Cobequid Commander Says Misjudgment Was Made

COMBERS JUST AS HE ALTERED THE COURSE

Was Steering to Bring Steamer Three or Four Miles South of Trinity Light—Was Making Six or Seven Knots at Full Speed—Lead Showed 26 Fathoms—No Papers Saved

(Special to Times.)
Halifax, N. S., Jan. 20.—"I want it understood that I was steering and altered my course to bring me about three or four miles south of Trinity Light. I was not steering up to sight the ledge. I only thought to get up that far to see the light and I hoped to see the Forcher light, and the Lurcher light, and therefore did not alter my course too soon to sight the Lurcher."

"A misjudgment on my part in regard to the distance put me three or four miles off the course. Just as I altered my course a moment later I saw combers breaking over the reef."

Captain Howson, R. N. R., who was in command of the steamer Cobequid when she grounded on Trinity Ledges on the way to St. John on last Tuesday morning made this statement at the conclusion of his evidence at the enquiry into the disaster yesterday afternoon.

Another important fact brought out at the hearing was that none of the ship's papers were saved. The chief officer said that the only paper saved was his certificate. The log book and many other valuable papers stored in the chief officer's room were swept away by heavy seas which came over the ship on the day she grounded.

Captain Howson said that when the steamer struck she was going at full speed, although she was not making more than six or seven knots. "I was going full speed after midnight in order to get an even speed," he said. "From 8.30 o'clock on the day that the steamer grounded soundings were taken every half hour and the least was twenty-six fathoms were recorded each time."

Captain Howson said that the only lights seen after the commencing of the wreck were the lights of Seal Island and Seal Island Light. He did not see a light on Trinity bar. When the ship struck the ledge it put the grapple in the compass out of commission.

"Did you have a book showing the lights?" asked the commission.
"It had the ordinary book of lights," he said.
"It was not a local one?"
"No."
"When did you see the buoy on Trinity Ledge first?"
"Just after daylight, about eight o'clock, I guess."

The S. O. S. signal was first sent out at 6.15 and no answer was received from Cape Sable until 6.34. Communication, according to the captain, was next established with Kron Princess Cecilie. Captain Howson was briefly examined on many other points such as what was done to attract attention of passing steamers, to save the passengers in the event that the worst came to the worst, whether the life boats could have been properly manned and whether they were ready to be lowered, whether the passengers were given every consideration, and what was done to get in touch with other steamers after the wireless gave away.

First Officer's Evidence
At the resumption of the enquiry this morning Chief Officer Kirby was recalled at the request of H. Melish, counsel for Captain Howson. He was questioned in regard to the time of watch and when he knew the exact location of the ship. At the time she struck he did not know the ship's location but did soon afterwards.

CHINESE BANDITS RAVAGING AGAIN

Missionaries Driven From Station, One is Wounded—Revolutionary Leader Stabbed to Death

Hankow, China, Jan. 20.—Mr. Lilligard, a missionary of the American Lutheran mission, was wounded in one arm on January 16 in fighting at Kwang Chow, in the Province of Honan. An army of bandits under "White Wolf," who has been devastating the district, on that date captured and looted the mission house and took refuge in a country farm house belonging to Chinese Christians.

While the fighting was proceeding, Mrs. Mason and Mrs. Smith, escorted by Mr. Mason, another missionary, deserted the mission house and took refuge in a country farm house belonging to Chinese Christians.

The brigands are now ravaging the southeastern portions of Honan as they have done the southwestern portions. London, Jan. 20.—A Tien Tsin despatch to the Daily Mail says that after the arrival of the express from Peking on Monday, the body of a man who had been stabbed to death, was found in one of the carriages. He was identified as a revolutionary leader, Jung Kweshing, who was implicated in the murder of General Sung Shiao Jen, ex-minister of education in Shanghai in last March.

(Special to Times.)
London, Jan. 20.—Rev. G. S. Duncan, who has been called to St. Andrew's Presbyterian church, Beaver Hall Hill, Montreal, preached his farewell sermon on Sunday evening in St. Catharine's Parish church, Edinburgh. Further the call came unanimously and was unlooked for by him, whilst the congregation had agreed to place a sum of £60,000 at his disposal for the purpose of rebuilding the church.

PORTLAND SUNDAY SCHOOL

William McIntosh referred to the work of the Sunday school in being able to provide a new room for his class, which has grown too large for its former quarters. The girls of Mr. McIntosh's class provided an elaborate supper for those present. The entertaining committee was in charge of Mrs. A. B. McInnes and Miss Evelyn Ewing, who were assisted by Miss Jessie Cunningham, Mrs. Smyler and Mrs. J. Rowler.

SHOOTS WIFE IN BANGOR; TURNS GUN ON HIMSELF

Wm. Crane Called on Her And Demanded Money

SHOT WHEN SHE REFUSED

Husband Had Been Drinking—Bullet Hit Wife in Arm—She Will Recover But He Is Likely To Die

(Special to Times)

Bangor, Me., Jan. 20.—Angered by alleged infidelity on the part of his wife, Alice, and crazed by liquor, William Crane of Bangor shot and attempted to murder her in the Silver House in this city yesterday. After firing one shot at the woman, which took effect in her arm, he turned the revolver on himself and tried to commit suicide. The bullet penetrated his right side and he is not expected to live. His wife's injuries are not serious and she will recover.

According to the story told by the woman, who is employed as a cook in the Silver House, Crane entered the kitchen and demanded money from her. She refused on account of his condition, and ordered him to go out. Then she says he shot her.

After he was taken to the police headquarters and before being removed to the hospital, Crane admitted the shooting and accused his wife of infidelity, naming an acquaintance of hers.

"I ruined my life," he said, "and I intended to put an end to it all."

LORD STRATHCONA IS NEAR THE END

Reported Dying—Became Unconscious at Half Past Four This Afternoon

(Special to Times.)

London, Jan. 20.—Lord Strathcona and Mount Royal, high commissioner for Canada, is dying. The physicians in attendance reported that he became unconscious at half-past four o'clock this afternoon.

London, Ont., Jan. 20.—(Special)—A London special cable says: "Lord Strathcona, who has been suffering from a long illness, is reported to be near the end of his life."

His greatest personal sorrow, the death of his wife, Lady Strathcona, is reported to be a factor in his illness.

At the opening of the January sitting of the Supreme Court, Chancery Division, this morning the judges recently appointed to the Court of Appeal and Chancery Division were sworn in. The oath of office was administered by J. Howe Dickson, clerk of the executive council in the presence of a large number of barristers and others. Among those present were: Sir Frederick E. Buxton, Lord Justice of Appeal, and the King's Bench Division, who were sworn in by the Lord Justice of Appeal.

After the oaths were administered, Lord Justice of Appeal congratulated the judges and expressed to them the kindest feelings of the bar. Chief Justice McLeod thanked the members of the bar for their good wishes, saying that he had always found his relations with them most pleasant.

Mr. Justice White and Mr. Justice Grimmer, the other judges of the Court of Appeal and Chancery Division also replied to Mr. Buxton's address and Judge Grimmer expressed a wish that he would have the consideration of the bar as an assistance to him in carrying out the duties of his new office.

Each of the speakers also eulogized Sir Frederick Barker and paid tribute to his excellent record.

Sir Frederick made a brief but feeling reply, saying that he would miss the court rooms and chambers which had become a second home to him, having occupied them for the last twenty years, and he would feel keenly his severance from the bench and bar.

It is interesting to note in connection with these matters one section of the new act which came into force on January 1 of this year, as follows: "The judges of the court of appeal and the judges of the King's Bench Division shall reside in the city of St. John (Continued on page 7, sixth column)"

HIGH COMMISSIONER FOR SOUTH AFRICA

(Special to Times.)

