A National Anthem.

God bless our Canada, graciously we hail thee.

Found a Pocketbook.

It lay in the gutter as Pauline streaked her dainty way across the street. She saw it and rescued it from the mud—a long, flat pocketbook of Russian leather, such as a man might carry. It was bulky with letters or papers, or perhaps money;

Pauline slipped the pocket book into her mail and hurried on her way home.

When she reached her own room

she spread the contents of the leather book on her dressing table. There was a large packet of banknotes, $400

in all, together with a picture, a portrait cut from some magazine of a girl in a black velvet gown wearing a black velvet pocket hat and holding a long attenuated rose in her hand.

Pauline looked at the picture with rising indignation; it was a half-size reproduction of Fleming's portrait of herself. The original picture hung in her father's study downstairs.

There was a single line under the picture which had evidently illustrated

some special article on Fleming, the painter. It read, "an example of Fleming's delicate portraiture."

The next day Pauline caused to be mailed in a morning paper a brief

advertisement:

THE ACADIAN.

WOLFVILLE, N. S., SEPT. 22, 1911.

Prohibition in Maine.

The election on the re-submission of the constitutional amendment prohibiting the sale of intoxicating liquors in the state of Maine has engaged the attention of a very large proportion of people during the past few months. On Monday last week the vote was taken and although the question cannot yet be said to be finally settled, the result is apparently in favor of the prohibition party. The first returns indicated a triumph of the movement to annul the prohibition amendment and caused great rejoicing among the liquor interests. The secretary of the non-licensing movement himself conceded victory to the other side. Next day showed a change in the figures and it now appears that the time-honored policy is to prevail as of yore and that the water wagon is to remain the symbol of Maine sentiment on the liquor question. A recount has been demanded by the liquor interests and it may be as late as Dec. 1st according to the provisions of the law in regard to constitutional amendments before the official finding can be announced. Governor Pleasant declares, however, that there will be no unnecessary delay. The latest returns at hand show an apparent majority against repeal of 569 votes. The contest was a most strenuous one, the anti-prohibitionists throwing into the fight all the forces of money and prestige at their command. In spite of these mighty influences the pine tree state remains true to the high ideals of its pioneers in the temperance cause. Gen. Neal Dow and other of its honored sons.

Lecture.

Hon. William Jennings Bryan spoke in College Hall to a large audience last Monday evening. In addition to a good many from Wolfville, special trains brought others from Kentville and Windsor. Mr. Bryan has been making a tour of the Maritime Provinces under the auspices of the Provincial Young Men's Christian Association, having spoken in Charlotte town, Sydney, Truro, Halifax, Wolfville, St. John and Moncton.

The subject of Mr. Bryan's lecture was 'The Prince of Peace.' In his introduction, however, he referred to the political strife into which he had fallen and spoke of several instances in his own campaigns which made him feel very much at home here at this time. He also paid a very glowing tribute to the work of the Young Men's Christian Association as he had seen it carried out in different parts of the world, saying that according to his definition of character the Y. M. C. A. was doing much for the development of the young men of all lands. He said that the character of the Y. M. C. A. was forming character rather than reforming it. Many thoughts from the subject as announced that he was to speak upon The International Peace Movement, and while he said that on account of his connection with this movement he might well speak upon it, yet his subject was not to be that, but the Prince of Peace, Jesus Christ, and his claim upon the allegiance of the young men of today. Many young men are unsettled during their educational career and it was with the purpose of endeavoring to help some who have been his staunch friends politically, into a higher realm of life that this lecture was prepared. On the whole the tenor of the lecture was apologetical. It was a defence of Christianity from the conservative standpoint. While there were a few things in the lecture to indicate that the speaker was somewhat familiar with some scientific facts which he used by way of illustration, still the lecture was well thought out and thoroughly enjoyed by all. No one could help feeling the deep sincerity of the lecturer, his interest in his subject, and his desire to be helpful to any young man who thought that it was not an intellectual cerebral to lead a Christian life.

Mr. Bryan is an elder of the Presbyterian church and respected as a Christian gentleman by his most bitter political opponents.

Church Wedding.

The marriage took place in the Presbyterian church on Wednesday, Sept. 20th, at 10 o'clock, of Isabel Eaton, eldest daughter of Rev. Noble Crandall, of this town, to Frank Leopold Stephens, of Halifax. The ceremony was performed by Rev. E. D. Webber assisted by Rev. G. W. Miller. The church was decorated in green and white with a touch of pink. To the strains of the wedding march played by Mrs. J. D. Chambers, the bride, gowned in light blue broadcloth and large black picture hat, entered the church on the arm of her father. She carried a shower bouquet of white roses and lily of the valley, and was unattended, except by a flower girl, Miss Mary Crandall, of Montreal.

The guests included only the immediate relatives of the bride and the parents and sister of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Stephens, and Mrs. George Roberts, of Halifax. The bride was the recipient of many magnificent and valuable gifts. The groom's present to the bride was a beautifulethyst and pearl necklace. The bride's going away gown was of dark blue serge with hat to match.

