THEY PADDED FROM DETROIT

Party Of Four Young Men Out On Pleasant Trip

They Saw A Few Whitecaps While Crossing The Lake—Expert Paddlers

A party of four strapping and intelligent young fellows arrived in the city yesterday. They paddled all the way from Detroit in two canoes, the "Myri" and the "Hiawatha." They are Robert Clark, Earl North, Fred Hanna and Harvey Hanna. The party left Detroit on Saturday last, and paddled to Belle River, where they spent Sunday with relatives. They then came on to Chatham, and intend to go on as far as London before they continue on their journey. They are out for two weeks.

All of these young men are expert paddlers, and it was a real treat for anyone who understands canoes, to see the way they handle their frail crafts. In conversation with a Planet representative yesterday afternoon, all in the party said that they were in love with the Thames River. It is the first time that they were ever in Chatham, and they said that they were more than rewarded for their trip by having a chance to view the beautiful scenery around Chatham.

When asked if they had any trouble getting across the lake they said no. One of them admitted that when they were off Stony Point the weather was "just a little bit rough." Nothing to amount to anything, however. There were just a few whitecaps "occasionally," but their canoes are made purposely for weathering the roughest seas. When they arrived in the city, they had no coats. They left their coats in Detroit, as they did not have room enough for them in the canoes. Their arms and necks were thoroughly sun-burned, but it was not hard to see that they were enjoying the whole adventure.

"This is certainly a great town," said one of the party. "The people here have just the same characteristics of the people in the largest cities. I never saw a better city for its size."

When the boys landed at the Briscoe dock last evening, after a paddle up the river, the crowd which was standing around was given a pretty exhibition of paddling, by one of the visitors.

HE FELT HE WAS CHEATED

Sir William Van Horn On The Stand At Sydney

Sydney, N. S., July 31.—The legal struggle between the two great corporations—the Dominion Steel and the Dominion Coal—to decide whether the Steel Company was justified in breaking its contract with the Coal Company, began yesterday. There was a large attendance in court. Judge Longley is presiding. Hon. Wallace Nesbitt, K.C., of Toronto, is leading counsel for the Steel Company, and H. A. Lovitt, K.C., of Halifax, for the Coal interests.

The feature of yesterday's evidence was that given by Sir William Van Horn, who, in telling of his connection with the companies, acknowledged that he distrusted President Ross (head of both companies).

"My feeling against Mr. Ross was caused by an old business transaction. Superficially we have been on friendly terms. I felt I had been cheated by Mr. Ross. The merits were all on my side," said Sir William. Trouble between them dated back eight years.

"I have been heart and soul with the Coal Company. My trouble with Mr. Ross made me feel I could not trust the Coal Company to the mercy of Mr. Ross."

"I was with the Steel people because I believe they were in the right. Before the contract we made enquiries as to the quality of the coal necessary for the making of steel."

W. F. White, general manager of the Steel Trust, declared that consent had never been given to either of the contending companies for the cancellation of the contract.

F. P. Jones, general manager of the Steel Company since 1901, said that just prior to October, 1903, the date of the contract, there were five collieries on the Phelan seam. So long as the Steel Company was getting coal from the Coal Company there were no other mines known to be on the Phelan seam. The greater portion of the coal supplied before the contract came from these five. There was no official notice given to discontinue the particular seam. The coal at first was fairly well adapted for steel purposes. In the autumn of 1904, they sent coal which he refused because it was black. About 30 cars were rejected and the Coal Company took them all back. Some coal that came designated as No. 3 run of mine, was not run of mine at all, but black.

WOMAN'S SCREAMS DISTURB EAST END RESIDENTS

A Respected Colored Man Takes Severe Measures In Correcting His Wife—Tries To Throw Her Out Of An Up-stairs Window

The peaceful residents of the East End of the city have been considerably shocked and disturbed of late by a certain couple who are evidently having domestic troubles of a serious character, and who do not seem to care who knows how they settle the little matters of dispute which frequently arise in the household.

A few nights ago, according to the latest report, the people in that vicinity were startled by a woman's screams, and an investigation showed that they were the result of a severe chastisement which the husband evidently considered necessary, in order to sustain his position as the boss of the ranch. The offense on the woman's part must have been of a very serious nature indeed, for the husband was resorting to do next to a severe operation of trying to throw his wife out of an up-stairs window. Naturally, the wife thought that this was going too far—as the drop was a long one—and she entered her protest by giving vent to the screams above referred to.

When the husband saw that his wife was in earnest in her attempts to attract assistance, he desisted, and the punishment assumed a less severe form.

It is said that wife-beating at one time was a common occurrence in this home, but of late the man, being warned by the neighbors that they would be unable to allow it to continue, decided to rule by kindness instead of brute force. His stock of kindness evidently ran out a few days ago and he resorted to the old time methods.

The peculiar thing is that the husband does not drink, and on this account the offense is all the more disgraceful. People can understand how a drunk man in some instances can beat his wife, but no excuse is given for a sober man. The husband is also a respectable colored man, highly thought of by the people of his acquaintance. It is hoped that his good sense will prevail in the future and that the residents will not have cause to complain again upon this score.

ONE PENNY PER MILE

Grand Trunk Is Ordered To Issue Third Class Ticket

Company Granted Leave To Appeal And Will Likely Do So

Ottawa, July 31.—The Railway Commission has given judgment directing the Grand Trunk to issue third-class tickets at the rate of one penny per mile, and to run third-class passenger carriages attached to one train per day, each way, throughout the length of the line. The order is as follows:

(1) That the Grand Trunk Railway Co. run every day throughout the length of its line of railway, between Toronto and Montreal, at least one passenger train having on it third-class carriages for passenger traffic, and that the fare or charge for each third-class passenger by any train on that portion of its railway do not exceed two cents for each mile traveled, and that the said company forthwith, after the coming into effect of this order, file with the board of passenger tariffs for the aforesaid portion of its railway, embodying the said rate of two cents per mile for third-class passengers.

(2) That the G. T. R. be, and is hereby granted leave to appeal from this order to the Supreme Court of Canada upon the question whether that portion of section 3 of the aforesaid act of Parliament, which required that the fare or charge for each third-class passenger by any train on the railway of said company should not exceed one penny a mile traveled, and that at least one train having on it third-class carriages should run every day throughout the length of the line of the said railway now in force.

(3) That in the event of an appeal from this order being entered for hearing at the next ensuing sitting of the Supreme Court, this order do not take effect until after the final disposition of the said appeal, but in the event of such an appeal being entered on or before the commencement of the said sitting, this order shall then immediately take effect.

A statement from Montreal is to the effect that the G. T. R. will take advantage of the appeal clause in the order.

TWO WOMEN STRANGLED.

Both Crimes Were Evidently Committed by the Same Person.

New York, July 31.—At a late hour last night no arrests had been made in the cases of two women found strangled to death and whose bodies were discovered, one Monday night and the other early yesterday.

One woman, who was found dead with a necktie knotted around her throat in a boarding-house in Twenty-second street, has been identified under several names. It seems probable that she is Mrs. Sophia Kehler, wife of Jacob Kehler, of Buffalo. The police have discovered that she lived at different times in Brooklyn and Jersey City and had relatives living in Toronto.

The police have as yet found no clue as to the identity of a woman whose body was found in an alleyway in East 14th street. They believe, however, that both crimes were committed by the same person, as both bodies were mutilated in the same manner.

ERIE CANAL BED SANK

Syracuse Building Damaged By The Sudden Collapse

Four Canal Boats Drawn In To Crack—Many Narrow Escapes

Syracuse, N.Y., July 31.—The arches of masonry which support the bed of the Erie Canal at a point near the centre of this city, where it passes over Snodgrass Creek, gave way yesterday afternoon and four canal boats were drawn into the bed of the crack beneath. Fifty feet of the wall of the three-story Empire flouring mill were precipitated into the water and the Bartels and Greenway breweries, respectively on the north and south banks of the canal, were threatened with demolition.

The driver of the canal boat, Peter J. Roler, of Black River, noticed that the boat was moving too rapidly and hurriedly moored it to the canal bank. The rope snapped like so much thread. Fred Racer, the owner of the boat, brought his wife and eight-year-old daughter on deck, and when the boat neared a safe section of the wall, all jumped to shore.

Henry Racer, 80 years old, father of the owner, was standing in the stern of the boat. Employees of the Standard Milling Co., seized him as the boat approached the vortex.

A man, two women and five children from other boats were also rescued in the nick of time.

The canal level at this point is five miles in length and Division Superintendent Thomas Wheeler immediately ordered the water drawn off. All canal traffic is tied up and it will be several days at least before the damage can be repaired. The boats and cargoes are total losses.

NEW INDUSTRY

Representatives of the English capitalists with whom Ald. Charles Austin has been in communication for some time, have announced it as their intention to visit Chatham in the course of a few days to look over the city, and ascertain what inducements will be offered them here.

The new factory will employ about one hundred men from the start, and if they locate here, they will erect a building which will be a credit to the city. For obvious reasons, this is about all the information which can be given out about the prospective firm at present.

