PRESENTATION TO REV. N. FRANCHETTI

Masonic Brethren Meet for Social Evening and Give Departing
Brother a Genuine Surprise

On Tuesday evening local members of the Masonic Order made a farewell party in honor of their brother, Rev. N. Franchetti, who leaves this week to take up the work in Edmundston. The event was a neatly executed surprise. Rev. and Mrs. Franchetti, together with Rev. and Mrs. Haigh were invited to dine at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Kyle. Later, they were guests of their hosts at the movies. When they returned to the Kyle home, they found there a large company of brother Masons and their ladies. A brief time was spent in social chatter, after which delightful refreshments were served.

Mayor Kelly acted as toast master, and the first toast, "To the King," was responded to by the National Anthem; the toast of "Our Ladies" was responded to by Rev. W. P. Haigh and C. N. Stevens; and "Our Returned Men," by Gordon McBurney, Dr. Macintosh, and Wendell Teddie; "The Masons," by J. H. McCollom and D. A. Campbell. Mr. McCollom spoke in a particularly touching manner, touching reverently the note of sadness that necessarily prevailed because of the recent death of their brother, Dr. Curtis, and the recent bereavement of their brother R. J. Potts. He gave due respect to the greatness of the Order, and spoke appreciatively of the splendid community work which Rev. and Mrs. Franchetti had carried on during their eight years residence here. The toast of "Our Guest" was coupled with the name of Mr. Franchetti, but before he could rise Mr. Kyle took the floor, and read the following address:

Rev. and Mrs. Franchetti:

You, our brother, and your good wife, came to live with us about eight years ago, and through your kindness, steadfastness and untiring efforts have greatly endeared yourself to one and all in our community. At the time of your first coming we knew that your church was weak in both membership and finances, and that your flock had no suitable place of worship. We witnessed that you at once began to work for the upbuilding of the church. All your energy was thrown into the work, and we must all congratulate you on the result of your efforts.

From one of your parishioners we learned that at the time of your arrival here the assets of your church were not more than $500, and that today the church property is worth more than $7,000. Your beautiful church, the architectural design of which will forever stand a monument to your self, must be a blessing to your people as well as an ornament to the town. We know that numerically your congregation was weak, and that during your charge the number of communicants has been doubled. We honor you, our brother, for your achievement in your chosen work.

We have also witnessed that your efforts were not confined exclusively to your own people, and everybody who was in need of help could depend on you. When we think of the long drives that have been taken in all conditions of weather to reach the outlying districts in which our brother ministered, while we were sitting beside the fire at home or taking a few steps to a comfortable seat in a warm church, we stop to wonder how you had the courage to carry on.

Your most worthy helpmate has endeared herself to all by her cheerfulness and willingness to help the needy, and we cannot let the occasion pass without mentioning the work performed by her during the dreadful influenza epidemic. She has always been found where her efforts would do the most good and relieve the most suffering, and always without financial remuneration. We shall not forget that your ministrations were ever willingly expended to those outside the fold of your own church as well as to those within. When there was sickness or death or sorrow in any form the townspeople have grown to expect the Rev. and Mrs. Franchetti to be on the ground when any others got there.

We might say a great deal more but will content ourselves by saying that your church and those of us outside your church will greatly miss you. As a material expression of our esteem and in appreciation of yourself and your good wife, we beg to present you herewith this small purse, with the best wishes of your Masonic brothers and their ladies.

LOCKARD-TOMPKINS

A very pretty wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Lockard, Maple Ridge, on Wednesday evening, April 20, at 8 o'clock, when their youngest daughter Elizabeth Pearl was united in marriage to Melvin Tompkins of Cabano, Que. in the presence of the near relatives of the contracting parties. The ceremony was performed by Rev. H. O. Archer, the bride party standing beneath an arch of green. The bride was becomingly attired in white satin, with veil and blossoms. Phoebe Blaney, the little niece of the bride acted as flower girl and carried a very pretty bouquet of carnations. After the ceremony the company sat down to a sumptuous repast. The happy couple left the next day for Fredericton where they will spend a few days before going to their new home at Glen-dyne, Que. Mr. Tompkins was formerly from Carleton county. The best wishes of their many friends go with them.

THE WHY OF POTATOES

The potato market is more than gone to the bow wows. It is said, in fact, that there is practically no demand at all. The view taken by some is that people have stopped eating potatoes because they are so cheap that a man is ashamed to be caught eating them. With the tubers at 40 a barrel the case was not so, and it was a mark of social distinction to be a potato eater.—Star Herald.

ALBINO DEER—A GAME LAW LAW SUGGESTION

(St. John Standard)

Sir:—The recent discussion of our game laws in the legislature and the public press indicates that it is a many sided subject of public interest and concern. The writer is desirous of offering a suggestion on the general question especially as bearing relation to Grand Manan and adjacent islands and our albino deer.

Almost every year when the hunting season opens, cases are reported in the public press of hunters killing white or albino deer. The white deer is no doubt a freak or sport of nature and in species is likely identical with the ordinary red deer of our forests. It is nevertheless a great curiosity and strenuous laws should be enacted for their protection. The comparative frequency of the occurrence of albino deer in New Brunswick might suggest something in our climate and surroundings favorable to this peculiarity. This suggests the possibility, by protection and segregation, of developing a distinct albino type. The idea should be of sufficient interest to naturalists and scientists to warrant a trial. If successful it would be of considerable scientific importance, would add to the attractions of the province and incidentally might be of considerable monetary value by way of a special and higher license to kill when plentiful or to reserve for special sales to museums and parks.

My suggestion is that it be made illegal to kill albino deer at any time and that the government co-operate with the Natural History Society in securing alive and segregating all possible albino varieties in the province. These, at first, would, necessarily, be few in number and could be confined, for observation, in an enclosure naturally adapted to their life. Perhaps a section of Rockwood Park, St. John, might suit this temporary purpose. Here they could breed; red fawns could be eliminated and additions made as new albinos were found.

In the meantime the common deer on Grand Manan and other islands could be allowed to be killed by the inhabitants (under the law) until exterminated, providing the albino experiment gave promise of ultimate success. Thus assured the albino herd, now considerably increased, would be transferred to the islands there to increase under natural conditions. It would no doubt, require some years to fix and thoroughly establish a pure albino type; and for many years, probably, the majority of fawns would be red. These the inhabitants would be permitted to shoot before they come to breeding age.

I, and others, would like to see the Natural History Society take the question up with the government with a view to carrying out the suggestions here made. At least some steps should be taken to save from complete extermination the albino deer we now have in our forests.

Yours very truly,
F. A. WIGHTMAN.

