TRAWLER BREAKS THE WORLD'S RECORD

Pelican Reaches New York From Banks With 2,000,000 Pounds For Eight Weeks—Enough Fish In 69,000 Square Miles To Feed The World

NEW YORK, December 26—The steam trawler Pelican reached New York to day from the Newfoundland banks, breaking the world's record for a single vessel's catch, with a haul of 2,000,000 pounds for eight weeks. The vessel, which is 162 feet long, was launched by the East Coast fisheries company, just nine weeks ago.

Captain Dennis Hayes, commander of the trawler, said that the catch was equivalent to a six months' catch of a fleet of a dozen fishing schooners. Her cargo today consisted of haddock, carp and halibut, which, because of the special way they are iced and preserved, are commanding above the average market price locally. Captain Hayes said there were 69,000 square miles of fishing area off the Grand Banks, with enough fish to feed the whole world. The fish were hauled in with nets at the rate of five or six tons an hour, he said, fair weather or foul.

The East Coast Fisheries company announced today the acquisition of a fleet of ten of the most modern steam trawlers from the French government. The vessels are of all steel and are the best last word in elegance on the fishing banks, including shower baths for the huskies at the nets. The newest addition to the fleet, which is steaming up the coast from Savannah, Georgia, for the banks will make the companies steam squadron consist of twenty five vessels, the largest aggregation in the county. They will be able to bring in from 2,500,000 to 4,000,000 pounds of fish a week; they will stop off at Boston, Rockland, Maine and New York making their first call with cargo in about a week or ten days.

DESPERADOS CAPTURED

CHIEF HANRAHAN ROUNDED UP THE GUNMEN

It is thought These are the Men Who Held up Johnson Howse

We copy the following from Friday's Halifax Chronicle. It is thought that these are the men who held up H. H. Whitman in Lawrence town and Johnson Howse in Bridgetown.

Thursday afternoon Detectives Reyno and Aitken acting under order from Chief of Police Hanrahan climbed aboard the inbound Halifax & South Western freight at Richmond, and arrested two young men, James Scott and James Corkum, who are said to have been responsible for a succession of shop breakings and hold ups in Halifax and the Province. The arrest of the two supposed burglars and gun men came as the culmination of long investigation on the part of the detective department and reflects credit not only on Chief Hanrahan who finally located the wanted men by a prodigious use of the telegraph and telephone, but also on Detectives Reyno and Aitken. When arrested the men had in their possession two new revolvers fully loaded. They were dressed in suits which are said to have been later identified as having been stolen from Robinson's Clothing Store on Barrington Street and one of them had a watch in his possession similar to those recently stolen from Johnson's Jewellery Store.

Speaking to the Chronicle reporter last night Chief Hanrahan said that the men had confessed to the thefts of the clothes and the watch. They were identified by Mr. Moses Newman as the two men who on Monday night last held him up at the point of the revolver in his store on Water Street and stole some two hundred dollars from the cash register.

The Robinson "job" was done some weeks ago. The thieves entered the store in the early morning collected several suits, and made a clean get away. About a week and half ago it was reported that an attempt had been made to enter Johnson's Jewellery Store on Barrington St. The glass in the front window had been broken in one corner and two watches stolen. It is hinted by the authorities that the two men have been connected with several other mysterious occurrences during the past few weeks in Halifax and the Province.

Apparently after the Newman "job" had been successfully carried through Scott and Corkum decided that Halifax was not a good place to be and left the city until things should have somewhat subsided. The whole detective force was put on the case and worked for two days and nights without and great amount of success. Finally Chief Hanrahan found a clue. In response to a telegram from him, he received information from Chester yesterday afternoon that Corkum and Scott were travelling citywards on the Halifax and South Western freight. He kept in touch with them by means of the telephone and when the freight arrived at Richmond Detectives Reyno and Aitken were on the spot. James Scott is a native of Scotland. He is about twenty years of age and was in Bridgewater for some time. Corkum is a Nova Scotia and a returned soldier. He says he is eighteen years old and comes from Lunenburg County.

