Trades and Labor Council Denounces William Gray

Describes Him As an Enemy of Organized Labor.

Vote Carried Nearly Two to One---Mr. Marks' Statement Confirmed by St. Thomas Man.

The Trades and Labor Council of London, which is composed of representatives of all the trades unions in the city, met last night, and put through by a vote of nearly two to one, a resolution denouncing Mr. William Gray, the present Conservative candidate, as the enemy of organized labor. Of the 31 members present, only 12 voted against the resolution.

The matter came up through an article which was published in the Industrial Banner, which is the spokesman of organized labor in this district, a few days after the Hyman-Gray election in November last. In the plainest possible manner the Banner stated that Mr. Gray had knifed the street railway strikers at the time of the big strike in this city. As Mr. Gray had seen fit to pose as the candidate of the workingmen in this election, as he did in November last, The Advertiser reproduced the article from the Banner, and the workingmen of the city at once began an investigation.

At the trades council last night, Editor Marks, of the Banner, told the whole story to the council, and he backed up his statements with an affidavit bearing on the case.

A document signed by prominent union men of St. Thomas, as well as by members of the London Old Boys' Association, of that city, was also produced, certifying that Mr. Gray had advised the London Old Boys of St. Thomas to ride the Springbank cars when they came to London; that he had referred to Mr. Marks, who was the delegate of the union men of London, as a curse to the city, and that he had stated that the people of London were not in sympathy with the strikers.

As Dr. Guest, a Conservative worker of St. Thomas, had seen fit to come to London and deliver a garbled version of the affair in order to square Mr. Gray with the union men, Mr. W. K. Sanderson, a prominent member of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, of St. Thomas, and a man in whom all labor men in that city have confidence, appeared before the trades council here and backed up the statements of Mr. Marks, the editor of the Banner.

The result was that the resolution, which is given in full on this page, was carried by a very large vote, and the labor men of London put themselves on record as declaring Mr. Gray to be the enemy of organized labor.

After the resolution had been carried certain members of the council, who are strong political friends of the Conservative candidate, persisted in discussing the matter at such length that Mr. C. J. Meaden, the president, resigned his position.

In its report of the meeting Mr. Gray's organ grossly misrepresented the facts, and a full denial by Mr. Meaden of the Free Press' report will be found in another column.

LABOR DENOUNCES GRAY

That while this Trades and Labor Council does not desire to make any pronouncement as regards the political policy of either party in the present contest it desires to place it on record that during the Street Railway Strike in 1899, Mr. William Gray, the present Conservative candidate, proved by his action in St. Thomas that he was an enemy of Organized Labor.

Resolution adopted last night by the Trades and Labor Council of London.

MARKS OR GRAY?

Mr. William Gray has given what he calls an "emphatical" denial to the statements in the Industrial Banner, the labor organ.

These statements were published last November; they were repeated nearly two weeks ago in these columns, but not until Tuesday last did Mr. Gray attempt to meet them.

The moment he entered a denial he was confronted by the affidavit of Mr. Joseph T. Marks, publisher of the Banner, who took oath that the charges in the Banner were true.

This is a very important question for the citizens of London, whether they are members of trade unions or not.

It comes home to every elector, because it concerns the veracity of a man who aspires to represent the citizens of London in Parliament.

The people should weigh the evidence and form their own conclusions.

Mr. Gray's statement, so far, stands unsupported. Dr. Guest, of St. Thomas, who was brought to London to make a statement on the matter, did not specifically deny the accusations in the labor organ.

Against Mr. Gray there is the sworn testimony of Mr. Marks, backed by the affirmation of St. Thomas men who attended the eventful meeting.

The Trades and Labor Council of the city stands by Mr. Marks.

Billy Gray and His Friends

Politics makes queer bedfellows, as Billy Gray is prepared to admit. When he looks back ten days and thinks of the strange and variegated company he has been in, it's enough to make his head swim. When he looks forward to a continued association with double-dealers, Janus faces and tergiversators it is enough to fill him with blank dismay.

But Billy is not easily frightened. Where ignorance is bliss, 'tis folly to be wise. He shuts his eyes and swallows anything his political friends say is good for him. In the course of the campaign, Billy has successfully swallowed half a dozen men who had previously swallowed themselves. This is a feat of acrobatic cannibalism which should strain Billy's capacity. He will only realize what he has done when the pangs of digestion set in. Of all the tramp patriots Billy Gray's organization has brought in from outside parts to tell London what to do, there is not one that can look himself in the eye and say: "Here's a man that doesn't change with the wind. I stand where I did nine years ago."

Consistency, some cynical person has said, is the virtue of fools. There is no consistency, say others, except consistency with the present. And yet the great true-hearted people like to think of consistency of the old-fashioned sort. They like to feel that a man sticks to his principles, through thick and thin, and doesn't lay them aside for a temporary advantage. Billy's platform helpers are about as consistent as Billy himself. Everybody knows where Billy stood in regard to the workingmen last November and where, it now transpires, he stood in August, 1899, when he acted as a strike-breaker. Billy has had some practice in doubling back. Perhaps, that is what makes it comparatively easy for him to keep a straight face when he listens to Mr. Foster and others crossing their hearts and hoping to die if they don't speak the truth.

Mr. George Eulas Foster was the first man Billy Gray had to bolt. Mr. Foster was easy bolting, for he had bolted before. He was one of the seven cabinet ministers who deserted Sir Mackenzie Bowell when that amiable old gentleman showed an inclination to keep Sir Charles Tupper out of the shoes that had been promised him. Sir Mackenzie took the matter quite hard. He spoke of Mr. Foster and his associates as a nest of traitors, and to this day he has not forgiven him. Only a month or two ago this veteran statesman had it out with Mr. Foster again, and the austere walls of the Senate Chamber re-echoed to the language of recrimination as Sir Mackenzie told what he thought of his former colleague. In 1896 Sir Mackenzie Bowell, having been displaced, Mr. Foster entered into a conspiracy with Sir Charles Tupper and others to force separate schools of the aggravated sort on the Province of Manitoba. They disguised their purpose by calling it a Remedial Bill. It was a remedy that aimed to kill rather than cure. Mr. Foster was foremost among those who put up the medicine. The country refused to take it. The Liberal party came into power and provincial rights were saved.

Mr. Foster is now engaged in looking at the back of his own neck. He tells Billy Gray and London that he is no longer a coercionist. When he said the same thing in the House of Commons, the statement was received with incredulous laughter, and Dr. Sproule and Col. Sam Hughes had to leave suddenly. They simply couldn't see how Mr. Foster had the nerve to say it. Remembering his speeches in 1896, they hurried away so as to miss the humiliating spectacle of their former Finance Minister eating crow by the ton. It was indeed a pitiable sight. It was only Foster's sublime assurance and glib tongue that took him around that sharp corner. Mr. Foster is used to taking sharp curves. His t political birthright was prohibition. He floated into fame and fortune on the cold water wave. He promised great things as a moral reformer. When he became a cabinet minister he did not try to introduce prohibitory measures. In fact, he turned the prohibitionists down. He said his zeal for the good cause was as great as ever, but that Governments had to be practical, and that prohibition was impractical. When he was taunted in the House with the heroics of his salad days when, being willing to say anything that would help George Foster's career he had protested that principles were things to stand by though the heavens fall, he shrugged his shoulders, smiled wanly, and stated that he had said what he did "in a moment of weakness." From which it follows that Mr. Foster regards consistency as a weakness.

Still Mr. Foster would like to have a reputation for consistency, and we can give it to him. In 1896 he was in favor of separate schools for the west. In 1905 he may still be in favor of them for all we know. Mr. Foster is not fighting separate schools today. He is fighting national schools, the separate schools in the new provinces being so like public schools that it would take a Philadelphia lawyer to discover the difference. This ought to square Mr. Foster with his record. Although it would be inconsistent to favor separate schools and then to fight them—which would be both sides of the question—it is not inconsistent to favor separate schools and fight national schools as he does now. It is a distinction that a metaphysician will easily grasp. Still Billy Gray would be well advised to keep an eye on Foster, who is a great hand at playing both ends against the middle.

Mr. Borden has taken part in the campaign. His past is not as deadly as Mr. Foster's because he has not been in the business as long. He was made leader of his party because he wore the white flower of a blameless political life. It must be remembered that he helped his kinsman, Sir Charles Tupper, in 1896, and spoke on Nova Scotia platforms in favor of coercing Manitoba. Mr. Borden clothed the idea in high-sounding language, but the naked truth is that he was a coercionist when he thought it would assist his party nine years ago. It takes away from his offense to know that he was not a political candidate at the time, and that what he did toward squeezing Manitoba was done out of sheer goodness of heart and family affection for an old man nearing the end of his career.

Since Mr. Borden went into Parliament he has not been so successful in keeping his garment of consistency unsmirched. When the Grand Trunk Pacific problem came up, he refused to stick to any one policy for any length of time. There were three policies suggested by him in as many months, and their only point of consistency was that they all proposed to relieve the C. P. R. of its unprofitable North Shore section by having the Government buy it. When the Autonomy Bill was introduced, Mr. Borden took the ground that it was not a question of separate schools. Dr. Sproule says it is, and Mr. Borden does not contradict him. Mr. Borden is willing to reap the benefit of any misunderstanding. His amendment is a masterpiece of political buncombe. He says he stands for provincial rights absolutely and unreservedly. His amendment says that he stands for provincial rights, as defined by the British North America Act, that is to say, that he doesn't know what those rights are and that he would like a postponement. If Mr. Borden had wished to hand over the control of education to the provinces without restriction or limitation there was a simply way of doing it. He could have moved an amendment that such be done, "notwithstanding anything in the constitution." As matters stand, Mr. Borden is open to the charge of disingenuousness, Billy Gray, good, guileless soul, will feel bad to hear that even his leader is not above the reproach of looking both ways for Sunday.

Dr. Sproule is a man of sincere convictions. He is consistent on the separate school question. True, he shuts his eyes to the fact that the cases of Manitoba and the Northwest are not analogous, but he acts according to his lights. And yet, see what fellowship with dissimulators does for the doctor! When Dr. Sproule appears on the same platform with Mr. Borden, the doctor says nothing that could imperil Mr. Borden's designs on the minority, whom he does not wish to offend. But when Dr. Sproule finds himself in congenial company, like Mr. Cockshutt, and the restraint of the leader's presence removed, Dr. Sproule makes the welkin ring with statistics to prove that the Orange Lodges are the only places that are free from crime and, from the depths of his inner consciousness, Mr. Cockshutt calls all that differ from him bigots. When the cat's away the mice will play. This is how Dr. Sproule and Mr. Cockshutt behave when Mr. Borden is not on the job to see that the feelings of the minority are not hurt. Billy Gray will have to keep a sharp lookout on Dr. Sproule and Mr. Cockshutt. Where there is so much of this not letting the right hand know what the left hand is doing, it is just as well to keep one's eye skinned.

Mr. R. B. Bennett, of Calgary, blew into London. He was supposed to have a message straight from the great indignant heart of the west. It seems however, that Mr. Bennett came in reply to a telegram from Mr. Borden, and that the party organization in Oxford

LABOR EDITOR CALLS THE "F. P."

Mr. Marks was seen by a reporter today in regard to the statements concerning him which appeared in the Free Press today.

"I did not receive $10 a day for the work I performed on the Pere Marquette investigation," he said. "I was paid the regular rate of $5 per day and actual traveling expenses, and I think the report shows that I earned the money. I absolutely deny the statement that I was around with Ralph Smith. Though he has been a personal friend of mine for many years, I have not had fifteen minutes' conversation with him altogether. I might add that the Free Press was only too glad to quote the resolution passed against Mr. Rumball by the Trades Council last winter. The paper did not attack me then."

MR. HYMAN THE CHAMPION OF THE RAILWAY MEN

Government Fighting Their Battles Through the Courts.

Protecting Canadian Railway Employes Against Alien Labor.

Mr. Gray's organ is trying hard to break the force of the blow which organized labor has struck at its candidate.

It repeats the old cry that Mr. Hyman took sides with the railway companies against the members of the Grand Trunk Provident Society.

The Grand Trunk men know that in sending the bill to the supreme court of Canada the Liberal Government was working in their interests. And now the measure is to be sent to the Privy Council at the expense of the Government, so that when the workman sues the company for damages the company will not be able to beat the workman out of his dues by falling back on the plea that the bill is ultra vires—that is, that the Parliament of Canada had not the power to pass the bill.

