causing Fatal Accident.

PILOT'S BELT FASTENED

No Better Aviator in the Country, Declares His Companion.

Frank Westman, 148 Grey street, is confined to his bed as a result of the accident at Lorne Heights to the aeroplane in which he and Lieut. A. B. Jones, 193 Langarth street, who was killed, were flying. Three ribs are broken and he has numerous cuts and bruises, but when interviewed by an Advertiser reporter this morning, he was not the least excited, and was able to smoke. He is expecting a speedy recovery, and is anxious to make another flight as soon as possible.

Frank Westman.

"We were about 125 feet in the air," declared Mr. Westman to The Advertiser. "Jones tried to climb too quickly. He did a vertical bank, but banked too much. This occurred in a good many accident cases. The resistance of the air was so poor when we were in this position that the machine stalled. As the engine was the heaviest part of the machine, and as it was in the front of the plane, the bus turned nose downward and shot for the ground.

Tried to Right It.

"Immediately I loosed my belt and placed my knees on the highest place in the cabin I could get. I was prepared for the crash. As soon as it came, I shot clear of the machine. Jones did not unfasten his belt. I think he was trying to make the machine rise again. He didn't have the height, though. If he had been 500 feet above the ground we could have risen again.

"When the machine struck the ground, Jones was thrown forward, but the belt that was fastened about him held him from going far. On account of this, his head was flung forward like a whiplash, and his face crashed against the dash.

"Before the flight was made the machine was examined and found to be in A1 condition. Jones was feeling good, too. He had just eaten his supper. There was no better aviator in the country. It was a trial trip. We were intending to fly over the town for about five minutes and then return.

Like Lot of Indians.

"After landing, I walked about 40 rods. The people who were there when we fell were running around like a lot of Indians. They didn't seem to know what to do.

"They wanted to take me to the hospital in the police patrol, but I said, 'No, thanks,' the old Chalmers is good enough for me.

"This is my nineteenth trip. The next time I go up, I'm going to drive my own machine, so that if I fall, I can tell everyone exactly how it happened.

"Crossing the road from Merwin Heights we just cleared a poplar tree. Jones looked around at me as much as to say, 'How are you coming, old scout.' He was a careful driver and was not in the habit of doing many stunts.

"We were going to fly down near Hunt's dam and return. I thought that he was headed that way."

PARLIAMENT TO BE ASKED TO PASS BILL AT PRESENT SESSION

New Classification Under Civil Service Act May Soon Become Effective.

Ottawa, June 21.—"It is the intention to ask Parliament during the present session to pass the proposed amendments to the civil service act bringing into effect at once the new classification of the civil service," said the Hon. A. K. MacLean, in answer to an inquiry as to whether there was any truth in the report that the classification was to be laid over until next session.

Mr. MacLean further pointed out that the classification was based upon the duties and responsibilities of the various employees in the service as indicated on the classification cards sent out last August and September, and that it was, therefore, very desirable to have it put into effect as soon as possible, because if it were laid over until next year much of the information upon which it was based would no longer be accurate because of changed conditions in the service.

He also said that the proposed amendments to the civil service act provided machinery by which changes in the classification could be easily made without waiting for another session of Parliament.

POPE RECEIVES REPORT.

Rome, June 21.—Pope Benedict has received a satisfactory report concerning the negotiations conducted in Paris by Mgr. Cerretti, papal under-secretary of state, who has succeeded in his efforts to insure that properties belonging to German missionaries in the German colonies assigned to Great Britain, France and Japan shall not be given to non-Catholic communities.

Flight Lieut. Jones Dies in St. Joseph's Hospital From Injuries — Frank Westman, His Mechanic, Is Severely Injured.

After having gone through four years of glorious service in all parts of the Empire, Lieut. A. B. Jones, 193 Langarth street, lost his life in an accident at Lorne Heights at 8:45 o'clock Friday night, when he attempted his first local flight after bringing home his Curtiss airplane, which he purchased in Toronto. Frank Westman, 143 Grey street, who was acting in the capacity of his mechanic while on this flight, was seriously injured, having three ribs broken, a cut above the eyes, a cut on the leg and a gash on the knee. Lieut. Jones never regained consciousness, dying in St. Joseph's Hospital at 11:45 o'clock. His jaw and nose were broken, one eye smashed and the other seriously injured. Hemorrhages of the brain was the immediate cause of death.

Loose Control.

In the afternoon the young aviator started his flight from Toronto with his newly-purchased machine. En route here he and his mechanic, an expert from Toronto, encountered the rain storm which broke in this district about 6 o'clock. They were forced to fly high above the storm, and despite this difficulty arrived safe on Merwin Heights. Seven o'clock was the time of their arrival. The mechanic immediately began to overhaul the machine, and by 8:45 p.m. Jones and his London friend were ready for the trip. Before ascending the flyer remarked that the control was a little loose.

After leaving the ground the 'plane made two circles in order to gain height. It was scarcely above the tall trees in the vicinity when it crossed Oxford street near the farm of George Belcher, which is opposite Lorne Heights. Spectators noticed the machine make two spirals, and then nose dive, crashing into the bog near a barn on the heights, directly across from Mr. Belcher's house.

Fatal Dip.

One hundred and fifty feet in height had been attained when the dip was taken. The propeller buried itself in the earth, and the 'plane using the nose as a pivot, turned over, right side up, after the crash.

The radiator was smashed, as also was the shield. The planes were clipped and the tail planes were bent slightly. The right hand side of the tail plane was partially buried, thus preventing the joy-stick from being used by anyone who was there after the fall.

Entangled in Wreckage.

Jones was entangled in the wreckage, but Westman was clear of the wreck when the plane fell. Immediately Jones was taken to the Belcher farm. The police ambulance and a number of doctors were summoned. Drs. W. J. Stevenson and H. A. Stevenson attended the pilot, while Dr. D. H. Arnott attended the other occupant. They were both taken to St. Joseph's Hospital, but Westman pluckily stated that he was not seriously injured and would sooner be removed to his home. His wish was complied with. He was driven home in his auto, chatting all the way and making light of his injuries. After being attended by his doctor he sat for more than an hour chatting with hisneighbors.

Prior to making flight Westman had been joking with some of the bystanders. "Who are you going to will your car to?" asked one. "I'll let you take care of it," he replied.

To Harry Ashley, a returned airman, who is his neighbor, Mr. Westman declared that before they took the dip the dead aviator turned about in his seat and glanced at him. His eyes were rolling, he said, and his head dropped on his right shoulder. Westman did not think much of the way in which his head was, as this was the natural position to prepare for a right bank. Mr. Ashley and George Trudell, another friend, will salvage the machine. Westman intends to fly again as soon as he recovers.

Hemorrhages Cause Death.

Soon after Jones was put to bed no hope was held out for his recovery, as he began to take hemorrhages of the brain, which were said to have been caused by the rupture of some blood vessels. He lived but two hours and 45 minutes after entering the hospital. His mother was called to see him, but he was unconscious.

Say Machine Hit Barn.

Some witnesses say that the machine struck the barn on Lorne Heights, but the majority discredit this story. Shortly after the accident happened there were quite a number of people on the spot. The two wings of the machine were spattered with blood.

First Private-Owned.

When he had made a few flights in this district Lieut. Jones had intended carrying on an aerial taxi service. Harry Ashley of Grey street was to have made a flight with Frank Weston. The latter had been talking about flying for some time and is still eager to go up.

This machine, which is numbered C-1635, was the first private-owned one in London.

Under many skies, including India, England, German East Africa and Egypt, Lieut. Jones had flown without any serious mishap.

Coroner Robert Ferguson viewed the body of Lieut Jones and decided that an inquest was unnecessary.

GET TOGETHER ONLY SOLUTION TO FINISH INDUSTRIAL UNREST

WESTERN CONDITIONS

"The chamber of commerce exists to create in the minds of the citizens a recognition of their responsibility as citizens to the community and to give citizens a chance to exercise their citizenship in service to the community."

This was the definition given last night by Howard Strong, managing secretary of the Rochester Chamber of Commerce, of the new organization which is replacing boards of trade in cities and towns all over the United States and in Western Ontario, an organization which has as its objective not merely the furthering of industrial and commercial prosperity of a community, but promoting the welfare of the community as a whole and the highest interests of the citizens therein. His address was the outstanding feature of the open air "get together" meeting of the chamber of commerce, held Friday evening at the Springbank Park pavilion.

Howard Strong was in a position to know thoroughly what he was talking about in dealing with such a subject. He was, indeed, one of the pioneers in the United States in the movement to give to communities new standards of citizenship and to suggest as the machinery for exercise of the citizenship of responsibility a re-organized, enlarged board of trade, animated by an ideal of service.

Basis of Citizenship.

Declaring that the basis of citizenship must be service; that no man has the right to enjoy the full benefits of citizenship unless he does his part in giving equal opportunity to every individual citizen in the town, and that the real product of community organization is not material expansion, but the giving to the members a broader conception of their responsibility to the community. Mr. Strong dwelt at some length upon the manner in which the City of Rochester is creating a better understanding between capital and labor, employers and employees.

Western Conditions.

Lucidly explaining the conditions in both American and Canadian Northwest which have led up to such a demonstration as the Winnipeg strike, the speaker declared: "The man who insists upon maintaining conditions as they were before the war is primarily responsible for the spread of violent and destructive agitation. The man who recognizes that there may be wrong on both sides is the man who is going to help to bring industrial peace.

"In Minneapolis, which has two Bolshevist newspapers, and only came 500 votes short of re-electing for mayor a rabid Socialist, a pro-German and a pacifist, the manufacturers, employers and distributors of grain and farm products have refused to recognize anything wrong with their methods. The same thing has been the trouble in Winnipeg, employers in one group, employed in another, each group throwing mud at one another, and continually making the fence between them wider and more insurmountable.

"In Rochester we have both groups sitting on the same fence. True, the legs of one group are dangling on one side, and the legs of the other group on the other side. But here and there the fence has given way, and eventually the weight of the two groups will break down under them, and they will find themselves sitting side by side in the same lot. Rochester is one of the cities not having much concern over labor unrest, one of the cities enjoying comparative industrial peace."

Rochester's Achievement.

As a concrete example of what has been achieved in Rochester through bringing capital and labor together, the case was cited of the clothing trade. Each side was formerly the most unbending in the country, but, through making concessions on each side, the two are now in perfect harmony. The employers have conceded a 44-hour week, high wages and the right to make collective bargains.

The employees, on their side, have conceded the open shop, and are urging stimulation of production as opposed to the restricted production for which they formerly stood. Each employer is further engaging a labor man as advocate for the workmen, in the same capacity in the firm as the attorney is in the state. Electrical, building, shoe, and even retail lines, are getting together as employers and employees on working out agreements.

Only Solution.

"The only solution for industrial unrest is some form of getting together," insisted Mr. Strong. So far as "collective bargaining" is concerned, he held that it has come to stay.

Further, with regard to the industrial unrest of the present, Mr. Strong illustrated as follows the only successful method of bringing about peace and amity:

"During the big Minnesota fire, when I was in Minneapolis," he said, "I went up with a relief train which was hurrying supplies to the fire sufferers. I saw that wall of prairie fire sweeping down over the country. What were the people doing to cope with it? Were they standing out calling it names and protesting against it? Were they hurling things at it? They were blowing up their buildings with dynamite and removing by back-fire that which would furnish food for the prairie's wall of flame.

"You can't do anything by trying to suppress the present labor unrest movement. You can't ignore it, talk at it, or throw things at it. The only way to meet the situation is by doing what those Minnesota people did in the fire district, remove by back-fire the cause of discontent. Sacrifice, if necessary, your dearest privileges and most precious prejudices. The answer to the present industrial problem goes back 2,000 years. We call it democracy today. Two thousand years ago it was called 'brotherhood.'

"Isaiah," he said in conclusion, "was the original city promoter, who foreshadowed the modern chamber of commerce, or rather, chamber of citizenship, with the ideal of service. Isaiah, who said, 'Go through, go through the gates; prepare ye the way of the people; cast up, cast up the highway; gather out the stones; lift up a standard for the people.'"

C. of C. Picnic.

Though the storm doubtless kept many members away, there was a good attendance at the "picnic meeting," women members turning out especially well, while several of the men brought along their wives or daughters. Several secretaries of Western Ontario boards of trade and chambers of commerce were present as guests.

E. R. Dennis presided in a happy manner, and in addition to the address by Mr. Strong, a lively program of music, dancing and readings was presented by the Brunswick Male Trio, the McCarthy Juvenile Pipe Band, and Miss Sybil Higman, reader.

The program opened with a parade around the pavilion of the pipe band, led by J. Ballantyne. According to the Scotch managing secretary of the chamber of commerce, the skirl of the pipes being interpreted represented the Highland rallying number, "Cock o' the North."

J. Ballantyne of the Brunswick Trio was heard in solos and in lively violin numbers, as well as with the Messrs. Spence in trio numbers. Master Charlie McCarthy played an enjoyable cornet solo, revealing his versatility in playing the pipes as well as for the Scottish dancing. Miss Higman gave a recitation which met an enthusiastic reception.

Following the p rogram refreshments were served and a happy social hour spent.

President G. M. Reid announced that $1,000 of the $1,500 required for oiling the Springbank road had been obtained and that the work will be started on Monday next. George Wenige announced the big bicycle meet and sports to be held in the city on Dominion Day.

Bill's Pet Corn Is Best Old Weather Indicator Extant

No Thermometer or Barometer Needed Where It Is.

"Say, I wouldn't give up that corn on the little toe of my left foot for all the thermometers you could buy me," said the Poet Bill this forenoon, limping into the editorial rooms.

"No, sir," said Bill, "the thermometers, even that big one you got down stairs, can lie till they are black in the face, but that corn of mine, she never deceives me. She's right on the job, aching to knock you cross-eyed, every time it's going to rain.

"See the way I'm all crippled up now? Well, mark my words, she'll be thunderin' and lightnin' and pourin' down rain before noon, as sure as I'm the son of a prophet, Ouch. Tell me the thermometer has all went and cleared up, and that old corn of mine carrying on the way it is? Barometer you say? What's that? Well, ain't theremometer the same thing? If it ain't, what's the difference? One word's good as another so far as I'm concerned. Take 'em or leave 'em, that's my way of doin' things, and thermometer will do me all right.

Quite Useless.

"What do I need one for anyway? Can't I tell I'm hot the way I'm feelin' and isn't that corn all the prophet I need to say when there's goin' to be a storm?

"Yesterday mornin', I come in for my breakfast groanin' and limpin'. 'What's the matter?'', says the old girl, "Have you hurt yourself?" "No says I," it's that blasted corn of mine. See if we don't have rain before night, sure as you're standin' there."

"Didn't I tell you Did you see the way the sky got black out to the north? There's one thing about travelin' on trains the way I do. You learn a terrible lot. Say, I never saw a storm act so peculiar as that one done last night. Seems like the clouds went any way they pleased, no order or system about 'em. One comes along top of a field and says 'We'll spill the buckets right down here.' And believe me the places the buckets spilled it done hundreds of dollars worth of good.

Real Variations.

"It seemed like it acted different at every station. One you'd come to it was dry as an old maid, and before you'd get half way to the next the fields was swimmin' and the concession for maybe one or two, runnin' like rivers.

"Up in our little hot old town we got some storm, believe me. Off she goes, thunderin', lightnin', spillin' down the rain. But we didn't care. 'Let her bust,' says I, 'what does it matter if it leaves the air all nice and cool like steppin' into a freezerator?'"

Baker Family Has Big Annual Picnic at Springbank Park

In spite of intense heat and dusty roads, upwards of 140 members and friends of the Baker family gathered from Winnipeg, Toronto, Niagara Falls, St. Thomas, London and the surrounding community at Springbank Park on Wednesday to enjoy together their 21st annual picnic.

From the youngest member present, Master Lorne James May, aged three months, to the oldest, David Bogue, who celebrated his 75th birthday on June 11, all considered the picnic a splendid success.

The only member present of the original family of ten children, who came with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Baker, from Cornwall, England, in the summer of 1847, was Thomas Baker of Yarmouth, who celebrates his 75th birthday on July 25.

After dinner sports were carried out with the following results:

Boys, under 15—Lawrence Baker, Stewart Baker.

Young men—Leo Baker, Ainley Baker, Roy Baker.

Thread and needle race—Mrs. Russel Allin, Miss Mabel Jones, Mrs. Russel Hart.

These were followed by an address of welcome from the retiring president, Thomas Baker Jun., who regretted the absence of some members through illness.

The election of officers for 1920 resulted as follows: Honorary president, Thomas Baker, St. Thomas; president, W. M. Baker, Littlewood; secretary-treasurer, F. B. Kilbourne, London. Sports committee: All re-elected, with J. Facey as chairman and the following added: Frank Baker, Lawrence Baker, Cyril Williams and Richard Baker.

After much discussion and voting it was decided to hold the picnic next year at Springbank Park.

Promises To Handle the Chief Justice "Without Gloves"

H. Hartley Dewart Will Have Something To Say On Recent Probe.

"When a man steps down from the bench and takes off his judicial robe to deal with public affairs in a partisan way for a partisan government, he must expect to be treated as an ordinary commoner; and when I deal with Mr. Meredith I shall endeavor to handle him without gloves, just as he deserves to be handled."

This was the statement made by H. Hartley Dewart, K.C., last evening, in commenting before a meeting of the Liberals of Southwest Toronto, upon Chief Justice Sir William Meredith's conduct of the investigation into the charges brought by him against the provincial license department. Mr. Dewart said that he was not prepared to go into the details of this matter until he had secured the report rendered by his lordship as chairman of the royal commission, but having received that report he would have a great deal to say with reference to the way in which he had handled witnesses, and found against facts.

RECORD BERRY-PICKING.

KILWORTH, June 20.—A splendid day's work was done at the farm of G. A. Wickerson of Kilworth Thursday, when 1,200 boxes of strawberries were picked from the patch by eleven grown-ups and four children.

Mrs. E. Dorman had 155 boxes to her credit at the end of the day. This is claimed to be a record.

The Golden Melon Melody

(To the Tune That Nero Fiddled.)

Dividends seventy-two per cent,
The profit system is best,—
Best for us share-holding gentlemen,
The devil take all the rest.

Dividends seventy-two per cent,
Let them rail about profiteers;
Their railing keeps not their clinking gold
From pleasing our well-tuned ears.

Dividends seventy-two per cent,
Mind not that howl in the west;
'Tis but the cub of a Russian wolf
Astray from his filthy nest.

Dividends seventy-two per cent,
What does that wild dreamer say?
"The glory of God, and the people's good,"
What market value have they?

JOSEPH RUDDY, ONE OF CITY'S PIONEERS, DIES AT HOSPITAL

Was Born in Quebec Citadel in 1833.

SERVED IN THE CRIMEA

And Was Wounded by Shell At the Battle of Sebastopol.

The death of Joseph Ruddy, a pioneer resident of this city, occurred at St. Joseph's Hospital last night, after a brief illness following a paralytic stroke.

He was born in the citadel at Quebec in 1833, his father being a 21-year soldier attached to the garrison in the old fortress. Later, when the Ruddy family moved to Kingston, he accompanied his parents, and a trip was made from Kingston to Port Stanley by boat. The journey from the lakeside to London was made by ox team, and the Ruddy family took up residence in the old barracks here in 1843, which stood on the present site of Victoria Park, and was surrounded by a stump fence.

Crimean Veteran.

Mr. Ruddy's father died in 1847, and his mother in 1848. He then enlisted in the 100th Regiment at Hamilton and served in the army for five years, at Malta, Gibraltar and in India. He was a veteran of the Crimean war, and was in reserve at the battle of Sebastopol, where he was wounded by a shell. Following his discharge from the service in 1856, Mr. Ruddy returned to Canada, where he worked as a carpenter since that time.

In 86th Year.

He was a member of the old city volunteer fire department, and was well known by pioneers of the Forest City. At the time of his death Mr. Ruddy was in his 86th year, and in addition to his widow is survived by one brother in West Virginia, a sister in Kansas City, six sons and three daughters: Samuel and Robert Henry of Buffalo; William and Joseph, of Courtland, Ohio; Albert, of Cleveland, Ohio; James of this city; Mrs. William Mercer of Kinley, Sask.; Mrs. Alfred Watson of Georgetown, Ont., and Mrs. Conrad Weisenbach of Buffalo.

Funeral Private.

The funeral, which is to be private, will be held from the N. J. Griffith undertaking parlors on Monday at 4 p.m., with services at 3:30. Interment will be made at Mount Pleasant Cemetery. Rev. J. N. Norton of Maitland Street Baptist Church, will officiate at the funeral services.

Remanded For Week On Charge of Being Indecent

Frank Bergeron Served With First Canadians in France.

After evidence had been heard at police court Friday morning against Frank Bergeron, 797 Hamilton road, the charge against him was enlarged from that of disorderly conduct to one of committing an indecent act in public.

Bergeron, who is a returned soldier, who served with the first Canadian division in France for four and a half years, was remanded for a week. He was arrested Thursday at Queen's Park at noon by P. C. Fish, who watched the prisoner's indecent actions, he testified, which Bergeron committed when two young girls passed near him on the street. B. McLeod, caretaker at Queen's Park, corroborated the testimony of the policeman.

ROSY CHEEKS AND GOOD HEALTH

When a girl—or a woman—finds her color fading, when her cheeks and lips grow pale, and she gets short of breath easily and her heart palpitates after the slightest exertion, or under the least excitement, it means that she is suffering from anaemia—thin, watery blood. Headache and backache frequently accompany this condition, and nervousness is often present.

The remedy for this condition is to build up the blood, and for this purpose there is no medicine that can equal Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They build up and renew the blood, bring brightness to the eyes, color to the cheeks and a general feeling of renewed health and energy. The only other treatment needed is plenty of sunlight, moderate exercise and good, plain food. The girl or woman who gives this treatment a fair trial will soon find herself enjoying perfect health. Mrs. Hiram Shook, R. R. No. 1, Lyndhurst, says: "I cannot speak too highly of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, for I believe they saved my daughter's life. She was in a terribly run down condition, pale, wan, and despondent, and people who saw her considered her in a decline. The doctor who treated her did not help her any, and then I decided to give her Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. This decision proved a wise one, for before six boxes were used she was much better. I got six more boxes and before they were gone she was in the best of health. When she began the use of the pills she weighed only 90 pounds, and under their use her weight increased to 127 pounds. I strongly urge all mothers of weak girls to give them Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills from any dealer in medicine, or by mail postpaid at 50c a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

FLOOD SWEEPS IN CELLARS; DAMAGE IS REPORTED AS HEAVY

Merchants On Richmond and Dundas Suffer.

When the heavens were opened and the floods descended upon London about 6 o'clock Friday afternoon, there were numbers of Dundas and Richmond street merchants who, profiting by previous experiences in amateur cloudbursts, dashed for their cellars and basements to salvage stock stored therein, while the salvaging was good. Pretty soon, like the first bird sent by Noah out of the Ark, there was going to be no dry spot on which to rest a foot.

Many employers and members of their staffs were kept busy until midnight cleaning up the wreckage and accumulation of sewage which rushed in. Today they are counting the cost.

People conducting business in basement quarters suffered the greatest inconvenience. Some time ago a little restaurant was opened in the basement at 336 Richmond street (near York), below a barber shop.

When the storm broke, a patron comfortably perched up on a high stool beside the lunch counter, while Mrs. Evans, who with her husband, runs the restaurant and a couple of assistants were making final preparations for the evening meal rush.

They Bolted.

About the time a young Niagara Falls started to caper down the stairway, and a sewage spout gushed up through the traps in kitchen and dining-room and sinks "back-watered." The patron took one frenzied glance at the billows rolling up on the floor and made a mad dash for the top of the earth. Meantime Mrs. Evans and her assistants climbed on the high-topped counter to await developments.

