TAMMANY DOOMED
TO WORST DEFEAT
IN PARTY HISTORY

'Hard Hitting' Hennessy Has Turned New York By Corruption Charges.

WILL AVENGE SULZER

Boss Murphy's Party Is Divided
and Mitchell Plans Big Reforms.

[Canadian Press.]

New York, Nov. 3.—With the betting two and two and a half to one against the bosses, Tammany, it is generally predicted, is doomed to disastrous defeat in tomorrow's election.

An awakened city, nauseated by the circumstantial relation of facts of graft, fraud, and corruption, has determined to deal as harshly with Boss Murphy and his ring as they dealt with William Sulzer, recently removed from the governor's chair.

They gave no mercy; none will they receive. New York is in the grip of a tremendous reform movement.

Sensational Charges.

William Sulzer, deposed governor,
seeking to return to the assembly,
from the sixth district, caused to be published today letters and telegrams purporting to show that McCall offered to get Charles F. Murphy, the Tammany leader, to stop the impeachment trial, provided Sulzer would indorse McCall's candidacy for mayor, and stop the inquiries looking to the exposure of Tammany corruption. The letters and messages in question have the purported signature of Fred Feigl,
one of McCall's campaign managers.

There was renewed talk today that Sulzer's enemies would seek his indictment in Albany County for suborna-tion of perjury in connection with his testimony before the high court of impeachment. Sulzer will make his final campaign speech on the East Side tonight, notwithstanding that he has said that he has been threatened with assassination if he does. He has, however, appealed to the police and the district attorney's office to "enforce the law and maintain order" in the district.

Work With Wilson.

If John Purroy Mitchell, comparatively untainted and young, but shown by experience to have ability in the detection and punishment of grafters,
should be elected, President Wilson will be able to work with him and Governor Glynn to create a new Democracy in the empire state. There will be a Tammany Hall without Murphy, for the "chief," according to many of his own followers, will have to go. He played for high stakes and won, but drunk with power, he played again and lost. There is nothing more brutal than place hunting, graft seeking politicians without jobs, and without the opportunity for graft.

Tragic Consequences.

It is a campaign of tragic consequences that has been waged, and which closed officially tonight. Sulzer was removed, not because he was

WOULD NOT TOUCH
ELECTRIFIED LINE
WITH 40-FT. POLE

This Is What Vice-President Dalrymple Had To Tell Reporters Today—Would Have Leased
or Purchased the Line.

"We would not touch the London and Port Stanley road with a 40-foot pole if it were electrified," Mr. J. E.
Dalrymple, vice-president of the Grand Trunk, who passed through the city
this morning, told The Advertiser.

"We cannot see where an electrified line from London to Port Stanley would pay. Of course, there are men in your city who say it is bound to be a success, but their opinion and ours differ," he continued.

"The Grand Trunk has a short line running from Port Dalhousie to Port Colborne that is something similar to the London and Port Stanley line in length and situation. Why don't they electrify it, if operation by electricity is cheaper than by steam, as some people say in London?" the reporter asked Mr. Dalrymple.

Not a Feasible Scheme.

"Yes, the company has a line down
there very much like the London and Port Stanley line," he replied. "But it would not be feasible to electrify it.
In the first place there are times when traffic over that line is unusually

heavy and we would not have enough electrical equipment to handle it. We could not borrow or rent equipment to handle it, and unless we expended an enormous sum on equipment which would be lying idle a greater part of the time, we would not be able to handle that extra business."

"Does the same thing apply to the London and Port Stanley line?"

"Yes, it does."

"Does the Grand Trunk intend building a line from Port Burwell to London,
and would it have been built whether the people decided to electrify the line or not?"

"No Fight With City."

"To answer your first question I will say that we have not received a reply from the engineers who surveyed the line, and as to the second I will say that we would not have considered the line at all if we had been able to purchase or lease the London and Port Stanley road. We do not think the city will be able to handle our heavy tonnage with the equipment, and for that reason we have to protect ourselves.

MEXICAN POLICY
STILL UNDECIDED
SAYS PRES. WILSON

Lind Has Secured Support of Several Foreign Ministers
For States.

WANT EMBARGO LIFTED

Constitutionalists Would Have
All Armed Equally and No Interference.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 3.—Reports from John Lind, President Wilson's personal representative in Mexico, concerning his recent conferences in Vera Cruz with the Russian, German and Norwegian ministers to Mexico, conveyed the impression to President Wilson today that the disposition
on the part of those diplomats to cooperate with the United States in lending their support to the plans of the Washington Government for solving the situation.

Are Not Justified.

No announcement was made here
today as to any future policy. Administration officials did say, however,
that published stories forecasting armed intervention were not justified at this time, that there was nothing in the situation so far as the Washington administration was concerned, to warrant such an assumption.

The arrival of Roberto V. V. Pes-quiera, an emissary from General Garza, the Constitutional chief, raised the question of whether the Washington Government would recognize representations from the Con-stitutionalists.

President Wilson made it clear to those who discussed the situation that officially, the Government would not receive any formal representations, but that in some way or other, the information which the Con-stitutionalists desire to lay before the American Government would be received.

Request No Interference.

In that connection it became known that the Constitutionalists at a recent conference of chiefs decided not to ask for recognition of belligerency, but to request that there be no interference on the part of the United States in their own efforts to solve the situation by arms. The Constitutionalists want the embargo on arms removed so that all factions may be supplied on an equal footing. The President has been petitioned to remove the embargo.

The understanding here is that the three diplomats at Vera Cruz sought the conference with Mr. Lind. It was made plain today that the President's envoy will not soon return to the United States as has been reported.

Not Received Yet.

Secretary of State Bryan had not received today from H. A. Tupper, of the international peace forum, representatives in behalf of the constitutionalists which he has agreed to consider unofficially. At the state department today it was said that Dr.
Tupper had no official status, and that Secretary Bryan in receiving any communication does so in an official capacity.

The battleship Nebraska, en route to Mexican waters, with three other vessels of the third division of the Atlantic fleet, was ordered today to Tampico to join the New Hampshire.
As none of the other ships have been ordered home, that will leave two battleships at Tampico and five at Vera Cruz.

ASKS INSPECTOR
TO LEAVE BABY
ON DOORSTEP

Pathetic Plea of Woman, Whose Husband Does Not Want Adopted Child, Comes to Mr. Saunders—
Has One Baby, But Wants Another.

With her heart crying out for a motherless babe to fill the vacant place
in her heart and home, a woman in a small country town, not far from London, has written Inspector Joseph Sanders, of the Children's Aid Society, to leave a baby on her doorstep.

Already she is playing the part of mother to one of the little waifs from the London Children's Shelter, yet she wants another, and to secure it she has made the unusual request of leaving the child on her doorstep. In explanation, she says her husband is not willing for her to adopt another child,
but that if one should be found on their front porch he would never send it away.

A Touch of Pathos.

There is pathos in her pleading for this subterfuge to be adopted in securing another babe for her mother.
After reciting the wonderful talents of the Children's Aid ward she has already taken into her home, she makes her plea for another. The letter, speaking volumes for her mother love, follows in part:

"I would like to take another baby, but Mr. — is not willing.
Still, if we should find one on our front porch he would never send it away. He is too fond of babies. If you ever have a nice baby, boy or girl, either one, if you would just bring it here and leave it on our porch, I would be glad. If you could manage it some way to leave one, a nice one, I would give it a mother's love."

The picture that the letter conjures up is one that, while touched with humor, yet is full of sadness, almost

ONE KILLED WHEN EXPRESS CRASHED INTO LOCOMOTIVE

Ten Were Hurt in Bad Wreck in C. P. R. Yards at Moose Jaw.

VICTIM IS FROM OTTAWA

Switch Had Been Improperly
Closed and Coach Dashed Into Engine.

Moose Jaw, Sask., Nov. 3.—Lillian Pettypiece, of Ottawa, aged 16, was killed, and ten persons were more or less seriously injured in an accident in the west yards of the Canadian Pacific Railway here at 5 o'clock this morning, when a second-class passenger car on the No. 4 Toronto express eastbound took an improperly closed switch and was splintered against a freight engine standing on the siding.

The Casualties.

Dead—Lillian Pettypiece, aged 16,
daughter of Mrs. C. Waterman, Ottawa, and bound there from Calgary.
Injured—Mrs. C. Waterman, Ottawa, skull fractured; Henry Warren, Vancouver, B. C., bruised; Dan Brooks, Edmonton, broken leg; Clifford Johnson, Pease, Ark., bruised and cut;
T. S. St. Hillen, Gull Lake, Sask., cut
in head; C. E. Seurbridge, New Hamburg, Ont., sprained back; E. Johnson, Crandon, Ont., cut on forehead; W.
Pick, Toronto, burns on feet.

Switch Not Closed.

The accident took place in the yard
a mile west of the city. The engine and baggage car passed the switch safely, but the second class car took the switch, plunging into the engine of the outgoing freight standing on the siding. It is supposed the switch had been improperly closed.

WORD OF HUSBAND'S DEATH IS TOO LATE TO STOP WIFE

Unaware of Grim Message of Suicide, Mrs. Frank Pellat Left London Sunday Morning Expecting to Meet Lifemate Who Was Then Lying Dead
in a Toronto Hotel.

Expecting her husband to meet her at the station in Toronto, where he was to have a new home awaiting her, Mrs. Frank Pellat, with her little daughter, 10 years of age, left London Sunday at noon, all unconscious of the sad news contained in a long-distance telephone message received at the Bell office to the effect that he had been found dead in a room at the C.
P. R. Hotel, Bismarck and Yonge streets, Toronto, under circumstances that pointed to suicide from carbolic acid poisoning.

A Sweet Woman.

"Mrs. Pellat was one of the sweetest little women I have ever known,"
said Mrs. Pullman this morning. "She was unable to bear the shock
when she reached Toronto. On Saturday she wrote to her husband to meet her on the arrival of the 12:05 train in Toronto. She took all her belongings and her little daughter, and was quite overjoyed at the prospect of being again with her husband."

Pellat left London two weeks ago to get work in Toronto. His wife knew that he was going into the wine
business with his brother-in-law. It was probably with Mr. Patterson, who is married to a sister of Mrs. Pellat.
Mr. Pellat was in London, and his wife followed him to Toronto as soon as he found a suitable home for her.
She received letters from him regularly,
almost daily, but it is not known whether he wrote to her to come on Sunday. She wrote to him on Saturday that she was going.

Mr. and Mrs. Pellat had not been very long in London, but those who knew them expressed sympathy for Mrs. Pellat, and speak very well of her husband.

Found Under Bed.

Press dispatches stated that he had been drinking heavily to the point
in his room, huddled under the bed,
where he had apparently crawled to die.

The Daily Hatpin Casualty

Mr. Edward Boast, one of the elevator men at Smallman & Ingram's store, heartily approves of The Advertiser's campaign against dangerous hatpins.

Mr. Boast says his life is just one dodging after another, and on Saturday he failed to dodge in time.

A long hatpin, worn by a woman passenger, pierced Mr. Boast's eye, coming so close as to endanger his eyesight. He expects no serious results, no thanks to the hatpin.

A male passenger suggested that Mr. Boast take the lady to the top of the building and make a quick descent, but he was unwilling to do this.

It is about time that a law was introduced prohibiting the wearing of dangerous hatpins.

WRIT WAS ISSUED AGAINST PHYSICIAN

Arthur D. Davis Charges Dr.
F. L. Burdon With Negligence
in Practice.

Mr. J. M. McEvoy, acting for Arthur
D. Davis, of Eleanor street, East London, issued a writ this morning against Dr. F. L. Burdon, seeking unsated damages for alleged injury to the plaintiff from the defendant's negligence as a medical man in attending his wife.

The writ is the result of the death of Mrs. Davis under pathetic circumstances last January. She was taken seriously ill during the night, and Mr.
Davis summoned the nearest physician.
He did not respond, however, and the woman died before medical attention reached her. The case attracted considerable attention at the time, and
Mr. Davis later made an investigation.

