MACSWINEY'S DEATH WAS DUE TO HEART FAILURE CAUSED BY FAST, IS VERDICT OF CORONER'S

Widow of Dead Lord Mayor Sk'Afully Evades Questions Put by Coroner Tat Would Characterize Her Husband Otherwise Than "a Volunteer Officer of the Republican "Mrmy"—Relatives Completing Arrangements For the Funeral.

Londone Oct. 27 .- A jury of ten men, after twelve minutes' deliberation this morning, returned an open verdict at the inquest over the body of Lord Mayor MacSwiney of Cork, who died in Brixton prison early Monday morning from the results of his 73-day hunger strike.

The verdict was that the deceased had died from heart failure, Public Health, who discussed important due to a delicate and acute delirium scurvy, which was due to plans with district women. exhaustion from prolonged refusal to take food. The widowed, lady mayoress, dressed in black and heavily veiled, was the only witness on behalf of the MacSwiney family, and was the dominant DR. HILL URGES figure of the proceedings. Her composure was indicated by her quick and pointed replies.

Mrs. MacSwiney successfully resisted the continued attempts of the coroner to have her characterize her late husband's occupation otherwise than as a "volunteer officer of the Irish Republican army." The inquest, which was held in the bright, sunny office of the prison governor, was attended by 35 persons, besides the coroner and jury. These included Mrs. MacSwiney, the dead lord mayor's brother Sean (John), his sisters, Annie and Mary; his private chaplain, Father Dominic; the lord mayor's secretary the clerk and city. ters, Annie and Mary; his private chaplain, Father Dominic: the lord mayor's secretary, the clerk and city solicitor of Cork, representatives of Irish civic and political organizations, and home office and other British Government institutions.

There was a crowd about the prison entrance when the members of the familia decrease in a characteristic decrease.

There was a crowd about the prison entrance when the members of the family drove up in a taxicab.

The coroner arrived shortly afterwards and the party filed into the governor's room of the prison.

Coroner Wyatt opened the proceedings with the usual formalities. He suggested that the brother of the late lord mayor might desire to testify for the family. Solicitor MacDonald, representing the family, interposed, however, with the reminder that the lady mayorees had been summoned for that purpose. The coroner asked Mrs. MacSwiney if she wished to testify.

The lady mayoress said her name was Murfel Frances MacSwiney, aged 40.

GERMANY SENDS TREATY COPIES TO THE LEAGUE

Step Follows Request Sent to All Governments Except Russia.

Paris, Oct. 27.-The German Government, somewhat to the surprise of the council of the league of nations, has sent to the league officers in London ten treaties or diplomatic agreements entered into by Germany with various owers since January 10, it was learned here today. This step was taken in consequence of the circular invitation sent to all the governments of the world, except that of soviet Russia, by order of the league council at its meet-ing in Rome in March last.

Dr. W. S. Downham, medical officer of health, said the closing would be permanent, and was not a temporary measure to bring about improvements. Lue Yon, the proprietor of the eating-house, was warned some time ago that he would have to better the condition of the place. Atthough he made efforts along this line he was unable to bring it up to the standard required by the board, and he was ordered to close his establishment.

board, and he was ordered to close his establishment.

"I would not like to say anything about the others," was Dr. Downham's reply, when asked if similar measures were contemplated for other cafes.

A rigorous inspection of all the restaurants is being maintained by the health inspector, J. H. Saunders, chairman of the board of health, said. Frequent visits are being paid to each one and every effort is being made to keepthem up to a high sanitary standard under threat of closure.

Official regulations have been prepared. These likely will be indorsed at the next monthly meeting of the board. They were submitted at the last meeting. Dr. Downham was the only member familiar with them at that time. For that reason they were left over, Mr. Saunders said. The board did not wish to indorse something which it had not read.

MEXICAN PRESIDENT ASKED TO GUARANTEE STRIKE PROTECTION

Vera Cruz, Oct. 27.—Provisional President De La Huerta has been asked to guarantee freedom of employment and protect workers from violence at the hands of striking dock workers in this city, as a result of resolutions passed yesterday at a meeting of representatives of the chamber of commerce, shipowners and industrial interests here. If the provisional president will not give these guarantees within 24 hours, trade in this city will cease for two days as, a protest. In case he disregards the petition altogether, owners of food stores have agreed to close their places of business.

POET LAUREATE IS IN FAVOR OF RECONCILIATION WITH GERMANY

London, Act. 27.—Robert Bridges, British poet-laureate, and chief mover in forwarding to German professors on October 17 an appeal for reconciliation, has sent a letter to the London Times defending himself and his fellow-signers against the avalanche of criticism appearing in newspapers of this city.

"The communication was signed," he writes, "by those on our side whose patriotism has not settled down into indiscriminate personal suspicion or ill-will, and it appeals confidently to the same class on the other side. It is the intention of the signers of the appeal to encourage the moderate party in Germany, which has always deplored the chauvinistic policy leading up to the great war. People here talk as if they would readily forgive the Germans if there were nothing to forgive. They do not see that it is the fact that we were so terribly injured that makes our forgiveness so necessary and powerful."

The judge finds that the cow was nervous and excitable, but not "vicious." It had, however, become so wild and excited by its experiences at a railway station as to be dangerous.

According to the cases cited before the judge, as precedents, the owner is not liable where the animal does something that might not be reasonably expected of it.

Salesman Declares That Gov ernment Is Selling To Highest Bidder Regardless of Promises Made To Look After Citizens-Many Shipmen ts Are Going Across the Line.

It was learned today that no Government fish has been sent to the city fish stall for the past two weeks. J. Jenkin, city fish salesman, stated that the Government was selling the fish to buyers who are paying higher prices than London is.

"The Government promised London that fish would come regularly," said Mr. Jenkin. "They have gone back on their word because they see higher prices can be obtained from wholesale houses. We should get the fish before the wholesale houses. Citizens are entitled to the first claim, but are not getting it."

It was intimated that an order for a large supply of fish has been in the Government's hands for two weeks and nothing has been heard of it. Fish have been sold for the stall, but have been purchased from fishermen at Port Stanley and orders booked for their catches from the States.

