THIRTEENTH YEAR

OWER YOUNG TO MARRY YET

BUT THEY LOVED AND ELOPED AS MODERN MAIDENS DO.

Eighteen-year-old Fred Hamill from Toronto Hamilton with sixteen-year-old Miss Minnie Butler, but the stern parent beats the Minister and brings the young couple back.

The late lamented Laureate never penned truer words than when he said that "in the spring the young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love." This is the true of maidens, and Harold-street College Institute, where so many gentle maidens study these lines of Tennyson, has been the first to prove their truth by something more potent than a pedagogue's exhortation. The young lady interested in Miss Minnie Butler, blonde and blue-eyed, and one of the fairest flowers in Principal Spottis's educational garden. Miss Minnie is sweet to, with dresses to her, the most beautiful in the lower fifth of matriculation form of the Harold-street Institute. She is chic and vivacious and wears her hair in the latest style of King-street in ruins and the most irreparable.

The young man, Fred, who has symptoms of a mustache, has been going for some time to Dillon's private academy at 188 Spadina-avenue. In the quiet seclusion of his class-mates away from the rude bustle of a public school, he has had time to cultivate the grand passions, and the result is that his affection has been Miss Minnie, at whose house he is on visiting terms.

Some time ago the young couple became engaged, their parents were deferring marriage until they had reached more mature years.

Fred, who the hope which maketh the heart sick, the young pair determined to precipitate matters, and on Friday morning last took the matter into their own hands. On the Thursday night previous Fred and Minnie met and made arrangements for an elopement. Fred, whose pocket was limited, had succeeded in saving $25—enough for a license and two fares to Hamilton. Fred and Minnie, who were being quiet and sufficiently suitable for a Greta Green marriage.

After having gone to dinner, the lovers left their respective homes and, according to appointment, Love's young dream did not induce Fred to be reckless in his expenses. The pair rejected a carriage as being too expensive, and rode to the Union Station in a second-class motor. There they took the 12.30 train to Hamilton, where they arrived at 5 p.m., and at once proceeded to the residence of Mr. Evans, a friend of Fred's family.

Freddie's Papa spoiled it all. In the meantime Mrs. Butler became alarmed at Minnie's absence and, after comparing notes with the Hamills she discovered that Fred was also missing she at once concluded that the pair had gone down town at the time Mr. Hamill was at home. He immediately telegraphed to the Union Station, where he took the next train for Hamilton, where he arrived at 5 p.m., and at once proceeded to the residence of Mr. Evans, a friend of Fred's family.

When a word was called at Mr. William Butler's residence last night he was met at the door by Miss Minnie herself, who listened eagerly to the details of the interview with her father. As the outcome of a talk with Mr. and Mrs. Butler and Miss Minnie the facts above stated were elicited.

"It was only a girlish caprice," said Mrs. Butler, "and I am glad to see you unwise in trying to hurry a marriage to which there is no objection later on."

Miss Minnie, who had been studying her lesson with the aid of a dainty pink note which hung suspended by a golden chain from her neck, took a prominent part in the conversation. "I have been talking to Fred and gave many of the details before recited. I hope you are not going to put things in the papers," she pleaded. "If you do I can never go to school again."

An Unfailing Papa.

The reporters had their was almost more noticed by the entrance of the blue eyes, but he stuck strictly to duty and asked if she had any particular person in view when they went to Hamilton. "Oh, no," she replied, "I was just going to see if any of the Hamills, Freddie and I came home with his papa, who read papers all the way, and said nothing to me at all. I think you are real mean if you put this in the paper, because we have now decided to wait."

A visit to Mr. Hamill's was not so productive of results. Mr. Hamill was not at home, but he had gone to hear Dr. Walmage at Cooke's Church.

Mrs. Hamill, however, was at home. She regarded the whole matter as a boyish frolic on the part of Fred, who had not considered how it would look if he took Minnie with him to Hamilton. "I have been talking to him to-day and telling him how foolish he was. I do not think they were going to be married at all. Fred merely took Minnie with him for a holiday, and intended returning on the next train."

ROBBED A FELLOW-PATIENT.

A Mean Thief Who Escaped But Was Recaptured.

Detective Harrison last night found a man named Andrew Carr, who had been seeking for several days. A week ago John Ryan was admitted to St. Michael's Hospital with $45 in his pocket. Next morning the man was gone. Carr, who was also a patient in the hospital, was suspected and locked up in a small room while the police were telephoned for. He broke the window, first away from netting and escaped. He was captured last night by Harrison.

