WOMEN HARD WORKING

Will Find New Strength Through the Use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

It is useless to tell a hard working woman to take life easily and not to worry. Every woman at the head of home; every girl in offices, shops and bottoring a whited the second second actories is subjected to more or less vorry. These cannot be avoided. But t is the duty of every woman and every girl to save her strength as much as possible, and to build up her system to neet unusual demands. Her future lealth depends upon it. WATFORD, MAY 19, 1916

The War Book of 1916

It would perhaps be too much to say that the Agricultural War Book, issued for free distribution by the Federal Department of Agriculture, is the most complete book ever published in Canada entirely devoted to the subject of which it mainly treats. Yet in variety it certainly is. Besides the general matter brought together by the editor, the Commissioner of Agriculture, some seventy agricultural and education experts have contributed to its 250 pages, including the Federal Ministers of Agriculture and Finance, the Live Stock Commissioner, and Dairy Commissioner for the Dominion, chiefs and sub-chiefs of various departments and divisions, federal and provincial, and professors at the Ontario and other agricultural colleges.

While there are statistics of the world's as well as, of Canada's produce last year, for purposes of comparison, and two or three years preceding, the book is a long way from being confined to figures. On the contrary it contains pages upon pages of textual information, instruction and sound advice appertaining to its title "Production and Thrift." Not alone would the farmer and breeder be the better for its study but every householder, every citizen would profit by following its counsel, which, in a general sense, is embodied in the motto that appears on the front cover, namely :

IN WAR TIME

Produce more and save more, Make your labour efficient. Save material from waste, Spend your money wisely.

GLYCERINE AND BARK

vehicles traversing the public thoroughfares at night should not be lighted and adequately lighted. There is no question that it is in the interest of the public safety and a measure which should be as heartily favored by vehicle drivers of all kinds as by pedestrians.

Experience has shown its necessity, not alone in Pittsburgh, but elsewhere, and, as has been pointed out, its general adoption would be a decided step in the direction of "safety first."

woman who spent ten years and all the money she had in the world to become a skilled bookbinder is Marguerite Duprez Lahey. After studying with the most skilled tooler in Paris, says the American Magazine, Miss Lahey went to the world's greatest craftsman, M. Mercier. M. Mercier was a man of large wealth and broad culture. He tooled for the love of it in his beautiful Paris home. His only pupil was his only son. No one in the Latin quarter had dared to penetrate M. Mercier's atelier. Un-daunted, this American girl, armed with the "Life of Fragonard, by Pierre de Nolac," the toil of years and which had earned M. Domont's praise, went to M. Mercier's home. The master was at his country seat. "Is this your work?" cried his son, when Miss Lahey had disclosed the volume. "Leave it with me. I will show it to father. It will please him to see such strong work."

"And now what do you want of me?" asked the master, when tremulously she called later for the book and Mercier had sent his praise. "To work with you."

"Good! I take you!"

Three times a week for two summers she worked under Mercier's supervision, the master tactfully refusing the pupil's proffered money. "Perfect!" he said, when she had finished Prosper Merimee's "Chronicle of Charles IX."

Before this triumph her gold tooling on a volume of Frederic Masson's "Napoleon and Women" procured for her the work of the late J. P. Morgan's library. This was in 1908-the turning point of her unique career. Hers is the distinction of having designed, tooled and bound the cover of Mr. Morgan's personal copy of the catalogue of his world famous Chinese porcelain collection.

Stewed Raisins

A package of seeded raisins, two tablespoonfuls finely shaved orange skin, a level teaspoonful salt, one-quarter cupful sugar, three cups water. Wash the raising through several waters, put in saucepan with three cupfuls boiling water. Bring to boil quickly and boil five minutes. Add sugar, salt. When ready to take from fire add the yellow from the orange peel cut very fine or lemon will do.

Evening Fabrics.