"The American fishermen are securing a monopoly," said Market Clerk Charles Maker. "Some of the fishermen at Port Stanley had orders booked for their catches from the States.

Shortly after the re-opening of the trial this morning, John Miller, inspector of provincial police, was called and told of his arrest of Lorne Helmer on the 30th of July, this year, of his warning accused twice, and that Helmer voluntarily made a statement, signed by him, of occurrences surrounding the death of James Learn. This was made in the office of Crown Attorney Slaght, K. C., Simcoe, during the morning in the presence of the inspector. In the afternoon another statement was made before Mr. Slaght in answer to his questions. Helmer's admissions contained in the statement were to the effect that Helmer and Learn had some words early in the morning of July 13, and accused grabbed the old man, but did not struggle with him. Today's developments included a sudden switch by William Randolph Hearst from the Republican to the Democratic side of the battle, a statement by Gov. GROWTH OF CHURCH NOT AS LARGE AS SHOULD BE, STATED

Henry Macklin Suggests Itinerant System As Remedy -Opinion Divided.

LACK OF TEACHERS

Efficient Ones Must Be Obtained, Principal of Huron College Says.

That the growth of the Church England during the last 40 years has not kept pace with the increasing was a fact given by Henry Macklin at the semi-annual meeting of the Deanery of East Middlesex. Mr. Macklin said that this was too serious a matter to be looked upon lightly, and suggested the itinerant system and a greater spirit of consultation in the Anglican Synod. Some of the clerics present thought this suggestion of the itinerant system as being a good one, rather than the life-long pastorate, but others were very much opposed to this scheme, which for years has been used in the Methodist churches.

years has been used in the Methodist churches.
Regarding the matter of church extension, which occupied the morning session, it was decided to hold a meeting of the wardens of the fourteen English churches in the city and a conference to deal with the missions of the English Church in this city.

Mr. R. E. Davis gave an interesting report of the Lambeth conference, giving such detail as was important for the church workers to know.

Rev. John Morris of the Church of the Redeemer in his paper on parochial difficulties outlined the usual difficulties of a minister in connection with his congregation and the various organizations of the church. He was of the opinion that people were getting away from the vital truths of Christianity and looking for too much amusement. He said that it was difficult to get young people to attend the A. Y. P. U. because they wanted away from the vital truths of Christianity and looking for too much amusement. He said that it was difficult to get young people to attend the A. Y. P. U., because they wanted something amusing instead of spiritual. It was his belief that each man who enjoys the privileges of the church should do his duty by giving regularly, rather than have the minister turn into a professional beggar to get funds for the upkeep of the church. Rev. A. A. Bice presided.

At the evening session Rev. C. C. Waller, principal of Huron College, spoke on the Sunday school lessons for the next quarterly, Rev. Waller writes for the quarterly, and in his address told from what part of the Bible the lessons will be taken.

Only Thing.

"Teaching is the only thing that will bring the people back to God," said Rev. Waller. "The church as a whole should keep the idea of teaching well in mind. Lack of efficient Sunday school teachers is one of the many difficulties, but this can be overcome by constant work amorg the generation coming up. Then it is plainly shown that teachers must be obtained now and they must be shown that we must all live our lives according to His laws."

"People do not go to church because they want to be popular. They go wherever the crowd goes, and when this happens we must prepare for the downfall of our kingdom. The Bible shows that it happened, and it is certain that it will happen again. Let us all conceive the idea of going to church, and not be particular about what the people wish, and they will see their mistake.

Waller.
Sunday school organization was the topic on which N. F. Willmot, superintendent of St. John's Sunday School spoke. He pointed out that more Sunday schools and more efficient teachers had to be produced in order that the work of God might be carried out.

Church Extension.

Church extension in London in connection with the Anglican Church was the chief discussion at the semi-annual meeting of the East Middlesex deanery in session in St. Matthew's Church today.

That the work of the Church of the Redeemer is being hampered to a great extent because of a road not being opened east of Adelaide street as a continuance of Grosvenor was a complaint laid before the deanery. One member stated that more than 100 families who live in Knollwood Park are of English Church religion, and because there is not a road to shorten the distance these families go elsewhere. A long discussion followed the outcome being to appoint shortly a committee of laymen to deal seriously with regard to several of the English Church missions in the city.

The Banquet.

The McCormick dining-hall presented a magnificent sight yesterday between 6 and 8 o'clock, when over 400 Western Ontario women delegates attending the Women's Institute Convention banquetted there, the guests of the city of London. Mayor E. S. Little, who was chairman, sounded the note of goodiellowship between the city and the rural districts, when he said, "This is not the first time that you have been our guests, and we hope that you will come again and again."

Dr. Hugh Stevenson, who was also present, spoke with enthusiasm of the W. I. organization in the province. "When you were first organized, we thought that you were merely a political organization, but now as the years have gone by, and you have expanded in membership, we realize that you are a great educational force in the country. And I can say, on behalf of the Government, that we shall be willing to grant you anything that you may request. "The great problem confronting Canada today is not the keeping of the young boys on the farm, but is rather the keeping of the young boys from joining the great tide of emigration to the United States," concluded Dr. Stevenson.

the keeping of the young boys from joining the great tide of emigration to the United States," concluded Dr. Stevenson.

Mr. George Putnam of Toronto, superintendent of Women's Institutes for Ontario, sounded the praises of the women of rural Canada. "In the women of the rural districts of Canada, we have a band of women in a position to give real service, not only to their own homes and communities but to the whole nation," he said. "I have no fear for Canada if the rural women live up to that for which they give so great promise." At the banquet a short address of welcome was given by Mrs. Frank Lecnard, president of the Women's Canadian Club, on behalf of the club executive, whose members were hostesses for the occasion, and by Mrs. Finch of Mapleton, who voiced the thanks of the rural women for their entertainment in the city. The Brunswick trio furnished a delightful little program of orchestral and vocal numbers, while a few folk dances, given under the direction of Miss Mary Manley, gave promise of further entertainment of this sort on the evening's program. Another interesting feature of the banquet was the arrival of a photographer followed up by a "flash" of the whole company.

