Is Being Prepared For This Season by White Pass & Yukon Route.

ROLLING STOCK BEING INCREASED

By Addition of Elegant New Passenger Coaches.

PRIVATE CAR FOR PRESIDENT.

Three Thousand Tons of Freight Now at Whitehorse—Big Consignment of Mail Leaves Skagway.

Skagway, May 22.—The White Pass & Yukon Route is preparing for the heaviest traffic in passengers and freight during the season just opening that has been handled in the history of the road.

Besides a large number of new freight cars, four elegant new passenger coaches, one of them President Graves' private car, have been added to the rolling stock. Already there are 3000 tons of freight at Whitehorse awaiting shipment to Dawson and every steamer from below brings a full cargo. Mads' scows at Whitehorse are already loaded and a number have gone down as far as Lebarge. Reports from Whitehorse today are that the river is rising, but very slowly.

DECORATING THE ORDER

City Is Taking on Gala Attire for Victoria Day.

It is conceded by everyone that in order to properly observe a holiday and especially a national holiday a city must be properly decorated for the occasion. A city which does not take enough interest in making itself beautiful for the day cannot have enough ambition to see that the sports and other events are carried to a successful issue. A city which presents a bright and cheerful appearance cannot help but produce a corresponding influence upon its inhabitants and those who participate in the celebration.

Dawson will not be lacking in this respect for decorators are already at work on some of the leading business houses beautifying their buildings and others are preparing to do the same, and it is to be hoped that others will begin immediately to decorate their places in honor of the occasion.

The streets are being lined with evergreen trees and if everyone does their share Dawson will present a gala appearance on the 24th.

VALUABLE GOLD NUGGET

Found on Frank Phiscator's Eldorado Claim.

A telephone message received too late for publication yesterday told of a gold nugget found during the afternoon on No. 2 Eldorado, Frank Phiscator's claim, that at the rate of $16 per ounce, is worth $1018.50, weighing a fraction less than 64 ounces. The big nugget had been shoveled into the sluice box and was found by the man whose business it is to handle the large boulders. Phiscator was present at the time and the phone message said he was more pleased than if he had found twice its value in dust. It is one of the very largest nuggets ever found in the district. The owner will bring it to Dawson where it will be placed on exhibition at some prominent place.

Justice Craig has been very ill for the last two days, but is said to be much better today.

LOG RAFT ARRIVES

Lipsett Bros. Bring Down First of Season.

The first raft of the season to arrive in Dawson from the upper river was brought down yesterday by the Lipsett Brothers from Ninemile post, where they have spent most of the winter cutting and piling wood for the use of the steamers this summer.

They made the trip from their camp, which is situated about 15 miles above Ogilvie in nine hours arriving in Dawson about 4:30 yesterday afternoon.

They say that while the main channel is almost entirely free from ice, the sloughs and bars all down the river are packed with ice and in many places it has jammed to two feet high. Joe Cook's roadhouse at Twelvemile post which is situated on rather low ground is surrounded with the ice which is shoved right up to his door. It had to be abandoned as it is almost impossible to get to it.

The ice is out of all the creeks and the water in the Yukon began rising Sunday morning and has been rising steadily.

There have been very few individual wood choppers cutting this winter, most of the wood being cut by the W. P. & Y. R. men who are stationed all along the route. There is lots of wood cut and piled along the river, but the woodmen are nevertheless looking for good prices for their fuel owing to the large number of steamers which will be on the route.

Ducks are very plentiful all along the river especially in the sloughs and side streams.

The Lipsett Brothers came down to get provisions which were running short at their camp and expect to return within a few days.

COMING AND GOING.

The little launch Marjory is making regular trips to West Dawson.

Harold James of the Forks, and Mrs. Katherine McKinnon of the same city, are guests today at the Regina.

The grandstand for the Victoria day sports is completed and has already become a favorite resort and resting place for the weary.

