HOUSE OF Commons, Ottawa, April 7.—Whatever interest Western Ontario members displayed in the question of lifting the cattle embargo it was learned today, arises primarily from the fact that most of them are farmers, and as a consequence are vitally interested in the questions closest home.

It will be with a buoyant spirit that they hear today, in press dispatches from England, that it is within probability that the cattle embargo will be lifted.

John L. Stansell today declared that he was very much in doubt as to the efficacy of sending an envoy such as Hon. Manning Doherty to England, since while the Ontario minister of agriculture would be capable, yet he is handicapped by the fact that his representations in England would be discounted by the fact that he is only a provincial cabinet minister.

Mr. Stansell points out that those in England who could bring influence to bear on the situation are not as likely to listen to a provincial ambassador or plenipotentiary, or whatever the Ontario minister of agriculture would style himself when making such a trip, on account of the fact that he does not represent Canada federally.

Though it would be hard to credit the present attention the cattle embargo on Canadian cattle is receiving in the British House of Commons to the importunities of the new government in Canada, yet perhaps those at Westminster, who are talking of the matter have been moved to action by the fact that it has been published that the Canadian government intends to pursue the problem to a conclusion, through P. C. Larkin, Canadian high commissioner.

This is a problem that has been long a mooted one, and it is of intense interest to the Ontario farmer. There seems to be a common sentiment amongst the various parties to the question should be pursued by the Canadian government.

BECAUSE of the resolution of Hance Logan regarding British preference and Canadian preference, the discussion of which has occupied the House, the inquiry of the leader of the Opposition, concerning whether the government proposed to introduce legislation for the redistribution of the seats of the House of Parliament has not yet come up.

The question will be the answer given, and the further questions which may follow. At present there is no indication that the redistribution will take place this session. Truth to state little time is expected to be left for the accommodation of much legislation after the midsummer vacation is on.

No one has been clamoring for redistribution. During the debate on the speech from the throne, when everything was taken in from the task of preserving spots of historical interest, to oblige the redistribution was not mentioned. Not a word was heard of it.

Even during the election campaign nothing was heard of it from the two parties to any extent. But now if the leader of the Opposition has his way it may become a live issue. It is said that redistribution would mean no change in the Ontario number of seats, and as it can never change the representation of Quebec why then is it of so much account? It may work a considerable change in the western provinces, but the revision of the seats, according to the population which would counter-balance this.

IF MEMBERS talked as candidly in the House as they do in the corridors at times there would be some worth-while views put in. A group of Progressives, with a smattering of Liberals, when this view was given: "I can't see for the life of me why they have such a squad of these police in Ottawa. The organization here, I believe, is called a flying squad, or something like that, and are supposed to be on tap in case anything goes wrong. The only reason I ever see them doing is when they fly around the streets for a while in the morning exercising their horses."

UNUSUAL STORIES ABOUT UNUSUAL PEOPLE

CANTON, China, April 7.—Dr. Charles K. Edmunds, president of the Canton Christian College, is asking to 400,000,000 people!

He's trying to teach the whole Chinese nation to drink milk and eat milk products.

That's a new thing for China. Dairy cattle are unknown here. A Chinese baby, when weaned, goes on a rice diet. If its mother dies, milk of the sow, mare or goat sustains it.

Edmunds has established a dairy at the college here. The provincial government is paying a subsidy to aid the spread of the industry.

MAYOR WILSON AGAIN ORDERS SECRET SESSION

Press Excluded From Salary Committee Parley.

CUT FROM BOTTOM UP

Laborers and Garbage Collectors First To Contribute To $41,000 Slash.

The special salary committee of the city council held another "star chamber" session Friday morning.

A representative of The London Advertiser was told by Mayor Cameron Wilson that the meeting was another of his "secret sessions" and that the press was, therefore, not welcome.

Ald. W. J. Ashton said he had no objection to the press being present, and Ald. L. Dauglas could see no reason why the press should not attend. It was stated after the meeting that a full report of the meeting would have caused injury to no one.

Mayor Wilson replied that there had been too much "stuff that was wrong" published about salary cuts already.

"Why," asked Ald. Douglas, and adding, "because the press is not admitted to the meeting, and they must surmise what we are doing."

He moved that the press be allowed to remain, but his motion was ignored.

Ald. Childs promised that the press would be informed after the meeting just what had been done, but was informed that this was a promise frequently made to the press but rarely kept.

And though the committee sat until nearly 1 o'clock, the sum total of the business transacted, was nothing more than to reiterate what had already been decided by the council, that the $41,000 must be cut from the estimates somewhere, as it is out of the tax rate for the year.

Heads of departments reported that they were unable to make the decision of the council and could make the adjustments. They will go ahead and frame them. It is said that their plans are to reduce staffs and increase working hours and otherwise pare estimates.

In the meantime, while the committee pondered so, another branch of the outside staff has been cut. The first cut came upon the poorest paid workers of the city, the laborers.

Now the garbage collectors have been cut.

It was pay day yesterday for the garbage men and the wage cut came upon them as a thunderbolt. When their pay envelopes were handed out to them, they found that there had been a reduction in each.

"Well did you discuss anything that was not fit to print?" one of the members of the special committee was asked after the secret session broke up.

"Nothing. There was not a matter brought up that could not have been published, or that would have injured anyone in anyway," was the alderman's reply.

WILLIAMS HEADS ONTARIO POLICE

Toronto, April 7.—Major General Victor A. S. Williams, at present general officer commanding Military District No. 2, has been appointed superintendent of the provincial police for Ontario, succeeding Major General H. M. Elliott, whose appointment for Ontario expired today.

General Williams is a prominent and popular Toronto military officer and at one time commanded the Royal Canadian Dragoons. He served with distinction in the South African war, and in the recent great war. In the latter he was taken prisoner by the Germans early in the campaign. It is understood here that General Williams will take over his new duties immediately.

Bathe Genoa In Paint For Economic Conference

GENOA, April 7.—Turpentine is in the air everywhere along the Italian Riviera, from Genoa to Rapallo. Its odor even dominates the perfume of the spring flowers and fruit blossoms.

Genoa and its environs have been given a bath of fresh paint in preparation for the opening next week of the economic conference. The Russian soviet delegates got smeared with white when they entered the immaculate and freshly painted imperial palace hotel, and the foreigners in all the neighboring resorts and hotels, as well as in Genoa, are hunting the dry cleaners.

3 PASSENGERS, PILOTS AND ONE MECHANIC DEAD

British Machine, Which Hit French Airplane, in Use Only Three Days.

COLLIDE IN MIDAIR

Five of Victims Were Dead When Inhabitants of Village Arrive At Scene.

Paris, April 7.—The Paris and London aerial express collided in mid-air this afternoon over the village of Phisloy, 70 miles north of Paris.

The pilot of both airplanes, three passengers and one mechanic were killed in the wreckage that fell flaming to the ground.

The French airplane, piloted by Aviator Mire, aided by a mechanic, was carrying three passengers. It left Le Bourget, in the environs of Paris, at noon, for London.

The British airplane, which left Croydon, in the London area, this morning, carried mail and was manned only by a pilot.

The British machine, piloted by Aviator Duke, had only been in use for three days on the express route. It belonged to a new company operating a Paris-London service.

Five persons from the machines were led when inhabitants of the village of Thieulieu arrived on the scene, shortly after the crash, and the sixth victim was dying.

Find Body of Teacher Floating in Thames

THAMESVILLE, April 7.—Among the reeds at the edge of the River Thames, about a mile distant from the village, was found at 10 o'clock this morning the body of Miss Martina Causgrove, a highly respected resident of this county. It was estimated that she had been extinct for several hours.

Formerly teaching at the Blythwood school, Miss Causgrove was compelled by acute illness to discontinue her duties. After a time she returned to her home here. Yesterday she was reported as becoming gradually worse.

Toward evening she attained a delirious state, and evading her friends, contrived to escape from the house. Her disappearance was first noted about 8:30 p.m.

A careful search was instituted late last night and again this morning.

LIVING IS DOWN IN NEW ZEALAND

LONDON, April 7.—(Canadian Press Cable).—Reuters' Wellington correspondent cables that the New Zealand arbitration court announced that its examination of the cost of living statistics for the past six months shows a reduction in prices warranting the withdrawal of five shillings of the weekly wages and bonuses hitherto authorized by the government, the total reduction per worker being 13s a week. Increases in this amount were made when the cost of living was at its height.

ISSUE WRITS FOR BY-ELECTION.

Regina, April 7.—Writs were issued yesterday for a by-election in the provincial constituency necessitated by the appointment of Col. J. A. Cross to attorney-general in the new Dunning administration. Nomination day is set for April 25, and the election one week later, on May 2.

Laud Education As Key To All Reformation

By RUSSELL T. BOYD.

"To men looked out through prison bars;
One saw mud, the other stars."

THIS, however, was in the days when punishment was regarded by penitentiary officials as the best road to reformation. Today none of the inmates dread the fight they must make to re-establish themselves in society, for under the present system they are fitted while in prison to wage the battle for success when the prison gates close behind them and they are once more on the great outside.

Education, prison officials find, is the key to all reformation. Today moving picture entertainments and books play an important part in elevating a criminal to the plane society demands he must attain, to become a "respectable citizen."

No longer are men treated as machines in the six penitentiaries in Canada. Efforts are made to study each inmate individually. Officials have come to realize that to treat a man as a machine in the name of discipline is the surest way to fail to get results. Physical force can check various forms of evil, but they now admit it usually renders them more intense and permanent.

Only good influences, it has been proven, can overcome social or moral evils. However, despite the many advantages, penitentiary inmates are always longing for their freedom. Remission is awarded monthly to prisoners who are well behaved and refused to those who do not show good behavior.

The parole system is not on such a fair basis. Often inmates whose conduct has been bad are released on parole, while others whose conduct is exemplary gain liberty only at the expiration of their sentence. This has been the main cause of dissatisfaction among the prisoners.

Want Parole Boards. Area parole boards have been recommended on numerous occasions as the only means of insuring fair treatment for all the inmates. These boards and area parole officers should work in conjunction with the trial judge. Then only those officials who are in constant touch with the prisoners and competent to judge them would be able to grant their release.

Perhaps the highest need of the man who graduates from penitentiaries is a helping hand when they take their first step into the world of free men again. The Salvation Army is doing much of this work, but individuals are slow to act.

There are 1,277 penitentiaries in Canada—Dorchester, St. Vincent de Paul, Kingston, Manitoba, Saskatchewan and British Columbia. Prior to 1920 there were seven, but the one in Alberta was abolished. On March 31, 1921, the population of the six penitentiaries was 2,150. Of this number 1,277 were Canadians, 244 from the British Isles, 199 Americans, 108 Austrians and 83 Russians.

Of the total population at that time, 239 were under 20 years old and 969 between 20 years old and 30 years old. During a recent visit he made to one of the penitentiaries, 197 inmates asked to see the superintendent. Among these men were 164 graduates of reformatories, one having had eight convictions registered against him, several five, and one-third of the number had been in the reformatory system in reforming age from 17 to 25. Lack of proper home training, the carrying of revolvers, evenings spent in cheap moving picture shows, petty thieving and joy-riding in stolen autos were the main reasons for their start in a life of crime. All of them were intelligent and had never taken anything seriously, and had no respect for law or order and little regard for rules or regulations.

The superintendent of penitentiaries has repeatedly recommended the provision of a proper institution for the segregation and classification of prisoners who are not of a vicious type. Such an institution was under construction in 1896 but was never completed.

Conviction Costs $1,200. Records show that the average cost of a conviction in Canada is $1,200. When the cost of maintaining the convict in prison, the discharge expenses and return railway fare are added to this, it brings the total cost to the country to $2,800. Much has been done already to lead the prisoners to a better life. One educated inmate who has been serving a long term, which is now almost expired, has written an article on his experiences in and impressions of a penitentiary, closes with the following paragraph:

"When I shall write 'Finish' to this I know not. Some day in the future, how near or how far off that day is I cannot say, but it will be a day of gladness and rejoicing for me. When I do leave I can honestly say, without fear or favor, that this prison today is 100 per cent better than it was when I entered it nearly nine years ago. Out of doubt and confusion have been brought certainty and order; out of darkness and shadow have issued sunlight and substance; out of the mud and mire of the dark ages, where deceit, sneakism and hypocrisy went hand in hand, is rising manliness, straightforwardness and honesty. Education is taking the place of ignorance; cleanliness of mind and body instead of immorality and filth."

Another prisoner stated: "When I came to prison I did not know anything. I am going home with a fair education, am an expert blacksmith, and also a good shoemaker, having been taught both these trades in the penitentiary. I would not take $15,000 for what has been done for me while serving sentence."

In some communities attempts have been made to trace the "criminal wave" to parole prisoners. This wave is not the case. Only a very small percentage of the paroled men have had to be returned to prison because they committed crimes while on probation.

"The ability and strength of character found even among those supposedly lost to society when given a chance on their honor, especially those who respond so magnificently on probation, demonstrate to an unbelieving person the utility of the parole system, although there are those who object to a man ever having even a chance to make good after a fall," Mr. Archibald declared.

Not From Prisons. "The criminal ranks of today are not being recruited from our prisons but they are the by-product of our social life and social conditions. Every community is producing just the number of criminals they deserve to have. The lack of home training. Turn to Page 19, Column 6.

Judge To Decide If Dame Fashion May Attend Knobel School

CORNING, Ark., April 6.—Whether the school board of Knobel has the right to prevent young women from following the dictates of fashion was argued here tonight in circuit court in the case of Miss Pearl Puseley against the board. Judge W. W. Bandy said that he would announce his decision within a week on Miss Puseley's plea for a writ of mandamus to set aside an order of the board barring students from attending classes if they used rouge, face powder or cosmetics, or wore short skirts and peek-a-boo waists.

GALLI-CURCI IS THIEVES' VICTIM

Prima Donna, Recently Heard in London, Loses Gems Valued at $45,000.

SUSPECT TWO WOMEN

Singer Created Furore When Loss of Diamond Articles Discovered.

Los Angeles, April 7.—Victim of two fashionably dressed and daring women diamond thieves, Madame Amelita Galli-Curci, noted opera singer, who captivated London, Ontario, with her vocal art last November, was robbed of jewels valued at $45,000 in a cafe in San Juan Capistrano late Thursday, according to telephone reports to Detective Captain David L. Adams, of Los Angeles police.

Swooning into a chair, the singer collapsed, but soon recovered from the shock, and told of having placed the jewel case on a table while she was washing her hands.

Husband 'Phoned Police. Homer Samuels, husband of the song bird, telephoned to police here, describing the jewels and asked a search be made for the women diamond thieves, who were seen in the dressing-room at the cafe at the time the jewels were taken.

The report to police said the jewel case contained a solitary diamond ring, platinum set with a large gem and valued at several thousand dollars; a diamond bracelet set with 10 gems, each stone weighing 2 1/2 carats, and numerous ornaments prized by the singer, some of them gifts of royal families of Europe and other notables.

According to Samuels, he and his wife were in the dressing-room at the time the jewels were taken.

Referring to the report of a coming conference, the correspondent confirms that nothing has been done, Mr. Griffith saying he is wholly unaware of a conference. Nevertheless the correspondent believes that certain non-political persons are trying to bring it about, but thinks it would be without result unless Roderick O'Connor and other leaders of the Republican youths take a part.

WOMEN BURN NEWSPAPERS. Belfast, April 7.—Three women armed with revolvers, left the train at Dunfargley road today, held up officials and burned the bundles of newspapers from Belfast. They then re-entered the train, which resumed its journey.

WORLD NEWS CUT SHORT

PARIS, April 6.—A bunch of twelve cherries from a hothouse in a Paris suburb was sold this morning at the central market for $51, being at the rate of $1.25 a cherry.

VIENNA, April 6.—On the ground that since the Wohnungsamt (which is supposed to assign all flats in Vienna to worthy applicants, but hardly ever does) went to the palace of the Archduke Eugene, the floors, walls, doors and furniture have been grossly maltreated, the owners have ejected this extremely unpopular department.

There are more than 20,000 applicants for "homes" on the waiting list.

JOHANNESBURG, April 6.—Two men who went down the Wit Deep mine, of which the miners have gone on strike, were welcomed by a small army of rats, which swarmed over them and foraged in their pockets for food. The rats act as mine scavengers.

What little the men had was soon devoured, but a little later some food was thrown down to them.

PEKING, April 6.—Chinese shipping companies having government protection from pirates who have been seizing and looting vessels, have armed their ships and placed guards on board.

This measure has been taken since a band of 30 pirates disguised as missionaries imprisoned the crew of the Kwang-lee a day's sail from Hong Kong last December, and looted the vessel and all on board of valuables estimated at $200,000.

PARIS, April 6.—When a visitor outside the Louvre XVI apartments at the Chateau de Versailles accused a doorman of admitting privileged tourists out of their turn, a throng of waiting tourists took sides in the quarrel and a free fight with fists went on for several minutes, until attendants separated them.

BERLIN, April 6.—A plague of flies and an outbreak of epidemic disease in Berlin is expected as soon as the weather becomes warmer, on account of the filthy condition of the city.

The dustmen, who are in the employ of the landlords, and not of the corporation, have been on strike for more than two months, and in consequence huge quantities of decaying kitchen refuse are piled up in the courtyards of the houses. The landlords refuse to give the men the advance in wages they demand, and the health of the population of the city is therefore endangered.

In the poorer parts of Berlin the stink of refuse is particularly bad, and there is already a plague of rats.

BERLIN, April 6.—A German officer named Hensel, was sentenced to six months imprisonment yesterday for stealing army horses.

He had been employed after the war in the work of disposing of army horses, and finding that a fellow-officer was about to be prosecuted for the recovery of betting debts, he arranged with him

URGE HOME RULE FOR TWO NATIONS

Politicians Favor Autonomy For Scotland and Wales As Apart From England.

DRAFT SCHEME AS BASIS

Claim Lloyd George Has Hinted He Would Be Favorable To Measure.

London, April 6.—The birth of the Irish Free State has led to renewed talk in some quarters of "home rule all around," that is, autonomy for Scotland and Wales as apart from England proper.

Home rule for Wales has already entered the range of practical politics, says an article in the Pall Mall Gazette.

Hitherto there have been among Welsh politicians two schools of thought. One has urged the setting up of the office of the secretary for Scotland, so that Welsh administration may first be disentangled from English affairs; the other favoring a comprehensive home rule scheme without any preliminaries.

Prime Minister Lloyd George, himself a Welshman, has hinted that he would look with favor on a comprehensive home rule measure.

This prompted the Welsh National party at Westminster, composed of all the Welsh members of the House of Commons, to draft and adopt a home rule scheme as the basis of a measure to be introduced in Parliament at the earliest opportunity.

This has, in turn, fired the Scottish members, who, at a party meeting, have appointed a committee to confer with the Welsh members with a view to joint action.

Under the Welsh plan, the Imperial Parliament would reserve its powers on questions affecting the crown, peace and war, foreign affairs, regulation of trade and industrial legislation and postal and other communications.

To a Welsh parliament would go control of local government, education, judiciary, agriculture and internal commerce. Restoration of the ancient office and title of lord president of Wales is proposed.

To save the Welsh rural areas from domination by the great industrial population of the south, the Welsh Parliament would include an upper house, consisting of two representatives of each county and county borough and two from the National University of Wales.

There is some opposition to the plan even in Wales, but the proposals come nearer to meeting the aspirations of moderate nationalists than anything that has hitherto been advanced. Though there is likelihood of immediate legislation, belief among the Welsh members that the principle is within sight of a parliament in Cardiff is firm and general.

SMALLMAN & INGRAM LIMITED

WILL IMPROVE FAIR GROUNDS

Directors To Call Tenders For Erection of Subway
For Pedestrians.

GOVERNMENT CUTS GRANT

Fare and One-Third Rates
Will Prevail for Exhibition,
September 9 to 19.

That a subway should be built at the north end of the new steel grandstand solely for the use of pedestrians was the decision arrived at when the board of directors of the Western Fair Association met on Thursday afternoon.

The object is to avoid congestion and to provide passageway more particularly for occupants of automobiles, who have hitherto found difficulty in approaching the grandstand. Tenders for the subway are to be called for immediately.

It was announced also from the department of agriculture, Ottawa, that the government grants to fair boards would this year be decreased by 50 per cent. Thus London will get only $2,500 instead of the usual $5,000, but the directors declare their intention of carrying on with no decrease in prize lists, but will attempt to curtail expenditure in some other department.

Many Recommendations.

