Which Was The Heir? ETH MINT

CHAPTER XLIII. COTTIE met the doctor driving on the Starborough road and painted out her request that he would go to Mrs. Farren's cottage at once; and when he had gone, she sank on the bank by the roadside, gasping for breath and covering her face with her hands. She was almost too confused to think; but presently she realized what had happened. Her impersonation of her dead brother, Ronnie, had borne strange fruits. The earl—all the world presently—would proclaim her heir to Starborough. The tears sprang to her eyes as she thought of all poor Ronnie had lost—did not know that Geoffrey had been recognised and that his legitimacy had been proved. Ronnie lay there under the Australian pines, and she was in his place. The thought almost drove her mad. She had only one desire—to cast aside her boy's clothes forever, to get back into woman's attire, to be a woman. With a hot flush of shame, she sprang to her feet and hurried down the road, casting fearful glances round her, lest Geoffrey should have come after her. What she should do she did not know. She was alone in her plight. If only Mrs. Sefton were here—at any rate she could wire for her. She turned aside to the village post-office and sent the telegram: 'Please come at once. C.'

Then she hurried on. She was turning into the lane which led past the Hall gates to Betty's, when she saw Eva coming out from the drive, and at the sight of her she stopped dead short, with her hand to her heart, breathing painfully. 'Eva saw her, and stopped short too, then she hurried towards Cottie. 'Ronnie!' she exclaimed. 'Where did you come back? Have you seen him—Mr. Bell?' 'Ronnie is dead,' repeated Eva in a puzzled tone. 'How can he be dead? Are you not Ronnie?' 'No; it was Ronnie who died that night we got to Geoffrey's hut; and I took his place and deceived Geoffrey—have deceived everybody all along. Eva sank into a chair and tried to grasp the fact. 'Then who are you?' she asked. Cottie covered her face with her hands. 'I am his sister—Constance,' she said, almost inaudibly. 'I am Cottie—I am a—woman. Oh, why have you never guessed it?' White and red by turns, Eva sprang to her feet and stared at the boyish figure, with its head bent with shame. 'A woman—a girl!' she breathed. 'Yes,' said Cottie, making a clean breast of it. 'I know what you think—that I was alone with him all that time—that I have been going about as a boy; that I am not fit to be in the same room with you, to breathe the same air. But I meant no harm. I was alone in the world and helpless and friendless, and just a girl alone in that wild place, and I was afraid. I meant no harm; and after it was done—I told him the lie and said I was Ronnie. It was too late to go back. I could not—you'll see that, understand why. But have I been so very wicked? No one but you and Mrs. Sefton knows the truth—not Geoffrey, not anyone.' 'Mrs. Sefton!' Eva started. 'Then you are—you are the Constance Sefton—the young lady—Mr. Bell is in love with?' Cottie made a gesture of assent, her eyes full of tears. 'Yes,' she said. 'I meant to tell him—I don't know how—but I meant to tell him. Oh, I think I better go away and never see him again! Yes that is what I'd better do! And I—oh, I love him so!' A sob broke her voice, and the sob more than anything else, won Eva's heart. She caught the trembling form to her and soothed the weeping girl. 'Hush, hush!' she said. 'You must not think of going away, of leaving him. He loves you very dearly—has, I fully believe, loved you all the time without knowing it—yes, when you were out with him alone there in Australia.' Cottie quivered with a delicious thrill. 'Oh, do not think so!' she murmured.

'Yes! I am sure of it,' replied Eva. 'Now, stop crying, and let us—we two women—put our heads together and think what we had better do. First of all—' Cottie broke in before she could finish. 'Yes!' she whispered. 'These clothes. Oh, I have still more to tell you; I stole some of your clothes from that basket at Betty's.' A light broke in upon Eva. 'Oh, now I understand how you got away! It was very clever. But they were old clothes, and you shall have better than those. They must have fitted you very well. Yes, we are nearly of the same height; and yet you always seem much shorter. Oh, how wonderful, how incredible it all seems! But come with me—come with me!' She took her hand and drew her into the adjoining dressing-room and hurriedly looked up some clothes. 'Oh, how pretty you are!' she exclaimed, when Cottie hastily made the exchange. 'I don't wonder at his being in love with you. Why, I was almost in love with you myself—when you were a boy. But we won't speak of that; we will forget it. Now, what shall we do?' 'They said me to go straight back to the castle,' said Cottie, helplessly. 'They will be waiting for me there.' Eva thought for a moment, then she said: 'And you shall go. We will both go. Don't be afraid,' for Cottie had shrunk back, and the colour which excitement had brought to her face began to fade. 'No one shall harm you; and no one shall say a word which shall make you ashamed. See, dear, I was going to say 'Ronnie' again—I shall be with you. You shall stay with me, and I shall stand by you like a sister—if you will have me for one, she added, in her sweet and gentle voice. The two girls embraced, and while the carriage was being ordered, Cottie told her strange story fully to Eva; so strange, indeed, that Eva felt as if she were listening to a romance woven by the most famous novelists; so true is it that truth is always more wonderful than fiction. She held Cottie's hand as they drove towards the castle, and both the girls were silent, or nearly so; but one remark broke unwittingly upon Eva. 'If you are not the heir—and you are not—then Mr. Sidney Bassington is still the next heir to Starborough.' Cottie shook her head dolefully. 'I don't know, I suppose so. I'm so ignorant of all such things. But I wish he weren't, for I dislike and distrust him. I wish that poor Ronnie were alive, and that it was I who had died. Oh, no, no, I don't! I can't wish that—for there is Geoffrey. But perhaps he will not love me any longer—'

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

"Only to be admonished not to friendship with strike leagues of cheap persons where no friendships can be. Our impatience betrays us into rash and foolish alliances where no God attends." —Emerson.