Yesterday was the warmest day we have had this season, the official thermometer registering 67 degrees. For the first time in a week there was no frost last night and in fact there has been only three nights this season in which there has been no frost.

Mr. Ron. M. Crawford received a telegram from J. Westwood, general manager of the Reliance Mining Co., stating that himself and L. B. Rhoder, mining superintendent of the same company, would arrive in Dawson on the first boat Mr. Crawford expects them tomorrow.

A crowd was standing on the bank of the river opposite the barracks last evening holding a very interesting discussion on a very interesting subject, when one of them who had been watching the movements of a certain object which came from the mouth of the Klondike river suddenly exclaimed in an excited tone of voice: "Look at that moose, boys! Where is a gun? Get me a gun while I shoot him!" However, before a gun could be obtained, the object which was mistaken for a moose was seen to be a stump, with a number of roots, which were projecting out of the water, and coming down with a sort of rocking motion which gave it a very similar appearance to a large moose swimming in the river. There was a round of drinks on the discovery.

RUSHING SEASON

Duly Opened Last Night When Steamers Clossett and Bonanza King

STEAMED AWAY FOR UP RIVER

The Former With Mail, the Latter After Freight.

TWO STEAMERS FOR KOYUKUK

Rock Island and Gold Star Will Leave Monday—Down River Steamer Leaves the Tenth.

The shipping season of 1901 has fairly started now. Great activity is being manifested in all the steamboat offices and dates are being made for the sailing of steamers for the various runs. With the arrival of the first boats from the upper river the shipping business will receive an impetus which will carry it through the entire season and until navigation is again blocked by the closing of the river in the fall.

The little steamer Joseph Clossett bears the distinction of being the first boat leaving Dawson for Whitehorse this season.

She steamed away from the wharf last night shortly after 8 o'clock amid the blowing of whistles from her sister steamers and the waving of handkerchiefs and cheers of the immense crowd which lined the water front.

She carried the mail and 11 passengers, but all of them were for intermediate points most of them being wood choppers going up to the various camps along the river.

Capt. W. H. Rutledge and Constable Cudlip, of the N. W. M. P., were passengers for Hootchiku. The balance of the passengers were A. Clark, Thos. Stefferson, Edward Clark and F. L. Thomas for Ainslee, O. W. Hobbs for Indian river and P. Coffee the logger with three of his men for Thistle.

The Bonanza King was a close second to the Joseph Clossett, having left immediately after the latter, for Five Fingers where she will pick up freight which was stranded there last fall.

The steamer Gold Star left her winter's quarters at Steamboat slough and came down to Dawson yesterday. She looks very jaunty with her new coat of paint and the improvements which have been made on her during the winter. The size of her wheel has been increased to 14 feet and her fantail has been raised giving a very graceful curve to her hull. She will leave on her first trip to Koyukuk on Saturday.

Capt. Nixon the owner of the boat will make the first trip, which will be a guarantee of a safe and prosperous voyage.

The Northern Navigation Company's steamer Rock Island will also be put on the Koyukuk run and will start on her first trip on Monday next at 1 p. m.

The first boat is billed to leave for St. Michael on the 10th of June, but as that will carry provisions for the various camps and stores along the river many stops will necessarily have to be made. The second steamer which will leave on the 13th, will probably be the first to get into St. Michael as she will go straight through.

New Hoisting Machine.

Extensive improvements are to be made in the police barracks square. A hoisting machine is to be set up to take dirt from the beach to the square which will be filled up and levelled off. This will greatly add to the appearance of the grounds. The hoisting machine will be furnished by the McDonald Iron Works. This is a new machine and this will be a practical test of its usefulness. It is a self-dumping trolley and works on a single wire which makes it very simple in construction.

It requires no auxiliary tops and there is a complete absence of springs which cause so much trouble by freezing and snapping off.

The bucket will carry a half ton of dirt at a load and it is expected that only a short time will be consumed in the work of filling in the square.

PAUSING AT HELLGATE

Is What Ora, Nora and Flora Are Doing.

