Jack Frost.

BY KING, THE FARMERSVILLE BOY
"Ha, ha!" said Jack Frost; "oid you think I was lost, Because I had left you last May?
Do not flatter yourself that I'm laid on the shelf,
Or that I've gone northward to stay.
"I'm coming now soon, by the light of the moon;
In the morning you'll see me around,
And, although you may stare, your trees I'll strip bare,
And lay all their leaves on the ground.
"You vines and your flowers, your fine shady bowers, I'll wither them all in a night; And the sweet singing birds, with their notes without words, I'll drive them away in an affright.
"I'll creep through the house as still as a mouse,
And while you are asleep and unthinking, Your pitcher of water, left out careless Shall click to tell you I'm drinking.
"At the north I reign king, without summer or spring, Desolation's the sign of my sway;
And though half of the year farther south I appear,
'Tis a mercy to you I don't stay.
"Queens, princes and kings can do many great things—I can beat them in each northern nation—
A strong bridge I can make over river and lake, Upheld by a watery foundation." Then beware of Jack Frost, or you'll find to your cost, Although he went northward last May, We'll hear again soon, by the light of the moon,
And remain till you wish him away.
Oct. 1st, 1886.

OUR MORNING STROLL.

No. 2.
"Indian summer is here!" remarked a friend to us on the street, on Tuesday morning last, as suffering from a severe attack of neuralgia, we left the office and started out to get some of the bracing and invigorating autumn air. The thought of the cold, bleak winter that will shortly be upon us, made us shiver, and instinctively we thought of the thousands to whom the cold of our northern winter came with feelings of dread. How natural it is for all who are able to make preparation beforehand, to protect themselves from the cold blasts of winter; and catching a glimpse of the new dwelling house just finished by our old friend Arza Wiltse, we concluded to wend our way in that direction and see for ourselves how well he had prepared himself to withstand the attack of Jack Frost, not only for this winter, but through the rest of his natural life.

On reaching Mr. Wiltse's we found that gentleman busily engaged in putting the finishing touches to a part of his dwelling, and he at once left off work and chaperoned us through the building. We have not been a very extensive traveller, but in our limited experience we have not seen the building that will compare with this one in point of general adaptability to the requirement of the inmates. The building is of red brick, with cut stone base, facings, and corners; two stories in height, with a large annex running back from the rear, designed as a kitchen and wood house. The arrangement of the rooms, the conveniences to be found throughout the house from the cellar to the garret, the substantial construction and finish throughout, all point to the good taste and skill displayed by the proprietor in planning and carrying through to a successful termination, a work requiring so much careful consideration, patience and perseverance.

On the ground floor, of the main building are situated the drawing room, dining room, and sitting room, all commodious and conveniently arranged. The plan of the upper floor is admirable and gives a large number of bedrooms, each fitted up with closets and other conveniences, secured by an ingenious method whereby space is economized. The basement of the house contains large cellars and storage rooms, and a furnace which will warm the entire building. A good commencement has been made on the improvement of the grounds, and early next season the fences and the entire lot will be in handsome shape, and will present an appearance in-keeping with the house. A noticeable feature on the premises is a fine farm bell, weighing about 200 pounds, which has been erected by John Jus-son, Brockville, agent for the manufacturers. Taken altogether, Mr.

Wiltse is to be congratulated upon the appearance of his property, and the substantial nature of the improvements he has effected.

DELTA FAIR.

The Exhibition a Gratifying Success.

The 21st ult., the first day of the Delta Fair, was fine, but very cold for the season of the year. Notwithstanding this drawback the attendance was fair, and gave promise of a highly successful second day. Over 1,400 entries were made with the secretary, and when all the exhibits were placed in position they made a display which was well worth seeing, and which reflected credit upon the sturdy farmers who identify themselves with this fair, and upon their wives and daughters, whose display of fancy work and domestic manufactures was so extensive and interesting. Our space does not admit of any detailed description of the exhibits, and we are obliged to content ourselves with the publication of the prize list, which we begin in this issue, and shall conclude next week. The display of cattle was especially fine, particularly in Shorthorns and Jerseys. Grain, vegetables, etc., were displayed in great profusion, and were of a quality to demand the admiration of all who saw them. The attendance of visitors at the fair was good, and would have been larger but for the Gananoque races which took place on the same date.