NOVA SCOTIA LEADS, GLOUCESTER FOLLOWS

Fishing Industry of This Province is Causing Americans Much Concern

Gloucester is fearing for her prestige. A writer in the Times of that city says: "Why have such men as Captain Augustus G. Hall, Aiden Gele, John McInnis, Frank Hall, Ruben Cameron and others equally as famous either sold their vessels and left the business or else now go from Nova Scotia ports; Captains John Hall and Percy Firth, two well known masters of seiners have apparently forsaken the fishing branch and are now engaged in coasting. Reuben Burke, who has brought an average of 700,000 pounds of salt cod to this port annually, has left Gloucester and next season will go from a Nova Scotia port. Newman Wharton is another who no longer goes from here. One of the leading seiners who was unable to make a good year's work last season because of the strikes is now considering an offer to go from Lockeport, N. S., next summer.

Because of the strike and the loss which resulted, one of the vessel owners of Boston has been forced to dispose of part of his property to make the deficit.

In the last five years, about 70 of our fishing vessels, aggregating over 7500 tons have been sold. Their places have been taken by less than 30 new vessels of 3200 tons.

As each producing vessel is sold it means that our local dealers find it necessary to secure so much more fish elsewhere, and the money which might have gone to our fishermen is sent to fishermen of Nova Scotia and Newfoundland.

I believe it is because of these past difficulties that men like those mentioned above have left the business and why no larger number of vessels are being added to the fleet. It is these questions that must be decided in the answers rest the future of the fishing business of Gloucester. It is not pleasant to compare the fleet of 106 bankers sailing from Newfoundland ports and the large fleet sailing from Lunenburg with our own fleet following this branch of the fisheries. Next year there will be not over four such vessels go from this port, while a few years ago there were many times that number.

Local Death Roll

Many Prominent Residents are Passing Away

NELLIE P. TROOP

Our Granville Centre correspondent writes: The closing of the old year, and opening of the new, witnessed the quiet peaceful ending of one of the most beautiful lives ever lived in our midst, that of Nellie Parker, third daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry F. Troop, of Granville Centre. At the early age of sixteen, deceased was stricken with an insidious, and dangerous malady, and for seven years has been a semi-invalid, at times suffering intensely, but during all these years she has never been known to murmur or complain; always a sweet smile for everyone and the words "It is all right," whenever sympathy was expressed.

Converted at an early age she united with the Methodist Church, and although deprived, for the most part, of the privilege of attending service, she was always deeply interested in any branch of work that pertained to the Master's Kingdom. The Word of God was her constant companion, the Will of God was her delight. The life of patient endurance, perfected through suffering, has entered into that rest that remaineth for the people of God. She leaves to mourn their loss her parents and five sisters: Mrs. D. O. Firth, Campbellton, N. B.; Mrs. Louis Walker, Upper Granville; Mrs. L. H. Balcom, Paradise; Miss Alice M. Troop, of the teaching staff of Bridgetown; Miss Beatrice at home. All of whom have been most devoted in their care and nursing during these years. The funeral was held Saturday afternoon, conducted by her Pastor, Rev. W. J. Swetnam, who paid a touching tribute to the life of the deceased, and the influence it must exert on the community. Beautiful floral offerings appropriately represented the last love-token of family and friends. The sympathy of the neighborhood is extended to the bereaved ones.

MR. JAMES B. HALL

Our St. Croix correspondent writes: After an illness of several months Mr. James B. Hall passed away on Saturday, Dec. 27th, at the home of his son George, Arcadia, Yarmouth Co. He was born in St. Croix Cove in the year 1839 and resided on the homestead until the death of his wife nine years ago. Since that time he has lived with his children visiting them alternately until July, 1918, he went to the home of his son in Arcadia. Since that time he has been an invalid. As long as he was able to travel he gave an occasional visit to the old home and neighbours who were always glad to welcome him. He often expressed his fondness for the old place by saying "How dear to my heart are the scenes of my childhood." He was a good neighbour noted for his hospitality, a great lover of music and it was his delight to meet with friends and sing the old songs of Zion. He was a member of the Hampton Baptist Church. In politics a staunch Conservative and was at one time Councillor in Ward 4. He leaves to mourn their loss two sons, George, of Yarmouth; Edmund, Bridgetown, and two daughters, Mrs. Calvin Baker, Tremont; Mrs. Theodore Hill, Dorchester, Mass., all of whom were present to pay their last respects. His body was conveyed to Ste. Croix Cove where the funeral service was conducted by Rev. M. S. Richardson, pastor of the Bridgetown Baptist Church, who spoke very touchingly from Joshua 1st 11. Interment in St. Croix Cove Cemetery.