EXECUTE SANCHEZ FOR MURDERING DON JALON

Spanish Captain Was Convicted on Confession Made by His Daughter.

[Canadian Press.]

Madrid, Spain, Nov. 3.—A firing squad of Spanish troops set down today executed by shooting Captain Manuel Sanchez, Spanish army officer, found guilty by court-martial of the murder of Don Garcia Jalon, a wealthy landowner, last May. Detachments of all the regiments in garrison witnessed the execution.

Captain Sanchez was tried and condemned for the crime as a sequel to the confession of his daughter, Luisa Sanchez, said to be his daughter, who was sentenced to twelve years' imprisonment as his accomplice.

Jalon was missing for several weeks
after he had won about $1,000 at cards,
and the evidence showed that he had been enticed to Sanchez's flat and murdered there by the officer, who with the women cut up the body and threw it into an adjacent sewer.

DEMAND REMOVAL OF
JOHN R. VOORHEES

Supt. of Elections Charged With Failure to Probe Violations.

New York, Nov. 3.—The summary
removal of John R. Voorhees, superintendent of elections, a Democrat, is asked in a letter addressed to Governor Glynn today by Francis W. Bird, chairman of the national progressive party of New York County; L. J.
O'Reilly, chairman of the city campaign committee of the Independence League, and Clement J. Driscoll, president of the voters' league.

The letter charges Voorhees with failure to investigate violations of the election law, with permitting his office to be used for partisan purposes, and with "general incompetency and inefficiency." It alleges that the superintendent failed to take action "on lists of fraudulent registration submitted to him a year ago" and permitted the same names to be registered this year.

AGED GUELPH WOMAN
BURNED TO DEATH

Mrs. Hewer's Clothes Caught As She Tried To Light Oil Stove.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Guelph, Nov. 2.—Mrs. Hewer, aged 66, living at No. 14 Oliver street, met a horrible death yesterday afternoon. Her clothes were burned almost completely off her body, and death was caused by the inhalation of the flames. It is supposed that she was attempting to light an oil stove when her clothing became ignited. The aged woman tried to rush out of the room, but her strength carried her as far as the banister, where she fell over. The accident was not discovered for a few minutes. Mrs. Hewer boarded with Mrs. Newsome, and when the latter's little girl came into the house she told her mother she smelled smoke. Mrs. Newsome attempted to get past the smoke to the fire, but was pressed back, and she was horror-stricken when she saw the body lying over the banister. She at once sent a call to the fire department, who rushed to the scene, but were too late to save Mrs. Hewer. They extinguished the fire in the house with little trouble. An inquest will be held.

Western Drama, "Billy, the Kid." Theatregoers interested in plays of love and adventure have a treat in store for them in the coming engagement Friday evening of that melodramatic play, "Billy, the Kid," by Santley and Walter Woods, the authors, and while the story they have told is said to have been founded upon some of the incidents in the life of the famous and notorious bandit, for the purposes of the play, they have made their leading character a young man who is not wholly bad, and who before the final curtain regrets his evil ways. Still there is adventure and excitement enough in the four acts to please the most captious. "Billy, the Kid" is to come to the Grand Friday evening at popular prices, and for one night only. SUES FOR $2,000

Stratford Men Alleged to Have Acted in Bad Faith.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Toronto, Nov. 2.—An action, indirectly arising out of the defeat of a radial railway bylaw by the people of Stratford, Ont., at the last municipal elections, has commenced at Osgoode Hall. A. R. and H. E. Shaver are suing F. B. Deacon, of Vancouver, to recover $2,000, balance alleged to be due on the purchase of a block of business property in Stratford. The defendant charges the plaintiffs acted in bad faith, as they were supposed to have inside information regarding the entrance of the railway company into the town, and that the proposed line would be near the property. The defendant, who was in Vancouver at the time, did not know of this fact, and at the suggestion of the plaintiffs he gave them a quit claim. In Choosing Oriental Rugs

The buyer must depend almost solely upon the integrity and knowledge of the dealer who sells the rugs, as each district of the Orient, in producing their own peculiar styles, make as well as rugs of great merit rugs of inferior value, which to the inexperienced eye may seem the equal of others at much higher prices, as much of the value of Oriental rugs lies in the permanence of dyes, grade of materials, care and originality of weave and design, which only an expert or those who have made it a study can determine with certainty.

THE RED BUTTON A MYSTERY STORY OF NEW YORK By WILL IRWIN

"Miguel Perez was this man's father-in-law," the stool pigeon is right in his identification. The stool pigeon was down there about three or four years ago. At that time Miguel Perez had just died, and this Juan had inherited the business. It seemed that he was getting on well with it. At least, that was the gossip. That's all—oh, yes, the stool pigeon remembered one other thing about Miguel Perez. He had an early romance with an English girl—nearly people. Miguel Perez married her, and she died again. A Spanish girl from Caracas, and Juan Perez was the son of that marriage. That was about all he could remember.

"Still, the camera marked. Port of Spain seems to fit it, somehow. 'It seems to. But of course, you can't be certain. He may be a relative and have a family resemblance. 'Your friend didn't know whether old Miguel Perez had any children by his first marriage—to the English girl? 'He didn't say so, at least."

Rosalie congealed to a pose with the advent of an idea. "Tell me," she asked, "when a father and a mother are of different nationalities—talk different languages—what language does the baby learn first, the father's or the mother's?"

"Oh, the mother's, always." "So there was a child from his first marriage—to the English girl? He'd talk better English than Juan Perez?"

"He'd pronounce it better, anyway. There's no reason why, with such a start, a child brought up in Port of Spain, which is an English possession, shouldn't speak as good English as here. Grimaldi was about to say 'as you,' but a sense of truth restrained him—'as anybody,' he concluded."

"And a mother always talks to her baby in her own language." "Oh, of course." "And if any foreigner—you, for instance—gets real excited and talks quick, what language does he use?"

"Oh, his own first tongue! When I'm really angry, I always begin to swear in Piedmont dialect."

Rosalie mused aloud, and in that musing she cleared up for us one of the mysteries of her method.

"It does look to me," she said, "as if I wasted a lot of time brushing up my Spanish with the Martinez Phonograph Method. Still, it's bound to help here and there. Listen, I addressed Grimaldi. 'I did a turn once—never mind what—on the Mexican border—El Paso, San Antonio and places like that. I was much Spanish as I could—my business called for it. I've been here since I came lately. You understand Spanish, don't you?'"

"As well as I do English." "Then," said Rosalie, in Spanish, "how does this sound? Is it good conversational, Spanish? Tell me what you think."

"Well," said Grimaldi, "it runs all right, but anyone would know you weren't Spanish born. Still, it's pretty good, and I suppose you could fool a Spaniard for a few words. What are you trying to do with Spanish?"

"Oh, nothing," replied Rosalie carelessly. "Well, I must go on. Keep him shadowed, and when you get anything new you know where to find me. Good-bye."

At home in her own room again, Rosalie pondered long, a nervous finger picking at a musing lip—pondered, until she was frozen with a new idea. Those rings of Miss Estrilla—she had long wanted a look at them. Especially that big diamond with a curious onyx and gold setting which she wore on her left hand. The forgotten visiting cards in wraps laid aside at the door, the initials on a bag, the key in a ring—she remembered these and had found the way to old records of the mind in all her years of professional endeavor. Rosalie had noted Miss Estrilla's care of that ring; noted how she washed her hands without removing it. Chance, therefore, in waiting for the opportunity. She herself must make it. She meditated. Again her finger stopped its drumming on her lip, and she congealed to a pose.

"Molly," she was saying to the maid half an hour later, "I'll be up. I'll be up. Miss Estrilla's dinner tonight." As though by an after thought, she picked up a late edition of an evening newspaper and laid it on the edge of the tray.

"I've brought your dinner myself," she said to Miss Estrilla. She put down the tray, adjusted the napkin, bolstered the invalid with the pillows and took up a cup of bouillon.

"There, now, I'll help—oh, dearie, I'm so sorry!" For Rosalie had stumbled slightly in approaching the couch, and the bouillon had splashed over the napkin, the spread and Miss Estrilla's hands. Rosalie bubbled angrily as she hurried to the door.

"I'm so sorry!" For Rosalie had stumbled slightly in approaching the couch, and the bouillon had splashed over the napkin, the spread and Miss Estrilla's hands. Rosalie bubbled angrily as she hurried to the door.

BIG HARVESTER CASE COMMENCES TODAY IN ST. PAUL COURT

Government Plans To Dissolve Monster Firm Under New Trust Law.

MANY OTHERS INVOLVED

Hundreds of Witnesses and Voluminous Exhibits Are To Be Presented.

Chicago, Nov. 3.—Hearings of the Government's suit for an injunction to dissolve the International Harvester Company is scheduled to begin today in the United States circuit court at St. Paul. Judge Walter H. Sanborn set the date for final hearing of the arguments. The bill charges the Harvester Company with being a monopoly in violation of the Sherman anti-trust law.

The suit was filed at St. Paul more than two years ago. Since that time voluminous testimony has been taken by special examiners in New York, Chicago, Pittsburg, St. Louis, Kansas City and St. Paul. More than 800 witnesses testified for the Government, and the defence placed more than 1,000 witnesses on the stand. The suit is directed against 24 subsidiary companies and individuals as defendants, including Charles Deering, Cyrus H. McCormick, George W. Perkins, and Norman B. Ream.

Edwin P. Grosvenor, assistant attorney-general, was in charge of the prosecution during the taking of testimony. The defence was represented by William H. McHugh, of Omaha, and John P. Wilson and Edgar A. Bancroft, of Chicago.

Many higher officials of the defendant company, including George W. Perkins, chairman of the corporation's finance committee, testified during the various hearings before the special examiners. All denied the charge of monopoly, and said a number of independent agricultural implement corporations have grown up and expanded since the organization of the International Harvester Company.

Mr. Perkins testified voluntarily at a hearing held in Chicago. He was resentful because the Government failed to request his appearance under subpoena. The Government's reason for not calling him a witness, it was said, was that it did not wish to be placed in the position of being forced to give Mr. Perkins immunity by reason of anything he might say on the stand.

Attacks Prosecution. While on the stand Mr. Perkins gave vent to his feelings and said the Government had treated him "shamefully" in refusing to give him a chance to testify under a subpoena.

Mr. Perkins denied the allegation there had been a concerted plan to purchase the various independent plants, which later became constituent parts of the International Harvester Company. He said the purchase or transfers of the five independent companies were made at various times, and the deals were consummated not with a view to acquiring monopoly of the harvester business but to economize production and distribution, and to conquer the foreign market.

Under cross-examination Mr. Perkins insisted the five independent companies, by the alleged trust, practically controlled 75 per cent of the harvester machinery business of the country prior to the time the Harvester Company was organized. He claimed credit for conceiving the idea of organizing and naming the defendant corporations, the real object being, he said, to capture the foreign markets.

The Government placed a number of harvester machinery and implement manufacturers on the stand, who testified they had been driven out of business or into bankruptcy as a result of "unfair competition" practiced by the Harvester Company. It was shown the Harvester Company virtually had obtained a corner on the vegetable fibre from which binder twine is made. The entire crop of plantations in Yucatan and other states in Mexico, and in the West Indies, according to the testimony, were bought up, with the result that the price of binder twine, which was boosted high up.

A mass of testimony was taken showing sales agents operating stores in the agricultural centres of the country were forbidden to handle the machinery of competing manufacturers. Many of this class of agents, it was said, lost their Harvester Company agency on showing they handled competing lines.

In rebuttal the defence produced a number of agents who testified they handled the Harvester Company's machinery side by side with the product of competitors and they never had any trouble. Rosalie noted this and said to herself, "But life's awful!"

She never faltered again. She forgot that little crisis, as we all forget so many of those momentary crises of the will upon which hang great ultimate decisions. Whether she must concede, when all was over, how much depended upon those few words, caught by accident through a half-open door. Constance, indeed, never knew, and Rosalie forgot.

To Be Continued.

