KLONDIKE NUGGET. FRIDAY, JULY 3, 1903.

LET THE HEATHEN RAGE.

The Sun consumes about five columns of space this morning, the whole contents thereof being directed at the Nugget, simply because this paper has the courage to give expression to its views as an independent exponent of public opinion.

The Nugget reserves the right to criticize when and where it pleases in the public interest, and all lies, slander and abuse that the Sun can manufacture in a year will not influence this paper in any particular. The record of the Nugget will show that just as long as there was reason for belief that the pledges made by Mr. Ross and in his behalf were being fulfilled in good faith, acknowledgement of the same was made in these columns.

Now that it appears evident that the public interests have not been regarded as the people had reason to believe would be the case, the Nugget would be false to its trust if it failed to take cognizance of the facts. The very fact that the Nugget, as the Sun frankly admits this morning, gave Mr. Ross the only substantial newspaper support which he received during the campaign, placed this paper in a position of serious responsibility.

The Nugget believed and the people believed that the election of Mr. Ross would be accompanied by sweeping reforms along the lines advocated and laid down by the Ross platform.

Mr. Ross was represented as being all powerful with the government and as being determined to secure the various reforms demanded in the platform at all hazards. The people who were hostile to the government laid aside their hostility at the time being because they had unbounded faith in a man. They believed that the zeal of the man for his constituents would furnish him with a motive for action more powerful than his loyalty to party.

The Nugget recognizing the facts as they exist and absolutely unhampered by obligations to anyone but the public whom it aims to serve, has asked for an explanation, as above and beyond every other newspaper in the territory it had the right and privilege to do.

The Sun may rage and gnash its teeth and foam at the mouth to its heart's content. In so doing it undoubtedly considers that it is doing its duty and as it does not affect the Nugget one way or the other we have no objections to offer.

As far as this paper is concerned, we shall continue to do our duty as we see it, irrespective of what the Sun may think or say.

NEWSPAPER RESPONSIBILITY.

The theory that a newspaper which supports a candidate for office is thereafter tied down to support and endorse every act and utterance of such candidate is incompatible with the basic principles which underlie what is termed a free press.

Even staunch party papers, if conducted upon broad lines, will be found vigorously condemning men and measures which do not meet their approval, and a paper which will refrain from so doing must lay itself open to the charge of being actuated from ulterior motives.

A newspaper which tenders its support to a candidate lays itself under no obligations to the candidate, but does lay itself under obligations to the public whose votes it asks.

If pledges go unfulfilled it becomes the newspaper's duty to criticize and unless such duty is fulfilled the newspaper is lacking either in courage or moral perspicuity.

As our contemporary the Sun possesses neither of these attributes it is not difficult to understand that the Sun cannot appreciate them in anyone else.

ACTORS WIN OUT

Defeat the N. C. Nine in a Warm Game.

The professional actors last night added their third victory on the baseball diamond for this season, defeating the N. C. nine by a score of 11 to 6, seven innings only being played. The feature of the game was the pitching of "Slim" Traube who fanned out something like a dozen batters. After the game the N. C. team was entertained at the theatre where they witnessed their late opponents in a presentation of Nat Goodwin's famous comedy "Turned Up," and later in the evening the commercial men retaliated by giving a spread in honor of their theatrical friends. The lineup of the two teams was as follows:

Professionals - Lewis, catcher; Traube, pitcher; Eggert, first base; Fanning, second base; Henderson, third base; Morao, short; Macdonald, right field; Dunn, center field; Wilson, left field.

Northern Commercial - Stevens, pitcher; Smith, catcher; Kelton, first base; Trenaman, second base; Mangum, third base; Ehan, short; Joyal, left field; Montgomery, center field; Seguin, right field.

A large crowd was in attendance and most thoroughly enjoyed the play. Chauncey Boyer officiated as the umpire.

DROWNED IN RAPIDS

Bert Ford Meets Death In Copper River

Was Returning From Nizina on a Raft and Was Washed Overboard.

Mrs. Edward McConnell was in receipt of a letter yesterday from Geo. Siddell at Valdez, formerly connected with the Melbourne of this city, which contained a rather startling bit of information. The letter was written June 12 and stated that just a day or two before Donald Ferguson and Bob Kirkpatrick, both well known Yukoners, had arrived from the interior and reported the loss by drowning of Bert Ford, an amateur sprinter who has run in many races in Dawson and who at one time was manager of the Club gymnasium on Third avenue. Ford and his two companions, Kirkpatrick and Ferguson, had been in the Nizina country and concluded to return to Valdez. As soon as they struck the Copper river they built a raft of logs and started to float down to their destination. In passing through some very rough water Ford was washed overboard and was never seen again.

The Copper river is known as one of the wildest and most treacherous rivers in the entire northwest and was many years considered almost impassible for the first 50 or 75 miles above its mouth. It is almost a continuous succession of rapids with tall, frowning glaciers forming the banks of both sides, the walls of which are so precipitous a bird could scarcely find a resting place for miles at a stretch. The letter did not state whether or not the body was recovered but it is assumed it was not.

The information was also received that actual construction work had begun on the Valdez railroad. The

EVIDENCE

Crown Prosecutor an Incompetent Witness

Penalty of Being a Bachelor Exemplified in the Territorial Court Today.

