

TRAIN CRASHES INTO CABOOSE RAILWAYMEN KILLED AT KINGSTON

Grand Trunk Engineer and Fireman Instantly Killed and Brake-man Badly Injured in Early Morning Rear End Collision.

[Canada Press.]
Kingston, Jan. 23.—William Dennis, of Belleville, engineer, and Thomas McDermott, also of Belleville, fireman, were killed, and William Cunningham, brakeman, lost an arm as the result of a rear-end collision between the Grand Trunk train and a passenger train on the Kingston branch, at 1:30 a.m. The trains concerned were freight, both bound east. The first train, with three engines, was stalled in Lemmons Cut, and before the following train could be flagged it was struck. The caboose of the first train broke out, and it is feared the body of Engineer Dennis was consumed. Fireman McDermott was found dead, standing on his head in the cab.

Brakeman Loses Arm.
Cunningham, the brakeman, was on the engine which crashed into the caboose, and jumped. His arm was so badly injured that doctors had to amputate it. He refused to take an ambulance, and stood the operation bravely. All the men were married, those killed each leaving a wife and three children.

FIVE PEOPLE IN A BAD RUNAWAY

Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Spettigue and Others in a Dangerous Spill On Sunday Night

ESCAPED SERIOUS INJURY
Mrs. Spettigue Rendered Unconscious—Cutter Smashed to Pieces in South London.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Spettigue, of Gardfield avenue, South London, their son Frank, and Mr. and Mrs. John Parkinson, of 166 Ridout street, South London, had a close call from being killed last night, when a horse, drawing a cutter, in which they were all going to church, ran away on Wortley road.

At the corner of Elmwood avenue and Wortley road, the cutter got caught in the street car tracks, and the horse was dashing wildly down the road, the momentum caused the cutter to slew into a telegraph pole. It struck the post with great force, and was smashed to kindling wood, and the five occupants were hurled into the road.

Rendered Unconscious.
Mrs. Spettigue was picked up in an unconscious condition, and carried into a nearby house.

Dr. E. G. Davis, upon his arrival, found that she had sustained a laceration on the head which required eight stitches, and which bled freely. She was also badly shaken up, and suffered greatly from shock.

Badly Shaken Up.
Today she has been conscious only at intervals, but it is not thought that her injuries will result seriously. Her husband was badly shaken up, and sustained bruises about the leg which will lay him up for a day or two.

Frank Spettigue and Mr. and Mrs. Parkinson escaped with only a few scratches.

The horse was badly injured, and when captured some distance down the road, it was found that one of its hoofs had been almost severed by coming into contact with something sharp.

C. P. R. CHIEF ENGINEER DEAD AT MONTREAL
J. E. Schwitzer Succumbs to Attack of Pneumonia and Typhoid.

[Canada Press.]
Montreal, Jan. 23.—J. E. Schwitzer, chief engineer of the C. P. R., who died at a local hospital, succumbed to pneumonia and typhoid fever. Mr. Schwitzer was only 40 years of age, and was in the prime of life.

LOCAL HOTELMEN WONDER WHAT MOVE IS ON BOARD
Inspector Galpin Has Collected Statistics For Department at Toronto.

A good many local hotelmen are beginning to wonder what move is on board at Osgoode Hall this morning. The order which went out recently for all license inspectors to gather statistics has been carried out, and the inspectors are knocking the doors of the hotels which are asked for.

Just what it means they are at a loss to know, but it is not thought that even if there is a change made in the license laws, it is impossible to say what the department is contemplating, said Inspector Galpin, who is in charge of the collection of statistics.

ALD. WILL TAKE HIS SEAT ON FEB. 6TH
Papers Are All Ready and in His Solicitor's Hands.

The qualification papers of Mr. W. A. Wilson, who was elected alderman following the resignation of Ald. G. E. Ross, have not been placed in the hands of City Clerk Baker as yet. He has taken the papers, and they will be handed to Mr. Baker before tomorrow noon, when the time limit for filing his papers expires.

