CONFERENCE WILL NOT ALTER MINISTERIAL TERM

MONTREAL, Sept. 24.—Yesterday morning Dr. McCoy, representative of the Methodist Episcopal church, south, preached in St. James church in the morning and Dr. Cleaver in the evening. The congregations were very large, that in the evening numbering two thousand six hundred. Maritime preachers in city pulpits were the Rev. D. Johnson, the new editor of the Wesleyan, who preached in the Mountain street church, Dr. Heats at the Eastern church, John Craig and Benjamin Hill. The Rev. Wm. Brown conducted an open air service on Wellington street.

The course of study committees recommended that the probationers' terms be changed from three years and circuit work and two years at college as at present to three years college and two in circuit work. The committee on discipline brought in an important recommendation advising the formation of catechism classes in each congregation. That these classes be put in charge of suitable leaders who shall teach them a prescribed course of study and shall take particular care of their spiritual growth, considering them as members of the church. That in the course of time and upon testimony of their fitness, the members of such classes shall be received into full connection with the church.

The discipline committee recommended that a chapter edition of the ritual be issued for use in the congregations, especially in the baptismal and communion services, which are not as popular in their use as they should be. The opinion was expressed that the failure of the congregations to take part in the services of the church is most deplorable. It was thought that a cheap manual containing the liturgical services would encourage the congregations to take part in public worship. On motion of Dr. Howard Sprague it was resolved to issue a large edition of the ritual for the use of the minister. On motion of Dr. Allison it was ordered that the ritual be bound up with the hymn book, so as to give the people easy access to the parts they are required to use.

The missionary committee recommended that each annual conference may appoint a board for city mission work with power to appeal for funds from the support of city missionaries. The local city mission board to have control of expenditures of the city and the time limit shall not apply to city missionaries. The recommendation was adopted.

The question of horse-keep came up for interesting discussion. Memorials have come in from all over the conference concerning the use of horses. It was resolved to raise the charge for horse-keep to one hundred dollars.

Motion that it be made eighty and seventy-five dollars were voted down. The clerical representatives of the missionary committee are Justice Hickman, Young Langford, Briggs and Moore. The laymen are Flavelle, Bowell, Keenleyside, McLaren, Cushing and Shaw.

In the afternoon an address was delivered by M. Takagi, delegate from the Japan Methodist church, who spoke at length on the ecclesiastical situation in that country.

The report from the committee on itinerancy and transfers was given. The memorial asking for exemption from the pastoral term limit for Elm street church, Toronto, was not passed.

The memorial asking for the abolition of the time limit throughout the entire church were taken up.

The Rev. J. T. Pitcher moved that the annual conference have the privilege of extending the pastoral term indefinitely. Dr. Williams seconded it. These gentlemen contended that the spirit of Methodism never destroys the work by the machinery, that when a minister has to move in a brief time the work, especially in cities and towns, suffers; that it takes the minister two or three years to get acquainted with the work, and that the frequent changes hinder the regular progression of the work.

Dr. Sparling supported the amendment with much pleasantness and excellent argument. He held that the present narrow limitation is a great hindrance.

Dr. Jackson held that the motion would result in the abolition of itinerancy and the selection of the best clergy for the picked men. He maintained that the three-year term was the best. He never preached old sermons. He thought that this conference was debating an "old" issue. One man touches one type of Christians, another touches another, and under the changing pastorate the greater number of people are touched.

The debate grew general and warm. The Rev. Mr. Spear obtaining the floor argued in favor of the change and wished the question thoroughly threshed out. Scores of men had told him that the time limit ought to be removed. The change had proved a good one in the American church. Mr. John George spoke against any change. He believed in the grand old Methodist usage that had "placed" her at the front. Rev. Mr. Walcott thought the time had come to take the proposed step as a step in advance.

The short term system is not working well in many localities, conditions had changed since the church was a purely evangelistic church. We are now a teaching church. We must train the children, and to do that we need a wise guide for them to follow during their childhood years. The short term system produces short term preachers. Many men are using their old sermons term after term.

Mr. Watt opposed the change. He said that organization does not become defunct when a minister leaves a circuit, but the work goes on. He said that the church which had the money would keep the good men and leave the rest for others. This, he said, would be the best thing for the church. Mr. Taylor of Montreal spoke in advocacy of the abolition of the time limit. He said that a quarterly board is the best judge of a minister's fitness to remain or not to remain. Let those churches that want a change have a change.

Mr. Lovering, a layman of fifty years' standing, spoke as a countryman against a change. He was satisfied with things as they are, and the cities take their turn in the poorer field.

Dr. Heats spoke on the question and opposed any alteration. He thought that our people would be greatly disappointed at any change. We are, he said, envied by other churches. They change their ministers oftener than we. The Nova Scotia conference had passed a resolution strongly favoring a continuation of past conditions. Let well enough alone.

The closure was put and carried. Feeling ran high, shouts of "ag" were heard. The vote stood against any change by a large majority, but there seems to be some increase in the number of those who favor a change.

The question of starting a new paper in the West was introduced again and was favored by Rev. F. D. Stacey. Dr. Sutherland opposed the idea.

Mr. Rowell proposed the appointment of a Winnipeg corresponding editor to the Guardian. It was seconded by Dr. Sutherland.

The question of connexional papers proved a difficult one. Winnipeg, Regina, and other places wanted it. The Western men voted in a body for a Western paper. Mr. Rowell's motion was lost by one vote. The report favoring the establishment of a Western paper carried.

