WILD RIOTING IN TOKIO'S STREETS.

Marquis Ito Stoned—Cabinet Minister's Home Burned—Attacks On Premier and Others—Situation Serious.

TOKIO, Sept. 6.—It continues quiet here but trouble is feared tonight. TOKIO, Sept. 6.—(Delayed in transmission) E. H. Harriman, president of the Southern Pacific Railroad, has been stoned by mobs. Neither of them was injured. NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—At the Southern Pacific offices it was said that no word had been received from Mr. Harriman from Tokio. His associates were of the opinion that the hostile demonstration was not personal. Harriman's visit to Japan it was declared was entirely for recreation and pleasure. TOKIO, Sept. 5.—(Tuesday, 7 p. m.) Serious riots followed the attacks today on the office of the Kōhūmū Shimūn, the government organ. A mob attacked and burned the official residence of the minister of home affairs, which stood between the nobles' club and the Imperial hotel and fired Hibuya Park, which was the storm centre throughout the day. Threatening demonstrations occurred in the neighborhood of the official homes of Premier Katsura and Baron Komura (the foreign minister, now in the United States), but the police succeeded in preventing injury to the occupants of damage to the houses. The situation tonight is threatening. Turbulent crowds fill the streets and it is feared much damage to property is possible, under cover of the darkness. All the police reserves are performing urgent duty and heavily guarding dangerous points. The destruction of the home minister's residence was intensely dramatic. Throughout the day a series of demonstrations occurred in the neighborhood of the building and late in the afternoon the mob attacked the house, swept the police away and battered down the gates. The police and servants resisted strongly but the men surged forward and entered the house. ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 6.—An imperial order was issued today dismissing Rear Admiral Negobogoff and the captain of the battleship Niokolai I (now the Iki) and the cruisers Admiral Senavin (now the Minoshima) and General Admiral Apraxin (now the Okhotskima), which were surrendered to the Japanese in the battle of the Sea of Japan. The emperor has ordered all other officers who surrendered their vessels to be tried on their return to Russia.

MOROCCO WAR HAS BEEN AVERTED

Sultan Submits Peacefully to French Demands.

Tenders Full Apology and Makes Financial Reparation for the Injustice Done to French Subject.

PARIS, Sept. 7.—A despatch to the foreign office from M. Strene Fallandier, minister for Morocco, announces that the Moroccan government has yielded to the French demands and given complete satisfaction in the matter of the arrest of the Algerian-French citizen, Bouzain. To foreign office was gratified this morning to receive the despatch from the French minister at Fez announcing that the Sultan had yielded all points demanded in the French ultimatum. The despatch says that Sept. 4, the day preceding the expiration of the ultimatum, the Grand Vizier, accompanied by a retinue went to the French legation, where he was received by the minister and his staff, and the leading European officials. The Grand Vizier then publicly presented a formal apology for the arrest of the French Algerian citizen Bouzain and handed the preparation for the departure of the legation preliminary to the enforcement of France's demands were suspended. The foreign office here says the reparation is complete on all points and that the incident is closed, thus terminating the anticipated resort to military demonstrations.

NO NEW WHARF FOR THIS YEAR'S WINTER PORT TRADE

Mayor Says It's Too Late To Begin Now—Dredging Contract Probably Goes to Gershon S. Mayes.

A despatch to the Telegraph from Ottawa says that G. S. Mayes, of this city, has been awarded the contract for dredging St. John harbor. The despatch further says: "There were two tenders. Mr. Hyman, minister of public works, recommended the acceptance of Mr. Mayes' tender and he has got the work. "The price is fixed at so much per yard. A vote of $100,000 was passed last session to make a beginning. It will take about $400,000 to do all that is necessary. An additional vote will no doubt be asked next session. "Mr. Mayes is out of town, so it was impossible to find out just what his plans are if he has secured the contract, which in the opinion of the mayor and aldermen is not yet affirmed, although they would be well pleased to see Mr. Mayes get the job. "The mayor said this morning that as he understood the matter Mr. Mayes' tender was the lowest, and that Hon. Mr. Hyman would probably recommend its acceptance, but that the cabinet had not as yet approved of it. His worship said that in his opinion sufficient dredging could not be done this fall to permit of the building of wharves and warehouses that would be available for use this winter, but that it was not the fault of the council that this was the case. They had rushed matters to the best of their ability and what delay there had been in calling for tenders was not on this side of the string. "Now that it was almost certain that the wharf could not be built this fall, the city would have a better chance to buy the lumber needed than if there was a chance to go ahead with the work at once as tenders could be called for the birch, etc., needed and the timber could be got out this winter. If it had been necessary to purchase birch this fall, as far as he knew, there was but one firm able to supply what was needed. He very much regretted the delay but was satisfied the aldermen had done all they could to rush matters.

POWERS NOTIFIED OF ANGLO-JAP TREATY.

LONDON, Sept. 7.—The substance of the new Anglo-Japanese treaty has been communicated by the British foreign office to the state department at Washington, through the ambassador of Great Britain, Sir Mortimer Durand. The other powers concerned have been similarly notified. The British representatives at the different capitals. No details of the contents of the treaty have yet been given out here.

CRIMINAL CASE IN CIRCUIT COURT.