A number of recommendations from sub-committees were brought before the board and were passed upon. A live stock superintendent will be appointed to look after the interests of stock exhibitors during the fair. A suitable place in the fair ring will be prepared for light horses of the jumping classes, and jumping rings will be placed near the stock barns for heavyweights horses. Last year it was necessary to provide tents at the last moment to care for an overflow of stock, but acting on a request from a sub-committee, the board have decided to erect a smaller building, in which the cattle horses to provide for this contingency. At the request of the committee on swine and sheep, there will be an opening from Campbell street into the new grounds annexed last year, to be used for purposes of loading only.

Another important request granted by the board was that a rule be placed in the prize list forbidding any exhibitor to sub-let his space.

The grounds and building committee were empowered to provide new roofing for the grandstand, some of the horse barns and poultry and machinery buildings, and to paint the benches in the dog building.

At the request of the art committee, the interior of the art exhibit building will be re-decorated before the fall fair. Protection will also be provided from dust for the dining halls beneath the grandstand.

Word has been received by the board from the Canadian Passenger Association that fare and one-third rates will prevail as usual this year, and the dates will be from Saturday, Sept. 9, until Tuesday, Sept. 19, for reduced rates.

The revised prize list will be in the hands of the printers at the beginning of next week.

DEAN FOX IS ELECTED TO ROYAL SOCIETY OF CANADA

Western University Professor Widely Known As Student Of Classical Archaeology.

By reason of the fact that he has made a decided contribution to Canadian culture in his work in classical archaeology, Dean Fox of Western University has been appointed a member of the Royal Society of Canada, a society which has as its members men who have distinguished themselves in the literature of English literature, history, archaeology and sociology, either by the publication of books or contributions to these arts in some other manner.

The society was founded in 1822 by the Marquis de Lorne, and elected to it is granted only to the favored few who possess sufficient ability to qualify.

The honor thus conferred upon Dean Fox reflects not only upon himself, but upon the university and the city of London. The dean has long been well-known as a student of the classics, having in 1916 published a large and comprehensive volume dealing with the mythology of Greece and Rome, which was intended as the first of a series covering the mythology of all ages. In addition to being the author of this book, Dean Fox has also been a frequent contributor to such magazines as the American Journal of Philology and the American Journal of Semitic Languages and Literature.

UTILITIES GET "PRAISEFUL" NOTE

A word of commendation is naturally welcomed by any person, more especially at a time "when a fellow needs a friend." While scores of hydro consumers made frantic complaints during and since the recent storm, one citizen at least undertook to pen a letter to the public utilities commission lauding the departmental heads and their staffs for their "herculean efforts" to restore service under adverse conditions.

This communication was formally presented to the dumbfounded but pleased commissioners Thursday, and Jared Vining, chairman, expressed the belief that the same be framed and hung in the marble halls of the utility building, to be viewed by future generations. "It is so seldom," he commented, "that we receive a letter of this nature."

FIRST METHODIST RECITAL IS DECIDED SUCCESS

Orchestral Program Supplemented By Local Artists Pleases Large Audience.

Well-known London artists helped in making the recital at the First Methodist Church on Thursday evening a decided success.

The First Methodist Orchestra, under the direction of Wilfred Short, commenced the program with a stirring selection, "The War March of the Chieftains," and during the evening rendered a number of overtures of both a popular and classical nature, among which were "Chu Chin Chow," "The Maid of the Mountains," "The King of Diamonds" and the overture to "The Rose Tree." In the last-mentioned number the cornet solo player, Wilton Robinson was particularly fine.

Mrs. W. H. R. Smith, who supplied in place of Mrs. F. Brickenden, received her usual enthusiastic ovation from the audience, giving a number of very enjoyable readings.

"Romance," a violin solo by Miss Cora Brennan, was one of the most popular numbers on the program, and Miss Elsie Kennedy, a favorite soloist of London music-lovers, provided a rare treat in her songs.

Miss Lenore Coughlin was another violinist whose work proved most enjoyable.

Charles E. Percy played the accompaniments to the solos.

FIX PROGRAM FOR VICE-REGAL PARTY

Lord and Lady Byng Will Be Met at G. T. R. Station by Mayor and Civic Deputation.

WILL ATTEND BANQUETS

Official Address of Welcome Will Be Presented at Victoria Park—
Other Ceremonies.

When Lord and Lady Byng arrive in London on Saturday, April 15, their appointments will extend over a six-hour period, according to a program arranged Thursday afternoon by the committee composed of various bodies for submission to the governor-general.

The principal events of the day will be the civic reception, the turning of the first sod for the new Western University, a visit to various institutions, and a dinner at night.

Their excellencies will arrive via the Grand Trunk Railway at 2 o'clock. At the depot, Mayor Wilson and a civic deputation, with a band, and guard of honor, will receive the vice-regal party. After an inspection of the guard by Lord Byng, the party will journey to Victoria Park, weather permitting, and if not, to the armories. Then an official address of welcome will be presented, the Boy Scouts, and possibly the veterans, inspected, and, at the request of the governor-general, as many citizens as possible will be present.

The ceremonies at the park will finish at around 3:15, and immediately after the party will leave via Richmond street for the new university site. Following the turning of the first sod there, the party will return, by the same route, to the new Children's Hospital. Here a tea is being arranged by the Victorian Order of Nurses and the hospital committee, and a stay of about one hour is contemplated. The Girl Guides will form a guard of honor at the hospital. Westminster Military Hospital and Byron Sanatorium will be visited.

Gen. Panet and his staff will tender a dinner to Lord Byng at 8 o'clock, and the Local Council of Women will get in touch with Lady Byng to request her to be their guest at a dinner at the same time.

Two bands are to be used during the visit. One will attend at the G. T. R. depot, and when the party leaves there, the musicians will go to the new university site. The second band will attend at the park, and when the party leaves that point for the new university site, it will go to the Children's Hospital.

May Inspect Veterans.
Col. Seaborn states that on Friday and Saturday, April 14 and 15, No. 10 Military Hospital veterans were staging a reunion in the city, and on Saturday night will hold a reception at the new Medical School building. Lord Byng will be asked to make a call, and if this cannot be arranged, the unit may parade to the Victoria Park, and be presented during the stop there.

Gen. Panet says it is understood that their excellencies will leave the city Saturday night. They plan to spend a quiet Sunday somewhere along the line, resting up.

James Gray, headed a deputation of merchants, who stated that on account of the stores being closed on Friday, the merchants felt that they could not close their shops Saturday afternoon. They stated, however, that they would decorate their places of business.

The tentative program of the day: Civic reception, Victoria Park, from arrival to 3:15; Western University, east turning, 3:30 to 3:45; Children's Hospital, 4 to 4:45; Westminster Hospital, 5 o'clock; Byron Sanatorium, 6 o'clock; Dinner by Gen. Panet's staff, 8 o'clock; for Lord Byng; Dinner by Local Council of Women to Lady Byng.

OBJECT TO LONDON MAN'S STATEMENT IN TORONTO

Utilities Officials Say Mr. Daly Gave Wrong Information Regarding Municipal Coal Yard In Address.

Officials of the local utilities commission take exception to the reported statement in Toronto Thursday by J. M. Daly, of this city, president of the Canadian Retail Coal Association, that "London had dropped $6,000 in coal months with a municipal coal yard."

That London possessed a civic coal and wood department for a period of four years and not eight months is the contention of those of the public utilities commission who were connected with that body at the time.

They explain that the overhead expense was too great for such a small undertaking. The yard was primarily a war measure, they point out, and a considerable amount of the coal and wood was utilized for relief purposes. As an instance it was recalled that wood was sold at $10 a cord, which was cut and brought to the city at an expense of $40 or $50 a cord.

ASHTON EXPLAINS PRESENT POSITION

Explaining that the wrong impression has gone abroad, Ald. John Ashton, one of London's representatives on the city council, in a statement Friday morning, stated that while he has resigned from the London branch of the Canadian Labor Party, he has not as yet resigned from the Trades and Labor Council.

It is announced further by officers of the Street Railwaymen's Union that Mr. Ashton has resigned from the executive board of that organization.

Thirty-seven years ago today, April 7, the 7th Regiment left London on its toilsome journey to the banks of the Saskatchewan to aid in quelling the Riel rebellion.

By train, the 7th reached Fort William, and it was from there the weary stages of the march began. They were obliged to cross the ice of Lake Superior on foot during a period of the coldest weather. Reaching Clarke's Crossing, the regiment was detained, so that by the time the Saskatchewan had been reached the backbone of the rebellion was broken.

However, the 7th was not without casualties. It suffered during the final stages of the fighting, and the long weary march to the scene of the rebellion.

Although death has already claimed not a few of the officers who were with the 7th at Clarke's Crossing, still a number are active and prominent in city life: Col. Garthshore, F. H. Butler, J. K. H. Pope, A. M. Smith, Geo. M. Reid, A. Campbell, and others.

$1,000 Already Spent Clearing Up Storm Haze, Reports Parks
Chairman.

Mayor Cameron Wilson suggested it might be possible to raise the necessary sum by public subscription. This proposal, however, the mayor admitted that the work will have to be undertaken, and it is expected that the city council will be provided for in next year's estimates.

A resolution of appreciation and acceptance was voted ex-Mayor J. H. A. Beattie for his donation of a portion of land sloping down toward Thames Park from the Wortley road. This will permit the commissioners to clear the road access to the park from the Wortley road.

MAKE PRESENTATIONS TO PASTOR AND HIS WIFE

Members of Chelsea Green Presbyterian Church Entertain Rev. Mr. Nicol and Mrs. Nicol.

Members and friends of Chelsea Green Presbyterian Church met at the home of Rev. P. E. Nicol, their former pastor, on Wednesday evening, and participated in an enjoyable social and musical evening.

Mr. Charles Jackson, accompanied by Mrs. Jackson, rendered several songs.

During the evening, Mr. J. S. Lindsay, on behalf of the congregation, addressed Mr. and Mrs. Nicol, and referred to the disappointment caused by the breaking down in health of Mr. Nicol, which obliged him to give up active work in the ministry.

Mr. Lindsay assured both Mr. and Mrs. Nicol of the respect and esteem which they held in the hearts of all the Chelsea Green folks, and wished them both the best of health and prosperity in the years to come.

Mr. J. Payne, on behalf of the congregation, presented Mr. Nicol with a gold-mounted umbrella, suitably inscribed.

Mrs. Durbin presented Mrs. Nicol with a cut glass fruit bowl.

Mr. and Mrs. Nicol expressed their appreciation, also their regrets, at being compelled to give up the work in Chelsea Green, but were confident that in the near future bright days were in store for Chelsea Green Presbyterian Church.

THOSE FAILING TO MAKE TAX RETURNS WARNED

List Includes London Citizens Who Are Subject To Prosecution Under Act.

The taxation department at Ottawa has sent instructions to George Tambling, inspector of taxation for London district regarding the prosecution of certain persons who have not yet complied with the law in respect to filing their income tax returns. Citizens of London, Chatham and Woodstock are included in the list.

Everyone who is to be summoned should know about it," said Mr. Tambling, because they have been sent to prison on this office, and also through Ottawa, that they would be liable to prosecution if they did not send in their return sheet promptly. If after a reasonable length of time they have not sent in their returns after they had been warned, Ottawa will notify me, and I will have to instruct my local agents to serve the affidavits.

"The fine prescribed by law is $25 for every day they are behind, but we are not after the fines. We want the people to comply with the law in regard to this matter. We will take any reasonable excuse for not sending in their returns promptly, but we will not tolerate negligence."

FILTRATION PLANT DOES WORK WELL

The initial report respecting the city's new filtering plant, Hogon street, was submitted to the regular meeting of the public utilities commission Thursday, revealing the fact that aeration of the city's well water gives a fluid soft and absolutely free from mineral and sulphur odors. Equally satisfactory was the report concerning the new well under course of completion in East London.

This well has been guaranteed by the Ohio well diggers to yield 1,000,000 gallons daily.

UNION HEAD TALKS ON WAGE QUESTION

Grand President of Canadian Railway Brotherhood Is Opposed to

CANTATA IS FEATURE OF METHODIST CHOR CONCERT

Mrs. Fred Schofield Acts As Soloist—
Other Numbers Are Rendered Effectively.

A genuine treat was afforded at the concert presented by the Askin Street Methodist choir Thursday evening, with Miss Vera McLean, contralto, of Toronto, as the visiting artist. The feature number of the program was the cantata, "St. Cecilia's Day," by the choir, with Mrs. Fred Schofield as soloist. Mrs. Schofield's art is always welcomed by London audiences, and was heard to special advantage in the solo parts.

Miss McLean is possessed of a rich contralto voice, wonderfully mellow, and splendidly controlled, and her numbers were much appreciated.

Three numbers were given by Miss Campbell, soprano, and Miss Gillis, contralto, whose voices blend delightfully, producing perfect harmony.

Solo numbers by Mr. A. C. McCullough, baritone, and Mr. Ballantyne, tenor, completed the program.

RAIL BROTHERHOOD HEAD TO ADDRESS MEETING HERE

Subjects Will Probably Include Pending Negotiations With Grand Trunk Company.

A. R. Mosher, president of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees, and Organizer W. J. McPherson will be in London on April 10 to address a mass meeting of the Grand Trunk Railway employees in the I. O. F. Hall, King and Richmond streets.

Mr. Mosher is visiting all the cities in Western Ontario, being at Toronto on Wednesday night, Hamilton on Thursday night, and St. Thomas tonight. It is not known what subject Mr. Mosher will speak on, but it is thought that it will concern the pending negotiations between the union and the company.

The Canadian organization, which includes clerks, freight handlers, station employees, shop laborers, express men, maintenance-of-way men, coal men, stationary firemen and engineers, has grown rapidly during the last year, and candidates are being initiated at every meeting. Six men were initiated last Monday evening.

SHOWS PROGRESS IN ORGAN MAKING

Charles E. Wheeler Says Greek Barber Was First to Introduce Mechanical Means.

PEDALS USED IN 1470

St. Dunstan Constructed and Installed
First Instrument of Kind in England in 1000 A.D.

"The early history of the organ, and every other musical instrument, is shrouded in fables and myths," said Chas. E. Wheeler, F. C. C. O., and organist of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, in his illustrated lecture on "The Evolution of the Organ" in the public library last evening.

This was one of a series of lectures held under the auspices of Western University in connection with their extension course.

Mr. Wheeler opened his address by tracing the origin of the organ from the earliest Greek times and concluded by describing the largest organs of modern times.

The word organ originated from the Greek word "organa," which means a musical instrument of any kind," said he.

"A simple reed pipe was the first musical instrument used by ancient peoples, and Rev. Denny Bright, of the Greek God Pan using an instrument of six reed pipes, of different lengths fastened together. A Greek barber invented a sort of organ with a windmill attached to supply the air. This was about 200 B. C., and was one of the first attempts to supply air by mechanical means."

Used Lead Pipes.
"At Venice, in 822 A.D., an hydraulic organ with leaden pipes was installed, but did not have a very good tone. In this period the best organs were said to be made in France and Germany."

"Saint Dunstan, who was famed for his work in metals, constructed an organ in Marlborough Abbey, England, about 1000 A.D. This organ had brass pipes, and in the eleventh century one at Winchester had 24 bellows."

"The positive organ of the 16th century was a very small affair and usually accompanied the choir, hence it got the name 'choir organ.' The monks and friars, zealous guardians of the arts in the middle ages were by this time making great strides in improving the organ."

"Pedals were first introduced from 1470 to 1480 by a German named Bernard, and this was the first step toward controlling the tone of an organ. One of the most beautiful of the earlier models was used in Strasbourg, Germany, in 1616. The blower mounted a ladder and stepped on a small elevator. The man's weight caused the elevator to descend and this worked the bellows."

Decorated Instruments.
"The keys of these models were very wide and the letters were marked thereon. A great deal of care was taken and a large amount of money spent on the exterior of these organs. The exterior pipes were usually gilded and some of the fancier ones even had painted on them angels, represented as flapping their wings, revolving stars, crowing roosters, and such like."

"The progress of the organ in England received a setback on account of religious and political upheavals, and in 1643 most of these instruments were destroyed."

A slide was shown of the largest organ in the world, which is in Independence Hall, Philadelphia. This was installed by William Curtiss, the publisher, and has 186 speaking stops. Slides were also shown of the second largest in the world, which is in the largest store, Philadelphia, and also of the largest organ in Canada, in St. Paul's Cathedral, Toronto.

Teachers Give Addresses
ON NUMBER OF TOPICS

Care and Progress of Children Dwelt
On at Boyle Memorial Mothers' Club Meeting.

The meeting of the Boyle Memorial Mothers' Club, Thursday evening, took the form of a round table talk under the direction of the teachers of the school.

A program of short addresses was arranged, which proved interesting to the mothers. Miss McGill, art teacher, spoke of the work being done along this line, and displayed excellent samples of the pupils' work, which the mothers examined.

The Bird Club, in connection with the school, was explained by Miss Stevenson, who told of the keen interest shown by the children in the birds. Miss Grant talked on agriculture and gardening as it is taught in city schools.

Hygiene was the subject chosen by Miss Kingsborough and Miss Carson, whose addresses concluded the program. The former dealt with the subject in connection with the care of the teeth, while Miss Carson spoke of the necessity of cleanliness among the school children, and asked for the co-operation of the mothers.

Supper and a social hour followed, which was also under the supervision of the teachers. A vote of thanks was given by the mothers, expressing their appreciation of the entertainment which had been provided.

A donation of a hen and several dozen of eggs has been made to the shelter by the mothers of the club.

J. W. CUNLIFFE, handling the affairs of the housing commission, states that he has disposed of four of the houses, besides making innumerable other adjustments. One house remains on Madison avenue, Pine Lawn, to sell, and it will be disposed of this week. The commission has still 39 houses on its hands to sell, 17 at Pine Lawn and 13 on Garfield avenue. The latter are the more costly structures.

REVIEWS STATUS OF YOUNG CHILD

The pre-school age of the child was the subject of an interesting address given by Miss Grant at the meeting of the Lorne Avenue Mothers' Club Thursday evening, in which she dwelt chiefly on the child in the kindergarten.

In order to augment the club funds, it was decided to hold a rummage sale April 26. An announcement was made by the president, Mrs. Thomas Clift, that one of the mothers had donated a hen and fifteen dozen eggs to the Ronald Gray Home. A program followed, including solos by Miss Fritsch and Miss Bonnie Banks, and a supper served by the mothers concluded the meeting.

ETIMAR CLUB WINS ALL ITS DEBATING CONTESTS

Very Rev. Dean Tucker Presents Cup to Victorious Team in Inter-Church League.

In the final debate of the Inter-Church Debating League the Etimar Club defeated the Dundas Street Nikator team on the subject, "Resolved, That Private Ownership of Railways Is Preferable to Government Ownership." The Etimar's taking the negative side. The winning team consisted of Fred Beatty, Lindsay Scott and Dave Finlayson, while Frank Clark, Gerald Howie and Cal. McMillan represented the Nikators.

The judges were unanimous in their decision and Rev. Denny Bright, chairman of the judges' committee, which consisted of three members from each club, criticized each team freely.

Very Rev. Dean Tucker presented the cup to the Etimar Club, congratulating them for having won every debate in which they took part. Following the debate the Etimar Club won additional laure

GRAND VAUDEVILLE OF HIGH STANDARD

Russian Dancing Duo Captivate Audience With Grace of Act and Charm of Scenery.

"Chivalrous Charlie" Features
Eugene O'Brien in One of Best Releases Seen Here.

For the last half of the week, the management of the Grand Theatre is presenting a bill, which at its first appearance, Thursday evening, proved to be of the usual high standard set by this playhouse.

Following a Charlie Chaplin comedy, which provoked the usual storms of applause, the vaudeville opened with a decidedly novel turn, "The Russian Dancing Duo, Nick and Lolla." In addition to the fact that both members of the team are dancers of marked ability, the fairer member does some excellent toe-dancing and there is rhythmic grace and charm of scenery and costume which makes the act one of the best yet seen at the Grand Theatre.

Palmer and Huston present some snappy patter and Frazer and Mack are seen in an original musical offering. This latter pair vary their act with a comic strain which is entirely laughable and well worth seeing.

Jim Curry does some soft shoe dancing, embellishing an act which is always a favorite with clever dancing on a bass drum.

Stunts by five cleverly trained goats, in which an exhibition of cleverness was mingled with some good laughs, completes an extremely well balanced vaudeville program. The feature picture of the evening, "Chivalrous Charlie," presents Eugene O'Brien not only as the stalwart hero of thrilling drama, but as a comedian of the truly humorous variety.

Filled with tales of the knights of old and striving to pattern his life after the model handed down to history by Sir Galahad and Walter Raleigh, Charlie Reilly on his arrival home from the west, immediately becomes entangled in a series of romantic escapades, which one after the other land our hero in the night court, with a threat of six months "on the island" hanging over his head.

How he manages to evade the penalty and win himself a wife is revealed in the ensuing reels.