After the service the happy couple drove to Kentville where they took the train on route for the south shore on a three weeks' hunting trip. On its conclusion they will make their home at 'Birchdale,' Halifax.

The 'Man on the Street.'

The long evenings of autumn and winter will soon be with us again and it is none too early to begin to consider amusements and occupations with which to fill the hours. For the former there will no doubt be ample provisions. There will be the rink, the racket, hockey games and entertainment galore. These are well and good in their places and the 'man on the street' would not disparage their usefulness by any means. He would beg to suggest, however, that during the coming winter the providing of more intellectual recreations would be of decided advantage to the community. The 'man on the street' would suggest the arrangement of a series of public meetings for the discussion of subjects of interest to our citizens. With the large number of able men who reside in our town this should not be difficult. The man on the street is confident that the different members of the college faculty would be glad to assist in this matter, and there are a number of other citizens who are authorities along various lines. One evening a week devoted to the matter would prove to be a beneficial and interesting addition to our community life. What do readers of THE ACADIAN think of the proposition?

A writer in THE ACADIAN last week, who contributed a very timely letter under the caption of 'Town Topics' referred to the number of summer tourists who visited our town during the past summer. His hints regarding the danger of putting too much dependence upon this class of business the 'man on the street' thoroughly appreciates and endorses. Our citizens have found the large influx of summer visitors to be profitable, however, and a large sum of money is left here by them each season. As a factor in the prosperity of the town we cannot afford to neglect this business. One of the primary needs just now in this connection is more and better hotel accommodation. Wolfville needs an up to date institution of this kind with plenty of rooms and ample grounds. The 'man on the street' is hoping to be able to report the beginning of operations in this connection before the time for our summer visitors to be again with us comes around.

The suggestions of THE ACADIAN from time to time with regard to the reorganization of the Board of Trade seem to have had no effect. Don't give the matter up, Mr. Editor. Our town needs just such an organization which has done so much for the building up of other places and in the past has been so useful here. With an aggressive organization of this kind in which all our citizens entered with a whole hearted co-operation the prospects for a bright future for Wolfville are beyond question.

With the closing of another annual exhibition, the time is opportune to size up the situation and learn some lessons.

The customary deficit is before us, (it is said about $6000 dollars this year,) and this fact should start us thinking about some more profitable way of conducting the exhibition. To the onlooker there seems too much prominence given to the race track, and not enough to the more direct features of an ideal exhibition; the object of which is to encourage what is best in useful natural products and manufactures.

The exhibits this year in most of the departments were fewer than usual. Practically no fruit was shown. Agricultural products were meagre. Butter and cheese were a beggarly show.

Dairy and beef cattle were very much in evidence, but it is generally a foregone conclusion as to what herd will capture the prizes, our old bovine acquaintances of previous years bring to the front.

Other live stock made a good exhibition, and the poultry show was excellent.

The Fisheries building was a very attractive spot, the exhibits in this department being large and nicely arranged.

Not the least of the attractions was a petent cooker from which nice, crisp morsels of fish and potato were distributed to the hungry sight seers. The first floor of the main building was well filled, there being many very artistic displays, but the galleries looked bare and lonesome, the exhibits of the Sons of Temperance, and the Nova Scotia S. School association being almost the sole attractions.

The Arts and Mines buildings, were points of interest and education. Machinery Hall was silent, being given over to carriages as automobile agents.

The merry-go-round was the sole demonstrator of the Machinery department, and its glory had somewhat departed, due to the absence of the genial faced automatic darkey and his crank organ. There was also a thrill on 'Pater's Row,' which fact was, however, productive of no loss to visitors. Some very good shooting was witnessed here, several bull's eyes being made on the negro's head poking through the panes.

The grand stand specialties were very good, but the absence of fireworks made the evening exhibitions rather commonplace. The atrium but could be viewed in her flight, better from the grounds than from the grand stand.

The foregoing impressions will form the basis of some suggestions to be embodied in a later article on this subject from which it is hoped there may be evolved something of material value.

Nova Scotia Horticultural Exhibition.

The Nova Scotia Horticultural Exhibition to take place at Wolfville, Oct. 10th, 11th, and 12th, promises to excel all others held in the various counties during past years. The exceptional quality of the fruit this year will constitute a special attraction and probably several years may elapse before we shall have such clean and well colored apples. The horse show on the campus Wednesday, Oct. 11th, will be well worth coming to see. Applications for entries are already coming in. The following are the different classes of exhibits, viz.: A. Apples, B. Peaches, C. Plums, D. Grapes, E. Ornamental Plants and Flowers, F. Roots and Vegetables, G. Grain and Seeds, H. Dairy Products, I. Industrial and Educational, K. Horses. There will also be the special exhibits of Appliances pertaining to Farming, Horticulture, etc. All entries must be handed in to the secretary, I. B. Oakes, not later than Sept. 26th. Any persons needing prize lists or entry papers should apply at once to the secretary. A large number of special prizes are offered and cheap railway rates will be provided.

For Sunday School Teachers.