In brief, the case is this:

Parliament might have gone ahead and passed the measure offhand and placed it on the statute books of Canada. Then, in the course of time, a workman might have been injured. He would instruct his lawyer to bring suit against the company, but the latter would fall back on the plea that Parliament had exceeded its functions, and that it had no power to pass the bill. Then it would have devolved upon the workman who had brought the suit to prove that the bill was perfectly legal.

This would have meant the carrying of the case to the supreme court, which would mean the expenditure of a small fortune. Then if the supreme court declared the bill to be legal, the company, in all probability, as the matter is such an important one to them, would have appealed to the Privy Council in England. This would mean that the workman would either have to expend another large sum of money or else cry quits with the company. And the entire litigation would take up well on to two years. What workman would be able to stand this tremendous strain? How would he live, how would his wife and family live, while the case was going through the courts? Where would he get the thousands of dollars from to fight the company and pay lawyers in England to look after his interests?

But Mr. Hyman stepped in and said that such a bill would not be of any use to the poor man. While on the surface it would appear that the poor man had full powers to sue the company under its provisions, his hands were practically tied. He could do nothing.

The result was that the Government, feeling sure that it had full powers to pass the bill, sent it at once to the supreme court for a ruling, with the result that that judicial body decided that the bill was intra vires, or perfectly legal. But one court yet remains to which the company might appeal in order to defeat the workman—the Privy Council of England.

And the Grand Trunk men of London have the word of Mr. Hyman and the word of Mr. Mulock, Minister of Labor, that the bill will be carried at the expense of the Government to the Privy Council, so that when once that body gives its ruling the workman who is injured, or his widow, may bring suit against the company, and the case will be decided on the evidence as to the accident alone.

There will be no hiding behind the plea that the workman has no ground for action against the company because of the alleged fact that the law under which he sues is ultra vires. There will be no chance to wear out the plaintiff by appeals from one court to another, so as to make him settle at the company's terms. There will be no necessity for the workingman, or the widow of the workingman, mortgaging the little home to get money to fight the company through half a dozen courts. Mr. Hyman has seen to it that the workingman shall have a chance to secure his rights, and that the law proceedings shall be within his means.

This is what Mr. Hyman has done. The Free Press knows that this is what he has done, and now that it has no better ammunition to fire it is filling its pages with the slanders of the past.

Mr. Hyman has given another proof

RALPH SMITH, M.P., WAS SURPRISED

Labor Member Nails Another Untruth in Gray's Organ.

Mr. Gray's organ has thrown truth to the winds in the desperation of a forlorn hope.

Today's issue teems with falsehoods. The Gray organ has deliberately put words into the mouth of the president of the Trades and Labor Council which he never used. This shameful conduct is exposed elsewhere on this page.

Another untruth is the organ's statement that Mr. Ralph Smith, the labor member for Nanaimo, B. C., influenced the decision of the trades and labor council meeting, which condemned Mr. William Gray last night.

"I know nothing about local labor matters," said Mr. Smith today, "and was amazed when I read the statement in the Free Press. I had absolutely nothing to do with last night's meeting. I am here to speak at the Jubilee Rink tomorrow night. Yesterday I was in the East End talking to a great many workingmen and describing the labor legislation of the Dominion Government."

Mr. Smith, who has had charge of several bills in the interests of railwaymen, will discuss railway matters at tomorrow night's meeting. He is a leading Methodist and will take up the challenge of Mr. Gray's organ by dealing with the action of the British Columbia Methodist Conference, of which he is a member.

BORDEN'S TRIBUTE TO FRANK OLIVER

"A Gentleman of Absolute and Perfect Independence," He Says.

Tomorrow night Frank Oliver, the Minister of the Interior, will be one of the speakers at the meeting in the Jubilee rink.

Frank Oliver is a typical westerner. He went to Winnipeg in his teens, worked as a reporter on a Winnipeg paper, and a few years later established the first paper at Edmonton, printed on a small hand-press, which was carted over the prairies.

He entered the Northwest Council in 1883, and has been a prominent public figure ever since. He is a man of sturdy independence and great energy of character. On March 3 last Mr. Borden leader of the Opposition, paid him this handsome tribute in the House of Commons:

"I think that Mr. Oliver would make a very good minister of the interior, and I am inclined to press his claims. He is a good friend of mine personally, though we differ somewhat politically, and I stand here to urge the claims of my honorable friend from Edmonton to this position. He is a gentleman of ripe experience, and of great ability, and, as we all know, a gentleman of absolute and perfect independence upon all questions."

Col. Sam Hughes at the same time urged the Government to appoint Mr. Oliver and "test the feeling of the country in that way."

"Give us," cried Mr. Foster, "one single solitary instance of allowing one portion at least of the people of the Northwest to pronounce upon the policy of this autonomy bill, which is so all-important to that country."

The Government took the advice of Mr. Borden, made Mr. Oliver, Minister of the Interior, and opened the riding

THE LABOR PRESIDENT REBUKES GRAY'S ORGAN

It Put Words Into His Mouth He Never Used—He Favored the Resolution Declaring Gray To Be an Enemy of Labor.

"It is incorrect from the start. There is not a word of truth in it. I do not know or care where they got it from, but I wish to contradict it absolutely."

This is the statement made to The Advertiser today by Mr. Charles J. Meaden, late president of the Trades and Labor Council, when shown the report of the meeting of the Trades Council, which appeared in the Free Press this morning. Mr. Gray's organ, following its usual course of misrepresentation, in flaring headlines announced that Mr. Meaden resigned last night as a protest against the passing of a resolution which declared Mr. Gray to be the enemy of organized labor. The Free Press also savagely attacked Editor Marks, of the Industrial Banner, hurling insinuations at him which will be resented by every labor man in London. After reading the article Mr. Meaden said:

"I am not a politician, and I have never been one. I do not believe in introducing political matters into trades unions or trades councils, but I believe that as the Trades Council had seen fit to put itself on record as opposed to Mr. Rumball in the last election in this city it was only right and just that if the charges made against Mr. Gray could be brought home, the council should also pass a resolution against him.

"I never mentioned Mr. Marks as the Free Press says I did. I did not say that if he persisted in putting through the resolution against Mr. Gray I would resign.

"I did not resign because of the fact that the resolution against Mr. Gray was put through, but because after the resolution had been voted on and carried by nearly two to one—19 to 12—certain members of the Council persisted in wrangling over the matter in an attempt, as I thought, to have the resolution reconsidered.

"I wish to say as emphatically as I can say it that I consider MR. MARKS THE SQUAREST AND TRUEST ORGANIZED LABOR MAN I HAVE EVER KNOWN. I HAVE THE FULLEST CONFIDENCE IN HIM AS A LABOR UNIONIST AND A MAN.

"I BELIEVE EVERY WORD MR. MARKS SAID WHEN HE TOLD THE TRADES COUNCIL WHAT MR. GRAY DID AT ST. THOMAS. I BELIEVE EVERY WORD MR. W. K. SANDERSON SAID ON THE SAME SUBJECT, AND AS THE VOTE SHOWED, THE MAJORITY OF THE REPRESENTATIVES OF ORGANIZED LABOR BELIEVED THE STATEMENTS TO BE TRUE.

"The Free Press has no ground for printing the article which appears in this morning's paper. It is false from start to finish. What the paper alleges never took place at the meeting of the Trades Council last night."

More Inflammatory Talk; Hughes in West London

The Colonel and Wm. F. Maclean, M.P., Address Electors in Behalf of Gray.

A large crowd of electors gathered last evening in Collins Hall, West London, to hear Col. Sam Hughes, M. P. for South Victoria, and Mr. W. F. Maclean, M. P. for South York, speak on behalf of the Conservative candidate. It was noteworthy, however, that there were not more than 50 West Londoners in the audience, although the small hall was crowded to the doors, the bulk of the audience coming from the other part of the city and nearby points in the country.

The speakers did not tell their audience what the education clauses of the autonomy bill meant, nor that the term "separate school" in the Northwest meant simply a half hour's religious instruction each day. Col. Hughes made the astonishing statement that "the bill proposes to maintain in the west separate schools in just as malignant form as those in Ontario." Another new idea put forward by Col. Hughes was that immigration from the States is falling off on account of the school clauses of the autonomy bill.

A pleasing diversion was caused by the interruption of an elector who requested the colonel to stick to the truth. The colonel hinted that the man might be a chairman of one of Mr. Hyman's committees, and called for three cheers for him, which were heartily given. The interrupter subsequently broke in with laudatory references to Mr. Hyman, which were heartily applauded by the audience.

Col. Hughes also advanced the theory that the Pope and Sir Wilfrid Laurier and a few others were hoping to found a second Quebec in the west, with the aid of the teachers lately exiled from France. Mr. Maclean's speech consisted chiefly of asserting that the Laurier Government was on trial for deception, London and Oxford being the juries. He also dwelt upon the glories of the common school, and its useful effect in uniting the various classes of immigrants who enter a new country. But he did not tell his hearers that all classes of children in the Northwest go in common to the same schools.

Mr. William Gray repeated his customary speech.

Mr. Levi Hammond acted as chairman.

Mr. Gray reminded his hearers that West London gave him a majority in November, and then repeated what has now become an adage, namely, that he would not have opposed Mr. Hyman had the autonomy bill not been brought up. Admitting that his election would not turn out Sir Wilfrid Laurier and put Mr. Borden in power, Mr. Gray said that it would register a protest against the bill, and asked on this account for West London votes.

"Does the west care? Does the west care?" asked Mr. Gray solemnly, and no one made answer. Mr. Gray then went on to repeat in substance the same speech that he has made at previous meetings. He declared that the Roman Catholics of the west did not want separate schools. "We must have one school and one language and one flag, if we want to build up the Northwest," he concluded.

Col. Hughes said he was glad to hear Mr. Gray state that if conditions had been the same now as in November, Mr. Hyman would have been returned by acclamation. The speaker had nothing to say against Mr. Hyman, but said it was a cheap recommendation to say that Mr. Hyman should be elected because he was a "nice fellow."

Mr. Hughes trusted he was addressing an audience that placed principle above gain, but added that he "doubted whether Mr. Hyman could do any good for London," in his position of cabinet minister, in any event. Col. Hughes then went over the history of Northwest legislation, and claimed, in the same manner as Premier Haultain, that the Territories had never had the privilege of formulating their own school system. With regard to the state of affairs in connection with Manitoba in 1896, the speaker declared that Sir Wilfrid Laurier was prepared to resort to coercion and remedial legislation if his "sunny ways" failed to secure an amicable settlement. Sir Wilfrid had written to the Pope of Rome after this settlement, and said that it was only the "beginning of justice." Col. Hughes wondered whether the school clauses of the present bill were in the line of following up that beginning.

"When the dogmatic end of the church is intruding upon the state, we should treat this church exactly as we would a railway or other corporation asking for favors. Clause 2 of the present bill is all right because it applies the British North America act to the west, but clause 16 imposes upon the west, for all time to come, separate schools of just as malignant a form as that which they have in Ontario today."

Mr. Hughes then talked about Mr. Hyman throwing away principle for portfolio, and said that if Mr. Hyman had voted against the bill, Billy Gray would have nominated him in this election. (Cheers.)

"Our opponents ask why Ontario should be troubled with this question, and why London should be called upon to pronounce a verdict. But Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Charlie Hyman and the hierarchy and Monseigneur Sbaretti, backed up by Quebec, won't let the west settle the question for itself. That's why we are here."

Col. Hughes then spent a great amount of time in attempting to explain why the Conservative party did not contest Edmonton against Frank Oliver. The roads were muddy at the time, and it would have taken too long to canvass the town, and so forth. Everyone know Scott had been picked for the portfolio first of all. The speaker referred to the Liberal speakers from the west as "the bunch who did the by-ways in the constituency of Mountain," and remarked that they were getting comfortable rewards and graft for misrepresenting the west.

A Voice—Speak the truth, partner. (Laughter and applause.)

Mr. Hughes asked the one who interrupted to come to the platform, and the invitation was accepted. Mr. Hughes shook hands with the man, saying he would be given a chance to speak later. The colonel then made some joking remarks about the interrupter.

"I am a free subject," broke in the elector again, "but you have been paid to come here." (Laughter.)

Mr. Hughes maintained his good humor as best he could and said that he had no doubt the other man would be converted and vote for Billy Gray.

"Here's one sure vote for Hyman," said the insuppressible elector, and the electors cheered him.

Continuing, Mr. Hughes claimed that the fact that the 135,000 Roman Catholics of the west had only nine separate schools showed that this kind of school was not wanted.