For evening wear gowns of metallic tissues, cloudlike tulles, chiffons, mousselines and diaphanous silks abound. For youth and slender lines there are girlish frocks inspired by old time crinolines, while the older matrons appear in handsome gowns with clinging four dations of silk or satin veiled with layers of vaporous tulle

For Forty Years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Has Been Woman's Most Reliable Medicine -Here is More Proof.

To women who are suffering from some form of woman's special ills, and have a constant fear of breaking down, the three following letters ought to bring hope :-

North Crandon, Wis. — "When I was 16 years old I got married and at 18 years I gave birth to twins and it left me with very poor health. I could not walk across the floor without having to sit down to rest and it was hard for me to keep about and do my work. I went to a doctor and he told me I had a displacement and ulcers, and would have to have an operation. This frightened me so have to have an operation. This frightened me so much that I did not know what to do. Having heard of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I thought I would give it a trial and it made me as well as ever. I cannot say enough in favor of the Pinkham remedies."—Mrs. MAYME ASBACH, North Crandon, Wis.

Testimony from Oklahoma.

Lawton, Okla. — "When I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I seemed to be good for nothing. I tired easily and had headaches much of the time and was irregular. I took it again before my little child was born and it did me a wonderful amount of good at that time. I never fail to recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to ailing women because it has done so much for me."—Mrs. A. L. MCCASLAND, 509 Have St., Lawton, Okla.

From a Grateful Massachusetts Woman.

Roxbury, Mass.-"I was suffering from inflammation and was examined by a physician who found that my trouble was caused by a displacement. My symptoms were bearing down pains, backache, and sluggish liver. I tried several kinds of medicine; then I was asked to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It has cured me and I am pleased to be in my usual good health by using it and highly recommend it." — Mrs. B. M. Osgoon, I. Hourog Poult Roxbury Macs 1 Haynes Park, Roxbury, Mass.

Lights on All Vehicles

The Pittsburg council is considering an ordinance which provides for the display of a light on horse-drawn vehicles which traverse the public streets at night, as is now required of automobiles.

The ordinance is in the interest of safety first and should be in general force. The unlighted carriage is a menace and not less so to its own occupants than to others.

It is not so much its likelihood to collide with other vehicles as its liability to be struck by some heavier and more swiftly moving, car, to its own damage.

BREAK YOUR MATCH IN TWO.

A Suggestion That Became a Rule In Forest Fire Prevention.

One day late in June a man in a room on the seventh floor of an old fashioned brick building in Washington, holding a sheaf of telegrams in his left hand, was busy with his right taking red headed pins out of his mouth and sticking them into little irregular blocks of green ink scattered over a large white wall map of the United States.

"The big problem," he said, taking a fresh pin out of his mouth and turning sidewise to his assistant, "is to get at the fellow who knows what conservation is but forgets to apply it when he lights up a cigar in the woods."

The assistant sat at a flat topped oak desk in the middle of the room, struggling through a mass of reports from field men in the endeavor to find suggestions for a set of fire prevention "rules."

"Well, what do you think of this?" he said, holding up a report from the Pacific northwest: "Break your match in two before you throw it away."

The other man stuck the last red pin into the map, reached for his pipe and lighted it.

"Let's see," he said. He snapped the burning match in his fingers. As the pieces dropped to the floor he uttered a sharp exclamation and tenderly licked the index finger of his left hand.

The assistant laughed. "That's the idea!" he said. "You've got to blow it out before you break it or get burned." So this suggestion became No. 1 of a set of ten rules which the forest service sent to 6,000 newspapers at the beginning of the summer's fire season in the national forests .- Outlook.

WOMAN SUFFERAGE.

Its War Time Aspect.

