RICHEST STRIKE EVER KNOWN

Ore at Cripple Creek Said to Run as High as $50,000 Per Ton.

Denver, Jan. 31.-A special from Cripple Creek says of the recent strike in Isabella ground: Your correspondent saw chunks of sylvanite that were three inches thick, and solid metal, and chunks of oxydized ore of the same width that he whittled with his pocketknife. No assays have been made on the rock; it is not necessary, but pieces of the free gold ore, if ore it can be called at all, run over $50,000 per ton. The Mollie Gibson never produced any ore that carried more ounces in silver per ton than this Isabélla does in gold. With every hour's work the streak is lengthening and widening. Joining this metallic body there is six feet of quartz that will run from $1,000 to $2,000 per Manager Kilburn said: "I do not like to say anything that will excite the people any more than they are at present. The metallic ore body has doubled in size both ways since yesterday morning. Some of the pieces of ore are 80 per cent gold. I never saw such mineral and I do not believe that its like was ever mined in this or any other camp in the world. We have had no assays taken on the rock; but a ton of it could be picked out that would run anywhere from $50,000 to $200,000 per ton.'

Armed guards are watching the property. The strike was made in the new ore body at a depth of 820 feet below the surface. The chute has been cut at the seventh level 200 feet above, and also at the fifth. At the latter place an assay was obtained in the breast of the drift in two feet of ore that went better than $1,000 per ton. There is at least blocked out in the one level between the ninth and seventh levels, $5,000,000 worth of ore.

Balfour's Views on Angle-Saxon Unity.

Fears of a Rising in Macedonia Against Turkish Rule.

The Khalifa Has Evaded Gen. Kitchener's Forces-Movement in England to Establish a School of Spiritualism-More Peerage Claimants.

London, Jan. 31.-Right Hon. Arthur Balfour delivered his annual address last evening to his constituents at Manchester. After speaking of the "intrinsic difficulty which continental nations find in understanding Great Britain's aims," he said: "But here is surely one great country, which, by community of language, by religion, blood, origin, and even institutions, is well fitted to understand. Need I say that the country to which I refer is the United States? Some foreign critics, cynical by profession and training, hold that the friendship now happily existing between the English-speaking people of both sides of the Atlantic is but the growth of the moment, and depends upon a transitory community of interests. They affect to believe that when this disappears friendship will also disappear. They hold that if British trade should feel injured by some inconvenient tariff, immediately the sentiments so generally felt at this moment in Great Britain towards America would vanish like the leaves in autumn.

THE CYNICS ARE WRONG. "According to my observation," said Mr. Balfour, "the world of cynics is always wrong. I believe the cynics wrong in this case. If our good relations really depended upon those fortutious circumstances, while the latter might be the foundation of an alli-ance, they could not be the foundation of what is infinitely more important of that species of friendship which, in season and out of season, through good report or ill, is not to be shaken by mere circumstances. It was in this hall, in 1896 that I first spoke of the international relations between the United States and England—in those dark days of the Venezuelan contro-versy, when public feeling in America had been arcused by the wholly un-founded suspicion that we had some design of empire in South America, and, when by natural reaction, we felt that our brethren on the other side of the water had neither judged nor treated us with knowledge and fairness. ANGLO-SAXON UNITY.

"I then expressed my firm faith that the English language and sharing the Anglo-Saxon civilization would be united with a sympathy which no mere political divergence could permanently disturb. I felt then, though I spoke my inmost convictions, that I must impress my hearers as something of a dreamer and an idealist, or as a prophet, only hoping for what he himself can hardly expect to see realized. But the three years that have elapsed since have wrought a surely marvelous change in the relations between the two countries-a change which I believe is not destined to be reversed; a change which has brought back these two great communities to

THEIR NORMAL RELATIONS, disturbed as these normal relations were by more than a century of unhappy discord; a change which, once made, is a change that ought to be permanent, for it is founded, as I hope, upon mutual sympathy, mutual comprehension and the mutual belief that each great and free community desires to see the privileges it enjoys extended far and wide to all continents and among all nations. And if I am right, and that common sympathy be implanted in the breasts of these two great nations, there cannot be a greater guarantee for future peace, freedom and liberty, not only for our country or community alone, but for the whole human race."

AGAINST TURKISH RULE. London, Jan. 31.-Grave fears are entertained of a rising in the spring in Macedonia against Turkish rule. powers are making vigorous efforts to restrain the leaders. The trouble is the outcome of years of oppression and accumulated impatience under the sul-tan's administration. The plan presupposes aid from Bulgaria and Greece. Russia dreads the possible results of such a rising, as her energies are absorbed by expansion in the far east, and by her disarmament proposals. She has accordingly warned the Macedonians to expect no aid from her. Austria gives similar warning. Meantime the sultan is strengthening his forces in MEDIUMS MUST GO TO COLLEGE. London, Jan. 31.-A movement is on foot here to put the practice of spiritualism very much upon the same footing as the practice of medicine. It is proposed to establish a collegiate institution for the formal instruction of "mediums," and to provide for the authorized licensing of mediums capable of conducting orthodox seances.

The new scheme owes its origin to a Mrs. Stannard. Her object, she says, is to protect the public from experimenting with fraudulent and incompetent spiritualists. She thinks these fakirs, by advertising themselves as professionals, have caused spiritualistic experiments of the genuine type to be derided. She desires to organize a society which will issue a classified list of the duly qualified working mediums.