By reason of being a bachelor, Crown Prosecuting Attorney Pattullo was held yesterday in the territorial court before Mr. Justice Dugas as being incompetent to give expert testimony in matters pertaining to maternity, while on the other hand Mr. Hagel, K. C., owing to his advanced years and experience in affairs that are as a sealed book to the jurors, was admitted to be capable of testifying upon the delicate question then being argued before his honor. It all came about in the trial of Sam Levy whose hearing was set for today. It appears that Mrs. "Whitey" Moore is a material witness for the crown without whose evidence it is unsafe to go to trial, but it so happens that Mrs. Moore is at present beyond the reach of a subpoena. In other words Mrs. Moore added to the population last night, her contribution being in the shape of a twelve pound boy, in consequence of which she is quite unable to attend court today. Under those circumstances the crown asked for an enlargement, requesting an adjournment of three weeks. Mr. Hagel appearing for the defense is anxious to go to trial and protested that three weeks was quite sufficient for the recovery of a patient under such conditions. And it was upon that point the argument arose. Mr. Pattullo insisted three weeks were necessary and Mr. Hagel contended that his learned friend was talking of something that he knew nothing about. And the court smiled. The decision was finally rendered against the crown prosecutor, he being unable to substantiate the allegations made with such assurance. Mr. Levy will have another fortnight's grace, his trial being set for two weeks from today. The sentence of Steinfield will be deferred until after the hearing of his alleged accomplice.

On account of the fore part of the week being a part of the regular monthly vacation of the court, then Dominion day occurring yesterday and the postponement of the Levy trial today the week will be a very short one in court circles. There is nothing on either for today or tomorrow, but Monday there will be a full list ready to be waded into.

BISHOP ARRIVES

Accompanied by His Wife, Son and Secretary

Prominent among the passengers arriving yesterday on the Selkirk were the Rt. Rev. P. T. Rowe, bishop of Alaska, Mrs. Rowe, Master Leo Rowe and Mr. George Chilson, the latter acting as the bishop's secretary preparatory to taking orders. The party was met at the dock by Rev. Mr. Wargen and several other warm friends and were warmly welcomed. They will remain until the first boat leaves for down river, probably two weeks. The bishop is on his annual tour of inspection of the missions under his jurisdiction along the American Yukon, and the coast and Mrs. Rowe and son are accompanying him on a sightseeing tour, it being their first visit inside through residents of Alaska for the past seven years. At St. Michael's they will separate. Mrs. Rowe returning to California and the bishop continuing his journey up the coast as far as Point Barrow. The reverend gentleman has not decided whether or not he will remain inside this winter. He would like to join his family in California before the close of navigation, but whether or not he is able to will depend entirely upon the condition in which things are found on the lower river. Mr. Chilson will doubtless remain at St. Michael's. The bishop will officiate at both matins and evensongs at St. Paul's next Sunday. They are comfortably quartered at the Hotel Cecil.

"Reginald," she said to a wealthy young dandy who had been paying his attentions to her. "I would like to ask you one very serious question."

"What is it, my dear?" he replied.

"Would you object to marrying mamma if I refused you? You see, we really don't want to lose you."

Crane Drowned
Orangeville, June 16.—B. J. Crane of Toronto, a traveller for E. Leadley & Co., wholesale dealers in hides and leather, was drowned in Caledonia lake, a popular pleasure resort, about two miles from here, shortly before 6 o'clock this evening. Crane came to town last night and put up at the Grand Central hotel. About noon today J. W. Aiken, a well-to-do Orangeville business man, and one of the shareholders of the Caledonia Lake Club, invited him and a fellow-traveller named A. G. Bastien out to the lake for an afternoon's fishing. The three men were fishing near the head of what is known as the second lake, when their boat capsized, throwing them all into the lake. All three succeeded in gaining the bottom of the overturned boat, whence Bastien succeeded in swimming to the shore, which was only a short distance away. Aikens followed, and also succeeded in making shore. While the two men were casting about for some means of rescuing their comrade, Crane, who, it seems, could not swim either fell or left the boat and was seen no more.

Convict Shot.
Canyon City, Colo., June 22.—Kirsch Kuykendall, a convict at the state penitentiary, was shot and instantly killed early today while attempting to escape with five other desperate prisoners.

As Dr. T. D. Palmer and the hospital steward were making the morning rounds, Kuykendall complained of being ill, and the doctor prepared to make an examination. The prisoner drew a bottle supposed to contain nitro-glycerine and ordered the men to throw up their hands. They did so, and five other convicts then overpowered Cellhouse Keeper Clarence Cleghorn and Steward John E. Keefe and the four officials thus made prisoners were stripped of their clothing, which the convicts donned.

Taking the doctor and the steward with them they proceeded toward the gates. On the way the mutineers captured Warden John C. Cleghorn's wife, and forced her to go along, using her as a shield to prevent the guards from firing at them.

The inner and outer gates were blown off their hinges with dynamite, which the convicts had somehow secured, but an attempt to force the armory was foiled. Meantime Warden Cleghorn had arrived from town, and collecting guards ordered them to shoot the fugitives whenever an opportunity presented itself, but to do so without injuring Mrs. Cleghorn.

Holding knives over the woman, the mutineers shouted that they would kill her if the guards fired. Mrs. Cleghorn fainted and the convicts then took to their heels, pursued by the guards. Kuykendall was killed by Yardmaster John Clark, after shouting, "I'll never be taken alive; I'll not go back to that hole."

James Armstrong was overtaken by Will Cleghorn, son of the warden, and was severely beaten over the head with a revolver, but was not wounded. The other fugitives were taken alive. They were Thomas Fallon, Thomas Fisher, Guaz Cordova and Robert Kane.

Kuykendall was a member of a gang of Cripple Creek ore thieves, and was serving a fourteen-year term for stealing ore in the Independence mine. Armstrong is serving a ten-year term for burglary, and is wanted in Utah on a charge of murder.

Government for Moros.
Manila, June 9.—The Philippine commission has enacted a bill providing for the government of Moros. Governor Taft and Major-General Davis jointly drafted it.

The measure practically makes the Moro province an autonomous colony of the Philippines, which the Philippine government controls, and creates an appointive legislative council to provide local laws, the commission reserving the right to amend or annul them.

The council is to be composed of a governor, secretary, treasurer, attorney and superintendent of schools. Governor Taft will appoint the officials.

