

GREATER HAMILTON'S MOST RELIABLE NEWSPAPER

NO PAY FOR HAMILTON MEN

Owing to the Tories Holding Up Supply Bill in House.

Another Morning Spent by Tories in Obstructive Tactics.

Conservatives Anxious to Force Laurier to the Country.

(Special Despatch to the Times.) Ottawa, June 9.—Before the orders of the day were called Mr. Foster asked whether it was the case that certain employees of the Public Works Department at Hamilton had not received their wages for April and May.

Hon. Mr. Pugsley said that the caretakers and heating engineers at Hamilton had not received their pay.

Mr. Foster—Has the Minister of Public Works issued a notice similar to that of the Minister of Railways with regard to the difficulty of obtaining the appropriations from Parliament.

Hon. Mr. Pugsley—No, I am in hopes that the honorable gentlemen opposite will let me have the money with which to pay these men within a few days.

Mr. Lennox—We are in very good humor now. (Laughter.)

Replying to Mr. Monk, Sir Wilfrid Laurier said Mr. Smith's (Nanaimo) bill providing for an eight hours day for railway telegraphers and train despatchers would have to take order with other public bills.

On motion to go into supply, Mr. Geo. Taylor attacked Hon. Mr. Brodeur for a speech he was reported to have made in opposition to Mr. Bourassa, in which he had expressed surprise at Mr. Bourassa, a ferocious Catholic, allying himself with the Orangemen of Ontario like George Taylor.

Mr. Taylor, after being called to order for using the expression "low," said he admitted that the charge made by Mr. Brodeur was correct. He did belong to an Orange institution and was proud of it. He was also proud to ally himself with a man like Mr. Bourassa, who had expressed such sentiments as that he did not want to raise religious questions, but wanted the two races to remain in peace under the British flag.

Mr. Taylor protested against Mr. Brodeur going into his own province and trying to raise religious and racial cries.

Hon. Mr. Brodeur—What I said was not what is reported there. Mr. Taylor—a good deal worse probably in French. (Laughter.)

Dr. Sproule also complained of the Minister of Marine and Fisheries' references to Orangemen.

The House went on to supply on the Intercolonial Railway estimates.

Mr. Foster asked why the Minister of Railways had issued a circular notifying the employees of the Intercolonial Railway that owing to the difficulty of obtaining appropriations from Parliament the salaries could not be paid.

Hon. Mr. Graham said the Auditor-General had advised the department to notify their officials that the expenditure of public money must not exceed the appropriations granted, hence circular.

Mr. Lennox condemned the circular as a political dodge.

Mr. Foster thought the Minister should have explained in his circular that it was owing to his own neglect that supplies had not been granted.

Hon. Mr. Fielding said that the Minister of Railways, being a truthful person, could not say anything of the kind. He repeated the Minister of Railways' words and other Ministers had through him (Fielding), approached members opposite and asked that various public services might be provided for by a vote on account. One eighth had been voted by the Opposition, when one-fourth was asked, and a second supplementary vote had been refused.

Opposition Caucus. At an opposition caucus this morning it was decided to continue the present tactics in Commons with a view to finally forcing the Government either to drop the Election Bill or appeal to the country. The Ontario Conservative members have come back from the Provincial campaign in a very arrogant frame of mind, and hope by compelling a dissolution and appeal to the country at once to ride into power in the wake of Premier Whitney's victorious ship.

The Government, on the other hand, will insist on the right of majority rule and the next few days will probably see some decidedly interesting developments in the situation.

QUEBEC BRIDGE.

Secretary Gives Evidence as to Subscriptions, Etc.

(Special despatch to the Times.) Ottawa, Ont., June 9.—Mr. Urie Barthe, secretary of the Quebec Bridge Company, was examined this morning before the special committee of the Commons to inquire into the financial affairs of the company. In giving his evidence as to subscribers to the $200,000 stock to be paid for before the Government guarantee bonds were given, he mentioned Hugh A. Allan, $25,000; Hon. John Sharpless, $50,000; G. T. R., $25,000; M. P. Davis, $50,000.

To Mr. Monk, he gave details of payments to directors of company, which in 1901 amounted to $10,000, in 1902 to $5,000, and in 1903 to a like amount, an aggregate of $20,000. These amounts were first voted at meetings of shareholders.

In 1904 directors voted themselves $5,000, having a little from Hon. Mr. Taschereau, their legal adviser, that this was within their rights. Witness was instructed to look over the company's books, and at a later sitting of the committee give details of any further payments to directors.

Mr. W. H. Hewlett left last evening for Dayton, Ohio, where he will give an organ recital this evening.

COL. HON. J. S. HENDRIE, Conservative Member-Elect for West Hamilton.

In conformity with the suggestion of Rear Admiral Sperry no alcoholic liquors will be served at the entertainments of the men.

KING EDWARD VISITS CZAR.

British Royal Yacht With Two Cruisers Arrive

And Emperor and King Meet and Exchange Visits.

Russian School Children Welcome Czar and Suite.

Reval, June 9.—The meeting between King Edward and Emperor Nicholas occurred here to-day with due formality. It was the first time that a British monarch has ever made an official visit in Russian waters.

The British squadron escorting the royal yacht Victoria and Albert, with the King of Britain on board, entered the bay of Reval shortly after 10 o'clock this morning. The customary salutes were fired, and after an exchange of formal visits the King and the Emperor lunched on board the Russian yacht Polar Star, as the guests of the Dowager Empress.

The day was favored by brilliant and beautiful summer weather. Thousands of spectators had gathered on the battlement summit of the Mont de la Cathedrale along the wooded shores of the bay, and at other points of vantage on the sea wall to witness the incoming of the ships of war.

The imperial train bearing the Emperor of Russia and suite from Peterhof arrived here at 8 o'clock this morning. When the imperial party alighted, they were surprised to find the disembarking platform surrounded by a guard of school children of Reval instead of by a detachment of troops. The children cheered enthusiastically, and this welcome evidently made a deep impression upon the Emperor and Empress.

As Emperor Nicholas boarded the Standert, the imperial salute was fired, the royal standard was hoisted to the masthead and the yachts and all the rest of the shipping in the harbor dressed ship their anchors a their bunting.

The British vessels, which had arrived in the offing during the night, were now visible on the horizon. In the lead was the Victoria and Albert, then the two cruisers, and in the rear the other imperial yacht, Alexandra. Passing outside the Russian vessels, which had been ordered to the Standert and the Polar Star, the Victoria and Albert and the two cruisers swept around in a great curve, coming close to shore, and dropped anchor between the Standert and the Polar Star.

King Edward was on the Standert, the Standert he was presented to Premier Stolypin, Foreign Minister Iswolsky and Vice Admiral Dikoff, Minister of Marine.

The minute the visiting vessels dropped their anchors a launch bearing Emperor Nicholas left the side of the Standert and the Russian monarch boarded the Victoria and Albert, where he exchanged very hearty greetings with King Edward, whom he has not seen for several years, and saluted Queen Alexandra and Princess Victoria. After a few minutes on board the Victoria and Albert, Emperor Nicholas returned to the Standert. In the meantime King Edward had donned the uniform of a Russian admiral, and he at once returned the call of the Emperor. On board the Standert he was presented to Premier Stolypin, Foreign Minister Iswolsky and Vice Admiral Dikoff, Minister of Marine.

WORSHIPPERS PUT IN PERIL.

Set Fire to Berlin Catholic Church When Crowded

With More Than a Thousand Women and Children.

Coolness of Priests Prevented a Great Tragedy.

Berlin, June 9.—An attempt was made yesterday to burn down the old St. Paulus Catholic Church at Moabit, belonging to the Dominicans, which was crowded with people assembled to hear a sermon by the famous Dominican monk, Bonaventura. About 1,800 persons were present, including more than a thousand women and children, to hear the minister.

