The first event was a four round go between Merritt Barnes and Bert Ford which furnished a great deal of merriment owing to the agile lunges of Barnes and the responding swipes of the strong armed Ford. Then followed an exhibition of fancy bag punching by Phil Smith, which was loudly applouded.

Next on the program was another four-round go with Collin Sinclair and George Mutchler as principals.

Sinclair, in the first round, got in a straight arm blow on Mutchler's mouth cutting it severely and it looked at first as though a knockout was in order, but Mutchler in the following three rounds made -it warm for_Sinclair, reaching him several times at a distance which seemed impossible.

Billy Moss and C. Morrison were next on the mat in a 15-minute catchas catch-can wrestling match. During the progress of the match, which, by the way, was an exhibition go, the remarkable agility displayed by Morrison was a source of constant wonder and applause.

Then followed an exhibition of club swinging by Bert Finney, the Hawaiian prince. It is said that Finney has captured many a dusky damsel in the land of one and two finger poi by the

The Fabulous Richness of the Creeks and Beach-The Tundra May Rival the Ruby Sands-Opinion of J. L. Davidson, Civil Engineer.

There has been so much told of Cape Nome and its wonderful richness that anything which is written now is likely to appear redundant. Nevertheless, there are hundreds of people to whom the story will never grow old, unless perhaps it be nine months hence when they return to Dawson disap pointed and disheartened. Notwithstanding, however, the ill-fortune of many who will stampede to the new fields, the fact will be, as it is now, that Nome is extravagantly rich in gold, and offers the greatest opportun ities ever known to the poor prospector. Accustomed as the residents of the Yukon are to the rapid development of new countries, yet few who have not visited the Alaskan camp realize the wonderful growth which that new district has had.

Nome is a town two miles long and one mile wide. The city was surveyed. and platted into lots last summer, and a charter was drafted and adopted. There are enough buildings in the new city to shelter 4000 people, and 24 of these structures are two stories or more. In

This is the statement of John T. Keating, president of the Ancient Order of Hipernians and conspicuous among the Irish Americans in this city and elesewhere. When a newspaper offers its advertising space at a nominal figure, it is a practical admission of "no circulation " THE KLONDIKE NUGGET asks a good figure for its space and in justification lhereof guarantees to its advertisers a paid circulation fire times that of any other paper published between Junean and the North Pole.

AN IMPORTANT CONSIDERATION.

Two years ago, at this time, the trail leading from Skagway to the summit of the White Pass was thronged with hundreds of venturesome spirits intent on reaching Dawson at the very earliest possible moment. Hundreds of tons of supplies were sledded and packed over the trail at an immense cost, it being no uncommon thing to pay as high as 25 cents per pound for delivery of goods at Lake Bennett, which but marked the starting point for the real trip into Dawson.

With the completion and successful operation of the White Pass & Yukon railway from Skagway to Bennett, the rate at which freight could be brought to Dawson from the outside was im mediately lowered. At the present time work is being pushed as rapidly as pos sible on the extension of the line to Whitehorse, and its operation to that point is promised at an early date after the opening of navigation in the coming spring. When this is accomplished it will be possible to bring treight to, Dawson from Skagway with but a single handling after leaving the last na ned point. As a natural consequence another material reduction will be made in through freight lates.

The Nugget is of the opinion that the development of the Yukon country will hinge to a very great extent upon this question of freight tariffs. It is alto-have been left exposed, furnishing pitfalls for the unwary traveler which already have resulted in a number of accidents. At this season of the year when the openings to those shatts are very likely to be almost if not entirely concealed by reason of snow, they become particularly dangerous. We again urge upon the Yukon council the necessity of an ordinance whereby parties abandoning claims will be com pelled to protect the public against danger from open shafts.

If some one will come forward and solve the question of getting currency into general circulation without working a hardship upon the man who is a producer or holder of gold dust, he will be entitled to the lasting gratitude of a thankful community. It is a natural duty devolving upon the government office at which the miner may effect an equitable exchange of his dust for cur rency. Experience has proven, how ever, that the things which should be done are the ones that are left undone, and vice versa. The solution of the gold dust problem therefore will probably come through other than govern mental agency.

