FREEMASONRY.

hood Amongst Men.

Mr. Editor,--In a former correspondence we have looked at the frontispiece of the Temple of the great architect of the Universe; we concluded that whether the Word of God is inscribed on it or not, it makes no essential difference amongst the various branches of Universal Freemasonry, whether French or German, or Italian, or English. To day we will dare to step farther and go to the threshold of the temple, I will invite to come with us two friends of mine, sons of Anglican clergymen; Lord Beaconsfield; Lord Plunket; our inevitable and indispensable worshipful Master, brother D. J. Goggin, with his friend, the Yankee pedagogue; Frederick Prince of Orange; Henry Holbrook formerly of New Westminister, etc. etc. It will be a strange assemblage, but we cannot help it, when we deal or come in contact with the family of the triangle. My first friend the parson's son, look disgusted at the sight of Anglican clergymen in the masonic temple. In England his father had to give up freemasonry before he could be ordained priest of the Anglican church, and Lere in America he sees, bishops and priests of the English church priding themselves in being freemasons and giving precedence to the craft, over the church, even in church matters: Anglican Bishops and parsons are reduced to be the valets of the Worshipful Masters; whether pedagogues, or grocers, or something less. I had read, that as early as 1745 the Protestant consistory of Hanover declared that any preacher who was already a Freemason, should be compelled to resign his membership and abandon all practices connected with it; Your Esteemed Patronage and that in future all clergy should be favor of an unknown and self-constituted forbidden under strict penalties to join authority, or to bind ourselves irrevolves forbidden under strict penalties to join authority. the craft. on to say:

"When I consider these things I am not astonished that heaven indearth are moved system of Manitoba, and forever to bind the system of Manitoba, and forever to bind the schools are a part of a system. Conscience as a conscience against anti-public, unpartiotic can have sectarian common schools as any little churches, Methodist or any other. It appears, then, that, in the opinion of the worthy Doctor of Divinity, it is an ceremony of a requiem mass, because they ablior Roman Catholic doctrines, but it is a sweet, and tender, and generargument I will beg to introduce a dialogue, a tete-a-tete contabulation between. and how, at the same time you can address and the same time ous thing to make Roman Catholics pay repugnant to their conscience, their repugnant to their conscience, their faith, and their convictions, where is the difference? At what point does Dr. Carman draw the line? If Protestants may resent being taxed for Rsman Catholic man and the control of protective brotherhood of workingmen; your craft. As a grand pedagogue your we heard you were worshipful master in duty is to explain to them, if not to me, once masses, why may not Roman Catholica with good for Roman Catholica with good for the first with good for the lies with equal reason resent being taxed for schools of which they cannot in conscience avail themselves for the education of their children? It is not a case of what Dr. Carman or any other Protestant conceives to be the true system of schools, but a case of what the Roman Catholic believes to be just and right. The Roman Catholics do not ask that the schools of the majority shall be made little churches, Methodist or any other; nor do they insist that Protestants shall send their children to what Dr. Carman calls "anti-public, unpatriotic and purely sectarian schools." All they desire is the privilege of employing their own money, of using the taxes levied upon them, for the support of an educational system in accord yiews, and they willingly concede exactly the same privilege to their Protestant fellow-citizens. When the learned divine rails against the money of those of his religious persuasion being used to pay for masses, let him not forget that he is standing upon the very ground taken by Roman Catholics when they protest against being taxed for public non-sectarian school. What is a good principle in the one instance ought surely to be equally valid in the other. To paraphrase Dr. Carman's interrogation; on civicand political grounds in this free country all who desire a public school system, may of course, without let or hindrance, enjoy it and pay for it; but on the same grounds, why those who do not for a moment accept it, be committed to it and taxed with and

"PERILOUS TIMES."

The Protestant Bishop of Liverpool has recently delivered an address to the clergy of his diocese, in which he describes the perils of the day. His Lordship, Dr. Ryle, said :

"The times are perilous in the matter What are the facts? Infidelity arounds. Multitudes of people in every part of the country seem to have totally cast off all religion. They go neither to church nor chapel, as we know to our forrow in Liverpool, Many openly sneer at the Bible as an old fashioned defective book, and give God no place in their thoughts. Is not this perilous?' This is perilous and very perilous for the established Church, but it is a peril. which will save England from the first mentioned peril, infidetity. It was high time that the Catholic Church came to the rescue of Protestantism, as otherwise the entire nation would have collapsed into unbelief. Dr. Ryle cannot stand scoffing at Protestantism, but little by little he will see worse than that. Another century from now, his beloved Protestantism in England will have yielded either to Catholicity or to infidelity, For Churchmen to scoff at Protestantism is in his eyes a sin, nearly as great as to be a Papist; but the good Bishop ought to be more merciful to his faith. They only against their own church what Protestants did, in the time of the so-called Reformation, against the Church, from which they had separated. They have been taught to scoff at others, and, now, for variety's sake, they turn their irony againt Protestantism. Why, the sauce, that is good for the goose, is good for the gander. But let us hear about the next evil of the times:

"Indifferentism grows everywhere! Multitudes seem to care nothing about the distinctive doctrines of Christianity and to perceive no difference between truth and error. Everybody is thought and it does not signify a jot what a man believes! Is not this perilous?"

We do not doubt in the least the cor- any circumstance.'

rectness of this statement, but who is to ed this peril, -that preached that every man was the infallible interpreter of the Bible? If everybody is thought right and nobody wrong, it is but a consequence of the Protestant rule of faith. t'rotestantism is being more and more punished by the consequences of the very acts, wherein it has sinned.

The Bishop went on: "Look at the Sabbath breaking of the times. An enormous proportion of the inhabitants of our towns have not the slightest idea of keeping the Sunday oly. They like idling about, and not working, and pleasure seeking on Sunday well enough; but they never give the day to God. Millions around us are robbing God regularly once a week.

Is not this perilous?" To be sure, it is. It is bound to bring the curse of God over the nation. But My ces, your monotonous sermons; if they are not attracted inside the bare walls of your churches, where there is no God consequently, they do not find more than your breast and to say: "through my in your own neighborhood, the humble only by not working, but by going regularry to his church? Of him it cannot idea of keeping the Sunday holy." He has been instructed, both by his parents and he observes it too.

Rev. Doctor:

"Look at the drunkenness of the times. In spite of Christianity, tempor ance societies, teetotalism, and education, we are very intemperate people The number of public houses, gin palaces, and beer shops in every large town tells a tale, which cannot be mistaken. This sums of money spent in spirits and beer every year are perfectly astonishing. The testimony of judges and magistrates about the effects of drinking, as a cause of crime, is enough to make one's blood run cold. Is not this perilous?

It is a good thing that "Romanism" had nothing to do with these things These English Protestants must be another set of men than our Canadian Protestants. But if Protestantism in England be not powerful enough to stop drunkenness, by what special grace of heaven can it stop it in this country? Either the English ministers of the driven to admit that the question is Gospel neglect their duty in that respect, or their conferes here state falsehoods, and therefore, Protestantism counts for nothing in this temperance question, and Roman Catholics maintain that the eccannot claim credit for bringing about habits of temperance.

IT IS HIGH TREASON.

The story of the treatment of the Catholic minority in this province has no parallel in the political history of Canada since it became a part of the British Empire. It was conceived in a very forcible and interesting way. treachery and duplicity and brought forth in dishonor and in the violation of the most sacred pledges that it were what that decision might be, they would decline to be governed by it, to compete, and to urge subscriptions for reverance, and called upon the minority ing their pre-confederation rights and This was written in 1892. pronounced on an appeal from the su preme court of Canada, it has been held that an appeal lies to the Governor-General-in-Council on behalf of the minority of the province, inasmuch as certain rights or privileges given by prior provincial legislation to the min ority in educational matters had been affected by the Public schools act of 1890, and that, therefore, the Governor-General-in-council has power to make remedial orders in respect thereto. Whether or not a demand will be made by the Federal Government that that act shall be modified is not yet known to my government. But it is not the intention of my government in any way to recede from its determination to up hold the present public school system which, if left to its own operation, would n all probability soon become universal throughout the province.

Comment is unnecessary. The language speaks for itself. It is treasonable and infamous. It states the fact that the Privy Council decides that the rights of the Catholic minority have been invaded by the school acts of 1890, and that, therefore, the Governor-General-in-Council has power to make remedial orders in respect thereto. It acknowledges all this and then it says, we will not recede from the position we have taken. The Privy Council may decide what the law is, the Dominion Government may direct that decision be enforced, bu we decline to recognize the decision of the one or the authority of the other. We commend this precious piece of treason to those ultra loyal Protestant gentleman in Toronto who are getting up contra petitions to the Dominion government against the claims of Cath olic minority in Manitoba.

Tale From Winnipeg.

How Two Prominent Citizens of the Prairie Capital Regamed Health.

One Suffered from the Ffiects of Malaria And Indigestion, the Other from Nervous Prostration-Their Story as Told a Tribune Reporter. From the Winnipeg Tribune.