The financial loss was estimated today at about $100 in addition to the fact that no meals could possibly be served until this morning.

C. H. Ward & Co., jewelers, have good reason to be "knights of the rueful countenance" this morning. The basement floor of concrete, laid about a year ago, is completely ruined, wood work in the basement show room has been damaged, a couple of grandfather clocks which stood there are considerably the worse for their soaking, and other stock none the better for the water which swirled about to a depth of eighteen or twenty inches.

The Laugh Changed.

Mr. Ward was standing in the front entrance of his store laughing at a man trying to crank his car in the downpour, when he was informed that things had happened suddenly in his own cellar.

Hurrying down, he found the concrete floor heaving up in great chunks, the cracks helping to carry off the water.

Today the floor has settled back, but it will be necessary to replace it. The damages will be at least $500, it is said.

Mr. Johnstone, of Johnstone & Johnstone, milliners, was in Bayfield last night, returning home this morning, to find that the storm had played hob with millinery supplies stored in the basement of his store on Dundas street. "I haven't had the heart to look at it carefully," he stated to The Advertiser this forenoon. "I lost a good amount in a similar storm some years ago, and these doesn't seem to be any redress."

A barber shaving a customer in a basement shop stuck to his razor and finished the job. The customer got out with wet feet, but the barber, remaining behind, was obliged to perch up in a chair for a considerable length of time until the water subsided to some extent.

Learned a Lesson.

One Dundas street grocer stated that after losing $600 or $700 in the July storm three years ago, he has taken good care to have supplies placed on racks above storm level.

Much criticism was directed today by merchants at the inadequacy of the storm sewers on the main streets. "They should be three or four times as large," declared one man, who was numbered among the sufferers Friday. Attention was drawn by two or three Dundas street merchants to the smallness of the sewer manhole on the north side between Richmond and Clarence. "It simply won't carry the water away, even in an ordinarily heavy rain," they said. One stated he had frequently poked it out himself, while another complained that there never seemed to be a street employee within reach to do the job.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

A SLIP OF THE PEN.

To the Editor of the Advertiser:

Please permit me to make a slight correction in the two last sentences of my reply to Mr. John Rowland, which appeared in your issue of yesterday. Through a mere slip of the pen and which I did not notice until after the copy had been given to the Advertiser, I wrote: "Is God then less helpless in his universe than the earthly mechanic is with his machine? I trow not." The expression "less helpless" should read "more helpless," etc., which is the conclusion I intended.

The letter as published is free from typographical errors and for which care I thank the Advertiser, as well as the editor, for the insertions.

Yours respectfully,
D. STEWART.

WEDDING BELLS

LEE—CORY.

A very quiet wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Cory, 23 Redan street, when their second daughter, Lillian, was united in marriage to Stanley H. Lee, 819 Lovett street, this city, Rev. Mr. McKinley of Hyatt Avenue Methodist Church, officiating. The bride was assisted by her sister, Miss Cora Cory, and the groom was supported by Jack Cory, brother of the bride. Among the many presents received was a beautiful mahogany parlor chair from Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Drake, and a mahogany parlor table from the Wm. Gerry Manufacturing Company and employees. After a short honeymoon trip, Mr. and Mrs. Lee will reside at 848 Lovett street.

SMALLMAN & INGRAM LIMITED

The Jones Family Goes on a Vacation

Getting Ready

And, of course, the eternal question came up, "What shall we take?"

"I'm going to take fishing tackle, tennis racket, and bathing suit. The fishing is good on the pier now," announced Bob Jones.

"Aren't you going to have any room in your bag for some clothes?" asked his mother, anxiously.

"Oh, yes; I s'pose I'll take an outing shirt and an old suit of clothes to knock around in!" replied that young man, comfortably.

"Well, Bob Jones, if you're going to look like a tramp," exclaimed his sister; but her mother hastily interrupted.

"Let's all go shopping up to Smallman and Ingram's this afternoon and get this clothes question settled," she suggested."

That evening they compared notes.

Pa Jones spoke up first. "Say, I went into Smallman's to get a pair of socks," he said, "and do you know, they've got a regular man's store there! Why, before I came out I'd bought my whole outfit there, even to this Palm Beach suit, mighty cool looking and feelin', too, if I do say it.

"That fellow who said he wondered if Palm Beach Suits would not be as cool if they fit, never saw Smallman & Ingram's suits. They're tailored right."

Ma Jones held up a lovely dark voile dress—one of those splashy figured designs that are so smart just now. "Doesn't it make you cool just to look at it?" she asked, "and doesn't this pattern look for all the world like a georgette? Besides, it saves laundry. And I got a couple of white wash suits—Smallman's have such pretty ones—I didn't know there were so many styles in the world. How do you like those cute rompers I bought for baby They are as cool as a dish of ice cream, and he can crawl around in the sand to his heart's content. They are easily tubbed. Oh, yes, and I got a Thermos outfit for the car, you know. It keeps food and drink as cool, sweet and fresh as if it were in the icebox at home."

Sister Dorothy held up a handful of dainty embroidered things. "Look at these smocks—aren't they adorable? I got some heavy ones in blue and rose for morning wear, and these light voile ones, with the embroidered roses on the collar and cuffs for afternoon wear and—

"Have patience, Dad. How do you think this bathing suit looks. It's a real Annette Kellerman."

"It looks as if it were made for real swimming instead of parading up and down the beach," observed her father.

"Exactly—they are freedom itself when it comes to swimming. Oh, and I got a bathing cap, with birds on, to go with it."

"With birds, Dorothy?" exclaimed her mother. "Why, I thought there was a law—"

"Oh, rubber birds, mother. See, there's a bird on each side of the cap."

"That reminds me that I got a bathing suit for Susie, too, 6-year-old size. I didn't think you could get them so small, but they have them at Smallman's—the cutest things, too."

"I suppose you'll expect me to teach Sue to do the overarm stroke and a high dive?" laughed Pa Jones.

Just then Bob Jones burst in, his arms full of bundles.

"There's the greatest bunch of glad rags that ever you set your eyes on!" he said, joyfully.

"Why, I thought you said you were going to take only an outing shirt and the oldest suit you had?" exclaimed his sister.

"Did I? Oh, well; when I saw the bully line of togs they had down at Smallman's, I had to get some. Besides when a fellow has been in khaki for a couple of years he wants to splash some," he added in self-vindication.

Then he proceeded to scatter paper and string all over the place, and displayed before their startled gaze:

1 pink shirt.	1 purple tie.
1 yellow shirt.	1 candy striped tie
1 green shirt.	10 pairs socks, all
1 white shirt.	colors.
1 bathing suit.	1 pair of white
1 dozen handkerchiefs, with noisy borders.	trousers.
	1 beach robe—striped.

"Say, young man, what do you think you are—the rainbow division?" asked his father, when he had recovered his breath.

"Well, anyhow, he can't wear them all at once," said his sister, hysterically.

"Well, I think they're fine, Bob," said his mother, comfortingly, "and I know the young men are going in strong for color this summer."

"Look at the new electric toaster and iron, drinking cups, aluminum cooking dishes, fry pans, double boilers, saucepans, strong drinking glasses; you could throw them down the hill," said Mrs. Jones.

"Well, it seems as if you can get about everything you want at Smallman's, from hard soap to Palm Beach suits," exclaimed father.

The Start.

"Glad that luggage is smash-proof," observed Pa Jones as he beheld one of the Jones' suitcases being handled in the usual "treat 'em rough" manner by the baggageman.

"Yes, that's a genuine goatskin case—and it cost only $10.50 at SMALLMAN & INGRAM'S," observed Ma Jones complacently.

"Talking bargains again?" grunted Bob. "Say, Sis, did you stop at SMALLMAN & INGRAM'S and get those magazines I told you to? I've got to kill a couple of hours on this train, you know—and the billboards change their subject too often to make interesting reading."

"Yes, Bob; here's 'Snappy Stories' and 'Life'—and, mother, I brought you the 'Ladies' Home Journal'—Dad, here's the 'Saturday Evening Post'—and I got 'Cosmopolitan' for myself."

"Guess that clerk at SMALLMAN & INGRAM'S wondered where you were going to open up a news stand," said Pa Jones.

Baby Jones looked aggrieved—no one had thought of him—until Ma Jones produced a box of chocolates—the pure, delicious, wholesome kind that even babies can eat.

There was a heartrending howl from the baggage car, where Ichabod Crane Jones was traveling in solitary confinement.

And so—the Jones were off!

The Arrival.

"Hickory Hutch" was in ship shape when the Jones arrived.

Here were all the comforts and joys of home—all fresh and new from the Biggest store in London. Cool-looking Crex rugs were on the floors, and defied you to kick them up. A roomy davenport swung invitingly on the porch. Out in the kitchen an oil cooker spoke of a cool kitchen and deliciously cooked food in the future, and the table looked mighty pretty with its Japanese tablecloth covered with bluebirds and its bluebird china to match. Out on the porch shades let in the coolness and kept out the heat. And everything everywhere bore the stamp of SMALLMAN & INGRAM quality.

"Say, it seems great to have some sofa pillows a fellow can sit on instead of those fluffy, for-show-only kinds we have in the city," observed Bob as he made himself comfortable on the porch.

"Oh, forget the 79c—if you women-folks mention another bargain while we're here, I'll throw one of these 79c pillows at you," growled Bob savagely.

Just then Mrs. Jones appeared on the porch with iced lemonade which looked doubly tempting in the long slender glasses.

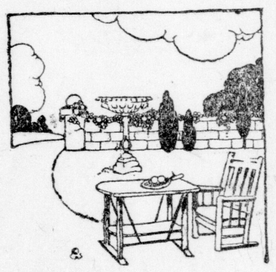

"What pretty glasses, mother," exclaimed Sue. "Where did you get them?"

"Well, here's to July the Thirst," said Pa Jones, as he raised his glass.

"Great furniture this," said Bob, nodding approvingly at the porch furniture, "What's its name?"

"Rustic Hickory," answered his mother. "It's made from hickory saplings—straight, sturdy, pliable young trees. The bark is not removed from the framework of this furniture, so that it comes to us with the odor of the forest."

"Good for you, ma; you've learned your lesson well," laughed Bob, "more SMALLMAN & INGRAM'S goods, I suppose.

Then, "Say, ma, when do we eat?"

Next Day.

Next day saw the Jones' hard at the business of having a good time. A motoring trip had been arranged for the morning and Mrs. Jones had packed their thermos basket chock full of "eats" for their noonday lunch.

"That's a good-looking hat, Ma, observed Pa, as Mrs. Jones donned a soft tan sateen hat with a stunning veil to match.

"Yes, and the nice thing about it is that the crown is big enough not to muss my hair all up as many of the motor hats do. And there are straps to hold the veil in place instead of letting it fly like a flag of truce in the wind. Smallman & Ingram's just got them in."

Bob was at the wheel. "Bright idea, Sis, to get these goggles for me, with the side guards; they're the best yet and so light I hardly know I have them on. Suppose I could use them to advantage on the tennis court, too, when the sun is too dazzling."

"Yes, although they don't add much to your fatal beauty, Bob," teased his sister. "And it isn't the sun, but those lurid shirts that are ruining your eyes," she taunted.

"Well, they are no more lurid than your what-you-call-'ems-smocks," he retorted.

Miss Susie Jones settled herself contentedly in the car. She had reason to feel contented, for she was looking her prettiest. She wore one of those new leather coats that are being sold on Second Floor, a rich dark brown with trench buckle belt and roomy pockets. ("To think one could get so much style for $55.00"), she whispered to herself. And her hat—it was one of those jaunty jockey-like affairs with a protecting peak and one of those dashing wide meshed Shetland veils to go with it.

Pretty soon they came to an ideal spot for picnicking—one of those glades where the grass is like velvet and the birds form a concealed orchestra in the trees. Ma Jones spread a bungalow table cloth on the ground—of course you've seen them.

They are white cotton, with colored border to make them look summery, and are only $2.00. Great favorites with cottages, and even city folks are using them since linen got so high. Then she spread it with paper plates and paper napkins, pretty little affairs with flowers printed on them. "Thank goodness, there'll be no dishes to wash," she said as she set the table. And such treasures as the Thermos Refrigerator Basket brought forth. Captain Kidd wasn't in it. Wee weiners for roasting over the open fire—all cold and fresh—thanks to the thermos kit; boxes of delicious crackers, steaming hot coffee from the thermos bottle, ice-cold Ship-A-Hey, that new lime drink that is so thirst-quenching, big fat olives, and even steaming hot baked beans from the thermos food jars.

Bob, his new canoe, brand new canoe cushions—the best Smallman & Ingram's had in stock, and Miss Sylvia Morton went canoeing. It's hard to tell which Bob was most proud of—the canoe, the cushions or the girl.

Sister Susie went to test the new Annette Kellerman and found it more than came up to specifications. Never had she enjoyed swimming more than she did in that comfy, freedom-giving, elastic-like suit. They had a game of cork-ball. Ever play it? Try it some time—lot of fun.

Pa Jones went a-fishing, and of course he caught a great many fish. They always do on summer vacations, you know. And besides, he couldn't help it with that splendid outfit.

As for Ma Jones, she decided to just sit on that cool, comfortable porch and rest—her idea of resting being embroidering a new dress for Baby Jones And perhaps, woman-like, she enjoyed the embroidering all the more, because she had gotten the dress at a bargain. It was one of those Royal Society Packages that SMALLMAN & INGRAM'S are selling.

Out in the yard Baby Jones was having the time of his young life, and yet was perfectly safe in his play pen, which as you may know, is a sort of white enamelled fence, covering an area big enough to give Baby lots of freedom, yet high enough to prevent him climbing over and getting into mischief. At the bottom was a soft quilt, dust colored on one side so that the dirt wouldn't show where it came in contact with the ground, and covering of Gay Mother Goose figures on the other side, which Baby loved to talk to in a language all his own. Baby Jones was happy and healthy—thanks to being outdoors a great deal and to the play pen which was as good as a nurse for taking care of him.

Not far off, on faithful guard, was Ichabod Crane, dozing in that "treezy, beezy hum" of summer-time.

A little later Sister Susie Jones came tripping and dripping in. "Oh, mother, I've had oceans of fun playing water ball, but I'm so sun-burned. Where's that sunburn and freckle lotion you got at SMALLMAN & INGRAM'S? A coat of tan may be stylish, but it's mighty uncomfortable in the making. Thank you—how cooling—the man who made that ought to have a place in the Hall of Fame. What do you call it—Almond Cream Witchhazel?"

Not long after Pa Jones came in with—well, it's no use telling how many—for all summer fish stories sound alike. He was beaming with that wonderful contentment, that comes from just sitting and fishing—whether you get a bite or not—Isaac Walton himself could not have looked happier.

"Why, Pa, you look as if you'd been to hear a wonderful opera or speech or something full of inspiration," remarked his daughter.

"Mostly perspiration," laughed her father. "Say, Ma, I'm mighty glad you thought of getting those large linen handkerchiefs. I did not think you would be able.

And so the Joneses began a very happy and health-giving vacation. And it would be only just to say that SMALLMAN & INGRAM'S, the Big Store back in town, had considerable to do with their comfort and pleasure. May we help to make YOUR vacation pleasant, too?

Motor Speed Limits Have Not Been Enforced in City

Police Say Those Summoned Went 25 Miles, at Least—New Regulations Monday.

Motor drivers are gleeful today because on Monday, June 23, the speed limit of 20 miles per hour within the limits of towns and cities and 25 miles per hour in the country, comes into effect.

City police say that the new speed regulations which raises the lawful rate of speed at which motor cars may be driven five miles all round, will not affect motorists in the city to any great extent, since the 15-mile law has not been strictly enforced, and of 50 motorists who have appeared in police court within the past two months charged with exceeding speed limits, in no case was the charge made as being less than 25 miles per hour.

Sometimes Warned.

Drivers of cars, they say, have sometimes been warned, but never brought to court for driving faster than 15 miles but less than 20, or even 25 miles per hour within the city limits.

The new regulations are in accordance with amendments made at the last session of the Ontario Legislature to the Ontario Motor Vehicles Act, which introduced a clause in the speed regulations calling for a speed of ten miles per hour within city and town limits and 12½ miles per hour in the country, where drivers are unable to clearly see traffic, such as at road intersections and sharp turns.

Drivers convicted of reckless driving, whatever the speed may be, are made liable under the amended act to a fine not in excess of $50 for first offence, or imprisonment of one week, or both; $100 fine or one month's imprisonment or both, for second offence, and six months in jail without the option of paying a fine for third-time offenders who are convicted.

Some Refused.

Further amendments to the act provide that noise mufflers must be used on all cars, and that mirrors shall be affixed to the front of all commercial cars, allowing the driver to see clearly the road behind his vehicle.

Amendments which were proposed but which were defeated, asked for a provision to the act, stating that no drivers of cars might be convicted for speeding on the evidence of only single witness, and that speeders be proved to have exceeded the rate of speed set by the community, for a distance in excess of a quarter of a mile.

Freight Train Piled Up On G. T. R. East of Paris

Wreck Caused by Washout—None of Crew Injured.

A freight train derailment on the main Grand Trunk line at Junction Cut this morning, east of Paris, delayed trains from the east to this city.

The derailment is thought to be due to a washout caused by yesterday's downpour of rain. Cars in train No. 490 running from Sarnia to eastern points, were piled along the track when the train struck the weakened section of the line. None of the crew was injured.

Montreal to Chicago train, No. 13, due here at 12:10 today, arrived one hour and twenty minutes late, and the Toronto to London mail train, No. 11, due here at 11:40 a.m., was delayed one hour. The derailment necessitated the routing of these trains to this city via Hamilton.

FOUR MINOR CASES; TWO MAGISTRATES

Only four offenders appeared in police court this morning and it required two magistrates presiding at different courts to dispose of the cases.

At 9 o'clock Magistrate A. H. M. Graydon fined two drunks charged with being in the streets in an intoxicated condition, $10 and costs, and then left the city for Toronto.

The deputy magistrate dismissed the two with costs of the case.

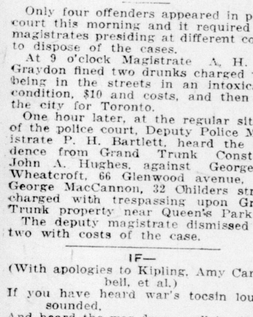

IF—

(With apologies to Kipling, Amy Campbell, et al.)

If you have heard war's tocsin loudly sounded,
And heard the war drums roll in '14,
If you have jumped into the battle's forefront
And been dragged out a poor, crooked-up "has been,"
If you have seen your comrades die for Britain,
Blessing the flag with their last short-drawn breath,
If you have borne them broken, wounded, bleeding,
Where shells and shrapnel hurled a red-hot death,
If you have put them on the train for Blighty,
Praying that surgeons' skill would bring them through,
If you have had those fervent prayers God granted,
And heard with joy from comrades tried and true,
If you, at last, have reached the dear old home town,
Hoping to meet them with a cheery hall,
But you have found the O.N.T. A. has clutched them,
Cast them like felons in a common jail;
If you vote "No" to have that act rescinded,
Breaking their spirits 'neath a tyrant's rod,
Can you still claim to be a true-born Briton?
And—which is more—what will you say to God?

—Fred Young.

LOCAL NEWS

Tomorrow will be flower Sunday in the First Methodist Church. The Rev. James MacKay of New St. James' will preach on "The Flowers of the Field" in the morning. At 3 p.m., a Sunday school mass meeting will be addressed by Mr. W. E. Saunders. At night, the Rev. Dr. Peever (pastor) will preach on "The Joysomeness of Work." The church will be decorated for the day.

RUSH OF EMIGRANTS.—Never before have such numbers of Londoners booked passage for Europe. All passages up till September have been reserved, and each day in the neighborhood of 50 persons enter the local ticket offices, seeking reservations.

GARDEN PARTY TUESDAY.—A large garden party is to be held on Tuesday evening at the Quebec street School ground. All the organizations of St. Matthew's Church are working together to make this a great success. There is to be a band in attendance.

FRANK OLDFIELD AT DUNDAS CENTRE.—Frank Oldfield, noted Toronto baritone concert singer, will be a feature at Flower Sunday in Dundas Centre Methodist Church tomorrow. Mr. Oldfield will contribute numbers at the three services. The Sunday school is celebrating "Flower Sunday."

THE LONGEST DAY.—Today, June 21, is the longest day in the year. The workingman reaps the benefit this year, as, falling on Saturday, the majority are making a half holiday of the long day. However, it is not the hottest day of the year, and everyone seems satisfied.

BEAUTY SPOT BECOMES EYESORE.—The Utilities Commission has maintained during the current spring and summer what was until recently a flower garden on the west side of the Hydro Shop. Now that the tulips have shed their petals and foliage, however, the plot consists only of a miniature forest of slim stalks with a thin growth of underbrush composed of weeds. The result is not pleasing to the eye to say the least of it.

PUPILS' RECITAL.—An interesting recital was given on Thursday evening by the piano pupils of Miss Charis, at her residence, 343 Maitland street. The following took part in the program: Irvin Donaghy, Lilly Bacon, Jack Kingsnorth, Alma Gillett, Alice Howard, Wilbur Keeneyside, Freda Ford, Jimmie Burns, Doris Anderson, Florence Johnson, Mary Moore, Helen Walton, Gladys Brown and Florence Wilkinson. The pupils were assisted by Miss Gladys Burns, who gave two pleasing vocal numbers.

POSTMEN HAVE 44-HOUR WEEK.—Local postmen now work but 44 hours a week, their demand for these hours having been granted by the Dominion Government. The order came into effect on June 1. All the year round the men will enjoy a half holiday on Saturday afternoon. General and postal stations will close at 1 o'clock on Saturday afternoon with the exception of the stamp wickets, general delivery and registration wickets. Outgoing mails will be dispatched on Saturday afternoon as usual. About 25 postmen here are affected by this order.

PRIVATE RECITAL.—A number of the piano pupils of Miss Ethel Haines were heard in a most enjoyable recital at her home, 461 York street, on Friday evening. The following pupils took part: Olive Little, Gladys Hardy, Mabel Stallard, Dora Chapman, Olive Dear, Winnifred Jones, Ella Haldane, Marjorie Boyce, Radience Smale, Eva Harris, Jennie Chapman, Emma Eyer, Beatrice Ollway, Vera Brown, Marjorie Curnoe, Lester Davis, Hubert Poulger, James Jones, George Harris, Kenneth Taylor. The vocal numbers given by Miss Lightfoot added much to the pleasure of the evening.

FLOWERS, BIRDS AND MUSIC.—Next Sunday will be a big day in Colborne Street Methodist Church. It being Flower Sunday, flowers, birds and music will be much in evidence. The children will sing, and a number of special features will be added. Flowers will be brought by everybody to the morning service, which will be distributed to the sick in the various institutions in the afternoon. Following the evening service, the Majestic Orchestra will give a sacred concert under the leadership of Joseph Tirri, which should be, as usual, a treat to lovers of good music.

S. C. R. HAS HOSPITAL.—With the permission of the Victoria Hospital trust, the Central Military Convalescent Hospital on Ottaway avenue has been taken over by the soldiers' civil reestablishment commission. This institution was formerly under the control of the Canadian Army Medical Corps, but some months ago, on the Western Ontario Military Hospital at Carling Heights being completed and opened for use, the convalescent soldiers were removed to the latter place. The hospital trust intended to again assume control of the Ottaway avenue building, but on hearing the request of the commission to be allowed to take charge of the building for one year commencing on May 15, the trust at its meeting on Friday afternoon gave its consent.