London, Jan. 20.—The London correspondent of the Glasgow Herald, discussing the question of the appointment of a successor to the late Sir Richard Solomon, says that all desire to see the appointment of a South African high commissioner who is able to foster the growing commercial interests between Britain and the union.

"Canada," he adds, "has not only a leading commercial representative in Lord Strathcona, but a picturesque high commissioner."

The names before the union government in connection with the appointment are John X. Merriman, J. W. Jagger, and Sir F. DeWail.

SEVEN KILLED IN GUN BATTLE IN PRISON OUTBREAK

Desperate Dash For Freedom By Three Convicts

ALL GO TO THEIR DEATH

Three Officials and a Visitor Also Slain and Telephone Girl, Carried as Shield by Outlaws, Is Wounded

(Canadian Press)

McAlester, Okla., Jan. 20.—Quiet prevailed today at the state penitentiary where, last night, seven persons lost their lives during a battle between guards and three convicts who attempted to escape. The bodies of three prison employees and three convicts were in the penitentiary morgue; while in the city, a few miles distant, the body of Judge John R. Thomas of Muskogee, a visitor at the prison, and killed by a convict's bullet, awaited final preparations for shipment to relatives.

In the prison hospital suffering from bullet wounds, were Miss Mary Foster, telephone operator at the prison; John Martin, turnkey, and C. L. Wood, guard.

The bodies of H. D. Dwyer, head of the Bertillon department; Patrick Oates, assistant deputy warden, and F. C. Godfrey, a guard, will be held for word from relatives.

Pistols, smuggled into the prison, and reaching to hands of Charles Koonz, China Reed and Tom Lane, the convicts who gave their lives in their dash for liberty, were the cause of the tragedy.

Armed with their pistols, Reed, Lane, and Koonz, when labor ended for the day in the tailor shop, made their way (Continued on page 7, seventh column)

EASIER MONEY

Local Bank Manager Speaks Of Good News From Abroad

From indications in the English market and the tone of prominent financial journals, local bank managers are becoming more optimistic with regard to the money situation. The Bank of England is the chief director of affairs in the commercial world, and from it are regulated conditions throughout banking circles, so that it is the sign of how the "wind blows" when its rates are lowered. Recently they were reduced from five to four and a half per cent, and there is a possibility of still further decrease to four per cent, on Thursday.

The action is expected to be reflected generally, and its effect will be felt in Canada as elsewhere. One prominent manager said today that it could hardly be thought that Canada's commercial centres would feel the effects of the easier situation in London, Berlin and elsewhere on the continent for at least a couple of months, but it was assuredly coming.

HORSEMEN DECIDE ON SEVERAL MEETS THIS SEASON ON MOOSEPATH

The St. John Matinee Driving Association last evening decided to stage several meets this winter on Moosepath. The general opinion seemed to be that this branch of sport was on the boom in St. John, judging by the number of good horses that are to be seen on the Marsh road speedway.

The meeting was held in the office of George A. Clark, with the president, John Jackson, in the chair. The following were elected: Secretary, Fred W. Kelly; treasurer, Raymond Baxter; assistant secretary, F. T. Mullin; managing and racing committee, William Brown, F. W. Kelly, John Glynn, W. A. Reid, Fred Emery, William Brickley, Alexander Long and George A. Clark. All races will be under National Trotting Association rules.

I. C. R. MEN AGAIN GATHER IN MONCTON TO MEET MR. GUTELIUS

Rev. Dr. W. W. Weeks, a former First Baptist pastor, now of Springfield, Mass., passed through Moncton en route to Sydney on a visit to his old home. He will preach in the First Baptist church pupil here on next Sunday.

Whole Plot To Free Krafchenko Is Told Of

Buxton Says Desperado's Lawyer and Policeman Reid Engineered It

Tells Royal Commission in Winnipeg That He Secured Rope and Revolver—Talk of Wealth Which Prisoner Had Hidden Away

(Canadian Press)

Winnipeg, Man., Jan. 20.—"I've defended a good many murderers, and none of them was ever hung, and I don't want this one to hang. If we can't get him on the street one way, we will have to try another."

According to John H. Buxton, under arrest for assisting in the escape of Krafchenko, testifying yesterday afternoon before the royal commission, Percy Hagel, who Buxton says, engineered the whole plot for escape, had no other motive than to get Reid out of it, and had tried to warn Reid that it could never be pulled off, but Reid, he said, was insistent that it was worth the chance.

Although admitting at first that Hagel was the prime instigator of the whole plot, Buxton's later evidence tended to show that Reid had taken the most active part in planning the details.

Holt Forced Into It
Buxton was followed on the stand by Frank Holt, a young fellow of good character. He was arrested in the afternoon, and is held as a material witness. He was worked into the plot involuntarily. He is an employee of the Security Mortgage warehouse and helped Krafchenko in one of the upper stories, as he said, in fear of his life. Thrice in the story, he mentioned his "girl friend" telling how he took her to Zion church on Sunday night and how in his predicament he had made a clean breast of the story to her, receiving in return an insistent demand that he reveal the whole story to the police.

The most striking feature of the two stories was the fact that all who were implicated were acting apparently without any compelling impulse. To all of these, who assisted Krafchenko, he was almost a complete stranger. All say there was no promise of reward. They seemed to be hypnotized by the personality of the hand.

From Buxton's statement Reid appears to have been the prime mover. It was he who made the arrangements with Krafchenko, but Buxton was so much afraid that this could be traced if Krafchenko were caught, of his attempt at escape failed, that he prevailed on Reid and Hagel to give it back when he succeeded in having the other one stolen from a store. It was the stolen revolver that was given to Krafchenko and it was the same revolver which was found in a waste paper basket in the room where the bandit was captured on Sunday night.

Buxton detailed at length the various meetings with Reid and Hagel when he was in the plot.

At one time, Buxton said, Reid had a revolver belonging to Buxton to give to Krafchenko, but Buxton was so much afraid that this could be traced if Krafchenko were caught, of his attempt at escape failed, that he prevailed on Reid and Hagel to give it back when he succeeded in having the other one stolen from a store. It was the stolen revolver that was given to Krafchenko and it was the same revolver which was found in a waste paper basket in the room where the bandit was captured on Sunday night.

Buxton detailed at length the various meetings with Reid and Hagel when he was in the plot.

CARSON SAYS HE WILL GIVE COMMAND WHEN TIME COMES Belfast Unionists Renew Pledge Not To Submit To Home Rule

London, Jan. 20.—Sir Edward Carson, in a speech in Belfast on Monday evening, said:
"I am most tired of speaking. I long for action. Come what may, I will see this fight through. When the time comes, whatever be the consequences, I shall not hesitate to give the word of command."

He went on to say that he and his followers would prostrate themselves before the throne and ask the king to save them, assuring him that none of his subjects were more devoted to the sovereign, and he did not believe that this appeal would fail. They would also kneel to a higher power and ask Him to guide those governing them, in the faith that a righteous cause must prevail.

The meeting, amid much enthusiasm, passed a resolution reaffirming the covenant and pledging themselves to stand together under Carson, to maintain Ulster's present position in the United Kingdom, to do their utmost to defeat the home rule "conspiracy" and to ensure that home rule will never be established in Ulster.

HEARST SAYS HE HAS NOT BOUGHT MONTREAL HERALD
(Special to Times)

New York, Jan. 20.—According to the Sun this morning, William R. Hearst, who returned yesterday after a week's pleasure trip in Canada, said that reports that he had bought the Montreal Herald were unfounded.

He said he had not thought of buying any Montreal newspaper and did not see "why such silly rumors were sent out from that city."

"Moulting Time" In the Stores
January is the season when the stores go through the process of cleaning stocks—a natural and healthy business transaction.