An exciting motor chase, a race by land and sea and desperate flight over tenement roofs and above all a fight in which the handsome Eugene shows himself the possessor of no mean left—all these help the modern Sir Galahad on his career until he finally arrives safely to the dainty little lady whom his valorous exploits have won him.

"Chivalrous Charlie" is one of O'Brien's best releases and action lags not a moment from beginning to end.

JAILED 6 MONTHS ON O. T. A. CHARGE

Charles Bell Protests His Innocence,
But Draws Conviction on Officers' Evidence.

CLAIMS HE WAS "FRAMED"

Port Stanley Carter Testifies Prisoner Was at Lakeside on Day of Sale.

Charles Bell, one of the best-known members of London's colored population, although stoutly maintaining that he had never sold any government officers liquor on March 29 last, was sentenced to six months in the common jail by Magistrate Graydon Thursday afternoon.

"I am sorry, Bell, that I have to do this," observed the court.

"I'm sorry, too, your honor; I'll have to take the six," said Charlie, with a grin.

"Well, you take it in good spirit, anyway," said Mr. Graydon. Officers Webb and Blundell said they went to Bell's home on March 26, but Charles would not sell them any whiskey. On March 29 they had better luck, they said, paying Bell $8 for a bottle at his home, 506 Neilson street.

"I paid Bell with a $10 bill," said Webb, "and just as we were driving away in a taxi, Bell ran out and asked if he hadn't given me a $5 and a $1 in mistake for two $1 bills."

I looked and found out that he had, and we fixed it up."

Never Opened Door.

"I see that there bird over there scowling at one of the officers," "The one I mean is the one that has sworn to all the lies. He came to my house on Monday with Mickey McCullough, but I never opened the door."

"Was he there on Wednesday, the 29th?" queried Mr. Judd, counsel for defence.

"What day was Wednesday?" countered Mr. Bell. "I don't know."

"Oh, yes, I was at Port Stanley that day, and I stayed overnight," said Bell. "They certainly didn't buy any liquor from me."

"Where do you keep your liquor now?" questioned A. R. Douglas, crown prosecutor.

"Right here," replied Charlie, pointing in the general direction of his throat. "That's the way it goes."

"That's where you've got it now," observed Mr. Douglas with a smile.

Was at Lakeside.

George Dennis, carter, of Port Stanley, said that Bell was at the lakeside on Wednesday afternoon, and that he had seen him again Thursday morning at 8 o'clock. He did not know if Bell had spent the night in Pollock's livery stable.

"Why not call your wife, Mr. Bell, to prove that you were away from home that night," suggested Mr. Douglas.

"I don't know that my wife was home that night," replied Bell. "I admit that I've been fined before—four times, coming to $1,100—but I'm certainly not guilty this time. I've sure been framed."

A young man, also defended by Albert Judd, had the case against him dismissed. He was charged with selling rum to the officers, but the magistrate stated that there was not enough evidence to convict him.

URGES TECHNICAL EDUCATION NEEDS

Inspector Gavin Addresses Forum
Meeting Called by St. Thomas Chamber of Commerce.

EXPLAINS NEW SYSTEM

Cites Success of Correspondence Schools as Evidence of Popular Demand.

Special to London Advertiser. ST. THOMAS, April 6.—Before a gathering of the members of the local chamber of commerce, in a forum meeting, Thursday night, E. P. Gavin, inspector of technical schools in Ontario, described the need of greater facilities for technical education in this country to prepare the boy for his chosen profession in the working world.

Mr. Gavin's speech and one by Dr. Voaden, principal of the Collegiate Institute in this city, were the first shots in a campaign to prepare the way for the erection of a technical school in this city, in accordance with the plans long matured by the board of education through the vocational advisory committee.

The provincial inspector explained fully all that had been accomplished in perfecting a system of technical education during the past year and of the wonders which he claimed had been accomplished by advancing the school age.

The doctor, lawyer, dentist and other professional men had in the past been given the preference in all secondary school work, said Mr. Gavin. A change was now demanded and the technical school act and the adolescent act were offered as a remedy.

The boy of 14 was not wanted in any industrial plant owing to his not being mature physically, and having no sense of responsibility. As a result he went to work and became a laborer with no future, unless he purchased his education from some correspondence school; thus private enterprise capitalized the demand of the people who were already paying for educational facilities and not getting them.

He said that he knew of one agent for a correspondence school in a town about the size of St. Thomas, who sold in one year, no less than $70,000 in scholarships for a correspondence school. Only a small percentage ever were completed.

In early days, business colleges had come into existence as a result of the demand for business education, classes introduced in a collegiate to teach commercial work had met with opposition as a result.

Dr. Voaden spoke on "The Need of a Mechanical School in Our City." He outlined the plan of the advisory vocational committee and explained the type of school which the board proposed to build. Dr. Voaden referred to the crowded condition of the Collegiate Institute, and offered the proposed Technical School as an immediate remedy of intolerable conditions.

Offer of Government.

The speakers explained in full the offer of the government to bear a portion of the cost of building, the equipment and the salaries of the teachers. They believed it would be a splendid stroke of business for St. Thomas to take advantage of the offer, and urged that the acceptance be not delayed.

Rev. Perry Dobson spoke briefly on the plans for renovating Alma College this summer.

A splendid program of music and adolescent act were offered as a

KITCHENER WATER RATES INCREASE

Commission Finds Advance Necessary on Account of Street Extensions.

Daughter of George Hammon Is Severely Bitten by Dog, While at Play.

Special to London Advertiser.

KITCHENER, April 6.—Kitchener water rates have been increased by the local commission, according to announcement made by Superintendent Pequegnat today, owing to the fact that the extensions which are being made to the Strange street section of the system will add heavy debentures to the regular cost of operation. This makes necessary a uniform increase in the rates over the entire system, in order to place the commission in a position to clear the debentures as they come due. The increased rate is so small that it will not be noticeable in an onerous degree.

The statement was given out at the county buildings here today that the county property committee of the county council have decided to erect a new laundry building in connection with the House of Refuge, as the old laundry building has been inadequate for some time. The new building will be 50 by 30, and will be constructed of solid brick. It will provide the institution with an up-to-date laundry.

Kitchener is to have a new financial institution in the Chartered Trust and Executor Company of Toronto. Announcement was made today that the company would open an office here about May 1st.

At a meeting of the executive of the Kitchener Regiment Band here this afternoon it was decided to fix the date for the annual tattoo of the band for July 14. Extensive preparations are now under way to make the affair the best in the history of the popular organization.

While playing at the house of a friend, the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Hammon of Albert street, Waterloo, was severely bitten by a dog. The animal was playing with the child at the time, when without warning it sprang at its little playmate, biting her savagely under the left eye. It is not expected that any serious complications will set in.

WILL ISSUE DEBENTURES

Guelph City Council Passes Bylaw
For $320,000 Expenditure.

Special to London Advertiser.

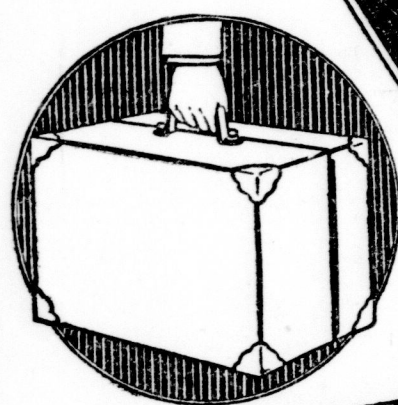

GUELPH, April 6.—The city council at a special meeting held tonight passed a bylaw to provide for the issuing of City of Guelph debentures to the amount of $320,000 for the erection of a combined collegiate institute and vocational school, which is to be built here in a year. Immediately following the council meeting the building committee of the board of education met to deal with tenders for the new school, but after a lengthy session it was decided to leave the tenders over for further consideration at another meeting to be held in the near future. Twenty tenders in all were received.

Critics Good and Bad.

WHEN THE Hon. Geo. P. GRAM brought in his bill to try and bring the House of Commons to simplify the present system of defence, and to co-ordinate several departments for the sake of bringing about some measure of relief to the ratepayers of the Dominion, it was interesting to notice the style and character of the criticism that came from the opposition side of the house.

The late minister of militia, Hon. HUGH GUTHRIE, and the late premier both took prominent part in the debate. In the main it would appear that the member for South Wellington had started out with the idea of giving some measure of approval to the bill. With the exception of the suggestion that the mounted police should retain its identity as a force for the administration of civil law, he could find no place to lodge a complaint. The trend of his remarks, to the layman, would appear to have been directed to proving that there was little room for reorganization, and to point out why the present minister could not go ahead and make the progress that he desired.

The ex-premier, in his criticism, went far afield in order to try and justify the actions of the late government. He demonstrated, as he does every time he takes the floor, that he has not yet realized that the late government has ceased to exist, and that it needs no justification or condemnation on the floor of the house. The people dealt most effectively with that organization. Very little of what Mr. GRAM had to say had a direct bearing on the subject under consideration.

The Hon. T. A. CULVER makes a much better impression. He took up the question and talked business. He approved of the idea of the minister of militia, but suggested that the time might be ripe for considering whether the mounted police had not served its day and generation with the exception of looking after the districts that were not policed in any other way. His criticism was helpful and constructive, and the minister of militia would be assisted by what he had to say. There was a marked difference between the spirit of the leader of the opposition and the leader of the Progressives.

The U. S. Invasion.

SEVERAL attacks have recently been made in British papers on the government of Canada for the treatment that the British investor has received from the Canadian government on the Grand Trunk deal. Some Canadian papers have replied in effect that if Britain can stand this kind of talk, Canada can do the same. It is not sufficient that the matter should be allowed to pass in this way. There is money in Britain for investment purposes, and Canada needs to get the confidence of the investors of that country if the operations here in future are going to have the financial backing from a friendly source that they should have.

A glance over the figures that have been issued by the trade and commerce department show that American capital is gaining a grip on the industrial life of this country that is not appreciated by many, probably for the reason that they have never taken the trouble to go through the figures. Recent announcements tend to show that British capital is available for investment in Germany, South America, Mexico, Asia, and even in United States.

One is not surprised to learn that the motor car industry is largely in American hands. Of its capital 61 per cent is American, 39 per cent Canadian, not a dollar British. Motor car accessories is 93 per cent American.

It is more surprising to learn that the large and indigenous meat packing industry was 41 per cent owned in the United States. The proportion today is larger.

In the rubber industry 50 per cent of the stocks and bonds representing ownership is American, 40 per cent Canadian, 2 per cent British, 8 per cent other countries.

In railway car construction 54 per cent is American, 46 per cent Canadian.

In petroleum refining 53.1 per cent is American, 46.7 per cent Canadian; one-fifth of 1 per cent British.

In lumbering, oldest, most natural and most profitable of Canadian industries, Canadians retain only 61 per cent, Americans hold 27 per cent, and British 11 per cent.

In pulp and paper concerns Canadians own 63 per cent, Americans 24 per cent, British 4, and other countries 4.

In electrical apparatus 49 per cent is American, 36 per cent Canadian, 12 per cent British, 3 per cent other countries.

And so on through the whole list. One estimate is that there is from $700,000,000 to $800,000,000 of American capital invested in Canadian industry. Some might put the figure at an even billion.

The chances are that there has been an increase in many of the figures, as it is almost two years since the work of compilation was undertaken, and since that many other American firms have located branches in Canada.

Why Kiwanis Clubs Promote Amity

The free trader, or the very low tariff man is apt to base some of his arguments on this showing. He will ask of what benefit is it to build up industries in this country in order that dividends may be ground out for invisible American capitalists? Of course, were the subject approached in that light, the same question might be put to the investment of British or even Canadian money in these projects. Of course, the reply to the former is that the coming of some 600 American firms to Canada has been the means of building up large industrial areas, and providing a great deal of employment. But here, again, the progressive reasoner will probably tell you that this form of development is putting the cart before the horse, and that Canada is in need of a policy that will develop the great basic industries of this country rather than add to the crowded urban centers which have an increasing problem every winter in knowing what to do with the people that are crowded together within their limits.

Whatever value the arguments one way or another may have, the bare facts have to be faced, and they show that the weight of money for development and manufacturing purposes in Canada is being furnished by United States, and the tendency is increasing rather than decreasing.

Literary Sundae.

REFERENCE was made in these columns a few days ago to the fact that patrons of the public library in Wingham, like the patrons of similar institutions elsewhere, were reading too much fiction, in proportion to the other matter.

The Wingham Times, in this connection, believes that "THE ADVERTISER is a trifle hard upon that great mass of the public which, in its desire for light, and let us grant, legitimate entertainment, turns to the chocolate sundae or the cream puffs of literature rather than to the roast beef and plum pudding diet of heavier reading." It also holds that people living in the strenuous days of the present need this form of relaxation.

Well, perhaps. But, after all, are we living in much more strenuous times than those who went before us? There is always a tendency to speak of the "good old days," and to imagine that all the folks had to do then was get up in the morning and wander around in the woods for a while, and then come in and find dinner ready. In the afternoon all they had to do was to wait for a wild duck to come and light on the kitchen steps and die in time for supper.

As a matter of fact, and we believe the Wingham scribe would admit it, we are going a little too heavy on the cream puffs and the chocolate sundae of literature. He knows what happens when a person takes to this diet exclusively for any length of time. He becomes rather pudgy, his chest slides down into his lap, he can qualify as a first-rate lounge lizard and nothing else. Let the reader clean up on the roast beef and the plum pudding now and then and he will feel that he must get out and work it off. True, his mind can wander to the cream puffs and the jim-jams now and then with no harm to himself, and perhaps with some benefit.

But, say now, honest to goodness, don't you think we're heaving just a bit heavy on the cream puffs and the sundae when it comes to reading?

LITTLE 'TISERS

They do tell that the man who gets a good reception at Ottawa is he who, after breaking in on a minister, looks him square in the eyes and says: "I'm not down here asking for anything." Such visitors be rather scarce.

A couple of attacks were made on the mounted police in the house at Ottawa for the way they have at various times handled certain cases. And yet it is a fact that the man who minds his own business seldom has the mounted police or any other kind of police after him.

READ YOUR CHARACTER

[By Digby Phillips.]

NO. 182—THE DROOPERS.
Here is another striking example of the fact that characterology is really nothing more than common-sense observation of human nature—the same sort of thing that we all practice instinctively, in greater or less degree, in forming our opinions of others. And the greater the number of your years, the more you will appreciate this statement.

You've often met people of the drooping type. They're a distinct class, with their bowed heads, their round shoulders. Physically they are all slumped down. You don't need any characterologist to tell you that they also droop mentally, that you can't expect much fight or optimism from them. You see, physical signs actually do betray the state and character of the mind. The drooper could not better advertise his or her hopeless meekness and lack of backbone by a sign worn around the neck.

The droopers are the despairers, the members of the self-pity brigade. And as in the case of the "flopper," their attitude either is the result of the cause, or both, of their mental states. If you want to do a great work of humanity, pick out a drooper and conduct a steady campaign to make him or her straighten up, square the shoulders and stand erect. Those postures do not go with a drooping mind, and unless the case of the drooper has gone too far, or health prevents the cultivation of the habit of erectness, you'll be surprised at the way the element of hope and "pep" will gradually come back into that mind.

Question—What are "Canadian Clubs?"
Answer—Canadian Clubs have been formed in practically every city in Canada. Weekly luncheon meetings are held, addressed by leaders of various kinds. It is national and non-political in its form.

At a meeting of those interested in baseball the following directors were elected for the coming season in Strathroy: L. H. Smith, J. W. Pringle, L. H. Dampier, J. H. Lee, E. Rowland, R. Wilhelm, T. P. Hughes, J. F. Taylor, M. Rapley, James Woods, Dr. Whitehead, R. F. Richardson, James Cox, Dr. Berdan, George Ashwell, W. T. Gunn, D. Evans, J. Newton, Dr. McCabe, J. H. McIntosh, T. E. Pearce, T. W. Tanner, R. J. Avery, John Barry, R. M. Plunkem, Frank Harrison, Col. Irwin, H. B. Brittain, J. Noble and C. E. German.

An athletic society in connection with the Strathroy Collegiate Institute was organized last Tuesday. The officers of the society are as follows: President, J. F. Howard; vice-president, Miss S. A. Gubbins; secretary, P. C. Taylor; treasurer, Miss M. E. Hill. The executive committee consists of F. K. Lenfestey, J. F. Howard, L. A. Howard, Miss Cook, John Cook, Miss L. B. Ray and A. E. Clarke.

The Arion Literary Club met last night at the home of Miss Munson, Stanley street. Miss Brenton gave an essay on Longfellow's "Moriturus Salutamus," and Miss McEvoy, editor-in-chief of the club paper "Chat," presented an editorial that was excellent. A quotation match was another interesting feature of the program. Misses Croden and Munson were the leaders of the opposing sides, and Miss Munson's side gained the greater honors.

A meeting of bicyclists was held last evening at the rooms of the London Bicycle Club. President H. C. McBride laid before the meeting a program for the excursion to Toronto on Good Friday, when the annual C. W. A. meeting will be held. The reception committee consists of the following representatives of the London Bicycle Club: Dr. George C. Davis, C. W. Davis, Ald. S. Stevely, H. C. McBride, Dr. Balfour, D. Mills, A. White, A. Kingsmill and others.

At the regular meeting of the London West Council last night some important items were brought up. Rev. Mr. Sage, Mrs. Boomer (president of the National Council of Women) and Mrs. Gahan appeared before the council with a petition requesting that a tax be imposed on all vendors of cigarettes. The following names appeared on the petition: G. B. Sage, B. Clements, W. T. Brown, J. Rogers, Wm. Wilson, W. H. Liddicoat, John Platt, Thos. Glover, H. Bernard, Samuel Gibson, Chas. Paul, Robert Kennedy, Chas. P. Heal, R. S. Rockett, C. C. Jolly, J. D. Saunby, A. Currie and Wm. Gibson.

The Philharmonic Club of Detroit, assisted by Miss Maude Fowler and Miss Edith Hartson gave a first-class concert at the auditorium last night. The club is composed of Mr. Yunk, first violin; Herbert Breuckner, second violin; Frank Resche, viola, and H. Heberlein, violoncello. Concerted pieces by Haydn and Beethoven were given by Mr. Heberlein and Mr. Yunk. Misses Hartson and Fowler sang a duet. Mr. J. W. Featherston arranged the concert.

The Public Library board met last night. Mr. Egan presided, and Messrs. C. E. Keene, T. Macbeth, E. Weld, R. H. Dignan and R. Reid and Librarian Blackwell were also present.

Such candies should be sucked, and not crushed by the teeth.

If hard candies such as those named are eaten, a small amount of candy solution is continuously flowing into the stomach where it is readily handled.

On the other hand, if soft candies are eaten, there is a tendency to consume a much larger quantity, with the result that the stomach is burdened with a larger quantity of a much thicker sugar solution that is decidedly more difficult to take care of.

We can save the bowel and the stomach much extra labor if we eat hard candy and see that the children do the same.

LEGAL QUERIES

Sir—Kindly publish in The Advertiser the answer to the following question: Who should hold the deed of a property when there is a mortgage on the property? Recently I had occasion to get a loan, and the loan company asked for the deed to make out the mortgage, and have not returned it.

Answer.—The mortgagee or his solicitor.

Dear Sir—Will you please answer the following question: What is the duty on leather goods entering England from Canada? Listowel, Ont.

Answer.—There is no duty on leather goods entering England from Canada, but there are certain dumping restrictions, and also restrictions pertaining to the quality of the leather. The latter restriction comes under the pure food act.—Editor.

Choice Meals

Government Inspected

Every ounce of meat that goes into Victory Canned Products—

Is rigidly inspected by a corps of Dominion Government inspectors, appointed by the Department of Agriculture in order that Victory Canned Products will be absolutely pure, wholesome, of the highest quality and canned in a sanitary manner.

These inspectors are on duty every minute during the operation of the plant, and every process from the beginning to the finished product in the can comes under the critical scrutiny of a corps of veterinarians and other experts.

Inspection like this costs us more, but protects the health of your family, and is your insurance of sound product manufactured under sanitary conditions.

If you want to be sure of that kind of protection, insist upon Victory Canned Products.

FIND FAMILY STARVING IN WEST LORNE HOVEL

Constable Arresting Mother on a Theft Charge Discovers Pitiable Conditions.

WEST LORNE, April 6.—Conditions so wretched that one would hardly dream they could exist in a district so rich and populous as Western Ontario were revealed in a home just west of this village, when the mother, Mrs. Annie Grovier, was tried and found guilty by Squire Hunt on a charge of breaking and entering the home of Mr. Clark, a neighbor, and stealing a quantity of groceries and meat.

