ARGENTINE FLOODS DROWN THOUSANDS OF SHEEP AND CATTLE

Buenos Aires, July 14.—Government reports show that 1,000,000 sheep and 100,000 cattle have been drowned in floods in the southern part of Buenos Aires Province. The railways and telegraphic communication have been interrupted and several sections in that region have been completely isolated for more than a week from this cause. The floods were due to a month of the heaviest rainfall ever recorded here.

Over on the Chilean side of Argentina there have been further heavy snowfalls along the trans-Andian railway, causing new damage to the line. At one point the debris on the tracks has accumulated to a depth of fifty words.

has accumulated to a depth of firty yards.

The snow in this region has been more or less continuous for a month, and in some places is more than 26 feet deep.

A small party of Americans arrived here overland from the Pacific seaport of Antofagasta, Chile, last night. They reported almost unendurable hardships during their week's je mey.

The spread of the strike to the Government controlled boats resulted from a refusal of shipping board officials to grant the seamen's demands for three shifts of eight hours each at sea, and preference to union members. Further efforts to end the strike were resumed here today, but union leacers

GOVERNMENT READY TO PRESERVE ORDER IN CASE OF STRIKE

Rome, Monday, July 14.—The Italian Government, Premier Nitti announced in the Chamber of Deputies today, has taken ample measures to preserve order in view of the threat of a general strike throughout the country. Troops, he said, have been distributed everywhere in cities and villages, and in the country, and they were provided with supplies for more than 48 hours in case they should be cut off from their bases. There is no reason for a general strike in Italy, the premier continued. The government does not want bloodshed, and will do its utmost to prevent it. Agitation To Get Them Out For Peace Day Started Here.

IDEA PROVED POPULAR

And Premier Hearst Has Promised That Government Will Act.

Sir William Hearst, premier of Ontario, has announced that all veterans imprisoned in the county jalls throughout the province for breaches of the Ontario temperance act, will be released in time for the peace celebrations to be held on Saturlay, July 19. This announcement comes as a direct result of a tremendous agitation throughout the Dominion, taken up by the Army and Navy Veterans, the Great War Veterans, and Mayor C. R. Somerville, with the local city council, along with the majority of Canadian citizens.

Started in Advertiser.

The propsal to release the returned soldiers to celebrate the peace which they fought and shed blood for, originated in the columns of The Advertiser, as a result of a conversation between an Advertiser reporter, and returned soldier prisoners incarcerated in the county jail here.

The idea was taken up all over Canada, following its publication in The Advertiser recently, and the press and Advertiser recently, and the press and various organizations Dominion-wide, put their shoulders to the wheel advocating the release of these unfortunate heroes with the above happy result.

Veterans Get Busy.

At recent meetings of the local Great War Veterans and the Army and Navy Veterans, the former association urged that these soldier comrades be given their freedom to celebrate, while the latter organization passed a resolution city solicitor, to make representations to the powers that be at Ottawa for the release of the soldier prisoners, and the first point gained in the agitation in-

The attractive back lawn of the home of Capt, and Mrs. Gordon Butler, at 865 Waterloo street, about the middle of the block, was chosen as the setting for the entertainment, which, it was decided, should be a garden party with all kinds of garden party features, flags, bunting, Japanese lanterns, booths galore, refreshments and a splendid program, with the one stipulation that the program should all be given by children.

The growns-ups proved quite convenient to bring the affair to the attention of firms and institutions which might like to help out for a worthy cause.

The garden party hour was fixed for So'clock and the people were so anxious for fear they should miss something, they just swarmed in like all-dressed-up flies or something like that.

"This Way, Ladies and Gents."

Two little girls in fancy costumes looked after the taking of the tickets upfil the task became althost too much for two little folks, and some mothers proved very convenient to help out.

After you had turned in your ticket, and wondered where the beautiful big flags out in front came from, then you walked through an archway of maple boughs, decked with flags. Just ordinary times, that is the back entrance to the Butlers' nice backyard. Last night, it was the portal to Fairyland, and particularly after the sun got low enough, and the fairy godmother waved her wand which touched a button and caused all the many colored Japanese lanterns to glow with a fire from within their hearts. And they never burned their hearts. And they never burned

All the walls of the garden, which on

All the walls of the garden, which on common ordinary occasions are fences, over which vines riot, were drapped with bunting in red, white and blue, their whole length, the bunting laced artistically through the vines. Sometimes the bunting looped loops and did things like that to form fascinating booths, all twinkling with fairy lights, where, inside of these, the boys and girls and their mere parents felt quite confident enough to sell at several garden parties.