Dr. Sparling supported the amendment with much pleasantness and excellent argument. He held that the

VIEW OF UNION STREET, WEST, SHOWING DESTRUCTION BY DREDGING

The picture above was taken to show the effects of the landslide on Union street, west end. The line of telegraph poles give an idea where Union street formerly ran. The picture is taken looking south from the remains of the C. P. R. track.

The ground has now saved right in up to the Shore Line station, which is the light colored building prominent in the picture. At high tide the water lies right below the front of the building. The smaller dark colored building next to it is Sleeth & Quinlan's marble works, which is in even a more precarious situation, the front of the building being all undermined and the whole structure likely to collapse.

The site of No. 3 crib, which is now ready, runs out into the harbor beginning at what remains of Union street and slightly to the left of the Shore Line station. The site of No. 2 crib begins where No. 1 ends and stretches further out into the harbor. No. 3 crib will be placed next to Union street, stretching out from a little to the right of Sleeth & Quinlan's and No. 4 will be a continuation of it. The spaces between the two lines of cribs will be filled in with piling, and upon it the warehouses will be erected. When the Beaver commences further operations on the site of No. 3 it is expected that still more of the street will sink into the harbor and be dredged out.

It is only a few days since the last remaining track running close to the front of the Shore Line station had to be abandoned. The C. P. R. wish to replace their track on trestle work, but wish first to see what damage the dredging on the No. 3 site is likely to do.

FORESTERS' FUNDS HELD IN QUEER SPECULATIONS

Hon. George E. Foster, Geo. W. Fowler and Others Involved With Officials in Peculiar Land Deal, for Which Trust Funds Formed the Basis—Foster Refuses to Produce Books.

(Special to the Sun)

TORONTO, Sept. 24.—Dr. Oronhyatekha's evidence was closed temporarily before the insurance commission this morning in order to allow Mr. Shepley to carry on his investigation into land speculations undertaken with funds of the order, the details of which were not known to the chief ranger.

Prior to leaving the stand Oronhyatekha admitted under pressure that Hon. Mr. Foster had as manager of the Union Trust Co. made investments contrary to the instructions of the directors.

Elliott F. Stevenson, supreme councillor of the I. O. F., who has recently been giving his personal attention to the financial interest of the I. O. F. on the Union Trust board, testified that enormous sums had been looked up in lands in the Northwest. He related a story of the reconveyance of lands acquired by the Montague syndicate and told of another syndicate which he had been invited to associate himself with, formed to speculate in property with funds to be borrowed from the Union Trust Co. Mr. McCormick, ex-M. P., P. and Irwin and Geo. W.

Fowler, M. P., were interested in this syndicate, together with some of the supreme court executive and Mr. Foster.

When noon adjournment came Stevenson had not completed his story of the transaction by which Mr. Fowler, Rufus Pope, W. H. Bennett, M. P., A. A. LeFevre, M. P., and others purchased 200,000 acres of land in the Northwest which was turned over at profits of $1 per acre to a syndicate composed of Foster, McGillivray and Wilson, who turned the land over to the Great West Land Co., a subsidiary concern of the Union Trust Co., at a further advance of 50 cents per acre.

This is the transaction which was aired in debate at the last session of parliament, suit having been entered by Messrs. Bennett and LeFevre, who contend that their colleague in parliament, George W. Fowler, and their former colleague in the house, Rufus Pope, had not divided up the profits of the deal fairly.

Later in the day, with the assistance of documents produced by Hon. George E. Foster, secretary of the Great West Land Co., the story was completed. It was shown that Col. McGillivray, supreme secretary of the I. O. F., Foster, managing director of the Union Trust Co., and Matthew Wilson, director, were acknowledged by agreement to be owners of one-half interest in the Pope-Fowler option book of the Great West Land Co., the New Ontario Farm and Nova Scotia Co. lands at a figure which would after paying cost net to Foster, McGillivray and Wilson $95,000. With this $95,000 additional stock which Messrs. Pope and Fowler demanded when they found the land had been turned over at a profit of 50 cents per acre, made $100,000 advance in the price on the deal. Foster offered to the company to sell provided that ten shares each were to go to him and his associates Wilson and McGillivray.

Mr. Shepley suggested in the final settling up of the transaction it appeared that these gentlemen apparently allotted themselves over and above the stock placed in trust some 37 1/2 shares, of which Mr. Foster is credited with receiving 11 1/2, the other two dividing the balance. Mr. Foster produced a number of documents asked for but refused to produce the stock book of the Great West Land Co., and Mr. Shepley refrained from pressing for it at this stage of the proceedings.

BIG COASTING STEAMER ASHORE AT STOCKTON, ME.

STOCKTON, Me., Sept. 22.—The steamer Mohawk, of the Maine Coast Transportation Company's line struck Squaw Point reef at the entrance of this harbor today and the other two fast on the rocks. The water rushed into the hold through two large holes in the plates and at high tide the steamer was full of water.

The Mohawk had been engaged in the freight business and carried no passengers at the time. When the accident occurred the boat was on her way to the wharf here from Portland.

A wrecking pump was placed on the steamer tonight and an attempt will be made to patch the injured plates and float her. Captain Day thinks the steamer can be saved.

The Mohawk is a small iron boat and runs from Boston to Lubec, Me., calling at Portland, Stockton and other points.