The bill will extend the jurisdiction of the Philippine courts and constitute of the province and will recognize Moro laws which do not conflict with American laws. The measure also directs the continuation of the tribal laws, creates Moro courts, provides that the Philippine courts shall try cases between Moros and Christians, gives the province its net customs and forestry collections and authorizes the council to abolish slavery.

The province is divided into five districts, Culu, Zamboanga, Lanao, Cotabato and Davao. The bill provides for partial military government and it is expected that General Leonard Wood will be the first governor of Moro province.

Valued High
Seattle, June 20.—Alexia Halverson is suing the Seattle Electric Company for $35,000 damages, on account of the death of her husband, who received mortal injuries December 26 last through falling off a Ballard car at the corner of Virginia and Western avenue. The deceased was a photographer at Ballard.

The defense is that Halverson met with the injuries, that afterwards resulted fatally, owing to his own carelessness in not holding on to the bars provided by the company for that purpose. It is also alleged that he might have sat down, but refused to do so, as he was smoking. The complaint, on the other hand, claims that he was unable to sit down owing to the crowded condition of the car. Testimony for the plaintiff was heard yesterday afternoon, the court then adjourning till Monday.

Steamer Lost.

Halifax, June 14.—The steamer Lady Laurie, bound from Sable Island today, reports the wreck of an unknown vessel under water about two miles from the west end light. Captain Johnson of the Lady Laurie reports that the unknown wreck is evidently that of a very large and comparatively new steamer. The governor of the island has no record of a wreck in that location, and it evidently has occurred there quite recently or was carried in. It was the length of an oak under water. A boat was anchored at one end of the wreck, but the other end could not be located. Divers will probably be sent down to endeavor to ascertain the name.

Sugar is doubtless a food. It is a food of great energy. But we must not abuse it, says the Revue Scientifique. Why? Because, according to M. G. Buge, the physiologist, pure cane sugar is lacking in lime and iron. Now, lime and iron are necessary to the organism. It is better to take the sugar in the form of legumes and fruits rich in hydrocarbons. And what is honey worth? Very little also. "It has the same inconveniences—it also is wanting in lime and iron."

It will be observed, however, that if we consider all the advantages which, according to the hygienists, attach to various foods, we shall find that it is almost impossible to get any nourishment at all if we want to adjust our diet to scientific teaching.—Literary Digest.

Charter Filed

Austin, Tex., June 6.—The charter of the St. Louis, Brownsville and Mexico railway was filed in the secretary of state's office here today. It is a Rock Island-Frisco project. The company will build a road from Sinton, Tex., to Brownsville, with a branch line to run up the Rio Grande a distance of 200 miles.

Jolly Crowd.

A jolly crowd of young people was taken to the Forks Wednesday afternoon under the chaperonage of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Cox, consisting of Miss Marguerite Cuthbert, Miss Olive McLennan and Master Cuthbert. They traveled with a police team, had dinner at Dawson's most flourishing suburb and returned in the evening at 11 o'clock.

SENATORS INVESTIGATE

Special Committee to Arrive Tuesday

Named at Request of President Roosevelt to Look Into the Needs of Alaska.

Word was received yesterday by a gentleman connected with one of the large company stores that the senatorial party which is to tour Alaska this summer had arrived at Skagway and after a brief stay of but a day or two at that point would proceed on their way across the mountains and down the river via Dawson to St. Michaels and the cities of Bering sea, thence south by way of Unalaska and the coast villages of southeastern Alaska. The precise personnel of the party is not known though it is assumed there are four senators and four congressmen such being the number appointed at the last session of congress at the suggestion of the president to tour Alaska and examine into the complaints that were to be made and thoroughly look into the needs and desires of the territory. The members of the committee were appointed at a joint session of the house and Colonel Ramsdell, sergeant at arms of the senate, was detailed to accompany the party and act as its chaplain. The chairman of the committee is Senator Dillingham, of Vermont, and with him are Senator T. MacD. Patterson, of Colorado; Senator Knute Nelson, of Minnesota, and Senator Henry E. Burnham, of New Hampshire. The members of congress in the party, if any, and they were certainly appointed, are not known. Traveling with the distinguished gentlemen are also John McLane, editor of the Minneapolis Tribune, and C.

Thomas, an attorney of the Northern Commercial Company. The party will arrive in Dawson either Monday or Tuesday and will remain here until a boat arrives from St. Michaels and starts on her return, which will scarcely be before July 10 or 12. At St. Michael they will be met by the United States revenue cutter McCullough which will be placed at their disposal for the remainder of the trip. After visiting Nome and the other cities of Bering sea they will start south, their first stop being at the Pribyloff islands where they will inspect the seal fisheries and witness the annual take of this season's fur. From there they will proceed to Dutch Harbor, Unalaska, Kodiak, will visit the famous Apollo mine at Unga, Valdez, the oil fields of Kyak and back to Sitka and Juneau.

The junket will occupy the bulk of the summer and it is expected it will result in the dissemination of widespread information concerning Alaska, her wealth and many resources. While in Dawson the gentlemen will be entertained by Acting Consul McGowan and other prominent Americans located in the Yukon.

Forty Day Fast

Scranton, Pa., June 12.—Edward McIntyre, the Minooks, Pa., hotel-keeper, who ended a forty days' fast at noon last Tuesday, died at noon today. McIntyre began the fast in the hope that it would prove beneficial in a severe attack of paralysis. He was 47 years old. During the forty days his weight was reduced from 167 pounds to 118. In the three days that he took nourishment preceding death he gained seven pounds. He became delirious last night, and later lapsed into unconsciousness.

Has Been Re-Elected

New York, June 22.—Samuel Parks who is under criminal charges in connection with the Hecla Iron Works and other strikes, has been re-elected as one of the four walking delegates of the housemiths' and bridgemen's union, according to the final count, by the largest vote for delegates ever polled.