NOT GOING ON THE STAGE.

Evelyn Nesbitt Thaw Says She Will Study Music Instead.

New York, July 31.—Mrs. Evelyn Nesbitt Thaw gave an authoritative statement that she has no present intention of returning to the stage, but will devote her energies to the study of music. This statement was called out by a published report that Mrs. Thaw intended to take a leading role at a Broadway theatre.

The following signed statement was given by Harry K. Thaw at the Tomb:

"This story, like many others, is absolutely false and has been started, I believe, for one of two reasons, either to give a false impression of my wife's character and steadfastness, with cowardly intent of injuring us all, or simply to fill space."

RANKIN DOCK NEEDS FIXING

Dead End of Fourth Street Origin Of Dust Nuisance

Talk Of Paving Roadway Seems To Have Evaporated

Some time ago there was talk of having the approach running from Fourth street down to the Rankin dock paved with bitulithic. The Council, however, did not seem to take the matter seriously, as they never even discussed it. Ald. W. H. Benham, chairman of the Board of Works, when asked about the matter some time ago, said that he did not think the Council would take it up this year.

This unpaved piece of roadway is a nuisance as well as being an eye-sore. To begin with, from a point of civic pride it is a spot which the city should certainly make some effort to beautify. First impressions are often lasting, and the impressions visitors getting off the boat must receive can hardly be of an inspiring character, especially when the little piece of thoroughfare is muddy. The citizens have been asked and encouraged to fix up their water-fronts, but the dingy surroundings at the Rankin dock are not by any means in keeping with the popular movement.

In the second place, during the dry weather, the dock roadway creates a nuisance which is felt by all the ratepayers in the vicinity. There is little to be gained from sprinkling King street when great clouds of dust are swept up from this unsprinkled piece of unpaved roadway.

Mr. John Pleasance, proprietor of Hotel Rankin, speaking to a Planet reporter yesterday, said that the dust blown up from the dock is a continual summer nuisance.

"What is the use of sprinkling King street, when whirlwinds of dust are blown up from the dock?" said he. "The street sprinkling we ratepayers on King street have to pay for, is practically doing us no good on this account. Recently, when I was having my hotel painted, this dust nuisance was particularly annoying. Other residents in this vicinity must also feel it, and the Council should do something towards preventing it, as we pay enough for sprinkling to be assured of a little protection in the matter."

A NEW CITY BLOCK

A new block will shortly be erected on the property which lies between the Central Drug Store and the News office on King street, and which is at present owned by Ald. W. H. Westman.

Yesterday a deal was completed, in which J. H. Tyrrell purchased the easterly half of the lot from Ald. Westman. It is Mr. Tyrrell's intention to erect a music store on the site. The building will be two stories high with a residence above. Ald. Westman will erect a store of similar proportions on the adjacent half of the lot.

When this new block is completed, it will much improve the appearance of that portion of King street.

A FINE ENTERTAINMENT

A lawn social under the auspices of the ladies of the William Street Baptist church, was held last evening on the beautiful lawn of Mrs. Henry Darr, Elizabeth street.

It was very successful, the program being a choice one. Refreshments were served and everyone enjoyed themselves to the fullest extent. Rev. Mr. Cameron made a capital chairman and gave a clever address, after which a piano and violin duet was given by Frank Phelps and Thomas Morrison. Miss Belle Kitchen sang a very pleasing solo, after which Miss Verlyn Lamont gave an excellent number in her usual good style. A duet by Miss Edith Merrill and Fred. Byram was the next and was much applauded, after which Miss Mattie Haviland gave a pleasing reading. Miss M. Tyhurst sang a fine solo, and was followed by J. D. McAlpine, who gave a song. The various accompaniments were excellently played by Frank Phelps.

The program received much applause, and all seemed to appreciate the evening's entertainment.

THE OIL BOUNTY

A suit, in which the farmers of the oil district are all interested, was settled in this city yesterday. The suit was brought by Wm. H. Mancell, of Tilbury East, against Frank S. Clark to determine whether or not the lessor of oil land was entitled to a share in the Government oil bounties. Clark settled the matter out of Court by paying Mancell's full claim, thereby admitting that the owner of the land is entitled to the Government bounty on his one-eighth share of the production.

WEDNESDAY, JULY 31, 1907.

FOUR DEATHS A DAY.

In the Province of Ontario during last June there were 143 deaths from tuberculosis. If the disease were small-pox the people would be in a state of panic, says the Toronto News. Yet consumption is a contagious disease like small-pox. It is generally just as dangerous. But because it is slower in development and because it has been an ever-present ill, public attention is not directed towards its ravages. Yet if the disease can be recognized and fought in its incipient stages, many persons can be saved to their friends and to the State. If, in all the counties, sanatoria were erected where patients could be isolated and where they could follow the hygienic rules laid down by medical science for observance in the treatment of the disease, the death record could be materially reduced. The only obstacle is the cost, and it is time people ceased wondering whether or not it is wise to spend money in order to save life. A forward step may possibly be taken by the Education Department in arranging for medical inspection of pupils in all the primary and secondary schools. By this means young persons who have unknowingly contracted consumption, or whose physical condition is at a low level, could be warned of their danger, and probably might be saved from untimely graves. The pitiful toll of over four lives a day is mainly due to ignorance and public indifference.

THE DEADLY CIGARET.

The good ladies who are fighting the cigaret demon will regret to learn that a Russian, Dr. Nalpassee, is out of favor of tobacco. Of course, like spring chicken, quail on toast, Sunday ice cream, red herrings, limberger cheese, lake water, onions, angel cake, tripe, tea, strawberries, salt pork, and various other articles, tobacco does not suit all people, and should not be used by all. But the Russian doctor says that some people are benefited by the moderate use of tobacco. He would not advise any non-smoker to acquire the accomplishment; those who have heart trouble, or lung trouble, or any nervous affection, should not smoke. "In a word," says the doctor, "tobacco should not be used by anyone who would be unpleasantly affected or disturbed by a hearty meal." Tobacco, it seems—according to this learned doctor, has an effect upon the alimentary canal—good or bad, according to circumstances. He says:

"Many people are forced to smoke at least one cigaret as an aperient before the morning meal. As an aperient, the most powerful diuretics are less effective than the after-dinner cigar. In some cases tobacco aids digestion by exciting the salivary secretion, and so determining a greater activity of the gastric secretions."

That sort of stuff may go among savants, wise men, learned pundits, eminent physicians, and such folk, adds the Hamilton Spectator, but Dr. Nalpassee will never be able to convince the ladies of the Y. W. C. A. that he knows what he is talking about.

TEA DRINKING FATAL

London, July 29.—The tea drunkard is a person to be pitied even more than the unfortunate individual who habitually indulges in alcoholic liquors to excess. A post-mortem examination held at Manchester on a woman showed that her stomach was formed of a leathery substance, which is thought to have caused her death. She had been in the habit of drinking vast quantities of tea—tea of a cheap and inferior quality. The tannin contained in the deadly infusion had literally tanned the membrane of her stomach into a condition resembling leather. Tannin contains many of the chemical properties of oak bark, and, just as leather is hardened by oak bark so is the human stomach affected by tannin.

OFFENSIVE SIGNS

Numerous citizens have drawn attention to the signs which adorn the Aberdeen bridge. The signs say, "Any one driving over this bridge faster than a walk will be prosecuted by the law." It is only a short time since this bridge has been renovated and thoroughly strengthened," said a King St. man this morning, "and the citizens of Chatham expected that the signs would be done away with. Street cars are daily running over this bridge, as are also automobiles. The motor cars run at a fair speed and so do the street cars. All city bridges are built for fast traffic, and the Aberdeen bridge is sufficiently strong to allow the same. It may be all right to prevent fast traffic over small bridges in the country or in sleepy, one-horse towns, but in a metropolitan city like this it should not be looked for. It gives a bad impression to people who visit the city to see such signs. It shows at once that the town is not a rushing or a bustling business place."

"Chatham is a business place and 'delivery wagons, etc., have no time to walk over bridges. This bridge has borne up loaded cars with tons of freight and is sufficiently strong to do so. It is built for heavy traffic and the people should be permitted to make use of it. The car sometimes overtakes a buggy on the bridge and thus causes the driver to trot. This trouble may be prevented if equestrians are allowed to drive at a trot. The signs should be removed at once and such restrictions done away with."

LITERARY

The July Travel Magazine has followed the example of the June number and devoted itself almost entirely to the pleasures of American vacations. There are one or two interesting foreign articles, however, to lend variety to the midsummer number. The three color cover shows an automobile party.

Canoing in Nearby Rivers, by Brian Hooker, is a delightful account of a vacation trip from the Farmington River down the Connecticut to Long Island Sound.

On the Detroit River, by Clayton Hamilton, describes the charm of the strait that connects Lake St. Clair and Lake Erie and the many quaint towns and little islands in the vicinity.

