TERMS ARE SUCH AS MARKS CAN ACCEPT

Not Uncompromising, Say Advices From Sofia

Turkish Ambassador to Germany Ordered Home to Help in Negotiations—Visit to Cholera Camp Shows Fearful Sight

(Canadian Press) Vienna, Nov. 21.—The terms offered by Turkey to the Balkan nations are neither in form nor in substance uncompromising, according to information derived from an authoritative source in Sofia. They even leave the door open to eventual modifications by negotiations so that it may be assured Turkey will accept them and a treaty will be brought about.

Berlin, Nov. 21.—The Turkish ambassador to Germany, was ordered to Constantinople today to assist in the peace negotiations.

(Canadian Press) Constantinople, Nov. 21.—The terms of peace offered to Turkey by the Balkan allies are:—The cessation of all the conditions except the cession of the coast line of the Bos of Marmora and the Bosphorus and the entry of the allied forces into Constantinople. It asks guarantees regarding the future of Albania.

By an indirect route, a deputation of industrial Albanians has arrived here to urge resistance to Serbia's claim upon Albania, in which the deputation is seeking American support. Diplomats here are unanimous in thinking the settlement of the future of Albania is the most serious factor against European peace.

Constantinople, Nov. 21.—A telegram from Paris today reads: "There was no serious fighting yesterday. A slight advance and retreat were exchanged at the right and left wings. We have collected the arms and other effects abandoned yesterday by the enemy."

It is generally believed that the object of the authorities in quartering nearly 2,000 soldiers in the Mosque of St. Sophia is to deter any attempts from setting foot within the building. The talk in the Sofia papers regarding the celebration of the 100th anniversary of the Russian revolution produced an impression in Turkish government which reported to the Turkish cabinet that the celebration of the 100th anniversary of the Russian revolution is a design.

Athens, Nov. 21.—An official report from Thessalonica, Thessaly, says the Thessalonian chief, Bekiraga, with 1,000 irregulars, taking advantage of the advance of the Greek army towards the interior of Macedonia, made a sudden night attack on Kavala. He drove out the inhabitants and pillaged and burned the shops.

in the Cholera Camp Constantinople, Nov. 21.—Hearst readers of suffering and misery are enacted daily at the Turkish cholera camp at the right and left wings. The correspondent of the Associated Press accompanied by the secretary of a foreign embassy and by Major Ford of the United States army, who is here on leave of absence, paid a visit there today.

HAD GREAT LUCK, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Stevenson, of Pittsburg, P. A., passed through the city today after having spent about ten days in the woods near Herrick, on the Canadian river, at the camp of A. E. Caldwell. They were very successful in their hunting and had a great run of luck. Each of them brought down a moose and deer, and all four were specimens of New Brunswick's big game which would pass muster at any sportsman's show. They had a shot at a fine caribou but did not bring him down, and men are now keeping a watch out for the animal. Mr. and Mrs. Stevenson were well pleased with their outing.

LOWER MILK SALES, Since the price of milk went up this week to five cents a pint and eight cents a quart, local dealers, or some grocers who sell milk at least, say that the sales have fallen off a little, that people are not buying as much as formerly, but there is a heavier demand upon the condensed stock and there is an increased sale for coffee, tea and cocoa.

The official announcement of the completion of the reorganization of Ready's breweries, which was made this morning, gives denial to the rumor that the control of these industries was to pass from local hands.

The Art of Reducing

FAT is the greatest foe to woman's beauty. Since it is a self-created foe, however, there is no need to despair.

As soon as the pores of the skin cease exuding moisture, remove all your garments and give your body a brisk rub-down with alcohol.

When you have walked briskly about for half an hour, turn your steps home ward.

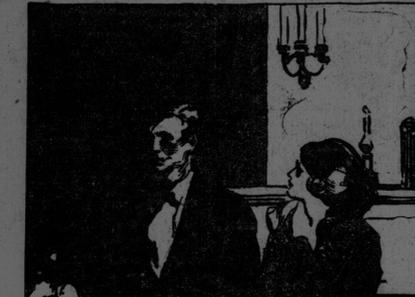

By the time you reach your house door the rapid motion, the heavy clothing, and the inspiring effects of the hot water will have staved your body to perspire freely.

THE WOOD BOX

By GOVERNOR MORRIS

Copyright 1909 by Benjamin B. Hampton

(Continued.) "I had been thinking of other things during this speech, though you may be sure I had heard every word of it. I had concluded that to retain control of my fortune it was necessary to retain control of Peter; to have an eye on him night and day.

"The law is stronger," he said, "I shall be tried and hanged."

economic—as I had about made up my mind to put your late uncle into politics, and it was necessary for one of us to have an elementary knowledge of the least of such matters.

"So I sat for some hours reading, keeping a good fire going the while, for it was a spring night of black frost, and it was not until I had emptied the wood-box of all but brush and splinters that I brought me to bed.

"I did not like to mention it," he said. "I am in terrible trouble. Otherwise I would not have broken my word to you, in presenting myself before you."

"I was really terribly agitated. His face, the sound of his voice, old memories of him, the being ill of which I was not wholly recovered—but I managed to keep an outward appearance of calm.

"I wish you to answer two questions," I said.

"What will they do to you?" I asked.

"If the law is stronger," he said, "I shall be tried and hanged. If the mob, I shall be beaten to death whenever and wherever I am found."

"I had opened the top of the wood-box, while he stopped in and lay down. There were a few spiders and molly-grubs in the bottom. But there was no opportunity to do more than notice them.

WAS WEAK AND RUN DOWN. NOT ABLE TO DO HER WORK. Many women get run down, and are unable to look after their household duties, owing to their nervous system becoming unstrung. Day in and day out they have to go through the same routine of work, sweeping, dusting, cooking, etc. No wonder their work gets on the nerves and they become run down.