Now that we have had a taste of what it means to be in touch with affairs on the outside the shutting off of communication by wire, seems to work a veritable hardship. The wire has been down for a matter of more than ten days and meantime in so far as recent affairs on the outside are concerned we might as well be in the same condition as last winter. Today the wire is down between Dawson and the first station up. the river, so we are more isolated than ever. We shall be very much disappointed if war news of the most stirring kind does not come singing over the wire when the line is again in working order.

A quiet investigation among business men in Dawson reveals the fact that while little or no talk of "good business" is being made, the state of trade in general is every bit as flourishing as was the case at this time last year. It is quite safe to assume that there will be from this time forward a steady increase in the volume of business transacted., Within less than 60 days we opine that Dawson will feel as jubilant as Uncle Sam does after a Republican victory. An anxious public has been waiting with a very commendable degree of patience for some decisive movement on the part of one or the other of the belligerents in the News-Sun telegram episode. If no developments occur within a, short time; a suspicion will begin to take root in the minds of people that the whole affair has a very strong taint of advertising fake attached arm of the law to protect themselves and their games from the onslaught of the man who was never before drunk. In court , this morning James had no recollection of his actions of yesterday further than that he arrived from the Forks during the day. Had he possessed that fertility of . brain so often exercised on similar occasions he would have added that he was nearly frozen on reaching town, and just took a 'mere dhrap'' to warm himself, and never having taken any before it had proven too much for him; but he didn't. A fine of $10 and costs or 14 days at hard labor was imposed. The cash was paid and James will probably permit another half century to come and go before he again permits himself to look upon the flowing bowl.

Foster Power, of whom mention was made in yesterday's paper as being up on the charge of cruelly beating a dog, was fined and paid $10 and costs.

A. F. George brought suit against the Allen Brothers for the sum of $161 alleged to be due as a balance for services rendered. Mr. George claime that he had been employed at a salary of $300 per month. It was shown in the evidence that the rate of compensation at which Mr George had been employed was $260 per mouth; it was also shown that Mr. George had performed certain services in Seattle last summer, for which he had been allowed the sum of $100; it was also shown that the further sum of $175 had been advanced to Mr. George in Seattle prior, to his departure for Dawson, leaving, accord ing to defendants' statement a balance of $71 in their favor. The court held that he had no jurisdiction over the Seattle transaction, and after figuring the time which the plaintiff had worked in Dawson at the rate of $260. per month as claimed by defendants, found a balance for Mr. George of $47.10.

has been tormed to pipe water into the town from la ge springs in the inills. Work on a sewerage system will be inaugurated before the warm weather commences. Two newspapers are published, and each enjoy a profitable circulation.

There is a complete set of municipal officers, including a police magistrate and police force who regulate the city affairs. A United States commissioner interprets the federal statutues, and has nis decrees executed by a U. S. deputy marshal who, in cases of emergency, may call to his assistance the company of troops stationed in the vicinity of the town. The only difficulty ever experienced was that relating to the val idity of powers of attorney, and at the May session of the U.S. supreme court at Washington, D. C., this vexing question will be finally determined in a test case, which has been tried in the lower courts, and which is now on the preemptory calender of the highest tribu nal. As, every one knows the principal creeks are Snow, Invil, Snake, Glacier, Dexter and Buster. The output of Snow creek for three months last year is estimated to have been $400,000. Nuggets worth as much as $150 each have been found on this stream. Anyif was the banner creek of the district last season. Bedrock is reached at a depth of only four feet. One of the best claims which was worked during the past summer, yierded $115,000. The owners of No. 8 realized $200,000 from their cleanup. Charles D. Lane purchased three claims on this tributary, and paid for them the sum of $165,000. Nuggets are frequently found on Anvil, and one was uncovered which is worth

As a conservative estimate, it is safe to say that 2500 people were engaged in rocking and panning gold from the sand last summer between the mouths of Snake river and Cripple creek.

Next season it is expected that rich dirt will be found in what is known as the "tundra," which extends from the terminus of the beach to the mountains. Speaking of this portion of the Nome country, Mr. J. L. Davidson, a well informed civil engineer said :

"The 'tundra,' which in some places is three and one-half to four miles wide, is continually frozen. It is covered with a thick moss which prevents it from thawing out in summer. This tundra contains gold; indeed, it is the supply of the beach gold, according to my theory. I removed some of the moss on the turdra and the dirt on top assayed $7 to the ton. I assayed sand taken from off the top of the beach in handfulls, for a distance of six miles. and it averaged $9 33.