Halloween Garb,

The McCormick dining-hall was all ready in its halloween dress of witches, bats, and pumpkins for the occasion. Supper was served, by the young women of the Talbot Street Baptist Church, under the direction of Mrs. A.

T. Edwards and the Women's Canadian Club executive. At the head table were several local men, besides members of the Canadian Club executive and prominent—W. I. representatives. In addition to the men whose names appeared on the program were Frank McCormick, Ed. Lance and others.

Directly before the banquet the women delegates made an inspection

SEWER MONEY CLAUSE PUT IN WITHOUT VOTE

OPPOSES VOTE

Says People Have Tendency To Defeat Proposals Not Benefitting Them.

If recommendations which will be made by No. 2 committee are adopted by the city council, a clause will be included in the City of London bill providing for the expenditure of $175,000 for storm sewers. This item of the proposed bill was the only one discussed at a meeting of the committee, held Tuesday evening.

That the clause should be included in the bill instead of going to the people in the form of a bylaw was suggested by Mayor Little, who saw no necessity of the people voting on it. The suggestion met with considerable opposition on the part of Ald. Moorhead, who thought that the $250,000 first proposed was involving too much money, when it was considered that an additional expenditure must be made for paving.

He withdrew his objections, however,

Bad Condition.

The committee affirmed its decision regarding the claim of the Standard Paving Company. The committee and Engineer Brazier claim that a certain plece of roadway on Ridout street put down by the paving company is falling through and is in a very bad condition. Because they hold that the company was responsible for the bad work even though the bed of the road was bad they refuse to pay for the construction work in full. The paving company has threatened suit, but in the opinion of Engineer Brazier the city does not stand much chance of losing the case.

Through Secretary A. M. Hunt, the Western Faird Board made an application that a main sewer be laid through the grounds from Egerton street to King street. Engineer Brazier estimated that the work would cost $10,000. It was felt by several of the members that the work should be done, but it was referred to the engineer for a report.

The engineer will be asked to bring in a report on a ravine or ditch bordering the roadway between Grosvenor and Cheapside streets on Colborne street. It was contended by Ald. Moorhead and Chairman W. Wilson that the ditch was a menace to the public safety, and that it should be milled in.

Five rods on the Ridout street bridge came in for some discussion, but it was decided that no action should be taken to tighten them, as they had little bearing on the stability of the structure.

City Clerk S. Baker announced to the members of the committee that notifications had been received to the effect that the London bill must be advertised by November 20. The announcement was received with considerable surprise by the members of the committee.

Now every form of national, provincial or local organization interested in any form of human progress is turning its eyes towards the physical improvement of the race as an item of its program. Commercial clubs, Rotary Clubs, Farmers' Clubs, Mothers' Clubs, the Red Cross Society, the Council of Women, the Women's Institutes, the U. F. O. W.—it would be impossible to name them all—all are agreed on one point, however diverse their objects in others; all are agreed that child welfare and the struggle against tuberculosis and the venereal diseases must be carried on successfully, at whatever immediate sacrifice, for the salvation of our future—the future of the race.

Study the Needs.

The County Public Health Association as I have seen it develop is a complete unit in itself, consisting of delegates from all these other bodies in the county representing all parts of the county and every township in it, and devoting itself to securing for its county every advantage in public health lines that that particular county most needs. So far, then, all that is required in each county is the initiative of its own people to form such a society to the county people to form such a society to the sach county people to form such a society to the sach county people to form such a society to the sach county people to form such a society to the sach county people to form such a society to the sach county people to form such a society to the sach county people to form such a society to the sach county people to form such a society to the sach county people to form such a society to the sach county people to form such a society to the sach county people to form such a society to the sach county people to form such a society to the sach county people to form such a society to the sach county people to form such a society to the sach county people to form such a society to the sach county people to form such a society to the sach county people to form such a society to the sach county people t

To form successfully a county society requires that some one person or some group of people shall invite the various organizations in that county to send delegates to an organization meeting; that the plan of organization shall be acceptable, and that definite objects be sought.

What are the objects that such a county organization, comprised of all interested in public health, should concentrate upon? These will vary in different counties with the different stages of development already reached, and the particularly pressing needs remaining.

Society Ladies' Adopt New Hair Curling Method

Since the introduction of the silmerine method in this country, it has become quite "the proper thing" among society women, who have readily adopted it in place of the destructive curling iron. The waves and curls acquired by the new method are far more natural in appearance, and the hair of course is glossier and prettier than could be if the life were cooked out of it.

The liquid is pleasant to use, being neither greasy nor sticky. It is a simple thing to apply with a clean tooth brush before doing up the hair. The lovely wavy effect in evidence in about three hours is all that one could wish for. The members of that board are the biggest cheese exporters in the country. They fixed the price and were lining their pockets, and when the farmers sold their milk to the milk factories the food board offered them more for the product and still sold it to the milk factories. Then the food board curtailed the milk manufacturers by not issuing licenses for the importation of their product.

Deputy Lord Mayor O'Callaghan of Cork Gives Personal View.

SPIRIT IS UNBROKEN

Says Ireland's Determination For Complete Independence Never More Earnest.

LONDON, Oct. 26.-Deputy Lord Mayor O'Callaghan of Cork informed the Associated Press this afternoon that it was his personal view that the hunger strike as a weapon of protest would be abandoned after the present experiments, involving the remaining Cork hunger strikers. He declared, however, that the spirit of Irishmen is no more broken than was that of Lord Mayor MacSwiney, and the determination of Ireland for complete independence was never more earnest than now. "The United States, by a formal protest to Great Britain," said he, "could obtain justice for Ireland, and, until she does that, we consider her protestations of her interest in small nations of little value."

Pankhurst Doubtful

LONDON, Oct. 26. - Sylvia Pankhurst, the militant suffragette, in a letter which she wrote to Nikolai Lenine, the Bolshevik premier, and which is in the hands of the Government. is said to have made this interesting comment:

"I expect six months' imprisonment. I have considered the hunger strike, but I am afraid that weapon has been destroyed, since the Government is letting the Irish hunger strikers die." Miss Pankhurst was arrested last week, charged with publishing seditious literature. She was admitted to bail nending trial

Several years ago Miss Pankhurst was among the first of alleged offenders against the British law and order who went on hunger strikes after they were arrested and secured their re lease from prison.