New Fall Clothing That Stands the Quality Test

Style is very important, but many suits and overcoats depend upon their style entirely for selling; the quality is such that they turn shabby before they are worn a week, and then the style is not worth much. Quality first is our motto; then we see that it is made in the correct prevailing style. Every body gets the worth of their money here.

The executive of the Exhibition Association met last evening in their offices in the Canada Permanent Building. The object of the meeting was the recitation of the financial statement, which shows a surplus up to date of $3,849.85. After deducting the estimated expenditures of the coming year and the estimated amount of bills yet to be paid there will be a balance on hand of over $1,945.

In the statement for 1904 the amount of $1,701.40 is brought forward from the annual meeting on December 31st, 1903, and its surplus amounted to $1,428.01, really a deficit of $273.39 on the running of the fair. This year's surplus is the largest in the history of local exhibitions.

Those present at the meeting were: President A. O. Skinner in the chair, J. O'Brien, Alex. Macaulay, R. B. Emerson, Wm. Allan, J. H. Estabrook, with the manager and secretary.

The secretary read the financial statement, which was fully discussed by the members of the executive, and it was decided that the statement be sent to the government and given to the newspapers for the information of the public. Major W. C. Magee was appointed to audit the financial statement.

Manager Milligan was instructed to attend the Dominion exhibition in Halifax, and to report in detail any improvement in our methods as suggested by that exhibition.

T. H. Estabrook, D. J. McLaughlin and R. B. Emerson were appointed a committee to visit the buildings and report any improvements suggested themselves for the next exhibition, with any criticisms they might have to offer on this exhibition.

The manager was instructed to prepare a detailed statement of all the advertising used for this year's exhibition, with quantities, prices, amounts, if any left over, with any criticisms he might wish to make regarding the advisability of using any or all of these forms in the future.

The president suggested that it would be well for another exhibition to have three superintendents in place of one, in carrying out the buildings, and that it might be advisable to erect a bandstand outside, in the rear of the industrial hall, for band concerts in future exhibitions.

A letter was read from the secretary of the Women's Local Council conveying to the exhibition management the thanks of the council for the unfurling courtesy shown its members in preparing and conducting the women's departments.

A motion was passed instructing the manager to convey to the Women's Council the Exhibition Association's appreciation of the good work done by their members, and for the splendid success of the women's departments in the exhibition of 1906.

The following is a comparative statement of receipts and expenditures for the last two exhibitions:

CLAIMS MAGISTRATE HAD NO JURISDICTION

MONTREAL, N. B., Sept. 24.—Timothy Suratto, son of Timothy Suratto, died at the residence of his father, Legere's corner, yesterday morning, after an illness from typhoid fever. Deceased was seventeen years of age.

Geo. P. Thomas, acting for a number of local liquor dealers who were convicted in the courts at Moncton and Shediac, has secured orders from Chief Justice Tuck in the cases of Asad Landry and Orestine Legere, convicted at Shediac, also in the case of Landry and O. S. Legere, convicted at Moncton, and in the case of Henry Legere, sentenced by Magistrate Kay to pay a fine of $200 for a first offence Scott Act violation. The grounds in the Shediac cases are that the magistrates had no jurisdiction to hear the cases where the cause of action arose at Moncton. In the case of Legere, fined $200, the ground taken is that the magistrate exceeded his jurisdiction in imposing the fine which he did.

What Doctors Say About the Nerves

Avoid fatigue, hurry, worry and excess. Seek fresh air, rest and the best means of increasing the nerve force of the body, or in other words, use Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

These are the instructions the best physicians will give you as the most effective treatment to overcome diseases of the nerves, for if they do not recommend Dr. Chase's Nerve Food in so many words they give you a prescription containing practically the same ingredients.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is an up-to-date, scientific preparation composed of the most powerful nerve restoratives known to science. It is bound to prove effective as a treatment for weak nerves, because it supplies the very elements of Nature which are necessary for the formation of new nerve force.

It is only by this building-up process that you can ever hope to entirely cure sleeplessness, headache, neuralgia, nervous dyspepsia, irritability, brain fog, and the discouragement and dependency which tell of exhausted nerves.

GENERAL NEWS

LONDON, Sept. 21.—Mrs. Matilda Stanley, wife of a clergyman, was charged at the Old Bailey today with publishing a false and defamatory libel concerning Lady Gwendolen Cecil, the daughter of the late Marquis of Salisbury. The defendant was not represented by counsel, and decided to conduct her own case.

After Robert Dunton, secretary to the late Marquis of Salisbury, had given testimony in an effort to secure assistance which the Marquis had refused to give, Mrs. Stanley first applying to the jury with copies of the pamphlet, addressed the court.

The defendant, continuing, talked so fast that only such terms as "ruin" and "persecution" could be heard by the jury. She admitted that she had no documents to prove her charges, but she said that a lady member of the Cecil family had confessed to her the guilt of Lady Gwendolen.

USEFUL THINGS INVENTED BY WOMEN

A machine that makes Paper Bags

This chair brushes flies from Bald Heads

The Ice Cream Freezer was invented by a woman

MARY KEES was granted the first patent that was issued to a woman in this country. She devised a method of weaving straw with silk thread.

For some time after this feminine ingenuity appeared to content itself with improving existing or devising new articles of wearing apparel, kitchen utensils or other things intended for use or ornament about the home.

As her sphere of personal activity widened, woman began extending the scope of her inventive efforts. Indeed, it has often been asserted that a number of the most valuable inventions upon which men have taken out patents and realized fame and fortune were developed from ideas originating in the brains of feminine inventors.

