A STRIKING USE OF BLACK ON A WHITE DANCING GOWN

The black velvet sash, knotted about the hips of this white silk gown is effectively balanced by the sharp note of black in a velvet rose at the corsage. The tunic is puffed up, pannier fashion, above the black sash, and below it falls a deep plume of silver lace. The bodice is of silver lace over white chiffon and the pretty dancing gown is matched by buttoned strap slippers of white satin.

The dance Monday night was a brilliant aftermath of the military ball. The environments so attractive with the various rainbow lights in rich colors enhancing a scene that was enchanting. The music giving a glorious "atmosphere" to the affair, made all go "merry" as a marriage bell. It closed a never-to-be-forgotten chapter in the social history of our enterprising little city.

The average man's brain are useful to another man who knows just how to use them.

Miss Marjory Wilkes and her cousin, Miss Dorothy Wilkes, left on Tuesday to visit friends in Cobalt.

Before an American heiress who marries a foreign nobleman places him on exhibition she removes the price mark.

Mrs. Wilgress and Miss Dorothy Wilgress of Hamilton, were in the city this week the guests of Mrs. Montzambert.

Mr. H. Mackenzie of Montreal, General Manager of the Bank of British North America, is a guest at Grace Church rectory.

The average woman can get more exhilaration out of a cheap compliment than a man can get out of a quart of champagne.

When you hear the household comment on how to cook, you prefer a story book. Literature makes fine perusing but it isn't good to eat.

Many Brantford friends will be glad to learn that Mr. Robert Henry underwent a successful operation at Harper's Hospital, Detroit this week for Cataract.

When a woman says her husband doesn't understand her, it's generally a sign that she isn't giving him a chance to work on the facts of the case.

"Are you giving this splendid party to entertain your friends?" "No, I'm giving it to that people who haven't invited me will take notice that I haven't invited them."

The Marchioness of Dufferin, who, it is announced in London, has at last realized her artistic leanings, and is about to make her debut in opera at Covent Garden. Before she married, the Marchioness was Miss Flora Lewis of New York. She has a trained soprano voice of rare quality and dramatic power. She married the Marquis of Dufferin in 1893.

The great Poirot has been at it again. He says that a woman should dress to match her soul, says Louise Heiberg. Not her hair or complexion, mind you, but her soul! Fancy turning your soul into a dressmaker's rummy and hanging one of Poirot's amazing color confections upon it! There is not a woman living, I dare swear, who would take the liberty. Even the most material of us know that a soul is an immortal possession. Immortality dressed in a Bakst design would be an inconceivable thing.

He declares further: "There are gowns that sing and gowns that weep and gowns that are full of mystery." What awkward clothes these must be to weep! Fancy carrying a Maskylene and Dexam entertainment about you in the folds of your skirt, or having a shoulder-strap that would insist upon singing, "Hitchy-Koo." I think Poirot must have mistaken his vocation. Instead of being a dressmaker he should have been a Futurist poet.

A large and fashionable audience greeted Margaret Anglin at the Grand Thursday evening, when in "As You Like It" she portrayed a role in Shakespeare with the genius of a great actress. Margaret Anglin was born in Ottawa, and is the only woman of eminence in the world in any walk in life whatever who is able to claim the distinction of having been born in the Parliament Buildings.

Her mother was an accomplished amateur actress. Her early education shined at Loretto Abbey in Toronto, where her brother, Justice Anglin, resides, and at the convent of the Sacred Heart in Montreal. Afterwards she went to the Empire school of Dramatic Actors in New York and at an age when most girls are beginning their real education she appeared on the boards in New York in a play called "Shenandoah." And although she scored big successes at a time when the woods were full of Shakespeare players and plays, at the age of thirty-seven she can well afford to look back upon a line of big stellar parts which she has taken since 1896, when at the age of twenty she first appeared in New York where she now lives. This woman has the right to rank as one of the great exiled Canadians. And her return to Canada has always been marked by a real hearty welcome from her friends—whom she has kept as few women in public life are able to do. Her annual donation of a gold bracelet as a prize for acting in "The Earl Grey Competition" is but a slight mark of her perpetual esteem for her native land.

The Parisiennes are cutting the word "smart" out of their dictionaries. "Smart" does not mean "chic." The chic woman is born; the smart woman is a modern creation. The former word expresses atmosphere, while the latter merely expresses passing fad.

Quite the largest bridge ever given in Toronto was that by the Chamberlain Chapter, I. O. D. E. in the Metropolitan, on Saturday afternoon when twenty-four tables were played at. The guests were received by the Regent, Miss Elizabeth Dixon, who wore black, chameuse, with overdress of black chiffon, a black hat and diamond and pearl ornaments.

At her pretty home, Dufferin Ave., Miss Pearl Secord was the hostess of a delightful bridge Wednesday afternoon. They played the popular game at five tables. The rooms were bright and fragrant with American beauty roses and carnations, the tea table done in pink, made an effective color scheme. Mrs. Harold Miller and Miss Addie Burbank were highest scorers.

Miss Edna Preston was the hostess at a particularly enjoyable luncheon Wednesday, in honor of the Misses Sanderson, prior to their departure abroad. Covers were laid for ten. The table in the spacious dining room was centered with a large basket of daffodils. The guests included the Misses Marjory and Edith Sweet, Helen Kippax, Ella Chalcraft, Edna Verity, North Tomlinson, Stephanie Jones.

Those who enjoyed the work of the clever players of the Y. W. C. A. literary club last year, will be glad to learn that next Tuesday evening these players will produce two plays. "The Flower of Yeddo"—a Japanese comedy. Also a modern comedy, "The Teeth of the Gift Horse" verify the old adage, "Never look a gift horse in the mouth." Among those taking part are: the Misses Van Norman, Leone Park, Evelyn Buck, Norah Tomlinson, Ethel Raymond, Vera Redding, Marjorie Sweet, Stephanie Jones, Messrs Hunstman, Jack Towers, Arthur Dunstan. The children will be Misses Winkie Van Westrim, Florence Westbrook, Gwendolin Wilkes, Dimples Vager. The playlets are under the supervision of Miss Gould, the educational director of the club.

Unlike other fish, it had no lungs, but received air through five long openings on either side. It could have swallowed a score of Jonah's, and when examined it had swallowed an animal weighing 1500 pounds.
Mrs. Crosby, who has been a firm believer in the sea monster, since the story of Jonah and the great fish, which swallowed him, has been denied by many bible critics, and considers this a remarkable confirmation and indisputable evidence of the scripture record.

Must Justify Deportation of Strike Leaders Before Country.

(By Special Wire to The Courier)
 CAPETOWN, Union of South Africa, Jan. 30.—Heated altercations today marked the opening session of the parliament of the Union of South Africa, in the course of which General Louis Botha, the premier and the cabinet ministers are to be called upon to justify to the country the strong-handed methods they adopted in dealing with the recent strike of workers, ten of whose leaders were this week deported secretly to England.

Viscount Gladstone, the governor-general, in his opening speech said the declaration of martial law by the government had been an "imperative duty" but he made no reference to the deportation of the labor leaders.

General Jan Christiaan Smuts, Minister of defence, sprang to his feet at the earliest opportunity to give notice that he would on Monday move a bill to indemnify the government for all its acts under martial law and prohibiting the return of the deported men thus raising an effective barrier to the efforts of representatives of the labor men to move the adjournment of the house in order to discuss "the surreptitious deportation of citizens without trial."

Time after time the labor members in vehement language great uproar tried to debate "the crime of kidnapping citizens" but the speaker refused to allow them to continue and finally while the din was still in progress and the labor members were shouting taunts and uttering cries of "shame" the house rose.