It has been decided to open the course in Sunday School work being given to the theological students of Acadia university, to any Sunday school teacher of the town who should wish to take them. The courses are as follows:
I. Sunday school history, organization, methods and equipments. Two hours a week first term.
II. History of education. Two hours a week first term.
III. Psychological principles of education. Two hours a week second term.
Any who have not already been connected with the university will be charged $2.00 for registration, but those who have before registered at the university will be charged the annual registration fee of $1.
For Course I, nothing extra will be charged. For Courses II and III $2.00 each will be charged. These courses are thrown open to all Sunday school teachers of the town regardless of denomination and seem to be an opportunity for the furtherance of the work. There is no reason why many teachers should not take them, and the Sunday school which reaps the benefit should pay the expenses.

Your money back if Purity Flour does not prove entirely satisfactory in the baking.

DON'T simply buy flour from the dollar and cent store. Buy high-quality flour. That means PURITY FLOUR. The first little extra cost is more than made up by the extra number of loaves of bread it makes by the superiority of the bread and purity in sweetness of flavor and nourishing qualities. Buying Purity Flour is a safe investment. You get large returns, not only on account of Purity's ability to produce more, but because Purity contains the greater nutriment and the vim of a strong hard wheat flour. Food made from Purity Flour gives the consumer health, snap and force, which cannot be gained from the use of the weaker soft wheat flour.

"MORE BREAD AND BETTER BREAD" PURITY FLOUR

You can buy as little as 7 pound cotton bag or in 14, 28, 49, and 98 pound sacks. Also in barrels and half-barrels.

Purity may cost a little more than some flours but you'll find it more than worth the difference. To be genuine, must bear the Purity trade mark.

comes into the world without his content, and leaves against his will. During his stay on earth his time is spent in one continuous round of contraries and misunderstandings. In his infancy he is an angel. In his boyhood a devil. In his manhood he's everything from a lizard up. In his duties he's a fool. If he raises a family he's a chump. If he raises a cheque he's a thief, and the law raises Cain with him. If he's poor he's a poor manager and has no sense. If he's rich he's dishonest but consider, if he's a politician he's a grater and a crook. If out of politics an undesirable citizen. If he goes to church he's a hypocrite. If he stays away he's a sinner. If he donates to foreign missions he does it for show. If he does not he's stingy and a tightwad. When he comes into this world everybody wants to kiss him. Before he goes out they all want to kick him. If he dies young there was a great future before him. If he lives to a ripe old age he's living to save funeral expenses. Life's a darn funny thing isn't it?

Prohibition Still in Maine.

Maine retains constitutional prohibition. The vote was too close for comfort, the margin too small to warrant boasting, but, considering that the liquor interests of the world were allied in a determined assault upon the very citadel of prohibition, any sort of victory affords good ground for profound gratitude on the part of those who believe this much controverted policy is best for the human race.

It goes without saying that the liquor interests, which ever and anon declare that prohibition does not prohibit, and that more liquor is sold under the prohibition than under local option or license, provided an immense campaign fund which they had no scruples in putting where it would do the most good. The anti made no speeches. They depended on money to talk for their side, and how eloquent cold cash can be is shown by the results.

Of course it is not thought for a moment that the anti prohibition vote was mainly a purchased or purchasable quantity. Thousands of men who voted against prohibition are as honest and intelligent as those who voted for it, but the long and well-known history of these campaigns in this country, as well as in the United States, is full of positive proof of the corrupt use of money by those who feed upon the moral life blood of their fellow men.

It is to be hoped that the friends of prohibition in Maine and elsewhere will be sufficiently sobered, impressed and stirred by the close call in that state, and by recent more or less significant reverses in other places, to see to it that the weapons of non-enforcement, or insincere enforcement for political purposes, is not put into the hands of the determined and not over scrupulous enemies of prohibition again.

Killed by an Automobile.

Dexter Benkhorn, a former resident of Wolfville, was the victim in an automobile accident at Lynn, Mass., on Monday of last week.

Mr. Benkhorn was driving when the bursting of an inner tube and the subsequent collision with a large stone caused the machine to lose a complete summerault. The occupants were thrown out and picked up unconscious and taken to a hospital where Benkhorn died of his injuries a few hours later. The deceased was a resident of Medford, Mass., and carried on a blacksmith business at Cambridge. He leaves a widow and three children. Mr. Benkhorn was a native of Canis and in his early life lived for some time in Wolfville, where he served his apprenticeship in the blacksmith business with Mr. J. I. Franklin.

The Stomach Needs Help

The liver, kidneys and bowels must be kept active with DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS.

The liver and kidneys are overworked in their efforts to remove the poisonous waste matter from the system. They fail and become torpid and clogged. The bowels become constipated and stomach derangement follows.

There is one medicine which will overcome this condition more certainly and more quickly than any other, and this is Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

This medicine gets the bowels in action at once and by awakening the liver and kidneys ensures the thorough cleansing of the filtering and excretory systems.

With the poisonous obstructions removed, the digestive system resumes its beneficial condition, appetite improves, pains and aches disappear as well as irritability and depression.

You cannot imagine a more effective remedy for all ailments, or Edmondson, Bates & Co., Toronto.