"YES." "And is that correct what is said about Dr. Chase's Nerve Food?" "Yes, it is absolutely true." "But why do you recommend it?" "For two very good reasons. First, because it fully restored my health and strength when I was weak, wornout and very greatly discouraged, and second, because I believe it is a duty as well as a pleasure to let other women know about so superior a treatment." "I never used Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, but I got interested in that Woman's Advertising Contest they had, and nearly every woman I met seemed to be talking about it. I was nervous, irritable, restless and sleepless. Thought sometimes I would go out of my mind from worry and depressed spirits. I need not tell you how well I am now. You can see for yourself. No doubt it will be of interest to the many friends and relatives here of Mr. Frank White of Fort Fairfield to know that he recently passed through a very serious operation in the Carney Hospital in Boston and a letter received by a friend, from Mrs. White who accompanied him stated that he was doing as well as could be expected.

Lift off Corns!

Doesn't hurt a bit and Frezzone costs only a few cents.

With your finger! You can lift off any hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and the hard skin calluses from bottom of foot.

A tiny bottle of "Frezzone" costs little of any drug store; apply a few drops upon the corn or callus. Instantly it starts bubbling, then shortly you lift that bothersome corn or callus right off, red and all, without one bit of pain or soreness. Truly! No humbug!

What's a Guarantee?

Our idea of a guarantee is that the manufacturer who gives one—which hasn't any tags and loopholes—believes in his product.

So much so that he stands ready to make good any loss suffered by the purchaser through defective material or workmanship.

It's mainly because of the guarantee that goes with them that we are selling and recommending Ames Holden "Auto-Shoes."

Of course, we know they give the cheapest mileage too—that they are dependable tires for any make of car, anywhere. But it's the guarantee that we talk about most. It's the straight and clean-cut, without time or mileage limits. It shifts our responsibility on to the manufacturer and he lives up to every letter of it. Come in and let us tell you about the guarantee that goes with

HARD TIMES

The Farmers are the "Founders of Civilization and Prosperity"—Daniel Webster.

We hear on every hand a lament from the farmers at the fallen prices of their produce. High prices with the producers are called good times but in our towns and cities, which outnumber the rural district, bad times. I know the producer will say the worker in the towns and cities gets big pay, which has been also true, but where one producer was feeling good quite a number of consumers were feeling the pinch of high cost of living. The low price of potatoes and the prospect of the future cannot be solved just now. If the duty on foreign potatoes put on by U. S. government is kept on a great protest from the towns and cities of U. S. A. may be expected against what will be termed a bread tax. Taxing luxuries may be all right but taxing the necessities of life is not likely to be regarded in the same light.

Many of the most prosperous and progressive farmers of Aroostook, Me., grow wheat, mostly red or white ale, after potatoes on high land that has been heavily fertilized and well cultivated, and follow up the practice right along. The advantages in growing wheat are many. This climate and land will grow wheat as well as the north-west. The seed should be treated by formaldehyde or vitriol to prevent smut. Wheat should not be cut when in the milk or dough, but get hard kernel or berry and then allow 7 or 10 days in the field so that the wind and sun gets the sap from the straw and moisture from inside the kernel. It hauled in too quickly, although apparently dry, the moisture will cause a sweet and too heavy percentage is bad for the keeping quality of flour middlings and bran. The only way to ripen and cure wheat properly is by doing it with wind and sunshine in the field. I have ground wheat up here, north, more than 16 years and in favorable seasons have found it to weigh as high as 64 lbs. imperial bushel, and weight means quality. From wheat you get flour, middlings and bran—all good feed. The same cannot be said of barley and oats as the hull of either does not carry much feeding value. Wheat is all feed and will fill the place of barley with better results. Although not quite so many bushels per acre the extra weight will compensate. Barley is bad to handle, more easily damaged by rain and generally gets mixed with other grain and makes it difficult to find good clean seed wheat. I know our seasons are not always favorable. Last year we had heavy rain storms and our low lands are subject to rust. But the north-west has its troubles and does not grow all No. 1, 2 or 3 wheat, but often has a lot of off-grade seed wheat. We now have a number of good roller mills within easy hauling.

MRS. EZEKIEL GREEN

The community of Summerfield and surrounding section were saddened on hearing of the death of Mrs. Ezekiel Green which took place at her late residence on Wednesday, April 20, after a lingering illness. Mrs. Green never fully recovered from an attack of the flu which developed into tuberculosis with the above fatal result notwithstanding all that medical skill and faithful nursing could do. She was in her 61st year of age.

The late Mrs. Green was one of those excellent women whom to know was to respect and love. Her cheerful disposition and kindly heart made her a general favorite with all classes. Her many acts of kindness were proverbial and will be greatly missed. Her Christian faith was simple, yet strong and unflinching and giving her complete resignation and assurance to the last moments of her life. Her parting testimony was "He doeth all things well."

The funeral held on Friday the 22nd and conducted by her pastor, Rev. F. A. Wightman, was largely attended by friends from far and near. After a brief service at the home, funeral service was held in the Methodist church which was most appropriate and impressive. The church was packed to capacity bearing testimony to the popularity of the deceased. Mrs. Green leaves to mourn a sorrowing husband who has the sympathy of the community, besides a wide circle of relatives and friends of cherished memory.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our great appreciation and thanks to our many friends, who showed such ready sympathy to us in the death of our beloved father.

We wish to particularly thank the members of the choir for the music which gave us so much comfort.

New Brunswick Farmer and Lumberman Has Health Completely Restored by Tanlac

"I don't believe there is another medicine that could have done what Tanlac did for me," said Harry L. Babkirk, farmer and lumberman of Elgin, Albert County, N. B.

"After I had the 'flu' winter before last I didn't seem able to get my strength back. My appetite was so poor I ate no breakfast at all and didn't eat much at any meal. I lost weight and strength steadily, and while I tried to work, I would play out in a few hours and have to go home. This kept up so long I grew despondent, and it was certainly welcome news to me when I heard how Tanlac was helping so many people who were troubled like I was."

"I found everything good said about this medicine was true. I had been only taking it a short time when I could see big change. I was soon eating a hearty breakfast and had a big appetite all the time. By the time I had finished four bottles I had gained seventeen pounds in weight. I even got rid of nagging cough that bothered me for a long time."

"I feel fine now, and can do a big day's work every day in the week and still feel fresh and strong. I don't intend to get run-down this winter, so I am buying another bottle of Tanlac as a safe guard. I think this grand medicine should be in every home."