Recent Weddings

A Number of Interesting Happy Events

CHUTE—MARSHALL

A very pretty wedding occurred at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Marshall when their eldest daughter Nellie Stimpson was united in marriage to Mr. Morris Winifred Chute. The parlor was prettily decorated ending with bridal arch of evergreen and white roses, artistically arranged. At the appointed hour the bride entered the room on the arm of her father and proceeded to join the groom, to the strains of the wedding march played by the mother of the bride. They were preceded by Mr. Sherman Marshall as best man and Miss Harriette Marshall as bridesmaid, brother and sister of the bride.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. M. S. Richardson which was most impressive, the ring ceremony being used. The bride was becomingly attired in white silk with point de-esprit and silver trimmings the conventional veil being draped with orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of evergreen with white satin streamers. After the ceremony luncheon was served. There were many gifts, consisting of gold, silver, cut glass, linen, and several substantial checks, the groom's gift to the bride being a set of fox furs. After spending several weeks with relatives and friends, they will reside in Lynn, Mass. With all best wishes to them for a long and happy wedded life.

SPURR—CALDWELL

A very pretty wedding took place in the Centre Baptist Church, at eight o'clock last Wednesday evening, when Rev. M. S. Richardson united in marriage Lola, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Caldwell, and Mr. Charles W. Spurr, son of the late Wm. and Mrs. Spurr of Clarence. The bride was prettily dressed in white satin and crepe de chene, with wedding veil and orange blossoms, carrying a bridal bouquet of white carnations. She was attended by Miss Marjorie Roberts, of Bridgetown, who wore pink crepe de chene with picture hat, carrying a bouquet of pink carnations. The wedding march was played by Mrs. W. E. Reed, and the ushers were Charles Wheeler and Harry Lance. The church was especially decorated for the occasion by friends of the bride. After the ceremony the bridal party returned to the home of the bride where luncheon was served, after which the happy couple were conveyed to Clarence, where they will in future reside. The wedding gifts were many, consisting of cash, silverware, cut glass, linen, etc. The MONITOR extends best wishes.

NIGHT COUGH

You know it! It begins with a tickling, irritating sensation in your throat. You cough clear the throat. In a moment there it is again!

A minute's peace, then again you cough, and so on until you cough your throat sore, and by the time the cough is sufficiently allayed to permit you to sleep, you are thoroughly worn out. This kind of expense is particularly trying to old people.

Peps make this sort of thing quite unnecessary. Put a Peps pastille on your tongue and allow it to slowly dissolve. Healing fumigations are liberated, which mingle with the breath and are carried to the remotest parts of their passages and lungs, allaying the irritation and soothing the inflamed membranes, thus clearing the cough and making sleep possible.

Peps are also best for bronchitis, laryngitis, asthma, sore throat and colds. Try Peps at our expense. Send this advertisement and a 1c. stamp (for return postage to Peps Co., Toronto, Ont.) and receive FREE TRIAL PACKAGE, All dealers, 5c. box.

D. A. R. ENTERPRISE

(Annapolis Spectator)

People who noticed that the Owl train arriving at night had lately been shunted onto the wharves and sliding instead of the wharves as formerly may wonder why but travelers have not fail to notice and appreciate the warm cars which they stepped in the early morning. This effort is made possible through connection with a steamship recently laid in a trench from the locomotive to the cars now stop, connections being made with the car later while the engine is getting up steam. This is one feature of the permanence of the owl service and the fact that the D. A. R. management believe in catering to the comforts of passengers.

Irrigation Extends in the West

(1) Head Gates of C. P. R. Irrigation Canal near Calgary, Alta.

(2) Steps of an Irrigation Ditch near Gleichen, Alta.

The year 1919 stands out in the agricultural history of Alberta and Saskatchewan as having proved beyond all doubt the enormous benefits to be derived from farm irrigation. In the drought which affected nearly the whole of these provinces, the south country within the irrigation belt not only produced excellent crops, but in many localities yields were harvested well in excess of the average of what are called good years.