A Calendar of Travel, by Walter Pritchard Eaton, describes Canada as a vacation resort. Georgian Bay and the Northern Lakes, Michigan, and Central New York.

Some Little Inns of France, by Julian Street, shows the charm of the quaint wayside hostleries to which the automobile has brought renewed prosperity.

Down the St. Lawrence, by P. K. Crocker, gives the trip from Quebec to the Gulf through the country of the habitant.

ERIEAU

Erieau, July 31.—Mr. and Mrs. Roy Tobey are comfortably settled at Centreville in Mr. Glenn's cottage on the lake shore.

Dr. Tom Thomson, of Milwaukee, is the guest of his sister, Mrs. Archie Park, at Beverley Lodge.

Miss J. Duncan and Miss Eleanor Ross, of Toronto, are visiting at Sandy Knave. Miss Duncan is a sister of Dr. J. H. Duncan.

Mr. Russell O. Simpson, of Merlin, is registered at the Bungalow.

Some young ducks were seen flying over the marsh on Sunday evening.

"It is only a short time since this bridge has been renovated and thoroughly strengthened," said a King St. man this morning, "and the citizens of Chatham expected that the signs would be done away with. Street cars are daily running over this bridge, as are also automobiles. The motor cars run at a fair speed and so do the street cars. All city bridges are built for fast traffic, and the Aberdeen bridge is sufficiently strong to allow the same. It may be all right to prevent fast traffic over small bridges in the country or in sleepy, one-horse towns, but in a metropolitan city like this it should not be looked for. It gives a bad impression to people who visit the city to see such signs. It shows at once that the town is not a rushing or a bustling business place."

Mr. Fisher, of Wm. Gray & Sons, and family, have taken up their residence in Mr. E. B. Jones' cottage "Clearview," Mrs. Geo. McKeough's summer home, was closed yesterday for some time, and the family left for town.

Mr. and Mrs. Cartwright and family, of Cleveland, Ohio, will arrive here tomorrow to spend the rest of the season. They will occupy Mr. Chris. Smith's cottage at Centreville.

Mr. J. P. Wright took a party of young ladies from Jubilee out for a sail last evening in his trim little catboat.

Miss Eunice VanVelsor, of Middleville, is spending some time at the Bungalow.

Mr. W. E. Gundy has been looking at "Unecad Rest" cottage with a view to renting it for the month of August.

Mr. and Mrs. James E. Gray and family, who have been spending the last month at Centreville, returned to their home on Queen street today.

M. H. Bragg, of Chatham, spent the past few days fishing at the Eau. He was registered at the Bungalow.

C. G. Locke, of Toronto, spent Monday at the Bungalow.

Mr. J. Mounter, of Chatham, was a guest at the Bungalow yesterday.

Mr. John Perkins is still keeping up his reputation as the most expert angler on these waters. Yesterday a 21-2 lb. maskinonge was captured by him and was disposed of to Mr. Buzzard.

Miss Edna Fellows spent Tuesday in Blenheim.

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Samson, Mrs. Ira Burke and daughter Alice, Mrs. Kendron, are domiciled at Drumtrotty Lodge for the balance of the season.

Miss Greening is spending a few days with her sister, Mrs. Norman McLeod, of the Bank of Commerce, Blenheim.

The new angling license of $2 levied on American and other foreign visitors is being enforced this season at the Eau. Notices to this effect have been posted in all prominent places on the bar. Anglers are required to pay the license fee immediately on their arrival, and are restricted to two days' catch for exportation. This law applies to all outside of the Province of Ontario.

The customary quietude of Jubilee was rudely disturbed by wild, weird, nocturnal music after the hop Monday evening. Some poor, unfortunate fishermen were unable to get in their beauty sleep. Consequently some fortunate fish are today enjoying the weeds in the waters of the Eau.

Miss Mary McDougall, who is visiting Miss Isabel Stringer at Hazeldean, has developed into an expert fisherman. While trolling across the Eau to Shrewsbury dock she landed a fine pike and three bass. Next!

The tourist's season is now on and we are advised by W. E. Rispin, general passenger and ticket agent, that he has some especially attractive tours for the present summer season, reading to all the summer resorts of Canada, including Muskoka Lakes, the Temagami District, Georgian Bay, Lake Superior, River St. Lawrence, and Gulf and Atlantic Coast points, and would be very pleased to furnish information to any intending passengers.

Concert is worked to the full by those who pretend to have but little of it.

are said often to be buried six feet under ground. But many times women call on their family physicians, suffering as they imagine, one from dyspepsia, another from heart disease, another from liver or kidney disease, another from nervous prostration, another with pain here and there, and in this way they present alike to themselves and their easy-going or over-busy doctor, separate diseases, for which he, assuming them to be such, prescribes his pills and potions. In reality, they are all only symptoms caused by some uterine disease. The physician, ignorant of the cause of suffering, keeps up his treatment until large bills are made. The suffering patient gets no better by reason of the wrong treatment, but probably worse. A proper medicine like Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, directed to the cause would have entirely removed the disease, thereby dispelling all those distressing symptoms, and instituting comfort instead of prolonged misery. It has been well said, that "a disease known is half cured."

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a scientific medicine, carefully devised by his experience and skillful physician, and adapted to woman's delicate system. It is made of native American medicinal roots and is perfectly harmless in its effects in any condition of the female system.

As a powerful invigorating tonic "Favorite Prescription" imparts strength to the whole system and to the organs distinctly feminine in particular. For overworked, "worn-out," run-down, debilitated teachers, milliners, dressmakers, seamstresses, "shop-girls," house-keepers, nursing mothers, and feeble women generally, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the greatest earthly boon, being unequalled as an appetizing cordial and restorative tonic.

As a soothing and strengthening nerve "Favorite Prescription" is unequalled in its value in allaying and subduing nervous excitability, irritability, nervous exhaustion, nervous prostration, neuralgia, hysteria, spasms, St. Vitus's dance, and other distressing nervous symptoms commonly attendant upon functional and organic disease of the uterus. It induces refreshing sleep, relieves mental anxiety and despondency.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets invigorate the stomach, liver and bowels. One to three a dose. Easy to take as candy.

BRITISH DELEGATES CRITICIZED

William T. Stead Declares They Have Not Done Their Duty.

London, July 30.—William T. Stead, editor of The Review of Reviews, who has been conducting a publication at The Hague devoted to peace conference matters, when interviewed on the progress of the peace conference, delivered a serious indictment against the British delegates. He said: "Until last Saturday, when, under the pressure of angry protests, the British Government instructed its delegates to make a belated declaration of adherence to the American plan of obligatory arbitration, nothing, in short, for anything the British people believed they had been sent to The Hague to do."

Their action, and still more, their inaction has been the amazement and despair of all the friends of peace. I do not exaggerate in the least when I say that, as far as every principle the British Government is supposed to have at heart is concerned, it would have been far better to have had no delegates at all than the men who have shown skepticism where they ought to have shown enthusiasm; who have repelled where they ought to have attracted; who have been a wet blanket upon every aspiration of the peace crusaders, and who have succeeded in utterly destroying England's reputation as the leader of the peace-loving nations of the world.

"As members of a conference striving for peace ideals, they are about the most incompetent set of beings that ever achieved an unmitigated failure."

"Great Britain having abandoned her traditional position, the leadership has fallen into the hands of Germany and the United States, and we taught the Americans that the Germans are warmer friends and stouter allies than the British."

Britain and Germany Agree.

The Hague, July 30.—Great Britain and Germany have practically agreed on a proposition regarding the establishment of an international prize court under the terms of which the tribunal is made permanent and is to have fifteen judges.

There are still differences between Great Britain and Germany regarding the laws under which the prize court will operate.

A fortune teller is not always a paying teller.

CONTENTION AT AN END

New Commercial Treaty Between Russia and Japan.

No Provision Made For Tariff Agreement—Favored Nation Clause to Be Applied—Liberal Concessions to Japanese Fishing, and They May Control—Fisheries Convention to Last for 12 Years.

St. Petersburg, July 30.—The signing yesterday at the Foreign Office here of the treaties of commerce, navigation and fisheries between Russia and Japan will be followed shortly by the publication of a political entente wiping out the last traces of the contentions and hostilities arising from the late war.

The Foreign Office yesterday confirmed the despatch to the Associated Press from Tokyo on this matter, and admitted officially that a general political agreement between the two states was in course of preparation, that the negotiations to this end had almost reached their conclusion, and that the signatures would be affixed to this document within a few days.

This entente is conceived along the same general lines as the recent similar agreements between France and Japan. Under its terms Russia and Japan will mutually guarantee their rights and territory.

The negotiations looking to this entente have been conducted with complete secrecy because of the Japanese dislike of publicity, but it was learned yesterday that Foreign Minister Iswolsky's desire to settle pending questions in the Far East and inaugurate a new policy of peaceful colonization and development in the Russian provinces bordering on the Pacific was met in a spirit of moderation and conciliation on the part of Japan which enabled satisfactory progress to be made, and assured a successful outcome. The relations between Russia and Japan are on such a satisfactory basis that the recent occurrences in Korea exercised no influence upon them.