LOSS IS $5,000,000 IN OIL WELLS BLAZE

Petroleum District of Moreni Swept by Destructive Fire.

[Canadian Press.]

Bucharest, Nov. 3.—A loss estimated at $5,000,000 has been caused by fires, which are spreading from one oil well to another, in the petroleum district of Moreni.

The fires started yesterday with the explosion of a large well, and spread through the whole valley and along the hillsides, which were today a mass of flames. Over 25 wells were alighted, all burning furiously. Fighting the fires has become very difficult, as most of the wells are in eruption.

Results of Italian Election Satisfactory to the Vatican.

[Canadian Press.]

Rome, Nov. 3.—It was said at the Vatican today that the Pope had expressed satisfaction at the election of six more Catholic deputies in the senate and half of the Italian general elections, and also that he was pleased at the defeat of candidates in Rome supported by the Socialists, which has been in control of the municipality for so long a time. The defeat also of the former priest, Father Rinaldo Ossola, leader of the Catholic Democrats, was noted with interest. Mayor Nathan, of Rome, will shortly convene a meeting of the aldermen of the city, at which it is expected he will present his resignation. As a municipal election is to take place in June next year, it is assumed that the Government will in the interim appoint a royal commissioner.

"Divine Plan" Letter. The Government produced a mass of papers and correspondence of the Harvester Company, showing, it is said, that the idea of acquiring a monopoly of the harvester machinery business was well understood by all the higher and subordinate officials of the company. One of the letters introduced by the Government was referred to as the "divine plan" letter. It read in part:

"We have in the near future this great company will do practically all the harvester business of the world, for the company is wisely organized and it is going to be managed on broad-based unselfish principles. It is going to sell its goods for reasonable prices and deal justly with all men—employees, agents, and farmers. And that sort of treatment, will surely bring a new era of prosperity to the world for the benefit of the commerce and trade of the United States."

Under cross-examination Mr. Perkins insisted the five independent companies, by the alleged trust, practically controlled 75 per cent of the harvester machinery business of the country prior to the time the Harvester Company was organized. There is no doubt about it. Doctor Sangerboud proved it when he infected a guinea pig with dandruff germs and all its hair disappeared in a short time. The entire medical world has accepted Dr. Sangerboud's discovery as final. Ask any worthy physician.

Paris leads the world in knowledge of diseases of the hair and remedies for the same.

Parlisan Sage which can now be obtained at leading druggists all over Canada is the one great remedy that kills the dandruff germs.

That is why all druggists say to every reader of The Advertiser, if Parlisan Sage does not banish dandruff, stop falling hair or itching scalp in two weeks they will refund the purchase price.

Dandruff is the forerunner of baldness. Take care of your hair while you have hair to take care of. Kill the dandruff germs now before the dandruff germs kill your hair.

TOOK THE CAKE. Three American artists were telling tall tales about their work. "The other day," said one, "I painted a with such accuracy that, on being thrown into the water, it immediately sank to the bottom."

"Faugh!" said another. "Yesterday I hung my thermometer on the easel supporting my view of the Polar region. It fell at once twenty degrees below freezing point."

"All that is nothing," remarked the third artist, in conclusion. "My portrait of a prominent New York millionaire was so lifelike that it had to be shaved twice a week."

EVIDENTLY NOT. [Chicago Record-Herald.] "Almost anything can be settled by diplomacy, you know."

"Did you ever try diplomacy in settling a misunderstanding with a bumble bee?"

OUR first range was a Peerless too.

Pure white porcelain oven and fuel doors. All nickel-plated—heat-proof. Adjustable damper. Dripping and toasting lever. Sliding top.

and she has it yet. The Peerless of to-day is of course a much better range than the one grandmother bought. Looks better. Cooks better. And uses less coal. The oven is of quick-heating steel—the flues perfectly proportioned—all of which saves fuel. The doors draw, forming shelves to draw out the cooking dishes. The top raises for broiling. The grates work without sticking. And the appearance! Grandmother admires the new Peerless with its plain heavy nickel and its pure white porcelain doors. But yet—she clings to her own Peerless. The faithful old companion of her earlier culinary adventures still has—and always will have—a place in her home.

DEALING IN FUTURES.

Mr. Chiozza Money, M. P., writing in the London Daily News and Leader, rejoices that British emigration figures for July and August show at least a decline from 1912 to 1913. For some time he has been sounding an alarm against the exodus that threatened to equal Britain's natural increase in population. He is one of those who believe that England is to go on increasing without limit in wealth and population, especially as better social and economic conditions are brought about.

It is good to see such confidence. At the same time, he tends to render some injustice to Canada in seeking to dissuade his countrymen from emigration. In a recent article he says:

"Those who desire to compare the resources of the United Kingdom and of Canada should not be too much impressed by the great and obvious difference in their areas which exhibits itself when we glance at the map. There is one great difference between the two countries which makes our resources under present conditions infinitely better than those of Canada. The chief resource of Canada is an enormous fertile area, a great part of which can be used for what I may term 'scratch' farming. But while Canada has power resources which are not to be despised, they cannot be compared with those of the United Kingdom. Considered as a natural workshop, the British Isles are infinitely superior to the greater part of the huge Canadian territory. I go further, and maintain that the United Kingdom could much more easily maintain a population of 100,000,000 than Canada, in spite of the difference in their respective areas."

"The common conception, therefore, that people should leave England and go to Canada rather than leave Canada and come to England I believe to be entirely mistaken."

This is fair to England, but perhaps hardly so to Canada. What Mr. Money says of England's resources is true enough. If there are now 40,000,000 in Great Britain in spite of the land being largely derelict, there is no doubt room for a vast increase of population in both town and country. There can be no limit in the near future to England's manufacturing enterprise. She has the coal right at the furnace door, the start and the inherited skill of a century and a half. The very concentration of population, as of money, begets further concentration.

But is it not absurd to say that Canada, with its fertile soil and mines and water power, will not support even a larger population than little Great Britain can hold? Mr. Money might have made the same statements a hundred years ago about the United States, with much more plausibility; and yet that country has now distanced the United Kingdom both in wealth and in population, though not in trade. To put such limits to Canadian development is to disregard the history of the United States.

There is practically nothing grown in Great Britain that cannot be a well produced in this country, especially in Ontario and the Maritime Provinces. Mr. Money need not emphasize "scratch farming." That is not the end-all in Canada any more than landlordism is the last word in Great Britain.

It is right for Mr. Money to take a sanguine view of Great Britain's resources and future. Britain is by no means in decline as some of our Robbings and other ignoramus imagine or pretend—quite the contrary. If Germany can keep her increase in population at home and shoot ahead even of Great Britain in wealth, the United Kingdom can and will advance in the same way under a reformed land system. But let no one, at the same time, attempt to set narrow limits to the future of Canada, unless he wants to be amusing to the next generation.

THE WILSON DOCTRINE.

The Monroe Doctrine was enunciated many years ago as a cardinal principle of United States policy. It was that no European power should be allowed to acquire territory on this continent. It was endorsed by Great Britain. That country is not seeking new colonies in America. But it has never been recognized by the other European powers, though they have made no effort to act in opposition to it. Now President Wilson has announced an amplification of the old doctrine, which may well be termed the Wilson Doctrine. Not only will the United States object to European powers obtaining territory here, but she will object to foreign capitalists and investors obtaining undue influence in the affairs of any Latin-American country. In an address before the Southern Commercial Congress at Mobile he said:

"States that are obliged to grant concessions are in the condition that foreign interests are apt to dominate their domestic affairs. It is emancipation from this inevitable subordination which we deem it our duty to assist."

These concessions, it may be assumed, are granted on the basis of mutual profit. The investor is prepared to risk his money in Mexico, for example, because he hopes to get good interest from the investment. The Government of the country welcomes the investor, and grants him certain concessions, because it receives pay for so doing, and because the operations of the investor will develop and make more valuable the natural resources of the country, and provide remunerative labor for a number of the people. No Latin-American country is forced to grant concessions. It does so voluntarily, for value received.

But the investor, having fulfilled his part of the contract, expects the other party to protect him in his operations, and to insure the safety of his employees and his property. He finds, however, that conditions are unsettled, that the Government is unstable, that revolutions are threatened. No matter how much he may desire to keep out of public affairs, he may find himself drawn into them as a matter of self-protection. He naturally takes part with the people who can best safeguard his interests. It may be admitted that this is a condition of affairs liable to be abused by unscrupulous men, and to react injuriously on the country; but it is the natural course of events in countries like these.

It must be remembered that these investors are not all Europeans; there are Americans as well. How will the United States Government deal with them? It can only go a step farther than the Monroe Doctrine provides. While it keeps foreign governments from getting a foothold on this continent, it must also keep foreign investors from obtaining concessions. That can only be done by preventing the various Latin-American governments from granting them. In other words, it must assume a suzerainty over all the other governments on the continent, and claim and exercise the right not only of protecting them from foreigners, but of interfering in their domestic concerns.

The United States press, as far as we have seen, appears to be pretty unanimous in its opinion that the President's doctrine is in accord with American ideals, and should be adopted. But we fear that, however noble it may look in theory, its enforcement will give rise to serious complications. In another address, about the same time, Mr. Wilson expressed his desire that no government should exist on this continent, "supported by anything but the consent of the governed." That is certainly the ideal condition. But we fail to see how it is altogether in harmony with the proposition that the United States should be the protector of other governments, or interfere with the domestic affairs of other nations.

It may be that the hegemony of the United States in all that part of the continent south of its own border would be in the best interests of civilization. We doubt if any European Government would object, for it would carry with it the responsibility of managing as well as protecting the Latin-American peoples. As the guardian of these minor nations, it would become responsible for their good behavior, and that would be certain to involve complications not only with the nations guarded, but with the nations they might offend, or whose subjects they might injure.

NEW ZEALAND AND CANADA.

And so the premier of New Zealand has become a separatist like Laurier, a separatist being anyone who separates himself from the Conservative policy in Canada.—London Advertiser.

How is that? New Zealand has given a battiship to the imperial navy. The Conservative policy in Canada favors something very like that. New Zealand may now establish a local navy; and there is no reason for saying that Mr. Borden will not propose that as a permanent Canadian policy. But as for the New Zealand navy being "separatist," The Advertiser's attention is respectfully directed to Premier Massey's statement that in time of war the navy will automatically pass into the control of the admiralty. That condition saves it from the "separatist" stigma.—Hamilton Herald.

There are two reasons for saying the present administration will not establish a Canadian navy. First, the Nationalist wing of the party is pledged against it and fought the Laurier Government on that issue. Second, Mr. Borden himself has declared against it, as follows:

"There have been proposals to which I shall no more than allude, that we should build up a great naval organization in Canada. In my humble opinion, nothing of an efficient character could be built up in this country within a quarter or perhaps half a century. Even then it would be but a poor and weak substitute for that splendid organization which the Empire already possesses, and which has been evolved and built up through centuries of the most searching experience and of the highest endeavor. Is there really any need that we should undertake the hazardous and costly experiment of building up a naval organization especially restricted to this Dominion, when upon just and self-respecting terms we can take such part as we desire in naval defence through the existing naval organization of the Empire, and in that way can fully and effectively avail ourselves of the men and the resources at the command of Canada?"

Can the Herald, which must have been aware of this utterance, read into it anything that leaves the door open to Mr. Borden's return to the Canadian navy policy?

As for the "separatist" stigma, it must be affixed to Australia, if it is applied to the Laurier Government's policy. The Australian navy cannot leave home waters without the permission of the Australian Government, but no one in Australia imputes separatist designs to the authors of this provision, which is accepted by all parties. Why is it a stigma only in Canada? In Canada alone, of all British countries, one party continually seeks to put a "separatist" stigma on another, and meanly trades in loyalty. The Herald, as a supporter of reciprocity two years ago, had an experience of this. Does it think there is any more justice or sincerity in the "separatist" cry as regards the navy than as regards the trade question?

It looks as though Tammany were about to lose another of its nine lives.