Ell Whitney's cotton gin was responsible for the immense strides taken by King Cotton, yet it has been asserted that this machine was but the practical application of an idea that found birth in the brain of the widow of General Nathaniel Graham.

When a Philadelphia woman had patented an improvement in beer kettles, and another had come forward with a device for heating railroad cars, feminine ingenuity was no longer content to exercise itself within the confines of the domestic circle.

A new idea in plows was duly protected by a Georgia woman, while one in Ohio brought to the attention of the world her claims in an improved car coupler.

Only a short time ago the woman whose inventive brain gave the ice cream freezer to delighted humanity died at an advanced age in Philadelphia. This was Mrs. Nancy M. Johnson, and her device was patented in 1843.

Since then many different kinds of ice cream freezers have been placed upon the market, but an examination of Mrs. Johnson's original model, which still reposes in its case at the Patent Office, shows that in principle modern devices do not differ from it materially.

The simple but effective manner in which eggs are packed for market in pasteboard trays had its inception in the exasperation of a farmer's daughter, who was greatly annoyed by the breaking of eggs in transit.

Her first device, rather crudely made by hand, was not so neat or compact as the trays that are now turned out by the thousand through the agency of machinery, but it answered the purpose.

There are many varieties of egg crates now represented by patents, but all are based upon the principle that occurred to the perplexed farmer's daughter as a solution of her troubles.

The paper bag with a satchel bottom, which has proved so convenient to grocers and shoppers, and the device for making it, are the invention of Miss E. E. Knight. The wonderful little machine turns out these bags with great rapidity and accuracy of construction.

With the possible exception of Mother Eve, woman has always been solicitous of the welfare and comfort of men, and women inventors have devoted a great deal of thought to devices intended to make more pleasant the existence of their fathers, husbands and brothers.

Mary A. Woodard, of Palmyra, N. J., placed herself in the list of candidates for recognition by bald-headed men when she invented a rocking chair for their especial benefit.

The chair part of the device is like that of any other similar piece of useful furniture. From the back two curved rods extend upward to a crosspiece a foot or more above the head of the occupant and dependant from this is a cloth strip with tassels at the bottom.

When the weary man with a "skating rink" expense upon his cranium sinks into the chair and rocks gently, the cloth flops back and forth, brushing fly pests from his crown while the tassels protect the sides of his head and his ears from the insect annoyance.

At the same time the device fans the air over the bald spot into soothing wave currents.

A mustache spoon, which enables a man with a heavily decorated upper lip to sip soup in comfort without benighting his shirt front, is also the invention of a woman.

So are several varieties of mustache guards, a patent cuspidor and an umbrella that becomes a cane in fair weather.

FAIL TO IMPROVE CIGARS.

Women have patented cigarette machines, but it would seem that the feminine fancy went too far when it undertook to evolve an "improvement" in cigars by soaking them in an extract of pine needles "in order to take away that nasty taste." Yet such an "improvement," so called, may be found in the Patent Office.

Another woman, believing that anything that would "make smoke" should prove acceptable to lovers of the weed, proposed to manufacture cigars from eucalyptus leaves, so that a pleasant taste might be left in the mouth.

Not a few designs—some of them cleverly contrived—of fire escapes are credited to inventive women. Others have planned motors for sewing machines and other domestic aids; a thermometer fire alarm, which gives its warning when the temperature reaches a certain figure, a balcony that may be carried from one house to another and adjusted, a thread cutter that is fastened to the thumb, a furnace that generates heat by means of chemicals instead of ordinary fuel, and a great many similar contrivances.

Some of the inconveniences and annoyances of travel have caused women to cast about for ideas of improvement. Augusta M. Rodgers, of Brooklyn, devised a locomotive attachment to consume cinders. By this, smoke and cinders are confined in the stack, the top of which is covered by a cap.

The engineer can lift the cap at any time by means of a rope connection, a running back to the cap, sparks and cinders drop back into the fire and are carried along to the rear of the engine, where they are dumped upon the track.

A folding carpet, intended to aid invalids, decrepit or aged persons in climbing on or off the platform, is the result of a kind-hearted woman's thought.

Very numerous are the patents that have been issued to women upon novelties in furniture. One piece which appears to be a school desk also contains an organ. With simple manipulation, an innocent-looking sofa is converted into a bathtub.

A lunch basket can be quickly changed into a little table upon which the meal may be spread; a trunk becomes, upon expansion, either a bureau or a writing desk; another trunk may be opened and elongated into a bed. The woman who evolved this masterpiece probably did so after unavailing search for quarters at a crowded summer resort.

One combination presents for service a bathtub or a traveling bag, as desired, and a simple dressing table, when drawn away from the wall, offers a complete bathroom equipment, tub and washstand.

Among the patents which women have secured to protect their inventions are a great many oddities, but there are also a great many ideas of practical usefulness. Feminine ingenuity frequently scores a remarkable success in fields that would seem remote from the consideration of the sex.

In the time of Queen Elizabeth a Parliamentary bill enacted that a speech on one side should always be followed by a speech on the other.

The ovator is not much larger than the head of a pin when a fortnight old. At the end of four years growth it is fit for the market. Oysters live from twelve to fifteen years.