DULY QUALIFIED MEDIUMS. Blank forms will be circulated, to be signed by all mediums in the country, and only such as gave satisfactory evidence of their power will be recommended to the public as duly authorized to put people in communication with their friends in the nether world.

DEATH DUTIES. A dispatch to the London Daily Mail from Vienna says it is stated that a dispute has arisen between the English Government and the executors of the estate of the late Empress of Austria, whose private fortune is deposited in the Bank of England. The English Government, it is said, has prohibited the withdrawal of the money for payment of the heirs until the death duties are paid. The executors contend that the estate being that of a foreign sovereign, is exempt from British taxa-

MORE PEERAGE CLAIMANTS. London, Jan. 31.-London is threatened with an epidemic of peerage claimants. Two besides Viscount Hinton have appeared. One is a solicitor who, in preparing his own case for the courts says that his father, a peer who recently died, previously disentailed the estate and made over the whole property to him. Another claimant is James Stafford, an elderly builder, of North London, who claims the earldom of Stafford, with 10,000 acres and three fine castles. He says he is the direct male descendant of Henry de Stafford, created bar-on in 1183. The barony was unlawfully obtained from Charles I. by William Howard, of whom the present holder claims to be a descendant. Stafford says this is impossible, as the male, side was extinct in 1762 and the female line in 1807. He has a room full of documents proving that he is the rightful heir.

"JACK THE RIPPER" DEAD. London, Jan. 31.-An Anglican clergyman in the north of England has written to the Daily Mail stating that he is fully aware of the identity of the person responsible for the "Jack the Ripper" murders in London ten years ago. He says: "I received information in professional confidence, with directions to publish the facts after ten years, and then with such alterations as might defeat identification. murderer was a man of good position, and otherwise unblemished character, who suffered from epileptic mania, and is long since deceased, having died shortly after committing the last murder. He was at one time engaged in rescue work among the depraved women of the east end-eventually his victims-and was once a surgeon."

CAIRO TO THE CAPE. The London Morning Post says it is authorized by Mr. Cecil Rhodes to state that he has had no communication with the government on the question of a crown guarantee for the construction of the first section of the Buluwayo-Tanganyika Railway since he preferred his request for such a guarantee from the authorities. Mr. Rhodes further declared that he has in no way departed from his original idea of connecting Cairo and Cape Town by rail.

Mrs. Brooks, of London, Is Trying to Establish Her Claim,

And to Property Worth About $5,000,000.

Jangle Over the Late Baron Rothschild's Will-Tolstoi May Seek an Asylum Over Here-Twenty Children Drowned. London, Jan. 31.-Mrs. Brooks, a resident of the west side of London, is trying to establish her claim to the title and dignity of the Queen of the 350 of whom are seriously ill; 56 died Gypsies of all the earth. Her claim also extends to a demand for the possession of property worth, roughly speaking, five million dollars. Mrs. Brooks is not a gypsy herself, but she claims to be the lineal descendant of Lydia Chilcott, the first queen of the gypsies, and Elija Smith, one of the early kings. From this couple she traces her lineage through the highways and byways of many families, and proves to her own satisfaction that she is the only remaining descendant of the ancient royal family of gypsies, and therefore is entitled to the vast estates which have been in chancery or somewhere else since some time during the last century.

THE ONLY OBSTACLE.

The only obstacle between Mrs. Brooks and her desires is a lack of identification. The gypsies of England have been looking a great many years for the "lost child," as they call her, and if Mr. Brooks can establish her claim to this title she may one day be

Even if Mrs. Brooks gets what she wants, however, her path may not continue to be strewn with roses, for a substantial movement is on foot among the citizens of Essex county to drive the gypsies from their territory. The nomadic dwellers in tents have gone to Essex in great numbers of late, and the Essex people are now determined to keep agitating until the gypsies are forced to leave. JANGLE OVER ROTHSCHILD'S

WILL. London, Jan. 31.-A curious dispute has arisen over one of the provisions in the will of the late Baron Ferdinand de Rothschild. He left $25,000 as a bequest to a certain Herbert Wilson, and the peculiarity arises over the fact that there are two Herbert Wilsons, both of whom feel that they have a claim upon the baron's generosity. Herbert Wilson No. 1 bases his claim upon the following clause in the will: "To my dear friend, Herbert Wilson, of No. 166 Cromwell road and the Travelers' Club, the sum of £5,000." Queerly enough, there is no such number as "166" Cromwell road, al-though the baron's executors consider the fact of Herbert Wilson being a member of the Travelers' Club, sufficiently identifies that legatee. Herbert Wilson No. 2 is in business as a hotel negotiator at Bloomsbury Mansions. He saved the late baron from a dangerous fall in 1893, and feels that the bequest was intended for him.

late baron's feeling of gratitude towards him, and will very shortly make a formal legal claim for the bequest. TOLSTOI MAY BE DRIVEN TO AMERICA. St. Petersburg, Jan. 31.—The dispute between the czar and the holy synod regarding Count Leo Tolstoi seems likely to grow into an open rupture. M. Pobedonostzoff, the procurer-general of the synod, insists on summoning Count Tolstoi before the synod for trial, which will involve his being deprived of his civil rights. The synod is enraged on account of Tolstoi's open support of the Doukhobors, whose religious tenets, it is claimed, will undermine the very foundations of the Greek Church. On the other hand, the czar, who is really a great admirer of Tolstoi, has been trying to convince the aged philosopher of the error of his ways. He is disposed to hearken to the counsel of the numerous friends of Tolstoi, yet fears the power of the synod. Intimate friends of Count Tolstoi assert that the peace-loving count will leave Russia of his own accord, and that the sending of his son to Canada in charge of the first deportation of Doukhobors is but a way-paver for his own emigration to Canada. TWENTY CHILDREN DROWNED. Koenicsburg, East Prussia, Jan. 31.-

The Dowager Empress practically ignores the grand council of state and the Tsung-Li-Yamen.