New Commercial Treaty.

The commercial treaty between the two countries is of a temporary nature. It expires in 1911. No provision is made for a tariff agreement, but the two powers agree mutually to apply the most favored nation clause. They stipulate further that the subjects of each shall enjoy equality under the law and equal commercial opportunity without hindrance or discrimination, and that neither shall be subject to special imports. The most important feature of this convention consists of an article excluding Kwangtung Province from the provisions of the treaty.

The fisheries convention is to last for twelve years. There has been much dissatisfaction over the question of fishing rights. The convention embraces the Okhotsk, Yellow Sea and Behring Strait areas. It includes all sea animals except the sea otter.

Russia makes unusually liberal concessions to Japanese fishing on the Russian coast and the Amur River, and it is claimed that under these privileges Japan will dominate the fisheries of the Pacific.

Japs Will Control.

The Japanese are to pay the same taxes as Russians, and the export of fish to Japan is declared to be free from all export duty. The Japanese concessionaires are allowed to employ Japanese laborers along the coast, except at the mouth of the Amur River, where they are obliged to employ Russians.

In view of the cheap price of codfish labor it is believed that the Japanese will be able to become possessed of nearly all the fishing concessions.

Plotters Must Die.

Guayaquil, Ecuador, July 30.—A court-martial has sentenced 15 soldiers implicated in the recent political plot against the President of the republic, Gen. Alfaro, to death by shooting.

Eight of the men were executed in this city yesterday morning and the remainder probably will be shot this afternoon.

Nine other soldiers have been sentenced to penal servitude for life on the same charge.

The Government has discovered a new conspiracy at Quito and the leaders of this movement, fleeing from the capital, have arrived here.

Death Accidental.

Hamilton, July 30.—A coroner's jury investigated the death of James Green, known as "Jimmy the Walker," who was killed last Friday at the rolling mills, and brought in a verdict of accidental death. No one saw the accident, but Green was killed by a heavy bar of iron, which fell upon him.

Summer Hotel Burns.

Long Beach, N.Y., July 30.—Eight hundred guests of the Long Beach Hotel, one of the largest seashore hotels on the Atlantic coast, had to flee for their lives early yesterday when the hotel was burned to the sands. There was no loss of life, and no one was injured. Loss $300,000.

Blake Asked to Remain.

London, July 30.—(C.A.P.)—Hon. Edward's constituents have requested the Irish party not to accept his resignation till a reply is received from him to a communication sent him.

They would continue to represent them pending his recovery.

An Editor Elected.

Brampton, July 30.—Samuel Charters, editor of The Brampton Conservator, was yesterday elected mayor for the unexpired term of Mr. Milner, who resigned a few weeks ago to go to the Northwest.

Preference From Australia.

London, July 30.—(C.A.P.)—At Melbourne it is rumored the Federal Government will include a general British preference in the forthcoming tariff.

JAPANESE NOT PLEASED.

Declare That Customs Regulations on Teas Are Too Stringent.

Ottawa, July 30.—Canada's new customs regulations making more stringent provisions against the importation of adulterated teas are not regarded favorably in Japan. Reporting on the subject to the Trade and Commerce Department, Alex. McLean, commercial agent in Yokohama, says:

"It happens that the bulk of the teas exported from this country to Canada are described as low grade, and it is mainly the low grade of cheap teas that are affected by the regulations in question."

"As they are regarded here, the regulations subject the exportation of tea to Canada to the delay involved in examination and testing, and possibly to chemical analysis, before the product can pass the customs and then to the delay in added the cost of return transportation in the case of such quantities as may be rejected."

"It is represented that the trade cannot be carried on under these conditions."

"At the present time shipment is actively going on, and the putting in force now of regulations, however salutary, not anticipated when the season's trade was being negotiated, may prove very embarrassing to exporter and importer alike."

THE DEAF MADE TO HEAR.

Deafness, because usually due to Catarrh, is quite curable. In a thousand cases this is proved absolutely true. Success invariably attends the use of Catarrhazone, which has cured catarrh of the ear of twenty-five years' standing. Penetrating through the passages of the ear, the soothing vapor of Catarrhazone relieves the inflammation, destroys the seeds of Catarrh and thereby allows nature to re-assist herself. Try Catarrhazone yourself. 25c. and $1 sizes, sold by all dealers.

The Primitive Violin.

In its primitive form the violin was a direct development of the lyre and monochord—the strings from the former and the elongated box, with its sound holes, finger board and movable bridge, from the latter. The history of the violin began with the invention of the bow some time before the thirteenth century, when the violle, or vielle, used by the troubadours, made its appearance. This instrument underwent many changes until the middle of the sixteenth century, when the true violin model appeared. The primitive violin had little or no contour. It was not until the thirteenth century that the violle was scooped out at the waist. The corner blocks were added in the fifteenth century and are attributed to Germany. For nearly a century the sound holes were shifted all over the instrument before they were put in their proper place and the bridge fixed between them.—Circle Magazine.

Striking Originality.

"Your husband is not looking well tonight, Mrs. Rhymer."

"He isn't, and I'm not surprised at it."

"No? Has he been overworking himself?"

"It isn't that so much. It's his originality. Why, that man is struck by so many original ideas that his mind must be one mass of bruises."

Spoiled.

"Publishers insist on spoiling a great many manuscripts, don't they?" said the literary young woman.

"Undoubtedly," answered the book-seller. "A lot of 'em look a heap better typewritten and tied up with a ribbon than they do in print."

All That Saved Him.

"Yes, sir, he was obliged to go in the snake country, so he took a gallon of Georgia corn along with him."

"And how did he make out?"

"Splendid! Got so full and wobbled so the snakes missed him every time they struck at him!"

Humor and Philosophy

By DUNCAN M. SMITH

A MODERN JOHN GILPIN.

John Gilpin was a citizen Of credit and renown; In fact, his credit was as good As any man's in town.

John Gilpin said unto his spouse It would not be a crime If I should buy an auto cart, Part cash, but mostly time.

John Gilpin's loving wife agreed, As women do, I've read, And so he purchased a machine That speedy was and red.

And so the auto was brought round, And they did all get in— Six precious souls, and all agog— To try a family spin.

To run the thing, it must be owned, John didn't know enough. He didn't understand the works, But he could run a bluff.

But cranks and levers at his hand Conveniently he found of it, And then the wheels went round.

To each of them he gave a twist, And then the wheels went round.

At forty miles an hour or more He made the engine sing, And then he found to his dismay He couldn't stop the thing.

So down the broad and busy street It swayed from side to side. "Arrest us, dear policeman, do!" His wife and children cried.

But not a copper on the street To please them would essay. They jumped the fences as it came And gave it right of way.

O'er sidewalks, ditches, hitching posts It hurried on in glee. It ran down dogs and apple carts, And then it climbed a tree.

The family to a hospital They took without delay; The auto, what was left of it, Rolled homeward on a dray.

Making It an Object.

"Scientists tell us that man should live to be 120 years of age."

"Science ought to tell him how."

"It doesn't know how, although it has puzzled its brain until it has the headache trying to find out."

"Looks easy enough to me."

"Then why not explain and earn the everlasting gratitude of your fellow men?"

"I'd do it myself if I had the money."

"Do what?"

"Will every man living $1,000,000 that he couldn't touch until he was 113 years old, and then they would all have to live to that age to get it."

Fair Substituta.

There's nothing quite like leather, We're told, and it is true; But still in an emergency A barrel stave will do.

They Can Use Him.

"That fellow is really a fine talker."

"Good! My fortune's made!"

"What do you mean?"

"I know a company of promoters of mining stock. I shall put him next to them and charge a commission."

Because the Men Don't.

"Why don't you marry?" said the bachelor to the bachelor girl.

"Out of pure sympathy," returned the girl.

"I don't understand," said the bachelor, and he's wondering yet.

Miss Maud Side has returned to Detroit, after a visit to her home on Emma St., this city.

Miss Macfarlane, of Toronto, is the guest of Mrs. C. Austin at Clair Vista cottage, Port Lambton.

Mrs. Minor, of Emma street, left to-day for Oshawa, where she will spend two weeks with friends.

Mrs. C. Austin and daughter, Miss Mary, who are summering at Port Lambton, are spending the day in the city.

Her many friends will be pleased to learn that Mrs. Alexander Holmes passed a restful night, and is much improved to-day.

Miss Agnes Rielly left this afternoon for London, where she will spend two weeks the guest of Mrs. Phil. Pocock.

A. M. Fisher, of the reportorial staff of the Toronto World, was in this city on an assignment for his paper yesterday.

Miss A. Minty, of The Planet business-office, has returned from a few weeks' holidays spent in Montreal, Peterboro, and other eastern points.

Mrs. L. H. Rose and daughters, Misses Marjorie and Pearl, have returned home to Pontiac after spending a short time with Mrs. Grover, Sheldon avenue.

A number of local young ladies spent a pleasant day at Mr. Orieiger's down the river yesterday. They went down and returned via the City of Chatham.