DICKENS AND AFTER.

It is fifty years since the death of Dickens. As he is a sort of popular saint, for all his heginning of his immortal life in memory.

The English novel has altered almost beyond recognition since the reign of Dickens. For one thing it has shrunk up into half the size, and in that process has lost not only duliness but fuice. Where shall now be found the Gargantuan bounty of laughter and goodwill that floods through Pickwick papers and the rest? The present year with its enormous harvests and overflowing beauty, seems to be commemorating fitly the character of the master of modern

G. able to obtain it so easily, with the result that Wells undertakes splendidly to anatomize and he would gradually get away from it, and would reform the world. Where Scott made the novel mend his ways and instead of being a menace a vehicle for history, and Dickens for social bet- to society and a nuisance to his home, become terment, Wells uses it as a scientific essay or a good citizen and a source of happiness to his treatise, and as far as "ideas" go, his little fin- people at home. If this can be brought about, treatise, and as far as "ideas" go, his little fingeor is equal to the thigh of Scott or Dickens. and I see no reason why it should not, it will Our best novels today, like Shaw's plays, are be a fatal blow to another of the influences are received. crammed with ideas, not merely platitudes burningly expressed, but ideas of some original character. Dickens kept you excited, but Wells or W. L. George keeps you thinking. The one rival of Mr. Wells for the highest place in English fiction today is, of course, Mr. Joseph Conrad. His stories are charged, like Hardy's, with a sad, ironic philosophy of life, to handle. but he is not depressing. Cheerfulness is always creeping in despite the philosophy, with both Conrad and Hardy, but the former is more serene, less of a rebel, more reassuring.

The novel since Dickens has widened and varied its scope. Romantic adventure has had a revival under the influence of Stevenson; one of Conrad's favorite books was Stevenson's "South Seas," dealing with his own realm of exgreat deal of rather petty detail and disproportionate emphasis in present-day fiction, even the best of it. Mere verbosity, even though it be cunning or artistic, is as dull as the decried sentimental chapters of Mr. Pickwick in prison Would that Conrad used fewer words, that Wells would shorten his disquisitions, and that someone could give us chapters like the Weller portions of Pickwick Papers. The style or method of the newer fiction is as experimental and ingenious as its variations of subject matter. Particularly, Conrad's way of telling a story, while often irksome to the superficial reader, is a marvel of subtle art. Not straightahead, but indirectly, with gradual accumulation, by approaches from different viewpoints, he lets out or suggests his story. Dickens' way was very simple. The new school has many tricks of method, and its thought at the best leaves Dickens far behind. But what has become of the crashing laugh? Only Kipling and W. W. Jacobs have continued in a weapon to modest and minor fashion something of the wild fun in which Dickens is supreme.

SOME EVIL INFLUENCES.

L. E. LePage, chief of the detective force at Montreal, has been making a study of some of u the influences that are responsible for filling Canadian jails and penitentiaries, and his observations are decidedly interesting.

"One of the influences that is filling our ails and penitentiaries is the pool room. By this I do not mean it is a crime to play pool, it is a scientific game and one out of which a great deal of pleasure is taken; but what I have in mind is the pool room where young men strike, the number of those engaged in producing food will gradually diminish, with the inevitable congregate, and which is frequented by a class who live on the proceeds of crime. In most of: also where young men starting out in life are taught by those whom they meet in these places to steal and commit burglaries of every kind, in fact, some of the worst crimes are hatched in these dens. This, of course, in many cases is done without the knowledge of the proprietor of the place. This is one of the matters which should be given great study by the Chief Constables' Association, and legislation put into effect governing these pool rooms which will have the effect of making them es of amusement rather than schools of me. When this is done, it will have righted ne of the influences that is filling our jails and nitentiaries.

"Another factor which I should like to menion, which has received the attention of our overnments without their arriving at any deinite solution, is the migration of the sons and aughters of farmers to the larger cities where they get in and work for fair wages and lose all aste for returning to the farm. These boys and girls, sons and daughters of toilers of the soil, get into the larger cities and are carried away with the gay life, and think nothing of the folks at home or the happy home in the country. This migration to the city often means their downfall and instead of making good and becoming good citizens they set in with 'evil' companions and stray from the straight and narrow path. I think it is our duty in cases of joviality, his death may be celebrated as the of the sons and daughters of the workers of the

which we should endeavor to put a stop to, and I feel sure, if we are successful, it will be a great help towards lessening crime in the larger cities. At present it seems to be very easy for people to obtain these drugs, although the police are doing everything possible to prolettes of R. L. PROVED A BOOMERANG.

[Financial Post.]

The direct influence of public opinion on governmental policy has been indicated by the repudiation at Ottawa of the order of the Board of Commerce n connection with the sugar situation. The pol legality, but the fact that the refiners placed their case before the Government in the first place and not the Board of Commerce, and the nature of the negotiations which followed, leaves the impression that the members of the cabinet—or some of them not ignorant of the nature of the action that in the best interests of all concerned—with the possible exception of one of the refineries—the aroused a hostility to the refiners themselves which would in the future, no doubt, provide a serious pusiness liability, but its ramifications affected so nany industries in which sugar is an important raw material, that serious complications could hardly have been avoided. The whole situation only board appointed with the obvious duty of regulating prices to the consumer. As a political weapon to meet public opinion it has proven a ierang, as was predicted by businessmen

FARMING AND POLITICS.

[Vancouver Sun.]

What would happen if the farmers were to go on strike? The question sounds absurd enough, but under certain conditions, such an event is not at under certain conditions, such an event is not at all beyond the range of possibility. They have done it in Russia. There the tiller of the soil, becoming tired of getting nothing but useless paper money for his products, has been raising just enough for his own use. He is waiting until the townspeople to to work again and manufacture something that go to work again and manufacture somethin has value in exchange.

On this continent nothing quite so drastic is likely. Even here, however, it is obvious that the farmer must be assured of a fair return for his farmer must be assured of a fair return for his labor, together with reasonably comfortable condi-tions of life. Otherwise, although there may be no towards preventing such a consummation. Agricul-tural education is spreading. Rural organizations are being formed for various purposes. Provision s being made for the may be had by a merch eriods. In short, farming is becoming a ngaged in for profit like any other.