D. Neiding, who has fought Parks, was re-elected, but ran 250 votes behind Parks.

Romance of the ...Chorus Girl

CHAPTER I

Before the Whistle Blew. "Her clothes are too fine for a chorus girl."

This remark was made by Arabella Deringcourt, the dark-eyed beauty of the chorus, third from the left, front row, Apollo Theatre.

"Yes, indeed, it's plain she doesn't live on her salary, like we do," chimed in Daisy de Courcelle, spitefully.

The time was shortly after noon, the place the stage of the theatre. The noon whistle had just blown, and the hard-working chorus girls, relieved of their tiresome labors at rehearsal, had gathered in little groups for luncheon. Most of them carried small tin pails containing the modest meal provided by the boarding-house keepers, while others had only cheese sandwiches and doughnuts wrapped in napkins. The girls were munching cheerfully upon their luncheons, occasionally cracking a gibe or a tooth.

They were a happy, careless, independent lot of brave young girls, working hard day and night in order to support a widowed mother or a helpless brother or sister left to their tender care.

From 12 until 1 o'clock each day these frail young creatures, overworked and underpaid, were allowed one hour for luncheon and recreation. Those who could afford it visited the three-cent lunch room next door. But most of them carried lunch pails to the theatre and never left the building until 6 at night, only to return again at 7 in time to begin the arduous labors of the evening performance. At midnight the chorus girls were free to retire, only to report again for rehearsal at 8 the next morning.

It is a hard and harassing career, that of a chorus girl, made doubly so by the wrong impression the outside world has of the strenuous career she leads. But the chorus girl never shows it over the footlights.

Arabella Deringcourt and Daisy de Courcelle, standing to one side, were engaged in discussing the last ex-plot of Florence Footlights, the latest recruit to the ranks of the Apollo chorus. The other girls were always jealous of any new and pretty face, and Florence Footlights was indeed beautiful. Moreover, she wore costly gowns and silken skirts and silk stockings, while the rest of the chorus had to be content with garments of cotton and of lisle.

Tired out after the hard work of the morning, Flossie had accepted the invitation from Reginald Roosevelt de Schuyler to lunch at Dennet's palatial resort. His automobile had been awaiting her when the whistle blew, and while the girls gossiped they had whizzed to the refectory and refreshed themselves. Even now Flossie was re-entering the stage door, all unconscious of the malice and envy of the other chorus girls.

As she passed the little group an ominous silence was turned into a murmur of sneering discontent as the girls saw by Flossie's face that she had been eating ice cream. A few specks of cream still remained upon her damask cheek.

"So you have been eating ice cream, while we have had nothing but sandwiches," sneered Arabella scornfully.

Flossie did not flinch before the cruel insult.

"I have," she said, proudly. Arabella clenched her fists in anger. "You are too fine for the life of a chorus girl," she cried. "What right have you to come among us hard-working chorus girls, with your laces and silks and ice cream lunches? We begone to your own station in life of—"

The harsh, discordant note of the whistle suddenly summoned all the chorus girls to resume their places for the afternoon's work. Crushed and humiliated, her face burning red with the hot flush of resentment at unjust treatment, Flossie Footlights fell in line and marched upon the stage.

CHAPTER II

The Mirage of Stage Life. "No, Reginald, I cannot permit you to use your influence with the management to get me advanced into the front row. I must win upon my merits."

Flossie Footlights spoke bravely, but her voice trembled. Reginald sought to urge her.

"Influence is everything in stage life," he said. "I must win my promotion honestly," answered Florence, hopefully. "I have been taunted already for my fine airs. If I accepted promotion in this way, the girls would swear the manager intended to star me next season, and I will not submit to further insults."

Reginald departed sadly. The courage and determination of the girl filled him with renewed ardor, and he determined to win her at any cost.

"Reginald was indeed very kind," mused Flossie, alone in the sanctity of her five-room flat on Riverside Drive. "But I must conquer without his assistance. If ever I play Juliet, it must be without the aid of an all-star cast."

And with a sigh, the young girl pressed the black button and retired to blissful dreams of future dramatic successes before crowded houses. And there we will leave her for the nonce, safe in dreamland.

CHAPTER III

Reckoning the Cost. "Your bill is exorbitant, sir."

Florence Footlights, engaged in the pleasing occupation of balancing her weekly accounts, gazed upward indignantly at the waiting collector.

On the one side of her ledger, she had just written: April 12—Salary for one week, received, $18.00.

On the other side were these items: Rent of apartment, one week, $25; cleaning gloves, $2.50; automobile hire, $15; new gowns with hat, to match, $175; incidentals, candy, maps, postage stamps, $67.38; total for the week, $287.88.

Total assets, $18. Total debt, $287.88.

"Repeat, sir, your bill is exorbitant," Miss Footlights fairly glowered in her indignation. The representative of Cleanem & Dyem trembled.

"It is only $2.50, ma'am, for cleaning seven pairs of gloves," he ventured timidly.

"It is highway robbery," snapped Flossie, angrily. After she had paid him, she leaned back upon her divan, alone.

"I must be more economical," she mused. "Hereafter, I will never have my gloves cleaned. I will always buy new ones."

CHAPTER IV
On the Telephone. "Hello, central, give me 7156—Broad."

Florence Footlights tapped her dainty toe impatiently until the telephonic communication with Wall street had been established.

"Hello, is that you, papa? This is Gladys—your daughter. Yes, I need another check. When this one is exhausted I will retire from the stage. But please let me try it a while longer. If I cannot succeed I will retire from the chorus and try to be contented on Fifth avenue in society."