Not yet have local echoes been awakened by the whistle of a steamer from the upper river and blissful anticipations have been turned to pining and disappointment as it was believed yesterday, and confidently believed, that today would witness the arrival in Dawson of a number of steamers.

The reason for their non-arrival is a big ice jam at Hellgate—a deucedly funny and incongruous place for an ice jam, don't you know, but it is there and it lies between Dawson and the steamers Ora, Nora and Flora which are pausing on the other side until the jam voluntarily moves on, and as the jam is doubtless caused by big chunks of ice grounding on the numerous bars there, steamboat men express the belief that it will require the water to be quite high before they will move.

HE TOOK CHANCES

Foolish Risk Taken by Navigator of Small Boat.

There was a time, perhaps in the early days of this country when a man felt himself justified and his action might have been considered justifiable, under the circumstances, in the midst of others, in taking desperate chances and risks, which not only endangered his life but his property as well. Everyone who was in that mad rush knows that men went into dangerous places without ever considering what the consequences might be. In those days when time was precious and delays were very often disastrous a man was very often justified in taking risks, which today is not only unnecessary but foolhardy as well.

This was the opinion expressed by everyone who witnessed a man in a canoe crossing the Yukon Monday night about 7:30 when the ice was running steadily and almost entirely filling the channel. The man started to cross opposite Second street and when he got into the center of the ice it closed around him, making his oars useless. He managed to keep the ice from smashing the boat but it carried him down the river to the point below West Dawson.

It happened very luckily for him that he had gotten to the outer edge of the channel before the ice closed on him, so that when he reached the bend the ice parted a little leaving him room enough to squeeze through which he did successfully and landed safely on the other side. There was a large crowd lined the water front watching him and when he landed safely on the other side there was a sigh of relief heard for he looked to be in a very dangerous position and no one would have been surprised to have seen his boat crushed to pieces.

Unless it is a case of life and death such a risk is the height of folly especially when by waiting for an hour or so the ice would have run out leaving a clear passage across the river.

Police Court.

Another delegation of dirty back yard owners or tenants were brought into police court this morning, fined and ordered to put their premises in good condition at once. It is proposed by the police department that the city shall be put in good sanitary condition if every square foot of it has to be inspected. Lay on, McDuff.

SEATTLE STRIKE CONTINUES

Boiler Makers and Blacksmiths Join Technicians—Deep Sympathy in London for Pres. McKinley.

Albany, N. Y., May 17, via Skagway, May 22.—Five hours' conference between the warring elements failed to bring about any settlement of the Albany street railroad trouble and riot and bloodshed still continue. Two prominent citizens were shot during the rioting, both of whom are dead. The streets of Albany look like an armed camp. The railway and traction company has difficulty in moving its cars even without passengers.

Strike at Seattle.

Seattle, May 17, via Skagway, May 22.—The machinist strike is still on and is daily spreading. Boiler makers and blacksmiths have joined with the strikers and all machine shops are closed. The strike extends all over the country.

London, May 16, via Skagway, May 22.—All London papers editorially express their deepest sympathy for President McKinley over the present critical condition of his wife.

LINE OF PARADE

And Order of Victoria Day Procession

The line of procession agreed upon by the Victoria day committee is as follows:

Start will be made from intersection of Fifth street with First avenue, along the latter to Third street, up Third to Second avenue, along Second avenue to Second street, thence to Third avenue which will be followed to the principal street of South Dawson and back along First avenue to starting point where it will dissolve.

The order of parade will be: Band, N. W. M. P., volunteer fire department, city fire department, Order of Pioneers, orders and citizens, boats, wagons, carriages, horsemen, etc.

The royal salute, 21 guns, will be the signal for starting the procession.

At 9:30 the school children headed by the band will march down from the Mission street school to the grandstand where they will sing the songs selected and bear the address of Commissioner Ross.

GOOD ROADS.