Consider themselves complain that The Carlists themselves complain that Don Carlos allowed a great opportunity to slip, when, six weeks ago, the country was filled with dismay and indignation at the sense of defeat. He might have had a hope for success then, for such a possibility was open and freely discussed. Now the enthusiasm of even his ardent admirers is chilly.

OUR FOOD IN BRITAIN

Unlimited Market for Canadian Butter -The Prices for Cheese.

Ottawa, Jan. 31.—Returns received at the department of trade and commerce show that the part that Canada is taking in supplying the British demand for food products, particularly those of the dairy. In 1896 Canada sent to Great Britain 88,357 cwts of butter; in 1897, 100,402 cwts, and in 1898, 156,865 cwts. The total consumption of butter in Great Britain in 1898 was 3,209,093 cwts, so that as far as Canada is concerned there is practically an unlimited market inviting her products, and the condition in which it reaches the consumer will determine the quantity she will be able to sell there and the prices she will receive. The average price paid for the choicest Canadian butter during 1898 was from 96 to 100 shillings per cwt, and the quotation advanced in January of the present year from 100 to 102 shiilings. For the finest quality the prices received by Canada were second only to those for the finest Swedish and Danish product, being from 86 to 94 shillings in 1898, and from 96 to 98 shillings in January of 1899. Of cheese Canada sent to Great Britain in 1896, 1,234,297 cwts; in 1897, 1,526,664 cwts, and in 1898, 1,432,-181 cwts. The prices paid for the choicest quality in 1898 were from 44 to 45 shillings per cwt, and for the finest, 42

Flint, Mich., Jan. 31.—The Chicago and Grand Trunk Railway has been doing a rushing business during the past few days. Forty-six trains passed by its depot here during the last 24 hours. In one instance one westward bound train was held at the depot while thirteen trains passed eastward. The rush reached a climax last night, when an effort was made to use the same track upon which to switch two trains at the same time. The trains came together with a terrible crash, and several fine freight cars were reduced to kindling wood. The wreck was cleared away in short order and the trains resumed their journeys with

BASEBALL. TORONTO WILL REMAIN IN THE EASTERN LEAGUE.

Messrs. Soole and Campbell, of the Toronto baseball club, says Sporting Life, state that the Western League made an offer for the local franchise, but the clubs most likely came up with $500 each towards the Toronto figure, which was considerably above $3,500. The directors say that the team is in the Eastern League to stay, reports to the contrary notwithstanding. The local magnates feel that they are in a most compact circuit, Mr. Campbell ing distances as Follows: Toronto ..... 233,000 Rochester ...... 175,000 Syracuse ..... 140,000 80 **

Springfield ..... 75,000 251 Hartford ...... 100,000 26 Providence ...... 165,000 90 Worcester ...... 115,000 333 miles.

The only rule change within a decade that really benefited the game was the change in the pitching dis-tance, suggested, advocated and fought to a successful conclusion by Sporting Life. That change postponed the decay of the sport as an exhibition several years. If any change is needed now it should be confined to the rules bearing upon pitching and batting, with a view to decreasing the effectiveness of the pitcher, which makes only for a scientific monotony and dullness; yellow at Waterloo last evening. which gives the game its chief charm, both as sport and exhibition. Whether that result can be best achieved by putting the pitcher further pack, or by simply reducing the number of called balls by one, and somewhat further restricting bunting and sacrifice hitting, we leave the magnates to determine. Our own opinion is that the last named process, would prove the last named process would prove radical enough for a year at least. UMPIRES MUST ENFORCE THE RULES. Other changes regarding the me-chanical playing of the game are unnecessary, particularly in view of the seeming impossibility of securing uniform interpretation by the umpires. That brings us to the point where the league must and will take action. Some method must be devised whereby the umpires may be compelled to enforce the rules, as they are provided.

It is not likely that the baseball It is not likely that the baseball playing rules will be materially changed before the coming season, although some of the more radical managers are arguing in favor of certain reforms. Some of them, taking up the fight made by predecessors, want to but the much-talked-of bunt hit abolished. They say that this style of batting has grown to be so scientific batting has grown to be so scientifice that the majority of the league teams are handicapped because of the proficiency displayed by the Boston, Baltimore, Chicinnati and Cleveland teams. They also declare that the patrons of the game are almost a unit in desiring heavier batting, and that the only way to secure it is to make all players hit the ball as hard as they can. A member of the Baltimores, who are not bunt hitters, believes that he has solved the problem with this explanation: "When I was allowed to use my judgment, I was able to hit the bail safely to such a degree that I had a batting average of .350. But by following bench instructions, which ordered me to bunt or place my drives in different parts of the infield, I was unable to get an average above .250. It is the hardest thing in the world to hit safely under the so-called scientific code. With a man on first, a baseman receives a signal that the base runner is about to steal; he is compelled to hit the next ball pitched, whether it is good or bad, so that the runner may be sure of reaching second. He is also expected to hit the ball into right field or bunt the ball in front of the plate. Heady pitchers are all on to this game, and they take care that no good balls are sent across the plate while a man is on first. The batsman is naturally guessing all the time, and is, therefore, handicapped. The 'hit and run' game, which includes bunting, has hurt the batting immeasurably." Hanlon, who is on the rules committee, is a warm advocate of bunt hitting, and, as he holds considerable sway with the magnates, it is not thought that there will be any changes. A suggestion has been made which may be turned into a rule, that catchers should always remain close behind the bat, thereby saving much time that is wasted in putting on their masks.

the Louisville team, says: "All the talk about abolishing the built is rot. The bunt is now a feature of up-to-date baseball, and to wipe it out would seriously injure the game. The league won't abolish the bunt, and when that is said, all is said. In my humble opinion no material change will be made in the playing rules at the spring meeting, all reports to the con-trary notwithstanding."