London, Eng. The women of England are doing their duty. They are taking care of the wounded, or if they cannot assist in work of that kind they are adding their savings to promote the good work. They are knitting and sewing for the soldiers at the front. given so little trouble to the government that it will undoubtedly soften the hearts of those in Parliament, since the "mili-tants" have turned all their energies to aid the fighting men of England, and so sufferage may soon come after this terrible war is over. Thousands of women in Canada have overcome their sufferings, and have been cured of woman's ills by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. This temperance medicine, though started nearly half a century ago, sells most widely to-day, because it is made without alcohol or narcotics. It can now be had in tablet form as well as liquid, and every woman who suffers from backache, headache, nervousness, should take this "Prescrip-tion" of Dr. Pierce. It is prepared from nature's roots and herbs and does not contain a particle of alcohol or any nar-cotic. It's not a secret prescription for its ingredients are printed on wrapper. Many a woman is nervous and irri-table. feels dragged down and worn out for no reason that she can think of. In ninety-nine per cent. of these cases it is the womanly organism that requires attention; the weak back, dizzy spells and black circles about the eyes, are only symptoms. Go to the source-of trouble. When that is corrected the other symp-toms disappear.

The Galt Reporter says: "Hog shipping days are truly golden days for the farmers and never before have they profited to so great an extent as at precent, owing to prices having soared to $11.00 a hundredweight, live weight. One farmer yesterday brought to the city a load of twelve hogs which were purchased at the above price and which netted him the neat sum of $350. At present prices and the moderate price of mill feed, the farmer who has raised his own supply of pigs has an opportunity of repaying himself for the close prices realized many times in the past, when they fluctuated from profits to that of loss. There is every indication that so long as the war lasts, and probably for a considerable time after that, consumers of pork will be obliged to pay a good price as it is necessary for Canadian packers to import 20,-000 hogs weekly from the United States to meet their requirements. The reason given is that Denmark, tempted by the high prices offered in Germany, has slaughtered her or-dinary stock and drained the country to supply the great demands. England is looking here for her supply for the present and once having the market established, Canada can expect to continue selling her hog products on the English market long after the war draws to an end."

Forest trees for starting forest plantings and for filling in holes in the wood lot can be grown by farm-ers at little expense. Large trees are not needed for this purpose. One-year-old seedlings of broad leaf trees are large enough to set out. Every farm should have a forest nursery for the production of forest trees. The vegetable garden will make an ideal location for a row or two. The trees will thus receive the necessary care and attention the first year.  $\begin{smallmatrix}&21\\14&00\end{smallmatrix}$ fied in sand. Tree seeds which have been naturally stratified over winter may often be collected from the ground in the spring, and such will start to grow at once. Oak, tulip, maple, catalpa, black locust, pine, spruce, hemlock, and other evergreens may be preserv-ed over winter by hanging them in bags where they will be dry and exposed to the outside air. Seed should be planted as early as possible in the spring.

Double Decker Berry Trellis.

The sketch shows a trellis which has found favor in blackberry sec-tions. It consists of two parallel rows of 2 by 4 posts set six feet apart in the row, and eighteen inches from each other crosswise. These posts are four feet high, and on the tops of them run heavy gauge wires fastened with staples, writes Mabel I. Whorton in the Farm and Fireside

Two other wires fastened in the same way are placed on the posts a foot from the ground. A number of notched boards made on the order of a swing board are placed between the wires, top and bottom, about four feet apart. These boards act as a feet apart. These boards act as a support to the vines, which are trained to run along the trellis thus formed. The new shoots (next year's bearing vines) as they grow are trained along the under set of boards. At the end of the season when the old runners are cut away the small boards are oraging moved the new boards are easily moved, the new vines lifted to their position of prominence on the top, and the lower boards are again free for the next year's growth. This method is used a great deal for berries, including the Himalaya blackberry, which sends out such long runners. It is a comfortable height for picking, and a whole field may be planted in this way with parallal sets of trellises.

Keep Your Receipts

How often do we here a person "Oh, never mind a receipt; I'll say wear it out in my pocket." only This atitude is more credible to a person's heart than to his head. Don't follow such an example. Keep your receipts. A business man may die or fail, and his accounts be assigned for the benefit of creditors. In such a case where is the man without a receipt if it happened that through accident or forgetfulness his payment was not credited.? He could have convinced the man to whom he paid the money, but that man is gone. Your receipt is your proof of payment.