From Here and There

[Quebec Telegraph.] doubt at all that the striking min England possess but little sympathy in the inks of the British public. Every reasonable effort of permitting them to dictate the mining dicy of the government and of the nation has short of permitting them to dictate the mining policy of the government and of the nation has been made in order to make an honorable and a liberal settlement with them, especially in the matter of wages. The crux of the situation is the question of production. The old-fashioned idea of honest work for honest pay appears to be unpopular with some classes of workers today, or we should hear of fewer well-established instances of higher wages being followed by lesser instead of increased production. THE GROWING DOLLAR.

this kind, where such people stray from the straight and narrow path and are brought before us, they should be counselled by us to return to their people, and thus save them from the land they might become good honest citizens, whereas, if they are permitted to remain in the city, they will become confirmed criminals in the end. It seems too bad that so many of the sons and daughters of the workers of the soil should see fit to come to the city, instead of following up the farm as their fathers and forefathers did.

"Another matter that has the effect, not only of filling our jails and penitentiaries, but of destroying the minds and vitality of criminals, is the use of obnoxious drugs. This is a matter which we should endeavor to put a stop to, and reached their normal level again, the possible advantages of thrift right now become apparent. After all, work and economy are the foundation of wellbeing, whether one means the well-being of the state or of the individual.

THE AVERAGE HARD WORKER.

[Toronto Star.] An exchange wants to know what has become o the old-fashioned man who had to work hard for

THE GROWTH OF . MONTREAL.

Montreal proudly reports that as the result of of North America, having a slight lead on Boston and Cleveland, which are the sixth and sevent cities respectively. The majestic city of the St. jump from 472,000 in 1911 to 801,000 in 1920—the latter figure announced as a constant estimate based on the city directory returns, and not an actual census compilation. The census returns next year may trim Montreal's sails a bit but there seems to be no doubt that she has given both Detroit and Los Angeles a hard race in growth and development during the past decade.

KEEPING AN EAR TO THE GROUND.

[Financial Post.]
Probably the safest attitude for the manufacture oday when faced with the downward movement is commodities is to put himself in the closest touch with the distributors of his goods, the jobbers and the retailers. There is a much-abused proverb in the retail world of merchandising that "the customer is always right." Applied to the present situation it means that the retailer is probably the one who can judge most accurately the feeling of the consumer towards existing prices, and how far those prices may be adjusted before a healthy level

The shoe manufacturers of Canada and the States idently waited too long, and their market slipped ddenly away from them, and their attempt today through summer advertising to prop up those orices is probably the most glaring instance of and unintelligent effort to thwart the sugar refiners have displayed a keener insigh their commodity; today they would have be prepared to face the unusual conditions in th industry had they not been hampered by price-fixing that dogged them during the past two years. could not come down, and then, when cancellation flew in, dropped their prices. The cotton texti

Meeting the ultimate buyer, the consumer, haif way, looks like the wisest course for the marufacturer today. And to find out what are the wishe touch with the retailer, and, where possible, the consumer himself.

THE READJUSTMENT PERIOD.

[Bank of Commerce Monthly Letter.] In practically all business centres in Canada a midition is developing in which labor has to seek apployment, whereas from the beginning of the late war until the present time the supply of labor has not been equal to the demand. Employers are now in a much better position to adjust their labor forces been in evidence for some time past. On the other hand, there has been a marked diminution in the demand for many classes of commodities. These two tendencies—the one towards greater efficiency in production, and the other towards more careful purchasing—will accentuate the trend tochanges in wage schedules, however, and with only a slight surplus of labor on the market, it would appear that the decline in prices cannot be rapid. nts, and as a rule are taking steps to re's further enjoyment of retrospection was cut short by a sudden gesture which riveted his attention upon the two men on the rear platform. Cranston had turned suddenly and was peering at him; almost automatically Podmore's eyes dropped quickly to the open magazine on quickly to the open magazine on his knee. There was a certain hint of caution on the railroad detective's face that did not escape the astute secretary. The latter's vigilance was rewarded presently by seeing Cranston reach into an inside pocket, pull out a bulky blue envelope and quickly pass it across to the president. The latter as quickly stowed it out of sight in an inner pocket of his tweed coat a himself cast a hasty glance over shoulder to see if he had been ob-served. But again Mr. Podmore's gaze dropped in time and when he raised his eyes casually from his magazine it was to note an expression of satisfaction upon the faces of both gentlemen. They got up and came inside, laughing rather loudly.

"That there steak and onlons Taylor's cookin' is sure goin' to hit the spot." cried Cranston, sniffing with relish. "Eh, Hughey?" He dropped into the chair alongside the secretary with a familiar slap on the latter's knee, and thrust his legs out in the sprawling abandon of a comfortable stretch.

sprawling abandon of a comfortable stretch.

Unfortunately he did this just as President Wade, having turned to tos away the end of his cigar, took a step forward with a hand thrust into an inside pocket of his coat, evidently intending to put away in the safe the envelope which Cranston had given him. The result of Cranston's sudden movement and Wade's awkward positions. movement and Wade's awkward posi-tion was that the president tripped lost his balance and would have measured full length on the car floor Cranston had not cause car floor Cranston had not caught him. In his effort to save himself the blue envelope was jerked out of his pocket and fell directly at Podmore's feet.

"Oh, I beg your pardon, sir!" apologized Cranston hurriedly.

"That's all right, Bob," laughed Wade good-naturedly. "Thanks, Hugh Wade good-naturedly. "Thanks, Hughey," as his secretary handed him the envelope. "Why, what's the matter?"

ter?"

Podmore's face had gone suddenly white and he was trembling visibly.
"Ain't you feelin' well, Hughey?" inquired Cranston with concern. He rang quickly for highballs.
"It's all right—thanks," stammered Podmore hastily. "I—I guess it's just a little faintness due to the fact that I ate practially no lunch—I'm all right now."