In the 8th, 9th and 10th rounds the pace slackened somewhat, with McGovern doing the better work. In the 14th and final round, McGovern, when he found his opponent partly disabled, showered blow after blow with both hands on the face, head and neck. Toward the close of the round, McGovern caught Leon near the ropes, and hooked a left hard on the point of the jaw, sending the New Yorker to the floor, where he lay helpless until the referee counted

RINGSIDE TALK.

Peter Maher says that he has received a letter from a capitalist in New Orleans, which tells him to stave off negotiations for a big fight until the writer comes north, when he will issue a challenge and propose to back him for $50,000. It is said that Maher's unknown friend is Pittsburg Phil. Choynski and McCoy have been matched to box ten rounds in Chicago some time in April. Tom Sharkey and Joe Choynski have been matched to meet in a six-round bout in Chicago, probably on March 6.

Corbett fought three battles in the six years he held the title of champion. He beat Sullivan in 1892, Mitchell in 1894, and was beaten by Fitz in 1897, fighting only once in the last three years and dodging battle all the time. Two years ago Fitz succeeded Corbett, and has not put up a hand in the ring since, and has dodged battle in every conceivable way. The objection of the champions to fighting came from the fact that they could make more money on the stage than in the ring. Sullivan was immensely popular because he was always ready to fight.

One of the boxers from whom great things are expected is young John L. Scholes, of Toronto, the Canadian champion, who is said to be a wonder, and has the reputation of having outboxed Frank Erne, of Buffalo. Scholes is in the 126-pound special class, but he may run up against a snag in Mc-Manus, from Brooklyn, or Frank Me-Guire, of this city.-New York Journal. Having defeated nearly every one at

Charley McDonald, once called the champion of all Canada, died recently at the Soldiers' Home, Dayton, Ohio. McDonald was born in Portage du Fort, Quebec, 51 years ago. He joined the United States navy when a boy and fought all through the civil war, after that becoming a boxer. He was one of the big four with Barnum's circus, the others being Jelu Mace, Joe Coburn, and Pooley Mace. He trained Dwyer for his fight with Elliott, and was Paddy Ryan's sparring partner, assisting in his preparation for the match with Sullivan. McDonald went to the States in the eighties, and took part in several matches. He was considered very clever in his day, and ranked more as a boxer than a fighter. About ten years ago he was stricken with paralysis and blindness, and for years he was at Harper Hospital, Detroit, having gone to Dayton in 1894. McDonald was a fine specimen of physical humanity, standing more than six feet high, straight as an Indian, and Cincinnati, Jan. 31.—Patsey Haley, of Buffalo, and Danny Rowan, of Cincinnati, met at 135 pounds before the People's Athletic Club last night. In the ninth round Haley had two knockdowns and Rowan was so badly punished in the tenth that the police stopped the fight before the gong sounded. The decision was given to Haley.

SHARKEY AND McCORMICK. Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 31.-Tom Sharkey put out Jack McCormick, of this city, in the second round of what was to have been a six-round go at the arena last night. The bout lasted as long as it did probably because the sailor wanted to give the great crowd present something for their money. After the bout Sharkey announced that O'Rourke would on his behalf cover the money deposited in New York by Fitzsimmons.

NOTES OF SPORT.

Sharkey wanted to give an exhibition to the students of Syracuse University for advertising purposes, as he shows there, but Chancellor Day re-fused to allow the students to entertain the fighter in the college gymnasium. "I never knew that Bob Fitzsimmons was a singer until last night," said a man about town. "I was out with the champion and two or three other boys for a few hours, and I'll be hanged if Bob didn't sing two or three songs in excellent style. He has a tenor voice that is all right, I tell you."

The Melbourne cricket club will visit America during the summer. Games will be played in New York, Philadelphia. Baltimore, Toronto, Chicago, and San Francisco. The team may be in-

Two estimates of the output of the Yukon gold mines for the present season have been made by experts recently returned from Dawson City. One asserts that the yield will not fall short of $50,000,000, while the other says that it will be fully $30,000,000. Supposing it did not go below the last

Fortunately, the Dominion Administration in power at the present time, does not believe, with Sir Charles Tupper, that there should be little or no revenue collected from the gold production, and that the mining element, the overwhelming proportion of which is composed of foreigners, should be allowed to carry off the gold as speedily as possible, without contributing a fair portion of their riches for public pur-

Why the Doukhobers Came.

Doukhobors to their new settlement in Manitoba, gives an interesting story of how these remarkable people came to seek a home on Canada's hospitable shores. France had proffered them a free passage to a French colony, which, under some conditions, might have been gladly welcomed. But able to prove to them that this Dominion was a British nation, and that it insect destroyers. was ruled on the principles of British freedom, Prince Hikoff says that the Doukhobours did not hesitate to cast in their lot with us. Indeed, we glory in a climate that in summer produces peaches and grapes in the open air, and the finest apples that reach the British market, while our winter is bracing and health-

Farmers' Institutes Report.

