RURAL MAIL CARRIERS LOSE $300 A YEAR ON CONTRACTS, IS CLAIM

Strong Representation Made to the Government—Demand That Carriers Be Paid On Straight Yearly Salary Basis—Inspectors Are Alleged To Use Unfair Methods in Securing Lower Tenders.

Strong representation on behalf of the rural mail contractors of Canada was made at the last session of parliament by Garfield MacKinnon, agent-general and secretary-treasurer of their association. During the session and since he has profferred detailed and extensive reports to members of the House, as well as the officials of the department of postmaster-general.

The most important changes desired in the present system are:

1. All contracts on rural routes and postoffice to railway station routes now in force be cancelled, and that all present contractors be engaged permanently on a straight yearly salary basis, at a rate commencing with $70 a mile per annum for the rural mail contractor and three times the present existing contract price for the contractors as between postoffice and railroad stations.

The reason advanced for this is "that in the past four years their expense account has exceeded their income, to an extent of from three to four hundred dollars per annum. The postmasters, city letter carriers, postal clerks, and even janitors, have received back payments on the basis of the high cost of living due to conditions made by war, while they have suffered three times more than any other of the governmental department employees."

2. In addition to an appeal that all money due be paid up to date at the end of every thirty days, a request is made for nine statutory holidays, with full pay.

3. Removal is asked of all mail boxes from the left side of the highways to the right to prevent possible accidents incurred by crossing from one side to the other.

In conclusion the rural mail men say "there is no other occupation in Canada where employers ever dream of entering upon an engagement with their employees in any way approaching the conditions under which the present Government now engages its mail contractors.

"A disgusting feature in connection with the system," they claim, "is the practce of the postoffice inspectors, who visit the scene of the granting of the contract, and there practice a Jewish bartering system, by which they induce the various applicants to lower one another's price."

GOOD HIDE-AND-SEEK GROUND

The above picture gives an excellent idea of the nature of the country near the Murrell home, and the excellent cover under which the fugitive bandits might lay hidden for days. There are several gravel pits, similar to this in the vicinity, in which it is alleged that gangs of men frequently congregate.

NEED LEGISLATION TO EXEMPT NEW HOMES FROM TAXES

Dream of Ald. G. Wenige Is Rudely Shattered by Report.

BUILD UP THE CITY

Alderman Declares Necessary Powers Must Be Secured.

Owing to the fact that special legislation is necessary before it can be put in operation, Ald. George A. Wenige's scheme to exempt all new residences erected in London from taxation for a period of five years after completion has been "nipped in the bud." Ald. Wenige, in advancing this scheme, declared that it would stimulate building, relieve the unemployment situation and lower rents in London.

He introduced the proposition at a recent meeting of No. 1 committee of the city council, members of which favored the idea, but questioned whether it clashed with laws of the land. City Clerk S. Baker was deputed by the committee to ascertain if the scheme were feasible, and he now reports that special legislation is necessary ere it can be put in operation here.

I take it all back," said Ald. Wenige, ruefully, to The Advertiser this morning. "My dream has been shattered. This scheme cannot be put into operation without special legislation. We ought to get that special legislation, as I still maintain that it is an excellent scheme. We could get 2,00 more houses here by it, and build up our city."

AGED MAN KILLED ON RAILWAY NEAR STRATHROY TODAY

W. H. Salter, 65, Inmate of House of Refuge, Found Dead.

While wandering on the tracks of the G. T. R. some time during Wednesday night, W. H. Salter, 65 years of age, an inmate of the house of refuge in Strathroy, was instantly killed when he was struck by a passing train. His body was discovered at 7:30 o'clock this morning lying beside the track, halfway between Komoka and Strathroy, by Conductor A. McDonald of westbound freight train No 91.

It is not known when the accident occurred or by what train the aged man was struck. When the body was discovered it was quite evident that life had been extinct for some time. An injury to the back of the head, it is believed, caused instant death.

Coroner C. C. Ross of Hyde Park was called. An inquest will be held.

READY TO "CARRY ON" IF HIS PARTY WISH

S. Frank Glass, M. P., Leaves Himself Entirely in Hands of Constituents.

S. Frank Glass, member of Parliament for East Middlesex, stands ready to re-enter the coming federal contest in event of the Government followers of that riding concluding that his nomination would be for the best interests of their party.

Discussing the general situation with The Advertiser today the member explained that although he entertained no further political aspirations, and was rather inclined, personally, to retire, he felt that it would be more his duty than anything else to accept the standard, should the party decide that he should be the bearer.

"I want them to feel, however," he continued, "free to choose any person they may deem proper. I am not tendering any application, and I certainly do not want to be considered in the matter."

Commenting upon the general attitude of the people toward the different parties, Mr. Glass was of the decided opinion that there exists considerable confusion of thought and ideas at present among the electors as to what the real policies of the Liberals and Progressives are. Dwelling briefly on the latter body, he expressed the opinion that it was realized that "the Hon. T. Crerar had been a trifle premature in his primary utterances."

CHEMICAL WARFARE IS DEPLORED BY BRITISH SCIENTISTS

Edinburgh, Scotland, Sept. 8.—Protests against chemical warfare were uttered in the opening address at the meeting of the British Association of Science here last night. The address, written by Sir Edward Thorp, president of the association, was read by Sir A. E. Wing, and appealed to scientific men "not to employ their talents in devising means to develop and perpetuate a mode of warfare which is abhorrent to the higher instincts of humanity."

More than 2,000 members attended the session.

FALL IN G. T. R. STOCK VALUES REGARDED AS A FINANCIAL TRAGEDY

British Public Is Dumfounded Upon Receipt of Board's Finding Regarding Assets.

London, Sept. 8.—Canadian Press Cable.—"One of the Greatest Tragedies of Finance" is the heading of the Pall Mall Gazette on the announcement of the Grand Trunk arbitration board that the common and preference stocks of that company are, in the opinion of the majority of the board, worth nothing.

The Pall Mall Gazette says the business interests of the city of London were thunderstruck at the announcement. The prices of the "junior issues" of Grand Trunk stocks and bonds came down with a rush. In Canadian circles in London, says the Gazette, there is the "suggestion of a dole for the unfortunate stockholder, but 'compassionate consideration' is surely a matter for the Canadian Government." The inglorious end of the company, says the paper as a joint stock undertaking, is one of the tragedies of finance. There are tangible assets to show for money sunk in the undertaking, and it is those who took no risks who henceforth will reap any fruits.

The Westminster Gazette describes the result of the arbitration as something of a bombshell. It appears, remarks that paper, that the question of any possible compensation is thrown back on the Government. It holds out that hope that it is not at all likely that this decision is the last word to the shareholders, and it is pointed out that the allusion which the chairman, Sir Walter Cassels, makes to "equitable moral considerations" can at least be inferred to mean that the door is not shut. Indeed, it should be remembered that the shareholders have the right to appeal to the privy council from the decision of the board of arbitration, the Westminster Gazette says.

GERMAN MARK AGAIN SLUMPS.

Berlin, Sept. 8.—There was pandemonium on the bourse yesterday owing to a new slump in the value of the mark, which closed officially at a fraction over 94 to the dollar.

It has been found necessary to start a special open air market in the bourse courtyard for listed stocks.

Figures listed yesterday give Germany's floating debt as 202,776,170,000 marks.

LLOYD GEORGE ASKS THAT CONFERENCE BE HELD NEXT TUESDAY

British Cabinet, in Reply to De Valera, Asks for Definite Answer.

MEETING AT INVERNESS

Premier Outlines Briefly the Attitude of Government Regarding Republic.

Inverness, Scotland, Sept. 8.—Official confirmation that the British cabinet's reply to the latest note of Eamonn de Valera, the Sinn Fein leader, which was dispatched to Dublin last evening, invites representatives of the Sinn Fein to a further conference, was given here today.

The cabinet asked Mr. de Valera for a definite reply as to whether he was prepared to enter a conference to ascertain how the association of Ireland and the British Empire can best be reconciled with the Irish national aspirations. It suggested that the conference be held in Inverness on September 20. The British reply, written by Premier Lloyd George, says: "Government by consent of the governed is the basis of the British constitution, but we cannot accept as the basis of a practical conference an interpretation thereof which would commit us to any demands you might present, even to that of a republic."

TENSION IS RELIEVED.

Inverness, Scotland, Sept. 8.—Tension over the Irish question is over for the time being, now that the British cabinet's reply to Eamonn de Valera is well on its way to Dublin. Members of the cabinet who attended yesterday's meeting have split up in different directions, pending the receipt of the Irish leader's rejoinder.

Lord Birkenhead, Austen Chamberlain, Thomas J. Macnamara, Stanley Baldwin and Sir Alfred Mond returned to London last night, and others went to Brahan Castle with Mr. Lloyd George, expecting to disperse today to different Scotch resorts

ASK GAS REFEREE TO VISIT LONDON ON MONDAY NEXT

Special Gas Committee Will Also Meet Officials of Gas Companies.

Ald. W. A. Wilson, chairman of the special gas committee of the city council and local Chamber of Commerce, appointed to investigate the possibilities of natural gas for London consumers, is endeavoring to obtain the services of George Henderson of Ottawa, provincial gas referee, to attend a conference to be held here next Monday. It is understood that the referee's services are available on this date, and officials of the City Gas Company, and Progressive Gas and Oil Company of Hamilton will be invited to attend the conference.

The latter company, in control of the Saul natural gas wells, near Crumlin, acting in conjunction with the City Gas Company, has offered to deliver natural gas to homes in this city at 85 cents per thousand cubic feet. The wells are estimated to be capable of yielding 500,000 cubic feet of gas daily.

However, the price of the natural product, particularly the 35 cents per thousand cubic feet asked by the City Gas Company for distribution, is regarded as exorbitant by the committee, and for this reason the referees are being asked to come to London next Monday and pass judgment on the rates quoted.

GAY COLORS AND LONGER SKIRTS IN LATEST STYLES

Chicago, Sept. 8.—Gay embroideries on dark frocks, lacy effects for evening wear, and striking color combinations with skirts down to ten inches from the ground, will be characteristic of winter styles for women, according to the Fashion Art League of America. Gowns will be fashioned after the lines of the figure, but not form fitting, the league announced.

The new styles will be displayed at the annual convention of the league next week.

Special Committee To Investigate the Springbank Dam

Chamber of Commerce Takes Steps To Bring the Matter Before Citizens in Concrete and Practical Form at an Early Date.

The feasibility of constructing a dam at Springbank and its value to this city will be fully investigated by a committee of eight members of the local Chamber of Commerce, who were appointed to bring in a report on the matter, at a meeting held in the Chamber of Commerce on Wednesday. Further action it is expected will be taken at a second meeting of the supporters of the project to be held at the Tecumseh House on September 19.

Recently questionnaires were sent to all members of the chamber by their executive in an attempt to find out the consensus of opinion of that organization regarding the construction of a new dam, and the subsequent improvement of the River Thames between this city and Springbank. The replies were so encouraging that the executive, who favored the scheme, were invited to attend the meeting held on Wednesday.

The attendance was large, and as the discussion was entirely informal, opinions were freely given and the project fully discussed from every angle. It was decided that a formal report should be brought in at a later meeting, so that some definite action could be taken.

The following was the committee elected to bring in the report: Philip Pocock (chairman), J. M. Watt, John Allison, James Bell, T. W. McFarlane, Jared Vining, E. V. Buchanan and Major Murphy.

Action on the report will be taken at the meeting on September 19, and it will then be brought before the directors for approval and finally the membership of the Chamber of Commerce as a whole will vote on the matter.

Dying Girl Says Sweetheart Fired the Fatal Shots

Lynn, Mass., Sept. 8.—Workers on their way to the shoe factories today were startled by shots from a doorway in central square. On investigating they found Miss Monica Morrill dying from two bullet wounds. Her assailant had fled. The woman lived long enough to name Philip J. McDermott, a neighbor, as her assailant. The police said the couple had been considered sweethearts. Miss Morrill was 31 years old and McDermott 40.

SIR JOHN SIMON MADE AN HONORARY MEMBER, CANADIAN ASSOCIATION

Ottawa, Sept. 8.—Canadian Press.—A remarkable ovation and his unanimous installation of an honorary member of the Canadian Bar Association, was a measure of appreciation tendered Sir John Simon last night upon the conclusion of his address on the subject of "The Vocation of An Advocate." The address was public, in connection with the annual meeting of the association now in session here.

Justice Duff presided, and in his speech of introduction referred to Sir John Simon as a leader of the English bar.

FIRST GRAMMAR SCHOOL ERECTED IN LONDON IS NOW USED AS TOOL SHED

Public Utilities Department Uses Historic Building As a Workshop—Many Old Houses in London With Romantic Associations Now Used As Second-Hand Stores, Factories and Offices.

Erected in 1837 as the grammar school of the London district, an old two-story clap-boarded building, which at some time in recent decades has evidently been painted yellow, still stands on King street just west of the courthouse square.

Despite the fact that more than four score years have beat its outer walls with wind and rain, this old frame building still remains in a fairy good state of preservation and is now being used by the waterworks department of the city as a tool house and storage. It has been suggested that it should be turned over to the Historical Society in order that steps may be taken for its better preservation in years to come. It is quite a rommy old structure, and while a more fireproof building would be desirable for museum purposes, yet it might prove quite suitable as a place to display relics of minor value or curios and other articles which might be replaced if necessary. At any rate the old building is worthy of being preserved itself.

Removed From Vittoria.

Previous to 1837 the Grammar School for London district was located at Vittoria in Norfolk County. It is recorded tha in that year it was removed to London, and for many years the old frame building was the centre of higher education for London and surrounding territory. At the back is an L-shaped shed, also used as a storage by the public utilities commission. Whether the rear of the building is as old as the main two-story structure in front may be disputed. The main entrance to the latter appears to have been on the east side, looking out on the court house square. There is also a door to one side in the end of the building, which abutts out sharply on King street close to the sidewalk. A veranda or platform runs the length of the building on the west side. Old residents of London may possibly be able to say whether they remember additions or alterations being made to the old building in their school days. However, the number of Londoners who wtre educated here is rapidly growing fewer, for it is a long time since it was used for school purposes.

When it was erected, doubtless it was a very imposing structure, but many times it must have waxed jealous as it saw handsome new brick structures, some of them three or four or even five stories in height being raised in the fifties and sixties.

"1857" Cut in Keystone.

There are many buildings in London which have passed the half-century mark long ago. On Maple street, on the south side of the street, between Richmond and Talbot, is an old two-story terrace with an archway between, and cut in the keystone of the arch is the date of the year of construction, "1857." There are other old terraces on Talbot street and Ridout street, and at the corner of Dundas and Ridout streets stands Robinson Hall, once an old hotel. It for many years has been an office building, occupied on its lower floors by lawyers' offices, and on its upper flors as small living apartments.

On Horton and Bathurst streets are located some of the oldest houses in London, several of them being close to the century mark.

Worthy of Preservation.

The work of the Historical Society will be increasingly heavy in the years that are to follow immediately. Some at least of those old structures ought to be preserved as landmarks. An old terrace on Ridout street is to be remodelled next spring into an up-to-date apartment house. They cclarly cannot all be preserved, but the oldest and those with the most interesting historica associations might well be preserved without any more alterations than are necessary.

The office building of Silverwoods, Limited, was at one time a centre of London's most select social life, and here the late King Edward danced when he visited London as Prince of Wales, early in the sixties.

One of the most distinctive of the old residences in London is the Harris residence on Ridout street.

Still Some Native Residents.

It is interesting to discover in making inquiries about some of the old tenements and terraces in the Ridout street section of early London that not a few families are still residing in the houses where the oldest members of these families were born. It has become a rooming-house district, but there are still scions of the old aristocracy of early London, who persist in living under their native roofs, despite the changes in the city which have made the avenues more desirable as a residential district.

On Carling street, one old residence is now a printing plant, and another one has become a trunk and leather goods factory. A pressing aid repairing shop now occupies the central part of an old terrace on Talbot street.

Elsewhere in the city, one may find many old homes, once the scene of social activity, balls, festivities and entertainments in honor of princes, statesmen and great soldiers, which are now repair shops, second-hand furniture stores, cigar factories and storages.

SALARIED MEN BARRED FROM $4,000 REWARD

Private Citizens or County Constables Might Secure Full Amount.

POLICE CIRCLES QUIET

General Opinion That Murrells Are Still Near the City.

Salaried police officers are not entitled to the Provincial Government reward of $2,000 if they do capture the Murrell brothers, Deputy Sheriff B. F. Watterworth stated today that he had been informed.

There is no restriction on the county's offer, however. County constables are not salaried officers. Therefore if the county police or private individuals arrest the bandits they receive $4,000, while city officers and provincial officers can only hope to get $2,000.

No activity with a view to searching for the Murrell boys was observed in police circles, either city, county or provincial, today, but there are persistent stories being circulated that the fugitives are not far from London.

ALL-NIGHT CHASE.

The police seemed to have got a definite clue last night and were hot on the scent of the Murrell brothers, when a report was received that two men believed to be Sid and William Murrell, were seen and recognized at Springbank by a London man. Quickly as telephone and motor car would permit the provincial constables and deputies were on the hunt, and a wild man-hunt ensued, commencing at Springbank, ending at commencing at Springbank, ending at Melbourne, and lasting from 10 p.m. until 4 a.m. Provincial police, deputies, county constables and farmers, armed with revolvers, shotguns and flashlights, took part.

It was assumed that the suspects would either continue walking westward, or dodge back into the shelter of the woods and ditches, until the late autos had all passed. The officers spread out, and to the best of their ability, beat every bush and flashed their "glims" into every dark corner and possible hiding place in Springbank Park. After an hour's vain search they motored to a point about four miles westward, where they met a young farmer, Clarence Maier, of Delaware, who told an excited story of having just seen on the Muncey side road, about three miles distant, a mysterious auto standing with lights out beside a barn. Just as his own car approached a young man, carrying a bundle, leaped from the first car and dodged behind the barn. The car itself sped away toward Melbourne.

"I'll come with you and show the way," volunteered the young farmer,

BOLSHEVIKI EXECUTE 61 CHARGED WITH A PLOT AGAINST THEM

Two Princes and Sixteen Women Included in Those Put to Death.

Riga, Letvia, Sept. 8.—Sixty-one persons have been executed by the Bolsheviki, being charged with participating in the recent Petrograd plot, according to the official list printed in the Pravda of Petrograd. Among those put to death were sixteen women, most of whom were accused of renting rooms to or otherwise sheltering male participants in the plot.

Others executed included Prince Toumanoff, aged 29, and Prince Sergius Oukhtomsky, aged 35, the latter being a widely known sculptor. Both were accused of spying or of sending information out of Russia. Six on the list were described as "American spies or couriers."

BRITISH STEAMER IS AGROUND OFF LISBON

Lisbon, Sept. 8.—The British royal mail steamer Almanzora, 9,442 tons, having on board 1,200 passengers en route to England from Brazil, is aground off Cape Espichel, 20 miles south of here. Eight launches and a cruiser have gone to the assistance of the stranded vessel.

The Almanzora sailed from Buenos Aires on August 19 for Southampton, stopping at Rio Janeiro, from which port she sailed on August 24.

REMOVING PASSENGERS.

London, Sept. 8.—The passengers and cargo of the British royal mail steamer Almanzora, which is ashore off the Portuguese coast, will be landed in Lisbon today, according to a telegram to the owners of the vessel from its commander.

ONLY A QUARTET NOW REMAINS OF MINISTRY; OTHERS HAVE RESIGNED

Guthrie and Ballantyne Said To Regard Meighen's Calling of an Election as an Ill-Advised Action—Foster, Reid and Calder Not To Seek Re-election — All Three Are Anxious To Secure Seats in the Senate—Hon. C. J. Doherty Slated For Permanent Position With League of Nations.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Ottawa, Sept. 8.—It is stated here that all but four of the members of the cabinet have tendered their resignations. The four are: Premier Meighen himself, Sir Henry Drayton, minister of finance; Hon. Dr. Tolmie, minister of agriculture, and Sir Edward Kemp, minister without portfolio.

The reasons for the tendering of resignations vary. Generally speaking, the desire is to give the premier a free hand in his plans of reconstruction. In the cases, however, of Sir George Foster, minister of trade and commerce; Hon. Dr. Reid, minister of railways, and Hon. J. A. Calder, neither intends to run again, and all are said to be slated for the Senate, while Hon. C. J. Doherty is booked for Geneva, where he is at present engaged in the conferences of the league. His presence there precludes the possibility of his participating in the campaign in any case.

Wigmore Wants To Be Senator.

Hon. R. W. Wigmore, minister of customs, whose incumbency has been marked by certain political indiscretions, desires sanctuary in the red chamber to fill the vacncy left by the death of the late Senator Domville. In Mr. Wigmore's place the premier would like to bring back Sir Douglas Hazen, a former member of the Borden Government, and now chief justice of the province of New Brunswick. Sir Douglas was tendered a place in the original Meighen cabinet in July of 1920, but then declined.

In the case of certain others who have tendered their resignations, resentment at the bringing on of an election is said to be a prime factor. Hon. Hugh Guthrie, minister of militia, and Hon. C. C. Ballantyne are said to hold the opinion that, apart from the protests of the west against failure to bring about a redistribution, the premier was ill advised in calling an election in the very midst of hard times. Both, however, may be induced to remain.

Bennett May Enter Cabinet.

New material is hard to find. It is a notable fact, however, that R. B. Bennett of Calgary, who early last week pretty definitely stated that he had no intention of coming into the Government, is now halting between two opinions on the subject. He has declined the position of Alberta chief justice, a position which it is now expected T. M. Tweedie, M. P. for Calgary, will secure. Mr. Bennett has a wide knowledge of railway affairs, and a minister of railways at Ottawa is badly needed. It is a well-known fact that Premier Meighen has had several conferences with President E. W. Beatty of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company of late, and the rumor has been revived that the Shaughnessy proposal for consolidation of all Canadian railways under C. P. R. management and a Government guarantee of dividends is being considered as an arrangement to be carried out if the Government weathers the election. Mr. Bennett, in days gone by, was counsel for the C. P. R.

Among those on the new slate are John Stewart of Lanark and H. H. Stevens of Center Vancouver, while L. P. Gauthier of St. Hyacinthe is a possibility.

CABINET POSSIBILITIES.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Ottawa, Sept. 8.—Among the probabilities for new cabinet positions today are Edmond Bristol of Center Toronto, at present engaged in organization for the Meighen party, and Dr. R. Manion of Fort William.

At the coming elections it is stated the Government will run six straight Conservatives in Toronto.

MEIGHEN'S CAMPAIGN PLANS.

Ottawa, Sept. 8.—(Canadian Press).—The prime minister will, in all probability, make an extended political campaign, covering a large part, if not the whole Dominion. There is, as yet, no indication when he will open his campaign, although it is said that his first speech will be delivered in his own constituency of Portage La Prairie. At present cabinet reconstruction has precedence over all other matters. It is possible that the personnel of the new cabinet, and the opening of the election campaign will be announced simultaneously. Mr. Meighen is understood to be planning a tour of the west, with the possible exception of British Columbia, and it is probable that Ontario and the maritime provinces will also be covered.