A Forgotten Edict

Historical Story of the Sixteenth Century By F. A. MITCHEL ~~~~~~

Harry, the great king, the bluff king, he who married six wives and beheaded two of them, was dead, and his son Edward, a mere lad, was on the throne of Great Britain. But the boy being too young to govern, the Duke of Somerset, having assumed the title of lord protector, was sovereign in his stead in all but in name.

But Somerset was supplanted by John Dudley, Duke of Northumberland, an ambitious man, and planned that the crown should rest upon the heads of his descendants. Having married his son, Lord Guilford Dudley, to Lady Jane Grey, who had royal blood in her veins, before the young Edward died in 1553, the duke persuaded Edward to name his daughterin-law to succeed him.

It was on May day of this year that number of young persons were dancing around a pole in a field in the county of Essex. Among them was young Robert Woodville, son of Sir Phomas Woodville, a young man much beloved by all who knew him. Many a lass cast covetous eyes upon him, but they were all forced to give way to Mary Edmonson, who was the most comely, and withal, modest and amiable.

These two were swinging round the circle hand in hand when a man rode up to Woodville and asked to have speech with him apart from the oth-The dancing stopped, for there ers. was a grave look on the stranger's face, and all waited while Woodville and he talked earnestly, but in low tones. The newcomer appeared to be endeavoring to persuade the young man to some-thing which he did not approve. Presently Woodville broke away from him, beckoned Mary Edmonson aside and said to her:

"The young King Edward is dead and has named Lady Jane Grey to be his successor. There will be other claimants-Mary, the late king's daughter by his first wife, Catherine of Arragon, and Elizabeth, his daugh-ter by his second wife, Anne Boleyn. This man is an emissary of the Duke of Northumberland, beating up adherents for his daughter-in-law, the Lady Jane Grey. He offers me a commission in the army and when Jane is firmly established on the throne a position at court. I am persuaded to accept his offer."

"I beg that you will not," replied the girl. "The rightful sovereign is Mary, the daughter of the only rightful wife of the late King Henry. The Duke of learned that Woodville had been one of Lord Guilford Dudley's lieutenants in the conspiracy he told Mary that any defense was useless. The queen was very bitter against the conspirators and was resolved to punish all who were concerned in the plot.

"But," added Bradford, "I will try and think up a plan by which Robert Woodville may escape death. Come to me on the morrow, and if my knowledge of the law serves me I will tell you.

When Mary went to him the next day he told her that the only way he could get her lover out of the Tower was to accuse him of having committed a crime against the church. The government might consider a sacrilege of more importance than high treason. If he could bring Woodville to his home to be tried for an offense against religion he would have an advantage. But if he were acquitted the sovereign would claim him to be tried as a traitor

"What I propose," added the lawyer in conclusion, "is to bring him here if possible, try him for sacrilege and convict him.'

"Convict him?" exclaimed Mary. "Yes. He must be convicted."

"And the punishment?" "He will be hanged."

Mary could see no advantage in being hanged over dying at the block, but Bradford, who knew more law than most of his craft, told her that there was a royal edict on the records which might help him to save her lover's life. It was a hundred years old, belonging to a period when matters of justice were very crude. With more civilized methods of court procedure it had become obsolete, but had never been repealed.

A church near by where Robert Woodville lived had been robbed and the communion service taken. Roger Bradford had got wind of the thief. and after forming his plan to get possession of the body of Robert Woodville he sent for the man who had confessed the sacrilege and asked for a liece of the silver communion service. Having received it he gave it to Mary Edmonson and told her to place it in Woodville's house. This she did, and the next day a search was made of the house and the plate found there.