In Mr. Borden's absence, Hon. Geo. E. Foster is styled acting premier of Canada. But Mr. Rogers has been on that job for some time.

The Canadian militia is under the control of the Canadian Government in peace and war. Consequently it must be a "separatist" institution.

So far as we can make him out, Sir Richard McBride wants Canada to station two Dreadnoughts at Gibraltar to aid in keeping the Japs out of British Columbia.

Speaking of the Liberal gains in East Middlesex and South Bruce, a contemporary reminds Liberals that two swallows do not make a summer. But they are a pretty safe sign that midwinter is over.

The London Daily Telegraph says that for the European nations the situation in Mexico is not one of ethics, but of practical politics. Why not add President Wilson in trying to introduce ethics into practical politics?

South Lanark has been vacant for nearly seven months, and still the date of the by-election has not been fixed. There was a Liberal precedent for this in Renfrew several years ago, and what a scandal our Conservative friends made of it!

In a letter to a London friend, a prominent Liberal in South Bruce makes this comment on the by-election:

"The election was fought out on the issues. The towns and villages, with the exception of the Liberal candidate's home town and the village of Paisley, gave increased Conservative majorities, but the farmers went right over into the Liberal camp. The point is that the farmers will not stand for militarism or naval contributions. It looks well for the next general election."

HOW MAY GOVERNMENTS?

[Toronto Star.]
Some Irishmen do not like to be governed by Westminster rule, so they demand an Irish Parliament. Belfast men say they will not be governed by an Irish Parliament, so it is suggested that Belfast and some other parts of Ulster should have a government, have a parliament of their own.

Some Irishmen in Ulster object to being governed by Belfast, so they must have a government of their own. We are strongly in favor of self-government, but this Irish situation is getting complicated.

"Yes," replied the beautiful daughter. He said the next time he called he was going to bring you some cough drops."

WHEN ETHEL GOT MARRIED.

Judge.
When Ethel got married and left us,
Our household was plunged into gloom.
Her going of sunshine bereft us;
A sepulcher seemed her small room.

When Ethel had promised to follow
Her William to Hymen's fair land,
Our eyes and our voices grew haw,
And grief filled our once happy band.

When Ethel got married, how badly
We missed her bright smile at the dawn!
At eventide, too, oh, how sadly
We thought of the one who had gone!

When Ethel got married and left us,
Our peace in her satchel she took,
That day the gods surely bereft us,
For Ethel, my dear, was the cook!

BANK DEMANDING $1070 FROM CITY FOR OLD FIXTURES

Purchasers of City Hall Lay Claim to Counters Removed By City.

WANT REDISTRIBUTION

Canadian Municipalities Request Council to Support Better City Representation.

For removing fixtures from the old city hall, which its purchasers claim to be part of the building, the city of London will be asked to pay $1,070 by the Royal Bank, through its solicitors, McKillop & Murphy. The claim will be presented to the council tonight, and it is an assured fact that it will be contested.

Counters and other fittings that were in the city hall when it was sold two years ago to the Royal Bank are the grounds of the action. It is claimed that these were part of the building, and the city had no right to remove them. The city claim, however, will deny this.

It is claimed that the majority of the fixtures were those in the office of the waterworks department. These were paid for by the waterworks, and therefore belong to them. As tenants of the city, it is asserted that the commission was acting within its rights in ordering the removal of its fittings.

Will Amend Bylaw.

Among other things that will be taken up at the council meeting will be the amendment of the traffic bylaw sections that govern the standing of automobiles on the main streets. The amendment will prohibit the standing of machines on Dundas street between Ridout and Wellington streets, and between Adelaide and Dundas. The original bylaw covered Dundas street from Ridout to Adelaide. On Richmond streets the new restricted area will be from Fullerton street to the Grand Trunk tracks.

Bylaws Laid Over.

While the official declaration of the vote on the four bylaws, submitted to the electorate on Oct. 22, will be made tonight, the actual bylaws will be laid over for several weeks. According to the statutes, two weeks have to be allowed before the council can deal with the bylaws, to allow any protest or claim against the vote to be lodged.

Notice of the hearing of the Green-Swift franchise bylaw, for the privilege of crossing Carling street with steam heating pipes, will be given by the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board.

Want Redistribution.

A request for the support of the council to secure redistribution of the Province's Legislative ridings was made by the Canadian Municipalities' Union, as well as a similar request for federal ridings. The union wants a better representation of cities in both Governments and is asking all municipalities to support the project.

An invitation for representation at the National Municipalities' Convention League, Toronto, Nov. 12-15, will be extended.

The Changing Age

Girls and boys from 14 to 19 years of age undergo physical changes which tax their strength to the utmost and the strain is always apparent from pale cheeks, colorless lips, and tired bodies—sometimes eruptions of the skin and the utter lack of the ambition and animation with which their younger years were filled.

Budding into womanhood and manhood, with the duties of school or business, demands concentrated nourishment which is readily converted into red blood, corpuscles, energy and strength, and the very best thing for this changing age is the medical nutriment in Scott's Emulsion—it possesses the rare blood-making properties of cod liver oil in a predigested form; hypophosphites for the nervous system with the healing, soothing qualities of pure glycerine.

Its nourishing force promotes assimilation, yields direct returns in abundant red blood, fills hollow cheeks, tones the nerves, makes all good food do good, and does it in a natural easy manner.

The sustaining nourishment in Scott's Emulsion is so helpful to this changing age that it should never be neglected—every druggist has it.

Dust of the slayer and dust of the slain,

If O. Henry were alive he would be the first to admit that old Irvin S. Cobb doesn't need to carry anyone's mantle; that he's entitled to one of his own. Anyone who reads the S. S. P. He loves to write of gray-haired old men. His satire is mellowed by his infinite graciousness. May he long permit the reading public to munch upon his kernels!

OFF TO SCHOOL.

Bill's gone to college and I'm glad that he's beginning it;
He's wanted to be going for a long, long spell.
For life's a lively struggle and in order to be winning it
A fellow's education must be learned right well;
Bill's gone to college and I'm tickled he is going there;
I didn't have the chances which have come to him,
And Bill is smart as blazes and he'll surely make a showing there;
He's full of big ambitions to the very brim!

Bill's gone to college—but not a swell and fancy one
With Greek and Latin classics and a lot of that,
Bill's gone to college, but not a nice Miss Nancy one Where they'd feed him up on "culchah" in a real swell
frat;
Bill's college courses are not favored in society,
They won't turn him weary of the good brown loaf,
They'll mold of him a farmer of the up-to-date variety,
Who'll make the farm a hummer when he gets back home!

Bill's gone to college, a college educational
To learn the farming business as a man should do,
To get a sort of culture that is sensible and rational
And not a classic "polish" and a swelled head, too;
Bill's gone to college—but the country isn't losing him
He isn't going to listen to the city's charm,
The glamor of the city streets would scarcely be amusing
him,
Bill's gone to college—where he'll learn to farm!

AGED WATCHMAN HAS TO FORFEIT PENSION

Alleged To Have Been Caught in Act of Ransacking Parcel.

As the result of entering an express car in the local yards and appropriating a sweater from a parcel which, it is alleged, he was caught in the act of ransacking, a Grand-runk watchman will shortly find himself out of employment, and with his pension, due in a short time, forfeited.

It appears that the car was being loaded on a siding preparatory to a trip east on an express train. The door had been left unfastened, and the man, finding this easy means of effecting an entrance, climbed into the car. Express messengers found him with the sweater in his hands.

"The man is well advanced in years, and this, together with his long and faithful service, has left prosecution in abeyance."

It is said that at the expiration of the present month he was to retire from active service, and be enrolled on the pension list of the company.

WORTH $30,000,000

"The ice cream trade in Canada and the home consumption of milk, is valued at over $30,000,000 a year, making it rank next in importance to butter-making, and greatly surpassing in value the output of cheese. The dairying output in Canada represents over $109,000,000 each year," writes Mr. J. A. Ruddick, Canada's dairy commissioner in this week's issue of the Journal of Commerce, Montreal.

"There are now 3,760 cheese factories and creameries in the Dominion, and 12 condensed milk and milk powder factories. The value of the dairy output increased from $56,000,000 in 1900 to over $109,000,000 in 1910."

The dairying industry is one of the most important in the Dominion, and, in the words of Mr. Ruddick, "There is every inducement for the farmers of Canada to continue in the business of milk production and to increase that production very largely."

The article, which is illustrated, gives a most comprehensive history of the industry, and also deals exhaustively with the future prospects.

Billie Burke's First Lesson in Etiquette THE PROPER WAY TO PRESENT ONE PERSON TO ANOTHER.

[BY BILLIE BURKE.]
[Editor's Note—The following is the first of Billie Burke's "Talks on Good Manners."]

Manners always improve with the cultivation of the mind, and we can also turn the rule around, for the acquirement of good manners can only be attained by education and observation, followed by habitual practice. It would be a good thing if we had another Addison or Steele to turn our attention to the manners of our time as these distinguished writers did in the Spectator. The great mistake that most people make is in acquiring too much manner. Simplicity of both thought and action is the basis of good breeding.

One must use her common sense as well as her kindness of heart and take into consideration that pretension is always a mark of vulgarity. Introductions are made indiscriminately in America and there is much to be learned in almost any set about the proper way to present one person to another. In the first place you should never introduce one person to another unless you know that it is agreeable to both of them.

"But," you exclaim, "perhaps they are both at my house for an evening party?" Then these ladies should know the English law that "roof" is introduction and remember that a casual conversation does not hurt anyone, neither does it

entail a further acquaintance which might be awkward.

In making an introduction the gentleman is always presented to the lady. The younger woman to the older woman. Never say "Miss A, I want you to know Miss B," or that more vulgar speech, "Mr. C. shake hands with Mr. D." Use instead "Miss A, Miss B desires the honor of knowing you," or "Mrs. A, allow me to present Mr. B."

If a woman desires to be very cordial it is perfectly permissible to shake hands, but it is more elegant to bow only.

In her own house a hostess need always extend her hand to a person introduced to her.

In a dinner party the hostess need only introduce the gentleman to the lady that he is to take in to dinner.

Even after introduction a man must wait for the woman to bow first when next they meet.

When introducing a man always give him his title, even if you are his wife. Introductions on the street are not in good taste, as one should not stop long enough on a promenade to present one person to another. If you are with someone and a friend stops her on the street, it is good taste for you to walk on slowly.

Letters of introduction should be given with great discrimination. They should be brief and carefully worded. These letters should be left unsealed to be closed before delivery by the person introduced, who then waits until he hears from the one to whom his letter of introduction was addressed.

That you will not grow much more. I think your weight is fairly good when it is considered that you are only 16. As you grow older you will doubtless increase in avoirdupois. Your dresses, I think, should come well below shoes, tops and you will look better with your hair "done up."

At least two years too young to have a beau in the sense you evidently mean. A girl of 16 may have numerous friends amongst the boys of her acquaintance, but had best not regard them as lovers.

3. Either that he is a very forward youth, and does not deserve the privilege of her company, or else that he just wants to see how foolish the girl may be.

4. Cynthia, belonging to Mt. Cynthus, meaning helmet of resolution; Hazel, hazel-eyed; Marie, sorrowful.

5. Applications of benzine will probably take out the stain, but are apt to leave a ring around the spot where the stain was.

Many thanks, girlie, for your excellent recipe. It sounds most tempting.

Tea for Guest.

Dear Miss Grey—I am arranging a tea in honor of a guest. How shall I send out the invitations? Would just my visiting card with "tea" written on it be all right? This is for a few of my intimate friends.

MISS LUELLA.

A.—Do not write "tea" on the cards, but write "To meet Miss Jones," or whatever your friend's name is.

For a Wedding Dress.

Dear Miss Grey,—What color is best for a bride's wedding gown where the wedding is to be at home, but 200 guests are invited? I would like corn color, as I am so small to wear white. A friend says that yellow makes the complexion look more pink. What is your idea?

EDNA L.