In yesterday's Planet mention was made of the blaze that was issuing forth from a grate at the corner of William and Wellington streets. Last night the place was again on fire and the blaze was larger than ever. The grate was red hot and a roaring noise could be heard at several rods distance. This should be looked after, as it is very dangerous. The gas escapes in large quantities and the opening is continually getting larger.

PRESENTATION TO MISS KENNEDY

Quite a pleasant function took place yesterday morning at the Public General Hospital, when the physicians of the city met to bid farewell to Miss Kennedy, the retiring superintendent, and presented her with a purse of gold and a beautifully written address. Dr. T. K. Holmes read the following address and Dr. Carson made the presentation:

Dear Miss Kennedy.—The physicians of Chatham and Blenheim have learned with sincere regret of your resignation as superintendent of the Chatham General Hospital, and we wish on the eve of your departure to express to you the feeling of friendship and good will we entertain towards you.

The uniform courtesy towards us and the kindly interest you have always taken in our patients, have rendered our association very pleasant and agreeable, and we attribute the success of the hospital very largely to your care and skill in its management.

We shall think of you as a valued friend, a skillful nurse, and a competent superintendent, and we wish you all happiness and prosperity in whatever you may engage.

We ask you to accept this gift as a token of the high regard we have for you, and as a slight acknowledgment of the many services you have rendered us.

Signed on behalf of physicians of Chatham and Blenheim:

T. K. HOLMES, JENNIE T. CARSON, A. R. HANKS.

Chatham, July 30, 1907.

In her reply Miss Kennedy said: This indeed is a great surprise to me, I can assure you, and I appreciate very greatly this last act of kindness on the part of the medical fraternity.

I am glad to have an opportunity to thank the doctors for their courtesy and consideration to me throughout my term of office, and to assure them that their help and co-operation has seemed to lighten the labor and to lessen the responsibilities in connection with my work.

It has ever been my dearest wish to see the General Hospital prosper, and the years which I have spent here have been among the happiest years of my life, and I feel that whatever the future may hold in store for me, it will bring me no truer friends than those I have known while superintendent of the Public General Hospital.

Jack La France, of this city, who is with the Klitties Band, of Belleville, played at Ashland, Neb., on July 23, and during the evening performance the tent blew down in a terrific storm, and Jack says that all he could see during the severe blow was Klitties legs going up in the air, and as he was playing the big drum, was the last man to turn into a flying machine. The leader of the band was the first man to take the air route. One woman, with a tent pole, while in St. Joseph, Mo., he visited the house where Jesse James, the bandit, was shot. He also visited in Coffeetown, Kansas, the scene of the famous Dalton bank robbery—the First National Bank. He sent home scenes of bandit's residence, also one of the Dalton bank robbery.

LAWN SOCIAL

Last evening, on the lawn of Mr. A. E. Ellerbeck, Con. 3, Chatham Twp., a successful social was held under the auspices of the Chatham Five and Drum Band. One car left at 7 o'clock filled with Maple Cityites bound for a good time, and they had it. Wagonettes and buggies also brought their quota, and probably 500 people were on the grounds. Cake, ice cream and lemonade were provided in abundance.

The County Lodge flag was hung from the residence, and Chinese lanterns at intervals enhanced the beauty of the grounds. The band boys did most of the waiting on the tables, and they certainly made good.

Mr. Tilley, leader of the band, thanked those present for their attendance; the band had every reason to feel proud of their success.

The program was late in starting, but made up for lost time by its excellence.

H. S. Clements, M. P., was the capable chairman of the evening.

Walter Dolman gave some excellent piano selections.

Miss Irene Ellerbeck gave an instrumental solo in fine order.

Master Gerald Hildreth, for one so young, did remarkably well in his instrumental solo.

Rev. Mr. Graham, a new-comer to the audience, made a good speech.

Mrs. S. C. Walker favored the gathering with an excellent vocal solo; Mr. Collins, on the piccolo, with Prof. Dolman as accompanist, was probably the gem of the evening.

Mr. Cunningham contributed a solo very acceptably, while Miss Verlyn Lamont, a favorite, gave some of her best recitations.

The quartette, composed of the Misses Maggs, Wanless and Cunningham, also gave a very pleasing number.

Mr. T. A. Smith gave a neat address, filled with patriotism, which was well received.

Miss Ruby Maggs, rendered a solo in fine voice, and Mr. Harvey and S. Tilley gave a piano and flute duet, which pleased all.

Mr. Robt. Ellerbeck made his debut as a reciter, and won all hearts.

Mr. Wanless gave a solo very effectively.

Miss Dottie Wilson, of Detroit, played several of the accompaniments and is a clever little musician.

A second quartette by the Misses Maggs, Mr. Wanless and Mr. Cunningham, selections by the Band and the singing of God Save the King brought a fine entertainment to a close.

Drifting Into Matrimony.

By Elizabeth Taggart.

Copyright, 1907, by P. C. Eastment.

"We'll soon have matrimony fore and aft," declared Donald Frazer as he glanced down from the bridge. "Half of them are not speaking now, and I'm pretty certain that Betty has broken her engagement to Halgren."

"I could stand everything except the ice," said Dicky Rich plaintively. "I haven't had a highball in four days. Can't they fix the shaft?"

"MacPherson is working on it, but there's small chance," said Frazer. "I guess we'll just have to drift until a breeze or a steamer comes."

"It's too bad," said Rich sympathetically. "This trip was to mean so much to you."

Rich slipped down the ladder, and Frazer moved over toward the man at the wheel.

Rich was right. The trip had meant much to him. He had planned the cruise to bring his niece, Betty Holcombe, and Ralph Halgren together. Betty was his sister's child and ever since her mother's death had been his pet. Brilliant Geraldine Frazer would have nothing to do with his matchmaking. It had been all he could accomplish to induce her to embark on the yacht while the season was on.

"Here, ship!" she called. "Come, ship! Nice ship!"

Betty had announced her engagement to Ralph and things were as merry as a marriage bell when the shaft of the Ventura had cracked. Sails had been resorted to, but had been blown away in the mild hurricane that had followed the accident, and now the yacht was drifting far out of the track of the coastwise and West Indian steamers.

There were provisions and water to last three months, but the party was badly planned, and already they were heartily sick of each other. Even the newly engaged couple had found the monotony irksome, and the girl in a flash of bad humor had handed back her ring and was too proud to ask for it again.

Frazer left the bridge and descended to his wife's cabin. Mrs. Frazer had taken to her berth at the first sign of trouble and was comfortably enjoying a novel and a fit of the nerves while her husband wrestled with the task of entertaining a dozen utterly uncongenial persons on board a crippled yacht with no immediate hope of rescue.

Mrs. Frazer looked up languidly from her book as Frazer entered. She received his inquiries as to her health with doleful air, and then Frazer sat down on the edge of the berth.

"Look here, Gerry," he said despondently. "Can't you get out of this and help me? The men are growing to hate each other, and I look to see the women pulling each other's hair any moment."

"Terrors, no!" gasped Mrs. Frazer. "My nerves are bad enough as they are."

Frazer rose to his feet. From long experience he knew the hopelessness or argument. He was just leaving the room when she called him back.

"Perhaps Miss Brockway can help you," she suggested. "She's a rather capable girl."

She resumed her book, and Frazer went in search of Clara Brockway. He wondered that he had not thought of her before. She was a sort of social secretary to his wife, and that she was tactful was evinced by the fact that she had been serving in that capacity for two years. He found her sitting well up forward, for it was not Mrs. Frazer's way to make an employee an equal.

Briefly Frazer sketched his troubles. "The cruise will end up in a free fight," he said humorously. "Unless you will serve as a peace commissioner."

"Let's have a minstrel show this evening," she suggested. "Don't let the women know and surprise them after dinner."

"Just the thing," cried Frazer as, with beaming face, he hurried off to round up the men. It was not a difficult matter, for they were all sitting gloomily apart, and presently they were gathered in the chart room and Clara was outlining her plans.

Frazer glanced about the table, and the contrast between the men and the women, the latter with their airs of ennui, cheered him. Miss Brockway had worked half the cure. The rest would come after supper.

The minstrel show, held on the after deck, was a huge success, and the roars of laughter even brought Mrs. Frazer on deck. That was but the first of a series of entertainments that kept the passengers and crew alike busy. Clara was director of amusements, and sometimes it taxed her brain to develop new ideas, but something always turned up. A ghost party was one of her last resorts, and in the bright moonlight the white draped figures had a most spectral effect.

"Long since she had been recognized as one of the party, and she looked particularly effective in her white wrappings. Dicky Rich was leaning beside her at the rail.

"I think you are more witch than ghost," he laughed. "You have certainly bewitched us. The day of the minstrel show I was carefully planning a murder just to offset the deadly dullness of the cruise."

"Minstrel shows are a more refined form of torture," she smiled. "Wish I were a witch. I might conjure us a ship."

"Try it," he urged. "Let's see if you are able to make a go of it."