They plan to get out all the winter merchandise they can and get ready for spring. Believing in the adage that "Trade follows the price," they act accordingly. What the advertising at this season of the year may lack in literary quality it more than makes up in pocket-book appeal.

Glance through the advertising in today's Telegraph and Times and you will see the passing of the seasons. The new goods are knocking at the doors and you find the whippers of spring creeping in with the passing of winter.

As they "take stocks" most of the merchants are making their business plans for 1914. If you asked them what the most important part of these next year plans were, they would tell you: Provision for advertising in the newspapers!

SALVATION ARMY CABARET
Free Drinks With Lunch and Songs
Served Every Night

New York, Jan. 20.—Major Wallace W. Winchell, superintendent of the Salvation Army Industrial Home in Jersey City, was just getting ready to go to bed when the idea struck him of starting a Salvation Army cafe and cabaret.

"I've got converted bartenders and cabaret singers at the home," he said to Mrs. Winchell, "and I know that they would be glad to help."

Right after breakfast the major called up a lawyer for the Public Service Gas Company and rented the company's abandoned office. Then he sent a half-dozen able-bodied men to the place. By nightfall they had built a bar, forty-two feet long, for the converted bar tenders. A stove was set up, tables were put in and as soon as a converted sign painter had completed his task for the day, two panes of ground glass were put in the front door, one of which bore this strange device:

"S. A. Cafe and Cabaret."
The other side:
"Free Drinks With Every Lunch."
At its opening old young men and young old men slouched in. Many shivering in cast-off summer clothing. Everybody was hungry and all agreed the major's oxtail soup was good.

The major expects that his converted cabaret artists will sing up-to-date songs with Salvation Army words.

BRYAN IN REVIVAL CHOIR
With His Wife, Secretary Drops in on "Billy" Sunday at Pittsburgh

Secretary of State William J. Bryan, and Mrs. Bryan appeared unexpectedly the other night at the Tabernacle, in Pittsburgh, where "Billy" Sunday, a baseball evangelist, was holding a revival. A policeman refused to admit them as the Tabernacle was crowded. After Mr. Bryan had identified himself they were admitted through the stage entrance.

They found seats among the choir. Both were standing with hymn books in their hands, singing a gospel song with the choir, when they were discovered.

"I am an admirer of Mr. Sunday," said Mr. Bryan, "and I believe that he is accomplishing a great deal of good. This is the first opportunity I have had to see him in action, and I have enjoyed it very much. I am making a train connection, en route from Kansas to Washington. We arrived at 6.10 this evening, and had four hours to spend here."

Secretary Bryan wanted to meet the evangelist, but declined to permit him to be disturbed. The meeting was under way when he and his wife arrived, and he had hoped it would be over in time for him to interview Mr. Sunday before leaving for the capital. Mr. Sunday was calling for converts to "hit the sawdust trail" when the secretary of state and his wife were leaving.

Feel Out of Sorts?

It's a good idea to look for the cause!

One common, but often unsuspected cause is tea and coffee drinking. Yet some persons seem able to get along with tea or coffee—at least for a time. But when headachy, bilious days come; breakfast or some other meal doesn't taste good; and the day's work goes wrong. (Ever feel that way?)—then it's time to find out for sure if tea and coffee are causing the trouble in your case.

There's a subtle, poisonous drug, "caffeine," in tea and coffee that interferes with the normal functions of body, brain and nerves, and has a lot to do with one's comfort and progress.

Suppose for a test you try the simple expedient of quitting tea and coffee and using well-made —a pure food-drink made of choice wheat. It has a delightful, snappy flavor, and is absolutely free from caffeine or any other drug.

After ten days or two weeks you will be able to decide whether to go back to tea and coffee troubles, or stick to Postum and peace and comfort.

Postum comes in two forms.

Regular Postum—must be well boiled.

Instant Postum—doesn't require boiling, but is prepared instantly by stirring a level teaspoonful in an ordinary cup of hot water and adding cream and sugar to taste.

Grocers everywhere sell both kinds.

PASTOR CALLS HIS FLOCK HYPOCRITES AND THEN RESIGNS

Rev. Mr. Bullard Worried Of Vain Fight

HITS AT "DANCING CLIQUE"

East Orange Clergyman Tells of Gambling By Boys and of Unchristian Spirit Towards Strangers—Makes Accusation of Deceit

Men cannot tango with the devil and walk with God. When they insist on doing so it is time for their pastor to hold their souls up to the light.

This is the way the Rev. Charles B. Bullard of East Orange, N. J., epitomized his attitude toward the congregation of the Elmwood Presbyterian church at East Orange to whom he resigned his pastorate with the explanation that he did not wish to minister to hypocrites and pharisees, says the New York Sun.

Mr. Bullard has been pastor of the Elmwood church for fourteen years. He is a chaplain of the Sons of the American Revolution, an alumnus of the Union Theological seminary, and is one of the best known Presbyterian preachers in the neighborhood of New York.

His retirement from the Elmwood pulpit did not surprise friends who knew the drift of things in the congregation, but the pastor's spirited method of taking leave has caused a sensation in East Orange.

He told a reporter for The Sun just why he made up his mind to leave the Elmwood church. The Rev. Mr. Bullard is sixty years old, but looks younger. He is tall and straight, has smiling brown eyes, and talks with a young man's enthusiasm.

"I have resigned," he said, "because I will not tolerate the un-Christian words and deeds of a faction of the congregation. They have turned a chill and unfriendly eye upon newcomers who did not belong to their set."

"They froze out worthy families who wanted to ally themselves with the Elmwood church. They lacked Christian fellowship. The real reason the pews of Elmwood are not better filled is because of the wranglings and jealousies of a clique."

"This clique introduced dancing in the parish house. I have been a minister of liberal mind, but I will not tolerate tangoes and turkey trots or any form of dancing in connection with church activities. If people want to dance outside the church, that is their own affair, but the Presbyterian church forbids such dancing as I speak of."

The danger of making it a part of the recreation of the church is emphasized by a recent happening which touched, though it did not involve, the social life of our young people. I refer to the downfall of a young man and the disgrace of a young woman."

Boys Gambled, He Says
"The faction I refer to permitted young boys to gamble, permitted lotteries to be held, and instead of taking the decent and proper attitude toward me when I protested, I was defied in my just authority, when I tried to shield the fair name of the church."

"Members of the faction worked against me in an unmanly and unchristian way in a deliberate and systematic attempt to oust me from the pastorate. They started a pretended investigation as to whether or not the people wanted a change of pastor. They stated that 95 per cent of the people wanted a change. They violated Christian courtesy as well as the prerogatives of sessions and presbytery under Presbyterian order."

"They used offensive expressions to me on various occasions. They told me that my protests against gambling had given a blow to the church from which it could not recover for several years. They misrepresented my words and acts utterly and unjustifiably. If what I had said gave offence it was because I had to cut deep into the consciousness of wrong doers.

"They assailed my truthfulness directly and by insinuation. They said I had misrepresented the real condition of the church membership, that I had lied, in plain words, and that I had driven support from the congregation. They treated me arrogantly. Some of these men told me that I did not exercise proper leadership, that I was over-zealous and that my usefulness was at an end."

Accuses Opponents of Deceit
"On top of that they came to me with smooth words in their mouths and protestations of personal regard. But I loathed their duplicity. Their spirit forbade confidence. Until the policy of the present leaders in the church work is changed I see no possibility of real advance. If the church were able to secure some great preacher whose name would draw crowds and fill every pew the work of God would not prosper until jealousy, wrangling and duplicity now existing have been purged from the church life by repentance and prayer."

"I cannot tolerate hypocrisy and ingratitude. I withdrew in the hope that the congregation will be awakened to real conditions. I thank the members of the congregation who have stood by me loyally."