Common, ordinary times, the Butler house has a back door. Last night, it was another magic entrance to fairyland and, right in front of it, was placed a fine stage, around which throngs of people pressed while talented little artists, members of Macdonald's juvenile pipe band sang, danced, played the bagpipes and cornet and piano, and gave a concert worth, oh, ever so many times the price of admission. Of course there were trees in the garden, which wouldn't be a real fairy garden other-there were trees in the garden, which wouldn't be a real fairy garden otherwise, and it was up in the dark, mysterious green boughs that the fairy lights peeked out most alluringly.

As soon as the crowds arrived, they acted as if they were desperately afraid everything would be sold and they wouldn't get anything. They regularly stampeded the booths until, within less than an hour, everything was sold right.

Mrs. Gordon Butler not only granted the use of her back lawn, but she consented to fill the responsible position of treasurer and collector. She wasn't a bit surprised to see so many folks arriving. She knew all about the band of young folks in her block selling almost twelve hundred tickets before the night came at all.

Her own two little girls, aged five and going-on eight, sold $21 worth.

This was the way they rendered service, because they were too small to do

What Wonder! The Crowds --- Here Wednesday Morning

AS IN JUNE

This store will close at 1 o'clock on Wednesday during July and August. No noon

delivery.

When the July sales, which on other days are confined to one or two departments, extend to all floors and sections, and the offerings are hand-picked, it is little wonder that the store is crowded at the opening hour. With the present outlook not too encouraging for lower cost of living, such sales as we are running this month are of great significance inasmuch as one dollar in most cases will go as far as two. Watch the advertised list daily. You're sure to see just the thing you want and in most cases you'll find two dollars' worth for one.

A Full Day's Sales in Four Hours Tomorrow

After having been absent for a whole day, 5-year-old Harry Dean of 260 King street, and a little playmate, whom he called Wilfrid, returned home at 11 o'clock last night.

On Sunday the Dean lad had told his aunt, who had come from the United States on a visit, that he was going away on Monday, and would be away for a long, long time.

Monday came, The child arose from bed a little earlier than usual, and while breakfast was being served he made an unsuccessful attempt to leave the house. The second attempt was successful, but, as he had wandered away on other occasions, nothing was feared when he did not return for dinner.

Darkness fell and the family became alarmed. The parents of the Dean boy were almost frantic. The father notified the police, and himself searched Springbank and the banks of the river. Ever since his return from France, where he was badly wounded, Mr. Dean has been in ill-health. While "over there" he was badly crushed and suffered a dislocation of the hip. The anxiety that was caused him last night might set him back, it was feared; in fact, Mrs. Dean stated that she was afraid that the strain might result in his returning to hospital.

He was overjoyed when he returned and found his boy safe and sound. "Where have you been?" he asked. "At the Eastwood farm," answered the boy.

"Where is that?"

"Way 'way 'way off'"

"Where is that?"
"'Way, 'way off."
"How did you get home?"
"On the car."
"Did you have any tickets?" This was all the information that subsidiary G. G. Company; but one thing is sure, the western farmers are being exploited. Why the G. G. G. Company, through this extreme commission of one cent per bushel, have raked in for a single season over half a million dollars, and have handed back to the farmers only 10 per cent interest on the money which had been advanced by them to the company for shares purchased, but the velvet goes to the insiders.

Now, the reason I am probing these affairs is for the purpose of warning Ontario farmers to prevent similar exploitations by the Toronto U. F. O. leaders. Mr. Drury says the turnover will be five millions this year; the profits will be a large sum, and the money should belong to the association at large; the few men handling the business should be well paid for their services, but should not be allowed to develop into profiteers. The correct plan for the farmers is to establish a wholesale store, and supply their clubs with goods at wholesale prices, and these clubs should be allowed to supply farmers or consumers, even if the latter were not members, for they, when shown the benefits, would soon become members.