How long does it take you to make a friend?

Are you one of those people who grasp at each new propinquity—the little girl beside you at school, the girl who rooms next you at college, the woman at the next desk in the office, the woman who goes to the same church you do and lives at your end of the town, the teacher in the next room—and who tries to make a friendship of it?

If you are, don't. It doesn't pay. Leave propinquity friendships for children.

The next time you find yourself glowing with enthusiasm over some new acquaintance that you feel sure is going to ripen into friendship, pause a moment and consider this little warning that I ran across in the "Reflections and Maxims of William Penn."

"Be not easily acquainted, lest finding reason to cool, thou makest an enemy instead of a good neighbor."

Who of us has not at some time experienced at least one of these unwisely hasty friendships that cool into a distinctly uncomfortable status, neither friendship nor acquaintance? I remember a case of a girl who worked in the same office that I did. We had two or three pieces of work to do together, discovered a surface congeniality—founded I believe in a mutual dislike of one of our employers—and straightway decided that we were to be bosom friends.

She was boarding on the other side of the town. I persuaded her to find a place nearer my home. And then,

"PILLS LIKE A FYLE."

So Harsh and Drastic Are Many Pills as to Seriously Injure Health.

In a letter written from his home in Valencia, Mr. Marsh Selwyn does service to thousands by drawing attention to the injuries inflicted upon delicate people by drastic purgative pills.

"For a long time I suffered from constipation. This condition compelled the use of pills. Like many another, I made the unwise choice of using pills that were like lightning in their activity. I began to be filled with intestinal disturbances, constant rumblings, gas in the bowels and diarrhoea. I grew pale and emaciated. Then the doctor told me drastic irritating pills had caused catarrh of the bowels, an almost incurable disease. Explaining my situation to a friend, he advised a trial of Dr. Hamilton's Pills. I speedily experienced the healing and curative effect they exert on the stomach, liver and bowels. The intestines, freed from irritating drugs, rapidly regained natural tone, the bowels acted as if nature and not Dr. Hamilton's Pills were at work. I know it will be of value to thousands to know that a pill as mild and curative as Dr. Hamilton's is available to the ailing."

Silence!

The instinct of modesty natural to every woman is often a great hindrance to the cure of womanly diseases. Women shrink from the personal questions of the local physician which seem indelicate. The thought of examination is abhorrent to them, and so they endure in silence a condition of disease which surely progresses from bad to worse.

It has been Dr. Pierce's privilege to cure a great many women who have found a refuge for modesty in his offer of FREE consultation by letter. ALL correspondence is held as sacredly confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription restores and regulates the womanly functions, abolishes pain and builds up and puts the finishing touch of health on every weak woman who gives it a fair trial.

It Makes Weak Women Strong, Sick Women Well.

You can't afford to accept a secret nostrum as a substitute for this non-alcoholic medicine of known composition.

Fads and Fashions.

Plaid foulard is combined with dotted or striped material for the round length afternoon dresses.

Canvas linens are used for little morning dresses, brightened up with rows of tiny brass buttons.

The occasional great dot of the new veil is as becoming to fair complexions as patches used to be.

A new trimming feature which promises to become decidedly popular is the many colored ostrich plume.

A belt of patent leather, preferably a black one, should be worn with a separate waist and skirt.

Combinations of bien de roi and black are everywhere seen in chiffon blouses, in wraps and in millinery.

One of the favourite shopping bags is of chambray colored suede, with brass trimming, and the size is immense.

There was a time when a tape measure in the shape of Billiken was the fad of the hour; now Chanticleer has full sway.

Some soft, fluffy fringes appear among new trimmings. These are being used at the top of the bands of the shirred skirts.

Many of the travelling suits of the stripe and checked materials are trimmed with plain satin or cloth, which finds excellent ground for contrast.

Riding habits are decidedly shorter than formerly. Hard hats, round and rather flat, have entirely supplanted the high silk hat for the morning ride.

A departure in the reefer for the small girl are the plaits which are set in at the side over the hips to give an extra fullness below the waist line.

In spite of the fact that summer is at hand, there is a tendency toward giving every cloud of mousseline, voile or chiffon its silken lining.

Black net, made up over silver gray satin, is a handsome combination for evening wear. Embroidery in the silver gives the right effect to the garment.

The home embroidered wedding veil is new. Tulle, a little heavier than the most perishable illusions, is chosen for veils that are to be embroidered.

On many of the lingerie dresses English eyelet embroidery is used. It is combined with voile de cotton, much in demand now because it does not crumple easily.

Lace and more lace! It perches in high bows on hats; it covers silk evening gowns; it forms beautiful wraps, either in separate glory or combined with gold tulle.

The rough homespun lines do not wrinkle so badly as the smooth ones. This is quite an important factor to keep in mind when purchasing a linen for dress or suit.

Many of the large black hats are trimmed with supple ribbon bows of broad ivory white tulle. Large blue hats and toques have bows of silk ribbon of creamy white.

Sashes again on lingerie gowns is

Manuels' Garden Party

The annual garden party at Manuels takes place this year on July 12. This being a whole holiday, the affair it is hoped will be a success. No better place can be thought of where one may enjoy oneself than in this beautiful resort, where every taste and fancy will find an agreeable object. This garden party at Manuels has always been looked forward to by the public as an institution, as one of the most interesting events of the year, and the fact that it is for church improvements, has been and is expected to be a guarantee of its success. Fr. Coady is at present busily engaged in doing all that is possible to make it surpass that of last year, and he hopes his many helpers of the past will rally around him this year. Music, football and other events will form part of the day's enjoyment, and the catering will be in the hands of ladies well known for doing such well.