Paris News

PARIS, Jan. 31.—The Paris hockey team has been invited to play a series of games with the Sarcelles and Detroit teams and will make the trip the latter part of next week. An excursion is being arranged and it is expected that a large number of supporters will accompany the team.

Yesterday afternoon the ice broke up and passed out. The Grand is now clear of ice for several miles above and below Paris. Although the ice was not heavy the run of it was the closest packed in years. For fully half an hour it would have been possible to have crossed the river on the moving ice so closely was it packed in the stream. During the run of ice quite a commotion was caused when dense clouds of steam and smoke were seen arising from the rear of Pennans No. 2 Mill. Many watchers thought the mill was on fire but the explanation was simple. For some time there has been a big fire smouldering under the surface of the cinder heap, and when the water raised enough to reach the surface of the cinder heap and when the water raised enough to reach the fire the steam resulted. So dense were the clouds of steam that it was almost impossible to see some of the mills.

Mr. Chas Walker has purchased the old carpet factory on the Flats from Mr. John Kay.

The body of Mrs. Chas McCabe was brought to Paris for interment on Thursday, the funeral taking place from the G. T. R. station to the Church of the Sacred Heart and thence to the R. C. Cemetery. She leaves a wide circle of friends in the vicinity.

LORD ROSEBERY'S HEALTH

Late last night the following bulletin was issued: "Lord Rosebery underwent a serious operation on Jan. 19. The operation was completely successful and satisfactory progress has been made. Insomnia is causing anxiety and still necessitates absolute quiet."

Choir Banquet

Was Held By St. Jude's Church Organization Last Evening

The annual banquet of St. Jude's Church Choir was held last evening at the Tea Pot Inn, when 40 members of the choir and friends sat down to a splendid supper served by Miss Host Crumback. Mr. Percy Farnsworth, president of the choir, presided. Supper over, short speeches were made by the president, Rev. Jenkins, the rector, Mayor Spence and Dr. Lundy, one of the churchwardens. Progressive eclogue was played, and the banqueters tripped the light fantastic.

The prizes in the progressive eclogue were won by Miss Rita Dawson and Mr. Harry Rank. An instrumental solo was rendered by Miss Kelly and solos by Messrs. Unsworth, Farnsworth and McLeod.

The affair broke up about 12 o'clock.

Local Market Prices Today

The necessity for a covered market was thoroughly demonstrated this morning. Owing to the inclement weather, the attendance was naturally not very large proportions, vendors and buyers being conspicuous by their absence. Those who did attend braved the sleet, and among them were many women. The sight was certainly not one which should be seen in a progressive city, one which prides itself upon being just a little above the ordinary.

Prices were little changed, beef being a little easier.

SHE WAS HELPLESS FOR TWO YEARS

Way Mrs. Baldwin Recommends Dodd's Kidney Pills.
She Could Find Nothing to Cure Her Rheumatism Till on a Neighbor's Advice She Tried Dodd's Kidney Pills.

ST. WALBURG, Sask., Jan. 20.—(Special)—"I can truly recommend Dodd's Kidney Pills for any one suffering from Rheumatism." These are the words of Mrs. W. A. Baldwin, a highly respected resident of this place. And Mrs. Baldwin gives her reasons.

"I was nearly helpless with rheumatism for two years," she states. "I got medicine from the doctor, and tried several other remedies but nothing helped me. Then one of my neighbors advised me to try Dodd's Kidney Pills. I bought four boxes, and they helped almost from the first. I have used nearly two dozen boxes and I am nearly cured."

That rheumatism is one of the most of diseased kidneys is again shown in Mrs. Baldwin's case. She had headache, stiffness of the joints and backache, her sleep was broken and unrefreshing, and she was always tired and nervous. Her limbs swelled and she was always thirsty. These are all symptoms of diseased kidneys. When she cured her kidneys with Dodd's Kidney Pills the symptoms vanished—and so did the rheumatism.

NINETY-NINE TIMES AGROSS THE OCEAN

For the ninety-ninth time, Mr. E. B. Crompton this week crossed the Atlantic Ocean, returning home on the maiden trip of the palatial Alsatian, an Allan Liner. In an interview with the Courier this morning, Mr. Crompton said the department of the mercantile marine, as he had seen it during 33 years experience, had been wonderful. The Alsatian he described as a beautiful palace of the sea, fitted with every modern requirement known to travel.

Describing trade conditions in England, Mr. Crompton said there was neither talk nor feeling of depression existing. A few months ago there was a safety valve put on to protect bank reserves, but recently the buoyant feeling had been shown by the lowering of the Bank of England discount. Last year, Great Britain had the biggest year in trade in her history, by several millions.

Mr. Crompton said he had an excellent trip from a business viewpoint, although he was glad to get back home in Brantford again.

Cost Will be Less.
Hydro Engineer Ireland announced this morning that the property owners will pay less for the ornamental lights which are located on the principal streets, than was originally figured the cost would be. The original estimate was 30 cents a foot per annum for 20 years, but it has been found that the cost will be 20 cents a foot. When asked for the origin of the reduction, the engineer stated that the apparatus had not cost as much and the construction work had been done at less cost. A local improvement by-law will shortly be put through and the charge for the year will appear on the assessment.

The Scout Council met last night at the Y.M.C.A. A committee was appointed to add to the strength such parties as they chose. When the numbers have been added the annual meeting will be held.

Evangelistic Services.
The attendance at Calvary Baptist church last night, exceeded that of any previous meeting of the present series of services. Rev. C. J. If we serve Satan we lose, if we serve Christ, we gain. Miss Marguerite Sayles sang a solo very sweetly. The services have been so helpful and inspiring, and the interest and attendance increasing, that it was decided to continue them another week. Rev. Mr. Bowyer will conduct an evangelistic service also on Sunday night, preaching from the subject, "A word in Season."

A pleasing feature of the meeting before closing, was the presentation of a very handsome "Casserole" set in silver, to Mrs. G. Wood by the members. The address was read by Mrs. Barrie of Oak Park and Mrs. M. Kinney made the presentation. Mrs. Wood replied in a pleasing manner. Refreshments were served by the ladies, which brought a very enjoyable afternoon to a close. The meeting closed with God Save the King.

A joint meeting at night was held with the Farmers Institute. Fine addresses were given by the men delegates. Miss Robson also spoke in the evening, on the "Economic Problems of the Country Girl." Miss Rose Sharp delighted the large audience with her recitation entitled "The Shadow on the Blind."

SERIOUS CHARGE IN POLICE COURT

Husband Said to Have Put His Wife on Railway Track.

A story of domestic strife was contained in the charge sheet at the police court this morning which read Margaret Williams v. Peter Williams, wounding.

The parties who have been married for some years are alleged to have come to a misunderstanding over another woman of whom the wife is said to have grown jealous. He grew indignant at her suggestions and began to ill treat her. Matters reached a climax in the middle of last week when he is said to have struck her with a knife and wounded her, took her to the track a little distance from their home in Caledonia and laid her on the rails in a senseless condition. With the supposed intention that she would be killed by the next locomotive. Neighbors, however, rescued her from an untimely fate and she lies in the hospital suffering from her injuries and shock.

The case was remanded until Friday.

To The Editor

THAT DEPUTATION.

To the Editor of the Courier: It is reported during the discussion by the county council concerning the location of the office of the District

Representative, Councillor Stroud said: "I would rather be caught in a chicken coop than to be found on a deputation trying to take anything away from the possessors." If Mr. Stroud said this he insulted forty intelligent farmers who formed the deputation last Wednesday and many others who wished, but were unable to be present. His is surely a strange moral code. The truth of the matter is that those farmers were trying to secure only that which was filched from them in the beginning.