While the congregation was kneeling in silent prayer some one informed Father Bonaventura that the church was afire. Without alarming the congregation he coolly stepped over to the priest who was celebrating the mass and requested him to close the service. The priest left the altar and spoke to his six assistants, who walked down the aisles and whispered to the pewholders that an insignificant blaze had broken out and that they had better leave the building as soon as possible. At this time the entire roof of the church was a mass of flames and the fire brigade was hurrying to the burning building.

The people in the church not knowing the extent of the fire fortunately did not realize their peril, and on the clergy's request made their exit rapidly and in an orderly manner.

The fire fighters discovered that nearly a dozen fire brands soaked with petroleum had been distributed about various parts of the roof. The flames were extinguished with difficulty after great damage had been done. The police suspect a gang of incendiaries, who it is stated, set fire to the Old Garrison Church, which was destroyed, on April 14 last.

The firemen declare that only the coolness of the clergy to-day prevented a great disaster.

NO ARRESTS YET

And No More Warrants In Connection With Ballot Cases.

Up to press time to-day neither William Lawson, deputy returning officer, nor Harry Dillabough, poll clerk, for whose arrest warrants were issued yesterday, in connection with the attempted sale of ballots on Saturday night and Sunday, had been arrested. Enquiries made at the police office if information had been laid against the parties who are alleged to have tipped the accused off, were answered in the negative.

It is reported that Dillabough was driving for Hendrie yesterday.

PREPARE FOR THE DOMINION.

Echoes of the Lincoln and Welland Elections.

Mr. Mitchell's Majorities In Grimsby and Surrounding Places.

(Special Despatch to the Times.) St. Catharines, Ont., June 9.—Incomplete returns give Dr. Jessop, M. P. P. elect, the Conservative candidate, in the Ontario elections, held yesterday, a majority of about 1,200 over his opponent, William Mitchell, of Grimsby, the Liberal candidate. It is expected that further returns will increase the majority somewhat. Mr. Mitchell received the returns last night at the Liberal headquarters in the city, and when the result was assured he addressed the crowd that had assembled, thanking all who had voted and worked for him, and urging them to begin work at once to perfect the party organization, so that when the next Dominion elections are held they will be ready for the fray and be able to elect Mr. Welland D. Woodruff, the Liberal candidate who will oppose E. A. Lancaster, M. P.

Mr. Woodruff also spoke briefly, as did George A. Begg, president of the county association, and others. Mr. Mitchell's majority in his home town, Grimsby, was 99, and in the surrounding townships nearly 300.

The Conservatives of Welland county celebrated the election of Evan E. Fraser, by a majority of about 900, at Niagara falls last night. A procession was formed, and to the music furnished by Niagara Falls and Thorold Bands, marched through the principal streets, after which the member-elect and a number of prominent Conservatives delivered addresses.

DREDGE AT WORK.

Filing In Behind the New Revetment Wall.

The dredge Chief, with a double crew, has arrived in the bay and begun work on a double shift, sixteen hours a day, being kept in operation continuously from 4 a. m. to 8 p. m. Work was begun when the contractor left off last fall, after depositing 52,728 cubic yards of stuff behind the revetment wall. The intention is to employ a clam shell scoop to raise the stuff over the wall. The work now resumed will go a long way towards filling in the part back of the wall, reclaiming a large area and making a fine park. Contractor Phin is in charge.

DANIEL REID, Liberal Member-Elect for South Westworth.

THE MAN IN OVERALLS

We fell in a good cause.

And ye take our medicine with good grace.

That west end victory must have cost a lot of money.

Our men entered our battle with clean hands and they came out with loam on their faces.

Had all the east end Liberals voted that way another story would have had to be told.

We are not kicking. We are used to that sort of things.

If Scott spent money yesterday like disa water he had little to show for it.

After all the power question did not enter into the fight as all that was copy talk.

If Studholme will only talk a little less all will be forgiven and no questions asked.

Yes, we have heard the last of Scott. Hendrie being forgiven for allowing Whitney to steal the Normal College, perhaps that gentleman may think it safe to also purloin our CITY HALL.

Mr. Studholme won't have to go back to the stove mounting just yet. Lucky for him.

After all is said and done, the citizens think as much as ever they did of Messrs. Wardrop and McClelland, that is a great deal. They fought a clean fight. Have nothing to be ashamed of, nothing to regret. Went into the fight with good reputations, and came out of it without a tarnish.

I think it was that procession that killed Scott.

I suppose we will have to lift our hats to Mr. Studholme now.

If Whitney would do the fair thing he would make Studholme Minister of Labor.

Now, I am curious to know what Hendrie and Scott were paying for votes. Some say the price ranged from $3 to $5 apiece.

Neither Mr. Wardrop nor Mr. McClelland spent a cent unlawfully. Perhaps that accounts for the difference in the election returns.

Labor omnia vincit.

What was that city official doing bringing in the Tory vote in East Hamilton?

Now my Tory friends say that if John Hoodless had been the candidate it would have been all right. Not much of a compliment to Mr. Scott. But would John's bar'l have held out like Scott's?

Quebec must be a fine Province. That's where the Tercentenary is to be held.

They told me that Chub Collins would queer Mr. Thompson's chances.

If the Tories can stand it I can.

Another cheer for A. G. Mackay.

No, the Hendrie victory does not compensate for the Scott defeat.

In spite of Asylum influence Dan Reed got there again. Dan's a good fellow, and nobody grudges him his victory.

They say Tory money flowed in the East and West yesterday. It was easy money, too.

Well, the city isn't any worse this time than it was last. What it had it held.

REPRESSION OF SEDITION.

Indian Council Adopts Two Emergency Measures

To Deal With Bomb Outrages and Conspiracies.

Strong Speeches Made by Lord Minto and Others.

Simla, June 9.—The vice-regal council, after strong speeches by Lord Minto, Viceroy of India, and other members of the council, emphasizing the urgency of dealing with seditious outbreaks, yesterday adopted two emergency measures. The first is known as the explosives bill, which provides stern measures against bomb outrages and conspiracies. The second, the press bill, empowers the suspension and confiscation of newspapers inciting to criminal acts.

Lord Minto was careful to explain that both of these bills should be regarded as exceptional measures to meet an exceptional situation. He added that if they were found to be not strong enough, some measure more severe would be adopted.

BEFORE THE JUDGE.

Large Number of Defendants Arraigned.

There were several criminal cases before Judge Monck this morning, the defendants being up for election. In the case of Thomas Murphy, charged with aggravated assault on a Chinaman last winter, the Crown Attorney announced that the complainant and another Chinese, a witness, have left the city, and that he had no evidence to offer. As Murphy pleaded not guilty the charge was dismissed. There was a second charge against Murphy, however, that of assaulting a police officer, P. C. Lenz, and escaping from custody. Murphy said his witnesses were sailors, who were away on the lakes now, and asked that the case be postponed till the fall. The Crown offered no objection, and laid it over till September 15th, bail to be renewed.

The following pleaded not guilty to the charge on which they were arraigned and their trial was fixed for Tuesday, June 23rd: James Morrison, fraud; George Crawford, assault on police; W. Hiscop and Geo. Elford, theft; Patrick Wakeham, assault on police and escaping from custody; Oscar Muntz and Chief Hartman, charged with driving an automobile at an excessive speed and doing injury to a person, were also arraigned. They pleaded not guilty and their trial was fixed for June 30th.

CAR INTO AUTO.

Visitor From New Orleans Had Dangerous Experience.

What might have been a serious accident happened on King street, in front of the Dominion Hotel, this morning. Mr. Rieter, of New Orleans, was driving in his automobile through the alley at the side of the Dominion Hotel, intending to proceed to Charles street, but a car came along at that moment and ran into the front of the machine. Mr. Rieter claims that the motorist did not ring his bell, or if he did, he did not hear it. The front of the motor, which is a single cylinder, was in rather bad shape; the lamps broken and the axle nearly bent into a semi-circle. The damage will amount to about $30. The fender on the street car was badly bent. Mr. Rieter came to Canada to spend the summer, and intends to return to London (where he has made his headquarters during his stay) this morning.