The conditions under which the family was living were described by Constable Robinson. The officer told the court that he had found the Groviers living in a tumble-down shack, hardly fit for swine. Peter Grovier, the husband, is a helpless cripple, and there is also an imbecile daughter. The only fault that the unfortunate family had was what little Mrs. Grovier could pick up around the fences. Their clothing was almost reduced to rags, and the food they had been able to secure had barely kept them alive.

The squire found the poor woman guilty, and then ordered the authorities to look after the case immediately and have the family removed to the County House of Industry.

"Don't send all your money to help the starving Russians, when you have such distressing cases as this at home," he told the people who attended the hearing.

Denied the Charge. Mrs. Grovier emphatically denied the charge, and no amount of cross-examining on the part of County Crown Attorney McCrimmon could make her admit that she had broken into the Clark home.

Mr. and Mrs. Clark were positive in their identification. They had been awakened about 1 o'clock in the morning by noise in the kitchen, and, lighting a lamp, they

BLENHHEIM ARBITRATORS FILE AWARD ON SCHOOLS

Special to London Advertiser.

BLENHHEIM, April 5.—Arbitrators Chas. Buchanan of Harwich, Clerk Wm. G. Smith of Erie Beach, and P. S. Inspector Rev. W. H. G. Colles have filed their award dividing the union school section, consisting of some 6,300 acres of South Harwich and south portion of Erie Beach village, into two sections. The division is about through the center. The lower portion includes the Erie Beach part and lands bordering on Lake Erie, including the Burk pumping scheme. This new section is to retain the former number 4; the upper section, which retains the school and premises, is to be known as number 19.

This upper section is to pay four equal yearly payments of $400 each to the lower section in lieu of all claims. The line between lots 3 and 4 was taken as the general division, with the exception that the Mary Brush quarter of lot 4, con. 4, W. C. R. goes to No. 4, and the N. H. Burk 25 acres, the Sam Burk 25 acres, lot 3, con. 3, W. C. R. and Wm. Holmes' 50 acres, lot 3, con. 2, W. C. R., remains in number 19.

The agitation for a division of the section has been of long standing, but until recently has been opposed by some ratepayers. It is said that no opposition was presented to the board. The former section was in length from the Ridge road to the limits of Erieau, and some children lived over three miles from the school house. Under the provisions of the school law the award does not come into full force and effect until Dec. 15.

CHOOSE NAME FOR NEW PARK IN GALT

Margaret Austin Wins $5 For Her Suggestion of the Word "Delta."

WERE 76 CONTESTANTS

Robert Jardine, Hespeler, Badly Scalded by Kettle of Water.

Special to London Advertiser.

GALT, April 6.—Out of 76 names suggested by the school children of the city for a name for a new park at the north end of the city, in a contest for a $5 prize, Delta was the choice of the parks commission, and Margaret Austin of Beverley street, a pupil at St. Mary's School, is the winner. The name chosen was considered appropriate, since the park is in the shape of a triangle at the junction of Water and Dundas streets, one of the leading entrances to the city.

Because of the great development of summer athletics, the parks commission is having trouble in providing playing field accommodation, and having secured an opportunity to increase the field in Lincoln Park, a stretch of level land adjoining it, 100 feet in width and 362 feet in length, is to be acquired from H. Gardiner at a price of $1,000 an acre.

Robert, the 11-months-old son of Alex. Jardine of William street, Hespeler, was badly scalded about the hands and body when he pulled a kettle of boiling water over himself. The child was wheeled into the kitchen in a buggy by his cousin and left standing near the stove.

William Ewart of 30 Rich avenue, a well-known citizen, who has been in ill-health for the past five years, succumbed this morning to an attack of the grippe, which he has been suffering from for the past two weeks.

THORNDAL

THORNDAL, April 6.—Rev. R. J. Bowen, district secretary of the Western Ontario Bible Society, will conduct union services in Thorndale Methodist Church on Sunday evening.

Special music will be rendered by a union choir. He will also preach at the South Presbyterian Church and Wyton Methodist Church.

The annual election of officers will be held in St. George's Anglican Church on Monday evening.

TO GIVE PICTURE TO LADY BYNG

St. Thomas Women Decide On Presentation of Token During Official Visit.

PAINTED BY LOCAL MAN

Illustration Depicts Crest of Mount St. Eloi in Flanders.

Special to London Advertiser.

ST. THOMAS, April 6.—So that her first visit to St. Thomas will long remain a pleasant memory, her Excellency Lady Byng of Vimy, will be presented with a beautiful painting of the crest of Mount St. Eloi of Flanders, by the various women organizations of this city, when with her husband, the governor-general of Canada, she is in this city on an official visit, April 17.

Token Taken Differed. The women of St. Thomas desired to give Lady Byng something that differed from tokens which she is sure to receive from places visited during her tour of Canada and they felt the gift should be something created in St. Thomas.

Many things were thought of, but in each case they were discarded as unsuitable until Miss E. Lewis of the Women's Council, remembered that in this city there was a young artist, Ross R. Osogood by name, who had served overseas and who since his return had painted many pictures of places made immortal by the deeds of the Canadian troops in France. Representatives from women societies in this city decided unanimously to purchase one of the pictures and through the Council of Women, present it to her ladyship.

The picture, it is believed, will make an ideal gift, not only in that it is a splendid piece of work, and that it was painted by a St. Thomas boy, who is also a returned soldier, but because it depicts a scene so well known to Lord Byng because of its proximity to his headquarters in France, and also because many of his gallant soldiers laid down their lives there in the great sacrifice.

Relieved of Harshness. The painting will not serve as a grim reminder of horrible warfare, for it has been relieved of all harshness, and bears but few battle scars. It depicts the scene as it must look with verdure once more grown over the torn ground, and with only the gaunt fingered towers of a ruined abbey pointing upward, and a few wooden crosses partly hidden in the shrubbery as a reminder of a one-time inferno torn by German shells. The picture measures nine by fourteen inches, and is framed in a magnificent gold creation. The colors of this painting blend beautifully, and the tones are soft. The abbey stands out imposing in white, the trees, shrubbery and grass, seem to have been touched with autumn's wand, while the background is grey and blue.

Accompanying the picture, which will be presented at the city's official reception, will be a brief address printed on art paper, decorated with small paintings of Vimy Ridge and St. Eloi, done by the artist of the picture.

HENSALL

Special to London Advertiser. HENSALL, April 6.—Mr. Fred G. Manns was called to Brantford on Tuesday owing to the death of his brother Gordon, who had been in ill health for some time, so that his death in middle life did not come as the shock it otherwise would have done. The deceased lived for many years here and had many friends who will regret to learn of his death.

Mrs. G. Brooks of Ottawa, through her agent, G. J. Sutherland of this village, has sold her fine dwelling property on Queen street, to Mr. W. Cooper, of near Kippure, who will in course of time, move into this fine dwelling property which for situation, with four fine lots, cannot well be surpassed, and we congratulate Mr. Cooper and family in securing this fine place.

Mrs. G. F. Scott, who spent over three months here with her sister, Mrs. J. Sutherland and family, has returned to Beachville and intends shortly going to Hamilton to spend the summer months with relatives and friends.

The annual event given under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid of Carmel Presbyterian Church, on Tuesday evening last, was well attended and a most enjoyable time spent. After the opening exercises the pastor, the Rev. J. A. McConnell, added greatly to the interest and enjoyment of the occasion by his lantern slide views of Bunyan's Pilgrim's Progress. Nearly one-half of this most interesting book was read, the first part by the pastor, followed by G. J. Sutherland and Miss Flossie Foss, and all the special points were shown on the canvas, so that not only the ears but the eyes were enabled to take in that most wonderful book or sketch, and after the lantern slide views a very interesting literary and musical program was carried out, consisting of a piano duet by Misses Foss and Sharpe, reading by Mrs. H. J. McDonald, a vocal duet by Mrs. J. A. McDonald and Miss Maude Porter, a piano solo by Miss Irene Douglas. Short addresses were given by the Rev. Mr. Naylor of St. Paul's Anglican Church, and Rev. W. Rivers of the Methodist Church and G. J. Sutherland. Mrs. Milne Rennie acted in her usually capable manner as accompanist and the ladies at the close of the program served a very dainty lunch, which was much enjoyed, and the Rev. Mr. McConnell filled the duties of chairman in his usually pleasing manner. The proceeds amounted to about $25.

PAPERS DEALING WITH SMALL CASE MISSING

Disappearance Causes Flurry in Police and Legal Circles.

TORONTO, April 6.—The disappearance of some papers said to contain valuable evidence in the A. J. Small mystery, from the office of Gideon Grant, K.C., solicitor for the Small sisters, has caused a wild flurry in police and legal circles, and may lead to an arrest and unexpected action in a new phase of the case.

Secrecy has surrounded the missing papers for some days past. They are said to have been missed from Mr. Grant's office a few days ago, and were then held, together with a mass of affidavits, statements and other evidence gathered from various channels on behalf of the sisters of the missing man, who have carried on a vigorous search for their brother. Mr. Grant has acted for the sisters and, it is understood, had placed together much of this data.

When the papers were missed it was first believed that they had been inadvertently mislaid, but a later search failed to disclose their whereabouts, and they are now believed lost to Mr. Grant.

Mr. Grant declines to discuss the matter at all, and ever refuses to confirm or deny the report.

In promoting mutual helpfulness, the Want Ads have never been equalled.

TELLS PAY OF G. T. P. OFFICERS

Minister of Railways Claims Howard Kelley Receives $50,000 As President.

GETS DIRECTOR'S FEES

Declares No Portion of Salaries Is Chargeable To Grand Trunk Pacific.

OTTAWA, April 6.—(By Canadian Press.)—The salary paid to Howard G. Kelley, as president of the Grand Trunk Railway Company, is $50,000 per annum. This salary is all chargeable to the Grand Trunk and subsidiary companies within the system.

No portion of the amount is chargeable to the Grand Trunk Pacific properties, and Mr. Kelley receives nothing whatever from those properties at the present time. Mr. Kelley also received $2,000 as a director's fee from the Grand Trunk Railway.

This information was given by the minister of railways in reply to W. F. Garland (Conservative, Carleton). The minister gave a list of 57 companies with which Mr. Kelley is connected, and which are controlled or operated by the Grand Trunk Railway Company; and stated that the only company from which Mr. Kelley received a salary, apart from the Grand Trunk Railway, is the Detroit and Toledo Shore Line Company. From this company he receives a salary as vice-president, of $2,500 per annum, but this he in return remits to the Grand Trunk Company of Canada.

The minister gave particulars as to the salaries paid to a number of other officers of the Grand Trunk. Frank Scott receives $18,000 per annum; W. H. Biggar, $20,000; W. D. Robb, $19,000; J. E. Dalrymple, $18,000; B. S. Locan, $14,000 per annum.

These amounts are all chargeable to the Grand Trunk Railway Company of Canada and component interests in the system, and no portion whatever is chargeable to the Grand Trunk Pacific property.

Give Tea Party
For Flower FundRyerson Girls Join Folkestone Children in Decorating Shorncliffe Graves.

Thursday afternoon the kindergarten room of the Ryerson School had a tea party, to which unusual significance and interest was attached.
The object was to raise money to send over to Folkestone, England, to be used on a certain day in May to buy flowers for the decoration of graves of Canadian soldiers in Shorncliffe Cemetery.

Each year in Folkestone the school children are given a half-holiday in May, when they troop out to the cemetery where the brave Canadians have been laid to rest, to offer their tributes of flowers. Last summer Miss Isabel Craig, household science supervisor in the public schools, was among the Canadian teachers travelling overseas who was told the story of decoration day by the mayor of Folkestone. She brought back the Folkestone story, and so interested the girls in her Ryerson domestic department became that they, too, wanted to have a share in the decoration ceremony, especially in view of the fact that among the graves are those of Canadian boys who died in the war.

That is how it came about that all kinds of tea dainties were prepared by the Ryerson class, under the supervision of Miss Craig, and served on Thursday afternoon along with ice cream.

During the tea, which turned out very well, indeed, in spite of the rain, a young man arrived, who promptly was a center of interest for the children present. Not only had he come for tea, but brought along with him a number of pictures showing the Folkestone children placing flowers on the graves in the Canadian Cemetery.

Spring Has Come,
Hurdy-Gurdy Sings

SPRING has come.
No longer does the soprano need to warble it, or the tenor to chortle it.

The first hurdy-gurdy man of the season is here!

He made his appearance on Thursday afternoon on Dundas street, when there was a smell of spring in the warm moist air, a suspicion of rain very near.

Unconscious, apparently, of his proximity to the busiest corner in London town and the lowering clouds, he turned the handle of his music box, and people smiled as they heard the familiar tune, the peculiarly hurdy-gurdy music.

They hurried their footsteps to get themselves around the corner to see. And even strangers smiled at one another in friendly "we know" fashion.

No matter how many years had gone over their heads, the hurdy-gurdy brought them back to the beginning of things.

And they knew that in the Peter Pan time of the year nothing and nobody ever is old, and the world begins all over again.

But where was the monkey with the little red cap that used to take up the collection in the little tin cup?

Mr. and Mrs. John Daly are spending the week-end in Toronto.

Miss M. Brindley of St. Thomas is the guest of Mrs. Harry Beamish.

Dave Finlayson and Thornton Fitzgerald leave Friday evening to spend the week-end with friends in Win-dors and Detroit.

Lester Walker, who has been intending to visit the death of his father-in-law, J. A. Thomas, has returned to his home in Chicago. While here he was the guest of E. E. R.
Thomas.

Mr. Edwin Warren of Longwood, Ont., announces the engagement of his youngest daughter, Mary Blanche, to Mr. W. H. Nethercott, formerly of Wardsville, Ont., the marriage to take place in April.

Tom Smallman, who is attending Ridley College, is spending the Easter vacation with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Smallman, bringing with him as his guest Joseph Welch, also of Ridley.

Mr. A. M. Legg, 53 Cathcart street, is visiting his daughter, Mrs. Raymond Delisle, at Austen, Texas. Before returning to the city, Mrs. Legg will also visit her son, Mr. Walter Legg, of New Orleans.

An opportunity to buy delicious home cooking for Sunday will be afforded at the home-cooking sale, which the Princess Patricia Chapter, L. O. E. D., is holding Saturday afternoon at 6 o'clock in the old Advertiser building, Dundas street.

Mrs. R. M. Graham was a guest at the banquet tendered by Dr. Augusta Stowe-Gullen, Ontario provincial president of the National Council, by the St. Thomas Local Council of Women Wednesday evening, giving a short address.

Mrs. Russell Croden was the hostess of a bridge of three tables Thursday afternoon, given in honor of Miss Gladys Croden. Mrs. Croden is also entertaining informally at the tea hour Sunday in honor of Mrs. R. S.
Grindley. Miss Edith Greer and the ushers at the Kippen-Croden wedding.

Dr. Augusta Stowe-Gullen, Ontario provincial president of the National Council of Women, who was guest of honor and speaker of the banquet held by the St. Thomas Local Council on Wednesday evening, spent Thursday afternoon in town with friends, leaving for her home in Toronto at 6:55 p.m. She was accompanied to London by Miss St. Thomas hostess, Mrs. J. D. Lamont.

Miss Lottie Langford, Egerton street, who has resigned as organist of St. Mark's choir, London Junction, was presented recently with a wonderful purse as a token of esteem from the congregation.

Miss Langford has served faithfully as organist since the opening of the church in 1910 and previous to this at the mission house, was compelled to give up her duties owing to ill-health.

Monday the three educational secretaries of the Y. W. C. A., Mrs. Mat-the Rose Crawford, Miss Helen D'Avignon and Miss Edith Wynne Price, are going to Toronto for the conference called of educational secretaries of the Y. W. C. A. to meet Miss Charlotte McNiven, general secretary of the World's Y. W. C. A.
The conference will take place in Mc-Gill street Y. W. C. A. residence, and in the evening a reception will be given in honor of Miss McNiven and the other visitors. The world's secretary is stopping over in Toronto on her way to the American national meeting in Hot Springs, Ark.

A little incident made of special interest the weekly sewing tea on behalf of the War Memorial Children's Hospital of the Hale Street Mother's club Thursday afternoon, when Mrs.
Harry Beamish opened her home for the event. Mrs. Fred Dart, convenor of the club's visiting committee, is leaving the city in the near future, and as a farewell gift Mrs. F. J.
Dissing, on behalf of the executive committee, presented her with a han-some case, the president, saying a few words of regret and warm appreciation associated with good wishes. In a guessing contest of the tea hour the first prize went to Mrs.
Arms, t'c booby falling to the lot of Miss McNiven. The hostess herself poured tea, her house guest, Miss Brindley of St. Thomas, assisting in serving. Little Ruth Beamish delighted with several piano numbers. The next sewing tea will take place in the home of Mrs. J. H. Watson, 1199 Florence street.

Following the special recital of the Woman's Music Club in the Normal School Thursday afternoon, of which the program was largely contributed by visiting artists from St.
Thomas Woman's Music Club, Mrs.
R. E. Davis, acting president, and Mrs. Charles Percy, program convener, entertained at tea in the home of the former at 113 Wortley road, in honor of the visitors. These included Mrs. W. Latonell, Mrs. Hindley, Mrs. McCance and Miss Miriam Edmiston. Mrs. F. C. Donaldson of Toronto, who has been staying with Mrs. Davis during the meeting of the Dominion executive of the W. A., arrived at the house in time to be included as a "guest of honor."

In addition to the London artists assisting on the program, the members of the club executive were invited to meet the strangers and enjoy a chat with them over the teacups. Mrs. Charles E. Wheeler and Mrs. Percy presided over the dainty tea table, Mrs. Harris Elliott, Mrs.
A. G. Hewton and Miss Elsie Green assisting in serving.

WHERE ARE ALL THE OLD UNS?

Dear Miss Grey,—Our corner is getting rather small lately, and where are all the "old uns" gone?

I have seen only a few letters from Mrs. Homebird or Ursula Kidd for a long while. I guess everyone is getting ready for spring work.

We just think what nice weather we are having and along comes some pessimistic old grouch and tells us we will pay up for this next month. I suppose that goes with life and we have to put up with it.

I am sending in my mite for the hospital fund. Isn't it wonderful how much money we have got for that worthy cause. It is certainly true that the five and ten cent pieces make the dollars.

Well, I guess I had better
"wind up" and get out of this letter will be appearing in installments. Someone stole my name, so I will sign myself

TIGER LILY NO. 1.

Yes, the words were received. I am sorry I neglected thanking you for them. No, we haven't heard from Ursula Kidd or Mrs. Homebird for a long time, but maybe they will surprise us with a letter one of these days. Thank you for the mite for the hospital fund. I think it is wonderful the way our fund continues to grow.

THE MAIL-BOX SEEDS.

Dear Miss Grey,—I was wondering if Robin has any more English violet roots to spare. I would like very much to get one,
and would pay the postage on it or send white phlox root in return.

I am inclosing a mite for the hospital fund. Wishing the Boxites every success.

SPOOKENDYKE.

Thank you for the nice box of seeds and the hospital mite. Just at the present time we have a large supply on hand, including four o'clocks, musk-melon, cucumber, watermelon, snap-dragon, phlox, castor beans, cosmos, hubbard squash, grey squash, gail-hubbard, asters, marigold, mountain rose, balsam, zinnia, salpiglossis, wild cucumber, hollyhock, summer savory and ground cherry.

St. Thomas Artists
Delight Music Club

A very genuine treat was afforded at the special recital of the Woman's Music Club in the Normal School on Thursday afternoon, when artists from the St. Thomas Music Club paid a friendly visit, contributing a large share of the program. The visitors taking part were Mrs. Hindley, soprano; Mrs. W. Latonell and Miss Miriam Edmiston. Regret was felt over the inability to come of Mrs.
Henry Roe, another St. Thomas pianist promised for the occasion.

Supplementing the offerings of those artists was a solo by Miss Ulah B.
Kennedy, soprano, and a concerto for three violins and piano by Antonio Vivaldi, in which those taking part were Mrs. Charles Ivey, Mrs. Harry Carson, Miss Guri Hausch, violinists, with Mrs. Harris Elliott at the piano.

A voice wonderfully sweet, round, flexible and sympathetic, beautifully managed, excellent enunciation and fine artistic appreciation made Mrs.
Hindley's offering of the program a delightful feature of the afternoon.

Her charming songs included "Lillaby" (Gaynor); "I Had a Flower" (Novelli); "Life's Lesson" (Novelli); and "Love's Echo" (Teschmacher).
Particularly noteworthy was her fine management of pianissimo. The beauty of the lower tones and their quality caused many of those who heard her to take for granted she was a mezzo-contra.

Miss Kennedy appeared to special advantage in the brilliant coloratura work of the aria, "Ah Fors Lui-Sempere Libera" (Verdi), in which she triumphed over the vocal difficulties presented, and interpreted with nice artistic appreciation.