This plan is feasible, and would be a general check on the high cost of liv-ing. The wholesale store would pur-chase goods from manufacturers and make good money on a large turnover. The excuse that goods cannot be secured from manufacturers to be sold to clubs at wholesale prices is flimsy, for after the recnt probing at Ottawa the tario may have an inkling as to the whole situation, viz...

injured at the Grand Trunk roundhouse here on Thursday morning last.

Initial Witness.

George Swanson, 1120 Brydges street, engine hostler at the roundhouse, on duty at the time of the accident, was the first witness called. He stated that he saw the dead boy board the engine at the coal chutes, as the engine was backing toward the roundhouse with a car of coal attached. He thought the boy had left the engine at the railway office, and after placing the car of coal in the roundhouse, had recar of coal in the roundhouse, had reversed the engine and brought it out once more into the railway yards. Upon stopping the locomotive about ten feet outside of the shop, he glanced over to the opposite side and saw Walsh in an inert position on the fire-

Saw Walsh on Engine.

James Cotter, 377 Grey street, assistant hostler at the G. T. R. roundhouse, in the witness box, stated that he was assisting the former witness place the car of coal in the roundhouse when the fatality occurred. He saw Walsh board the engine at the coal chutes, but did the engine at the coal chutes, but did not see him again until after he had sustained the injuries which resulted in his death. He stated that the door istained the injuries which resulted his death. He stated that the door the roundhouse was very close to be cabinet of the engine, as it passed ong the tracks, and that bulletins arning employees of the limited space arning employees of the limited space are posted about the building. of the roundhouse was very close to the cabinet of the engine, as it passed along the tracks, and that bulletins warning employees of the limited space were posted about the building.
J. A. Walton, 70 Hamilton road, locomotive foreman at the roundhouse, stated that 4% inches was the distance between the cabin window of engine 628 and the steel girders of the door, measured after the accident, and indentified as the poly of impact by portions measured after the accident, and indentified as the point of impact by portions of Walsh's hair adherent to the girder and cabin casing. He stated that it was against regulations for callboys to ride engines, and that Walsh had never been seen practicing this habit before. For the first offence callboys were warned, and a repetition meant dismissal, but the dead lad had never given occasion for a warning during the period of his service. He corroborated the evidence of previous witnesses regarding the bulletins warning employees of the danger, and which were posted inside the roundhouse. posted inside the Best "Callboy."

C. A. Pugh, 739 King street, engine ispatcher at the roundhouse, next dispatcher at the roundhouse next witness on the stand, outlined the duties of the callboy, which he swored did not require high to ride engines at any time. He stated that Walsh began his duties as callboy on February 28 last. "He was the best boy we ever had," concluded the above witness.

Describes Wounds.

Dr. F. R. Clegg was the last witness called, and he described the fatth eacident, which he stated occurred about 9:35 am. There were two scalp wounds as examined by him after the accident, which he stated occurred about 9:35 am. There were two scalp wounds, one of which was two indhes in length, and the left ear was badly torn. He ordered the young victim removed to Victoria Hospital, and an X-ray photograph revealed a fracture of the skull in the right temporal region, which is on the opposite side of the head to the external wounds. He accounted for this by the fact that Walsh's head was crushed between the engine cabin casing and the steel girder of the roundhouse door.

Dr. Clegg stated that Walsh was semi-conscious while his wounds were being dressed at the hospital at about 11 a.m., and that the N-ray revealed the fact that the injures were fatal. The inquest was in charge of Coroner W. R. Ferguson, and A. R. Douglass acted for the crown, while the railway company was represented by J. M. Mc-Kerrow, of Toronto. The family of the dead lad was not represented by counsel at the inquest last night.

The evidence having been concluded the above verdict was brought in by the fellowing members of the jury: Fred Highway, foreman; Frank Silcox, Charles Finchamp, James Gould, Thomas Spettigue, William Righmond, Joseph Good.

WILDSESSION OFCONGRESS BURIES WET

Overwhelmingly Defeats the Amendment For Two and Three-Quarters Beer. REFUSES TO GIVE QUARTER

Representatives Roar Disapproval of "Liberal" Efforts, While Galleries Cheer.