If the government should invest the entire royalty collection for this year in the construction of new roads, the money so expended would ultimately be returned many times over. The extent of the Yukon territory's resources are as yet scarcely surmised. Districts which three years ago were not considered worth the effort involved in planting stakes, or the expense necessary in recording a claim are now known as heavy yielders of gold.

Other districts which have not known the prospector's pick until very recently are showing indications which will soon place them on the list as producers.

It is a fact that from the very beginning the territory has advanced in the face of obstacles which seemingly could not be overcome. Chief among these has been the lack of good roads. Men have toiled knee deep in mud with heavy packs on their backs, up and down creeks from which millions of money have been taken before any effort was made on the part of the government to relieve the situation.

It is time that a better condition prevail throughout the district. Large sums have been spent in the construction of public highways, but a beginning only has been made. The mining district adjacent to Dawson must in the end be covered with a network of roads. Every mile of roadway constructed means an extension of the working area of ground and a consequent addition to the output of the district.

It may be set down as an established principle that the government cannot give too much attention to the matter of public highways. The future of the district is dependent upon good roads almost as much as upon good claims.

RESULT OF DECISIVE ACTION.

The dog question has been solved in a very effective manner, notwithstanding the fact that the method employed may seem unnecessarily severe to many people. It is a case in which the end has clearly justified the means. Dawson, at the present time instead of being overrun with a horde of mangy, half-maddened dogs, is entirely freed from such nuisances and in fact it is hardly possible, in view of existing circumstances, to realize the condition which existed only a few weeks ago.

The whole matter merely illustrates what may be accomplished by applying strong and decisive measures in dealing with a serious question. An emergency existed, which, as soon as its importance was fully appreciated was dealt with promptly and effectively. If similar action should be taken in connection with the garbage question, that problem could soon be adjusted in an equally satisfactory manner.

The dispatches of last evening held out the hope that President McKinley's wife may yet recover although her condition, according to the last reports, were still precarious. Further information will be awaited with much anxiety.

COME IN FROM THE CREEKS.

Miners from the creeks and their friends, and their friends' friends are all invited to come into Dawson on the twenty-fourth and join in celebrating Victoria day. The published program of sports insures a day of enjoyment which will easily compensate for the expenditure involved. A celebration in Dawson cannot be regarded as a complete success unless the creeks join in helping to make it such. Suspension of work for one day will not injure anyone. All work and no play is not good for anyone and a better opportunity for a little recreation will not be presented for a long time to come than will be afforded on the occasion of the Victoria day celebration. Let everyone who can, give up work for the day and come in to Dawson and help make the occasion a success.

Two years ago the first boat arrived from Lake Lebarge on the 23d of May. Last year the steamer Flora tied up at her Dawson wharf on her first trip down the river, about a week earlier than the date mentioned. If the jam at Hellgate does not break today it is quite probable that Victoria day may pass before any of the boats manage to come through.

Must Pay Liquor License.

Restaurants and Turkish bath establishments will not be permitted any longer to sell liquors, as they have done in the past, without contributing to the revenue of the city, under the license ordinance. The police, license and revenue committee of the city council is a unit on the proposition that it is inequitable to permit the sale of liquor at places of this kind, without subjecting the proprietors to some, at least, of the burdens which are borne by those who are regularly in the liquor business.

The matter culminated yesterday in the arrest of I. N. Hopper, proprietor of the Elk baths. He was fined $12.50 and was released. Whether this sum is the one which will be enforced by way of a fine against all engaged in the business who may sell liquor could not be ascertained. It probably depends on the action of the various bathhouse keepers themselves.

What action will be taken against restaurant keepers has not yet been determined. It is likely, however, that some course will be decided upon promptly. Several propositions have been before the committee, and have been considered. It is conceded that it would be impossible to exact the payment of the regular liquor license fee from restaurant keepers.