LINDSAY NOT BACK
And Lawyer Does Not Know Just When He Will Turn Up.

[Canada Press.]
Toronto, Jan. 23.—Lindsay will not be back in Toronto today, notwithstanding the announcement from Lindsay, Ontario, that he is expected to return this morning. Just when he will be back the lawyer who is his solicitor, Mr. J. H. Starr, has not yet decided. Mr. Starr positively denies the statement of George Lindsay that he is expected to return today. He has no information as to when he will return, and he has no information as to whether he will return at all.

A MEXICAN REVERSE.
Presidio, Texas, Jan. 22, via Marfa, Texas, Jan. 23.—That fully 100 of the Government's troops were killed in the fight two days ago at Ojinaga, was the report received here today. It was further stated that the heavy casualties were due to an ambush.

RECEIVED TELEPATHIC MESSAGE TELLING OF TORONTO TRAGEDY

Father of Family Wiped Out by Fire Received Strange Warning of Affair While Travelling On Railway Train Hundreds of Miles From Scene.

[Canada Press.]
Toronto, Jan. 23.—A strange tale is told in connection with the tragic wiping out of the Brooks family early Saturday morning.

Percy Brooks, the sole surviving member of the family, was on a train going from Chicago to Indianapolis at the actual time of the fire. He received a telepathic message warning him that his wife and children had perished in a fire. He got off the train and headed for home at once.

He never received any of the wire messages sent to break the awful news. His first positive information came from his brother, who met him at Detroit.

The funeral takes place this afternoon and an effort is being made to have it as private as possible.

MANY ARE KILLED OR INJURED IN A WELSH TRAIN WRECK

[Canada Press.]
Cardiff, Wales, Jan. 23.—A passenger train collided with a coal train at Hopkinstown, near Pontypridd, today, three of the coaches being telescoped and many persons were killed or injured.

Soldiers sent to help in the work of rescue recovered the bodies of eight men and three children from the wreckage. Those on the train included a number of miners, who were on their way to London for a conference with the mine owners.

NO TRACE OF NELSON ST. BOY

Many Unfounded Rumors Were Afloat in This City on Sunday.

CHAUFFEUR SAW LAD
Thinks It Was George Wilson—Father Still Believes Boy Is Being Detained.

Dozens of stories were afloat in the city about the effect that the body of missing George Wilson, of 294 Nelson street, had been discovered in the Thames.

All stories proved absolutely without foundation, as not the slightest trace of the boy has been found.

Yesterday afternoon the lad's father asked Chief Alder to make a search about the sewer at the foot of Wellington street, as he thought there was a possibility that if the body was in the river it would be found there.

For hours the men probed with poles, but without any results. The water under the bridge is about 20 feet deep, and there is no current there, so that if the boy had fallen in his body would not be carried down the river.

Chauffeur Saw Child.
As a result of the search, Mr. Wilson is more than ever convinced that someone has his boy, and is keeping him.

The theory is somewhat substantiated by the fact that Mr. Samuel W. Thomas, chauffeur for Mr. John McGarry, while coming down the Wellington road on Thursday last, missed, remembers seeing a little lad on the south side of the bridge.

Mr. Thomas says the little fellow was looking about as if lost, and he remembers distinctly slowing up his auto in order to give the lad time to get out of the way. He remembers also that he was a sweeper, but cannot recall the color, as he was not particularly interested at the time.

As far as can be learned, Mr. Thomas and Mrs. Job Cook are the only two persons besides the boy's mother who saw him after he left the house. Mrs. Cook says she saw a boy and saw him going toward the bridge shortly before 12 o'clock on the day of the disappearance. She did not know George Wilson, but is confident from the description that it was him.

Firemen Again Search.
All day today the search has been continued. This morning a number of men went down to the river, and with long poles probed about in various places. Their efforts were also fruitless.

Mr. Wilson says "I still also believe certain that someone has kidnapped their boy."

"Someone is keeping him," said Mr. Wilson to the Advertiser. In the meantime the lad's disappearance is one of the principal topics of conversation throughout the city, and the almost sympathy is felt for the parents, who have been caused such grave anxiety and sorrow. Many people have voluntarily turned out and searched about the river banks, and in other places.