On 145,500 acres in the Leebridge District, 96,200 tons of fodder crops and 3,775,000 bushels of grain have been grown to the total value of about $6,750,000. Wheat was the largest crop produced, there being well over two million bushels. Other crops harvested included more than a million bushels of oats, nearly 400,000 tons of barley, 25,000 of flax, and 600,000 tons of alfalfa. In addition vegetables were grown and sold from this area.

As another example of what phenomenal yields may be taken from irrigated land, the case of a farmer at Brooks may be cited who on his farm produced a $9,000 harvest of alfalfa seed. The yield was 14 bushels to the acre, which sold in the neighborhood at $6. per bushel, and netted him a return of $740 per acre.

In the large irrigation block of the Canadian Pacific Railway east of Calgary there are approximately 223,500 acres of irrigable land, and approximately 110,000 acres, making more than 20 per cent was in crop this year. On the basis of this year's average production on irrigated land the total area is capable of producing crops to the value of between thirty and thirty-five million dollars yearly with an average of over $10 per year for each acre of irrigated land.

The Home Nursing Class resumes its weekly meetings in the Board of Trade Room this (Wednesday) evening, Jan 7th.

The fast ones have been out on the ice this week preparing for some good trotting on the river next Saturday afternoon.

The annual meeting of the Municipal council opens in Annapolis Tuesday morning. One of the important matters before the council this year will be the electric lighting of the county home and hospital, Church Road.

Notwithstanding that the MONITOR publishes all church notices free of charge (if the copy reaches us before Monday noon) no one took enough interest in the week of Prayer to hand in the subjects for publication in our issue.

There will be a special service in the Paradise Baptist church next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock, the unveiling of the tablet in honor of the soldiers from that vicinity who were killed in the service. All soldiers are invited to be present and in uniform, if possible.

FROM CITY TO FARM

(1) Gold Coin Potatoes grown from hand-selected tubers, and Marquis Wheat plot growing from hand-selected heads, on Rosehurst Farm, Cayley, Alberta.
 (2) J. W. Lucas, an Eastern Canadian city boy, now owner of this Western Farm.
 (3) Some of his Porkers.
 (4) Grade Percheron Horses, used by Mr. Lucas on his Rosehurst Farm.

We are continually hearing about the farm boy who goes to the city, but we hear little about the city boy who goes to the farm. Yet, just as many farm boys have become successful business men in our cities, so there are undoubtedly many city boys who have become successful farmers. This is more especially true in the countries that are being newly opened up such as Western Canada. Among the winners at the International Soil-Products Exposition held at Kansas City recently at least one, if not more, of the successful exhibitors was born and bred in a city and only became a farmer after he had reached manhood. John W. Lucas, who won prizes for white oats, bronze cross seed, barley and rye, had never been a farmer until he settled on his homestead in Cayley, Alberta, sixteen years ago. However, he has set to work to learn all he could about this noble profession and nobody can say that he has made a bad job of it.

Mr. Lucas was born in one of the cities of Eastern Canada. Like many other boys, whose parents are in moderate circumstances he earned money after school hours doing odd jobs, and in various ways. He was a member of the Y. M. C. A. and worked in Winnipeg for a year. He had always felt a desire to become a farmer, however, and it is not surprising that the call of the Canadian Government for settlers for free homesteads at once appealed to him. He came to Alberta in 1903 and located on his homestead in Cayley, in the southern part of the province, the same year.

He is now the owner of eight hundred acres of land in a block, and is interested, besides, in six and a half sections of land—4,160. On his farm he has produced as much as 139 bushels of oats to the acre and 66 bushels of wheat to the acre. The quality of his oats may be judged from the fact that for five years he won the premier honors for this crop at the Alberta Provincial Seed Fair. He has also been a regular exhibitor and prize winner at the International Soil-Products Exposition and other exhibitions held in the United States.