WELLS, Ont., March 9.—About noon today George Freedman, an English youth from Dr. Barnard's home, was killed by being drawn on a saw at McAlpine's saw-mill. He had arranged to return to England soon.

BIG FIRE IN BEAMSVILLE.

The Business Portion Destroyed—A Hard Fight—Timely Help From Grimsby—Rain Helped the Workers.

BEAMSVILLE, Ont., March 9.—About 2 o'clock this morning our villages were aroused by the alarm of fire. On hurrying to the scene it was found that the general store of Henry & Oldham was in mass of flames. It was at once apparent there was no hope for either building or contents, and the efforts of the firemen were concentrated on saving the adjoining buildings.

The firemen worked like Trojans and the officers of the brigade showed excellent judgment in directing their efforts. But despite every exertion of the firemen and citizens before the flames were brought under control about 5 o'clock Henry & Oldham's general store, Ryckman's tailoring establishment, Cornwall's dry goods and grocers, Knights Labor Hat and C. Jeffrey's boot and shoe store, with almost the entire contents, were reduced to ashes. Fortunately the night was exceptionally calm, and a heavy rain falling, or there is no telling where the fire would have been spreading by Jeffrey and his store of King-street in ruins and the most irreparable.

The fire originated in a mystery as far as can be learned. When discovered the lower part of the building was burning so furiously that no one could enter to save anything and the firemen's efforts were turned to saving Allan & Co.'s store on the east, and to keep the fire out of Cornwall's building. They were successful in the former, but the latter fell a victim, quickly followed by Jeffrey and his store. Acting under the direction of Charles De Lesseps, he visited M. Blondin. He found M. Blondin there. But what he saw there he did not see. He was here and his machine unlimbered and went to work with a will.

The help was most timely, and our citizens owe them a debt of gratitude which cannot be overestimated. Henry & Oldham had an insurance policy for $250,000 on the building $250,000. George Beatty had $250,000 on the building occupied by W. Cornwall. C. J. Jeffrey had $250,000 on the building and stock, part of the latter saved. W. Cornwall, who does not know, little or nothing about it. Mr. Ryckman, an insurance agent.

ICE SLIDE AT NIAGARA.

The Tramway Wrecked—A Policeman Severely Burned and May Die From His Wounds.

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., March 9.—This afternoon the thousands of tons of ice that had accumulated on the roof of the incinerator building at the New York State reservation down the bank to the base of the American Falls from the spray from the heavy rains of the last two days and slid down upon the office and approach bridge, smashing and tearing everything in its way.

Luckily for a crowd of tourists that were gathered on the roof, the ice fell in a mass below among broken timbers, which soon caught fire.

Thomas Waugh, superintendent of the park, ordered the fire department, which held the flames in check until 5 p.m. Park police worked like Trojans below to rescue the victims who were in the building. As soon as M. Blondin regained his self-control, he said: "I submit in advance to any sentence which the court may pass upon me."

M. Blondin was questioned by the presiding judge as to how he came to be an intermediary between the Panama company and M. Blondin. He admitted that he had received $25,000 from the Panama company in payment of the bribe. Charles DeLesseps had handed M. Blondin $500,000 francs at the time he obtained the contract for the lobby of the Senate.

M. Blondin recalled and cross-examined by the judge for the Panama creditors, stated that he had received $25,000 from the Panama company on the transaction between him and M. DeLesseps.

In the midst of M. Blondin's statement M. Fontaine sprang to his feet and shouted: "That statement is a tissue of falsehoods. The witness has not spoken a word of truth."

Turning upon his accuser, M. Blondin said, "I affirm that what I have said is the exact truth, and nothing but the truth."

M. De Lesseps, who was sitting at the side of the witness, also spoke a word of truth.

DE LESSEPS AROUSED.

He Charges the Government With Attempting to Suppress a Foot Race.

LONDON, March 10.—The Paris correspondent of The Morning Post says: Charles De Lesseps told a friend that he had in recent times had been able to procure a minimum sentence if he was able to implicate any rights.

He replied that this was beyond his power, because, so far as he knew, no rights were at stake in the case.

As he had received the maximum sentence he said he would now show no mercy towards the authorities.

BURIED A KNIFE IN HIS BRAIN.

Awful Murder in an Algoma Lumber Camp.