Not Much Faster. New York, June 19.—If the Constitution did not defeat the Reliance in the time allowance in a twenty-five mile race over the course of the Indian Harbor Yacht Club in Long Island sound today, she gave the admirers of the new boat a bad scare. In more than four hours of sailing the Reliance, outstripped the Constitution by only one minute and fifty seconds elapsed time.

It is estimated that the new boat will have to allow the Constitution two to three minutes in a thirty-mile race, which, if true, would give today's race to the older boat, and might give her one of the early races as well, when the Reliance beat her by two minutes and a fraction.

The Columbia was outclassed from the start. Her gain of about twelve minutes on the second leg of the race was time wasted by the other boats in a luffing match.

Between the leaders the race was hotly contested, first one and then the other getting the better of it by sudden shifts of wind which, when it began to blow steadily, left the Reliance about one minute ahead. The Constitution's fast sailing today was all the more remarkable and makes her all the more formidable from the fact that the race was sailed in light winds and smooth water under such conditions the Reliance has often beaten her. The course was a four-angle ten miles along the coast, five miles over to the Connecticut shore, and ten miles along that shore to the finish line.

Dr. Briggs, editor of the famous Black and White, a well known London publication, was an arrival in the Selkirk yesterday.

Stroller's Column.

Last Chance is said to have the... hand of Miss Frye at Odessa, Missouri. By the time the one who is landed in the matrimonial skillet is done to a turn he may wish it was the other one who had been accepted.

The Stroller has been accustomed to paying daily visits to the police court so long that he frequently finds himself wandering in that direction on Sundays and holidays. At the police court is the place to study human nature. It is the home of unavailing regret and red-nosed remorse. The earth around a police court is convulsed with a sob and the road leading to it is muddy with tears.

That night that he crouched by the
 yielding door,
 And two grim, murderous thieves, or more,
 Had bribed the locks with their
 hooks of steel,
 He fought with more than a hench-
 man's zeal;
 For sleeping loved ones' treasures
 and life—
 He conquered rogue and bullet and knife.

He saw distress with a quick, sure eye,
 And heard the half-choked 'drowning
 cry;
 A living lifeboat, soon he bore
 A half-drowned man to the welcome
 shore,
 And when the wife of the rescued one
 Wept him her love for the great deed
 done,
 And fondled him in a warm embrace,
 He talked with his fondest, kind old
 face,
 And said, "I have shown you nothing
 new;
 It is what we live for and love to do.
 In lake or river, or sea or bay,
 My race are rescuers every day,
 In the snowy gulfs 'mid hills above
 My race brings life to the race we love."

CHAMPION WOOD CHOPPER AND THE EATER OF LAST CHANCE.

Chance social function to the effect that owners have precedent over laborers in matters pertaining to the heart, but it was amended to read
 "in matters pertaining to cutting wood."

A report from Last Chance yesterday was to the effect that the general stiltly man among the ladies had eaten 17 pieces of pie the day before.

The telegraphic report published a few days ago in the local papers of the killing of a player and umpire as the result of a difficulty over a baseball game in a little town of Georgia was a very prosaic piece of news on which to pay wire toll as such occurrences are of too frequent occurrence in that country to deserve more than passing local notice and then merely to "fill up" in the land of the sweet magnolia such events create little comment and it has been only since the Stroller has been absent a few years that he sees anything out of the ordinary in the dispatch regarding the Georgia baseball game or in the following extract from the Gainesville, Florida, Sun of June 15th. The extract without the change of a letter or a word reads:

"The picnic passed off as enjoyably as one could have desired until the excursionists boarded the train at Lochloosa on the return home. It appears that Minnie Streets sat down in a seat occupied by Johnson,
 when the two became engaged in conversation which looked to Thomas,
 who 'was up a tree,' a little too
 sweet to be palatable.

"Dis gal am mine," remarked Thomas, approaching the pair. "Whut yo' mean, niggab, by leavintin' de confection ob dis lady?"

"Dis man ant leavintin' no confection," chimed in Minnie, who appeared defiant in the matter. "Dis man er yaller man an' I likes 'im."

"I'll fix yer both so you'll be sereced er yerse'l," ejaculated the jealous and defiant Thomas, as he proceeded to clean out the whole car, with the result that both men were cut severely in the face, and the woman was stabbed in the fracas.

The foregoing occurred in the description of a picnic given at a popular lake resort a few miles out of town by the Amazin' Grace Sunday school.

One man named Hamm and another named Bacon are candidates for the cats or bench-legged, hoarse-voiced bull dogs is usually the meekest man in the morning when he faces the police judge from the dock. He is ready then and there to sign a pledge to never again touch, taste or handle.

An old rounder once told the Stroller there were two frequent occurrences in his life on which he always resolved to join the Salvation Army at the first opportunity. One of the times was just when he was getting over a protracted spree and the other times were when he wanted to go on a spree but didn't have the money.
 This man said it was a pleasure for him to get a five days' sentence in police court as it gave him satisfaction on such occasions to upbraid himself for being a fool.

The frayed look, the dark brown taste, the parched larynx and the misfit tongue all homeport at the police court. It is about the only place a newspaper reporter is looked upon with respect and even there it is assumed for a purpose.

To the student of phrenology and physiognomy police court presents a broad field for study and comparison.

Will Carleton, like James Whitcomb Riley, never wrote other than good poetry. The following entitled "Man's Best Friend" is no departure from his usual high standard. It pleases the Stroller and he believes it will please his readers. It describes a dog wholly different from that alleged by the Sun push to be harbored by the firemen of No. 3 hall. Carleton's dog is described as follows:

He was strong and trim and a good-sized cur.
 A giant of dogs, with soft silk fur,
 Poised head of an intellectual size,
 And two straight, luminous hero
 eyes.
 A tail whose gestures were eloquence,
 A bark with a germ of common sense,
 And this dog looked, upon the whole,
 As if he had gathered some crumbs of soul.

That fell from the feast God spread
 for man—
 Looked like a line of the human plan.