Mrs. Latonell, who is possessed of a fine command of technique and much musical ability, played with delicacy and grace "Papillons," op.
2 (Schumann), and with brilliancy a Caprice by Raff.

Miss Edmiston, who has a touch of masculine firmness and tone that is most appealing in its singing quality, played in a musically and finished manner the Chopin Fantasia in F minor.

An admirable finale for such an interesting and artistic recital was the ensemble number, the concerto for violins and piano opening with a vivacious movement, followed by a legato slow movement, which flowed gracefully to a conclusion.

Mail-Box

SAYS THANK YOU.

To Miss Grey and Mail-Box
Friends,—I received the parcel all o. k. that Martha-by-the-Day sent, and I am more than pleased with it, and I thank her very much. She never sent her address, so I will have to thank her through the Mail Box, and she said to send the postage to you for the fund, so I am inclosing the 15c. Miss Grey, the 50c. that I sent in my last letter was for the fund. I sent the 25c. for the quilt patches and also 25c. from me to the fund. Now, if Martha-by-the-Day will let me know if she can crochet I may be able to return her kindness in that way.

PHYLISS.

Thank you, Phyllis, for the generous gifts for our Mail-Box fund for the hospital. You have been a faithful member of the corner since you first joined.

AN AUTUMN BRIDE.

Dear Miss Grey,—It is some time since I wrote to you, but as I received help the last time thought I would write again. My girl friend expects to be married in the fall, and she would like to know if you would help her in answering these few questions.

1st.—In having a shower in the bride's own home, what has the bride to do? Has she to provide lunch for the guests, or do they take the lunch with them, and how is it to be served? Also what reply does the bride have to make to the guests for their gifts? Are the gifts supposed to be opened in presence of the bride, or is it that done after they leave? She would also like to know what all she would need for her green trunk, as she is going to live in town. How are the linens supplied, and also, pillow slips would she require for all? Now, hoping I have not asked too much for this time. Will close. Wishing the Mail-Box every success.

Please find inclosed a mite for the S. C. H. A BUSY GIRL.

If the shower is to be a surprise on the bride I think the guests should supply the lunch, but if not, I think they should serve a dainty buffet supper, and in this way would be making a little return for the gifts received. Yes, the gifts should be opened immediately by the bride, and a special note given by the bride, thanking her friends for remembering her with such lovely presents. If you will look on the woman's page of March 29 you will find a complete list of articles necessary for a trousseau. Many thanks for the hospital mite.

A GOOD PUDDING RECIPE.

Dear Miss Grey,—Your letter containing samples of crochet and directions came this morning. I copied it, so I am returning it for someone else who wants it. There is a recipe which is real nice for a dessert.

Peach Amber.

Line a pudding dish with pastry and fill with the following mixture:
Rub through 4 cups of peaches, 4 tablespoons sugar, 3 tablespoons butter and 2 tablespoons lemon juice. (If the peaches are preserved use only 1 tablespoon sugar, but use 1/2 cup of unsweet-ened) Stir in 3 egg yolks and pour into lined pudding dish. Bake in moderate oven till filling is set.
Beat up the whites of the egg till stiff and put on top of pudding and brown in oven.

A PEST.

Thank you, Pest, for sending one of your pet recipes in return for the crochet patterns. Let's hope the peach crop this year isn't spoiled by the recent storm.

A SCHOOL KID.

Dear Miss Grey,—Say, Mother of Six, did you get the parcel that Jehuquill sent you? The reason she did not answer your letter is because she has been in the hospital, and is not home
yet. Would you please send me Jolly Jean's address?

A SCHOOL KID.

We are sorry to hear Jehuquill has been ill, and hope she will be better soon. I am forwarding Jolly Jean's address, as requested.

WHERE IS JIP?

Dear Cynthia,—Is not this a lovely day? I did not get calling on woods as I was not calling on some sick neighbors and was very tired. Yes, Miss Grey, there is a great difference between the maple syrup that is direct from the woods and what you get on the market, as you will see for yourself, as I am sending you a taste which is absolutely pure. I received the seeds, and many received the seeds, and many received the seeds.

May I have Thirty-Seven address? I hope I'm feeling better. Do I owe you a letter, or do you owe me one? It keeps me busy keeping track of so many of our family. Miss Grey, how do you manage us all?
I wonder, Miss Grey, what a lot of us would do without The Advertiser. I for one would miss it greatly, and especially our cosy corner. Can you use green hubbard squash seed in the Mail-Box? If so I will send some.
Where has Mother's Only Girl, and Jasmine gone? Jasmine Flower, you may look for ferns as soon as the snow is gone. Jip, why don't you write any more?

BUSY HANDS.

I hope you saw the little note in the Mail-Box expressing my thanks for the box, which more than delighted Cynthia. Thank you for the tribute to the Mail-Box corner, also for the offer of the seeds, but I have all I can handle just now.

of the program, and the thanks of the audience was showered upon her, as well as the artists of the afternoon.

The recital on this occasion was thrown open to the public, many visitors attending.

THE RIDER OF GOLDEN BAR

by WILLIAM PATTERSON WHITE

© 1922 by Little Brown and Company

BEGIN HERE TODAY.

BILLY WINGO, good-natured and youthful range-rider of Golden Bar, Wyoming, is suggested for sheriff by TIP O'GORMAN, master politician of Crocker County, on the ground that Wingo is honest but too easy-going to interfere with the gang's activities in cattle stealing.

RAFE TUCKLETON, wealthy cattle-thief, agrees, although he had promised the office to

JACK MURRAY, a gunman, who is Billy's rival for the hand of

SALLY ANN PRESCOTT, O'Gorman's daughter.

DAN SLIKE, a gunman, hired to kill Tom Walton, an honest ranch-owner. It is feared that Walton has evidence of the gang's activities.

GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER III.

"Careless child," observed Bill Wingo, coming up on the porch where Sally Jane lay in the hammock. "You dropped your hat yesterday. I found it this morning. Here it is. Don't move, wees one. Of course, if you asked me to sit down, I would, and if you felt like rustling some coffee and cake, or even just a piece of pie with a bite of cheese on the side—just a bite, not over half a pound—"

"Stop calling me 'wees one,'" Miss Prescott said crossly. "I'm not your sweet one, or anybody else's sweet one."

"Nothing like that, sweet one. The police steersmen of our fair county rode out to my place last night and—"

"What did the old thief want?" Sally Jane brutally wished to know.

"Offered me the nomination for sheriff."

Sally Jane's laughter was sardonic.

"Are they trying to fool me, or what?" he persisted.

"I don't know whether they're trying to fool you or not," was the reply. "but they're trying to fool somebody, that's a cinch."

"I told 'em I didn't want the job."

"What?"

"He rubbed an outraged ear. 'No need to deafen me,' said he."

THE COUGH WITH THAT TICKLING SENSATION

A little tickling in the throat; now and then a dry, hacking cough; you think it is not bad enough to bother about, but every hack makes a brother in the system, strains the lungs and prepares the way for more serious trouble. How many people have lost a good night's rest by that nasty, tickling, irritating sensation in the throat? The dry, harsh cough keeps you awake, and when you get up in the morning you feel as if you had had no rest at all.

DR. WOOD'S NORWAY PINE SYRUP

Is just the remedy you require to stop that irritating, tickling cough, and account of its soothing, healing and expectorant properties.

Mrs. P. Johnson, Port Alberni, B. C., writes: "I have suffered for years, off and on, with a tickling cough. I could not sleep nights and had to sit up in bed to get relief. In fact, I coughed so I used to vomit. I tried different doctors' prescriptions until I heard of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. I tried it and found great relief after I had taken the first bottle and have not been troubled since. I shall always keep it in the house."

Be sure and get "Dr. Wood's" when you ask for it. Price, 25c and 50c a bottle; put up only by The T. Milburn Company, Limited, Toronto, Ont.—Adv.

"What did she say to you?" Riley wanted to know.

"None of your business," was the ungracious reply.

Riley crossed one knee over the other. "I got eyes, I have. Oh, mush and milk, love's young dream, and when shall we meet again."

"Aw, shut up!" urged Billy, and shoved his friend off the packing case and went elsewhere hastily.

Hazel Walton, jogging along the homeward way, was overtaken by a horseman. She returned his greeting, but scowled and made a little face after his retreating back. She did not like Jack Murray. She never had.

Hazel wondered where Jack Murray was riding so fast. For it was a hot day. Her wonder grew when, 20 minutes after he had passed from sight, she perceived by the hoof-marks that he had left the trail and turned into a dry wash, a cul-de-sac ending in a rock-strewn, unclimbable slope that was the base of Black Mountain.

Beyond the wash the trail wound up the side of a hill. At the crest of the hill the off mule picked up a stone. After 10 minutes hard hammering and levering with her jack-knife she had the stone out.

As she released the foot from between her knees and straightened her back, her gaze swept along the back trail. The wash into which Jack Murray had ridden was distant not half a mile.

She saw Jack Murray's horse and there was something queer about the horse's head. Whereas Jack Murray's horse when it passed her on the trail had been a sorrel of a solid color, the head was now white-grey.

HAZEL WONDERED WHERE JACK MURRAY WAS RIDING SO FAST.

Ever since she and her uncle had come to realize that someone was rustling their cattle, neither of them ever left home without field glasses. Hazel pulled her pair from beneath the seat cushion and focused them on the odd-looking horse.

"It's a flour sack over the horse's head!" she exclaimed. "I wonder what Jack doesn't want him to be whiny. And where is Jack?"

Two minutes later she found Jack. He was lying on his stomach in the brush. Jack's rifle was poked out

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN SPINACH DISHES

THIS year as soon as spinach comes into market plan to have it at least twice a week. This vegetable is rich in iron and other minerals, as well as being a "bulky" food. There are so many ways of serving it that it should not fall on the appetite.

As plain greens spinach is delicious if carefully seasoned.

Spinach Greens.

Two pounds spinach, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon butter, 1-2 teaspoon pepper.

Wash spinach through warm water first. Then wash through three or four cold waters. Pick each head over carefully and cut the root to loosen the leaves after washing.

Spinach make out of spinach as it is cleaned, but do not drain. Put in a kettle with a tight-fitting cover and cook half an hour.

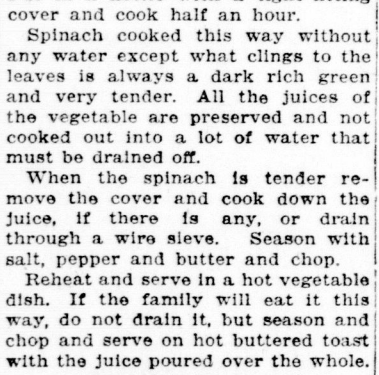

Spinach cooked this way without any water except what clings to the leaves is always a dark rich green and very tender. All the juices of the vegetable are preserved and not cooked out into a lot of water that must be drained off.

When the spinach is tender remove the cover and cook down the juice, if there is any, or drain through a wire sieve. Season with salt, pepper and butter and chop.

Reheat and serve in a hot vegetable dish. If the family will eat it this way do not drain it but season and chop and serve on hot buttered toast with the juice poured over the whole.

Breakfast Spinach.

Prepare spinach as in preceding recipe without draining. Put on hot

(By Olive Roberts Barton.)

Up started Nancy and Nick over the Chocolate Mountain.

IT ALL happened just as the red-feather pen had written. When Mr. Sprinkle-Blow, the Weatherman, sent a hard rain the Elderdawn Mountain began to flatten at once. Soon it was, indeed, as Mr. Sprinkle-Blow had said it would be, as flat as a banana fritter. Nancy and Nick, pulled on their goggles, which they had found beside a bush when they went back, and walked across the mountain as easily as you can cross the street.

But the minute they had reached the other side the rain stopped, the sun came out, and those feathers puffed up until the mountain with its blue plush cover was as high as ever.

"That's four of them," said Nick, with a sigh of relief. "Only three more mountains to cross. Let's see what's the next one?"

"There it is," pointed Nancy. "You can tell to look at it what it's made of. It's the Chocolate Mountain."

In front of him. Why?

A few minutes later that question was answered by the sudden appearance of a rider at a bend of the trail a mile back. With a gasp she recognized the rider on the trail by his high-crowned white hat, only one high in Golden Bar wore such a hat and that man was Billy Wingo.

She knew that Billy would be masked by a belt of trees before he traveled into view 30 yards, not to emerge into view again till he topped a rise of ground about a thousand yards from the base of the hill on which she stood. If Hazel could only reach the top of the rise first—

As she clung to the pitching buckboard and plied the whip, she speculated on the probability of Jack Murray firing on her. He must realize her purpose. He had been called many things, but fool was not one of them. He might even shoot her. She recalled dim stories of Jack Murray's ruthlessness and grim singleness of purpose.

A Winchester cracked in the rear. The near mule staggered, tried to turn a somersault, and collapsed in a heap of sprawling legs and out-thrust neck. The off mule fell on top of his mate, and Hazel catapulted over the dashboard and landed head first on top of the off mule.

The off mule regained his feet with a snort and a hunch, in the process throwing Hazel into a squaw hunch. Dizzy and more than a little shaken, that young woman scrambled back into the trail and feverishly set about unhitching the mule.

She heard a yell from the wash. Fingers busy with the breast-strap snapper, she looked back to see a man hurdle the outcrop and plunge toward her through the brush.

"Wait!" he bawled. "Wait!"

She bunched the reins in her left hand. He was a tall mule, but she swarmed up his shoulder by means of collar and hames, threw herself across his withers and besought him at the top of her lungs to "Go! Go! Go!"

Pantalettes Triumph in World of Junior Fashions

TODAY the pantalette and its first cousin, the bloomer, reign supreme in the world of little girls' fashions. They may slide down the banisters, climb fences, and kick up their heels generally, without any

Their mothers may have achieved the vote, but 1922 little girls have gained something even more precious—sex equality with their small brothers, and the freedom of the knees.

The long pantalettes that fluttered about the ankles of little girls in grandmother's day were rather dismal-looking affairs, in spite of the fact that they were made of the long metre decolage.

The pantalettes of today are short and gay, always matching the frock with which they are worn, and showing exactly three part little frills below the skirt hem. The befrilled pantalette is especially in vogue for party dresses and summer frocks of thin material which lends itself to ruffling.

For play and school clothes, however, bloomers are more practical and more universally worn than the dressier pantalettes. Good Mrs. Amelia Jenks Bloomer, could her ghost but return to earth, would rejoice to know how the seed which she planted so long ago has taken root and grown and flourished, until today our annual crop of bloomers defies calculation.

WOMEN WERE "FLASKS."

PARIS—Women are carrying their flasks with them in full view of the public. They are capes shaped like flasks. They cover the wearer from neck to ankles, and are gathered in at the lower end.

Solve this by making a substitute handle from an old broomstick. With a wire snapper this can easily be made to snap on to the regular handle.

POLLY AND PAUL AND PARIS

CHAPTER LXVI.—"Sweet, Sweet Home—"

By Zoe Beckley.

POLLY and Paul stood in the living-room, shorn now of its personal touches, and with trunks sitting around with that solemn expression that closed and strapped trunks have. They were to sail next day on "La France."

"How I hate to leave it, dear," Polly was saying with a little tender smile. "Yet I want to go home—"

"We'll come back, Hon! I'll be president of Sims & Brady, or something, and we'll have a swell home out at Malsen. Laffite, all full of gardens and garages, and guest rooms—and governesses."

Polly's voice had lost its minor note and she was gay again. "I don't know why it should, but that reminds me—I went to 'see Violet' today. She's all right again—and happy as anything over her engagement to Barry!"

"Wonderful how you two girls got together on the reconciliation. A couple of men in the same circumstances would have got all muddled up in a lot of logical explanations and fine speeches. All you do is give one another the sentimental look and fall into a clinch, like the movies."

Paul's elegant comments were broken in upon by a thumping at the door. Before them stood Norma Brady and Sutton. Norma's manner was more exuberant than ever.

"Notice anything?" she beamed. "Simply heavenly!" said Polly. "What a lovely frock—and what a delicious shade of mauve-grey! Norma, you look exactly like a bride."

"Guessed it the first time! Bobby here is a trifle bashful, but I'm so proud I dragged him straight from the mayor's office to show off. We'd have eloped a month ago if it hadn't been impossible owing to the French law. Got to have banns published for seven days, and everything. Rob and I have been digging up birth certificates, family records, affidavits, passports, writs and licenses for weeks! Take it from me, brethren, getting married in France is some job, even after you've won a husband!"

And so the last evening in the cubbyflat was gay and happy. They toasted one another, and the cubbyflat, and "La Belle France," and "Canada," and everything and everybody they could think of. And they swore eternal reunions and everlasting friendships and good looks and happy returns and bon voyages and all the dear old time-honored, heart-warming loyalties that mellow the spirit and sweeten life.

"It was good to have come," said Polly, and they squeezed their arms sympathetically.

"What heaps and heaps we and they can learn from each other," was her quiet comment.

When they caught their first glimpse of the St. Lawrence their hearts beat fairly to suffocation with love and pride. Their land! Their splendid, huge, beautiful, modern land of love and light and life and hope. Their land of promise and fulfillment!

Montreal, as before, was a swift dream of splendor and of white, but the dear sight after all was the home-studded plains—green as emerald beneath the radiant sky. Then the home-studded plains—the old yellow brick high school—the glade by the river where we used to go picnicking—the road past the cider mill—oh, do you remember that night—that delicious night—and there, there's the bank—and the station—and—oh, dearest, isn't that mother standing there with a new mane hat, bless her—and—if it isn't Aunt Sue—in a checked tailor-made—Paul, I shall die! Have you got the yellow bag? And my coat! Here's your camera—I knew you'd forget it! Paul, isn't it heavenly to see the folks we've adopted in Paris as our suburban home, of course; it belongs to us now—but this is home—and there—at last, mother sees us!

The End.

Federation of Y. W. C. A. Girls' Clubs Closes Season With Merry Carnival

After strenuous months of serious study the Federation of Girls' Clubs of the Y. W. C. A. wound up the season with the merriest kind of a carnival Thursday night, for which the whole lower floor of "Lenmore," the King street residence, was thrown open.

From beginning of the evening to the end there was a continual stream of visitors, a continuous program of "stunts" in progress, which evoked peals of laughter that echoed and re-echoed through the building. Each club of the federation was supposed to do its part in contributing to the entertainment, some of these especially rising to the occasion heroically.

To begin with the decorations were largely carried out in the federation colors, blue and white, under the direction of the industrial extension secretary, Mrs. Mattie Rose Crawford, and the federation president, Miss Ruth Lucas. Flags, flowers, and Easter favors also added to the festive appearance of the rooms.

One "stunt" especially provocative of mirth was the "Billie Winkie Newspaper Brigade," put on by the Echo Club, of which Miss Hillmer is president, each member of the "cast" being dressed as a newspaper or some feature thereof, involving amusing hits at such regular newspaper departments as sports, fashion, society, etc.

The Pollyanna Club gave a scene from "Little Women," the vehicle through which thespian laurels were won during the winter. The Nightingale added its quota to the comedy, with a take-off on school days, in which the teaching of the alphabet was a feature.

The "Count-On-Me" Club, which made a study of the drama as one of its winter course, gave the "Goblin Scene" from "Silver Thread," a charming fairy tale produced recently.

In addition to such numbers there was fortune-telling that enjoyed its usual popularity. All the time cups of tea, ice cream and other light refreshments were served from inviting booths. There was music and laughter and badinage, and it was all clever, as well as very joyful, the girls in their play revealing the social grace club work of the winter has enhanced, the talent that has found an outlet and opportunity for brushing up, and a spirit of splendid comradeship.

DELEGATES DELIGHTED WITH LONDON SESSION

Dominion W. A. Executive Closes Business Meeting—Toronto to Entertain Board Annual.

There was a regular exodus of interesting and distinguished women from London at 10 o'clock on Thursday evening, when the International Limited left for Toronto, taking away the majority of the members of the Dominion executive of the Women's Auxiliary to the Missionary Society of the Church of England in Canada, who had been holding the half-yearly meeting here since Tuesday forenoon. As a preliminary, the finance committee met Monday afternoon.

With regard to the success of the meeting, "ended in a blaze of glory," the laughing answer of the Dominion treasurer, Mrs. F. C. Donaldson of Toronto, indicated that the sessions had been entirely satisfactory from the standpoint of ground covered and business transacted in schedule time. Most satisfactory, too, is the outlook for the work of the W. A. of the Dominion.

Apart from the necessary business and arrangements for the annual meeting of the board to be held in Toronto in the fall, features of the gathering were addresses by Rev. Canon Gould, general secretary of the M. S. C. C., and Dr. J. Lovell Murray of the interdenominational mission school in Toronto.