News reached the city yesterday of a frightful murder near Webwood, Ontario and the Ontario Government will be asked to send a detective to the scene. It seems a man brought in two bottles of whisky to Stone & Beall's camp near Webwood, intending one for himself and one for a friend. The friend seized the two bottles and stabbed the boy, which annoyed the first man so much that he drew his knife and stabbed him, breaking off about two inches of the blade in his head. The poor fellow was taken to the doctor at Webwood, but died within about five miles on his way back.

Proving Prosperity by statistics
One of the cries raised by the Opposition against the array of facts which demonstrate the fact of this "blue ruin" is that inasmuch as the prosperity of the country has to be proved by statistics it does not exist. There must be something in this cry, for when uttered and repeated in the House, as it has been, the Liberal members express great delight. They have not only their mouths like a lion's roar, or a favorite quill of tobacco. What does it amount to? The condition of the country has not been represented as deplorable. The farmers are raising the merchandise in selling markets; the cities are paralyzed; poverty is increasing; trade is languishing; disaster is threatening. Such are the statements again and again reiterated by the Opposition press. To have such statements alone would be taken as proof of their correctness, our silence would give assent to them. To disprove such false statements it is necessary to rebut them by reliable ones, to put indisputable facts against phantasms. To most assertion by assertion would be vanity, the only effectual way to suppress error is to establish the truth. In matters of trade the only way to manifest its condition is by statistics, showing its volume in given periods as recorded in official documents. Mr. Laurier's sarcasm about proving the country prosperous by statistics seems to imply that there is some other way of showing the state of trade. Perhaps he would, in like case, write a sonnet upon exports and a lyric upon imports, and a song about bank deposits, with an epic in blank verse upon mortgages, freight movements and other trade items. This plan would suit a fervid imagination equal to fancying free trade as a revenue tariff as identical. But plain people, business men, when they want to know if their own business is prosperous, and to what extent it compares with previous years, get right down to figures, and nothing but figures will satisfy them. Mr. Laurier says if we were prosperous it would not need to be proved. Yes, it would. Men of sense don't rely on impressions or suppositions; they may "feel in their bones" that their affairs are prosperous, but they wish to have it demonstrated in a balance sheet. The taut, therefore, against us for proving by figures that the country is doing well is a very idle one, somewhat foolish and wholly irrelevant. The Opposition dislike statistics; this is natural; men never do fancy the whip that scourges them, nor admire statements which prove their theories to be baseless and false.

Mr. Blaine's point of view
The most distinguished living economic writer says, "It is by the use of statistics that political economy has acquired the character of a fixed science. Adam Smith availed himself largely of statistics, hence the solidity and utility of his works." So Sir William Petty over a century ago wrote, "Instead of using comparative and superlative words and intellectual arguments, I have expressed myself in terms of number, weight and measure, the only arguments of sense, and considered only the facts which have visible foundations, leaving what depends upon the opinions, appetites and passions of particular men to the consideration of others."

There is a passage also in one of Lord Brougham's speeches to the effect that statistics based upon carefully collected figures carry conviction where mere rhetorical phrases will not reach. The Opposition then, in objecting to statistical demonstration of the actual condition of the country, are merely quarreling with facts the force of which they cannot overcome.

A compromise suggested
The trouble between the city and Street Railway Company has been narrowed down to this: Each is willing to leave it to the court to decide which party shall be finally responsible for doing the disputed work in connection with the conversion of the system to electricity. But they are not agreed as to which of them should pay the cost of the work pending the decision of the court. Therein lies the difficulty just now. The company wants the city to proceed with the work and sue it (the company). The city, on the other hand, prefers being the defendant in the forthcoming litigation. As long as both parties maintain this attitude there will be a deadlock and no work will be undertaken by either. How would it do for each party to do half the work and let the court make the final adjustment?

Building Prospects, 1923
These prospects for the coming year of building operations this year that will do much to revive that business. It is one of the normal conditions of a growing city to have periods of boom and collapse. We had in recent years a number of such cycles, and it is not at all probable that the work on hand at this time is larger in excess of the average demand.

These were: The Parliament Buildings, the restoration of Toronto University, the Wesleyan College, Wyckoff College, enlargements to Trinity, the Confederation Line buildings, the Freehold, several new churches for the Presbyterian, Methodist and Baptist denominations, besides large residences of unusual costliness, such as Mr. Goodrich's in Bloor and St. George streets, also public schools.