A.—White is always the loveliest for a bride's gown, but in your case instead of getting a blue or "dead" white, buy an ivory white, which has a soft creamy color. Corn color would not be appropriate. Yellow does not bring out the pink of the complexion.

Perhaps She is Shy?

Dear Miss Grey.—Recently I met a young lady at a summer resort. Now, I have taken a fancy to her and have reason to think she cares for me. I would like to know whether it would be proper for me to write to her, asking permission to call, or should she extend the invitation?

WORRIED.

A.—Perhaps she is shy, and if you wait for her to act first you may lose her. Write for permission.

TIT-BITS

AT THE MATINEE.

I wonder if I fastened all the latches. I wonder if I locked the kitchen door. I wonder if I put away the matches. So baby will not find them on the floor.

I hope I turned the gas off in the ceiling. But did I close the window in the hall?

And I'm sure that Jane, in spite of all I tell her, will burn the roast and vegetables and all.

My gracious, but the heroine is pretty! She's the IMAGE of my oldest daughter Nell!

My! I worry every day she's in the city. Though she knows her way about it very well.

And the villain looks exactly like our plumber! (Did I leave the water running in the bath?)

Our neighbors left their water on last summer. And it loosened all the plaster from the lath.)

That hero's simply FINE! I hope he'll win her. He seems to be so manly and so true.

I hope that Jane won't spoil that lovely dinner. Though, of course, that's just exactly what she'll do.

Oh, dear, I hope no burglars pay a visit. (You know the way they wait till one's away).

Is that the END? The play's not OVER, is it?

My dear, I simply LOVE a matinee!

Chafing Dish Supper.

Into a chafing dish put half a cup of milk—and to this half an onion chopped fine—a red and a green pepper seeded and cut in small pieces, a large juicy tomato skinned and cut in small pieces, together with a teaspoonful of salt and three lumps of sugar. Let these boil slowly for ten minutes. Add to this a cupful of cheese and when it is thoroughly melted pour in a well-beaten egg—beating all the time until the mixture is smooth. Have ready sufficient toast beautifully browned and serve a large spoonful on each square of toast. Give people can be served with this quantity. It makes an appetizing supper dish, and one which will often be called for by those who care for cheese.

How to Get Away a Good Rug.

In case you wish to lay away a rug that is not in use this winter, beat the rug well, unless you can have it cleaned with vacuum cleaner. Make a strong infusion of black pepper tea and spray rug with that. Sun well and beat again. Get a round, wooden roller, lay the rug on the floor and roll the newspapers passed a little larger than the rug. Roll carefully, rolling up both paper and rug at the same time. Place whole roll in old cotton cloth, and cover with manilla paper, fastened tight all edges. This is for an expensive rug. Other rugs need only be brushed, sunned, sprayed and rolled up with a sprinkle of gum arabic in the folds.

KATHERINE LESLIE'S HOME RECIPE BOOK

THE HOUSEKEEPER AND HER ECONOMIES.

"These are the days," said a capable housekeeper, "when a woman must keep strict tab on all that comes and goes in her kitchen in the matter of provisions. The price of living is so great that waste of anything is wasteful. You see it is just the upper end of a shank of beef. Nearly all the meat is cut off and there is little fat. Yet I paid 60 cents for this! These years ago, I could have got it for less than 10 cents at the most. Think of it! If prices continue to go up as they are doing we shall all be taking meatless soup. I have come to the point when I expect every scrap of bone and fat from the butcher. You know of course that when you buy beefsteak or chops or a roast the butcher weighs it all together then he weighs the "trimmings" and cuts off fat and bone and gives you the meat very much diminished in weight. I always exact the bones cut from the rolled roast, the "trimmings" of steak and chops. These I use for the stock pot, and the fat I "render" down for frying etc. But as I said we are fast coming to meatless soup. I found out from a woman who makes capital soup that she hardly ever uses meat in their preparation. That is, she never goes to the expense of buying soup meat. But she saves all the water in which potatoes, onions, carrots, celery or other vegetables have been boiled and she uses for the foundation for soups. By blending price the skins may be used also for them all together, seasoning them well, and then thickening all with of apple skin!"

STYLE NOTES

People are a little tired of the violent clashing colors of Oriental or Bulgarian origin, and the well-dressed woman is glad to return just now to the softer tints of the Pompadour order. These shades are extremely attractive as well as very becoming in the light muslins and linens and tulle which form the foundation of the lingerie dress. Charming little casques of pink batiste are sometimes worn over a white batiste dress and a pastel tulle centure adds a harmonious note. With a toilette in sulphur yellow tulle a coat of pale mauve tulle may be worn, and any number of delicate color schemes may be devised on these delightful and becoming lines.

The fantastic luxury of the present forecast leads the manufacturer to create some new model every day, and one of the latest of these is the painted shoe. Decorative motifs, or else wreaths of flowers recalling the hand-painted furniture painted on soft white kid or else a light-colored satin and make a new and attractive outlet for the genius of the decorative artist, and another fad for the dress-loving woman.

Boots for the Well-Dressed Woman

In selecting her boots for the season's wear the woman who is well dressed will find here a question of the latest and most conservative styles that are demanded of fashion in the present vogue of the buttoned boot. The other boot is for more practical wear, as indicated in the welted sole, the medium-rounded toe, and the Cuban heel.

Girlie-Girl Troubles.

Dear Miss Grey—As you have helped so many in their troubles, I come to you with a few of mine:

1. I am 5 feet 8½ inches tall, and weigh about 126 pounds; I am 18 years old. Do you consider me too tall for my weight and age? Do you think I am too tall to wear my hair down my back? Also, how long should my dresses be?

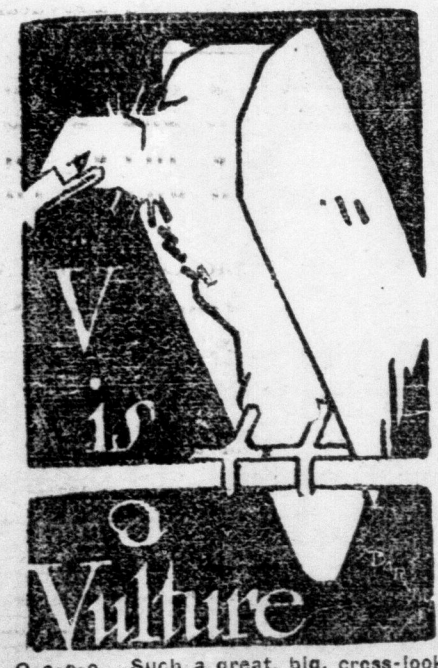

2. Do you think a girl of 16 too young to have a beau?

3. What do you think of a fellow that asks a girl to kiss him after escorting her home?

4. What are the meanings of the following names: Cynthia, Wilhelmine, Hazel and Marie?

Big, Cross-Looking Bird Is a Vulture--- Flies So High.

BY AUNT GERTIE.

O-o-o-o. Such a great, big, cross-looking bird!

It's a vulture. And there's a tiny crook in the tip of its long, straight beak as if it were made on purpose to pick things up!

Its wings are very long and when it spreads them out to fly—my, how big they look!

The vulture soars very high in the sky, often going out of human sight.

It is quite a traveler and makes its nest in the tops of very high trees or almost inaccessible cliffs.

The only sound this big bird makes is a sort of hiss!

Arist. Barnie and I noticed that the head and neck of the vulture, in the zoo, did not have any feathers upon them. They were covered with a little short down. A sort of ruff or collar of soft feathers surrounds the neck and into this the bird is able to draw its head to keep warm on a cold night.

The big eggs of the vulture are often found on rocks and in hollow logs or stumps. There are usually two of them in one place. They are roundish and about 2½ inches in longest diameter and yellowish white, blotched with brown and purplish tints.

The vulture lives on the flesh of dead animals. It is fond of bones. It will carry a bone in its beak to a high rock or cliff and then drop it to the rocks far below to break it. The same method is pursued with tortoise so that its shell will break in pieces.

This strange bird can fast for several days. But when it finds food it makes up for it by gorging itself. People claim that they have seen a vulture eat and eat and eat till it could not raise itself up. But instead of stopping, it toppled over on its side and ate more.

If an animal dies and its body is left for a short time on the ground afterwards, the vulture will swoop down on it and devour the flesh, picking the bones clean. They have wonderful eyesight. Though they are thousands of feet up in the air they see the animal down below and sail down upon it in a bevy.

LONDON BEATEN AT SARNIA IN A HARD-LUCK STRUGGLE

Local Team Showed Better Form Than Tunnel Town Squad
and Only for an Excusable Fumble by Weld, London Would Have Copped the Game—The Final Score Was 7 to 3.

[BY JINX.]

Sarnia, Nov. 1.—Sarnia took the lead in Junior O. R. F. U. Group No. 6, and London took the down-and-out in the game played here today. The local Tunnel Town squad won by the score of 7 to 3 in a lucky victory. The local team admit that had it not been for an unfortunate fumble by Ernie Weld behind the London line in the dying moments of the game, London would likely have returned a victor by a score of three to one.

A Bit of Hard Luck.
Then again it was tough on London that the end of the third quarter came just when they had the ball within two feet of the Sarnia line. The teams changed ends, and the change brought the play to the tunnel town side of the field, where the recent rains had left a deep and muddy impression. On such ground, it was doubly impossible for a team to buck the ball over the two feet that stood between it and a touchdown, or to pull a play that would score the necessary five points. So London failed in three downs, and the Sarnia team soon had the ball out of all danger at their end.

London Got Early Lead.
London led at one time by the score of 2 to 0, shortly after the start of the second quarter. It looked as if London would be hard to beat. The orange and black team excelled in tackling and on end runs, while Sarnia relied mainly on its backs. The Sarnia line in the dying moments of the game was a heavy one and is easily double the weight of the London line. In the first part of the game the weight of the Tunnel Town line-plungers told, but in the latter stages and in the crucial stages, London's superior condition played havoc with those backs.

Ross' Kicking Great.
"Musky" Ross kicked London's first point. It was the opening point, and the London wings followed up nicely. Lesueur took the ball and tried to run it out from behind the line. The orange and black team was brought down by Little before he could get fairly started. A few minutes later, Ross again punted beautifully and was tackled by Judd for another rouge. The play went to London's territory after that. The orange and black team tried a number of backs. Only small gains were made in this way. The London line holding better than it did in the first quarter. The visitors easily broke up the end plays of the home team, and Sarnia made few gains in this style of play. McCarty's kicking was more valuable. "Bill" finally punted the ball a few feet over the London line, and Weld tried to get it. The Sarnia goal line was carried by the strong arms of the London halfback made a backward dive for it and the Tunnel Town wings were close on the play, and the scramble for the ball was knocked down and a Sarnia player delayed while Weld, who had received a nasty kick in the neck, was revived, and the referee counted the time. Half-time was called two minutes later, the score being 6 to 2 in Sarnia's favor.

London Plays the Better Game.
In the second half, London played a much better game than the home team, and the Sarnia players were pretty much all in before the game ended. London had it on them. The tunnel town team in everything else, Sarnia tried to buck the game time, but they were made fewer gains on each trial. End runs were resorted to and long passes, but the London wings got their man before he could go very far. Once Bill Asa VanAlstyne, one of the best met players, broke through the London line about 50 yards out from goal, and with a couple of visiting players, London men to pass over for the London goal. Little "Yorkie" Richardson ran out to meet him and brought him down by a clever tackle. Another time, Eddie McCarty brought down Waldron, another Sarnia "white lion," at a time when the London goal was in danger.

Sarnia Adds Another Point.
Sarnia scored the first point in the second half when Johnny Ross was tackled behind goal while trying to run the one of McCarty's long punts. The game became more open after this, both teams trying end runs and passing the ball more frequently. The orange and black team all made nice runs, but as they all occurred near mid-field they did not result in any scoring. London was made fewer gains on each trial. End runs were resorted to and long passes, but the London wings got their man before he could go very far. Once Bill Asa VanAlstyne, one of the best met players, broke through the London line about 50 yards out from goal, and with a couple of visiting players, London men to pass over for the London goal. Little "Yorkie" Richardson ran out to meet him and brought him down by a clever tackle. Another time, Eddie McCarty brought down Waldron, another Sarnia "white lion," at a time when the London goal was in danger.