There will be a meeting of those taking part in the Manuels Garden Party on Tuesday next at Mrs. J. V. O'Dea's residence, at 8.30 p.m., 62 LeMarchant Road.

Abuse of Public Money

Dear Sir,—On entering St. Lawrence Harbor the first sight that catches the traveller's eye is the existence of two public wharves. Of course, I was curious enough to ask how two wharves came to exist, and I was told on the vote being cast some five years ago the majority favoured the west side and the wharf was built (as all passing through can see) on a site ordained by nature. But a certain faction of the east side kicked against the decision of the majority and started to build a wharf free of cost to the Government. This wharf remained half built until the spring when work was resumed and the wharf completed. I understand the completion of this wharf wasn't done free, the parties interested in the wharf were given control of monies on the change of Government. This money could have been spent on roads, bridges, etc. Now that this second wharf is built I am told none of the steamers are calling there. Of what use is it? Why is so much money spent uselessly? The old wharf is the one favoured by the business people of the place. Naturally the boats will favour the parties giving them work, for what goods is the wharf for the parties in favour of the new wharf can be brought in a puncheon. I don't think the Minister of Marine and Fisheries can be aware of the manner public money has been spent at St. Lawrence or a second wharf would never have been built there. I think the property that is lying useless there should be removed to some place where it is needed.

Personal Patriotism.

Hon. J. Harvey struck a strong chord at the P. S. A. when he made Personal Patriotism the dominant note of his address yesterday afternoon. Important as the duty may be for the amelioration of civic affairs, it is the key-note of all that is important in national life as well.

It is one of the qualities largely lacking in public life, and constitutes the main danger of democratic governments. This is glaringly evident on this side the Atlantic particularly in the United States and Canada, nor can Newfoundland plead entire innocence.

The tendency of politics is to become a game of grab, and for politicians to become the pawns of plutocrats, who subscribe to party funds, and skim the cream of all that is in the country. Democracy is deluded into the belief that the people rule, whereas they merely make marks and the plutocratic subscribers and their political pawns pool all between them.

What is the way out? Personal patriotism. The realization of every citizen of his responsibility for the health and honest administration of the state, and a realization of his personal duty to see that these principles are effectively carried out in practice.

How are citizens to become habituated to such a conduct of life?

By educating the young into habits of self-government that these principles become instinctive and the very spring of their thoughts and actions in matters to public life.

We find in America the grossest forms of the evils we deplore. The Bullinger-Guggenheim grabs in the Western States and Alaska are only the most glaring of many examples of these public scandals. It is to America, where the shoe pinches most, we should look for remedies which are being sought to cure these gigantic evils.

The remedy which is being tried is an educational one. It is a slow cure. But we believe it is the only safe and certain cure. We reserve our remarks on the cure which is being attempted for another issue. As the canker is by no means confined to America but is injuring the British democracy at home and beyond the seas, a careful study of the American remedy should interest all patriotic British subjects.

The Susu Arrives.

The s.s. Susu, Capt. Baxter Barbour, arrived here from Change Islands at 10 a.m. to-day. Her passengers were Lieut. Newbury, N. Osborne, Dr. Roberts and wife and 3 steerage. The ship had foggy weather leaving here until Cape Bonavista was reached, when it cleared up and she had a fine run, doing 10 knots most of the time coming and going. She had a small cargo, handled 89 passengers on the trip and reports no fish around Fogo, Change Islands and the Wadhams. Herring are to be had in abundance but lobsters are scarce.

Street Car Accident.

A young woman, Dora Hall, a domestic at Miss Browning's, Riverhead, was knocked down by street car No. 4 last evening on Water Street near the long bridge about 3.30. The car was going east and Miss Hall with her companion Miss Pike were crossing the street. The car struck Miss Hall in the forehead and knocked her down. She was taken up in an unconscious state and carried to Mr. P. O'Mara's drug store where Doctor Scully came and put eight stitches in the wound. She was then able to go home and is doing well to-day.

A Pernicious Practice.

The practice of men deserting from the fishery seems to be on the increase of late. It not alone causes worry, expense and delay to planters, but often injuriously affects the season's catch. Last week a young man who had been shipped by a Peter's River fisherman, and who took up nearly $100 in cash and goods, walked back to the city. He was not long here when he shipped in a vessel bound to Brazil. The captain cashed his advance note for $18 and this he blew in, yet he had the audacity to come to the captain Saturday and ask for and receive a few dollars more. Then he became entangled with the police, was arrested and now will be sent back to his master at Peter's River, while the captain of the ship will have to whistle for the money he advanced, as it is all spent. Another young man also deserted from the fishery at Petty Harbor and will be sent back. He was also arrested for drunkenness Saturday.

Ordination Service.

An Ordination Service was held by the Bishop of Newfoundland in the C. of E. Cathedral yesterday. The candidates ordained were Mr. Gordon Templeton, of Twillingate; Mr. William Courage, of Garnish. Rev. W. H. Bayley was raised to the priesthood. The preacher was Rev. E. Jones, late rector of Bay Roberts, who is leaving for America.

Cover the Carts.

People are loud in their complaints to-day about the manner in which the sanitary men collect ashes and garbage on the streets. This morning a high wind blew as the men worked at 9.30 and this was blown into the faces of passing pedestrians blinding them and soiling their clothes. The work should be done earlier and the carts should be covered.

The incoming express left Port aux Basques at 9.20 a.m. yesterday and arrived at St. John's at 2.30 p.m.

Schooners Hung Up.

A large number of fishing schooners are hung up, we learn from a mercantile firm, in Conception and Trinity Bays, and will likely be prevented from going to the Labrador fishery. This is owing to the fact that large numbers of fishermen have gone on the railway and to Sydney and Bell Island. Some small schooners now in port from Trinity Bay, and which required 3 or 4 men to complete their crews, cannot get them, though the most liberal wages have been offered. Some schooner owners are already trying to sell their vessels.