The fourth annual report of the superintendent of Provincial Farmers' Institutes, Mr. F. W. Hodson, for 1897-98 has just been issued by the Ontario Department of Agriculture. It is a volume of 500 pages, very neatly gotten up and profusely illustrated, and the matter which it contains is of a particularly interesting and serviceable character and will be greatly apprecisted by the farmers. The institutes are in a flourishing and prosperous condition, as it appears that despite the political excitement of the year the membership increased from 15,707 in December 1897 to 16,351 in July last. Some of the local bodies have a membership numbering several hundred, the largest being North Ontario with 626, while next in size comes South Waterloo with 517. During the year 658 meetings were held, the attendance at which amounted in the aggregate to 126,094, and 3,270 papers and addresses were presented, many of them of an exceedingly able and instructive character, as may be seen from the selections published in ings a number of excursions to the Agganized by the institutes, giving some 30.000 persons an insight into the im-

The course was highly successful, and the institute closed the season with a membership of 86. Should the movement become general it will prove highly beneficial in improving the intellectual and social status of farmers' wives and daughters, and it is hoped that the women's organizations will receive full recognition as affiliated branches of the Farmers' In-

> The concluding part of the report is occupied with extensive reports of the work of scientific agricultural exthe United States. Many of the results thus arrived at, more especially at the numerous American experiment stations, are of great practical value to the farmer. The tests made under strict scientific conditions to determine eties of stock or grain, or the fertilizing properties of different sorts of manure, etc., have resulted in the accumulation of a great mass of data respecting the more economical methods of farming. These the progressive farmer who desires to keep in touch with the advanced thought of the times cannot afford to ignore. It is becoming thoroughly realized that farming, in order to be really remunerative, must be conducted just like any other productive industry with a view to secure the greatest results in the way of returns from the smallest outlay. The labors of the scientific specialist are all conducted with this object in view. In putting before the farming community of the province the conclusions of investigations abroad in the departments of applied chemistry, biology and botany in readily accessible form, the Farmers' Institute will secure the cordial appreciation of the class in whose interests it was organized. The care shown in the preparation of this useful volume, from which every farmer can learn much to his profit and advantage, is highly creditable to the Department of Agriculture which is doing so much in many directions for the development of our national industries and the furtherance of the general

To raise a million dollar subscription in a week is an achievement that reflects credit on even so rich a city as Buffalo. Canada wishes the exposition success, and will make a big exhibit. #### "Sizing Up" a Newspaper. [Profitable Advertising.]

It does not take an experienced advertiser many minutes to form an opinion regarding the value of a newspaper as an advertising medium, and this opinion is very seldom far astray. His methods are simple but He secures a copy of the paper and notes its general appearance, together with the quantity and quality of its news. These characteristics indicate to him whether or not it is the sort of journal that he would care to read himself if he resided in its locality. Next, if he is satisfied on this point, he glances at its advertising columns, which tell him accurately how it is regarded by the local advertisers, and then observes its age, after which he is either ready to send for advertising rates or to discard the paper altogether as a worthless proposi-

Kipling's Latest Poem.

Rudyard Kipling has written a poem entitled "The White Man's Burden," evidently called forth by the colonial development of the United States. It will appear in the February issue of McClure's Magazine, although the editors did not receive the poem until after the magazine was on the press. The frontispiece was taken out and the poem was printed in its place. The poem is not only important, but is of considerable length, and we are permitted to give some extracts from it:

LATE CABLES

MIXED TRIBUNALS EXTENDED A YEAR,

Cairo, Jan. 31.—All the powers have agreed to a prolongation of the mixed tribunals for a year from tomorrow. SIR F. C. FORD DEAD.

Paris, Jan. 31,—Sir Francis Clare Ford, recently British ambassador at Rome, is dead, aged 69 years. He was the British agent for the commission of Halifax, in 1875-77, and was British commissioner at Paris for the settlement of the Newfoundland fishery question in 1883.

FRANCE WANTS TO BORROW $40,000,000.

London, Jan. 31.—The St. James Gaz-ette says the French Government is negotiating with French and British financiers for a loan of $40,000,000, to be devoted to army and navy purposes. It is the intention of France to increase her navy during the year, and her army will also receive attention, including the introduction of a quickfiring gun.

The paper asserts that it learns from a trustworthy source that orders have already been given to English firms, and that others are to follow. It adds: France, naturally, is desirous of maintaining peaceful relations with England during the next few months, in order to obtain all the possible financial help in this country. So far the loan arrangements in London are only in the most embryonic condition, and the proposals are looked at in a luke-warm manner."

SARAH IS COMING.

A cable from London says Sara Bernhardt is arranging her plans for the next two years. She will come to London in July, and after a short rest will go to New York in time for the opening of the fall season. Interest here and in New York centers in her production of "Hamlet," which is an almost literal translation from Shakespeare. She will also produce a new play by Rostand, entitled "The Samaritaine."

SCIENCE AND LIFE.

We Are Indebted to the Former for the Latter.

Science Gave Us Dodd's Kidney Pills-Dodd's Kidney Pills Give Us Security From Death-Mr. Charles Dean's Case Proves This Claim.