FINE RECITAL.—The eighth of the series of closing recitals being given by the London Conservatory at Conservatory Hall was given last evening by piano pupils of Miss Irene Burns, assisted by Miss Nettie Jones, vocal pupil of Miss Dorinda Abbott. Clear technique, good expression and a mental grasp of the composer's thought, characterized last evening's performance. Those whose names appeared on the program were as follows: Dora Chantler, Daisy Chantler, Blossom McIntosh, Helen McCormick, Ruby Brown, Armand Manness, Eleanor Willis, Verda Goodland, Barbara Campbell, Dorothy Willis, Anna Ormond, Gladys Downey, Francis Bycroft, Franklin Coombs, Evelyn Hardy, Harold Gray, Muriel Westland, Lillian Brady, Elizabeth Brown, Cecelia Lewis, Gladys Grierson, Ray Eden, Kathleen Gibson, Doris Thomas and Edna Barbour. Miss Jones possesses a voice of special promise, and last evening she gave her several numbers an artistic interpertation.

THREE ARE DROWNED

Motor Car Goes Over Dock at Haileybury.

Haileybury, June 21.—Cecil Eplett, aged 17, and Misses Louise, 19, and Alma Wyatt, 17, were drowned in 25 feet of water off the dock here when the automobile in which they were riding went over into Lake Temiscaming. Two other members of the party, George McMillan and Miss Gladys Kennedy, were rescued. Eplett, who was a cripple, was driving. The bodies have all been recovered.

STRUCK BY MOTOR, TWO YOUNG WOMEN ARE BADLY HURT

Attempting to cross Richmond street at Queen's avenue in front of a street car, Marie McPhail and Alma Scott were last night knocked down on the pavement and badly lacerated about the head by a taxicab pacing alongside the car.

According to information given by an eyewitness of the accident, the taxicab driver attempted to get past the street car before it came to a standstill at the corner. The injured girls, in getting out of the way of the approaching street car, stepped directly in front of the motor, and were thrown to the pavement. Both girls received a number of severe lacerations about the face and head.

The police motor ambulance was summoned, and the girls conveyed to the Y. W. C. A., King street, where Dr. F. W. Hughes attended them.

Both young women had recovered considerably today and are expected to be able to testify on Monday at the police station as to the taxi which struck them. The police are in possession of the name of the driver of the motor.

Both young women are boarders at the King street Y. W. C. A. Miss Scott's home is at Tillsonburg. Miss McPhail is a student at the Collegiate Institute here.

Inspector's Plans Are Meeting With Approval

Many Express Preference for House About $25.00.

Building Inspector A. M. Piper reports that about fifty people have taken advantage so far of the opportunity to view housing commission plans in the committee room of the city council chamber. Of this number by far the greater proportion expressed preference for a plan calling for a three-bedroom house in brick veneer, the estimated cost of which is about $2,500. Another plan which was popular was one of a cottage, for which a tender price of $2,000 was quoted.

Many Pleased.

Mr. Piper said that several of those who saw the plans definitely declared their intention to build from one or other of them as soon as the necessary arrangements for a loan from the commission could be made. He thinks that the prospects of being able to go ahead with the scheme are now brighter than they have been for some time, although he still holds the view that prices are entirely out of comparison with the ability of the average workingman to pay.

C. of C. Silent.

No word has yet been received from the Chamber of Commerce in reply to the invitation of the housing commission to the former body to meet the latter on Wednesday next for the purpose of discussing plans for the formation of a housing company. The commission hopes, however, that the Chamber of Commerce will arrange for some of its members to be present, and that something can be done toward bringing the tentative suggestion of the Chamber of Commerce further toward realization.

SINN FEIN LEADER IN UNITED STATES

Professor De Valera To Visit New York On Sunday.

New York, June 21.—Announcement was made here today that Professor Edward De Valera, president of the Irish Sinn Feinn republic, had landed in America and would be in New York City on Sunday. Apartments have been engaged for the Sinn Fein leader at the Waldorf-Astoria by De Valera's secretary.

De Valera left the British Isles sixteen days ago, according to Harry J. Boland, his secretary, and is now in seclusion in this country.

Returned Soldiers Who Broke Strike To Hold Positions

Bill To Empower Permanent Appointments Presented Today in Parliament.

Ottawa, June 21.—Hon. Mr. Rowell, in the House this morning, presented a bill to empower the permanent appointment of men taken on in the Winnipeg, Calgary and Saskatoon postoffices to replace strikers. Most of the men taken on, Mr Rowell said, were returned soldiers. It was not possible, if the public service were to be carried on, that the men should be asked to take the ordinary examination. There was no time for it. The object of the bill, therefore, was to authorize the civil service commission to appoint the men permanently who had been taken on temporarily, providing the postmaster certified they were efficient.

Following the proposal discussed at a meeting last night in market square of pro-strike returned soldiers to hold a "silent parade" this afternoon, in which women and children were to participate, Mayor Gray published the following proclamation this morning: "The proclamation issued by me some days ago must be strictly adhered to.

"It has been brought to my attention that a parade of men, women and children is proposed for today.

"I hereby reiterate my former proclamation, that there shall be no parades until the end of the strike.

"Any women taking part in a parade do so at their own risk."

DEATHS AND FUNERALS

TO HAVE MILITARY FUNERAL.

The funeral of Lieut. A. B. Jones, who died as a result of injuries sustained in an airplane accident last night will be of a military nature, and will be held from the George E. Logan Undertaking Parlors, Richmond street, on Monday afternoon, at 2.30 o'clock. Services will be conducted at 2 o'clock by Rev. W. L. Armitage, of St. James' Anglican Church. Interment will be made at Woodland Cemetery.

DIED SUDDENLY.

John S. Thompson, of 7 York street, aged 36 years, dropped dead shortly after 10 o'clock this morning in the warehouse of H. T. Reason & Co., York street, where he was employed as a driver. Although he had been afflicted with rheumatism of the heart for some time, death came unexpectedly, and Mr. Thompson was talking with fellow employees when fatally stricken. Coroner Robert Ferguson was called immediately, and decided that as death was due to natural causes, an inquest was unnecessary. The dead man had been living with his mother, who survives him at the above address. Prior to his employment by H. T. Reason & Co., he worked in this city at his trade as a baker, but was forced to change for an outdoor occupation recently owing to ill health. The funeral arrangements have not been completed.

BURIED AT WOODLAND.

The funeral of Sapper O. E. Shreeve, who died in Victoria Hospital on Wednesday after a long illness, was held this afternoon at 2 o'clock to Woodland Cemetery where interment was made. Adjutant J. D. McDonald of the Salvation Army conducted the funeral services.

Potato Bugs Looked Over Orders At Seed Stores, Then Picked Farms; So Farmers at Market Declare

Watch For First Sign of Growth, Then Pounce—Rain Came Late For Some Strawberries, Already Falling Off Plants.

The market was large this morning, many of the farmers taking advantage of the freshly watered roads to bring in their produce, although the effect of yesterday's rain has not been felt on the crops yet. Indeed, according to Mr. Connor, the fruit inspector of this district, the rain came too late to help the strawberries, which are already dropping off the vines. There were plenty of these on the market this morning selling at 20 and 22 cents a box, but the heavy rain of yesterday had driven the juice into them and they were not as nice as those picked before the rain.

Green peas are making their first appearance this season and sold this morning for 40 and 45 cents a quart, shelled, and 10 cents a quart in the pod. Home-grown cucumbers were also in evidence at $1 and $1.50 a dozen, or 12½ to 15 cents apiece. Asparagus has finally given way before these new arrivals and the extreme heat of the past few weeks. However, there are still quantities of lettuce, and young onions and some rhubarb.

Bugs Are Bad.

Every farmer bring in the same tale about the potato plants. "They hardly poke their heads out of the ground before the bugs have got them," declared one in a discouraged voice. "Some say they looked over the order book at the seed store, and then made for the farms of those who purchased potato seed, and I almost believe it."

At this rate the potato crop will be small and poor, for the bugs are in such large quantities that it is almost impossible to get rid of them, and the plants are attacked when too tender to resist the onslaught.

Bunnies and Mice.

Quantities of small boys were flocking about the rabbit stall, where bunnies of every color and description were on sale as well as the tiniest of white mice. The majority of these were not purchasers, but merely acted in the capacity of an audience while their mothers shopped nearby. However, an occasional son was made happy by the purchase of a pet which he proudly bore away in a basket, the envy of the rest of the crowd.

The number of automobiles back in with the rows of wagons on the market were most noticeable this morning. Gradually even here, the horse is giving way to the more serviceable car, and some believe it will not be long before a horse wagon on the market will be an infrequent sight.

Miss Phipps Becomes Bride of Mr. W. Gunn

Charming London Lady and Motor Company Manager Principals in Quiet Wedding.

The marriage of Walter E. Gunn, London manager of the McLaughlin Motor Car Company, and son of John Gunn, of 327 King street, to Miss Vina Phipps, daughter of the late George Phipps, and for some time official court stenographer in this city, was solemnized this morning at St. Andrew's Church by Rev. D. C. MacGregor, B.A.

Only immediate relatives attended the ceremony, the bride being given away by her brother, Charles Phipps. After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Gunn left on a motor trip to New York. The bride was the recipient of a great number of beautiful presents. They will return to the city in ten days, and will reside at 70 Elmwood avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Gunn are both well-known to many Londoners. In her important post at the court house, Mrs. Gunn became known to the legal profession as one of the most efficient officials, and her charming manner won her hosts of friends.

Mr. Gunn is a newspaperman by profession, who has held many important positions in editorial and advertising work. For some years his enterprise as London manager of the McLaughlin Company has been such as to rank him with the foremost of the city's young businessmen.

From the newspaper fraternity go the heartiest wishes and warmest thoughts to the bride and groom.

LT. CHRYSTAL FOUND

Lieut. J. P. Chrystal, who disappeared mysteriously from this city when on the strength of the Western Ontario Regiment, at Carling Heights about eight months ago, and who served for nine months in France with the 18th Battalion, has been located in New York by an officer of the British War Mission, and is now in hospital at Tecumseh Barracks here. Search was made throughout the United States and Canada for the missing officer, during the past eight months, and a court of inquiry is being held at military headquarters here to probe the facts of the case.

Lieut. Chrystal was invalided to Canada last summer, suffering from rheumatism, and as he was in a dazed condition when found in New York, it is thought that he is suffering from an attack of shell-shock, due to service in the field. This officer was very quiet and reserved, being well liked by fellow officers in the Western Ontario Regiment. During his service on the strength here he made two trips to England, as a conducting officer with reinforcing drafts from Western Ontario.

CHURCHILL PROMISES THAT EPSOM TROUBLE WILL BE INVESTIGATED

400 MILITARY POLICE

Have Been Posted Around Epsom by Canadian Authorities.

London, June 21.—Gen. Turner spent most of today at Epsom interviewing amongst others several prominent townsmen, including H. B. Longley, chairman of the local governing body, to whom the general expressed the deepest regret at the recent occurrences.

The Epsom townsfolk are not disposed to accept the suggestion put forward by Canadian headquarters in the statement to the Canadian Press already cabled, that the beginning of the dispute was between civilians and Canadian soldiers. The police insist that the trouble started through a couple of Canadians becoming unruly in a public house. It is admitted, however, that Canadians at Woodcote have been well-behaved until quite recently, when, it is asserted, a certain new element has been introduced. It is stated that this element had received very lenient treatment from the local police, although Canadians for their part have already asserted unofficially that they have been irritated unduly by the police. Inspector Harley, who appeared at the inquest on Sergt. Green will be the chief witness when the inquest is resumed on Wednesday. Yesterday's proceedings were merely formal except for a letter from Mr. Warminister, Winston Churchill's private secretary, who wrote Sir Rowland Blades, member of Parliament for Epsom, as follows:

Churchill's Promise.

"With reference to your call here today, Mr. Churchill asked me to thank you for the information you submitted to him as to local conditions at Epsom.

"The whole matter will be subjected to searching investigation. In the meantime, prompt and adequate steps have been taken by the Canadian authorities to prevent any further disorder. Mr. Churchill desires to express his greatest sympathy with the relatives of Sergt. Green, who has died as a result of injuries."

STEAMER NORTHLAND RUNS AGROUND; ALL PASSENGERS SAFE

Vessel Owned by Eastern Steamship Lines Ashore On West Island.

New Bedford, Mass., June 21.—The steamer Northland of the Eastern Steamship Lines, bound from New York to Boston with several hundred passengers, and a large cargo of freight, ran ashore on West Island, about ten miles from the Buzzards Bay entrance to the Cape Cod Canal, shortly after five o'clock today. Early reports said that the vessel's bottom was badly damaged and that the passengers, who were in no danger, were being removed to the island in small boats.

DENIKINE'S TROOPS ARE IN PURSUIT OF SOVIET FORCES

Ekaterinodar, Southern Russia, Tuesday, June 17.—The forces of Gen. Denikine, the anti-Bolshevik leader in Southern Russia, are advancing rapidly toward the Volga, in pursuit of the demoralized Soviet troops. The Denikine forces are within 20 miles of Tzaritsin, on the Volga, south of Saratov.

GRIEF-STRICKEN

on the noon train on Thursday, bidding a happy good-bye to his mother and little sister Grace, who had just arrived home from school. He was laughingly showing his young sister how he was going to look in his aviator's cap when he sailed home in his airship as he hurried to catch the car for the station.

Home by Air.

Friday afternoon a telegram was received by Mrs. Jones from her son, which read that he was returning home on the 8 o'clock train. This was a mistake in transmission, the message being that he would arrive at 8 o'clock on his plane.

At 9 o'clock the telephone rang and the cheery voice of Lieut. Jones informed his mother that he had reached London safely, would get some supper, then be directly home, probably by 10 o'clock.

The next message that came to the house on Langarth street was the grim news that he had been seriously injured, and was in St. Joseph's Hospital. Mrs. Jones hurried there immediately with friends, and was led to the room where her boy, sadly disfigured, lay on his cot in an unconscious condition.

It is the memory of his poor face as she saw it then, torn and disfigured, which makes so much harder to bear the grief which has come upon her.

Best of Boys.

"He was the best of boys," she said, "and his first thought was always of his mother. It seems more than I can bear. Yet I mustn't give way. I must keep up for the sake of my other children."

Cuddled close beside her, stroking her hand in silent sympathy was a little lad seven years old. With eight children of her own, she found plenty of room for another in her heart, when the little fellow's own mother died of influenza and he needed someone to give him a mother's care. And so she took him into her home several months' ago and he has become like a little brother of the older children, with a big grief in his childish heart for the big adopted brother, who went away this week and won't come back.

Only Twenty-four.

Arthur Borden Jones, second son of the late J. B. Jones and Mrs. Jones was born at Maxwell, Grey county twenty-four years ago last January.

He was a member of the staff of the Bank of Toronto, Kerwood, when he enlisted in January 1916.

An older brother, Clarence, is still overseas on service in Egypt. Friends stated last evening that steps will immediately be taken with the government to secure his release and return home.

Maurice, the third son of the family, is a patient at the Military Hospital, Carling Heights. In addition to his mother and two brothers, Flight Lieut. Jones is survived by five sisters, Mrs. Gordon McFarlane, in the city, Dorothy, Muriel, Grace and Edith at home.

Since returning from overseas, Lieut. Jones put in all the garden and cleared out the berry bushes at the Langarth street home.

"Everything had just started to grow beautifully and we were so proud of his garden," said a heart-broken young sister today.

Mrs. Jones, who is a member of the Overseas Chapter, I. O. D. E., was wearing on her black dress today the decoration bestowed by the order on wives or mothers of husbands or sons serving overseas.

CREDITORS OF STANDARD RELIANCE LOAN COMPANY MAY MEET SEPARATELY

TORONTO, June 20.—Ten days must elapse before the first meeting of the depositors, debentureholders and shareholders of the Standard Reliance Loan Company can be called by the official liquidator, G. T. Clarkson. Interviewed today, Mr. Clarkson said that he was not in a position to make any further statement of the affairs of the company.

"Our accountants are going over the books now, and by Monday or Tuesday I shall have a pretty good general idea of the situation," he said. "I do not know exactly when the meeting will be called, but I must have complete details of the whole business in my hands before that date."

Mr. Clarkson explained that it has not yet been decided whether two separate meetings will be called for the depositors and debentureholders and the stockholders, but said that as the two former bodies rank equally they will probably meet at one time, and the shareholders later, but on the same day.

Mr. Clarkson added that great efforts had been made to prevent the failure of the Standard Reliance, which were maintained right up to the moment when the winding-up order was applied for. He said that in the position in which the company found itself the wisest step had been taken, and that the promised reorganization is the best possible course to follow to safeguard the interests of the creditors.

S. ESSEX LIBERAL EXECUTIVE HEARS HON. GEO. P. GRAHAM

Women Prominent Among Delegates Chosen For Conventions.

MEETING WELL ATTENDED

Every Riding Represented—Four Named For Toronto and Three Go To Ottawa.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

ESSEX, June 20.—A largely attended meeting of the executive committee of the South Essex Liberal Association was held in the basement of the public library, at which representatives from every riding were present.

President N. B. Brickland was in the chair, and inspiring addresses were given by the Hon. Geo. P. Graham and L. P. Wigle, M. P. P. The question of appointing delegates to the Provincial Liberal Convention at Toronto on June 25 and 26, and to the Dominion convention at Ottawa, in August, was dealt with.

For the provincial convention four delegates were chosen and four alternatives, and for the Dominion convention three delegates and three alternatives. For the provincial convention the delegates are: J. D. Fraser of Mersea, R. W. Brett of Essex, Mrs. W. W. Link of Leamington, and Mrs. W. H. Neville of Cottam, while the alternatives are: G. Mallott of Mersea, N. B. Brickland of Cottam, Mrs. Angus Clark of Colchester South, and Mrs. W. H. Richardson of Essex.

F. Forster was appointed on the riding executive for the Western Ontario Association.

UNIONISTS ELECTED FOR WAR ONLY; DUTY TO GO TO PEOPLE

W. H. Wright Tells South Grey Liberals of Legalized Robbery.

POLITICAL REVOLUTION

Nothing Short of That Would Drive "War" Government From Office.

DURHAM, June 20.—South Grey Liberals met in annual convention here yesterday, and turned out enthusiastically in large numbers. The prevailing feeling of the representative gathering was that of confidence in the policies upheld by the late Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

Owing to the absence of the president of the association, J. H. Telford, through ill-health, W. McLoughry of Artemesla, the second vice-president, was chairman until the election of officers, when Dr. J. G. Hutton of Durham was unanimously elected the new president, and took the chair.

Other officers are: First vice-president, Mrs. J. S. Knechtel; second vice-president, T. H. B. McCullough of Chatsworth; third vice-president, Gordon Geddes of Egremont; secretary-treasurer, Thomas Binnie of Priceville (re-elected); auditors, Mrs. J. S. McIlraith and Mrs. C. Ramage of Durham.

Delegates to the provincial convention: George Lothian, Egremont; John Hunter, Durham; Mrs. J. H. Parke, Dornock; Mrs. John McGowan, Durham.

Delegates to the Dominion convention: T. H. Binnie, Priceville; John Mills, Hanover; W. J. McLean, Walters Falls, with alternates, Dug. McKinnon, Chesley; G. S. Knechtel, Hanover; H. McCulloch, Markdale.

Resolution of Appreciation.

A resolution of appreciation and hope for restoration of health was heartily tendered the retiring president, Mr. Telford. All addresses were expressive of prevalent Liberal opinion. Dr. Mearns, candidate for the Legislature, stated that on account of poor health he was leaving to take several months' complete rest, and thus could not be the candidate in the coming election.

Every province except Ontario, he declared, had held an election in wartime. He wished to see a contest long ago.

W. H. Wright of Owen Sound, the last Dominion candidate, characterized the last election as legalized robbery. It was not fought on public issues, but on sentimental, race and religious cries. It was the present Government which was largely responsible for the wide unrest, caused largely by unchecked profiteering and profiteering, and he was convinced the country would drive the combination which assumed power in 1917 out at the first opportunity. The Unionist regime had miserably failed. It was the Borden administration with a new name; the same profiteers and the same tariff.

Voted for Protection.

Some prominent Liberals who entered the Unionist cabinet had stated it was for the term of war only. Now all except Crerar believed in and had voted for high protection. Crerar alone had carried out his pledge. Others, like Rowell, who said the Union Government had been justified in everything it passed, were not wanted back in Liberalism. The Unionists were elected for the war only. They should return to the people for a mandate, but only a political revolution would now drive them from office in Canada.

To be ruled by the true democratic class or by millionaires and the "powers that be" at Ottawa is now the greatest question. The farmers were justified in organizing, and the next election would see a great increase of farmer members in both Houses. In closing a stirring address Mr. Wright took a fling at South Grey's Unionist member, R. J. Ball, who, after a war to establish democracy, had voted to retain titles in Canada, and also voted with the high protectionists. This was about all he had done.

KEEP CHILDREN HEALTHY

To keep children healthy the bowels must be kept regular and the stomach sweet. Nine-tenths of the ailments which afflict little ones are caused by derangements of the bowels and stomach. No other medicine can equal Baby's Own Tablets in guarding either the baby or growing child from the ills that follow a disordered condition of the bowels or stomach. They are a mild but thorough laxative and never fail to give results. Concerning them Mrs. W. B. Coolledge, Sarnia, Ont., says: "I have used Baby's Own Tablets for over three years and have found them the best medicine I have ever used for my children. I never have any trouble giving them to my little ones and they have saved me many a doctor's bill. My advice to all mothers of little ones is to keep a box of the Tablets in the house." The Tablets are sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

BORDEN OWNS COLD STORAGE STOCK AND MAKES 50 PER CENT

Premier Is Financially Interested in Manitoba Concern.

FOOD LOCKED UP

The Canadian Premier Owns $9,500 Worth of Stock, According to Evidence.

(Special to The Advertiser.)

Ottawa, June 20.—The name of Sir Robert Borden figured this afternoon in the cost of living committee of the Commons. When the strike began in Winnipeg there was much noise over the fact, corroborated officially this afternoon, that there were two and a half million pounds products safely locked up in cold storage in Winnipeg, while the retailers of the city were short of foodstuffs for the population of the city.

The food is still held there, though G. W. Shantz, the representative of the Manitoba Cold Storage Company, stated to the committee today that it was now in order for export. Some of it—probably nearly all of it—has been held since the armistice was signed.

Sir Robert Borden, according to the evidence today, is one of the stockholders in the concern. He owns $9,500 worth of the stock. The paid up stock is just over $200,000, and the profits last year were $113,000, or over 50 per cent.

The representative of the company was careful to say that Sir Robert "Doesn't take an active interest" in the concern, and H. H. Stevens of Centre Vancouver, remarked hastily, "So far as I can see this business seems to have been run on a pretty sound basis."

It was brought out by E. B. Devlin of Wright that the authorized capital of the concern was $300,000, of which $218,700 had been issued. Of this sixty thousand was issued at $75 per share, so that the paid up capital is actually $15,000 less than it appears to be, according to the figures.

Principal Shareholders.

G. W. Shantz of the Manitoba Cold Storage Company, in testimony, said the principal shareholders were the Blacks of the Ogilvie Milling Company, P. C. Andrews, Roderick Mackenzie, Sir Robert Borden and the Murray estate. He stated, in reply to Mr. Devlin, that the prime minister's stock amounted to $9,500, but he did not take an active interest in the business. He said that some time ago stock in the company had been offered to the shareholders at $75, and as a result $60,000 par value had been taken up at $15,000 less than the share value. Mr. Stevens said the main question was whether the cold storage plant was being used for the hoarding of food or not, and so far as he could see this business seemed to be run on a pretty sound basis.

Knows of No Hoarding.

Mr. Shantz indicated that his cold storage plant received goods from producers, wholesalers and retailers. They kept goods uncalled for, and he did not know of any hoarding. The losses were very small, and occurred in vegetables seasonably. They got vegetables from California and British Columbia, and the tail-end of a lot might suffer. Vegetables were harder to keep than other foods.