FOUR ASSESSORS AND FOUR CLERKS LAID OFF AT CITY HALL

End of the Assessment Work Brings Reduction of the Staff.

Assessment work in this city for 1922 taxes is practically completed, and this week Assessment Commissioner Stephen Grant reduced his staff as a result. Four assessors and four clerks were laid off, owing to the fact that outside work has been completed, only the inside staff being retained.

The eight employees laid off will likely find their positions open for them in February, 1922, when preparations are being made to assess property throughout the city for 1923 taxes.

C. I. AND TECH. STUDENTS TO HAVE FAIR HOLIDAY

Efforts Underway to Secure Free Admission for Them Also.

While the board of education did not definitely decide to close the Technical School and Collegiate Institute on Monday and Friday of Fair week, extending to students at these institutions the same privileges as public school pupils, it is understood, according to board of education officials, that these students will be granted the same holidays for the purpose of attending the Fair.

Principal H. B. Beal of the Technical School has, in fact, already entered into negotiations with Western Fair officials to obtain free admission tickets to be used by his pupils for entrance to Queen's Park next Monday. It is pointed out that the neglect to include Collegiate and Technical School pupils in the motion granting the holiday was merely an oversight, the board being mindful that if they must attend school these pupils will assume the old attitude, namely: "If you don't give us a holiday we will all run away."

CRIPPLED CANADIAN STEAMER IS BEING TOWED TO VICTORIA

Deckload of Lumber Is Lost, Permitting Vessel To Right Itself.

San Francisco, Sept. 8.—The deckload of lumber aboard the crippled freighter Canadian Importer has been lost, and the vessel has righted herself to almost even keel, according to a wireless message received in San Francisco from the tug Sea Lion, assisting the ship. Dodd, Will & Co., agents for the Canadian Importer, on hearing that the Importer's lumber cargo had been lost, ordered the vessel towed to Victoria, B. C., instead of San Francisco.

The Sea Lion is about 500 miles from San Francisco, according to latest advices. Both the Canadian Observer and the Caandian Winner, ships which have been standing by the disabled Importer, are reported to be short of fuel. The Canadian Observer is reported to be en route here.

OPPOSE AMALGAMATION.

Calgary, Sept. 8.—Less than 500 veterans in Calgary voted in favor of an amalgamation of the G. A. U. V., the Army and Navy and G. W. V. A. locals in a ballot which has been circulated during the past month. The ballots were counted Wednesday, and as the G. W. V. A. has over 3,000 paid-up members, the vote is regarded as an indorsation of the organization.

As a result of the ballot efforts are now being made to create an amalgamation of veterans to take action without affiliation to any veterans' organization.

LIBERALS WILL CONTEST EVERY TORONTO RIDING

Pronounced Enthusiasm Prevails in Reform Ranks in the Queen City.

Toronto, Sept. 8.—At a secret meeting of the Toronto Liberal chieftains this morning it was finally decided to contest every riding in the city and all the Yorks in the approaching federal election. Hitherto, there had been nothing definite, but all indecision has been swept away, according to Major A. A. Muiholland, the Liberal organizer, who says that the Liberal enthusiasm has not been so pronounced for many years. Nomination meetings will be held shortly.

PREPARING PROGRAM FOR BIG CONFERENCE

Preliminary Work in Connection With Washington Meeting Well Under Way.

London, Sept. 8.—Preliminary work in drawing up the agenda for the conference on limitation of armaments to be held in Washington next November is showing considerable progress, it is declared by the London Times. This work is so far advanced, the newspaper says, that it is possible to begin informal conversations between the powers to be represented in the conference regarding the exact definition and limitation of the subjects to be discussed. The newspaper understands these conversations will begin as soon as representatives of the interested powers return to London, and hope is expressed that they may rapidly lead to favorable results, so that the main features of the agenda may be decided upon by the time the Japanese mission leaves Tokio for Washington.

In urging quick action, the Times says editorially: "Since the agenda will mean so much, it will be a relief to the world soon to know that it has been settled. It is a satisfaction to be able to announce that preliminary conversations will begin soon and that in some quarters they may have begun already."

GERMAN INDUSTRIES AT FULL CAPACITY

Sir Trevor Dawson, British Manufacturer, Makes Tour of Country.

London, Sept. 8.—(Canadian Press Cable).—Sir Trevor Dawson, managing director of Vickers, Limited, recounting his experiences while travelling in Germany a month ago, states that he found that several of the large works were operating at full capacity, and were regular hives of industry. Labor appeared to be working harmoniously, and as a result the output was very high. The average wage is 4 marks an hour with the eight-hour day in general use.

The lowering of costs through massed production with improvements in the exchange rates would alone enable Britain to compete with favorable economic conditions now existing in other European countries, said Sir Trevor.

J. M. Watt of this city was elected general chairman of the committee of local clubmen who have volunteered to care for the thousands of school children of Western Ontario while they are the guests of the Fair Board at the Western Fair on Monday next. The organization of the committee was completed at a meeting held in the chamber of commerce on Wednesday.

REPORT DENIED BY TRADES AND LABOR

Local Organization Will Not Be Represented At Party Convention.

London Trades and Labor Council passed a resolution last night denying a report that it was to be represented at a convention of the Ontario section of the Dominion Labor party in Toronto Saturday. The resolution declared the council to be "the official mouthpiece of organized labor in London," and declared that it would not be represented at the Toronto meeting.

Allegations were made that garbagemen employed by the city are being intimidated from joining the garbage collectors' union. Delegates E. Ingles and D. Wright were added to the membership of No. 2 committee.

It was decided to invite Trustee Eggett of the board of education to attend the next meeting of the labor council and report on how the union labor provision is being observed in connection with the work on the new collegiate institute.

President J. McGuire presented a report on the Dominion Labor Congress held in Winnipeg. Among the resolutions passed was one calling for the total exclusion of Asiatic labor, and another asking that immigrants who work at any occupation other than the occupation specified when they are admitted into the country, within a period of 12 months, shall be deported.

RECALLED THE DAYS OF OX PLOWS AND TALLOW CANDLES IN THE HOMES

Two Thousand Descendants of Alex. McKniven Love Celebrate Reunion.

Many Londoners attended the Love centennial, reunion and picnic on the old Love homestead on Talbot street, corner of the townline of Aldborough and Dunwich townships, on Monday. The attendance during the day reached as high as 2,000.

The program began at noon with unveiling ceremonies at the Love cemetery, a short distance west of the homestead, conducted by Rev. R. W. Stewart of Dutton, and Rev. Peter McFarlane of West Lorne. A memorial poem entitled "The Pioneer," dedicated to the Scottish pioneers who founded the settlement, and written by E. D. McGregor, was recited by Miss Margaret Campbell of Dunwich.

After dinner a program under the direction of Duncan MacMillan of Dutton, included numbers by Jean Anderson Thirde, Toronto; Donald Graham, Detroit; Bruce Cameron, London; William Hollingshead, Dutton; Gilbert and Margaret Stevenson, John Collins, and others. An interesting program of sports was presented under the direction of William Patton, reeve of Dutton, and Mrs. W. D. Love of London.

Addresses were given by Lieut.-Col. A. A. Campbell of London, who was chairman jointly with Alexander Love, the present occupant of the homestead; Neil Carmichael of Dunwich; James McLean, ex-reeve of Rodney; B. B. Graham of Rodney, county treasurer; John McNabb, reeve of Brussels; Alex. Love of Dunwich; E. E. McTaggart, reeve of Malahide, and Daniel McIntyre of Yarmouth.

Col. Campbell stated that the original deed to the Love farm had been secured by Alexander McKniven Love, exactly one hundred years to the day. His family and descendants grew up and multiplied until now the clan numbers thousands. There was no railroads, roads, steamboats nor any modern farm machinery in those days. Ox-teams drew the plows, tallow candles lighted the houses, and grain was threshed with the flail. Tribute to Alex. Love, the present owner of the homestead, and to J. A. Love of Windsor was paid by Col. Campbell, as being chiefly instrumental in planning the reunion.

J. A. McLean and Neil Carmichael also made addresses, referring to the hardships and experiences of pioneer days, and explained the uses of a collection of relics dating back to the early days of the settlement.

John A. Love of Windsor was presented with a gold watch as a tribute to his work in organizing the gathering. John McNabb gave a history of the McTaggarts of Huron and Grey counties. Mrs. Isabel Love of Westminster Township was the oldest lady on the grounds. She is 83 years old.

G. W. V. A. IS NOT STARTING AN EMPLOYMENT BUREAU

Citizens here appear to have got the impression that the local G. W. V. A., under the secretaryship of Herbert Faulger, is opening a labor bureau. This impression may have been conveyed to them through reading various articles in the local papers, said Secretary Faulger. "This impression is altogether wrong. I only want," he stated, "the names and addresses of the members of the organization who are at present out of work, in order that I may know who is out of employment."

J. H. SINCLAIR TO RETIRE.

ANTIGONISH, N. S., Sept. 7.—J. H. Sinclair, M.P. for Antigonish and Guysboro Counties since 1917, and who had previouslp represented Guysboro for 23 years, has decided to retire from public life.

No. 1 Signallers First to Start

Local Wig-Waggers Commence Fall Training At Armories.

Fall training for militia units in this military district commenced last night when No. 1 Company, Canadian Signal Corps, paraded under command of Major M. L. Maitland, M.C., at the local armories.

The signallers were kept busy working on a new telephone and telegraph system of communication being installed in the armories. This system, which, it is expected, will be completed next Wednesday night, will be used for training purposes.

Besides instruction in signals the members of the company will have some practice in shooting on the miniature ranges during the training period.

Several new recruits were enrolled last night, and it is expected that the company will be up to full strength within a short time.

The officers of the company are aiming to have an efficient unit by the end of December, when the annual inspection by the general officer commanding M. D., No. 1, will take place.

MISSIONARY TELLS OF LIFE IN AFRICA

C. G. Beacham of Kaltungo, North Nigeria, Addresses Large Gathering.

C. Gordon Beacham, a member of the Sudan Interior Mission with headquarters at Toronto, is spending a few days in this city. Mr. Beacham addressed a large gathering at the Wortley Road Baptist Church last night.

He has recently arrived in this country after a few years of missionary work at Kaltungo, North Nigeria, West Africa.

Mr. Beacham has been associated with Rev. Hall, who was one time pastor at the Kensal Park Mission on the Pipe Line road.

In speaking of the conditions at their station, he said, "The health of the tribes is fair. Snake bites are one of the greatest menaces which has to be combatted. We have opened a dispensary in connection with the mission and it is the first time that the natives have ever been treated medically.

"When we arrived the natives still had cannibalistic tendencies. They have, however, overcome their appetite for human flesh and are on the road to civilization.

"They attend church daily. The older men are not so enthusiastic as younger members of the tribe, but it is the younger people whom we have to look after," he stated.

"We were the pioneers in that part of Africa, and great progress has been made. The natives are very friendly towards us and other tribes. There has been a British governor in that district since 1905, and he has done a great deal to promote better relations between the tribes.

"At the present time there are many who do not know how people live 50 miles from them, and in fact do not know whether the world extends that far."

IMMIGRATION TO WESTERN ONTARIO IS AT STANDSTILL

Only Selected Settlers Are Now Allowed To Leave England.

Immigration to Western Ontario at least has been practically at a standstill for the past four or five weeks. During that period only two new arrivals from the old land reached London for disposition in the district. Both of these, however, had bona fide permanent jobs awaiting them with farmers, arrangements for which had been all made before they ever left from overseas. In addition to this, they also represented the best type of settler that is available. Immigration officials advise that this policy is the one that will in future be rigidly adhered to.

Immigration to Canada through the channels of the Dominion department has also narrowed down to a few selected cases, and the local representative reports similarly to the Ontario bureau that new arrivals are few and far between.

The London representative of the Ontario department of immigration and colonization, J. Farrell is in attendance at the Toronto Exposition. He has charge of the "Log Cabin" exhibits from Northern Ontario. Mr. Farrell himself spent considerable time in the latter district personally selecting these exhibits.

R. A. Finn, district representative of the department of agriculture, returned yesterday from Toronto, where he attended a gathering of the different district officials, who were in consultation with the leading authorities of the department.

34TH BATTALION TO HOLD REUNION

The many former members of the 34th Battalion, C. E. F., in Western Ontario, will recall the days spent in training on Carling Heights and later at Shorncliffe, to say nothing of the stirring days of fighting in France and Belgium, when that unit holds a reunion in Guelph on Friday, September 16.

A good program is being prepared for the occasion, and the battalion colors will be deposited with full ceremonial in St. George's Church. The old regimental band has been got together, and is holding regular practices in anticipation of the event.

The committees in charge of the reunion is highly enthusiastic over the promising prospects of a large and successful gathering.

WEDDING BELLS

STANTON—ROBERTSON.

A very quiet wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robertson, when their eldest daughter, Maude, was united in marriage to Gordon Stanton of Littlewood, Rev. Kiteley of Lambeth officiating. The bride dressed in a dainty frock of white georgette and handsomely embroidered veil, entered the room leaning on the arm of her father, taking her place beneath an evergreen arch during the soft strains of Mendelssohn's Wedding March, played by Mrs. William Stafford, sister of the bride. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Olivia, while the groom was accompanied by the bride's brother, Ralph.

The groom's gift to the bride was a set of silverware; to the bridesmaid an opal ring; to the pianist a silver pie knife, and to the best man a pair of gold cuff links.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanton will spend their honeymoon metoring to Niagara Falls, Hamilton, Toronto and points west. Upon their return they will reside in Littlewood.

LOCAL LABOR MEN REPUDIATE POCOCK

Not Official Delegate at the I. L. P. Convention, They Declare.

Opposition to the statement that, "E. A. Pocock will represent the London branch of the Independent Labor Party at its convention in Toronto on Saturday next," found expression today among prominent representatives of that body.

The matter was first taken up at last night's gathering of the trades and labor council, when the truth of this report was disputed. Again this morning men closely identified with the I. L. P. movement emphasized their stand that "they will not, as far as they can say at this moment, have any representation at the Toronto convention, and furthermore that E. A. Pocock, should he attend, is not their official delegate."

SALARIED MEN

and the offer was accepted. County Constable Wheeler and another deputy at Mount Brydges were roused, and the barn was surrounded and searched from stable to gable, but the midnight visitor had disappeared.

Further search being useless the officials then went to Melbourne, phoned London police station, and were informed by the Melbourne telephone operator that a high-powered car, answering to the description of the mystery auto, had passed through the village at terrific speed. The officials then returned to London.

REWARD OF $4,000 FOR CAPTURE OF THE MURRELLS

Five thousand dollars is now the reward offered for information leading to the arrest of Sidney and William Murrell, who made such a successful break from the county jail on Friday evening. Last night Crown Attorney J. B. McKillop, K.C., received word from Attorney-General W. E. Raney's department in Toronto that the Provincial Government has added $1,000 to the reward for a "tip" that would result in the apprehension of the desperadoes. The Government's offer is now $1,000 for each man, and that of the county of Middlesex $1,000 for each bandit.

The Government has also decided that in the event of several claims being made to the reward that it will decide the apportioning of it.

Press time saw the police completely baffled as to the whereabouts of the escaped youths. Since the minute that the pair dropped from the jail wall to the tool shed not an inkling of their hiding-place has come to light, in such seclusion have they lived.

WILL BE DISMISSED.

TORONTO, Sept. 7.—London's jail officials responsible for the escape of the Murrell brothers will be punished with dismissal if responsibility is fixed by Inspector W. W. Dunlop in the official investigation he will conduct there.

In announcing tonight the possibility of the removal of some of the London jail officials, Provincial Secretary Nixon said that, contrary to precedent, the Murrell brothers' guards were all armed, prepared for any emergencies.

BUFFALO POLICE WATCHING.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

BUFFALO, Sept. 7.—Police Higgins, Buffalo, this afternoon was notified that a reward of $3,000 will be paid for the capture of the Murrell brothers, alleged murderers, who escaped from London, Ontario, last Friday night. They are believed to have started towards the frontier in an automobile. Buffalo police are keeping a sharp lookout for the fugitives.

KEEPING CLOSE WATCH.

SARNIA, Sept. 7.—Following rumors in the city tonight, close watch is being kept along the St. Clair River from Sarnia to Wallaceburg, in case the Murrell brothers should attempt to gain entry to the United States via the St. Clair River.

At Sarnia, Point Edward, Port Lambton and Sombra a strict watch has been kept since word of their escape was flashed to this section. All the ferry lines are being closely watched, both on the Canadian and American sides of the border. Provincial officers as well as the city police and county constables are working on the case along this frontier. Immigration officers are keeping a sharp lookout for the men wanted in the Forest City.

NO DATE FIXED.

TORONTO, Sept. 7.—No date has been fixed yet for the formal investigation of the escape of the Murrells from London jail, but Hon. Mr. Nixon stated today that the inquiry would be a thorough one, and that all the data bearing on the escape was now being assembled. Two points will receive particular attention in the effort to fix responsibility for the jail breaking—the degree of care exercised by the guards and the presence of the ladder in the yard.

According to the reports submitted to Hon. Mr. Nixon, the guards on duty that day and the preceding night carefully examined the bars of the lavatory. One of the guards inspected the bars Friday morning and found them solid.

Was It Superficial?

The inquiry will show whether this examination was superficial or not, but if the guards used proper care then the weight of evidence would point to the cutting having been done on the night of the escape, possibly by an outsider. It has developed that the bars in question were iron and not steel, and the authorities are advised that a man with a proper cutter could get through them in short order.

The provincial authorities are confident that sooner or later the Murrells will be caught.

In answer to a query from The Advertiser, the attorney-general's department at Toronto states that two men are being sent from that department to London to assist in the search for the Murrell brothers, and no more provincial officers will be assigned to the task at present.

In view of the presence of an aeroplane in the vicinity of London at the time of the escape of Sidney and William Murrell from the county jail, suspicions of many citizens connected it with the jail delivery. However, the air board at Toronto informed The Advertiser yesterday that an Erickson Aircraft Company aeroplane, in charge of Captain McCrudden, halted at London en route from Toronto to the was forced to use their flashlights to turned two days later. No other aeroplanes in the knowledge of the board was near London at the time of or following the escape.

SHORT CIRCUIT DID MUCH DAMAGE TO HYDRO PROPERTY

Much Difficulty Experienced in Locating the Site of Trouble.

Damage approximating $600 was incurred by the public utilities commission Wednesday evening, when a short circuit on the hydro feed line, between the Ridout street station and Hyman's tannery caused several switches in the former building to burn. During repair of the damage at the station hydro was off throughout the city, while today the tannery and other factories and homes in the immediate vicinity are without electric power, and will be until the break inducing the short circuit is located and repaired. The break is difficult o locate, as the feed line is located in an underground cable.

Several switches were ignited at the Ridout stret station when the short circuit occurred, and both private and Bell telephone systems at the station were thrown out of commission. The oil on the switches burned for several minutes before workmen could extinguish it.

In addition to the damage at the station, feed lines to the building "broke in a dozen places," according to General Manager E. V. Buchanan, of the public utilities commission, who likened the shock of the short circuit on other feed lines to an auto going over a large bump in the road.

It is hoped that by segregating portions of the feed line to the tannery, and testing them, the break can be located by linemen at once, and repaired with minimum inconvenience to consumers.

THIRD TEST WELL FOR WATER BEING DRILLED

No Report On Their Finding Yet Made by the Experts.

Experts of the Ohio Well Drilling Company from Masselon, Ohio, who have been engaged by the public utilities commission to sink test wells thoughout the city in search of a probable source of drinking water, have already sunk two test wells and are busily engaged on a third.

One test well was sunk on the Pipe Line road, while the other was located in London West. The well now being drilled is in the Broughdale district. After drilling these wells in various parts of the city, which are to be paid for, experts of the Ohio Well Drilling Company will advise the public utilities commission where to sink larger wells.

Accompanying this advice will come a definite guarantee of the wells yield, the Ohio firm being given the contract for the big wells. If the wells do not live up to the guarantees, no payment is to be made for the drilling, or if accepted by the city, payment will be exacted for only that much water located.

The experts are forbidden by their employers to give out any details of results obtained by drilling the test wells, and because of this fact no information regarding the success or failure of the two wells already sunk is available to the citizens or public utilities commission.

CLOSING OF PARK TO MOTOR TRAFFIC TO BE DISCUSSED

Closing of Victoria Park to vehicular traffic, as recommended by the city council recently, will likely prove the main item of business at the regular meeting of the public utilities commission this afternoon. While the majority of the commissioners are understood to be opposed to this move, it is intimated that they will concur with the city fathers, and that a traffic bylaw governing the barring of vehicles in the park will be drafted following official sanction this afternoon.

Other business to be discussed includes several reports of water consumers of the city relative to leaks in pipes at their homes.

Charleston, W. Va., Sept. 8.—With everything reported quiet along the Logan Boone County border and federal troops in complete control of the situation, attention today turned to efforts being made to determine responsibility for the disturbances along Spruce Fork Ridge, near the boundary line between the two counties, that resulted in Government forces being sent into West Virginia last week.

That order had been completely restored was emphasized by arrangements made to send some of the troops back to their home stations. As soon as transportation arrives, the 26th Infantry will entrain for Camp Dix.

HAS PERFECTED AN INEXPENSIVE X-RAY MACHINE

Jan Klaassens, Western U. Technician, Gave Demonstration Today.

APPARATUS IS COMPACT

Roentgen Ray Device Will Make X-Ray Available to All Practitioners.

Claiming that his invention of a compact Roentgen Ray apparatus, costing approximately $100, which can be operated by an ordinary house electric circuit, will revolutionize the medical profession, by placing an X-ray outfit within easy access of all practitioners, Jan Klaassens, technician in the department of biology at Western University, is demonstrating his perfected machine to interested experts at the "U" Annex, St. James street.

Klaassens is a native of Holland, who has been employed in biological work at the University of Leyden, and later entered the employ of the Dutch Government at the University of Amsterdam. Here as technician in the laboratory of roentgenology and electrotherapy for 14 years he engaged in research, perfecting his new apparatus.

Perfected Outfit Here.

Finally upon coming to Canada he continued his research work, with the result that the achievement recorded above has been his reward in London. Practically shorn of technical terms, so that the layman may understand what he has accomplished, Klaassens today issued a statement defining the field of his research with success achieved here.

Following is the statement in full:

"The familiar X-ray, which has meant so much to biological science in general, and to medical science in particular, was first made known by the investigations of Roentgen in 1895. Since that time much progress has been made in perfecting tools for the practical application of his discovery, but little attention has been given to the developing of a universal high-frequency outfit to sell at a price within the reach of the general practitioner.

Studies Roentgen Rays.

"During the investigations of Roentgen I was employed on biological work at the University of Leyden, and was at once interested in his published results. I set to work to make a Roentgen outfit for myself, and shortly produced a crude apparatus which needed 30 minutes to take the picture now taken in one-tenth of a second. On leaving Leyden I entered the employ of the Dutch Government in the University of Amsterdam as technician in the laboratory for Roentgenology and electrotherapy. I remained in this position for fourteen years, and enjoyed considerable opportunity for independent research. My efforts were directed towards the development of an improved high-frequency outfit for X-ray work, designed to be readily portable, and as handy as a flashlight.