I will state the facts in connection with the securing of the representative for this county. At Mr. Brewster's suggestion, a deputation consisting of delegates from the various agricultural organizations of the county waited on the Minister of Agriculture to ask for a District Representative. It was considered probable that Brant County could not secure one for some time for other counties had made similar requests and the available supply of men for the offices was limited. It was therefore, rather according to find a deputation from the Town of Paris, which asserted that a representative was already assured to the county, and which insisted on pressing the claims of Paris for the office. As Brantford was so obviously the proper place, and as it was thought that any dissention might prejudice the minister against their real object, the county delegates decided not to urge Brantford's claims, a decision which, perhaps, spoke more highly for their fair-mindedness than for their political acumen.

What is the inference to be drawn from this? Is it not the fact that Paris were let into the secret and were given a hint to put forward the claims of that town? Which is the "hogtown"? I think it is not Brantford as Mr. Evans insinuated.

The organizers of the deputation that waited on the council are by no means daunted. These same subjects are powerless to grant it. The best of this matter will be heard only when justice is done to the agricultural interest of this county.

Or wrap up warm in furry frozes To keep myself from getting frozes.

When other little children wheeze And but their buttons when they sneeze— I stand firm in the biggest breeze Just like the aborigines.

Because I have a healthy skin From wearing everything that's thin; My legs are bare and tough as tin And people look at me and grin.

SLEEPY-TIME TALES FOR THE LITTLEST ONES

The Odds-and-Ends Princess

LITTLE DOROTHY'S heart had been very hard that evening because Lillian, the rich little girl who lived across the street, had walked very proudly that afternoon in a beautiful white dress. The moment Dorothy had seen it, she had become, oh, so envious for one just like it.

And she had begged and begged her mother to buy her one. But Mamma had explained to her how Papa was not rich enough to buy such dresses for her, much as she would like to. And Mamma had tried to tell her how much more beautiful, after all, was her own "party dress" which she had helped Mamma make. But still little Dorothy was not quite content.

That night, after Mamma had tucked her into bed, she drew up her chair by the side of the bed and told Dorothy a Sleepy-time Tale which made the little girl understand a little better that fine dresses do not always make a fine woman. Said Mamma:

There was once a very beautiful Princess, Dorothy, whose name was Lorraine, and whose cold, haughty, selfish disposition was as famous as her beauty. She had a poor little serving maid named Alicia, whom she never beat and scolded and slapped a dozen times a day because—well, because little Alicia was even more beautiful than the Princess, though she was only a servant. The Princess, you see, simply couldn't bear the thought of there being another woman in the world more beautiful than she.

Many times a day Alicia would dress Princess Lorraine in her beautiful, priceless gowns and, at the Princess' command, tell her what a wonderful handsome princess she was. More than that, every member of the Court, you may be sure, overlooked no opportunity to tell the Princess the same thing.

One day the rich and handsome Prince Domino came riding into Court attended by hundreds of his soldiers and attendants. Now Prince Domino's kingdom was sixty times as large and wealthy and powerful as was the one over which the father of the Princess ruled. Indeed, the King was fearful, lest Prince Domino decide sometime to come right in with his vast army and gobble up his kingdom. But the Princess came this time upon a peaceful mission.

"I come, O King," he said, after the trumpeters and heralds had summoned the people of the kingdom, "to choose a wife. Seven times have I dreamed a strange dream and thrice has my Good Fairy appeared before me and interpreted the dream. Thus have I been commanded to come to thy kingdom and seek my queen. But she must be beautiful, sweet tempered, unselfish, economical and a good housewife. All these she must be, commands the Fairy, and then shall I enjoy a long reign with her, great power, yet wealth and fame that shall live in the history of my country forever.

"So, O King, I crave a proclamation to thy subjects setting forth these conditions. And I pray that thou name a day, one week hence, when all maidens who desire shall appear in the palace here, each attired in a gown she has wrought with her own hand. For the one I choose, it shall be her wedding gown. O King, I have spoken."

On the appointed day maidens from all over the kingdom were assembled in the great hall of the palace, each attired in a dress she had herself wrought. Of course the Princess Lorraine was present, for even she could dress no more handsomely and powerfully than Prince Domino. And, as usual, she was certain she would be his choice; for she was just as maid, though not as beautiful as she!

"Come, Maiden Fair," he said, "I Choose Thee!"

thou now wearest. Come, be my Queen, and I shall deck thee with gowns and jewels such as no woman yet has worn!"

And so, they were married and lived happily ever after.

But do you know, the Princess rarely called her Alicia; she preferred to call her Princess Odds-and-Ends! Now wasn't that odd—or was it?

thou now wearest. Come, be my Queen, and I shall deck thee with gowns and jewels such as no woman yet has worn!"

And so, they were married and lived happily ever after.

But do you know, the Princess rarely called her Alicia; she preferred to call her Princess Odds-and-Ends! Now wasn't that odd—or was it?

Just then he espied Alicia holding her corner of the train.

"Thy serving-maid, Princess Lorraine," he said with a smile, "is a suitable one for so beautiful a mistress."

"Nay, oh Prince," replied the Princess in a sharp, cross tone, "she is but a worthless chit of a girl, Alicia, why dost thou intrude where thy presence is not wanted? Stand back!"

Then the Prince knew that the Princess Lorraine was not sweet tempered.

"She is indeed a fair maid, O Princess," said the wise Prince, watching her out of the corner of his eye.

"Indeed! Indeed!" snapped Lorraine.

"But, methinks, she has not heard of my coming," continued the Prince, "for she seems to have donned the simplest of gowns."

"She!" exclaimed the Princess, angrily. "Mercy! Surely thou dost not consider her worthy of thy notice, O Prince! Why, she made her gown out of the odds and ends of an old dress of mine; and I crave thy pardon for not attiring her more suitably. But she is just a maid, thou seest, and good as nothing, but to

Donald and The "Feather Duster" Bird

Habitat, South America and particularly Brazil. It nests in a hollow in the ground and hatches from ten to twenty-three eggs at a setting.

And the bird? Goodness, what a miserable looking fellow he was! His thin, coarse plumage was a combination of dark, dirty-brown, dull gray and a muddy white. He looked much like an ostrich, only several sizes smaller, having three long, hard, scaly toes at the end of his bone-like spindle-legs and a bunch of feathers for a tail-decoration.

But such scrawny, coarse, dirty feathers they were! Not one bit like the soft, beautiful ones of the ostrich. Indeed, he might well have been called "the poor relation of the ostrich family."