"Why are the Roman Catholics of this country not standing at the back of Billy Gray?" asked Col. Hughes, as he read a letter purporting to be from a prominent Irish Catholic of Chicago, in which the United States system of national schools was lauded. The speaker claimed that this year's immigration from the States into the Northwest was being lessened by the prospect of the separate schools being fixed upon the west.

"It is dangerous for the youth of this country to be placed under the training of those who have been exiled from France," said Col. Hughes, in a loud voice. He went on to claim that it was the hope of the Catholic Church to build up a "second Quebec" in the Northwest with the aid of the religious teachers lately exiled from France.

"If this bill passes, the Northwest will be a land of slavery."

It was 10 o'clock when Col. Hughes concluded.

Mr. W. F. Maclean said that Sir Wilfrid Laurier was on trial on the charge of deceiving the people of Canada, and that London and North Oxford were juries.

"I have no doubt that you will find Sir Wilfrid Laurier guilty on June 13, and that you will pronounce your own fellow-citizen, Charles Hyman, to be a partner in this guilt."

Mr. Maclean, after remarking that he did not wish to raise religious issues, said that the three Roman Catholic members of the Laurier Government had drawn up the autonomy bill without consulting anyone except the papal abligate.

"Would there not be a rebellion in Nova Scotia and in New Brunswick if Ontario attempted to impose separate schools upon them?" he asked.

Mr. Maclean claimed that the Province of Quebec was imposing separate schools upon the west. Quebec should rather devote its attention to improving its own school system, which was defective. The reason Spain and France had failed to make good in America was because their colonization efforts had been dominated by ecclesiasticism. It was the great national school system of the United States that had enabled the latter country to digest its many foreign immigrants. The speaker had been called a bigot and a fanatic, but all he was fighting for was liberty. Mr. Maclean launched into a regular torrent of praise for the United States, and quoted Sir Wilfrid Laurier as saying in effect: "The United States is going to the dogs. Thank God, we teach dogma in our schools."

Mr. Foster and others had been criticised for taking a different position than they took in 1896, but the speaker said they had a good precedent in the penitent thief on the cross.

"If Mr. Hyman wants a seat in the coercionist cabinet, let him go for it to the coercionist province, Quebec," declared Mr. Maclean, as he resumed his seat.

The meeting was brought to a close with the usual cheers.

ADMIRAL TOGO IN THICK OF IT

His Flagship Many Times Hit But Little Damage Was Done.

London, Wednesday, June 7. — The Tokio correspondent of the Telegraph says that the Mikasa, Admiral Togo's flagship, was in the thick of the battle. The Mikasa received most of her hits on the starboard side and on the conning tower. Little damage, however, was done. The masts and funnels were hit more than any other part of the ship, showing that the fire of the Russians was high. The Mikasa is now ready for action again.

At the beginning of the battle Lieut. Matsumura was wounded in the head. Two other officers and thirteen non-commissioned officers were also wounded. The Mikasa approached nearer to the Russian fleet than any of the other large warships. While Admiral Togo was in the conning tower giving orders, a splinter from a shell wounded a lieutenant by his side. Admiral Togo went on his knees and tenderly lifted the young officer. Throughout the battle he quietly and solemnly watched the state of the Russian fleet, as well as his own. After the victory was won, he carefully attended to all details, especially with reference to searching for the remnants of the Russian fleet. He never left the bridge, and seemed tireless. When he returned to Sasebo he gave strict orders that no officers or men were to leave their ships. All business was transacted through the admiral in command at Sasebo. Admiral Togo only quitted his ship for the first time since the victory on June 2. He then went ashore solely to visit Admiral Rojestvensky. The fleet simply loves Admiral Togo. His restraint adds to that genuine sentiment. He is ready at any moment to resume work.

Trepoff's New Job.

St. Petersburg, June 7, 4:35 p.m. — General Trepoff, Assistant Minister of the Interior, today received the correspondent of the Associated Press at his headquarters. He said: "It is a mistake to suppose that I am in any sense a dictator. In addition to the position of Governor-General of St. Petersburg, his majesty has simply placed in my hands the control of the police regime in Russia, and authority over political crimes, appointing me for that purpose Assistant Minister of the Interior. My policy will be to prevent unlicensed political agitation, and to confine movements strictly within the scope of the law. My appointment does not mean in any way a change in the programme of reforms, which will proceed parallel with the work before me."

MR. DICKIE, ELIAS STREET

Thinks There Is No Treatment So Beneficial for People of Advanced Years as Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Mr. David Dickie, carpenter, 729 Elias street, London, Ont., states: "For some years I have found myself growing weaker and more nervous all the time. Of course, I am getting up in years, and as a natural consequence my nervous system has become somewhat run down. I have been using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and found it very satisfactory indeed. I am able to sleep and rest very much better than I did, my nerves are stronger and steadier and I feel real well. I have also used Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and consider them an excellent medicine.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is well suited to the needs of a multitude of people because it overcomes weakness, first weakness of the blood and nerves, and through them the weakness of the organs of the body. Fifty cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

NERVOUS DISEASES

Dr. Wm. Buchan, in his treatise on "The Prevention and Cure of Diseases," says:

"Of all diseases incident to mankind, those of the nervous kind are the most complicated and difficult to cure.

Proteus-like, they are continually changing shape; and upon every fresh attack the patient thinks he feels symptoms which he never experienced before.

They are attended with low spirits, timorousness, melancholy and fickleness of temper.

Causes: Everything that tends to relax or weaken the body, such as indolence, excessive venery, long fasting, excessive eating or drinking, intense application to study, etc.

Regimen: Persons afflicted with nervous diseases ought never to fast long. Their food should be solid and nourishing, but of easy digestion. They ought never to eat more at a time than they can easily digest. If they feel weak between meals, they should eat a piece of bread and drink a glass of some nourishing red wine.

When the digestion is bad, or the stomach relaxed or weak, Peruvian Bark infused in wine will be found very useful, if taken an hour before meals."

WILSON'S INVALIDS' PORT

(A la Quina du Perou,)

which contains Peruvian Cinchona Bark as its chief ingredient, will strengthen the stomach, aid digestion, brace and build up the entire nervous system.

LONDON, THURSDAY, JUNE 8.

The Revised Educational Clause.

But I contend that section 16, No. 2, upon which Mr. Sifton came back, is worse than section 16, No. 1, upon which he went out.—Mr. Borden at Princess rink.

The above is now the Opposition line of attack. They urge that the revised section 16 will restore church control of the Northwest separate school. Mr. Fielding on Monday completely met the attack. The truth is that Mr. Borden's contention will not bear a moment's analysis. Whatever section 16, No. 1, may have meant to those who drafted it, to Mr. Sifton and the western Liberals it meant a restored church school, and Mr. Sifton and the western Liberals were ready to defeat the Government and put their own party out of power rather than assent to it. There can be not the slightest doubt about the effect of the revised education clause. Mr. Fielding pledged his reputation as a public man that section 16, No. 2, will give to minorities in the new provinces just the privileges now enjoyed under the Northwest system, and no more. At the nomination meeting on Tuesday, Mr. Cockshutt said that the Minister of Finance would be unable to obtain from Mr. Fitzpatrick concurrence in this view as to the meaning of the revised clause; and Mr. Fielding completely confounded the Brantford orator by showing that Mr. Fitzpatrick has already, in the House of Commons, and in his capacity as law officer of the crown, declared such to be the effect and the whole effect of the clause.

In this matter Mr. Borden is the reverse of candid. Because section 41 of the Northwest ordinances is identical, word for word, with section 14 of the old N. W. T. Act of 1875, and because under the latter act the dual system existed in the Northwest, down to 1892, Mr. Borden contends, or pretends to argue, that the Northwest minority can demand the dual system with the clerical school after the passage of the Autonomy Bills. He refuses to see that section 14 in the 1875 act was an unlimited provision; that is to say, the section was not curtailed or affected by any other portion of the act, and that the same words composing section 41 of the ordinance of 1901 are limited, and curtailed by other provisions of the ordinance. Section 41 of the ordinance reads:

"41. The minority of the ratepayers in any district, whether Protestant or Roman Catholic, may establish a separate school therein; and in such cases the ratepayers establishing such Protestant or Roman Catholic separate school shall be liable only to assessments of such rates as they impose upon themselves in respect thereof."

These words stood alone in the N. W. T. Act of 1875, and the contention is probably good that, standing alone, they may provide for a separate school free from state control. But in the ordinance of 1901 the words do not stand alone. Section 41 of the ordinance is affected and governed by other sections of the ordinance. The minority is permitted to establish the separate school under section 41, but section 4 of the ordinance specifically brings the separate school under the control of the Legislature, and section 45 of the ordinance specifically makes the separate school subject to the same liabilities and methods of government as are provided for the public school. Furthermore, section 149 prohibits the boards of either separate or public schools from "engaging, appointing, employing or retaining any teacher not holding a valid certificate of qualification issued by the Department of Education." To make the case perfectly plain we quote the sections from the ordinance alluded to:

"4. The Department of Education shall have the control and management of all kindergarten schools, public and separate schools, normal schools, teachers' institutes and the education of deaf, deaf mutes and blind persons.

"45. After the establishment of a separate school district under the provisions of this ordinance, such separate school district and the board thereof shall possess and exercise all rights, powers, privileges, and be subject to the same liabilities and method of government as is herein provided in respect of public school districts.

"149. No person shall be engaged, appointed, employed or retained as teacher in any school unless he holds a valid certificate of qualification issued under the regulations of the department."

The provision of section 4 of ordinance 29 of 1901 as above makes the Northwest school system a purely national or state system, that is to say, a system of schools under purely state or national control as distinct from the dual system of control of schools which was in force in the Territories prior to the first adoption of the 1901 ordinances in 1892. To see the distinction it is only necessary to read the following provision of the law in force in the Northwest prior to 1892. Section 6 of the 1884 ordinance was:

"6. The board of education shall resolve itself into two sections, one composed of the Protestant and the other of the Roman Catholic members thereof, and it shall be the duty of each section to have under its control and management the schools of its section."

The meaning of that provision is plain on its face; and it was provision for a dual system of sectarian schools. Mr. Borden's and Mr. Haultain's absurd pretense that under ordinance 29, after the Autonomy Bills pass, minorities may claim the right to a restoration of such dual system of sectarian schools, makes it necessary to repeat a fact which by this time every schoolboy in London ought to know, namely, that by Northwest legislative action in 1902 the dual system of control was abolished, and that since 1892 the separate and public schools alike have been controlled by the Government appointed by the majority in the legislature, which is named in section 4 of the 1901 ordinance.

If in the old N. W. T. Act of 1875 the words of section 14 (the same words as make section 41 of the 1901 ordinance) had been governed by other words, placing separate schools under the specific control of the Legislature, the effect of that act would be identical with the effect of the ordinances specified in the Autonomy Bills as containing the limit of the minority right and privilege which can be demanded in Alberta and Saskatchewan, according to section 93 of the Confederation Act. But the N. W. T. Act of 1875 contained no such governing words; in it the denominational school privilege was granted without any limitations, and it was just for the reason that section 16, No. 1, in the Autonomy Bills, specified "the law" as per the B N. A. Act, to be the 1875 law, that Sifton, Oliver, Greenway, Scott and Turriff refused to assent to the clause. They demanded instead that "the law" should be specified to be the present N. W. T. ordinances. The kind of separate school provided by the ordinances was a thing they knew; about it there could be no doubt. It exists today in Regina, in Calgary, and in Edmonton. There is one of it in every Northwest city except Moosejaw, and from no place where it exists has there come a protest against section 16, No. 2, in the Autonomy Bills. On the other hand, the kind of separate school which might be successfully claimed under the unrestricted section 14 of the N. W. T. Act of 1875 was a doubtful quantity to be determined by the courts. Sifton and the Northwest Liberals refused to take any risks. They maintained that all the Confederation Act required was to safeguard such minority privileges as exist at the moment of the entry of the provinces. Their contention was admitted by the Government, and their own suggestion to make the matter certain and safe by specifying the actual laws under which the existing privileges are enjoyed was adopted by the Government.

Mr. Borden does no honor to his position in public life, nor to his legal reputation, by pretending, for the sake of transitory political effect in a bye-election to hold a view which even the lay mind can see is a mistaken and false view. A separate school which is by law under the unrestricted control and management of the Legislature cannot by any stretch of even a political imagination be construed as a school over which any church can claim the right of control.

An Astonishing Doctrine.