The Last Bachelor Vanderbilt, Who Will Capture Him? Two Beauties Already Reported Engaged to Harold, Still in School

Harold Vanderbilt, the last bachelor in that family

Miss Eleanor Sears, whose engagement to Harold Vanderbilt was recently rumored

Miss Violet Cruger, once reported engaged to Harold Vanderbilt

HAS Cupid captured the only Vanderbilt who has been industriously pursuing his wife Miss Kathleen Nelson?

Rumor has it that the heart and fortunes of young Harold S. Vanderbilt, probably the greatest "catch" of the day, have been placed at the feet of beautiful Miss Eleanor Sears, of Boston. The report has not been denied, and has stirred, like a summer whirlwind, the fashionable circles of New York and Newport.

The Vanderbilt family has brought to the matrimonial mart the richest prizes of this or any other generation. Its members have untold millions; they also have hearts.

Not one of them but has found snarles laid for him by ambitious suitors, yet each has developed his own tender heart romance and wedded the woman of his un-influenced choice. One by one they have been removed from the list of eligible wealthy bachelors until only young Harold remains.

If he, too, as is asserted, is soon to join the ranks of the blissfully mated, there will be many a pang of disappointed ambition.

YOUNGEST son of William K. Vanderbilt, the pleasant-featured and amiable young man will inherit a large share of his father's colossal fortune, and, doubtless, will be the beneficiary to the extent of several millions, more through the testamentary affection of his mother, now Mrs. O. E. P. Edmont.

His brother, William K. Vanderbilt, Jr., and his sister, the Duchess of Marlborough, will, of course, share in the extensive patrimony, although it is generally believed that a large part of the sister's portion has already been settled upon her in order that the impoverished Marlborough estates may be maintained in suitable magnificence.

The four other Vanderbilt boys of Harold's generation all married before their twenty-fifth birthday, and there is little surprise that he is reported to be about to follow their example.

His brother, William K. Jr., cheer for a bride Miss Virginia Fair, sister of Mrs. Herman Oelrichs and part mistress to the Fair millions. Of his three cousins, sons of Cornelius Vanderbilt, Cornelius, the eldest, married Miss Grace Wilson; Alfred G. Vanderbilt wedded Miss Elsie French and Reginald C. Vanderbilt took for his wife Miss Kathleen Nelson.

Miss Eleanor Sears, pointed out by rumor—which made no mistake in predicting the matrimonial selections of the other Vanderbilts—as the future Mrs. Harold Sterling Vanderbilt is wise enough through nature's gifts to win the heart of a millionaire.

But she has wealth of her own—at least, her parents are well supplied with the world's goods—and, in addition, her family stands at the very tip of the pinnacle of Boston's exclusive set.

She is regarded as one of the most eminently fitted girls in the country from the view point of the social register for a Vanderbilt marry.

Although still young—only 23—Harold Vanderbilt has given the impression to this time that he was in no haste to select a wife—the matrimonial dragnet has been set for him since the days when he was preparing for college.

Three years ago it was believed that his tender affections had been ensnared by charming Violet Cruger, of New York, whose mother was a bosom friend of Mrs. Vanderbilt's—now Mrs. Belmont—when they were reigning belles together in Mobile.

When this report took its winged flight through deeply interested social circles Harold, Vanderbilt, was a student at Southboro, Mass. Among his fellow-students and school friends was a brother of Miss Cruger.

It was remarked that whenever young Vanderbilt returned to New York he was a frequent visitor to the home of his friend—and, incidentally, the home of his friend's sister, Violet Cruger.

One winter, when the Crugers joined the fashionable colony at Hot Springs, Va., Harold led the preparatory school with a tutor and hurriedly withdrew.

He was permitted to remain there and study, and, of course, he and Miss Cruger saw much of each other. He remained aloof from the "other boys" of the winter.

But the months and years passed, and there was no announcement of a coming Vanderbilt-Cruger wedding.

Leaving the preparatory school, the young man entered Harvard, besides devoting himself to his studies with commendable industry he took a deep interest in sports, and became one of the assistant managers of the Crimson football squad.

Democratic in manner and voted a thoroughly good fellow, he made hosts of warm friends at the university and was generally popular. But no one knew him to manifest more than a passing interest in even the most attractive of the opposite sex.

This summer, however, it is declared, has proved his heart's undoing. It was supposed that he would lose his heart some time, but he had been going about it in such care-free fashion that hopeful matrons with marriageable daughters did not despair.

For it was this summer that he met the beautiful Boston girl into whose keeping report has consigned his future.

A joyous, pellicking, healthy girl, Miss Sears loves the open-air life. Last season she shocked her friends at Newport by announcing her intention of swimming from Balloy's to Eagle's Beach. The distance of four miles was covered in three and a half hours.

Miss Sears is careless about protecting herself from the sun. She has gathered a spot of tan, and her athletic arms wear a decided copper hue, but her cheeks are as brown as berries.

Father, it is well that the Vanderbilts are so young—such a rich prize dangling too long before envious eyes might result in a sad state of affairs.

That all the Vanderbilts marriages of the men, at least, have resulted from love and have turned out happily is probably a greater source of surprise to the circles in which they move. But why should not a millionaire marry for love alone? Especially if he lacks only one thing in life—a poor relation.

Even younger than Harold was his brother, William K. Vanderbilt, Jr., when he led Miss Virginia Fair to the altar seven years ago. There was no objection to this match, and the bride added a few millions to the many in possession of her husband.