"The value of an outfit small enough to be carried anywhere in the hand and yet efficient enough to give real service and satisfaction can be readily appreciated. Such an apparatus would involve several conditions. 1. It had to be compact. 2. It must operate equally well on direct or alternating current. 3. It must operate on the ordinary house circuit. 4. It must be entirely safe.

"It will be noticed that these points apply to the plant generating the high-frequency current. Thus the current would be available for use on any of the various electrotherapeutic devices now on the market. Violet ray, effleuve or spray treatments, D'Arsonval autocondensation and diathermie would be possible in any house from the same basic equipment as the X-ray.

May Be Demonstrated.

"While employed at the University of Toronto in the department of physiology such a tool received most of my spare time, and was almost completed when I came to London. Since then I have brought it to a point where what is claimed for it may be demonstrated.

"The tool is ten inches square and five inches in height. It produces a ten-inch spark on one ampere of current, giving, according to Dr. Dearle's measurement, 300,000 volts to the inch. It will take any picture in a few seconds.

Costs Only $100.

"On account of its fundamental simplicity and smal lsize, the cost of manuplicity and small size, the cost of manutools now in use. They cost from $3,000-$5,000, while the demonstrated tool should cost in the neighborhood of $100. Furthermore, tools of higher amperage, built on the same principle, will give a correspondingly greater spark, delivering for the usual 30-40 amperes a spark of several yards.

"Briefly re-stated: This tool is economical to manufacture, operates on both direct and alternating current and on ordinary house voltage, delivers a ten-inch spark, and may be used not only for X-ray work, but for any kind of electrotherapy. Thus the advantages of large plants would be placed at the disposal of all practitioners and patients could be dealt with wherever a lighting socket could be reached."

SIGNS TO BE PLACED OVER LARGE AREA TO NORTH OF LONDON

Ontario Motor League Providing Facilities For Tourists.

More than 100 square miles of country lying northward from this city to Georgian Bay and westward to Lake Huron, hitherto practically unexplored as far as the Ontario Motor League is concerned, is to be immediately logged, mapped, and placarded, according to Daniel Davis of Toronto, official sign-hanger of the league, who was in this city today.

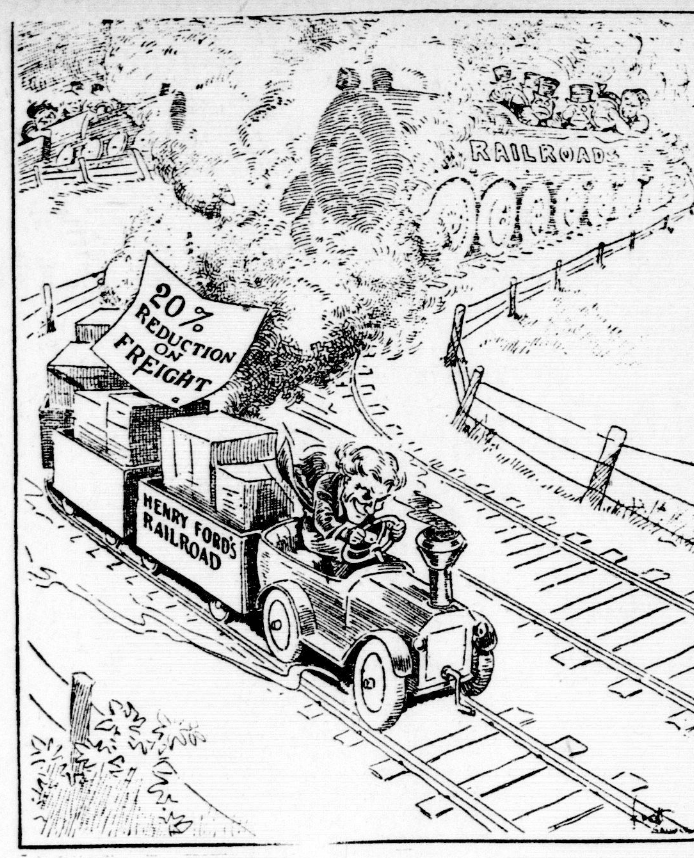

Mr. Davis left this morning for Owen Sound, via Mitchell, Listowel, Harriston and Mount Forest, to inspect and prepare the first official log of the roadways in that section of the country.

The Ontario Motor League is undertaking the work as the direct result of a request made by the London Motor Club. Up to the present time motorists were forced to depend entirely upon their own sagacity to find their way about the northern counties of the western peninsula. Nowhere are there any signs, and the maps of the country are incomplete. As the traffic towards Lake Huron and Georgian Bay has been steadily increasing the Ontario Motor League was asked recently to placard the various roads.

Mr. Davis will first prepare a log of the country and thereby find how many signs will be required. As soon as the requisition has been filled the signs will be placed at different cross-roads, after the fashion followed in Western Ontario.

More than 4,500 signs of various kinds have been posted by Mr. Davis during the past year throughout Ontario. This number does not include those placed by local clubs, which are affiliated with the Ontario Motor League.

LIONS' CLUB WILL TAKE ORPHAN KIDDIES TO FAIR ON MONDAY

Final Arrangements Made Today—J. Gaste Speaker At Dinner.

With the kind permission of the weatherman, the "children's day" at the Western Fair promises to be another red letter occasion for the youngsters of the various orphanage asylums of the city. In company with similar bodies, the Lions of London have entered into the ever-increasing spirit of benevolence, service, and good fellowship, and have undertaken as their share of the day's program the entertainment of those "kiddies" who do not possess all of the advantages of others.

Final arrangements for Monday were announced at the weekly gathering of the Lions at noon today. Twenty autos will be provided, ten for the morning and a like number for the return trip. In addition to this as many volunteer Lions as possible will devote the entire afternoon to insure that their little guests will be afforded every opportunity for a real good time.

Half-past one is definitely agreed upon as the approximate hour of arrival at the grounds. This will leave sufficient time to take the "kiddies" through the main buildings before they are ushered into the grandstand for the big afternoon performance. Everything is free and, of course, candy and ice cream cones will be included. Cub "Bill" Moore advises that he will be on deck with a batch of the ever-favorite colored balloons for distribution. Care will be taken by the Lions that their charges will be returned in plenty time to avoid the big rush at night.

At today's gathering, Cub "Joe" Gaste delivered an exceedingly interesting address, taking as his subject teh origin and history of the tobacco industry. In the course of his many illuminative remarks, he pointed out that the brand of tobacco produced in Essex was considered among the best available. He commented upon the fact that the increase in the Canadian cultivation was appreciable of late years.

Noted "Ad" Man Coming To City

x Through the efforts of the London Advertising Club the businessmen of this city will have the privilege of listening to an address from President McIntosh of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World, on Tuesday, October 4. Mr. McIntosh, who will be passing through this city on that date, has promised to stop over and address a combined meeting of the Advertising, Kiwanis, Rotary, Canadian Clubs and Chamber of Commerce at a noonday luncheon.

MANY DOG OWNERS HAVE FORGOTTEN TAX

Five Hundred Face Possibility of Meeting Magistrate Graydon.

Approximately 500 owners of dogs in this city will face police court prosecution in the near future, according to City Treasurer James Bell, unless they "ante up" the taxes required by the city from owners of canines. If summoned to court and ownership of a dog is proven, in addition to being required to pay their respective dog taxes, an additional levy of $2.85 for police court costs will be exacted from each procrastinator.

There are 2,500 dogs in the city of London, of which number 2,000 now wear 1921 dog tags, signifying that their owners have paid the necessary tax for keeping them. The remaining 500 are warned by Mr. Bell to follow suit at once, as he is determined to summon the majority of the reluctant ones as an example and an incentive to those who insist on postponing the day of reckoning.

150 BUSINESSMEN TO CHAPERONE 20,000 CHILDREN AT FAIR

Requests For Free Tickets For Western Ontario Students Pouring In.

One hundred and fifty staid businessmen of London will desert their posts at the helm of various business enterprises to become the guardians of thousands of school children, all under the age of 16 years, on Monday next. These children, gathered here from all parts of Western Ontario, will be the guests of the Western Fair Board.

Final arrangements for the entertainment of the young students were made at a meeting of the central committee, composed of members of the several different local clubs, held in the office of Chairman J. M. Watts this morning. At this meeting it was estimated that the central committee could depend on at least 150 fellow-clubmen for assistance in chaperoning the little guests.

The headquarters of the committee will be located, it is expected, in a large marquee loaned for the occasion by W. M. Moore. Each guardian will wear a badge of distinction of some sort.

More than 8,000 tickets were sent out to various schools in Western Ontario on Wednesday by the local chamber of commerce, and as many more will be distributed today. Altogether nearly 20,000 have been given out up to the present time, and still more requests are pouring in.

CLAIM TO MILLIONS RESTS ON PROMISE

Woman Says Uncle Pledged Himself To Share Estate.

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—A promise by Mrs. Beatrice Provost Nugent of 530 West End avenue that she would not disclose to the late Mrs. Roxy Maria Smith the recent marriage of William E. Smith of the Hotel Biltmore (Mrs. Smith's son and Mrs. Nugent's uncle) was described in papers filed in the supreme court yesterday as one of the alleged considerations for an agreement by Smith to share equally with his niece an estate of almost $10,000,000. This wealth was left to Smith under the terms of the will of his mother, widow of William Van Rensselaer Smith, a member of the firm of Arbuckle Brothers, who died in her eighty-eighth year on August 6. Smith is 61.

Promised Fortune.

Mrs. Nugent, in the complaint filed yesterday by her attorney, Henry M. T. Beekman, 111 Broadway, maintains that it was the original wish of her grandfather that she should share generously in his estate. On her behalf it was said that Mrs. Nugent did not know what provisions had been made for her in the will when on August 2 last she agreed not to tell her grandmother of her uncle's marriage to Clair Staley Smith. Mrs. Smith is her husband's junior by about twenty years.

Made Assignment.

It was further alleged that Smith had made an assignment of annuities and mortgages valued at $2,500,000 to his bride, who was seeking to withdraw them from their repositories. An application for a temporary injunction, restraining both from this plan, and prohibiting Mrs. Smith from pressing a suit of replevin in the city court against the American Trust Company, was made last Saturday before Supreme Court Justice Isidore Wasservogel. The order was returnable yesterday when the papers for Mrs. Nugent were filed and the case adjourned until next Friday. When the case comes up counsel for Mrs. Nugent will make a motion to continue premanently the temporary restraining order.

Questions Wedding.

The papers throw no light on the identity of Mrs. William E. Smith, other than that she was married to Mrs. Nugent's uncle on June 10 last, that Mrs. Roxy Maria Smith never knew of the wedding, and that the latter did not welcome Mrs. William E. Smith at times when the latter visited her before the marriage.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith are now living in the Hotel Biltmore, where Mrs. Smith referred all questions to I. T. Flatto, attorney, of 261 Broadway.

Mr. Flatto said that the allegations with reference to Mrs. Smith were unfounded. He asserted that there was no secrecy about her marriage to Mr. Smith, and that the mother of Mr. Smith knew all about the wedding, because Mrs. Roxy Maria Smith made the plans herself.

"The only reason that Mr. Smith's mother didn't attend the wedding was because she was ill, and her illness eventually resulted in her death," explained Mr. Flatto. "We intend to disprove the allegation that the match was one that was objectionable to the mother of Mr. Smith. We intend to produce the affidavits of five witnesses, showing that Mrs. Roxy Maria Smith knew all about the wedding and made the plans for it."

Asked about the antecedents of Mrs. Clair Staley Smith, he said that she came of a prominent Philadelphia family, was a wealthy woman in her own right and that the wedding took place in Philadelphia.

Made a Will.

Mrs. Nugent alleged in her complaint that her grandfather, William Van Rensselaer Smith, once made a will, leaving the bulk of his fortune to his son and her father, Clarence E. Smith, who afterward died, and that the grandfather made another will in favor of his wife, Roxy Maria Smith. It was maintained that this second will provided that in case Mrs. Smith died before the testator that the estate at his death should be divided equally between Beatrice Provost Nugent, his granddaughter, and William E. Smith, his son.

Mrs. Roxy Maria Smith died on August 6, leaving a will that has been offered for probate, giving the bulk of the Smith fortune to William E. Smith. Counsel for Mrs. Nugent, when asked yesterday whether or not a contest of this will was contemplated, said it was too early to make a prediction.

The papers in the injunction proceeding stated that on August 2, just prior to the death of Mrs. Roxy Maria Smith, her son entered into an agreement with his niece to divide equally the state of his mother regardless of any provisions in the will. It was further alleged that this agreement was made because of the fear of disinheritance entertained by Smith in the event that his mother learned of his marriage. Mrs. Nugent agreed on her part to share equally with her uncle any bequests made to her, it was said.

The papers indicated that more than $2,000,000, of guaranteed mortgages now in the keeping of the American Trust Company, were to have been divided equally between uncle and niece under the terms of their alleged agreement. Likewise they were to have divided equally certain annuity policies amounting to $2,400,000, it was said.

Under the will of Mrs. Roxy Maria Smith Mrs. Nugent received the income from a trust fund of $500,000, which reverts to the estate upon the death of Mrs. Nugent.

LATE MARKETS

NEW YORK STOCKS

New York, Sept. 8—Wall Street, 10:30 a.m.—Resistance to the recent rise in the stock market was indicated at the opening of today's session. Mexican Petroleum Studebaker and American Sugar were under moderate pressure, but Baldwin Locomotive, Crucible Steel, Pan-American, General Asphalt, Chandler and some of the rails were firm to strong. Within the first half hour, however, the list strengthened, Baldwin leading at a gain of over 2 points. Early quotations for foreign exchange showed a strong upward movement in the British rate, while marks or German bils fell to their lowest quotation in eighteen months.

1:30 p.m.—Oils, equipments, sugars, chemicals and tobaccos sustained further losses during the intermediate session. Shorts were active in General Asphalt, Royal Dutch, California Petroleum General Electric, American Sugar, Sumatra Tobacco and Virginia-Carolina Chemical, common and preferred, these showing losses of 1 to 2 points.

WOULD REORGANIZE LEAGUE OF NATIONS

CARDIFF, Wales, Sept. 7.—The Trades Union Congress today adopted a resolution demanding reorganization of the League of Nations in such manner as to provide the fullest opportunity for democratic representation of all the nations, which the resolution says is necessary if they are to be preserved from the catastrophe of another war.

The resolution declares that peace can only be secured by the creation of an international body possessing the confidence of the people of each country, which it asserts can only be obtained by the direct representation of Labor on the council of the league. The resolution instructs the general council of the Trades Union Congress to take steps to secure popular support for this policy.

BRITISH COLUMBIA BORROWING FROM TWO SYDICATES

Additional Issues Are Sold To Ames Group and New York Interests.

VICTORIA, Sept. 8.—Two more loans of one million dollars each, bringing the borrowings of the province of British Columbia so far this year to an aggregate total of $13,000,000, have been effected by the Government. One million, in twenty-year, six per cent bonds, has been disposed of to A. E. Ames & Co., Wood, Gundy & Co., the Canada Bond Corporation, the price being 93.59, the same as the million dollar loan accepted by the same interests about a week ago.

Miller & Co. and Brandon, Gordon & Waddell of New York have taken the other million dollar loan, making the total to this syndicate of $3,000,000. The bonds are 5-year 6 per cent. One of these loans exhausts the last of the $4,000,000 which the Legislature authorized the Government to borrow at the last session.

The Pacific Great Eastern Railway is still absorbing money, and it seems as though the Government will have the line on its hands for some time to come, in spite of its efforts to get rid of it to private companies. The Canadian Pacific Railway has declined to accept the road on terms favorable to the Government, as has the Canadian National.

MINERS PREPARE TO INVADE TOWNS

1,000 Men Are Marching On Rosiclare and Elizabethtown.

ELIZABETHTOWN, Ill., Sept. 7.—Eight hundred miners from Eldorado and nearby coal fields are encamped within 30 miles of this town tonight, prepared to march on this city and Rosiclare tomorrow, leaders of the men told an Associated Press correspondent who located their camp today. Reinforcements on the way from the coal fields will bring the invading army to more than 1,000 men, it was said.

Deputy sheriffs and private detectives clashed with the outposts of the miners, who had held up two trucks and three men at the Hog Thief's Ford on the Harrisburg road this afternoon. The miners retreated, leaving four prisoners and three automobiles in the sheriffs' hands.

LAKE FREIGHTS ON GRAIN ADVANCED

WINNIPEG, Sept. 7.—Lake freights on grain from Fort William and Port Arthur to Georgian Bay ports have been advanced 1½ cents a bushel this week. Officials of the vessel-owning companies say this is due to the demand from Chicago for tonnage, and Canadian shippers must pay a premium to induce boats to come to the lake head for cargoes.

FOREST FIRES ARE SUBDUED BY RAIN

HALIFAX, N. S. Sept. 7 — Heavy showers of rain over large sections of the province and dense fog have subdued the forest fires, according to latest reports from yesterday's imperiled districts.

Reported losses from the latest outbreak of bush and forest fires include large tracts of timber land, several hundred thousand feet of stacked lumber along railroads, railroad ties, meadow growth and standing hay.

WESTERN GRAIN IS MOVING RAPIDLY

WINNIPEG, Sept. 7.—All previous records for volume and early shipment of grain over the Canadian Pacific Railway's western lines have been shattered this season, officials of the company stated today.

Wheat and other grains shipped east up to this time have passed the eight million bushel mark and this in a measure, it is stated, accounts for reported congestion in Montreal.

Officials of the Canadian National Railway declared that the movement of grain over their lines was ten days ahead of last year and very heavy for this season.

29-MILL TAX RATE FIXED FOR BLENHEIM

Higher County Rate Is Responsible For Town's Increase.

[Special To The Advertiser.]

BLENHEIM, Sept. 7.—At the regular meeting of the town council last night a 29-mill rate was adopted on recommendation of the finance committee. It was shown that the rate was higher this year owing to the higher county rate, which is double that of last year. It is estimated that it will require $13,100 for the school board. Of this Blenheim raises 85 per cent, and Harwich portion of the section 15 per cent.

Tie-Posts Will Remain for Present.

A petition was presented signed by several merchants, requesting that certain tie-posts be removed from the side of the street, as to allow horses to be tied on the street would injure the pavement and be undesirable. After much discussion it was thought best to take no action at present.

Still in Hospital.

The mayor reported that Perry, an indigent who though well but helpless, is still at a hospital in Chatham at the expense of the town and has been there for a long time, owing to refusal of the county to take him into the County House of Refuge. Another bill amounting to about $263 was rendered for his care.

Mayor Clunis reported the matter had been taken up with Hon. Mr. Nixon, and a provincial officer had made an investigation and declared him a fit subject for the county house. Every effort will be made to have him placed there, as he does not belong to Blenheim, having drifted in here and being taken sick over night at the hotel, was taken to the hospital, where he has been several years now at Blenheim's expense.

Contract Completed.

A report was received that the contract of paving was completed. It was not known definitely just how much the whole cost will be, as the engineer, Mr. McGeorge, had not taken complete measurements. The contract with Johnson Bros. of Brantford was over $80,000, and with the extra paving it was thought the total cost might reach around $110,000. Nearly the whole length of the town on Talbot street (the main street) is paved, and the job on the whole is a very creditable one.

The town has, since the canning factory began running several years ago, supplied water from its water tanks, and the fire engine has been used to pump from one tank to another. The council decided to notify the company it must obtain water next year from some other source.

Community Dance.

The Daughters of the Empire think they see a way to make some money and give citizens a frolic by having a community dance on the new pavement in the near future. They requested the council to allow them to so arrange, and although three councillors were not in favor, the vote carried on motion of Councillors Ferguson and Flater, to give the Daughters their wish.

Canning Factory Busy.

Hundreds of bushels of tomatoes are being delivered at the canning factory these days, and John Havens, the busy manager, has been at his wits' end to handle such large quantities.

The death took place at Cedar Springs on Monday, when Mrs. Harry Wiers, aged 30 years, passed away at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Thompson. The funeral was held today, and Rev. Wm Sterling conducted the service at the Cedar Springs Methodist Church. Interment took place at Union Cemetery, Pardoville. She leaves, besides her husband, one child six years of age; her parents, one sister Flossie, four brothers, Charles, Fred, Archie and Lloyd.

GIVEN MONTH FOR ASSAULTING CHIEF

AMHERSTBURG, Sept. 7.—Russell Kett was sentenced to one month in the county jail by Judge J. J. Coughlin in the county criminal court at Sandwich for assaulting A. J. Wharton, chief of police of Amherstburg, on the night of April 19 last. Orion Kett, a brother, was found not guilty on the same charge.

Chief Wharton testified that on the night of April 19 he was walking around the streets of Amherstburg when he noticed a crowd of 25 or 30 men in front of Findlay's restaurant. The men, the chief said, were causing a commotion and using bad language. He ordered them on, and all but five obeyed the command, the five being Russell and Orion Kent, Charles Goodchild, Donald McCormick and Ben Triolet.

The crown instituted no action against Goodchild; the grand jury at the county court last spring threw out a bill of assault against McCormick; Triolet is in custody charged with assaulting William Findlay, proprietor of the restaurant, on the same night as the assault on the chief.

TAFT PAYS TRIBUTE TO BRITISH JUSTICE

Chief Justice of United States Addresses Canadian Bar Association.

OTTAWA, Sept. 7.—(By Canadian Press.)—Hon. William Howard Taft, chief justice of the United States, speaking here before the Canadian Bar Association today, paid tribute to British law and British lawyers. He declared that "the thought of the British bar was always sweet, as it must be to all those in the United States who realize the debt they owe to British law."

Mr. Taft said it was an honor for the American bar to have their representatives invited to attend the Canadian Bar Association meeting. It made for the firmer establishment of that friendship which does and which must exist between the two countries.

Congratulating the association, Mr. Taft said that the American Bar Association regarded itself as the parent of the Canadian body, since the convention of the American Association in Montreal in 1913 first gave the idea to the progression in Canada.

In the United States, said Mr. Taft, they were attempting to secure eighteen additional district judges to deal with cases arising out of the eighteenth amendment. Mr. Taft, amid much laughter, explained that these judges would be used as judicial light cavalry and would be massed where the rush of cases demanded.

Prior to Mr. Taft's address, Dr. R. Masujima, a practicing lawyer of Tokio, and president of the International Bar Association, dealt with the activities of his organization in the east. It was the aim of the International Bar Association to build up an international standard of justice. It had the supremacy of the law for its battle-cry and was a unique example of democracy at its best. The members of the bar were the only body of men sufficiently trained to work for peace and for the enlightenment of the peoples.

MAYOR BRISCO MAY RUN IN CHATHAM

Keen Interest Is Being Taken In Federal Election.

CHATHAM, Sept. 7.—Election talk is filling the air in Kent County. Wherever one goes the coming general election, as announced by Premier Meighen in his London speech, is the principal subject of conversation.