She pointed a slender white arm over the water. "Here, ship!" she called. "Come, ship! Nice ship!"

In a steamer chair near by some one had left a pair of glasses. Dicky caught them up and looked out over the water. Then he made for the bridge, where the sailing master paced impatiently.

Clara, watching his strange movements wondering, started as a trail of light shot from the Ventura, and Dicky came dashing back.

"You did it!" he shouted. "You conjured it up! Look! There comes the answer."

A faint streak of fire marked the horizon, and the whole party crowded to the rail to watch, though they knew that it would be hours before the steamer could come up.

SONGS IN THE ABBEY.

Madame Clara Butt's Experience at Westminster.

In the story of "My Life as a Singer," told by Madame Clara Butt in The Quiver, the noted songstress says that perhaps the oratorio solo she sings best is "O Rest in the Lord," and that to be able to sing that is quite enough in itself to make one happy and cheerful. Then she told a story of an experience in the Abbey. "Some time ago," she says, "I had a strange experience. Archdeacon Wilberforce gave an 'at home' one night at the deanery, Westminster. My husband and I were there and towards the end of the evening Sir Frederick Bridge came up and asked me if I would care to go into the Abbey and sing. You know what the Abbey is like in the daytime. You have felt its wonderful solemnity, its peacefulness. But can you imagine what it looks like at night? When the dusk has stolen in through the great rose windows, when every nook and corner, every chapel and aisle is full of gloom and mystery; when, as Washington Irving says, 'the awful nature of the place presses down upon the soul, and makes the beholder into a noiseless reverence'; when the effigies of the kings have faded into shadows, and the cold breath of the grave creeps out on the high altar, and the spirits are hovering in the stillness, whispering to one another of the night and the great coming dawn, when the Eternal Master-singer shall put a new song in His children's mouth; when they shall praise Him in whose Name and Person all true art has its being. If you do not know the Abbey as it is then you have something to look forward to. If you have been there at such an hour, you will understand something of what I felt as I stood in the organ loft singing to the still, dead folk down below. Never, before or since, have I sung in such an atmosphere; it was perfect. I sang 'Gloria to Thee, My God, This Night, Abide With Me.' Songs like these seemed to suit best the place and time. I shall never forget the roll of the organ, and the sensation of hearing my voice rising and falling, echoing and re-echoing, through the darkness. Some night, I trust, I may be allowed to sing again in the glorious old Abbey."

"I don't think any of us will forget it," he smiled. "I know Halgren is devoutly thankful to you. He and Miss Holcombe adjusted their dispute, you know. Then Frazer was lifted from the depths of despair, and all of us will have some cause to remember your meritorious role."

"It will be pleasant," she said, "to remember that I was of real service."

"I think you did me the greatest service," he said softly. "You showed me that even a confirmed bachelor can fall in love."

"Are congratulations in order?" she asked, smiling through the tears that glistened in the moonlight.

"That depends upon yourself," he answered, "for you are the woman I have learned to love."

"Don't you think you had better wait?" she urged. "It may be that it is wisely owing to the way we have been thrown together on this cruise. Wait until you mingle with your own set again. They say that the hotel is still crowded."

"Wait!" he laughed. "It has been all I could do to wait this long. Is it yes, dear?"

She looked into his honest eyes, and what she saw there satisfied her. Her hand slipped with his, and she said softly, "I think it is, and I feel as if I should like to be with you."

"That's just how I feel about it," he agreed, "only with a different meaning."

The Chalk Laundry. The elderly man in evening dress had eaten his soup indiscreetly, and when he and his wife stood up to leave the restaurant she gave an exclamation of dismay at the condition of the lower part of his shirt bosom. He looked considerably abashed and, grabbing a napkin, began rubbing at the unsightly spots. Then the waiter butted in with his Swiss English:

"I feez tax in joust one seconde eef monsieur and madame will sit down."

He disappeared through the kitchen entry and in half a minute returned with a piece of chalk between his fingers—a plain, common, ordinary stick of chalk, such as the children use for blackboard work in school.

Then, stooping in front of the spotted diner, he went over his shirt front, carefully chalking every spot until, at least at long range, the linen looked immaculate. The lady rewarded him with a smile and the man with something that looked like a quarter-New York Sun.

Honorable Youth. "Here, you, sir!" cried the frate father. "How dare you show your face here again?"

"Well," replied young Nerve, "I might have worn a mask, of course, but that would have been deceitful."—Houston Post.

What Happens. "When Greek meets Greek" said the man who quotes. "What happens then?" "I don't remember exactly. I suppose it's time to get an interpreter."—Washington Star.

Humor and Philosophy

By DUNCAN M. SMITH

PERT PARAGRAPHS.

Many a woman finds it hard work to be religious for her whole family.

If we could look upon our troubles with the complacent eye that other people look upon them, life would be a gladsome tilting lay.

Don't stand around and feel sorry for yourself; it is a lot more satisfactory to find some one to do the job for you.

Most of us know how our neighbor might get rich.

Justice never looks twice alike.

One way to attract an heiress is to walk along the street wearing an eyeglass and make a noise like a title.

The wine of experience that is pressed from the purple grapes of youth doesn't make anybody drunk.

Being happy is purely a mental condition except when you have the grip.

A man who can keep a baby from crying can have a square meal most anywhere he chooses to go.

Schoolteachers earn a lot of the taxpayers' money that they don't get.

John Smith, His Day. Toot, toot! Let the horns do business. And the cannon shoot. For who? You Guess. Bet you never could. Yes. It's for your old friend John Smith. Know him? Course you do. Several times too. Say, He's the hero Of 100 victories. Kind of not all. His call For fame Is greater yet Is slow. You can bet. Why, They've got A whole exposition At Jamestown. Where he landed Some years ago, As schoolboys know, And gave The whole blooming United States Its start. Kind of him. Wasn't it? You may think The John Smith you know Is slow. And maybe He is. But say, If the original John Smith Hadn't got busy Where would we have been Today?

Had Plenty of Chance.

"Do you know the nature of an oath?"

"Do I? My father was first mate on a canal boat."

True, but then—

"He is a man of rare good judgment."

"Indeed, I never noticed it."

"What?"

"Can't say that I did."

"Never noticed that he invariably says nice complimentary things about me?"

An Inference.

"Have you seen anything of my dog going alone here?"

"I have seen a dozen dogs go past. How should I know yours? Does he look anything like you?"

Fishing Weather. There's no use in talking. Cannot do a thing; Find myself a-balking. When the robins sing. Feet refuse to travel. Hands refuse to go; Want to walk on gravel Where the waters flow.

Never saw such weather. Where's my rod and line? Here they are together. Gee, the day is fine! To the winds with wishing The desire would pass. Hark to go a-fishing For a mean of bass.

Just Like a Man. "What do you consider your first duty?" "To please myself." "Ah, and your wife's?" "Same thing."

The Bills Are Just the Same. "Why is it that a man never worries like a woman over whether his wife still loves him?" "Oh, a man can't see that it matters, anyway."

Children Smother In Bin.

South Windsor, Conn., July 30.—Ella and Frank Prior, 10 years and 9 years old respectively, the children of Mr. and Mrs. Frank N. Prior, were found dead in a grain bin on the farm of Henry Pease, their grandfather, Sunday. They had hidden themselves there in play.

ANOTHER GREAT DISCOVERY.

A well known gentleman in Black Bay, Ont., Mr. John Cowan, has discovered an absolute specific for Rheumatism, and writes: "I was affected with Sciatica and chronic Rheumatism, which I contracted years ago. The disease had a great hold in my blood, and it was hard to make any impression on it. Reading of Ferrozene I was convinced of its merit and it's certainly the best I have ever tried. Why, it just drove away the Rheumatism. Even stiffened old sufferers will experience quick results. The reason is that Ferrozene acts through the blood and thereby destroys the cause of the disease. Price 50c. per box, at all dealers."

New System of Engines.

London, July 30.—The White Star Line announces that a new principle will be adopted in the new 14,000 ton steamship, which is being built by Harland & Wolff for that company's Dominion service to Canada—a combination of turbines with reciprocating engines.

WHEN WOMEN SUFFER.

Look out for weakness or disease. See if there is not a headache, dizziness, restlessness and the "blues." These symptoms indicate that you need the gentle assistance of Dr. Hamilton's Pills. They are women's greatest relief, prevent functional derangements, renew the life of the blood, purify and clean the system throughout. No tonic so potent, no results so marked as follow the use of Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Price 25c. per box at all dealers.

Gas Company Wins.

New York, July 30.—The application of Attorney-General Jackson for permission to bring an action to annul the corporate existence of the Consolidated Gas Co. on the ground that the merger of the various gas companies with the parent company has created a monopoly, was denied yesterday by Supreme Court Justice McCall.