"This is just from the top, remember. The 'pay streak' extends from 'a depth of eighteen inches to three feet.

"I account for the gold in the beach sands in this manner : Long ago, when a mighty glacier was slowly moving down, it formed the tundra as a lateral moraine. This tundra contained gold in abundance and the erosive action of the waves on the tundra washed out the gold, along with other materials, and it ook its place along the margin of the ocean on the beach."

The freight capacity and passenger accommodations of boats running to Nome will be taxed to the utmost when navigation opens. Before the middle of summer the transportation companies will have solved the difficulty experienced last year in landing cargoes. It is proposed to unload on large lighters or barges, which can be taken sufficiently far toward the shore in high tide as to enable wagons to reach them at low tide.

Thousands will risk the chance tor fortune in Nome next spring some will die after they reach there, many will succeed, and the rest will fail.

We wish the people on the creeks to try the Pavilion grill and lunch room for a good, home cooked dinner; $1. Next to the Palace Grand gether probable that as yet the Yukon has not paid its way. By that we mean that in the aggregate the expense bill to the territory has been greater than the total gold output. This fact is no indication of any lack either in quantity or value of resources. It merely serves to force upon our attention the fact that expense of production must be lowered. Prices of all commodities, machinery, etc., are governed almost exclusively by the existing freight rates. Competition may be relied upon to keep prices at an equitable figure in so far as the Dawson merchants' profits are concerned, but one thing is absolutely certain, the merchant cannot go below the cost of landing his goods in Dawson, and remain in ousiness.

When treight rates are cut 10 per cent it means an almost proportionate de crease in the cost of living in Dawson, and a similar decrease in the cost of development of] our single resource. With every increase in the mileage of railway which is gradually penetrating into the heart of the Yukon-country, the outlook for the country becomes brighter.

'The Nugget's attention has been directed again to the matter of abandoned shafts on the creeks. Mention was made of this some time ago in these columns. Through the carelessness of individuals, a great- many shafts, often of considerable depth, yet the gamblers invoked the strong ent places for 20 miles of its length.

I learned that the city council had given authority to a man to do the work for which he was paid 25 cents for each figure by the owner of the building numbered. If the work could be done, the figures furnished and put' up, at Skagway at that price, it can certainly be done here for $1 per figure, and even at that price no one number would cost to exceed $3. Canadian Development Co. Al leged to Be Selling Its Assets.

Superior Court of Seattle Enjoins the Company From Removing $11,000 Paper Into Canada.

Judge Jacobs, of the superior court at Seattle, Washington, issued an order on Decen ber 20th restraining the Canadian Development Company and John P. Hartman from taking an $11,000 government warrant into British Columbia. Courtney H. West, the petitioner, claims ownership of the paper, and asserts that a movement is on foot to place it beyond his reach. He also alleges that the managing officials of the Canadian Development Company are in London trying to sell the assets of the company.

The case now in the King county superior court is an outcome of P. C Richardson's Alaska mail contracts.

According to the complaint, the Canadian Development Company on October 12, 1899, entered into an agreement with Richardson by which Richardson transferred to the company his interest in two mail contracts with the United States for the transportation of mail between Juneau and St. Michael.

The company agreed to pay Richardson, or his assigns, it is alleged, $16,-000, and transferred to Richardson all warrants and money coming into its hands for the transfer of mails prior to October 1, 1899.

Richarison assigned to . Ira Bronson his claim in all moneys and warrants due him from the United States for carrying mails, and also funds and J. McDougall, J. A. McDougall, George warrants due him from the Canadian Development Company.

Bronson sold the claims to Courtney H. West, who brings the present suit.

It is alleged that a warrant for $11,765 payable to John P Hartman, trustee or attorney in fact for the Canadian Dev-1opment Company, issued by the United lor, McGregor, Grunia, Lyall, Mc-States for the transportation of mails prior to October 1, 1899, has come into Thorburn, Ridley, Begg, Jamison, Mc the nands of the defendants.