But before that event the loyalty of the Vanderbilts to the dictates of their hearts had been strikingly demonstrated by an older cousin of these young men, Cornelius Vanderbilt, who quietly accepted virtual disinheritance and gave up the leadership of his house to wed the woman he loved.

Miss Grace Wilson was a handsome, accomplished and in every way an attractive girl, and there was no reason that the world could comprehend why she should not be a fitting mate for the eldest heir of that branch of the Vanderbilt family. But Cornelius Vanderbilt, the elder, set his face firmly against his son's choice.

"You may marry her," he stated sternly to the young man just out of college, "but if you do so, you must forgo your place in the Vanderbilt line and your share of the family fortune. That is all."

Having already won the heart of the charming girl and the consent of her parents, young Cornelius did not hesitate a moment in deciding upon his course. Straightway he proceeded to the home of his fiancée and asked to see her father, Richard T. Wilson.

"Mr. Wilson," he began, without waste of words, "I have received your permission to marry your daughter. When you gave it to me I had expectations of a considerable fortune."

"My father has just informed me that if I marry Grace he will practically disinherit me. That does not change my intentions, of course, but I wish you to know just how matters stand, so that if you object to a poor son-in-law you may make those objections known."

"The usualness of the young fellow appealed to the gray-haired banker. "My boy," he replied, "I am glad you have come to me with this statement. If the change in your prospects doesn't worry you, I guess it will not matter to Grace, and I am sure it won't make the slightest difference to me. If you cannot earn enough to support two, I guess I have enough for us all."

Miss Wilson took the same view of the matter as her father, and the couple were married in the summer of 1899. It has been a happy union in every respect.

CUT OFF WITH $1,500,000.

The elder Vanderbilt, however, made good his threat. At his death it was found that he had bequeathed bulk of his fortune, nearly $5,000,000, to his second son, Alfred G. The eldest son received but half a million outright and a full million in trust, the principal to go to his children at his death.

Alfred Vanderbilt proved generous and handed over to his brother about $600,000 of the "big" share of the estate that had come to him, so that after all Cornelius and his handsome bride were by no means penniless.

This fortune, modest for a Vanderbilt, has been largely increased through the industry and excellent business judgment of the young man. From three inventions for the improvement of steam locomotives and from several improvements upon the inventions of others he also derives a large income.

It was in 1901 that the next romance in the family culminated at the altar. Very brilliant was the wedding at Newport of Alfred G. Vanderbilt, by virtue of his father's will the head of the house, and Miss Elsie French, whose pretty face and charming ways had captured the heart of the young millionaire.

Alfred Vanderbilt was then 23 years old and his bride was two years younger. Their courtship had been ardent, and had been watched with the deepest interest by the select circles of the entire country.

When Reginald C. Vanderbilt, the youngest of the house, met his fate the following year (if the person of Miss Kathleen Nelson knowing ones predicted that the wedding would not be long delayed and it was not), the match was vigorously opposed by the young man's mother, who thought her son too young to marry, as he was barely twenty-one.

More of a "high roller" than any of his name was Reginald Vanderbilt, reputed to be, and his escapades had worried his family not a little.

PRINCESS HENRY OF BATTENBURG REGRETS DAUGHTERS' MARRIAGE.

Her friends declare that she is worried over union of Princess with Alfonso, of Spain—Opposition to Kings' Wife increasing at the Spanish Court.

Special to the Sun. (By Paul Lambeth.) (Copyright, 1906, by the Hearst News Service.)

LONDON, Sept. 25.—The intimate friends of Princess Henry of Battenburg declare that she is now beginning to regret more than ever that her daughter, Princess Ena, made the Spanish royal match. Under the circumstances, the princess is said to have carried away more or less by the extremely apparent devotion of the king to her, the latter's consideration for her, and the fact that she is the only daughter of the king.

There are persistent whispers along the court that the duke's affection for his daughter is now beginning to wane.

American women and Scotch women are said to be the greatest admirers of the princess. The princess is said to be a very popular figure in the court. Her friends declare that she is now beginning to regret more than ever that her daughter, Princess Ena, made the Spanish royal match.

RACE WAR IN SOUTH; TEN LIVES SACRIFICED

Scores have been injured in Atlanta. Several of Whom Cannot Recover—Negro Assaults on White Women Began the Trouble—Mob Led on to Frenzy by Sensational Papers—Militia Called Out.

Atlanta, Ga., Sept. 23.—In the 24 hours since a race war of no mean proportions began in Atlanta, at least ten lives have been sacrificed and the number of injured will be at least forty.

The assaults of the day followed two others of a similar nature within 24 hours. At midnight Governor Terrell issued an order calling out eight companies of the fifth infantry and one battery of light artillery. This order was not issued until three negroes had been killed and fifteen taken to the hospital, five of whom will die.

CAVADIAN NEWS

HALIFAX, Sept. 25.—O. E. Smith, of Yarmouth, was killed by falling from a window in the house of Mrs. Arthur Russell street, where he was a boarder.

Smith had come to Halifax on Saturday for the Dominion Exhibition. Whether his death is suicide or accidental is not known. The man had been drinking.

In his pocket was his card as representing C. & E. McMichael, 40 Dock street, St. John, and a book of rules for employees of the St. John Street Railway.

Smith went down town Saturday night and returned home at 11. He went to his room, the window of which was six or eight feet high. He was a young man of the house, and went in to stare on the bed partially undressed. The young man left him there and retired.

Nothing more was heard till 6 o'clock this morning when a passerby saw the body of a dead man on the sidewalk. He raised an alarm when it was found that the body was that of Smith.