Mr. Devlin mentioned that there had been a rumor at the beginning of the Winnipeg strike that there were two and a half million pounds of produce in the Manitoba Cold Storage Company's plant, and asked if this was true.

"Yes, there were," said Mr. Shantz. He added that this was abnormal for that time of the year, but he had been told that it was for export. It was not for use in the West, and the large amount held was due to the lack of transportation facilities and the cancelling of contracts after the armistice. It was under order for export now.

Shortage Among Retailers.

Asked if there was any shortage amongst retailers at this time, the witness said there was a shortage, but the cause was not on account of the food for export.

W. S. Edwards of the justice department, explained to the committee what had been done regarding the notification of the labor department to take action in connection with the alleged combine of bakers at Halifax. He said the Halifax agent of the department had been instructed to look into the bread situation there, and he was engaged in getting the necessary facts. As soon as this was obtained, an information would be laid. Instructions were sent on May 26, but there has been some delay due to the papers of the labor department not being complete.

NOT PROBABLE THAT ORDER-IN-COUNCIL WILL BE REPEATED

Looks as Though Bulk Traffic in Liquor Will Be Resumed.

OTTAWA, June 20.—The prohibition bill, as amended by the Senate to limit its application to the period of the war, will come back to the Commons for consideration. The Government will undoubtedly decline to accept the amendment, and a majority of the House will likely uphold that stand. Should conferences with the Senate fail in reaching an agreement, the measure will, to all intents and purposes, be killed.

It will then be a question of law as to whether the Government can extend the order by a further order-in-council. It is not at all likely that the Government will do so.

From present indications, therefore, it would appear that existing restrictions against importation manufacture and inter-provincial traffic will cease as soon as Germany has appended her name to the peace terms.

Lenine Is Called The Anti-Christ By New Russ Sect

PARIS, June 20.—French Wireless.—The soviet government in Russia is combatting a religous movement, mystical in character, which has spread through the provinces of Moscow, Novgorod and Vladimir. One of the features of the movement, which is said to be strong among the peasants, according to advices received here, is that Premier Lenine is called the Anti-christ foretold in the scriptures. The Bolshevists, it is said, are opposing the movement by means of an active propaganda.

IF THE CANADIAN BONDS ARE TAX-FREE, WHY NOT?

NEW YORK, June 20.—The Metropolitan Life Insurance Company announced a loan of $500,000 for the erection of dwellings, the first of a series for that purpose. It was explained the corporation was not in a position to make large real estate loans because it had invested $120,000,000 in government bonds in the United States and Canada.

Mothers' Advice

The responsibility for a daughter's future largely rests with the mother. The right influence and the information which is of vital interest to the daughter imparted at the proper time has not only saved the life but insured the success of many a beautiful girl. When a girl's thoughts become sluggish with headaches, dizziness, or a disposition to sleep, pains in back or lower limbs and a desire for solitude, her mother should come to her aid and remember that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, will at this time prepare the system for the coming change and start this trying period in a young girl's life without pain or irregularities. Thousands of women residing in every part of the United States bear willing testimony to the wonderful virtues of this medicine, and what it has done for their daughters.

Brooklyn, N. Y.—"I cannot praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound enough for what it has done for my daughter. She was 15 years of age, very sickly and pale and she had to stay home from school most of the time. She suffered agonies from backache and dizziness and was without appetite. For 3 months she was under the doctor's care and got no better, always complaining about her back and side aching so I did not know what to do. I read in the papers about your wonderful medicine so I made up my mind to try it. She has taken five bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and doesn't complain any more with her back and side aching. She has gained in weight and feels much better. I recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to all mothers and daughters."—Mrs. M. Fiore, 516 Marcy Avenue, Brooklyn, N.Y.

How to Treat Ivy Poisoning and Insect Bites Yourself

By DR. LEONARD KEENE HIRSHBERG
A. B., M. A., M. D. (Johns Hopkins University).

DR. HIRSHBERG

Summer vacations bring with them many good times, and, indeed, they are looked forward to by the average person with delight. There are other than good times, however, that come with vacation, and among these are poisoning by ivy and by insect bites.

If you have never seen poison ivy take effect on a human being, the following symptoms will help you recognize it. One of the evidences of this poison is redness of the flesh; another is an irritating itching, and when the case is a severe one there is intense suffering and sometimes the whole bodily framework is affected. A wash made of half an ounce of carbonate of zinc and two ounces each of limewater and glycerine and applied to the poisoned area, often gives relief. The affected parts of the skin should be kept constantly wet with it.

Another mixture for severe cases is made from two drams each of carbonate of lead and powdered arrow root, one of powdered acacia, 11 grains of hydrochlorate of cocaine and three ounces of olive oil. This is made into a paste and spread over the affected skin. The cocaine makes the mixture particularly cooling and soothing.

One panacea for insect bites that smart is made of one dram of betanapthol and a half-pint of alcohol or cologne. This may be applied until the stinging stops. Another that is sometimes easier to use is composed of one ounce of ointment of oleate of mercury and 10 grains of camphor. This is a paste and may be rubbed on to give relief when it might not be possible to apply a liquid.

The use of strong ammonia for bites, an application that is commended by some persons, is not advisable. It may bring relief, but at the same time it is likely to burn the flesh and cause additional pain. Alcohol and cologne put on full strength are soothing when no more efficacious mixture can be secured. Water is useless, unless its temperature is cold and the affected spot can be kept constantly immersed.

Comparatively few persons know the value of bicarbonate of soda as a cooling application. Used indefinitely it would cause the skin to dry, but a strong solution is almost as beneficial as is alcohol. To make this solution use a teaspoonful of bicarbonate of soda to half a pint of water. The parts of the bodily structure that are affected by heat should be bathed constantly with this solution. If they are then thickly dusted with talcum or powdered arrowroot, the relief will be instant, though not lasting. This treatment, however, may be indefinitely repeated.

Answers to Health Questions

S. J. Q—How can I gain weight?

A—Your weight may be increased by 10 to 12 hours' sleep in a well ventilated room, by eating sugars, starches, butter, puddings, fatty meats, rich soups, gravies. You must drink lots of water and milk. Take but little exercise, be in the open air and sunlight just as much as possible, and keep the intestines open and active.

MRS. S. B. B. A—If you will send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your query repeated I will be glad to answer your questions.

MR. J. B. Q—Can you advise a remedy for a severe itching all over my body?

Pink calamine	2½ drams
Zinc oxide	2 drams
Glycerine	2 drams
Phenol	50 drops
Lime water	2 ounces
Rosewater	2 ounces

MRS. I. S. W. A—If you will send a stamped and addressed envelope is in your query repeated I will be glad to answer your questions.

A. B. Q—What can I do to stop biting my nails?

A—Apply a little bitter almond to the nails at night.

Dr. Hirshberg will answer questions for readers of this paper on medical, hygienic and sanitation subjects that are of general interest. MY HEART AND MY HUSBAND
ADELE GARRISON'S NEW PHASE OF REVELATIONS OF A WIFE

What Dicky Told Madge That Startled Her.

To my surprise, Dicky was waiting his breakfast for me when I hurried into the dining-room after my brief interview with Leila Fairfax.

One result of my early departure for school is generally a solitary morning meal. Both Dicky and my father have always been accustomed to later breakfasts than the hour at which I am compelled to take mine five days of the week. And since Dicky came home my mother-in-law, early riser as she generally is, has been content to wait the later hour in order to have her beloved son's companionship at the start of the day.

"Lo' Madge!" Dicky greeted me cheerily. "Who's your early visitor? Katie said you were talking to somebody, 'dot name she forgot.'"

I smiled at his mimicry and answered laconically as Katie appeared in the doorway bearing my breakfast which she, with the thoughtfulness for me always characteristic of her, had kept piping hot for me.

"Leila Fairfax," I said briefly, and attacked Katie's good things hurriedly with an eye to my wrist watch.

Dicky gave a long, low whistle, but waited until Katie had left the room before speaking.

"What's the idea?" he asked interestedly as she disappeared. "Is Leila's sensitive southern soul apologizing all over the lot for Rita? I don't blame her, at that. The stunt the Brown dame pulled last night was a trifle raw. Wonder how soon she'll pull freight away from here?"

Long experience with my husband's slang has enabled me to interpret it without irritating him by asking his meaning as used to be my practice.

"Do You Mean—"

"Miss Fairfax says that Miss Brown refuses to go away until her week's invitation is up," I said quietly. "That was the reason of her call upon me this morning. She and her sister wish to leave immediately, and are worrying over Mrs. Durkee's opinion of them, but Miss Brown is obdurate."

"Whew!" Dicky sat erect in his chair, sure sign that he was startled into interest. "I knew Rita had the gall of the devil, but I didn't think she'd stick around after last night. Come to think about it, though, that's just about what she would do. She has no background, that girl, and her instincts and impulses are distinctly earthy. She probably hasn't any idea of the real enormity of the thing she did, thinks we'll all put it down to a little too much and let it go at that. It's just as well. Her staying on after this will simply cinch the good work I started last night. Alf will never fall for her again."

I laid down my fork and gazed at him open-mouthed.

"The good work you started," I repeated blankly, then with a flash of comprehension, "Do you mean that—"

Why Madge Waited.

"That I egged the lady on to throw the glassware around?" Dicky interrupted with a complacent air. "Surest thing you know. I had a hunch she was the type that would start something if she was sufficiently tanked and teased, though I will say for her that she has been adroit enough to sport a thick veneer of good breeding before this—guess she tried to pattern after the Fairfax girls. But I was pretty sure I could turn the trick, especially after she insisted on taking everything on the calendar. Worth while stunt, wasn't it? Old Alf is far too decent a chap to be tied to that studio aviator."

Inconsistently enough I felt a qualm of distaste for Dicky's trick, even though it meant the very result for which I myself had been striving. It seemed not quite fair, but I smothered the thought and made my voice cordial in answer.

"I congratulate you," I said heartily, "and hope you're right about Alfred's feelings. Oh!" I glanced at my watch. "I'm afraid I'll miss that train, Katie!" I raised my voice, too alarmed to wait for the bell. "Bring me that tea at once."

"What the—" Dicky's voice held disgust as he rose. "Are you going to risk your train for tea?"

"I have a few minutes yet, and I can run," I rejoined as Katie hurried in, tea canister in one hand and a piece of brown paper in the other. "It is my turn this week to furnish the tea for our noon lunches, and I mustn't forget it. Here, help me tie this."

I had tumbled a number of the individual white cloth packets in which my special tea comes from the dealer, into the paper, and wrapped it quickly though clumsily in the brown paper. Dicky drew the string around it and tied it, grumbling in exasperated fashion as he did so. I kissed him hastily, snatched the packet of tea and ran out of the house and down the walk with Dicky's voice sounding querulously behind me:

"Well, if you can beat the combination of tea and a woman! I'll bet they'd keep the hangman waiting while they made a cup of tea."

TO-MORROW'S HOROSCOPE

By Genevieve Kemble

SUNDAY AND MONDAY, JUNE 22 AND 23.

Sunday promises to be a lively if not an exciting day, with much stirring in a social, domestic and romantic way. There should be no risks of money, and all writings should be signed with caution. Accidents and law should be guarded against.

Those whose birthday it is will have an interesting year, but should guard against law and accidents. A child born on this day will be active and energetic, but extravagant and erratic.

Monday should be a successful and important day with affairs moving rapidly because of the breaking up of long delaying and obstructing conditions. New and large enterprises should move, possibly involving radical change with removal and traveling advantageously, although there is an admonition against quarrels and litigation. Those in employment should prosper.

Those whose birthday it is should have an important and prosperous year with change. A child born on this day will be industrious, reliable and popular.

New Zealand Maoris, native Javanese and the cannibals of the South Sea Islands have developed a ravenous appetite for the American movie stars. Their appetite, however, doesn't crave blood. They want them on the screen.

A Russian wireless telegram states that Mt. Elbruz, which has been clad with ice from time immemorial, had on March 14 been discharging smoke for some days. It adds that ice blocks which have existed above the snow line for thousands of years were being carried to the foot of the mountain in numerous torrents. Mr. Elbruz is the loftiest peak in the Caucasus Mountains and in Europe. It is 18,526 feet high.

The use of acetylene for illumination has reached such proportions in Denmark that nearly 200 different types of lamps have been invented there.

The Adventures of Jimmy Coon

WHAT HAPPENED TO MR. RED FOX.

Jimmie Coon began to laugh when he saw that Mr. Fox couldn't find Peter Rabbit. He poked Teddy Possum and said, "For mercy's sake, look at Mr. Red Fox, he looks as if he were saying, to himself, 'Where do we go from here?'"

Mr. Red Fox could have found little Peter Rabbit as quick as a wink, but there were too many people looking on. So whenever he looked in a hole and didn't find him it was disgusting to have all those rabbits laugh and Jimmie Coon and Teddy Possum too.

He ran back and forth and looked everywhere but in Mr. Porcupine's house. Of course he didn't know that it was Mr. Porcupine's house. He thought it was just an old log.

As he was passing it for the forty-'leventh time, he thought he heard a tiny noise, and he said to himself, "Jimminy Crickets, so that's where you are Peter Rabbit!"

He rushed right into the hall of Mr. Porcupine's house. Did he make one bite of little Peter Rabbit? Not at all, for he went in Mr. Porcupine's front door instead of the back door, the way little Peter went in.

I can tell you there was an awful rumpus. You never heard such a noise. Everyone on the outside wished he were inside to see the fun.

Of course, Mr. Fox didn't go in slowly but on a run and, of course, Mr. Porcupine ran right into Mr. Fox, Kerwhollop. Mr. Porcupine was mad as a hatter and he yelled, "What on earth is the matter with you, Mr. Fox? Is this the way to run into people's houses. Anyone would think someone was after you."

While Mr. Porcupine talked like this he was smiling to himself for little Peter Rabbit was hiding behind him and shaking like a leaf. Mr. Porcupine had so spread out his sharp spears so that not a hair of little Peter could be seen.

Mr. Red Fox is usually so very polite. Very few people have even seen him lose his temper, but he was in misery and he howled and clawed at those spears for you see Mr. Porcupine had shot some into his fur coat and his lovely coat was torn in many places.

Of course Mr. Porcupine didn't exactly shoot his spears, but Mr. Red Fox just ran into them.

Mr. Fox didn't stop to say what he was after. He just backed out of Mr. Porcupine's front door as fast as he could. He was a sight, stuck full of spears and he hung his head and he slunk off through the woods howling.

That night the Fox family didn't get a wink of sleep, for in the first place Mr. Red Fox made such a time groaning and howling. All the little Foxes and Mrs. Fox had to pull out Mr. Porcupine's quills.

He was a sight, stuck full of spears.

A Diagram Picture — Note the Pointed Corn

Why Corns Hurt

Note this diagram picture of a corn. Note its conical shape. The cause of the corn is pressure. And pressure makes it hurt. The point of the corn is pushed into the nerves. Applying a Blue-jay plaster instantly removes the pressure. Note the felt ring (A) in the picture below. The ring gives barefoot comfort in the tightest shoe.

But that is temporary. One should not continue a ring. The corn should be quickly ended.

The bit of B&B wax in the center of the ring does that (marked B in illustration below). In two days, usually, the whole corn disappears. It stops the pain, then ends the corn. And it wraps the corn so the action is undisturbed.

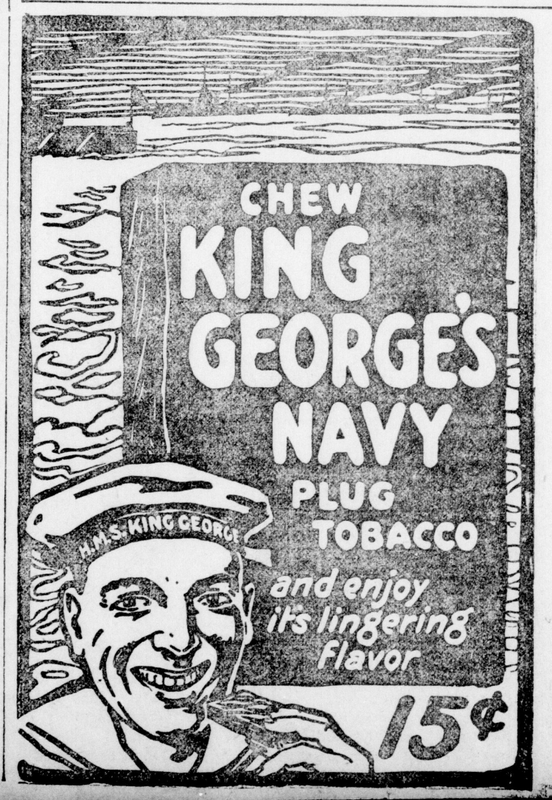

Then the action of the B&B wax is centered on the corn. Held there by the rubber coated adhesive tape (C) which wraps comfortably around the toe. Healthy tissue is not affected.

These are the reasons why millions of people have adopted the Blue-jay method. Keeping corns is folly when this easy way can end them. Treating them in cruder ways is inexcusable.

Dorchester People Requested to Honor the War Heroes

North Dorchester Township votes Monday on a bylaw to provide a memorial hall dedicated to the men of the community who served in the great war. The world beyond Dorchester learned with interest and sympathy of the proposal to construct a building that would serve as a symbol of enduring honor to those who gave themselves to the service of their country. It is probably the first township in the country which has undertaken to advance the memorial movement in the form of a community building for the use of all residents.

A number of the men of the township have given their lives to the cause, and they will be honored by the erection of a tablet bearing their names in the event the bylaw carries. It is a far call to the fields of Europe where they lie, and the only manner in which their sacrifice may be fittingly recognized is by means of a lasting roll of honor that may be seen by generations to come.

While the sentiment of the township is said to be strongly in favor of the memorial building, it should be remembered that it is often difficult to bring out farmers to vote on detached bylaws. The people of North Dorchester should make certain on Monday that sufficient majority is given the bylaw, and the sum of $10,000 provided. It is not a large amount, and the township will acquire a distinction in being the first to honor its heroes of the great war.

Defenders of Profiteers Must Now Face Truth

Some fishy editorials are appearing in Tory-Unionist journals in view of the rank profiteering revealed by the altogether casual survey of living conditions in Canada. Some of these newspapers condemn those men who made profits of more than 300 per cent, but it is a case of being forced to face an issue that no newspaper could dodge. These newspapers are being placed in the position of acknowledging the offence after having denied its existence.

Our local contemporary, for instance, is pulling long faces over the 300 per cent Dominion Textile revelations, a few days after the same newspaper had replied with great heat to the Manchester Guardian, when the English newspaper stated that wholesale profiteering was proceeding in Canada. It denied the existence of such profiteering and protected those leeches, who it must have known, if it has ears or common-sense, were feasting on the public to the last drop of blood.

No newspaper was in ignorance of the desperate robberies that were practised all through the war, and that have been practised since the war, if not under Government protection with the certain knowledge that no robber, great or small, who worked on war contracts was punished. They all went free, even those who had to be routed from their seats as members of Parliament, so that decent men might breathe unpolluted air.

A few newspapers have continued to denounce profiteering, The Advertiser among them. They have called a spade a spade, and it was this influence which brought about the present investigation and revealed to the public the enormous filching of big interests, with the knowledge of their operations in the hands of the Government all the time. The newspapers which denounced profiteering have had to face the knocks and machinations of these self-same profiteers. A certain kind of advertiser, who believes he purchases a newspaper's soul and independence when he buys so much advertising space, would wield the club and silence if he could the voice of protest against wrongdoing. Other advertisers have been big enough and fair enough to realize that it could only be by constant hammering that the country was cleared of its grafters, and the worst menace to the future removed.

The press that stands with the profiteers and now sees them shown up in their true colors reluctantly hands out its thin-soup platitudes: "Something must be done." "It is a shame." "We are shocked beyond words." "Couldn't believe it of any Canadian."

These newspapers cannot camouflage the situation any longer. The public has seen what this weird Pandora's Box contains, and it will pry the lid and bring the occupants into the light. Every line of trade dealing with necessities must be investigated, and if the investigation ends without the devising of legislative implements whereby excessive profits taken from the people may be reclaimed, it will be a farce that may turn into tragedy.

Is Canada to Lose Its Fine Adventurers to Uncle Sam?

"Don't send our darling boys away from home" might be the paraphrase of a song that offended many people when Canada was in the early days of the war. It might be applied to the scores, if not hundreds, of young, virile Canadians, most of them just returned from the war, who are moving across the borders to the United States each week.

Board a train bound for Detroit and the day coaches will be found to contain many men with a distinctive look the army has given them, in new "civies" and talking about the prospects of securing work in one of the cities of the middle-western states. One might consult immigration figures in vain to find the number of men who have left the country. They go across the border as casual visitors, and many of them do not return. They have a taste for the life and action that Detroit and Chicago afford to the young, superficial pleasures appeal to them, and if they secure positions at high wages and are woven into the social fabric of one of these large cities, they are not likely to return, if past experiences is a criterion. They will be lost to us, and, as their motherland, the heart of Canada should ache at the spectacle.

These are the young men we need in Canada. Armies of them have gone before, drawn by the magnet of opportunity across that easily-passed imaginary line into the big, attractive cities Uncle Sam has built. Recall the faces of your old public school class, and you will discover that not only many of the boys of that day, but a large proportion of the girls, have given up Canada and become Americans, if not by naturalization, by every other recognition. Perhaps more are in the United States that in the Canadian West, and there may be only a handful left in the city where they were educated and turned out as good citizens, only to be lost to the communities that paid for their educations. A dozen columns could be written on the causes of this exodus. It has been going on for years, and it appears to be resuming with as serious losses as ever occurred in each week of the war.

That is the thought that should sink in at this time—that they are going NOW, and the numbers may increase. These returned men are going from the country they fought for because they cannot find the conditions or opportunities at home. To check this outgoing it will not do to place an embargo on young men. If they are determined to leave Canada they will find the means of getting over the border, and they will be less likely than ever to return to the fold if an effort is made to close the gate. Industries to give men employment, the opportunity for advancement—these are two of the vital considerations in any effort that may be made to deal with the condition. Preaching will not accomplish the purpose. The writer knows, for instance, on off-hand calculation, at least twelve returned soldiers, all of them London or Western Ontario natives, who have left the country in the last three or four weeks. Why did they go? Because they believed they saw a greater chance in the United States. Talk about industrial competition! It is as nothing when we consider the competition we are up against to keep Canadians for Canada, as well as Canada for Canadians. They are our richest heritage, these grown men, especially when they have come through the war and realize what the country asked of them. They are our fine adventurers, and this is a land where the adventurer's spirit is needed most of all, the high courage, the fine ideal, the rugged manhood that pours out of the land each day.

Routing Out the Reds

Thirteen men recently arrested at Toronto by Dominion secret service agents and found in possession of Red revolutionary literature have been sentenced to terms ranging from two months to three years, and in one case a fine of $250. Of the thirteen, nine are foreigners. Russian in most cases, the remaining four being of English birth. These fellows were found actively engaged in the spread of propaganda which supports the detestable doctrine of Lenine and Trotzky. From the literature in their possession it is apparent that violence, discord and disorder would be the lot of Canada if this element in our population had its way. If the Dominion authorities can clean out these pests who appear to have nested at many points between the coasts, and add to immigration barriers regulations that will make it impossible for them to sift into this country in any considerable number, the Red will find the task of converting Canada too discouragingly slow for his firebrand ideas and ideals and erase us from the list.