Nevertheless when Taylor arrived with the decanter Podmore poured himself an extra stiff drink. He had need of it. For a second time he had lost his poise, and it was only with the greatest difficulty that he prevented any further manifest difficulty of the fact during the meal and the evening which followed. For unless he was very much mistaken—and he felt sure very much mistaken—and he felt sure that he was not—that envelope he had picked up and handed to the president that he was not—that envelope he had picked up and handed to the president was the identical blue linen envelope that had been stolen with the tan satchel so mysteriously two weeks ago! The size of it, the feel of it, the daubs of grey sealing-wax—Oh, there was no mistaking it!

How in thunderation had it come into Cranston's hands?—Cranston, of all men! Had Cranston pulled off the stunt? Had Podmore been doing him an injustice? He studied the chief of the special service department with a new and wide-awake interest. If Cranston had purloined this packet it was under orders—Wade's, of course. Then that suspicion which had kept recurring every time he had tried to think out the mystery of the disappearance was correct. It was a political move! The opponents of the government were lining up for the approaching election with open charges of mal-feasance, graft—the same old game! Wade, he knew, had had friction with the present administration over certain legis—lation; that was sufficient motive for him taking a hand, although it was hardly likely that a man of Wade's standing would allow himself to become involved in such back-alley tactics—unless—Nickleby — the Interprovincial—!

Podmore's thoughts were not run-ning as clearly as usual. They kept pocketing themselves provokingly in blind alleys that led nowhere, or scat-tering it may age that led everywhere. blind alleys that led nowhere, or scattering in mazes that led everywhere. There was such a wide field of speculation open, once he began to consider things from the political angle, that it was difficult to reach any very definite conclusion. He was not now so concerned as to the why or, the how of what had happened; the cold analysis of motives and methods was dwarfed by the private car and within easy reach was that blessed envelope, containing fifty thousand dollars of any man's money. For it did not look as if it had been tampered with; the seals were still unbroken. Right here, within a few yards of where he sat, was that little old bunch of greenbacks that he had planned so carnestly to take "California Syrup of Figs" Child's Best Laxative that little old bunch of greenbacks that he had planned so earnestly to take unto his bosom and that had cost him so many heartburnings this past two weeks. Talk about luck! Talk about opportunity knocking once on somebody's door! Why, the old dame was chopping down his door with an axe! With his mind in such a chaos of confused emotions. Hughey found it difficult to keep up his end of the conversation and he was not sorry when the others showed a tendency to turn in early. Once the lights were dimmed he could hardly wait the reasonable length of time which must elapse before the other three occupants were asleep, so eager was he to make his investigations. But at last the snores of Cranston and the steward and the steady breathing of President Wade satisfied him that the way was clear.

Quietly he slipped from his berth. He Quietly he slipped from his berth. He Quietly he slipped from his berth. He had not undressed, except to remove his boots and coat, and in two minutes he had the envelope in his hands. He slipped noiselessly down the aisle to the steward's kitchen, switched on a light and examined the prize leisurely. He felt it carefully, hefted it in one hand, then with the aid of a thin-bladed paring knife he succeeded in loosening a corner of the flap sufficiently to allow of a peek at the contents without disturbing the seals. His involuntary exclamation of satisfaction when he verified the contents as a package of greenbacks was drowned

It was the missing campaign contribu-tion beyond a doubt.

Back down the dimly sighted aisle with its swaying green curtains, past the sleepers he slipped noiselessly to the writing desk where he carefully regummed the corner of the flap, leav-ing no trace of his inspection. Then he sank into a leather chair and lit a face.

The fates certainly were kindness itself. He had it—50,000 bucks! He actually had it in his pocket! It was enough to give Mr. Podmore a fine start on his own accoult somewhere far away. Nickleby and Alderson? They could go and take a jump in the lake! He had his. It was a good time

Yes, it was time to say a final farewell while the farewelling was good. He hunted up a timetable. They must Creek by now. Where would the westbound limited be at that hour? He glanced at his watch, then flattened his ose against the window, until his eyes

Ans.—In real life, stepmothers and mothers-in-law are a great disappointment in that they so seldom play the roles given them in the colored supplement. Betty should certainly have no coffee until she is at least 16 years old, unless her father plans to make her a nervous, excitable, inefficient and unhappy girl. The blood-and-thunder movies are infinitely more injurious to a child than the worst dime novels we ever had. If father insists on three shows a week for Betty, and at night at that, let Betty's harsh stepmother endeavor to steer her to some theatre where the influence is not so vicious.

A Dirge in H Minor

A hard-headed nose and throat specialist who had just removed a whale of an adenoid from a little patient dear to me observed that few of us realize how large a share of the general illnesses that physicians treat may be traced to common colds. Whereupon I pricked up my preternaturally long ears and brayed: "You mean respiratory infections when you speak of colds I suppose?" The specialist agreed that they are all bacterial infections, yet he dragged in the weather. "Damp, cold, dark days make people feel gloomy and depressed," he said. "That weakens their resistance in itself. Furthermore people do not go outdoors to get the sun and air so much on cold, damp days, and that tends to render them more susceptible to common co—"
"Respiratory infections," I amended. "These colds are respiratory infections, certainly," the specialist agreed, for I had summoned him in consultation on the case, hadn't I?—"but I think we must consider unfavorable weather conditions as predisposing causes," he sideswiped as we passed.

The moral of this story is that obsessions die hard. The specialist in sisted on dragging in the weather:

to advance and stand still at the same time.

Few people realize that such diseases as appendicitis, valvular heart disease, acute multiple arthritis (inflammatory rheumatism, rheumatic fever, articular rheuamtism) and menengitis are commonly the complications or sequels of trifiling ailments wrongly called "colds." Although colon bacillus infection from the intestinal tract itself is the most frequent cause of acute appendicitis, pneumococcus infection from the throat or nose is a close second—often the young person develops the appendicitis before the sore throat, tonsilitis or coryza is entirely over. When the versatile streptococcus happens to be the responsible germ, the alleged "cold" is more likely to prove nothing more than a mere local disturbance excited by the invading germs which soon reach the heart valves, joint cavities or brain cavity as the case may be. These so-called "simple colds" are a prolific source of work for specialists and surgeons as well as family doctors. A good many of us would have to close up shop and find other work if people did not adehere to the superstition that respiratory troubles are caused by cold, wet or exposure.