One member of the committee said yesterday, in discussing the subject: "Personally, I am in favor of endeavoring to reach an understanding with the keepers of restaurants and other persons of like business, who sell liquor as a sort of assistance to their main business. In my opinion, they are as much amenable to the law as it stands as are the saloonkeepers. I recognize, however, that the law as it stands would bear somewhat heavily upon them, and would drive many small restaurant keepers out of business. I am in favor, therefore, of agreeing on some sum by way of a fine, which should be assessed against each proprietor each month; and if this were done with a tacit understanding, I am inclined to think that the question can be so disposed of. Of course, if the parties affected endeavor to fight us, and insist that the liquor laws do not extend to them, and therefore that we have no power to fine them, there will be only one course to pursue. The city must enforce the laws as they stand, and by being made to pay the full liquor license, the restaurants would get the worst of it."

On the other hand, it is understood that the position of the restaurant keepers is substantially that as they only sell by the bottle, they are not amenable to the law imposing a license on places where liquor is sold by the drink. They contend that they are wholesale liquor dealers, if they are dealers at all, in the legal sense of the word. In such case, however, they are naturally amenable to the wholesale liquor license; and if a fight is made on this proposition it is understood that the city council would raise the rate of the wholesale liquor license so as to force restaurants to pay what would be deemed a proper revenue from this source.—P.-I., April 19.

STROLLER'S COLUMN.

"Have you got on to the new style of walk for ladies?"
The above question was propounded to the Stroller by an observing man one evening recently.

The Stroller had observed that many ladies lean the upper portion of the body forward more now than lately, but he had not realized that it was a style. On the contrary, he had mistaken it for physical infirmity. More recent observation has convinced him that the proper attitude for a lady to assume in walking is to lean forward like a jack knife about one-eighth closed and assume that position. The style is more becoming to slender than to fleshy women. In fact, for a woman to attempt it who weighs over 180 in the shade there is imminent danger of her losing her equilibrium and falling forward; besides, for a corpulent woman to lean far forward in walking spoils her appearance to those who might turn to look at her after she has passed.

Were a man to lean forward according to the new woman style of walking the idea would at once be conveyed that his chest protector had slipped a cog and that he was leaning forward to again connect it; he would be looked upon as a fool by people who had formerly honored him as a respected citizen. On the whole, the new walk is not a gait that should be encouraged in well-regulated families. It makes people think the person who adopts the style shy on gray matter.

The Stroller sometimes thinks he has outlived his generation. In his callow days when a gentleman took a lady out for a horseback ride it was customary for him to ride on the lady's right, giving her habit entire possession of the country and climate on her left. While out walking Sunday evening the Stroller noticed two couples out riding horseback and in both cases the lady had to keep her toes turned in for the reason that her escort was riding on her left and gawking along as though looking for the store that would pay the highest price for ranch eggs.

Messrs. Doherty, Fowle, Waltenbaugh and Anderson, of the McDonald Iron Works, and Marion and Manchester of the A. C. Co., are of the opinion that stolen water is a delusion and breed eaten in secret is not what it is cracked up to be. Last Sunday morning the above sextette was at the McDonald Iron Works when Collector Radcliffe of the A. C. Co., who has a cabin nearby, left it to come up town. In a moment of mental aberration while conversing with the crowd he chanced to remark that there was a bottle of Old Crow and a box of cigars in his cabin.

That evening when Radcliffe returned to his cabin it was to find that it had been entered during his absence and that his Old Crow and cigars had all disappeared. On his table beside the empty bottle and cigar box was a note signed by the six burglars telling Radcliffe that his generosity was only exceeded by the voraciousness of the appetites which his stock had appeased. Then it was that Radcliffe decided to have revenge. Taking a policeman into his confidence he supplied the list of names and had all six of the late visitors at his house warned to appear at police court at 8:30 Monday morning on the charge of house-breaking.

Magistrates Starnes and Seath had also been "put next" and when the six fellows hunted them up Sunday at midnight to see if the cases could not be settled out of court so as to keep it out of the papers, the two magistrates looked serious and said the law must take its course. After a sleepless night the aggregation, each man looking like a frost-bitten plant, appeared promptly at 8:30 o'clock and delivered himself into the custody of the constable, some of them having taken the precaution to leave letters to their employers before going to the barracks, the letters containing resignations of their jobs together with the statement that as soon as their terms of imprisonment expired they expected to take a sneak and begin life all over again.