Bradford went to London and de manded the body of Robert Woodville that he might be placed on trial for the stealing of the church plate. The lieutenant of the Tower refused to give up Woodville, since he was to be tried for high treason. Bradford insisted that his demand be referred to the queen. Mary declined to consider a crime against herself in preference to one against the church. She ordered that Woodville be sent to his native county to be tried for sacrilege, but that he be returned in case he was not convicted, to be tried for high trea-The queen's order must be obeyed to the letter, and bringing Woodville from the Tower would be of no avail unless he were convicted. As soon as he arrived he was brought into court, and the person who had found the plate in the accused man's home having sworn to the fact, Woodville was convicted and sentenced to be hanged. No defense was made; none would have secured the prisoner's acquittal, and it did not accord with Bradford's plan that the trial should result in an acquittal.

"If it pleases the wench," replied the queen, "to marry a man who is to die she has our royal permission." "I hold in my hand," rejoined Bradford, "a copy of an edict of his majesty King Edward IV. decreeing that if any man sentenced to death within his royal domain and a woman shall claim him in marriage he shall go free." "Have you seen the record of this edict?" "I have, your majesty." "And it has never been repealed?"

"It has not, your majesty." "Then I will repeal it."

"This may be your majesty's right or it may be only the right of the parliament. In either case it cannot be made ex post facto." "Do you alone possess a knowledge of this edict?"

"So far as I know, your majesty." The queen thought, "Might not others who conspired against me avail themselves of this method of escaping punishment?"

"I will issue a pardon in this case," she said presently. "But if we hear of this edict of my ancestor and predecessor before we are ready to take steps for its repeal you will incur our royal displeasure."

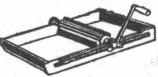

When Mary Edmonson returned to her home she bore a pardon for her lover.

Mary chose to be married on the same greensward from which her be-trothed had gone to support the cause of Lady Jane Grey. When they had been pronounced man and wife she said to her husband: "This is a better place for our wedding than a palace. The Lady Jane was wedded in a palace."

Home Butter Demands.

Cream selling is more popular than buttermaking on most farms at the present time, and as a result it is growing harder and harder to buy butter in the smaller towns in many communities. The home buttermaker has quit, and this has brought about a strong demand for the product. It will pay the farmer who lives in such a community to undertake its produc-tion for the home demand. In order to do this there must be equipment, brints, butter workers, and other de-vices in daily use. The illustration shows one of the many types of butter workers that save time wearying work.---Farm Progress. time and

More likely he will set an ax to her neck. She is too young to decide such a matter for herself or she would refuse to be made the dupe of her father-inlaw."

"No one," replied Robert, "can tell where the crown will eventually rest. If on the head of the Princess Mary, I gain nothing; if on the head of Lady Jane, and I help to place it there, our wedding, instead of taking place among rustics, will be celebrated within a palace."

"Say, rather, in a dungeon."

"No. no. sweetheart. I have confidence in the duke. Think of the place I shall be able to offer you as one of the supporters of the successful claimant'

Ambition proved stronger than the pleadings of the girl, and the end of the matter was that Woodville went off to London to report in person to Lord Guilford Dudley, who had sent for him, while the messenger went on to enlist further recruits. Well had it been for the young man had he listened to the advice of his betrothed. The Lady Jane Grey at first refused to accept a crown to which she knew she was not entitled, but was at last persuaded by the entreaties of her father-in-law and her husband to accept it. She was queen but nine days when her adherents were overpowered, and the Princess Mary, afterward called Bloody Mary, became sovereign. The Duke of Northumberland. Lord Guilford Dudley and Lady Jane Grey were imprisoned in the Tower of London and later suffered death on Tower hill.

News came to Mary Edmonson of the collapse of the scheme her lover had supported and that he was a prisoner in the Tower of London. Mary was a ward in chancery to a man of the law named Roger Bradford. To Bradford she went and implored him to go with her to London and defend her lover when he should be tried for high treason. But when the lawyer

An officer of the queen's household had been sent with the prisoner from London to bring him back in case he should not be found guilty. This man insisted that Woodville be hanged immediately, since he had orders not to leave while the prisoner lived. But Roger Bradford succeeded in getting a stay while the condemned man's be trothed went to London to petition the queen for a pardon. The officer vielded, though he assured the lawyer that there was no hope of a pardon.