With regard to Dr. Murray and the "school," it was pointed out that both the names "director" and "school" are somewhat misnomers. In the first place, the "school" really is a school at all in the sense that it gives any training. It is merely an exchange through which candidates for the mission field and missionaries on furlough are put in touch with the various facilities that will more adequately fit them for their work in the field to which they were designated, apart from the theological or specialist training they receive in their denominational colleges.

"School" a Misnomer.

For example, a returned missionary wanted to learn how to build a house. Through the school he was put in touch with the teachers who could show him the way most effectively.

A missionary back from Africa wanted to learn all about the using and repairing of machinery that would be used in agricultural work in his part of Africa. A first-hand knowledge of machinery used in Canada would not do. At the technical school was a teacher who had lived in the very district in Africa from which the missionary came, and who was, in consequence, the man who could give exactly the training required.

Other candidates for the mission fields who are on furlough want musical training, not for themselves, but to aid them in their work. Still others require more thorough grounding in social service methods. Application to Dr. Murray establishes connections with the best sources of instruction.

So far as "direction" is concerned the actual directing is done by the denominational candidate committees, which simply apply to Dr. Murray to have their candidates or missionaries brought into touch with the desired educational facilities.

Special attention was drawn by Dr. Murray to the splendid co-operation the school has received from the finest authorities and leading institutions of Toronto in the way of voluntary services offered and given. Amongst these mention was made of the University of Toronto, in all its departments; the Technical School, Dr. Vogt, and the Conservatory of Music.

Best Girl Aid.

"It isn't the second best but the very best skill and talent that is thus given for the purpose of helping the missionaries to more adequately equip themselves for their work," was the statement of an executive member with regard to Dr. Murray's address.

Many expressions of appreciation were heard from the delegates over hospitality extended to them in London, and their thanks were embodied in a resolution before the meeting was brought to a close with benediction by the Bishop of Huron.

Cronyn Memorial, All Saints and St. Matthew's churches assisted on Thursday with the final luncheon for the executive, again served under the gracious conversership of Mrs. T. Orr and Mrs. W. J. Robinson. Specially invited to meet the delegates were Bishop Williams and Mrs. Williams, Very Rev. Dean N. L. Tucker and Mrs. Tucker, Rev. H. B. Ashby and Mrs. Ashby, Rev. G. Q. Warner and Mrs. Warner, Rev. A. A. Bice and Mrs. Bice.

Assisting from the Cronyn Memorial Church were Misses Davidson, Treleven, Evans and Ina Colerick; from St. Matthew's, Mrs. W. R. Beer and Mrs. F. V. Perry.

Where in London Is Cinderella?

Slippers and Prince Await Her at I. O. D. E. Chapters' Charity Dance.

Who is the girl with the most perfect foot in London, match for Cinderella's own?

On the evening of April 21, at the charity dance in the Winter Garden, under the auspices of the Campbell Becher and Overseas chapters, I. O. D. E., a pair of wonderful fairy slippers will be awaiting her, and also Prince Charming, if only for one glorious night.

Ashplant & Sons have donated the "Cinderella slippers" for the ball, and the fair maiden whom they fit perfectly is going to become the owner. But they must fit perfectly—there's the rub—just as the famous glass man. Slippers fitted the exquisite feet of Cinderella of fairy lore.

There must be no slicing of heels, no cutting off of toes, no pinching or squeezing, or the limp will be discovered and the fact that the self-martyring lady is like the wicked step-sisters, not a real born princess at all.

Announcement with regard to the Cinderella and Fairy Prince feature of the charity dance (an informal one, by the way) was made on Thursday afternoon at the April meeting of the Campbell Becher Chapter, I. O. D. E., entertained by Mrs. J. McLeod at her home in Edward street.

Patrons and patronesses of the dance will be Mayor Cameron Wilson and Mrs. Wilson, Major-General Panet and Mrs. Panet, Lieut.-Col. W. M. Gartshore and Mrs. Gartshore, Mrs. A. Becher and Mrs. T. H. Small-

Over their business and at the tea hour, when Mrs. Claude White and Mrs. J. A. Richards did the honors, the members of the chapter were busily engaged in sewing on layettes for distribution to needy mothers.

"Big sistering" of daughters of men who served in the war and gave their lives, or were permanently disabled was reported to be going on satisfactorily, the proteges doing well in their school work.

Mrs. F. J. Greenaway, regent, and Mrs. J. A. Murray were appointed to represent the chapter at the provincial annual meeting in Hamilton April 27 and 28.

The sum of $25 was voted to buy material for toweling to be made up by any organization desiring it for the War Memorial Children's Hospital.

BACKS BOARD AS AID TO ONTARIO

Dr. Rankin of North Perth Believes Wheat Price Regulation Beneficial.

WOOD SUBMITS HIS PLEA

HOUSE OF COMMONS, Ottawa.

April 6.—The Western farmers are pressing for the re-establishment of the wheat board in spite of the fact that it will be necessary for parliament first to present a stated case to the Privy Council to find out whether such a body would be legitimate and entitled to recognition in the carrying on of business.

The much-spoken-of Wood, of Alberta, was at the committee of agriculture Thursday morning, and for the first time many of the members from the East saw him in action.

He makes a good impression, is a substantial speaker, with a grasp of western problems, and has the driving force of an organizer in what he has to say.

He urges that the wheat board be brought back and that the breath of even temporary life be again breathed into it in order that a temporary situation may be dealt with in the West.

To him it is the difference between dealing with the situation intelligently or by chance.

James Robinson, of the council of agriculture, held the center of the stage for the afternoon, when the Delay British Election Until Fall of Year.

LONDON, April 6.—Premier Lloyd George and Austen Chamberlain, leader of the Conservative party, have reached an agreement to postpone the general election in England until next autumn. It was authoritatively announced today.

committee sat again. He had an array of figures that carried the weight. The trend of his argument being to show that when the wheat was rushed on the market at the urgency of the creditors of the farmers, the price was bound to go down. Many of the Ontario members of this committee, for it is a large committee of some eighty representatives, seem to fall in line with what the Westerners are asking for.

Dr. Rankin, of North Perth, told The London Advertiser that if the formation of such a board would guarantee to the man who grew the grain in the West the benefit of the price that the consumer ultimately paid for it, he would support the measure.

"The Western farmer is entitled to get the benefit of the price instead of the manipulator," Dr. Rankin said, "and when the men in the West are in better shape we will find that business will be a whole lot better for many of the districts in Ontario."

Frank White, of London, during the conference put the question as to whether any of the Ontario members had registered objection to the compulsory feature of the proposal, for it is proposed that Western farmers must sell their entire output to the wheat board.

Included in the list of questions in the questionnaire are the following:

1. Are you in favor of repealing the present natural gas conservation act of 1921?

2. Are you in favor of the present act with an amendment abolishing the position of the natural gas referee?

3. Are you in favor of a tribunal of three or more members to fix rates for natural gas?

4. Are you in favor of the government maintaining control of the gas fields and the distribution of gas?

Favor Government Control.

The majority of the municipalities in the natural gas zones are reported to be strongly in favor of government control and distribution or the appointment of a tribunal of three or more members to fix rates.

The placing of sole rate-fixing power in one official trustee, as now prevails, is very displeasing and the action of Official Referee Henderson, K.C., of Ottawa, in ordering wholesale rate increases last fall, averaging approximately 100 per cent, is largely the cause of the present dissatisfaction.

The municipalities do not think that one man should have arbitrary powers of this kind.

WILL PREPARE AMENDMENTS

St. Thomas Barrister Drafting Proposed Changes in Gas Legislation.

APPEAL OF ACT SOUGHT

C. St. Clair Leitch Was Member of Deputation Interviewing Government.

Special to London Advertiser.

ST. THOMAS, April 7.—At the request of Hon. H. Mills, minister of mines and fisheries, C. St. Clair Leitch, K.C., of this city, who accompanied a deputation of representatives from various points in Southwestern Ontario and waited upon the Provincial Government in an attempt to have the natural gas act of 1921 repealed, is working on a list of amendments to the act which the different municipalities in this district deem desirable, and which when completed will be sent to Toronto for consideration.

Pleased With Visit.

Members of the deputation who waited upon the Government are highly pleased with the result of their visit. The minister gave them a sympathetic hearing and at the end of the conference presented each with a questionnaire, which have since been filled in and sent to the department. When Mr. Leitch completes his task the deputation will once again wait upon the Government.

Included in the list of questions in the questionnaire are the following:

1. Are you in favor of repealing the present natural gas conservation act of 1921?

2. Are you in favor of the present act with an amendment abolishing the position of the natural gas referee?

3. Are you in favor of a tribunal of three or more members to fix rates for natural gas?

THEFT CHARGE IN ST. THOMAS FAILS

Leland Stover Found Not Guilty for Second Time of Stealing Auto Tires.

JUDGE DISMISSES CASE

Decides Alleged Identification Mark Too Small and Unimportant for Consideration.

Special to London Advertiser.

ST. THOMAS, April 7.—Once again Leland Stover, a youth of this city, was acquitted on a charge of stealing automobile tires, upon which he was arraigned for the second time in three days before Judge Ross in the county court.

Stover was charged with breaking and entering a garage belonging to Edward Cutler of Erie street, this city, and stealing from a car one spare tire. When the evidence of the prosecution was heard Judge Ross dismissed the case and decided that there was no grounds for the charge.

Edward Cutler swore that a spare tire had been stolen from a car in his garage on the night of Dec. 10. He believed that a tire which had been produced in court, and which had been recovered from Shipley's garage was his.

Mr. Shipley, proprietor of the garage, swore that Stover brought the tire to his place to be sold. Stover admitted that he did.

Maurice Philmore, a nephew of Cutler's, who had driven the car on many occasions previous to the theft, thought that the tire on exhibition was the one stolen from the car. He said he could identify it by a small cut, which had been inflicted when he put the tire on the rim. He showed the court a cut of the nature described.

Judge Ross asked the witness if similar cuts would not likely be found on other tires. Philmore admitted that such marks often occur.

The judge then declared the mark of identification too small and unimportant to be considered, and as it was the only thread upon which the case was hung, he dismissed the charge without hearing the defence.

LEGISLATURE OF MANITOBA CLOSES

WINNIPEG, April 6.—(By Canadian Press).—The sixteenth Legislature of the province of Manitoba concluded its work at 11 o'clock today when the house was prorogued by the lieutenant-governor, Sir James Aikins. Registration of the voters of the province will be held at an early date, followed by dissolution of the house and a provincial election late in June or early in July.

Much important legislation having been dropped on the defeat of the Norris government by a vote of the members, the session has seen the accomplishment of little beyond matters of routine administration.

Constituency boundaries have not been altered since the election of 1920, and the next Legislature will consist, as does the present, of 55 members, ten elected from Winnipeg city.

TOLD IN VISION SMALL BURIED UNDER THEATRE

Toronto Woman Finds Cellar Floored With Solid and Unbroken Concrete.

TORONTO, April 6.—Believing that the body of Ambrose J. Small, the Toronto millionaire theatre owner, who has been missing for considerably over two years, was buried in the cellar of the Grand Opera House here, which he sold to Trans-Canada Theatres, Montreal, shortly before his disappearance, Mrs. Harry Fagents of this city was permitted by James Cowan, manager of the Grand Opera House, to inspect the cellar today.

Mrs. Fagents claimed she had had visions, and had talked with Mr. Small since his disappearance, though she did not profess to be a spiritualist, and he told her that he was entombed in the theatre cellar—hence she was anxious to see if she could locate the spot, she said.

She did not find Small. Instead, she found that the floor of the cellar was of concrete, and there had been no break in it. "Solid concrete" was Manager Cowan's remark about the flooring.

"It has not been dug up to see if anything is under it, has it?" Mrs. Fagents asked.

"No; there was no need," replied Mr. Cowan. "The concrete has never been broken, and nothing could be buried under it."

REPORTS INCREASE IN LUMBER TRADE

MONTREAL, April 6.—A phenomenal increase in the lumber export trade of Canada for the last year is indicated in the records of the Canadian Government Merchant Marine given out here today. To practically all parts of the world vessels of the merchant marine carried cargoes of lumber, and for the province of British Columbia alone all previous records for shipping were surpassed.

During the year, from British Columbia, 188,000,000 feet of lumber were exported to various foreign countries, as compared with an average of forty million feet of several preceding years.

To the Commercial Traveler

DID you ever stop to figure just how much railway fares and stop-over hotel expenses cost? Think what a difference it would make if you paid this on the price of a Chevrolet car, and the number of little places that you could call on which you miss now, or just phone, because you cannot get connection.

When you drive a car you make your own time-table.

Our easy payment plan makes it just like paying monthly expenses. We suggest the 490 Sedan, 490 Special or F. B. Roadster for commercial use. It will pay you to investigate. Give us a call.

Starts Employment Agency For Ball Players.

ROCHESTER, April 6. — An employment agency for baseball players is the latest idea of a player from the Rochester Ontario League who lives in Rochester has formed the bureau, and intends to keep it in operation until he leaves to join the Kitchener, Ontario, club. His plan is to farm the players out to various small cities and villages.

YANKS IN TURMOIL, BOSS GOES SOUTH

Huggins' Fine on Mays Started the Trouble and Hoyt is Also in Dutch.

NEW YORK, April 6. — Col. T. H. Huston, the portly pacifier and part owner of the New York Yankees, is speeding south to save his ball club. Things seem to have come to the big break with the club down south. The boys are fighting Manager Huggins, and the little boss is fighting back with finesse.

Carl Mays drew a fine of $200 for throwing the ball over the grandstand in a recent game, when Huggins took him out of the box. Mays says if his envelope is shy $200 on April 15 he will turn in his uniform.

Huggins says the fine will be collected, and that several more are to be imposed on several other big stars who have been cutting up.

Longhorns of bad news trickled into the Yankees' office yesterday, and Col. Huston, insisting, however, that he was not going because of the trouble.

Mays, according to the stories, claims that Huggins has always made it annoying for him because he had told the club owners that Huggins ordered him to pitch with a few minutes' notice after he had played 18 holes of golf in the morning.

The big pitcher also claims that Huggins is only the mouthpiece for Bob Conner, the real manager of the club. He says he has always been picked upon, while the others "get away with murder."

After the open break between Mays and Huggins the little manager also had some hard words with Whitey Hot after which Huggins said several more fines were on their way if the players didn't get down to business.

Huggins has had a stormy life ever since he took the reins of the Yankees. In other words, the Brants will be in the morning, the other half owner of the team has been wanting him removed ever since he returned from the army. Huston sides with the players.

The club is filled with high-salaried, temperamental stars, who believe they know more about baseball than Huggins, and they don't mind showing him. They have their own ideas about playing, and they follow them.

If the club wants the fine of Mays over Huggins' head, the manager has nothing to do but resign.

Athletics Won't Be Lost---Mack

Connie Mack is sure his ball club will be better this year than last. As a matter of fact Connie is of the opinion that he now has the best ball club that has represented the Athletics since 1914.

In that year the Athletics won the pennant. Since then the club has had a struggle to last place. Draw your own conclusions as to the strength of Connie's present team. "Sure the Athletics will be better this year than last. We couldn't get any worse." That is the rather terse manner in which Mack does out his team of 1922.

"My pitching is certain to be better. The staff will be about the same as last year, but will have benefited by a year's experience," continued Connie. "The infield and outfield will be stronger combinations since there is plenty of reserve strength. I have two good men for practically every position."

"The spirit is better. Some of the disturbing elements that didn't tend to promote harmony have been removed. I am not saying what they were, but they no longer exist."

"I am not prepared to say where my team will finish, but I do want to go on record that it will not be last." Mack is the dark horse of the American League race. "New York's pitching staff plus the hitting power of the club should again win the pennant for the Yankees," says Mack. "That club stands out as the favorite by a fairly wide margin."

"The Washington Club is the team that must be closely watched. The addition of Peckinpaugh gives that club the best infield in the American League."

"The Washington pitching is uncertain, however, and the Washington batting is in big fashion. Likewise, Johnson must come through in big fashion. Likewise, Johnson must come through in big fashion. Likewise, Johnson must come through in big fashion."

"Incidentally, pitching will probably play a prominent part in the chances of Cleveland and St. Louis. Neither club appears to have a strong enough staff."

"It will be about the same as last year in the American League. New York, Cleveland, St. Louis and Washington are in the first division and Detroit, Chicago, Philadelphia and Boston battling for second division honors."

NAVAL CADETS WIN RIFLE SHOOT. A very successful shoot was held between the Naval Cadets and the Winchester Rifle Club at the armories on Wednesday night. The navy team won the contest by 49 points. W. Harding being the best shot of the two teams, making a score of 48 out of a possible 50. Harding was the winner of last year's shoot, and with his present progress will undoubtedly make one of the best marksmen in the event, coming close to first place with a score of 47. R. Barnes made third place with a score of 45.

The naval team has made a splendid start by beating the best in London, and other members are also showing rapid progress. In the shoot, three cheerers were given for the Winchester team, who replied in a similar manner. This was followed by a short speech by Mr. Minto of the Winchester, who told the boys that although his team had been beaten, he was looking forward to the time when they would turn the tables on the winners. All the teams in the city are interested in this branch of the sport, and some lively contests will be held.

The scores are as follows: Naval Cadets—J. Harding, 48; R. Barnes, 45; J. Crocker, 42; A. Horner, 41; N. Adams, 40; G. Clements, 38; D. Kennedy, 37; C. Brille, 35; B. Element, 34; J. P. ST. MARYS ALL SET FOR BIG SEASON. ST. MARYS, April 6.—The lacrosse club for 1922 was organized tonight. The club is composed of the following: J. L. Lind, president; Mayor L. J. Constable, first vice-president; L. A. Ball, second vice-president; N. L. Brandon, secretary; R. M. Northgrave, treasurer; J. F. Simms, manager; H. L. Stewart, Thomas Cowan, L. Wilson, W. Lavelle, delegates to the O.A.L.A. convention in Toronto on Good Friday, H. L. Stewart, Mayor L. J. Constable, R. M. Northgrave, J. F. Simms.

The club has nominated H. L. Stewart for the O. A. L. A. council. It is a routing meeting, and the club is all set for the season, which will be the best in the history of the stone town.

INTER-CLUB WILL HAVE FIVE TEAMS

Alerts, Manhattans, Orients, Hermits and Forest City are the Clubs.

TAKE NO ACTION ON O. B. A.

Will See What Mfrs. League Intend Doing First—George Martin President.

The Inter-Club League will be a five-team organization this year, was the decision made at the annual meeting of the organization last night in the Orient club-rooms.

Alerts, Orients, Manhattans, Hermits and Forest City, the latter two new entries, will make up the circuit. George Martin of the postoffice will direct the affairs of the league as the 1922 president.

The inter-club meeting did not take any action regarding entry to the O. B. A., and what the Manufacturers' League does may determine later decisions.

Queen's Park will be the scene of their activities this year, and as the east enders are a critical section of the league, the decision to keep the clubs to five was made in order that a better brand of ball could be furnished. This meant the turning down of applications from the Askin Street Elks and the Riversides.

A meeting will be held at a later date to arrange regarding schedule and changes in the constitution. The officers elected were: Honorary presidents, Charles Martin and Roy Lyons; president, George Martin; vice-presidents, J. Greer and K. Butler; secretary, Frank Hornsby; treasurer, Jack Reid.

The officers will form the executive, with each club represented thereon. Cap Graham is official scorer.

Eligible Teams For W. O. S. S. A. Cage Tourney Here Almost Decided

The basketball series in the W. O. S. S. A. has been almost completed, and all is in readiness for the two tournaments to be held here on April 17 and April 21. The elimination contests have proven very interesting and in some cases very close.

In District No. 2 Galt Collegiate Institute has won the girls' champion, and Brantford Collegiate the boys. The results of the games were:

Galt Won. Lost. For. Ag. Kitchener 1 1 63 24 Kitchener 1 1 24 63

Brantford Won. Lost. For. Ag. Kitchener 2 0 23 13 Kitchener 0 2 13 23

Galt Collegiate will represent District 2 at the tournament on April 17. Brantford and Stratford are staging a series of home and home games to decide which team shall come to London, on April 21. These games must be completed by April 15.

The elimination series between Sarnia and St. Marys has not been definitely settled, but Sarnia leads the scoring. The first game played in Sarnia resulted in a win for Sarnia by a large score. The game was protested on the grounds of misinterpretation of certain rules. The matter was referred to a protest board consisting of Miss Harvey, Miss Holland and Mr. A. Taylor. The protest was sustained, and the game will be replayed on Friday or Saturday of this week. The game in St. Marys was won by Sarnia by the score, 23-7.

Up to the present the elimination series between St. Thomas and Ashtor has not been reported. The executive committee of the W. O. S. S. A. feels very gratified over the results which have been achieved by the teams, and feel confident that the tournaments in the London Collegiate Institute of April 17 and April 21 will provide some very keen competition.