Much interest was taken in the Delta Trotting Association races, which were successfully carried out. In the green race Doctor George took first, Limber Jim second, and Queen S. third. The race for three minute horses was hotly contested. Results: Judge James first, Barney R. second, Limber Jim third. On the second day the interest in the races was greater than on the first, and, as on the first day, the heats were all trotted to win. Nettie took first in the 2:30 class, with Maud E. second and Judge James third. The free-for-all race was hotly contested. Little Vic took first money, Nettie second, and Maud E. third.

There was an exciting game of baseball played between the Lyndhurst and Harlem teams, resulting in a victory for the former by a score of 90 to 27.

We are pleased to be able to say that the fair was a success financially.

The following list is copied from the Secretary's Books, as returned by the Judges. Parties seeing any errors or omissions will please notify the Secretary in writing at once.

Business Education.

Brockville Business College has gained the front rank among the Colleges of Canada. Nearly two hundred students have been in attendance during the past year. The course offered at this college is most thorough and complete and will afford young persons just the preparation necessary to enter upon any business calling. The rates at this school for board, books and tuition are cheaper than at any other first-class college. Write for their circulars.

Personal Mention.

J. H. Hawkins is visiting friends in Port Hope this week.

Myron E. Wilson and Fred, Fitch, of Briar Hill, N. Y., were visiting at B. Loverin's this week.

Sale by Auction.

Mrs. O. Jackson, of Plum Hollow, will offer for sale on Wednesday, the 3rd of November, at 2 p. m., a part of lot 4 in the 7th concession of Bastard, being a portion of the estate of the late Ephraim Jackson, jr. The sale will take place on the premises. See bills for particulars.

Reform Meeting.

The Reformers of Rear Yonge and Escott will meet in the Town Hall, Farmersville, on Saturday evening, the 9th inst., at 8 p. m., to appoint delegates to the reform convention, which will be held at Delta, on the 14th of the present month.

New Carriage Shop.

Charles S. Pearson has opened a carriage shop at Elgin, and intends, by strict attention and thorough work, to merit the public's patronage.

Photography.

S. M. Switzer is in town this week endeavoring to secure a location for a photograph gallery. If successful in his object, he will open out a gallery here, and will no doubt establish a paying business. We saw some fine specimens of Mr. Switzer's work at the Elgin fair, and in conversation with parties in the neighborhood of Newbury we found that his work was well liked.

Entertainment.

An entertainment will be given by the pupils and friends of S. S. No. 7, (in the brick school house, one mile east of Farmersville), on the evening of Friday next. An interesting programme has been prepared, and those who attend will be sure to enjoy themselves. The entertainment will begin at half past seven. Admission, 15 cents.

That Sewer.

There is considerable grumbling amongst those interested in the building of the sewer through the centre of the village, over the action of the officials in not furnishing a statement of the disbursements in connection with that much needed work. There seems to be no hesitation in paying any reasonable assessments, but they wish to know where and how the money was expended.

Harvest Dinner.

The harvest dinner which was held at Greenbush on Wednesday last, was not as largely attended as was expected, on account of the cold wet weather. Although a platform, seats, tables, etc., had been prepared in the grove, it was decided to have the dinner and speeches in the church. The dinner was gotten up in a manner creditable to the ladies, while the speeches, well they mainly consisted of reminiscences of the speakers' early days and the hair breadth escapades of the reverend gentlemen when they were boys. We did not learn the receipts.

Encouraging.

Mr. Brown the canvasser for the cemetery repair fund informs us that he has collected between sixty and seventy dollars, and has only been out a part of two days. He says that thus far the people have responded cheerfully to the appeal for funds. If those living at a distance having friends buried in the old M. E. burying ground wish to contribute towards putting the cemetery in a better condition than at present, their contribution will be thankfully received by the committee. Money may be sent to Mr. G. W. Brown, or to this office. The committee will meet at the Reporter's office on Monday evening next, at 8 p. m., sharp for the transaction of business connected with the proposed renovation of the cemetery grounds.

Directors' Meeting.