OBITUARY

Much sympathy is extended to Mr. and Mrs. Morley C. Milbury in the loss of their youngest son, baby George, who died at their home, Wicklow, on April 17, aged 17 months and 17 days. Although he had been ill for some weeks he was not considered dangerously so, but complications ended in meningitis which finished its work in a few hours and the little sufferer was freed from earthly pain, and left the loving parents and little older brother, Jack Connelly, with an aching empty void in the home. He was an unusually bright, sturdy little chap.

The funeral services were conducted at the home and afterward at the U. B. church, Wicklow, by the pastor, C. O. Howlett, B. A., B. D., on Tuesday, April 19. He spoke from the words "Suffer little children to come unto me." The choir sang "God will take care of you" at the house and "Scatter seeds of kindness." "Safe in the arms of Jesus," "Shall we gather at the river" and a hymn from the "Calvary Selection" "Long Home" at the church. The pall bearers were Gordon Tweedie and Mac Olmstead. The flowers were very beautiful. He was laid to rest in the Wicklow cemetery beside his great grand parents and other of the family relatives.

HARTLAND, N. B., APRIL 28, 1921.

WHY NOT HAVE

ELECTRIC POWER?

In reply to a question asked in the Legislature by R. K. Tracey, M. L. A., the Government stated that "The New Brunswick Electric Power Commission are considering a plan to provide light and power for Centerville, Florenceville, Hartland, Bristol and Bath by purchasing electric current from the Maine and New Brunswick Electric Power Company . . . probably at Bridgewater, and build a transmission line across to Florenceville, thence up and down the St. John Valley. Before such work is undertaken it will be necessary to make a canvass to ascertain whether sufficient revenue can be obtained to pay interest and overhead expenses at a reasonable price to the consumers, such transmission line would be a link in the Government's proposed power system."

With this assurance from the Government why should it not be a good plan for business men in the villages mentioned to organize a local company with a nominal capital stock and ask the Government to guarantee bonds for the immediate construction of the line? With the line in operation the government would be secured by the line itself and the patronage that would be established by the time the Government had become ready to take it over and attach the line to some other source of power. Plainly the first thing to do is to ascertain the cost of constructing the transmission line, transforming stations at Florenceville and at Hartland, and all necessary costs of the current available to consumers. At the same time there must be learned if power is available from the Maine and New Brunswick Co., how much, and at what price per kilowatt hour. Then, as soon as the cost of current to the consumer can be figured out, a thorough canvass of the territory should be made, furnishing prospective patrons with an idea of the cost of meters and probable cost of house wiring, and the cost of current. The canvass should be thorough and sufficient, to prove whether or not the project would be a profitable one.

The Observer urges the business men to get together in a meeting and form a provisional organization, have present men competent to give needed information, and then arrange for the work of learning costs and the market for the product.

Besides furnishing light there is need of power in greater or less amount. There can be little doubt that were electric power available Hartland woodworking factory would run throughout the year instead of standing idle as it does. The Observer conducts a modest business, and does not require great force of power, but requires it steadily, and at present the cost is considerably in excess of $1,000 a year—for gasoline and the great amount of time required to keep gas-run machines in order. Within 50 miles there is a printing office similarly equipped as The Observer, and the proprietor stated a few days ago that his power did not cost him $25 a year, and he had it on the turn of a switch at any hour of the 24, and never any trouble with looking after the machinery that made the power.

This paper will be very pleased to announce a meeting of those interested in the project for the preliminary work of finding costs and market.

IT'S UP TO SOMEBODY TO MOVE IN THE MATTER!

CARLETON COUNTY PATRONAGE

G. W. Upham spent a few days last week at his home on Broadway. Mr. Upham when interviewed in regard to patronage in Carleton county replied that he had been informed of being nominated at a meeting held in Woodstock as the third man on the committee and wishes to thank his many friends for the confidence placed in him by so doing, but regretted very much not to have been able to accept as his business in Fredericton requires his attention and he did not expect to be located in Woodstock again until late in the fall. Therefore he was in no way responsible for the handling of the patronage at the present time.—Fredericton correspondence.

THE POOL ROOMS

Dear Editor: I notice a letter in the last issue of the Observer about "Preserving the town's morals" and "closing the pool rooms which are destroying our young men," etc.

As I conduct a pool room and myself frequently play pool, billiards, checkers, and even "the deadly game of dominoes" whose very feet take hold on hell" will you permit me to ask what amusements are provided at the present time for our young people other than the pool rooms, the moving pictures and an occasional dance, that all young people would love to attend, were it not for the really nasty things which some people, evil-hearted and vulgar, say about dancing. Young people are young people but once.

If the anti-pool room advocates have their way and the town fathers close up these "places of iniquity," what do they propose to offer the young men by way of a substitute? It is easy to say to your neighbor, "Thou shalt not use a handkerchief larger than six by six," but it is not so easy to say, "Come over to my clothes line and help yourself." I might say that I have had the advantages of disadvantages of having been "overseas" and it may come as a shock to some of the town moralists that the Y. M. C. A., the Knights of Columbus, and similar organizations, actually furnished pool rooms, bowling alleys, motion pictures, concerts, and, whisper it very gently, even a social dance for the benefit of the men in uniform, for whom—at that time—nothing was too good. And stranger still I know of no soldier boy who was "ruined" by these activities on the part of these Christian organizations.

I wonder if the Y. M. C. A., the K. of C., the Masonic order and even some of the leading churches, are all wrong on the amusement question? Does the last word rest with the anti-amusement element in the town of Hartland?

Why not offer the young people a social dance—something to keep them off the streets? Give the young people a chance. It is a well known fact that Hartland is the laughing stock among the St. John river villages. Why? I wonder also if any of these moralists would be willing to contribute even a single dollar for the moral uplift of the young men in town?

Ninety-nine one hundredths of the sins of Hartland spring into activity outside of pool-rooms.

APPRECIATION

Mr. Stevens: The reading of the last issue of your paper gave me a desire to place a great bunch of dewy violets or sweet pansies on your desk, but as these are not growing in my garden, will you pardon the intrusion of my simple flower of appreciation in the form of this note. I believe hundreds of your readers will feel as I do in regard to your editorial on the passing of Dr. Curtis. I wanted to thank you, for giving expression to our feelings, as you did. It shows a heart allied by nature to his. He was a man after whom we would have our children pattern. He should not be forgotten. These lines from an anonymous writer speak of him to me:

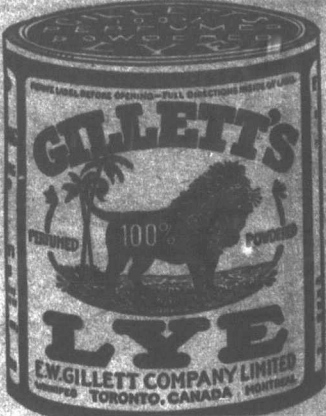

"The great gods pass through the great Time hall,
Stately and high;
The little men climb the little clay wall
To watch them by."
"We wait for the gods," the little men cry.
"But these are our brothers passing by."