HERALD IS WRONG.

John Patterson Can't Find Anyone to Back Up Its Contention.

The Times has been requested to publish the following: June 9th, 1908. To the Editor of the Herald: Sir.—With regard to your editorial of yesterday, I beg to say that I am still of the opinion expressed in my letter of Saturday. I have taken the trouble to telephone all the members of the Commission within reach, and none of them will back up your contention. It is understood that Mr. Sothman is in London this afternoon and I have telegraphed asking him to give me the particulars of the charges you claim are included for stepping down, and I am satisfied that he not only cannot do so, but that the figures I gave are the very lowest under which the transforming can be done.

I still say that the cost of power transformed for use in Hamilton, even at a King's Consul, has been sent to act for the prosecution.

ROYAL ARCANUM PICNIC.

The election excitement last night was not sufficient to make the members of Regina Council, Royal Arcanum, forget the meeting of their council last evening. Every officer was in his place, with a large attendance of visiting brethren. Nothing else is talked of but the old fashioned picnic to celebrate R. A. day on July 4th at Mohawk Park, Brantford, when brethren and their friends will be present from Hantsford, Galt, Waterloo, Preston and Brantler.

Clapper Fell

Cologne, June 9.—The clapper of the famous Emperor's bell in the Cologne Cathedral, weighing several hundred pounds, crashed down on the floor of the edifice yesterday, doing considerable damage. The accident occurred while the bell was tolling an announcement of the Whitsun festivities. Service in the church had not begun, and only officials were present. No one was injured. The bell recently had undergone repairs, and the clapper had been rewelded.

HOME FOR THE DEACONESSES.

Miss McCartney Before the Methodist Conference.

Officers of Theological Union Elected This Morning.

Motion to Censure the Transfer Committee Withdrawn.

The Methodist conference continued this morning. Rev. W. J. Crothers, M. A., D. D., gave an interesting paper on "The Word of God in Relation to Modern Thought." The speaker held that there was no conflict between the Bible and science. The former was not written to teach science, but religion. Though some of the ideas or incidents in the Bible might differ, the word of God did not. There has been but little change in the authorized version or the revised version in the past three hundred years. The authority of the Bible has not been doubted throughout its history. The Bible is the connecting link between the preacher and the listener.

The election of officers to the theological union resulted as follows: Secretary—Rev. A. J. Johnson, Lecturer—Rev. A. E. Lavelle. A balance of $25 was shown on the books.

Rev. Dr. Ross brought in a resolution severely condemning the Transfer Committee for the making of a transfer that was not equitable. The discussion was quite prolonged, after which the resolution was withdrawn. It was pointed out that the Stationing Committee does not have to sanction the transfer.

Rev. Dr. Hazlewood of Toronto Junction was present, and extended a few words of hearty greeting. He said that he was indeed pleased to attend the conference where once had been his home. He congratulated the president, Rev. Thomas Colling, on his accession to the highest honor in the conference.

Mrs. Flagg, a delegate from the Women's Missionary society, and Mrs. Ross, the Dominion president of the Women's Missionary Society, also addressed the conference on the missionary problem.

LOST TWO VOTES.

A rig owned by D. Sullivan, the Liverpool man, engaged in getting out the Scott vote in East Hamilton yesterday, was being driven at the corner of Barton street and East avenue at a good speed yesterday, just before 3 o'clock, when two voters, who were anxious to reach a polling booth before closing time. But it was not to be. Kind Providence intervened in Allan Studholme's behalf, and severed the back wheels and body from the rest of the outfit, which left the voters sprawling on East avenue, and the horse attached to the front wheels, making for home.

SAYS HE MADE RESTITUTION,

But Must Serve Six Months' Term For Theft.

Joseph Scanlon In Trouble With His Wife Now.

False Pretence Case In Court This Morning.

"You'll have to serve six months in jail," said Magistrate Jelfs at the police court this morning to Joseph Midwinter, who was found guilty yesterday of stealing a bicycle from John Flett.

"What! And me a member of the church," said Joe, with a flabbergasted look.

"That's the sentence," said his worship, when Joe started in to explain that he had made restitution to a great many people he had wronged in his bad days.

About a year ago W. H. Drewitt, 41 Earl street, a plumber on a small scale, is alleged to have got $40 or $50 worth of goods from W. J. Walsh, the King street cast plumber, on an order on William T. Pringle, a contractor, who lives a few doors from him. Mr. Walsh did not hesitate about accepting the order, but he has since become convinced that it was no good, Pringle claiming that he did not owe Drewitt any money. Yesterday a summons was served on Drewitt, charging him with false pretence in securing the goods, but he did not appear this morning. Mr. Walsh said he had been very patient with the defendant, trying hard to get him to square up without any trouble, but was unable to get a settlement with Drewitt, and that was why he was prosecuting. The case stands for a few days until Drewitt can be served with an invitation to appear.

There was another case in court this morning of an automobile without numbers on the front. John Hewitt was the defendant, and he admitted his guilt, saying he lost his number. He said the number was only tied on the axle in front with a piece of string, and the magistrate said he deserved to lose it, and incidentally a wad of money in fines also. "What is the maximum for this, Chief? One hundred dollars?" queried the magistrate. "I don't know," said the chief, with a grin. "Well, I'll let him down with $10 this time," said the magistrate.

Joseph Scanlon, who was in court a short time ago, accused of obtaining money under false pretences from his request of his wife on a charge of assault and threatening. He pleaded not guilty this morning. Mrs. Scanlon said that her hubby threw her into the street and locked the doors on her, and threatened to do her up if she came in again.

"Look at these marks where she hit me with the curbstone," said Scanlon, "and she swore before her Maker to cut my heart out with the curb," he added. The magistrate advised Scanlon to go away from his wife and family, and keep away, and bound him over in the sum of $50 to keep the peace.

J. Hall and S. H. Jones were both charged with neglecting to send their children to school, but as they said the children were over 14 years they were both allowed to go.

James Fraser, no address, pleaded guilty to trespass on the G. T. R. right of way, but was allowed to go, as he said he was drunk at the time.

George Frume vs. G. H. Hindeland, a suit for $7.50 wages, was settled out of court.

DIED IN BOOTH.

Daniel Lottridge Passed Away While Casting Vote.

Daniel S. Lottridge, one of the oldest and best known residents of Saltfleet, died suddenly yesterday afternoon, while voting. He resided about one mile and one half east of Stoney Creek, and despite his advanced years went to that village to vote. He dropped dead while doing so, and in falling struck his head on a table, which cut it badly around the eye. He was taken to the Acacia House and medical aid was summoned, but proved of no avail, as he was past all earthly help.

The body was later taken to his home. He was 84 years old and had been subject to heart trouble for some time. He had been a fruit grower nearly all his life, and his sudden taking off will be deeply regretted by the whole community. He is survived by one daughter, Mary. The funeral will take place on Wednesday at 2 o'clock, from his late residence, to Fruitland Methodist Church, where service will be held, thence to Fruitland Cemetery for interment.

THE HAMILTON TIMES

TUESDAY, JUNE 9, 1908.

DEFEAT AND VICTORY.