The most amazing utterance in this campaign is the following from Mr. Gray's organ:

"The Northwest people have had their hands tied. They are coming into full confederation not as the original four provinces did, free and independent, but in chains. If, therefore, they be left to determine their own educational system, how will the British North America Act bind them as it does the earlier provinces? They are not parties to the B. N. A. Act, which was made for and accepted by free provinces which had settled their own educational affairs. According to Mr. Borden's policy, they will be able, if they so choose, to abolish a separate school system foisted upon them in 1875, or to retain it, if they prefer."

Not bound by the B. N. A. Act because they were not parties to it!

Then why in the name of common sense has Mr. Borden in his amendment declared that they should be "subject to the provisions of the B. N. A. Act"?

Why did Mr. Haultain in his draft bill demand the same thing?

The Haultain bill asked that the new province of Alberta be treated "AS IF THE PROVINCE HAD BEEN ONE OF THE PROVINCES ORIGINALLY UNITED BY THE SAID (B. N. A.) ACT." These are the exact words of the Haultain bill.

The Free Press contends that the B. N. A. Act, the organic law of the Dominion, was intended to have no application to provinces admitted to Confederation since 1867.

Any kindergarten pupil knows better than this.

Prince Edward Island and British Columbia have been admitted since 1867, and at once came under the B. N. A. Act.

Manitoba was created a province in 1870, and at once came under the B. N. A. Act.

The Provinces of Alberta and Saskatchewan must come under the B. N. A. Act. Nobody disputes that but the Free Press.

Mr. Borden has never said that his policy—whatever it is—will enable the Territories to abolish the dual system of schools. He says he "has not strong opinions" as to whether section 93 of the B. N. A. protects the minority in the privileges they now enjoy. His amendment was supported by Mr. Macdonell, a Catholic member, on the ground that it was more in the interests of the minority than the Government's school clause!

Our contemporary had better avoid constitutional exegesis and save the remnants of its reputation.

No Church Control There.

Mr. Gray cannot deny that the Northwest separate school is wholly free from sectarianism or church control. Perhaps Mr. Gray might not know a separate school even under national control. Ten years ago he thought that he was in favor of a separate school for Manitoba of the purely sectarian character and under control of the Roman Catholic Church. Probably Mr. Gray was and is in reality as guiltless of knowledge of the meaning of his attitude either in 1896 or now, as King Edward is of Mr. Gray's candidature. But Conservatives who do know the facts cannot deny that the Northwest separate school is free from sectarianism and free from church control. The Autonomy Bills leave the new provinces free to keep the separate school forever free from sectarianism and free from church control. Premier Haultain declares of the Northwest school system. The new provinces will continue their separate school anyway.

Northwest experience does not sustain the view that with any kind of separate school clerical influence will gradually gain headway. In the Northwest the very contrary has been the experience. Until 1892 the churches possessed the same control in the schools that prevails in Ontario now. Section 6 of the Northwest Territory school law of 1884 was in effect the following:

"The board of education shall resolve itself into two sections; one composed of the Protestant and the other of the Roman Catholic members thereof; and it shall be the duty of each section to have under its control and management the schools of its section; to cancel the certificate of a teacher upon sufficient cause; select, adopt and prescribe text books to be used in the schools of its section."

That law provided for sectarian teaching and church control. New ordinances, passed first in 1892, and amended from time to time until 1902, when chapters 29 and 30 were passed, abolished the dual Council of Public Instruction, made the People's Executive the sole authority over all schools, brought the separate school under exactly the same rules and management as the public school—in a word completely abolished the sectarian school and put an end to church control in any schools. The new system has worked so well that Roman Catholics and Protestants together wish it continued. Anybody who thinks that the continuance of the Northwest separate school depends upon the Autonomy Bills ought to ponder the fact that no single Northwest man so far has dared to declare himself in favor of abolising the Northwest minority school. When Premier Haultain says that he would not change the school system he does not mean that the details of management are perfect—year by year these will be improved—but that he would not think of abolishing the existing permission for minority schools.

That affidavit is Gray's political death warrant.

The Russians are good retreaters, but not good retrievers.

It is hard to distinguish Gray's organ from the late unlamented "Eye-Opener."

Mr. Gray's organ says Joe Marks is on strike. Well, Joe is certainly striking someone pretty effectively.

Mr. Gray boasts that he stands upon the same platform as Laurier stood upon in 1896. By the way, what was Gray standing on in 1896?

The Free Press, which has become known as the London edition of the Toronto World, is introducing some new ideas of journalistic etiquette.

Mr. Gray called the delegate of the London unions, Mr. Marks, a curse, and Mr. Gray's newspaper says Mr. Marks is a nuisance. But abuse does not disprove what Mr. Marks has said.

Referring to the King Edward article in Gray's organ, the Hamilton Times says: "Surely a candidate whose organ is driven to such childish appeals as that has a very poor case. To address such words to grown men is to insult their intelligence."

The Ingersol Poet.

[Ingersoll Correspondence of Woodstock Sentinet.]

Under "Books and Authors," in The Province, a leading daily published in Vancouver, B. C., Bernard McEvoy, literary critic, quotes the following stanzas and accompanies it with a pointed comment, of which our own genial, verastile and venerable fellow-citizen feels proud:

Northwest with its streams and fountains
With sources in the Rocky Mountains,
It was all a great mystery,
Hunting for furs its history.

Though Northwest is filling slow,
Yet soon there will be mighty flow;
Millions to Northwest will hurry
In last decade of century.

For therein is an opening grand
In great fertile prairie land,
For there the choicest wheat it grows
Near where the Saskatchewan flows.

And many a river's branch
There is found great grazing ranch
Favored districts therein abound
Where cattle graze all the year round.

Protected from the stormy blast
By the Rocky Mountains vast
Through canyon blows no storm terrific,
But balmy breezes from Pacific.

One of the "Bad Habits."

[Harper's Weekly.]

A Princeton man tells of a conversation that took place between the coach of a football eleven and one of the players. An important game was soon to be played, and the coach was, of course, most anxious that every player should be in the best of physical condition. But to his disgust one of the men, upon whom a great deal depended if the great game were to be won, seemed to be in "bad form." Taking him aside, the coach had the following "heart to heart talk" with the recalcitrant:

"See here, you're not looking so good! Muscles flabby and wind bad—awful bad. What's the matter? Been drinking anything?"

"Not a drop."

"Then you must be smoking?"

"Haven't touched a pipe, cigar, or cigarette since the training began."

"Studying?"

"Well, yes—a little."

Whereupon the coach gave vent to a snort of disgust. "See here! You've got to stop that. Do you want us to lose the game?"

CZAR HAS ASKED JAPAN'S TERMS

The Emperor Wishes to Know Terms of Peace—Acting Through Roosevelt.

Paris, June 8.—It is definitely known that the Russian foreign minister, Count Lamsdorff, seconded by M. Witte, president of the committee of ministers, has initiated overtures through the Russian representatives abroad to learn Japan's disposition and terms of peace. These overtures, it is said here began three days ago, and were the basis of the decidedly more hopeful view which the officials began to have. At the same time, it was then and still is recognized that Count Lamsdorff and M. Witte represent the peace element, and it is not yet clear how far the movement is shared by the Emperor. However, Count Lamsdorff's position gives the overtures the force of coming from responsible quarters, whereas the previous movements lacked official origin. This clears the way for conversations between officials and diplomats here, and at other capitals, which are now actively going on. Those necessarily are circuitous, owing to Russia's inability to approach Japan directly. M. Nelidoff, the Russian ambassador here, has already conferred with the French authorities, who are fully aware of the desires of Count Lamsdorff and M. Witte. The change of the foreign office portfolio from M. Delcasse to Premier Rouvier caused a slight delay, but there is every indication that M. Rouvier will lend strong aid toward bringing the parties together. British and American influences are chiefly relied on to move Japan now that Count Lamsdorff and M. Witte have made the preliminary approaches. Diplomats here hold the view that Tokio would prefer to continue the war until Vladivostock is taken, and all the territory up to Lake Baikal is under Japanese control. The diplomats also believe that Tokio will hesitate to lay down terms until it is clear that Emperor Nicholas is willing to treat for peace.

IT NOW TRANSPIRES THAT AMBASSADOR MEYER'S AUDIENCE OF EMPEROR NICHOLAS HAD BEEN PRECEDED BY A FAMILY COUNCIL AT TSARSKOE-SELO, AT WHICH IT IS UNDERSTOOD THE DECISION WAS REACHED THAT PEACE WAS ENTERTAINABLE IF JAPAN'S CONDITIONS WERE NOT TOO ONEROUS.

CHURCH UNITY

Congregationalists and United Brethren Arrange to Join Hands.

Toronto Jun 7.—The rapid strides of progress made by the Congregationalists towards church unity was illustrated at the opening of the 25th annual meeting of the Congregational Union of Ontario and Quebec, in Bond Street Cogregational Church today. A communication was read from the United Brethren of Canada, in which they announced the formation of a committee to arrange a union of the two bodies. The union will nominate a committee, and it was generally considered among the delegates that a union would speedily result.

The United Brethren have forty churches in Canada. Tomorrow the Congregational committee on union with the Presbyterian and Methodist Church will report, and the situation will be thoroughly discussed. The union will arrange for further conferences with the representatives of the other two denominations.

VIGILANT SINKS A POACHER TWO OF LATTER'S CREW PERISH

The Gracie M., of Lorain, Ohio, Responsible for Tragical Occurrence On Lake Erie.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Port Stanley, June 8.—A very regrettable affair took place at the head of Lake Erie this morning, when the tug Grace M., of Lorain, which was unlawfully fishing in Canadian waters with gill nets, was accidently struck by the D. G. S. Vigilant and sunk, two of the crew being drowned. First Officer Ingster, of the Vigilant, gives the following account of the accident:

We left Pigeon Bay at 6:55 a.m. and headed toward Middle Island passage, passing Middle Island at 8:45; at 9:15 a.m. sighted the tug to north and made toward her, heading her off; finally met her and signaled to stop, also, fired some shots across her bow. They paid no attention and ran past our stern. We put about and soon overtook them again. She again put about and dodged us. This occurred several times. She was gradually working toward the south. We finally steered almost directly after her, and when nearly abreast, she tried to cross our bows once more. We saw a collision was inevitable, and reversed our engines, but had sufficient speed on to strike her slightly with our port bow. She rolled slowly over, filling and sinking in about 5 minutes, stern first. We threw life buoys to the crew to keep them afloat until a boat could be lowered, when we rescued the captain, engineer and one fisherman, two being drowned.

The unfortunate men were: William Anderson, of Lorain, married, one daughter; Martin Oleson, of Cleveland, single. Those rescued are: Capt. William Gallbraith, of Lorain; Engineer William Rollson, Lorain, who was the owner of the tug, and David Coppelwell, fisherman, of Lorain.

Every effort was made by the officers and crew of the Vigilant to rescue all hands, but the supposition is that the two drowned men were struck by the tug or some of the numerous boxes that were floating around.

Capt. Gallbraith attaches no blame to the officers of the Vigilant. The rescued men are detained on board, awaiting orders from Ottawa. Capt. Dunn and his officers express regret at the sad event, which was purely accidental, so far as the Vigilant is concerned.

GRAND RAPIDS FIGHTING WATERS

River Is Steadily Rising and Dykes May Give Way Before the Strain.

Grand Rapids, Mich., June 8. — The Grand River is still steadily rising here. The water has now gone over Front street south of Bridge street. Many residences in the south end are completely surrounded by deep and swift currents. Workmen are struggling frantically to keep the north end dyke from going to pieces, and it seems to be about an even chance whether they will succeed.

Communication has been partly re-established with Whitehall, which has been isolated for 60 hours. The conditions on White River above the town are worse than had been expected. The damage to crops, bridges and dams will reach hundreds of thousands. Three large dams at Whitecloud, Herpseria and Ferry were washed completely away.

MUSIC AND DRAMA.

"SLAVES OF OPIUM."

Tonight's performance at the Grand will be the Vernon Stock Company, in the initial offering of their engagement, "Slaves of Opium." This comedy-drama is a scenic production of more than ordinary worth, and no doubt the audiences will be very large, as Manager Turton has arranged that hot weather prices will prevail throughout the engagement, which is for the last three days of the week. Between the acts three will be high-class vaudeville, and in this connection it has been arranged that the scenery will be handled by the stage crew of the Grand, with the curtain up. This feature of the evening's entertainment will be put on at each performance of the Vernon Company. Saturday night will be "Military Night" and a large number of the men now at camp have signified their intention of being present in uniform.

Doings at Stratford.

Stratford, Ont., June 7. — Local authorities have been notified that the quarantine for smallpox has been removed in Downie township, and that Ellice township is also rid of the disease.