Scheidemann Steps Out

Berlin reports the fall of the Scheidemann ministry following a split in the cabinet over the peace terms. Scheidemann, it is said, refused to accept the revised treaty. This is quite in accordance with his policy throughout the war. Although the greatest German Socialist leader, he was invariably found strongly supporting the junkers, approving the ruthlessness of the campaign and the plans for tyrannical domination.

It was Scheidemann who in the Reichstag declared Belgium and Northern France would have to remain German. Later, when the Hun drive was slowing up, he engineered the Socialist convention at Stockholm, hoping to influence French and British radicals in favor of a compromise peace. He was mixed up in the infamous Brest-Litovsk conference, when Russia was treacherously sold out. Always he has stood for Germans over all. He has been one of the bitterest of the Allies' enemies in Germany, and it is quite in line with his career and character that he should be willing to bring on fresh confusion for his countrymen by resigning rather than make the submission that must be made sooner or later.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

In a few days now Germany will decide the pen is safer than the sword.

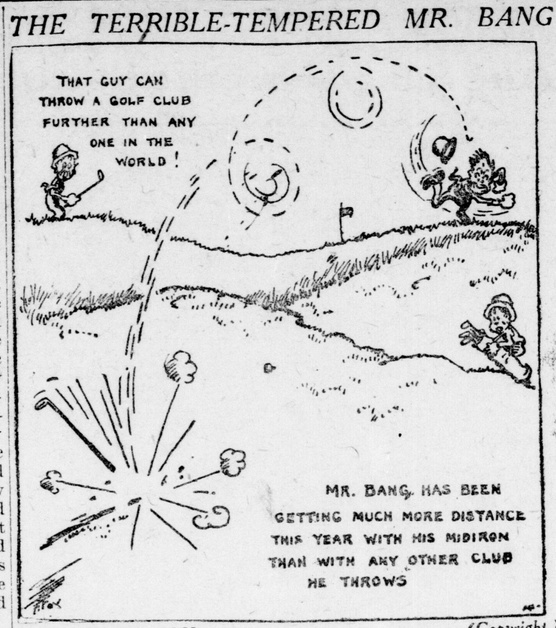

What a fine country to loot, must have been the reflection of profiteers as they saw Canada all absorbed in the war. And then they went to it.

No. 2—Shedding His Skin

(BY GEORGE PALMER, 1ST. BATTN.)

Many months ago I dropped a linen collar into a camp receptacle for rubbish. It was in the summer time; and as it dropped into the tin it stirred the dust. It seemed then to me that I could count every particle of dust that was unsettled and caused to find a new abiding place, so intent was my gaze.

I, too, was a particle of dust that was unsettled and had found a new abiding place—in the army. I was the snake that had shed his skin and my collar was the last of the cuticle. Snake-like I have wriggled much since, but that is by the way.

As it was on that summer day so very long ago, it was again this morning when I looked at a brown cloth collar that I had worn on both sides (with both sides outward) of the English Channel and the Atlantic. It was the one I took off last night for the last time, for once again I am the snake that has changed his skin; and as in the days long gone so I am again—once more in blue and in white linen.

It was a wonderful time when I dropped my linen collar in the waste bin, and this morning was wonderful, too. Once again in blue. Often in blue, but only once in khaki.

I find the old ways come back to me; and I find them pleasant. Quite naturally I slipped the new grey silk tie under the linen outer band, buttoned the collar and made the knot. The old tie pins were there (I had prepared for the ceremony last night) and I chose the gold-rimmed japanese jade, a present of long ago, as against the pearl, the cameo and the inlay-gold. I remembered that the pins often were not set quite accurately in the scarf, and therefore I was painstaking in the ceremony.

What Was the Next Thing?

I did not forget the vest, and my fingers ran nimbly over the buttons and holes, just as in years ago. I did not button my coat, although I had been doing that for many months from neck to below the waist; nor did I look for my Sam Browne—I seemed to know, like the old horse back again to the race.

And the hat. A hat, I remembered, can spoil so much if the angle is not just so.

Neatly arrayed, I stood. What was the next thing I used to do?

Ah! a few minutes to a shoeshine. I looked at them. They needed it. I remembered that the night before I had promised myself this luxury. I moved to the door, collected my grey suede gloves and a partridge cane I had brought from Germany, and descended the stairs. For a moment I seemed unreal to the lady of the house. She stared and then she hugged me.

"I like it," she said. "But the other looked nice, too," she added and then she hugged me.

So do the ways of the distant days stay with us that I sat at a table where there was paper and pencil and soon was writing what has become this confession. I mused and wrote and thought and pieced together my actions. Threw it away and began again, when suddenly the spell ended and I found my legs crossed and my beautifully creased trousers much too creased and beginning a slight knee bag. The collar of my coat was up over my neck. I felt it rubbing in my hair. My tie, that beautiful grey scarf, had bulged and the jade pin had lifted—And, my hat! like in the old days, it was on the back of my neck. Already had my new waistcoat started to buckle.

I looked myself over. I laughed.

"I have shed my skin," said I to myself. "Truly am I a civilian, and so it was, for, when I went forth to my shoeshine not a soul in the street paid any attention to me.

Oh, to Be a "Civie" Again.

One of the thousands once again to live and earn and spend; to prosper or to lose, and to fight in the present everyday war that I may protect my little principality.

So it has ended and begun again. That which I often prayed in the dark night—"Oh, to be a 'civie' again." AND HERE I AM.

We sold our clothes when we went away.
We took what the dealer chose to pay,
We did not care a jot.
We looked at the "civies" and felt quite proud,
For we belonged in the army crowd.
Civies? Why certainly not!

We are home once more to the longer war,
We wish we had made the Jew pay more,
Clothes just now are high.
We are all dressed up and feel quite gay,
Except at the price we had to pay.
What is the use to sigh?

RUNNING NOSE COLDS STOPPED INSTANTLY

Catarrhozone Never Fails.

Dripping from the nose is one of the foulest and most disgusting symptoms of a Catarrhal cold. By using Catarrhozone you cure this quickly—cure it because you bathe the lining of the nose and throat with that powerful antiseptic of the Blue Gum of Australia.

So healing is Catarrhozone that you feel wonderfully benefited in five minutes' use of the inhaler. Nothing ever devised cures a cough, cold or sore throat so quickly. No drugs to take, nothing to upset the stomach—you follow nature's own plan in using Catarrhozone which supplies healing essences and soothing balsams in vapor form to the places that are needing treatment.

Results talk—that's why thousands rely solely upon Catarrhozone to prevent and cure their winter ills. Get the complete $1 outfit, it lasts two months; small size 50c, sample size 25c, all dealers and the Catarrhozone Company, Kingston, Canada.

PERSECUTION FOR INNOCENTS.

[New York Herald.]

Persons in whose hearts there is consideration for future students of geography, must note with deep concern the fact that military operations in the Murmansk region have unearthed Lumbushki, Ostreche, Koladari and, particularly, Medvyejyagora.

WORLD WOULD ENJOY IT.

[Guelph Herald.]

No one seems to care much whether Germany takes its medicine agreeably or not. Probably the world would enjoy nothing better than to see John Bull hold Germany's nose, while the rest of the allies pour a stiff dose down the stubborn patient's throat.

VICTORIOUS FRENCH GIRLS.

[Washington Star.]

More than 6,000 Frenchwomen were wooed and won by American soldiers in France within one year. The majority of the French girls who have become Americans through marrying men and officers of the American Expeditionary Force are stenographers, sales girls, or teachers, with a sprinkling of peasant girls and those of the middle class or bourgeoise.

PERMANENCY NEEDED.

[Vancouver Sun.]

Dr. Adam Shortt thinks industrial unrest would be cured by greater production. This sounds much like the Kansas philosopher's advice to his fellow-citizens to raise more corn and less hell. But Dr. Shortt is partly right in his contention that the construction of public works will not remedy the situation. What is needed is to get men into employment that will be permanent.

ALBANIAN PROVERBS.

[Exchange.]

The Albanians, who constitute one of the sources of trouble at Paris, objecting to be ruled by either Jugo-Slavs or Italians, are a shrewd race. Here are some of their proverbs:

The dog does not wag his tail at you, but at your bread.

Even the wolf is honest when the sheep are locked up.

He who sows thistles must not go barefoot.

When the wolf preaches one must keep a lookout over one's sheep.

If the stone falls into the bowl, it is bad for the bowl; if the bowl falls on the stone, it is bad for the bowl. In all circumstances it is bad for the bowl.

PROSPICE.

[Robert Browning.]

Fear death?—To feel the fog in my throat,
The mist in my face,
When the snow begins and the blasts denote
I am nearing the place,
The power of the night, the press of the storm,
The post of the foe;
Where he stands, the Arch Fear in a visible form,
Yet the strong man must go;
For the journey is done and the summit attain'd,
And the barriers fall,
Though a battle's to fight ere the guerdon be gain'd,
The reward of it all.
I was ever a fighter, so—one fight more,
The best and the last!
I would hate that death bandaged my eyes, and forbore,
And bade me creep past.
No! Let me taste the whole of it, fare like my peers,
The heroes of old.
Bear the brunt, in a minute pay glad life's arrears
Of pain, darkness and cold.
For sudden the worst turns the best to the brave,
The black minute's at end,
And the lements' rage, the fiend-voices that rave,
Shall dwindle, shall blend,
Shall change, shall become first a peace out of pain,
Then a light, then thy breast,
O thou soul of my soul, I shall clasp thee again,
And with God be the rest!

A VITAL WRONG.

[Montreal Star.]

The arguments in favor of the solidarity of labor are from the labor standpoint appealing, as the desire for world-power was appealing to the Prussians in 1914; but in one case as in the other, plans based upon the denial of things fundamental to democracy are bound to fail in a democratic world. A sympathetic strike which involves the participation of employees who, for their own interests, had previously pledged themselves to certain agreements with their employers, instinctively antagonizes the British sense of business honor and fairplay inherent in the average citizen. And the assumption by Winnipeg's labor leadership of dictatorial powers for the benefit of one class and at the expense of another, violated the very principles upon which British democracy was founded and is developing. Its failure was doomed from the beginning.

CLOSING BELLE ISLE STRAITS.

[Vancouver Sun, May 20.]

There is something very fascinating about the scheme outlined in this paper yesterday by Mr. R. T. Elliott for closing the Straits of Belle Isle and thus rendering the climate of Eastern Canada much milder.

If it were accomplished, Montreal would be an open port for twelve months of the year, while the banks of the St. Lawrence would be in perpetual bloom. Canada would become a land towards which all the populations of the earth would turn longing eyes.

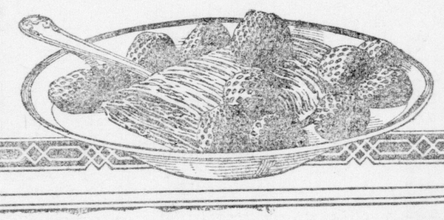

Mr. Elliott's memorandum gives only the barest outline of the countless benefits that would ensue. The increase of wealth and of human comfort would be beyond computation.

And there is no doubt that as an engineering proposition the straits could be blocked by a concrete wall capable of resisting any pressure to which it could possibly be subjected. There are plenty of capable engineers who would ask nothing better than to be given the job.

Of course the matter is entirely in the speculative stage, and is likely to remain there, at least for the present generation. But the time will come when the resources of Canada will be equal to the undertaking.

TIME TO REBUILD

Winter foods clog the liver and tax the digestion. Summer brings relief in cereals, fruits and green vegetables. Shredded Wheat Biscuit with berries or other fruits is a life-saver for thousands—the whole wheat steam-cooked, shredded and baked. Combines deliciously with berries and all kinds of fresh fruits—a satisfying, nourishing meal for a few cents. Easily prepared without kitchen worry or work.

The Story of this Home

THE perfect preservation of woodwork and floors tells its own story of surface protection. Keeping wear from reaching the surface has kept it uninjured through constant use.

And so with everything. Surface protection is supremely important—save the surface and you save all.

Look at property for a minute—so subject to losses hard to prevent, like increased taxation, depreciation of neighborhood, loss of tenant, etc. Lack of surface protection means a money loss, too, but one readily prevented. With surface protection wood cannot rot or wear—with surface protection metal cannot rust.

Any deterioration is a loss, whether of buildings, inside or out, of iron or wooden fences, furniture, carriages, wagons, farming machinery—everything. Anything with a surface needs protection—all wear and tear starts first at the surface—save the surface and you save all.

THIS ANNOUNCEMENT is issued by the Canadian Save the Surface Campaign Committee, for the purpose of educating the public in the Preservative and Protective value of Paint, Varnish and Allied Products for the Conservation of Property, and has received the approval of the Canadian Trade Commission in the following words:

WINIFRED BLACK

Writes About "Soldiers of Peace."

Copyright, 1919, by Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.

Dear Winifred Black:

I am writing this just to show you and the brave little girl soldier you told of in a recent article the truth of what you said and a situation quite similar.

We came directly from England to this town, which was little more than a village then, and had only lived here one year when our mother died, leaving five children, the oldest 13 and the youngest 2. Our father was only 32 then, and all he had in the world was good health and courage as his assets. Here we were, strangers in a strange land, among people who did not understand us, because we were different and robbed of the dearest thing on earth, the love and care of a good mother.

The oldest, a boy of 13, had many a fight at school before he was recognized among his fellows. But his teachers liked him and took great interest in him, and today the little "Johnny" is holding down a job that none of the boys who fought him and called him names could tackle. But he has had a hard struggle, deprived of his mother so young. He married young, but his wife ran away with another man, leaving him with three small children to rear and educate himself. But he has stuck to the job, and now they are a credit to him.

The rest of us are married and well situated in life, though not all in the same place, and my father makes his home with me. He has visited his native land and traveled quite a little in this country, comfortable now, if not happy, in his old age, a rather happy ending to the story, don't you think?

I feel this may prove an inspiration to those soldiers of peace in civilian clothes, so please forward it to them.

A FRIEND.

Winifred Black

Soldiers of peace — how good it is to hear of them!

How fine to read the call of their friendly roll of honor!

How many of them do you know?

I can count them by the score, if I only think a little. Brave men who hold up their heads and go on with the fight even though their hearts are broken, and they're tired of the everlasting struggle, and the never-ending disappointment.

Courageous women, heads up, eyes light, at the call of duty, weary-hearted, sick to the very soul, but fighting, fighting—on.

And smiling as they go.

Those are the people I love—the people who smile.

A wise woman and I were together at a little party not long ago, and one there was among us, the gayest of all.

"Who is she?" asked the wise woman leaning to me. "She must have had a great deal of trouble—she has such a bright smile."

And it was true what she said, for I knew the woman who smiled, and I love her and honor her because—she smiles.

What a story it is, in that letter at the head of this article—nothing romantic and high flown about it, just a plain little story of plain, every-day life—yet who shall say that there aren't heroes in it? Heroes worthy of the croix de guerre itself.

Here's looking at you, "Johnny," English Johnny with the blue eyes and the fair Saxon hair. You are a stranger here no longer, and you and your children are of the kind that make Canada what it is.

Happy ending—how could such a story told by such a spirit have any ending that isn't happy?

Brave hearts, true faith, devoted love—real courage, real standing by duty, real devotion to principle—these are the jewels and the only jewels worth cherishing in the human heart.

Here's to you, Grandfather! What a happy age is yours, with you children and your grandchildren around you.

Where Are They?

You had the courage and the ambition to cross the sea and come to this new country to make a place for yourself and your own—what fools they were to try to discourage that boy of yours because he had a different accent and wore clothes of a little different cut. He didn't come of the kind of blood to be easily discouraged, and he made good like his father before him. Now his children are making him happy, and who would change places with his faithless wife, or with the light man who carried her away?

Gone, they are gone, drifting somewhere down the turgid stream of their own desire. Poor things, what wouldn't they give to have such an outlook in life as yours?

I'm glad I got that letter; it makes my heart warm to read it.

ALDBORO ORGANIZES W. I.

On Tuesday last the Aldboro S. S. No. 11, Red Cross Society met at the home of Mrs. A. D. Paterson, concession 3, to reorganize into a Women's Institute. The district president, Mrs. M. McKillop, West Lorne, presided, and 32 women were in attendance, members from Rodney and West Lorne assisting in the program.

The following officers were elected: President, Mrs. A. D. Paterson; first vice-president, Mrs. John Stricker; second vice-president, Mrs. Wilson Turk; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Arthur Wilson; district director, Mrs. William Turk.

A most enjoyable afternoon was spent, and a membership of 22 was secured. Refreshments were served by the women of the former Red Cross Society. It is felt that much pleasure and profit will result to the individual and the neighborhood from the new organization.

ST. MARY'S W. I.

The St. Mary's branch of the Perth County Women's Institute, who meet in the council chamber, town hall, on the second Thursday of each month, have elected new officers as follows: President, Mrs. Thomas Brewer; vice-president, Mrs. N. M. Currie; auditors, Mrs. R. Hine and Miss Fairbairn; program committee, Mrs. L. A. Hall, convener; district director, Mrs. (Dr.) Sparks; secretary-treasurer, Miss M. McVannel.

GRANTON W. I.

The summer meeting of the Women's Institute will be held in the basement of the Methodist Church on Tuesday, June 24, at 2:30 p.m. The Government lecturer will be present, and will give a timely address. Other outside talent will take part in the program. Lunch will be served and visitors made especially welcome.

The officers for the coming year are as follows: Honorary president, C. C. Powers; president, A. German; first vice-president, Mrs. (Dr.) Dann; second vice-president, Mrs. A. Westman; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Wm. Lambourne; corresponding secretary, Mrs. J. INSTITUTES OF WEST ELGIN HOLD ANNUAL MEETING AT IONA

Urge All Branches To Try For Medical School Inspection.

The annual district meeting of West Elgin Women's Institutes was held at Iona on Monday, Mrs. L. H. Brown, Iona, presiding. At the morning session, sixty women were present. The summarized report read by the secretary showed splendid results of the work done by the eight branches in the past year. In all 81 meetings were held, with a total attendance of 1,640. A net amount of $5,044.44 was raised, and 2,167 pairs of socks knit by hand. The total membership was 279.

The following officers were elected for the coming year: President, Mrs. M. McKillop, West Lorne; first vice-president, Mrs. S. Backus, Wallacetown; second vice-president, Mrs. J. C. McMillan, Crinan; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. G. A. McLevey, Rodney.

Round Table Discussion.

Lunch was served by the Iona ladies at noon, and in the afternoon a round table conference was conducted by Mrs. T. Sim, which promoted discussion along interesting lines, and several most interesting papers were read.

The school medical inspection committee reported a scheme to have representatives from each branch to interview the trustees in their immediate districts in view of procuring rural medical school inspection for the schools of West Elgin early in the fall.

Memorial Hospital.

Dr. Lawrence of St. Thomas spoke of the proposed memorial hospital, and Miss McTavish of Parkhill gave an interesting address on "Books and Reading." One hundred or more women attended the afternoon meeting and went home with greater enthusiasm and a firm resolve to have a part in the many progressive pursuits suggested and undertaken.

Two Mothers' Clubs Close Year's Work For Summer Months

Chesley Avenue Club To Hold Garden Party June 26th.

The closing event of the Chesley Avenue Mothers' Club took the form of a social evening, which was largely attended, the retiring president, Mrs. Mason, occupying the chair. Two interesting addresses were heard, one from D. E. Gibbs, principal of the school, who referred to the kindly feeling and sympathy existing between teachers and mothers, and the other from Rev. Mr. Young. An interesting program included the following numbers: A reading by Mrs. Young, vocal solos by Mrs. Barrow, Messrs. Bull and Collard, whistling solo by Mr. Alison. Mr. Stein acted as accompanist.

At the close of the program the retiring president thanked the club for their support during the year and the new president, Mrs. Pellow, took the chair for dismissal. She announced that the club would hold a garden party on June 26 at the junction of Hamilton road and Trafalgar street, the proceeds to be in aid of two "flu" widows. Arrangements were also made for the annual mothers' club picnic at Springbank on July 16.

Victoria Club Picnic.

The Victoria Mothers' Club held its annual picnic to Springbank on Tuesday last and it was pronounced the most successful yet, about 80 being present. This included Principal McKone and the teachers of the school. After a sumptuous supper, races were run and games enjoyed.

Daily Bible Question Club

ONE GOLDEN TEXT QUESTION.

By Rev. T. S. Linscott, D.D.

Love. 1 Cor. 13.

QUESTIONS FOR TODAY.

19. Verses 8-13.—Can despondency, or doubt, or depression, or hopelessness, or any other bad feeling, occupy the heart that is filled with love?

20. What will be the relative values or uses in Heaven of faith, hope, eloquence, knowledge, love? (This is one of the questions which may be answered in writing by the members of the club.)

21. What is really the sum total of all things, or that which sums up in itself all the blessedness, nobility and happiness, that the mind can conceive or the heart crave, and why is it so?

Golden text—Now abideth faith, hope, love, these three; and the greatest of these is love. I. Cor. xiii., 13.

WE HAVE ALL THINGS IN CHRIST.

When the Queen of Sheba came to Jerusalem with her retinue of soldiers and servants to visit Solomon and to put to a test Solomon's wisdom, it is said that after she had used every means to exhaust his knowledge she went away all bewildered with wonder, and said, "the half was not told me." All who accept of Christ, and in whose hearts, faith, hope and love flourish, say the same thing about Him as the Queen of Sheba said about Solomon, only infinitely more so. Think of all the wonderful things you have heard about Christ and multiply them many times, and you will then find that the half has not been told.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

TELL IT TO THE SOCIETY EDITOR.

Miss Katharine Coles, daughter of Col. and Mrs. Coles, has returned home from Loretta Abbey, Toronto, after completing her year there.

Mr. Gleeson and Miss Gleeson of 543 King street, have returned home after attending the funeral of their sister, Mrs. Robert Cleghorn of Toronto.

Rev. Canon G. C. Hill of Goderich, formerly rector of St. Paul's Church, Regina, will be a week-end visitor in the city, preaching at the morning service on Sunday in St. Paul's Cathedral.

Mrs. James Inkster of Victoria, and her small children have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. George Reid and Mr. and Mrs. George H. Gillespie at Port Stanley. The Rev. James Inkster is in Scotland.

Alexander Leitch, Strathroy, Ont., announces the engagement of his second daughter, Catherine Elizabeth, to Lee Wallace Crawford, of Vancouver, B. C., only son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Crawford, Calgary, Alta., the marriage to take place next month.

Members of the Outlook (Girls') Mission Band and the King's Messengers (Boys') Club of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, held their annual joint picnic yesterday, an excursion out to the home of Walter Cation at Crumlin. Automobiles called for the young people at the church at 4 o'clock, and brought them back again at 8:30 o'clock.

Mrs. (Rev.) J. E. Holmes, who is leaving the city shortly for Stratford was presented with a beautiful wrist watch by the members of the Ladies' Aid and W. M. S. of Ridout Street Church, on Thursday afternoon. Accompanying the presentation was an illuminated address, telling of the valued services of Mrs. Holmes in these departments of church work and voicing a regret that she must take her departure so soon.

Verne Rowell, B.A., of the editorial staff of the Ottawa Evening Citizen, a former well-known local newspaperman, came up from Ottawa this week, and is returning east this evening, accompanied by Mrs. Rowell. On their way they will visit in Ogdensburg, N. Y., and in Prescott, Ont. They have taken furnished apartments in Ottawa for the present.

Mrs. Rowell (formerly Alberta Hannah), just completed her second year in the arts department of the Western University this spring. She had a few months' experience in newspaper work a year ago.

The young couple were married the beginning of June, the bride remaining here until desirable apartments could be obtained in Ottawa.

CHAMBERS—PHILIPS.

A quiet wedding took place on Wednesday evening at the home of Rev. A. C. Bingham and Mrs. Bingham, when Florence Rebecca Phillips and Albert Gordon Chambers, both of Alvinston, were united in marriage.