H. PRICE WEBBER CLOSES THIRTY-EIGHT THEATRICAL SEASON

Has Been 41 Weeks Traveling—
Next Season to Open on Easter
Monday

Morning Advertiser, Oxford county, Me., January 9:—

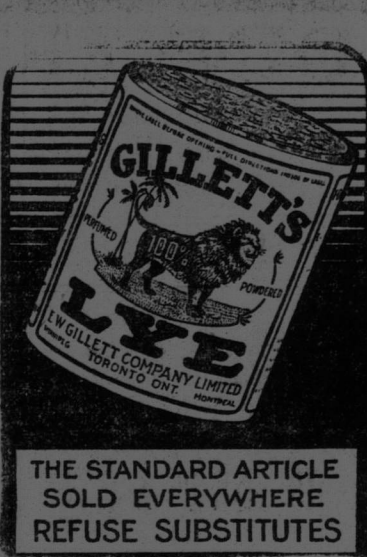

In returning thanks to the people of Norway in his speech at the Opera House last night, H. Price Webber spoke of the very liberal patronage he had received for the last thirty-five years and paid a just tribute to the memory of Major General George L. Beal and Fredland Howe, two of our best citizens, who were prominent in helping Mr. Webber, when under adversity in his earlier days of management. The large audience present cordially endorsed Mr.

Webber's timely and graceful remarks and were pleased at his announcement of a return visit next season. He thanked the editor of the Advertiser for courtesies received and inventively mentioned the editor's fitness to be Prime Minister of Guanama, the audience thoroughly agreeing in the remark.

Mr. Webber's company closed their season of forty-one weeks and left for their homes this morning. The next season will open on Easter Monday and will be Mr. Webber's 39th consecutive year.

Norway people told Mr. Webber before the show that owing to our shoe factories being closed down just now that it was thought he would not have as large an audience as usual, but he says there were more dollars received from the house than the Norway manager thought there would be people present. As a showman and as a man H. Price Webber has a big hold on the people that has lasted well on towards a half century.

A WOMAN'S WAY ADDS TO LIST OF SUCCESSES

Opera House Presentation Promises Another Enjoyable Week

The new type of woman who does not allow her father or husband to make for her any decision affecting her whole life, who is not content with winning a husband but who will fight to keep him and who can meet "the other woman" on common ground and defeat her, was exemplified at the Opera House last evening in Miss Brandt's presentation of the role of Mrs. Howard Stanton in "A Woman's Way." A charming type it is too, purely feminine but governed by common-sense instead of by emotions and traditions, according to Miss Brandt's interpretation. The play gave the leading woman of the Thompson-Woods Stock Company one of her best opportunities of the season and her work was eminently satisfactory.

For several seasons Miss Grace George starred in this vehicle and the play is worthy of the actress. It deals in a frank manner with some phases of modern life and, while preaching sound doctrine for the successful management of domestic affairs, it primarily aims to amuse and does so very thoroughly. The play is cleverly written with many amusing situations and much clever dialogue. Every member of the company has a good part and each added to the success of the production. The play was adequately staged, the dining room scene in the third act being especially effective. Mr. McHenry has a role for which he is better suited than that of Wallingford and he makes the most of it. His newly found affinity is ably represented by Miss Derby in the role of the dashing widow. Edwin Hodge, Kenneth Fleming and Rubeen Weyer, as the young men who all had once loved the widow, and Mr. St. John as the elderly general who was willing to begin, all had excellent comedy roles. Miss Bridges made a very impressive society matron. Miss Davis invested a small role with the distinction which always marks her work and Miss Bishop and Miss Delmore capably filled the other feminine roles. Mr. Fager gave a good presentation of the role of the enterprising reporter and Mr. Drummond appeared as the inquisitive English butler.

The play will be presented all this week and should draw large crowds.

THE DOUBLE WORK OF THE BLOOD

The circulation of the blood is one of the most perfect pieces of mechanism in the universe. Besides carrying nourishment to every part of the body the blood collects the waste products and passes through the kidneys in order that these poisons may be eliminated. Hence you see the tremendous importance of keeping the kidneys in healthful working order so that they free the blood of these impurities before they find lodgment in some weak spot and set up serious disease. Aching back and aching head, troubles with the digestion, deposits in the urine, constipation and biliousness—such are the symptoms which indicate the need of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. The liver is awakened to action, the bowels regulated, and the kidneys made vigorous in their work of purifying the blood.

In the great majority of homes Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are kept at hand for use in just such cases. They save many doctor bills, and by keeping the digestive and excretive systems in health do much to prolong life and bring comfort in old age.

Pure, clean, whole leaf teas, such as are alone used by the "Salada" Company, are much to be preferred to those of many that are sold laden with dust. This is the secret of their success.

TO OPEN NEW DEPARTMENT

John Condon Secures Exclusive Selling Rights For R. T. Tooke's Shirts and Furnishings—Will Alter His Semi-Ready Store to Accommodate Men's Haberdashery

Alfred Wood, president of the R. J. Tooke Limited, is in the city today conferring with John P. Condon, of the Semi-Ready Store.

Mr. Condon has been for some time considering the advisability of opening a furnishing department in his handsome store on King street, and he has just closed arrangements with the R. J. Tooke Company to secure their exclusive representation in St. John. He will have the R. J. Tooke shirts and collars, with their neckwear, underwear and all the fine furnishings.

"I am going to make room for the new department on the East side of my store, and to do this I am going to reduce my tailoring stock. The only way to do this, and to do it quickly, is to have a sale—a clearance that will be quickly effected. I'm going to sell exactly 100 suits and 50 overcoats at half the label price. This is, of course, away below cost—even below the cost of manufacture."

"And this sale will start on Thursday, and the velocity of the bargains should clear out that wanted space like a wind on the Bay of Fundy."

Mr. Wood, who is president of the R. J. Tooke Company, is a former daily newspaper editor and proprietor. He entered manufacturing life some ten years ago, and is now on the directorate of half-a-dozen of the best known industrial enterprises in Montreal. He is vice-president of two companies and a director of three companies with headquarters in Montreal.

"THE HOUSE OF MYSTERY"

A STRONG GEM FEATURE

A detective story with a well connected plot and a thrilling narrative was presented yesterday at the Gem Theatre in two reels with a strong cast of players. It was entitled "The House of Mystery" or "By Jansen's Hands" and proved a most pleasing production. The story was capably enacted and gave much pleasure to all who saw it. In addition to this there was a splendid drama by the Imp Players entitled "The Regeneration of John Storm" showing a woman's influence upon a man inclined to wayward habits, and having a romantic trend throughout its course. Two Biograph comedies were given, "The Stolen Milk" and "The Jailer's Revenge" both of which were given with the usual standard of cleverness maintained by this company. The evening's programme, a whole hour's show and more. Under H. W. Bushman's direction the orchestra was heard in several new and pleasing Metropolitan hits. This programme will be repeated this evening.

AMUSEMENTS

AT THE LYRIC.

A vaudeville act in which three talented performers take part and called the Ver Vallin Trio, is the treat which patrons of the Lyric enjoyed yesterday. The talents of the trio are numerous, for they play different instruments, sing, dance and present some good acrobatic feats. The trombone and cornet duet, the bi-practiced of the restaurant and the store and the lax discipline that is too often met with in these places help to swell the throng.

Roadhouses do not by any means receive all these degenerates, for we find convenient places scattered throughout the city where those less brazen may resort.

The degradation of women is rapidly becoming the degradation of children. Too many pass it by with "it is too dreadful to know of," but to these we would say:—"What others have to bear, you can at least endure to know of."

It is a strange anomaly that existing societies, while pledging themselves to temperance, are so often silent upon this greater evil, which is everywhere; in our churches, our homes, our schools, our warehouses and shops—even in our nurseries. Church societies all standing against intemperance, ignorance, heathenism and vice treat this evil with a strange silence.