It will require some twenty years yet

If you have a severe cough or chest cold accompanied with sore ness, throat tickle, hoarseness, or difficult breathing, or if your child wakes up during the night with croup and you want quick help try this reliable old home-made cough remedy. Any druggist can supply you with 2½ ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a 16-oz. bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup. Or you can use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup, if desired. This recipe makes 16 ounces of really remarkable cough remedy. It tastes good, and in spite of its low cost, it can be depended upon to give quick and lasting relief.

You can feel this take hold of a cough in a way that means business. It hosens and raises the phlegm, stops throat tickle and soothes and heals the irritated membranes that line the throat and bronchial tubes with such promptness, ease and certainty that it is really astonishing. Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and is probably the best known means of overcoming severe coughs, throat and chest colds. There are many worthless imitations of this mixture. To avoid disappointment, ask for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions and don't accept anything else. When questioned by Judge Charles A. Western Ontario Bowling League Is Likely Again

Plans Are Out To Take in Six Cities This Year-Get Early Start.

The Western Ontario Bowling League will again be in operation this year, if plans under consideration come to fruition. Brantford and St. Thomas are fairly certain prospects and probably three more cities will be added this year, making a six-team circuit.

The games last year had a big following in the cities of the league, and it is believed that a still better circuit can be built up this year.

Such a league is an inspiration for the city leagues and other circuits in each of the cittes interested, as it develops the best talent there is in bowling and puts it on display.

An earlier start would be made this year and organization will be effected by the middle of November as a result.

HYMANS GO AFTER McCALLUM BOWLING TROPHY IN DECEMBER

The Hyman ten-pinners have been accepted as challengers for the Mc-Callum Cup, at present held in Toronto, and emblematic of the highest honors in bowling.

The city representatives in the Western Ontario League journeyed down last winter after the silverware, and lost out after a close session. Hymans are confident that with some of the breaks, they can lift the trophy. The exact date of play has not been aunounced, but it will be in December.

The contract will be formally signed tomorrow. Under the terms as agreed upon today, the pugilists will meet some time between February 1 and July 1, 1921. They box between ten and fifteen rounds.

The number of rounds, the place of battle and the exact date are subject to discussion of the promoters, who are to inform the principals at least 60 days before the contest. Each fighter receives a 25 per cent right in the moving picture profits, the other 50 per cent going to the promoters.

The bout will be conducted by Tex Rickard, Charles Cochrane of London and William A, Brady, the latter representing Cochrane's interests. The contract was agreed to after a long conference today, at which were present the joint promoters, Jack Kearns, manager of Jack Dempsey, and Francois Descamps, manager of Carpentier, and four lawyers representing the various interests involved.

In the 2-year-old division of the "However, that is not the worst, if it were only the spectators who find our present game unsatisfactory, and if the players were really content, I should say nothing. But what do we find? We find that the present game is not played for pleasure, and the proof of that is that no one plays it when the scheduled games are over. One has only to compare it with hockey, which is played as long as there is ice, to see the difference.

"I submit, therefore, that the present game is condemned, and that what both players and spectators want is an open running, passing game with the ball changing hands as often as possible. In the game Saturday there were only two occasions on which the ball changed hands more than once during a play, and in each of these cases a misplay resulted, which perhaps was because it is considered an unsafe style of play and is not practiced.

What les the Remedy?

"What them is the remedy? Not to tinker at our present rules. We have been doing that for 20 years—perhaps 40 for all I know—and getting deeper and deeper into the slough of close play, deadly uninteresting to everyone.

"Tinkering to my mind is no good, because there are two basic reasons responsible for our present featureless games, and unless we abolish them entirely we will not make any real improvement. I refer in the first place to our rule which allows possession of the ball, or, to speak more accurately, allows the side holding the ball when it is dead to put it into Mr. Gibbons, of Berlin, N. Capt. Haines, governor of the prison, testified briefly. He was not questioned on behalf of the family.

Dr. Griffiths, the senior medical officer of the prison, said he began attending MacSwiney September 1. "He was then weak and had certain signs of tuberculosis in the chest," added the physician. Than Pre-War Figures Canadian Markets Affected by Slump in Cattle Prices and by Lower Prices in the American Buying Points.

The heaviest reductions in hog prices hat have taken place in some time were nade on the market today, and are a direct result of the lower quotations prevailing in the American markets. The big drop was not unexpected, as conditions have been most unsettled for some days.

The lower prices caused a good deal of comment among farmers and the opinion was expressed that if prices were not reduced in the Canadian markets there would be heavy shipments into the country from American points, as American shippers would be gainers not only by the higher prices here, but also by the exchange.

One buyer declared that the market is a re badly demoralized than it has been in five years. Hogs are now cheaper than before the war. The first step in the reductio: was the slump in

The New Quotations.

Today's quotations may be lowered again before long.

Fat sows, which have been selling at again before long.
Fat sows, which have been selling at $14 per cwt. for the past month, dropped to $12.75 per cwt. Dressed hogs also came down, and sold for $25 per cwt. They were in active demand, but officials say they will be scarce the remainder of the week.

Choice veal, weighing from 100 to 125 pounds, was slow and prices fell to $24 and $25 per cwt. Veal, weighing from $5 to 100 pounds, brought from $22 to $24 per cwt. It is thought that all prices of meats will be lower before the end of the week.

Oats being scarce and in good demand, the price went up 10c per cwt., and now only one quotation, $1.90 per cwt., is paid. One load of the poor grade sold for $1.80 per cwt. The bushel price is 64%c.

Chicago, Oct. 27.—Fresh advances in the price of wheat took place today on general buying, which was chiefly ascribed to notice taken of the farm strike and to yesterday's large export business. Rainy weather, which might further retard rural deliveries, was also apparently a bullish influence. In this connection, attention was drawn to the fact that the stock of wheat in Chicago totaled only 700,000 bushels, and that today's receipts here were meagre, about 20 cars. Opening prices, which varied from unchanged figures to 1½ higher, were followed by substantial gains all around, and then something of a reaction.