The great gods pass through the great Time hall,
With veiled grace;
The little men climb the little clay wall
To bow the face.
"Lo these are our brothers passing by."
"Why tarry the gods?" the little men cry.

The great gods pass through the great Time hall,
But none can see;
The little men nod by the dull clay wall
So tired they be.
"Tis a weary waiting for gods" they yawn,
"There's a world of men, but the gods are gone."

There are great gods today, but we often fail to recognize them—in life—only in death.

CARVELL HAS A TOUGH JOB

Brandon, Man., April 24.—"I'm probably occupying the nastiest position of any man in Canada," said Hon. Frank B. Carvell, chairman of the railway board, in addressing the Canadian Club here Saturday. "It's a case of 'damned if you do and damned if you don't'; you're damned whatever you do. I have been charged by people in the west with being ignorant of western conditions," he said. "It's true I never raised cattle in the west, nor have I grown wheat in the west, but I have in New Brunswick, and there must be some resemblance."

"The railway problem today is of such importance that it should receive the attention of every thinking individual. It is more important than the tariff—more important than any other one problem that I know of."

"It cost $35,000,000 or $40,000,000 more to run the Canadian National Railways last year than they brought in, and that is no reflection on the people at the head of the railroads or on the government. The Canadian National is a conglomerate of a lot of railroads and couldn't run themselves and therefore had to be taken over by the government, and if any one thinks the government or any man can take over these roads and turn them into a dividend paying proposition in a year or so, they are much mistaken."

"I feel that the people are entitled to the facts regarding the railroad condition and I am afraid that a great many people in the west are arguing without having the real facts of the case before them."

"When we come to the Canadian Pacific Railway we have a system that, I have no hesitation in saying, is the finest on the American continent. There never has been any criticism of that railroad reflecting on the honesty or efficiency of its management."

"The railroad came to the commission last summer and said if they were to accept conditions imposed upon them they would go behind $21,000,000 or $22,000,000. They asked a general increase in both passenger and freight rates of forty per cent."

"We didn't come west to consider the matter. It was not necessary. It was purely a question of dollars and cents. I have always felt that the true criterion of a public utility that has not the power to increase its own rates was: 'What does it cost to run the road?' However, I find here that the criterion is 'what do cattle sell for?' 'What does wheat realize per bushel?' Down east I suppose it would be the price realized for pulpwood."

"I suppose I am right in assuming the rates of the Brandon Street Railway have been raised. In fact I think the only place in the world where the street railway rates have not been raised is Toronto and—gentlemen, you ought to see that street railway."

Mr. Carvell said he would not like to give an opinion as to the outlook for the present year, but intimated the Canadian Pacific would be lucky to break even.

LETTER FROM FLORIDA

Mr. Editor: We are still in the beautiful southland, although nearly all of the northern people have gone. I have not met many Canadians—perhaps two or three. One meets people here from nearly every state in the Union. The finest oranges and grape fruit in the world grow here. It is said they are much superior to those grown in California. Oranges retail there at the present time at five cents per dozen. Perhaps all of you know that a box of grapefruit was shipped from here to King George and he expressed much pleasure with the gift—they having arrived in good condition. The Boy Scouts of Florida also shipped a young alligator to the Scouts in Scotland and it is said to be thriving in its new environment. A group of Northern editors have been visiting the coast cities. At Miami they were royally entertained. I wished that some of my editor friends from the extreme north could have been among the number. The southern people are noted for their hospitality. They know the fine art of making a stranger feel at home. A great actress touring the south said "the people here say such nice things and they mean them too." I noticed a lady one day in a hotel coming out on the veranda. Every man sitting there arose to his feet. "Have my chair madam," and I may say that the lady was neither young nor pretty. In some other places, if she had been very young and extremely pretty, perhaps one or two would have offered her a chair.

Miami is a beautiful city, a great tourist resort. Many noted people spend their winters there. William Jennings Bryan has a lovely little home on Biscayne Bay. All winter he taught a large Sunday school class. The church became too small to hold the crowd, so he talked from the grand stand of a large park. Although he is out of the limelight now, it is good to know that he is a devout Christian and believes in the Bible, and exhorts men and women everywhere to live up to its teachings. Sometimes his Sunday class would number two or three thousand, and they listened with marked attention. He is in Washington now and has been called on President Harding. The eyes of the world are turned on our new President. He surely has his hands full. The south is suffering from business depression, too. A large saw mill near here has closed, no more orders—that means no work for the men. Near here is the great southern turpentine tract. I have seen hundreds of pine trees with the gray sticky substance, from which turpentine is made, slowly oozing out. It is collected in barrels and hauled to the great distillery—but the plant is closed now, and the great still is silent. The work is mostly done by negroes, but of course there is always a white boss. No one need starve here if he has a bit of ground. Out of this gray sand grow all kinds of vegetables. We have had green corn, ripe tomatoes, new potatoes, and all kinds of garden truck. Carrots of cucumbers and egg plant are being shipped north now, also new potatoes from Hastings, the great potato growing section here, all which, of course, tend to keep our potato prices down.

The natives of Florida are called crackers, a nickname applied to them from the fact that originally they were ozen on their farms and also a huge whip that made a cracking sound when used. Hence the name. Generally they are poor and ignorant, but not always. One lives near here who has thousands of head of cattle on the range. One sees men and women, too, riding on their ponies, on their way to the range to round up their cattle. The cattle tick is a great menace here. The cows have to be dipped every spring and at a meeting of cattle men recently it was said that unless the pest was gotten under control the cattle industry would be a failure. There are two diseases here which affect the whole south, extending up as far as Illinois. Pellagra and the hook-worm. Pellagra is a skin disease caused by long eating the same kind of food. It is among the poor classes who live mostly on pork and grits. It is said that tuberculosis among cattle is unknown here.

I have visited schools, both white and colored. They have good buildings with open air class rooms in some of them. No hot lunches are needed here. As elsewhere, northern teachers are much in demand. Nurses are also scarce, and the medical profession is seriously embarrassed, especially in the hospitals.

I could tell you of the beautiful rivers in which abound all kinds of fish, of lovely lakes, of ostrich and alligator farms, also sponge farms, but space will not permit. Later, many of these southern people will be coming north to view our beautiful hills and mountains and admire our fields of growing grain—even if they do not admire our roads.