It has been Mr. Lucas' ambition to become a good farmer and he has spared no efforts to learn all he could about his profession. He spent the winters of 1912 and 1913 in Iowa as part of his agricultural education. Here he visited some of the best farms in the State, asked lots of questions, saw a good deal and came away with as much knowledge as he could gather. He considers these two winters spent in Iowa among the best investments he ever made. He learned much about horses, cattle and hogs, and also how good farmers select the ears of corn, how in this way they increase the yield, producing ears true to type and uniform in size. He learned that if corn could be so much improved by selection the same thing could be done with the heads of wheat, oats, barley and hills of potatoes. He came back to Alberta and began to use this knowledge. Not only has he increased the yield of these crops but has improved the quality and type as well. Instead of fields of oats, barley and other crops with heads of all sizes he has now fields of these grains with heads nearly all alike. By hand selection of potatoes, saving only the prolific hills true to type, he has been able to produce as high as thirty-seven marketable potatoes from one hill, and from one potato planted a yield of seventy-three pounds of potatoes. This is a record difficult to beat anywhere.

These are some of the things a city boy has been able to do on a farm. Not only has he become the owner of a large area of land but on this land he is producing crops of the highest quality and a maximum quantity. Practically the whole of the crop grown by him he sells as seed at a higher price than that obtained by the average farmer, and the demand for what he produces is greater than he can supply.

He is also a great believer in livestock. A man who has studied farming as he has done naturally would be. Cattle, hogs and horses are raised on his farm and the same pains-taking care in the selection of types and breeding is paid to livestock as he pays to the selection of grain, with results equally as satisfactory.

The success of John W. Lucas should be inspiring to many a city boy. "Any boy can do what I have done in this country," he says. "All it needs is persistence." To this may be added patience and a desire to excel, qualities possessed by most successful men, whether in city or country.

MICKIE SAYS

CHARLES SHAW

WAS A REGULAR CHURCH GOER

The Yarmouth Herald says: It is said of a certain lady that she had some caracol coats sent up on approval on Saturday and returned them on Monday morning with the message: "None was suitable." The next day she received a courteous communication from the head of the fur department returning her hymn book, which had been found in the pocket of one of the coats.

LIFT OFF CORNS!

Apply few drops then lift sore, touchy corns off with fingers

Freezone is the sensational discovery of a Cincinnati genius. It is wonderful.

Doesn't hurt a bit! Drop a little Freezone on an aching corn, instantly that corn stops hurting, then you lift it right out. Yes, magic!

A tiny bottle of Freezone costs but a few cents at any drug store, but is sufficient to remove every hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and the calluses, without soreness or irritation.

REAL LIVE TESTIMONIAL

Given to Professor Hamilton of Hampton Riverport, July 4th, 1914.

Professor Hamilton:

I wish to inform the public that I suffered for seven years with a swollen ankle. The swelling extended to my knee, and at times my leg would be quite fiery and then left full of brown spots from the knee to the ankle. My whole foot got stiff, and I could not move or bend any of my toes. My suffering was immense. In the coldest winter nights I could not keep my foot under cover. Sometimes the pain would be so great that I had to get out of bed and rub it to get a little relief; then I would fall into a dose only to be awakened by pain. I tried different doctors, but none helped me whatever. I used enough liniments to set up a small drug store, but of no avail. Hearing of Prof. B. S. Hamilton being at East Middle La Have, I determined to try him. At the second appliance he gave I could bend and move all my toes. I took in all a two months' treatment from him. The swelling all disappeared, stiffness left the foot, I can sleep now with foot under cover, and am completely cured. I owe all the cure to Prof. B. S. Hamilton.