Circuit court was continued this morning before his honor Judge Lamont. The case of Clarke vs. Green came up this morning and was postponed to allow the hearing in the criminal case of the King vs. Moore. One witness only, A. A. Clarke, has been examined in the civil case. A number of the jurors were found to be absent this morning and his honor pointed out that only one had given the builder's certificate. His honor said that now, much against his own wish, he must now have an excuse from every absent juror before the court finishes its business or exact the full penalty of the law. He said that the sheriff had shown him the list of the electors and he was surprised at the small number of electors who are eligible for this business. If any one makes a reasonable excuse to the sheriff he will let him off. He sympathized with the business men who had to leave their work but no other course was open to him. Frederick Isaacs was examined by Hon. W. P. Jones and cross-examined by Daniel Mullin, K. C. His evidence was very similar to that given in the police court. He described how the attack was made on him and how he was robbed of the $36. The case was continued this afternoon.

LUDLOW HANDED OVER TO THE CITY TODAY.

The city has taken over the new ferry steamer Ludlow, and the captain and crew that is to man her are having their first spin with the new boat on the harbor this afternoon. A couple of the builder's experts are on board, but the boat is being run entirely by the city crew. Tonight the Ludlow will be up for the first time at West St. John, berth No. 4 at Sand Point, being her lodging house. She will go on the run as soon as the floats are in shape, which will be in a short time.

W. C. T. U. OFFICERS.

Mrs. Dr. Gray, of Fairville, Elected President—Interesting Reports Read From Various Departments.

This morning's session of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union opened with a devotion service presided over by Mrs. McLeod, Newcastle, at 9 a. m. The reports of the superintendents were then read. Mrs. Cotter read a report on the work among the militia. A report on systematic giving was read by Mrs. Charlotte M. Lawson and on the Dominion World's Mission by Mrs. G. Adams. The following contributions to the mission have been received: Cambridge $10.00, Woodstock, $3.00, Fredericton $1.00, Lower Millstream $1.00, St. John, West $1.35, St. John, North $1.00, Chatham $1.00, Richibucto $2.05, Dalhousie $2.20, Moncton $1.10, St. Martins $1.00, Sackville $1.50, St. John $3.00. The election of officers resulted as follows: President, Mrs. Dr. Gray, Fairville. Vice-President, Mrs. McLeod, Newcastle. Corresponding Secretary, Miss Nellie Asker, Campbellton. Recording Secretary, Mrs. Herbert McDonald, Chatham. Treasurer, Mrs. Carrie Robinson, Fredericton. Auditor, Mrs. Gillman, Fredericton. Recording Financial Secretary, Mrs. Miles, St. John. The new officers were introduced and very kindly greeted. The hymn "Blessed be the tie that binds," was sung. A vote of thanks was extended to Mrs. C. A. Lindow of St. Stephen, retiring president, who has filled that office in such a satisfactory manner the last few years.

SAYS HE WAS ROBBED

A Norwegian, hailing from Shediac, who gave his name as Harry Hansen, lodged and there, he says, he had a glass of whiskey and afterwards went to bed. Before coming to the hotel he says he had two drinks of porter and the mixed drinks did not seem to agree with him as the next thing he remembered was dressing himself on a doorstep out in the rain with the clothes which the hotel attendants brought out to him. Then when he examined his pocketbook he found it empty. He is sure, he says, that he did not spend the money. Hansen says that he is now stranded and without a single cent. He is thinking of going out to the waterworks extension. The police do not put any faith in his story.

20 KILLED AND 50 INJURED IN COLLISION.

NEWCASTLE, Pa., Sept. 7.—A Western Express train on the Erie and Pennsylvania railroads at Wilmington Junction, 19 miles north of here, is reported. A number of passengers are said to have been killed and many are also reported injured, some seriously. All the physicians obtainable in this city have left on a special train for the scene. It is said at least a score of passengers were killed and 50 or more injured. PITTSBURG, Sept. 7.—A fast passenger train westbound, on the Pennsylvania R. R. ran into a party of five workmen at Homestead station, near here, early today. Two men were killed outright and the three others seriously injured, one fatally.

STEAMER SENLAC NEARLY WRECKED.

The steamer Senlac that has been giving such satisfactory service on what is known as the South Shore route, that runs from St. John, N. B., touching at Yarmouth and ports on the South shore of Nova Scotia, was nearly wrecked yesterday afternoon from being seriously damaged. As it is the Senlac will go in the machine dock at Yarmouth on the 27th and undergo a thorough inspection and receive what repairs are needed. The accident to the Senlac occurred yesterday afternoon when the steamer was on her way to this port. There was a thick fog at the time and when near the end of Petite Passage she rubbed against a ledge with the result that those on board felt a severe shock. The officers assured those on board that there was no danger and all took matters quietly although the steamer had a close call. When she rubbed the ledge there was 45 feet of water on the South Shore route (the Senlac came on to this port reaching here this morning in good time. So far as the captain and owners know the only damage done was the loss of about fifteen feet of the steamer's bilge keel. The Senlac will continue on the South Shore route till the 27th, when she will be laid up at Yarmouth. During the time she is undergoing repairs the steamer Bridgewater will be on the route. The death occurred this morning in the Provincial Lunatic Asylum of Emily Martin. Deceased, who was 55 years of age, was a resident of Fredericton before going to the asylum. Her remains will be taken to Fredericton for interment on this evening's train.

TWO CHILDREN CREMATED IN MONTREAL SUBURB.