Mayor Ferguson has received a letter from J. W. Leonard, manager of construction for the C. P. R., to the effect that the company will not accept the city's offer to submit a bylaw to raise $30,000 for the C. P. R. to enter the city. The company wants free right of way and expenses in raising streets and other damages paid. The mayor expresses his personal opinion that the cost of such a scheme should be ascertained and amount submitted in a bylaw to the ratepayers. Special meeting of council will be held to decide the matter.

BENNETT HARD HIT BY HON. MR. OLIVER

Minister of Interior Carries With Him Big Joint Meeting at Woodstock.

Woodstock, June 7.—In a joint mass meeting of North Oxford electors here this evening, Mr. R. B. Bennett, M. P. of Calgary, and Hon. Frank Oliver crossed swords oratorically, to the discomfiture and no doubt to the regret of Mr. Bennett and his supporters. In expectancy of a lively debate there was a big gathering, estimated to number at least 2,500.

Mr. Oliver proved himself too much for Mr. Bennett. Mr. Bennett possesses a high-sounding, flamboyant style of oratory that is rather catching, more especially the first time you hear it. It is, however, superficial. The man from Calgary loves the grandiloquent phrase, even if it does prove hollow upon dissection. But North Oxford folk, as everybody knows, are noted for hard-headed common sense. North Oxford folk think, get below the surface, are logical and eminently sane, so that Mr. Oliver's plain, straightforward talk appealed to them at once and strongly. Although the gathering was a joint one of Liberals and Conservatives, it was overwhelmingly with the Minister of the Interior and his views.

Mr. Bennett led off. He read copies of resolutions opposing the autonomy bill passed by the Methodist Conference of Alberta and the Trades Congress of Calgary. He complained that the Government was denying to the infant provinces what every other province in the Confederation possessed. Referring to the charge that Premier Haultain was afraid to bring on the Territorial bye-election he declared it was due to the Legislature having met for the last time.

Next he inquired, "Can we ever change the separate school system?"

Mr. Bennett declared that in introducing the autonomy bill Sir Wilfrid Laurier had glorified separate schools and vilified national schools.

Mr. Bennett's explanation of the difference between the original clause 16 and the amended clause 16 was weird. The first said there must be separate schools forever, and the latter that the west must never take away separate schools.

The west, which was the minority, appealed to the great majority of the Dominion to deal with the west in a generous spirit, and not pass the baneful restrictions outlined in the bill.

When Mr. Oliver rose to reply, to use that aged but telling phrase, he was greeted with thunderous applause.

Explaining the composition of his constituency, Mr. Oliver said he would back the intelligence of his electors against the intelligence of Center Toronto. The Conservatives had appealed for the Galician vote in November last, he added. He himself had received a majority of 900 of the English-speaking and Protestant vote in his riding.

Mr. Oliver showed that Mr. Bennett was exciting the people of the east against those of the west. Did it matter whether legislation was passed at Regina or Ottawa, so long as it was good, he asked. The Northwest had always the same right to enact legislation with regard to schools that the Province of Ontario had.

"Ontario," he said, "never had the right to legislate in regard to separate schools since confederation. It has been within the power of the Parliament of Canada to repeal the law imposing restrictions with respect to separate schools, and I ask Mr. Bennett to say if this is so."

Mr. Oliver went on: "Did the Conservatives ever make a move to remove the restrictions with regard to education in the Northwest? If Manitoba had free schools it was not because the Conservatives had made them free," declared Mr. Oliver, "but because of the effort of the Liberals, who had always championed provincial rights. The Northwest school system was as absolutely a national system as any in Canada save British Columbia. He proved that the terms of the act of confederation made it the duty of the Government to continue the system in operation in the west.

In answer to the charge that the papal delegate to Canada directed the educational clauses he quoted the opinions of Archbishop Langevin, of St. Boniface, and the Bishop of Three Rivers, who were dissatisfied with the bill.

Mr. Bennett had the advantage of closing the debate, but he failed utterly to dispose of Mr. Oliver's argument. He repeated the old and ridiculous charge of the existence of an understanding between Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Monsigneur Sbarretti, but it failed to arouse the audience.

BRITISH SUBMARINE LOST; FOURTEEN SAILORS PERISH

The A8 Founders Off the Plymouth Breakwater After a Series of Explosions.

Plymouth, England, June 8. — Submarine boat A-8 was lost off the breakwater here this morning. Three explosions occurred on board before she foundered. She had on board eighteen officers and men, including her regular crew and men who were in training. Fourteen of the number were drowned and the others were picked up. The disaster occurred while the A-8 was proceeding to sea for practice, accompanied by another submarine boat and a torpedo boat.

Three explosions were seen from the shore to occur on board the A-8, which suddenly disappeared. Tugs and divers immediately proceeded to the scene.

The sinking of the British submarine boat A-8 recalls the sinking of the submarine boat A-5 off Queenstown on Feb. 16 as a result of explosions on board that vessel, and the sinking of the submarine boat A-1 off Portsmouth March 18 last year, as the result of a collision while the submarine boat was submerged.

The explosion on board the A-5 was described as being so violent that it was heard ten miles away, and shook the submarine's convoy, the Hazard, from stem to stern.

Six men lost their lives and twelve were seriously injured in this disaster.

The disaster to A-1 was even more appalling. She was submerged near the Nave lightship, off Portsmouth, when she was run down by a steamer of the Donald Currie Line, and all on board of her, eleven officers and men, were drowned. The loss of the submarine boat was not known for some hours after the liner had reported to the maneuvering fleet that she had struck a torpedo, and after a long search the ill-fated submarine boat was discovered. It was presumed that the steamer in striking the submarine boat, upset her, spilled the gasoline in the tanks, and rendered her helpless. The crew were battened down and were suffocated by the fumes of the

An Interesting Visitor to London Is Mr. Hammerstein.

PEACE RIVER COUNTRY TO BOOM

No Discord Over School Question—Great Development North of Edmonton.

Mr. Alfred von Hammerstein, of Athabaska Landing, in Northern Alberta, is a visitor in the city. He is interested in the development of the resources north of Edmonton, such as coal oil, which is believed to be there in large quantities. He is on his way to Petrolea to buy additional machinery from the Oil Wells Supply Company, at that place.

Mr. von Hammerstein is a German, who has lived during the past nine years in the Northwest, and has taken a considerable interest in public and general affairs in that country. He was at one time publisher of the Herold, a prominent German newspaper in Edmonton.

To The Advertiser he stated that it was a complete surprise to him to discover so much agitation in this neighborhood over the question of Northwest schools, because in the Northwest for a dozen years past, he said, all schools in that country have been operated with a complete absence of any kind of discord. He declared that the provisions of the provincial establishment measures now before Parliament, so far as concerned education, were, so far as he knew, completely satisfactory to practically everybody in the Northwest The separate school in that country is not under church control, but is wholly dominated by the ordinary regulations applied by the Legislature to the public school. There is absolutely no distinction between the public and the separate school with regard to religion. In every school in the Northwest only secular education is permitted until 3:30 in the afternoon. During the last thirty minutes religious teaching is allowed, if desired by the board of trustees, this teaching being, of course, according to the dominant religious complexion of the district.

Mr. von Hammerstein states that in politics he is neither Liberal nor Conservative. He has never attached himself to either political party. He is, however, warmly favorable towards the Government's G. T. P. policy. In this regard he states he did what hundreds of Conservatives in the Northwest did last November. The new railway is so absolutely necessary for the development of the Northwest that there was very little differences of opinion in the Territories as to the propriety of the G. T. P. policy. The people want the railway and want it just as soon as possible. Many settlers at present are located 60 and 70 miles from railway communication, and they are naturally keenly anxious to get such communication without delay. Mr. von Hammerstein thinks that the pushing of the railway through the Peace River country will result in a development there beyond the most sanguine expectations of any person who has never been in that region. There will be there he says, both agricultural and mineral development. He is a veritable enthusiast with regard to the Athabaska and Peace River regions, the best proof of which is that last year he conveyed thither thousands of dollars worth of developing machinery, and on his present trip purposes purchasing more machinery.

Asked concerning the recent Edmonton bye-election, Mr. von Hammerstein stated that Conservatives and Liberals joined heartily in re-electing Mr. Oliver as minister of the interior, believing thoroughly that his knowledge of western conditions and his ability as a public man well warranted his choice for the cabinet position by Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

AGRICULTURAL CONFERENCE

King of Italy Gives Revenue of an Estate for Endowment Purposes.

Rome, June 7.—Under the presidency of Signor Carcano, Minister of Finance, a meeting was held today of the various commissions of the international conference of agriculture.

Signor Chimirri, a deputy, presented the report and was much applauded by the delegates. A general agreement has been arrived at between the two chief sections as to the lines of the institute.

The plenary meeting followed, under the presidency of Signor Tittoni, Minister of Foreign Affairs. Details of the proposed administration of the institute were approved. The concluding session will be held tomorrow, when the final protocol will be drawn up and signed.

The president, Signor Tittoni, aroused great enthusiasm among the delegates by announcing that King Victor Emmanuel, with a view to assisting in the maintenance of the institute, had set apart the revenues of two of his private estates, amounting to 300,000 francs ($60,000), as an endowment.

On the proposal of the French ambassador, M. Barrere, the congress adopted a resolution, expressing its acknowledgment of the King's gift, and Signor Tittoni intimated that he would be its bearer to the King. Last evening a reception, given in their honor by the Premier, Signor Fortes, was attended by two hundred of the delegates.

The delegates have visited the antiquities of the city, lunched in the Palatine and witnessed the illumination of the Forum Romanum with bengal lights.

A banquet of two hundred covers was given at the Grand Hotel this evening by Signor Rava, Minister of Agriculture. Members of the cabinet, ambassadors and members of the diplomatic corps, the delegates and others, including Mr. David Lubin, of California, were among the guests, and the Premier, Signor Fortes, in a speech addressed the delegates in behalf of the King, the Government and the people of Italy, dwelt upon the influence to be expected from the conference, which was a token of peace.

REASON No 59

WHY YOU SHOULD USE

Red Rose Tea

Because it is always fresh and sweet.

My teas are shipped to St. John direct from where they grow, instead of being imported from London, where teas often lie in warehouse for several months.

The sales of Red Rose Tea are so large that any one lot of tea seldom remains on hand more than a few weeks; fresh lots arrive by every steamer.

Then, in the grocery store, Red Rose Tea is never dead stock. Except where being first introduced, the demand is such that each shipment is sold in a very few weeks.

From start to finish, Red Rose Tea is handled so that the consumer is sure to get it while it is fresh and sweet.

Where Disease Germs Breed.

No Need to Fear "Germs" if the Stomach Be Healthy.

The ideal breeding-place for disease germs is a weak stomach and digestive system. The food, instead of being assimilated, turns into a sour, slimy, fermenting mass, causing gases, distress after eating, bloating, nausea and flatulency. The poisonous germs that are given off from this undigested food enter the blood, and pimples, boils and blotched skin is the result. Nervousness and sleeplessness come more often from weakened digestion than from any other one cause. Rheumatism and gout are directly caused by an acid condition of the stomach.

No ordinary food digestive can give lasting relief. It is absolutely necessary, if one wishes to be well, to use Mi-o-na, the only known remedy that soothes and heals the mucous membrane of the stomach and digestive tract, stimulates the solar-plexus, and strengthens the nerves of the stomach. This remarkable remedy puts the whole digestive system in so healthy, clean and sweet a state that fermentation of the food cannot exist, and disease germs in the stomach will be destroyed, and all food will be so well assimilated that a rapid and healthy increase in weight will quickly result.

Mi-o-na is a guaranteed cure for all diseases of the stomach, excepting cancer, a guarantee being given by W. T. Strong, with every package he sells, agreeing to refund the money should the remedy not give perfect satisfaction.

SIMMONS—NEWELL

Pretty June Wedding Celebrated at an Ontario Street Home.

A very pretty wedding took place yesterday at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Newell, Ontario street, when Miss Etta Newell was united in marriage to Mr. Fred F. Simmons, of this city, the ceremony being performed by Rev. A. G. Harris, of Lambeth. The bride, who entered the room leaning on the arm of her father, was charmingly attired in a dress of white eolienne with trimmings of all-over lace and duchess ribbon, and carried a bouquet of beautiful white roses. The bridesmaid, Miss Kate Newell, wore a lovely gown of gray eolienne with all-over lace, trimmed with gray and pink velvet. The groom was supported by Mr. Thomas Fawkes, of this city. After the ceremony the party proceeded to the dining-room, where a sumptuous repast was partaken of. The number of handsome presents testified to the esteem in which the young couple are held. The groom's present to the bride was a silver tea and coffee service. Among other presents was a handsome silver service from the Rambler Club, of which the groom had been treasurer for a number of years.