Causing Much Trouble

The proneness of some seamen engaging in our mercantile marine to either desert after signing the articles or remain away from ships when ready for sea is causing great annoyance and inconvenience to ship owners. The barqt. Attila is to-day ready to sail for Pernambuco and all the crew were to be on board this morning, but only one turned up. The rest are adrift and the captain and employees of Baine Johnston & Co. are searching the city for them to-day. There is danger of heavy losses occurring to fish shippers as a result of such conduct, for cargoes are often sold to arrive at a definite time, and consignees are liable to repudiate contracts if shipments do not arrive on time. Vessels have been detained as long as a week waiting for seamen, and some means must soon be devised to stop this ever increasing evil.

The Peat Industry.

Messrs. Carew and Ryan, two of the party of turf cutters that are here from Ireland, will go to Wesleyville to-morrow to examine and dig up a quantity of the peat between that place and Cape Freels to determine its value as an article of fuel. Messrs. Hayes and Burke, two others of the party will go to Petty Harbor to-morrow with Mr. P. Murphy, Road Inspector, to experiment with the peat bogs there. Two men will continue cutting turf at Williams' Pond, on the Torbay Road. They have now about forty tons on the bank which will be sun dried. They have a very favourable opinion of this peat.

Officer McLean Stabbed and Chief of Police Worsted.

Extraordinary Tough Newfoundland Sailor, Assisted by Local and Other Toughs, Give Police the Fight of Their Lives.
Never before in the history of North Sydney was such a brutal exhibition of indifference, mixed with glee, by local people, as was witnessed late last night, while a crowd of over four hundred citizens watched a lone police officer struggle with a Samson-like and ferocious Newfoundland sailor. Shortly after 10.30 Chief of Police McGrath attempted to arrest David Keefe, a sailor belonging to the Newfoundland barquentine Callidora. David was a bad man in his own country and scoffed at the idea of being spoken to by the policemen. By way of showing just how strong he was he started in to make things nasty for McGrath. The latter, however, was game, and despite the fact that his assailant was a man of brutal force, and aided by two of his shipmates, named John Saber and James Hall, of Harbor Grace, Nfld., the plucky chief stood by his duty.
By this time a large crowd had gathered, the majority of whom hissed the lone officer and urged his three assailants in their murderous work. Fortunately some person in the crowd fearing McGrath would be killed, sent the alarm to officer John McLean. In the meantime McGrath was being badly used, but fought with a determination. While lying in the mud with the brutal Keefe on top of him and the officers' finger chewed by the sailor, Wm. Murphy, better known as "Dodger," happened along and pluckily ran to the single-handed policeman's assistance. For so doing Murphy was jeered at by the patriotic and good citizens, and incidentally received a badly munched finger as a result of the burly sailor's molar.
Then officer John McLean and several members of the Eastern Club reached the battle ground, which by this time assumed a crowd of nearly seven hundred people. The late arrivals at once went to the assistance of McGrath, who unable to stand the brutal attacks of his adversaries, was completely done up. But like a tiger Keefe fought, using his teeth as freely as his hands and feet. No sooner were his wrists encircled by the twisters or handcuffs than they were snapped in twain.
In fighting his way to his fallen brother officer, policeman McLean received a knife thrust, the sharp instrument cutting a clean opening in the coat above the kidneys. Luckily

Mr. Jas. Vavasour, of Duckworth St., has in his possession a picture of the late King Edward VII. when he was Prince of Wales. The original was drawn on stone by J. A. Winter, a celebrated artist, and was loaned by her late Majesty Queen Victoria to be copied in 1860. Very few copies are now extant, so that this picture is a rare one. Mr. Vavasour also has a handsome snuff box of tortoise shell which was once owned by the late Archdeacon Bridge. The Archdeacon was his godfather, and Mr. Vavasour prizes the souvenir very much.

Inter-Collegiate Cricket

The second inter-collegiate cricket match, which was interrupted by rain on Thursday, was continued on Saturday. The Pelidians had made 59 runs in their first innings, and continuing their first venture on Saturday St. Bon's put together 40. The Pelidians then made 40, and with 60 runs required for a victory, St. Bon's failed to reach that total by 25. Both teams played well, the B.F.C. being superior in bowling and employing more energetic methods when batting, while St. B. C. batted more carefully and held their catches better. Tait's score of 19 in the first innings was the best performance with the bat, while he and Edwards bowled really well. F. Knight secured the best bowling results in any one innings, taking 7 wickets for 18, though for the whole match Tait took 12 wickets for 33 runs.

Deaconess' Work.

Notwithstanding the very unpleasant weather last evening, quite a goodly number attended the Deaconess service held in Cochrane Street Church. The pastor, Rev. F. R. Matthews, B.A., conducted the service. Misses Sweetman and Beard addressed the congregation on Deaconess work. The incidents related were very pathetic and touching. These showed the real need of deaconesses.

Shannahan and Tucker Visit the Sick.