As court does not open until 10 o'clock the constable in charge took his party for a walk in which he managed while out to march them along immediately in front of Radcliffe's cabin when the door was opened and Radcliffe appeared with a deep scowl upon his face, but it would not last. He invited the crowd into his cabin and setting a bottle of whisky and box of cigars on the table told the gang they had suffered enough, to get in and have one with him. Then they realized that they had been jobbed, but too many knew of it to keep it a secret; however, they will wonder where the Stroller got the story.

A few nights ago there was a stampede to the neighborhood of Carmack's Forks, the vanguard of the rush being on horseback. Two men in the employ of Robert Hyatt were just ready to retire when the riders passed their cabin. Realizing that a stampede was on and without even taking time to snatch more than their hats the two men joined in the mad rush. Through the bush, brush and briar, over logs,

"I Had Rather be a Dog and Bay the Moon Than Such a Roman!"

See what worry and torment people get mixed up in by not following the golden rule. The game is not worth the candle, gentlemen. Its ridiculous to fight like plebian cats, particularly on a question of aristocratic dogs. This is a serious world and our thoughts should be engaged on serious subjects. Take a little advice and drop this everlasting wrangle. Go mad on clothes—there's a subject worth raving over. Everybody takes a fit who does business with us and goes away happy. Come down and get inoculated.

stumps, into and out of old prospect holes, one of them leaving part of his strawberry birthmark hanging on a dry limb of a pussy willow, they rushed on; but the equestrians were too swift for them and secured all the claims. Towards morning the two scantily clothed gentlemen crept back, footsore and briar-scratched to their cabin since which time they have devoted considerable care rubbing in arnica salve.

There is no doubt but that the local society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals is a most praiseworthy institution otherwise the contemplated dog show would not have been postponed and had it not been there would have been danger of an overflow in Dawson, not of the river but of emotion. Think how touching would have been a meeting between a man and the dog whose howls have kept him awake since the middle of last October, or the dog that he fell over too or more times on the street during the winter, and such expressions as "Oh, you dear, sweet thing, I have heard you howl all winter, but this is the first time I have had the exquisite pleasure of meeting you," would have been frequently heard. Besides there would have been danger of people being injured and maimed by being trampled underfoot in the throng that would have crowded the entrance to the panorama of mange and rabies.

It was cruel in Joaquin Miller in writing of the Yukon to say "Dogs to the right of us, dogs to the left of us, dogs all around us, — the dogs."
The Stroller thinks the dogs of this country should be preserved—in alcohol.

It was 11:35 o'clock last night when the man who completed a quorum crawled through the hole in the roof of the half-filled-with-ice cabin on the hill, the occasion being a special meeting of the Boosters' union. A candle burned dimly in one corner and the whole place seemed to be pervaded with a chill. The Shirtless Kid was in the chair while the Condensed Kid pulled from beneath his coat the two shingles which have served him for a vest all winter and proceeded to record the minutes. The roll-call showed the Crummy Kid absent, he having received a tip that a charge was to be preferred against him if he came for kicking a woman when a swat in the jaw would have been more effective, and at the same time more professional. An inventory of the stock of insect powder on hand showed only 1 oz. 3 pwt. and 7 grs. The custodian explained the decrease in stock by the late warming up of the weather, stating that the Seam Squirrel Kid had drawn on the supply three times since the previous meeting, while nearly every member of the union had called once or oftener.