The Stars.
For the home team, VanAlstyne, McCarty, Waldron, Lesueur, Sinclair, and Newhouse were the best. The Sarnia team played a good all-round game, but

"SHAG'S" MEN GOT A BIG SURPRISE

Lowly Queen's Beat McGill in a Sensational Game at Kingston Saturday.

THE SCORE WAS 12 TO 7

None of McGill's Trick Plays Were in Evidence—Result Was Biggest Surprise of the Season.

Kingston, Nov. 2.—McGill went down before Queen's in the senior intercollegiate rugby game here Saturday afternoon. The result was the greatest surprise of the season, for it was thought McGill was unbeatable. In fact, Coach E. O. Sliter, of Queen's, had made the statement that McGill would win every game this season. Mr. Sliter, however, got out to show them he was wrong. His team put it all over Shaughnessy's crack fourteen, who lined up the same as a week ago, with the exception of Donnelly, who had a bad knee. None of McGill's trick plays were in evidence, for Queen's had a playing it on and made everything McGill had, even rendering valueless their outside interference plays. While Queen's more than equalled McGill on the line, they had a fine back division, and then Hazlett, their captain, was kicking the ball 70 yards. From the kick-off Hazlett sent the pigskin over McGill's goal line and scored a point.

Game Was Spectacular.

The game was spectacular all through, and the interest of the spectators was kept up till the very end, for McGill entered the final quarter determined to win, and almost succeeded in getting the necessary touch, but failed at the last moment each time.

Queen's had the play well in hand during the last few minutes of the game, Hazlett scoring a point on a long kick, and continuing to bang the ball towards the McGill goal line. The crowd went wild over Queen's victory—the first in three seasons—and Capt. Hazlett was carried off the field by the students in triumph. Kingston streets were lively in the evening, for the students paraded and kicked up high jinks.

From the start Queen's led, and when the first quarter ended, with the score 6 to 0 in Queen's favor, the crowd began to realize McGill had met their betters. Hazlett kicked the first point by sending the ball into touch. In-gone. Later he kicked over McGill's line and Box fell on the ball for a try after McGill's halves had fumbled it. The try was not converted.

Hazlett's Kicking Good.
Hazlett kicked two points in the second quarter, while Draper secured McGill's first tally by kicking over Queen's line for a rouge. The half-time score was 9 to 1.

McGill started the scoring in the third quarter by scoring a try, Williamson kicking over. The try failed. The next two points went to Queen's on kicks by Hazlett. Draper scored another for McGill and the third quarter ended Queen's 11, McGill 7.

The last quarter was exciting, but Queen's weathered it all right and ended up by scoring a point, making the final 12 to 7.

The Line-up:
McGill—Lee, flying wing; Brophy, Draper and Woollett, halves; Montgomerie, quarter; Wickson, Abbott and DeMuth, scrumwings; Watson and Williamson, inside wings; Watkinson and Lemay, middle wings; Lemay and Jeffrey, outside wings.

Queen's—Scott, flying wing; McDonnell, Hazlett and Hill, halves; Quigley, quarter; Raitt, MacLachlan, and McLeod, scrumwings; Ellis and McHugham, inside wings; Rodden and Pringle, middle wings; Kennedy and Box, outside wings.

HAMILTON WON AT MONTREAL BY 29-1

Yellow and Black Did Not Have to Extend Itself to Beat M. A. A. Team.

Montreal, Nov. 2.—The M. A. A. fourteen team, the "Big Four," won their fifth straight game this year. The Hamilton Tigers were victors by the rather one-sided margin of 29 to 1. Outside of the first quarter when the locals held the Tigers to a single rouge, there was no comparison between the teams, and it looked even then as if the Yellow and Black aggression was not letting themselves out. The match was too one-sided to be really exciting, but there was some beautiful punting, and some of the longest runs seen on the M. A. A. field this season. The line-up was:

Tigers—Isbister, flying wing; McKelvey, Manson and Mallett, halves; Chagnon, quarter; O'Neil, Young and Woodley, scrumwings; Craig, Wilson, Clark, Stuart, Fisher and Glassford, wings.

M. A. A.—Scott, flying wing; Baile, Tucker and Barwick, halves; Richardson, quarter; Baker, Crankshaw and Ross, scrumwings; Kingie, McSweeney, Cameron, Roberts, McConachie and Dean, wings.

Referee—Eddie Phillips.
Umpire—Tom Clancy.
Changes—Williams for Harwick; Goodhue for McSweeney; Lovell for Ross; Shortley for Clarke; Smith for Stuart.

MOTORCYCLE RACER INJURED.
Montreal Nov. 2.—John Cox, a well-known American motorcyclist, lost control of his machine during a race at Deloraine Park this afternoon, and crashed into a fence.
Cox was unconscious when picked up in the wreckage of his machine and taken to the Royal Victoria Hospital. It is not believed that his injuries will prove fatal.

Parlor Baseball Once Tried By Baltimore and Boston---It Failed

"You can refine baseball all you please," said Joe Kelley, the Toronto manager, and you can make a parlor game out of it by giving the umpire power of life and death, but you can't stop the players' tongues without an axe. "Baseball can be made gentlemanly all right, but it won't stand for this Lord Chesterfield stuff, not an axe, despite the efforts of writers and magnates. "Years ago, Baltimore and Boston—and they were some big clubs—tried to play a polite, courteous game to see how it would work. Both teams agreed to try out the polished conversation stuff instead of the usual flow of gab. "The newspapers had been criticizing the players for roughness and bad language, and we wanted to prove we could be as decent. "The first half-inning was lovely. Even when Tim Hurst called a strike on Tom McCarthy that was a foot high, there was no outburst. "Wasn't that ball a trifle high, Mr. Umpire?" Tom asked, all courteous. "I fear I may have erred in judgment," Mr. McCarthy kindly overlooked it if you will," replied Tim with a grin. "And in our half, when Jack Doyle went down for a second in a cloud of dust and Tim said 'Out!' Jack jumped up, red in the face, yelled 'What the—' caught himself and said, 'Pardon me, but I thought Mr. Long failed to touch me,' and then everybody arrived at the plate in a bunch. "But the blow-off came in the second. We had three on bases and two gone, with Jennings at bat. Reitz made a dash for the plate on what he thought was a passed ball. The Boston catcher recovered the ball, but as he dove for the plate Jennings wandered into him and spilled him ten feet away. "Out for interference!" yelled Hurst—and then everybody arrived at the plate in a bunch. "You Irish loafer!" shrieked Reitz. "What am I out for?" "You red-headed stiff!" roared the Boston catcher at Jennings. "I ought to knock your block off, and for two cents I'd do it." "You're a piece of cheese," snarled Jennings, and this bum umpire is a porch-climbing burglar." "For Moses' sake, remember," I butted in, "that this is supposed to be a polite and courteous game to prove we know how to behave. And somebody hit me across the map with a catcher's glove. "I can lick every man of you," howled Tim Hurst, and I'll do it if you're not back in yer places inside half a minute." "You're a cheap crook!" howled Muggsy McGraw. "I've all a bunch of yellow dogs," replied Hurst, and there the matter ended."

JOE KELLEY,
WHO TELLS THE STORY.

And says Herman Long, equally polite, "I am under the impression that I did ended."

OTTAWA DOWNED TORONTO SCULLERS

Argos Were Beaten in Capital For First Time in Three Years.

SOME LOOSE TOUCHES

Most of the Scores Were Made on Fumbles Behind the Goal Line—Score Was 18 to 11.

Ottawa, Nov. 2.—For the first time in three years, Ottawa defeated the Argonauts here Saturday when they made a score of 18 to 11 in an exciting struggle. It was a much better demonstration of how to lose a game than how to win one. Four touches were scored during the afternoon, but as the Argonauts were in the possible exception, resulted from any very startling piece of good play on the part of the team that registered the tally.

In the opening quarter Hazlett made a bad muff behind the line, and Murray secured by diving for the ball. The Ottawas got their first try at the opening of the second quarter. The Argonauts were in possession close to their own line, and they sent "Babe" Burkart through on a buck. He made his yards, but when they brought him down the ball shot out of his arms into a bunch of Ottawa wings. Tubman picked it up and made a long pass to Becker, who went over after a neat run. Becker deserved credit, but it was the Argos looseness that gave him the opportunity.

Modern Beacon Fires

THE old beacon fires were the great advertising mediums of their age.

Though they could not advertise merchandise, they advertised the things of most vital interest to the people.

Placed on the summits of high hills, bearing a message to thousands of "readers," they were prototypes of those modern fires of Twentieth Century commerce—the "beacon" fires of Newspaper Advertising.

The advertisements appearing in the newspapers to-day are shining lights in the world of commerce, flashing out news and information to a waiting world.

When the modern manufacturer lights

the Beacon Fires of Newspaper Advertising

he places his message before the people in a way that will impart knowledge, beget appreciation and win preference for his goods.

Who can fail to see any day the gleaming messages of "Magic Baking Powder," "Standard Ideal Ware," "Sunlight Soap," "Gillette Safety Razors," "Penman's Underwear," "Infants' Delight Soap," and many others?

To the Manufacturers of Canada

Each day sees more articles given publicity in the newspapers. Are your products and your brand still in the valley of obscurity, or are they blazoned forth by the beacon fires of advertising on the high hill of public favor?

If you are doing a local business talk over your advertising problems with the Advertising Department of this newspaper.

If you are doing a provincial or national business it would be well for you to have the counsel and assistance of a good advertising agency. A list of these will be furnished, without cost or obligation, by the Secretary of Canadian Press Association, Room 503, Lumada Building, Toronto.

TWO KILLED, 3 FATALLY INJURED, WHEN STOREHOUSE COLLAPSED

Owner Declares Place Was Dynamited, But Investigators Think Place Was Badly Constructed and Was Built On Insecure Ground—All Victims Were Caught While Sleeping.

[Canadian Press.] Hartford, Conn., Nov. 3.—The entire side of a four-story brick storehouse in North Front street collapsed early today and crashed through the small frame dwelling house of John Hughes, immediately adjoining, as a result of which two persons are dead, three seriously injured and another seriously hurt. The dead: John Hughes, 59, a stonecutter; body found in ruins. Eva Dooty, aged 5, died while being taken to hospital. The injured: Mrs. Henry Dooty, mother of the dead girl; condition critical. Mrs. John Hughes, wife of the dead man; condition critical. Irene Dooty, sister of dead girl; severely hurt, but may recover.

Building Was Weak. The building was known as the Loveland storehouse, and was used for storing bales of rags and tobacco. First reports said that an explosion had caused the accident, but it was later shown that faulty construction of the building had probably caused the collapse. It is said that the building, which was comparatively new, was built of brick that had been in another building, and that the foundations were insecure, being built on an ash dump. An investigation was started today. Michael Greenburg, one of the part-

Getting Ready for 1,000-Foot Liners

[Canadian Press.] New York, Nov. 3.—Aroused by port improvements elsewhere, particularly in Boston, the dock department of New York has been working upon building a drydock big enough to accommodate the "forthcoming 1,000-foot ship."

The dock will be located on the south Brooklyn waterfront on land bonded by the city for seven years without bringing any return. The project will cost about $2,500,000, and the dock department is confident that it will prove to be a self-sustaining municipal enterprise. When the space is not used as a drydock it will be convertible, by simply flooding it, into a berthing space for general shipping.

Dock Commissioner R. A. C. Smith, in announcing the plan, says New York has been far behind the procession in port improvement, but that this will be the case henceforth, as is evidenced by the present plan calling for a drydock which will "surpass anything in the western hemisphere in this line."

ners of the warehouse, declared the building was dynamited, but declined to commit himself further. Firemen and others who have examined the ruins in daylight, say there are no evidences of an explosion. All the dead and injured were sleeping when the crash came. Mrs. Dooty and her children were visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hughes, for the night.