The bride, who was becomingly gowned in white, with the customary veil and orange blossoms, had as her bridesmaid Miss Edith M. York of this city. The groom was supported by John C. Hopper of Alvinston.

"Woo'd and married and a'!
Is na' she very weel aff
To be woo'd and married and a'?"

—Samuel Rogers.

CALDWELL—BOYD.

A beautiful house wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. de Groache, 51 Askin street, when Agnes May Boyd of this city became the bride of Chas. W. Caldwell of Glendale, the Rev. W. J. Ashton of Wellington Street Methodist Church performing the ceremony. The bride, who was given away by her brother, was attended by Miss Ethel Lane of Belmont, and the groom by his brother, David M. Caldwell. Miss Mary McBurney of this city played the wedding music.

After a dainty wedding breakfast the young couple left via G. T. R. for points east. On their return they will reside on the groom's farm at Glendale.

LAVENDER—TITE.

A quiet wedding was solemnized at St. George's Church when Dora Galloway, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Tite, Mount Pleasant avenue, was united in marriage to Frederick Bertram Lavender, eldest son of the late F. W. Lavender, J.P., of Walsall.

The bride, who was given away by her brother-in-law, Lieut. Blathwayte, looked charming in a suit of silk georgette crepe.

The groom, who has lately arrived from overseas, having served with the 14th Canadian Battalion for the past four years, was attended by J. K. Darch.

The bridal couple were the recipients of many beautiful presents. They will make their home on Dufferin avenue.

BLACKMAN—PUGH.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized on Tuesday noon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Pugh of Hamilton road, when their only daughter, May Gordon, was united in marriage to Gordon R. Blackman of Lambeth. The bride, who was given away by her father, was gowned in white georgette crepe, trimmed with seed pearls, with veil of embroidered net, made in Juliet cap fashion and wreathed with orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of Bride's roses. The bridesmaid, Miss Ella Berryman of Port Huron, wore pink georgette with pink picture hat, and carried pink roses. Earl Blackman supported the groom.

The ceremony was performed beneath an arch of orange blossoms and guests to the number of fifty were present. After the ceremony a dainty wedding breakfast was served, the house being prettily decorated with sweet peas and ferns.

The happy couple, who were the recipients of many handsome gifts, left on the afternoon train for the east, and on their return they will reside at Lambeth.

ANNUAL MEETING OF THE SOUTH OXFORD WOMEN'S INSTITUTES

The annual district meeting of the South Oxford Women's Institutes was held in the Springford Baptist Church, the meeting starting at 11 a.m., with a large delegation from the entire district. The president, Miss Irene Wallace of Burgessville, occupied the chair. Her address dealt with the annual convention in Toronto.

Luncheon was served in the basement of the church at 12:30, and the session resumed at 1:30 p.m., with an address by the provincial speaker, Miss Watson of Ayr, who outlined the federal organization of the society.

Medical School Inspection.

Mrs. Moulton of Mount Elgin dealt with a very interesting topic on "Medical School Inspection," and her remarks were highly indorsed by all present. Miss Pedley, in the absence of her mother, Mrs. Pedley of Woodstock, gave a very instructive and timely address on "The Children's Aid Society." Mrs. Pollard of Burgessville selected for her topic, "Hot Lunches in Rural Schools," and Mrs. (Dr.) J. B. Reed of Tillsonburg gave an instructive illustrated address on the correct manner of marking the ballot in the coming referendum vote.

Next Meeting at Mount Elgin.

The various secretaries read reports of their districts and an invitation from the Mount Elgin Society to hold the annual meeting in that place next year was accepted. A hearty vote of thanks was tendered the retiring president, Miss Wallace of Burgessville, who has acted in that capacity for the past two years. The annual picnic will be held on June 20 at the home of Mrs. (Dr.) J. B. Reid, when a large attendance is expected from the district. The Provincial Government is sending a special speaker for the occasion.

President, Miss L. Eustice, Springford; vice-president, Mrs. J. R. Stevens, Norwich; secretary-treasurer, Miss McCrae, Tillsonburg; district directors, Mrs. A. T. Walker of Beaconfield, Mrs. Wm. Pollard of Burgessville, Mrs. H. Sinden of Maple Park, Mrs. John Dutton of Mount Elgin, Mrs. Wm. Kennedy of Rosanna, Mrs. Mynik of Springford, Miss Inez Blow of Springford, Mrs. Albert Stover of Norwich, Mrs. W. F. Oatman of Cornell, Mrs. A. Honsberger of Brownsville, Mrs. Wm. Imrie of Sommerville, Miss Strong and Mrs. W. Bone of Tillsonburg; auditors, Mrs. J. B. Reid and Mrs. E. Gibson of Tillsonburg; district director to federal convention, Mrs. Pollard of Burgessville.

HERE'S a welcome to the returned soldier and his bride. May their wedded life be a long and happy one.

If she is a "British Bride" she will be very fond of tea—and good tea, at that.

She will first be attracted to Red Rose Tea by the name which will remind her of the "Red Rose" of "Old England".

And when she tries it she will again be reminded of the "Homeland", for she will find Red Rose Tea the same kind of Tea that she has used at home—a rich, full-flavored blend, consisting chiefly of ASSAM teas grown in British-owned plantations in northern India.

The battle was as pretty a pitching duel as has been staged here this year, Scott showing splendid form for the Indians. At that, he lost the game in the second innings, when a three-bagger by Nelson and a two-bagger by Carroll combined to make the necessary counter.

Scott struck out ten men all told, and he had a fine break of curves and control, which fairly dazzled the heavy hitters on Tom Nelson's pay-roll. With any kind of hitting behind him, he would have been returned the winner.

"Dad" Stewart in Game.

One of the bright features of the game was the return of "Dad" Stewart, always a popular favorite in Brantford. "Dad" takes over the London team on Saturday, but he was pretty much there as manager tonight. At any rate, not having faced a pitcher in many moons, he pulled Hagel out in the ninth and substituted himself. The Brantford fans were honestly glad to see the old boy respond with a spanking single to centre, and it was only the third one of the evening off Gokey. But, as usual, the London club gummed things up.

Needed a Hit Here.

Mitchell had drawn a pass in the ninth, and there was no one out. Then Stewart cracked his single to centre. The necessary sacrifice was not forthcoming, Grodick cracking the ball to short and forcing Mitchell at third. Pettinger, next up, forced Grodick at second, Stewart getting to third. The best Reeves could do was a liner to centre. The Indians were also dangerous in the ninth, and a sacrifice hit would have put a different complexion on the game.

The first Brantford run was an earned affair, but the second was the result of loose work on the part of the visitors. With two out in the fifth, J. Murphy was safe on a fielder's choice, and stole second. Newman missed the throw on Murphy at first, and the two Murphys endeavored to work the delayed steal. Grodick let the throw from Milligan drop, J. Murphy scoring a cheap run. Brady struck out to retire the side.

No Double-Header for "Dad."

The Brantford officials were anxious to pull off a double-header here on Saturday, but Manager Stewart objected tonight, as a double-header is against the league ruling on the first trip around the circuit by any club. The Red Sox are anxious to improve their standing at London's expense, but the Indians reported tonight that they had only two pitchers.

The new men on the Brantford club, Catcher Carroll, Third Baseman Cully and Left Fielder Nelson, were well received, and showed improvement on the players let go today by the Red Sox.

BATTLE CREEK GOES SEVEN INNINGS BEFORE COOK'S PITCHING IS SOLVED

Umpire Was in Trouble Throughout Game For Questionable Decisions —Lamb Hit Winning Run.

BATTLE CREEK, Mich., June 20.—It took Battle Creek seven innings to solve Cook this afternoon, with Bay City maintaining a two-run lead from the seventh. But in the seventh Jewell walked, Jenkins was safe on Byrne's poor throw, and Kaylor scored both with a double.

Game Stopped Several Times by Arguments—Crowd Swarm On Field When Lowry Ran Into Short On Third Base Line.

KITCHENER, June 20.—The second game of the series between the Hamilton Tigers and Kitchener Beavers was won by the visitors by a score of 10 to 3, and was featured by raw decisions of Umpire Anderson, who gave the poorest exhibition witnessed here this season. On several occasions the game was stopped owing to arguments with the official, and things looked bad for the umpire. Sharp pitched for the Beavers, and was hit hard by the Tigers, no less than five of thirteen hits being two-baggers. Glasier was in the box for the Tigers, and during the first seven innings kept the hits scattered. A rally was started in the eighth by the Beavers, which brought three runs across the plate and prevented a shut-out. The crowd swarmed onto the field in the sixth inning, when Lowry ran into Sharp on the third base line, but no damage was done. The score:

ORIOLES EASILY MAKE WIN FROM THE HUSTLERS

BALTIMORE, Md., June 20.—Banging Clifford and Brogan for eighteen hits, the Orioles easily won the first game of the series from Rochester 15 to 8. Maisel and Lawry each secured four hits. Kelly, Chinault and See of the visitors, knocked home runs.

Pitcher Clifford was knocked out of the box by a team-mate. Nagle, after fielding a bunt, made a fast throw toward first, but the ball struck Clifford on the head and he quit the mound. The score:

BABE RUTH MAKES GREAT CLIMB IN BATTING LIST

Chicago, Ills., June 21.—Babe Ruth, Boston's slugging pitcher and outfielder, has battled himself from twenty-third place last week to eighth place among the players who have participated in twenty or more games, according to American League averages released today, which include games of last Wednesday. He raised his mark from .254 to .319. Cobb continues to set the pace with an average of .358. Ruth has five home runs to his credit and leads in this department. Peckenpaugh of New York and Sisler of St. Louis are tied for scoring honors. Each has registered 33 tallies. Chapman, Cleveland, increased his lead among the sacrifice hitters, and now has 22 to his credit. Johnson's seventeen stolen bases continued the Clevelander in the lead in that department.

Leading batters: Cobb, Detroit, .358; Peckenpaugh, New York, .354; Veach, Detroit, .352; Sisler, St. Louis, .345; Johnston, Cleveland, .340; Rice, Washington, .335; Smith, Cleveland, .328; Ruth, Boston, .319; Bodie, New York, .314; Flagstead, Detroit, .313; Weaver, Chicago, .312.

Cravath, Philadelphia, held his lead among National League batters, with a mark of .418. Olsen of Brooklyn, continued to lead the run makers with 30 tallies, while Williams' mark of six home runs kept the Philadelphian in front in that department. Bigbee, Pittsburg, retained his lead among the base stealers, having pilfered 16 sacks.

CANADIAN BOXER KAYOS SEATTLE LIGHTWEIGHT

Edmonton, June 21.—Clony Tait, Canadian lightweight champion, knocked out Harry Anderson of Seattle, in the first few seconds of the fourth round of a scheduled 15-round bout here last night. The champion pressed the fight from the start, and had Anderson taking the count when the bell saved him in the third. A few weeks ago Tait and Anderson went fifteen rounds to a newspaper draw.

GUELPH BOWLERS WREST THE BOWMAN CUP FROM ORANGEVILLE PLAYERS

GUELPH, June 20.—The Bowman cup is back in Guelph after a short sojourn in Toronto and Orangeville. A rink of local challengers visited Orangeville this afternoon, and wrested the trophy from the Northern bowlers, 28 to 18. Orangeville led in the early stages of the game, but Guelph came strong at the finish, scoring 13 shots on the last five ends. The score follows:

GUELPH PLANNING SPORTS FOR VETERANS' WELCOME

GUELPH, June 20. — The Guelph Musical Society band and the soldiers' reception committee are meeting with the view of putting on a grand home reception and celebration for the boys that left the Royal City on August 2, 3 and 4. On Saturday, among the sports are horse races, the Saturday program being a 2:10 pace ($200) and a 2:30 pace ($200), and on Monday, civic holiday, a 2:19 trot ($250) and a 2:18 pace ($250), and a half-mile free-for-all ($150). Guelph has always been a good sport city, and the association have a committee that insures the citizens and returned men a rousing time. Elaborate decorations of the city are planned.

"Dad" Stewart Takes Charge of Tecumsehs

Well-Known St. Thomas Ball Player and War Veteran Replaces Hagel as Boss of Tail-Enders—Hagel Still With Club.

The London Baseball Club has shifted the management of the Tecumsehs from Ken. Hagel to Carl ("Dad") Stewart of St. Thomas, who needs no introduction to local fans. "Dad" joined the team at Brantford yesterday and took part in the game with the Red Sox. He went in as a pinch hitter, batting for Hagel, and came through with a single.

Hagel Will Remain With Team.

Hagel will stay with the club and hold down a regular position. It is also likely that Stewart will be a regular member of the line-up playing his old position in right field. "Dad" was with London when Rube Deneau had charge of a Canadian league club here, and he was one of the best hitters on the team. He usually crowded the .300 mark when he is playing every day. Stewart's last appearances in the league was with the Ottawa under Shaughnessy. Then he went to the war where he fought in many engagements with the Canadians. As a bomb thrower he gained considerable reputation in the trenches.

Players Released and Signed.

The London club has released Frank Gurney, Gurskey and Campbell, the latter, one of the new men Hagel tried out, but found him lacking ability enough to hold a place. Reeves, who was let out by Knotty Lee, has been signed for London. Reeves was with the Red Sox, when they took three games at Tecumseh Park last week, and he looked like one of their best hitters. He will play an outfield position.

HARPER HIT HARD AND CHICAGO WINS

SAGINAW LOSES ITS FIRST SERIES OF THIS SEASON

Gleich Made Sensational Play When He Grabbed Ball at His Shoe String With Bare Hand—Schriner Hit Freely.

FLINT, Mich., June 20.—Flint took the edge on the series from Saginaw tonight winning, 4 to 2. Hayes allowed the Aces only five hits, of which only two went to the outfield, while the locals hit Schriver freely.

This is the first series Saginaw has lost this season. Coble, Flint's first baser, led the attack on Saginaw, his pair of triples and single putting him in position to score three times. The first hit came in the second inning, after Allen had singled and stolen. Coble had his tap in front of the plate beaten, but McDaniels threw wide to first and Allen counted. Shea followed with a single, scoring Coble. In the fourth inning Coble tripled and again in the sixth, each time scoring on a hit by Wetzel. Gleich robbed him of another hit by a sensational play in the eighth, grabbing the ball with his bare hand at his shoestrings and doubling Murphy off first. The score:

Milverton Horseman Wins Big Stake With Trampquick

Candian Pacer Cleans Up the Union Stock Yards Event at Marion, Ohio.

W. H. Grosch, the well-known Milverton horseman, has just returned from Marion, Ohio, and while there had the pleasure of seeing his horse, Trampquick (2:07¼) win the $1,000 Union Stock Yard stake in the 2:17 pace. The race was won in three straight heats, the time in each being 2:12¼. Trampquick won every heat from behind against a field of ten stake pacers, and here showed his class.

Following the race, Mr. Grosch, was presented with a fine all-wool cooler, nicely lettered, on behalf of the Union Stock Yards, a gift he greatly appreciates. He is starting Elden Todd at Marion this week also.

NATE CORNWALL OF WALKERVILLE WINS DAILY NEWS TROPHY

CHATHAM, June 20.—Nate Cornwall of Walkerville won the Daily News trophy in the first event in the Chatham Lawn Bowling Club tournament. The runner-up was Pow of Leamington. The second event, the McGuigan trophy was won by Laing of Windsor with Colwell of Wallaceburg as runner-up, and the third event went to Oliver of Chatham, with Hanna of Wheatley runner up for the London Life trophy. The games continued until after 1 o'clock this morning.

BRANTFORD RELEASES TWO.

BRANTFORD, June 20.—The Brantford club today released infielder Minardo and outfielder Reeves. The latter was only secured from Rochester a few days ago. Infielder Nelson, who played with Jersey City last year, and infielder Cully of Buffalo reported to the Red Sox today. Reeves was signed up by the London club.

NO. 11 HOSPITAL UNIT RETURNING FROM SIBERIA

VANCOUVER, June 20.—After swinging anchor in the night the C. P. O. S. troopship Monteagle, carrying 747 returned Canadian soldiers of the Siberian expeditionary forces, docked here early this morning.

A distinguished passenger was Major-General Emslie who commanded the Canadian-Siberian forces. There were 68 officers in the party. About 200 of the men are from this district. The remainder left for the east today. The men report a very pleasant voyage across the Pacific.

Among the many details on board was No. 11 Stationary Hospital from London, Ont., under command of Lieut.-Col. J. L. Potter.

There is one more contingent of Canadian boys in Siberia. This party will be brought across on one of the Empress' boats now in the Orient.

TORONTO TELY'S ROARING EDITOR CREATES RUMPUS

SCORNS H. C. OF L. PROBE

Says General-Manager of the Davies Company Is Too Cute For Amateurs.

OTTAWA, June 20.—Proceedings before the cost of living committee this morning were such as are rarely paralleled before a committee of parliament. John R. Robinson, editor of The Toronto Telegram, had been called in regard to certain editorials he had written on the work of the committee, and from beginning to end it was one long cross-fire of altercation. Mr. Robinson had not taken the oath many minutes before he had a sharp tilt with Mr. Devlin. A little later he and S. W. Nesbitt, M. P., were both standing and gesticulating at each other.

The chairman interposed and suggested a policeman.

The committee decided to send for the sergeant-at-arms. Eventually, the sergeant-at-arms, wearing his sword, gravely walked up to the committee table, but he only stayed a few minutes. A policeman came into the room to take his place, and followed the proceedings with an amused smile.

Says He's Not on Trial.

When questioned by Mr. Devlin, Mr. Robinson protested that if he had written anything libelous, either civilly or criminally, he was responsible to the courts. "I am not going to be put on trial before this committee," he called out, "for that article."

Mr. Devlin: "We want to get the facts. You are an incident before the commitee."

Mr. Devlin proceeded with a series of questions relating to the editorial on the examination of Mr. Fox of the William Davies Company, by the committee.

"My point was," said the witness, "that Mr. Fox was much cleverer than you and that he did not present the whole situation." Mr. Fox, continued witness, did not give to the committee the fact that he was the head of the biggest chain of retail stores of the Dominion, and could have made a full disclosure of the whole commission.

Mr. Devlin: "Do you know as a matter of fact whether he could say so or not?"

Discredited by Hocken.

Mr. Hocken entered the fray. "I want to say here," he said, "to keep Mr. Robinson quiet——."

"I don't think it is possible," the chairman interjected, with a smile.

Mr. Hocken: "I want to give my knowledge of the practice of Mr. Robinson in The Telegram. I don't think a single statement in the paper is worthy of credence until it has been corroborated. If it were pertinent to the inquiry I could give instances where Mr. Robinson has printed stories which were absolute lies and was told they were lies before he printed them."

Here Mr. Robinson heatedly demanded if he would be given a chance to reply. He arose from his seat and was sharply told by Mr. Nesbitt to sit down. There was a sharp interchange mentioned above.

"This committee," the chairman called out, "is not going to be reduced to the level of a farce while I am here. You were subpoenaed to give evidence in relation to facts. The Parliament of Canada appointed this committee and gave it specific work to do, and we are going to do it. If Mr. Robinson has facts, we want to know what they are. Mr. Robinson is going to act in accord with the rules of Parliament, or we will find a way of compelling him to do so. We are not going to have a bear garden.

Calls for Policeman.

Mr. Reid: "I would move that we have a policeman."

There was an outburst of laughter and Mr. Reid protested that he was quite sincere.

Mr. Euler seconded the motion, and it was carried in the form that the sergeant-at-arms should furnish proper officers to maintain order.

Mr. Devlin intimated after a few more questions that he was through.

"Very well," Mr. Robinson remarked, turning in the direction of Mr. Hocken. "Now that the Tiber has overflown, bring on the Boyne, Mr. Hocken."

"Who are the public?" Mr. Nesbitt asked.

At this point the sergeant-at-arms came into the room and there was discussion as to Mr. Robinson's refusal to sit down earlier in the sitting. Mr. Robinson declared that he had told Mr. Nesbitt he would not sit down, not the chairman.

The chairman: "I told you to sit down."

Mr. Robinson: "Well, I apologize to you. I did not understand you."

Bunch of Amateurs.

Mr. Robinson claimed that the committee had not investigated margarine. Margarine was made in England for 12 cents, he said, and sold for 16 cents. He had been informed that it was a better article. He was questioned as to his knowledge given before the committee prior to the writing of the editorial. Mr. Robinson said he did not have the official text of the proceedings, but had written it from newspaper reports and also from what he knew of the members of the committee. He thought he would be recreant to the public if he had not written the article and he would write more like it. He wrote the article knowing the facts and stood by every word of it. He had taken the position that a committee of amateurs was not competent to examine an expert like Mr. Fox. Mr. Euler proceeded to ask the witness to place the facts before the committee. Mr. Robinson replied by producing a printed statement and making further references to margarine in England. "We are paying too much for railway services. You helped to squander money," he told Mr. Euler. "You may bluff the public, but we can't." Asked by Mr. Sutherland as to Mr. Fox's statement, that oleomargarine was as satisfactory as butter, Mr. Robinson said it would have been better if they had got the price of the manufacture of it. It was sixteen cents in England and 35 cents in Canada. He thought the packers honestly believed that they were philanthropists, but the committee failed in not examining Mr. Fox regarding the cost of operating the retail stores. If they had been as particular with Mr. Fox as they had been with him, they would have got more information.

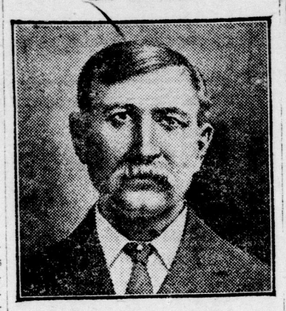

Not Quizzed by Counsel.

Mr. Henderson, counsel for the committee, stated that he saw no reason to doubt the ability of the members of the committee to elicit any information they desired from Mr. Fox or Mr. Robinson, and he had taken no part in the examination. He doubted if any good purpose could be served by continuing. Mr. Robinson was accordingly released from further examination.

Before the committee arose, Chairman Nicholson stated that he wished to amplify what had been said regarding press reports of the proceedings of the committee. He felt that the committee had been reported "with all reasonable accuracy," but the headliners appeared to have a desire to feature the sensational. He had compared the official reports with the press reports sent out and he found that the body of the press reports was "perfectly legitimate."

DIVORCE COURTS FOR CANADA A REAL PROSPECT

Bill Is Given Second Reading With Approval of Both Leaders.

R. C. MEMBERS OPPOSE IT

Argument Is That Redress Should Be Available For the Poor as Well as Rich.

OTTAWA, June 20.—A strong probability that divorce courts will be established in Canada was forecast in the Commons today when, with the approval of Sir Robert Borden, W. F. Nickle's bill relating to divorce was given second reading. This stage was not reached without a fight, A. E. Fripp of Ottawa, seconded by Mr. McIsaac, moving the six months' hoist for the bill. Mr. Fripp's amendment was voted down on a division of 35 to 68 against. The measure was subsequently considered in committee, and it is expected that it will get a third reading this session. There is some doubt expressed as to the bill securing the approval of the Senate, which now deals with divorce cases, except for the Maritime Provinces and British Columbia.

Object of the Bill.

The object aimed at in Mr. Nickle's bill is to establish divorce courts in provinces where they do not now exist by giving jurisdiction in divorce matters to the superior court and to give jurisdiction to the exchequer court in divorce matters for the Dominion. The latter proposal, he explained, would free Roman Catholic judges of Quebec from the necessity of hearing divorce cases.

In the division today Roman Catholic members of the House voted against the bill, which received the support of D. D. McKenzie, Opposition leader, as well as the prime minister.

Arguments in favor of the bill advanced included the contention that, while there should be no change in the grounds for which divorces are granted, they should be made possible for the poor as well as the rich.

Technical Education.