It is not in the nature of things to have such a number of billings of this class again erected for the work on hand, and being no longer left without work added no small factor to the collapse which occurred when all these large structures were completed.

This year there are projects afoot that will find work for many who were sorely pinched last year. There is the new Union Station, with its approaches, the bridges over the Eglinton, the work on the new harbor and the freight sheds at the C.P.R., a large building in King-street to be erected by Mr. Manning—to whose enterprise the city is heavily indebted.

Another project at Yonge-street, the new flats, the aggregate of which will tend to give an impetus to trade early in the spring.

Those who have attributed the troubles in real estate and building circles in this city to the break-down of manufacturing must be entirely unacquainted with our local conditions. The buildings we have erected in the last 10 years of a public character cost as much as would have paid for the whole of those public and private ones required by a good-sized city. A period of rest necessarily followed such enormous outlay and activity. Our manufacturers have not shared in the collapse; they have gone steadily enlarging.

These who are at all surprised at the information given by the minutes of the negotiations for reciprocity must have defective imaginations. When a fact and a rat are about to meet it is no great feat to predict a scurrilous. When the late Mr. Blaine—we cannot say of "pious memory"—retired as Finance Minister it was inevitable that their views of reciprocity would clash. Mr. Blaine wished for "commercial union," the very policy Mr. Foster was elected to oppose.

Mr. Blaine evidently had been elected by the private "commercial union" ambassadors from Canada, who have been making themselves very busy, and very absurd, at Washington for a length of time. It shows how little of statesmanlike discernment the late Secretary had to propose a policy of Canadian discrimination against England.

He showed also remarkable lack of knowledge of this country in asking, "Has not Canada some other mode of taxation than customs, such as income, land or direct tax?" This strange question was put as a hypothetical reply to Mr. Foster's statement that commercial union with the States would diminish the revenue by $8,000,000. But the question is valuable as being a practical admission by Mr. Blaine that reducing our tariff must necessarily involve an income or a land tax. This admission requires no magic powers to make, for it is as obvious as that two and two make four. Still, it is well to have so plain a statement from a distinguished authority, for many in Canada who wish to dispense with many millions of customs receipts seem to imagine that the vacuum created will be filled "somehow," the somewhat process not being specified.

The lowering of our excise tax on spirits, liquors and beer, which commercial union would involve, as detailed by the Finance Minister, we commend to the consideration of our temperance friends. We commend also to their attention the graphic statement of an American paper, that "thousands of men were drunk on imported liquors, and the capital was a scene of wholesale debauchery."

Mr. Blaine pointed out, what we have done repeatedly, that unless the duties on British goods entering Canada were raised up to those of the United States, we would have an enormous smuggling business along the 3000 miles of border.

Unrestricted reciprocity, we have been told, was the very policy most in favor at Washington. Yet Mr. Blaine set upon us with weight. In response to an enquiry as to the effect of this policy, Mr. Foster said:

"The trade of Canada would be directed largely toward the United States, as would be the case with the goods from other countries would practically prevent her from purchasing therefrom manufactured goods of the kind made in the United States; that her younger and smaller industries would be exposed to a strong competition from the kind and well-established industries in the United States, with their accumulations of skill and immense capacity for output; that her kind and well-established agricultural products she would only gain access to the market, which, in nearly all lines in this country, is now closed to her. The trade with like products raised in the United States."

To this Mr. Blaine made the very frank and significant reply, "It is a world-wide trade, and the goods of the world are available to all. Canada has no intention of being a state of the Union, and until the American authorities get that fact well into their heads, all negotiations for reciprocity will prove abortive, as those negotiations which we have just heard the details."

An article published elsewhere will throw a little light on the subject of Dr. Allen's dismissal from the Health Department. The doctor has the sympathy of citizens at large. His firm stand against the Mayor in regard to cutting impure ice, and his impartiality in dealing with nuisances wherever he found them, whether on the premises of the Mayor and aldermen, or in houses of private citizens, call forth our admiration. The story of Dr. Allen's dismissal has not yet reached its last chapter.

A question for the court
While the courts are being resorted to for an explanation of what the expression "permanent roadbed" exactly means, it might not be out of place to get a judicial decision on another phase of the same question on hand, that labor was brought into the city largely in excess of the average demand.

When the case against Messrs. Orpan, Pirie and Smiley, the Jordan-street commission men, was called at the Court of General Sessions yesterday Crown Attorney Dewar said that in view of the recent decision of the Queen's Bench Division he must consent to a verdict of not guilty. Judge McDougall accordingly instructed the jury to return a verdict of not guilty on each of the several charges.