One day last week while G. F. Neales of Somerville was working with his horse near the river bank, he turned aside a moment for some small task, and the horse while left alone ventured on some ice that sloped toward the river. The poor thing slipped and shot heels over head into the river. When it came to the surface, although cumbered with the heavy harness, traces and whiffle-tree, it bravely struck out for shore—but for the opposite shore. No coaxing or coaxing words would induce it to return to the side from which it fell in, and it continued to swim until it found footing on the eastern shore half a mile down the river. Its progress was watched by some men on this side who helped it out of the water, and the animal seemed quite willing to come out. The horse was badly winded, but quite unhurt.

George Lucy who came from Lennoxville, Quebec, to take a position on The Observer staff will leave on Saturday for Campbellford, Ont., where he has accepted an attractive offer. Mr. Lucy is one of the most capable job composers that the Observer has ever employed, and a marked slackening off of work is the only reason of his going. During their residence in town Mr. and Mrs. Lucy have made a host of friends. As a tenor singer and pianist, Mr. Lucy has been in great demand and through his assistance the choir of the Methodist church, of which church both are members, reached a high state of efficiency. Mr. and Mrs. Lucy leave town with not only the hearty good-will and best wishes of the Observer and its staff, but of a great number of other friends whom they have made. It is not putting it too strong to say that the town suffers a distinct loss in their going away.

Mrs. Joseph Thornton, ill of pneumonia, is making slow but satisfactory recovery.

(Intended for last week)
C. L. Olmstead, publisher of the Victoria News at Perth, was a pleasant caller at The Observer's office on Monday. He came especially to confer with the editor concerning the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association and was enrolled as a member in Canada's great newspaper brotherhood. He said although he was rather new in the newspaper business he was already aware that the Association was doing a great work for the weekly publishers of Canada and he felt that he owed the organization money and gladly deposited a year's fees. Mr. Olmstead, who, by the way, is giving Victoria county a real newspaper, seemed to realize that publishers who stay out of the organization will be long be out of existence as publishers. Not at all that the Association "squeezes" nonmembers—for, on the contrary, it works impartially for the good of all publishers of weeklies—but the stress of war time spurred the publishers from a lethargic condition to a real struggle for existence and the re-establishing of their business on true business principles. At the present date 65 per cent of the weekly publishers have joined the Association and the advancing procession. Those who persist in staying out are travelling backward. Where there is no advancement there is retrogression. The world never stands still.

PROTECTION OF SHEEP FROM DOGS

Following is the copy of the bill passed at the recent session of the Legislature for the protection of sheep from dogs.
An Act in addition to and amendment of an Act representing Protection of sheep from dogs, being Chapter 97 of the Consolidated Statutes, 1903.
Be it enacted by the Lieutenant-Governor and Legislative Assembly as follows:
1. Section 2 of Chapter 97 of the Consolidated Statutes, 1903, respecting Protection of Sheep from Dogs, as enacted by section 5 of Chapter 25, of 5 George V., (1917) is hereby amended by adding thereto the following, to be sub-section (3) thereof:

The "Fifth Monarchy Men" were an extreme sect in England of the period of the Puritan revolution, largely found in the army which supported Cromwell in the belief that his government was the beginning of the millennial reign of Christ on earth would take place. But such fanaticism could not but be in opposition to any established government, and Cromwell had some difficulties with them. In 1661 the revolt of Venner was largely supported by this sect.

Not Notified of Election.

A singular omission in the matter of legal formalities is the failure of the laws of the United States to provide for notifying a President-elect of his election. The result of the electoral vote is recorded in the journals of both houses of congress, but it is left for the President-elect to find out the result in whatever way he can, and to present himself for inauguration on the next succeeding fourth day of March.

Spiritualism Among Savages.

The original exponents of spiritualism are found among the tribes living about the headwaters of the Amazon. These people take no important steps in any direction without consulting the spirits through a medium who is held in reverence and fear by the other members of the tribe. Their ceremonies are very elaborate and are always conducted at night by the light of a fire.

If robber bees discover that a hive has lost its queen they march boldly into the forsaken colony, overpower the depressed and nerveless inhabitants and carry off the honey bit by bit. Potato Prices and Potato Production

A government report on the present low price of potatoes compared with that of last year bases the cause on the comparison between the potatoes consumed and the potatoes produced. The annual consumption of potatoes in that section supplied by the Canadian and United States farmers is estimated at 400,000,000 bushels yearly. The crop of 1919 amounted to 375,000,000 bushels, a shortage of 6 per cent. With the consumption of about the same amount this year, the 1920 crop showed 425,000,000 bushels, an over-run of 6 per cent.

These reports indicate there is no enormous shortage required to make an abnormally high price nor an equally great surplus to create present conditions. If there is a decrease in acreage of potatoes planted this spring of 10 per cent., conditions will be the same as a year ago. Last spring potatoes sold at over $10.00 a barrel.

While no one looks forward to prices on this year's crop running as high as $10.00 a barrel, the enormously high price which prevailed a year ago, with a decreased acreage and the consequent shortage, a price of $3.00 or $4.00 a barrel on the coming crop will not be out of line.

Every potato raiser recalls the pre-war conditions when $1.00 a barrel was considered the standard price for potatoes. This was not a price that would show any particular margin over the cost of production, but it was the price which paid all expenses and made the farmer feel that he was at least holding his own.

A year ago seed potatoes cost $10.00 or $12.00 a barrel. This year they cost but a little more than $1.00 a barrel. A year ago labor was scarce and high, and indeed almost impossible to obtain, while this year there is no scarcity and wages are reasonable. While nothing indicates that $1.00 a barrel potatoes will pay expenses, no doubt if this year's crop is sold at $2.00 a barrel, the grower will cover all his costs and anything above that will be a balance on the right side.

In going over our records for the past several years, we have found that each year of low prices is followed by a year of high prices, and we believe that this is due to these conditions which have made low prices now. When potatoes go to a very high figure there is a heavy acreage planted that spring which gives a large yield and a surplus the next year. This results in lower prices when the increased crop is harvested.

It is the farmer who has crops to sell when the price is high who gets the best returns, and every where you will find the successful farmer the one who goes ahead from year to year planting about his usual crop without being influenced greatly by the prices at the time he plants. He is interested not in the prices at seeding time but in the prices when he has the crop to sell and he figures that particularly the time not to curtail his planting is when the prices are low as these prices are usually followed by a high level the coming year. This is the natural result of a smaller crop from decreased acreage.

Every indication we have now points to a marked decrease in potato acreage. We have it from the Southern States who plant for the early market, also from the middle sections who are now ready to plant. The farmers in Aroostook and in other sections of Maine are still undecided, but in all sections there will be a smaller acreage and a smaller crop.