A meeting of the directors of the Unionville Fair Association was held at Forth's hotel on Monday last. Present, secretary, treasurer, Beecher, Forth, Johnston, Shipman and Manhard were present. After the reading and adoption of the minutes of last meeting, a large number of bills were read and ordered to be paid to the ticket sellers, gate keepers, etc. Before adjournment, the following resolution moved by Mr. Johnston, seconded by Mr. Manhard was carried unanimously. That this board feeling under deep obligations to Mr. Forth for his kindness in furnishing the members of this Board with entertainment for themselves and their horses at meetings of the board, for which he has always refused remuneration therefore they ask his acceptance for the sum of $10.00 as a partial payment for the many obligations incurred.

THE UNIONVILLE PRIZE LIST.

"We publish in this week's issue a fragment of the Unionville prize list—that relating to growing crops. We were asked if we would publish the whole list and promised to do so, being assured by two of the officials that the copy would be furnished to us simultaneously with the other papers. The part referred to came a few days ago. Our weekly goes to press on Wednesday morning and on Tuesday evening a proof of a part of the list, ending off in the middle of a name reaches us, the only copy so far received except the growing crops. Mr. B. Loverin, the secretary of the society, sees fit for some reason to withhold the copy so he can get it into his own paper a week before us. The directors should see that he does as they instruct him in this matter. Our readers will see that the fault is not ours."

This terrible accusation against us appeared in last week's issue of the Weekly Recorder. Persons reading it might think that our big cotem. had sat upon us with a vengeance, and that we would be wiped out of existence. But, fortunately for us, we live out in the country, where the bracing air acts as an invigorator, and we therefore hope to survive the ordeal. Let us endeavor, in our feeble way, to dissect this wonderful production of the wisecrack of the Recorder.

First, then, our contemporary says that they publish a "fragment of the Unionville prize list—that relating to growing crops." Yet, in the very number containing this statement is found, not only the growing crops list but the four classes of horses and four of cattle—exactly the same amount of matter as was furnished to the other Brockville papers, and identical with the first batch of the prize list which appeared in the Reporter. Out of their own mouth they convict themselves.

Then the Recorder goes on to say that they were asked by two of the officials to publish the whole list, and assured that the copy would be furnished them simultaneously with the other papers; and further remarks that "the part referred to came a few days ago."

In reply we state emphatically that a corrected copy of classes A, B, C, D, E and F was prepared by our foreman on Monday morning, September 20th, and duplicates were enclosed in envelopes addressed to the three Brockville papers and mailed with our own hands in time for that day's mail. And we have reason to believe the proofs so transmitted did not fail in reaching the offices addressed, for we notice that the Times of September 22nd contains the portion of the list sent them on the 20th, although the "fragment" did not appear in either the daily or weekly editions of the Recorder until the following week. A little further on our cotemporary says that on Tuesday evening (we suppose of the following week) a proof of a part of the middle of the list, ending in the middle of a name, reached it, "the only copy so far received, except the growing crops."

We were shown a card from J. J. Bell, of the Recorder, to Wm. Neilson, the President, in which the writer says that the copy had not reached him on Wednesday. How is this discrepancy to be accounted for?

In reply to another portion of the accusation, we say that the proofs of the second batch were mailed simultaneously from this office to our contemporaries, consisting of classes G to S inclusive, and did not break off in the middle of a name, as asserted by the Recorder. The Times had enterprise enough to get this part of the list in last week's issue; but its complaining cotemporary, with characteristic slowness, only succeeded in publishing it, in the daily edition, on the 4th inst.—exactly a week after the copy left this office. That the copy mailed to the Recorder might have failed to reach its destination, was a possible, although not probable, contingency; but the implied assertion that we deliberately went to the trouble of preparing an incorrect or incomplete proof for our venerable cotemporary, is too ridiculous for belief.

We assert again, emphatically, that the proofs of each batch of the list were pulled from the same galleys for sent from this office simultaneously, in ample time for them all to have published the list simultaneously with the Reporter—that is if the proprietors had any "push" about them.

Now for another part of the question, which we think ought to be made public. In former years, when no paper was published in Farmersville, the Recorder always asked for payment for publishing the prize list; but this year when it was known that the Reporter would publish it gratis, our cotem. displayed excessive willingness to do likewise. We mention this fact for the edification of the members of the Unionville Fair Association, and to show them the true inwardness of the motives influencing our cotemporary, which would now be engaged in billing the directors for printing the list, but for the action of the more enterprising journals of the county, who, with the Reporter, are glad to publish the prize list of so important an exhibition as the Unionville fair.