I will mail you free, to prove merit, a sample of my Dr. Shoop's Restorative, my Book on either Dyspepsia, The Heart or The Kidneys. Troubles of the Stomach, Heart or Kidneys, are merely symptoms of a deeper ailment. Do not make the common error of treating symptoms only. Symptom treatment is treating the result of your ailment, and not the cause. Weak Stomach nerves—the inside nerves—mean Stomach weakness, says Dr. and the Heart, and Kidneys, as well as their controlling or inside nerves. Weaken these nerves, and you inevitably have weak vital organs. Here is where Dr. Shoop's Restorative has made its fame. No other remedy even claims to treat the "inside nerves." Also for bloating, biliousness, bad breath or complexion, use Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Write me to-day for sample and free Book. Dr. Shoop, Racine, Wis. The Restorative is sold by all dealers.

At Petawawa Camp.

Petawawa Camp, July 30.—The British light artillerymen opened the competition yesterday morning in the composite battery firing. Direct and indirect methods were used with good results, the most effective work being done at 3,200 and 3,000 yards respectively. The heavy artillery competition takes place to-day.

No official scores will be given out until all shooting is concluded. Lord Strathbrooke and Countess Strathbrooke watched the manoeuvres yesterday morning.

The British team was commanded by Capt. Davies with Capt. Flowers and McHugh in charge of the sub-sections.

Cleveland, Ohio, July 30.—John D. Rockefeller told members of the Sunday school of the Euclid Avenue Baptist Church Sunday that the great secret of success is "Get away from the butterfly pursuit of life and devote yourself to doing good to those around you."

SOCIETY IN TERRIBLE STATE.

British Press Comments Upon the Haywood Trial.

London, July 30.—Commenting on the result of the trial of William D. Haywood at Boise, The Chronicle yesterday says: "The state of society revealed by the trial is more terrible than any civil war, because it is more treacherous and is likely to be more lasting. From beginning to end it reveals a condition of brutal rapacity, confronted with savage, despairing violence, a condition that gives American boasted 'civilization' a very dubious look."

The Daily News says: "From the outset the question has been complicated by the fierce prejudices of a kind of smoldering class war. The whole movement, both in the reactions of the trial and its accompaniments in public excitement, has illustrated the insecurity of authority in America and the profound skepticism concerning the identity of law and justice."

Both editorialists refer to President Roosevelt's "undesirable citizens" statement.

The News calls it one of his frequent public indiscretions, and The Chronicle predicts that it will cost him dear.

Bryan Is Glad.

Peoria, Ill., July 30.—W. J. Bryan said as follows on the Haywood verdict: "I am glad to learn of the verdict and that it was not guilty. I watched the trial and did not see how any one could be found guilty on Orchard's testimony. Every crime he charged was one he himself suggested, and it was shown he was in communication with the mine owners and attempting to induce the defendants to engage in crime."

"The manner in which the prisoners were taken from Colorado was hardly in keeping with its prosecution."

Rubbing It In. Oyster Bay, N.Y., July 30.—Without comment President Roosevelt made public this telegram received by him yesterday referring to the verdict in the Haywood murder trial: "President Roosevelt."

"Undesirable citizens victorious. Rejoice."

(Signed) "Emma Goldman, Alexander Berkman, Hippolyte Havel."

CAID MACLEAN IN DANGER.

His Position Is More Precarious Now Than Ever.

Tangier, July 30.—The Sherehan troops Saturday attacked villages belonging to the Kmass tribe, in whose territory the bandit Raisuli holds Caid Sir Harry MacLean prisoner. The troops burned and looted the villages, killing many of the inhabitants and taking a large number of prisoners. The Government forces were completely victorious, but as the battle was fought within six hours' journey of where Caid MacLean is believed to be located, his position is regarded as more precarious than ever.

Having reached the walled town of Sheshuan on Saturday, the heads of the Kmass villages met Bouchta and offered to discuss with him terms for the release of Caid MacLean. The Government officials declined to discuss this matter and demanded the surrender forthwith of Raisuli. He then burned the villages, occupied Sheshuan and beheaded the rebels who had been killed in the fight.

Smuggled Clothes Seized.

Montreal, July 30.—An extensive business has been carried on smuggling clothing from Montreal into the United States. Portland being the line largely used to ship the goods. Frank Johnson, a United States officer, has to a large extent broken up the business, having seized about $25,000 worth of goods and arrested a Pullman conductor, who was alleged to be connected.

The goods were hidden in the boxes under the Pullman seats. Seizures have been going on for some time. Many people in the United States have been getting their clothes here, as it is claimed they can do better in values than at home.

Warrants are out for the arrest of at least a dozen Montreal tailors, which, however, cannot be executed unless they go to the United States.

C.P.R. Inspection.

Toronto, July 30.—Sir Thomas Shaughnessy and a party of C.P.R. officials, including General Sir Leonard Sturgeson, Osborne and Divisional Superintendent Everett, are making a tour of inspection over the company's lines in Ontario this week. They left by special train yesterday morning for Muskoka and go west to-day as far as Windsor. Their next visit will be to Guelph and Goderich Division, which they will inspect to the end of the line.

The Deadly Auto.

North Attleboro, Mass., July 30.—An automobile owned by Louis D. Barrows, and containing also Mrs. Florence Murray, Dr. Thomas Ford, and Mrs. Howard Black, crashed into an iron bridge last Saturday night, instantly killing Mrs. Murray and seriously injuring Ford.

Fall 20 Feet on Head.

Galt, July 30.—A serious accident happened yesterday morning at Cowan & Co.'s works. William Miller was engaged in working on a scaffold putting a belt on a pulley when he over-balanced and fell headlong, a distance of 20 feet, striking the side of his head on a casting, sustaining very severe injuries.

Kaiser to Meet Czar.

German Trade With U. S.

Berlin, July 30.—The exports from Germany to the United States for the last fiscal year total $161,963,598, an increase of $27,000,000.

DON'T PUT IT OFF LONGER

Get Rid of That Indigestion at Once by Using Mi-o-na.

Either through sickness or carelessness, hundreds of people slowly poison themselves by chronic indigestion. By neglecting to cure at once any sluggishness of the important organs of digestion the system is filled with fermenting and decaying food that results in sick headaches, heartburn, bad taste in the mouth, coated tongue, specks before the eyes, sleeplessness, nervous troubles and the many other symptoms that are the direct result of indigestion.

The want of a perfectly safe yet effective cure for indigestion and stomach troubles in their many forms was felt up to the time of the successful investigations that resulted in the production of Mi-o-na stomach tablets. They quickly cure the worst cases of indigestion, and the pain and distress which are often felt after meals disappear in a very few days—such is the wonderful curative power of Mi-o-na.

The old-fashioned medicines for stomach troubles merely digest the food while Mi-o-na strengthens the digestive organs so that the stomach becomes able to care for the food that is eaten.

Mi-o-na stomach tablets cost but 50 cents a box and do more real good than a dozen boxes of the ordinary digestive tablets. C. H. Gunn & Co. give an absolute, unqualified guarantee to refund the money if Mi-o-na fails to cure.

Four Die In Wreck.

Brooklyn, July 30.—A special train ran into the rear of a freight train and plowed its way to the caboose and four freight cars, killing three trainmen and injuring four others, one of whom died.

A Tourist Drowned.

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., July 30.—Mrs. W. Echeleia, a tourist, was drowned at New Island, near Batchelor Sunday. The family reside in Illinois.

Better Than Spanking

Spanking does not cure children of bed-wetting. There is a constitutional cause for this trouble. Mrs. M. Summers, Box W, 4, Windsor, Ont., will send free to any mother her successful home treatment, with full instructions. Send no money, but write her to-day if your children trouble you in this way. Don't blame the child. The chances are it can't help it. The treatment also cures adults and aged people troubled with urine difficulties by day or night.

Admits Forgery.

Kenton, Ohio, July 30.—Thomas Black, the most prominent lawyer in the city, a leading Republican politician and mayor for two terms, gave himself up to the sheriff yesterday acknowledging the forgery of $25,000. His operations extend, he says, over a period of nine years.

I'll stop your pain free. To show you first—before you spend a penny—what my Pink Pain Tablets can do I will mail you free, a Trial Package of them—Dr. Shoop's Headache Tablets, Neuralgia, Headache, Toothache, Period pains, etc., are due alone to blood congestion. Dr. Shoop's Headache Tablets simply kill pain by coaxing away the unnatural blood pressure. That is all. Address Dr. Shoop, Racine, Wis.

The tears of the night equal the smiles of the day.—Rousseau.

You cannot make sweet butter in a foul, unclean churn. The stomach serves as a churn in which to agitate, work up, and disintegrate our food as it is being digested. If it be weak, sluggish and foul the result will be torpid, sluggish liver and impure blood.

The ingredients of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery are just such as best serve to correct and cure all such derangements. It is up without a drop of alcohol in its composition; chemically pure, triple-refined glycerine being used instead of the commonly employed alcohol. Now this glycerine is of itself a valuable medicine, instead of a degenerative dyspepsia agent like alcohol, especially in the cure of weak stomach, dyspepsia and the various forms of indigestion.

Prof. Finley Ellingwood, M. D., of Bennett Medical College, Chicago, says of it: "In dyspepsia it serves an excellent purpose. It is one of the best manufactured products of the present time in its action upon enfeebled, disordered stomachs."