Another Theory.
There is another local theory now advanced, that is, that the little fellow has wandered out into the country, and in getting cold has crept into some field and lain down and been frozen. The parents say that he would be very timid about telling people who he was, and there are some who think that he wandered about perhaps until night, and then crept in some place and perished with the cold.

A LONG BURIAL.
Rouen, France, Jan. 23.—Two workmen, who were deeply buried by a cave-in at the clay pits of Vanesville on Jan. 11, were rescued today alive and well. Since the accident occurred last week, day and night to disinter the men, and some fine work succeeded in sinking a tube through which food and drink were supplied them.

A BOLD ATTEMPT TO ROB CITIZEN

Two Men Attacked Arthur F. Kemp in South London on Saturday Night.

SAVED BY A STREET CAR
Trolley Came Along in the Nick of Time—A Carefully-Planned Crime—Police on the Trail.

A sensational attempt was made on Saturday night shortly after eleven o'clock to rob Arthur F. Kemp, butcher, at the corner of Wharncliffe road and Byron avenue, as he was on his way to his home at No. 33 Byron avenue.

Mr. Kemp had just locked up his store and was walking down the middle of the road behind Askin street school, when he met two men.

As soon as they came abreast of him they threw themselves upon him and struck at him, repeatedly, knocking him to the ground.

Probably all that saved Mr. Kemp from being robbed was the fact that a belt line car stopped at the corner of Byron avenue to let someone off.

As soon as the car stopped the highwaymen, seeing someone getting off, ran away, down Byron avenue.

That the robbery was carefully planned is shown by the fact that earlier in the evening a neighbor saw two men deliberately smash the hydro-electric light, just opposite the spot where Mr. Kemp was attacked.

After picking himself up Mr. Kemp made his way to his home, which is only a short distance away. He was very much upset over the affair, and his face still bears the marks of the heavy blows which were inflicted upon him.

The police are working on the case, and have a good description of the men.

CANADA'S FISH ON FREE LIST

One of Uncle Sam's Concessions in Reciprocity Agreement.

DUTY ON IMPLEMENTS
Modifications That Will Operate to the Advantage of the Farmers.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Ottawa, Ont., Jan. 23.—Hon. Wm. Patterson and Hon. Wm. McPherson, who ended the negotiations with the United States authorities on Saturday and left Washington, are expected to reach Ottawa on Tuesday or Wednesday.

It is expected that an official announcement will be made about the middle of the week as to the result of the better trade talk which has been in progress for the past fortnight. Beyond the fact that there has been an understanding reached, the members of the Government are without information.

Not a Treaty.
There is a well-founded report that an understanding has not taken the form of a treaty, but is a concession put through concurrent legislation which, with the propriety of the two countries, will put the trade of Canada and the United States on a more favorable basis for the exchange of a greater volume of business. It is understood that one of the concessions which has been made to Canada is the placing of fresh fish on the United States free list. This will open an enormous market for the fish products of the lakes as well as the Atlantic and the Pacific. It is pretty well understood that Canada has agreed to modify its tariff on agricultural implements which will operate to the advantage of the farmers.

The official announcement of the detailed result of the negotiations is awaited here with great interest by members on both sides of the House. It is thoroughly understood that the Conservative wing is prepared to criticize and condemn what has been done. If the agreement is extensive the Government will be denounced for having allowed the trade negotiators to have gone so far. If the agreement is restricted to a limited list of articles the Government will be commended for having asked reciprocity in the past and not having gone far enough when it had the opportunity.

It is believed that the Government has acted on the principle that the first step toward reciprocity should be largely experimental and that the best interests of the majority in the country should be consulted without regard to what criticism will follow.

Both the end of the week the announcement will be made, and the fight in Parliament will have begun.

U. S. WHEAT SUPPLY.

LONDON, MONDAY, JAN. 23.

WESTERN CONSERVATIVES AND THE TARIFF.