The modern world is decidedly skeptical, and in the case of cures by advertised medicines, it is sometimes remarked that they occur at long distances. Recently, however, the Tribune was told that a Winnipeg gentleman had passed through an experience as remarkable as any of those published, and inquiry into the matter revealed the fact that several prominent citizens of Winnipeg had been greatly benefited by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. One of these citi. zens is Mr. W. A. Charlesworth, the well known contractor, who during his residence in Winnipeg has added to the beauty and wealth of the Prairie Capital by erecting some of its finest and most substantial buildings. Naturally what Mr. Charlesworth would say as to the merits of a medical preparation would be read with interest by the many citizens who have met him in business and socially, and a Tribune reporter was detailed to get from him some particulars in the matter. Mr Charlesworth was seen at his beautiful and cosy home on William street, a few days since, and while unwilling to attract publicity, yet, for the benefit of those suffering as he once was he consented to give a simple statement of his case. About thirteen years ago, while living in the southern part of Illinois, near Cario, he had several attacks of malarial fever and ague, which left his blood poor and thin, and so deranged his system that for about ten years after he was a sufferer from chronic indigetion. He was also seen and fully confirmed what Mr. Charlesworth said. Some time ago Mr. Fairchild suffered from nervous prostration brought on by overwork, suffered also from a dull pain in the back of the head. After spending some time at a famons Chicago sanitarium he was advised to take something to build up his blood, the doctors mentioning Pink Pills in their list of things advised. At first be took a fluid preparation, but as he found this un-handy to take with him as he travelled, he decided to try Pink Pills, as Mr. Charlesworth had very strongly recommended them. Dear Sin,—Your "Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills" are the best regulator for the system that humanity can usa. Life is as the time-piece: frail and delicate are many of its works. A tiny particle of foreign substance adheres to the smallest wheel in the works and with its thereand the substance of the smallest wheel in the works is perceptible in its time-keeping, but wait you as the obstruction grows, the in egularity becomes greater, until at last, what could have been rectified with little trouble, in the beginning, will now require much ca, e in thoroughly cleansing the entire works. So it is in human life—a slight derangement is neglected, it grows and increases, imperceptibly at first them rapidly, until what could, in the beginning, have been cured with little tro ble, becomes almost fatal. To prevent this, I advise all to purify the system frequently, by the use of Morse's Pille, and so preserve v.gor and vital'ity.

Yours faithfully.

FATHER LACOMBE.

The Far-Famed Missionary of the North west is in Winnipeg-On His Way to Ottawa--Preached at St. Mary's Church on Sunday.

Rev. Father Lacombe the famous Inlian missionary of the Northwest arrived in Winnipeg on Friday last. He looks hall and hearty and seems to be groving younger in years judging from his activity. Father Lacombe is on his way east. He has a two-fold mission: one to make arrangements in connection with Father Langevin's consecration; the other to interview the Deminion Govern-THE Victoria Hockey team of Winni- ment on a scheme which he has formu-In connection ith the latter, the Rev. Father was seen at St. Mary's presbytery by a member of the press. He said that the condition of the half-breed population of the Northwest, amounting to THE Manitoba school case will come over 9,000 souls, was becoming deplor. and the progress of the white man, the The date of Archbishop Langevin's consecration has been changed to March 19, the feast of St. Joseph.

The Nor Wester states that the HudThe Nor Wester states the Nor Wester st they can for the half-breed. But this matters little. Knowing the true state of affairs I will tell them that though will be created cardinal, and in order the half-breed today is peaceable and quiet, the time will come when absolute starvation will force them to steal, and then they will be imprisoned. Is it not better to avert this evil now when it can be averted than to wait until more strennous measures must be resorted to?" He spoke very feelingly about the our introducers to the Indians.

Father Lacombe while in the east will ary to arrange for a special car on the C. P. R. to Winnipeg, in connection with by Rev. Father Accorsin. Arriving at DALTON McCarthy says he will "op He expects that at least forty clerics, the consecration services at St. Boniface. including bishops and priests, will come up from the east for the ceremony. PREACHES AT ST. MARY'S. On Sunday the Rev. Father preached from the pulpit of St. Mary's by special invitation of Rev. Father Gillet the pastor. His remarks were not characof oratory, but they certainly were most appealing, at least by reason of the sincerity with which they were made, and as delighted to appear once again before the people of St. Mary's. He then made allusion to the new archbishop, in which he said that St. Mary's parish had just reason to be proud for having given Mons. Langevin to the arbishopic of St. Boniface. He said that the late Mons. Tache before he died expressed his great with Mr. Arnold). It is only proper to add that the other leading ladies sided with Miss Barrett. This goes to show that after all there is at undercurrent of antipathy against Catholic institutions. And yet it is a well known fact that fully 50 per cent of the free patients attended at St. Boniface Hospital are strangers to the Catholic faith.