During consideration of the technical education bill at the evening session, Opposition members expressed the view that it might be better to pay the proposed grants for technical education directly to the provinces, as there was a possibility of interference with provincial rights.

Hon. J. A. Calder pointed out that an agreement in regard to the matter had been arrived at with the provinces at the conference with the provincial prime ministers.

HEATING SATISFACTION

WHEN a Hecla Furnace is installed in your home, you know once and for all time complete heating satisfaction.

The Hecla Furnace anticipates all the features of your ideal furnace. It is the result of many years of experience and careful study of the heating problems confronting Canadian householders.

No Dust or Gas

Your home will be entirely free from dust and gas with a Hecla Furnace. The patented Fused Joints make it absolutely leak-proof for the life of the furnace.

Saves Coal

The Hecla Furnace has a patented Steel Ribbed Firepot which gives the furnace three times the radiating surface of ordinary furnaces. Thus you obtain the same amount of heat and save one day's coal every week. By actual test Hecla Furnaces save one ton in seven.

Abundant Moisture

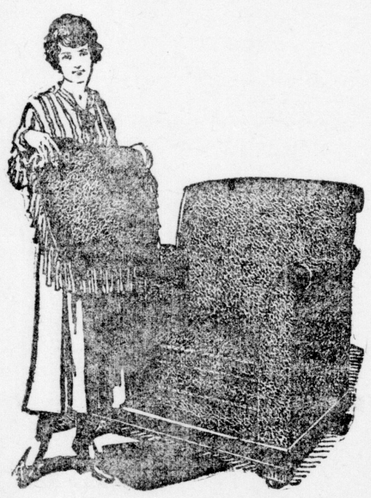

The Hecla Circular Waterpan is a wonderful improvement over old-style waterpans. It runs completely around the furnace, assuring sufficient of the moisture so necessary to good health and plant life. It assures even evaporation—every room getting the same amount of moisture.

Ask your nearest Hecla dealer for literature telling you all about Hecla Furnaces. Or if you don't know him, write us direct. We will send booklet as well as his name free.

REX BEACH'S MELODRAMATIC MYSTERY OF NEW ORLEANS SHOWING AT THE MAJESTIC

"The Crimson Gardenia" To Be Presented at the Popular Theatre on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday Next — Also Harold Lloyd and Arbuckle Comedies — Herbert Watrous, the Metropolitan Opera Star, in Vaudeville.

Accustomed to depict the conflict of primitive passions, Rex Beach is too skilled a novelist to overlook the appealing element in the human beings he characterizes. Indeed, much of his prestige and popularity has been derived from that very gift. He paints his canvas with big, sweeping strokes, yet the figures in his dramas are essentially human and appealing. "The Brand" demonstrated that and it is confirmed in "The Crimson Gardenia," newest of his photodramas to be presented at the Majestic Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday.

Produced under the personal supervision of Rex Beach, the drama reveals the noted author in a new light even while demonstrating afresh his virility and tremendous "punch." He has written what is described as "a romance of the Mardi Gras," but it is much more.

"The Crimson Gardenia" is a melodramatic mystery with New Orleans as a colorful, ever-changing background. A band of expert counterfeiters furnishes the sinister element, sharply contrasted with the piquant simplicity of a girl, who has just arrived from Paris and the romantic masculinity of a young New Yorker eager for a carnival adventure. Into this network of conflicting desires Rex Beach infuses power and reality and pathos. The latter comes from a little, old blind Frenchwoman, Mere Felice (Gertrude Claire). She sits patiently in a small back room waiting for her son whom she has not seen in years. By all odds Mere Felice is the most appealing character in the play.

Her most poignant moment comes when her niece, Madelon Dorette (Hedda Nova), brings to her a young man whom she believes to be Mere Felice's son. This is accomplished in an extremely adroit way, characteristic of Rex Beach when evolving a tale of mystery and intrigue. The girl has mingled with the merrymakers to keep an appointment with Mere Felice's son, whom she has never seen. He is a fugitive from justice and can only meet her while masked. At the same time another man, Roland Van Dam (Owen Moore), happens to wear the identifying device chosen by Mere Felice's son—a gardenia.

It is this flower that later becomes crimsoned with blood and give the play its name. Mere Felice's son is murdered, but her blindness causes her to dwell in the happy realization that he has returned to her.

The overture for the first half of the week will be "Chu Chin Chow," the most popular composition of the season.

HERBERT WATROUS AT THE MAJESTIC ALL NEXT WEEK.

Herbert Waterous, the great Metropolitan opera star, the possessor of one of the greatest bass voices in America, has been induced to remain for one more week at the Majestic. Mr. Watrous, whose voice rings out like the bass notes of some great church organ, has received the greatest ovation of any of the vocalists which have yet been heard at the Majestic. Of all the big operatic stars which have sung at the Majestic this season, Mr. Watrous seems to be the most popular, indeed it is almost impossible for him to leave the stage during his evening appearance.

Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday Mr. Watrous will sing the famous Armourer's songs from "Robin Hood," his favorite and best-known number.

HAROLD LLOYD IN HIS LATEST COMEDY, "BACK TO THE WOODS."

Harold Lloyd, famous and popular Pathe comedian, whose comedies never fail to provide laughs, will be seen at the Majestic Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday in his latest "Back to the Woods," with Bebe Daniels and Harry Pollard. It is the story of the Sylvan adventures of this famous trio of merrymakers and promises some beautiful woodland scenes.

"THE BUSHER" IS A FILM TO DELIGHT BASEBALL FANS.

To speak in the parlance of baseball, which furnishes the atmosphere of his latest story, Charles Ray bats an average of 1,000 in "The Busher," the new Thomas H. Ince-Paramount picture, which will open an engagement at the Majestic Thursday, Friday and Saturday, next week.

The story concerns a youth in a small town who is gifted with a remarkable throwing arm and attracts the attention of a league manager. He is promoted into professional baseball, but suffers a noticeable affliction of inflated chest and falls down on the job, just when all his home folks are at the game to see his wonderful pitching.

He takes an oath never again to play but to save his sweetheart's home, which is jeopardized by her brother's betting, he goes again to the pitchers' slab and wins the season's "rubber" for his own home town. There is a pretty love story and the picture sparkles with humor throughout.

The situations are novel and refreshing. It will tickle the lovers of the great American game, for there are some subtle bits of diamond satire. It is especially interesting to those who saw Ray in his previous baseball picture, "The Pinch Hitter," in which he turned the tide of events at the bat.

He is supported by Colleen Moore, Jack Gilbert and Otto Hoffman. The story was written by Earle Snell, picturized by R. Cecil Smith, and directed by Jerome Storm.

COMEDY "WELCOME, LITTLE STRANGER" IS REAL DELIGHT.

From tripping the mysterious steps of ancient dancers a la Isadore Duncan to the even more mysterious manipulation of Hash! ! And then they got the notion that she was married to her boss! ! Him? Why, she wouldn't be caught under the same umbrella with him even if it rained every day. Be his wife, say, she wanted the gay life, no domestics for her. And she was so sweet and demure, too, golden hair, pink cheeks, baby eyes of blue, oh, yes, she looked innocent, but you never can tell. We bachelors have our troubles, as you will see when you laugh over the big two-reel comedy at the Majestic next Thursday, Friday and Saturday, which is entitled, "Welcome Little Stranger."

CHARLIE CHAPLIN IN 'SUNNYSIDE' SHOWING AT THE GRAND SOON

"Sunnyside," Charlie Chaplin's third million dollar picture, the first and only picture he has made in seven months, will have its first and exclusive showing at the Grand the entire week of June 30. The fascination of this rural tale has taken the "eminent expressionist" far away from the usual screen conventionalities, leaving him free to roam and romance the green fields of simplicity in search of comedy outcomes. While "Sunnyside" smiles a welcome to the occasional visitors from the outside world, some few of the meagre population have developed personalities whose self-centered ideas hold little consideration for life beyond their all-proud village. But among them is one in whom the splendor of sunshine and youth has planted that delicious endowment — humor. Of course, that particular one is none other than Charlie, whose ingenious mirth not only refuses to falter at the seeming disappointments of a small town fate, but masters the sting of mental duties by idealizing his commonplace life. Edna Purviance, leading woman, appears to advantage in her wholesome portrayal of the unsophisticated village lass. Other favorites in the cast are Albert Austin, Henry Bergman, Tom Wilson, Lloyd Underwood, Tom Wood and Park Jones. Everyone in London still remembers Chaplin's other two great successes under the First National Banner, the only organization releasing his million dollar comedies, and now will come the opportunity of witnessing the greatest of all, "A Dog's Life" and "Shoulder Arms" broke all records in London. Watch "Sunnyside."

The regular vaudeville season closes at the Grand today with a bill of unusual excellence and variety, consisting of five all-star acts of Keith vaudeville and a splendid photoplay feature. Heading the vaudeville bill is Great Koban and company, a trio of exceptionally clever Japanese artists who present a thrilling and daring act in which they introduce many original novelties in foot juggling, contortion, electric fire spinning, Risley work and "The Bicycle Perch" as well as many other feats of daring of strictly Japanese origin. The various numbers are performed artistically, as one can always expect where the performers are Japanese.

Another big feature of this bill is Al Shayne, "The Singing Beauty," who offers a comedy-singing act that is a surprise as well as being the laughing hit of the performance. Authorities contend that Al Shayne has the most pliable facial expression on any character comedian today on the stage, an assertion that will be easily verified after witnessing his extremely funny number.

Boothby and Everdean, a man and woman, will present an offering under the title of "Novelty Songs and Travesty" that is a riot of laughter and good cheer.

Other acts on the bill is the Morris Manley trio, featuring little Mildred, the phenomenal child vocalist, who offer a mixture of singing, comedy and dancing, and La Hoen and Du Preece, a pair of versatile artists who entertain with comedy, songs and sharp shooting.

May Allison in "Castles in the Air."

"Castles in the Air," a delightful five-act Metro comedy drama, featuring beautiful May Allison will be the feature photoplay at the Grand again today. As a romantic little usher in a fashion theatre, Miss Allison is seen at her charming best.

MANAGER MINHINNICK OF GRAND ANNOUNCES SUMMER POLICY TO BEGIN MONDAY

Strong Program Is Announced For Summer — Regular Vaudeville Season Comes to Conclusion Tonight — Productions of Big Stars Booked For Showing During the Warm Months.

Manager Minhinnick wishes to announce that today will mark the conclusion of the regular vaudeville season at the Grand. This does not mean, however, that London theatregoers will be entirely without vaudeville entertainment, for provision has been made for the continuation throughout the summer months, of one act of the popular Keith vaudeville, to be presented each half of the week in conjunction with a program of superior photoplay features, both vaudeville and picture programs to be changed twice weekly.

Three Shows Daily.

Commencing Monday, there will be presented at special summer prices, the season's biggest and best feature photoplays, comedies, travelogues, news weeklies and many other film attractions in addition to the pick of the best vaudeville acts on the well-known Keith Circuit. Special overtures by the Grand augmented orchestra will be a feature of each performance.

J. R. MINHINNICK, Manager.

First-Run Pictures.

Presenting the best known stars in their greatest productions, the Grand has always had a strong program, but the management announces that the program will be made even stronger, as the Grand has secured first run on the productions of such well-known producing companies as First National, Metro, Selznick, Mary Pickford Company, and many equally as popular organizations, who release the very latest photoplays of the screen's best-known stars, including Charlie Chaplin, Anita Stewart, Norma and Constance Talmadge, Clara Kimball Young, Nazimova, May Allison, Bert Lytell and Mary Pickford. The productions of these popular screen favorites will be shown exclusively at the Grand.

High-class acts, exceptional feature photoplays, the best comedies and excellent music all on the one program at a reasonable scale of admission and presented in a theatre that is delightfully cool and well ventilated, should make the Grand the most popular place amusement in the city during the hot months.

The regular big vaudeville season at the Grand will be resumed early in the autumn, announcement of which will be made in due course.

WAR AS THE BACKGROUND

Beautiful Young Screen Star Has Excellent Role in Play.

Marion Davies, in her second Select Picture, "The Burden of Proof," in which she is directed by Julius Steger, will be seen at the Grand Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, daily at 2:15, 7 and 9, as the opening attraction for the summer season of big photoplays. "The Burden of Proof" tells a dramatic story of today with international intrigue caused by the war as a background, but in no sense can it be called a "war picture." In this picture Miss Davies has the role of a beautiful young woman, Elaine Brooks, who is about to become the wife of Robert Ames, a nephew of a member of the cabinet.

Elaine and her mother are popular in Newport social life, but their resources are running at low ebb. Then is introduced Viola Durand, a dashing widow, who is also in love with Ames. Mrs. Durand is a member of the German secret service who is working in conjunction with Charles Kemp, editor of a weekly society paper in Washington. Kemp has information that Ames is about to be sent abroad with important government papers and he intrusts the now jealous and vindictive Mrs. Durand with the assignment of securing the papers.

Mrs. Durand's first move is to go to Newport where she ingratiates herself into the favor of Mrs. Brooks and Elaine and helps their waning fortune by having Kemp pay Mrs. Brooks liberally for intimate society gossip for his paper. She also attempts to win favor from Ames, who is also in Newport, but the latter will have nothing to do with her.

Start on Honeymoon.

Finally Elaine and Ames are married and are about to start on their honeymoon, with Ames carrying important dispatches which the German foreign

At the Grand

TODAY, 2:15 and 7:30—Great Koban and Company, Japanese Wonder Workers; Al Shayne, "The Singing Beauty"; Boothby and Everdean, Novelty Songs and Travesty; La Hoen and Du Preece, "A Breath From the West"; Morris Manley Trio, Comedy Variety Mixture; Feature Film, May Allison, in "Castles in the Air."

MONDAY, TUESDAY and WEDNESDAY, 2:15, 7 and 9—Commencement of Summer Policy; Marion Davies in "The Burden of Proof"; Vaudeville Feature, Johnston Brothers and Johnston, a Few Moments in Minstrelsy; Comedy Film, Travelogue and News Weekly.

THURSDAY, FRIDAY and SATURDAY, 2:15, 7 and 9—May Allison, in "Almost Married"; Vaudeville Feature, Francis and Alexander, Song and Story Revue; Comedy, Travelogue and News Weekly.

COMING, ENTIRE WEEK JUNE 30—Charlie Chaplin, in His Newest First National Photoplay, "Sunnyside," His First Picture in Seven Months; will be shown only at Grand.

office is anxious to obtain. Mrs. Durand is instructed to get them at any cost and as a last resort she calls on Elaine. Kemp has learned that the documents are in a portfolio in Ames' desk. Mrs. Durand explains her mission by saying that Kemp feels slighted at not having been invited to the wedding. Elaine says she will write a note of apology, which Mrs. Durand helps her to prepare. When the letter is finished it contains the phrase, "you must accept the inclosed as a proof of our gratitude." Then she leaves the room with the letter unsealed on the table.

The adventuress now manages to obtain the keys to the desk by helping Mrs. Brooks' pack the honeymooners' trunk. The desk key is on the same ring. When the trunk is packed Mrs. Brooks goes to another room to obtain Elaine's jewels and as soon as she is alone Mrs. Durand opens the desk where she finds the papers she has been instructed to obtain. Hearing Mrs. Brooks returning she slips the package in her waist and awaits her chance to place it in the open envelope with the letter. This is at last skillfully accomplished and the letter is sealed and sent to Kemp.

All Ends Happily.

George Blair, an official of the department of justice, who is a friend of Ames', is with the latter when the loss of the papers is discovered. He immediately suspects Kemp, and with evidence supplied by the department of justice, he and Ames go to Kemp's office and demand the envelope returned unopened. Kemp dare not refuse and when the envelope is opened back at Ames' house the papers are found, together with the note with which Ames' wife had written. Ames at once suspects Elaine of aiding the enemy, but Blair does not believe her guilty. As Elaine knows that Ames thinks her guilty she refuses to be questioned, and after a dramatic scene Ames rushes off to his friend Blair while Elaine goes back to her mother.

In the meantime Blair has connected a perfume that Mrs. Durand is in the habit of using, with a peculiar odor that comes from the envelope. Then Blair raids Kemp's office and arrests him, and, within hearing of Ames, he draws Mrs. Durand into a confession. Thus the way is cleared for a happy ending.

MINIATURE MINSTREL SHOW AT THE GRAND FIRST HALF OF WEEK.

The vaudeville feature of Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday's bill will be Johnston Brothers and Johnston, a trio of singers and comedians, who will presnt a diversion in black and white face, which they bill as "A Few Moments of Minstrelsy," consisting of a miniature minstrel performance as the title indicates. Minstrels shows as a rule have a popular following that embodies all sorts and conditions. The answer to this remarkable fact is the amusing and entertaining qualities of the minstrel artist, for he is generally selected for his ability as a singer, a dancer or a comedian, very often combining the qualifications of the three as in the case of Johnston Brothers and Johnston, whose original conception of an up-to-date minstrel performance condensed into twenty minutes of actual performance contains the best efforts ordinarily seen in an hour and a half show.

MAY ALLISON IN COMEDY DRAMA AT GRAND NEXT WEEK.

"Almost Married," from the pen of E. V. Durling, is the latest comedy-drama in which the clever Metro star, May Allison, will be seen. This play, which will be shown at the Grand next Thursday, Friday and Saturday, daily, at 2:15, 7 and 9, is filled with breezy and unexpected situations.

The young star enacts the role of a girl of the Swiss Alps who meets the son of a millionaire. A romance ensues, which, however, is rudely shattered. The rare beauty of her voice and face attracts the attention of a musical director, and he transplants her from her mountain home to the heart of New York, where she shines in the front ranks of a popular review.

Here she meets the boy's father, and the situations which result are amazing and amusing, and cause untold complications. It is a play which will win popular favor.

Miss Allison is surrounded by a cast of distinguished players, among whom are Walter I. Percival, Frank Currier, Harry Ratenbury, James Warton, James and Hugh Fay. The adaptation was made by Luther Reed, and the production was directed by Charles Swickard and made under the personal supervision of Maxwell Karger, director-general.

NOVELTY VAUDEVILLE ACT SHOWING AT THE GRAND NEXT WEEK.

Francis and Alexander, two charmingly pretty and talented young misses, will be the big vaudeville feature of the bill at the Grand Thursday, Friday and Saturday next in George and Brysants' latest offering, which they call "An Epochal Song and Story Revue," entitled "1776 to 1920," an offering consisting of a program of exclusive song numbers, written especially for the offering, which also include some bright patter, a little travesty and dance.

Weekly Theatrical Letter

BY BRETT PAGE.

New York, June 19.—Lew Fields has returned to Broadway. He has come into his own again with "A Lonely Romeo," the newest and perhaps the funniest—most certainly the "dancingest"—of summer shows yet seen.

Harry B. Smith and Lew Fields wrote the book, Mr. Smith produced the lyrics, and Malvin M. Franklin and Robert Hood Bowers contrived the music, which is of the jazz variety. The offering, which is at the Shubert Theatre, contains nearly seventy names upon its program and once more emphasizes the fact that Lew Fields is a comedian who occupies a niche peculiarly his own. These condensed statistics are necessarily swept out of the way in the very first paragraphs of this review to prepare for what should be very real appreciation of the show and especially of Lew Fields.

For Lew Fields can extract humor, suggest fun and compel laughter from any scene he may be induced to play. This is evidenced in each of the three acts of "A Lonely Romeo," though the why of the title is obscure, but one must admit that it's a good title and perhaps that's all that was desired. A Romeo of an age that cannot be called young, Lew Fields impersonates a Fifth avenue seller of hats, who attends to his business after his own funny fashion by day, and trips the light fantastic all night long.

Fields Is Real Funny.

These are the ingredients that concoct what in other days might have been called "a laughter cocktail." But words cannot do more than suggest the comic results of Lew Fields' composite art. For instance, there's the scene in which he makes everyone feel it would be a tragedy beyond the telling if he didn't sell a customer a hat. But there isn't a hat that will fit. First Fields tries a hat that's too big, but even his thumb behind the back lining won't convince the customer. Then there's a hat that's too small. And then he takes the size of this "heady" customer with a machine that goes on nicely, but won't come off. It's humorous even here, but it's excruciatingly funny as Lew Fields does it.

This is the fun climax of the first act, and takes place in the hat shop, although the act had opened at 4 a.m. in the Shimmering Pheasant Restaurant, with Lew Fields calling up his wife to explain just why he couldn't get home last night. A clever phonograph contrivance gives the replies that come over the telephone—the answers of his wife, his daughter, his son, even the protests of his dog. The second act is set in a candy shop. Under the influence of marshmallow highballs, lollypop Bronxes, nougatine Manhattans and other post-July consoiers, there occurs a dancing scene of acrobatic marvels. Nellie and Willie St. Clair lead all save Lew Fields, who brings down the curtain and the house by a series of cartwheels. The third act is a scene in a beautiful garden, in which all the tangles are straightened out, with a wealth of humor particularly pleasing on a sweltering night.

A Capable Cast.

Miss Frances Cameron sings as well and looks as pretty as ever in the role of the prima donna. Jessica Brown and her partner, Joe Niemeyer, dance delightfully. And all the others of this very large cast acquitted themselves admirably. Among them is Herbert Fields, Lew Fields' own son, who appears with his father in a scene where he feeds dad the laughs. But even Herbert must give place to Lew Fields not only as the most interesting member of "A Lonely Romeo," but as perhaps the funniest of musical comedy stars to be seen upon our stage today.

"WHO DID IT?"

There's one of the strangest mixups ever "mixed" over the lease of the Harris Theatre. It involves a motion picture and Walter N. Lawrence's newest play, "Who Did It?"

Four times during one day the "stills" that crowded the lobby of the Harris Theatre advertising the film attraction, were taken down to make room for those heralding the new play—four times they were replaced. They were there when the audience began to arrive to attend the first night of the play. Then the audience that had come to see the play went home and the picture audience entered the theatre. A court injunction had sustained the picture in its tenancy of the Harris Theatre.

Never before in the memory of the present chronicler has such a situation occurred. Its roots lie far back in the present season. From Selwyn & Co., who had the lease at the beginning of this season, Thomas Dixon rented the theatre. From him H. H. Moss took the unexpired lease. Then Mr. Moss rented the Harris to the picture people. He desired to terminate their lease to make room for Walter Lawrence and his play, but the picture owners declared they were protected in their tenancy so long as the receipts from the picture did not fall below a certain figure.

And so—those who had come to see the play went home, and those who had come to see the picture went into the theatre. And the actors who had arrived early to don their make-up in the dressing-rooms, left the dressing-rooms and went home. And—there are lots of other "ands"—at the moment of writing this strange tangle hasn't yet been untangled.

STARS FOR NEXT SEASON.

That next season should be at least a satisfactory reflection of the season just ended, is the emphatic opinion of A. H. Woods, who expresses it in plans completed thus early for eight new plays and twenty-one road companies of this and last season's successes. And he backs up even this impressive showing with a list of casts for every one of the offerings, though we have space to name only the stars who are in themselves sufficiently impressive.

Kenneth Douglas, a comedian of much fame in England, will appear in W. Somerset Maugham's new farce entitled "Too Many Husbands." He will open in New York during the week of August 11 at the Hudson Theatre.

Pauline Frederick will star in a new melodrama written by her husband, Willard Mack, who will also be seen in the play. The title is "Lady Tony," and it will bring back to Mr. Woods' management that sterling comedian, Thomas Wise. "Lady Tony" will be seen in New York during the second week in September.

Avery Hopwood has adapted from the original of Sascha Guitry a four-act play, "The Great Illusion," in which Lowell Sherman will be seen in the principal role. This also will arrive in New York during the second week in September.

Ernest Truex is to be seen during the week of August 18 at the Bijou Theatre in Harold Brighouse's three-act farce, "The Bantam V. C."