HOW C. P. R. ENGINEER WON VICTORIA CROSS

It fell to the lot of a C.P.R. engineer, Pte. John Peter Robertson, to win the much coveted Victoria Cross at Passendale, November 6, 1917. Details came through authoritative channels that during his battalion's attack Robertson's platoon was held up by uncut wire two hundred yards from the final objective. Our guns were still busy cutting a way through the wire when a German machine gun opened fire and inflicted very heavy losses on the Canadians. Robertson, without waiting for orders and entirely on his own initiative, rushed towards the German gun, defying the machine gun's withering fire. Moreover, our artillery barrage was so intense that death seemed almost certain. Working his way to the tank, he eventually found an opening in the wire, got through, and crawled until the end of the emplacement was reached. Rising suddenly to his feet he charged down on the astonished Germans, and killed four of the gun crew before they could recover from the surprise. The remainder fled in terror, and the flight was soon cut short when Robertson seized the abandoned gun, screwed it around and poured a hail of bullets into the backs of the fast disappearing enemy. Several of them fell victims to their own weapon and others were caught by our shells. When the remainder of the platoon arrived Robertson was still firing the captured gun, and was entirely due to his heroic action that the whole line was enabled to advance and capture the final objective. Robertson went forward with the first wave, taking a gun with him. He used it very effectively to keep down the fire of German machine guns and snipers, while his platoon consolidated the new position. Later in the day when two of our snipers who ventured in front of our lines were wounded Robertson volunteered to bring them in. He went into the open, although exposed to a heavy enemy fire, lifted one man on his back and carried him safely to the trench, and immediately returned to the second man, staggering back with his unconscious burden while the bullets whistled around him. But as if cruel fate were awaiting until the last possible moment to overtake him, he was killed on the very parapet of the trench, his mission almost accomplished. His splendidly heroic end, like his dash-work done earlier in the day, had a most inspiring effect.

ATTENTION! Sick Women

To do your duty during these trying times your health should be your first consideration. These two women tell how they found health.

Hellam, Pa.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for female troubles and a displacement. I felt all run down and was very weak. I had been treated by a physician without results, so I decided to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial, and felt better right away. I am keeping house since last April and doing all my housework, where before I was unable to do any work. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is certainly the best medicine a woman can take when in this condition. I give you permission to publish this letter."—Mrs. E. R. CHURLING, R. No. 1, Hellam, Pa.

Lowell, Mich.—"I suffered from cramps and dragging down pains, was irregular and had female weakness and displacement. I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound which gave me relief at once and restored my health. I should like to recommend Lydia E. Coal in British Columbia and Alberta

British Columbia's resources of coal are one-sixth of the Dominion's total supply and represent 1.223 of the total estimated resource of the globe. The total tonnage of the deposits underlying British Columbia forests is $3,328 million tons, which is made up of 670 million tons of anthracite, 77,290 of bituminous, and 5,865 of lignite. The actual and probable reserves in the province are semi-anthracite 1.9 per cent; bituminous, 85.4 per cent; low carbon bituminous, 3.3 per cent; cannel, 2.4 per cent; lignitic, 7.0 per cent.

At present there are three main districts where mining operations are being actively pursued. These are the Crow's Nest Pass region in the eastern part of the province; the Nicola Valley district in the central part; and the eastern side of Vancouver Island. Besides these, other coal basins are known, and more or less prospected, but the lack of transport and communication have hampered any extensive development yet they constitute a reserve of great possibility.

The Crow's Nest coal field is the most important body of coal being mined in British Columbia, and includes an area of 230 square miles. The coal is high grade bituminous, occasionally running into anthracite, averaging 64 per cent fixed carbon. There are 22 workable seams with a total thickness of 216 feet, 100 feet of addition to this there are other coal bearing areas in southern British Columbia, notably at Princeton, where there is a field of 56 square miles, and at Nicola, where seams from 6 to 12 feet have been mined. The Nicola coal is sub-bituminous and analysis about 47 per cent fixed carbon, 39 per cent volatile, and 4 per cent moisture.

The total in Vancouver Island underlain by coal seams is about 600 square miles, and these coal fields contain some of the best steam coal on the Pacific coast. The coal of the Comox field is coking bituminous and contains 57.2 per cent fixed carbon, the highest carbon content of all the Vancouver Island coals.

The Nanaimo field has a productive area of 65 square miles, though the areas underlain by coal seams are larger than this. The coal fields of the Queen Charlotte Islands range from semi-anthracite to low-carbon bituminous in their deposits, whilst lignite is also found.

In Central British Columbia lignite is found at Alexandria, Quesnel, and Prince George on the Fraser, on the Nazco river, Nechako river, Deas river and Lightning creek. Three rich bearing seams exist on the Morice river, and three on Goat river.

In the Northern part of the province the most important coals thus discovered are the semi-anthracite and the anthracite of the Ground-Ho Mountain area. Here, an area of 170 square miles is assumed to be coal-bearing, and contains eight seams with an aggregate thickness of 70 feet.