(Special to the Star.) MONTREAL, Que., Sept. 7.—Two children were cremated in a fire which broke out early this morning in a block of cheaply constructed tenements at Cote, St. Paul, a suburb of Montreal. The place has no fire brigade and until assistance arrived the flames were unopposed. The occupants of the tenement became panic stricken and in their hurried exit the two children who were seven and four years old were forgotten. Football is the next sport on the calendar. The Wanderers have already begun practice and are said to have a very strong fifteen. Dalhousie practice will start in about two weeks. Dalhousie will probably be without Dickie and Hoch, two of last year's stars, but will have a strong team. The loss of the Navy team will detract from the interest. The Army may have an average team.—Halifax Herald.

ST. JOHN, N. B., SEPT. 7, 1905.

LIBERALISM AND LAURIERISM.

The Toronto Globe announces that the chief need of the Liberal party of the Dominion at this moment is "a general revival of intelligent interest in the principles and purposes of Liberalism."

Is this to be taken as a signal for a revolt against the Laurier government? For certainly nothing would more speedily effect that government's overthrow than such a revival.

The poles are not so far apart as are the principles and purposes of the Canadian Liberalism of George Brown and McKenzie and Blake and the principles and purposes of the present government.

The Laurier government has only one principle—that power is profitable—and only one purpose—to put that principle into practice. Opportunism is its guiding star and the machine its pilot.

There are no more bitter opponents of the Laurier government than the old line Liberals who cherish the memory of the old principles and purposes, and to whom the conscientious divergence of the government from those has brought shame and disgust.

The platform of the Liberal party—supposed to represent Liberal principles and purposes—as proclaimed in 1883 contained such planks as "Free Trade," "Reduced Taxation," "Rectitude," "Purity of Administration," "Sincere Economy," "Decreased Expenditure," "Independence of Parliament," "No Gerrymanders," and "Senate Reform."

Think for a while upon the record of the present government; with respect to this platform and upon the probable effect of a revival of intelligent interest among Liberals in the principles and purposes underlying it.

THE RIOTS IN JAPAN.

A mob assembled in Tokio when the news of peace arrived and denounced the government for not continuing the war, made a violent attack on the office of a government newspaper and were only prevented from more riotous conduct by the firmness of the police.

The natural inference would seem to be that Japan is indignant, almost to the revolting point, because the Emperor has decided not to continue the war for a cash price.

But it should be remembered that people in any city or country who peeped the streets and shout and break windows are not, as a rule, representative. It is very unlikely that any in that Tokio mob have borne any of the burden, or faced any of the dangers or witnessed any of the horrors of the war. It is unlikely that many who thus blatantly demanded more bloodshed would have offered their own blood for the shedding had hostilities been continued.

It should also be remembered that when the rioting occurred the terms of the peace treaty had not been given out. Probably all that was public in Tokio was a vague knowledge that peace had been concluded and that the terms were much more favorable than those first offered to Russia. At the close of their war with China the Japanese were defrauded of their just winnings, and such a rumor coupled with this bitter memory could not but arouse resentment.

But when the text of the treaty is published, while many may be disappointed, it is certain that there will be no violent discontent at least among the more thoughtful people or those who have learned through hard experience what war costs. While Japan has not got all she demanded she has more than she went to war for. She has won a great place among the nations and free space to grow still greater. She has humbled the pride of her most formidable foe, has wrested from him important territory, has quashed his ambitions and stepped into his shoes as the dominant power in the Orient. Also she has the admiration and approval of the world, which would have been just had the war been prosecuted solely to enforce the tribute. Altogether these things are a fair return for the lives and treasure she has spent, as the bulk of the people, and all of the saner sort, will undoubtedly come to see when the facts are fully known.

A sample of the mean tactics which envy of the Star's success inspires in some of its competitors will be found on another page of this issue. Considering the proven unfairness of this latest attack we would expect an apology from a decent journal.

As he wanders these fine days on the banks of the Saskatchewan, Sir Wilfrid Laurier must often think of the market he would have abandoned had he been a denizen of that region twenty years ago. He perhaps reflects that if he had actually enlisted his flintlock in that rebellion he would not now be in a position to cooer the West that he is then troubling.

IT DID ME GOOD. Yesterday I went to church in a calm and prayerful mood; heard the same old story, and I know it did me good.

The choir was pretty rocky—was a rather noisy brood. Because it did me good.

"Nearer my God to Thee" is hard to sing with singing crude; "All people that on earth do dwell" Has always done me good.

"For why? The Lord Our God is Good!" My very soul imbued; He called her "Mary Magdalen-aw!" But still it did me good.

The well-dressed preacher was an—hawl— Ecclesiastic dude; He called her "Mary Magdalen-aw!" But still it did me good.

His voice was like a good tin watch. Or cuckoo clock wood; He of the scriptures made a botch. But still it did me good.

He cackled through a sermon that Nobody understood. He counted out his little theme, And yet it did me good.

The only story ever told That monthbook or dude Or blatherskite can never spoil— And that's what did me good.

—The Khan.

PROBABLY FALSE SUICIDE.

Mystery of the Woman's Clothes Found on Bay Shore Beach is Still Unsolved—A Theory.

The mystery attending the discovery of the bundle of feminine clothes found on the Bay Shore beach is still unsolved.

The impression which those who investigated the matter gathered was that the whole affair was a fake suicide. The clothing found yesterday consisted of a black skirt, white undershirt, a pair of No. 2 button shoes and a pair of white stockings and drawers.