Our old friend Dinn being sick, Tucker and myself called up to see him, and take him a few tarts and two or three oranges. Isn't it a queer thing you always take oranges to a sick man? Oranges and sickness seem to go hand in hand. Anyway, we brought Dinn the oranges, and when we entered his bedroom Dinn said to Tucker, pointing at the bag: "Say, Tucker, what have you there?" "Oh, these are a few oranges for you, Dinn."
Dinn nearly dropped dead laughing. "Look here, Tim," said he, "don't you think 'tis time to cut out bringing oranges to sick people? Why don't ye bring a fellow a pound of good tender beefsteak? 'Tis all oranges when you're sick, and between you and me, I never heard of any special cure in them. Anyway, Tim, I sent for you, because I'm not to say well. Sometimes, when I'm 'by myself, I feel a kind o' lonely, and a futterin' takes me up around the heart. 'Tis not that I care two straws, you know, about passing in my checks, for I'm sure of singing in the Grand Choir up above. But I have something to tell you, and 'tis this: 'If I go off any night when no one is looking I want you to attend to a few small matters.'"
But there's no sign of dying on you, said I.
"Oh, these are wonderful long nights," said Dinn, "and you can never tell what's going to happen."
We filled his pipe, lit it, and as he took a few draws to drive away the nervousness he said:
"If I die, Tim, I want ye to attend to one matter and that is the thanking for wreaths. 'Tis likely the man with whom I have been working for the last twenty years will be sending along a wreath, and a few of the neighbours will be following suit. Now, when ye are thanking them go down and thank them yourself, or get someone to write a note and send it to the house. Don't put it in the papers for it looks too much like an advertisement. I hate hospital thanks and thanks for wreaths in the papers. It gets on my nerves. Get all the boys to put crepe on their hats for the funeral. I am a kind of old-fashioned, you know, and I like the old style. The way men go to a funeral in those times is like as if they were going down town on business and going to your funeral at one and the same time. I want no 'breaking off' at my funeral, and if they have the crepe on, they'll go all the way, right out to the graveyard. Any man that does not want to go all the way let him stop home. I don't want a 'principal part of the town' funeral, and as this is my own funeral, I hope and trust you'll see that I'll get all that's coming for me. For goodness sake, see that the horse is black, not a ducky mud color horse that was ploughing meadows before dinner and hauling me to the graveyard in the afternoon."
TIM SHANNAHAN.

Ten Days From Sydney

The schr. Alberta arrived in port yesterday, 10 days out from Sydney. She brought 160 tons of North Sydney Coal. The passage was a very boisterous one after the second day out. Dense fog and heavy sea prevailed all the way and the decks were continually washed by seas. Bay Bulls Head was the first land sighted yesterday. The captain and crew were right glad to get to port.

PILES

"I have suffered with piles for thirty-six years. One year ago last April I began taking Cascarets for constipation. I am entirely cured and feel like a new man."

The Branch Railway.

People who arrived here by the express Saturday say that about nine miles of the branch railway have been finished to date. Under foreman Burton a gang of graders and others have moved to Seal Cove, and the work of grading has been completed as far as Brooklyn, B.B. After touching Seal Cove the line will make a detour towards Trinity, across the country, touching as near as possible to Indian Arm or Summerville. The line will be continued on to the S.W. Arm of Trinity, thence to Trinity town, passing close to Bremner's property, now owned by Ryan Bros., continuing down around the N. W. Arm to Ship Cove and Robin Hood and on to Catalina. The most difficult piece of engineering was to get into Trinity and get out again, but it was successfully accomplished. Over 250 men are employed ballasting and track laying, and do good work daily. The whole line may be open to traffic by the end of the year.

When Sleep Fails You

DR. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD will bring rest, comfort and vitality by building up the nerves.
Mr. Jas. Wesley Weaver, a veteran of the Fenian Raid, Port Dalhousie, Ont., writes: "For years I was afflicted with nervousness and dreading insomnia, so that I never knew for three years what a full hour's sleep was, never more than dosing for a few minutes at a time. Heart pains and headaches almost drove me wild. I had spells of weakness and cramps in stomach and limbs.
"Though I tried several doctors, it was money uselessly spent. Finally Dr. Chase's Nerve Food was brought to me and eight boxes cured me. It is simply wonderful what benefit I have obtained from this treatment."
Sleeplessness and headaches are warnings of approaching nervous collapse. You can positively remove these symptoms and prevent prostration or paralysis by the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. 50 cents a box, 6 for $2.50, at all dealers or Edmanston, Bates & Co., Toronto. Here's What the Weather Told 10 Tests Taken at Random from Hundreds of Imitations of Ruberoid Roofing and Others on Our Roof Garden.

- Roofing No. 8. Coating entirely disappeared, leaving a spongy layer of felt exposed. Material no longer waterproof.
  - Roofing No. 15. Roofing presents a swollen, water-soaked appearance. Felt made up largely of wood fibre. Wood had rotted away. No longer possesses any strength. Coating still in place.
  - Roofing No. 25. Originally surfaced with sand. Practically all washed off, leaving small holes in the coating, which permitted access of moisture. Interior badly decomposed and softened.
  - Roofing No. 31. Coating covered with deep checks, extending to the felt. Roofing cracked through in places. Contains wood tar pitch.
  - Roofing No. 22. Surface porous and crumbly. Roofing hard and brittle. Snaps off on bending, due to volatilization of the oils.
  - Roofing No. 67. Surface largely decomposed or pitted. Chalky; powders very readily. Large quantity removed on rubbing. Contains an inferior grade of asphalt.
  - Roofing No. 79. Asbestos—Brand. Sheet of asbestos originally cemented to the surface. This had loosened and about one-half blown off.
  - Roofing No. 93. Coating soft and mushy. Softens and runs in the sun. Absorbed by the saturation in spots. Too low a melting point.
  - Roofing No. 120. Roofing separated into layers, curling and pulling away from the nails. Felt fibres too short.
  - Roofing No. 124. Impregnation oozing through the coating. Mottled appearance. Yellow discoloration. Contains liquid asphaltum.
- This is not theory. This is not guesswork. These are the actual experiences you would have had with these same widely advertised roofings if you had tried them on your roof.

Gored by Bull.