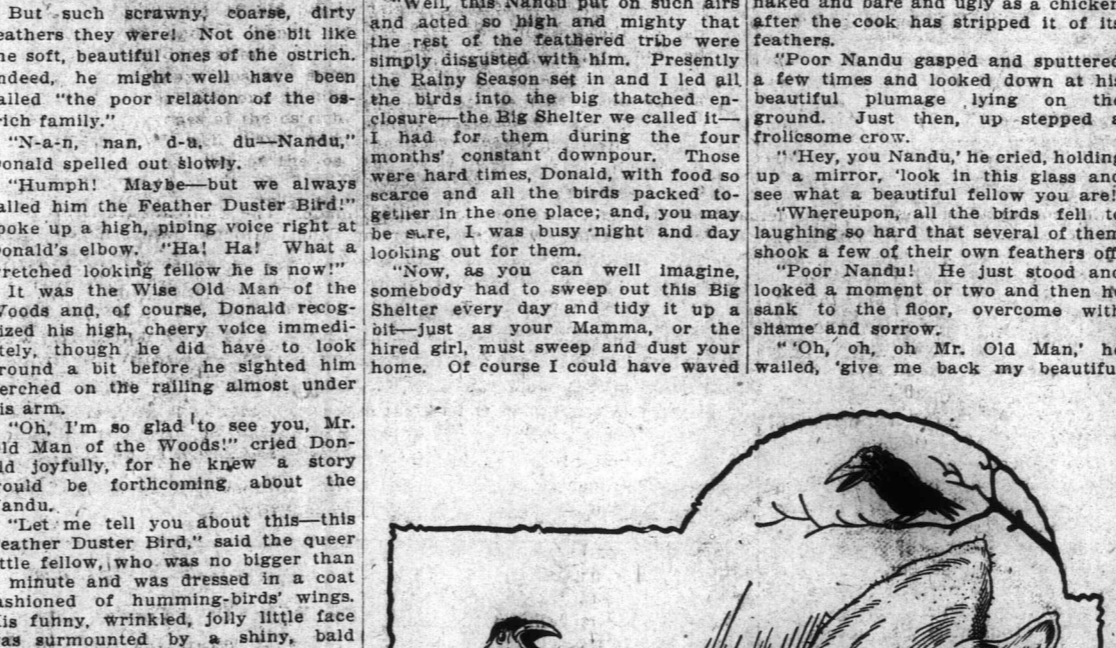

"Nah, nah, 'e-a, du-Nandu," Donald spelled out slowly.

"Humph! Maybe—but we always called him the Feather Duster Bird!" spoke up a high, piping voice right at Donald's elbow. "Hah! What a wretched looking fellow he is now!"

It was the Wise Old Man of the Woods and, of course, Donald recognized his high, cheery voice immediately. Though he did have to look around a bit before he sighted him perched on the railing almost under his arm.

"Oh, I'm so glad to see you, Mr. Old Man of the Woods!" cried Donald joyfully, for he knew a story would be forthcoming about the Nandu.

"Let me tell you about this—this Feather Duster Bird," said the queer little fellow, who was no bigger than a minute and was dressed in a coat fashioned of humming-birds' wings. His funny, wrinkled, jolly little face was surmounted by a shiny, said bear up my train!"

Then Prince Domino knew that the Princess was indeed selfish and cruel. "Thou hast spoken well, O Princess," he said. "I have found me a wife."

The Princess smiled proudly—for of course he must mean her.

But, to her utter amazement, Prince Domino walked over to Alicia, bowed low before her and kissed her hand.

"Come, maiden fair," he said. "I choose thee! That thou art beautiful, I have but to look at thy face and see. That thou art sweet-tempered, I have but to remind myself that thou art serving-maid for such a cruel mistress. That thou art unselfish, I have but to remember that thou didst not strive to catch my eye and please me but to bear up my mistress' train. And that thou art economical and a good housewife, I am sure, because thou hast fashioned of odds and ends of cloth the beautiful simple gown my magic wand and—presto!—the place would have been swept clean in a jiffy. But that would have been bad for the birds, and goodness knows so many of them were lazy enough as it was!

"I made them divide into groups of a dozen and then take turns each day performing the household tasks. Nandu was in the tenth group, but bless you, when his turn came and his companions started him to work, one cold, drizzly morning, the poor fellow was so much as budge out of the comfortable, dry corner he had found for himself.

"He wrote! He sold his beautiful pink feet and dirty his gorgeous plumage and—presto!—I'll do anything—anything you wish!"

"No, no, air-ree!" I cried. "You've been a vain, conceited, silly fellow and you must pay the consequences! Here, pick up those feathers of yours, tie them together with this piece of string and then go sweep out every inch of this place with them!"

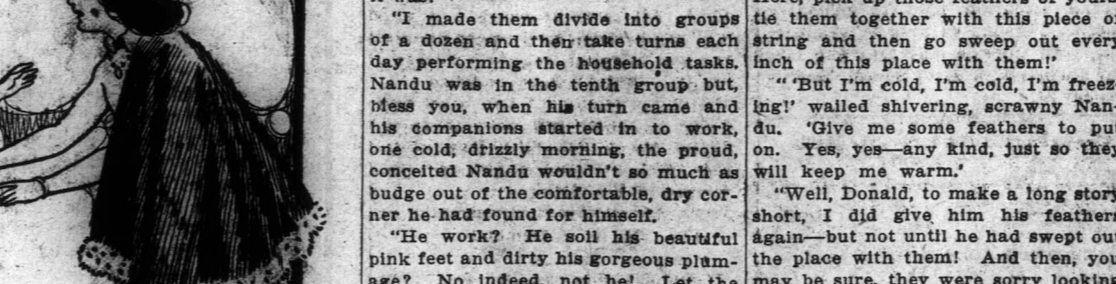

"But I'm cold, I'm cold, I'm freezing!" wailed shivering, scrawny Nandu. "Give me some feathers to put on. Yes, yes—any kind, just so they will keep me warm."

"Well, Donald, to make a long story short, I did give him his feathers again—but not until he had swept out the place with them! And then, you know, they were sorry looking things. They never improved, either, and from that day to this they look like—well, like just what they are—the feathers in a feather duster! For, Donald, right now men pluck the tail feathers of the Nandu and make feather-dusters out of them. Maybe the one in your own home was made of goodness, here's Nandu calling you—I must skedaddle—goodbye, Donald."

And the Old Man vanished.

"What! Land sakes!" exclaimed Nurse, as she picked Donald up from where he had sunk down on the ground, asleep, before the enclosure. "What funny things you do dream! Feather dusters, humph! Certainly feather dusters don't grow on birds!"

On that point Donald was right, as a line on the label on the enclosure read: "It's feathers are used in the making of rugs, feather-dusters, etc."

The POLAR BEAR

AWAY up, North where little grows But seals and fish and Esquimaux. The polar bear has made his home, And on the fields of ice does roam.

Now do you think it would be nice To live upon a field of ice? But, then, the Polar Bear, you know, Is very fond of ice and snow.

He spends his time in catching fish. They seem to be his favorite dish. But when he wants a hearty meal He dines upon a big fat seal.

An Ungrateful Cat

THIS is a story of ingratitude. There are three characters in it: the family who went away for the summer and left their pet cat, Nig, the second of the trio, to shift for himself and, thirdly, the family next door who finally took him in.

Now, wouldn't you think, after all that happened to him, that the cat would be grateful for the kindness of the family next door who finally took him in?

Well, you know, cats are treacherous animals and have but little of the faithful affection of the dog or the horse.

When Nig's family closed up their house for the summer, they set a large bowl out in the backyard and left an order, which the milkman brought, to the milkman each morning with fresh sweet milk. Nig, of course, would be there waiting to drink enough to fill his little "tummy" for the day. Then, too, Miranda, the hired girl, was to come to the backyard about twice a week and bring Nig a nice piece of meat.

And the scheme worked very nicely for a morning or two. Then the other homeless cats in the neighborhood got on to the fact that every morning a big bowl of milk was to be found in a certain backyard. Can't you just imagine one of those "stray" cats meeting another on top of a back fence and saying:

"Meow! What? You're hungry? Well, for goodness sake—meo-o-w—don't you know, there's a big bowl of milk over in the Smith's backyard every day with only that weak, insignificant Nig to guard it! Humph! Come on—we'll soon chase him away and drink it all up—meo-o-w-sus-sus!"

And they did, too, every day, until poor Nig was all covered with bites and scratches from trying to fight them off. And he grew lean and thin and scrawny. Why, bless you, those "strays" would even steal what was left of his meat on Wednesdays and Saturdays, after Miranda had gone back to her home!