There was in addition a black pocket-book, containing a handkerchief with out any initials and a note envelope with this address, "Mrs. Chas. Prime, postmark of Chicago, Illinois, and within this note:

"Mother—Remember that address is Mrs. Mary E. Forbes, Patterson Settlement, Sunbury Co., N. B., and that the station at which you get off is Hoyt Station, and hoping you will soon come. Yours, truly,

"SEPPIE."

Four men, McGinnis, McGill, John Kane and Williams, saw a woman man near the spot on the previous afternoon. They say that they saw a woman dressed in a long light-colored coat and carrying a bundle, afterwards suspected to be clothes, go down near the beach. Later Williams saw her ascend the hill behind the shed leading to Port Dufferin. It was presumed that she had returned to her home and drowned herself. To refute this story, no traces were found of bare feet and no foot marks back again to the water.

The name on the letter leads to the suspicion that the woman was Miss Ethel Prime, formerly waitress at the Alexandra Hotel. This woman, however, is married and lives with her husband in Montreal. One reason for suspicion also was the fact that she had been a great friend of Mrs. E. M. Prime.

Miss Prime, however, had a brother who was married about three years ago. His wife some three years ago is thought to have left a young child on Metcalf street, the affair causing a great stir at the time. It was eventually traced to this woman, who had brought it in a basket from Boston, soon after she married Chas. Prime. Her first name was Emma.

The police were still at the case this morning, but nothing further has developed. Chief Clarke has written to Presept, N. B., making enquiries about Mrs. Charles Prime.

$20,000,000 MISSING WILL FOUND.

LOS ANGELES, Calif., Sept. 7.—The will of Frederick P. Ringo was found yesterday among his private papers at his home. It leaves the entire estate valued at $20,000,000 to his widow and three children and appoints Mrs. Ringo as executrix without bonds. The testament which is short, was written on an ordinary sheet of note paper by Ringo himself.

LOCAL NEWS.

The Boston train was one hour and forty minutes late in arriving at the depot last night, and the Halifax express was one hour and twenty minutes late in leaving, on account of two accidents to the engine attached to the Fredericton branch train.

It is stated that Policeman Bowes was yesterday suspended by Chief Clark for ten days, as the result of the occurrence on the Marsh road a week ago.

Wiley Manning, formerly of this city, who consented to be a candidate for the vacant seat in the Amherst town council, has withdrawn in consequence of a legal disqualification. He has not lived in Amherst long enough to qualify, as the law requires a councillor to have been a ratepayer for one year previous to the date of nomination. W. A. Lowerson was elected by acclamation.

The Ancient Order of Hibernians will run an excursion to Moncton on Monday next. Train leaves at 2 p. m. Tickets can be had from members at the depot.

A TWO-FOR-ONE-SHOT.

When you use Ozone use "Celery King" with it. Whatever kind of Ozone you buy you will need to use "Celery King" which is a coupon remedy to Ozone.

The purest form of Ozone is "Solution of Ozone (the coupon kind)." Each bottle contains about twice as much for your money as other brands, besides which each bottle contains a coupon entitling you to a package of "Celery King" free. This is a great advantage as you save money on the Ozone and also get the "Celery King" free which you would otherwise have to buy.

No other brand of Ozone contains these coupons. "Solution of Ozone (the coupon kind)" is fifty cents and one dollar at your drug store, including the coupon for the package of "Celery King." Take no other and if your druggist does not carry it write to the Public Drug Co., Bridgeburg, Ont.

NELSON WON'T FIGHT IF JEFFRIES IS REFEREE.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 7.—I have never objected to Jeffries on the score of dishonesty, but on account of the change in the betting. I thought that there might be collusion between Jeffries and Britts.

Such is the statement made by Billy Nolan, manager of "Battling" Nelson. Nolan prefaced this remark with the statement that he was firm in his refusal to allow Nelson to go in the ring next Saturday if the heavy-weight champion is to be the referee, and added that Nelson would abide by any decision that his manager might make.

Nolan added: "When Jeffries did not come here, but instead sent a telegram to the club demanding $100 for his services, I considered that we were entitled to another man, particularly as the referee had been changed after Jeffries was named. Then when Britts' brother sent a telegram to Jeffries, signing Billy Deane's name to it, and Britts received the answer to Delancy accepting $1,000, it strengthened my belief that there was something wrong."

We can satisfy you. Who? Why, Ungars.

Or, The Love Story of Charles Brandon and Mary Tudor, the King's Sister, and Happening in the Reign of His August Majesty King Henry the Eighth

By EDWIN GASKODEN [CHARLES MAJOR]

From the original manuscript of the life of Charles Brandon, Duke of Suffolk, by the Hon. John Gyles, Esq., and published in 1704, by the Rev. John Gyles, Esq., in the year 1704.