Mr. and Mrs. Simmons left on the eastern flyer for a trip to New York and eastern cities. In going away the bride wore a costume of brown ladies' cloth with hat to match. On their return the young couple will reside at their home, 465 Charlotte street, where they will receive their friends after the 23rd inst.

The ceremony, which took place at the residence of the bride's parents, was performed by Rev. D. E. Martin, pastor of the Hamilton Road Methodist Church. COMPANY WANTS CHANGES Traction Agreement With St. Thomas Receives a Set Back.

The agreement recently reached between the Southwestern Traction Company and St. Thomas, whereby the former was to have running rights through the Railroad City, was to have been given two readings at a meeting of the St. Thomas council on Tuesday evening, but it received a setback that was most unexpected.

When the agreement was read, together with a letter from the solicitor of the company, it was found that several important changes had been made, and the council declined to agree to them.

The traction company will be notified to that effect, and further negotiations will have to be carried on if the company insists on them.

BRITAIN AND MOROCCO

Lowther Calls on Sultan Who Receives Him With Indifference.

Tangier, Morocco, June 8. — Gerard A. Lowther, British minister to Morocco, presented his credentials to the Sultan today. The ceremony was attended by the customary picturesque Moroccan display. Mr. Lowther, in his speech, assured the Sultan of the sincerity of King Edward and of the British Government in their desire for the welfare of Morocco, and their earnest wishes for the maintenance of the power and authority of the Sherifian ruler.

The latter reciprocated the wish for a continuance of the traditional friendship between the two countries. Throughout the interview the Sultan was impassive, almost indifferent.

The political situation remains befogged, and will not be cleared up until Mr. Lowther has a private audience of the Sultan.

It is reported that private offers have been made to the Sultan of a loan of $25,000,000, and it is alleged that the offer is supported by American capitalists but a suitable guarantee remains the difficulty, as the customs are pledged to France for the next fifteen years.

STORM WAS SEVERE

Tore Trees Out by the Root in West Nissouri.

The storm that passed over this vicinity on Monday evening was especially violent near Thamesford, where it assumed the proportions of a regular hurricant and did considerable damage to property.

W. W. Daley, a farmer living on lot 4, con. 8, of West Nissouri, was the chief sufferer. The roof was torn off the north part of his barn, all the shade trees were blown down, and the roof of his house was damaged. The vagaries of the storm were shown by the fact that a shade tree was blown against the chimney of the house, and completely demolished it.

Another farmer had every tree in his lane torn up, and piled one upon another. An orchard was also completely destroyed, one tree being blown out by the roots and carried over a line fence onto an adjoining farm.

No person was injured, but the fury of the storm made it dangerous to be about.

Judgment was delivered today in the case of Dreaney vs. Blaney. This was an action brought by Mrs. Dreaney, of London Township, quite apparently in the interests of Ahoghill Lodge, of Adelaide street. The action was tried at the assizes here about a month ago, and judgment was deferred. Today he judge delivered his judgment, in which he finds that Mrs. Dreaney has no title to the Orange Hall at Crumlin. This judgment leaves Mr. Blaney and the Orange brethren of Crumlin in full possession of the hall.

Mrs. Ellen Louise Trouse, beloved wife of Mr. Robert Trouse, died yesterday at the family residence, 117 Clarence street. Besides her husband, she is survived by two children, the youngest being only 10 weeks old. Mrs. Trouse was the oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Hotham, Delaware. The funeral will leave the family residence at 12:30 tomorrow, to the Delaware Methodist Church, where services will be held at 2:30. Interment will be at Delaware.

A PRESENTATION.

At the regular monthly meeting of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society of Knox Church yesterday afternoon, Mrs. Charles Clark, one of the most active members of the society, who is about to remove to Toronto, was presented with two dozen sterling silver spoons. The presentation was made by Mrs. Morton, the oldest member of the society, and it was accompanied by an address, read by Mrs. McQueen, expressing regret at the removal of Mrs. Clark. At the close of the meeting refreshments were served.

There are little Rojestvenskies, just as well as little Togos, but the papers don't seem to find out how smart they are.

It is useless to reason with a man who imagines that he has no reason to listen.

BILLY GRAY AND HIS FRIENDS.

and London is paying his expenses. The west, then, did not send out Mr. Bennett as its evangelist, and Mr. Bennett's eloquence did not leap from its scabbard without being asked. We hear that Mr. Bennett is a corporation lawyer, and all the corporation lawyers out west work for the C. P. R. A searcher after the truth like Billy Gray should have asked this Calgary Demosthenes why he never said anything about the C. P. R. exemption clause in the Autonomy Bill. Why didn't he explain that the one bad clause in the bill, the clause that shackles the west forever, the clause that says the C. P. R. shall pay no taxes for all time to come, and deprives the new provinces of that source of revenue—why didn't Mr. Bennett explain that that clause was inserted to keep faith with the bargain the Conservative Government made with the C. P. R. years ago? This clause, then, which is shackling if you like—this one clause is the evil legacy of a Conservative Government, and now the west has to pay the legacy duties. Look out for Mr. Bennett, Billy! He, too, is holding something back.

Premier Haultain is calm and judicial. He is an English gentleman, and he would consider it bad form to display any large emotion. He told the Globe that if he was dictator of the new provinces tomorrow he wouldn't change one iota of the excellent school system they have in the Northwest now. But Billy Gray has to be helped, and Mr. Haultain waves a red rag of provincial rights. His position on certain provincial rights is that the west may have them or it may not. He will not say, but meanwhile the doubt ought to help Billy Gray. It is only fair to Billy to tell him that Premier Haultain also has his secrets. For instance, he doesn't tell Billy, or London for that matter, that the school clauses in the autonomy bill are practically his own suggestions as submitted to Sir Wilfrid Laurier two years ago.

FIFTEEN DAYS ALLOWED GRAND TRUNK TO MAKE CONNECTION

Order Made by Railway Commission Re Interswitching —Question of Charges.

Ottawa, June 8.—The London delegation in regard to the G. T. R. and interswitching case arrived here this morning and appeared before the railway commission. Mr. Meredith spoke in behalf of the delegation and said that London wanted G. T. R. connection immediately with the C. P. R.. That was the only point that the people of London were interested in.

The order of the board, as was practically arranged yesterday, was to give the G. T. R. fifteen days to make the connection, and the 20th was fixed to hear argument as to the switching charges.

Meantime the C. P. R. and G. T. R. will require to supply the board with such information as will enable the board to come to a decision.

Let Gray's organ deal with the present, and tell the people how Gray knifed the union men at St. Thomas in 1899. It owes it to its readers who pay their good money for the paper to tell them the truth, and cease garbling the news.

COLONEL OTTER AT LONDON CAMP

Troops Inspected by District Officer Commanding—Made a Good Showing.

Col. Otter, district officer commanding Western Ontario, accompanied by his chief of staff, Lieut.-Col. Denison, inspected the big camp on Carling's Heights this morning, and afterwards had lunch at the divisional headquarters in the barracks. The weather had taken a turn for the better, and the soldiers got down to business. The Hussars drilled for several hours on the south slopes of the heights, and the four squadrons of horse, wheeling, forming columns and so forth, made a very interesting sight. They were watched by the above-mentioned officers, Col. Peters, D. O. C., Col. Munro, brigade commander, and others. The cavalry were in good form considering that it was their first turnout for the season.

The infantry formed up for company drill, each regiment near its own quarters, with the exception of the Twenty-sixth which was engaged in practice at the miniature butts on the west slope of the hill.

Shooting at the cave ranges will begin tomorrow morning, superintended by the assistant drill instructor, Capt. McCrimmon, who has had a force of 40 markers, drawn from the various regiments, put into camp at the cove. The Twenty-seventh had practice at the miniature butts this afternoon.

Following is one of today's divisional orders, issued by Col. Peters:

The under-mentioned regiments will report to the musketry instructor at the cove and miniature ranges, respectively, at the hour stated opposite their names tomorrow (Friday):

Twenty - sixth Regiment, service range, at 7 o'clock a.m.

Thirty-second Regiment, miniature rang, at 8:30 o'clock a.m.

Thirty-third Regiment, miniature range, at 2 o'clock p.m.

Medical officers must accompany their regiments to the rifle ranges.

The signalling corps was put through some good drill today by its non-coms. on the west brow of the Heights.

The county council, now in session in this city, will dine at the camp with Col. Welch and the officers of the Twenty-sixth Regiment at the close of the week.

The sergeants of the Seventh Regiment will tender a smoking concert to a number of their friends among the non-coms. now in camp, on Friday evening, in the sergeants' handsome messrooms at the Armories.

The absence of the Oxford Rifles, who are to be formed into a city corps, is very conspicuous at the camp this year.

A duty band has been furnished by the First Infantry Brigade. It will play up and down the lines at reveille and first post, at the center tree, from 3 to 4 p.m., and at the divisional headquarters mess from 7 to 8 p.m.

There will be no room for the Seventh Regiment at the butts this week.

The trouble with some who take their troubles to the Lord is that they stop too often on the road to tell about them.

BORDEN'S TRIBUTE TO FRANK OLIVER

of Edmonton, as challenged by the Opposition. But the Opposition failed to come to the scratch on election day, and Mr. Oliver was returned by acclamation.

Where were R. B. Bennett and the other patriots who say the Northwest is on the eve of a rebellion? They refused to set foot in Edmonton, but come to London to do their fighting at long range.

Col. Sam Hughes told a West London audience last night that the Opposition failed to put up a candidate because of the muddy roads.

Others allege that the majority in the riding are Roman Catholics and foreigners—an untrue statement. The city of Edmonton is an English Protestant city, and two-thirds of the people of the whole riding are English-speaking Protestants.

SANDWICH TO GET THE STEEL PLANT

Big Mills To Be Erected by the Trust Near That Town.

Detroit, Mich. June 8. — It is now considered certain that the United States Steel Company will erect its ten million dollar steel plant on the property formerly owned by Daniel Scotten, of Detroit, a tract of nearly 1,000 acres, near Sandwich, Ont. It is stated on excellent authority that the options now held for the United States Steel Company will be exercised very soon, and work on the big plant will be commenced as soon as the plans are completed. This will mean the springing up of a village of a thousand inhabitants or more in the neighborhood of the new plant.

CAR DERAILED.

A street car was derailed at the corner of Oxford and Colborne streets last evening about 7:30, and was not placed on the tracks again until 1:30 o'clock this morning. The car was going at good speed when it left the rails, and made its way right to the curbing.

PROTESTANT HOME BOARD.

The trustees of the Protestant Orphans' Home held their monthly meeting on Monday, the president, Mrs. McCallum, occupying the chair, after an absence of two months in California. Devotional exercises were conducted by Mrs. Gregsten. The several reports submitted were of a very encouraging nature, the visitors for the month, also the two members of the school committee, giving most satisfactory accounts of their inspection of the home and school, the children in the latter showing marked progress in the several studies, their good penmanship being specially praised. The communications received during the month proved, in the majority of cases to be applications for children to be either adopted or go as help to homes out of London. The replies had, of necessity, to be in the negative. An important document was also received from W. Bruce Smith, inspector of hospitals and public charities, re ventilation and fire protection, which, after being read and discussed, was left with the president to seek the advice of Fire Chief Clark regarding indoor appliances for fire protection. It was moved and carried that the regular monthly meetings for July and August be dispensed with, unless specially called. The donations for the month were most generous, and are very gratefully acknowledged: Thirty-three pounds of beef, G. G. Hackett; plum pudding, Davies & Co.; cake, Friend; cake, Fawkes; papers, Mr. Howson; furs and boots, a friend; clothing, Mrs. Barclay. Mrs. Fowler dismissed the meeting with the benediction.

BEATTIE—BRYAN.

A very pretty home wedding took place at the residence of Mr. John Bryan, 297 Hill street, when his daughter, Miss Carrie Hazel, was united in marriage to Mr. Thomas G. Beattie, of Toronto. The bride wore a beautiful costume of white eolienne over white taffeta, and she was attended by Miss Lillian May Moran, who wore blue eolienne over white taffeta. Mr. George Winder, of Dublin, Ireland, was groomsman. The ceremony was performed by Rev. James Livingston, pastor of the Wellington Street Church, in the presence of about 50 guests from Toronto, Minnesota and other points. Among the presents was a silver tea service from Heintzman & Co., of which firm the groom is accountant. The happy couple left on a trip to Detroit and points west on the evening train.