Doubtless the defective early training of children on the part of parents, either from wilful neglect or crass ignorance, is the great tap-root of the evil. Add to this the devastating individualism which has made the central fact of our Christianity to be a personal salvation, saving our own soul, getting to heaven, and the debased side of the family spirit which has made us centre our thoughts about ourselves and our own, and spread an air of purity around them and think we have done all.

A few startled at the depth of the evil have stirred, but have been told that they "cannot touch pitch and not be defiled," though it seems it is just for the want of this putting forth against evil for the want of touching pitch that the church is growing weak and her timbers leak and let in the bitter waters of death.

Men will look you in the face and assure you it is a "necessary evil"—a necessary thing that hundreds of women and girls are told off for degradation of body and soul and sink below the beasts that perish. How many of these men would call it a "necessary evil" if a sister or a daughter were among the number.

Few there are who realize the needs of young girls in cities, or the miserable trifles that precipitate so many of them into their melancholy fate.

Just a little girl's fun and thoughtlessness, just a longing to jump about a little in ways that are often not very discreet, but they too often jump on the brink of a precipice and without a warning voice, and in a moment they are gone. These things do not press upon the refined and cultured upper ten and so they never have to grapple with them. It is not their girls that are sacrificed, it is not they who are tempted before they are old enough to resist, and therefore they have ignored the whole thing as a disagreeable subject.

ROAD HOUSES

To the Editor of the Times:—Sir:—The letter of "a Father" reached you none too soon for these "dive" are becoming the centre of moral and physical turpitude. Your correspondent deals with the matter more gently than the conditions warrant.

Where these roadhouses? They began in the city. The graduates from the sidewalks, the loose lads and unworthy girls whom we are wont to see disposing themselves in the streets at night, the bi-practiced of the restaurant and the store and the lax discipline that is too often met with in these places help to swell the throng.

Roadhouses do not by any means receive all these degenerates, for we find convenient places scattered throughout the city where those less brazen may resort.

The degradation of women is rapidly becoming the degradation of children. Too many pass it by with "it is too dreadful to know of," but to these we would say:—"What others have to bear, you can at least endure to know of."

How To Make Your Hair Beautiful

Ten Minutes' Home Treatment Works Wonders, Stops Falling Hair and Makes the Hair Soft, Brilliant, Lustrous and Fluffy.

Better than all the so-called "hair tonics" in the world is a simple old-fashioned home recipe consisting of plain Bay Rum, Lavona (de composee), and a little Menthol Crystals. These three mixed at home in a few minutes, work wonders with any scalp. Try it just one night and see. Get from your druggist 2 oz. Lavona, 6 oz. Bay Rum, and 1-2 drachm Menthol Crystals. Dissolve the Crystals in the Bay Rum and pour in an 8 oz. bottle. Then add the Lavona, shake well and let it stand for an hour before using. Apply it by putting a little of the mixture on a soft cloth. Draw this cloth slowly through the hair, taking just one small strand at a time. This cleanses the hair and scalp of dirt, dust and excessive oil and makes the hair delightfully soft, lustrous and fluffy. To stop the hair from falling and to make it grow again rub the lotion briskly into the scalp with the finger tips or a medium stiff brush. Apply night and morning. A few days' use and you cannot find a single loose or straggling hair. They will be locked on your scalp as tight as a vise. Dandruff will disappear and itching cease. In ten days you will find fine downy new hairs sprouting up all over your scalp and this new hair will grow with wonderful rapidity. Any druggist can sell you the above. The prescription is very inexpensive and we know of nothing so effective and certain in its results.

AN ANCIENT SLANDER

The Bay of Fundy has been maligned for more than a hundred years. Less than two years after the landing of the Loyalists in 1783, Mr. William Donaldson found it necessary to protest against false statements made in England with regard to the navigation of the Bay of Fundy. In a letter written by Mr. Donaldson to Mr. Thomas Newland, a London merchant, in February, 1785, he wrote:

"One thing I had almost forgot, and which is highly necessary to mention, the fallacious ideas about the danger and difficulty of the navigation of the Bay of Fundy. This doctrine must have been set up by some designing people, and is so notoriously false that it hardly deserves a serious answer. The harbor of St. John is a good one, many excellent wharves are raising, navigation of the bay is safe and easy, and abounds with a number of commodious bay wharves. As a proof of this I have an accident happens in a twelve-month to the numerous shipping that have come here, and our harbor has this further advantage, that it is open at all seasons of the year, and we have arrivals during the whole year. As I hinted before, I am fully convinced that this ill-natured report has been propagated with a view to injure the settlement, so I am equally sensible that it will of itself presently fall to the ground, having no foundation of truth."

The Evening Gazette of St. John, which reprinted this in the year 1891, being indebted to Rev. Dr. Raymond for the copy, added to the discussion the following editorial remarks written by the late Dr. James Hannay:

"The feature of the letter, however, to which we desire to call attention is that which refers to the statements that had been made at Lloyd's in regard to the danger and difficulty of the navigation of the Bay of Fundy. The writer of this letter states that this doctrine must have been set up by some designing people, but that it is so notoriously false that it hardly deserves a serious answer. If Mr. Donaldson could arise from his grave today he would be surprised to find that although tens of thousands of vessels have navigated the Bay of Fundy since his time, interested people still continue to deny it, in defiance of the evidence supplied by the return of casualties in these waters. He would be surprised to find that even now in the sailing directions of the British Admiralty the Bay of Fundy is still most unfairly treated. He would be surprised to find that proprietors of leading lines of steamships are so grossly ignorant with regard to its waters that at a recent conference at Montreal some of them assumed that the harbor of St. John was dry at low water, and that vessels coming to it would have to lie aground. Self-interest and misrepresentation have continued to injure St. John and the Bay of Fundy ever since Mr. Donaldson's time, and probably will continue to do so for years to come. It is impossible to calculate the amount of injury which has been done St. John by the false statements that have been made with regard to the navigation of the Bay of Fundy."

When the port of St. John began to fight for recognition as a Canadian winter port, along in the early eighties, the old slander about the dangers of navigation in the Bay of Fundy was revived. The winter trade of Canada at that time was through American ports, especially through Portland, Maine. The steamship companies had interests at that port, and the city of St. John found itself bitterly opposed by the transportation companies, and found also that the Bay of Fundy was misrepresented in Admiralty and other charts. For example, a chart issued by one Charles Wilson, of London, in the year 1877, contained this gross falsehood concerning the bay:

"Ships navigating the Bay of Fundy have to encounter an atmosphere almost constantly enveloped in dense fogs, the tide setting with great rapidity over the rocks and shoals with which it abounds, and a difficulty of obtaining anchorage on account of the depth of the water under these circumstances the most unremitting attention is requisite to prevent disastrous consequences which must necessarily attend a want of knowledge and caution."

Many other such statements were made, and it became necessary for the board of trade of St. John to take steps to expose the falsehoods which were sent broad-cast. In October, 1886, a special committee consisting of A. Cruikshank, Andre Cushing and W. E. Vroom was appointed to prepare a report, which was submitted to the board in February, 1887. The committee went exhaustively into the whole subject, secured the facts about duration of fogs, the percentage of loss to vessels sailing to and from St. John for a period of ten years, and the testimony of pilots and captains familiar with the bay; and after going thoroughly into the whole subject in a book of fifty-six pages made the following summary of the results:

"1.—That the navigation of the Bay of Fundy, from its mouth to St. John, is remarkably simple and free, whether by the south or west channels; so much so, that pilots prefer making the port of St. John in bad weather than any other port on the coast.

"2.—That the fog or cold vapor never occasions delay of steam vessels in summer or winter, and that there is never the slightest obstruction from ice.

"3.—That Atlantic steamships need make but one straight course from their regular track to Portland and Boston up the Bay of Fundy to St. John.