There went with his strong, well-balanced stride
 A dignity oft to man denied,
 God's humblest brutes, where'er we turn,
 Are full of lessons for man to learn.

The soul of the humble brute has fled;
 The grand old dog lies still and dead.
 Oh, manlike brain and godlike heart!
 You were made to carry a noble part,
 You did, old dog, the best you knew,
 And that is better than most men do;
 And if ever I get to the great, just place,
 I shall look for your honest, kind old
 face.

"Do you know," said one demonezed American to another yesterday,
 "that I have lost all interest in Fourth of July celebrations which now look to me like rude, uncouth, semi-civilized affairs. Why, sir, the idea of staid, refined men like you and I shooting fire crackers, yelling like coyotes or chasing a greased pig is nothing short of ridiculous."

The second man agreed with the speaker and even went so far as to say that he would always hold a grudge against his parents for permitting him to be born in Sam's country.

Just then a boy with a bunch of firecrackers came along and, addressing the two men said:

"Hie, gimme a few matches."

"Here, boy, let me show you how to shoot firecrackers," said the man with a grudge against his parents.

"No, let me show you," said the staid, refined gentleman, "I reckon I have shot off upwards of forty thousand crackers in my day and generation and what I don't know about shooting firecrackers ain't worth knowing."

"You are a liar!" said the other man. "I am a better 'yankee' than it was ever in you to be."

"Call me a liar again and I'll make you eat your naturalization papers and mine too," said No. 2.

"I reckon my great grandfather came over in the Mayflower. He was a stonemason by trade and was foreman on the Baker Hill monument."

"At this stage of the controversy a policeman came along and threatened to march them both off to jail if they didn't keep quiet, so they sat down under Col. Reichanback's imported trees and groaned in spirit everytime they heard a firecracker.

Drowned in Lake Washington.
 Seattle, June 23.—Arthur McQuillin, a well known Seattle young man was drowned early yesterday morning in the waters of Lake Washington. About 11 o'clock in the morning his body was found floating between the Madison park bandstand and Bartlett's boat house. Charles Linton, who works in the boat house,
 saw the body, and towed it to shore.
 McQuillin went out last evening with George Curtis, a friend. The couple went to Madison park. Mc-Quillin was a little under the influence of liquor. When the two were ready to go home they boarded a Madison street car, but the conductor refused to allow McQuillin on,
 so Curtis came home without him.
 About 11:30 o'clock the young man was seen walking along the shore in a drowsy condition, by Charles Ellis,
 who operates a launch on the lake.
 That was the last seen of him alive.
 The family did not think anything had happened to the boy until they were told of the discovery. The body was taken to the Bonney-Watson morgue, and Coroner Hore investigated the case.

McQuillin was about 20 years old,
 and had come to the coast six years ago with his parents from Ohio, where he was born. He leaves, besides his parents, Mr. and Mrs. T.
 M. McQuillin, a sister, Mrs. Arthur McQuillin, and a younger brother. For some time he had been working in his father's grocery store, on Twentieth avenue and Yesky way. He was well liked and had, it is said, no enemies.

Heavy Damage Done

New York, June 6.—Mrs. Agnes Hendrick, wife of Dr. Charles C.
 Hendrick, a physician and ex-baseball player, engaged counsel to bring suit against Laura Biggar for $150,- 000 for alienating the affections of her husband.

Dr. Hendrick, ex-Justice of the Peace Samuel C. Stanton and Laura Biggar were all tried in New Jersey
 last December for conspiring to secure the fortune of the late Henry C. Bennett.

Laura Biggar said she was Bennett's wife. Hendrick swore that she had an heir at his sanitarium. Stanton swore that he married the couple.

The counsel for the Bennett estate had all three indicted. A jury convicted Stanton and Hendrick and acquitted Laura Biggar.

Stanton and Hendrick are out on bail pending an appeal. Hendrick is supposed to be somewhere in the country. So is Laura Biggar. She recently received $620,000 as settlement of her claim against the Bennett estate. Now Mrs. Hendrick wants a part of it.

In April she had her husband arrested at Coney Island for non-support. He was placed under a $500 bond to pay her $20 a week. The bail has been forfeited.

Claims of Graters

New York, June 9.—Controller
 Groat has notified President Capton, of the borough of Manhattan, that payment of the bill presented by a contracting firm for the demolition of the old hall of records in City Hall Park has been withheld on the ground that it is excessive.

The work was done by day labor and the bill called for more than $47,000. The controller upon scanning the items found, it is said, that four foremen were employed March 29, at $3.50 a day, to supervise the work of twelve laborers.

One item calls for the payment of three superintendents at the rate of $10 a day and three timekeepers at $3.50 to keep the time of a company of laborers that never exceeded forty and that was often less. One foreman was employed at $5 a day to supervise the work of a single laborer.

Dumas, like Balzac, was fond of his own creations. Among them all he loved Porthos best. The great, strong valet hero was a child after his own heart. One afternoon, it is related, his son found Dumas careworn, overwhelmed, wretched. "What has happened to you? Are you ill?" asked Dumas' son. "No," replied Dumas pere. "Well, what is it, then?" "I am miserable." "Why?" "This morning I killed Porthos—poor Porthos!
 Oh, what trouble I have had to make up my mind to do it! But there must be an end to all things.
 Yet when I saw him sink beneath the ruins, crying, 'It is too heavy, too heavy for me!' I swear to you that I cried." And he wiped away a tear with the sleeve of his dressing gown.

Long Sentence

Spokane, June 4.—Edward Spencer was sentenced to thirteen years in the Walla Walla penitentiary by Judge Richardson this morning.
 Spencer was found guilty of murder
 in the second degree for shooting Ella Mundt, a young woman to whom he had been paying attention, the crime being committed in this city
 last January.

