The Child and the Angels. BY CHARLES SWAIN

The Sabbath sun was setting slow Amidst the clouds of even: " Our father," breathed a voice below, " Father who art in heaven !"

Beyond the earth, beyond the cloud, Those infant words were given : " Our Father," angels sang aloud, "Father who art in heaven !"

"Thy kingdom come !" still from the That child-like voice did pray : " Thy kingdom come !" God's hosts resou Far up the starry way.

" Thy will be done !" with little tongue That lisping voice implores; "Thy will be done !" the angelic throng Sing from seraphic shores.

" For ever !" still those lips repeat Their closing evening prayer; For ever !" floats in music sweet High 'midst the angels there.

week. In many cases when there is no preaching in a neighborhood our people are probably not fully engaged on the Lord's day. Now, want of suitable religious exer cises on that day will not be thought favorable, either to comfort, or to growth in grace. I should like that the members of our Church who are so situated throughout the bounds of our Conference would consult with their Ministers on the practicabilit and desirableness of organizing a Sabbath School in their respective settlements .---Doubtless difficulties and discouragements will appear. O, how formidable a task i seemed to the pious women who went early to Christ's sepulchre to anoint him. Anxiously, fearfully, they said among themselves. Who shall roll us away the store from the sepulchre? But they still went forward, and lo! when they came within sight of the sepulchre they saw that the stone was rolled away, Mark xvi. 1-3. 3. Again. It seems to me that much care should be exercised by the officers and teachers of Sabbath Schools to promote and preserve quiet, order, and a reverent behaviour among the scholars. Now. Sir. 1 de not belong to the " Society of Friends." and therefore do not insist on Sunday scholars being fixed and silent as statues, nor am an old bachelor who has no patience whatever with the noises of children. But in our part of the Provinces complaint is often made of the want of calmness and repose in some of our Sunday Schools. Bustle and noise must be very uncongenial to the deyout teacher, as well as obstructive to those those holy impressions of which youth are very susseptible, and which the exercises of the Sabbath School are designed to produce of its introduction did not please an hon. and deepen. If every teacher would set himself to guard against the evil of unnecessary talking, of loud speaking, and of super-Juous moving about in his own Class ; if, besides, every teacher would strive to occupy and interest his charge during the whole time of the School, the result would be highly satisfactory. The external tranquility hus produced would be attended by inward peace, and the Sabbath School would become only second in the estimation of the wise and good to the public solemnities of the house of God 4. And then, Mr. Editor, permit me to enquire whether sufficient attention is uniformly paid to the religious character and Scriptural conversion of our Sunday scho Many of them do indeed love the Lord Jesus Christ,-their conscience is truly avakened, and is graciously tender. These lambs of the flock of the good Shepherd will rise up in due time to sustain, to adorn, and to advance His cause in the world. But college for granting them. why should not their number be soon and greatly increased ? The greater part have een dedicated to God in Baptism, and have thus been admitted to the covenant of grace. Will it not therefore be an object worthy of the very best regards of Superintend nts and Teach ers to lead their juvenile charge to feel their need of conversion, and to seek it by repentance and faith until they find it. O, what an elevated, delightful character will be acquired by every Sabbath School of which it may be said with respect to many of their scholars, as it-was of Zion, "This and that man was born in her": then indeed it may be added with grateful confidence, "And the

The members of the Church were much quickened, and several obtained the blessing of holiness who were enabled to witness a good confession, -some backsliders were restored, and others obtained the blessing of justification. These meetings were made a blessing to many. Those interesting and intelligent young people who have ioined the Church will be very useful, we hope. to the cause of Christ.

Brother Gooden gave us his useful assistance more or less at several of these meetings, as did also Brother Alex. Tuttle ; their laborious efforts were bigh'y appreciated by our friends, especially at Shinimicash where their labors were blessed in the promotion of the good work. Our active ladies on this Circuit have formed a Sewing Circle, or a Parsonage aid Society, and intend holding a Bazaar to liquidate the debt on the Parsonage; they will be happy to receive a donation from any persons friendly to the object. Revival in the Episcopal Churches.