A PAINFUL ACCIDENT.

A painful accident befell Miss Blanche Boyd, bookkeeper at Heintzman & Co.'s, shortly after noon today. She was taken with a fainting spell in front of Gammage's flower store on Dundas street, and fell heavily, her head striking the cement sidewalk with such force that it was thought at first her skull was fractured. Drs. Piper and Waugh were summoned and the unfortunate young lady was carried into Gammage's, where she recovered consciousness. Miss Boyd was removed later on to the residence of her uncle, Mr. Maine, of Maine & Collier's establishment on Ridout street south, where she resides, when it was found that her injuries were not serious. The young lady was carrying several parcels at the time of the accident, and these prevented her from instinctively trying to break the force of the fall.

ZELDA DAMERON

BY MEREDITH NICHOLSON.

[Copyrighted by the Bobbs-Merrill Company, Indianapolis.]

The maid went about the table in white apron and cap and waited on them with a grin on her face.

"Won't you take some more of the applesauce, father? Angeline, the applesauce. Those superb apples that came in from the farm the other day, father. I suppose the farm really pays for itself—you are always sending in nice things from there."

"Oh, not at all! Everything I raise is very costly, very costly."

He looked at her suspiciously. At any mention of money or expense he put himself on guard.

"But the tenant you have out there must make his living——"

"Not at all. I can show you my books. I keep a faithful account; it's been a loss each year since I took it." He spoke defensively in spite of himself.

"Oh, please don't show me any accounts! They must be very, very depressing;" and she shrugged her shoulders.

"To be sure! to be sure! quite that!" He laughed with a real heartiness.

"I suppose many people have troubles about money," she went on. "Making both ends meet, I think they call it."

"To be sure, Zee. God's poor are always with us."

She bent over suddenly and inspected the handle of a spoon intently.

"But when people can't pay—rents, mortgages, whatever their troubles are—then what do they do?"

"The balance must be struck in some way. A debt is a debt. A creditor is entitled to his pay. It is the law of the land."

"The law; yes I suppose there is the law. But there aren't any laws for the poor, are there? I heard that—in France. And the peasants over there didn't look as though they had any laws on their side."

"It's very different here; quite different. We are all poor here. This is God's great republic of the poor, as one of our poets has said."

"That sounds well, but I'm afraid it's only poetry," said Zelda, soberly. And then, smoothing her crumbs into a little heap for the girl to brush away: "In anything that you have—that we have—we shall deal very kindly with poor people, shan't we?"

His restless fingers were playing with his coffee spoon and his eyes were on the table-cloth. He looked up now and met Zelda's gaze bent gravely upon him.

"Yes, what we have — what we have—" there was a slight stress on the pronoun, as though he wished to emphasize the fact of their common interests—"we must use—as God would have us."

He nodded his head back and forth, with a far look in his eyes that was intended to express spiritual exaltation. It was not Zelda's purpose to disclose the fact of her visit to his office; she had gone as far as she dared. He had begun to interest her, not so much as a person who had any claim on her affection, but as a curious character — even as an eccentric and untrustworthy character in a story; yet she felt toward him somewhat as a parent may feel toward a deformed child, conscious, indeed, of a moral deformity that fascinated her.

"Yes, of course; I am sure that we want to do right," she said, with the slightest accent on the pronoun, in imitation of his own manner of the moment before.

When they returned to the living-room he tended the fire; and then he took up his paper nervously, from habit, he put it down again, and began to talk. Almost for the first time since Zelda's return, he showed an interest in her foreign experiences, and led her to speak of them. And she exerted herself to be entertaining. He had supposed that Mrs. Forrest would prejudice Zelda against him during the years in which she had kept the girl away; but his daily scrutiny had discovered no trace of disrespect or contempt in her attitude toward him.

The striking resemblance between Margaret Dameron and her daughter impressed him tonight; but there were puzzling differences. He was conscious of depths in Zelda that he could not fathom. During her recital of the story of a mishap that had befallen her aunt and herself at a carnival in Rome, it occurred to him that she was showing this graciousness tonight in the hope of wresting money from him. He lost interest and turned to his newspaper abruptly. Zelda picked up the book she had purchased at Congdon's shop and fell to reading; and after he had turned his paper restlessly for half an hour, he rose to go to bed.

It had been on her tongue several times to ask him boldly about the debt of Olive's mother, even if it should be necessary to confess that she had overheard his conversation with Mrs. Merriam; but this might cause an unpleasant scene. No great haste was necessary, she judged; and so she waited. She could probably persuade her aunt or uncle to help her in the matter when the time came, if no other way should occur to her.

"Good-night, father!"

She rose and watched him from the room; but he did not look at her again.

"Good-night, daughter," he said, a little vaguely, as though he had forgotten her existence.

No one came and she sat looking steadily at the dying fire. The thoughts of youth are long, long thoughts, says the poet; but their natural habitat should be a realm of light and peace and not dark vales of uncertainty and doubt. When she went at last to her room, the old cedars outside her windows were moaning softly. She found a satisfaction in bolting her door, and then she drew from her writing-table the little book, tied with faded ribbon, and opened it to the charge her mother had written—those last pitiful words—and read them over and over again, until they seemed to be audible in the room:

"Perhaps I was unjust to him; it may have been my fault; but if she can respect or love him I wish it to be so."

She lay awake staring into the dark for half the night, with tearless eyes, one hand clasping the little book under her pillow.

CHAPTER XVIII

Zelda Lifts a Burden.

Copeland, the lawyer who never practiced, knew Mariona well, and he was responsible for the remark that while women in High street continued to admonish their maids from second-story windows as to the relation between employer and employee, there was no manner of use in trying to be a city.

Mariona was still a good deal of a village and gossip spread through its streets like news in the Sudan. But it must be said that the Mariona gossips who had been expecting an explosion among the Meriams since Zelda Dameron came home were greatly disappointed. Zelda's life differed in no important particular from that of other girls in her circle. She lived with her father, which was wholly proper; she went about to luncheons, teas and balls and derived amusement from them in a perfectly normal, natural way; she had a voice, and when she was asked to sing, she sang; and she struck every one as being thoroughly unaffected and amiable. It became known that she could tell a story, and her reputation among girls as a raconteur soon dimmed that which her singing had earned for her. A girl's luncheon in Mariona, as elsewhere, is a function where a dozen girls, more or less, assemble to eat unwholesome combinations of food to the accompaniment of rapid exclamations about nothing in particular. Zelda gained a hearing at first because she was a new girl in town, but her audience was assured when is became known that she could tell a story.

She told stories with the gravity that is second nature in the born story-teller; and her fund of anecdotes of personal misadventure was seemingly inexhaustible. Her account of the way in which she and her aunt had been ushered by mistake into a train bearing a royal funeral party at Berlin, and of how an aged duke had worked himself into a shade of apoplexy in trying to determine just who the Americans were; and of how, finally, when a countess and her daughter, for whom the Americans had been mistaken, were missed, the train was carried back to the Berlin station—this incident related with trifling but illuminative details—of how the people looked, of the yells of the duke to his servant not to forget the lunch basket; the grim rage of the master of ceremonies when he discovered that Zelda and her aunt had been put aboard by mistake—made a story that convulsed her auditors.

Zelda saw much of Morris during the winter. He went often to the old house in Merriam street in spite of the fact that he assured himself constantly that she did not interest him more than other girls. She continued to delight in plaguing him, particularly before her uncle, who learned, however, not to praise Morris to Zelda. Mrs. Forrest pretended to be a diligent chaperon but Mariona social affairs did not amuse her, and she went out very little. Frequently Merriam took Zelda to the theater; now and then he connived with Morris to the end that Olive should be asked, and the four would go afterward for a supper at Merriam's house. Zelda brought Olive more and more into touch with her own life. She knew no happier day than Christmas, when Mrs. Forrest—not, however, without urging—gave a family dinner to which Ezra Dameron, Olive and her mother sat down at the same board, with Rodney presiding. There were times when Zelda's courage failed—when the shadow of her mother's unhappiness fell darkly upon her; but she made no sign to the world. So the winter passed, and in the first bright wistful days she went forth with Zan to find the spring.

YOUNGSTER HAS POWER THAT AMAZES TRAINERS

Chicago, June 6.—Local trainers are wondering just what power is possessed by Albert Ormsbee, a 13-year-old boy of Lake Geneva, Wis. The youngster seems to have the ability to win the confidence of horses that have been uncontrollable in other hands; at least, such has been true in several instances.

The most noted instance of his ability to get on the good side of an ugly horse was brought to light recently. A good part of last summer there was a 3-year-old colt at the West Chicago track that none of the trainers cared to fuss with, although everybody around the track knew he had a wonderful turn of speed. The colt would throw himself on the ground when harnessed and would also kick and do all the mean things in the catalogue. The sire of the colt was Conrad, and his dam had one in the list, but he was so mean that no one would bother with him.

Along last fall young Ormsbee wanted a horse for little money. The Conrad colt had been purchased at auction for $135, but his owner was glad to let the boy have him for $50. It is fair to the owner to say that he advised against his purchase and elaborated on all the mean tricks the colt could do. However, at the money the boy decalls. If everything goes right, the body else thought he was not only throwing his money away, but taking a chance of getting injured while trying to drive the colt.

Up to Lake Geneva the colt was shipped, and then young Ormsbee commenced to break him. In two months he had him so that he could ride him to saddle anywhere, and a little later he could harness and drive him anywhere. All this was accomplished without using a whip or any device of the horse tamer.

By the time the ice races came on the colt was ready, and the boy won many a brush on the ice, and had as good a mannered and fast a horse as anybody. He was so well broken that Ormsbee's mother has been in the habit of driving him around town to make cided he had a bargain although every-colt will be seen at the races this year.

This is not the first time that Albert Ormsbee has been successful with bad mannered horses. Last year he broke the kicking mare Ypsilanti, by Simmicolon, and trained her. When the Woodstock races came off he entered her, drove her to the meeting, and got Joe Bassett to do the driving in the race. Ypsilanti won the race, although it took seven heats. This year Ormsbee intends to do the racing himself.

DISPUTED THE UMPIRE, SIMCOE LOST GAME

St. Thomas, June 6.—In the Western Ontario League series here today between St. Thomas and Simcoe the game was given to St. Thomas as the result of a dispute of Simcoe's on the decision of the umpire. There was excellent play on both sides up to the sixth inning, when A. McDonald, of St. Thomas, got to first base. Graney was at bat, and missed the ball. The catcher threw a high ball to Cameron, of the Simcoe's, who was covering second base. McDonald went to steal second base, when the shortstop of the Simcoes caught the ball, but according to the umpire's decision, who was within ten feet of the base, he failed to touch the runner. Cameron kicked vigorously, and said naughty things to the umpire, who ordered him off the diamond. The Simcoes would not continue the game without Cameron. The umpire decided they could not have him, and they refusing to play, he gave the game to St. Thomas. Up to the time of kicking the score was 3 to 2 in favor of Simcoe. Bert Sheere, London, was umpire.

In the City League a game was played today between Stills and the Typos. The score was 4 to 0 in favor of Stills.

FIGHT TO A FINISH BETWEEN ROOT AND HART

Chicago, June 6. — The first finish fight since the memorable Corbett-Fitzsimmons battle in 1897 at Carson City will occur at Reno, Nev., on July 4, with Jack Root and Marvin Hart as principals. The go will have a decided bearing on the world's championship, as the winner will probably fight Bob Fitzsimmons for the title if the Cornishman still claims the title at that time.

Both men have already gone into training for the bout, which will probably be a give-and-take affair from the tap of the bell, judging from the previous battles of both men. Root is much the cleverer of the two, while Hart is perhaps the stronger, and one advantage will about offset the other. Should Root be defeated, it will probably be his last appearance in the ring, as he is already more than well-fixed in this world's goods, and need never fight another battle except for the glory of the 'thing. Hart, on the other hand, greatly needs this victory in his climb up the ladder toward the world's championship, to which he ardently aspires, and really has more to fight for than his opponent.

GIBSON'S GOOD WORK CONTINUES

"Mooney" Gibson, of Montreal, did wonderful work in a recent game, when he handled eight put-outs and six assists. This is a remarkable record for a catcher. "Mooney" is still there with the big stick, too.

CHANGES IN GOLF RULES NUMEROUS

The United States Association Makes Many—Punishment for Violations.