After defeating Cleveland on Sunday 7 to 2, the Kansas came back again yesterday and trounced Manager Killefer's Chicago Nationals 4 to 3.

O'NEIL IS OUT. CLEVELAND, April 6.—The Cleveland Indians finally shook out the rain, but the jinx continued on their trail. In the first game the team has been able to play since Saturday it lost which was a blow to the team. The star catcher, a foul tip split O'Neill's right hand in yesterday's game at St. Louis, which Cleveland won 6 to 3. According to word received here O'Neill will be out of the game for at least ten days.

The strength of a ball club is rated by the ability of its substitutes to deliver when called on. The Brooklyn club appears to be well fortified this year in every position. Last year the Dodgers were sadly lacking in this respect.

Robbie has secured enough good luck talent to make a shift he has been trying to accomplish for five years. That is placing Ivy Olson at second, where the old war horse will have less territory to cover and a shorter throw, leaving the shortstop for a younger and faster man.

Sam Crane, bought from the Reds for $7,000, finally shook out the rain, but the jinx continued on their trail. In the first game the team has been able to play since Saturday it lost which was a blow to the team. The star catcher, a foul tip split O'Neill's right hand in yesterday's game at St. Louis, which Cleveland won 6 to 3. According to word received here O'Neill will be out of the game for at least ten days.

Robbie is a left-handed thrower, and has been compared to Jake Daubert when that star broke in with the Dodgers. Sam hits them hard and, in a third division southern soccer match today. Heated defeat Glynneth 15 to 0 in a rugby match today.

ANTI-COMBINE ACT SPONSORED BY W. E. RANEY

Aims To Prevent Wholesalers Fixing Prices of Retail Sales.

PROVIDES $500 PENALTY

Various Bills Introduced To Amend Highways and Townsite Legislation.

TORONTO, April 6.—An anti-combine bill was introduced in the Legislature this afternoon by Attorney-General W. E. Raney. In explaining its purpose, Mr. Raney said that it attempted to cope with methods of placing restrictions on re-sales.

At present manufacturers frequently stipulated that wholesalers should sell their products at a certain price or else incur penalties. Sometimes they even went a step further and set a price at which the retailer should sell the goods.

Another practice was for a number of manufacturers or other persons to refuse to trade or deal with any person in their association or outside of it who refused to abide by the prices fixed.

The bill provides a penalty of $500 for every sale arising out of any such arrangement.

Mr. Raney noted that the bill was primarily designed to meet such cases as that of the wholesale grocers, which had been before the courts for a year or so past.

Would Split Township.

Must Frame New Bylaw Before Canines Of Railway City Get Their 1922 Tags

Special to London Advertiser. ST. THOMAS, April 6.—Although three months have passed not a dog license has been issued in this city so far this year, and furthermore, according to the license inspector, dog owners are not likely to be molested for another two months at least.

This condition has not been brought about by a scarcity of dogs, for the canine population of St. Thomas has shown no indications of a decrease this year, but because at the present time the city has no bylaw under which a dog owner can be taxed.

At the first session of the city council this year it was announced to the surprise of most of the aldermen that the bylaw under which the city was working during the past year, and which affixed the dog licenses at $1 for male dogs and $5 for females was motion to appoint a committee of the house to investigate the Chippawa expenditures be withdrawn in view of the decision to appoint a commission of inquiry G. Howard Ferguson asked if steps had already been taken to gather information and material to submit to whatever tribunal might undertake the investigation of the Chippawa expenditures. He asked if H. P. Mitchell, whose name had been working during the past year, and who was undertaking an investigation.

Premier Drury replied that P. H. Mitchell and T. A. Hollinrake had been asked by the government to obtain certain information which they thought necessary to get before the commission would go on. The necessity for this was brought about by the fact that the hydro commission was advertising the sale of material and equipment left over from the construction of the canal and Messrs. Mitchell and Hollinrake were going to inspect and value it.

The private bills committee reported a bill to authorize the splitting of York township into two separate illegal, in that it did not comply with the provincial regulations, which state that no community shall collect less than a tax of $2 on each dog.

When this information was received from the city solicitor a motion was made to rescind the old bylaw and to formulate a new one to comply with the law. Accordingly, the old bylaw went out of existence, and because a new one has not since been prepared the city has no regulations under which dogs can be taxed.

The matter was broached at the last meeting of the city council, but City Solicitor Doherty stated that it would be useless to prepare a bylaw now, as the provincial government was considering certain amendments to the regulations, which would place further restrictions on keeping dogs.

municipalities, one rural and the other Toronto suburban.

Raney's Bill Approved. Various bills were carried through second reading, including a measure to amend the provincial highways act that prohibits the running of cattle at large on provincial highways.

Hon. Beniah Bowman, minister of lands and forests, introduced a bill to amend the townsite act. This bill brings summer resorts, parks and villages under the act.

Hon. Peter Smith's bill to give the province power to license a billiard or poolroom where there was no by-law passed second reading, but not before it was made clear that the government did not intend to interfere with the rights of a municipality in these matters of licenses. A provision for the proper safeguarding of the municipalities will be inserted in the bill at committee stage.

Two bills of Hon. W. E. Raney, which gave the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board power to fix rates of interest on railway debentures and change the time limit in which return by railways must be sent in to the Ontario board from June to the end of December, were approved.

Later in the day civil government estimates of the department of finance amounting to $413,545 for salaries, and $50,000 for contingencies, as compared with $416,275 and $50,000 for last year, resulted in sharp discussion on the salaries of deputy ministers.

The estimates provide an increase of from $5,000 to $10,000 for the deputy minister of the department of finance, Mr. Fielding maintaining that his deputy minister was entitled to the increase and that the higher salary was being received by other deputies.

Civil government estimates for the office of the governor-general's secretary, amounting to $33,560 for salaries and $66,600 for contingencies, were substantially approved without discussion. The salary vote last year was $33,625; the contingency vote was the same as this year.

Expect Announcement. Immigration estimates passed the house tonight after an intimation that the government would announce its immigration policy when the general immigration estimates are under consideration. It was shown that immigration to Canada in 1921 totalled 148,000, as compared with 45,000 in 1916, but statistics of those who left Canada were not available.

"Failure to keep a record of those leaving the country is like keeping a set of books on one side only," warmly commented A. R. McMaster, Liberal, Brome.

From Progressive benches the plea was made that Canadian immigration agents in the United States would keep a check on Canadians arriving there. And right Hon. Arthur Meighen, leader of the opposition, stressed the need of a "sound" immigration policy.

RAISES TOTAL OF SARNIA BURGLARIES TO THIRTY

Ransacking of Vacant Queen Street Home Discovered by Tinsmiths.

Special to London Advertiser. SARNIA, April 6.—Another burglary was brought to light this morning when tinsmiths, working on the eavestroughs of the residence of Manfred Proctor, 138 Queen street, noticed a window broken, and on investigation found the whole of the ground floor had been ransacked.

Mr. Proctor, with his family, had been wintering in Detroit, and fortunately had placed silverware and other valuables with a bank for safe custody, prior to leaving. It is not thought that the thieves gained much booty.

Sarnia's clever burglars continue their operations in a manner that is disconcerting to the police, who seem unable to find the slightest trace of the identity of the burglars or of any of the hundreds of articles of value that have been stolen in the 30 burglaries or so that have disconcerted the whole city.

MEIGHEN HITS ESTIMATE SNAG

Appears Decidedly Shocked To Know 1921 Appropriation Entirely Spent.

LAST HALF DOLLAR GONE

Small Increases in Several Departments Passed For Ensuing Year.

BY JOHN J. McLELLAN.

HOUSE OF COMMONS, Ottawa, April 6.—Last year's estimates for the civil service of the department of immigration and colonization were $193,257.50. All of this was spent apparently to the last fifty cents.

When the minister of interior was taking up his estimates in the house today, Hon. Arthur Meighen inquired what amount of last year's estimates for the civil government of the department were spent.

Charles Stewart, the minister of interior, replied, "All of it."

The leader of the opposition sank into his seat as if decidedly shocked. The news that his government had spent to the last red nickel of the appropriations of last year upset him considerably.

If hundreds of thousands can be estimated correctly to the last fifty cents, then the last administration had some very shrewd estimators. But, it is more probable that when Mr. Stewart responded, "All of it," he would have been nearer the mark had he added, "An error."

Estimates Passed. Later in the day civil government estimates of the department of finance amounting to $413,545 for salaries, and $50,000 for contingencies, as compared with $416,275 and $50,000 for last year, resulted in sharp discussion on the salaries of deputy ministers.

The estimates provide an increase of from $5,000 to $10,000 for the deputy minister of the department of finance, Mr. Fielding maintaining that his deputy minister was entitled to the increase and that the higher salary was being received by other deputies.

Civil government estimates for the office of the governor-general's secretary, amounting to $33,560 for salaries and $66,600 for contingencies, were substantially approved without discussion. The salary vote last year was $33,625; the contingency vote was the same as this year.

Expect Announcement. Immigration estimates passed the house tonight after an intimation that the government would announce its immigration policy when the general immigration estimates are under consideration. It was shown that immigration to Canada in 1921 totalled 148,000, as compared with 45,000 in 1916, but statistics of those who left Canada were not available.

"Failure to keep a record of those leaving the country is like keeping a set of books on one side only," warmly commented A. R. McMaster, Liberal, Brome.

From Progressive benches the plea was made that Canadian immigration agents in the United States would keep a check on Canadians arriving there. And right Hon. Arthur Meighen, leader of the opposition, stressed the need of a "sound" immigration policy.

J. M. Daly Condemns Public Ownership As Applied To Coal Business.

ADDRESSES ASSOCIATION

Major Coyle Believes Railroad Rates Will Drop in Next Sixty Days.

TORONTO, April 6.—Addressing the 18th annual convention of the Canadian Retail Coal Association here today, President J. M. Daly of London, Ont., condemned public ownership, particularly as applied to the coal business. Public ownership, he said, was a curse where adopted. It was just the same as socialism, as it meant the control by the few. They had tried public ownership in the coal business in some places, and London had lost $6,000 in eight months. In Windsor and Brantford the results were about the same. It meant the destruction of individual industry, and that was the death-knell of any country.

Discussing the cost of coal, Major W. R. Coyle of Bethlehem, Penn., said he was sick of being called a robber and a profiteer. He was not going to pin the badge of shame on any of the three instrumentalities actually in the trade—the miner, the operator or the retailer. But he was going to make the statement that they would all have to shade down their margins of profit. There were tens of thousands of miners who did not know the reason they were on strike.

He had reason to hope that the United States railway rates would come down within the next 60 days. A report of the year's activities was presented by B. A. Caspell, secretary-treasurer, dealing with demurrage, application for reduced freight rates, protests against the Dominion tax on all invoices of over $100.

The meeting will continue tomorrow.

STORM WRECKS ALARM BOXES

Special to London Advertiser. GUELPH, April 6.—Fire Chief Lewis explained today that four fire boxes had been partially, if not entirely destroyed during the recent storm and its consequent electrical confusion. If these boxes have to be entirely replaced and not merely repaired the loss will amount to some figure in the neighborhood of $800. Considerable damage was also caused through the falling of overhead wires, but these are being rapidly repaired.

MAY FACE NEW CHARGES

LONDON, England, April 6.—At the resumption of the trial of Horatio Bottomley, member of Parliament and former editor of "John Bull," today on charges of misappropriating funds of the Victory Bond Club, Prosecutor Humphreys announced he would bring two additional charges against the defendant for fraudulently converting £2,500 and £10,000 on other occasions from the same club.

A London wine merchant testified at today's session that he delivered 55 cases of champagne to Bottomley, each case containing 25 bottles, and that the bill amounted to £1,107. On cross-examination of the witness, Bottomley, who is conducting his own defence, sought to show that in purchasing the champagne he was acting for a group of friends.

THINKS REVOLUTION ONLY SOCIAL CRISIS SOLUTION

Montreal Court Stenographer Addresses 3,000 Unemployed of City.

MONTREAL, April 6.—Nothing but red revolution will solve the unemployment question in this city, according to Albert St. Germain, stenographer of the superior court, who addressed a meeting of about 3,000 workless on the Champ des Mars in front of the city hall this afternoon.

Speaking through a megaphone, Mr. St. Germain announced that further demands of a peaceful nature were futile, and the league of the unemployed would be formed. An executive council on the Soviet model would be chosen, and a "plan of campaign" would be studied.

From the windows of the nearby court houses could be seen hursing and advocates in their robes listening to the speeches of Mr. St. Germain and others. One of the latter wore light grey suede gloves, a raglan spring overcoat and spats, and gave the crowd the benefit of some Latin quotations.

Montreal, Quebec.—"I was a sufferer for three years, not able to do my housework. My husband was discouraged, for I was no better and had had the doctor all this time and nothing helped me. I was always sleepy, had no appetite and suffered with my left side. My mother in England recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound because it had helped my sister, so I have been taking it. I am now able to do my housework and I can not praise my medicine too highly as I have great hopes for the future. I will tell anyone who writes to me what good it has done me."—Mrs. E. Masson, St. Henry P. O., Montreal.

For nearly fifty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been helping women just as it helped Mrs. Masson; oftentimes after doctors and other medicines failed.

If you are suffering from disagreeable symptoms caused by some female weakness, try this splendid medicine. It is a woman's medicine for women's ailments, and can be taken in safety by any woman.

MARRIES TWICE WITHIN 17 DAYS

Son of Millionaire Pittsburg Furniture Maker Sought
by Two Wives.

BOTH HOLD CERTIFICATES

Attorney For Second Mrs.
Joseph Donald Grafton Seeks Indictment.

NEW YORK, April 6.—Exactly 17 days after he married Ellen Curley McIntyre in Youngstown last November 28, Joseph Donald Grafton, son of a millionaire Pittsburg furniture manufacturer, married Peggy Davis, 17-year-old dancer in the "Follies" in New York.

This became known when both "wives" produced their marriage certificates here, following a dramatic visit by Mrs. Grafton the first to the sanitarium where the second Mrs. Grafton lay critically ill. Joseph C. Bickel, attorney for Peggy, said he would go before the grand jury this afternoon and ask for an indictment against Grafton on the charge of bigamy.

Have Not Met.

The two Mrs. Graftons have not met. Mrs. Grafton the first, told her story to "Peggy's" mother because "Peggy" was too ill to be informed of the marriage mixup. Grafton met his Youngstown wife when she was a bookkeeper in his father's Pittsburg office. They were married by B. J. Rosensteel, a Youngstown justice of the peace.

Don Grafton is a "Bluebird," says the first Mrs. Grafton, who believes he has still another wife living in a New England city.

"Every day he was on his honeymoon with Peggy he wrote me the most loving letters. The third day after I married him, I read an advertisement in a weekly publication within which a woman, whose name was given, asked that Joseph Donald Grafton of Pittsburg, husband of her daughter, be located, as his wife was seriously ill.

Claims Mistake Made.

"Donald said it was all a mistake. I believe this woman's daughter may be Polly Lorraine, a chorus girl, who threatened him with a breach of promise suit. "Ever after he put Peggy in the hospital, when he knew her life was in danger, he wrote, telegraphed and telephoned me. He begged me to go to Wilkesbarre with him. But I suspected something was wrong and I refused to go. He had the nerve to mail me letters from Troy, where he went on his honeymoon with Peggy. He had me send mail addressed to him to the place where he was living in New York with Peggy and her mother."

Representatives of both wives today are seeking Grafton, whose whereabouts is unknown. Last Thursday he is said to have entered secretly the apartment he and "Peggy" occupied here and removed all his effects. Before that he had been writing to "Peggy" and her mother from points in Pennsylvania, telling of his struggles to obtain sufficient money to pay for "Peggy's" sanitarium treatment.

REDUCE NUMBER RECEIVING HELP

Brantford Authorities Report Lessening of Those on List from 800 to 100.

RED CROSS FUNDS LOW

"Y" Youths Plan Big Bicycle "Hike" to Detroit on Good Friday.

Special to London Advertiser.

BRANTFORD, April 6.—During the winter there have been as many as 800 persons on the relief list in the city. Officials were very pleased today when it was announced that at the present time there was less than 100 on the list. At tomorrow's meeting of the relief committee it is likely that steps will be taken for giving out relief as a civic undertaking. It is noteworthy that some of the men have taken the value in milk, as they have had their grocery allowance cut $1, and had a dollar's worth of milk instead for the kiddies. Word has been received by Dr. W. L. Hutton, M.O.H., that the funds of the Red Cross Society have become so low that the distribution of milk and eggs through the social service nurses will have to be discontinued. Children of the present school age and often mothers have been benefited by this distribution for some months, and the discontinuance of the milk, is to say, the least regrettable.

Port Huron and Sarnia have been added to the itinerary of the big bicycle "Hike" being planned by the members of the "Y" Outing Club. It was intended originally to make the ride direct through to Detroit, with several stop-overs, and then return via the same route. Instead, however, the "Hikers" will travel around the western shore of Lake St. Clair, and pedal through Marine City, Algona, and other border towns on the American side. It is stated that about a dozen lads will make the trip, which will commence on Good Friday.

ADVANCES BILL TO UNIFY FOUR DEFENCE BODIES

Hon. G. P. Graham's Motion
Excludes Canadian Mounted Police From Measure.

AWAITS THIRD READING

Department's Scope To Include Militia, Military, Naval and Air Forces.

OTTAWA, April 6.—(By Canadian Press.)—After further discussion the bill to create a department of national defence went through committee stage in the house today, and stands for a third reading.

An important amendment excludes the Canadian Mounted Police from the scope of the bill, and the new department will therefore comprise militia, military, naval and air forces.

When the bill was last before the house objection was made to the inclusion of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police on the ground that it was essentially a civil organization.

Today Hon. G. P. Graham, who was in charge of the bill, himself moved the amendment, and it was carried without objection.

Another amendment made affects the superannuation allowances of officers to be retired. The original bill authorized the government, in such cases, to add from one to three years to the actual term of service. An amendment reduces the years which may be added to from one to two years.

Pleas for the retention of experienced and highly-trained military officers were made in the course of the committee discussion.

When the clause providing for the inclusion of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police in the amalgamation of departments came up, Mr. Graham stated that there appeared to be a difference of opinion in the house as to whether this department should be included.

He was not inclined to combat the view that it would be unwise to take in the mounted police, but he warned the house that it would be impossible to effect as great economies through the amalgamation if this department was excluded.

He was aware that many members were of the opinion that the mounted police force should be greatly decreased, and confined to the unorganized territories, but he questioned whether police work could be left to the provinces at present.

Aid Law and Order.
Mr. Graham stated he had written the provincial premiers for their opinion as to the value of the mounted police in their provinces.

The reply from the Ontario government was to the effect that the mounted police were of assistance in the maintenance of law and order, and in co-operating with the provincial police.

Quebec's answer was that the mounted police would be of value in Ungava, but would not be needed in the older sections of the province. Nova Scotia and New Brunswick replied that the mounted police services might be advantageous at times, as was indicated also in the reply from Saskatchewan.

No answers were received from the other provinces.

Whether or not the police were incorporated in the general defence scheme, the strength of the force would be materially reduced.

Mr. Graham moved that the fourth clause of the bill, which indicates the units to come under the amalgamation, be amended by dropping the word "police."

Mr. Meighen congratulated the minister of militia on his decision. The mounted police were not part of the defence forces of Canada, but were for the purpose of maintaining law and order. The administration of the force was a natural work of the department of justice.

R. B. Hanson (Conservative, York Sunbury) asked if the provinces requisitioning for the mounted police were liable to the costs involved.

Liable For Cost.
Mr. Graham said that under the militia act the province and the municipality calling on militia were liable for the cost, and it was possible that the same rule applied to the mounted police.

The clause carried.
Thomas L. Church (Conservative, Toronto North) expressed the hope that the amalgamation would not lead to the retirement of highly-trained officers of the militia department, who had performed valuable work during the war.

Hon. Hugh Guthrie asked the minister if he could state just what officers were to be retired. He had noticed a statement in the press that Major-General Sir Henry Burstall

RED PEPPERS STOP PAIN OF RHEUMATISM

When you are suffering with rheumatism so you can hardly get around just try Red Pepper Rub and you will have the quickest relief known.

Rowles Red Pepper Rub, made from red peppers, costs little at any drug store. Get a jar at once. Use it for lumbago, neuritis, backache, stiff neck, sore muscles, colds in chest. Almost instant relief awaits you. Be sure to get the genuine, with the name Rowles on each package.—Adv.

Seeks Markets For Canadian Products

HON. PETER C. LARKIN.

HON. PETER C. LARKIN, Canada's High Commissioner in England, is today seeking access for Canadian products to the market provided by such great industrial centers in England as London, which has a population nearly as large as that of the Dominion itself.