WASHINGTON, July 14.—Prohibition forces took full control in the House today, refused to permit a vote on a straight out motion to repeal the war-time act, defeated overwhelmingly an amendment providing for the sale of two and three-quarters percent beer and stood solidly against all attacks on the general enforcement measure.

sale of two and three-quarters per cent beer and stood solidly against all attacks on the general enforcement measure.

Just as fast as one "Liberal" amendment was offered by opponents of prohibition it was voted down without ceremony, always by a triple vote, for the minority, fighting every inch of ground, demanded a division after the ayes and nayes were called, and then asked for tellers. Before the House got through with the first section of the first part of the three-part bill there was more disorder on the floor than at any time this session.

The disturbance arose first during an attempt by Representative Blanton, Democrat. Texas, to speak a second time against an amendment which would have given a jury the right to define intoxicants and was increased during an address by Representative Gallivan, Democrat, Massachusetts, who deciared members voting dry should print in the Congressional Record exactly how much liquor they had stored in their homes and offices.

The Real Battle.

The real battle of the day, however, was over the amendment to define an intoxicant as a beverage containing more than two and three-quarters per cent alcohol, instead of more than one-half of one per cent, as written in the bill. The amendment after a heated debate was defeated, by a record vote of 151 to 90—this was about the relative decision on all amendments. Another amendment by Representative Igoe, Democrat, Missouri, which would have stricken out all definition of intoxicants, was also defeated, 128 to 83.

There was the utmost confusion at times, despite vigorous whacks with the gavel, and some of the prohibition leaders applauded every move in their favor. The galleries, filled largely with women and officers of anti-liquor organizations, broke into applause when the House roared its disapproval of two and three-quarters beer.

There were many references to President Wilson during the debate care.

Your druggist gladly will give you the genuine "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin" because genuine Aspirin now is made by Canadians and owned by a Canadian Corporation.

There is not a cent's worth of Geraman interest in Aspirin.

I Government (It was a proposed of the war-time law so far as it related to the manufacture and sale of light wines and beer. The feeling between the factions got so bitter at times that the usual courtesy of permitting a member to revise and extend his remarks was denied.

The chair was unable at times during the speech of Mr. Gallivan to preserve a semblance of order, and the galleries joined in the uproar. Instantly the House sent up a cry, Instantly the House sent up a cry, "Name them, name them."
"If they weren't such good fellows, I surely would," Mr. Gallivan replied.
"Open your offices," he added, "and place in the Congressional Record statements of how much liquor you have, and I will be satisfied." and I will be satisfied."

There were so much confusion at this point that the House adjourned, just after reaching section two of part one of the three part bill. There are in all sixty-four sections, only one of which was passed today, which gives some indication of how much time may be required to get through with all.

reconstruction committee and has among its members representatives both of capital and labor. It will tomorrow consider primarily:

A—The date when the national industrial conference shall meet.

B—How the various associations and unions of employers and employees will be represented.

C—The method by which representatives will be chosen.

It is expected that the conference will be held in Ottawa. The date will be as early as possible, possibly in August. The conference is the outcome of recommendations made both by the labor sub-committee and by the majority commissioners of the industrial relations commission. It will be representative of all industrial interests, both of employers and of employed. Associated with them will be representatives of the nine provincial governments, invited with a view to secure unity in industrial legislation throughout the various provinces and also with a view to considering the enactment of legislation along lines suggested by the report of the industrial relations commission and on the principles laid down in the international labor charter as assented to by Canada in the treaty of peace. A number of the recommendations made by the industrial relations commission with as been held, are outside the competence of the Dominion Parliament—such as legislation limiting hours of labor, and on these co-ordinate action by the provinces will be sought.

Hope Greater Unity.

labor, and on these co-ordinate action by the provinces will be sought.

Hope Greater Unity.

It is confidently expected that the conference will pave the way to greater unity on the part of the employers and employed. Based in the main on the industrial conference called by Mr. Lloyd George shortly after the signing of the armistice, the Canadian conference will, in its deliberations, range over the whole industrial situation. As the result of its labors it is probable that there will be set up in Canada a permanent joint advisory council along the lines of the "labor parliament" of Great Britain. The coming conference will be the first of its kind in the history of the Dominion. Some months ago a joint memorial was presented to the Government by representatives of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association and of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada. It was then remarked that the delegation was the first to appear before the Dominion Government as representing both capital and labor.