The location of the British Columbia coal fields has a great bearing on their importance. One of the most productive mines of the Dominion is situated on the seaboard of the Pacific coast, which is of the greatest importance from an industrial and im-approximately parallel to the Rockies and extending from the international boundary to about latitude 55°. It is estimated that in these beds there are 789,000 million tons of lignite or sub-bituminous coal, and 11,358 million tons of low-carbon bituminous. The Belly River formation occupies a considerable area in the southwestern part of the province, the most important seam being in the vicinity of Lethbridge. The probable reserves in this area are lignite, 23 per cent, lignitic, or sub-bituminous, 10 1/2 per cent, low-carbon bituminous 60 1/2 per cent.

The Kootenay formation is exposed in and near the Rocky Mountains and is estimated as 1.7 per cent semi-anthracite, and 98.3 per cent high carbon bituminous or bituminous.

The production of the anthracite field, of which Banff is the centre, for the year 1917, was 108,225 tons which represents 2.3 per cent of the province's total output. The total amount of bituminous coal produced from Alberta mines was 2,199,305 tons or 46.4 per cent of output. The lignite production formed more than one half of the province's coal production with 2,428,833 tons or 51.3 per cent.

It has been estimated that the Alberta deposits of coal could supply the whole world's needs at its present rate of consumption for nearly a thousand years.

As seen from these figures the coal resources of the Province of Alberta are being rapidly tapped, and Canada is yearly importing more coal from the United States than her own mines are producing.

NATURAL GAS DEVELOPMENT

The first discovery of natural gas in the Province of Alberta of which we have record, took place in May, 1884, at Alderson, a station on the main line of the C.P.R., 35 miles west of Medicine Hat. The railway construction gang, boring for water, struck a heavy pocket of gas at a depth of 1,300 feet. A little later in the same year, gas was also discovered at Cassils, 6 miles further west, but while this well soon choked, that at Alderson continued to flow for many years.

In 1890, Medicine Hat, then but a small town, sank a well and found a small supply at 700 feet; four years later another attempt was made, and history tells how at the eleventh hour, with money all spent—facing bankruptcy—and despair, and gloom in the hearts of the mayor and city council, a sensational flow was uncovered at a depth of twelve to thirteen hundred feet. The cheap, apparently unlimited fuel supply, both for commercial and domestic purposes, is largely accountable for that city's growth and present prosperous condition.

There are several known gas fields in the Province of Alberta, but as yet only two have been utilized for commercial purposes to any considerable extent, namely, the Medicine Hat and Bow Island fields. Bow Island lies on the railway line about half way between Medicine Hat and Lethbridge, 180 miles south-east of Calgary.

In 1912 the supply was piped into the city of Calgary, as well as distributed en route to the city of Lethbridge, Macleod and other towns where it is used for both domestic and commercial purposes.

In the neighborhood of Pelican Rapids, Athabasca River, gas springs were known at least a century ago, and travellers going up and down the river, into the Peace River Country have cooked their meals there. Further well-known gas reserves are the Foremost Field, south of Bow Island, the Barnwell Field, midway between Bow Island and Lethbridge and the Viking Field, 33 miles east of Edmonton, and were it not for the difficulty of obtaining adequate piping, it is probable that this supply would have been utilized two or three years ago to furnish light, heat and power to Alberta's capital.

Prospecting is now going on in the Monarch Field, 40 miles southwest of Calgary, and at the Okotoks Field, 27 miles south. Along the foothills of the Rocky Mountains, in the vicinity of the apex of a well defined anticline similar to that one in the Okotoks Field, there are many pronounced gas seepages, and it seems probable that as in the former field, which had also a gas seepage, it will be a commercial producer.

The Imperial Oil Co. has commenced prospecting for petroleum along the last mentioned anticline, and it is stated, intends to carry vigorous prospecting from the International Boundary northwards to Hudson Hope on the Peace River. The production of both petroleum and natural gas seems favorable. This company also proposes further prospecting at other parts away from the mountains, where it has selected grounds for operation. In many parts of the province in drilling for petroleum, gas has been found; and indications are that there is an immense gas field remaining yet to be tapped, the exact location, size and probable capacity of which can only be proven by testing.

According to the report of the Canadian Bureau of Mines, in 1915, there was produced 4,378,947,000 cubic feet valued at $1,037,919, which is equivalent to 23.7c. per thousand cubic feet—the heat that could be obtained from upwards of two hundred thousand tons of coal.