There came the young under a raiment of gold, and purple velvet embroidered, the compass of the Paulion about, and veined with a fat, gold beaten in wreath with an imperial crown in the top of his golden helmet, his hauberk and trapper of cloth of gold, fringed with Danish Gold, the trapper pendant to the tail. A crane and a hawk of steel, in the front of the chafron was a hooded plume set full of musers or trappings of gold. After followed his three horses, every of them, with a Paulion of Cymroya Damask and purple. The number of Gentlemen and young a foot, appeared in russet and yellow was eleven. Then next these Paulions came all chieftains of honor, sitting every one of them on a greave corse, rhyche trapped, and embrocaded, in russet and yellow, and his horse trapped in russet and yellow, without dromme or noise of myntrelve, putting a bill of petition to the Queen, the effect whered was, that if it would please her to license him to return in her presence, he would do it gladly, and if not, then he would depart as he came. After his request was granted, then he put off his sayd habite and was armed at all peeces with rhyche hauberk and horse, also rhyche trapped, and so did runne his horse to the tyll end, where divers men on foot appeared in russet saye, and to the tyll end. Thereupon the heralds cryed an Oysel and the ground shoke with the trompe of rhyche stedes. Wender it were to write of the deeds of Armes which that day took place, where a man might have seen many a horse raved on his side with gallop, turne and stoppe, marvelous to behold. Ceny slaves were broken and many a horse being lused, he and the stranger took the place.

"Don't bother me, I say!" or, resulting in friendship between men and love between men and women. We soon found that we had many things in common, chief among which was the love of books. In fact, we had come to know each other through our common love of reading, for he also had gone to Master Cavendish, who had a fine library, to borrow some volumes to take with him down to Greenwich. Brandon informed me he was to go to Greenwich that day, so we determined to see a little of London, which was new to him, and then take boat in time to be at the palace before dark. That evening, upon arriving at Greenwich, we hunted up Brandon's uncle, the master of horse, who invited his nephew to stay with him for the night. He refused, however, and accepted an invitation to take a bed in my room. The next day Brandon was installed as one of the captains of the king's guard, under his uncle, but with no particular duties except such as should be assigned him from time to time. He was offered a good room on one of the lower floors, but asked instead to be lodged in the attic next to me. So we arranged that each had a room opening into a third that served as alike for drawing room and armory. Here we sat and talked, and now and then one would read aloud some favorite passage while the other kept his own place with finger between the leaves. Here we discussed everything from court scandal to religion, and settled to our own satisfaction at least many a great problem with which the foolish world is still wrestling. We told each other our secrets, too, for all the world like a pair of girls. Brandon told me of his hopes and aspirations, chief among which was his desire to earn and save enough money to pay the debt against his father's estate, which he had turned over to his younger brother and sisters. He, as the eldest, could have taken it all, for his father had died without a will, but he said there was not enough to divide, so he had given it to them and hoped to leave it clear of debt; instead for new Spain, glory and fortune, conquest and yellow gold. He had read of the voyages of the great Columbus, the Cabots and a host of others, and the future was as rosy as a Cornish girl's cheek. Fortune held up her lips to him, but there's often a sting to a kiss.

CHAPTER III. THE PRINCESS MARY.

NOW, at that time, Mary, the king's sister, was just ripening into her greatest womanly perfection. Her skin was like velvet, a rich, clear, rosy snow, with the hot young blood glowing through it like the faint red tinge we sometimes see on the inner side of a white rose leaf. Her hair was a very light brown, almost golden, and fluffy, soft and fine as a skein of Arras silk. She was of medium height, with a figure that Venus might have envied. Her feet and hands were small and apparently made for the sole purpose of driving mankind distracted. In fact, that was the paramount object in her creation, for she had the world of men at her feet. Her greatest beauty was her glowing dark brown eyes, which shone with an ever-changing luster from beneath the shade of the longest, blackest, upcurving lashes ever seen. Her voice was soft and full and, except when angry, which, alas, was not infrequent, had a low and coaxing lilt, the note that is irresistible. She was a most adroit coxer and knew her power full well, although she did not always plead, having the Tudor temper and preferring to command when she could. As before blated, she had coaxed her royal brother out of several proposed marriages for her which would have been greatly to his advantage, and if he had only known that I began at that time, you could form some idea of Mary's powers by that achievement alone. Such was the royal maid to whose tender mercies, I now tell you frankly, my friend Brandon was soon to be turned over. While there Master Cavendish, Wolsey's secretary, presented

THE WAR ENDED WITH SHARP FIGHTING

TOKIO, Sept 6.—The Japanese defeated the Russians in a series of sharp engagements in Northern Korea. The Japanese army attacked the Russians at Chongtuyang on Sept. 1. The Russian forces consisted of four battalions, six guns, and several hundred cavalry. The district was mountainous and difficult, but finally the Japanese artillery successfully attacked the Russian left and occupied their position at nine in the morning. The Russians strongly resisted west of Chongtuyang, but were forced to retire at 11 o'clock. Another Japanese detachment defeated the Russians at Heanhenkoki and pursued them. Japanese casualties were one officer killed and five officers and sixty men wounded. The Russians left forty dead on the field.

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

Twenty Deep Breaths Taken in This Position Greatly Increase the Chest Expansion

MISS MANHATTAN.
New York, July

Women, as a rule, have a rooted objection to donning gymnasium suits or, for that matter, any loose garments intended to facilitate the practice of physical culture exercises, and for this reason the bathing hour at the beach is suggested as the very best time to go through a few little "stunts" for the development of muscles and the improvement of contour of limbs.

This idea will not appeal to the woman who makes, upon doing herself up in corrects exactly as though she were dressing for the street. She couldn't go through a few free movements of arms and legs in a bathing suit any more than she could turn a somersault down Broadway, but for the really sensible bather, the one who goes in for the enjoyment of the healthful recreation, the loose bathing suit and the open stretch of sandy beach are irresistible combinations designed particularly for her benefit.