In yesterday's Ontario elections the Liberals met with defeat more complete and disastrous than even their enemies expected. It had been hoped that, notwithstanding the gerrymander, Mr. Whitney's majority of 42 would not be increased to any extent, but the result showed a large increase. This was a surprise to both parties. The Liberals had hoped to keep the Whitney majority within limits, and the most the Tories hoped for was to hold what they had. This is evident from the means Whitney adopted in carrying out his gerrymander, and in "fixing" the Tories so that the representation would be doubled, and in the manner in which he cut up the New Ontario constituencies. In spite of that "last awful week," the three-fifths clause, the surrender to the spoilsmen and the blow struck at private enterprise by the power scheme, the people evidently have not had enough of Whitney and his Government, and if they can stand it for another term, we will try to wrestle along under it the best way we can. That money was in many cases a determining factor in deciding the fate of constituencies is well known, but we can hardly believe that that could account entirely for the crushing defeat. Whitney had the good fortune to reap where the Hon. Mr. Ross had sowed, and the large increase in the receipts of the Province, and its consequent prosperity, no doubt, led many to look upon the Tory Government with favor. In looking around for reasons, if any further were needed, for the result, it may be as well to admit that the Liberal party itself is not blameless. The party did not enter into the fight with that whole heartedness that presages victory. There was an indefinable something in the air that the battle was a losing one—that Whitney would go back anyway—and "what's the use?" was a question that often came up. Hon. A. G. MacKay fought a good fight. It was magnificent, but it was not war. His fight was almost a single-handed one. He took the Province alone. His voice was like one crying in the wilderness. There was no solid phalanx behind him to give him the support that he needed. The wonder is that he did as well as he did. Were one to judge by the election returns alone we would be apt to despair. But behind these we know that there still exists the great Liberal party which, when aroused and enthused, is yet capable of carrying all before it. It will be the duty during the next three years of the leaders of that party to educate it up to its rights and privileges and strength, so that the Province may be again brought under Liberal Government.

fort in observing the wry faces made by the machine bosses as they swallow the bitter dose administered to them in East Hamilton. Not even the great sweep by Whitney throughout the Province can save the souls of the defeated East Hamilton bosses. Mr. Studholme was treated as a mark for the Whitney jesters in the last Legislature, and even the meanness and most contemptible of Whitney's followers was always sure of winning the Premier's favor and the plaudits of his following, when he included in sneers and jibes at the Labor man. That this same Labor man should triumph over the elect of the Tory bosses of the machine-ridden Tory City of Hamilton, is gall and bitterness to the party.

Hamilton Liberals are overwhelmingly defeated, but not cast down. Political machines sometimes effect their purpose, even when the purpose is evil. Combinations of parties and complications of candidates sometimes result disastrously to the cause of the people. But the principles of Liberalism are not of a kind to remain defeated. While Governments exist to serve the masses and do justice, those principles are in no danger of extinction. There will be other elections, and there will be other verdicts. The temporary eclipse of Liberalism in Hamilton and in Ontario will be brief.

IN THE COUNTY.

The defeat of Mr. R. A. Thompson in North Wentworth is one of the losses to the Liberals which will be much regretted. Mr. Thompson was an able and useful member of the Legislature, and in him the people of North Wentworth had a representative always alert to their interests and capable of setting forth the needs of the county with skill and ability. Mr. Thompson's majority has never been a large one, being from 28 to 48. That he should be defeated by a majority of 119 is not hard to account for, when it is considered that all the power of the machine, and all the influence it was capable of bringing, were exerted against him. Liberalism does not suffer alone in losing him. The loss is North Wentworth's also. The electors made a very poor exchange when, in place of Mr. Thompson, they accepted Gordon C. Wilson.

In South Wentworth, a dead set was made on Daniel Reed, but it was without avail. The electors of the constituency were true to the principles of Liberalism, and Mr. Reed received, as the reward of faithful service, a renewal of their confidence. That the result will redound to the advantage of the county, and the cause of good government, there is no reason to doubt. South Wentworth has the proud distinction of being one of the few counties in the district that have not bowed down the knee to the Tory Baal. We are proud of South Wentworth.

TALK BUSINESS, NOT POLITICS

The Provincial elections having been disposed of, and there being now no further excuse for "playing politics" with a purely practical business question, we may now reasonably expect the aldermen to endeavor to approach and deal with the power question in a purely business spirit and without regard to how the Government in general, or Adam Beck in particular, may be affected by their action upon it. The aldermen represent Hamilton, and no matter how prone they may be to permit party politics to bias their judgment, they owe the citizens a duty which is not discharged by any course influenced by other reasons than the city's good.

There is nothing in the question confronting the aldermen that, taken on its merits, should offer to capable and honest business men the slightest difficulty.

Look at the facts. Hamilton is a city specially favored geographically for the supply of electricity. Not only is it situated so that electrical lines from Niagara must pass close to it, but we have a plentiful supply on tap from a nearer and cheaper source, one with which the proposed Hydro-Electric scheme, according to its own engineers' admissions, cannot hope to compete. Whatever the Hydro scheme may have of promise to other and less favored municipalities (suppose we discount the inefficiency of public ownership and operation, which is only too notorious) it can, for Hamilton, have nothing to give it save a share in burden-bearing and risk-carrying.

We have had the spectacle of kaleidoscopic and shifting estimates, by the Hydro people, of the cost of their scheme, and the probable cost of the price of power under it, but we have absolutely no certainty what we shall be asked to pay until we are fast bound down to the terms of a contract for 30 years, during which period we must agree to buy from no other source, no matter how great the advances in electrical science and discovery, or how much the consequent cheapening of current. Only at the end of the first year shall we really know what we have to pay for power, and by that time we shall have been committed to a large debt burden, and an onerous liability on the taxpayers. Nor does the gambling end with the figure of price. The contract binds us to pay for 1,125 h.p., whether we use a single h.p. or not; and if we use 20 minutes the full 1,500 h.p., and do not use 500 h.p. for all the rest of the month, we must still pay for 1,500 h.p. for one month. The measurement system is designed for the electrical company with which the Commission deals, and even if the nominal price should be low, the city is liable to be made to "pay through the nose" in the measurement of the current.

NOT DISCOURAGED.

It is useless to attempt to disguise the fact that yesterday's elections in the city were far from being satisfactory to Liberals in their result. We should have liked to see Hamilton return the two Liberal candidates, Messrs. Wardrop and McClemont, feeling confident that, judged on their merits, or political principles, they stand head and shoulders above the men against whom they were pitted. But the verdict of the ballots was otherwise. Obviously, they fought no easy battle. The prestige of the Government strongly entrenched; a huge election fund; the pull of a candidate who was in the Ministry, the presence of a third candidate in the East, and whom many Liberals felt in a measure bound, and the manipulations of a strong and unscrupulous machine, which did not hesitate to resort to hardly veiled intimidation of the civic servants and others who are at its mercy, proved a great handicap. In the circumstances, the Liberals hardly ventured to hope for success.

But the Liberals find a crumb of com-

the aldermen desire to purchase current, they can obtain a supply at 10 per cent. cheaper than the lowest the Commission has to offer, and if any doubt is harbored, the tender offers to consent to the Commission itself being the arbiter of the price. This offer involves the investment of not a dollar by the city, nor the assumption of any debt or liability by the ratepayers. The power can be furnished to-morrow, and is hedged about with no monopoly restrictions, nor complicated by connection with one or a dozen other municipalities. Utterly at a loss to find excuse for even pausing to consider the remarkable Hydro contract as against such an offer, those who would betray the city's interests attempt the plea that the private consumer should be considered. It has never been made clear that the best estimate of the Commission would help the private consumer. But the private consumer is protected. The Hydro engineers say that the Cataract Company can generate and transmit electricity cheaper than they can hope to do. If, then, the private consumer is not fairly treated, the fault is the Council's. Under the Commee clauses of the Municipal Act, the Council is empowered to compel the company to furnish electric light to private customers at a reasonable arbitrated price; and the source of supply being cheaper than the Hydro, it follows that under such terms, if the Council did its duty, the Hydro scheme could offer no gain.

With no prospect of advantage; with a large debt to shoulder, and a liability of 30 years, under absolute monopoly—a monopoly which even the Herald, which is attempting to betray the city in the matter, declared that it would be "imprudent" to submit to;—and with cheaper power ready for immediate delivery, what reason can there be for any alderman seeking to commit the city to such an imprudent and unbusinesslike arrangement?

BLAMES THE REPORTER.