Mr. Meighen, M. P., of Portage la Prairie, the mover of the resolution for a reduction of the duty on agricultural implements, prefaced his speech in the House by affirming his loyalty to the National Policy. He declared that his resolution squared with the principles laid down by the fathers of the protective system in this country. Sir John Macdonald had said that the system would give Canadian manufacturers a "reasonable" hold on the Canadian market. Mr. Meighen contended that the implement makers would have this, even if the tariff were lowered. Mr. Foster, in 1894, argued that the tariff should be reduced as industries became firmly established. Mr. Meighen said that the same time that Canada could compete with less protection than formerly. The manager of the International Harvester Company of Hamilton, told Congress last year that his firm was exporting from Canada to foreign countries, particularly to France. Last year the exports of agricultural implements from Canada were valued at $4,326,294, and the imports were only $1,869,061, a proof that the Canadian implement industry had attained an exceptional position.

Mr. Lake, of Qu'Appelle, and Mr. Henson, of Macleod, both Conservatives, supported Meighen's resolution, and like him tried to reconcile it with the National Policy. Mr. Lake naively affirmed that it was the intention of the authors of that policy to reduce the tariff as industries grew to maturity until it should be on a purely revenue basis. Mr. Henson quoted Sir John Macdonald's famous resolution in introducing the National Policy, declaring that a reciprocity of tariffs would eventually bring a reciprocity of trade with the United States.

The attempt to invoke the National Policy, and the names of Macdonald, Tilley and Foster, in support of tariff reduction, is interesting only as an exercise in casuistry. These western members champion the general principle of protection to save their party standing, and attack it in detail to save their seats. Their contention that the National Policy calls for a reduction of duties to keep pace with the growth of industries is certainly not the view of Canadian manufacturers, and puts Mr. Henson in an awkward position. In 1902 he moved:

"That this House, regarding the present tariff as unsatisfactory, is of opinion that this country requires a declared policy of such adequate protection to its labor, agricultural products, manufactures and industries as will at all times secure the Canadian market for Canadians."

AN AGE OF STRAIN.

The sudden death of the New York financier, Paul Morton, attributed to overwork, awakens some unquiet reflections on the modern rush to worldly success. While it may be true that more die of under-work or of improper conditions of labor or of sins against the physical health, too many of the ablest men hasten their decay and death by excessive strain. Morton was only 54 years of age. He went to work when he was 15 years old, and worked till he dropped dead, as his physicians had warned him he would. He had no recreations, no interest but business.

Morton's case was not peculiar; said to say, he was a type. In many ways even the greatest organizers work less with a healthy exterior vitality than under the impulse of a sort of morbidly tired up and to feel the power of mastery and creation. After years of fighting, struggling ever for victory and the top of the heap, even the winners find that they cannot take it easier in middle age or a little later, having their heads glued painfully to the handles of triumph's battery.

Then, perhaps, they may sigh for their many-sided youth. Why did they seek no more than money and power? Wisdom cried out in the street and they did not regard her. They were softened by neither charity nor censure, so, as age comes on, even if an iron frame of nerve and sinews holds safely through the battle for power, the capitalist's old age may well be darkened or saddened by the sense of a life atrophied and to some extent misdirected.

His work is then soon forgotten. The memory of Harriman and Morton will not remain by that of David Livingstone or Lord Lister. But good fame among men is worth as much as most other treasures of earth. This comes not so much to the mere winner of a money battle, even if he keeps his health and enjoys old age, but to the man who battling also for others lays up for himself not only a hale old age but the love of his fellow-men.

BRITAIN'S RECORD TRADE YEAR.

A British Board of Trade return issued a few days ago shows that the United Kingdom in 1910 beat its own proud record in foreign trade. The aggregate for the year reached £1,242,800,000, or £118,000,000 more than in 1909, and £48,000,000 more than in 1907, the best previous year. The exports of British goods rose to £439,500,000, an increase of £52,409,000 over 1909. The re-exports of imported goods—upon which the United Kingdom collected the profits of transshipments and carriage—were £103,776,000, an increase of £12,431,000. The imports were £698,410,000, an increase of £53,735,000.