Before the swim is the best time to practice exercises, and then, if the body becomes heated, the cold plunge will be not only agreeable, but invigorating. It isn't every woman who can stand the physical exertion of both exercises and a swim, and not a few find difficulty in getting accustomed to the temperature of the water, but in a little while the one seems to be required after the other.

There are some constitutions that quail before the big breakers, and surf bathing has no attractions for such as these, though many of them long to possess the physical strength that brings physical courage. Both may be acquired in a small part of the summer season if one sets about it in the right way, and persists in the effort regularly and conscientiously.

What the beach exercises shall be depends entirely on the physical constitution of each woman; so only a few that will suit nearly all classes can be fully described, and these suggestions should be supplemented by a careful study of movements that are adapted to the individual needs. What will help to make one woman's hips thin will not put fat on another's, but, at the same time, there are a few exercises that women can practice without fear of doing the wrong thing.

There is nothing better than an arm movement that is calculated to broaden the chest and shoulders in a remarkably short time, and this alone, repeated a dozen times or so before going into the water, will not be without good results at the end of a few weeks.

Standing perfectly straight, with the heels together and the chest thrown out, the arms should be raised above the head to their full length, the feet doubled up so as before going into the water, will not be without good results at the end of a few weeks.

When the arms have been raised above the head to their full length, the feet doubled up so as before going into the water, will not be without good results at the end of a few weeks.

expanded and the hands and arms rigid through each movement of the exercise, one can almost feel the shoulders and chest grow broader.

The next part of this exercise makes the arms and hands drop and meet at the back, where the arms are stretched downward their full length, and the feet, still rigidly gripping themselves, are reversed so that the doubled palms are turned outward. From this position the exerciser comes back to the first one described, and then goes on through the three in the order given, until the series has been gone through with as many times as possible or desired. In the experience of a crack athlete who devoted considerable time to training society young men, there is no better method of gaining a greater chest measurement and lung power than this. It is wonderfully simple and can be practiced at almost any time and place, requiring only that one should have on a costume that allows the freest movement of the arms. In this day of comfortable shirtwaists it is not so difficult to find opportunities for such recreation and physical improvement, and the great charm about this very movement lies in its easy accomplishment.

The mere raising of the arms above the head and lowering them with force and precision is enough to develop the muscles of the back and chest, two things that the up-to-date girl must take pains to secure if nature hasn't blessed her with the fashionable breadth in this particular part of her figure.

Old and young can practice the "setting up" exercises of the army with great advantage. There is nothing better to keep the limbs supple and graceful. One hasn't the least idea how stiff even active limbs will become if they are not put through some such movement daily.

To prove the truth of this statement it is only necessary to break off the "setting up" practice for a few days and then start in again. It's astonishing how soon the muscles will stiffen up. And the very fact that certain ones do not respond readily after leaving off the physical movements for awhile proves conclusively that the "setting up" acts are wonderfully beneficial. Not only do they limber the legs and give the body balance, but they reduce the hips and abdomen and impart a certain liteness and limeness that is the one thing above all others that the feminine portion of the world seeks to secure.

For one of these exercises the hands should be placed on the hips and then, with the torso held up and always in the same perpendicular, the knees should be bent until the body assumes a sitting posture. Naturally the weight of the body shifts from the entire foot to the toes and the heels rise from the floor.

LATEST FASH & PALETTE TOP OF THE DAY

NOT MANY GIRLS ON THE BEACH CAN DO THIS

At first this is very difficult to do for the body loses its balance and pitches forward or sideways, but after a few attempts it comes easier and in a short period one is able to drop quite to the floor and come up again without toppling over or even swaying the body. When this feat is successfully accomplished it is well to start the same exercise by raising up on the toes and then slowly squatting.

Few women balance their bodies properly. They lack the poise that characterizes young women, and if they only knew that by their elasticity are their ages revealed I think they would take a little more time and energy in the practice of such exercises as are recommended for the culture of this particular quality.

Svelte figures are secured, gradually to be sure, by carefully going through motions which call for the bending of the torso at the hips. Unless one is naturally rather limber it is almost impossible to gain any great amount of liteness, but certainly this attribute can be materially improved. It is always a good plan to try bending the body sideways at the hips and, still keeping this part of the trunk in as nearly a horizontal position as possible, turn it or swing it around from one side to the other as though it were on a pivot. The real trial comes when an attempt is made to bend backward from the waist, but perseverance counts here just as much as it does in anything else.

In conjunction with this bending exercise, which gives slenderness to the waist and reduces the size of the hips, there is a very good breathing routine to go through with to increase chest expansion and give one greater staying power of the lungs. No finer place on earth could be found in which to practice this than at the seashore, where the air is fresh, invigorating and pure. Even if one doesn't care to go through a set of gymnastics on the sand, there is no reason why these breathing rules should not be followed without the slightest embarrassment or hesitation. In order to have them most beneficial, it dropped, as inclination prompts one to do. When the lungs are well emptied, the torso should be lifted deliberately, while a long, full breath is taken in, so that by the time the body is erect once more the lungs are expanded as much as possible. At first it will be found no easy task to either exhale or inhale to any great degree or for any long period, but as the exercise is persisted in the lungs become more and more capable of doing one's bidding, and besides producing an increased breadth across the chest it will soon be noticed that one is able to run or walk rapidly without getting out of breath. The good accomplished through this simple exercise is almost marvellous, and the wonder is that more women do not practice it, but as all well know, most of them are too lazy to try it.