London, Jan. 30 .- At this season. when everybody one meets is complaining of "the grip," "backache," or some other similar complaint, it comes as a relief to know that there are some diseases from which people can free themselves at very slight expense, and scarcely any trouble. When we find that these diseases have for centuries been looked upon as incurable, and have carried hundreds of thousands to untimely graves, we have reason to be thankful to science and its votaries, who have given us the means to free ourselves from this horrible nightmare of death. As everyone knows, Kidney Diseases have, until less than ten years ago, been locked on as utterly incurable. Hundreds of thousands have died of them. Until lately there was no medicine known to man that would either relieve or cure them. Today, thanks to the wonderful medicine known throughout the civilized world as Dodd's Kidney Pills, Kidney Diseases are no more dangerous than common cold.

Proof of this fact has been given by thousands of startling cures, by Dodd's Kidney Pills, of cases that the best physicians have "given up." The latest evidence in this city comes from Mr. Charles Dean, an employe at the City Hotel.

Mr. Dean suffered for three years with terrible pains in his back. He could get no relief from any of the medicines he used. One day a friend advised him to try Dodd's Kidney Pills. He did so. As a result he is now as strong and well as he ever was. Dodd's Kidney Pills, he says, are worth their weight in gold.

Washington, Jan. 31.—All records of ice travel on the Yukon have been broken by the recent feat of the mounted police of the Northwest Territory in bringing a big shipment of mail from Dawson to Skaguay, in nine days and ten hours. The mail left Dawson on the morning of Jan. 15, and was in Skaguay before noon last Tuesday. The record was made by the Canadian officials, it is said, to show that they could greatly reduce the time being made by the United States mail contractors.

MORE PORRIDGE

Marion Brown Has Grown Tired of Jail Fare and Requests a Change in His Diet.

Marion Brown, the peg-leg and alleged murderer, now in jail, awaiting trial, has during the last few days registered a "vigorous kick" against the class of food he is given to eat. Brown says he will eat no more of that "Scotch meal," that he doesn't like it. and can't eat it in any shape or form. The prisoner thinks he has had porridge and molasses long enough now, and wants a change. Prison fare may be plain enough, but there are many honest, well-behaved persons these cold days who would rejoice to get it. Prisoners' fare consists of eight ounces of bread three times a day, every day in the week. Besides this, they are given a pint of porridge, and an allowance of molasses for three days in the week. On the other three they receive in addition to the bread, five ounces of meat free of bone, a pint of soup, and an allowance of potatoes. Brown has fared much better than some prisoners, for every Sunday he is allowed to partake of a good square meal, furnished by his counsel, Mr. McPhillips. When Brown was first jailed here he had something like $1.75 in cash, and the major portion of this was expended at nis own request at different times on bologna sausage, for which he had a great weakness. It is very unlikely that any change in provisions will be made so far as Brown is concerned, as in the opinion of the authorities, it would be establishing a bad precedent, which might culminate in no end of trouble. Brown is healthy and looks well, so the jail officials sav.

"One factor in Canadian life which militates in favor of American goods is the similarity of social conditions and tastes on either side of the line. The intercourse between the two peoples is increasing year by year, and the fact leads to a leveling of tastes in home surroundings which must conduce to promote trade. To sum up, then, Canada offers a large and easilyreached market for a wide class of goods exported by the United States. With the rapid growth of the country in every respect, this market will be wonderfully enlarged in the near future. Rivals are making vigorous and systematic efforts to gain a strong foothold therein. The United States possessed the advantage of nearness and a preference of such classes of her products as have become known. But in order to push their sales there United States merchants must use every opportunity to keep their goods before the public."

Islen & Co., and Hirsch & Co., of this city. This means a victory for the importers, and a loss to the government of more than $300,000 in duties, that must now be refunded. The question at issue was whether the present Dingley tariff went into effect at the precise moment that President McKinley affixed his signature to the bill, namely, at six minutes past four o'clock, July 24, 1897, or at midnight of the day previous, the government maintaining the latter and the importers the former proposition. It has thus been admitted that the Dingley tariff law went into effect at six minutes past four on July 24, 1897.

The Rev. Charles Albert Berry, D.D., had been pastor of the Queen Street Congregational Church, Wolverhampton, since 1883. He was born at Leigh, Lancashire, on Dec. 14, 1852, and received the degree of doctor of divinity from St. Andrew's University, in 1895. Won't Disband His "Army" Until the Money Is Paid!

New York, Jan. 31.-A Washington special to the Tribune says: Maximo Gomez, the Cuban commanding general, has demanded nearly $60,000,000 from the United States, and refuses to disband his "army" until the money is paid. He has repudiated the arrangement made by Calixto Garcia, who month. came to Washington with authority from Gomez to provide for the return of the Cubans to their peaceful pursuits, and whose work was barely accomplished before his sudden death on

It was then agreed that the United States, in order to secure the prompt resumption of labor on the plantations of the island, with a view to promoting the speedy revival of prosperity and settled conditions, should distribute about $3,000,000 among the 30,000, said to be still under arms, in the ratio of $100 a man, the officers in proportion to their rank to receive a greater amount, the ordinary enlisted men to be discharged with sums less than $100, depending on the length of service and other considerations. For over a month the pay corps of the army has been making ready to carry out this arrangement, the national defense fund being available for the purpose. Gomez has come out against this scheme, which was operating satisfactorily to The Catholic Club gave another sucmost Cubans, and has