Bradford, accompanied by Mary Ed-monson, at once set off for London, and on their arrival the former went to the Tower and demanded to be permitted to inspect the statutes deposited there. As an attorney he was not to be denied this privilege, and, going to the rooms where the rolls of parchment bearing edicts of England's sovereigns were kept, he found one which he copied.

The next morning he asked for an audience of the queen, basing his request on the fact that if his client Robert Woodville were hanged the execution would be illegal. This excited at once an interest in the queen, and she granted the audience, giving permis-sion also for Mary Edmonson to be present.

As soon as the two were in the queen's presence Bradford said:

"May it please your majesty, this girl, Mary Edmonson, claims for her husband Robert Woodville, sentenced to be hanged for sacrilege."

To determine roughly the amount of organic matter in the soil the following directions are given by an Weigh out as closely as possible one pound of well pulverized soil into a saucepan. Heat this over boil-ing water for approximately six hours. A double boiler would be convenient for this purpose. Weigh the soil without delay. The loss in weight will represent the moisture. Transfer to an iron vessel, which should be heated at redness for one hour directly over a fire. Weigh when cool. The loss on the previous weight will approximately represent the organic matter.

TORIC LENSES THEIR ADVANTAGES

The comparatively new TORIC lenses are made with a deep curve - not flat - these lenses cover more fully the eye and give more up and down and side to side vision than any other form of lens. This deep curve saves the muscles of the eye and prevents eye strain. They can be made in any focus to suit any sight. If your glasses require changing try TORIC lenses this time. We assume all responsibility for their being satisfactory. The best is the best.

To The Corn Growers of Good, strong germinating seed corn is most essential in a season of this kind and we can't afford to take chances on the later varieties of Dent Corn. Let us select the earlier varieties of Dent corn, such as Golden Glow, White Cap Yellow Dent, Bailey or Early Learning. Our Field Crop Competitions have shown that these varieties will mature under ordinary conditions in Lambton County, while in the case of some of the later varieties, such as Wisconsin No. 7, this point is doubtful. Let us sow Lambton grown seed corn if possible if it has been saved right. It has been demonstrated beyond doubt that corn selected from Lambton County will mature from 6 to 10 days earlier than corn grown farther south.

Let every good farmer enter the Field Crop Competitions in corn growing carried on by the Agricul-tural Societies and the Lambton Corn Growers' Association. The corn Growers' Association is endeavoring to work in co-operation with the Agricultural Societies. We have asked each Agricultural Society in the county of Lambton to put on corn as one of the field crops in their competitions, and the same field which competes in the Agricultural Society will compete for the Hanna trophy. Labor is scarce, but we can't afford to neglect our corn crop and there is no greater incentive to growing a good crop of corn than to have it entered in competition with your neighbors. The Annual Corn Show held in Long Standing Asthma. Many have suffered so long from asthma and have tried so many so-called remedies they think that there is no real help for them. They should read the letters received by the manufacturers of Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy from hundreds of cases once as desperate as their own. Even in long-neglected cases this famous pre-paration byings prompt help. m aration byings prompt help. m It is estimated by Walkerville town officials that the municipality will be loser to the extent of at least $25,000 an-nually following the coming into effect of the clause in the new prohibition act exempting distilleries from payment of business tax. The combined business assessment of the town from distilleries, breweries and three hotels is now $1,500, 000.

we'll be glad to show you through our samples.

Why send out of town when you can come here and make your selection at leisure.

You have the advantage of seeing how the goods look before you buy.

You won't have to keep one or two rolls which may be left over and there is no delay in getting an extra roll should you require it.

You don't need to send your money before you get the goods.

Our prices are reasonable too.