"4.—That the south channel, opening into the bay is 18 miles in width at the narrowest part, expanding rapidly to 35 or 40 miles of unobstructed deep water navigation, which holds good all the way up the bay to the mouth of St. John harbor, where superior holding ground can be found, or giving clear sea room of say 35 by 50 miles, to a stranger who might not feel confidence to enter our port in a storm.

"5.—That both the largest war and merchant ships have visited our harbor excepting the 'Great Eastern,' and that she could easily be accommodated.

"6.—That the port of St. John is so far as navigation is concerned is not only one of the safest but actually the safest port summer and winter all the year round north of Cape Mattapan.

"7.—And your committee cannot see that any valid reason can be given for St. John being deprived of being made a terminal port for the transmission of mails, passengers and freight, both to and from the western part of the Dominion of Canada, as well as to and from the province of Quebec."

Still later, in the year 1898, a committee consisting of W. S. Fisher, S. Schofield, J. N. Sutherland, W. H. Thorne, W. M. Jarvis, D. J. McLaughlin, H. B. Schofield and James Seely prepared a book on St. John as a Canadian winter port, in which they brought up to date the record of its safety. They showed the percentage of loss of vessels and cargo for the ten years from 1887 to 1896 to be so small, as compared from the official records in the customs house, that they were able to add:

"In the face of these figures there can be but one conclusion that, for safety to shipping, the Bay of Fundy and the port of St. John occupy a pre-eminent position."

We may quote one more paragraph from their report:

"The easy approach to the port of St. John by sea speaks strongly in its favor. No port along the north Atlantic coast is more easy of access in all weathers. There is a straight course from Bristol Island, at the mouth of the Bay of Fundy, for sixty miles to Partridge Island at the mouth of St. John harbor. This entrance to the bay by the south channel is eight miles wide at its narrowest part and from that point the bay widens immediately to thirty-five or forty miles, which width, free from obstruction of any kind, holds all the way to St. John. There is no field ice in the bay. The shores are high and bold, and there is a complete system of steam whistles and light stations. Captains of long experience have stated over and over again that in a fog or bad weather they would rather make St. John than any other port along the north Atlantic coast. The soundings in the bay are good all the way from Cape Sable Rock to St. John, in a clear channel of one hundred and eighty-two miles on a direct course, and a vessel can therefore proceed during the densest fog that ever enveloped the coast. Leaving the usual track of Atlantic steamers bound for Portland or Boston a few miles farther west of Cape Sable than is strictly necessary to enter the bay, there is then a straight course to Partridge Island."

It has been unfortunate that because of the jealousy of another port, and the ignorant malice of some persons who profess to know what they are talking about, it should once more be necessary to repeat what has been so often repeated in the past, and to show that the dangers of navigation in the Bay of Fundy approaching the port of St. John exist only in the imagination of those who wish to deny this great national port. In the face of the facts what shall be said of the following statement made last week by the Halifax Echo:

"The approach to St. John is fraught with practically every peril known to navigation and it does seem a rather remarkable thing that costly steamships weighted down with human freight are required to court with these, for no other reason in the world than that of political exigency."

Could malice and falsehood farther go?

Hon. H. F. McLeod waved the flag yesterday, but failed to mention Mr. Borden's allies, the Nationalists. That was a sad omission.

The Tory motto in Canada at the present time is aptly phrased by Sir Wilfrid Laurier:—"Let bad enough alone."

Sir Wilfrid Laurier wants the government to do something to relieve the depressed conditions which exist in Canada. Mr. Borden declines to abandon his friends, the protected interests.

A report of Sir Wilfrid Laurier's speech in parliament yesterday shows that he revealed in a very striking way the weakness of the Borden government, and its inability or disinclination to deal with the unfavorable conditions which have come about since the Tory government went into power.

Premier Borden has no naval policy, beyond providing three battleships for the British fleet. In fact he will do nothing at all pending the "reform" of the senate. There is no emergency. There was no emergency a year ago, except in the ranks of the Tory party at Ottawa.

In the treasury of the city of New York there is the sum of $248,038, consisting entirely of currency and gold coins due people who did not trouble to collect them. Of this money $138,038 cannot be collected by those to whom it is due, as it has been unclaimed for more than six years.

The state game warden of New Mexico has offered $7.50 for every wild turkey trapped in the state with the object of shipping them to markets in California and western states.

BIRTHDAYS OF NOTABILITIES

MONDAY, JANUARY 19.

Sir William Mulock, now chief justice of the Exchequer Division of the High Court of Justice of Ontario, formerly postmaster-general of Canada, celebrates his seventy-first birthday today. It was during his term as head of the post office department that penny postage was introduced and under him the labor department was established. For both these services he merits the thanks of his fellow Canadians. When in the political arena few were better known or more popular than he. In North York which he represented for fourteen years, he was known practically to every family throughout the riding and took a warm personal interest in the progress of the people irrespective of their political leanings. It is quite safe to state that he could have represented North York indefinitely. His hobby is farming and he owns a splendid farm near Newmarket, where he frequently entertains prominent guests.

TUESDAY, JANUARY 20.

John Hendry, a millionaire British Columbia lumberman and former president of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, who observes his seventy-first birthday today, has had a most adventurous career. He carried his pack into the western province in the seventies and worked there for some time as a lumber jack. But he had foresight and early got his hand into real estate. He is said to have squatted on the site of the Hastings Mill in Vancouver, property which is worth more than a million dollars at the present time, and actually got this valuable land for nothing. The deeds were only recently handed over to him by the Dominion government. He is today one of the biggest men on the Pacific coast.

LEGION OF HONOR

AT LAST COMES TO
MME. BERNHARDT

Nominated Several Times, on This Occasion President of France Makes Intervention

Sarah Bernhardt was decorated last week with the Legion of Honor. Mme. Bernhardt had been nominated many times by various ministers of instruction but the chancery had always rejected the nomination for reasons not made public.

It is understood that the same objections were made on the present occasion, only to be withdrawn on the direct intervention of President Poincaré.

The news of the honor accorded to Mme. Bernhardt caused great rejoicing in literary and artistic circles in Paris and hundreds of telegrams of congratulations poured in on her from all parts of the world.

The members of Mme. Bernhardt's company presented her a cross set with brilliants.

USE THE SCHOOL BUILDINGS AS SOCIAL CENTRES

Some Information For St. John People Concerning This Great Movement and Its Results.

III.
One of the most profitable uses to which school buildings have been put in some American cities has been that of neighborhood civic club houses. In addition to their use as social centres for educational and recreation purposes a room is used for the discussion of civic questions. For example the city of Milwaukee has a federation of civic societies comprising more than a score of organizations representing all parties, creeds and classes. This federation is realizing the value of school buildings issued several years ago the following bulletin—

Neighborhood Civic Clubs

"Every public school building in this city is a potential Neighborhood Civic Club House. In some neighborhoods the citizens have already begun to take advantage of the opportunity which these gathering places offer. If your neighborhood is not using its public school building as a Civic Club House, you are not getting your money's worth out of your own property.

It Is Your Club House

"No matter what other clubs or societies you may belong to, as a member of your neighborhood you have an equal right, with every other person, to make full use of your Civic Club House, without charge of any kind.

A Chance to Become Acquainted

"You may know a lot of people in your neighborhood, but there are people there whom you don't know, and some of them will be friends such as you will treasure highly after you become acquainted with them. They may belong to other societies, or have no affiliations whatever of a social and civic character, and you might never meet them but for the opportunity that a Neighborhood Civic Club will offer for Brotherhood Acquaintance.

A Chance for Self Expression

"You may have some ideas upon matters of neighborhood improvement or of city government. You may have some criticism to make of things as they are, or some suggestion to offer. In Neighborhood Civic Club Meetings in Your School Building, you will have a chance to express those ideas, to make suggestions, and to offer criticisms, as well as to learn the opinions of others.