Minor business having been disposed of, the chairman drew a copy of yesterday's Nugget from his pocket and pointing with a saffron-colored finger to the article regarding the closing as he said: "Gentlemen, dis is hell." Deep silence, except for labored breathing followed the statement of the chair and the members shifted uneasily in their seats which were becoming rather damp. At length all eyes were turned upon Hypo Jimmie as the Moses to guide them from the wilderness. By this time that part of the cabin not filled with ice was packed by members of the meeting while half a dozen or more were lying on the roof with their necks craned down through the hole. Realizing the weight that rested upon his shoulders Hypo Jimmie slowly rose, cleared his throat and with a Chesterfieldian gesture said: "Rouse, ye Romans! If ye gese have ary particle of spunk you, wont have it rubbed into you no longer. See? Dis order business is a blow aimed, not at de game owner, not at de dealers and case keepers, but squarely at us. It is a scheme to eider run us outen de country else up ergin de woodpile. ON EL Dorado AND BONANZA

What Has Taken Place During the Week.

Personal, Society and Business Mention Magnet City Will Ask for Position on the Map.

Mr. A. E. Webster, of 62 below Bonanza, was in town on business the fore part of the week.

Mr. W. Lowden, of 52 below Bonanza, was in town Monday on business.

Mr. and Mrs. Beames, who have been living on King Solomon's Hill during the past winter, have moved to Dawson.

Mr. Tom McRae, chief engineer for the Anglo-Klondike Co. during the past winter, has severed his connection with the above company and will work a claim of his own on Chechako Hill this season.

Mr. Pete Anderson, of 28 below Bonanza, was in town on business this week.

Messrs. Grimes & Smith, of American Hill, are in town rustivating after a hard winter's work.

Mr. Austin Gibbs, of Magnet gulch, was in town for several days this week.

Mr. Frank McPherson who has been working on Poverty Bar for the past year is taking a much needed rest.

Billy Chappelle was up looking after his interests on Eldorado last Monday.

Mr. Jas. Monroe, who has been on French Hill this winter, will be on 38 Eldorado for a time.

Mr. E. Floding the genial manager of Chas. Anderson's claims on Eldorado will have a large force of men at work this season.

Mr. Andrew Olson, of 33 Eldorado, is now looking after his interests on lower Bonanza.

The second or white channel bedrock on Gay gulch has for the present been abandoned and future development will depend entirely on how much the enthusiastic believers in the same will put up for prospecting purposes.

At 18 below Bonanza where there was two years ago but a little coffee house quite a village has been established. Mrs. Rothweiler was the first to see a good business opening, and has now the largest and most complete roadhouse on Bonanza. At present there are at this place two big roadhouses, two barber shops, a bath house, two confectionery stores, a blacksmith shop and a laundry. On Tuesday night Mr. L. Doggett opened a big two story frame building to the public, and as he is popular among the boys, bids fair to get a share of the business done at this place. In view of the numerous business places that have lately sprung up it is proposed to call the place Magnet City.

Horrible Death.
A horrible fate overtook Rasofel Molver, the Preston sawmill hand whose death was announced in yesterday's Post-Intelligencer. Molver was thrown by an overturning dump car from a small trestle to a burning heap of slabs some twenty feet below. His body was pinned to the spot by a heavy log which had crushed his skull. Only after the utmost difficulty and strenuous efforts on the part of the horrified workmen who had rushed to the scene were the remains recovered.

The accident occurred about 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. Molver was at the time tending the small dump cars which haul slabs from the mill to the fire place. These cars run along an elevated track. At the end of this track some twenty feet below is an ever-burning pile of slabs and rubbish. Molver's task was dumping of the contents of the cars into the fire.

The car which caused the tragedy was laden with a large piece of timber—the butt of a log, too knotty for the saws to handle. Molver, having brought the car to a stop, bent to unhook the fastenings which held its upper part secure. Something caused the log to lurch. Before the doomed man could leap to a place of safety, both car and contents had plunged over the end of the dump, carrying him with them. Molver fell directly in the center of the fire. As he landed the log struck his head, crushing his skull like an eggshell, and pinning his body in the midst of the flames.