In Canadian politics the French adage, "Cherchez la femme," might be varied to "Seek the reporter." What a multitude of blunders by cowardly politicians are loaded on to his devoted back. Now, here's this truculent Major Hodgins endeavoring to load the odium of his loudly heralded scandal, now that it has shrunk to microscopic proportions, upon a Victoria Colonist scribe. He says the newspaper man "took down a few items," indicating the length of his fingers, "and then he wrote two columns," says the Major. "His name was Moore," continued the Major. "He misquoted me. He put in his own opinions. He got a lecture on engineering out of me. I didn't say the things he said I did." Alas, what a fizzle of a great "scandal"!

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Great are the possibilities of the split vote.

Hercules to Mrs. Hoodless. She is vindicated.

Pretty decent lot of folks down in Quebec.

The machine is known by some of the men it appoints to office.

Now, will Whitney honor Gurney and encourage him to snub Studholme?

What went agape in East Hamilton, John Milne? And after your epistolary efforts too!

The best men do not always win in an election. We share that sentiment with you, Mr. Scott.

Oh, yes! We have now a hint of the kind of election purity the Whitney machine provides for.

But intimidators of civic employees should be jailed. Make some example of that kind of politician.

But we shall probably know all about the why of things when Mr. L. Tolda So has time to frame up his theories.

Now, what if the machine should decide we cannot have that Provincial Technical College, without the Scott embracement?

That crafty Tory, Donald Sutherland, got beaten out of his boots in South Oxford. It was a case of too-long-deferred justice.

Wardrop and McClemont fought a good clean fight on political issues, and they have no reason to be ashamed of their effort.

Nelson Monteith, Whitney's Minister of Agriculture, lost his seat in South Perth. The Premier will have to organize another gerrymander.

We Grits are still citizens, and the mischief is that we have to suffer for the bad judgment of others when we're beaten, just as if we had been assenting parties to it.

Well, if those who were "out for the stuff" were misled by the Tory machine, it was not because such surface indications as ballot crookedness offers were lacking.

They say that to see Allan Studholme displaying Scott's scalp at his belt last night, you would never take him to be the mild-mannered, loquacious little chap who so patiently endured Whitney's insults last session.

When a ward boss goes round to city employees and gives them the option to vote for the machine candidate or lose their jobs it is time there was one more prison cell occupied, and one fewer ward boss at large.

The gerrymander did the work for which it was planned. It would have been easier and no less scandalous to have simply passed an Act declaring for the exclusion of so many Liberals from the House.

But there's nothing to hinder Whitney from building and maintaining a $500,000 Provincial Technical College here. This city is as good a place for it as ever, and, of course, he is not to be influenced by the result of the local contest!

The Montreal Tories, led by the Star, are insisting that Mr. Foster's exit from the party be expedited. They insist that Borden shall assert himself, and they contend that Foster is bringing discredit upon the party. But Foster sneers at Borden, and hints that he can tag along after.

In St. John, N. B., the debtors' cells of the city prison are being filled with tax defaulters. The city marshals are active in pressing for collections, and six arrests for default in paying taxes have been made within a few days. Once jailed, defaulters must produce the money, or serve out the amount at 40c a day.

Readers of Tory organs that are given to manufacturing scandals may be excused if they fail to notice that sworn statements and documents were furnished to prove that there was no purchase of scales for the Government Departments from Mr. Macoun, son-in-law of Sir Frederick Borden, as the organs recently asserted there had been. The scandal-hunting members of the Public Accounts Committee have admitted that there is nothing against Mr. Macoun; but the Tory organs waste no space in letting their readers know that Mr. Macoun was falsely attacked.

Rev. Father Vaughan has been preaching on marriage, and his talk to husbands will make him immensely popular with the ladies. He tells the husbands they must never attempt to check the flowing tide of wifely talk. They must possess their souls in peace; bear with her, and be dear, sweet and thoughtful to her. He has discovered that most women have a passion for jewelry and finery, and he advises the husbands to gratify it even at the cost of some sacrifice. Very fine man, this Father Vaughan; excellent judgment. If you doubt it, just ask the female partner of the firm to which you belong.

OUR EXCHANGES

Didn't Like Them.

(Toronto News.) There is one cause for thankfulness, with satisfaction blended, Arise, and sing a joyous lay. The Sermonettes are ended.

Election Crooks.

(London Free Press.) The Attorney-General may be depended upon to bring any guilty parties in the alleged Hamilton ballot-selling incident to speedy justice. There must, and we believe there will, be no favoritism. This country is determined to rid herself of that pestilence of American politics, the election crook.

Peddling Ballots.

(Toronto Globe.) There is a good deal to be explained about the Hamilton ballot case. Information is given to the police that a peddler has offered to sell fifty stamped ballots and that he will deliver them at a certain time and place. Instead of being on hand to take him with the goods on him, they give information to a third party and the case ends in a fiasco. The ballot-seller does not appear, but the Chief of Police is asked why he has not effected an arrest he answers that he has not had a proper information laid before him. One would have thought that the very best information would be an intimation of the place and hour at which a crime was to be consummated.

With the information to hand it is too early to express a decided opinion, but on the face of it the action of the police calls for an immediate and satisfactory explanation. An explanation from Colonel Moore as to his part in the affair would also be in order. The theory that it is a Grit plot is so clumsy that it will merely cause amusement. It is said that the accused account for their conduct as an attempt to trap a Liberal worker. They will have to be taught that peddling around ballots is a form of trap that cannot be allowed.

The Piece That Robert Spoke.

Once there was a little boy, whose name was Robert Spoke. And every Friday afternoon he had to speak a piece. So many poems thus he learned that soon he could recite a store. Of recitations in his head, and still kept learning more. And now this is what happened: He was called upon one week. And he forgot the piece he was about to speak! His brain he cudgelled. Not a word remained within his head! And so he spoke at random, and this is what he said:

"My Beautiful, my Beautiful, who staidest proudly by. It was the schooner Heeperus—the breaking waves dashed high! Why this Freedom crowded? What means this air in Rome? Under a spreading chestnut tree there is no place like home."

"When Freedom, from her mountain height, cried, 'Twinkle, little star, Shoo! if you must this old gray head, King Henry of Navarre! Roll on, then deep and dark blue castled crag of Duchenels, My eyes in Norway on the Grampian Hills, ring out wild bells!'"

They say that to see Allan Studholme displaying Scott's scalp at his belt last night, you would never take him to be the mild-mannered, loquacious little chap who so patiently endured Whitney's insults last session.