By starting in with twenty deep, salt-air breaths each day, the number can very soon be increased to twice that, or even a hundred and fifty without the ure, but the thin woman will find it of no small value in giving her length of waist from the throat down, and in developing the abdominal muscles. Few women realize how much good is derived from having sound and strong muscles covering this part of their torso, but all the prancing in the world will not encourage them to practice exercises. The only way to appeal to them is to point out the improvements to be made in their figures, for every woman likes to make herself attractive, and if she has any claim to physical beauty it is in this way that her pride can be touched and her ambition spurred.

Close the bathroom door and then stand facing it armslength away. Stretch the hands out till they are horizontal with the body and lay the palms firmly against the door, fingers pointing upwards. The hands should be placed far enough apart so that the head will go between them. Now, standing so, with the elbows straightened, bend forward so that the head and shoulders come between the arms and the chest from the upper part of the bust to the abdomen touches the door. This will be extremely difficult to do at first and for several times, perhaps, one will not be able to touch the abdomen to the door, or, at least, do so and keep the feet flat on the floor. The heels seem to rise unconsciously. In so many of the exercises recommended for reducing the hips and abdomen there is apt to be some strain on the muscles or organs, but in this there isn't the slightest danger of hurting oneself. To get the best possible results it is recommended that this one exercise be practiced no less than 20 times each morning after one has become accustomed to it.

The stretching sensation that one experiences at the first trial of the exercise is different from that of any other. It almost seems as though one could feel the muscles lengthening out and getting thinner and at the same time firmer and harder. Any fat that has formed around the waist or over the abdomen will soon disappear after a course of this treatment.

In a group of 20 women probably not more than two would be found who could touch the tips of their fingers to the beach without bending the knees. It seems a simple thing to do that no doubt my statement will be disbelieved, but an actual test will prove me right, or, at least, nearly so. Thin women, it would be supposed, could do the act much more easily than their stout sisters, but the trouble with them is that their bones and muscles are apt to be stiff and rigid. Stout ones find that their vertebrae is in the way and that leaves only the perfectly built feminine creature as one who ought to accomplish the exercise. Even she may find that her knees are inclined to bend forward or out at the sides, and in her effort to keep them rigid she will effort to do this act, and possibly for several days after, that the muscles covering the front of her legs, between the hips and knees, are sore and lame, while the underside of her knees will feel as though they had been given a bad wrench. Now, any and every woman, except the abnormally stout, should be able to go through this particular movement without the least difficulty, and those who cannot ought to consider themselves on the same plane as the women who are too old in possess elasticity. Elasticity, as I said before, is a sign of youth, and the keenly observant knows at a glance when a woman has passed beyond the years of youthfulness by her movements.

It is such a comfort for those who like sea bathing, and especially surf bathing, to be physically able to stand the buffeting of waves and the splashing of surf. All the exercises described here help toward that end, and with a perfect gymnasium such as the seashore offers and air that cannot be bettered there is really no excuse for any woman neglecting to improve her figure and, at the same time, benefiting her general health. She ought to come back to town at least four inches greater in chest measurement and with muscles that are firm, solid and well developed, not in a masculine way, but in a delicate feminine one that shows strength as well as beauty.

The Sun Umbrella, Not The Parasol.

A strong endeavor is being made to switch the social cast of the sunshade from the parasol to the sun umbrella, from the French to the German nomenclature. So far nobody has made any defense of the old English and real name of the article—namely, the sunshade. However, by whatever name you may call it, the parasol has come to the front with a rush as to importance in spring and summer costumes. It must be dome-shaped, match the body color of your gown and have its flouncings to conform with the ruffles or fur below which decorate the gown itself.

In England the parasol has now come almost to take the place of the hat at all daylight functions. Lawn Totes have come to be following sets of parasols which shine with every color of the rainbow. The shape is invariably alike—that is, a high dome shape of the old-fashioned kind that made the court of the early Victorian era so picturesque. Only in one sort of costume can the gown and parasol differ as to color. Young girls in pure white may be allowed to have a different colored parasol, but the difference must be violent. Red or purple or scarlet, with purple drooping around the edges, can be used. No neutral tint could be permitted in this case, and otherwise the gown and sunshade must match perfectly.

Other creations for the feminine world have been this season. Fuchings and braids have been well thought out, and parasols and dainty footwear have contented the hearts of the fashion slaves. Yet it is in the creation of marvelous hats from simple straws, braided straws and dyed straws, with no need of trimming to picture hats with a marvelous piling on of trimming that the spring and summer season of 1916 has been truly unusual.

Take, for instance, a marvelous pale pink color in chip straw worn recently by the Duchesse de Montpensier at the lawn sets of the municipality of Paris. This straw creation had cream lappets above and caught underneath the pink chip straw and bunched beneath the up-folling broad brim were cherries with masses of green stems attached. Taffeta ruffles over the low broad crown finished the hat. Sunshades should always match the gown, rather than any special feature of the chosen costume. It should not be chosen especially to match the hat, glove or footwear, as it frequently is well intentioned but badly informed society women do. The parasol must follow the color design and trimming effect of the gown worn, and no other effect can be applied without the ruinous effect of the ignorant ignorance of things that ought to be.

Lingerie Frills.