Throughout this week save the N.Y. Tribus regular evening services have been held in the Church of the Ascension at the corner of Fifth avenue and Tenth street, in which a number of Episcopal ministers of this city have taken part. The congregations upon these occasions have teen very large, and great interest has been manifested.

On Tuesday evening the services were of a very impressive character. The meeting com menced with singing the hymn

the the the

"Stay thou insulted Spirit, stay. Though I have done thes such despite; Nor cast the sinner quite away. Nor take thine everlasting flight."

A series of prayers were read by the Re-Hr. Dennison, after which the Rev. Mr. Dickson Rector of Grace Chapel, delivered a short ad dress from the text, " Lord, are there few that b

He attributed the small number of profession Christians to the low standard of Christianity among Christians themselves, to their revers and indifference to the salvation of others. Another hymn was sung commencing,

After which, some remarks were made by the Rev. Dr. Dver. Two verses of the hymn commencing, was sung, and the Rey, Dr. Cutler of St Ann' Church, Brooklyn, addressed the meeting. He said that twenty years ago, such a meeting as the present one would have been denounced as Mepresent one would have been denounced as Me-tholistical, but he felt that he could almost say made by hon. Mr. Young and hon. Attorney with Simeon of old, " Now Lord let thy servant General. depart in peace," for he had witnessed that glori ous "Leviathan," the Episcopal Church, which tor years he had lamented to see, with all its noble qualities and precious gifts, being fast in the stocks, being at last launched and making of God. The hymn beginning, " Salvation, oh the joyful sound," was sung, the concluding prayers were read by the Rev. Mr. Dennison, who also pronounced the benediction and the congregaion was dismissed. The singing is entirely Congregational at those services, the use of the organ having been dispensed with Good-night ! Hie thee to sleep-To slumber calm and deep. The evening star has long since gone to rest Behind the trees that fringe the dewy West ; And darkness broods upon the silent wood, Where night now holds her cloistral solitude.

The lights that lately shone So cheerily across the village street Have vanish'd one by one,-The weary households, wrapp'd in slumbers sweet, Forget the busy day : The child forgets its play, Or else it fashions, in its pleasant dreams, New sports beside the flowing crystal streams Where the wood-shadows dance, And the clear day-beams glance ; ----Where the frolicsome eddies that never are still Go curling and whirling all over the rill.

Lulling the cares that crowd our spirits now, Breathing in voiceless words its lessons pure, And strengthening us the future to endure.

Hark ! 'tis the distant bell; High in its massive tower It notes the passing hour-A faithful sentinel. Unnoticed all the day its deep tones fell ; But now, how solemnly its echoes swell, As of another hour it tells the funeral knell?

The sea, the restless sea, The changeful, mighty sea, Whose blue tides break Along the shores so heavily, Whose murmurs wake The answering echoes of the distant hills, Hath yet a tone sublaced, whose music thrills The ear of list'ning night With ever new delight, And all the air with deeper quiet fills.

The winds are all asleep ; The leaves hang motionless, and not a flower Has stirred its petals since the twilight hour ; There's not a bird awake, in bush or bower, To break the silence deep. The gentle night has hush'd its very breath, And over hill and mead With noiseless hand hath spread The stillness of repose-but not of death.

Goud-night ! Aurora fair, E'en now, with light and rapid feet, Is hastening with her odurs sweet, And odors rare, T' invade the tranquil realm of night, And fill its courts with roseate light. Haste thee to rest, while yet The stars, so thickly set Around night's coronal of jet, Their peaceful vigils keep. God's angels guard thy sleep, And keep thee till the morrow's light Shall waken thee To greet again the morning bright, And listen to its melody. -National Magazine.