AMUSEMENTS One of New York's favorite stars, Mrs. Leslie-Carter, appeared at the Grand Opera Hall last evening in her latest success, David Belasco's "Du Barry." A flag end of the season production, with the non-assimilating concomitants of an election contest and oppressive atmosphere, did not help one to properly appreciate it. The audience, also, for obvious reasons, was rather small; and these drawbacks, further abetted by a late start and long waits between the acts, made the drawn-out performance drag terribly. The play would be nothing without spectacular display, for the theme is not an elevating one, being the adventures of France's notorious courtesan of Louis XV's time, with a sort of true-love interest and political trimmings thrown in. Mrs. Leslie-Carter has a very strong part as the milliner who swayed a king, but her performance last evening, clever as she undoubtedly is, appeared rather perfunctory. Madam's tones were for the most part low pitched, while the principal male players a good deal of the time shouted their lines, with a rather mystifying result, as to the plot. The characters are quite numerous, according to the bill, and the parts were more or less well taken. The costumes and appointments were fine, but the scenery showed a long season's usage. Mrs. Leslie-Carter and her chief support were given certain calls and liberally applauded. The Gambler's Wife. The Western comedy drama, "The Gambler's Wife," was presented for the first time at the Savoy last night by the Summers Stock Company. The cast was as follows: Jack Mason, a gambler, Louis Appell; Alex. Fairfax, a miner, Victor Travers; Duncan Le Moyné, Bert Deeks; Jim Bixby, Fred J. Dority; Max Wayne, Harry Wayne Lindsay; Tom Flynn, Harry Richardson; Bessie Fairfax, Josephine Worth; Ethel Wayne, May Boyce; Mrs. Boggs, Ethel Kimberley. Between the acts some very good moving pictures were shown, and illustrated songs were given by Louis Atwell. The performance was enjoyed by a fair-sized audience. The same bill will be presented all week. SIMPLIFIED MEN'S COSTUMES. When Use of Powder and of Snuff Boxes Died Out. The French revolution had its effects upon the fashions of 1800, as well as upon matters of more weighty import, the money being greatly to simplify costume. Young men in England adopted the short coat, light waistcoat and pantaloons inaugurated in Paris by a certain set, who affected to despise the old court fashions. The use of powder, made more expensive by taxation, quite died out and short hair became universal. Trousers and Wellington boots, at first worn only by the military, were adopted by civilians about 1814, and the dandy of the early Victorian era wore his tightly strapped down. He also prided himself on his starched collar, which had gone out of favor under Queen Victoria, who preferred a black silk kerchief or stock. The snuff box vanished and the characteristic ornament of the age was the bunch of seals hanging from the watch chain. Various modifications took place from time to time during Queen Victoria's long reign, but the form of men's dress practically remained unaltered. The knickerbockers and tweed suit of the country gentleman are of comparatively modern date, as well as the wide-awake and cloth cap.—English Illustrated Magazine. The Making of Mud Pies. (By Helen Marcell.) Did you ever know a youngster to be happier, or sweeter tempered, than when he is making mud pies? To see the tots absorbed in their task, besmeared from foot to foot with wet and dry sand so thick it can be peeled off with the fingers, laboriously digging for brown dirt, or blue dirt, or red dirt, or black dirt, the look of joy that comes over his face at some new discovery, and the pride with which he shows forth his creations, one involuntarily thinks with pitying tenderness of the embryo kings and queens, the baby princes and princesses, grand dukes and grand duchesses, who can never be allowed to indulge in such plebeian pleasures, and wonders how they can ever be expected to rule with wisdom over great masses of people when Tommy's Advice. Oh, won't you tell me, Mooly Cow, Why you envious look so sad? Your eyes seem always full of tears, And make me feel so bad. I've thought about it lots of times, And really I can't see Why you stand here and chewin' grass Is easy as can be. Now, a-pose you were a little boy, And had to go to school, And read and write and study hard A lot of things by rule. And a-pose your sister hit you hard, And out on your sock, Instead of scolding here all day, An' scold all you choose. And a-pose your sister hit you hard, And took away your gun, And cried until she got you whipped— Would you think that was fun? Why, I believe I'd jump right up As high as that blue sky, If I could just eat all day long, Or only 'course I'd eat mince pie. You know, it really isn't right For you to be so sad. So please, for my sake, do cheer up, And try to feel more glad. For, after all, you do some good— You give the babies milk, And though it doesn't cost you a cent, It makes their skin like silk. So now I'll give you some advice, And then I'll let you be: When you feel blue and out of sorts, Just try and think of me! Politeness. A woman gives an account of a picnic under the olives on a carpet of narcissus or crocuses, which must be a bit sticky to sit on, and home-made wine given them by a polite peasant, which they had to drink such a lot of, and they insisted on giving him a caviare sandwich in return, which he simply loathed, but was not rude enough to throw away. I can only hope, for his sake, that it was a small sandwich. Poor, little peasant!

SHOT DOCTOR.

"GOD TOLD ME TO KILL MAN WHO RUINED ME."

Sarah Koten Says Prayer Was Answered by Command to Destroy the Man Who Had Betrayed Her—Remanded to Jail Without Bail.

New York, June 8.—Sarah Koten, the Russian girl who shot Dr. Martin W. Auspitz to death and then sat down quietly at the feet of the body to wait for a policeman, told Coroner Tarburger to-day that God told her to kill the doctor...

"Nobody would help me to get my honor back," she said in German. "He lied away my character in court and people laughed at me for a fool. So I asked God what to do and God told me therefore I shot him. That is all."

There is nothing attractive about Sarah Koten. She is short and squatly formed, square shouldered, thick waisted and dumpty. The only time she showed any emotion was when she told about the alleged assault upon her by the physician...

Miss Koten wept as she told her story in coroner's court. She said that she came to America from Russia six months ago and secured a position as nurse in Dr. Auspitz's private sanitarium last November...

Here the young woman broke down and wept, pulled her hair and struck her breast with her hands. "I'm a poor girl," she continued. "I decided that if I could not get justice in the courts I would be my own avenger."

A legal representative of a Hebrew organization was in the coroner's court to look after the woman's interests. Coroner Harburger held Miss Koten with out bail to await the inquest on June 16th.

Hannah Jensen, who said she attempted to shoot Dr. Auspitz about a year ago, alleging that he had taken advantage of her while she was an inmate of his hospital, declared to-day that she intends to interest the trained nurses of this city in Miss Koten's case...

Rev. Dr. Lyle of Central Presbyterian Church Spoke on Union--Committees Appointed.

The Methodist Conference was continued yesterday afternoon, with a considerably reduced attendance in Centenary Church.

Rev. Dr. A. L. Gee, Brantford, stated that he had been in receipt of a protest from the Six Nations Indians against a request made by the Warriors' Association.

The election of the Board of Examiners resulted in the following being chosen: Rev. H. W. Lewis, G. O. Cobbleck, R. J. Elliott, A. L. Gee, W. H. Harvey, A. J. Irwin, S. E. Marshall, D. A. Morr, J. S. Ross, W. J. Smith.

This was followed by a short address by Rev. Dr. Lyle. He spoke of church union, and thought it was desirable.

He considered it would be the brightest day in the history of Canada when the door separating the Presbyterians and Methodists is opened, and he thought the time was almost at hand.

Rev. Richard Whiting moved, seconded by Rev. Dr. Williamson, that a vote of thanks be tendered to Dr. Lyle, and Rev. J. K. Unsworth for their inspiring addresses to the conference. This carried.

Rev. Dr. Ross referred to the attempts that are being made to have Thanksgiving Day changed from Thursday to Monday. He was of the opinion that if the change was made, the whole value of the day would be lost.

He then introduced a resolution, which he asked be sent on to the Government, suggesting that

The decrease is in line with the policy of the department in limiting this year the arrivals from Europe of immigrants who would be likely to cause any congestion in the Canadian labor market.

DO YOU HAVE RHEUMATISM?

If so, try the following prescription, from a prominent physician: Fluid Extract Dandelion, one ounce. Compound Santonin, one ounce. Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, four ounces.

Mix, shake well, and take teaspoonful doses after meals and at bedtime.

This mixture, the doctor says, assists the kidneys to filter from the blood all acid and poisonous waste matter, which is not eliminated, settles in and around the joints and muscles, causing great agony.

Your druggist can supply you with the ingredients at very little cost, and it can be mixed at home, being composed of purely vegetable and harmless extracts.

We feel that a great many readers will be interested in this simple formula.

GENERAL ASSEMBLY

Meets in Hamilton in June Next Year.

(Special despatch to the Times.) Winnipeg, Man., June 8.--Next year's General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church meets in Hamilton, the first Wednesday in June.

C. P. R.'S. NEW WINNIPEG FLYER.

Toronto to Winnipeg in 36 Hours via Muskoka Route.

Commencing next Sunday, June 14, the new train for the West will leave Toronto at 9.30 a. m., and daily thereafter will make the run to Winnipeg in thirty-six hours, saving nearly eight hours on the present time between Toronto and the West.

It will be the first train over the Canadian Pacific's new line to Sudbury, through the heart of Muskoka and Georgian Bay, which is appropriately named "The Muskoka Route."

Palace and tourist sleeping cars will be carried, in addition to handsome diner and first and second class coaches, everything of usual high C. P. R. standard.

New Publications. A novel with a delightfully "horsey" flavor, entitled "The Mistress of Roundels," by Jay Hardy, is the feature of the July Smart Set, and no better story can be found for summer reading.