While the deed was without any provocation, the jury apparently believed Spencer was crazed by whisky
 and absinthe.

A droll little story is told of Mr.
 W. S. Gilbert. He put up his horse one day at a small country inn, on the signboard of which was painted conspicuously the notice, "Entertainment for Man and Beast." When his lunch was brought, he looked dissatisfied and surprised the waiter by saying, "This is all very well so far, but where is the entertainment for the man?"—London Tit-Bits.

"Wait a minute, Mr. Alpenstocker; George is lost." Find him.

Grand Trunk Pacific

Ottawa, June 5.—A ministerial caucus was held this morning, but there was a small attendance and comparatively little interest was displayed in the proceedings. Senator W. C. Edwards' retirement from the position of chairman was announced, and Mr. Archie Campbell was appointed in his place.

Members were invited to declare themselves on the subject of railway
 transportation and the Grand Trunk Pacific scheme. The maritime province members declared for a government-owned line. The few Ontario members who spoke supported the Grand Trunk Pacific, aided by a government guarantee. The position of the western members was the necessity of getting the shortest possible outlet to the seaboard for western grain. There appeared to be great diversity of opinion. The meeting adjourned at 1 o'clock after many members had spoken.

There was no announcement of government policy, the Administration not having yet reached any definite decision.

Hon. Mr. Wark, the centennial from the upper house, entered caucus about 11 o'clock and received an enthusiastic reception. He was greeted by several members, who shook him warmly by the hand, and afterwards
 he was the recipient of congratulations from the meeting generally.

Hanged Himself

Kingston, June 14.—James Gregory, in the penitentiary for burglary, had hanged himself in the solitary cell.
 He came from Port Arthur, and was the recipient of congratulations from the meeting generally.

SULPHUR NEWS NOTES

Heavy Machinery Being Installed

Miners Turned Out in Large Numbers for Dominion Day Celebration.

On 30 above Pete Oleson, point setter for Tom Woodson, was severely injured a week ago by a chunk of muck falling on his back. He has been bedfast ever since.

Mr. and Mrs. Bradmeir of No. 5 below have gone out for a short visit. They will return at an early date to take charge of the Brimston roadhouse which they purchased recently from Mrs. Collinet.

Mr. George Brimstone, one of Dawson's most popular and best known business men, took in the sports on Dominion day on Sulphur creek.

The residents of Sulphur creek turned out well at the sports on Dominion day. The weather was fine and the different contests were successfully pulled off. A splendid committee of management had the day's events in charge and there was not a single hitch from beginning to end. Besides the large attendance from the home creek there was a goodly number from Dominion, Hunker, Gold Bottom, Gold Run, Quartz and Bonanza. Contrary to the general expectation there was no oration. The games were so many and so well patronized that there was really no time for speech-making. At Griffin & McBride's the evening entertainment was an excellent exhibition of local talent. The dance which followed the celebration was the liveliest Sulphur has ever known.

A large amount of heavy mining machinery has lately arrived on the creek. Miners intend operating on a larger scale than ever before. It is worthy of mention that down in the fifties below developments have proven that this part of the creek is equal to the upper end in richness.

Messrs. Lund, Matheson & Carlson of No. 1 below will soon resume work on their valuable claim. They will employ a large force of men.

On 26 above the owners are making mammoth preparations for extensive work and will begin operations in less than a week.

"Romeo and Juliet" was played at the Pavilion on the evening of July 1st. This masterpiece was well rendered by the local amateur club and was well received by an appreciative audience.

S. A. D. Bertrand was on Sulphur on Dominion day inspecting the road. Mr. Duncan Smallwood, proprietor of Jerry's coffee house at Eo. 2 below, states that Lawrence Cobb, the insane man, has no interest in the above mentioned eating house as has been published.

The recent heavy rains have enlivened mining operations on all the creeks.

R. K. Latimer, who has succeeded as agent for the Nugget in making his paper the most extensively circulated local journal on Sulphur, Gold Run and Lower Dominion, has gone to Dawson to take a few days of well deserved rest.

Champion Baby
J. W. Moore is the proud father of what undoubtedly is the champion Yukon baby. The lusty youngster weighed 12 lbs. at birth and when measured from crown to toe was found to be no less than 23 inches in length. He measures 8 inches across the chest and a tape line around his head showed a good strong 14 inches. Moore is as tickled as the new boy will be when he receives his first pair of red top boots.

Sweet Charity
E. T. Maurer, the unfortunate young man who lost both his feet in the lower Yukon country last winter, is being assisted since his arrival in Dawson Monday by two charitable young men in a very substantial manner. In a short time yesterday evening $149 was raised for him and the good work is still going on. The poor boy hopes to leave in a few days en route to his home, Butte, Montana.

Sale Postponed
The sale of the large number of mining interests owned by Frank Berry which was advertised to take place at noon today was postponed until noon tomorrow. It is understood the financial difficulties under which Mr. Berry has been laboring are in process of adjudication and the probabilities are that sufficient funds will be raised to meet the claims against him which will not necessitate the sale of his property, much of which is considered very valuable.

Guaranteed eggs $10.00 per case. Spuds 5c per pound. Hay and grain at reduced prices. Sawyer & Carroll, corner Third ave. and Queen St.

GOOD CLAIM SELLS WELL

No. 4 Above Lower on Dominion

Brings $15,100 at Sheriff's Sale. Is Considered a Good Buy.

Pursuant to an order of sale made by Clerk of the Court Macdonald, Sheriff Ellbeck at noon today disposed of a valuable claim on Dominion, No. 4 above lower, the purchaser being George C. Friend and the price paid $15,100. The claim was owned by Lewin and Stark who were unable to agree as to the manner in which to work it. There was quite a bit of machinery on the ground but it was useless unless the claim were operated. The owners could not agree as to the sale so went to court and made a petition for division and a sale under the direction of the court. Lewin was the plaintiff in the action and Stark the defendant and the order was made that the sale take place on July 2 at noon under the direction of the sheriff. With the claim was sold a boiler, engine, hoisting and self dumping apparatus, quantity of tools, picks, shovels, piping, wheelbarrows and two cabins.