LOOK AT THIS.

Tache before he died expressed his great desirestal arge and the successor. "I don't say too much," he added, when I assert that the choice of antipathy against Catholic institutions. he added, when I assert that the choice of the late archbishop was the choice of Rome, the choice of the Oblate Congregation of 1,200 people and is parish priest of the Belcourt Mission.

Miss Sheridan was the name of Mother Genevieue before she became a Nun, and she belongs to a family of note who are well known in the United States. A portion of the convent was built by Miss Drexel, who is now a Nun—and the belance was erected by the present ing the Oblates of Mary Immaculate as the institution has become a grand ing the Oblates of Mary Immaculate as a religious community. This morning throughout this vast country, over the Rocky Mountains on to the Pacific coast Rocky Mountains on to the Pacific coast far up to the north, every member of the Oblate order renews his obedience to his superior." He said he was proud of his mother, the congregation. Next July it will be fifty years since an Oblate priest and a young brother put their foot on the banks of the Red River; the young brother was the late Mons Tache. young brother was the late Mons. Tache, "the old friend of my youth." who soom afterwards was to become the successor to Mons. Provencher. After fifty years of labor, he said, the the whole Northwest is studded with mission homes; not little huts built in the midst of Indian camps, but churches and schools. "Forty-five years ago," he said. "I passed through what is now Winnipeg on dog sleighs. He then touched upon the school question and said that he was not a prophet, but he could predict a settlement of this burning question. Though the clouds were dark, there were some bright spots where the sunshine of hope peeped through. "Our missionaries were teaching the Indians and half-breeds in this country before any government existed; we received not a cent for our labors; and now they want to deprive us of our rights. In the words of the late archbishop he would say that the question would never be settled, until it is settled in fjustice; we won't accept any compromise; we want justice Father Lacombe mentioned the name of Father Lacounce mentioned the name of Father Begreville, who was the celebrant of the mass; he was an old missionary; between them both they aggregated eighty-six years of missionary

He referred to his mission in going east, and said that he would arrange for the coming here of quite a large gathering, for the occasion of the consecration. The date of consecration had now been decided on March 19, the feast of St. decided on March 19 the feast of St. Joseph. It was expected that either Archbishop Walsh or Archbishop Cleary would be here in time to deliver an oration on St. Patrick, at the concert to be given in the Bijou on March 16, but as it is not likely now that they will reach the city before Monday, March 18, the committee in charge are looking elsewhere for a speaker. the institution has become a grand success. The very Rev. Father Malo was the first founder of schools at Bel-court and rendered valuable assistance towards the construction of the Convent. Rev. Father Accorsini remained at Belcourt and was the guest of Rev. Father Dupont, and the Rev. gentleman preached an eloquent sermon last Sunday in the St. Ann's church here-which was attended by a large congregation.

The subject was the immortality of the soul. Your correspondent continued on his journey to St. Anthony's mission and spent Sunday with his old friend Father Malo who has been appointed Dean of North Dakota diocese, and is living at St. Andrew's church 8 miles S W. of Belcourt. The Very Rev. Gentleman celebrated mass in St. Anthony's church last Sunday and preached an able sermon very appropriate for the

There are about 750 people in St. Anthony's mission which fills the church to its utmost capacity.

The total amount of Catholics belonging to St. John's, Belcourt, and St. Anthony's mission amount to two thousand four hundred and fifty. The Very Rev. Father Malo has been an Indian Missionary at Witnipegosis for ten years and four years at Lake Winnipeg, he is thoroughly conversant with the Indian language of this large mission and is giving good satisfaction to all, since his appointment here. These missions are situated along the Turtle Mountain, convenient to large tracts of timber, composed of oak, ash, elm, and popular,

In the Northwest REVIEW who order goods or other articles advertised, or ma inquiries concerning them will do the paper a kindness by saying to the advertiser that his advertisement was seen in its columns.

We would respectfully call the attention of every friend of the NORTHWEST REVIEW to the advertisements which appear in its columns from week to week. When you can buy goods just as good and as cheap from those public-spirited and liberal firms who advertise in and help to support your paper, we think you should spend your money with those who advertise in it. Before buying goods please look over our advertisements, and don't forget your friends.