Of the imports for consumption last year £390,000,000 represented food, drink, tobacco and raw materials, and £156,000,000 manufactured articles. Of the exports of British goods, £243,000,000 worth were manufactured articles, £55,000,000 raw materials, £28,000,000 food, drink and tobacco, and £8,000,000 miscellaneous.

Since Mr. Chamberlain opened his attack on the fiscal policy of the country in 1903, the export trade has increased 22 per cent. The record of imports and exports has been (in millions of pounds sterling):

Imports, Exports	1907	1908	1909	1910
Imports	542	551	565	698
Exports	439	439	439	439

A beginning may be made this year on the Georgian Bay canal. Is Laurier to finish this work, too?

Making a bargain with the United States isn't the hard job it used to be. Nothing succeeds like success.

The trade agreement with Canada must run the gauntlet of a dying Congress. This illustrates one of the defects of the United States constitution.

George Westinghouse has invented a contrivance which instantly reverses a ship's engine. He may have got the idea from the Ottawa Opposition, which instantly reversed its naval policy.

Messrs. Fielding and Patterson are returning to Ottawa with a trade agreement in their valises. The trade winds will be nothing to the debates in the House of Commons when the cat is out of the bag.

Mr. Lemieux is quoted gleefully by the Opposition press as saying at Montreal that "the fiscal policy adopted by Canada 25 years ago has been the admiration of the whole world." What fiscal policy was adopted 25 years ago? Evidently Mr. Lemieux was not correctly reported.

A CANADIAN QUESTION.
The great question is solely a Canadian one. It has to be solved in the interests of Canada first, last and all the time, and there is no more necessity to drag in appeals to loyalty and to the old flag, as the manufacturers do today.

There would be to declare that Canada is loyal to the British crown. Everybody knows that Canada is loyal; why drag in that loyalty as a portion of what must inevitably become a political discussion? The Free Press advocates an immediate increase in the Canadian tariff preference to Britain, because we believe it would be essentially in the interests of Canada to do so. If it will benefit the empire as well as much the better, but there is no need for our waving the old flag.

[Hampden Standard.]
When the Duke of Cambrige was first mentioned as a probable candidate for the throne of Canada, the Standard pointed out that it would be more in keeping with a democratic country like Canada to have a Governor-General without a title. The Toronto Star takes a similar view, and suggests the names of Augustus Birrell, James Bryce and John Morley (the latter now has a title as representative for the position).

LOST $30,000,000

Past Year Was a Bad One for Lloyds' Big Insurance Company.

London, Jan. 22.—The year 1910 will rank as one of the blackest in the history of Lloyds, blacker even than last year, which was a black year since the inception of the great maritime insurance institution.

A close perusal of the list brings out the astonishing fact that the more prominent losses of the year alone account for no less a sum than fifteen million dollars. The minor casualties, however, make up in number what they lack in financial importance, with the result that they swell the total approximately to $30,000,000.

The biggest loss of the year was undoubtedly the Aberdeen liner Pericles, which sank after striking a sunken reef off the coast of Australia. The vessel carried a valuable cargo, which with the hull was valued at over $2,500,000.

Next in importance came the ill-fated Land liner Waratah, the claim on which, amounting to about $1,500,000, were not settled until this year. The steamer Kurdiston, which foundered while bound from Manchester to the Persian Gulf, also accounted for no less than $1,500,000.

French Aviator Thrills the People of the Lima Capital.

[Canada Press.]
Lima, Peru, Jan. 23.—Peru, which gave to the world George Chavez, the intrepid aviator, has today witnessed a most astonishing feat of flying over the Alps, is having its first taste of aviation in the thrilling exhibition of the French aviator, who Sunday was a perfect day for aerial exploits, and great throngs moved to the capital, over which the Frenchman circled at a height of 1,500 feet, rising and descending with birdlike control of his aeroplane. Late in the day he made a light, acrobatic display, and then, in the French military mission, which is reorganizing the Peruvian army. They alighted gracefully at 7 o'clock. Ten thousand spectators crowded the vicinity of the hippodrome, as many more filled the neighboring streets, which church spires and roof-tops were black with cheering enthusiasts.