Why Did Not Mr. Rowell Attack Hartley Dewart at the Liberal Convention?

In his unprovoked attack on Mr. Hartley Dewart, elected Liberal leader for Ontario in open convention, Hon. N. W. Rowell has taken upon himself the position of dictator to the Liberal people of Ontario and Canada. He is bold enough to rebuke those Liberals who dared to name Mr. Dewart to the position once occupied a 75-hour passage from Long Island to Pulham, without success by the present right-hand man Norfolk. The achievement along with Alcock's of Sir Robert Borden, and the special pleader for non-stop flight is a final, definite assurance that Sire Joseph Flavelle. No one asked Mr. Rowell the air has been conquered, aerial navigation defor his opinion in the matter, excepting one constituent in the riding to which Mr. Rowell went for election at a time-when few ridings would consent to his candidacy. He sends this opinion out from Ottawa, and the strange part of it is that the Canadian Press saw fit to devote so much valuable wire time to it, but this is no doubt explained by the fact that Mr. Rowell is a Government member and very adept in publicity.

Mr. Rowell did not attend the recent Liberal convention that was held in Toronto. As far as we are aware, he would have been free to do so but his duties at Ottawa were no doubt upon his shoulders. But if he is to pose as the dictator and father of Ontario Liberalism, if he is to set himself up as the man to whom the people must look for guidance, why did he not steal enough time from his precious Union Government and go before the delegates at the convention, there to denounce Mr. Dewart and to tell the Liberals present that they were not Liberals? That would have been the manly, straightforward method. He must have known Mr. Dewart was an aspirant. Indeed, as the "war time" Government draws to a close, its fate being inevitable despite all the oxygen administered by Mr. Rowell and others, why did not Mr. Rowell again aspire to the Liberal leadership in the province? He left this leadership because of a call from such men as Sir Joseph Flavelle, who believes him to be the inspired son, but there is surely no occasion for him to leave Ontario in the clutches of such a villain as Mr. Dewart. Union Government can get along without Mr. Rowell, quite as nicely as it can get along without Sir Thomas White. Therefore, and nique that attracted the public. in consideration of the fact that he never "finished I John Fox loved the children of the mountains. The place had been sold that spring. The place had been so turn and seek to reclaim the leadership he had laid down to make the world safe for democracy and profitable to those who shaped the new party? He never brought the Liberal party within whispering distance of victory. His "abolish the bar" such a writer. With all our hinterland, our outpolicy was the farthest he ever went on temper- door crafts and our pioneer types, we have little ance, and he was defeated on the issue. Mr. Dewart certainly goes as far as Mr. Rowell ever Most of our writers of note are dealing with went during the term of his leadership on the softer phases of life, writing pretty fiction for temperance issue. In fact Mr. Rowell proposed American magazines or specializing on something that is not typical of Canada. Probably the people to leave the liquor stores open something with to leave the liquor stores open, something with that is not typical of Canada. Probably the people fully."

The needs, just like I did, probably, a subply refuse to believe there is much remanded. "He needs, just like I did, probably, a subply results and a subply results are not typical of Canada. Probably the people fully." which Mr. Dewart will not agree, we feel sure.

had the courage to go on the temperance issue, yet he is denounced as a creature of the liquor interests and Mr. Rowell calls upon Liberals to restrict the courage to go on the temperance issue, it was a tense moment, but as Nancy will suggest that our writers should imitate John Fox Jun., but what he did for Virginia, and what she was so very sorry they had talked about him. He was complimented that the total courage to go on the temperance issue, will suggest that our writers should imitate John Fox Jun., but what he did for Virginia, and what she was so very sorry they had talked about him. He was complimented that ceived a higher call to a safer place some time ago. Mr. Rowell contents himself with an illnatured attack on Mr. Dewart, the venom of which will serve to draw more Liberals to the new leadership than it influences to oppose that leadership.

And it is about the most presumptive insult to a regularly-organized Liberal convention that has ever been delivered.