SELLING LIQUOR

Edward Grant Is Principal in Unsavory Police Court

Edward Grant of 316 Talbot street was fined $500 and costs in police court this morning, when he was found guilty of selling liquor without a license. Ready, a companion, was charged with a similar offence, but the case was dismissed when it was proved that the same liquor was involved in the two Conviction came after a long story re-was laid against Grant and Mrs. Ready following the arrest of Duncan Black on the night of October 19. He was found to have liquor in his possession after leaving Grant's home.

Black told the court that he had come into London in the afternoon. Early in the evening he approached a taxi-cab driver on Richmond street and asked him to take him some place where he could have a time. As a result of the request Black was driven to Grant's house, where Agnes Ready was induced to come for a ride.

Got a Bottle.

He and Mrs. Ready were driven to the Asylum side road, and then back. On the way home Mrs. Ready said she probably could secure a bottle if Black cared for one, so following the suggestion they picked up Grant. While driving to London South Black paid Grant $7. Arriving on Chester street, Grant got out of the car, and while it was turning around farther up the street, went into a house and returned with a bottle.

The four in the car, including the driver, had drinks from a glass produced by Mrs. Ready. Black said that after getting out of the car he thought is would be a good idea if he secured a little of the whiskey for the morning, so he went back to the house on Talbot street and secured some in a medicine glass.

John McKinnon, the taxi driver corroborated to some extent the evidence given by Black. He swore that Black was not drunk when he engaged the car and apparently knew what he was doing.

Cop Was Watching.

P. C. George A. Tomblin, who arrested Black, said that he had been watching Grant's house from the rear. As it was only a two-roomed house, he could see right through to the front. At 11:30 he saw Black return to the house and secure the small bottle of liquor which was filled for him by Mrs. Ready He followed Black to the street, wher which was filled for him by Mrs. Ready. He followed Black to the street, where he searched him. Agnes Ready tried to prove that Black brought the liquor with him when he first called for her. She swore from a bottle which Black produ them. They drove to Grant's nade a call. On the way back to the city Black again produced the bottle city Black again produced the bottle and they all had a drink. When Black came back to the house she gave him a small bottle of his own liquor. In the car Grant changed a $10 bill for Black on request.

Denied Selling.

Edward Grant denied selling liquor on that night or at any time. He admitted changing a ten-dollar bill for Black, but said he did it so Grant could pay a bill he owed. He was under the Black, but said he did it so Grant could pay a bill he owed. He was under the impression that Black passed something to Mrs. Ready. The magistrate asked Grant if he gave Mrs. Ready the black eye which she suffered from. He didn't The magistrate said he had no doubt regarding the gullt of Grant. He said that the prisoner deserved no sympathy

Story of the Crime.

Learn took possession of the farm owned by Mrs. Helmer in August, 1919, by written agreement of lease, he declared. The lease was signed by Mary Ann Helmer, mother of accused. Learn occupled the place from August, 1919, to April last, when the prisoner approached him to go on the farm and work the place. The evidence will disclose a verbal bargain made so that the prisoner and his wife would occupy a portion of the house, rent free, to leave when told to do so by Learn. Certain fields were to be sown and the crops reaped on equal shares. The prisoner moved in and up to the date of the tragedy made his home there.

Shortly after this the evidence will show that things did not go very well between the parties. The prisoner expressed di. atisfaction and said that he would get rid of Learn off the place. Later the crown will show that the prisoner became more and more uneasy and that he sent to his mother at Sparta for a copy of the lease held by Learn. On July 12 last he took it to John S. Abel, police magistrate, to ascertain if Learn could be gotten off the place.

EDWARD JOHNSON, THE GREAT TENOR, CANADA'S OWN CARUSO, AT THE GRAND TONIGHT.

A fine tribute to the art of Edward Johnson, the American tenor, is reprinted from the Chicago American. This is a review of his appearance as soloist with the Chicago Orchestra, written by Herman Devries. He says: "The name of Cleofonte Campanini occurs first in my thoughts before this review of the program given by the Chicago Symphony. For it is due to that always expert and dependable discrimination, now unhappliy lost to us forever, that Edward Johnson is here in Chicago, and was so available as soloist yesterday with the orchestra. "Mr. Johnson's appearance greated the same furore as when he made his Chicago debut a few weeks ago in Fedora. No tenor except Jean De Reske has ever afforded me quite the same pleasure given by Mr. Johnson in his two songs from the 'Mastersingers.' His patrician methods, his beautiful smoothness of tone, his artistry and engaging personal appeal remind me of the great Jean.

"Beside the Wagner numbers, the tenor was heard in Durante's 'Vergin tutto amor.' Gasara's 'Useriar were not of the ordinary kind. Within a year or two his name was prominent in oratorio circles, but he yearned for the opera stage, and when an opportunity to make money came in the form of an offer to create the hero's role in "The Waltz Dream," Johnson seized it. The salary was most substantial, and he saved it month after month while the company toured the country. And then he resigned and slipped quietly to Italy for real study. Two years later, as Eduardo Giovanni, he was the foremost tenor at La Scala.

The chorus of the Gallo English Opera Company was rated as one of the finest ever to appear on tour. Yet in San Francisco, California, where the critics saw and heard both the Gallo English Opera Company chorus and later the chorus of the Royal English Opera Company, the newer organization was given the preference.

There are thirty-five trained male and female voices in the Royal English Opera Company chorus, and according to Max Bendix, the conductor for John J. MacArthur and Laurance A. Lambert, there is not one member of the organization who could not step out on a moment's notice and sing a principal roie without rehearsal.

"The chorus is our especial pride," says Bendix. "Everyone knows our principals, and they need no word of praise and after we have appeared in a city everyone knows about our chorus. It is a treat to hear it, and I his great love on her heart, and when Pierre appeared, asking, for forgiveness, it was his, and they sought happiness again back in the land of lonely mountains and vast plains.

One of the most beautiful overtures the Allen orchestra has presented in many weeks is their offering of Rubenstien's "Kamenoi Ostrow." The delightful Christie comedy provides a laugh to every scene, and there are many very interesting news items in the Allen Canadian News.