The Longa, Liver, Kilsney, Bowls, etc., act as so many waste gases for the escape of motor traffic from the city, the use of Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery helps to clear them away. It is a vegetable product, and is safe for the health of the user. It is a vegetable product, and is safe for the health of the user. It is a vegetable product, and is safe for the health of the user.

The master in chambers yesterday made an order in the action of Orpan v. Commrs. allowing a notice of motion to commit John D. MacLennan for contempt, to be served on his solicitors, Messrs. Beatty, Blackstock & Co. An appointment was issued for the examination of Mr. MacLennan, but he did not attend, and he is now in Florida. The plaintiff's solicitors swear that they cannot serve him personally.

FOURTH DAY'S PROCEEDINGS AT EGLINTON TOWN HALL

Speeches for and against the Richmond Hill Railway—All Petitioners Who Wished to Speak Were Heard—The Signatures to the Petitions Will Be Sent to the City Engineer

The proceedings of the York Township Council at Eglinton Town Hall yesterday were not so exciting as on the three previous days. Speeches were made for and against the passage of the bill for the Toronto and Richmond Hill Railway.

There was a more moderate and judicial tone in the address than at the preceding sessions of the council. In the afternoon the flow of oratory suddenly stopped, and the Reeve, after waiting half an hour, declared, on motion, the discussion closed.

The council meets again this morning to consider the petition of the many petitioners against the railway. The signatures to the petitions will be sent to the City Engineer.

Queen Victoria is not only an author, but an editor also. "The Court Circular," which appears in the London newspapers, is edited by Her Majesty, with a lead pencil, for revision she finally supplies the "in" in the Emperor Frederick's name a fortnight ago, after it had been out daily for a week or so.

The Duke and Duchess of Newcastle are to start about the middle of April on a voyage around the world, and will be first coming to America and will stay several months in the United States and Canada.

WIVES OF HAY ARE ALIVE
Although it was thought to prove such a case, it is not the case. Henry Denny, farmer of Forest Hill, missed a quantity of hay from a stack on his farm on Jan. 4 last. He claimed to have traced the slash on which the hay was removed by the wigs which had fallen for over five years, the premises of John Stead, Dovercourt.

Stead was in the box at the Sessions yesterday to answer to the charge of stealing the hay. The present hay stack he had found at Stead's place was similar to that stolen from Denny and that no other hay was raised like it in York.

Witnesses were called for the defence to prove that Stead was at an all night party on the night of the theft, and that the hay was returned a verdict of not guilty.

In some American cities, all so far as I know, the rule is for the householder to keep clear the gutters in front of their houses. Such a bylaw is considered to be inconsistent with a progressive and free country like Canada, although perhaps it might not be disagreeable to persons having annexation tendencies, as it is an American system.

Mr. James Armstrong also spoke against the company on behalf of Mr. Alfred Guy, a property-owner who has been the object of the opposition is a Deer Park agitation. He maintained that the railway would be a disaster to the city, and that it would be a waste of money.

Mr. J. T. Moore made a long speech in support of the railway. He said that the railway would be a benefit to the city, and that it would be a waste of money.

PUBLIC OPINION

A Power in the World
Grover Cleveland has heard the voice of the public, and his opening address shows that he is ready to correspond with the wishes of the people, and that he recognizes the truth of the maxim, "Taxation for the purposes of government is the only right upon which taxation rests." So is it evident that as our questions are not in all cases, powerful corporations and syndicates may as first prefer to enter at the public; but there comes the time of reckoning and the strongest combines, the most stubborn oppressor, has to give way to the irresistible force of public opinion.

Our own City Council may for a time tamper with the health of the citizens, but when public opinion is brought to bear they must not act wisely and well. The Board of Health, strengthened by the support of the citizens in moving and giving forth its warning with no uncertain sound, and public opinion is bound to win the day.

Mr. Greer stated that the company was entitled to a renewal of the franchise if they complied with all the stipulations of the agreement, but by the year's notice at the end of 19 years the township council could buy the company out. No portion of the money was to be paid in advance of the consent of the council.

Then Mr. Greer said: "Of the Richmond Hill Railway Company, which, jointly with the township council, is to be able to go down to the Toronto Railway Company and ask them if they would give up the franchise for the proposed line (Apparatus). The Toronto company would not tell us what they would like to do, but with the co-operation of this council I think they would be forced to close their doors just as soon as the people learn that his promises were nothing but words."