Presently, the next door neighbors noticed Nig and took pity on him. They opened their home to him, fed him every morning and evening and allowed him to come into the house and go to sleep on their soft sofa cushions just as though he were in his own home. Moreover, they combed his fur and petted him.

But alas, Nig had learned bad habits from associating with the "strays" of the neighborhood. He had learned to steal! And, would you believe it, time and again he would steal things off the kitchen table of the family next-door when their cook turned her back. Presently, they caught him in the act—not once, but several times. Then, in self-defense, they turned him out of doors.

A FEW FACTS ABOUT TURKEYS.

Did you ever hear that the turkey came near being our official American bird, instead of the eagle? It is a fact, for no less a personage than Benjamin Franklin urged its adoption strongly at an assembly in Philadelphia. But others there preferred the eagle and voted for it.

Turkeys are great walkers. Indeed, they can march fifteen or more miles a day and, because walking is cheaper than transporting them by rail, they are often driven long distances to market. Right now, in many parts of the country, armies of thousands of them may be seen being driven along country roads.

The turkey is a very quarrelsome fellow. Very frequently they get into fights with each other and peck at one another's neck as viciously as possible. Once one contestant manages to get the advantage of the other he will keep pecking and pecking at him until he kills him.

THE WIND

I rattle your roof at night; I puff with my breath to smother, Your wee little candle light.

I blow on the clothes to dry them, And chase all the clouds away; I kiss small folks when I spy them Careless of what they say.

I shake the sign of the barber, And blow the dust in your eyes.

I sail the boats to the harbor, And keep your kites in the skies.

The mill, I turn with my power, I saw, saw, saw through the logs, I grind the corn and the flour, And scatter away the fogs.

So aren't you really ugly, To fust when I'm loud and bold, For while you are reading snugly— I'm way out here in the cold.

CANTEEN SCANDAL

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—A London cable to the Herald says: The army canteen scandal was again the subject of investigation by the Bow St. magistrate yesterday. The whole day was occupied in the examination of Edmund Stratton, hawker, who gave details of the way in which tips were dispensed to some of the accused persons, and those who took part in the alleged system of giving presents

Cheese Town Aggregation Presents Picked Team and Play Exhibition Game After Defaulting the Fixture—Tecomuses Were Outplayed in Goal-getting in Opening Half, but Came Back Strong in Final Period, Winning by 5 to 4 Score—Other Games.

LONDON, Jan. 31.—The Tecumseh hockey team, which has been the talk of the town since it was defeated by the Ingersoll team in the first game of the season, today proved that it was not a fluke. The full time score was 5 to 4, making it a straight win and a loss for the Indians. This is considered some little achievement by those who understand the hockey situation. Incidentally it must be mentioned that it was an exhibition game, as the Butter Fats could not collect a full team, and Bryson and Woodstock and Schumaker of this city, filled in to make the regulation team players. The scheduled game was defaulted before the demon athletes paraded, and the combat was put on for the edification of the boys. The combination put up quite an article at that, leading at half time 2 goals to zero. However, the Indians turned on a few notches of gasoline in the last spasm, and had something on the non-descripts. The score was London 5, Ingersoll 4.

HARRISTON, Jan. 31.—In the final game of the Junior O. H. A. group played here last night between Stratford and Harrison, the visitors were successful in securing a win by a 9 to 4 score. The game was fast from start to finish but the visitors proved too much for the home team. The attendance at the game was the largest at the rink this season.

Towards the end the play became very rough as is shown by the list of penalties. Farlow, Lesseher and Grammer started the visitors, while Black, Uksila and Skeely did the best work for the Detroit team.

TORONTO, Jan. 31.—Only the wonderful work of Cooke in goal for the Kingston Frontenas prevented St. Michaels from running their list of tallies into double figures last night at the Arena in their O. TORONTO, Jan. 31.—Capt. Henry Munn announced that he would leave for England next week to complete plans for his Arctic expedition, which is to be undertaken shortly for the purpose of establishing two trading posts for Arctic produce and for the investigation and development of the fishing industry and the exploration of the region, particularly Northern Baffin Land, for gold.

The expedition will be made under the auspices of the Arctic Gold Exploration Syndicate, the chairman of which is Lord Lascelles.

Unholz took the count of nine four times in the first round and once in the second, and was feeling helplessly round the ring, when after a minute and 35 seconds of fighting in the second round, his seconds tossed a towel into the ring.

OTTAWA HAS NOT SIGNED ANY MEN

"Shag" Busy Trying to Land Another Championship, He Forgets Baseball

OTTAWA, Jan. 31.—The Ottawas are the only club who have not yet succeeded in signing up some of their players. The only man they approached wanted such a huge bunch of change that he was passed up. Contracts have been sent out and Manager Frank Shaughnessy, who has been devoting all his time toward the capture of the Stanley cup is not worrying. He expects to be able to round out his team by March 1, and will not do much worrying in the meantime. The Federal League are said to have made overtures to one or two of the Ottawa men and may land them, but "Shag" has been offered a number of good men and may be depended on to turn out a winner when the time comes. He will find the sledding harder in the Canadian League this summer for the higher classification means better ball and faster teams. He has already had experience in class "B" as he won the Central League pennant with his Fort Wayne club two years ago. "Shag" thinks that class "B" ball will double the attendance throughout the Canadian League. Besides the dropping of the tank towns will also prove to have been a good move as Toronto and Erie will come out as much stronger drawing cards than were Berlin and Guelph.

DROWNED AT CHATHAM
CHATHAM, Jan. 31.—An unidentified man of about middle age was taken from the river late yesterday and up to a late hour all efforts to discover his identity have been futile. ORGANIZED BALL ROUNDS UP MEN

Some Sought by the Federals Turn Down the Out-Laws.

CHICAGO, Jan. 31.—Organized baseball had an innings yesterday in the contest with the "outlaw" Federal League, Jimmy Johnstone, who established a stolen base record on the Pacific coast last summer, was induced to sign a Cub contract, and Jacques Fournier and Russell Blackburn have agreed to accept the terms offered by the Chicago Americans. All three of the players were sought by the Federals it was reported.

A telegram from Chattanooga brought the news that Umpire Henry O'Day, acting as emissary for the Chicago Nationals, had induced Johnstone to sign up, and Manager Tinker of the Chicago Federals, said the agreement had been made just in time for the Cubs, because he expected to make an offer Johnstone could hardly refuse.

The local Federal League club has lined up the needed number of property owners to offset a petition circulated by others, asking that the city prevent the establishing of a baseball plant on the North Side site selected. This was announced by Charles Weegham, president of the club, who said that by this time next week 200 men would be at work on the new plant.

The Chicago Nationals, with Johnstone in the fold, have signed practically all their players except Al Bridwell, shortstop, who is still holding out. Manager Brown of the St. Louis Federals, recently made an offer to Bridwell, and the latter is wavering between his two chances, it is understood.

OTTAWA HAS NOT SIGNED ANY MEN

"Shag" Busy Trying to Land Another Championship, He Forgets Baseball

OTTAWA, Jan. 31.—The Ottawas are the only club who have not yet succeeded in signing up some of their players. The only man they approached wanted such a huge bunch of change that he was passed up. Contracts have been sent out and Manager Frank Shaughnessy, who has been devoting all his time toward the capture of the Stanley cup is not worrying. He expects to be able to round out his team by March 1, and will not do much worrying in the meantime. The Federal League are said to have made overtures to one or two of the Ottawa men and may land them, but "Shag" has been offered a number of good men and may be depended on to turn out a winner when the time comes. He will find the sledding harder in the Canadian League this summer for the higher classification means better ball and faster teams. He has already had experience in class "B" as he won the Central League pennant with his Fort Wayne club two years ago. "Shag" thinks that class "B" ball will double the attendance throughout the Canadian League. Besides the dropping of the tank towns will also prove to have been a good move as Toronto and Erie will come out as much stronger drawing cards than were Berlin and Guelph.