One of his fellow workmen who was near at hand saw the accident. He gave the alarm and several others hastened to the spot. These men made herculean efforts to recover the body. Their task was a difficult one and not without danger. The log was heavy and was surrounded by flames and a hot bed of cinders. Finally, after suffering burns about the hands and arms, the men removed the piece of timber and dragged the body from its pyre. The lower limbs and much of the man's clothing had been badly burned. The upper part of the body and the face had been protected from the flames by the log, and aside from the fractured skull, were not disfigured.

Molver was 31 years of age. He was unmarried. A brother who works at the same camp is the only relative he leaves. The funeral will take place this afternoon at Fall City. Coroner Hoye visited the scene of the accident yesterday. He decided that no inquest would be necessary.—P. I., April 19.

He Was Swindled.

A warrant was issued in Justice George's court yesterday afternoon for the arrest of J. Wright and John Doe, proprietors of an establishment on Railroad avenue, adjoining the fireboat headquarters, charging them with having swindled Henry Miller out of $22.50 by a game of "numbered ten pins."

Miller told his attorney, Milo A. Root, who obtained the warrant, that the game was not one of chance and that the percentage against him was so high that he had practically no show to win. The proprietors of the game claim that they are conducting it under a city license. An investigation shows that their license was issued for a pool table.

It is alleged that within the past few weeks numerous "sure thing" games have been opened in various parts of the city, but so far the police have apparently done nothing to check their operations.—P. I., April 19.

Kaiser Is Criticized.

Berlin, April 18.—Prince Herbert Bismarck, in a speech at Burg, criticized Emperor William's zigzag course, quoting the elder Bismarck's words:

"The way of destruction for the government is to do first this and then that and promise today what it does not do tomorrow."

Prince Herbert praised Count von Buelow as the most capable German diplomatist and recognized Von Buelow's interest in agriculture, but demanded that he follow up this with the assistance needed, which was an agricultural tariff.

Considerable comment is attracted by Prince Bismarck's criticism of the emperor, which is referred to as "showing a wide breach between the prince on the one side and the kaiser and the chancellor on the other."

"Prince Herbert has no right to find fault with the present regime," says the Vossische Zeitung, "or to talk of zig-zag courses, inasmuch as his father, throughout his whole career, avowedly made politics a zig-zag science."

Longer Dinner Hour.

McKeesport, Pa., April 18.—After safely passing through one labor trouble, McKeesport has just entered another. At 7:30 o'clock tonight all the hands employed on the McKeesport connecting railroad struck for a longer dinner hour. The men at present have to return to work immediately after they are through eating their mid day meal, in about 45 minutes. The strike includes the engineers, firemen and brakemen in the yards of the National Tube Works rolling mills, Monongahela blast furnaces and Monongahela steel works of the National Tube Company, numbering about 50 men. The men are all members of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, and that organization is expected to back the men in their demands.

Missing Men.

U. S. Consul J. C. McCook is in receipt of a letter from Beyggermister J. P. Mosgaard, of Fredrikstad, Norge (Norway), inquiring for his son Charles A. Mosgaard who was in North Dakota for about 11 years, is a member of the I. O. O. F. and has been in Dawson for about 2 1/2 years.

Also one from Andrew Fleming of Brooklyn, N. Y., asking for information of his brother Robert Fleming, who came to Dawson in 1898.

Also a communication for James L. Thomas.

The consul will be glad to receive any information regarding any of the above.

Five Less Dogs.

Five dogs belonging to the N. W. M. P. and which have been used in the mail service, having outlived their days of usefulness and becoming an encumbrance, were this morning condemned on account of old age and were taken to the beach where well aimed bullets from the revolver in the hands of a constable put an end to their sufferings. The bodies were dumped into the Yukon.

Wages Coming Up.

The scarcity of men which was freely predicted some time ago is now being felt on the creeks where the cleanup is well in progress all along the line. This morning a representative of a Sulphur claim owner visited various places in Dawson where laborers congregate and offered $6 per day and board for men. Even at that figure difficulty was experienced in securing all the men required.