Talk on the city streets is that Mayor Brisco might allow his name to stand as the Government candidate in the riding. There are other reports that J. M. Pike, K.C., might be the choice of a straight Conservative party if the old-time Conservatives put any candidate into the contest.

Speculation is rife as to whether U. F. O. clubs will put a candidate in the field, and the only name mentioned thus far in this connection is that of H. J. French, who contested the United Farmers' convention against J. B. Clarke when the new party was nominating its candidate for East Kent. He will also be remembered as the Conservative candidate who opposed the late D. A. Gordon, Liberal, in East Kent in the 1911 election. A meeting of the Kent U. F. O. executive may be held at an early date to discuss the coming election.

RECORD CORN CROP IN MULL DISTRICT

MULL, Sept. 7.—Corn harvest, which commenced here on Aug. 25, is nearly finished, and a large acreage of fine hard ripe corn is to be seen.

The Dominion Sugar Company threshed over 100 bags of excellent beet seed off 12 acres on the Saddington farm. This was a good yield for the dry summer.

Grain threshing is nearly completed, being the lightest crop threshed on the clay land for a long time, the average 100-acre farmer threshing from 350 to 650 bushels of grain.

DYED EYELASHES

Done in a Few Minutes to Flappers in Brooklyn Beauty Parlors.

"Eyelashes dyed permanently while you wait."

This sign on a modest card in a Brooklyn beauty parlor caused a reporter to investigate.

"Yes, Brooklyn girls are all having 'em dyed," said madame with a cordial French smile. "There is really no excuse for white or pale brown lashes, when dark ones give so much depth and expression to the eyes."

"Doesn't it injure the eyes?"

"Not a bit. Wait and see."

Presently a smart looking flapper entered.

"What do you charge to dye eyelashes?" she asked. "I am so sunburned and my eyebrows and lashes are so bleached I look a sight."

"Fifty cents."

"How long will it take "

"Fifteen minutes.

The girl seated herself in a chair or one of the cubicles, and madame produced two bottles, one filled with white, the other with an amber colored fluid.

"The Egyptians used this, and French beauties have always used it," she said, touching the lids and brows with a glass dropper, which contained a fluid from a vial marked A.

"That stays on for 10 minutes and then I put on a few drops of B," said madame. And at the expiration of that time she did so, and presto, the due-eyed young creature in the chair was gazing at the world under darker, curling lashes that added immensely to the effect.

"Once a month will keep them so, and it certainly is an improvement."

"Do men————?" hazarded the reporter.

"But certainment," said madame, smiling. "The eye has no power of command unless it has a setting. Yes, men also have them dyed. Before long I predict that one will never see any more white lashes. They are ugly and so————" Madame threw up her hands with a Gaelic gesture, and left to give a mud pack to a fat dowager threatened with sagging muscles.

Just Apply This Paste and the Hairs Will Vanish

(Boudoir Secrets.)

The judicious use of a delatone paste insures any woman a clear, hairless skin. To prepare the paste, mix a little of the powdered delatone with some water, then apply to the objectionable hairs for two or three minutes. When the paste is removed, and the skin washed, every trace of hair will have vanished. No pain attends the use of the delatone, and it will not mar the most sensitive skin, but to insure results, see that you get real delatone.

WEDDING BELLS

SNOW—LAWTON.

BLENHEIM, Sept. 7.—A pretty wedding was solemnized on Saturday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Phillips, when their niece, Miss Marjorie Lawton, was married to Cecil Snow, son of William Snow of Harwich, just outside the town limits. Rev. A. H. Jones officiated.

The bride was given away by her uncle, and looked charming in a gown of white Canton crepe, trimmed with rosette of narrow corded ribbon with bridal veil and orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of Ophelia roses. Little Frances Ranson, cousin of the bride, was flower girl, and dressed in pink organdy, carrying a basket of pink roses, looked beautiful. Miss Leora Graham played the wedding march, and was dressed in pink georgette crepe. During the signing of the register Miss Addie Phillips, cousin of the bride, sang "O Promise Me." The groom's gift to the bride was a cut-glass water set, to the flower girl a brooch set in pearls, to the pianist a gold pin, and to the soloist a gold locket.

A dainty dinner was provided by and service was made by Misses Ella Taylor and Sarah Clemons, close companions of the bride. The happy young couple left on a motor trip to Buffalo, Toronto, Peterboro and other points. The bride's traveling suit was brown velour, with plush hat to match. The groom was an overseas man. On their return from their wedding trip they will take up their residence in Chatham, and will be at home to their many friends after October 1, at No. 9 Stone street.

CO-OPERATION DISCUSSED BY UNITED FARM CLUB

Selling as Well as Buying Affected by Team Work.

Co-operation was the keynote of the August meeting Crumlin branch, United Farm Clubs, held in the hall on Monday night, when brief addresses were given by three of the members. In a five-minute talk on community clubs, Mrs. Colin Leitch dealt in a most interesting way with important factors for the making of a successful club. Good officers, promptness and regularity on the part of the members, programs of interest containing something elevating, something instructive and something humorous, and an optimistic spirit in regard to the club, were points emphasized.

John Howe spoke on co-operation in marketing, urging more of the co-operative spirit among farmers in selling as well as in buying. An outline of the proposition to establish a co-operative dairy at Thorndale was given by John Dawson, secretary of the recently-organized company. Mrs. W. C. Smith, who occupied the chair, read the platform of the Provincial Farmers' party, which was briefly discussed.

Vocal number by Miss Allison Cation, the Ladies' Quartet (Mesdames B. Fitzgerald, J. Logan, J. Wills and Miss Reta Gee), a mixed quartet consisting of Mrs. Wills, Miss Gee, Messrs. Wills and Cootes, recitations by Miss Annie Campbell, and choruses by all present, pleasantly interspersed the program. Mesdames Wm. Gee and Fred Gee acted as accompanists. At the conclusion, members of the men's club adjourned for a brief business meeting.

UNIONS ASKED TO SUPPORT ACTORS

LONDON, Sept. 7.—(Canadian Press.)—Following the appearance this afternoon before the British Trades Union Congress at Cardiff of representatives of the Actors' Association of England, the congress passed a resolution urging that labor representatives on local governing bodies give the Actors' Associations the fullest support, in regard to the wages question.

The spokesmen for the actors had alleged working conditions in provincial theatres which "would not be tolerated in any factory or workshop."

Congress also passed a resolution favoring legislation for the licensing of all theatrical, cinema, vaudeville, concert and circus managers and agents and the "unionizing" of every place of amusement in the United Kingdom.

BELIEVE FLAMES HAVE BEEN CHECKED

ST. PAUL, Minn., Sept. 7.—Reports of rain falling in the western part of the forest fire area near McGrath and White Pine, the latter of which was destroyed yesterday, encouraged officials to believe that the check put upon the flames could be maintained.

All-night efforts at back-firing and cutting of fire lines by the 1,000 militiamen and volunteers gave the fire-fighters the upper hand early today. In the Onamia district the fire-fighters were withdrawn following the rain.

BRANTFORD SCHOOLS ARE BADLY CROWDED

Board Holds Emergency Meeting and Will Secure More Rooms.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

BRANTFORD, Sept. 7.—The board of education at a special meeting this afternoon decided to take care of every child offering for the Collegiate Institute, including the 93 first-form county pupils, hitherto barred by lack of accommodation. A committee was appointed to secure quarters.

With the opening of the local school yesterday the need for greater accommodation was immediately seen and the board of education held an emergency meeting tonight. It is probable that with the appointment of committees additional class rooms will be secured. For the first time in the history of the Brantford Collegiate Institute pupils were turned away from the doors on opening day yesterday, not a few, but a total of 93 students.

These boys and girls were all from the county of Brant and until there is some accommodation for them they will find room in the school. No pupils of the second or higher forms were refused admission, only the beginners. There were 185 more pupils present yesterday than were enrolled last year. The total enrollment in the public schools of the city yesterday was 4,100 and of that number about 441 were infantile beginners. However, this is not the end yet, as more are expected today. There are always a few who come late, after the term opens, after the holidays. Accommodation will be taxed to the limit, but Inspector Kilmer expects to settle his large care satisfactorily. He thought he had his problems of numbers and classes pretty well arranged last night, but today he found he had a whole roomful not accounted for.

CHOLERA INFANTUM
THE FATAL DISEASE OF CHILDREN

Mothers should look well after their young ones during the hot summer months as this is the time of year when this summer complaint is most prevalent. It begins with a profuse diarrhoea, the stomach becomes irritated, vomiting and purging set in, and the matter ejected from the stomach has a bilious appearance; the child rapidly loses flesh and is soon reduced to great languor and prostration which in a great many cases terminates fatally.

To quickly offset the vomiting, purging and diarrhoea

MISS MARTIN GOING TO MISSION FIELD

Impressive Designation Service Held in Alma Presbyterian Church.

ST. THOMAS, Sept. 7. — The impressive ceremonies of designating Miss Mary Martin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Martin, 6 Balfour street, to the field of foreign missions took place last night at Alma Presbyterian Church. The service was in charge of Rev. John Elder, moderator of the Presbytery of London, and addresses were given by Rev. W. A. Bremner of Cobourg, the former pastor; Rev. H. G. Thornloe, the present pastor; Rev. R. P. McKay, D.D., Toronto; Rev. J. M. McGillivray, pastor of Knox Church, and Rev. David Forbes, a returned missionary.

A number of presentations were made to Miss Martin. Mrs. (Rev.) J. D. McCrae and Mrs. McEcheran, London, on behalf of the Women's Missionary Society of London Presbytery, gave Miss Martin a Bible and a handsome steamer rug. Rev. R. P. McKay presented her with a Bible in the Hindu language.

The other offerings were from various branches of the Alma Street Church. A gift of a purse, containing $130, was made on behalf of the congregation by John Bloye, representing the session, and Mrs. J. W. Norton, representing the Ladies' Aid. The Young People's Society, represented by Alfred McIntyre and Miss Violet Stephens, presented her with another purse, containing $100, while a third purse, containing $26, came from Mrs. J. D. Ballantine's Mizpah Bible class, of which Miss Martin was formerly teacher, the presentation being made by Miss Margaret Thomson and Miss Beatrice Logan. The Mizpah class also presented Miss Martin with a quilt and pair of pillows. The quilt is the handiwork of the members of the class and bears the autographs of members of the congregation. Addresses accompanied the presentations.

To all of these societies and organizations Miss Martin, in her brief and well-worded address of thanks, gave assurance that the kindness and well-wishes of the people of Alma Street Church and the Presbtyery of London would never be forgotten.

Miss Martin leaves for India tomorrow, and is due to sail for Liverpool on Saturday from Montreal. She will be accompanied by Dr. Margaret McKellar, who has spent many years in India, and Rev. Thomas McMillan and Mrs. McMillan, Winnipeg.

BOTTOM DROPS OUT OF COTTON MARKET

Break Came When Big Interests Let Go Their Holdings.

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—The cotton market collapsed today after a furious opening, in which futures showed advances of 130 to 172 points, some soaring as high as 188 points above yesterday's close. The violent break sent prices down 200 points, the limit permitted for any one day's fluctuations. The close was weak at the lowest prices of the day, October finishing at 19.05, and January at 19.75.

The break came after quotations crossed 21c a pound for all months, and exceeded 22c for distant deliveries. The rise was attributed partly to another sensational Liverpool advance. The drop started when it became apparent that big interests which had bought at much lower figures were letting go their cotton. Prices crumbled under the strain of large offerings in the last hour until the trading limits were reached.

The fall gave the market the unique experience of having reached the 200-point limit in two consecutive days, the upside yesterday, and the downside today.

There was no change in the news to account for the break. It was simply a case of an overbought condition.

SAYS WINDSOR HAS 40,000 POPULATION

[Special to The Advertiser.]

WINDSOR, Sept. 7.—Windsor is still growing, according to Assessment Commissioner Black, who today completed his field work for the annual assessment. The commissioner places the population at nearly 40,000, or approximately 1,000 more than in June, when the census was taken.

This increase, the assessor explained, has been made despite the fact that hundreds of young farmers, drawn to the border during the war time boom have retuned to rural sections of the county.

The increase in assessment will amount to several millions of dollars, it is estimated. Erection of large buildings, including the new $2,000,000 hotel is responsible.

Fruit Firm Sues Railway Over Shipment of Apples.

ST. THOMAS, Sept. 7.—The action brought by the Aidelh Brothers against the Pere Marquette Railway for the recovery of $136.0, the amount alleged to be due by the company for damage to a cargo of apples shipped to Walkerville on November 13 last, was heard by Judge Ermatinger this afternoon, and judgment reserved.

The plaintiffs claimed that through the negligence of the company the door of the car in which the apples were shipped was opened on the way to its destination, and 50 bushels of the fruit were frozen.

The company denied liability under the contract for shipment, as according to a clause added to the way bill, the goods were shipped at the risk of the consignor. The plaintiffs charged the company at the rate of 75 cents a bushel, and on being examined as to what the apples cost the plaintiffs, Lucius Abdelh testified that he had bought the apples in the orchard for $40; 450 bushels were taken from the trees; labor cost $35 a day, and he was engaged in harvesting the crop for two weeks. The undamaged apples had been sold for 90 cents a bushel at Windsor. The frozen end of the consignment was destroyed.

The company did not deny that the door of the car had been opened while the shipment was proceeding from the Talbot yards to Walkerville.

DATE SET FOR HEARING LIQUOR APPEAL CASE

Department Will Test Decision o Magistrate Maxwell.

ST. THOMAS, Sept. 7.—The appeal of the department against the findings of Police Magistrate Maxwell, in which the magistrate adjged that the liquor to the value of $1,0 should be returned to its alleged owner, J. H. Jones, the South Yarmouth farmer, will be heard by Judge Ermatinger on Tuesday, September 20.

The varied assortment of liquors were seized in April last at the M. C. R. freight house, and Magistrate Maxwell decided three weeks ago that the consignment belong to Mr. Jones.

The bundle of whskeys, wines, benedictines, chartreuse and champagne is still under lock and key in one of the cells at the police station.

Crown Attorney McCrimmon objects to the admissability of the detailed account of the Montreal wholesaler without further proof of its reliability.

CLAIMS $200 FROM INGERSOLL COUNCIL

INGERSOLL, Sept. 7.—A claim of $200 for damages in connection with the burning of his barn a week ago, when it was struck by lightning during a severe electrical storm, has been presented to the council by H. Harlow of Bell street. He contends that there was no hydrant near the burning building from which the firemen could get a supply of water. Had this been the case, he believes, the greater part of the building at least would have been saved. Mr. Harlow states that as he has been paying for fire protection he considers he is entitled to damages.

A claim for $21, covering the cost of repairs, has been presented by L. E. Gillingham of London to the council. His automobile was damaged recently on Thames street hill and he claims it was the result of skidding in fresh oil and colliding with a telephone pole.

REPORT NOT CONFIRMED.

MONROE DOCTRINE IS DISCUSSED BY LEAGUE ASSEMBLY

Competency of League of Nations Also Considered.

GENEVA, Sept. 7.—The Monroe doctrine and the competency of the League of Nations in American questions and in questions where one party to a treaty asks intervention to secure revision were the principal subjects of discussion in and out of the assembly of the League of Nations today. The discussions were provoked by the demand of Bolivia that the assembly put on the agenda the proposed revision of the treaty of 1904 between Chile and Boliva, whereby the latter ceded to Chile the provinces of Tacna and Arica.

Feared Trouble.

The debate began at the morning session of the assembly despite all efforts to keep the subject off the floor by the league leaders, who feared that a serious situation might be created by such a debate. A canvass of the principal delegations shows that a large majority of the assembly is against establishing a precedent that the league may interfere to revise treaties, particularly treaties of peace.

Senor Aramayo for Boliva informed the Associated Press that the chancellery of the United States had been consulted regarding Boliva's application to the league before it was submitted and had decided that mediation by the league was not incompatible with the Monroe doctrine.

Efforts Failed.

Arthur J. Balfour of Great Britain, Lord Robert Cecil, who represents South Africa, and President von Karnebeek, failed to keep the debate off the floor; they were successful only in securing the consent of the Bolivian and Chilean delgations to let the matter rest after the presentation of their cases until the delegates should be able to study the documents. The question will come up again unless Bolivia withdraws its request.

May Be Modified.

The situation in which an unsatisfactory issue to either adversary will put the league has revived speculation as to the proposed modification of the conveneant, with provision for regional leagues with liaisons between them. This plan, proposed by M. Beck of Czecho-Slovakia, will come up at an early date before the committee on amendments. There is considerable support for this proposal, many of the delegates believing that only thus can the league work effectively without being hampered by regional understandings between individual states.

The committees of the assembly began their work this afternoon and will sit daily. The first act of the committee on amendments was to reject the amendment proposed by Argentina that all sovereign states should be members of the league unless they voluntarily abstained from membership. It was on this question that the Argentine delegation withdrew from the first assembly.

CLOES FAMILY HOLDS 31ST ANNUAL REUNION

Home of Walter Kunz, Kingsmill, Is Scene of Gathering.

BELMONT, Sept. 7.—The home of Walter Kunz, Kingsmill, was the scene on Tuesday, Aug. 30, of the 31st annual reunion of the Cloes family. The family was organized in Ohio in the year 1890 by Charles Cloes. Relatives to the number of 76 sat down to the tables, which were spread on the spacious veranda, each place being decorated by two flags, the Union Jack and the Stars and Stripes, crossed. The rooms were decorated with a profusion of asters. The company partook of a venison and chicken pie dinner.

Throughout the day instrumental music was rendered by Leroy and Elzie Cloes of Indiana; Klin. Hoskins, Ohio, and Harley Cloes of New Sarum.

Among the guests present was Lyman Cloes of Indiana, brother of L. D. Cloes, Kingsmill. Lyman left Canada 56 years ago, and it has been 26 years since the brothers met.

One notable feature of the occasion was that four generations were represented, namely, L. D. Cloes of Kingsmill, Webster Cloes of Belmont, Mrs. Roy Wintermute and her little son Huron. At the same reunion three years ago there were five generations represented.

Dr. George Smith of Mansfield, Ohio, called the meeting to order and gave a short address of welcome. He invited the president, L. D. Cloes, to the chair, who made a short speech. Lewis R. Cloes of St. Thomas was called upon, and made a few remarks which pleased his hearers. Dr. James Leith of Hamilton spoke briefly, and said it was the first reunion he had attended, and hoped it would not be the last. Business was then in order, and the meeting closed by singing 'God Be With You Till We Meet Again," with Mr. Leroy Cloes as accompanist.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. F. Richards and Mrs. C. Thompson, Plainwell, Mich.; Dr. and Mrs. James Leitch, Hamilton; Seth Hoskins and his son Kline, Rock Creek, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. N. A. Cline, Lewis Cline, Mrs. Mary White, Lyons; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cloes and family, New Sarum; Mr. and Mrs. Neal Cloes, Mr. and Mrs. Tisdale, Mr. and Mrs. Hanford Shaw, George Cloes and family, New Sarum; Mr. and Mrs. W. Cloes and family, Belmont; Mr. and Mrs. Norman Cloes and family, Sparta; Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Cloes and family, Lewis R. Croes, St. Thomas; Mrs. Jessie Norton, Rock Creek, Ohio; Mrs. E. C. Beckwith, Eagleville, Ohio; Miss Lillian Burns, Orwell, Ohio; Dr. and Mrs. George Smith, Mansfield, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Cloes and son Elzie, Muncie, Indiana; Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Cloes and family, Auburn, Indiana; Mr. and Mrs. August Janson and family, East Trumbull, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. Roy Wintermute and son, Belmont; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Kunz, Mr. L. D. Cloes, Kingsmill; Miss Doretha Davenport, Aylmer; Miss Evelyn Currie Tillsonburg.

BRITISH BATTLESHIP IS BRINGING VICTIMS

PLYMOUTH, Eng., Sept. 7.—The British warship Dauntless slowly steamed out of Plymouth harbor this afternoon with the bodies of Commander Louis H. Maxfield and fourteen of his fellow officers and men who lost their lives in the disaster which befell the giant dirigible ZR-2 at Hull two weeks ago.

As the funeral ship started on its voyage to New York the guns of the out harbor fortifications boomed a farewell in honor of the United States airmen who a few weeks ago were anticipating a return home aboard the new airship.

The bodies of only fourteen, however, will reach the United States, as the wish of Commander Emory Coil to be buried at sea will be complied with.

The body of John C. Hancock will be buried in London. He was born in England.

KEEP ON BUYING!

Just as sure as there is a slump there will be a revival. Nothing can prevent the world getting back to normalcy and good times. History records many depressions, but they have all been comparatively brief, invariably followed by increased prosperity. Meanwhile, keep on buying and keep things going. That is the way to carry on during the hour of industrial and commercial low levels. The fact that the more we purchase the more manufacturing is required, with its increasing employment, is so patent that it seems absurd to mention it. The big financier, the little storekeeper, the laborer, skilled and unskilled, the wage-earner and capitalist of every description, are all essential to one another. Co-operation is the key to industrial health. Keep on buying, and co-operate in the movement towards better times, which is already under way in Canada.

A PORTAL OF PEACE.

The "Peace Arch" which has been erected on the international boundary near Vancouver, to commemorate over a hundred years of peace between Canada and the United States, is claimed to be the first memorial of the kind to be erected in the world. This may be true in the narrow sense, but from time to time in the history of the world memorials in stone, some of them of rude construction, it is true, have been put up as tokens of amity between tribes and nations. The stately portal just completed near Vancouver is a veritable "sermon in stone," for concrete is to all intents and purposes a form of rock. The text of the sermon is that with three thousand miles of frontier, no fortifications or defences of any kind have been necessary for over one hundred years.

Probably the European nations who have for so many centuries shown their teeth at one another across the borders of their respective states would have been better off today could they have afforded to do without these huge military works, not only of defence, but of defiance; but autocratic rulers in their distrust of each other considered such grim toys necessary to their own safety, if not to that of their subjects, and so these fortresses have been allowed to grimly frown upon each other for centuries. Surely the day is coming when other nations can erect some token of mutual goodwill such as that which now rears its stately outlines on the Pacific coast, and tells the world that not only are Canadians and Americans "brethren dwelling together in unity," but that they are "children of a common mother."

At a time when there is such an intense longing for a lasting peace in the world, the inauguration of such an outstanding token of concord is more than usually significant. In the days of ancient Rome the conquering Caesars erected magnificent triumphal arches to keep in everlasting remembrance their great victories, but this arch of peace in a land which the Caesars never knew is the most triumphant monument of them all, for it tells of how prejudices and passions have been conquered to the present good and the eternal welfare of two great nations of the Anglo-Saxon race. May the day soon come when the "roof of the world" will be surmounted by a majestic monument, before which all the people of the earth will lay their testimonies of everlasting friendship.

PROGRESS IN CHINA.