Australia, New Zealand and China. Still another in order to keep down the dust these windy days. Austratia, New Zealand and China. Still another local concern reports a flood of orders from Siberia, China, Japan and the Antipodes. In the case of both companies the orders have been unsolicited. These incidents are an indication of the immense possibilities in foreign trade at the door of industrial Canada. It is a reasonable assumption that the experience of the two London industries is being duplicated in every industrial centre to keep down the dust these windy days.

commerce. At present Europe is clamorously demanding our wares and foodstuffs, but as Europe stabilizes, getting back to something like normal production, this market will shrink considerably. On the other hand, a strong position secured now in the new trade marts across the Pacific can be held permanently and expanded limitlessly. Our transcontinental lines and the Panama Canal make these markets easily and rapidly accessible to the Canadian manufacturer and exporter. What is required at once is a trade department at Ottawa that is alive to this rich opportunity, one that will lead the way with extensive, vigorous advertising of our resources, and put itself in more direct touch with the manufacturer. Today if an exporter desires accurate information as to foreign business he finds the securing of it exasperatingly slow and incomplete. Chambers of commerce have been springing up all over the country of late with the object of systematically advancing the community's business interests. To act as a medium for developing this foreign trade would be a service that would bring an immense reward. Co-operation between these local bodies and the federal organization would give the necessary impulse that is required if we are to secure and hold these new and highly desirable custom-

The R-34 has demonstrated that ships of the air can cope with adverse weather as successfully as do ships of the sea, moving about with the same precision, answering to man's will, no longer a plaything for the wind's caprice. The dirigible as yet is too expensive and too unwieldy to be generally adopted as a carrier of passengers, mails or freight, but it is inevitable that in time the air route will largely supersede the water oute because of its economical advantages.

BOARD OF BOXING DECIDES BIG BOUT IS WON IN THIRD

Only 47 Seconds of the Rest Period Had Elapsed When Towel Was Tossed.

NEW YORK, July 14 .- The Board of Boxing Control, in an official statement issued tonight, announced that but 47 seconds of the third rest period had elapsed in the Dempsey-Willard bout when Willard's seconds tossed a towel into the ring as a token of defeat. The board also decided that the bout at Toledo on July 4 ended in the third round. These decisions were made as a result of the numerous inquiries re-ceived from all parts of the country. The statement, which was signed by Adam Empie, secretary to the board.

is as follows:

Barbour Did Not Write.

"A report having been widely circulated that Mr. W. Warren Barbour. timekeeper, appointed by this board for the Willard-Dempsey contest, had written to Mr. Pecord, the referee, stating that the interval of one minute between the third and fourth rounds had expired before Willard's seconds threw a towel into the ring, I beg to state that Mr. Barbour has written no such letter. Mr. Barbour has written no such letter, and further that the statement reported to be contained in the alleged letter is contrary to the fact, as only 47 seconds had expired in the interval referred to when the signal of defeat was given by Willard's seconds.

"The board is in no way concerned with wagers that have been made on the contest, but as a number of inquiries have been received, it has considered the question of when the contest terminated, in all its bearings, and

HAS DONE FOR THE RUBBER INDUSTRY

We must give the bicycle credit for the start of the rubber tire industry. It was the bicycle and "sulky" people who first applied air-filled rubber tires to actual road conditions. But even and when the vogue of bicycling was at its highest the tire business could scarcely be classed as a great industry.

It was not until the possibilities of gasoline as auto-motive power were realized, that the pneumatic tire became a real factor in our industrial life. As the motor car developed, the rubber tire, naturally and perforce, deber tire, naturally and perforce, deber tire, naturally and perforce, developed with it—for rubber is the only released to an imperial legislature wielding coercive power.

Fifty Thousand More Seamen Join Coastwise Walkout.

Join Coastwise Walkout.

NEW YORK, July 14.—The threatened strike of men employed on the vessels controlled by the United States Shipping Board was called late today. By this action, according to union officials, 50,000 seamen and thousands of stewards, cooks and other employes joined the ranks of those already on strike in the coastwise trade.

The offer of the shipping board of an increase in wages and shorter working hours in port was duplicated today by the American Steamship Association, which controls seventy-five per cent. of the coastwise shipping, but the proposals failed to bring about a settlement. Officials of the shipping board will make another effort tomorrow to reach an agreement with the strike leaders, and end a situation which is admittedly having a serious effect on seaborne commerce. The principal bone of contention, the union heads say, is over the question of a closed shop, a principle which the officers of the steamship association. which is admittedly having a schools effect on seaborne commerce. The principal bone of contention, the union heads say, is over the question of a closed shop, a principle which the officers of the steamship association have thus far resolutely refused to concede.