Whether it is a year of heavy or light seeding, the farmer must look to his fertilizer supply and even more to the quality of the supply. Fertilizer is a most important factor in making a large crop and the money put into fertilizer must be well spent.

This year probably more than any other, the farmer is asked to experiment by trying unmixed fertilizer chemicals or in buying fertilizer mixed by hand. It is almost impossible to mix fertilizer without the proper machinery for doing it, and the mixing, milling and screening is equally as important as using the proper materials.

In addition to the difficulty in mixing fertilizer in most of the home mixed fertilizer, the best materials are not used. A recent bulletin issued by the Ohio Experimental Station reported the results of a twenty-five years course of experiments on a rotation of potatoes, wheat and clover. The four lowest returns came from a fertilizer made up of Nitrate of Soda, Acid Phosphate and Muriate of Potash with a small amount of Dried Blood.

The only safe way is to buy a complete mixed fertilizer with the plant food from proper and varied sources. The are mixed completely, seasoned well and reground and screened as shipped. They are fine and dry and will readily run through the planter. When you use a high grade complete mixed fertilizer you are not experimenting.

All the "Made at Windsor, N. S." fertilizers are from the best materials, our plant has the best machinery for mixing, milling screening, and every bag or barrel shipped goes out in good shape.

SEEKING PROTECTION FOR FARMERS

The following from Hansard gives in full the discussion on Mr. Caldwell's Bill to amend the Fertilizer Act. Mr. Caldwell is a live representative. Note, if you will, Premier Meighen's sectionalism when he attempts to pass the matter lightly by saying: "In the provinces from which I come the soil is so rich that we do not need any fertilizer, and consequently we are not very familiar with this subject."

Mr. T. W. CALDWELL (Victoria and Carleton) moved the second reading of Bill No. 55, to amend the Fertilizer Act.

Mr. MEIGHEN: I would be glad to hear from the hon. member if he is going to discuss the motion, and I would like the privilege of speaking to it. I cannot say that I know very much about the Bill, and if it seems in any way objectionable in the absence of the Minister of Agriculture, I would like it to stand until later.

Mr. CALDWELL: Mr. Speaker, as I said in introducing this Bill, it does not propose to make any drastic change in the Fertilizer Act, but is simply to provide for the better marking of the packages in which commercial fertilizers are sold, so that the purchaser may know just what he is buying and whether he is getting his money's worth. I will endeavour as briefly as possible to give the House the reasons why I introduced the Bill. The Bill provides in part that:

Subsection one of section two A of the Fertilizers Act, 1909, as enacted by chapter twenty of the statutes of 1919, is amended by adding after paragraph (iv) the following paragraph:—

(v) the materials from which the fertilizer is made and the amount of each such material."

I will deal with that clause first. When a fertilizer manufacturer applies for a registration number the Act provides that he must inform the department of what materials his fertilizer is made, but when he sells to the farmer he does not have to state on the package from what source the chemicals are derived. Now in the compounding of commercial fertilizers, there are three main ingredients, nitrogen, phosphoric acid, and potash. Nitrogen, which is more commonly known as ammonia, is derived from several different sources, but the three well known sources from which it is derived for use as a plant food are nitrate of soda, sulphate of ammonia, and tankage. There are other sources which are less known, and which are not considered very valuable from the point of view of plant food. There are some which are not plant food at all, although on an analysis they may yield nitrogen.

In the making of a commercial fertilizer, the best results are obtained from a combination of nitrate of soda, sulphate of ammonia, and tankage, for this reason: Nitrate of soda is so soluble that as soon as it comes into contact with the moist earth, it at once becomes available for a plant food. Now a fertilizer composed of 4 per cent ammonia, made of nitrate of soda, would not last more than a month or six weeks for the simple reason that the nitrate is so soluble that it leaches away in the soil and even evaporates if it comes in contact with the air. A fertilizer containing 1 per cent of ammonia should have about 200 pounds of nitrate of soda, 100 pounds of sulphate of ammonia, and 200 pounds of tankage, to make the best plant food to last for a season crop such as potatoes. In market gardening where you can apply nitrates at different times throughout the season is the best source of ammonia, but for a crop like potatoes, where you put your whole supply of fertilizer on when you plant your crop, because it is impossible to work it around the plants during the summer, nitrate of soda is not so good as the mixture I spoke of, because when you combine the three, the nitrate of soda becomes immediately available; the sulphate of ammonia is slower to dissolve and becomes available about the time the nitrate is exhausted, and the tankage, in turn, takes up the work later in the season when the sulphate is exhausted. At present, nitrate is cheaper than sulphate or tankage to give the same amount of ammonia. It is quite possible that the tendency is to use the cheapest materials, notwithstanding the fact that it will not give as good results. I should just like to quote an extract or two so that the House will realize the necessity for a farmer knowing what he is getting when he buys fertilizer. Previous to the war, when fertilizers were cheap we had very little complaint about poor fertilizers, but we have to-day now that prices are high. The tendency seems to be, when prices are high, to use cheaper substitutes in order to make a higher profit. That is human nature, I imagine. The first extract is from the St. John Standard, of March 10:

Perth, N. B., March 10.—Two hundred and fifty farmers in this district are refusing to pay for fertilizer secured last spring, amounting to about $72,000, claiming it was of no value. A large number will meet here to-morrow to consult with W. P. Jones, of Woodstock, who is here associated with Alex. Stratton in the farmers' interest. The company has entered suit against one farmer, which will probably be made a test case.

I might say that this suit has not been brought to trial. It is evident the company has no stomach to face these farmers in a suit to collect for the fertilizer. I think this case should make it quite evident that it is necessary for the farmer to know just what he is purchasing when he is paying in the neighborhood of $100 a ton for fertilizer. I have here a personal letter to me dated March 28. I shall not give the name of the fertilizer company, because there is a law suit pending, and I do not want to prejudice the case. The letter reads as follows:

T. W. CALDWELL,

Dear Sir:—I am writing to you for advice. I bought a carload of fertilizer in 1920, and it did not prove good. Where could I send it to have it analysed, or would it be any use, or what can I do? Write me and tell me what you think I could do, and greatly obliged.

Yours truly,

After ascertaining from the department the steps he should take to have the fertilizer analysed, I wrote to him accordingly. This man had purchased a 20-ton carload of fertilizer, for which he had paid from $1,500 to $2,000. He has got no results from the fertilizer. Now, if the packages had been properly marked, he would have known just what he was buying and might have saved that loss.