The Council adjourned at 6 o'clock till 11 o'clock this morning, when the signatures to the petition will be scrutinized.

Editor World: Much complaint is just now being made by correspondents about a bylaw, of which, however, I have seen no official notice, requiring householders to keep clear the gutters in front of their houses. Such a bylaw is considered to be inconsistent with a progressive and free country like Canada, although perhaps it might not be disagreeable to persons having annexation tendencies, as it is an American system.

In some American cities, all so far as I know, the rule is for the householder to keep clear the gutters in front of their houses. Such a bylaw is considered to be inconsistent with a progressive and free country like Canada, although perhaps it might not be disagreeable to persons having annexation tendencies, as it is an American system.

Mr. James Armstrong also spoke against the company on behalf of Mr. Alfred Guy, a property-owner who has been the object of the opposition is a Deer Park agitation. He maintained that the railway would be a disaster to the city, and that it would be a waste of money.

Mr. J. T. Moore made a long speech in support of the railway. He said that the railway would be a benefit to the city, and that it would be a waste of money.

PUBLIC OPINION

A Power in the World
Grover Cleveland has heard the voice of the public, and his opening address shows that he is ready to correspond with the wishes of the people, and that he recognizes the truth of the maxim, "Taxation for the purposes of government is the only right upon which taxation rests." So is it evident that as our questions are not in all cases, powerful corporations and syndicates may as first prefer to enter at the public; but there comes the time of reckoning and the strongest combines, the most stubborn oppressor, has to give way to the irresistible force of public opinion.

Our own City Council may for a time tamper with the health of the citizens, but when public opinion is brought to bear they must not act wisely and well. The Board of Health, strengthened by the support of the citizens in moving and giving forth its warning with no uncertain sound, and public opinion is bound to win the day.

Mr. Greer stated that the company was entitled to a renewal of the franchise if they complied with all the stipulations of the agreement, but by the year's notice at the end of 19 years the township council could buy the company out. No portion of the money was to be paid in advance of the consent of the council.

Then Mr. Greer said: "Of the Richmond Hill Railway Company, which, jointly with the township council, is to be able to go down to the Toronto Railway Company and ask them if they would give up the franchise for the proposed line (Apparatus). The Toronto company would not tell us what they would like to do, but with the co-operation of this council I think they would be forced to close their doors just as soon as the people learn that his promises were nothing but words."

The Council adjourned at 6 o'clock till 11 o'clock this morning, when the signatures to the petition will be scrutinized.

That is the Value a Jury is Asked to Fix
At the Assize yesterday George Firth, a 16-year-old lad, sued through his father, George North, for compensation from William Wythe, 150 George-street, for the loss of his left hand. The accident occurred on the 15th of July, 1921, when the boy was employed as a puncher in Mr. Wythe's roller shade factory. THE POLICE NOT ASSAULTED
The Hodges Declared Not Guilty by a Jury at the Assize yesterday morning was a case arising out of a mortgage. Quetch is a tenant in possession of property on the eastern side of Jameson-avenue at Grand-street. He was mortgaged in 1919, by Jonathan Palmer to the plaintiff company on the condition that if he failed to pay any monthly instalment he should give up possession of the property to the company.

ERIE MEDICAL CO., Buffalo, N.Y. Complete Manhood. AND HOW TO ATTAIN IT. A Medical Work that Tells the Causes, Describes the Effects, Points the Remedy.

When we assert that Dodd's Kidney Pills Cure Backache, Dropsy, Lumbago, Bright's Disease, Rheumatism and all other forms of Kidney Troubles, we are backed by the testimony of all who have used them.

Mr. Lorenzo F. Steeper is very well known to the citizens of Appleton, Wis., and neighborhood. He says: "Eight years ago I was attacked with a severe case of kidney trouble, and suffered as no one but a 'dyspeptic' can. I then began taking August Flower. At that time I was a great sufferer. Every thing I ate distressed me so that I had to throw up. In a few days a few moments that horrid distress would come on and I would have to eat and suffer for that 'again. I took a Horrid Stomach 'better, and after 'taking a little more 'August Flower my 'dyspepsia disappeared, and since that time I have never had the first sign of it. I can eat anything without the least fear of distress. I wish all 'diseases or the troubles caused by 'it would try August Flower, as I am satisfied there is no medicine 'equal to it'."