CLEARING SALE "CODE OF YUKON" A THRILLING DRAMA

Mitchell Lewis a Delightful Treat in Film Version of Famous Play.

AT GRAND THEATRE

"The Code of the Yukon," a thrilling drama of the great northwest country, drew a capacity audience at the Grand Theatre on Monday despite the heat. Mitchell Lewis is the new star presented in this great screen production, which is full of the things that the average human being encounters some time or other in life. Mitchell Lewis, as Jean Dubois, appears upon the screen with a betwitching smile typical of the good-natured northwesterners, who lives in a little hut, with his dog who lives in a little hut, with his dog Prince as his sole companion, seeking gold, which he fails to find. Later Jean marries the daughter of a poor prospector. She is not satisfied with prospector. She is not satisfied with what he is able to give her, and runs away with one of her husband's enemies. And Mitchell Lewis plays the part of

Despite his sorrow, Jean turns to search for the man who wronged his sister, to make him pay. He is suddenly informed that the man who wronged his sister is within a few feet of him. Here one sees a fight that the pages two his men each fighting to engages two big men, each fighting to the best of his ability. The story, which is thrilling throughout, ends in Jean's wife coming back to him, and he takes her back to the heart she has deserted. orchestra. A Sparkle comedy, "Her Necklace," and a Grand Topical Review film, with a high-class vaudeville act, complete an excellent bill at t Grand. This performance will be peated at the Grand today and

W. S. HART SCORES WONDERFUL HIT IN PLAY AT MAJESTIC

Miss Jane Holden, Contralto, Delights With Her Singing.

W. S. Hart, conceded to be the screen's greatest exponent of western characters made a tremendous hit with Majestic Theatre patrons in his photoplay, "Square Deal Sanderson," which was shown at this popular theatre yesterday, "Square Deal Sanderson" will be repeated at the Majestic today (Tuesday) and Wednesday.

This is another western picture wherein Eill Hart gets his man. It offers little that is new in plot diversion, but is brisk and replete with action after the manner of Bill Hart's pictures. It is a typical star vehicle of the type with which Mr. Hart has associated himself since his advent into the movies. Against open, rugged country he rides, shoots, has his revenge and finds time besides for a pretty love affair with leading lady, Ann Little. The character of Sanderson is one of those honest, fearless, capable sorts which Hart makes so lovable and so interesting. It is a conventional role, however, and there are few moments when one doesn't know precisely what the hero will do next, and yet suspense isn't lacking, for it is an expense of the planted months ago.

Thousand Changes in Plans.

Edsel Ford testified that his company was compelled to make 1,000 changes in plans for Liberty motors after original drawings were submitted, and that the work had been taken up where three other firms had laid it down.

On the subject of increased cost of Eagle boats from $275,000, he said this was partly attributable to the cutting down of the contract from 112 to 60 boats. He defended the selection of a site for an Eagle assembling plant of the down.

Advances to the firm by the Government, he said, had at no time equalled the amount invested, and gave some figures as to the amount for which the firm had carried the Government, running as high as $32,000, 600,000 on November 30 last.

Big Reduction in Cost.

On gun caissons, he said the Ford Company was able to reduce the cost from $12,000 to $700. This reduced the are few moments when one doesn't know precisely what the hero will do next, and yet suspense isn't lacking, for it is never so much what Hart will do that intrigues, as how he will do it. His methods of getting around a commonplace situation are always original.

The story is well made and has a pleasant undercurrent of wholesomeness. and fearlessness that is stimulating. It seems almost impossible that the simple situations which Hart has used could so successfully keep one rapt for five reels, and yet there is never a lull in activities r a waning of interest. The continuity s good and the situations well knit. and the types selected for minor charttendant gruesome skeletons scattered bout the water-hole. The photography s clear and a few good close-ups of the star artistically expose his grim expres Harold Lloyd, Bebe Daniels and Harry Polland appear in one of their latest rib ticklers, a comedy a thousand feet long, ticklers, a comedy a thousand feet long, with a thousand laughs thrown in.