The day of the lingerie sleeve frill is by no means over. Coats, blouses and dresses are now adorned with this change in the becoming ruffling. The only change is noticed in the fabric that frill used from time to time in order to give some change in the style. The frills are made of gayly printed mousseline de sole or Brunei's silk. The ground may be any one of the white or cream shades of the color, while upon this is a dainty flower design in various tints. The coloring gives a little variety to the all white or cream frills, and is very often, it is possible, achieved wonderfully pretty effects that are scarcely noticeable.

It is possible to get the very frill that comes, for, with the quantity that is needed to make them look soft and fluffy, the very thinnest layers of material are used. Summer dresses made of this printed material are cool looking and airy as anything one could find, and they are far less perishable than they appear to be. When chiffon gets dragged and tattered, looking from the damp night air that is so hard on delicate fabrics, this frill will go through the ordeal like a little martyr.

IMPURE MILK

Is the kind most frequently gotten from grocery stores—milk that is old, tainted and poor.

We now have an up-to-date system of treating and delivering milk. We have fresh morning's milk from Jersey cows delivered to us early every morning, and it is at once put into sterilized bottles and into our new feed milk case, where it quickly cools. We can thus deliver ice cold milk which is only a few hours old—and you can always be sure it is sweet, pure and wholesome. A small item, perhaps, but an important one to our customers.

INSURANCE MEN MEET.

There was a happy gathering at the Dufferin Hotel at noon today when the superintendents, agents, etc., of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. in the Maritime Provinces met in annual session. This is the first time the agents of the company have met in St. John, although in the past they have frequently met in Upper Canadian cities. Those in attendance today include several of the officials from the head offices and the representatives of the company throughout the Maritime Provinces. Altogether about seventy-five or eighty sat down to lunch at twelve o'clock with Mayor White as their honored guest. Harrison's orchestra furnished a choice musical programme.

After luncheon the agents discussed business matters.

POLICE COURT.

Women Gets Six Months Sentence for Loitering on the Street After 9 o'clock Last Night.

The session of the police court was short this morning as the magistrates had also the civil court on his hands.

Ethel Snodgrass was again in court this morning charged with loitering on a doorway with a man on Canterbury street last night about nine o'clock.

The arrest was made by Detective Kien, when questioned this morning the girl denied the charge and said that she was just talking to a young man, a friend of hers. The detective was called to the stand and said that he and Deputy Jenkins saw her standing in the doorway of a barber shop on Canterbury street and then walk with this man along King and Germain streets and back again to the same doorway.

The magistrate said that no girl had a right to be loitering around these streets at that time of night and sentenced her to six months in the Home of the Good Shepherd.

The case against Thomas O'Brien, charged with assault came up again this morning. O'Brien pleaded not guilty and was remanded.

Five drunks, one of whom was a woman, were on the bench this morning. The men were fined four dollars each and the woman eight dollars.

ABOUT WANT ADS

And How a Jealous Newspaper Made a Mistake.

In an attempt to discredit the statement that the Star carries more want ads than any other St. John paper, the Times last evening published the following:

On Aug. 24 the Star contained this want ad:—

WANTED—Old picture of the Signing of Independence of United States. State conditions and price. Address "FIVE" Star Office.

On Aug. 29 appeared among the local news in the Star, under the title "Do You Want Anything?" the above advertisement with the following announcement:—

This appeared in the Star on Friday of last week. The same day answers reached the Star office. In a few hours after the notice appeared in the paper, the old picture had obtained one in fine condition.

It is useful to all space. Any paper could carry ads. on those terms.

But the man who got one picture in a few hours must have collected quite a gallery in two weeks. Or possibly people are wasting postage replying to a "dead ad."

As a matter of fact the man in question is collecting quite a gallery, and that is his purpose in advertising in the Star. He inserted the advertisement for one week—at regular rates—he was so pleased with the results that he has ordered it in for another week—also at regular rates.

All the Star want ads, are like this: bona fide, paid for and sure of results. And the Star carries more of these than any two other papers in St. John.

RECORD BREAKING RAIN.

About Four and a Half Inches of Water Has Fallen This Week, More Than Double Last Month's Total.

D. L. Hutchinson, when seen this morning said the rainfall from yesterday afternoon until early this morning reached 1.97 inches. The heaviest shower fell about 3:45, when the rain came down at the rate of about 1.4 inches an hour. The rain was very heavy, but after this the fall gradually lessened.

The rain fall for this week has been unusually heavy. So far it has amounted to 4.37 inches since Sunday at midnight, this being more than double the total rainfall of last month.

Already this month we have had nearly as much as last September, which equalled 4.44 inches, considered unusually heavy. In fact we have had already an inch more than the average for September, and if the present weather keeps up we are likely to break all records.

The lightning last evening was very vivid, but was never very near to us, the storm moving from the southwest to the northwest and later around to the eastward. The lightning in this vicinity lasted for four hours, much more than it usually lasts with us. After the storm moved on, the lightning came up at the rate of 24 miles an hour from the northeast.

REPAIRS ON MILL STREET.

A gang of men were at work this morning repairing the pavement in front of the depot. Mill street at this point is in a wretched condition, and for some time past the Street Railway Company and the I. C. R. have been negotiating as to repairs. The work when properly done will interfere considerably with the traffic of both steam and electric roads, to say nothing of the drive way. It is something, however, that has to be done, and the continual patching is only a waste of good money. The street railway are very anxious that the work should not be delayed, as their tracks there are in bad shape.