Beatrice Demarest Lloyd contributes a short story, "Madame D'Arbel," so cameo-like that it might almost be considered a bit from the French; Ella P. Midgley has a very engaging tale entitled, "Three Fools and a Wise One"; Eleanor M. Ingram writes "A Galvez With the Grey Eyes"--a story with a French creole setting; George Sylvester Viereck, in the form of letters, tells a very modern love story entitled, "Claudis"; Austin Adams writes a most original tale, "The Room at the Top"; and John J. Beckel writes a story as gruesome and strange as anything of Poe's, called "Lullaby: a Doubt."

These and numerous other instances lead Professor Dean to warn us against too readily accepting every apparent instance of the protective doctrine.

Happy is the man who is pleased with everything, including himself.

Steps are being taken to have the conviction of Mary Barch, a young French girl from McDougall's Chutes, quashed.

The Toronto Socialists have condemned the police in a resolution because of interference with their rights of free speech in the streets.

MIMICRY IN NATURE.

Curious Likeness Between Animal and Vegetable Forms.

The Natural History Museum has familiarized most people with the idea of mimicry and adaptive phenomena of many kinds, says the Westminster Gazette.

As Professor Dean, of Columbia University, has recently remarked, "We have reached the stage at which the public is shown a butterfly mounted on a twig so as to show the protective resemblance between the insect and the leaves. But the leaves may be those of a beech-tree from the Fatherland, and the butterfly may have been born and bred in far Cathay."

There are many cases of plan of coloration which seem to be of no use, and even may appear to be dangerous to the animal. And there are resemblances which seem to have no meaning whatever, and of these Professor Dean gives many instances.

Japanese tradition relates that after a naval battle it was noticed that the carapace of a certain crab bore the impress of a human face, the face of a Taira warrior, to which "fact" the crustacean now owes its name. Squash seeds, when drying, acquire during the process of unequal contraction certain irregular depressions on their surface. These often take the form of Japanese characters. Professor Dean has known a Japanese scholar puzzle over them for several minutes in the endeavor to read them.

The Chrysalis of the butterfly Fenicia tarquinus is a remarkable resemblance to a human face, Caucasian in type, almost "a larial mask of Tarquin himself."

The pupa of Spalgis, which hails from West Africa, mimics the face of a chimpanzee. Why should the larva of the crane-fly, which lives in wet, rotten wood or underground, benefit by looking exactly like an octopus?

The pupae of bombycids are like mummy cases. Faces of French poodles are on the wings of the orange-ringed Colias, and most boys have been commas and the like on moths' wings. A tree-hopper and its young are exactly like a group of tiny birds, with long necks, swelling breasts and drooping tails. The neck of the cobra is adorned with spectacles. That the sphenoid bone of a rabbit is like a fox's head has long been known, but many may not have recognized in the seed-pods of the snapdragon the skulls on poles, the "medicine" ornaments of savage tribes.

These and numerous other instances lead Professor Dean to warn us against too readily accepting every apparent instance of the protective doctrine.

Happy is the man who is pleased with everything, including himself.

NEXT MEETING AT HAMILTON.

General Assembly Decides in Favor of This City.

Position of the Aged and Infirm Ministers' Fund.

Church Life and Work and French Evangelization.

Winnipeg, June 8.—Hamilton won easily in the contest for the place of holding next year's Presbyterian General Assembly. The invitation was conveyed by Dr. Fletcher to meet in the new Central Church there. Principal MacLaren invited the Assembly to meet in Knox Church, Toronto. The vote resulted in favor of Hamilton by an overwhelming majority. The report on the aged and infirm ministers' fund took up practically the whole morning. The address of Principal Gordon on the memorial from the Senate of Queen's University occupied most of the afternoon. A reception and garden party at Manitoba College occupied the time of the commissioners until the evening session.

The report of the aged and infirm ministers' fund was presented by Mr. J. K. Macdonald, who for a score of years has been convener of the committee.

Givings to the aged and infirm ministers' fund during the past year fell far short of what was required. The committee expressed the fear that there was less interest in this fund than its place in the Church's work merits at the hands of her people, and appealed earnestly to congregations for contributions for increased liberality. The report, presented by the convener, Mr. J. K. Macdonald, of Toronto, states: "The committee has paid to the annuitants in both sections the full amount permitted by the rules, which has resulted in increasing the debit balance carried forward from the previous year. This is unfortunate, but it was felt that it should be done rather than reduce the amount of the annuities—none too large now—and that the responsibility should be laid upon the Church. The debit balance brought from the previous year was $4,975.96. It is now $5,705.54.

One hundred and twenty-four annuitants have received benefit from the fund, 101 in the former western section and 24 in the eastern. The highest amount paid to any one was $400; the total paid was $29,322.56 west and $6,414.13 east.

There is an unusual number of ministers seeking retirement, and desiring to be placed on the fund for benefit—in all twenty-one. The number of deaths, especially in the western section, has been large.

Rev. S. Childerose, Parry Sound, wired his acceptance of the appointment of Superintendent of Missions in New Ontario.

One of the most important features of the report of Queen's College and University Board of Trustees, presented by Chairman James MacLennan, was the memorial transmitted from the Senate of the University with respect to the University participating in the benefits of the Carnegie foundation.

"Your memorialists beg respectfully to state that in their opinion it is quite practicable to make such alteration in Queen's constitution as will bring the University under the benefits of the Carnegie foundation, and that this may be done without essential disturbance of either the relation which the Theological Hall has to the University or anything that is natural and vital in the relation which now exists between the University and the Presbyterian Church."

In his address the Principal reviewed the situation at length, pointing out how the conditions had changed in the past five years. He closed by moving that the Moderator name a committee to suggest to the Assembly the course that should be taken in dealing with the memorial of the Senate; that the committee have leave to sit during the Assembly sessions, and that it report to the Assembly. The motion was seconded by Mr. G. M. Macdonell, Kingston, who complimented Principal Gordon on the impartial presentation of both sides of the important question, and it was carried.

Other business included the adoption of a report of the committee on ministers evangelists, and the nomination of delegates to attend the meeting of the Presbyterian Alliance in New York next year.

An overflow introduced by Rev. Dr. C. W. Gordon was passed and ordered to be sent to the Presbyteries. It imposes an obligation on ministers to contribute to the aged and infirm ministers' fund, and a moral obligation to do so.

The evening sederunt was devoted to church life and work and French evangelization.

The Committee on Church Life and Work, reporting through Rev. S. H. Eastman, of Meaford, convener, after summarizing the replies received from Presbyteries and sessions to questions relative to the subject of "The Church in Her Relation to the Community," under the heads of church extension, beneficence, business, citizenship, education, leisure life, and various suggestions offered, made a number of recommendations. They recommend ministers and people to do all in their power by teaching, example and influence to discountenance betting, gambling, graft, reckless speculation and all forms of dishonesty. The laymen's missionary movement is commended as furnishing an antidote for abuse of money and greed of gain, giving a higher conception of the stewardship of wealth and suggesting a most desirable and remunerative investment. The people are urged to discharge their duties as citizens honorably, independently and conscientiously as patriots rather than as partisans, and the ministers to inculcate the principles of good citizenship. Congregations are advised to take an active and sympathetic interest in the recreative life of the community, safeguarding it from excess and abuse and furnishing a counteractive to amusements that are not truly recreative, but detrimental. And the church is urged to keep her own life pure and strong.

In the replies from sessions as to the church's attitude towards the theatre, the ball room, cards, athletics and the race course, the report says: "Some suggest that the granting of seats to ladies in ball company" There is universal approval of clean athletics, though disapproval of excess and betting, some times associated with athletic contests. In regard to the others, there is a thing but unanimity of opinion. The attitude, as indicated in the reports, may be summed up as follows: All distinctly condemn gambling or stakes in connection with cards and the race course, and the race course and gambling go together. Nor have any a good word for the public ball room, where, as one says, "all classes and kinds herd together on payment of a fee." It is universally condemned. But in regard to dashing in the home circle, and cards without prizes or stakes, many sessions, and a larger percentage of the members, hold that the church cannot dictate, and that liberty of conscience must be allowed.