O'NEIL, SURE OF ERIE PARK, GETS BIG LEAGUER AS PILOT

London Owner of Erie Franchise Practically Closes Deal for Perry Field—Will Close To-day—Lands George H. Smith of Buffalo International League as Leader of Sailors for the 1914 Baseball Season.

ERIE, Pa., Jan. 31.—Arrangements have practically been completed between George H. O'Neil and the Erie Exhibition Company for the lease of Perry Field, and the matter will be definitely settled to-day. There is every reason to believe now that the Canadian League will play here and be accorded support from the fans.

George H. Smith, former big leaguer and manager of the Buffalo Internationals, has been secured by O'Neil as pilot of the Sailors, and as soon as the deal for the park is finally closed, Smith will be told to go ahead and get his players; contracts have been mailed to the members of the former Guelph team.

Smith is known as a heavy ball player, and he should be one of the best managers in the circuit. Youngstown would doubtless be an asset to the league, for it is a good ball town, but O'Neil doubts transfer of St. Thomas team.

Smith, the former manager and captain of the Buffalo team, leader of the second basemen of the Eastern League for as long as he continued play at the old second sack, has succumbed to the blandishments of the new owners of the Erie franchise in the Canadian League, and will be at the helm when the club takes the field for the 1914 season.

Smith retired from the game two years ago to engage in business in this city. He opened the Washington Aftens, the largest and most palatial bowling parlors in Buffalo, and has been remarkably successful ever since. He was offered the management of a state league team last year and the Federals were flirting with him all of this winter. The State League berth was not attractive, and the Federal proposition at that time looked too much of a myth for Smith to tamper with. His business was growing and demanded his time.

Collins are the officials who will report for duty in the spring.

A joke offer from the Federal League has resulted in the retirement of Harry Lumley, formerly big leaguer and last year with Serganton, New York State League. Otto Knabe, of Baltimore, offered him the "joke" salary and now he desires to follow commercial vocation.

The Birmingham Club, champions of the New York State League, have purchased Catcher Mike Konnick, from Vancouver, of the Northwestern League. Fans of Binghamton are joyous over his acquisition, as he is said to be one of the most thrifty receivers in the minors. Binghamton of the New York State League has purchased Second Baseman Cranston from the Troy Club of the same circuit. Cranston goes to the champions in exchange for Outfielder McChesney and a snug cash consideration.

John Duggan, a member of the Three-I League, has decided to quit baseball and follow a commercial vocation. A contract has been presented by the Bloomers, but Duggan declares he will not play base ball under any consideration. Paddy Lyons, a native of Springfield, O., who played with the Cleveland Naps in 1900 died at the City Hospital of Springfield from dropsy. Lyons was 55 years of age and played with the Springfield Club in 1889.

He recorded well during his extended career in base ball. Bill Curtin, a prominent character in base ball along the Coast, has quoted his intention of quitting the game. He plans to engage in the fruit rising industry in Santa Clara County. Curtin has been connected with the game for over 25 years in the role of manager or player.

GOSSIPY ITEMS ABOUT BIG LEAGUE PLAYERS

JUST DOPE.

B. B. Player Singing Union Federal Magnate.

If I but knew
Your words were true,
And time would never leave you broke;

Big Ed. Reulbach, of the Dodgers, who is a resident of New York, and is engaged in selling motor cars met Vice-President E. J. McKeever of the Brooklyn club, the other day. "When are you going to sign?" asked McKeever.

Just as soon as I can find time to visit Ebbs Field," was the reply. "Don't worry about me, I'm satisfied with Brooklyn and I'm going to pitch my best for Robbie this year."

Manager Robinson has great faith in Reulbach. He says the former club shut out the Giants with two hits last August and he declared at the time that Reulbach never displayed greater effectiveness. Robbie, by the way, is enthusiastic over his pitching staff with such men as Reulbach, Reagan and Rucker to take care of the heavy work.

Barney Dreyfus, of the Pirates, is proudly exhibiting Max Carey's signed contract. Carey had been claimed confidently by the Feds for several weeks, but when Dreyfus named a certain figure the crack outfielder capitulated. Dreyfus is playing a bold game with his star pitcher, Claude Hendrix. Two weeks ago he allowed Harry Smith, the Newark manager, and two other big fellows to stand on him. The mysterious one was with Brooklyn last year but, as soon as Wilbert Robinson took hold he was released to Newark.

Baseball fans in Baltimore are becoming impatient to learn the names of the major league stars who will represent that city in the Federal League. Manager Knabe hasn't mentioned a name or a player secured by him since he announced that he had landed Al Dora, Mike Mowrey, Kirkpatrick, Frank Smith and Guy Zinn. As Dolan, Mowrey and Kirkpatrick have signed with organized ball, Baltimore fans are trying vainly to make Knabe talk.

"We are glad to get back into major league baseball" said the mayor of Baltimore as he broke ground for Hanlon park last week. But Baltimore fans, while enthusiastic about the Federal cause in their own town, are inclined to cool down when they think of Buffalo, Toronto, Kansas City and Indianapolis.

The continued silence of Joseph B. Tinker, manager of the Chicago Federals, may seem ominous. Mr. Tinker isn't saying a word for publication these days. His closest say that he seldom smiles.

The New York Yankees have signed Frank Ruddy, a semi-professional player of New York. He is a catcher and is said to be a bright star.

Chance said in Glendora, Cal., that he didn't think he could succeed as the team's regular second baseman. In short, he tipped his hand in such a way that when Chance learned that he had hopped the hurdle he didn't shed a tear.

Fritz Maisel will play third base regularly. He showed enough class in that position last season to warrant his retention here. To shift Maisel to some other position to let Zeider play third base would be suicidal, in Chance's opinion, for Maisel is a natural third baseman and bids fair to be one of the greatest of ball players. When Zeider was with the White Sox in 1912 he could not win a regular infield position. Rath beat him out of second base. Weaver pushed him out of short field and Harry Lord was the principal reason why Comiskey and Eshelman unloading Zeider on the New Yorks. Friends of the player who discussed his flop yesterday said that he probably feared that he couldn't make good at second base on Chance's team and when he found that he couldn't displace Maisel he decided to go to the new recruit.

Dodgers, the defection of Zeider would not hurt the New Yorks to any great extent. He stated that in all probability Boone, the Texas league infielder, would play second base during the training season at Houston.

Just as R. T. Carroll, one of the promoters of the Buffalo Feds, announced that he had subscribed for 3,000 shares of stock in the club, the par value being $10, word came from Chicago that he had been removed from the Federal league's board of directors to make room for W. A. Mullen Carroll's partner, who had subscribed for a comparatively small number of shares. Carroll still has the Toronto franchise and proxy in his inside pocket.

In spite of the fact that Evangelist Billy Sunday recently advised the Newark pitcher, Mysterious Walker, to stick to organized baseball, the latter is said to be wavering. Walker lives in Pittsburgh and has been talking with the Feds for some time. It is said that they have offered to pay him a big salary to leave the Newark and sign with one of the so-called outlaw clubs. Walker, by the way, is a Sandow. The other day allowed Harry Smith, the Newark's manager, and two other big fellows, to stand on him. The mysterious one was with Brooklyn last year but as soon as Wilbert R. W. S. FIELDING QUIT EDITING HERALD PAPER

Reasons Why Ex-Minister of Finance Makes His Withdrawal.