New York, June 7.—A booklet of the revised rules of golf is to be mailed in lots of ten today to each club in the United States Golf Association to fill the immediate demand. An entirely new addendum has been made to rule 4 for stroke competitions by the U. S. G. A. committee, the need of which has been made apparent by an appeal from a club as to the penalty when a player has returned a medal score lower than actually made. There has never been any doubt as to the meed of punishment that should be inflicted for an intentional violation of the sort, but the club in question asked for information in a case where the false return had been made by mistake. The ruling is:

"A player is only disqualified if any of the strokes marked as taken to individual holes are returned below those actually played."

The other changes in the book from the edition of 1903 are the adoption of the modifications in the rules of golf, Nos. 14 and 15, made at the September meeting of the Royal and Ancient Golf Club of St. Andrew's, with the interpretations added by the American committee. The rules now read:

Rule 14 (a)—If a ball lie or be lost in water or in casual water in a hazard, a ball may be dropped in or as far behind the hazard as the player may please, under penalty of one stroke; but if it be impossible from want of space in which to play, or from any other cause, to drop the ball behind the hazard, the player may drop a ball at the side of the hazard as near as possible to where the ball lay, but not nearer to the hole, under penalty of one stroke.

(b)—If a ball lie or be lost in casual water through the green, or if casual water through the green interferes with the player's stance, the player may drop a ball, without penalty, within two club lengths from the margin directly behind the place where the ball lay, or from the margin nearest to the place where the ball lay, but not nearer to the hole. If the ball when dropped roll into the water, or rest so that the water interferes with the player's stance, it may be redropped, without penalty, as near to the margin as the nature of the ground permits, but not nearer to the hole.

(c)—In dropping a ball behind the spot from which the ball was lifted, the player shall keep that spot, or, in the case of water, the spot at which the ball entered, in a line between himself and the hole.

Wherever it is impossible to drop a ball prescribed in sections a and b, it shall be dropped as near as possible to the place where it lay, but not nearer to the hole.

(d)—If a ball lie in casual water on a putting green, a ball may be placed by hand behind the water without penalty.

The penalty for a breach of this rule shall be the loss of the hole.

Rule 15—A ball shall be dropped in the following manner: The player himself shall drop it. He shall face the hole, stand erect, and drop the ball behind him from his head.

If the ball when dropped touch the player he shall incur no penalty, and if it roll into a hazard it may be redropped without penalty.

The penalty for a breach of this rule shall be the loss of the hole.

Penalties to rule 14 fixed by the U. S. G. A. are loss of the hole at match play and two strokes at medal play. The remainder of the interpretation defines a water hazard and is copied from the 1903 book. The interpretation to rule 15 is as before—in match play, for improperly dropping the ball, loss of the hole; at medal play, a penalty of two strokes, the ball to be redropped properly.

OPENING OF COMMERCIAL LEAGUE—TWO GOOD GAMES

The opening of the Commercial League was celebrated yesterday by two games between Scandretts and the Grocers, and Diamond Hall and the Druggists. Mr. W. G. Young, of Diamond Hall, and Manager Karn, of the Sovereign Bank, pitched the ball over the plate, and the season was on.

The games were fast, and kept the large crowd in expectation all the time. The first game was a ten-inning affair, but was won by the Scandretts. The second game was also fast, and ended in the sixth inning—five all. The scores were as follows:

Grocers	0	0	0	0	0	0	1	4	0	0	5

Batteries—Clark and Langford; Parker and Rogers. Umpire, Dr. West.

Diamond Hall	0	1	0	0	3	1	—				5
Druggists	2	0	3	0	0	0	—				5

HORSES RAN IN MUD AT HAMILTON TRACK

Hamilton, June 7.—The superlative degree was reached at the Hamilton Jockey Club's races this afternoon. Monday was bad enough. Yesterday it was through a track with the red clay just visible through the standing water, which was later mixed into a mortar-like consistency, with a dark tingue; but today water was everywhere on the track, and only the horses knew of the fearsome depths below. It was the worst track ever Hamilton knew. The attendance was smaller than ever, though the Toronto end was well held up. The results:

First race, purse, 3-year-olds and up, 7 furlongs—Red Light, 90, 13 to 5, won by two lengths; Benckart, 114, even, 2; Fern Rock, 106, 7 to 2, 3. Time, 1:35. Parnassus, Blue Miracle, Harry New, Ericula and My Honeyalso ran.

Second race, purse, maiden 2-year-olds, 4½ furlongs—Bella Hamburg, 110, 12 to 5, won by a length; Away, 115, 2 to 3, 2; Henry Waring, 115, 2 to 3, 3. Time, :57. J. K. F., Contentment, Goggles, Uncle Al and Peter Becker also ran.

Third race, Walker Cup, steeplechase, for Dominion owned horses, about 2 miles—Gearholm, 135, 6 to 1, won by two lengths; Lord Radnor, 143, 11 to 5, 2; Ohnet, 146, 7 to 2, 3. Time, 4:47¼. Billy Ray and Mabon also ran.

Rourth race, sweepstakes, 3-year-olds and up, 6 furlongs—Peter Paul, 114, 1 to 2, won by four lengths; Henry Waite, 112, even, 2; Setauket, 119, 3 to 1 3. Time 1:20½. Reubens also ran.

Fifth race, purse, 3-year-olds and up, 7 furlongs—Monochord, 115, 9 to 10, won by two lengths; No Trumper, 99, 11 to 5, 2; Yama Christy, 112, 6 to 1, 3. Time, 1:36½. Sing Away, Jim Hale, Berry Waddell and Prodigality also ran.

Sixth race, purse, maiden 3-year-olds, 6 furlongs—Edgley, 106, 3 to 2, won by four lengths; Irene Brady, 107, 3 to 1, 2; Step Away, 107, 7 to 2, 3. Time, 1:22. Royal Pearl, Lands End, Teston and Trackless also ran.

GOLF.

BIG BRITISH TOURNEY.

London, June 7. — The 45th annual tournament for the open golf championship commenced at St. Andrew's this morning. A record entry of 152 necessitates three days' play. W. M. Taylor, the winner the last time the tournament was held at St. Andrew's, completed the first round in 80. The American champion W. Anderson, took 86. Alex. Smith, one of the American representatives, did the first round in 81 strokes.

George S. Lyon, of Toronto, former amateur golf champion of Canada, finished the round in 89.

FOOTBALL.

VICTORY FOR MILVERTON.

Milverton, Ont., June 6. — The intermediate W. F. A. match between Stratford and Milverton this evening resulted in a victory for the latter. A high wind and slippery ground interfered with fast playing. Shortly after the game began Loth scored for Milverton. The locals' second was made in a scrimmage near the goal. Before the end of the first half Campbell scored once for Stratford, but during the second half McLennan succeeded in again scoring for Milverton.

THE TURF.

HORSES ARRIVE FOR MEET.

The races at New Hamburg were postponed because of the unfitness of the track. The horses, numbering 37, which were to start there, have been sent into London, and are at Queen's Park stables. They will be put on edge for the meet next week, and a good week's sport is now assured. The London meet will be extended until Saturday if the attendance warrants

MATINEE RACES POSTPONED

Too much moisture spoiled the opening of the amateur road drivers on Wednesday afternoon and many citizens were disappointed. Mr. W. F. Johnston, of Ingersoll, had a green pacer, Elsie G., which he was going to start in one of the classes, and there is a possibility of Miss Wilkes, of Galt, sending some of her horses up for the matinees. Owing to the races next week there will be no matinee.

YESTERDAY'S WINNERS.

At Gravesend—Campo 5 to 1, Casini 7 to 2, Proper 7 to 2, Transmute 5 to 1, Major Daingerfield 17 to 10, Captain Bob 3 to 1.

At Latonia—Athlone 9 to 2, Antillian 9 to 5, Estrada Palma 2 to 5, Elvander 7 to 1, Berry Hughes 7 to 5, and Lela Duffy even.

WORKING ON NEW TRACK.

Toronto, June 7.—Work on the new track at the Woodbine has commenced and the new track will be ready for the autumn meeting of the O. J. C. in September. The new track will be located 90 feet south of the present course, so as to make more room for the public by the extension of the lawn. It is the intention to grade the lawn so that promenaders can see the races without going into the new stands that are promised.

THE PLANK BROKE

John Sloman, a Workman, Sustains a Severe Fall.

John Sloman, employed as a teamster at Green's coal and wood yard, and who resides just north of the city in London township, was severely injured by a fall yesterday afternoon.

Sloman and his employer were working on a scaffold, building a shed, when the plank on which they stood snapped. Green succeeded in saving himself by holding to the framework of the shed, but Sloman fell to the ground, a distance of twelve feet. A doctor who was summoned found that Sloman was badly shaken up, but no bones were broken. He will be laid up for a few days.

HUSSARS STRONG AT JUNE CAMP

Nearly 350 Men Under Canvas R. C. R. Non-Coms. for Special Duties.

The big camp on Carling's Heights is in full swing. Nearest to the Army Service Corps and the Barracks stand the tents of the First Hussars, commanded by Col. King, of Kingsville, and including No. 1 Squadron of this city, commanded by Capt. Abbott. Never has there been so large a turnout of the Hussars at any previous camp, about 350 men being under canvas and about the same number of horses at the pickets.

Yesterday morning the Hussars underwent their medical inspection by Dr. Balfour. Veterinary Captain J. H. Wilson, of this city, accompanied Col. Hall, of the Royal Canadian Dragoons, of Toronto, on a tour of inspection of horses and equipment. Lieut. Walter Reid, of the Indian Imperial service, is acting adjutant.

The Twenty-sixth Regiment arrived last night and took up its quarters just east of the Hussars. The Thirty-second (Bruce), and Thirty-third (Huron) Regiments occupy the extreme east end of the Heights, and just south of them is the Field Hospital Corps from Sarnia, commanded by Major Hayes.

All the corps have remarkably large strength, the increased pay which has been issued by the militia department probably being partly responsible.

A CATHEDRAL WEDDING

Mr. Michael O'Meara and Miss Annie Crummer United at St. Peter's.

A pretty wedding was solemnized at St. Peter's Cathedral yesterday at 8 o'clock, the contracting parties being Mr. M. J. O'Meara, Grigg House, and Miss Annie Crummer, daughter of Mr. Louis Crummer, also of this city.

The bride looked charming in a handsome gown of white silk, trimmed with Cluny lace, and wore a large white picture hat. She carried bridal roses.

THE SIDE THAT IS NOT CONSIDERED.

The larger portion of the business of life insurance in America is transacted by three companies, The Mutual Life, The New York Life, and The Equitable Life Assurance Society. Here is the result of their stewardship from the date of their commencing business up to Jan. 1, 1905, taken from the official reports of these institutions, and verified by the state departments to which these reports are made:

Total paid policy-holders by the three companies..	$1,597,896,299
Held for future payments..	1,250,978,491
Total benefit to policy-holders	$2,848,874,790
The policy-holders have paid	2,725,255,768
Accumulated for the benefit of policy-holders, over and above the money received from them	$ 123,619,022

It will be seen by the above figures that these companies have returned to the policy-holders, or hold in trust for them, every dollar that the insured have paid in premiums, and $123,619,000 in addition which they have accumulated for the benefit of the policy-holders. No other business in the world can equal this record.

These institutions are built to endure. No man lives and no institution was ever created beyond criticism. A great many people are of the opinion that even the Creator might have displayed greater intelligence in his work, and proceed to criticse it, but there never will be a safer or more satisfactory method of providing protection for the family than these life insurance companies afford.

Patton Says That They Are Lucky to Keep Out of Jail.

Princeton, N. J., June 8. — President Patton, of the Princeton Theological Seminary, preached before the students of Princeton University this morning on "Christian Morality." Among other things he said:

"To study every great movement we must study men of the times.

"The men of the present day seem to be trying to see how near they can come to prison gates without getting behind them. Might is right, and every one tries to get the other fellow on the hip. I hate to see a cold-blooded rascal who has $40,000,000 teach a Sunday school class and drive the hardest bargain within the range of the law on week days.

"If any one should ask me what I thought of such a man I would say that I should congratulate him for keeping out of jail while others were praising him.

"It is not easy to be good nowadays. I would rather write a perfect system of ethics than practice an every day one. Men can write perfect ethical systems, but, nevertheless, they cannot stand being watched when they go out at night.

"The school of Christ is much harder to get a diploma from than from Princeton, Yale, or any other college.

"It has been said that the meek shall inherit the earth, but we all want the earth nowadays, and I know that it is not the meek who get it. Most men of the present time contentedly have accepted the ethics, but they are slapping at the validity of the principles of Christ. Every one tries to get in a position where he can say in answer to an order to do something, 'I don't have to.'"