In vaudeville, Miss Jane Holden, the possessor of a magnificent contralto voice, renders a program of selected songs, in such an artistic manner that she was forced to respond to applause from the pleased audience. Western Canada and the Pacific Coast have now been brought within much quicker reach of the East by "The Trans-Canada Limited," the new popular all-sleeping car train operated by the Canadian Pacific Railway from Toronto and Montreal to Vancouver. It makes the fastest time between terminals of any transcontinental train in America. Leaving Toronto at 7:15 p.m. daily, Fort William is reached in 26 hours, Winnipeg in 39, Regina in 50, Calgary in 64, and Vancouver in 90. By this means a business day is saved—great convenience to the large number of businessmen who travel between Eastern and Western Canada. Leaving Toronto on the evening of Monday, for instance, it is possible to spend a full business day in Winnipeg, and be back in Toronto by Friday afternoon. Tourists to the famous resorts of the Canadian Pacific at Banff, Lake Louise, Glacier, Vancouver and Victoria will also find this train particularly convenient. It consists of standard sleeping cars, dining car, and sleeping car passengers only are carried. Further particulars from Canadian Pacific ticket agents or W. B. Howard, district passenger agent, Toronto.

who lives in a little hut, with his dog Prince as his sole companion, seeking gold, which he fails to find. Later fean marries the daughter of a poor prospector. She is not satisfied with what he is able to give her, and runs knay with one of her husband's enemies. And Mitchell Lewis plays the part of this man with the hurt heart to perfection.

Despite his sorrow, Jean turns to search for the man who wronged his sister, to make him pay. He is suddenly informed that the man who wronged his sister is within a few feet of him. Here one sees a fight that engages two big men, each fighting to the best of his ability. The story, which is thrilling throughout, ends in Jean's wife coming back to him, and he takes her back to the heart she has deserted. Frank Brown, xylophonist, offers an attractive program of popular and classical selections, and provides a rare musical treat. A special overture from "The Only Girl" is played by the orchestra. Edsel Ford's examination was almost entirely in regard to war contracts. The most telling point brought out by Mr. Stevenson was to fix the date of a telegram sent by Henry Ford to Carter Glass, secretary of the treasury, asking for an audit of war contracts and profits with the view of turning the 58½ per cent belonging to Mr. Ford back to the Government.

back to the Government.

Mr. Stevenson, senior counsel for the Chicago Tribune, has insisted that this request for an audit was camouflage, intimating that Mr. Ford would not have asked for it if his son had not been subpoenaed to bring the data into court, showing on its face that Mr. Ford had profited to the extent of several millions by war orders.

As a matter of fact the subpoena to Edsel Ford was issued June 20 and the request to Secretary Glass was sent June 23. The telegram is worded so as to indicate that such a move had been planned months ago.

Henry Ford was questioned briefly as to the early history of the Ford Motor Company, in which he and a Y. Molcolmson originally had 25½ per cent each, giving them a controlling interest, Mr. Ford afterward buying Mr. Molcolmson's share. C. Wills, who recently retired from the concern, was mentioned as a co-worker with Mr. Ford in developing the auto to a marketable stage.

Mr. Ford then was asked if he had an interview with Edward Marshall, which was printed in Detroit April 11, 1915. He said that he did.

Daylight Saving To Be Continued in the States

WASHINGTON, July 14 .- The daylight saving plan, under which the clocks of the country are turned forward an hour in March and moved back in October, will be continued indefinitely. This was assured today when, following President Wilson's veto of the $33,000,000 agricultural appropriation bill, because of its rider repealing the daylight saving act, the House refused by a vote of 247 to 135 to pass the measure over the president's veto.

Hence advocates of the repeal said tonight, after the agricultural bill had been sent back to committee for elimination of the repeal provision, that no further effort would be made at this session, perhaps not in this Congress, which continues in existence until March, 1921, to wipe out the daylight saving act. There was no indication, they said, that they would be able to strengthen their forces.

which a number of Mr. Ford's anti-militarist expressions have been taken, the one most frequently quoted being a statement that the word murderer, should be embroidered on the breast of every soldier. Mr. Ford's attorneys have constantly insisted during the have constantly insisted during the trial that this quotation was taken out of its context, and that it did not have the broad meaning apparent on its face.

The matter was not pursued further.