In the current issue of the China Review, a copy of which has been kindly sent us by the secretary of the Chinese Nationalist League in this city, there appears an interesting article on the modern aspect of the country by Dr. Wu Ting-Fang, a veteran diplomat and statesman, a former Chinese minister to the United States, and at present holding office as minister of foreign affairs for the constitutional government of the Republic of China. Dr. Wu, who is known as "the Grand Old Man of China," is a striking personality, and his political and economical writings are universally read. He considers that the internal strife in China is caused by the march of modernty being opposed by the forces of reaction.

Dr. Wu is not alone in his view that the cause of trouble in the development of a country is the conflict between advancement and retrogression, between selfishness and generous patriotism. We see the same state of matters in our own country and in any country where there is a forward movement. As Dr. Wu points out, "China has long been referred to as the home of an awakening people, and it is because of that awakening, by the ready acceptance of new ideas by some of her enlightened sons, that conflict and internecine war are dividing the country. China is in a state of transition, is witnessing a struggle between the new and the old, between enlightened ideas and ignorance and corruption, between management and mismanagement. It is an inevitable phase in the evolution of any people; it is inevitable among even the most civilized."

As we have said, the same process of evolution is going on in every country, though not in the same intensive degree. The period of transition which is taking place in Canada at the present time may well be compared to that of China, although, fortunately, there is an entire absence of that physical strife which is hindering the forces of progression in the East. Fortunately, also, Canada will soon have her remedy at the polls, and the people will raise their voice in demanding the removal of those obstacles which impede the country's prosperity.

Of course, it is now recognized by the Liberal element in China that if the country is ever going to take its proper place among the great family of nations she must reform—must modernize. As Dr. Wu observes: "She cannot stand still; she must either go backward or forward." This, again, is perfectly true of every country and of every individual and of every project. China is merely seeking to accomplish in a short space of time what other nations have taken centuries to accomplish, and have accomplished more or less by simultaneous and mutual effort.

Dr. Sun Yat-sen, than whom there is no more enlightened figure in the field of Chinese reform today, and who is collaborating with the venerable minister of foreign affairs, has established in Canton a government on democratic lines, and is using every opportunity of aiding the progressive movement by the force of example. Dr. Wu is convinced that this movement cannot be stayed, although it may be temporarily embarrassed. There is, therefore, every reason to predict that China will, in the not very distant future, attain a degree of progress which will give her a place in the ranks of modern nations consistent with her ancient greatness and civilization.

THE MAN WITH THE GUN.

Is it not time that something was done to curtail the facilities which permit all sorts of irresponsible individuals, men as well as boys, to wander at large on any day of the week, but particularly on holidays, with loaded guns in their hands, knowing not or caring not who or what they are going to shoot, but determined to have a crack at something, anyway? We say nothing of the professional desperadoes who prowl about certain districts, seeking whom they may rob and slay, but we wish to call the attention of the authorities to the loose manner in which all and sundry can procure firearms, and when so disposed can discharge them within the city limits, as if it were the most ordinary thing in the world.

The other day a peaceful citizen was calmly perusing the morning newspaper near an open window which overlooked the veranda at the side of his house, when "Bang!" went a shotgun, and almost simultaneously with the report a shower of small shot rattled on the veranda and knocked splinters out of one of the posts. The "sportsman" was a burly individual of foreign aspect, who stood coolly with his gun in his hand a few yards from the cottage, apparently under the impression that hunting trips within the city and on other people's grounds were all right, and that if any of the citizens got a share of the lead it was no concern of his. When ordered off under a threat of invoking the law, the man with the gun walked away with an injured air, taking with him a pailful of little songbirds which he had slaughtered.

Apart from the danger of people getting maimed or blinded by the contents of the guns carried by these lunatics at large, it is a scandalous thing that the feathered musicians, upon which so much of the joy of the summer depends, should be driven from their haunts by such barbarous practices. The protection of our wild birds is not only the duty of the people, but it is the duty of the state, and adequate measures should be taken to check the indiscriminate use of guns in this as in still more questionable enterprises. It should not be sufficient merely for the possessor of firearms to have a license, but such licenses should not be granted without due knowledge of the recipient, and a guarantee that he was going to use the weapon in a lawful manner.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Premier Meighen has begun his political swan-song.

De Valera says that Britain's offer has a fake label. So has de Valera.

Toronto now owns its street railway, and London is going to seize upon the same idea.

The Greeks are expected to capture Angora from the Turks. That should "get" the Turkish "goat."

The United States having made peace with Germany, no doubt the war can be considered over, over there.

A young and innocent alligator has been found wandering about the streets of Hamilton. It has been afforded police protection.

King Coal has received a severe knock in Britain, and is considerably reduced. Serves him right for causing so much trouble lately.

Astronomers declare that a second moon recently discovered appears to serve no purpose. However, it will give the poets something more to rave about.

Better roads have caused a big increase in the number of auto tourists, and no doubt the increase in the number of auto tourists has caused better roads.

Inverness, where the British cabinet is meeting, has a famous cemetery named Tomnahurich. It is probably here that de Valera's hopes of a republic will be buried.

At a riot in Dundee, Scotland, caused by the unemployed, tombstones were hurled at the police. We now know what Mrs. Malaprop meant by asserting that opprobrious epitaphs had been thrown at her.

The London Free Press says the tariff is the chief political issue. The Montreal Star (Conservative) says the tariff is not the chief issue. Mr. Meighen's press support seems about as patchwork as his ministry and his party.

A STRANGE TREATY.

[New York Times.]

No pomp, no ceremony, no speech-making marked the signing of the separate treaty of peace between Germany and the United States. The plenipotentiaries wrote their names and got out as quickly as possible. That was seemly, for it would have been most unseemly to invoke the usual formalities and dignities upon the conclusion of a pact that is not at all the usual thing in treaties, being of so uncommon a nature that it would be safe to pronounce it unique. This treaty of itself has no life. It is not viable. Apart from the Porter resolution and the Treaty of Versailles, it could not stand for an instant. In fact, its sole independent affirmation is that of the desire to restore friendly relations between the two countries. Beyond that, it is a parasitic growth upon the Treaty of Versailles.

It will serve its one primary purpose, that of establishing peace, and should, therefore, be ratified by the Senate. If its assertion of rights and benefits under the rejected Treaty of Versailles is valid, further benefits will accrue under it, such as the confirmation of our rights in the Island of Yap, and the right to participate in the work of the reparations commission, should we so desire. But it is a formless and incomplete instrument; it must be followed by the formal treaty of commerce and amity negotiated in the usual manner and containing a multitude of provisions not inserted in the agreement signed in Berlin.

OTHERS' VIEWS

THE WHISPERING TREES.

[Philadelphia Public Ledger.]

Trees whisper in the summer breeze. We have all heard them do it. Different kinds of three have different and characteristic voices. There is a muffled plaint of the oak in a wintry blast, unlike the sibiliant sigh of the pine. Pine trees are especially vocal, thanks to their myriads of "needles," which produce eolian notes when a breeze sweeps through them. Similar notes are sounded in the winter time by bare twigs and even branches. Naturally the pine needles give a smaller range of high-pitched notes than do the twigs and branches of oaks.

Prof. W. J. Humphreys of the United States weather bureau, says that as the eolian whispers of pine needles or the numerous twigs of the oak blend into a sound of considerable volume, so do the whisperings of many trees blend into the well-known murmur of the forest. Often particularly in a pine forest, in a leeward valley, one hears a low-sighing or moaning noise, which, as the wind over the crest grows to a gale, swells to a cataract roar that is awe-inspiring. It is an instance of the combined effect of multitudes of eolian whispers. The storm wind in winter, when one is glad to be safe indoors, has many voices and some musical notes. At the height of its fury it seems actually to howl about the chimneys and rooftops. These sounds are due to eddies in the moving air, attributable to interruptions of the air currents by the edges of the roof and other obstacles.

CANADA'S WATERWAYS.

[London Morning Post.]

The average Britishers has little idea of the vastness of Canada, and it would probably astonish him that it is twice as large as was the area of the Roman Empire at its largest—if Gibbon's estimate is correct. When Lord Emmott returned from a visit to Canada he told the Royal Colonist Institute that what had impressed him the most in the Dominion was the magnificient waterways. "When one stands by the river at Ottawa," he said, "some hundreds of miles from the mouth of the St. Lawrence, and is told that the source of what is merely a branch of that great river is 1,000 miles distant; when one steams for almost two whole days on those vast inland seas between Port McNicoll and Port Arthur, one begins to understand what an outstanding feature the great water system of Canada is."

THE RAILWAYS' TROUBLES.

[Ottawa Journal.]

All over the world the troubles of the railways would appear to have had their foundation in the extraordinary increases given to labor. And nowhere has a permanent nor satisfactory adjustment yet been made. It is apparently an easy thing to bring about an increase in the scale of pay when abnormal conditions lend themselves to the side of the employees; it is a very difficult thing to bring about a decrease. In practice, rather than theory, the law would appear to be one-sided. At all events, it compels the employer to yield immediately to awards, almost invariably with retroactive effect, while it leaves an open door for more or less indefinite resistance to a judgment adverse to labor. The railways are in that position today. The same tribunal which advanced wages, and the finding of which was instantly given effect by the railways, has now ordered a cut; yet a way has been found under the law to have the matter held in suspense pending what may be a tedious arbitration. And if the ultimate decision should be favorable to the railways there, will be no refunds coming to them.

A GRACEFUL TRIBUTE.

[Halifax Chronicle.]

The British Government is paying a graceful tribute to the American naval men who perished in the wreck of the ZR-2, by sending their bodies home on H. M. S. Dauntless. It is an act of grace and a mark of respect to the dead, which usually is accorded only to high officials. But in this case the American and British naval officers lost their lives in the discharge of a common duty, and the dispatch of the Dauntless is further evidence of the spirit of unity which brought the men of the two navies so closely together during the war and of the comradeship which animates them today.

ADVERTISING IN THE ORIENT.

[Philadelphia Public Ledger.]

Oriental countries, having awakened within very recent years to the worthwhileness of advertising, have adopted methods of their own which are rather odd and picturesque.

In particular, they go in for street processions. Enterprising advertisers in Chinese and Japanese cities organize parades, with banners and strange devices, such as dragons and other monsters, carried by men or on wagons.

This is real jazz, as applied to publicity work. We have nothing equal to it in its way. In the Philippines similar methods are pursued. Not long ago, in Manila to advertise a new cigar, there was a very striking procession, in which gigantic walking cigars took part, accompanied by men carrying large placards lettered in English and Spanish, extolling the product and inviting the public to try it.

A MILLIONAIRE FLUNKY.

[New York Times.]

James W. Hebron, who was buried Sunday in Calvary Cemetery, was the "Jimmy" of the old days at Delmonico's, reputed to have made a million from tips given him by friendly magnates and through his own livery stable business that for years had the privileges of leading hotels and restaurants. Just how much "Jimmy" made is doubtful. He once put the total at $750,000.

He was born in Ireland 68 years ago, and studied for the priesthood. He always attributed his popularity with Delmonico patrons to his education that enabled him to converse with them. He went to work first as a doorman at the famous restaurant in 1877 at $1 a day. The big operators of the period, James R. Keene among them, took a liking to him, tipped with prodigal hand and often "put him in with them" in fruitful speculation. Capital in hand, he opened his cab business and made a success of it, adding two more stables and buying a house at 265 West Seventieth street.

In 1907 his mind gave way and for four years he was incompetent. A fall while crossing a railway track restored his reason and he later brought several suits for accountings of his property, asserting that most of his property had been dissipated by mishandling during his illness. Three years ago his health again failed. Recently he had lived with a daughter at 147 West Sixty-sixth street.

KEEP GOING.

[Bay City Tribune.]

The wires carry a story of an ex-soldier and his mother who committed suicide because he couldn't get a job and all that was left between them and starvation was three $50 Liberty bonds, which they directed should be used to bury them. Some people worry more about a "decent burial" than they do about a decent living. Anybody with "pep" would have used those Liberty bonds to "keep going" and taken chances on finding a job before the money was all spent.

OUR GREAT-GRANDMOTHERS.

[London Express.]

Sir,—A lot has been written lately about the way girls dress— or (according to some writers) undress. I was reading an old novel yesterday published in 1808, in which a Mrs. Jones gives her views of the girls of that period. She says: "There are not many of the young flirts nowadays who can boast of being worth £7,000. No, faith, they are all outside show, and, God knows, but little of that, since they are more than half naked. I blush for them every day of my life."

People seem to change but little after all.

HISTORY'S MYSTERIES

(Copyright, 1921, by The Wheeler Syndicate, Inc.)

THE CRIME OF EUGENE ARAM.

The murder committed by Eugene Aram—and perpetuated in Hood's ballad, "The Dream of Eugene Aram," and Bulwer Lytton's romance, "Eugene Aram"—was remarkable not only on account of the unusual attainments of the criminal, who was one of the leading linguists of his time, but also because of the fact that no evidence of the murder was adduced for fourteen years after the crime was committed.

Eugene Aram was a self-taught genius. He had received only a scanty education from his parents, but, by dint of the most persevering energy, he secured an excellent knowledge of mathematics, and an extensive acquaintance with Latin and Greek, as well as with the Hebrew and Chaldean languages. He taught Latin and writing at a school in London, and was afterwards employed as usher and assistant to the Rev. Anthony Hinton at his boarding school in Middlesex.

In 1744 Aram murdered Daniel Clarke and then successfully concealed all traces of his crime until the accidental discovery of a skelton fourteen years later led to the conclusion that a murder had been commited, in spite of the fact that it was later found that the skeleton was not that of Clarke. Aram was apprehended on suspicion, tried at York in 1759, and found guilty on evidence supported by the testimony of his own wife. Although his counsel fought the case through on every conceivable ground, after conviction Aram admitted the justice of his sentence and endeavored to commi suicide by opening an artery in his arm with a razor. But, despite his wakened condition, he was taken to the gallows in York, where he was hanged, his body being later hung in chains in the forest of Knaresborough.

During a portion of the fourteen years between the murder and its discovery Aram was employed as assistant to Mr. Hinton, who frequently observed that whenever Aram saw a worm or any other insect in the gravel walks of the garden, he carefully removed it to a secure position where it could not possibly be stepped upon. When the murder of Clarke was discovered and Aram convicted, it occurred to Mrs. Hinton that the murderer had evidently supposed that he could atone for his crime by preserving the lives of animals, and that, by frequently showing mercy and tenderness to the lower forms of life, the killing of a man would either be obliterated or his guilt considerably lessened.

At length Mr. Hinton discovered that his assistant was a thief, for, hearing some persons in the garden early one morning, the headmaster immediately investigated, but found only a sack full of potatoes, which had been abandoned upon his approach. Thinking that he had a sufficient clue to detect the thief, Mr. Hinton caused the sack and its contents to be exhibited in the neighborhood, and one of the villagers claimed the sack as his own, stating that he had loaned it to Aram, who boarded at his house. On this information Aram was dismissed, particularly as an examination of his locker at the school disclosed evidence of many petty thefts which had been going on over a long period of time.

In conducting his own defence during his trial for murder, Aram made a skillful attack on the fallibility of circumstantial evidence in general, and the conclusions to be drawn from the discovery of human bones in particular, quoting several instances where bones had been found in caves, and attempting to prove that the skeleton in St. Robert's cave was probably that of some hermit who had taken up his abode there.

There appears to be little doubt that he murdered Clarke, for he practically admitted it, yet no less an authority than Bulwer Lytton was of the opinion that he was guilty only of robbery. Aram was convicted principally on the evidence of his wife, who appears to have been a most peculiar person, for, after the execution of her husband she not only continued to live at Knaresborough, but visited the forest every day and picked up the bones as they dropped, one by one, from her husband's body, while the children assisted in her support by taking strangers to view the tree where their father's remains had been hung.

POETRY AND JEST

ON BEINGMET.

[Seymour Barnard.]

When from my train I've stepped with glee,
My journey ended,
To find there's none awaiting me
With hand, or, as the case may be,
With arms extended—

The waiting throngs, accusing, scan
My visage harried:
"Some selfish, sour, unmarried man,
Or sole survivor of his clan,
As yet unburied!"

Resolved, say I, this far from light
Humiliation
Shall never more my journey blight;
Someone shall meet me for a slight Remuneration!

Or, better still, with motives more
Or less the purest,
I'll organize and train a corps
In systematic welcomes for
The lonesome tourist.

Then for a sum I need but name
To show fair play,
I'll designate a peerless dame
My client-traveler to acclaim
As fiancee.

Or, if he be advanced in years
I shall have taught her
To simulate with joyous tears
The pure affection that endears
An only daughter.

Again, if whimsical is he,
I'll send another—
A dowager of comfy;
His wife! or, as is mood may be,
His doting mother!

The bachelor who moans his lot
Anew each season,
I'll send to meet him, on the dot,
Paid progeny in numbers not Exceeding reason.

Or say my client is inspired
To rule this nation,
I'll have the largest crowd desired,
With fervor and affection fired,
Surround the station.

If said that I eliminate
The female tourist,
Ye maids from six to sixty-eight,
Believe me I anticipate
Your money's surest.

THE DEATH OF SUMMER.

[Carolyn M. Levis in N. Y. Times.]

Lavender flowers and roses' breath,
And my heart breathes a sigh for you.
Asters have heralded Summer's death
And the kind sky shrouded her all in blue—
Draped a cloud on her, fold on fold.
Goldenrod showered her with his gold,
And the breeze so sweet.
In the strange still heat,
Dropped a kiss at his dead love's feet.
Murmur of bees and rustle of grass,
As it stoops to bend its head.
Letting the ghost of the Summer pass
To the land of the unseen dead.
Her eyes were blue as your eyes are blue,
And, oh, how my heart has longed for you,
While earth and sky
So silently
Were waiting, waiting as even I.

Whisper of wiggs in the waning dusk
And my heart still burns for you.
A breath comes laden with meadow musk
And drenches in the meadow dew,
A cold wind touches the darkening air,
My years are empty, my days are bare.
Winter is night,
With its shiver and sigh.
And the year is sad as well as I.

NO JOB FOR AN AMATEUR.

[Film Fun.]

"Can't you make love like some of the screen heroes?"

"What do you mean?"

"Kiss me without disturbing my rouge, embrace me without disarranging my hair, and draw my head to your shoulder without leaving powder all over your coat."

THE BABY.

Who rules the house and all within?
Who often needs a safety pin?
Who makes you glad he's not a twin?
The Baby.

Who wakes at night and wants a jink?
Whose rosy-posy toes are pink?
Who from the bottle does not shrink?
The Baby.

Who wakes at 4 a.m. to yowl?
Who when you lift him starts to howl?
Who looks as wise as any owl?
The Baby.

Who can upset your every plan?
Who plainly shows he knows he can?
Who some day'll be a horrid man?
The Baby.

THE LONG-FELT WANT.

[Ottawa Journal.]

"Sit down," said the eminent publisher to the tattered genius who had just entered his elaborate sanctum. "I have read your manuscript, and I think I shall publish it. It seems to me a good book, and I think it will fill a long-felt want."

"I'm glad to hear you say that," said the author. "And, by the way, could you advance me ten shillings on account of my royalties?"

"Oh, I think so. But why do you want ten shillings?"

"I want to begin filling that long-felt want you spoke of."

LET ME PLAY FAIR.

[Scottie McKenzie Frasier.]

I do not ask
Glory on the battlefield,
Or to do daring deeds
To bring renown;
But in the little things
Let me play fair.
To my fellow man,
Let me be square.
And O, Lord,
Let me never be afraid
To tell the truth.

NOMAD.

[Leslie Nelson Jennings.]

Let me delay a moment and look out
Into the morning; let me feel the slow
Dropping of chains, the walls that are about,
To give me back my freedom! Some will go
Hurriedly, being flushed, as bondsmen are,
With wine of new horizons—but not I!
No need to seek the sea, or travel far
To sip the tempered sweetness of the sky.

There is a pleasure that we nomads take
In standing long at doors that mark the brink
Of unforecasted journeys; and we break
Chains with a shy reluctance, link by link,
Perhaps because of this we love the spires
Of little towns at twilight, and inn fires.

GRIEF IN CYTHERA.

(Antoine Watteau, died July 18, 1821.)

[Francis Bickley.]

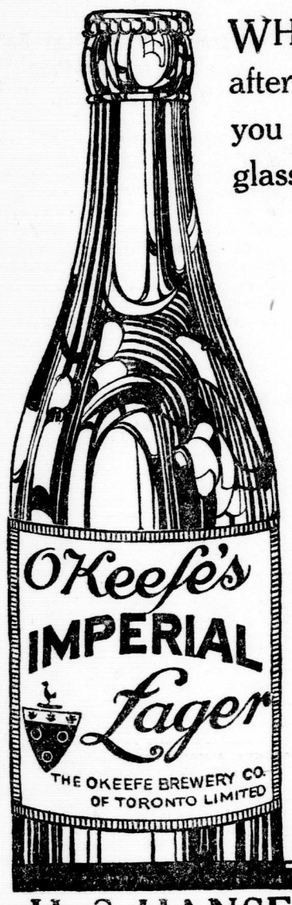

But suddenly
Across the sunlit sea a chill wind blows.
The great trees shudder, and murmur mournfully,
From lawn and sea and sky

Fades all the gold.
Columbine drops her rose
And hugs her fragile shoulders, feeling cold
And sad—she knows not why.
Brown Mezzetin
Lays quietly down his ribboned mandolin.
From which the last note dies
Unheeded. Even the malicious eyes
Of mocking Harlequin grow wide with wonder. . . .

The lovers in the groves
Forget their languid loves;
Hands fall asunder.
Or cling more closely than in tenderness.
Lips pursed for kissing part in dim distress.
Vows faint, half-spoken
To silence. Silence reigns . . . and then is broken
By a voice crying, crying overhead:
"Who dreamed you, he is dead."

A PAGE OF INTEREST TO WOMEN READERS

LOCAL INSTITUTIONS MAY BENEFIT FROM T. M'CORMICK'S WILL

W. C. A. Refuses North End Property As Recreation Park.

It is understood that the Aged People's Home and Home for Incurables will benefit by the will of the late Thomas McCormick, together with the Y. M. C. A. and Protestant Orphans' Home of this city. Word to this effect was brought to yesterday afternoon's meeting of the Women's Christian Association, under whose direction the first two homes are run. It is expected that further information as to the amount of the legacies will be forthcoming shortly.

Another matter of interest, which came before yesterday's meeting, was the request of the north-end residents of London that they should be given permission to use the W. C. A. property directly east of the Aged People's Home for a recreation park. This request, which came out of Mrs. Ingram's report, was refused.

The new Home for Incurables on Grand avenue was reported to be in splendid running condition, and the meeting voted the large room in the northeast corner of the building as a sitting-room for the nurses of the home. Mrs. Helen Marshall, the president, occupied the chair.

LOCAL WOMEN LEAVE FOR BIG CONVETION OF CANADIAN CLUBS

Discussion at Winnipeg Will Include "Hearst Publications," a Canadian Flag, Etc.