Whether he had thrown himself out of the window or fallen out no one knows.

Yarmouth will be communicated with in the morning. Smith is said to have had a wife and four children.

FIFTY YEARS IN C. OF E. MINISTRY. Rev. C. W. Pickett of Oak Point, Presented With Two Addresses and $100 In Gold. Rev. David W. Pickett of Oak Point on Friday completed fifty years of service in the Anglican church. The anniversary was the occasion of two happy gatherings. One was the meeting of the Kingston rural deanery at Osgooshow on Thursday afternoon and Friday morning, and the other a gathering of Mr. Pickett's former parishioners at his own home at Oak Point on Friday evening. At both the venerable pastor was heartily congratulated on his anniversary, and was also given tangible evidence of the good will of the people towards him when he was presented with a purse containing $100 in gold. At the rural deanery meeting at the rectory at Gagetown, the visiting clergymen were entertained at dinner at the rectory, and the rural dean, Rev. C. F. Hamilton, presented Rev. Mr. Pickett with a bouquet of fifty beautiful roses, emblematic of his fifty years of service for the Master. Several of the clergymen present spoke, heartily congratulating Rev. Mr. Pickett on his anniversary, and his long and successful connection with the church, and to all the expressions of good will he feelingly responded. At the meeting of the deanery on Friday morning he was presented with an address signed by every minister in the deanery. Rev. Mr. Pickett returned to his home, and in the evening he was waited upon by many of his former parishioners, led by the present pastor, Rev. Mansel Shevan, who read an address signed by 124 names. To the Rev. D. W. Pickett, M. A., Dear Sir:—We, your old parishioners and friends, gathered here to congratulate you on the fiftieth anniversary of your ordination to the sacred office of priest in the church of God. We are glad that the Master may grant you many years to bless and cheer the way to Him, and beg that you will accept the accompanying purse as a small token of our esteem and affection and for what you have done for us, and we are Yours sincerely, Greenwich, N. B., Sept. 21, 1906. The present Oak Point church was built in 1836. It is the third built on the same site, the two previous ones having been destroyed by fire. Rev. A. H. Cady, at present rector of White Horse, Yukon, succeeded him as rector at Oak Point and on his retirement to take up missionary work in the Yukon, some years ago the present incumbent, Rev. Mansel Shevan, son of B. T. P. Shevan, of this city, succeeded him.