It is officially known here that he is endeavoring to dissuade Cubans from accepting office under the American oc-cupation, and is urging all the natives of every grade to stay with him in the field until the United States is compelled to accede to his "terms of disbandment." Gomez alleges that his army consists of 40,000 men, and he insists that most of them shall be paid for three years' service at the rates which in excellent voice, and became a genprevail in the United States army. Gomez also has about twenty major-generals, for each of whom he wants $7,-500 annually, and his "army" is equipped with nearly two hundred brigadiergenerals, each rated according to the United States army pay table at $5,500 annually. This aggregates the nice little sum of $3,783,000 for generals alone; then there are colonels, lieutenant-colrequire $648, and the army paymasters, who figured out the total, have reported that over $57,000,000 will be required to gratify all the demands Gomez has made, which is an average of $1,425 a Not Satisfied With Judge Meredith's man. ### CITY HALL NOTES

There is some talk among the members of the board of education of reviving a proposition to appoint a superintendent of works or general repairer for the department. At present the necessary supervision to keep the schools in repair devolves upon the members of No. 2 committee, and chief-Gomez, the Cuban Commander, ly upon the chairman. The numerous properties require a great deal of attention. In fact, there is always something to be done at one or other of the schools. Some years ago the board decided it would be advisable to make the appointment, and passed regulations to govern his conduct. But there was a hitch when the time came to choose a man for the office and the matter dropped. The duties of the proposed general repairer were set forth at that time in a motion by Mr. Anderson,

CHAPTER X.

"We'll do the thing in style, and have a first-class wedding," Mr. Chetwynd declared. "No need to let everyone know how affairs stand. We'll ask all our smart relations, and have a brilliant affair before we both disappear from the social world—eh, Vere?"

Vere would have greatly preferred a quiet wedding. The fuss and excitement of a smart affair was abhorrent to her under the circumstances, but she could see that her father's pride was deeply hurt at his second failure to make money, so she yielded to all his wishes. She was too heart-sore to care so long as she must be married at all-how it was managed.

So all the relations were asked, and a great number of "smart" people. The church was to be decorated beautifully and the dresses were to be in the height of the fashion. Vere's white satin had come homea lovely gown, resplendent in orange blossoms, pearl embroidery and rich lace. The bridesmaids' dresses of pink silk and chiffon were all ready, and it was the eve of the bridal. Ernest Kerry had called to see Vere for a few moments, and she came to him in the morning room, for he had refused to go into the drawing-room, which was full of guests, who were assembling for the morrow.

"Vere!" the young man murmured, as the girl came into the room; and his dark eyes were full of the love which he did not dare to speak. The girl was very pale, but was looking lovely. Her gown was of black lace, and outlined her graceful form per-fectly. Her lover thought she had never looked so beautiful.

"Won't you come into the drawing-room, Ernest?" she asked quietly, as she gave him her hand.

"No, thank you, dear, not tonight. There is a lot to do, and my mother wants me at home tonight. I only came to give you this"—he held out a little morocco case. Vere took it with a little smile. "Thank you," she said, gently.

"It is very, very simple," Ernest said, eprecatingly. "You have so many deprecatingly. "You have so many beautiful presents that I cannot hope to vie with them; so I chose something plain."

"It is beautiful," Vere said, as she opened the case and discovered an exquisitely chased gold bracelet, composed of a gold chain, with a little heart-shaped pendant, set with rubies

"Does this open? It looks as if it should," she inquired, touching the

"My darling-my wife!" he murmured. "It seems too good to be true. Oh! I almost dread tomorrow! I feel afraid that something will happen to take you from me even now."

Vere smiled faintly. "That is not very likely, is it? she said. "But won't you come and speak to my numerous aunts and cousins?" "Not tonight. I must go," he said hurriedly. "Good-bye, sweetheart, till tomorrow," and with a long, lingering pressure of her hand, and a passionate glance from his dark eyes, he was

The church was crowded with spectarms for the marriage of Mr. Kerry's son and the millionaire's daughter. "Many people wondered greatly at the match. One would have expected Miss Chetwynd to do so much better, they said. Mr. Chetwynd's titled relations openly turned up their haughty noses at the bridegroom-elect, and scolded Mr. Chetwynd vehemently for allowing his daughter to marry be-

However, they were all at the wedding, and nearly half the church was roped for the accommodation of the guests, who, in their grand apparel, made a brilliant patch of color in the son ber blace.

The bridegroom was already in his place at the altar-rails, and no woman present, looking at his manly figure and earnest face, with its beautiful dark eyes, could blame the bride for

He was deadly pale, however, and distinctly nervous, and now there was a flutter in the church and a whisper. "The bride-the bride!" and Vere, in her magnificent wedding gown, veiled with rich lace and adorned with pearls, came sweeping up the aisle on her father's arm. Behind her followed the bridesmaids, the ladies, Dora and Fanny Chetwynd, and Kate and Elsie was spoken close behind her. There was an instant's thrilling pause, and then, to the scandal of Ravenscroft and the huge delight of all the scandal-mongers, Vere Chetwynd, with a rapturous cry of "Harry!" that rang through the church, threw herself into the arms of the fair young man standing there, while the bridegroom stood like a man turned to

A scene of confusion ensued. Vere clung sobbing to Harry, while he held and soothed her, whispering passion-ately that he loved hen-that he had never ceased to love her-that he could explain his long silence, and so on. Mr. Chetwynd came forward, and angrily desired Mr. North to release his daughter. All the dowagers talked at once, most of them taking the part of Harry, who was known to be the next heir to a baronetcy; and Ernest Kerry, recovering from his first shock, came to Vere's side, passionately entreating her to listen to him, to let him speak

The good archdeacon's voice broke in on the clamor.