As great opposition as ever, perhaps greater, to the work of French evangelization was reported by the board through Rev. A. J. Mowatt, D. D., of Montreal, its convener. That has taken other forms, however. Two new preaching stations were opened during the year, but shortage of men enforced neglect of some fields. The circulation of scriptures by colporteurs has exceeded considerably that of the preceding year. The schools at Pointe aux Trembles have had the best year in their history. Sixteen schools report a total average attendance of 420, including Pointe aux Trembles, with 208, having 120 Protestants on the roll and 100 Roman Catholics.

The summary of the report shows that 42 mission fields and colportage districts were worked during the whole or part of the year; 30 pastors and ordained missionaries, seven colporteurs, seven students and eighteen teachers were employed.

The average attendance of persons over ten years was about 1,000, representing 950 Protestant families. There are 1,230 communicants, of whom 141 were added during the year; 1,065 scholars are enrolled in the Sunday school and 724 in the mission schools, of whom 79 came from Roman Catholic homes; 138 Protestants were lost by removals and 151 Roman Catholics became Protestants. There were distributed 2,480 copies of the scriptures in whole or part, and 20,408 religious tracts and pamphlets. The gospel was offered in 11,642 Roman Catholic families.

The fields contributed $5,829, of which $3,178 were for salaries and $1,066 for missionary and benevolent purposes. The seventeen mission schools contributed $3,738, making a total for fields and schools of $9,567.

Church union did not figure to-day, and social and moral reform is on the docket for to-morrow.

LIVE WIRE KILLED THEM.

Two Men Electrocuted at Montmorency Falls.

Quebec, June 8.—The vicinity of Montmorency Falls was the scene of a frightful accident at 11 o'clock this morning. As a result of which Paul Rogers and a man named Langlois are now lying in the morgue awaiting the coroner's inquest.

Both victims were employees of the Quebec Railway, Light & Power Company, and were engaged in electric work when the accident happened.

Rogers was at work at the top of a pole on the side of the hill when in some manner he fell across a live wire, which instantly transmitted its deadly current through his body. In his agony he managed to shout for assistance to his companion, who was on the ground below. Langlois, thoughtless of everything but the chance of saving his companion, immediately hurried to his assistance, but in his haste to save a human life he forgot to put on the rubber gauntlets, which are electrically proof, and, climbing the pole, he endeavored to cut the live wire with his pinchers, when, like his friend, he, too, was struck with the deadly current and in a few moments expired.

I have been troubled with Bronchitic Asthma, but by using Catarrhozone I have been entirely cured. Do you wonder that I am the enthusiastic friend of Catarrhozone?"

DEVICE TO DISPEL FOG.

An Important Invention by a Californian Inventor.

New York, June 8.—A despatch to The Herald from Washington says: Senator George C. Perkins, of California has brought to the attention of the Navy Department a new fog-dispelling device invented by one of his constituents. He requests that the department arrange to give the device a thorough test on Goat Island, San Francisco Bay.

If the hopes of the inventor are realized the device will dispel fog at a radius of three miles in all directions by a means of a camp fire generator. The details of the invention are kept secret, but it is divulged that the only noise connected with the device is a muffled blast at intervals.

The device, with some modification, may also prove adaptable aboard ship, as the explosions are so muffled as to be scarcely perceptible.

The carbide generator, by means of a chemical process, forms gases which explode upon coming in contact with the air. These explosions, it is said, continue with decreasing force for a considerable distance from the apparatus.

Fun for Times Readers

"Make Good."

Make good. Cut out "if," "could" and "should," and start in to saw wood. You can still have the best things in life, like the rest of the men who've achieved. Just because they've believed in themselves. You're deprived if you think fortune comes with a rattle of drums. And a fanfare of state. To hand yours on the plate. That isn't the way. That she visits today. You must get out and rustle and bustle and hustle; You need all your muscle, for you've got to tussle.

Plunge into the fight, Hit to left and to right, And keep crashing and smashing. Don't let up your striking. Till things meet your liking. For God's sake stop bawling— Instead, do some mauling.

Why, the freckled back toads Have the sense to keep jumping— And here you are frumping! Come, now, strike your gait— It isn't too late.

There's no such thing as fate! Drop that fool talk of "luck," Get a grip on your pluck, And buck. Begin To grin And win.

—Herbert Kaufman in June Every-body's.

"Twas Ever Thus.

Mother liked best Theodora; Father swore by Caribell; Grandma wanted Leonora, Or Jeanette or else Estelle; Grandpa fancied Arabella; Auntie talked most of Patrice; Sister favored Isabella; Brother's choice lay in Clarice.

They considered Viciana, Geraldina and Marcelle, Amata, Mariana, Hortense, Eunice, Mirabel; Fought o'er Constance and Elaine— But, alack! the precious darling! It was christened Mary Jane!

—June Bohemian.

Neglect.

"Have you answered your bro-he's last letter, yet?" "No." "And he wrote you from the farm in February. You ought to be ashamed of yourself. Besides if you don't write to him pretty soon, we'll have to bring the children in the city all summer."

IN A RESTAURANT.

Hungry Customer—And waiter, let me have some of my tea, please. Boil them four minutes! Waiter—Yes, sir; be ready in half a second, sir!

Reassuring.

"Do tell me, is young Mr. Daft such a fool as he looks?" "Oh, no, indeed! More so."—Baltimore American.

High Art in Billville.

"An' you say it took that artist two months to paint this little picture?" "Shore did!" "Well, all I've got to say is, he's too slow for this settlement. I could 'a' painted two houses an' four barns in that time, an' not half tired!"—Atlanta Constitution.

It's a Resort.

"You call this a summer resort, I believe," said the arcaistic visitor. "I am unaware of any place to which summer resorts more regularly" returned the Philadelphian stiffly.—Philadelphia Ledger.

The Bitter Truth.

Diogenes slowly entered the pawnshop and placed his lantern on the counter. "What can I get for this?" he asked. The pawnbroker picked up the lantern and examined it curiously. "Rather antique pattern," he commented. "What do you consider it worth?" Diogenes bowed his head, the humiliation of centuries upon him. "Nothing," he bitterly admitted. "Nothing at all."—Bohemian.

Come, June, it's up to you to play The rare one, soft and breezy; You only have to beat out May, And that should be dead easy.

How to be Beautiful.

To have a soft, smooth skin, free from eruptions and pimples, the blood must be healthy and pure. Ferreroze invigorates enfeebled blood and cleanses it of all impurities and poisons; it brings color to the lips and cheeks, brilliancy to the eyes, whitens the teeth and sweetens the breath. No tonic compares with Ferreroze in rapid action and permanent results. Try it. Price 50c at druggists, or N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

Man Killed and One Injured at Hamiota, Man.

Hamiota, Man., June 8.—One of the worst accidents in the history of the town occurred here at an early hour this morning, when Lorne Baker lost his life, and Arthur Heisterman, with several others, narrowly escaped serious injury. An old building which had been placed on the commons at the west of the town for the purpose of testing a new chemical engine was set on fire in some unknown way.

The fire alarm was given, and the fire brigade was soon on the way.

The team drawing the engine and firemen were coming up Main street at top speed when one of the gas cylinders exploded. Baker, the engineer, was standing on the rear step-board operating the cylinder, and was blown many yards away, being killed instantly. Heisterman, who was also assisting upon the rear platform, had two fingers blown off, his arm broken, and hands badly cut. The others were uninjured.

Seoul, June 9.—The Japanese army headquarters here report that from June 3 to 7, the Government troops had 26 engagements with the insurgents.

In these engagements 113 insurgents were killed and 26 taken prisoners. The recent transfer of Korean Ministers was due to the fact that during a conference of Provincial governors a number of cases of negligence of the government to report the actual facts concerning the attitude of the Korean Government towards the insurgents were overlooked, also neglect in failure to correct false and malicious reports concerning Japanese policy, thus tacitly encouraging the insurgents.