LIMITED LIST ON RECIPROcity PACT

Very Few of the Manufactured Products Involved.

MEENS FREER EXCHANGE

Pact Confined Largely to an Exchange of Natural Products.

Ottawa, Jan. 22.—Pending the arrival of Hon. Messrs. Fielding and Patterson and their report to the cabinet, the tariff committee has been busy with the details of the proposed reciprocal trade negotiations at Washington, no authoritative information respecting the details of the agreement reached is available here. As a matter of fact, the members of the Government themselves have not yet been advised by Hon. Mr. Fielding as to the tariff changes agreed upon. The finance minister will report them in person, and the details will be kept a close secret until announced in the Commons.

In a general way it is learned that the agreement as to reciprocal tariff reductions includes only a very limited list of manufactured products, involving in no case any very important readjustment of the present trade exchanges, and working injury to no industrial interests. The agreement is in the nature of a free exchange of the natural products of the farm, mines, forests and fisheries. Although it cannot be authoritatively stated, it is believed that the most important items will include dairy, fruit, vegetable products, hay, oils and fish. Beyond that into force by concurrent legislation, rather than by treaty agreement. This will enable the Canadian Parliament to make the tariff reductions operative by proclamation of the governor-general in council on the day the American reciprocal reductions become law in the United States.

When, therefore, the Canadian tariff changes are brought down in the Commons by Hon. Mr. Fielding, instead of becoming operative at once, as is usually the case, there will probably be a delay of some days, as the tariff changes will be brought into force by proclamation of the governor-general in council simultaneously with the bringing into force of the United States tariff changes.

It is probable that Hon. Mr. Fielding will make his announcement as the result of the negotiations, and at the same time submit a resolution asking Parliament to assent to the changes in the Canadian tariff agreed upon some time during the present week. At the same time similar action will be taken at Washington.

A SEVERE BLOW FOR SCHENCK DEFENCE

Fate of Wheeling Woman Now Depends On Evidence of Medical Experts.

[Canada Press.]
Wheeling, Jan. 22.—There was more than the usual delay in bringing the trial of Laura Farnsworth Schenck into action this morning, because of the amount of other court business to be disposed of. Interest increases as the trial nears the close, and five minutes after the doors were opened, the jury stood in the cold of the snowy street.

When the trial opened the prosecution made its presence known immediately by moving to strike from the record the testimony of Jane Hodges, who declared that Schenck, the defendant, had told her he would "leave no stone unturned to get Laura Schenck out of the family." The prosecution declared that nothing would have been added concerning Albert Schenck with such a conspiracy in any way. He also moved to strike from the record the testimony of Dr. Benjamin Morrison, who said Dr. J. W. Meyers, an important witness against Mrs. Schenck, is an employee of her husband.

Dr. J. W. Haskins, a brother-in-law of John O. Schenck, he declared Dr. Haskins was in no way connected with the alleged conspiracy.

Motion Sustained.
Judge Jordan sustained the motion in each case, excluding the testimony, and the state rested, calling no more witnesses in rebuttal, although forty had been summoned.

Judge Jordan then asked counsel for the instructions to the jury, thought should be given the Schenck jury, so that he might consider them before submitting the "points" to the jury. Prosecutor Handan immediately submitted his instructions, while a messenger was sent to the office of the court for the defence for their court copy.

Judge Jordan then adjourned court until 2 o'clock.

After the adjournment the jury has been instructed this afternoon the addresses will commence. A witness, Fred Maury, will take up most of the time until the adjournment, and will be followed by Attorneys Frank O'Brien, J. J. Osborne and S. O. Boyce, for the defence, while Prosecutor Handan will close for the state.

MAN BURIED ALIVE AS AN EXPERIMENT

Exponent of Physical Culture Stays Under Sand Nine Minutes.