Marjorie Rambeau will star in "The Unknown Woman," a four-act play by Marjorie Blaine and Stanley Lewis. This offering will appear in New York during the second week in October.

To the Eltinge Theatre on September 1 will come "Little Love Birds," a farce by Wilson Collison and Avery Hopwood, with a distinguished cast of players headed by Doris Kenyon and Zelda Sears.

The latter part of July or early in August, "A Voice in the Dark," by Ralph E. Dyar and Willard Mack—which has been successful in Boston—will have its New York premiere.

Florence Moore will star in the four-act farce, "Breakfast in Bed," from the pens of Willard Mack and Hilliard Booth. This will be offered to Boston at the Plymouth Theatre August 25.

Late in the fall Barney Bernard will be starred in a new play by Montague Glass and Jules Eckert Goodman.

Of course, "Friendly Enemies" will go on tour and the other Woods successes will follow, as was said, to the number of 21 road companies.

A Pretentious List.

This is the first time in memory that so pretentious a list of plays and stars has been announced so early by one producer with opening dates and premiere theatres complete. It is, indeed, a notable showing.

One cannot leave this subject without pointing out that the name of Willard Mack is connected with three of the eight new plays as author, and with one in support of his wife in the cast. While Avery Hopwood has two to his credit.

The most interesting "different" theatre effort yet to appear is "The Workingmen's Theatre" which will give its initial performance late in August. Two hundred and twenty-five thousand men and women comprise the membership of the various labor unions behind the project, which is under the direction of the united labor education committee.

The object of this committee is "to promote a great mutual understanding between labor, science and art." Desire to divorce the movement from uplift the dilletantes and even the best-int tioned philanthropists, the unions financing the venture from their treasuries. The artistic fate of movement is placed in the hands three gentlemen, whose past perfor ances certainly presage success for latest one. They are Richard Ordyn stage director of the Metropol Opera House, B. Iden Payne, art m ager of Charles Frohman, Inc., Emanuel Reicher, who among ot notable successes has to his credit most remarkable performance Hauptman's "The Weavers" done s time ago at the Madison Square T atre.

All Have Equal Chance.

Thoroughly democratic is to be distribution of tickets and the scale prices for members. Outsiders are pay one dollar and fifty cents, but e member is given a ticket to three formances for one dollar. All the tic are to be deposited in a huge urn. it each person entitled to a seat draw his ticket.

A further extension of the committ activities is a lease for one night e week next season on Carnegie Hall musical entertainments. Another ex sion is the purchasing in large qua ties of original etchings by living art and their distribution to members nominal sums.

The idea behind the movement grasp "the higher life." These thi the members declare, are too costl now offered. Therefore—just as th are co-operative societies for buy food and clothing wholesale—this c mittee is the workers' way of uni for "collective bargaining" in the re of the arts.

USED CARS FOR SALE

P. P. P. TUBES and P. P. P. PROTECTORS

WILL CERTAINLY MAKE YOU FORGET TIRE TROUBLE.

The reason you will forget it is that you will not have any.

This tire equipment was put on the market by G. E. Phillips of Sarnia, sole owner of the patents, and is available by addressing the Mackenzie Electric Company, Sarnia, who are distributing it for the present.

Tests so far exceed the inventor's claims by 200 per cent. 7,000 miles without any attention whatever, not even an extra shot of air. The reduction in pressure for that time was three pounds; that is the record of first tube produced. The other thirty or forty in service now are steadily climbing to this record.

No trouble from heat. Cannot blow out. Will not drop in pressure. Cannot be punctured with tacks or the like. 30 per cent less pressure required, and just as resilient. In a word, P. P. P. EQUIPMENT will save you money and give 100 per cent peace of mind.

EXECUTORS' SALE OF VALUABLE FARMS

There will be offered for sale by public auction by J. W. Laidlaw, auctioneer, on parcel No. 1, on Friday, 27th June, 1919, at 7 p.m. standard (8 p.m. daylight saving), the following farms belonging to the estate of the late Thomas Walker:

1. The northwest quarter of Lot 21, and the easterly one-third of the northerly three-quarters of Lot 22, in the second concession of the Township of Westminster, 100 acres more or less.

2. The southeast quarter of Lot 21, in the second concession of the Township of Westminster, 50 acres more or less.

This property, which will be offered for sale in two parcels, is splendidly situated about one-half mile from Pond Mills station on the London & Port Stanley Electric Railway, and about 2½ miles from the City of London limits.

On parcel No. 1 is a large two-story brick house, good bank barn, drive shed, hen house and pig pen, also 4 acres of bush and good orchard. The land is excellent in quality and in good state of cultivation.

Rural route, telephone, convenient to churches, schools. Water in house and barn. Right to do fall plowing in 1919 and full possession on April 1, 1920.

Strong baking powder is needed

GOVERNMENT Standard flours are coarser and heavier than the flours you have been using for years, and they require a strong, reliable leavening agent.

Egg-O is a pure, strong, double-acting baking powder.

Its first action occurs in the mixing bowl when cold water or milk is added. Allowing the dough to stand for 15 or 20 minutes will give better results, and when you put your baking in the oven Egg-O will continue to rise, and you will have no trouble getting light bakings.

EGG-O Baking Powder

You can use sour milk, sweet milk, buttermilk or water with Egg-O—a different and better baking powder.

VERBAL PROPOSALS OF STREET RAILWAY WILL BE DISCUSSED

uncil Committee Meeting For Purpose Next Week.

RMS ARE KEPT SECRET

a Is That Publicity Might Militate Against Final Agreement.

"Nothing doing," was the answer this morning to all inquiries as to whether there were any new developments in connection with street car matter. The Advertiser learned that Dr. L. S. Holmes, chairman of the special railway committee, which yesterday interviewed officials of the street railway company, when he stated yesterday that no proposition had been made by the company with regard to increased fares, was correct to the extent that no written proposition was made. On the other hand, however, it is true, and Alderman C. G. Moorhead stated, that verbally the officials of the company did make certain proposals for an agreement which the committee feels may well form the basis for a final arrangement under which both the city and the street railway company will concede some points.

Committee to Meet.

A special meeting of No. 1 committee of the city council will be called early next week, and will probably discuss these proposals both at that meeting and again at the regular meeting of the committee before they are sent on to the council either at the next meeting on July 7, or possibly at a special meeting prior to that date.

So far as can be learned the committee hopes to formulate a plan, by which, in effect, the authority of the ratepayers will be anticipated. If, however, it is found impracticable to do anything until after a vote has been taken, arrangements for submitting whatever agreement is drafted to the people before putting it into effect will be recommended to the council.

Keep it Secret.

Just what the proposed agreement is, the members of the committee are keeping to themselves. Their attitude is that the matter is at a preliminary stage at which publicity might cause the kind of discussion, which would prevent its culmination, and that it should first be threshed out in committee, after which no objection would exist to full publicity being given to all the facts in the case.

CONVICTED MURDERER REFUSED RETRIAL TO CIRCULATE PETITION

Among Guelph Citizens To Be Forwarded to Minister of Justice.

GUELPH, June 20.—L. W. Goetz, counsel for Jimmie Giovanzzo, the convicted murderer of Alex. Dutki, stated this morning that since the appellate division of the supreme court has decided against retrial of his client he will immediately take steps for the circulation of a petition to be sent to the minister of justice.

That such a petition will be signed by very many residents here is assured, as there is a feeling that a kind of international feud existed between the Austrians and Italians.

CIVIL SERVANTS OF ONTARIO RECEIVING BIG PAY INCREASES

TORONTO, June 20. — Salary increases aggregating approximately half a million dollars per annum are to be granted to the employees of the Ontario Government, on the recommendation of Civil Service Commissioner McCutcheon. Next month's pay cheques, payable about July 10, it is expected, will include the increased amount, according to Sir William Hearst, premier. The individual increases will vary, some being $50, others $100, but the average, it is understood, will be about $100 per annum.

The complete report of the civil service commission has not yet been received by the premier. It is being forwarded to him in sections, but he said today that he fully anticipated the commission would have considered each individual case and made the report in time to add the proportionate amount to the July pay check. The increases will apply to those in both the inside and outside services.

INFLAMMATORY RHEUMATISM PERMANENTLY CURED

New Brunswick Lady Gives Full Particulars of Her Recovery.

There are many types of rheumatism, but none worse than inflammatory.

It was this kind that almost killed Mrs. Edw. Warman of Kent Jct., N. B.

Every known remedy she tried, different doctors gave their advice, but the disease increased.

Weak and despairing, she was at her wits' end when the remarkable cure of Thos. Cullen was published. This gentleman was cured of rheumatism by "Ferrozone." Consequently Mrs. Warman used the same remedy. Here is her statement:

"For five years I have been rheumatic. I tried various forms of relief without success. The disease increased, settled in my joints and muscles; these swelled, caused excruciating pain and kept me from sleeping. My limbs and arms stiffened, my shoulders were lame and prevented me from working. Week by week I was losing strength and despaired of finding a cure. It was a happy day I heard of Ferrozone. Every day I took Ferrozone I felt better; it eased the painful joints, gave me energy and a feeling of new life. Ferrozone cured my rheumatism, cured it so that not an ache has ever returned. Even damp weather no longer affects me."

Ferrozone has power to destroy Uric Acid, neutralize and enrich the blood, and therefore does cure the worst cases. Mrs. Warman's statement proves this.

By removing the cause of the disease and building up a reserve of energy, Ferrozone is certain to cure. Sufferer, isn't it about time to stop experimenting? Ferrozone is a CURE, order today. 50c per box, or six for $2.50, sold by all dealers or direct from The Catarrhozone Company, Kingston, Ont.

EXPLANATION IS NEEDED

Convalescents Being Refused Reparation Till Their Ills Are Cured.

LONDON, June 20.—(Canadian Associated Press Cable).—It is now reported that nine Canadians, some with bandages on, have been arrested at Woodcote Camp in connection with the Epsom rioting, and have been taken to London. Also that five hundred troops have been sent to Epsom, where all is now quiet.

The Canadian Red Cross has voted $1,000 for the family of the police sergeant who was killed. The Times, while making allowances for the misunderstanding on repatriation which ought to be explained, says the report is current that the men are convalescents whom the Canadian Government has refused to repatriate until their ills are cured and the authorities ought to know what is being said.

The Epsom council has issued a statement to the press most strongly repudiating the Canadian official explanation that the riot was the result of the attitude of the civilians towards Canadians and protesting against such an explanation being published before any judicial inquiry has even been commenced.

FOREIGNER'S BODY FOUND ON RAILWAY TRACKS LAST NIGHT

Nick Aiello of Beachville Left His Work and Was Later Found Dead.

WOODSTOCK, June 20.—The body of a foreigner named Nick Aiello was found on the railway tracks about a mile west of Beachville at 6 o'clock this evening. The man had left his work in the limekiln, and, it is believed, was making his way home to the village, when he was struck by a train. No one witnessed the accident, the crew of a passing train finding the body, which was badly mutilated, beside the track. Coroner MacKay of Woodstock was called, and had the remains taken to the city. An inquest will be held tomorrow. The unfortunate man came to Beachville from Paris about two months ago.

CARRY 22,000 PERSONS WEEKLY BETWEEN DETROIT AND WINDSOR

WINDSOR, June 20.—Twenty-two thousand is the average number of passengers carried daily by the Detroit and Windsor Ferry Company between Windsor and Detroit each day, according to figures given out by the Windsor civic transportation committee tonight.

The figures were obtained by placing "clockers" at the ferry dock on this side, who counted the traffic for a period of a week from April 25 to May 1.

In the period named, 154,000 passengers, 4,000 automobiles and 412 trucks crossed the river. Based on these figures, the ferry company is earning an average of $650 per day. Between June 14 and 16 there was a big increase in traffic, 55,000 passengers crossing in the three days.

The figures are being collected by the city council to be used in an effort to compel a return to the old rates of fares, the company having declared it was doing business at a loss at the previous rate charged.

WALL STREET.

New York, June 21.—Foreign developments influenced today's brief stock market session, further heavy buying proceeding on the theory that the peace treaty will soon be ratified. Gains of two to eight points were made by motors and related shares; shippings rose 1 to 4; food, leather and tobacco issues 1 to 3, and coppers an average of 1 point. Steels and equipments were 1 to 2½ points higher, with popular specialties and low-priced rails advanced 1 to 1½. Selling for profits caused occasional reactions, but these were largely overcome later. The closing was strong. Sales approximated 750,000 shares.

New York, June 21.—Wall Street, 10:10 a.m.—A buoyant tone marked initial dealings on the stock exchange today, shippings, oils, motors and various industrials gaining one to two points. The week-end session of the stock market opened with an active resumption of yesterday's general upward movement, advances ranging from one to five points in the first half hour's operation. Oils, motors, shippings and equipments were the prominent features, supplemented by numerous specialties, including rubber and food shares, leather and textiles, tobaccos, coppers and chemical issues. United States Steel gained a point, and rails were also dominated by Texas and Pacific and other western and southwestern issues.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

THE LOCAL MARKET

Strawberries were plentiful on the market today, but few were purchased owing to the rise in price. Local citizens are holding off in hopes that Friday's rain will bring the price down. Green stuff is firm, with plenty of green onions and a scarcity of rhubarb. The gooseberries offered today were large and of good quality. Potatoes were slow. There was not much butter in evidence, owing to the hot weather. There was no change in eggs. Straw was slow.

GRAIN.

Chicago, June 21.—Opening:
Corn—July, $1 81⅝; September, $1 74⅞.
Oats—July, 70⅞c; September, 70c.

Chicago, June 21.—Increased confidence that the peace treaty would be promptly signed gave fresh strength today to the corn market. Buying was also encouraged as a result of a sharp upturn in the value of hogs. Realizing sales, though holders operated as something of a check against any tendency toward a radical advance. Opening quotations, which ranged from the same as yesterday's finish to 1c higher, with July, $1 81½ to $1 81¾, and September, $1 74¾ to $1 75, were followed by moderate general gains, and then something of a reaction.

Oats hardened with corn. After opening a shade to ⅜c up, including September at 69⅞c to 70¼c, the market went a little higher before beginning to sag.

FINANCIAL REVIEW.

New York, June 21.—Further stringency in the call money market and the imminence of the signing of the peace treaty with its confusing developments in Germany were the primary factors of this week's uncertain stock market, the money situation causing a sharp but temporary recession of prices.

Losses were generally recovered later, when call loans were restored to relatively normal rates, but greater caution was manifested by the trading element, as evidenced by the reduced dealings, these, however, averaging well over the million-share mark. The greater part of the buying was again credited to interior interests, mainly western and southwestern, local operators, inclining more towards the short side. Oils, motors and their subsidiaries, and leathers and tobaccos made up a large part of the trading, pools continuing to favor these issues.

Revival of speculative interest was also seen in the secondary transportation and numerous food, chemical and fertilizer shares. Texas and Pacific led the entire railway group, selling at the highest price since its reorganization and Missouri Pacific and Missouri, Kansas and Texas represented the other strong minor rails. Prominent steel industrials rallied from last week's lower levels with equipments and metals, favorable trade reviews accelerating the recovery.

National Service

Right Hon. R. L. Borden has said:

"I don't know any task that is of more essential importance to the nation as a whole than the methods by which security can be provided for those who remain after the heads of families have passed away. The work is one that should commend itself to the judgment of all right thinking men."

The welfare of dependent persons is important to the country as well as to the individual family.

By making certain, through life insurance, that your dependents will not be compelled to add to the burdens of the community, you perform a duty not only to yourself and family but to the country.

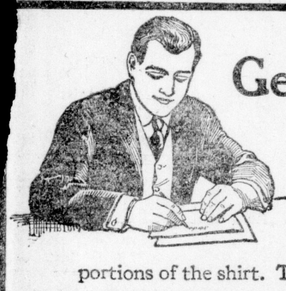

In providing protection for more than 60,000 Canadian homes, by investing only in Canadian securities, the Mutual Life of Canada is carrying out a share of the duty of providing for dependents. It thereby performs a National Service and has become recognized as "A National Institution."

Get Soiled First

EVERYONE knows that the cuffs are the most exposed portions of the shirt. They get soiled first.

If you turn the cuffs you can wear the shirt a day or two longer before sending it to the laundry.

But if you turn an ordinary cuff it bulges and looks unsightly. You wouldn't be seen with it.

The new "Double Wear Cuff" is different. It folds just as neat and flat when turned in as when turned out. Your friends cannot tell which side is turned out.

One trip to the laundry is harder on a shirt than two days' wear. Every time you turn your cuffs you save laundry money and get more wear out of the shirt. Get the habit —turn your cuffs—it pays.

They Build You Up

It is an assured fact that some day you are going to try Tonal Iron Capsules, the new iron tonic. It is an excellent preparation for curing nervous troubles, anaemia system weakness, loss of appetite and heart weakness. You never tried anything like these capsules. They are put up in French gelatin, and are soft and easily dissolved, and as a result the ingredients are quickly taken into affected parts of the system. Their action is almost immediate. That is why they have been so successful, and why so many people are recommending them. Why not try a box now? You will be astonished at the results obtained if you are suffering from any of the following ailments: Anaemia (thin or watery blood), Impure Blood, Nervousness, Nerve and Muscle Twitching, Weakness or Palpitation of the Heart, Shortness of Breath, Excitability, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Liver Trouble, Pain in the Back, Kidney Troubles, Rheumatism, Vital Weakness in Men, Mental Worry, Cold Extremities, Numbness, Poor Circulation, Lassitude, or any form of Physical Decline. Price $1.00 a box. If your druggist does not carry Tonal Iron Capsules, mail us $1.00, and we will send a box to you

Art

In no wares of the goldsmith or silversmith are more beautiful designs and workmanship to be found than in our Sterling and plated flatwear.

Few today, perhaps, could afford the handwrought silverware of our forebears. But machinery, which reproduces the design of a master more faithfully than the most skilled workman, has put these designs within the reach of all.

AS A WEDDING GIFT

COMIC MOVIE SCENES HAVE NOTHING ON THOSE ENACTED HERE

During Continuous Performance of Actor J. Pluvius Scenes Were Varied.

Such a transformation was worked by Friday's cloudburst that London looked like Venice, and Dundas street like the Grand Canal in that Italian city of stately gondolas. Londoners, however, did not act the part of Venetians, for instead of sailing over the blue to the tune of the guitar, they wallowed through the flood, much to the amusement of those who were in places high and dry. Many young people and a few old ones congregated on Dundas street, near Richmond, last night, and watched with merriment, members of the fair sex running the gauntlet, the exhibition including a fine display of latest silk hosiery. Screams of laughter from grandstand viewpoints in the doorways greeted candidates for a ducking as they took the plunge.

The unfortunates caught napping without umbrellas, rushed to the nearest store doorways, but in a great many cases the relentless flood pursued them, and wet feet were in order after all. To add to their misery, many storeowners closed their doors in an effort to stave off a sale of damaged goods, and the chickens were forced to get wet, seeking a new nest for the duration of the downpour.

Finally, when the rain had ceased, the gutters assumed similar to that of the Thames before Alderman Wilson's dam at Springbank broke, and the 6 o'clock crowd was forced to wade out for the street cars, and take a chance on getting into deep water. It is rumored that many regretted the fact that swimming lessons were not included in the public school curriculum, while others suggested that an enterprising canoe owner could have provided a novel taxi, and incidentally a little pocket money for himself during the flood.

The passing autos rudely splashed the girls, and the Ottawa cars would have made much greater speed if paddle-wheels had been added for the occasion. It is stated on good authority that the wooden platform usually occupied by the traffic cop at the corner of Dundas and Richmond streets, floated away, and is still missing, but at any rate, Noah's Ark remained firm during Friday's flood, and is still on exhibition at the old stand opposite the Tecumseh Hotel, where the Grand Trunk trains pull in and stop. The occupants of the Ark were not worrying with regard to its fate, knowing that it would be returned should it venture on a journey as "London" was plainly marked on either end, and the citizens were not perturbed over the result either, the majority praying for the "ark" to float way and never come back.

However, it was a great rain, and we needed it. But who said London was a dry town?

WESTERN COUNTIES TELEPHONE MEMBERS HOLD CONVENTION

Elect Jas. McEwing of Drayton President—Rate Increase Discussed.

Telephone rate increases was the subject of interesting discussion among the delegates to the convention of the Western Counties Telephone Association in the city hall yesterday, and expert advice on the method of securing them was given by F. Daggar, electrical engineer of the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board of Toronto.

Mr. Daggar said that many independent telephone companies appealed to the railway board without being able to submit proper data on which the board could determine the merits of their cases. The proper procedure was to have definite figures of expenditures and income, arranged categorically, to show how these were divided. For instance, the amount of expenditures for operation, upkeep, etc., would be separated, and in the case of income, revenue from telephone users should be separated from money obtained from the sale of stock. Mr. Daggar said he was present in a purely personal capacity, and therefore could not commit himself too far. He could, however, explain the proper method of approaching the board, and if this method were adopted the chance of an appeal being granted would certainly be better.

Hello-Girls' Friend.

W. P. Blackmore of Princeton, in an address on the subject of "Operators of the Small Exchange," said that the operator was the vital element in any small exchange. She received the blame for all trouble, whether it was her fault or the fault of the manager, or whether it occurred as a result of line trouble, over which neither of them had any control. She was generally a miserably-paid employee, receiving only from $240 to $350 a year. The rule of all telephone companies was that courtesy must be shown to subscribers at all times, but he thought that sometimes the operator could hardly be blamed, since she was human, if she returned the shot when she was fired at unjustifiably.

Telephone Problems.

A. Turrill of Aylmer spoke on the subject of present-day telephone problems, enumerating scarcity of labor, unstability of finances and the fact that telephones had to be moved from one house to another without charge, as some of the conditions which made for difficulties to be faced.

In the course of a general discussion several interesting questions were asked and answered. Someone wanted to know whether a telephone company had any redress against house-movers or operators of other high machinery, such as dredges, who broke down wires. Some different opinions were expressed, but the majority view seemed to be that the company could claim recompense if its lines were at a reasonable height above the roadway.

Another question was as to the result on the flow of rental collections of the addition of 25 per cent to the bill, with a discount of 20 per cent for payment within 30 days. The plan was generally commended as a good one, and one which resulted in very much more prompt settlement of bills.

The fact that provisions has been made for remuneration to companies whose pole leads are moved on provincial highways, but that in the case of county good road systems no test case had yet been argued to establish a precedent, was brought out during the discussion.

Officers Elected.

Have you ever seen a jinx at work? Maybe once or twice the jinx has tried his malicious pranks on you. But never has he been so consistently wicked as in "Never Say Quit," the William Fox Comedy which will be shown at the Patricia on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

George Walsh plays the hero in this fun-packed picture. By no effort can he dodge the bad luck which follows him from the Friday on which he was born.

Disaster always meets him with open arms. Even in marriage he cannot find refuge from the crooks and sharpers who steal his money and administer black eyes. Though his wife is an angel of goodness, he becomes the unhappy father of triplets on Friday, the 13th.

Youthful, Beautiful Skin Easy to Have

You may be as healthy as a bird in the air and still have a poor complexion. Changing seasons and temperatures, winds, dust and dirt, are apt to injure any skin, even though thee general health be good. When these external influences spoil the complexion, the natural thing is to remove the spoil by external means. Ordinary mercolized wax will do this. It will actually absorb the weather-soiled film-skin, a little each day. In a week or two you'll have a brand new complexion, a new skin. The exquisitely beautiful and youthful complexion thus acquired, comes so easily, without harm or discomfort, there's no reason why any woman should not adopt this simple treatment. Just get an ounce of mercolized wax at any drug store, apply nightly like cold cream, washing it off mornings. This will not fail in any case. It is the best thing known for freckles, moth patches, liver spots and pimples.—Advt.