DETAILED PLANS FOR AN INVASION OF CUBA FORMULATED. Greater Activity in U.S. Army and Navy Than at Any Time Since War With Spain. WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—Vigorous work is on the programme in preparation for any possible eventualities of the trouble in Cuba. There is greater activity in both the army and the navy than at any time since the war with Spain. Careful and systematic arrangements are being made in every branch of the military service for active work in the field. A formidable fleet of American warships already is in Cuban waters and the army only awaits the signal from President Roosevelt to move it in force to Cuba. Detailed plans for an invasion of Cuba have already been worked out by the general staff of the army. When Gen. Frederick Funston left Washington this afternoon for Havana he knew precisely by what troops would be ordered to Cuba in the event of a decision by the president in favor of armed intervention; how these troops would be mobilized; from what parts of the country they would embark for the island, and what means the government had secured for the transportation of the invading forces. It was admitted at the war department today that the troops for service in Cuba already had been selected and that they were being prepared for the campaign. No intimation of either the number or present location of the troops, however, was obtainable. In view of the fact that the troops are being prepared for service in Cuba, it is believed that the force detailed for the Cuban campaign will consist of at least 5,000 men and that it will consist of infantry, cavalry and light artillery. It is expected that the troops if ordered to Cuba, will be mobilized at Norfolk and Newport News and a part of them possibly at Fort Tampa, Fla. While the war department has not at present authorized the purchase of a coast sufficient number of transports to carry an expeditionary force of five thousand men, it has arranged to use for the transportation of the troops several of the harbor boats and motor launches which are able to carry about 300 men and their necessary equipment and supplies. The three great supply bureaus of the war department, the quartermaster, commissaries and medical, are prepared to take care of the army, and all of them are now engaged in working out the details of an expedition. Horses and mules are being purchased in the west and medical and subsistence supplies are being bought in large quantities at some of the eastern depots and anticipatory arrangements for the transportation of troops are being continued. The general staff, aside from determining the number and character of the troops to be employed in Cuba, is also busy with the details of the campaign. Plans have been prepared which cover the latest obtainable information of the topography of the island, and plans have been worked out for the force to be landed in Cuba. It is thought that the force to be landed in Cuba will consist of the Second Cavalry, the first squadron of the Third Cavalry, and the Seventh and Twentieth Battalions of Field Artillery would next week and the week after make an overland march of about 200 miles. These are just the sort of troops which would be utilized in a Cuba campaign, and it is thought they may be hurried east at the event of a decision to invade Cuba. R. C. Rouse of the War Department and senior naval officer here, said today that while the American warships now in the harbor could land four thousand men he did not believe that more than 2400 men would be necessary to force a landing had to be effected. The force here includes a special brigade of one thousand marines. Landing drills will be held on the ships today. All the men are ready for instant landing with full camp equipments, ammunition and supplies for two days. The commanders of the warships say that the landing of the expedition could be accomplished in 15 minutes. In case of necessity the battleships would remain at anchor while cruisers demonstrated nearer shore to protect the landing parties. The Cleveland sailed from here today for Cienfuegos. The Minneapolis came in from Philadelphia and the Newark from Norfolk. MONCTON, N. B., Sept. 23.—After lying for a month unconscious and recognizing no one, Kenneth A. McLean, the well known local merchant, died last evening. While sitting in his home a month ago he was suddenly stricken with a pain in his head and became unconscious. He was conveyed to his bed and lingered for a month able to take only little nourishment and passed away Saturday evening. The cause of his illness is not known exactly but he is believed to be due to a complication of brain and kidney troubles. Deceased was forty-six years of age and had lived in Moncton all his life. He conducted a grocery business on Main street and was a highly esteemed citizen. Besides a widow and five children, several brothers and sisters survive, one of the latter being Mrs. Daniel McLean of St. John, whose husband is on the composing staff of the Telegraph. Murdoch McLean, of St. John, is a brother and one son is Edward, of the I. C. R., who has been a student at the U. N. B. Mrs. John Wilbur, a well known resident at Gorges, near Moncton, died night shortly before six o'clock after two months' illness. Mrs. Wilbur had been at the point of death for the past several days. She sank into a trance early Saturday morning when it was thought she had passed away and telegrams to her sons were dispatched. She revived and sank into another trance and this occurred several times until death came this evening. She was seventy-two years of age. MONCTON PARTIES TO WED. MONCTON, Sept. 23.—The wedding is announced to take place on October 17th of James C. Sheeran, 1. C. R. soldier, to Miss Alice Woodman, daughter of Thomas Woodman, of this city. DOMINION EXHIBITION OPENED AT HALIFAX; SPLENDID EXHIBIT. HALIFAX, N. S., Sept. 22.—The Dominion Exhibition was formally opened on Saturday afternoon by Lieut.-Governor Fraser. The weather was perfect and over two thousand persons witnessed the opening proceedings which took place in front of the grand stand. This show is the biggest ever held in eastern Canada. Every department is filled to overflowing, some notable exhibits being those from the British West Indies and from the provinces of Alberta and Saskatchewan. The art exhibit, mines and fisheries are very fine, the latter being made particularly attractive by a display of live fish in tanks and live lobsters in glass cases. The display of products of the field and farm is bigger and better than ever, the fruit show being very fine. The live stock show surpasses anything ever seen here, there being over six hundred horses and eight hundred head of cattle housed on the grounds, some of which are from Quebec and Ontario. Famous flocks of sheep are shown and the entire exhibit is fully up to the standard. In the poultry department over 1200 birds are exhibited. Following the opening ceremonies on Saturday the horse show took place and in several of the classes competition was very keen. A nine days' speed carnival will open on Monday with three races. CANADA A FIELD FOR EMIGRANTS WAS DISGUSTED. Hon. Frank Oliver Speaks on Feeling Abroad. Seven People Attended Civic Reception in Calgary. Strong Sentiment in Favor of the Dominion, He Says—Good Class of Immigrants Expected. Vice Royalty is Mere Incident Says the Herald—New Conservative Paper for Toronto—A Big Fire. OTTAWA, Sept. 23.—The Canadian minister of interior, Hon. Frank Oliver, returned to Ottawa Saturday. For the past two months he has been in Europe looking into the immigration machinery which is under his department. Mr. Oliver returns well satisfied with Canada's prospects for continuing to receive a large volume of the best class of immigrants. He stated to your correspondent that he had found a general sentiment in favor of Canada as a field for emigrants prevailing among all departments. The Dominion is favored in British opinion over foreign countries and over British colonies as a place for the man who wants to make a home for himself in a new land. The feeling in favor of Canada, Mr. Oliver says, will result in our receiving not only British immigrants of the best class, but will have a beneficial effect upon Canadian trade with the motherland. The minister states there is no intention of relieving the effort to obtain these immigrants on the contrary, the machinery is more likely to be strengthened. Mr. Oliver said he found no evidence of British ignorance of Canadian resources and conditions. On the contrary he was surprised to find how much all classes he met knew about Canada. Speaking of continental immigration Mr. Oliver said he had been in Belgium, France and Holland, Canada has immigration agents in the two former countries. From France a small immigration of good class was coming and might be expected to increase. Belgium was becoming more crowded and Canada should soon be getting a share of the overflow of that country. Holland, like the Scandinavian countries, and Austria-Hungary have laws which are designed to discourage emigration. However, there is immigration to be obtained from all those countries. Steamship lines from North Sea ports are in a conference and have an arrangement which makes it to their interest to direct immigration to Brazil, Canada in at some disadvantage there, but there is some immigration bound to come as the advantages of this country cannot be obscured. The Dominion last year increased its consumption of beer and tobacco but drank less spirits than the year before. For the year ending June 30 the consumption of beer was 8,667 gallons, of spirits 327 gallons, wine .098 gallons and 2,921 gallons of tobacco per head. ST. CATHERINES, Ont., Sept. 23.—John S. McClelland, a well known newspaper man and a flat earth theorist, died early this morning at the hospital here, after a long illness from pneumonia, aged 54. For years he edited the Star here. Before that he had charge of the New York state Associated Press. HAVERHILL, Mass., Sept. 21.—The boat between Harry Edels, of Chelsea, and Arthur Cote, of Biddeford, was called off tonight after a few rounds of boxing. Both men fouled at the same time, according to the referee, and the boat was stopped. CASTORIA. The Kind You Have Always Bought Bears the Signature of