"My friends, this is not seemly," he said. "Will you"—looking at Mr. Chetwynd and Vere—"kindly come to the vestry, and perhaps"—with a look at the crowd beyond—"our other friends will be so considerate as to retire quiet-

Harry North set the example by leading Vere away. Ernest Kerry followed, white with anger and pain, and Mr. Chetwynd, fuming terribly, follow-

"Now," said he sharply, as he closed the vestry door, "perhaps, sir, you'll explain who you are, and how you have the impertinence to come and interrupt my daughter's marriage?"

"My name is Harry North," returned that gentleman, coolly; "and Vere and I were engaged ever so long ago. I was obliged to leave her, to go away, and mischief has been made between us.

"Vere! Listen to me one moment if you are not mad!" Ernest Kerry said, passionately. Vere turned on him with flashing

'How dare you speak to me! I never wish to see you again, you mean, dis-honorable—"

"Hush, hush," interrupted Mr. Chetwynd, irritably. "We had better go home. I see this will be a long affair."

"Couldn't we be married?" Harry

"Yes, there is a secret spring."

"Show me," she said, moving a little closer to him.

cured: "For three years something has gone wrong with my heart. What it was I did not know, but it caused me great suffering from palpitation and shortness of breath. When I started to do anything in a hurry the trouble became a great deal worse. During the last three years I have taken a num-ber of different medicines for heart trouble; but nothing did me any good, until I fortunately commenced taking Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, which I got at E. R. Carpenter's drug store. Three boxes cured me, making my heart act in a healthy and natural manner and restoring me to my former state of vigorous health. I am no longer armoyed with palpitation or shortness of breath, and can heartily say that Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills cannot be excelled as a medicine for all heart or nerve troubles. This is my own experience, and I recommend these pills to all who suffer as Christian Endeavor World.1 There is no lack of evidence that God answers prayer. When Mr. Moody was a young man he became president of the Chicago Y. M. C. A., and set out to get money for a new building. Calling on a rich man, he gained a promise for $2,500. While the giver took the subscription paper upstairs to sign it, Mr. Moody was on his knees praying, "My God, tell him to sign for $10,000." Five minutes afterward the man returned, with the words: "Mr. Moody, I have been thinking this matter over, and I believe it is my duty to make it $10,000 instead of $2,500."

-The Woodstock Sentinel-Review, commenting on Rev. Robert Johnston, who preached the anniversary ser-mons in Chalmers Church on Sunday, says: "Rev. Mr. Johnston is a man of much taller stature than the average, and has a good pulpit appearance. He has an excellent command of the English language, and delivers his thoughts in a way which can be understood by all hearers. Rev. Mr. Johnston held the undivided attention of his hearers from the time he announced his text till he closed the Holy Book, and asked God's blessing on the message he had delivered."

Council Recommended to Petition the Government.

An Anomaly in the Assessment Act-Getting After the Street Railway Company-Election of Alderman by General Vote - Assessing Civil Servants.

At a special meeting of the finance committee yesterday afternoon, some important recommendations to the council were decided upon.

One of them was to ask the government for power to elect aldermen by general vote. In this connection, an amendment by Ald. Graham to Ald. Parnell's original motion was passed. It recommended that the section of the act providing for the election of aldermen by general vote in cities of 10,000 to 15,000 of a population be made a plicable to cities having a populatio. of from 15,000 to 100,000, except that there shall be one alderman for every 4,000 of a population, instead of one for ev-

It was also decided to petition to amend the assessment act, by providing that it shall hot be necessary to assess the real property of street railway, telephone, telegraph, gas and electric light companies by wards, but to make the total assessment in one ward. No action will be recommended on the resolution to petition the legis-lature to empower civic municipalities to levy rates upon lands benefited by the construction of storm sewers, and which do not front on streets along which the storm sewers are constructed.

PROSPEROUS YEAR

The Annual Business Meeting of St. John's Presbyterian Church, Fort Stanley.

The annual congregational meeting of St. John's Presbyterian Church was held on Wednesday evening, Jan. 25, and the reports presented showed the this amount $2,453 24 remained at the church to be in the most prosperous condition in its history. After devotional exercises the meeting was resolved into a pusiness meeting. Rev. Mr. Courtenay, chairman, and Mr. Mc-Kay, L. E. and D. R., secretary. The report of the Sunday school was read by Mr. Mckay, secretary, and snowed a membership of 60 scholars and 9 teachers and omcers, an increase of 12 over last year; average attendance, scholars 39, staff 7. The sum of $55 38 was raised by the school, and $50 14 expended, including $22 for mis-secretary-treasurer, read the report of the managers, which showed 1898 to be the red letter year in the history of the congregation. The revenue from all sources amounting to $1,020 78. Messrs. Baldwin, Taylor and James Ferguson retired by rotation, and Messrs. A. Taylor, H. F. Jelly and J. Johnston elected to the poard of managers.

The report of session, by the pastor, Rev. Mr. Courtenay, contained, incidentally, some very interesting reminiscences of the church's founding and the first communion, celebrated in August, 1855. In 1894, Mr. Courtenay's first year here, the membership numbered 68. Since that time the additions have been 35, 30 on profession of faith, and 5 by certificate, while the removals number 31, leaving a purged roll at the present time of 72. The average attendance at communion in 1894 was 42. In 1898 it had increased to 56. There has been an advance all along the line, and the good feeling existing among the members, and by the members for their pastor, is a strong indication that the church has entered upon a new era of marked prosperity.

After business the ladies entertained the congregation to a splendid lunch in the vestry, which was thoroughly appreciated and enjoyed by the most representative audience convened at a business meeting in many years.