The Salada Tea Company, the largest tea company in the Western Hemisphere, of which Mr. Larkin is president, is a mute testimonial to the business acumen of Canada's representative overseas.

and Sir Willoughby Gwatkin had been pensioned. The latter, he declared, was an imperial officer who had done very good work for the Canadian militia, but who had virtually retired at the end of the war.

Subsequent to his retirement he had assumed a post on the air board. Major-General Gwatkin, whose services to Canada had been of the highest order, was probably not averse to retiring, but the case of General Burstall was different. He was a Canadian officer and a comparatively young man. His militia training had been complete and in addition he had taken the course which qualified him to be a staff officer. One of the greatest difficulties in time of trouble was to obtain competent staff officers.

Lauds High Standing.
Hon. R. J. Manion (Conservative, Port William), supported Mr. Guthrie's contention. No commanding officer overseas, with the possible exception of Sir Arthur Currie, had a higher standing with the Canadian soldiers than General Burstall. "His retirement has been a puzzle to me," said Dr. Manion.

Hon. S. C. Mewburn (Conservative, Hamilton) hoped the Government would give the problem mature consideration before retiring a highly trained and valuable officer.

Mr. Graham agreed as to the standing of the officers in question. Sir Henry Burstall had reached the highest peak in the service of the Canadian militia, and was entitled to a pension. The retirement of these officers was certainly due to no fault of their own.

The amendments were given second reading and the bill reported from committee.

The third reading of the national defence bill was allowed to stand over until another day at the suggestion of the minister, and the subsidiary bill, which substitutes the new title of the minister of national defence for the old title of the minister of militia and defence in the salaries act and in the Senate and House of Commons act was rapidly put through second reading without discussion.

Mr. Guthrie objected to the third reading taking place today, and Mr. Graham said there was no desire to push the legislation, so the third reading of that bill, too, was allowed to stand over.

J. Fred Johnston (Progressive, Last Mountain) shifted the discussion to the appointment of a deputy minister made last fall. Did the minister think that immigration was big enough to justify the appointment of a new officer?

"There is no immigration," called out another Progressive member, "we might as well wipe out the whole vote."

Mr. Stewart believed there was quite sufficient ground for the appointment of a deputy minister.

"When we place agriculture in the position which it ought to be placed in," he said, "then we will have plenty of immigration. When we have done that, as we intend to do, I believe there will be plenty of work for a minister and therefore for a deputy minister."

T. W. Caldwell congratulated the minister on his statement. "I think," he said, "that such a policy is badly needed."

McMaster Seeks Information.
A. R. McMaster (Liberal, Bromes) asked if there was any way of determining how many persons were leaving the country. "This is difficult to determine," answered Mr. Stewart. Mr. McMaster retorted that failure to keep a proper record of those leaving was like keeping a set of books on one side only. There could be no real basis for a proper immigration policy until the full facts were available. He was convinced that the immigration agents could ascertain the number leaving as well as the number entering.

Mr. Meighen argued that up to the war immigration was continually increasing and was satisfactory. With the cessation of hostilities the immigration department was reorganized to meet the new situation, and records would show that good results had been obtained.

This was not the time to slow down the activities of the immigration

FOUND GUILTY OF TAKING BATTERY

George McGregor of St. Thomas Is Convicted on Theft Charge.

SENTENCE IS DEFERRED

Judge Ross Declines to Accept Alibi Presented by Defense.

Special to London Advertiser.

ST. THOMAS, April 6.—When Judge Ross failed to accept an alibi offered by the defence in county court today, George McGregor of this city, commonly known as "Barney," was found guilty of stealing an automobile battery from the garage of George Hayden of Yarmouth Center, in May, 1921. McGregor was recommended to jail for one week for sentence.

The case was opened a week ago and adjourned until Thursday on account of the non-appearance of a witness, William C. McAllister, proprietor of the Windsor Hotel in Niagara Falls, Ontario, where McGregor claimed to have been stopping at the time the robbery took place.

McAllister appeared in court Thursday and gave evidence for the defence, producing the hotel register showing the registration of "George McGregor of St. Thomas," on May 21, and June 1, 2, 3 and 4. Three of the registrations were signed "Macgregor," while the others were signed "McGregor." McGregor told the court that he signed his name both ways, but usually wrote it "McGregor."

His honor drew attention to this fact in his findings. It looked as if some other person might have signed the registration for McGregor, and he was forced to disbelieve that McGregor was at the hotel when the robbery took place.

His honor also referred to the fact that McGregor had admitted that a man named McGowan had been at the hotel at the same time, and is now a resident of this city, an employee in the Michigan Central shops. Why had he not been produced as a witness? Also, why had not a man named Ward, who McGregor claimed had occupied a room with him, not been summoned?

McGregor deposed that Ward was suffering from tubercular trouble contracted overseas, and his exact whereabouts were not known to his mother and brothers.

When McGregor took the witness stand in his own behalf, he told the court that he had bought the battery in question from Frank Proctor, a young man who is wanted by the police at the present time on a charge of defaulting bail. Proctor disappeared early in December of last year. McGregor swore that he had bought the battery from Proctor in November, and had been given to understand that it had been procured in a proper manner.

SAYS HARDING IS BRITAIN'S FRIEND

TORONTO, April 6.—Elwood J. Turner of Chester, Pa., an international Kiwanian trustee, was the chief speaker at a luncheon given by the Toronto Kiwanis Club today, and the gathering was international in tone. Chester W. Martin, United States consul in Toronto, responded to the toast to the president of the United States, and said the present incumbent of that high office was "a true friend of the British nation." Mr. Martin referred to the fact that in his country Canadian Day was being celebrated today by over 500 Kiwanis clubs.

MOSCOW PARTY REACHES GENOA

Soviet Delegation of 25 Members Will Be Quartered At Rapallo.

MONARCHISTS EXPELLED

Italian Police Clear Vicinity of Russians of Old Regime.

GENOA, April 6.—George Chit-cherin, Russian Soviet foreign minister; Maxim Litvinoff, deputy foreign minister, and the other members of the Russian delegation to the Genoa economic conference, traveling with them, arrived at Genoa this morning from Berlin.

The party which numbered twenty-five persons, did not leave the train here, remaining on board as it proceeded to Rapallo, fifteen miles south-east of this city, where the delegation is to be quartered.

The arrival of the Russian representatives was unattended by noteworthy incidents. Genoa and its environs have been cleared of suspicious characters, who it was feared might disturb the coming international economic conference. Strangely enough, most of the Russians expelled from Nervi and other watering places in the vicinity of Genoa were monarchists, chiefly members of the old aristocracy, who claimed that they must remain in Italy for health reasons.

It is expected the conference will last two months. It will be inaugurated by Premier Facta, who will voice the greetings of Italy to the object of the conference. The foreign delegations and the entire gram of the meeting will be set forth in a speech by M. Schanzer, foreign minister.

FRENCH LACK AUTHORITY.
PARIS, April 6.—The French delegates are going to the Genoa conference without full powers, it develops from reports of Premier Poincaré's final instructions to them. This decision of the government is being much discussed in political circles, where it is looked upon as likely to develop complications.

It is remarked that the allied powers, when they met at Genoa and decided to call the conference, insisted that the Russian Soviet government must send delegates with power to negotiate. The Russian delegation, therefore, it is declared, would be justified in taking exception to the presence of the delegation of an important state without full powers.

TO BUILD NEW SEPARATE SCHOOL AT STRATFORD

Modern Structure Costing $60,000 To Be Erected at Early Date.

Special to London Advertiser.

STRATFORD, April 6.—Imposing in appearance and thoroughly modern in construction will be the new separate school, which will be erected here in the near future. The plans include all the latest ideas in school construction, and the buildings will cost approximately $60,000.

J. M. Cowan of Toronto, who is the architect, states that the school will be a two-story brick structure, consisting of six classrooms, two laboratories, a medical room and the principal's room. The floors in all rooms will be of hardwood, while those in the corridors will be of concrete with terrazzo finish.

With steam heating system, and, as a special feature, a separate lunchroom for the lay teachers and sisters, this school will be one of the finest in the city.

BORDEN LEAVES FOR SWITZERLAND

OTTAWA, April 6.—(By Canadian Press.)—Sir Robert Borden is leaving today for Lausanne, Switzerland, to attend the sessions of an arbitral tribunal, of which he is a member. The arbitration is between the government of Great Britain and the government of Peru, and relates to the rights of the International Petroleum Company, on whose behalf the British government made diplomatic intervention. Dr. Fritz Oster, tag, president of the federal court of Switzerland, is president of the tribunal, and the third member is Dr. Glicerio Canino, a distinguished jurist of Peru.

The questions at issue are largely questions of law, as the material facts upon which the company bases its title to considerable areas of oil-producing lands in Peru are not seriously in dispute.

LAUNCH LIBERAL CLUB IN SARNIA

Organization Formed by Young Reformers Is Formally Opened.

KING SENDS GREETINGS

Enthusiasm Prevails When New Body Holds Inaugural Meeting.

Special to London Advertiser.
SARNIA, April 6.—Three times postponed through unforeseen circumstances, the newly-organized West Lambton Young Liberal Club was formally opened tonight, the occasion being marked by a social gathering of several hundred prominent Liberals of the city, including a number of visiting friends. Congratulatory speeches by Thomas H. Cook, one of the leading figures in Liberalism locally for many years; John Hayne, and other prominent Liberals were made to the younger element who were responsible for the organization of the club. In his address, Mr. Cook expressed appreciation of the need of some such organization for the upholding of the cause, and for the promotion of social intercourse among the Liberals of the community. He predicted a notable future for the club.

Premier Sends Greetings.
Senator F. F. Pardee was unavoidably absent, having been called to Ottawa on business, but he left a message of good-will for the occasion, and a similar message was received from Premier King and from other notables.

The evening was pleasantly passed, euchre and music being diversions, while a number of Liberal ladies exerted themselves with splendid results to provide refreshments for the gathering.

The club is the premises formerly occupied as the Tea Kettle Inn, on North Front street. They are spacious and comfortable, consisting of a large sitting and dining room that will accommodate easily 100 people, and a card and billiard room, with a third room available as a kitchen.

The furnishings are of wicker work, and as the quarters have been recently decorated in a pleasant color scheme, they present a very cosy and inviting appearance.

Over the fireplace in the main room is a reproduction of a painting of the late Sir Wilfrid Laurier, presented to the club by The London Advertiser.

The West Lambton Young Liberal Club came into existence recently following a "get together" meeting held on Jan. 31, of a number of prominent Liberal workers of the city. The need for a club was felt not only by the younger element of the party supporters, but by a very welcome sprinkling of veterans, who readily offered their support to the coming stalwarts of the Liberal party in the West Lambton constituency. A decision was quickly reached to the effect that the organization be directed and operated by the younger element, but with the honorary association of the older element.

It was also definitely decided at the initial meeting to obtain suitable accommodation and to name the new organization the West Lambton Young Liberal Club. Prominently identified with the initial movement were John Cowan, Jun., Ray Donohue, Ald. T. H. Cook, Ald. G. A. C. Andrew, C. H. Belton, John Hayne, A. M. LeBel, John Dalziel, Harrison Shanks, Dr. Tutt and Dr. Galbraith and others.

Set Membership Fee.
A membership fee of $5 for active members and $10 for honorary members was decided. Qualification age was set at 50 for active membership and honorary membership over that age.

Premier Accepts.
Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King wrote and stated that he would gladly accept the office of honorary president. Senator Pardee was unanimously elected honorary vice-president, and the following list of active officers were elected: President, J. R. Donohue; secretary, H. M. Taylor; treasurer, A. M. LeBel; executive, Alec Carr, John McClester, John Dalziel, Harrison Shanks, John Williams, Malcolm Mackenzie, George Andrews, Joseph Leckie, Dr. Tutt, Dr. Mackinley, George Galloway, C. J. Driscoll, Christopher Ward and William Trusler.

The club is now away to an excellent start, and promises under capable direction to accomplish the purpose for which it was organized and to be an important factor in upholding the solidarity of Liberalism in the West Lambton constituency.

End Rheumatism, Weak, Lame Back

Old St. Jacobs Oil will stop pain and stiffness in a few moments

Stop "dosing" rheumatism.

It's pain only. St. Jacobs' Oil will stop any pain, and not one rheumatism case in fifty requires internal treatment. Rub soothing, penetrating St. Jacobs' Oil right on the tender spot, and by the time you say Jack Robinson out comes the rheumatic pain and distress. St. Jacobs' Oil is a harmless rheumatism liniment, which never disappoints, and does not burn the skin. It takes pain, soreness and stiffness from aching joints, muscles and bones; stops sciatica, lumbago, backache and neuralgia.

Limber up! Get a small trial bottle of old-time, honest St. Jacobs' Oil from any drug store, and in a moment you'll be free from pains, aches and stiffness. Don't suffer! Rub rheumatism away.—Advt.

NEW MEAT BYLAW.
The sale of veal under three weeks' old will not be permitted under a new meat bylaw, which is in the course of preparation by the board of health. Many new regulations for the protection of the public will be found in the new measure.

"I am rather surprised that the matter has remained dormant so long," said Charles Mitchell, one of the members of the board, when discussing the matter. "The old meat bylaw was obsolete long ago."

Improve Provincial Act.
The new bylaw will be drafted along the lines of the provincial act, and will contain even more up-to-date regulations than that measure.

Slaughtering or dressing of meats is to be absolutely prohibited within the city limits. In regard to slink veal, the present bylaw allows the sale of veal two weeks old. Under an old city bylaw the limit was four weeks. The present board, on the advice of Dr. Tamlin, decided to make the limit three weeks.

Cannot Hold Bad Meat.
Some time ago the board of officers tried to prosecute a butcher who had bad meat in his refrigerator. The magistrate held that it was not on display, and therefore there was no evidence of sale, and the case was thrown out. The new bylaw will take care of such cases, placing a ban on any butcher having tainted meat of any kind on his premises.

Charles Anderson, a representative of the butchers, attended the meeting. The board decided to prepare copies of the tentative bylaw and submit it for the perusal of the butchers. If they have any objections to offer or suggestions to make, they can do so at the next meeting of the board.

During the drafting of the bylaw one of the members congratulated City Clerk Baker on the manner in which he shaped the clauses for the bylaw.

AWAITS $40,000 LEGACY

Wilson Crothers Tries to Break 5-Year Clause in Father's Will.

TORONTO, April 6.—Justice Orde has ordered judgment on the application by Wilson G. Crothers for the payment over to him now of the $40,000 bequeathed to him by the will of his father, Hon. W. T. Crothers, former minister of labor in the Borden cabinet, who died December 10, 1921.

Under the will Hon. T. W. Crothers directed that his son, who is now 25 years of age and living in California, should wait five years after his death before receiving the legacy. In the meantime he was to receive only the interest on it.

T. J. Agar, K.C., for the applicant, argued that the gift of the principal and interest entitled his client to receive the legacy at once. This was disputed by H. S. White, K.C., for the executrix.

FARMERS WAGE FIRST BATTLE IN MANITOBA

Present Election Campaign Marks Their Initial Effort As Official Body.

HAVE MANY CANDIDATES

Recent Test of Group Government, Under Premier Norris, Proved Failure.

Winnipeg, Man., April 7. — (By Canadian Press). — The sixteenth Legislative Assembly of Manitoba, which has passed into history after a brief and undistinguished existence, was elected June 29, 1920, and thus had lived less than half its normal term. The polling on that date resulted in the election, in a house of 55 members, of 21 government supporters, twelve independent farmers, eleven Labor members, seven Conservatives, and four Independents. The government therefore was in a minority, in relation to the strength of the combined opposition groups, and it was only by the grace of independent, and occasional opposition support, that the Norris cabinet was able to carry on the administration for the past two years. Manitoba, therefore, has afforded the first real test in Canada of group government.

Hon. T. C. Norris, who succeeded Sir Rodmond Roblin as prime minister of the province in May, 1915, has been a member of the Legislature since 1896, with the exception of one term. After the 1920 election he met the Legislature, as leader of the largest group, faced innumerable "crises," when it appeared that the government was to be defeated, and emerged without having sustained a reverse. It was found that at the critical moment there was always sufficient support forthcoming from members of the opposition group to secure for the administration a working majority. The accepted rules of procedure had to be altered in many respects, however. The government could control by its own votes neither the house nor its committees. Important items of business had to be debated in committee of the whole, rather than in caucus. Debates were apt to be drawn out to a wearisome extent, and the private member found himself in a position where his influence on legislation was far more pronounced than in a Legislative body where the administration party was able to dictate policy. The premier took the stand from the outset that he would resign at any time on the passing of a straight want of confidence vote.

Cause of Defeat.
The Legislature at its first session passed a resolution demanding the abolition of the public utilities commission, and it was this action which led eventually to the defeat of the government. When the house met again this year it was found that the commission was being continued in existence, and P. A. Talbot, of La Verandrye, one of the independent group, placed on the order paper a motion to censure the government for its alleged disobedience of the Legislature. The adoption of this motion by a majority of four resulted in the resignation of the Norris cabinet, and the election which now has been called.

In the meantime, at the request of the lieutenant-governor, and by an arrangement among the group leaders, the Legislature until it had concluded disposition of business which was considered essential and non-contentious. A proposal to levy a provincial income tax was one of the bills which was dropped in the re-arrangement of business. Another was a bill which would have permitted the operation of Sunday trains to the beach resorts on Lake Winnipeg.

Winnipeg's ten members are elected by the proportional representation system, but in the rural constituencies the old system of balloting prevails. The government had introduced a bill which would have brought about the use of the transferable vote in single-member constituencies, but following the adverse vote, this proposal went into the basket of discarded legislation.

First Official Fight.
The campaign which is now in progress witnesses the entrance to the field of active provincial politics of the organized farmers of Manitoba. In the 1920 elections the United Farmers of Manitoba as a body took no part, and farmers who were elected in opposition to the Norris government ran as independent opposition candidates. It was decided, however, at the last U. F. M. convention that the organization as such should take direct political action for the achievement of its political ambitions.

"Believing," says the declaration of principles which the Farmers adopted at that time, "that responsibility is laid upon us for preparing to take up as one of the auxiliary duties of our democracy, any tasks that may fall to our lot in the near or more distant future, we hereby formally declare our purpose of concerning ourselves directly with the problems of government in the province." It will be left to the constituency organizations to declare whether or not they shall nominate candidates, but it is the expectation of provincial leaders of the movement that there will be an official Farmer candidate in every rural riding, and perhaps as well in Winnipeg. Should Farmer members control the next Legislature they will be prepared to form a government. In that event it is thought that they would follow in the precedent of the Alberta Farmers in choosing a leader and premier by a post-election caucus of elected and defeated candidates. Nominating meetings are being held everywhere throughout the province by the various parties, and there will be an unprecedented number of candidates, according to present indications.

ROYALISTS DEMAND HONOR FOR THEIR LATE EMPEROR

Church Services Are Signal for Great Demonstration in Austria's Capital City.

Vienna, April 7.—A requiem mass for the late Emperor Charles in St. Stephen's Cathedral yesterday precipitated Vienna's first royalist demonstration as a direct outcome of his death. The church was filled with nobility, and many members of the government, including Chancellor Schöber, while the square was packed with crowds unable to enter. The vast assemblage outside sang the old royal anthem, then, forming a vast abreast marched to the parliament buildings and sent a deputation demanding that the government pay fitting honor to the ex-emperor.

A few minutes later the flags on parliament were half-masted. In the meantime mounted police gradually dispersed the growing throngs.

In the afternoon the chancellor called at the Hungarian legation and expressed condolences.

OUR INVESTMENT is enormous because every appliance in this cafe has been purchased with the one thought in our minds that a complete service must be accorded every customer at any and all times. The kitchen, dining-room and restaurant appointments represent the most advanced ideas in cafe furniture and fixtures.

Money can be lavishly expended upon the environment of a dining-room table or a restaurant chair, but the food must be perfect in every particular and the cuisine unexcelled. We have experts in the purchase and preparation of food and their ambition will ever and always be directed to the satisfying of the most fastidious tastes.

Announcing the Opening of London's New Home Furnishing Store TODAY and Following Days

THE residents of London and surrounding community are cordially invited to inspect our large, new and bright Home Furnishings Store today and following days. Our store is especially adapted for the proper display of home furnishings. Our immense showroom is on one floor, having abundance of natural light, eliminating all artificial illumination, thus enabling our customers to see everything in its natural color.

We will carry a complete stock of everything for the home, including Furniture for every room in the house, Rugs in all sizes, Linoleums, Veranda Furniture, Baby Carriages, Souvenir Stoves and Ranges. Our stock was purchased from Canada's best manufacturers of household furniture.

Every article in the store has been purchased within the last two months at present low reconstruction prices. We own our store, which is out of the HIGH COST district, and having eliminated the heavy overhead expenses, our prices are reasonable, low and within the reach of all.