A Chance for Government

"The real government of the city is not the group of men in the City Hall. These are simply the representatives of the real government. The real government is the citizenship, the men of the city, the men of all ranks. By the organizing of citizens in these Neighborhood Civic Clubs, meeting in public buildings, the real government of the city is organizing, and finding a chance to express itself.

A Chance to Become Informed

"Some of the men who are known to be competent to speak upon topics of public interest have been asked if they would like to have their names published in a list of speakers who will be available to speak without charge before Neighborhood Civic Clubs. They consent because they are interested in developing civic intelligence and civic friendliness. There follows only a small fraction of the list of men and women who are capable of intelligent leadership in discussion upon public questions in the city. As the movement grows, we will all become better acquainted with the resources of civic intelligence, and supplementary lists will be published. This list of speakers is of course merely suggestive. It is intended simply as a help in arranging programmes. Every club must necessarily decide what subjects it wishes to discuss and what speakers it wishes to engage to discuss them.

We Can Begin Now

"We all look forward to the time when every school building will be equipped with a fine neighborhood assembly hall on the ground floor, with a first class gymnasium, a swimming pool, and shower baths; with a library and reading room, and with all sorts of equipment for recreation and social doings. But more important than any of these things is the development of the consciousness of democracy, of intelligent public spirit through the association of citizens for the consideration to-

NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE SAVES THE HAIR

And Keeps You Looking Young

Don't look older than you are. It is just as easy to look younger. While lack of hair or poor hair is not always an indication of age, it is frequently accepted as such.

A person well advanced in years possessing a good head of hair is always spoken of as "well preserved."

Everyone can retain beautiful, luxuriant hair if they make the effort. In almost every instance poor hair or the loss of hair may be traced to the activity of the dandruff germ. Newbro's Herpicide prevents the scale-like accumulation and puts the scalp in a perfectly healthy condition. With the elimination of the dandruff the hair no longer drops out. The itching of the scalp stops almost at once.

Newbro's Herpicide is the remedy for which there are many substitutes, preparations claimed to be "just as good." You don't have to accept a substitute. Insist upon having genuine Herpicide.

Newbro's Herpicide in 50c. and $1.00 sizes is sold by all dealers who guarantee it to do all that is claimed. If you are not satisfied your money will be refunded.

Applications obtained at good barber shops. Send 10c. in postage to The Herpicide Co., Dept. R., Detroit, Mich., for sample and book. E. Clinton Brown, special agent.

HELL GATE, WORLD'S LARGEST ARCH BRIDGE

(Engineering News)

The Hell Gate steel arch bridge, the world's largest arch, is now actively under construction. The Long Island abutment pier is well under way and the foundation for the Weehawken pier is nearly complete. The steel work is being fabricated in the shops of the American Bridge Co., practically all detail drawings having been made. Fabricated steel work is already being shipped to Greenville and erection of the arch will probably begin next year.

Marked originality of design characterizes the structure. The outline of the arch is in itself strikingly original. Other innovations are:

Hard (high-carbon) steel, large rivets; heavy splicing; special pivot or rocker joints at chord splices; bracing girders in the floor; cantilever arrangement of the floor laterals.

The bridge is also notable for the magnitude of its chord sections and their robust makeup; for the great weight of single members—weighing twice as much as the heaviest erection parts of large bridges previously erected; and for its great weight, which averages about 38,000 lb. steel and 53,000 lb. total load per foot of bridge. The great weight is due to the large live-load capacity provided. No existing large-span bridge is designed for four lines of railway traffic.

"Freddie, you shouldn't laugh out loud in the school room," exclaimed the teacher. "I didn't mean to do it," apologized Freddie. "I was smiling, when all of a sudden the snile busted."

Trying To Star In Two Classes

(FROM T. S. ANDREWS)

Milwaukee, Jan. 18.—The efforts of some fighters who try to star in two classes, writes T. S. Andrews, usually end in failure. There was one man—Bob Fitzsimmons—who made a success of it being both middleweight and heavyweight champion at the same time, but there were few men of that class in fighting game. Packey McFarland has tried to stick to the lightweight class when he was clearly a welterweight and Mike Gibbons has tried to be a welterweight when he should be in the middleweight class. It is unfortunate that both these boys are a bit light for the heavier classes in which they should be, but nevertheless they are not entitled to places in the lighter classes.

Gibbons is a great boxer and his wonderful showing against Bob McAllister, a California fighter, stamps him as a contender once more for the middleweight crown. Jimmy Clabby and Gibbons are of about the same weight, 132 pounds and the middleweight limit of 138 rindside is easy for both of them; in fact, it is catchweights for them. Gibbons gave away about eight pounds to McAllister and then knocked him out, proving that when he is at his best and with his full strength he also possesses a sleep producer.

As George Chip has twice put Frank Klaus to sleep he is now considered as having a claim to the title, providing he can make the weight, but there are some who doubt his ability to do so, although his manager, Jimmy Dime, says he can. In his fight with Gus Christie in Milwaukee last week he carried 161 pounds, but he appeared to be weighing considerably extra fat rolls about his waist line. He should be able to make the real limit without much bother, in which event he must be considered with Clabby, Jack Dillon and Eddie McGowry. However, Chip is not the champion, for Frank Klaus never held the title, but he is a real contender for the crown. It all depends, too, on whether Dillon and McGowry can make the weight.

Gus Christie, a Milwaukee middleweight, who has been coming along nicely of late, bumped into a snag against George Chip last week. He was away off form and certainly did not fight up to his standard, for he has done much better against Jack Dillon and Eddie McGowry. Chip landed a hard right uppercut to Christie's chin at the beginning of the first round and this may have taken the steam out of him, but he fought like a man in a trance all through the ten rounds.

Chip made an effort to score a K. O., but he could not phase the Milwaukee man, even with his hand smashing to the head and body. However, Chip showed much more class than when he defeated Tim O'Neill of Chicago in Racine several weeks ago, and he looks like a hard man to beat over the long distance route. As for being clever, Chip does not shine, but he has an awkward style of his own and is hard to get away from. He is not hard to hit, but he can take the punches of most of the middleweights in order to get a chance to land himself. It is a question whether he would be able to do much damage against clever men like Clabby and Gibbons, although in a long distance battle his chances of victory would be much brighter.

TOOK SEVERE COLD.

And A Nasty Tickling Sensation In The Throat.

A bad cough accompanied by that distressing, tickling sensation in the throat is most aggravating.

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup is rich in the lung healing virtues of the Norway pine tree, and for this reason it will stop that tickling in the throat which causes that dry hard cough that keeps you awake at night.

Mr. Sanford Roode, Antrim, N.S., writes:—"Last fall I took a severe cold which left me with a terrible hard cough and a nasty tickling sensation in my throat. I tried many cough medicines, but they did not help me so I got a bottle of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, and before I had used half of it the cough had left me, and the next one made a complete cure, and I will recommend it as the best cough medicine on the market."

See that you get "Dr. Wood's" when you ask for it. Do not accept any imitation. The genuine is put up in a yellow wrapper, three pine trees the trade mark, price, 25c and 50c, and manufactured only by The T. Millburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

MATTY'S BIG LEAGUE GOSSIP

BY
MATHEWSON
THE GIANTS' STAR PITCHER

(Copyright, 1914, by the Wheeler Syndicate.)

Things have been far from dead in baseball this winter. It used to be that there was scarcely any news of the big leagues to chronicle in the winter time except when the two annual meetings were held, but this year the annual meetings have been magnificent.