At the beginning of the sale the sheriff announced there was a reserve bid by the clerk of the court, that go advance less than $50 would be accepted and that bidders would be held to their bid. There was an unusually large crowd and the bidding was quite spirited. Among the mining men and others of means present were Eddie Lewin, D. A. Cameron, Mr. Stark, J. B. Tyrrell, R. B. Young, Dr. Strong, George Clay, George Friend and a number of others. Tabor, Walsh & Huime appeared for Mr. Lewin and Pattullo & Ridley for Mr. Stark.

After reciting in eloquent terms the richness and beauty of the claim he was about to sell the sheriff called for bids. The first to be made was $10,000 offered by Mr. Lewin. Mr. Stark raised him $1000. Then Dr. Strong offered an advance of $200. Lewin made $500, Strong $700 and H. E. Ridley offered $12,000 even. Strong went $500 better. Ridley went to $600, Strong to $800 and Stark to $900. Strong making it $13,000. Then the advances went on the jump $100 at a time, the bidders being Strong, Stark, Friend, and Ridley. Dr. Strong quit at $14,900 and Stark at $15,000. Friend offered $15,100 and as no one raised the bid the property was knocked down to him. Mr. Lewin made no offer except the first of $10,000 and is exceedingly well pleased at the price the claim brought. It is considered good property and a few years ago during the time of inflated values it would have sold for two or three times the figure it did today. Friend the purchaser is a miner who has been successful and it is presumed he will start working his new property immediately.

FLAGS AND FIREWORKS

Smith has all the new novelties in fireworks Canadian and American. Flags, Paper Balloons, Bunting, Bom-jaki Pomjahi sticks—everything needed for the 4th of July. Pictures of President Roosevelt. Smith, King St. and 2nd Ave.

Bill Davis, an old timer in the country, returned this morning from Fortymile.

Bonanza Notes

Messrs. Allard and Mayou, Last Chance miners, have bought claim No. 92 below, Bonanza, and will try their luck there. They have done a little prospecting and are well satisfied with the results.

Mr. Lee Gholsen of French hill has gone to Calder creek for a few weeks.

Mr. Cameron, owner of No. 42 above, Bonanza, took a trip up Eldorado yesterday. He says there is not as much heavy work going on on Eldorado as there is on Bonanza.

Grant & O'Leary of No. 36 above, Bonanza, will give one of their popular dances Wednesday night, July 15. Their place is too well known to need any remarks whatever. Suffice it to say none but respectable people will be present and free stages will be run from Dawson and Eldorado.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Brewitt of Adams hill are the proud parents of a ten pound baby girl.

MASSIVE MACHINERY

Being Discharged by Steamer Casca

Two Complete Steam Shovels for the Williams' Concession.

The Casca today is discharging her cargo on the bank of the river at the foot of Dugas street, it consisting entirely of enormously heavy mining machinery consigned to O. R. Brenner. Many of the pieces are too heavy to be handled in any manner by hand labor alone. Two large sticks 10x12 extend from the deck to the bank and are used as a runway, the surface being greased in the manner in which skids are. Once on the skids the massive pieces of steel are slid ashore, a heavy team of horses furnishing the motive power by which the articles are dragged along.

The outfit consists of two steam shovels complete manufactured by the Automatic Steam Shovel Company, Lorraine, Ohio. One has a shovel with a capacity of one and a quarter cubic yards, while the other, considered to be the largest ever shipped to the Yukon, will hold no less than two cubic yards. Both are extremely heavily built and look as though they would withstand the work of ages. In the large shovel the bite is an inch thick of solid steel while the fingers protruding which first dig up the surface that is to be hoisted are 2x4 also solid steel and sharpened to an edge. The turn tables upon which the derrick operates are so massive that it would seem impossible for them to ever wear out or break.

The shipment weighs 100 tons in its entirety. In addition to the shovels are a boiler and engine for each and such other appurtenances as are necessary to operate them including steel derricks. The machinery is intended for the Williams' concession of Hunker and just as fast as the pieces can be transported to the point needed they will be set up and made ready for operation. It is thought the first shovelful of gravel will be dumped in the boxes within three weeks from date. The concession is now the property of the Detroit Yukon Mining Company and takes in the right limit of Hunker from 24 to 35 below and extending from the boundary with the creek claims one mile back into the hills. O. R. Brenner is the local manager of the company.

Mr. Ernest Whalley has gone to Fortymile on a visit.

ALL FOR THE PELLY

Many Hunters and Trappers on Crimmins

Must be on Grounds in Time to Build Their Cabins and Cut Forest Trails.

The little steamer Crimmins, billed to sail for the head of navigation on the Pelly river this afternoon, had all her accommodations sold yesterday evening. About 35 hunters and trappers are among the passengers with the result that the hardware men have been busy filling orders for ammunition and traps for the past two days.

To a Nugget representative an experienced trapper who had passage engaged on the Crimmins explained that it is necessary to get on the grounds at this early season in order to prepare for the winter's work as they have to build their cabins and cut miles of trail through the dense forest to enable them to attend to their traps during the winter season. In many cases locations are selected 20 or 30 miles back from the river and all their grub and outfit must be carried on their backs that distance.

The successful trapper always has all arrangements completed and is ready to devote all his time and attention to his traps by the first of October for it is during that month that nearly all the martens are taken. Few martens are caught after the snow becomes deep. The other animals sought after for their fur are beaver, bear and fox.

With ordinary success the average hunter and trapper can take $3000 worth of fur in one season and $4000 worth is not an unusual winter's catch.