(By Special Wire to The Courier.)

MONTREAL, Jan. 30.—Hon. W. S. Fielding, late Finance Minister, having announced that he is no longer connected with the Montreal Daily Telegraph, and that he had refused the office of president of the Montreal Herald and Daily Telegraph, which latter newspaper merger he contends is controlled by Sir Hugh Graham, proprietor of the Montreal Daily Star, its only rival in the evening field here, when asked for a statement in regard to this assertion this morning, Sir Hugh replied:

"The Hon. W. S. Fielding, in severing his journalistic connection in Montreal, has given out an interview, to which perhaps some further particulars might be added without impairing the public interest in the matter."

"Over a year ago I was asked by some friends to value the Montreal Witness. This led to my being asked to negotiate for its purchase, and later, to my taking a comparatively small financial interest therein."

"Following this transaction, some months later I was asked to value the Montreal Herald; my report led to my being asked to negotiate for its purchase, with a view to its amalgamation with the Telegraph and Witness, and when the arrangement was found feasible, I became similarly interested in it, to a comparatively small extent. I was instrumental in purchasing the then proprietor's interest, and have handed it over to the Montreal Trust Company, which, when the organization is complete, will transfer it to the individual owners or their representatives. As far as I know, Mr. Fielding was given a perfectly free hand, untrammelled to the slightest extent, and I have no doubt he would have been likewise free in the greater concern as amalgamated."

"Now as to the very natural question so often asked, why I am interested in other papers besides the Star."

"Eleven years ago, the certainty that a grave pulp and paper famine would eventually overtake Canada and the United States, was realized by several newspaper proprietors. They say clearly that the wasteful destruction of pulp forests by man and fire, unbalanced by reforestation, must whittle away our visible supply toward an early vanishing point."

"At that time the president of The Toronto Globe, the proprietor of The Hamilton Spectator and the publisher of the Montreal Star, held a conference at Toronto, and, agreeing as to the menacing outlook, took steps to inquire into the feasibility of establishing a paper mill on the Nipigon river and engage Thomas Pringle and Son, engineers of Montreal to report upon it. The report was unfavorable."

"By forestry, milling and newspaper experts, I was then advised to become interested in a sufficient number of newspapers to secure an agree-

High Honor For Capt. Evans

President of France Confers Legion of Honor on Britisher.

PARIS, Jan. 31.—The French Geographical Society welcomed Commander Evans, Capt Scott's aide, this evening at the Sorbonne.

President Poincare was present. Extraordinary scenes were witnessed in the vast amphitheatre, where about 5,000 persons gathered to hear the story of the Scott expedition. At least 2,000 of the public including many ticket holders sat out of the building owing to lack of room, were totally unable to gain admittance, but men and women continued to struggle and fight with the police in attempts to get inside.

Commander Evans's recital touched everybody by its simplicity and pathos. Deepening applause marked the close of his lecture, which was delivered in French, on the famous and tragic antarctic expedition.

M. Monis, the Minister of Marine, eulogized the bravery and self-sacrifice displayed by the members of the Scott expedition and pointed out that Commander Evans who played a not inconsiderable part in their glorious exploit, had very modestly left his own share in the work of the expedition almost unnoticed. In eloquent words the Minister spoke of the death of the gallant Scott and no less gallant Oates, said that as long as the world lasted and while men were touched by the heroic and the sublime their glory would never fade.

To honor Commander Evans, who was well worthy of the proudest English traditions, the French Government, said M. Monis, had decided to confer upon him the Cross of the Legion of Honor. In doing this, he felt the Government was but echoing the wish of every French heart, however humble.

Commander Evans was then presented to the Minister, and at M. Monis's request President Poincare, amid tumultuous applause pinned the insignia of an Officer of the Legion of Honor upon Commander Evans's breast. At the same time the President said: "I am proud to shake hands with so brave a man."

KEPHALDOL THE HEBERT CASE

APPEAL IS BEING HEARD

And the Parties Are Technically Remarried by Decision of the Court.

MONTREAL, Jan. 30.—Judgment in the Hebert marriage annulment case, setting aside an unnecessary divorce of Judge Charbonneau, was delivered by the review of appeal court of the province of Quebec here today composed of Justices Tardif, Delorme and Gauthier. The Heberts are thus legally married once more.

The Hebert suit has been now before the courts in one form or another for nearly four years and has been rendered important because through it is challenged the validity of the provisions of Roman Catholic law which require that Catholics not married by a priest are considered to be living in adultery. The particular church law in this case—the ne temere decree—was invoked by the plaintiff, Eugene Hebert, to secure from Mgr. Paul Bruchet, Archbishop of Montreal on November 12, 1909, an ecclesiastical annulment of his marriage to Emma Chouiret in 1908, because it was performed by a Methodist minister, the contracting parties being Roman Catholics. The ecclesiastical nullification was given civil effect by Judge Laurendeau on November 23, 1911. The decision caused immense excitement among Protestants in Canada and when Mrs. Hebert appealed against the divorce, the proceedings which took place before Judge Charbonneau were followed with the closest attention not only in the Dominion, but throughout the world.

Colonel John Stewart, C. I. E., of Ardross, near Lochearnhead, has died in his eighty-second year. He was recognized chief of the Clan Stewart, joining the Royal Artillery, he saw service in the Indian Mutiny. Colonel Stewart was a typical Highland Chief, and always wore the garb of his Gaul.

London Man's Quick Action Saved Him From Loss.

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

LONDON, Ont., Jan. 31.—Mr. Hinky Beattie, son of Major Beattie, M. P. for London was the victim of an attempted hold-up at 1.30 this morning near the corner of Horton and Richmond Sts. Young Beattie had spent the evening with a friend and was on the way home when a masked man suddenly stepped in front of him from a dark corner and pointed a revolver demanding his money. Beattie dropped to the ground, calling for help as he did so, his cries were heard by Constable McRae on his beat about a block away. At McRae's approach the highwayman took to his heels and made his escape, although McRae followed for some time, bringing several shots in the air in an effort to make him halt. Beattie was carrying a large sum of money at the time, but his quick action saved it. The detectives are investigating the case.

The present judgment given on the petition of the husband defines that Hebert has dropped out of the case. Judge Charbonneau's decision was unnecessary and that the desistment automatically quashed Laurentian finding. The parties are thus left civilly in exactly the same position as they were before the case came before Judge Laurentian and after the Catholic Church had pronounced their marriage as null and void.

Mrs. Hebert is not satisfied with the judgment as she would like a clear decision on her marriage and not a technical remarriage as she got today.

The review court's judgment does not pass on the vital question as to whether Protestant ministers are legally marry Catholics in Quebec at all.

CHARLESTON, Va., Jan. 30.—The plant of the Morgan Manufacturing Company, makers of desks and furniture, was destroyed by fire which broke out late last night. Twelve cottages near the plant were burned, also a great quantity of lumber was destroyed. The Morgan Company's loss is estimated at $200,000, half of which is covered by insurance.

OWE MY LIFE TO "FRUIT-A-TIVES"

They Did Me More Good Than All Other Treatments Combined

Mrs. N. S. WILLIAMS
 PALMERSTON, ONT., June 20th, 1913
 "I really believe that I owe my life to 'Fruit-a-tives'. Ever since childhood, I have been under the care of physicians and have been paying doctors' bills. I was so sick and worn out that people on the street often asked me if I thought I could get along without help. The same old stomach trouble and distressing headaches nearly drove me wild. Some time ago I got a box of 'Fruit-a-tives' and the first box did me good. My husband was delighted and advised a continuation of their use. 'Fruit-a-tives' completely cured me. Today, I am feeling fine, and a physician meeting me on the street, noticed my improved appearance and asked me the reason. I replied, 'I am taking 'Fruit-a-tives' and the first box did me good. 'Fruit-a-tives' are making you look so well, go ahead and take them. They are doing more for you than I can'." Mrs. N. S. WILLIAMS.