With regard to the other clauses of the Bill, perhaps they would be more intelligible to hon. members if I read the Act as it stands now, and as it will read if this Bill becomes law. I might say, in the first place, that in the case of mixed fertilizers the manufacturer must state what proportion of phosphoric acid is available in his fertilizer. The Act says:

In the case of bone meal, tankage or other organic products and basic slag, the phosphoric acid shall be stated as total phosphoric acid unless it be desired to state available phosphoric acid also.

That is the Act as it stands. Now, Mr. Speaker, it is not desirable, from the fertilizer manufacturer's point of view, to state the available phosphoric acid, because the farmer who buys mixed fertilizers has the statement of the available phosphoric acid in that, and he is inclined to think when he buys bone meal, tankage, or basic slag that the amount of acid stated in the available phosphoric acid. As a matter of fact it is not, and it is not in the interests of the manufacturer or the dealer to state the available phosphoric acid. I desire to have the Act read as follows:

In the case of bone meal, tankage or other organic products and basic slag, the phosphoric acid shall be stated as total phosphoric acid and the available phosphoric acid also be stated. I do not see that this phraseology would entail any hardship, because it merely asks them to state the contents of their material and to show how much is available to the farmer. It is nothing but fair that this should be done. Further down, the same section provides that when potash is derived from sulphate of potash or carbonate of potash "it may be so stated in the guaranteed analysis." I suggest that instead of this being optional, as it is under the Act as at present worded, it be made a matter of compulsion to state this derivation, and I therefore propose that the section be amended to read as follows:

When potash is derived from sulphate of potash or carbonate of potash, it shall be so stated in the guaranteed analysis.

I do not think it is fair to leave it to the discretion of the manufacturer or of the dealer as to whether or not he will state that potash is derived from either of these two things. The word "may" makes it optional. I think that it is only proper that the manufacturer should state precisely what is in the product he is selling for potash. Two weeks ago potash was selling at $111 a ton, and the man that pays out that price with a view to increasing the production of his farm has a right to know just what he is getting for his money. During the war we were not able to get the genuine German potash salts, and as a result several substitutes were discovered. Possibly I am using the word "discovered" in this connection in a sense not strictly correct. The material used as a substitute for potash during the war was a by-product of the sugar beet factories and analysed potash. It was known previous to the war that this product analysed potash so that as a matter of fact it was not really a war discovery, although it was discovered while the war was on that it might be used as a substitute for the genuine potash salts, and we paid high prices for it. I might mention that the farmers of Eastern Canada used a good deal of fertilizer on their crops, especially in the growing of potatoes. I have known a man to plant a field of potatoes, using a fertilizer containing four per cent ammonia and ten per cent phosphoric acid, and in another part of the field, using a fertilizer compound of four per cent ammonia, ten per cent phosphoric acid, and six per cent of sugar beet potash; and he obtained just as good results from the part of the field which had no potash. This is true not of one isolated case but of hundreds of cases in Eastern Canada. So that it has been fully demonstrated that while this potash might be all right to sell, it is really no good to grow crops. To-day they are still using this by-product of the sugar beet factories as they were during the war. Before the war it was an absolute useless article, and only when the genuine German potash could not be obtained was this article used as a substitute. I think that to-day, when a farmer pays $111 per ton for potash, he should know whether it is the genuine German potash salts or a by-product of the sugar beet factories, which, previous to 1914 was simply thrown upon the dump heap. I do not think that the Act should work an injury to anyone, and I would not suggest anything that would have that effect. But, as I said when introducing the Bill, I believe that the majority of the fertilizer manufacturers would welcome the amendments I propose, for the reason that they are honest and put into their fertilizers the proper ingredients. But there are a few manufacturers who are evidently not getting into their stuff such chemicals as would help in the growth of plants, and as I have said before, the man who buys these fertilizers should know what he is getting when he is paying $100 a ton and over. I trust that the House will favorably consider the proposal I put forward and will see fit to adopt the Bill as I have moved it.

Mr. P. MICHAUD (Restigouche and Madawaska): I have received many complaints from people in New Brunswick in regard to the fertilizer that is used in that province. The fertilizer which the farmers use there largely comes from the United States, and a large quantity is used in the growing of potato crops. This fertilizer during the past year or two has given very poor results, although the farmers have paid high enough prices for it. I am informed that farmers will not buy any more of this fertilizer unless, as my hon. friends from Victoria and Carleton (Mr. Caldwell) proposes, a certificate be attached showing its composition. As far as I can understand, almost anything will lend itself to the manufacture of fertilizer, with a certain quantity of ammonia and certain acids added. It seems to me that the manufacturers are not giving the best satisfaction, and for this reason I support the Bill moved by my hon. friend.

Right Hon. ARTHUR MEIGHEN (Prime Minister): I have no objection to the Bill being read a second time, but I would not desire that the passing should be assumed too strongly to be an assent to the principle of the Bill. I do not know that there is any very material deviation in principle in this Bill from the Act as it stands. I have been examining the amendment and the present law, but I am not competent at all to say whether the amendment proposed would be an improvement. In the province from which I come the soil is so rich that we do not need any fertilizer, and consequently we are not very familiar with this subject. In assenting to the passing of this second reading, I may say that it is my purpose to move that the Bill be referred to the Committee on Agriculture.

Motion agreed to and the Bill read the second time.

Mr. MEIGHEN: Mr. Speaker, I move that the Bill be referred to the Select Standing Committee of Agriculture.

Motion agreed to.

Banking Service for All

AS the majority of the first directorate of the Bank of Montreal, formed in 1817, were Scotchmen or bore Scotch names it was but natural that they should seek in Canada "to extend and to perpetuate for the farmer and the merchant the benefits and stimulus of a system the worth of which Scotland's prosperity could abundantly prove." One of the outstanding features of the system was the maintenance of numerous branches by banks of large capital.

The Bank of Montreal, in adopting this feature from the outset, laid the foundations of a service by which branches have been established throughout the entire Dominion.

At each of these branches the full service of the complete organization is available.

Through this service the Bank of Montreal offers to all classes of the community, from the smallest savings depositor to the largest commercial organization, good and adequate banking facilities. Each customer whether his account be large or small is welcome as a client of the institution.

STABILITY of value is not the least of the appeals of the McLaughlin to the man of sound business sense. It is well known that an investment in a Master Six is one that has an established value. McLaughlin models, one, two or three years old, always find a ready sale at a fair price. This is due not only to the lasting quality of the McLaughlin Master Six, but to its acceptance among motorists as "Canada's Standard Car." Hence, the indulgence of your good taste in choosing a car of such superior character is more than justified by this substantial business consideration.