London, Jan. 23.—Nordini, an Austrian Pole of great muscular development, was buried with his feet of sand under the Hotel Cecil for nine minutes and twenty seconds. Nordini has always lived the simple life, and has never touched alcohol or smoked. He has devoted his life to the study of physical culture until he is a model of well-knit strength.

The most interesting part of his achievements lies in the way in which he can relax or tighten his muscles at will. He even says that by muscular action he can stop his heart from beating for a period of 20 seconds. To test him, a number of doctors were invited to examine him. He tried to stop his heart, but according to Dr. Ewart and Dr. Smith, of "Berks," the action of the heart, although lessened, was not stopped. It is only fair to say that Dr. Quinton Chalmers, who was present, told the audience that he had seen Nordini in company with Dr. E. W. Price, and that on that occasion his heart had stopped.

But the extraordinary strength of Nordini's chest muscles enables him to do something which is almost as wonderful. A wooden chest was brought in, and in it Nordini lay, wearing a leather dress and hood. His face, nose and mouth were stuffed with cotton wool. Then he was covered with dry sand to the depth of an inch, and so he remained for nearly ten minutes, which were counted off by Dr. Ewart.

When he got up he showed no signs of suffocation, and his pulse and breathing were quite normal. He claims to be able to do this feat by means of his ability to expand his chest in spite of the weight resting upon it, and it is said that he has remained buried in this way for nearly twenty minutes.

He is also able to do some curious things with the muscles of his neck and arms. When his chest is fully expanded it measures eight inches more than in its normal state.

WORTLEY ROAD MOTHERS' CLUB

Address on Ventilation and the Value of Fresh Air.

The Wortley Road Mothers' Club held their monthly meeting at the kindergarten. The address for the evening was "Ventilation and the Value of Fresh Air in the Home," given by Dr. Ernest Williams, who was most heartily enjoyed by everyone present. Although the weather was most unfavorable for a large attendance, there were 30 present, and all felt repaid for attending.

During the evening Miss Shoebottom favored the company with two delightful vocal selections. The whole pleasant gathering was brought to a close by some kindergarten games, and a cup of tea served by the members.

ILDERTON.
Mr. Niven, of London, and Dr. Homer Patrick, of Port Huron, were visiting Mr. William Patrick on Thursday. The aged squire has been rather poorly of late, but is now improving in health.

La grippe is the popular epidemic at present, and many are the victims it is claiming.

The congregation of Grace Church intend holding a sacred concert in the church in the near future. First-class talent will be engaged for the occasion.

A most successful box social under the auspices of St. George's congregation was held on Thursday evening at Mr. William Cunningham's, of Concession 15, London. The weather and sleighing being excellent, a large crowd was present. The programme rendered was interesting and edifying. The following were very acceptable: An instrumental by Misses Agnes and Reta Gibson; readings by Miss Ethel Robson and Miss Moore; two piano solos by Miss E. McAndrews; recitations by the Misses Florence and Lottie Martin; and the singing of Mr. Harry Robson. Miss Sadie Brown, and Miss Nettie Rosser were very acceptable. Mr. Jerry Robson, with his phonograph, highly delighted the audience

YOUNG MEN DID NOT RESIST

Charge Laid Against Them by P. C. Garnett Not Proven in Court.

Three Youths Fined for Disorderly Conduct, But Allowed to Go on More Serious Charge.

P. C. Ernest Garnett had trouble of his own when he went about arresting three young men, who broke a window in the grocery store of Edward S. English, on Adelaide street, on New Year's Day.

Garnett's story, as given in court, was that he was on duty on New Year's Day, and was in the grocery store of Edward S. English, on Adelaide street, when he saw three young men, who broke a window in the store.

Garnett testified that one of the men attempted to run away, when he saw Garnett, and he fired a shot. The shot hit the man in the arm, and he was taken to the hospital.

Garnett testified that the other two men were also present, and that they were all charged with disorderly conduct. The court found the charges against the three young men not proven.

The court found the three young men guilty of disorderly conduct, and fined them $5 each. They were allowed to go on more serious charge.