He who cannot bear humility cannot wear honor.

WIRE WOUNDS.

My mare, a very valuable one, was badly bruised and cut by being caught in a wire fence. Some of the wounds would not heal, although I tried many different medicines. Dr. Bell advised me to use MINARD'S LINIMENT, diluted at first, and then stronger as the sores began to look better, until after three weeks, the sores have healed and best of all, the hair is growing well, and is NOT WHITE as is most always the case in horse wounds.

A LONDON MYSTERY SOLVED.

Death of Thomas Wakley Recalls a Dramatic Episode.

The death of Thomas Wakley, joint editor of The London Lancet, recalls a dramatic and almost tragic episode in the life of his father, the founder of the paper, and for many years prominently before the public as Coroner for Middlesex.

The circumstances arose out of the terrible sentence passed on the Cato street conspirators, Thistlewood, Ings, Brunt, Davidson and Tidd, a sentence which prescribed that after being hanged their heads should be cut off and held up to the crowd, the executioner shouting, "This is the head of a traitor!"

The sentence of the London coroner was a considerable difficulty. The ordinary hangman was not equal to the task, and it was doubtful whether anybody could be found to wield an axe for such a purpose.

However, eventually the obstacle was overcome, and the enormous crowd gathered in front of the Old Bailey burst into roars of execration when a man, dressed in a sailor's jacket and trousers, and with a black silk handkerchief tied over part of his face to serve as a mask, stepped forward, and with a single blow, and, drawing out a large knife, he removed the heads in succession, very skillfully and rapidly.

At that time Thomas Wakley had just commenced to practice as a surgeon, and was living in Argyle, Regent street. Immediately after the execution he received several anonymous letters containing vague threats, but, being a courageous man, he took little notice of them.

About 1.30 in the morning a man knocked at the surgeon's door. The servants were in bed and the surgeon, being indisposed, was at that moment applying some leeches to his temples. Hastily bandaging his head, he opened the door, and the visitor, in a hurried manner, asked the doctor to go to a patient (whom he named) in anti-Jewish streets here during the month of June, 1906.

The messenger said he had come a long distance, and would like something to drink. The doctor went into the cellar, and during his absence other men were admitted. On his return the surgeon saw something rush toward him, and at the moment he perceived a man who, which he knocked him down. Almost at the same moment he was stabbed. He received other injuries, and while lying on the ground was kicked senseless.

He remained thus for three-quarters of an hour when he awoke from his stupor by flames, immense volumes rushing down the staircase. The ruffians had set fire to the house. The surgeon, with difficulty, arose and crawled through a skylight into the adjoining house, where he was found. The house was completely destroyed, and no clue was ever found to the perpetrators.

At first it was thought Mr. Wakley could not recover, but his strong constitution saved him. He was, however, not at the end of his misfortunes, for the insurance office refused to pay the insurance money, and he was forced to bring an action to clear his character, for the insinuation was that he had himself set fire to the house.

He won the day, and the truth of the story of the murderous assault was proved; but the mystery as to the cause of the outrage was as great as ever. All that could be found out was that the young surgeon was supposed to be the man in the mask who had executed the Thistlewood gang. There was, of course, not the slightest foundation for such a statement, the supplies for local consumption this morning were 1000 cattle, 200 sheep and lambs, 150 hogs and 300 calves. The week ending July 27, there were 44,500 sheep, 11,500 hogs and 300 calves. The week ending July 27, there were 44,500 sheep, 11,500 hogs and 300 calves.

SCALY SORES AS BIG AS PENNIES

Covered Whole Head and Neck After an Attack of Measles—Hair All Came Out—Doctor's Treatment Had No Effect—Suffered 6 Months

CURED IN 3 WEEKS BY CUTICURA COSTING $1.50

"After having the measles my whole head and neck were covered with scaly sores about as large as a penny. They were just as thick as they could be. My hair all came out. I let the trouble run along, taking the doctor's blood remedies and nothing on earth, but it did not seem to get any better. It stayed that way for about six months; then I got a set of the Cuticura Remedies, and in about a week I noticed a big difference, and in three weeks it was well entirely and I have not had the trouble any more, and as this was seven years ago I consider myself cured. I used one bottle of Cuticura Resolvent, one box of Cuticura Ointment, and two cakes of Cuticura Soap. I think it a splendid medicine, and I recommend it whenever I can. Mrs. Henry Porter, Albion, Neb., Aug. 25, 1906."

Imprisonment for Life.

Bialystoke, Russia, July 29.—The District Court on Saturday handed down sentences in the cases of the men placed on trial for complicity in anti-Jewish attacks here during the month of June, 1906. The trial of these individuals has been postponed many times.

The court sentenced a man named Demyanovitch to eight years' hard labor in the mines, and four other men were given life terms of imprisonment.

SUMMER COMPLAINT.

One of the Commonest and Most Dangerous of Diseases.

Everyone Should be Prepared for it with a Bottle of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry.

Very few people escape an attack of Summer Complaint. It may be slight, or it may be severe, but nearly everyone is liable to it.

You cannot tell, when it seizes on you. Let it go for a day or two only, and see how weak and prostrated it will leave you.

There is only one safe way to cure it and that is by Dr. FOWLER'S EXTRACT OF WILD STRAWBERRY. It has been on the market for sixty-two years and has been proved and tried so you are not experimenting when you buy it.

A Soldier's Memorial.

The grim humor of soldiers is not often displayed on tombstones, but here is an inscription from the cemetery at Winchester, revealed on a walking tour in those parts: "In memory of Thomas Thecher, a grenadier of the North Regiment of Hants Militia, who died of a violent fever contracted by drinking small beer when hot, the 14th of May, 1764, aged twenty-six years."

"In grateful remembrance of whose universal good will toward his comrades this stone is placed here at their expense as a small testimony of their regard and concern. 'Here sleeps in peace a Hampshire grenadier. Who caught his death by drinking small beer.' Soldiers, be wise from his untimely fall. And when ye're hot drink Strong or none at all."

"This memorial being decayed, was restored by the officers of the garrison, A. D. 1781."

A soldier's soldier never is forgot. Whether he died by musket or by pot. This stone was placed by the North Hants Militia when disembodied at Winchester on April 26, 1802, in consequence of the original stone being destroyed.—London Tribune.

Princess Royal's Health.

There is still a great deal of anxiety about the health of the Princess Royal, who is again leaving England for a long cruise with her family. A well-known specialist is a constant visitor at her house, in Portman Square, London, and he feels very concerned about Her Royal Highness. The princess makes an admirable patient. She conscientiously carries out all the instructions of her medical adviser. Every morning she holds a long conversation on the telephone placed in her bedroom with the Queen. Since her illness, Her Royal Highness has become an omnivorous reader. Travel and history are her favorite subjects. Like the late Queen, she has a great partiality for languages. She now passes much time in this study.

PAINFUL ACCIDENT

An Englishman, employed at Man-... Campbell's, had the misfortune to meet with a serious and painful accident on Monday, while operating a band saw. Through some mishap his hand slipped and was caught in the saw, four fingers of the right hand being badly cut and mangled. He was taken to Dr. Rutherford's office and the wounds dressed. The forefinger had to be amputated at the second joint, and the other fingers were bound up.

DISTRICT

BLENHEIM

Blenheim, July 31.—Miss Bonnie Greening, of "Oseola," Erieau, was a Blenheim visitor yesterday, the guest of her sister, Mrs. N. L. McLeod.

The Blenheim stringed orchestra will supply the music at the Orford township picnic, which is being held at the Government Park to-day.

The young ladies from Blenheim who were occupying Drumrochty Lodge at Erieau, returned home yesterday, after spending a very enjoyable time.

The Misses Hazel and Edith Hanks and Miss Mae VonGuten, drove out to Rondeau Park on Monday.

Mrs. Handy, of Blenheim, has been spending a few days at Erieau visiting her mother, Mrs. W. R. Fellows, of the lighthouse.

Miss Elsie Gordon and Miss Stover, both of Blenheim, left on Monday night for Chatham on the excursion train, as it was returning from the band concert at Erieau, so as to take the night train to Toronto, and by so doing it would enable them to catch the harvesters excursion train, which left Toronto yesterday for the West. Miss Gordon will stop off at Winnipeg to visit friends in that city, while Miss Stover will go on to Calgary, where she intends staying for some time for the benefit of her health.

Those who attended the band concert at Erieau on Monday night report a very enjoyable time.

PLEASANT EXCURSION

The excursion of Holy Trinity Sunday school to Belle Isle yesterday was a great success. A good crowd were on board, and the presence of the band, which discoursed splendid music all the way, was an unusual pleasure. The morning was cool and those in charge of the ice cream stand were looking very blue, but on the return trip the atmosphere underwent an agreeable change and the refreshment stands did a rushing business, taking in nearly $90. Everything was disposed of before reaching the Rankin dock. Everyone enjoyed the outing, and are looking forward to this trip as an annual affair.