A Happy Medium

The members of this agency are old enough to know a thing or two about insurance, and young enough to be ever on the alert for latest developments. The insurance business is always changing. There's always something to learn. We study the subject as closely as we do the needs of each policyholder.

How would you like to have our knowledge and experience written into a real policy—a policy that gives you a sense of security and is good for full indemnity?

See us or have us see you.

Honestly now! Could you get for 50c any other prescription which would give the same all-round service and satisfaction that a box of Zam-Buk does?

Zam-Buk is a combination of powerful, healing, herbal extracts, so refined and compounded that wherever there is any kind of soreness of the flesh, or diseased tissue or abnormal condition (such as inflammation, festering or blood poisoning) it almost immediately soothes and heals. It stops bleeding. It is highly antiseptic—kills disease germs. It is suitable alike for the hardened skin of the worker or the tender sensitive skin of a child.

Zam-Buk is 100% pure herbal medicine. It contains no animal fat, mineral impurity. It cannot go rancid.

"For seven years we have used Zam-Buk in our home," writes L. B. Anderson, of 1407, E. 22nd, St., Minneapolis. "We simply could not get along without it. Whenever any of the children, my wife or I, happen an accident, we promptly apply Zam-Buk. It saves many a doctor's bill."

Who Wants This Beautiful Home in Hartland

Allen A. Waters offers for immediate sale his fine house situated just off the Main street, south end. The location is a beautiful high and slightly one and the house is surrounded by lovely shade trees. The house itself has 10 rooms and bathroom, nicely fitted up and with a constant supply of running water. The house is thoroughly well finished throughout and is warm and comfortable in winter and accessible to pure, fresh air in the summer. There is a large woodshed attached and a clapboarded and painted barn that will accommodate several horses; also a garage. Never-failing supply of water in the yard and at the kitchen sink. Enough ground for a good-sized garden. This is an ideal home for a couple that wishes to retire, or for any family. The house has four sleeping rooms and more could be finished in the attic, which is reached by stairs.

Mr. Waters also offers for sale a farm in Ashland district, three miles from the river, with a down-hill haul to market. Of this 100 acres, 30 acres are cleared and a part freshly seeded, 10 acres ploughed and the remainder in grass. There are 70 acres of woodland that will yield enough fire-wood to pay for the place and leave many years supply. There is also a good quantity of pulp and lumber. The prices of both these properties will interest any buyer, and full particulars of the whole may be had from Mr. Waters, at the house. DON'T DELAY. These properties will move quickly. Part of the purchase price may remain on mortgage if desired.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL ITEMS

Death arrived suddenly on Friday morning and removed from our midst Elijah Mies Hawkins. Deceased had been in ordinary health and had attended church the previous evening. When the family arose next morning they found him calmly sleeping and thought to leave him so for a good rest. An hour later on going to arouse him for breakfast they found that he had passed peacefully away without the sign of a struggle, evidently from some latent cardiac trouble. Mr. Hawkins was about 71 years of age, a native of York county, and came here as a young man with a young wife, where they have lived continuously since. His wife predeceased him some few years. He leaves to mourn, one sister, Mrs. Matthew Crone; three sons, A. R. and Burt of this place and Grant of Keswick and one daughter, Mrs. Sanford Hallett of Windsor. The funeral services conducted by S. W. Bart were held at his late home and in the U. B. church of which body he had been a life-long member. The pastor, Rev. H. R. Bell, was the officiating clergyman, and interment was made in the adjacent family lot.

Rev. E. A. Wightman of Florenceville was the guest of Rev. and Mrs. Hugh Miller last week.

All automobile owners rejoiced last week when the local highway commissioner gave them permission generally to get out their busses. Nor were they long in taking advantage of the long-awaited prerogative. Soon the streets were lined with cars of every season's vintage from ancient creakers to modern masterpieces, yet all emitting the same glad note of deliverance. Sunday proved inclement, and so prohibited a number of prospective joy-rides. Some of the roads are still impassable and should receive immediate attention from local road-king. It seems scarcely fair that one should pay license annually and then be restricted to three or four months joy-riding, mostly on account of the slothfulness of those put in charge of the good road scheme in each local domain.

At three o'clock on Wednesday afternoon at the home of John Cormier a pretty little ceremony was enacted when Miss Thelma Irvine of Mars Hill daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Irvine became the bride of Archibald Raymond McLean, son of Mr. and Mrs. John D. McLean of Centreville. Only immediate relatives and close friends of the bride and groom were present. Mrs. Ward B. Webb rendered Mendelssohn's Wedding March as the happy pair entered and the knot was tied by Rev. H. R. Bell. Following the felicitations the couple left for Mars Hill, where a reception was tendered them at the home of the bride's parents. Mr. and Mrs. McLean will reside in Centreville, on the conclusion of their honeymoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Huggard of St. John, a bride and groom of two weeks, arrived on the Valley Friday evening for a visit with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Crone. A large crowd of young friends of the bride met the couple at the train and formed an escort home. Then while the family were pleasantly indulged in a late evening lunch, the young folk organized a real old-fashioned charivari party and made a terrible noise.

Dr. B. R. Field of Centreville and Ernest Field of Bloomfield were called home to Port Elgin last week on account of the illness and death of their father, David Field of the latter town.

Miss Winna Golding of Greenfield spent last week with her aunt, Mrs. Chas. Long.

D. W. Currier of Tracey Mills has opened a new shop in town for demonstration of his farm machinery.

Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Currier spent last week on a pleasant visit with Rev. and Mrs. W. J. Hurlow of New Glasgow, N. S.

Rev. W. Raynor, pastor of the A. M. E. church at Woodstock, spent three days of last week here soliciting help for the construction of a parsonage. He preached in the U. B. church on Tuesday and Thursday evenings.

Dr. H. W. Peppers returned from Fredericton on Friday evening. We are glad to know that Mrs. Peppers is making a most satisfactory convalescence at the Victoria Hospital in that city.

Mr. and Mrs. Williamson are convalescing after a severe attack of the ever prevalent "flu."

D. E. Cliff of Mars Hill was in town on Friday.

Fred Wilson of Woodstock spent last week in town visiting relatives.

Willard Carr of Woodstock spent three week-end with Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Balloch.

Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Stevens of Woodstock spent Tuesday of last week with their son, J. C. Stevens.

Malbourne Sawyer of Hartland drove to Centreville on Saturday and spent the day.

S. W. Bart was in Woodstock on Tuesday.

On May 1, Rev. H. R. Bell will preach as follows: Centreville 11 a. m. and 7 p. m.; morning subject—"Christian Perfection"; evening subject—"Is there a Hell?" Special music at the evening service.