First, there have been the Players' Fraternity demands; then the trip of the Giants and White Sox around the world, and now the Federal League is breaking out all over the place like the prickly heat. It is my opinion that the developments of this winter have been a great assistance to the players. One of the most important requests granted to the players by the National Commission recently was the new waiver rule, which provides that each of the other fifteen big league teams besides the one on which the man has been playing must waive on him before he can be sent to a minor league. This gives a player fifteen chances to stay in his company. Another important concession is that a man, after ten years of big league service, is to be granted his unconditional release, provided no other major league team desires him.

There was another requested granted by the commission, however, which makes a big hit with the fans, and which is going to be a great boon to ball players. In several of the parks around the country, the owners have been in the habit of putting garish signs for advertising purposes in centre field on a direct line with the batter. These generally face the afternoon sun, as the hitter on all fields looks away from the sun in the afternoon, and the reflection of the sun's rays on the bright colors is blinding. Of course, it helps the pitchers, but it is an unfair and dangerous advantage for twirlers. This abuse has not occurred in all the parks; Pittsburgh being one of his own fire rainbows. As a result, it is one of the best in the country. But now, thank goodness, the signs are to be done away with in all the parks.

For some time the batter's background at the Polo Grounds in New York was one of the worst in the league because the bleachers seats were painted yellow and behind these were signs of all shades and colors to attract the eye of the fans to the bases. Various brands of whiskey and tooth paste. Several players had narrow escapes from being badly hurt by pitchers when there were no signs at all. As a result, it is one of the best in the country. But now, thank goodness, the signs are to be done away with in all the parks.

One pitcher on the New York club—and I am not going to mention his name—studied out this condition and discovered that, by letting the ball go from his hand when he was in a certain position, it would come toward the batter directly out of a great yellow blotch on the board. This entirely blinded the hitter. The pitcher worked his discovery out in practice for several days until he had perfected it. It was accomplished by getting the younger men of the club to come up for batting practice and they told him when his hand was in just the right position to be in their line of vision with the yellow paint.

"How is that?" he would ask, holding his hand steady before pitching.

"Can't see a thing," the batter would reply.

Then this smart pitcher noted his exact position at the time and just where the pitcher was standing. He was in this position with the aid of insignificant marks in the box. He made a great record until the home players began to complain about their own batting averages. McGraw was bawling the bunch out in the clubhouse one day after a game in the season of 1912 when the Giants had made very few hits.

"You guys go away on the road and sting the ball, but you come back here and swing at it like a hammer," said the Giant boss.

"Well, we can't see a thing with that background," complained Chief Meyers, who is very proud of his base hits. "After a fellow has been looking at that background every day for a week, he is lucky if he isn't blind."

"That so?" asked McGraw. "Well, we'll soon fix that."

"Don't see that it bothers me any when I am hitting," vouchsafed the pitcher who had been using it to increase his efficiency. "I can see all right."

"You can see all right?" muttered McGraw. "Well, why don't you get a hit once in a while then?"

The next day the advertising signs were down and a nice green background faced the batter. McGraw always gets his results fast. After that, our hitters did better when they were at home, and the pitcher referred to did not do so well. This bad background did more damage to the Giants than to visitors because our batters had to face it day after day, and it really hurt their eyesight. No, I am not going to tell you the pitcher's name, but perhaps you can guess.

There was a man who had the sign concessions in one of the National League parks—I don't care to mention the name of the city—and he was making big money out of it. Of course, the territory facing the batter is the most valuable in the club which inhabited this park regularly complained so about the bad background that the owners finally made him take the signs down. This left a large vacant space painted green in center field and the concessionaire let out a terrible squawk. Some newspaper men framed up to write him a lot of letters. Here is one of them:

"My firm is anxious to buy sign space at the ball park, and, as your signs do not seem to be selling very well this season, we thought you might make us a good price. I noticed a large vacant space in center field when at the game recently which you have not been able to sell. Would you consider an offer of $1500 for this space for the remainder of the season?"

"What do you think of that?" said the man with the concession, showing the letter around. "Here these ball players are taking the money right out of my pocket because they say they can't not hit with the signs on the fence. They can't hit anyway."

I recall one day that "Kitty" Brandfield was nearly killed by being "beamed" by a fast ball at the Polo Grounds when Tessau, who is inclined to be wild, was pitching.

"I'm going to refuse to play any more unless they change that background," announced Brandfield, who is a very brave man. "You can't see a thing."

But he was playing in the next series. A ball player must make the best of conditions or starve.

MAYOR SUGGESTS THAT BRAVE WORK BY RESCUE BOATS BE RECOGNIZED

Writes Commissioners Re Gallant Conduct of Officers and Crews of John L. Cann and Westport

A suggestion which is likely to meet with popular approval is made by Mayor Frink in a letter addressed to the Common Council. The communication is as follows:—

Mayor's Office,
St. John, N. B.,
January 19, 1914.

To the Commissioners of the City of St. John:

It would appear to me that the gallant conduct of the officers and crews of the steamers John L. Cann and Westport III, should receive some fitting recognition from the city of St. John. The heroism exhibited and the hardships endured in their successful efforts to save the lives of the passengers and crew of the S. S. Coburg on the Nova Scotia coast is worthy of more than a mere recognition. I respectfully suggest that consideration be given to the proposal submitted.

Both vessels ply between St. John and Nova Scotia ports, and as a maritime city we can well appreciate their deeds.

(Signed) JAMES H. FRINK,
Mayor.

CHINESE GETS DIP IN HARBOR WATERS ON A FROSTY MORN

Hum Chow Able to Get Out Again But No One Seems to Know How

Dripping with water, and almost unconscious, a Chinese laundryman, Hum Chow, was found this morning ready to collapse in the warehouse of the Dominion Atlantic Railway Company. It was impossible to get anything more intelligible from him than that he had fallen overboard. Evidently he had gotten out himself as no one about the wharves seemed to know of his predicament.

The steamer Yarnmouth had just left her wharf when he was noticed by John Emery, one of the employees in the warehouse, who took him into the office to get warm. The ambulance was called and Hum Chow was taken to the hospital where it was said this afternoon he was considerably improved and would be able to be out in a day or two.

REVOLVER POINTED AT SHOPKEEPER WITH A THREAT TO SHOOT HIM

Trouble Raised By Colored Man in Brussels Street Store Over Some Molasses

Joseph McNeill an elderly man who conducts a grocery store at 28 Brussels street, was held up Saturday night by a colored man who flourished a revolver in his face and threatened to shoot when Mr. McNeill refused to take back some molasses which the negro had purchased. He said the molasses tasted of salt and asked Mr. McNeill to refund the money. Mr. McNeill found that a considerable quantity had been taken from the pitcher and politely told the customer that since he had used so much of it he might as well keep the rest. The negro went out but came back in a rage. He poured the molasses over the floor of the shop and told the proprietor that he would give him a "nice" job to clean it up. The proprietor ordered him out but instead of leaving the man waved a revolver in his right hand, and holding it in Mr. McNeill's face threatened to shoot him. Mr. McNeill again ordered the man out of the store and walked round from behind the counter while the man still kept the revolver pointed at him. The negro backed towards the door when near the door, shifted the revolver from his right hand to his left and struck at Mr. McNeill with his fist.

Mr. McNeill when asked today if he had reported the matter to the police, said that he had not seen a policeman since. He said that he knows where the man lives. Several women were in the store at the time and were greatly alarmed.

Our 25th Anniversary Sale is Proving Tremendously Successful

We start the second week of it with equally good, and, in many instances, even more wonderful bargains than those which evoked such overwhelming response last week.

All records smashed for value-giving!

All records smashed for volume of sales!

This is the result of our first week's celebration of the 25th Anniversary of the establishing of this business.

Could there be more significant evidence of approval than this?

Could there be more convincing proof of the extraordinary character of the bargains we've provided for this sale?

The sale continues all this week. Be sure you get your share of the bargains. But try to come early in the morning. The store is less crowded then and we can take better care of you.