Not long ago Mr. John Healey, of Placentia Junction, had a narrow escape from being gored to death by a bull which was raised on his place. While going through his field the bull which was out grazing charged the man who attempted to get out of its reach by flight. The bull overtook him just before he reached the gate, and pitched him in the air with his horns. The gate was partly open and could not be pushed further as the butts of the palings, of which it is composed, were caught in the earth. Mr. Healey fell near the gate and before he could pull himself through the beast again attacked him and he was terribly cut and bruised about the body. He eventually managed to pull himself through the aperture and the beast tried to follow but could not force itself through. Mr. Healey was found lying unconscious by his friends, and has since been prostrated from the wounds received. Had the bull been able to force through the partially opened gate the man would have been gored to death.

Young Egyptians Protestations.

Special to Evening Telegram.

GENEVA, Switzerland, June 5. The Young Egyptian Committee to day issued a violent protest against the sentiments expressed by Theodore Roosevelt in his speech at the Guild hall in London, and in which the ex-President expressed the opinion that England should show a firmer hand in Egypt. The committee declares that the speech was an insult not only to Europe and Egypt but to the whole civilized world.

France and the Vatican

Special to Evening Telegram.

PARIS, June 5. While semi-official Vatican reports from Rome deny that any arrangements between the Government of France and the Catholic Church will ever be possible without direct negotiations with the Pope, there are the best of reasons for believing that a considerable section of the French episcopate continues in its endeavors to induce the Vatican to modify its hitherto intransigent attitude. It is certain that the Government has indiscreetly advised the French Bishops that it is willing to treat with them but not with the Vatican on certain points.

Revolutionary Movements.

Special to Evening Telegram.

NANKING, China, June 5. A revolutionary movement (would-be) inaugurated to-day, the date set for the opening of the Exposition. This ceremony was carried out without the slightest disorder. Foreigners have been warned not to interfere in any way with the military preparations. This warning has not served to allay them to any extent, and Chinese merchants who a few days ago were leaving the city are now returning. The situation is not considered serious.

Personal Patriotism.

This was the subject of Hon. Jno. Harvey's address on Sunday afternoon at the Congregational Church, P. S. A. It was the obvious duty of every citizen, whatever the extent or importance of the work he could do, to do something for the betterment of the social conditions of the Colony. The conditions which affected public health here were bad. They were bad elsewhere, too, but in large cities the public conscience, in many cases, had been pricked, and definite attempts were being made to alleviate the evils. In some respects conditions were as bad in this city as anywhere, but he would not attempt to catalogue these evils. A broader system of education, the development of observation, and thought, would tend to produce a public opinion which would insist on the amelioration of our sanitary affairs. If our people were educated, would they see the pebbled drains, the catch-balls for all refuse and dirt, would we still have the sanitary cans and paper from them blowing all over the city, or to see the sidewalks covered with exhortations, or witness the extraordinary number of drunken men, or men in receipt of good wages on the border of poverty? If this town were properly educated, these things would disappear as the snow in summer. Tuberculosis and infantile diseases were the prolific causes of our high mortality. They were sapping our vitality. The A. P. C. was trying to do a good work in combating this evil through the agency of a trained nurse, and he would like to speak for a few moments on this subject. (1) because he would like to interest his hearers in it, and (2) because it was evident from the work of the nurse that the establishment of some home for those afflicted with this disease had become an absolute necessity. The moral of all these things pointed to personal patriotism. After the address, Mr. Ray pledged the P. S. A. to help along the A. P. C. The music was given by Messrs. H. and W. T. Courtenay, S. J. W. Tucker and Roy Kendall. Next Sunday Capt. A. Kean will speak on "Achievement."

Tory Axe Falls.

Special to Evening Telegram.

PLACENTIA, To-Day.

(Special to Evening Telegram.) The Tory axe has again fallen, and this time on the head of the popular and efficient fishery warden of Dunville, Thomas Power, who for 18 years has held the position, but the peanut politicians, Howley and Devereaux, and two or three vindictive Tory heeled here are responsible for this dastardly act. Hundreds of fishermen will resent this act of tyranny, when the proper time arrives.

Attacked the Police.

A West Ender who went to the fishery at Peter's River, but walked back here last week—covering a distance of 80 miles—attacked the police while under the influence Saturday afternoon. There was a hard struggle before he could be manacled. He was brought to the station in a cab. Another man who was out on the branch railway line, and walked to St. John's from Shoal Harbor, was also arrested for disorderly conduct.

Aching Joints and Sore Muscles.

They are common in rheumatic people. Inflammation is deep in the tissues. You might use a dozen remedies and derive less pain relief than Nerviline will give you in half an hour. Nerviline is a pain-subducer that words do not altogether describe. It is fully five times stronger than most remedies, not that it affects the skin unfavorably, no, its great power is due to its wonderful penetrative quality—it strikes in deeply. Just rub Nerviline into sore muscles, stiff joints, and note the glow of comfort, the ease of pain that follows. You are astonished, delighted; this is because words do not express the promptness and permanency of the effective power that Nerviline possesses over all similar remedies. Marvelous, you will say. Natural, we say, because Nerviline is different, stronger, more penetrating, a true pain-subducer—just try it and see if it doesn't cure Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Lumbago, Strains and Sprains. Large bottles sold and guaranteed for see, trial size, 25c. at druggists.

Late King's Funeral.

Extraordinary Motion Picture. Patrons who have seen this great picture at the People's Theatre on Saturday and Sunday afternoon were much impressed and all expressed the opinion that this film eclipses anything yet seen here in motion picture photography. The picture opens giving some of the important events in the Great Peacemaker's Life such as: "Attending the Gracious Victoria's Funeral," "The King's Coronation," "His Visits to Ireland," etc. Then comes the sad event that appalled the world, viz.—The King's Funeral with all its pagan solemnities and grief. There will be only four more exhibitions of this film, and they will be this afternoon at 2 o'clock, and to-night at 7; also, Tuesday afternoon and night at same hours. General admission, 5 cents; some seats at 10 cents.