AGONY ON OPERATING TABLE

Did Not Remove Stone In Bladder. GIN PILLS Passed it.

JOLIETTE, P. Q. CANADA.
 "During August last, I went to Montreal to consult a specialist as I had been suffering terribly with Stone in The Bladder. He decided on an operation and was assisted by another doctor. They said the calculus was larger than a bean and too hard to crush and they could not take it out.
 I returned home suffering greatly and did not know what to do but was recommended by a friend to try GIN PILLS. I bought a box and found relief from the pain at once. I took a second and third box of GIN PILLS after which I went back to the specialist. He told me the calculus was reduced in size, still he could not relieve me of it although he tried for two and a half hours.
 I returned home again and continued to take GIN PILLS as they reduced the pain very much, but I did not expect that they would relieve me of the stone but to my great joy, I passed the stone on October 2nd, and am now a well man and very happy.
 I am sending the stone in to you so that you can see for yourself what a great work GIN PILLS did for me. GIN PILLS are the best medicine in the world and because they did so much for me, I will recommend them all the rest of my life."
J. ALBERT LESSARD.

What glorious news to those who are almost going insane from the pain of Stone in The Bladder! Here is ease and comfort! Here is relief! Here is a certain means of getting rid of the stone without being cut to pieces by the knives of a surgeon. GIN PILLS dissolve Stone or Gravel in Kidneys or Bladder because GIN PILLS are the greatest solvent for uric acid the world has ever known.
 If your trouble is like Mr. Lessard's, follow his example and take GIN PILLS. Money refunded if they fail to give relief. At all dealers, 50c a box—6 for $2.50. Sample free if you write us, mentioning this paper.

A SUNDAY SERMON BY PASTOR RUSSELL.

Formally Opened in Cleveland by Pastor Russell.

GOD'S KINGDOM IS PICTURED
 Messiah Was to Be of David's Lineage—Typical Kingdoms Overturned—606 B. C.—One Long Line of World Empires—The Times of the Gentiles—Israel's Seven Times of Chastisement—The Two Periods Synchronous About to Expire—Now—The Fifth Universal Empire—Jerusalem and Messiah.

Cleveland, O., Jan. 23.—Pastor Russell yesterday afternoon in the I.B.S.A. Temple, corner of Prospect and Second streets, personally conducted the opening exhibition in this city of the Photo-Drama of Creation. This Drama is acknowledged by art critics to be far the finest production of moving pictures and slides ever presented, and is to be shown free to the public in all cities here and throughout the world, under the auspices of the International Bible Students Association, of which Pastor Russell is President.

In New York City, in his new $500,000 Temple, two weeks ago, Pastor Russell presented the Drama for the first time to houses crowded from pit to dome. Last Sunday in the famous Music Hall in Cincinnati he personally conducted the opening of the Photo-Drama of Creation there.

The Photo-Drama of Creation is produced in conjunction with remarkably clear photographic discourses, which have behind them the forty years of Bible study by New York's famous Pastor. By some process never before attained the photographs used in this production have been relieved of the metallic sound, altogether thus producing the very finest oratorical effects. It is the wonder to-day of talking-machine dealers in the United States. The voice is resonant, clear, full and restful, and audiences rarely detect it as the voice of the talking machine.

The exhibition is in three parts: Part I traces the creation of the earth and of man, its king—then his fall into sin and his death punishment in the first promise of complete deliverance from the penalty, and the Deluge and its causes on to Moses' time.

Part II points us through the types to Messiah, the great Emancipator of the death-stricken race, and the world-wide blessings His soon-to-be-established Kingdom will bring. It introduces us to the Heavenly Legion, who became the man Christ Jesus. It also shows and explains His sacrificial work and His unwavering faithfulness in fulfilling the prophecies concerning Himself, and how His miracles picture the restoration of mankind during His Second presence and reign.

Part III traces not only the sufferings of Christ, the Head, but also those of the Church, His Body, preparatory to their exaltation in the subsequent glorious work of blessing the non-elect for a thousand years—"whoever will."
 Pastor Russell yesterday forenoon discussed these features of the Production of the Photo-Drama that relates to the overthrow of Israel's typical kingdom and the foretold re-establishment of it at the end of them (the "seven" (symbolic) times) of chastisement at the hands of Him whose right it is.
 His text and discourse follow: "Romans the discipline of the law of the crown: this shall not be the same. * * * I will overturn, overturn, overturn it—until He come whose right it is, and He shall set it up into Him." (Ezekiel 21:26, 27.) He said:

God established the Jewish nation as His representative kingdom, or kingdom in the world, with the understanding that in some manner and at some time that nation would be the channel of Divine blessing to all the families of the earth, in harmony with the original Oath-blessing Promise made to Abraham: "After a precarious existence of nearly six centuries the star of Jewish Empire set, and has not risen since."
 The particular date at which the typical Kingdom passed away is clearly marked in the Scriptures. The solidity of the Empire in the hands of King David, and his son, King Solomon, was lost in its division in the days of King Solomon's successor. Nevertheless, in harmony with the Divine prediction, the royal line continued in the tribe of Judah; as it is written, "The sceptre shall not depart from Judah, nor a lawgiver from between his feet, until Shiloh come."—Genesis 49:10.

The Lord's covenant with King David was that One from his seed should be the great King over the more glorious kingdom of God, when it should be established. In other words, Messiah would be of David's lineage. The royal family of David's line centuries after King Solomon's death until Zedekiah, the last king of Judah. Of him the Divine declaration was, "And thou, profane and wicked prince of Israel, whose day is come when iniquity shall have an end, Thus saith the Lord God, Remove the diadem, and take off the crown; this shall not be the same. * * * I will overturn, overturn, overturn it; and it shall be no more, until He come whose right it is; and I will give it into His hand."
 That statement was made just prior to Israel's capture by the Babylonians. And the crown and scepter have been overturned ever since, and will continue so to be until Messiah Himself, at His Second Advent, shall be crowned as the anti-typical Son of David. No king of David's line has been in power for even a moment since the overthrow of King Zedekiah. Thus Israel has the Maccabean kings under Gentile suzerainty, and later they had the House of Herod. But neither of these lines was of the House of David; indeed, neither was Jewish at all. King Zedekiah lost his crown in 606 B. C., and surely the kingdom has been overturned, "because the fore-ordained time has not yet come," although it is near.

 Winnipeg Telegram: The coming of the Canadian Parcel Post will open the way for a new line of manufactures. If the new convenience is to accomplish all it is designed to do, it will greatly stimulate the direct interchange of products between the farm and the city. But until something further is done, the advantage will be in favor of the city. The merchant has now ready to hand, parcelling and wrapping facilities. They are a part of his business. Not so the farmer. He lacks these conveniences and facilities. Here then is an opportunity for some enterprising manufacturer. Something in the way of a corrugated paper "knock-about" box that the farmer could fold conveniently and easily into shape, so as to pack produce of the farm for shipment to the city—holder direct, should be welcomed by the farmer. The city will want eggs and butter, fowl and garden truck from the farm. To win favor they should be neatly and securely packed. On the security and neatness of the package will depend much of the success of the enterprise. Here then is an opportunity for some wide-awake man with an inventive turn to do a public service, and incidentally win a fortune.