Some very interesting matters are coming up for discussion at the big conference of Associated Canadian Clubs to be held in Winnipeg on September 12 and 13. Mrs. Frank Leonard, president of the local Women's Canadian Club, and Mrs. Innes Carling, both of whom will represent the local women's club at the convention, leave today for the West. Their presence at the conference brings it closer home and invites a keener interest in the subjects which will come up for discussion. A distinctive flag for Canada will be one of the important matters considered. An effort will also be made toward combined action of all Canadian Clubs to bring about a more effective commemoration of Dominion Day, Armistice Day, and notable anniversaries of outstanding engagements in the Great War, in which Canadian forces participated. Further discussion will take place on the suppression of "Hearst publications."

Other business will concern a more effective means of securing speakers throughout the different clubs of the Dominion, a special Canadian Club pin, and the practibility of establishing a monthly journal to promote the Canadian Club movement. Outstanding speakers will be present at the conference, which will be also characterized by such social functions as a garden party at Government House, and a dinner party at Lower Fort Garry.

Cynthia Grey's Mail-Box

Friendship is love without its flowers or veil.—Hare.

HOSPITAL DONATIONS APPRECIATED.

Dear Miss Grey,—Our Children's Hospital committee gratefully acknowledges a further contribution of $56, making the total received from your correspondents up to date $428.10, so the little mites swell the aggregate sum. When our hospital is in operation what a number of women there will be with a personal interest in its success! Even though each one had only contributed a mite, every mite has served its purpose; and the donor may well feel that she has done something to help on a great and noble work. With best wishes to all your correspondents, sincerely yours,

L. K. CAMPBELL, Treasurer.

A Generous Mite.

Dear Miss Grey—For some time I have been intending to add my mite to the S. C. H. Fund and you will find the same inclosed.

No, I am not wanting anything, and I am not really a newcomer. So long ago that I have entirely forgotten the pen-name I used I wrote and asked for and received the stocking-foot pattern, for which I say thank you. Now I crave your pardon for not having done so long ago. I enjoy the "Mail-Box," and very seldom miss reading all the letters and absorbing more or less of the information it contains.

I wish you success with the quilt. I did think of offering to make a block, but did not think I could get enough names, so send a mite instead.

ELDERLY LADY.

Ans.—Thank you for your good wishes, Elderly Lady. Also for inclosures, especially the dollar for our fund. Do not stay away so long next time.

Aster's Requests.

Dear Miss Grey,—I have been a silent reader of your column for a long time, but now I think I will ask you for a little help. Would you please send me the directions for bead portieres, and also the stocking-foot pattern and some crochet patterns, any kind. I inclose my mite to the S. C. H. Hoping this does not find the W. P. B. Will sign myself, ASTER.

Ans.—The patterns and directions are already on their way to you, Aster. Thank you for remembering our fund with a mite.

Wants Patterns.

Dear Miss Grey,—I am returning the song of "Young Munroe." Thanks very much for it. I asked for crochet patterns, but it wasn't printed in the paper. Well I guess I will close, wishing all the Boxites and Cynthia Grey every success. A. B. P. T.

Ans.—If you let me know what patterns you would like I will send them to you, A. B. P. T.

Cheerful Face's Block.

Dear Miss Grey,—I have my block nearly done. I will send it next week. Will you give me name and address of lady I am to send it to? Will you explain how the quilt is to be sold after it is completed? CHEERFUL FACE.

Ans.—You must have worked very hard to have it nearly completed, Cheerful Face, as yours was one of the last ones started. The quilt is to be given to the person guessing the correct number of names on the quilt. Any person sending ten cents is entitled to a guess. Am mailing you Tip's address as requested.

Names of Fair Visitors.

Dear Miss Grey,—Will you please send me a block with directions for making, also number of thread to be used, as I see that four are still unclaimed? I am rather busy, but not too busy to help the sick kiddies. It is a grand idea. If I live anywhere near Tip I would help her finish it if she would let me. Could I have directions for making sachets, as I have bought some lavender? I believe Thistle sent in directions. Am sending a small mite, but every little helps, doesn't it? Hoping to receive block right away, so I can get names of our visitors Fair week, I must run away or I won't get my work finished. DEVONSHIRE DUMPLING.

Ans.—I am sending you the necessary directions for making a block, Dumpling. It is very good of you to offer, when you are so busy. Am also mailing directions for making sachets. Many thanks for inclosed mite.

$100,000 CANVASS TO BE UNDERTAKEN FOR CHILDREN'S HOSPITAL

Children's Hospital Committee to Consult With Chamber of Commerce.

Another move toward the holding of a big $100,000 canvass in the city for the War Memorial Children's Hospital was made yesterday afternoon with the meeting of the campaign committee of women under the convenership of Mrs. John Gemmell, at the King Street Y. W. C. A. residence. The proposal is to hold a gigantic house-to-house canvass some time in the near future with a view to completing the $250,000 objective undertaken by the women of London to build the Children's Hospital, which now stands well on its way to completion on Ottaway avenue. One hundred and fifty thousand has already been raised without a direct appeal to the citizens of London, and now, in order not to delay the work, the time has come for an individual canvass of the citizens.

Consultation with Col. W. M. Gartshore, head of the building committee and head of the advisory board, and with the chamber of commerce board, will still further bring the campaign program to a head. To consult with the chamber of commerce board, the following committee has been appointed with Mrs. Arthur Smith and Mrs. F. J. Greenaway, as members ex officio: Mrs. John Gemmell, Mrs. E. B. Smith and Mrs. Emerson Nichols. The proposal was also made yesterday that a "hospital Sunday" bring the coming canvass to a close, and Mrs. John Gemmell and Mrs. David Williams were appointed to interview the Ministerial Alliance for approval of the plan.

It is expected that although the women undertake to make a house-to-house canvass of the city, the men of the city will help in the campaign by canvassing the businessmen of the city from whom the largest donations will come.

APPLIQUE TRIMMING A COLORFUL FEATURE.

Children's garments, trimmed to show a wide understanding of children's habits and feelings offers an interesting idea to the makers of juvenile styles. The dresses are not only made to suit a child and make it attractive to grown-ups, but also to please it and turn its thoughts to something gay and lovely. A simple little frock for playing in the nursery may be made of linen with children's toys all over it, teddy bears, dolls, bells, cats, butterflies, flowers or birds carried out in applique and stitchings. One can imagine the joy of a child in putting on such a garment.

DAWN MILLS LADIES' AIDS.

The Ladies' Aid Societies of the Dawn Mills circuit, including Wabash, spent a social afternoon recently at the home of Mrs. Ben Clapp of Turnerville.

Rather unique invitations for this affair were issued, each guest receiving a note in verse, accompanied by a tiny apron, into the pocket of which it was requested that she place as many cents as there were inches around her waist. When the money was counted, it was found to amount to the sum of $24, which will be used in the purchase of chairs for the Dawn Mills parsonage.

The afternoon's entertainment took the form of a singing contest, and a prize of a box of chocolates was given to the group of best singers. Rev. Mr. Hazelwood and Mr. Clapp acted as judges.

CAMLACHIE GIRLS PLAY BASEBALL

The Forest High School girls' team recently played a game of baseball with the "Old Maids" of Camlachie, the latter winning by a score of 18—8. Then the Blackwell girls played a faster game with the village "Outlaws," and beat them, with a 13—5 score.

The boys chose sides and played a game while the "Blackwell" and the "Old Maids" teams mustered courage to play the final. This last game proved to be faster than the others, and resulted in another victory for the "Old Maids" by a score of 10—5.

A large crowd witnessed the games, testifying to the interest that has been awakened in the village and surrounding country in their baseball teams.

The home girls served refreshments to all the visitors, the boy players, and many of the spectators, at the home of the "Old Maids'" captain, Miss Janet Watson.

Lace veils are very much in use, but worn as draperies and not over the face.

Much velvet is anticipated for fall, velvet suits and dresses as well as hats.

Skirt lengths are undetermined, designers differing; but in all cases, there is some increase in length even for street things.

Even for bobbed heads there are pretty combs studded with stones for evening.

On their return, Mr. and Mrs. Robertson will reside at Wheatley.

The bride, who was escorted by her father, was charmingly dressed in a gown of pink charmeuse, with overdress of Limerick lace, beautifully draped, the tiny puffs at the sides held in place with wreaths of pink rosebuds, the train of white tulle, with wide bands of pink charmeuse, fell from the shoulders, and the tulle veil was held in place by a wreath of orange blossoms, the same flowers being caught at the foot of the veil with insets of lace. She carried an armful of American Beauty roses.

LXXIII.—Eve Talks.

Dick moved away from Eve. For a moment everything went red. Waves of unhappiness seemed to engulf the boy.

So it was true—his fear! Miss Mary Drew had definitely promised to become the wife of Carrington Bellairs!

He tried to speak—but not a single word would come. . . .

Eve—with an angry contraction of the heart—realized just what the other girl had meant in this man's life.

Where she had failed, the other girl had won. He cared for her tremendously. Eve's beauty—social position—all her charm and prestige—these things counted for naught against the sweet simplicity of the little typist!

And Carrington's plain speaking, too, came back to irritate her. He had told her that she could not captivate a "worth-while man! Her adorers he had classified into two kinds—the "nincompoops" and "rotters." There had not been a worth-while man among the lot!

His criticism of Julian Vandaveer had been most awfully upsetting. She—Eve—did actually care for Julian—to her cost. She was paying part of that cost just now—in "making up" to Dick Calardin. Incidentally—and this thought was more attractive—she was paying back both Dick and Mary Drew, for daring to ignore her!

—Yes—she would make Dick love her—she would "compromise" him, anyhow.

She would tear him from the tender clasp of Mary Drew. . . .

His diamond, too—she almost had forgotten it! Vandaveer had called it Dick's "mascot"—had assured her that he wore it round his neck! That was precisely the stupid, sentimental sort of thing that a man of Dick's calibre would do! Oh, well, his loss would be her gain!

"Yes—Mary Drew told me that she fully intended to accept my guardian!" As she repeated this astounding fib the young girl wondered if Dick would immediately rush to Mary, asking her the truth of it? She would have to take a chance on that?

Dick fixed a cold, hard eye on Eve.

"Did she tell you confidentially? Or did she intend you to announce the engagement from the house-tops?" His tones were not exactly pleasant.

But Miss Eve was in no whit put about as she replied:

"It isn't officially announced, of course. I'm only telling you privately, because you're such a family friend! She smiled a coquettish little smile at him. "And also because I'm so immensely worried, Dick! For Mary doesn't really care for Carrington. I know it. It's the—the money—and position—"

"That isn't true!" Dick sprang to his feet, his young face blazing. "I won't sit here listening to such talk! I tell you she isn't a bit that sort of girl! I know her—"

Eve raised her brows.

"You dear, unsophisticated backwoodsman! How I love you for your chivalry!" She laid a slim, white hand on Dick's brown palm. "Now, don't get angry! If anyone should be annoyed it's I! And yet anger doesn't do the slightest bit of good—"

Dick's fury suddenly dropped like a mantle from him, and he sank down into the seat that he had vacated. The cold, sick feeling came to him again.

Eve's voice went on:

"After all, I cannot blame poor Mary Drew! She's had a wretched sort of life! It's hard for a young and pretty girl to slave her life away in a city office! And naturally—being wise—she lets no good chance slip!

"But," she continued, letting a wistful note creep in, "I'm certain that she doesn't care for Carrington. For a while I was inclined to think"—here she cast a wily eye on Dick—"I was inclined to think she cared a bit for you. She asked me once or twice about your—your—"

"Yes? About my what?"

"Your prospects," said Miss Eve, reluctantly, as though the words were dragged from her. "She seemed a little worried that I couldn't give her any definite information."

Dick faced her squarely. He was going to see this matter through.

"I happen to know that you did discuss me with Miss Drew," he said, his vivid blue eyes fixed on Eve's piquant face, "but, indeed, I gathered that the topic was a rather different one! Excuse my frankness, but didn't you deliberately try to give Miss Drew the impression that you and I were—rather more than friends?"

Miss Eve's lips parted in a well-achieved astonishment.

"I don't understand!"

"Oh, yes, I think you do! Just cast your mind back a little."

"I gave the impression—that you and I—?"

"Were going to be married?" interrupted Dick, with curtness.

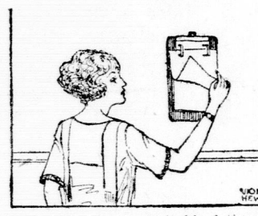

"But—Dick—I couldn't—possibly. I never thought of such a thing," lied Eve, with lifted brows. Oh, how she hated Mary Drew, who had given the show away so thoroughly. She—Eve—had blundered—just as Carrington had told her that she always did. She had over-reached herself.

Tomorrow—Dick's Sympathy.

HOME SEWING RECORDS.

One reason for the irritable fatigue of home women is the extent to which they try to carry on their minds a thousand and one details. Naturally and inevitably they forget some of them and the result is that forlorn feeling at night: "There! I meant to have done that without fail today—how did I come to forget?" and the loss of needed sleep with useless fretting.

Housekeeping is made up of a mass of details apparently unrelated, but a little thought shows that these details do fall into rational groups, and if the housekeeper could but learn not to tax her poor head with the jumbled mass of them, but to keep them tabulated in little files in the various departments of the house, she could find them there when she must and forget them between times. Dressmaking files are particularly useful and, if put in order and brought up to date regularly every two or three months, save a good deal of memory strain and fuss. A typical record of the sort is as follows, but must, of course, be modified to suit individual needs.

1. Samples of standard fabrics on a card with notes on width, cost, guarantee, manufacturer's and dealer's name.

2. Classified list and location of findings wept on hand.

3. For each member of the family: (a) dress budget; (b) measurements with date of taking; (c) sewing cost of articles of budget, including cost of materials, and time required.

It is always wise to do one's planning on paper rather than in one's head, merely because it obliges one to be strictly practical, and prevents confusion, forgetfulness, and duplication.

TOODLES SEEKS ADVENTURES.

Toodles was tired of being pampered. "What fun was there in living in a nice warm house, and having nothing but nice things to eat all the time?" he asked himself. How he longed to be a little street dog that could run about and play as it liked. How he longed to get his feet wet, and his coat muddy just once.

Toodles thought these thoughts so often, at last he decided to run away. One day, when no one was about and someone had left the back door open, he made his escape. With a bark and a bound, he started down the street. Some little street dogs on the corner heard him coming, and they ran to meet him. What a merry time they had together. Toodles played and played, without a thought of catching cold or upsetting his digestion.

Night came on, Toodles was still free, but my how tired and cold he was! The little street dogs disappeared one by one. Some had beds in boxes, others lived under steps and in barns, but there was no place for Toodles. For the first time he began to wish he was near a warm fire once more. Weary and footsore, he threw himself on a damp cold step and tried to go to sleep, but there was no sleep for him. He was shivering terribly when the door behind him opened, and a boy's voice cried "Why, here's a dog."

Toodles was very thankful when the boy pulled him into the house, even though the house was not very clean or warm. He was hungry, but the boy did not seem to know that, so Toodles had to spend the night without having had his supper.

Next morning early, the boy woke Toodles up. "Come on, you have to help me deliver my papers," said the boy, as he caught the little dog by the collar. Surely he would get some breakfast, thought Toodles, but no such good luck. The boy hitched him to a sleigh, and they started out.

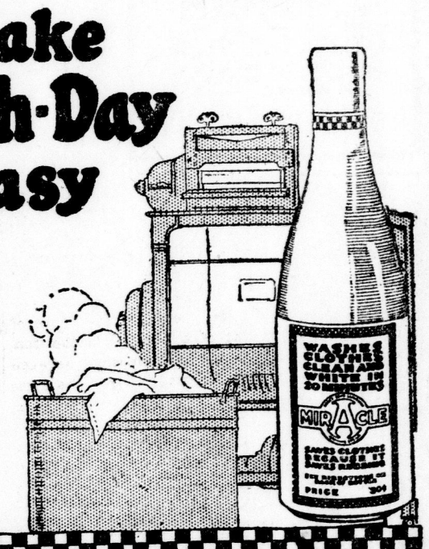

Poor Toodles had never pulled a sleigh before and in a few minutes his shoulders ached horribly. He was hungry and weak. "Come on," said the boy, as Toodles lagged behind, and then when the little dog crouched down, he hit him unmercifully.

"Stop that!" It was Toodles' own master, who had come along just in time to save his pet.

How overjoyed the runaway pup was to be rescued. He resolved right there never to run away again from his kind friends and home.

Tecs All Set for Onslaught of Wolf Pack in First Game of Series Today

Shay Off, Crichlow, Laabs On With Emmer Probability For Second Game

BUZZ'S MEN ALL SET FOR FIRST SET-TO WITH WOLVES TODAY

Shay in Hospital, But Crichlow Will Be Back and Emmer Is Sought—Laabs Takes Briger's Place—May Play Here Saturday.

At a meeting of the "series" committee this morning, an effort will be made to have the first three games of the championship play-off in the Mint played here, thus giving London a Saturday game. Whether this will be dealt with favorably to London fans is a wide-angled question.

Meantime everything is set for the opening affray with the Wolf Pack this afternoon at Tecumseh Park. The London team goes into the first game crippled because of Shay's absence. The popular little shortstop, whose foot was injured in Bay City some weeks ago, was sent to the hospital yesterday afternoon suffering from blood-poisoning. An effort is being made to get Emmer from Flint, and he may be here for Friday's game. He is the property of the club.

New Catchers on Both Teams.

Both teams lost their first string catchers, so Laabs of the Hamilton Tigers has been secured to replace Joe Briger, and McKee of Saginaw is taking Stumpf's place. Crichlow will be here, and Vandyke will move into third, while Stutz replaces Shay at short.

Outside these few shake-ups, the teams will line up pretty much as they have all season. Punch Knoll is bringing one of the best fighting aggregations into London today after the Mint League honors, as they've shown in their uphill struggle to the last minute championship of the second series. From old Cy Boothby, who incidentally has been pitching some heady and strong-arm ball for the Wolves of late, down to the youngest recruit, every man is in there fighting to win every minute. The Wolves have had an uncanny influence over the Tecs for two seasons until lately. The last series here, however, just about laid the jinx.

The fans will be glad to see Crichlow back in his old position, though Rebel Oakes has been giving more than satisfaction there. However, Crich is an old member of the London baseball family and will be welcomed accordingly.

Glenalvin will be one of the umpires.

GUELPH, Sept. 7.—That Guelph will be represented in O. R. F. No Let-Up in Race in Either of Major Leagues Is Visible

Indians, American League Cats, Still Struggling Along With Rookie Hurlers On Call—Pirates Rested.

Cleveland's American League cat, which has nine or more lives, persists in coming back after every demise.

No matter how often or how far the feline falls, it lands on its feet.

With a pitching staff reduced to a point where Tris Speaker has to call on rookies in a pinch, the Indians are going along ignoring the death warrant signed by New York.

Tuesday's setback of the Yankees and the Indians' victory over the hard Browns finds the Cleveland champions back on the heels of the leading New Yorkers in the hottest pennant race of years.

They lost a bit of ground yesterday again, and as the Red Sox are more or less of a set-up for the Yanks, are not likely to profit much the next few days.

The Pirates do not play until Friday, when they entertain the Cubs for a two-day visit. The Cubs should find the league leaders in good shape after their layoff. Mooney's pitching staff especially which was wobbling badly, should be much refreshed and be ready to take up the burden again.

The Giants rest, too, until Friday, but yesterday gained six points.

Should, however, Pittsburg continue its slump much longer and St. Louis keep up its recent pace, who can tell but what one end of the big series will be played in the west?

New York's schedule calls for seventeen games abroad. Naturally, this may prove a big handicap. On the other hand, Pittsburg has twenty-one home games left, while St. Louis has as many before a friendly gathering.

While the Giants and Pirates were breaking even on Labor Day, the Cards slipped closer by a game through winning a pair from Chicago. St. Louis is five even games behind New York, and six and one half behind Pittsburg.

FOLDENS WON.

HICKSON ELIMINATED.

WOODSTOCK, Ont., Sept. 7.—The Simcoe Baseball Team, winners of the Norfolk County League today eliminated Hickson, champions of the North Oxford League, in the semi-finals of the O. A. B. A., the score at Hickson today was 5 to 4, and at Simcoe, 12 to 2. A large crowd of fans turned out and enjoyed a rather exciting contest. Hickson made a determined rally in the ninth frame, and with the score 5 to 4, had the tieing run on second base, but a fast grounder was snuffed up by the Norfolk fielder and the runner retired at first.

The batteries:

Simcoe—McIlroy and Howey.
Hickson—Wye and King.

ELORA WINS PLAY-OFF.

ELORA, Sept. 7.—Elora won from Palmerston in the return semi-final in the N. W. B. A., played at Palmerston today. Elora for a second time shut out the Palmerston nine by the score of 12 to 0. For Elora Connie Wood pitched steady ball throughout and was backed up by splendid support in the field, while Lawrence and Morris for Palmerston were touched up for twelve safe hits and at times were given ragged support in the field.

Batteries—Wood and Roberts; Lawrence and Morris Minnie.

Clever Drives and Close Finishes On Detroit Card

YANKS GRABBED BOTH.

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—The New York Americans strengthened their lead today by defeating Boston in both games of a double-header, by scores of 6 to 2 and 7 to 2. HURONS MAKE SHOW OF SARNIA INDEPENDENTS

SARNIA, Ont., Sept. 7.—The Hurons, minus the services of Ray Worley at short, and with Doc. Bullard at first, swamped the local independents, 20 to 4, in a loosely-played game here this afternoon. The Minters made a farce of the contest, hammering all the Sarnia pitchers at will.

ROVERS ENTER FINALS.

SARNIA, Sept. 7.—Sarnia Rovers entered the finals for the City League soccer championship tonight by virtue of the default of the Rangers. The Rovers lined up against the four Rangers who showed up and scored a couple of goals and were awarded the game.

Sarnia Still Outlaws In O. R. F. U. Is Latest

SARNIA, Sept. 7.—The Sarnia Rugby Club still stands suspended by the O. R. F. U.

This information, surprising to the rugby element of the city, who were under the impression that the Blue and White had been reinstated at the meeting last fall when the matter was dealt with, was received in the city this afternoon in a communication from P. McGee, secretary of the Ontario Union, to one of last year's officials.

Sarnia, it appears, promised to forward the union a letter from officials of the club to the effect that they would guarantee better conditions with regard to crowds encroaching on the field. This letter was never sent, and until it is received at Toronto headquarters and acted upon at the annual meeting, the Blue and White are still without the pale, so far as intermediate rugby is concerned.

MURPHY WINS AGAIN; PETER DAW THE DRIVE

Greater Charter Oak Stake Prize—Close Finishes in All Heats.

HARTFORD, Sept. 7.—Peter Daw, driven by Thomas W. Murphy, this afternoon won the 2:12 division of the "Greater Charter Oak Stake" after three close finishes. Murphy's trotter won the first and the third heats with Escotillo, contender in each of these, winning the second in the fastest time of the race. In the first heat the five trotters flashed by the stand with not more than a length separating the leader from the fifth place winner. It was one of the closest finishes and greatest heats seen on the local track.

Selka won the 2:09 trot, taking the event in straight heats, with Bovola and Peter Pater furnishing plenty of opposition.