TEMPERANCE FIELD DAY FOR MIDDLESEX SOON

Special Preachers To Be in This District on December Seven.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Toronto, Nov. 3.—The field day work of the alliance is this year meeting with great success. This work consists in the holding upon the same day of Sunday services in most of the churches of a county, at which services the pulpits are supplied by special deputations of alliance workers. Sometimes there are more than a hundred of such services on one day. The field occupied for the remainder of this year, before the work is dropped for the local option campaigning that will culminate on Jan. 5, is as follows: Nov. 9, Toronto; Nov. 15, Victoria and Haliburton; Nov. 23, Bruce; Nov. 30, Gengarry, Russell and Prescott; Dec. 7, Middlesex and London. In these services the alliance is reaching a great many people and doing a great amount of very valuable educating of public sentiment.

ANNEXATION ASSESSMENT COMPARATIVELY SMALL

Returns From New Territory Below Standard of Old City Wards—Engineer Gabey Here—City Hall Gossip.

An interesting comparison of the assessment figures of the newly-annexed district with those of the city proper wards, has been compiled for The Advertiser. It shows that while the population of the annexed territory is only 1,000 short of equalling that of ward 2 (the smallest in the city), the land values are approximately nine times smaller, while the total of lands and buildings is about seven times smaller than ward 2.

Ward 4, the smallest ward for business assessment, is nearly $123,000 greater than the annex, while ward 3, the smallest for income, has over three times the assessable incomes.

The comparative statements showing the assessment in each of the four city wards, and the annex follows:

By Wards.	Population.	Land.	Buildings.	Total.
Ward 1.....	11,525	$3,927,148	$4,798,742	$8,725,890
Ward 2.....	9,844	2,218,174	2,253,281	4,471,455
Ward 3.....	18,893	2,268,405	3,185,635	5,454,040
Ward 4.....	11,948	2,826,240	4,180,480	7,006,720
Annex.....	4,411	390,341	528,190	918,531
Totals.....	55,606	$12,259,177	$16,144,455	$28,403,632

Next year the annexed district will be divided between wards 3 and 4.

Gabey in London. Chief Engineer Gabey, of the Ontario power commission, was in London today. He is here to attend the conference between the city electrical department and the street railway over the purchase of hydro power by the latter. The head of the hydro engineering department had little to say when seen this morning. "I am here on an inspection trip," he informed The Advertiser. "It is some time since I was here before, and I am making a tour of the hydro-electric towns."

Swears to Population. Assessment Commissioner Stephen Grant took the official declaration this morning of the city's assessment, as shown by the 1914 assessment, just completed. The oath, taken before Police Magistrate J. C. Todd, showed London's population, including the annexed districts, to be 55,606, as announced on Friday afternoon.

No Report Yet. City Auditor F. E. Jewell, chairman of the special separation committee, empowered to prepare plans for the separate operation of the electric and waterworks departments, has yet received no report on the appraisal of the waterworks system. This report, which is being prepared by John M. Moore, ex-chief engineer of the waterworks system, is to be used as the basis for computing the separation figures.

No Meat Inspection Bylaw. No meat inspection bylaw will be submitted to the council tonight. Last Friday members of the market committee (No. 2), to which the question was referred by the council, inspected the Dominion Abattoir plant, and saw the government inspectors at work, but as there has been no official meeting since, it seems improbable that a report will be prepared by the council this evening. It was last August when the board of health sent its request to the council to have legislation enacted that would provide for the prohibition of all but government inspected meat offered for sale in this city.

May Meet Next Week. Because of press of other business, it is probable that the special meeting of the council of revision to deal with the factory whether to accept or not the annexation agreement, brought up by assessment question, will not be held until next week. The original plans were to have the meeting some time the latter end of the present week, but it is hardly likely that they can be carried out. The question of the annexed districts constructed in the annexed district prior to annexation come under the taxation exemption clause is one that is being discussed by the city officials and the property owners who will be affected by the ruling of the board.

Hydro Was Out. King street users of hydro were in darkness last night for 35 minutes. At the office of the electrical department this morning the explanation was given that a transformer fuse had blown at the corner of King and William streets, causing the line to "go out."

WORKS ALL DAY And Studies at Night on Grape-Nuts Food.

Some of the world's great men have worked during the day and studied evenings to fit themselves for greater things. But it requires a good constitution generally to do this.

A man was able to keep it up with ease after he had learned the sustaining power of Grape-Nuts, although he had failed in health before he changed his food supply. He says:

"Three years ago I had a severe attack of stomach trouble which left me unable to eat anything but bread and water. The nervous strain at my office from 6 a.m. to 6 p.m. and improper foods caused my health to fall rapidly. Cereal and so-called 'foods' were tried without benefit until I saw Grape-Nuts mentioned in the paper. 'In hopeless desperation I tried this food and at once gained strength, flesh and appetite. I am now able to work all day at the office and study at night, without the nervous exhaustion that was usual before I tried Grape-Nuts. It leaves me strengthened, refreshed, satisfied, nervous system toned up, body and brain waste restored. I would have been a living skeleton, or more likely a dead one by this time, if it had not been for Grape-Nuts.'"

Name given by Canadian Postum Company, Windsor, Ont. Read "The Road to Wellville" in pags. "There's a Reason." Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

Sunday Car Conference.

The conference between the directors of the street railway and the city council over the Sunday car question will be held on Friday. Other questions affecting the street railway agreement will be taken up at the same time. It is declared that concessions will have to be made by the company before the Sunday car question will be submitted to a vote of the people. The concessions that will be asked for will be in the nature of more mileage, over and above that to which the city is entitled according to the original street railway agreement.

Not Opened Yet. Although the market committee announced last week that the public comfort station on the market was practically completed, and was open to the general public in a few days, the "pagoda" is not yet running. The date of its official opening may be announced at the session of the council this evening.

VENETIAN ARTISTS AT THE AUDITORIUM

Popular Numbers Were Greatly Appreciated by Large Audience.

Signor Vite Lacerenza and his troupe of Venetian Serenaders was the attraction at the Auditorium Saturday evening. The attendance was large, nearly every seat in the house being occupied.

The production fully merited the large attendance, and orchestral music of a high class was pleasingly rendered. The selections by the orchestra included Rossini's "Overture from William Tell," Dvorak's "Humoresque," and an "Opera Mirror," which included selections from a number of successful operas.

Madam Bellina, soprano, and Signor Monetti, tenor, sang several duets, which were received with great applause. Besides being in excellent voice, both performers possessed an admirable stage presence that quite won their audience. Madam Bellina scored a great hit when she sang "My Hero" from "The Chocolate Soldier."

A pleasing feature of the instrumental numbers was "Mandolinata," in which the whole company rendered several native songs to the accompaniment of mandolins in the capable hands of Signors Pelierine and Curte. If any fault could be found with the production it lay perhaps in too heavy a preponderance of classical music upon the program of a popular concert. For this reason some of the selections were not as fully appreciated as they might have been under different circumstances. Popular numbers, of which several were rendered, were extremely well received.

MADE WILD RIDE TO GET TO CLUB DINNER

Cyril Had Twenty-Four-Hour Rush Trip to New York.

New York, Nov. 3.—Twenty-four hours in automobiles, farm wagons and milk and special trains were barely enough for Cyril Maude, the English actor-manager, to get to the Lotos Club last night in time to be the guest of honor at a dinner given by J. E. Dodson, the veteran actor.

Mr. Maude was playing at the Russell Hotel in Ottawa in "The Second Command" until 11:15 o'clock Saturday night. He thought it would be easy to catch a late train and arrive here in a few hours. He forgot the possibilities for trouble on Canadian roads.

Schedule Didn't Work. When the Canadian friends told him what he might expect, he telegraphed to George C. Tyler, of Liebler & Co., his American managers. Mr. Tyler hastily arranged a schedule which would have brought Mr. Maude to this city at 5:30 p.m. if it had worked out, but it did not. The plan was to auto to Prescott, which is just across the St. Lawrence River from Ogdensburg, and catch a local train at Ogdensburg, which would land him at Utica, in time to board the Lake Shore Limited.

Plans Went to Pieces. The plan went all to pieces. At midnight a tire blew out, and the automobile went into a ditch. The best Mr. Maude could do was to hire a team of horses, which eventually pulled him from the ditch. Rough roads caused more delays, and it was not until nearly daybreak that the party arrived at Prescott and boarded a ferry boat for Ogdensburg. They had missed their train connection, but Mr. Maude called Tyler on the long distance phone. Mr. Tyler chartered a special train, so Mr. Maude could come straight from Ogdensburg.

He was weary when he entered the Lotos Club banquet hall, but brightened immediately. Nearly 100 persons listened to his description of his adventures.

Blanche Ring III: Cancels Engagements

Kansas City, Nov. 3.—Miss Blanche Ring, star of "When Claudia Smiles," at the Shubert Theatre last week, has cancelled her engagements for next week because of an attack of malaria.

Backache Banished

Thousands of men and women are suffering from weak, lame and aching backs, and many of them unable to do any work for the pain.

The stitches, twinges and twinges are had enough and give enough misery, but lack of the backache, and the cause of it all are the disordered kidneys crying out in warning through the back.

Doan's Kidney Pills cure every form of backache by curing the sick kidneys that cause it.

Mrs. Jack Mason, Springhill, N.B. writes: "I have been suffering from backache for a very long time. I tried everything and did everything, but it would not get better. One day I was looking over your Almanac, and saw your advertisement for Doan's Kidney Pills. I got 5 boxes, and I am glad to say that they brought me back to life again. From now on I will never be without them."

Doan's Kidney Pills are 50 cents per box, or 3 boxes for $1.25, at all dealers. Mailed direct on receipt of price by Dr. T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto.

Her company was to have played one night stands through Iowa on the way to Minneapolis. Miss Ring probably will remain here this week to recuperate.

MRS. CAMERON FIRST WHITE GIRL IN LOBO

Pioneer of Township Dies in This City, Aged 92 Years.

Mrs. Euphemia Cameron, said to be the first white girl born in the Township of Lobo, died on Sunday morning at her residence, 138 Elmwood avenue, of paralysis. Mrs. Cameron, who was 92 years of age, was a daughter of the late John MacLachlan, one of the first settlers of Lobo Township. Her husband, Malcolm Cameron, a farmer of that township, died some time previous to her removal to this city, 18 years ago.

Mrs. Cameron is survived by three sons and five daughters: Donald, of this city; Malcolm, of Brisbane, Australia; and Alexander, who resides at the old home in Lobo; Mrs. (Judge) Bell, of Chatham; Miss Annie, at home; Mrs. Dugald McArthur, of Lobo Township; Mrs. Mitchell, of this city; and Mrs. Trehearne, of Zimmerman, Ohio.

The funeral will be private and held from her residence on Wednesday morning. Interment will be made in Poplar Hill Cemetery. Services will be conducted by Rev. Mr. Walker, of the South London Baptist Church.

CIGAR SMUGGLERS WILL BE WATCHED AT BORDER

American Government Is Losing Heavily By Present Traffic.

[Canadian Press.] Washington, Nov. 3.—Residents along the border between Canada and the United States who have been in the habit of making frequent trips across the line will no longer be permitted to make travelling liquor and cigar stores of themselves in an effort to evade the American customs laws.

The Treasury Department has taken cognizance of the fact that the same travellers repeatedly returned with the permitted quart of liquor and a thousand cigars and cigarettes, which later, according to customs officials, were sold in the United States. The flouting of traffic caught the eye of a customs inspector in North Dakota, who asked for a ruling as to how far the customs regulations could be strained in this direction. He showed how the automobile had increased the opportunities for such trade, and anxiously requested the department to advise him where to draw the line.

The department did not hesitate. It said recent traffic accompanied by such evidence were not to be tolerated, and only bona-fide tourists were to be benefited by the regulations.

ASCRIBES KIEV MURDER TO STOLYPIN'S POLICY

Ex-Premier Declares Killing Was Done in Order To Divert Popular Attention.