Lumber Mills Burnt.

Special to Evening Telegram.

SOUTH MALLAND, N. S. June 5. The Anthony lumber mills destroyed by fire this afternoon and property valued at $100,000 was burned with insurance of half that amount. The mills are the finest in Nova Scotia with the exception of the Davison Mills at Bridgewater. A Shornesley, the principal manager of the Company and one of the chief shareholders in the corporation had been over mills after luncheon at 1 o'clock when everything appeared right and safe. At 2.30 o'clock fire was discovered and so sudden was advance of flames that by 3 o'clock the whole mill was in ashes. What caused the outbreak of fire is an absolute mystery. The mill was built 5 or 6 years ago and owned largely by American capitalists.

Airship Visits London.

Special to Evening Telegram.

LONDON, June 4. An army airship made a surprise reconnaissance over London during the night. Leaving Aldershot at 11.30 o'clock last evening, the aerial craft started for London during the night in the teeth of a stiff breeze. It reached St. Paul's two hours later and circled over the Cathedral at a height of one thousand feet. Returning the air craft arrived at the barracks at 3 o'clock in the morning. The distance between Aldershot and London is about 35 miles and the time made by the airship first against and then racing with the wind is considered excellent.

People's Theatre.

Commencing Thursday evening June 9, the management of the People's Theatre will inaugurate a season of dramatic productions, presented by the Chicago Stock Company, an organization which has been remarkably successful for several years throughout the United States, presenting only high class wholesome entertainment calculated to prove acceptable to most fastidious of theatregoers. A change of play will be offered at each performance selected from the most recent of New York successes, to which every attention to detail will be given, thus making each production fully as meritorious as the original. The delicious society Idyl, "Clothes," made famous by Grace George, will be the initial offering and will be followed by other plays equally picturesque and prominent among which may be mentioned; Blanch Walsh's tremendous success "The straight road," the greatest success of the present season "St. Elmo," Ada Rehan's celebrated "Nelle Gwynn, of old Drury," Edwin Arden's ideal drama "Genoese of the Hills," E. A. Sothern's, "Enemy to the King," and others of equal merit.

The schr. Western Queen, belonging to Mr. T. Flynn, went ashore at Langley, St. Pierre, yesterday in the fog and storm. She had 550 qtls. of green fish on board and was on the way from the Gulf to Mortier Bay. The skipper, Robert Lundrigan, telegraphed to the owner, Mr. M. T. Flynn, who is in the city, saying that the schooner was full of water but that there is a possibility of floating her. All the gear and outfit was saved except the 350 qtls. of fish. The keel and the rudder are gone. The Western Queen is a new vessel built last year and is covered by insurance.

The Northwest Mounted Police.

There is probably no novelty in their experience in western Canada that American settlers on the wheat lands appreciate more than the red coated mounted policeman who, if not ubiquitous, is always within call, allowing for the distances he must sometimes ride when wanted. We speak of him as a novelty because the American farmer on his own prairies must look out for himself as a rule—in theory he has police protection, but he is seldom in humor to invoke it and thinks ironically of it as an aegis. In short, he is his own policeman and justice is a vague abstraction to him. Imagine then how the alien who has taken his penates over the line regards a system of government that gives him a police protection that makes life safe, guards property and executes justice on the wrongdoer, no matter what the cost. He may well wonder how the Royal Northwest Mounted Police, in numbers no stronger than the force in a second rate American city, can preserve order and enforce the law in a territory extending from the American boundary line to the Arctic Circle and comprising a million and a half square miles.

There are only a thousand of this constabulary, and yet there has never been a lynching in its vast jurisdiction, and no criminal can feel security within it or beyond it. It has occurred to us in reading an article about the famous corps in the December "Century," by Miss Agnes Dean Cameron, that the protection which the settler has is as much moral as physical. Their motto, "Maintien le droit," the trooper renders "Go where you are sent." He tries to do what he is told to do, and exercises his discretion when in doubt. It is true that the private or officer of the Northwest Mounted Police is a soldier as well as a policeman, but he is more than both; he is the law, and he has a tradition of unflinching bravery and a glorious prestige to nerve his arm. He is not supposed to count numbers, or weigh difficulties or consider hardships. Canada expects him to do his duty, not only "this day" but every day. He doesn't perform it because he is well paid or will be praised for his energy and courage. He receives 60 cents a day, and 'tis the boast of the service that they seldom get into print. The Blue Books are the bleakest chronicles, and you find nothing about the Royal Northwest Mounted Police in publications like the Statesman's Year Book. The force passes for a sort of foreign legion, and while it is true that the aristocrat as well as the lumberjack and the cockney is on its rolls, it recruits from all Canada too. The qualifications are: 22 to 40 years of age, 5 feet 8 inches in height, weight not over 175 pounds, physical soundness, ability to ride and groom a horse, and a certificate of good character. In such a country the powers of a commanding officer are necessarily wide, almost arbitrary. Thus Major Constantine tells the story of his duty in the Yukon fourteen years ago. "The thermometer showed 70 degrees below. We had but five hours daylight, with candles at $1.00 a piece $120 a box. I was commander in chief, chief magistrate, home and foreign secretary. Three tables furnished my room, with a different kind of work on each of them. I walked from one to the other to rest. It was the end of July when I got there, and before the middle of November we had built nine houses, one of them twenty-five feet long. We cut and squared all the timber ourselves 'tis, our shoulders got raw." In a sense, every private in the force may be called upon to act as commander in chief, magistrate and home and foreign secretary. He must be postman and physician for the settler, sometimes fireman; he must make arrests on his own responsibility anywhere, guard the timber reserves, make weather reports, collect crop figures, account for new settlers, look after stray stock, keep order in the mining camps, and at all times act as detective and pursue criminals. An American who killed his partner in the Lesser Slave Lake district was run down as far south as Laredo, Tex. convicted and hanged, at a cost to the Dominion Government of $30,000. A Loucheux Indian who abandoned his two year old child to die beyond the Arctic Circle was tracked by one policeman, captured and taken 1,200 miles up the Mackenzie River in a canoe and down by lake and trail to Regina. Chief Piapot, defying the Government and camping with his tribe in the path of the Canadian Pacific track layers, was awed into submission by two redcoats, absolutely alone, who kicked down the key poles of tent after tent after giving the chief fifteen minutes to remove them. One of the stories we like best of the efficiency of the Northwest Mounted Police is that told in a report of Corporal C. Hogg of the suppression of a "bad man" in a mining camp at North Portal:

"On the 17th instant I, Corporal Hogg, was called to the hotel to quiet a disturbance. The room was full of cowboys, and one Monaghan, or cowboy Jack, was carrying a gun and

Missing Child Brutally Slain.

Mutilated Body of Little Alma Kelner Found in Louisville Church Cistern—Janitor Has Fled—Eight-Year-Old Girl Had Been Searched For Since Last December—Plumbers, in Cleaning Out Well, Made the Horrible Discovery.

Louisville, Ky., May 30.—With the finding to-day of her mutilated body, badly decomposed, in an old cistern under one of the parish houses of St. John's Roman Catholic church, Clay and Walnut streets, part of the mystery surrounding the disappearance on Dec. 8, 1909, of Alma Kelner, eight years old, daughter of Fred M. Kelner, was solved. The police are searching for Joseph Wedding, formerly janitor of St. John's Church. He has been missing since Jan. 14. His wife is under surveillance.

Frank Feher, a millionaire brewer, uncle of the child, who since her disappearance has spared neither money nor time in the search for her, positively identified the body found to-day.

Mrs. Lena Wendling, wife of the missing janitor and housekeeper for Father Schuhmann, pastor of St. John's Church, in a sworn statement made before Chief of Detectives Carney to-day, admitted washing the bloody clothes of her husband shortly after the disappearance of the Kelner girl. The detectives declare the trousers, shirt and hat are still blood-stained. A little more than a year ago, according to the police records, Wendling was arrested and fined because of improper conduct towards a young girl, whom he accosted in a street.

The parents of Alma Kelner have not seen the body found to-day. Both are prostrated. The finding of the body after months of search throughout the United States, was by accident. On Saturday the janitor at St. John's Church told Father Schuhmann that water was collecting under one of the parish buildings. Plumbers began to pump out the water. After pumping only a short time, the water began to smell bad and later a slimy object was discovered. A child's foot, with shoe and stocking on, appeared. The police and corner were called by Father Schuhmann. After working for five hours all the fragments of the body were collected except the top of the skull and the lower part of the right leg. All the ribs on the left side were broken. "It appears that the body was partly burned," said Corporal Duncan, "and I believe quicklime was used to aid in destroying the body."

Father Schuhmann said that he could remember nothing extraordinary in Wendling's actions after the disappearance of Alma Kelner. "Wendling left the church without offering any explanation," he said, "and saying he was going to quit. He said nothing even to his wife. He often talked of returning to his old home in France. His wife wrote his parents at Genlis, Cote D'Or, France, but they had heard nothing of him."

Wendling is described as 27 years old, about 5 feet 10 inches tall, weight about 160 pounds, small black mouse face and dark hair and eyes. According to the wife's statement Wendling was a deserter from the French army.

pointed it at me, against sections 107 and 109 of the Criminal Code. We struggled. Finally I got him hand cuffed and put him inside. His head being in bad shape, I had to engage the services of a doctor, who dressed his wound and pronounced it not serious. To the doctor, Monaghan said that if I hadn't grabbed his gun there'd be another death in Canadian history. All of which I have the honor to report."

It seems that the Corporal's tunic was spoiled by the cowboy's blood and much furniture broken. We have also a tenderness for the youngster lying in a blizzard who had scribbled on a page torn from his pocket diary: "Lost. Horse dead. Am trying to push ahead. Have done my best." Corporal Conradi, remonstrated with for riding off to the relief of a family seemingly hemmed in by a prairie fire, shouted back, "You can't call a thing impossible till you try," and saved the family. "He is a brave man. I shall never forget his courage," wrote a settler to headquarters. We don't suppose the men of this splendid police are physically braver than other men, although they are picked for their looks, but it seems to be that the esprit de corps which they feel causes them to compete with one another in achievement and makes them scornful to hesitate or show the white feather in the presence of danger. Their obedience to orders becomes as natural as drawing breath. Thus they are remarkably efficient and wonderfully confident. When Miss Cameron, who knows them by close observation, says that "on the margin of every page of the unwritten history of this great lone land the figure of the solitary horseman is 'vignetted' it is something more than figurative language.

St. Patrick's Church Repairs.

At all the Masses in St. Patrick's Church yesterday it was announced that a meeting of the men of St. Patrick's parish would be held on Tuesday week in the Star of the Sea Hall for the purpose of making arrangements for the repairing of St. Patrick's Church. The interior of the edifice requires to be painted, and it is said that the work of completing the tower will also be discussed, as well as replacing the cross on the front of the building. The church will be put in thorough repair, and when the tower is completed and surmounted by a steeple it will be amongst the highest, if not the highest, in the country and will add to the appearance of the structure. The Catholic people of the West End are noted for their generosity in support of the church and are delighted to have an opportunity of beautifying and completing it. Rev. Fr. Thibault of the French Shore was the celebrant at last Mass at St. Patrick's yesterday.