Murphy won his second race of the afternoon with Peter Henley, defeating Whisk Fast in the 3-year-old pace.

TWO NEW RECORDS MADE AT TORONTO BY MOTORBOATS

Five-Mile Course Covered in Six Minutes and Twenty-Eight Seconds.

TORONTO, Sept. 7.—Two world's records were made by motor boats at the Canadian National Exhibition today when special races were put on in place of the advertised program.

Fred Miller staged an exhibition race against time with Heldena III., covering the five-mile course in 6 minutes and 28 seconds, averaging 46.75 miles an hour. This is a new world's record for the displacement class.

The next event was an exhibition handicap contest between Miss Toronto II. and Heldena III., the former allowing Heldena III. one minute and twenty seconds handicap, which she was not able to pick up.

For the last event, Nick Nack, belonging to Commodore Birge of the Buffalo Launch Club, and Griff Clarke's Leopard V., Toronto, ran out a second test for the five-mile course, the American boat covering the distance in 6 minutes and 59 seconds, thus creating a new world's record for the distance.

Following is the record of the Great Lakes Gold Cup race:

First Round.

Miss Toronto II.—5:29.44; Arab IV.—5:28.29; Heldena III.—5:28.36.

Second Round.

Miss Toronto II.—5:35.25; Arab IV.—5:34.26; Heldena III.—5:35.06.

Third Round.

Miss Toronto II.—5:40.54; Arab IV.—5:40.44; Heldena III.—5:41.38.

Speakers included Francis P. Garvin, former alien property custodian, Sir William Pope, and Prof. R. F. Hutton of the Canadian Chemical Society.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

MOUNT BRYDGES, Sept. 7.—Olive Martha Stover, 8-year-old daughter of Joseph Stover, fell over exhausted this afternoon while trying to catch a little pig, and died soon afterwards from heart-failure. The child's father had some work to do in the country and took her over to her grandfather's farm for a visit. She was playing about having a great time when she saw the little pig and started after it. Her grandfather saw her fall and carried her into the house, but she only lived a few minutes. Besides her parents she leaves two sisters, Doris and Edna.

JAPAN HAS GRIP ON SHAN-TUNG

Controls All Trade and Has Made Position Difficult To Be Dislodged.

TSINGTAO, Shan-tung, China, Sept. 5.—Even if China should consent to Japan's terms Shan-tung will remain virtually a Japanese province, for acceptance of the terms paves the way for even greater advantages to Japan through the extension of the Shan-tung railway across the fertile plain from Tsingtao to the richer Shanshi Province, where lie vast stores comprising Japan's greatest need—namely, iron, wood and cotton.

Japan controls all the trade in Shan-tung through the splendid Tsingtao port and after seven years' occupation it has made its position so strong that it will be impossible to dislodge it except through pressure from some stronger power. However, if Japan is permitted to remain much longer it need have no fear.

Taking advantage of China's helplessness, Japan has steadily been driving nails into Pekin's coffin. The Japanese terms as given to the press by Major-Gen. Yui, the military governor of Kiachow, during the course of an hour's interview, follow:

"Japan expects from China in exchange for Shan-tung, first, the establishment of a police organization, guaranteeing the safety of foreigners and foreign interests; second, a decision as to whether Tsingtoa will be an open treaty or international port; third, Sino-Japanese management of the Shan-tung railway and a like management of the mineral rights. When China agrees to a conference the first two questions will be foremost; then we shall be willing to take up the railway question. Not only Germany but Japan has invested heavily to make this an important port and a beautiful city.

"We cannot return it except under condition that it be maintained as now and that its security be guaranteed. Minor questions involve whether the harbor will be attached to the railway and also the disposition of eight squares of land, partly in the city, upon which Japan has erected many factories and buildings at a cost of millions of yen.

"China wishes to recover Shan-tung for herself exclusively, but this is impossible. We are ready to confer whenever China asks. While China hesitates we are continuing to develop business here, so China is losing by every day's delay. We are working not only for China's interest, but also for Japan, who have invested 150,000,000 yen in Shan-tung since the occupation. We have taken nothing from China, while investing heavily. It will be necessary to settle this financial question when negotiations are taken up. The longer China persists in a refusal for a direct conference the more she will lose."

Already the Japanese name of Santo is being applied to the province, and it appears on some railway passenger cars. All the streets bear Japanese, names and there is every indication that the province is a permanent Japanese possession.

The fate of Shan-tung seems sealed.

ESSEX TOBACCO HAS SELDOM BEEN BETTER

KINGSVILLE, Sept. 7.—The tobacco crop that is being harvested in this district is rated as the best in history. Not only in color, but in weight is the excellence of the product seen, and there is every indication of a record price.

With 90 pupils in attendance, the Kingsville High School opened Tuesday. The classes are not yet housed in the new building, the first, third, fourth and fifth forms occupying rooms in the town hall and the second form being accommodated in the Masonic Hall. The high school building will not be ready for occupancy until about December 1.

The public school is not yet open, but is expected to be going in the course of a few days.

Announcement has been made that the tracks of the W. E. & L. S. Ry. will be moved off Division street soon. This will give the town an opportunity to make this street one of the most beautiful in the province. There is some talk of building a boulevard down the centre of the street.

LENINE'S POLICY IS GREATLY CHANGED

Letter To Caucasian Republics Reveals Departure From Extreme Views.

SEES NEED OF TRADE

Urges Them To Exchange Their Goods With Capitalist Countries.

BY CAPT. FRANCIS McCULLAGH.

Reval, Sept. 5.—The Pravada of Moscow publishes a remarkable letter of Lenine's, in which the Red dictator addresses the little Caucasian republics as if he were a venerable patriarch and they his grandchildren, advising them not to imitate too closely the Russian Soviet Republic.

"Your conditions are different," he said, "so that your tactics should be different. You must remember that Russia was starved by the blockade and desolated by civil war. You should go slow and build up gradually. You must remember that you are all peasant republics and to an even greater extent than Russia.

"You must show greater mildness, consideration and yieldingness toward the small shopkeepers, the educated classes and particularly the peasants." (Bolshe myagkosti, ostorozhnosti, i ustupchivosti po otnoshennyu fi melkoi burzhuazi, intelligentsii i, osobenno, k krestianstvu.)

"You should make use," he continued, "of the economic capitalism of the west by a policy of concessions and exchanges of goods with foreign countries. Naphtha, manganese, coal; these by no means exhaust the list of the natural wealth with which you can trade. There is a full possibility for the success of a policy of concessions and exchange of goods with foreign countries being carried out on a large scale. Such a policy is necessary for improving the lot of the workers and the peasants and the economy of the intelligentzia. Do your utmost to exchange goods with Italy, America and other countries. Increase the productivity of your generous soil by the use of fertilizers and irrigation. Irrigation is especially important for agriculture and stock breeding.

"A slower, a more cautious, a more systematic transition to socialism; that is what is necessary and indispensable for the Caucasian republics, in contradiction to the Russian Soviet Republic. This is what you must understand and carry out, and not our tactics. We have opened the first breach in the wall of world capitalism. The breach is open. But we are left in a difficult and painful position with war all around us, with Whites and Blacks and Mensheviki attacking us and supported in their attack by the Entente and its blockade. You, brother Communists of the Caucasus, need make no breach. You need only avail yourselves of the international circumstances around you and so favorable to you.

Change of Policy Shown.

"In this year of 1921 Europe and the world are not the same as they were in 1918. Don't imitate our tactics, But take an independent line of your own in accordance with the changed conditions; that is the task before you. Do not stick to the letter; go by the spirit. Take to heart the lesson of 1918. Proceed at once to exchange of goods with capitalist countries abroad. Send them tens of thousands of pounds of your precious minerals. Begin at once to improve the condition of the peasants and to start great works of electrification and irrigation. Irrigation is the most important of all, for it will settle more people on the land, it will give life to the land, it will facilitate the transition to socialism."

This letter was not intended for propaganda or for foreign consumption at all. On the contrary, it was written by Lenine with his own hand and sent by the Caucasian papers, all of which printed it on May 20. Compared with the fierce trumpet blasts which Lenine was in the habit of emitting up to a year ago, it is almost pathetic.

There is a note of consideration for the peasants, the little shopkeepers and the intelligentsia which the Red dictator's letters never before exhibited, apparently a real change of heart, but whether it is too late or not nobody knows. Some of the "old man" still remains, but in a form that makes one smile indulgently. I refer to the advice about the "electrification" given to the wild peasants of the Caucasus, some of whom still plow with boughs of trees; but electrification of Russian agriculture, at the present stage, is one of Lenine's pet delusions though he has spent millions of roubles on it in Russia without result.

When we call to mind Lenine's satanic outbursts not so very long ago about "heavy civil war," "worldwide ruin and revolution" and "the overthrow of capitalists, thrones and altars all over the earth," we feel that the Lenine of this pathetic appeal is a changed man. Is he a broken man who sees in front of him unavoidable failure and death? Or is he a converted man still strong enough to undo some of the harm he has done?

Lenine Meets Factory Managers.

On May 25 Commissar Rykov had a private conference with the specialists and technicians of the flax and cloth industries at which conference all the managers of factories in the Moscow and Ivanov-Voznesensky districts also assisted by invitation. Lenine unexpectedly arrived during the progress of the discussion and spoke as follows:

"Hearing by accident that my colleague, Comrade Rykov, had called you together, owing to the rumors that were going about Moscow as to the impossible condition alleged to be laid down by the national commissaries with regard to private factories, I determined to come here myself to tell you that, far from laying down impossible conditions, we shall be most happy to help all of you, without distinction of party, in reorganizing the industries of the country ruined by civil war and by the action of irresponsible persons belonging, I regret to say, to the Communist party. It is perfectly true that there were amongst us office stool theorists altogether out of touch with real life who have done a lot of harm to our industries, but, convinced of their mistake, they have now stood aside. And now I tell you frankly that the Soviet Government is ready to work hand in hand with you, though I understand that none of you are Communists. We recently approached in the same way various groups calling themselves non-party in order to persuade them to accept very important posts in Soviet institutions."

BRITISH LABOR M. P. ASSERTS ENGLAND WILL NOT GO DRY

"Bally Rot," Said One When Told of "Pussyfoot's" Prognostication.

New York, Sept. 5. — British labor, keen to know whether prohibition in America is a farce or a fact, sends to this country two Labor M. P.s, John E. Davidson, who represents the Southwick district of Birmingham, and who defeated Christabel Pankhurst, daughter of the militantly famous Emmeline, at the last election, and Charles H. Sitch, member for King's Wynford, and at 33 years the youngest of the Labor M.P.s.

They arrived on the Baltic, and after settling themselves in a lofty suite in the Biltmore, talked about many things that have got the world by the ears. Prohibition, though, is first in their interest.

"We came over here for a two months survey," said Mr. Davidson, an ironmolder not very long ago, and now an influential chief in the third great political party of Great Britain. "Over there we heard all sorts of things about the heaven on earth that prohibition had brought to the States, but somehow we doubted, I make bold to say we doubted. Tell me, now, how does it work?"

Mr. Davidson was initiated into many mysteries well understood by Americans in these days.

"Oh, I see," he said. "Jolly for the rich, but pretty rough on the poor, what?"

"Well," he resumed, "we in England of the ranks of labor have no faith in such queer reforms. At our Brighton conference, not long ago, Labor voted 3,000,000 to 247,000 against prohibition in any form, and of the 247,000 many were not at all in favor of absolute prohibition."

"Still," one reminded Mr. Davidson, "Pussyfoot Johnson and others have said that Great Britain will be as dry as the Gobi Desert within ten years."

Up to this moment Mr. Sitch, recumbent from the overhanging nausea of mal de mer, had been voiceless.

"Bally rot!" interjected Mr. Sitch.

"Quite right," agreed his colleague. "England will not go dry in 110 years."

The talk swung to industrial conditions, the hint of revolution, unrest, the Irish question. Lady Astor, international sport—what not.

"There is unrest in our land," said Mr. Davidson. "The trouble is that in the ranks of the Labor party are a group, numerically unimportant, but very noisy, very hot-headed, who want to upset the world in five minutes. It can't be done. That is why we fellows who try to lead nowadays spend our time going about and telling these hot-spurs and the well-meaning folk that gather around them on the street corners that it can't be done."

"What's your notion of the outcome of the Irish negotiations?"

"I have every reason to believe," Mr. Davidson said, "that within three months there will be peace between England and Ireland."

Mr. Davidson alluded to Lady Astor in a random moment.

"She is an American product, I believe," he said. "A very interesting woman, but a bit fluffy, if one may say so. I mean she has no real influence whatever with Labor in England, not the least. There are any number of women who have more influence than Lady Astor. I predict she will be soundly defeated at the next election."

Their purpose being to survey the prohibition question from every angle, the two M.P.s will go into both agricultural and industrial sections. They will have the material for a very definite report for British Labor when they board their steamship for their homeward journey two months hence.

VETERAN TEACHER IS NOW RETIRING

BELLE RIVER, Sept. 7.—Joseph Ducharme, who has been teaching school for the last 40 years, up the river at Stoney Point, and a great many other schools in the neighboring towns, has been superannuated. He will make his home with his sister, Mrs. Napoleon Lalonde of this place.

Mrs. Severin Ducharme, Mr. and Mrs. Medric Forget and children motored to Windsor over the week-end, and called on friends.

Roland Beaune of the Wayne County and Home Savings Bank, spent Labor Day with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Beaune.

Claude Beaune has returned to his work in Windsor after spending a few days here.

700 HOMELESS IN FIRE AT MOLTERNO

WAR DEBT TIES EUROPE'S HANDS

Partial Cancellation by U. S. May Be Necessary To Open Markets, Say Financiers.

Washington, Sept. 5.—Whether willing or not we may have to cancel part of Europe's debt to America to save our own economic situation and revive trade in the United States.

Governor Strong's statement before a joint congressional commission that Europe cannot use her vanishing funds both to pay debts and buy imports is the expression of an opinion which is held by many authorities here that the day is not far distant when something definite will have to be done to enable Europe to take more American goods. That something, the belief is growing, may have to be cancellation at first of interest overdue on some of our European loans and ultimately a part of the loans themselves.

Strong Plants Seed.

Thus far no official has found it expedient, in face of strong opposition to such a move, to voice an opinion of this sort. The opinion is held, nevertheless, and in high quarters. The expression of the head of the New York Federal Reserve Bank is the nearest approach to a direct statement that interest on the foreign loans may have to be cancelled. It was made, in most guarded fashion, only when Governor Strong was pressed for his views. He took pains not to say he advocated cancellation, declaring it a policy which Congress would have to determine. But he planted the thought and the seed is growing.

Europe owes the United States, according to Governor Seay of the Richmond Federal Reserve Bank, an $18,000,000,000 trade balance built up since the beginning of the war. The interest alone, on this huge debt, is equivalent to the sum which the whole transportation system of the United States is endeavoring—and failing—to earn through hauling all the freight and passengers that move in the course of a year's time over American rails.

A Perplexing Problem.

The question is asked: "If the railroads of the United States can't earn the interest on this sum, in their present state of efficiency, how can the war-stricken countries of Europe earn it in the days of their prostration?"

Economists here who believe cancellation is a cure for our present troubles, point out that payment of interest charge alone would leave Europe little, if anything, to spend for American goods. The export of American goods, it is pointed out, is essential to prosperity. Our exports have dropped off of late. It is feared they will drop still lower if Europe has to divert her current funds or whatever credit she may be able to raise here to paying interest rather than buying goods.

About $5,000,000,000, Governor Seay estimates, of Europe's debt to America is in the form of frozen credits. A study of the financial situation shows that most, if not all, of these frozen credits are piled up in banks along the Atlantic littoral, constituting a Chinese wall which American exports must surmount These loans covering foreign purchases are not being paid off. It is hard for the buyers even to meet the interest.

Loans Renewed Constantly.

"Loans are being renewed constantly," Governor Seay writes a correspondent. "In your state particularly there has been practically no liquidation for over a year." That situation, respecting loans on exports, is duplicated in almost every state in the east, the section where the frozen credits lie, unthawed.

But the biggest frozen credit of all is the Allied debt to the United States. If, by a miracle, that could be removed to the satisfaction of all concerned, economists here say emphatically Europe simply would overwhelm this country with orders for the mountains of materials she needs sorely. American industry would tune up and factory wheels start humming overnight. There would be no unemployment, they believe.

So far there hasn't been a single concrete suggestion as to which country's obligations might be cancelled and which not. The big borrowing countries have tried to pay interest and have paid part. Six countries—Armenia, Austria, Esthonia, Finland, Hungary and Lithuania—have been unable to pay a penny. Great Britain owing us four billions, has paid about 40 per cent of her interest obligations; France, one third; Italy, a little more than one fourth; Russia, about one eighth; Belgium, about 30 per cent.

ROYAL COMMISSION FAVORS REVIVAL OF GREEK AND LATIN

Strongly Urges Teaching of Classics in Educational Course.

London, Sept. 5.—Arrival of classical education is strongly recommended by the royal commission which has been considering the position of the classics in England's educationly scheme in a report made this week. It appeals not only to the educational authorities but above all to the teachers themselves to endeavor to revive the study of Greek and Latin. It is at the sacrifice of some of the scientific branches of modern school training — civics and drawing—that the commission would have the classics gain.

"It is the business of human education," says the report, "to call out the best that is in man, not merely as a member of the community, but as an individual, and both on the intellectual and the emotional sides. It is the highest claim in the study of the literatures of Greece and Rome that they combine these appeals in a harmony which no modern literature can evoke with the same completeness.

The commission also has something interesting to say regarding the modern development of nationalism within the British Isles. But it is not Ireland at which it aims its criticism, but at Wales, where the study of Gaelic literature lately has become a fad. In view of the fact that the prime minister is from Wales the commission perhaps did not feel at liberty to say to much on this question, but it remarks.

"Our opinion is that it is indefensible that in the new Welsh secondary schools ignorance of Greek should, in effect, be almost compulsory. With loyalty to Wales and with her best national characteristics we are in full sympathy, but we feel that a deeper knowledge of other people's past and present, which comes through channels of acquired languages, would make her thought at once more national and international. We are convinced that the Welsh linguistic gifts are altogether unworthily reflected in the corresponding record of classical and modern language courses."

This is scientific language for saying that for any man who can pronounce pwllheli "pooth lally," the mysteries of Greek ought to be easy.

The commission recommends that all pupils between 12 and 16 years old in the secondary schools should learn Latin, beginning early, perhaps before French, and should study it during at least four periods each week.

After a careful investigation into modern systems of teaching Latin and Greek by the conversational method, the commission says that the system is unfit for general use because of the lack of competent teachers, but it recommends that all teachers, by showing students a classical background of the history of archaeology and social and scientific economy, make the dead languages live in the present interest. It says that in examinations students should be permitted to offer Latin as well as modern languages, and that compulsory study of natural science should be discarded.

INQUEST IS ADJOURNED.

TORONTO, Sept. 7.—The inquest on the body of J. A. Pyke of Montreal, who was killed in the motor boat accident yesterday, was opened this afternoon. The jury viewed the body and then adjourned until Monday night. The post-mortem examination showed that the heart had been cut in two, the face gashed and the chest bruised.

SPANISH PEOPLE OBJECT TO POSTPONING DRIVE AGAINST MOORISH TRIBES

Madrid, Sept. 8.—Dissatisfaction over the probable adjournment of the Spanish offensive against the rebellious Moorish tribesmen near Melilla is apparent among the people here. It was believed that preparations for that offensive had been completed. Newspapers, however, explain the decision of the Government by saying that the Spanish army at Melilla, while it may have sufficient supplies to undertake a forward movement immediately, does not possess reserve supplies, and that it might be placed in an awkward position after the drive is started.

GREEK FORCES RELAX ATTACKS ON TURKS

DISCUSS TAX REVISION.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 8.—The whole subject of tax revision was up for discussion today between Secretary of the Treasury Mellon and the Senate finance committee.

The committee had before it the original suggestions made to the House ways and means committee by the treasury secretary, but revised estimates presented after the White House tax conference last month, and the tax bill as passed by the House.

After hearing the secretary the Senate committee will begin its task of rewriting the House bill.

COMMUNISTS SEND VOTE OF CONFIDENCE TO REDS OF VIRGINIA DISTRICTS

LLOYD GEORGE

by Sinn Feiners as a reprisal measure.

It is explained that two members of the Irish republican army were stopped earlier in the day near the Bandon bridge by two policemen, who brandished revolvers and threatened the two men. The kidnapping followed.

MEANS PEACE OR WAR.

INVERNESS, Scotland, Sept. 7.—A decision which may mean peace or war with Ireland was taken by the British cabinet at an all-important meeting here today. The Government's reply to Eamonn de Valera, the Irish republican leader, unanimously approved by the ministers, has been dispatched to Dublin through the intermediary of Robert C. Barton, the Sinn Fein courier who carried the Dail Eireann's message to Mr. Lloyd George, and who was brought into the council chamber while the council was in session.

The nature of the Government's decision has not been made known, but it is not necessary to await publication of the reply tomorrow to realize that an important step forward has been taken.

Name Committee.

Directly after the ministers had reached their decision came the announcement that "a committee consisting of the ministers now in Scotland has been appointed with full powers to deal with the situation the moment Mr. de Valera's further answer arrives."

The committee comprises the British prime minister, Austen Chamberlain, Earl Curzon, Sir Laming Worthington-Evans, Winston Spencer Churchill, Edward Shortt, Robert Munro, Lord Birkenhead, Sir Hamar Greenwood and Sir Robert Stevenson Horne.

Hopeful of Peace.

This is taken to mean that the Government has appointed the committee of ministers to meet the Irish plenipotentiaries should Mr. de Valera be ready to proceed on that course. It is contended that if in the opinion of the cabinet a rupture of the negotiations was likely to follow today's decision, it would hardly be necessary to appoint a cabinet committee to deal with the situation.

Naturally the possibility that the cabinet may have decided to impose a time limit for negotiations to start is not precluded. In this connection it is recalled that unofficial intimations have been given from Dublin of the names of the men who would likely be appointed as plenipotentiaries, including Arthur Griffith.

Will Be Withheld.

In courtesy to Mr. de Valera the cabinet's reply will not be made public until sufficient time has elapsed for its delivery. It is understood, however, that further opportunity has been afforded the Republican leader to reconsider his position carefully and that nothing has been done in any sense inimical to peace and good will should the more moderate counsels prevail.

One of the features of the day was the prime minister's conference with the king at Moy Hall, which lies about twelve miles from Inverness. This lasted about two hours and the king's intense interest in the negotiations is considered a most significant sign looking to conciliation.

Were Not Present.

Viscount FitzAlan, viceroy of Ireland, and General Sir Nevil Macready, commander of the troops in Ireland, not being cabinet ministers, were not present in the actual council which held both morning and afternoon sessions, but with General Tudor and other experts were in attendance to render any advice necessary.

Robert C. Barton, the Sinn Fein emissary, had arrived at Inverness over night, and was waiting at a hotel for the reply when summoned. He is now on his way to Dublin. Prime Minister Lloyd George will return to Gairloch tomorrow morning.