The Natural Gases of Alberta are known as "wet" and "dry." The former is a profitable source of gas line, and already a considerable amount of that fluid has been produced, with a probable greatly increased production in the near future. The Medicine Hat and Bow Island fields are "dry," but there is no reason to conclude that much of the gas yet to be found will be "dry"—rather the reverse.

Helium, a non-combustible gas, very nearly as light as hydrogen and invaluable for balloons, has been extracted in considerable quantity from the Bow Island gas at Calgary, and shipped to Great Britain for war purposes. The termination of the war, has stopped the manufacture, probably, however, only temporarily.

CASTORIA

Fletcher's Castoria is strictly a remedy for Infants and Children. Foods are specially prepared for babies. A baby's medicine is even more essential for Baby. Remedies primarily prepared for grown-ups are not interchangeable. It was the need of a remedy for the common ailments of Infants and Children that brought Castoria before the public after years of research, and no claim has been made for it that its use for over 30 years has not proven.

What is CASTORIA?

Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. It is pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other narcotic substance. Its age is its guarantee. For more than thirty years it has been in constant use for the relief of Constipation, Flatulency, Wind Colic and Diarrhoea; allaying Feverishness arising therefrom, and by regulating the Stomach and Bowels, aids the assimilation of Food; giving healthy and natural sleep. Sir John Craig Eaton
New Director
C.P.R.

Honorary Colonel Sir John Craig Eaton, K.B., whose appointment to the Canadian Pacific Railway Company's directorate has been just announced, is best known to the mass of the American public as president and dominant personality of the T. Eaton Co. Ltd. of Toronto and Winnipeg, the largest departmental institution of the Dominion, for which his father, the late Timothy Eaton, fifty years ago laid the foundation. In official circles Sir John is even better known as probably the foremost Canadian in civilian co-operation with the forces of government during the war period. And in the realm of trade he leads as an exponent of scientific organization, while at the same time recognizing the human equation in the labor factor.

Sir John was born in Toronto, April 23, 1876, receiving his education in the public schools of his native city and Upper Canada College. He began his commercial career with his father's growing establishment, the business of which has more than doubled in volume under his administration, his individual foresight leading to the opening of the Western branch at Winnipeg in 1895, and the Moncton, N.B., outpost this past season. In addition to being president of the T. Eaton Co., he is director of the Dominion Bank, the Canadian National Exhibition Association, and Wellesley Hospital; a member of the Senate of Victoria College, Toronto; an honorary governor, trustee and member of the Finance Committee of the Toronto General Hospital; a member of the Toronto Board of Trade and of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association; also one of Canada's best known clubmen and sportsmen, with yachting, fishing and motoring as his favorite forms of recreation. Political honors, though proffered like Caesar's crown, he has time again refused.

Knighthood June 3, 1915, he was incidentally the recipient on Sept. 19th, 1917 of the special decoration of the Navy League, this being an exceptional honor conferred on but twenty-eight persons in all the Empire within the past twenty years. In partial explanation it will be remembered that early in the war Sir John turned over to the Admiralty his fine private yacht, the Florence, which served on the Atlantic Coast patrol under the ensign until no longer required, in the late autumn of 1918. During the war period he also organized, equipped and sent overseas the Eaton Machine gun batteries; while over $1,000,000 of his private fortune was expended in the maintenance of dependents of Eatonians at the front, the weekly payroll exceeding $10,000. Two thousand six hundred and eighty-two voluntary recruits went from the T. Eaton Co.'s establishments to the war—a man-power little short of three complete battalions—this splendid body representing 39.25 per cent of the company's male employees. And while the men were fighting for flag and freedom, Sir John provided liberally for their families at home, this wage roll of patriotism exceeding $2,000,000 in the ultimate total.

The inclusion of Sir John Eaton on the Canadian Pacific directorate gives that pioneer national transcontinental road not only another experienced business general capable of and accustomed to thinking and acting in large proportions. It also gives it a man who perhaps more than any other in the Dominion believes in the application of the Golden Rule to everyday affairs and has proven recognition of the human equation to be successful policy, in the operation of his own large concerns.