[Canadian Press.] Berlin, Nov. 3.—The trial of Mendel Beilis at Kiev for the murder of Andrew Yushinsky is ascribed to the policy of the assassinated Russian Premier, Pierre A. Stolypin, in a letter signed "A Russian, Ex-Premier," appearing in today's Tagesblatt, and generally believed to have been written by Count Sergius Gulevitch Witte. Stolypin, the writer asserts, endeavored to divert popular attention from breaches of the Russian constitution and from non-fulfillment of the Emperor's manifesto of 1905 by inventing the "modern nationalism," designed to rob all non-orthodox Russians and particularly those of the Jewish religion, of their rights.

The instigators of the Beilis accusation are, he says, insignificant individuals, former co-workers with Stolypin. The writer, answering a question whether the present Russian Premier, Vladimir, Nicholasovitch, Kokovsov, could have prevented the trial, but lacked the courage to do so, expresses the belief that Kokovsov has brought himself into such a position that he can prevent nothing and can retire from office however and whenever he wishes to do so.

Nurse's Years of Experience

PROVES DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS BEST TREATMENT FOR KIDNEY AND STOMACH TROUBLES.

The trained nurse has even greater opportunities than the doctor himself to watch the action of medicine in specific cases. For years the writer of this letter has been recommending the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills among her patients, and is firmly convinced that no treatment is so prompt and effective.

This is the most valuable evidence obtainable, and we believe that all who know Mrs. Duffy will appreciate it to the full, knowing that she would not recommend anything in which she had not the fullest confidence.

Mrs. Duffy, nurse, 25 Lewis street, Toronto, writes: "I have used Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills for years, and recommend them to my patients for all disorders of the kidneys, liver and stomach. In all my professional experience I have found nothing better. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, one pill a dose, 25 cents a box, all dealers or Edmondson, Bates & Co. Limited, Toronto.

cision was arrived at on the part of the Grand Trunk at a meeting held in Toronto Thursday. Traffic and transportation men from the Ontario and eastern lines of the company were present. The meeting was called by Mr. H. G. Martin, general freight agent of the Grand Trunk.
Superintendent W. R. Davidson, of this district of the Grand Trunk, and Mr. D.
W. Hayes, local freight agent, were present.

"The question was discussed from all sides," said Mr. Davidson. "After a discussion lasting for several hours it was decided that the company would discontinue handling freight after the first of January. That means that the manufacturers and others who formerly paid the railways for their cartage, will in future have to make contracts with the cartage companies."

"Will it mean an increase in the cost of cartage in this city?" Mr. Davidson was asked.

"I cannot say," was his reply. "I suppose it will on some cases of shortage. Meeting was more for the purpose of discussing ways and means of handling the freight matter. It is delivered by the cartage companies."

The freight men of the C. P. R. will likely hold a similar meeting within a short time.

TURKEYS WILL SOAR;

Duty Off Poultry Will Cause a Big Importation for Thanksgiving.

It is the opinion of certain prosperous poultry dealers in this city that the new American tariff will not seriously affect the prices of poultry
along the Canadian border.

"It is a well-known fact," one sensation man said this morning, "that the prices on young fowl in Canada are at least 1 to 1 1/2 cents higher than on the American side of the line. The only line of poultry that may feel an appreciable change will be turkeys. At present, in New York, almost any price asked, is obtained, and with the American Thanksgiving Day on the 27th of this month, the demand for the bird will be exceptionally keen.
Because of this high-price standard
many American commission men are buying up cold-storage birds on this side of the line at moderate prices, with the intention of disposing of them at a good increase to the American public."

"I would not like to see the price
soar this year, as last year," he said in concluding. "Many consumers will remember that turkeys were a luxury indeed. I know for a fact that the prevailing price here at that time was 8 cents higher than in New York."

Collection Taken for Construc-

at Cemetery.

Several hundred Roman Catholics of this city and vicinity attended the annual ceremony of the "Way of the Cross" celebrated in St. Peter's Cemtery Sunday afternoon.

The journey through the cemetery to each of the stations, which portray the life and sufferings of Christ, was made by those present, who knelt at each station and followed the lead of the priests and prayed as the passion and death of Christ was recited.

Rev. Father O'Connor, of St. Peter's Seminary, who preached at the 10:30
mass Sunday morning on "Departed souls," led the service, and was assisted by a number of priests and seminarians, including Father McKeon, rector of St. Mary's Church; Father
Tobin, Father Valentine, Father
Laurendeau, Father Hamilton, Father
Healy, C.S.S.R., Father Harding and Father Majorano.

During the procession "The Stabat Mater" was sung by the students. At all the masses Sunday morning the announcement was made that a collection would be taken up at the celebration at the cemetery in the afternoon to help defray the cost of a new mausoleum. Work is to be started on it immediately, and it will be used during the winter months for housing of bodies.

SUNDAY IN THE CITY PULPITS

Professor James Bowman Scores Government For Failure To Keep Pledges—"Put Man in Power
Who Gives Us His Enthusiastic Support."

"When a political man gives his enthusiastic support to the stamping out of the liquor curse, he is the man we want in our governing body to give his aid in the making of our laws."—Prof. Bowman to the Young Men's League.

"A Cleaner City" was the subject of a splendid address before the Men's League in Askin Street Methodist Church Sunday morning by Prof. Jas.
Bowman. In a clear and concise manner, without mincing words, the speaker outlined his conception of what a clean and consequently ideal city should be.

A Curse on the City.
A curse of every city was the liquor traffic, the speaker emphatically asserted. Even in this city, where existing conditions are not as bad as in others, the curse is felt. It leaves its influence on the family of the drunkard; on the businessman who is selling legitimate commodities in the city.
In fact, it marks the entire populace. In the money that is spent on strong drink in this city was turned into the channels of trade, how much more prosperous as a community London
would become can be readily appreciated.

Don't Band Together.

The speaker thought that as a people Londoners are not ready enough with their support for a man who makes his standard our cause.
"Too often we are dominated by the party cry," he said. "A flag is waved,
a cry of patriotism resounds through the land and a government is turned out. It is my observation that sometimes we will follow a political cause with more enthusiasm than that of the redeeming Christ."

In speaking of the strength of the temperance cause Prof. Bowman outlined some interesting comparisons.
The temperance cause had a majority of 98,000 at the last vote, he said. This in itself is gratifying, and yet there are many people who cry, "We are not strong enough."

Government Majorities.
"Why," the speaker continued, "the majority which elected the Ross Government was considered a large one.
Yet official figures showed a ruling power of only 17,000. The party in power at Ottawa today is only maintaining their regime with a few thousand majority. In all instances, a fifth of a vote seems enough—except with our temperance cause."

In speaking of negligent support,
the speaker stated: "It was the temperance people who put the Whitney Government into power. Surely that Government should reciprocate by coming to our aid. Instead, when Sir James was petitioned to shorten the hours for the sale of intoxicating liquor across the bar by cutting off
the interval between 6 to 8 in the evening, he decided that 6 to 8 in the morning would be more beneficial."
Danger in Leisure Hours.

"But that is not the danger period in the day of the man. It is the hours of leisure, after his work is done.
He is in his most susceptible to temptation."

"Promises were also made by that Government to pass an anti-treating

Rheumatism, Lumbago, Sciatica, Pain
in the back have been cured, in the real meaning of the word, by a little Bottle of Gualac, Resin and Sarsaparilla.
Any person can take these remedies in any suitable amount with perfect safety, and the results have been found to be astonishing. It has been proven that this combination makes up the best rheumatism remedy in existence,
having actually cured many stubborn cases of over 20 and 30 years standing—even in persons of old age.

The five ingredients mentioned above prepared with great accuracy and skill
begin in a real way to the condition
of absolute dependence on the love
and mercy of God. Then was he healed
of his leprosy. So it is that only through entire dependence on and faith
in Christ, that men are healed of sin
at "the fountain filled with blood."

"No matter how slavishly we adhere
to the doctrines and regulations of the church," said Rev. Mr. Hawkins, "unless we have the spirit of God within
we cannot be saved from sin."

Then Naaman went through, perhaps, the hardest and greatest trial of his life. He humiliated himself by going down to the Jordan seven times, his faith probably sorely tried, when after six times his flesh remained as before.
He was finally reduced to the condition
of absolute dependence on the love
and mercy of God. Then was he healed
of his leprosy. So it is that only
through entire dependence on and faith
in Christ, that men are healed of sin
at "the fountain filled with blood."

"Where Failure Means Success," was the subject of a thoughtful and interesting sermon by Rev. W. J. Knox,
M.A., in the First Presbyterian Church
Sunday evening. The pastor chose his text from the first book of Kings, chapter viii, verses 17 and 18, particularly the words, "Thou didst well that it was in thine heart."

There are many men, the pastor declared, whose great ambitions are interrupted by their deaths at the time when the seemingly unassuming man was last to be expected. When David became possessed of the idea that a more suitable place should be constructed for the ark of God, he immediately commenced putting his plans into execution. But when the preparations were rapidly and favorably progressing, death summoned him, and the great work was left for his son, Solomon, to complete.

Had Done His Best.

David had undertaken a great work.
The idea to build the magnificent home
for the ark was his, and his alone.
Should he not receive the credit due
him?

"God approved of David's earnest desire," said the pastor. "Even though he had not been enabled to put his plans into execution, the credit was still his, for the spirit to serve God was firm within him."

"There are many instances in the world's history," the pastor continued,
"where men have been at the turning point of their career, when possibilities were assuming definite forms of advancement and when the future held only promise of greatness to come. But at this moment, after years of strenuous work to attain an ambitious end, death summoned them."

Did Not Live to See Them.

"Moses was commissioned by God to lead the Israelites out of Egypt into the promised land of prosperity. But on the eve of his triumph his summons came, and he was denied his cherished ambition. John the Baptist felt in his soul that the divine spirit was to enter into the life of the world. As a forerunner he proclaimed the coming of Christ, but he, too, did not live to see his triumphs."

"Leaving Biblical history for a moment, and tracing down through the ages we find an impressive example of his promised greatness snuffed out in the life of Keats. In early youth the marvellous promise of poetic genius had begun to manifest itself. Yet, when his star was near its zenith, he also departed from this world. Lincoln, the liberator of the slaves in the republic to the south, did not live to see the fruits of his great work."

Did They Fail?

"Ang so there are many others. Shall we say that they have failed? God, who looks on the heart, says: 'Thou didst well that it was in thine heart.'
God estimates us not according to our actual accomplishments, but according to our aspirations. We must seek to concentrate our whole desire to that hour in a moment of temptation and decision. Sin, like leprosy, strikes at the very vitals of man's existence. It also has a terrible effect on man's outward appearance, and mars the beauty and grace of the human form. Leonardo di Vinci, for his great painting of 'The Last Supper,'
in finding a model to sit for Jesus, discovered that the same man years before had posed before him as Jesus.
So does a man's face reveal whether he is a Christ or a Judas."

Tried to Buy a Cure.
Naaman, hearing of Elisha, the prophet in Israel, who could heal him of his horrible afflictions, made his mistake in presuming that he could buy a cure for leprosy. He set out with 10 talents of silver, 6,000 pieces of gold, and 10 changes of raiment.
There are not many people, said Mr.
Hawkins, who today expect to purchase a cure for sin, but there are many in the church who excuse themselves from further or more active interest in the work of the church when they have given a monetary contribution.

The Wrong Door.
"Naaman's second mistake was in going to the wrong door, to the king of the Syrians, instead of to the prophet.
He often do men go to the wrong door
in seeking salvation? Christ says, 'I am the way, the truth and the life.'" Naaman's last mistake was that when at last he went to the right door
he went in the wrong manner. Told to wash seven times in the Jordan he went away in a rage.

"No matter how slavishly we adhere
to the doctrines and regulations of the church," said Rev. Mr. Hawkins, "unless we have the spirit of God within
we cannot be saved from sin."

Then Naaman went through, perhaps, the hardest and greatest trial of his