EXCITEMENT INTENSE.

INVERNESS, Scotland, Sept. 7.—Excitement in Inverness over the meeting of the cabinet today was intense. Crowds packed the streets of the "capital of the Highlands" to catch a glimpse of the cabinet members, while other men climbed on roofs. The square in front of the town hall was packed long before the ministers began to arrive, but the crowd was quite quiet. It merely wanted a glimpse of the participants in this first meeting of the cabinet at Inverness in more than two centuries. Mr. Lloyd George was given an ovation when he arrived.

The council chamber where the meeting was held is one of the show spots of Scotland. The ministers were grouped about a huge horseshoe table opposite stained glass windows, containing the heads of the premiers of the Victorian era—Disraeli, Gladstone, Salisbury and Rosebery—all of whom in their time struggled with the Irish question.

DUBLIN OPTIMISTIC.

DUBLIN, Sept. 7.—Word from Inverness that the British cabinet had appointed a committee to deal with Mr. de Valera's reply lends strength to the optimism in Dublin that the negotiations will not be broken. Members of the Sinn Fein continue to profess confidence in the ultimate result and declare that they do not expect renewal of the warfare.

While there has been little public criticism here of the methods of conducting the negotiations some of the Sinn Fein members have expressed themselves in private that while they realize Mr. de Valera is striving for the best settlement possible there has been much overweight attached to what they consider non-essentials, such as naval and air service arrangements. In their opinion more attention should be given to freedom of trade, for which Ireland is anxious, and to the question of Ireland's share in the national debt and Ireland's contribution to the imperial treasury. On all these matters, it is pointed out, there is a possibility of bargaining with the British Government.

Would Like Peace.

Activity is apparent in moderate Irish circles to prevent a rupture of negotiations and the rejection of the terms until the precise significance of Mr. Lloyd George's offer is definitely ascertained. Sir Horace Plunkett, who was chairman of the Dublin convention, and Captain Harrison, chairman of the Dominion League, today addressed a joint letter to Eamonn de Valera and the members of his cabinet. In the letter they say:

"Ireland would be well advised to accept Dominion status if it implies, as we believe it must, full legislative and executive and economic independence, and imperial relationship, functioning as to policy and action by co-operation founded on mutual agreement arrived at by consent and carrying with it direct representation in the imperial conference and the League of Nations."

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

POTATOES UP 25 CTS.; HAY SELLS AT $23

Practically No Dairy Butter Offered On the Local Market.

Potatoes advanced on the local market on Thursday from $1.50 and $2 a bushel to $1.75 to $2.25. At present the supply offered is not so plentiful, and there is an extra good demand.

Hay also advanced, adding another dollar to its former price of $18 to $22. Select loads are now selling at $18 to $23 a ton. Straw likewise increased in price, selling at $12 a ton, as against last week's figures of $11.

Local fruit dealers claim that this is the last week that citizens will be able to purchase peaches and plums at the price now being offered for them, although there will be a fairly good supply offered next week. Peaches are now $1 to $1.50, and plums are being sold at $1 to $1.35 for 11-quart baskets.

Butter is very scarce, and there has been practically none offered during the past week.

Muskmelons are scarce, but no advance in price is reported.

Tomatoes are in evidence in large quantities everywhere on the square, but are still being offered at 25c to 35c for 15-pound baskets.

WOOL

Ottawa, Sept. 8.—The Dominion wool market report for the week ending September 6, 1921, says: "Prices for raw wools and semi-manufactured goods advanced sharply at London sales. Activity in European manufacturing centers is reflected in Great Britain. In so far as raw materials are concerned, it is believed that prices will gradually increase, although at the cloth end the financial pressure resulting from keen competition is still acute and allows for only a hand-to-mouth turnover. nUited States firms are buying freely at the London sales. Generally speaking, sales are considered average for this season of the year."

WHOLE CABINET TO TAKE STUMP TO AID CRERAR

National Progressive Party Is Planning An Active Campaign.

TORONTO, Sept. 7.—Despite tariff issues the whole of the Ontario cabinet is expected to take the stump in Ontario on behalf of Hon. T. A. Crerar's Progressive party when the general election campaign opens. A minister in the Government stated today that undoubtedly they would be called upon to take ppart, and he believed the Labor ministers—Hon. Walter Rollo and Hon. Harry Mills—would take up the cudgels on behalf of the Progressives.

Because of tariff issues some doubt was entertained as to whether the minister of labor would have the sanction of the Labor party in boosting for the Progressives, who are said to entertain free trade convictions. While labor generally has been credited with belief in a high tariff, that view is not generally entertained among members of the Drury cabinet, one of whom took the position that the majority of laborites view high customs imposts as unwarranted taxation upon the consumers least able to pay.

A Hamilton dispatch tonight says that Premier Drury has called a caucus of the Labor members of the Legislature.

MAY APPEAL AGAINST RULING OF C. T. BOARD

Will Hold Over Compassionate Allowance For the Shareholders.

OTTAWA, Sept. 7.—(By Canadian Press.)—It is expected that any question of compassionate allowance to Grand Trunk shareholders—to which Sir Thomas White, government arbitrator, makes incidental reference in his judgment on the Grand Trunk common and preference stock—will be held over till that of appeal is decided. Under the terms of the agreement the Grand Trunk shareholders have the right of appeal on a point of law either to the supreme court of Canada or to the privy council, in the event of the board of arbitration not reaching a unanimous decision on the value of the common and preference stock.

Today's judgment was, of course, a majorty and not a unanimous ruling, and it is considered likely that the finding of the board will be taken to appeal. With an appeal in prospect therefore, it is impossible that "compassionate allowance" will be taken up for the time being.

DEFER HEARING IN LONDONER'S CASE

[Special to The Advertiser.]

WINDSOR, Sept. 7.—William A. Macdonald of London, former border agent for the Labatt Brewing Company, this afternoon was arraigned in police court on charges of forging checks for more than $5,000.

Macdonald, who was brought from Bay City, Mich., where he was driving a taxi, is alleged to have purchased 110 cases of liquor from David Swartz, a Windsor businessman, and tendered in payment two checks signed "G. H. Kent" and "George Gordon."

Swartz, in order to press the charges, was compelled to admit making the sale to Macdonald. He is safe from prosecution for violating the Ontario temperance act, because the supposed sale was made in April.

Hearing of the case, on application of Barrister Liddy, counsel for Macdonald, was deferred until Saturday.

ASSAIL DRURY FOR STAND ON HYDRO RADIALS

Ontario Association Passes Resolution Scoring Attitude of Ontario Govt.

DUNDAS BACKS PREMIER

Town Unwilling To Go Ahead With Plans At Present.

TORONTO, Sept. 7.—At a meeting of the Ontario Hydro Radial Association held here today a resolution was unanimously adopted calling upon the Provincial Government to authorize the hydro-electric power commission to commence at once construction of the radial lines for which bylaws have been carried.

There were about 80 delegates present, and the only discordant note was sounded by the representative from Dundas. Reeve W. H. Moss of Dundas said he had been instructed to support the Sutherland report, which was issued recently, and condemned the hydro radial plan as unsound. Mr. Moss added that he had the utmost confidence in Premier Drury and his Government. The whole situation, he said, had been changed since radials were first mooted, and Dundas was now unwilling to go ahead with the radial plan

Halcrow Opposed.

George G. Halcrow, M.L.A., leader of the Independent Labor Porty group in the Legislature, said he was prepared to disagree to the breaking-point with the Government on the radial issue.

Reeve P. Ray of East Flamboro criticized Reeve Moss' statement, but E. J. Mahony, mayor of Dundas, retorted that Mr. Moss had correctly stated the attitude of Dundas.

That all public-ownership men in the Legislature would line up behind a radial policy, regardless of party affiliations was the opinion expressed by A. C. Lewis, M.L.A. for Northeast Toronto. If necessary, he said, a hydro radial party would be organized.

M. M. MacBride, Independent Labor member for South Brant, declared that Premier Drury did not mirror the opinion of either labor or the farmers when he adopted an attitude antagonistic to radials.

Not Room for Two.

J. W. Lyon, president of the Ontario Hydro Radial Association, said there was some doubt whether there was room in Ontario for two such men as Premier Drury and Sir Adam Beck.

"We ourselves," he added, "always had the greatest confidence in Sir Adam."

Mr. Lyon declared that the necessary bylaws had been passed, and his advice was that they should proceed with the marketing of the necessary bonds at once and prepare for construction work. He added:

"Mr. Drury, of course, can dismiss Sir Adam. I would welcome that day. For then we would have crossed the rubicon and could have a test of strength."

A bitter attack on the Drury Government was made by Mayor T. L. Church of Toronto, who referred to the Government as the "hydro wreckers in Queen's Park."

The meeting adopted a resolution condemning the "autocratic attitude" of the Government on the question of radials

Makes No Comment.

Sir Adam Beck said he had nothing to say regarding the Sutherland Commission report because he had not yet been supplied with a copy of it. He defended warmly the men of his hydro organization who had been criticized in the report, and reviewed extensively the various steps taken in getting to the present stages in the proposed construction of the Toronto-Bowmanville, Toronto-Port Credit-St. Catharines and Hamilton-Galt-Elmira lines. Sir Adam did not express an opinion as to whether he thought the Government could or could not honorably withdraw from this project, which withdrawal, if it could be effected honorably, had been announced by Hon. Mr. Drury.

ANNAPOLIS ROYAL SWEPT BY FIRE

One-Third of Town Destroyed by Blaze in Stable.

DIGBY, N. S., Sept. 7.—A lighted cigarette thrown into the stables at the rear of the Queen's Hotel is said to have been the cause of the fire which tonight wiped out approximately one-third of the town of Annapolis Royal, twenty miles from here. About 25 buildings in the business section of the place, with an estimated value of some hundreds of thousands of dollars, were destroyed before the desperate efforts of the citizens, hampered by a lack of water and fire fighting utilities, were able to halt the march of the flames in an open space surrounding St. Luke's Church on one hand and the fireproof Royal Bank Building on the other.

Scenes of the utmost confusion prevailed as scores of persons carried furniture and movable property through the smoke-filled streets, while others hauled salt water from the Annapolis River and tried to prevent the spread of the conflagration by blowing up the houses in its path with dynamite. A heavy fog settling on the town shortly after nightfall quelled the ferocity of the flames after they had burned over an area roughly bounded on the west by St. George street, on the north by Victoria street, and St. James street on the east by the old Dominion Atlantic Railway tracks, and on the south by St. Luke's Church.

In response to calls for assistance 50 men went from Digby and a special train carrying equipment for pumping water from the river went from Yarmouth. Families rendered homeless by the disaster are tonight being housed by their more fortunate neighbors and at the little village of Clementsport, seven miles away.

SHEARERS' WAGES REDUCED.

LONDON, Sept. 7.—(By Canadian Press.)—A Reuter cable from Wellington, New Zealand, says a new award by the arbitration court reduces the wages of shearers by sixteen shillings and six pence weekly.

No Unemployment or Shortage of Food and Shelter On Farms

TORONTO, Sept. 7.—Speaking at the Exhibition directors' luncheon today, Premier E. C. Drury, expressed the opinion that the rush to the cities was possibly being overdone. Appeals, he said, were being made to the Government to start work to provide employment in the cities, but he added: "Out in the country next winter there will be no lack of food and shelter and there will be plenty of fuel. There is no unemployment on the farms; in fact, my neighbors tell me they have not been able to get enough help this summer. I would suggest as a partial remedy a revival of the village industry idea as far as it can be practiced. Some day we will cease to think that centralization and big things constitute success."

The premier credited farming with being the only industry that has kept going full blast through the period of falling prices.

Mr. Drury made brief reference to hydro radials. Radials, he said, were needed to carry the young people to and from the cities and towns, and hydro-electric energy was needed to ease the labor of the farm women. These were two prime needs in Ontario to keep a good class of people on the farms. "We need better transportation," he said, "and that means better roads and also hydro-electric roads." These sentiments were greeted with applause.

VETERANS WILL NOT SEND DELEGATES TO ANY CONVENTIONS

Woodstock G. W. V. A. Not To Be Represented At U. F. O. Meet.

WOODSTOCK, Sept. 7.—At a special meeting of the local G. W. V. A. it was decided not to send delegates to the convention meeting of any of the political parties. This means they will not be represented at the joint convention of the U. F. O.-I. L. P. parties, to which they had been invited.

The price of bread dropped in this city today to 11 cents a loaf. For some months past the price has been 12 cents a loaf. The price-cutting was started by a London firm of bakers, who ship a quantity of bread into Woodstock.

The funeral of Rev. J. S. Ross took place here today. The remains arrived from Fergus by C. P. R., and were accompanied by members of the family, and many prominent men in the Methodist Church. There was a large number of Woodstock and Oxford old friends of deceased in attendance. Mr. Ross having been pastor at Central Church here and also at Norwich Village. Rev. W. S. Daniels of Elora, chairman of the Guelph district, was in charge of the services. A number of others also spoke, and all referred to the fine character of deceased, who had been for 53 years actively engaged in the work of the Methodist Church. The pall bearers were: Rev. J. Jackson, Stoney Creek; Rev. E. S. Large, Woodstock; Rev. M. Saxsmith, Ingersoll; Rev. Henry Caldwell, Currie; Rev. Capt. Morris of the Navy League, Toronto, and the Rev. S. M. Roadhouse, Woodstock. Mrs. Ross and her two daughters accompanied the remains to Woodstock.

SEES TRADE COMING IN CHILLED MEATS

Will Surpass Livestock Business, British Producer Believes.

TORONTO, Sept. 7.—As Ben H. Morgan, chairman of the council of the British Empire Producers' Association, sees it, Canada's meat trade with Great Britain in future will be in chilled meats, rather than in livestock.

Addressing members of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association at luncheon here today, Mr. Morgan said he had found a pronounced feeling in Western Canada against the British embargo on livestock.

Mr. Morgan continued:

"What I have impressed upon your cattle breeders is that they can help and lift up Canada by a chilled meat trade far more than by a livestock trade with the mother country. You have all the facilities to do an enormous business in chilled meat—the abattoirs, the cold storage plants and the transportation lines. There is no use your saying that you can give us cheap live cattle, for you can't do it. At present transportation charges you can ship four dressed beeves to England for the price of one live animal. You can have beef on sale in our country thirteen days after it is killed in Winnipeg."

The future of Canada, he sees clearly, must be based on agricultural development, which will be the backbone of Canada for many years.

"But agricultural development cannot be divorced from manufacturing," he added. To adopt free trade in Canada, said Mr. Morgan, would be to become the prey to a repetition of the evils accompanying it now in Great Britain.

RIORDON CO. SUED FOR $913,846.15

MONTREAL, Sept. 7.—Today a writ was taken out by G. A. Fuller, Limited, contractors of this city, against the Riordon Company, Limited, for the sum of $913,846.15 in connection with work done by the former company for the Riordon Company. It has not yet been served.

Ward Pitfield, manager of the Royal Securities Corporation, fiscal agents for the Riordon Company, said today that the action was merely to protect the interests of G. A. Fuller, Limited, and that it would not be pressed.

CRISIS PENDING IN PRINTING INDUSTRY

LONDON, Sept. 7.—(By Canadian Press).—In connection with the impending crisis in the printing industry, due to the proposed reduction of seven shillings and six pence in the weekly wages of the printers, the secretary of the Federation of Master Printers says that many members of the trade unions are accepting the intimation of the reduction as a notice of dismissal. There will be little printing done after next week unless wiser counsels prevail, the employers feel that they have gone as far as they possibly can. Notices were posted in the printing shops last week, announcing the reduction in wages, to take effect after next week.

YOUTH SMOTHERED WHEN WELL CAVED IN

[Special to The Advertiser.]

SARNIA, Sept. 7.—James H. Bridger, aged 25, son of George H. Bridger, a gardener, residing on the London road, lost his life today when a well in which he was working caved in and buried him. It was two hours after before the rescue party succeeded in getting him out. According to Dr. J. G. Merrison, life had been extinct for an hour and a half when the body was extricated from the sand. Tonight it was stated that no inquest would be held. The funeral will be held Friday afternoon. The accident occurred just eighteen months to the day that Mr. Bridger lost his wife and a younger son.

ESCAPED PRISONERS ARE RECAPTURED IN BUSH AT BEACHVILLE

County Constables Pounced Down On Party From Guelph.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

WOODSTOCK, Sept. 7.—Five men who escaped from the Guelph Reformatory a few days ago were tonight captured three miles west of Woodstock by the local police. County Constable Hill was notified yesterday to be on the lookout for seven men, who had escaped from the reformatory and tonight he received information from Beachville that a number of strangers were in the neighborhood. The constable secured the assistance of Chief Moore, Sergt. Jerry and Constable Brown of the local police and after a search located the men in the field of Diamond's farm, three miles west of the city. They were hiding in a clump of weeds and before they were aware they had been detected the police were on them. They were arrested without a struggle and brought to the local jail and locked up. They will likely be turned over to the provincial authorities tomorrow. The men gave their names and addresses as follows: Alex. Turner, Toronto; Archie Stone, Timmins; Alex. Peterson, colored, Detroit; Sol Slater, Toronto, and George Miller, Brantford.

Sarnia To Fight High Gas Prices

Delegation Will Object To Service Charge At Toronto Meeting.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

SARNIA, Sept. 7.—Sarnia's city solicitor and Ald. Harry Steele have been delegated to attend a conference in Toronto on Sept. 9, when a rehearing will take place of the natural gas situation.

Citizens in Sarnia using natural gas are up in arms over the service charge of $1 a month, and the increased rate that is now being enforced in the Imperial City. The gas issue has been an issue here for two years. Tonight it was stated that the delegation going to the Queen City is ready to battle against the recent order of referee Henderson, which is claimed to be the result of the increase.

DAIRYMEN DISCUSS CO-OPERATIVE BASIS

Industry May Be Organized On New Plan Shortly.

TORONTO, Sept. 7.—The organization of the dairy industry on a province-wide co-operative basis, was discussed at a conference held today at the Parliament Buildings. Some forty dairymen from various parts of Ontario were present.

The tentative scheme recommended by Hon. Manning Doherty, minister of agriculture, provided for the ownership of creameries, cheese factories and so forth, remaining in the hands of the local producers. These small units, however, would become stockholders in a large provincial selling organization, which would control the output, exclusively handle the marketing of the dairy product, cultivate the home market, exploit the export trade, and, above all, insure reliable grading.

Mr. Doherty promised that if the dairymen were prepared to go ahead with organization the Government was prepared to open cold storage plants in Great Britain to assist them with their overseas marketing.

Other representatives of the conference expressed themselves heartily in favor of the plan outlined by Mr. Doherty.

A committee was appointed to go into the matter in greater detail, to report at a later date.

PROVINCIAL POLICE TO STOP SPEEDING

Lives Being Endangered by Reckless Driving, Declares Chief.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

WOODSTOCK, Sept. 7.—J. A. Grange, chief of the provincial highways police, was in the city today. He is on an inspection trip, and is at the same time establishing motor policemen along the most traveled roads.

"The mad passion for reckless driving and careless speeding on our highways is endangering the life of the traveling public," he said. "It has to be stopped and will be stopped. Our men will be on the watch for speeders, and they will be hailed into court. We are not doing this with any desire to persecute the motorists, but strict prosecutions for the safety of the public must be taken."

THREW ON EMERGENCY TO SAVE AGED WOMAN

CHATHAM, Sept. 7.—Passengers on C. P. R. eastbound train, No. 20, received a slight shock when the brakes were suddenly applied when the train was approaching the station this evening. The trouble was an old lady who attempted to beat the train across the Wellington street level crossing. The track curves slightly at this point, and when the driver of engine 2222 saw the old lady he applied the brakes. When the train passed she was seen to arise from her hands and knees, and after brushing her clothes, resumed her interrupted journey.

UGLY SPIRIT IS SHOWN BY MOBS OF UNEMPLOYED

Crowd At Bristol Makes Attack On Board of Guardians.

LONDON, Sept. 7.—(By Canadian Press.)—Today's unemployment demonstrations in the provinces were characterized in several cases by considerable display of temper. The demonstrators generally demanded increased allowances of free coal, similar to the London allowances.

One of the most notable marches was of 4,000 persons across the Welsh mountains, a distance of twelve miles, from Abertillery to Tredegar, while the Sunderland demonstration culminated in an attempt to force the gates of the workhouse. Failing in this, the demonstrators entered the Guardians' Building, from whence the police ejected them.

An Ugly Spirit.

An ugly spirit was in evidence at Bristol, where the crowd attacked the board of guardians and were driven off by the police. They then attempted to rush the building, but the gates were closed just in nick of time. A scuffle ensued, banners were broken and a red flag was captured by the police.

Suddenly the gates opened and a large body of police made a baton charge and dispersed the disturbers, who smashed a hundred shop windows in their flight.

Exciting scenes were also witnessed at Liverpool. After an encounter with the police the workless presented to the council a ten minutes' ultimatum threatening that after the expiration of that time they would not be responsible for consequences. The lord mayor subsequently emerged and satisfied the leaders with an assurance that a scheme would be propounded to find work.

Awkward Situation.

The guardians find themselves in an awkward situation on account of the fact that they are not completely unfettered regarding the distribution of relief, being personally liable to surcharge for any expenditure subsequently considered excessively lavish by the government auditors. A sharp reminder of their predicament was conveyed to the Islington Board of Guardians by the refusal of the ministry of health to sanction an unemployment dole of 73 s' 'ings six pence weekly per family of man, wife and six children. This ruling, that the Islington scale is illegal, is bound materially to affect the agitation now spreading in the country owing to the discontent of the workless with their relief as compared with the Islington terms.

WANT PREMIER TO OPEN GALT FAIR

Nomination Meeting Will Be Held To Fill Council Vacancy.

GALT, Sept. 7.—Premier E. C. Drury will be requested to open the South Waterloo Agricultural Society's annual fair here on Friday, September 23.

Within the next fifteen days a nominating meeting and maybe an election will be held to fill the two aldermanic vancancies in the council caused by the resignations of G. H. Thomas and A. Forbes, two of the three aldermen against whom action was taken to unseat them. City Clerk McCartney today received official notice from Judge Spotton, declaring the seats vacant.

Mayor S. E. Charlton and several members of the city council and Public Utilities Commissioners A. W. Merrier, R. B. MacGregor and G. Hancock, Jr., were in Toronto today on the hydro radial deputation that waited upon Premier Drury.

NOT READY YET FOR SPANISH OFFENSIVE

MADRID, Sept. 7.—A semi-official notice was published today saying that the Spanish offensive against the Moors at Melilla cannot be started for some time. The preperations are not yet completed, as sufficient reserves must be brought up and additional munitions accumulated. The notice added that Gen. Berenguer, the Spanish high commissioner in Morocco, hopes to begin the attack within eight or ten days and to continue it until the Moore are completely defeated.

Another notice issued today said the officers in charge of the blockhouse at Mezquita, which the Moors captured a few days ago, had been summarily dealt with by a Spanish courtmartial because they abandoned their posts without orders from the Spanish high command.