When a woman gets into this state there is only one thing for her to do, and that is, to get something that will build up her system.

For this purpose there is not an equal to Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. Their restorative action is felt on every organ and tissue of the body, and in a short time the weakness will give place to strength and vitality, and make life worth living.

After several weeks of work, Commissioner Wigmore has completed plans for a thorough reorganization of the water and sewerage department. Under the new system the work of the department has been rearranged in a systematic manner with an exact definition of the duties of each official and employee.

Mr. Wigmore submitted his report on the matter to the commissioners' meeting at noon today, and it was considered and approved. PAY $300,000 FOR A MONTREAL PROPERTY

Sixteen Acres Near Dry Dock & Position For Warehouse & Manufacturing Structures

Montreal, Nov. 21—Nine hundred thousand dollars has been paid by the Manufacturers' Harbor Terminal Limited, for the sixteen acres of land in Longue Pointe ward, just east of the dry dock, on which they will erect five immense warehouse-manufacturing structures, with 2,000,000 feet of floor space, able to stand 2,000 tons of pressure to the square foot.

The company has decided to ask power to increase its authorized capital from $7,000,000 to $8,000,000. An annual dividend will begin next spring, and it will be ready for occupation in the spring of 1914.

J. G. Reed, organizer of the company, said that all the needed capital had been secured, and that he already had ninety-two employees from British and American manufacturing concerns wishing to establish branches or distributing depots here. To these the ready-made accommodations on deep water and rail, in the metropolis of Canada, had appealed strongly. These firms were of all sizes.

The warehouse-manufacturing units will be six stories in height, 400 to 500 feet long and about 150 feet in width. The property has forty-one feet of water, a 1,200-foot frontage, and will be connected with the harbor commission's wharf.

HE IS NOT MARRIED

A telegram received this morning by Thomas J. Burns of the Royal Hotel sent many a thrill of anticipation through his frame, and came as a distinct surprise to himself and other members of the staff, for it was thought to have been from one of the associate members of the hotel, "Doc" McGillicuddy. The telegram requested Mr. Burns to meet him and his wife at the Boston train today, as he had been married in Portland, Me., yesterday. Needless to say Mr. Burns was greatly surprised, and went to the depot prepared to give the bride and groom a hearty handshake, but when the train pulled in last night, he was twenty-three years of age and his home was in Murray River, P.E.I. He had been in the employ of the Courtenay Bay Construction Company for some time. This is the first death that has resulted from accidents at the works.

FORMER 'BUS CONDUCTOR IS NOW MANAGER

Big Man in Big Trust Which Swings Traffic of London

FIGHT IS COMING ON

Municipality Trams Are Being Squeezed Out By Faster Service of Company's Cars — Ex-Conductor Tells of the Old Days

(Times Special Correspondence)

London, Nov. 20—One of the most interesting scenes in London is about to come into the limelight. This is G. S. Dicks, who, forty years ago, was an omnibus conductor on a wage of seven dollars a week, and who now is one of the big figures in the control of the bus-tram traffic in London and takes $250,000 every week in fares of from one to ten cents.

A joint traffic adviser to the company Mr. Dicks controls its vast service of omnibuses and will be one of the leaders in a fight which is coming off soon between his organization and the municipality of London—the latter the owner of the metropolitan tramways whose business is being knocked into a cocked hat by the competition of the London General Omnibus Company, which carries nine-tenths of the passenger traffic in London and takes $250,000 every week in fares of from one to ten cents.

Its advent has not proved an unmitigated blessing. To begin with, it has proved a veritable juggernaut, having, in the last nine months, killed 118 people, and injured 1,000. It has also proved a headache and a front of its own kind at the standpoint of the city father of London. Means have probably been found of making the motor-omnibus less deadly, but how it is to be dealt with as a deadly enemy of the street railway system is a much more difficult question.

Looks Like War

Being equally speedy, and independent of the motor bus, the omnibus has a distance in three-quarters of the time that a tram will take, and Londoners, having seen this, are travelling by motor-omnibus whenever possible, and giving the trams the go-by. And the tram for some years have been the property of the municipality. They are supported out of the rates. So the ratepayers, in travelling by motor-omnibus, are paying a rival enterprise at the expense of their own. The municipality does not propose to take it lying down, but what looks like a war of extermination is about to be waged between the London Company on the one hand and the omnibus trust on the other.

Mr. Dicks will be in the thick of it. He is a thick-set, balding faced, clean shaven man of fifty odd, who is seldom to be found in his office near Lambeth Bridge, but constantly on visits to different parts of the route of the 2,780 vehicles under his control. At the present he is en route for the city, where he will be seen by all the present traffic situation when seen a day or two ago. Just now he prefers to talk about the bus, which he has been in the omnibus business in London.

Mr. Dicks became an omnibus conductor at twenty-one and remained one for nearly eleven years. These were the days of the old "knicker-bock" buses, which were so-called from the fact that the passenger who travelled on top sat in two rows of seats, back to back against a sort of fence which ran lengthwise of the vehicle.

"Do you remember the scene in the first of 'Missus'?" Mr. Dicks asks his interviewer, "where Gertrude shops Mr. Rhead by predicting that girls will be on the top of omnibuses?" The period, of course, is supposed to be the year 1850, at which time your humble interviewer's father was out of the saddle on one of the old "knicker-bock" and taking the fares therein.

"The traveller who came to London ten years ago," Mr. Dicks continued, "and rode on the type of horse bus which only just disappeared voted it an unenviable conveyance, but I wonder what he had to say to the 'bus' of 1912. It lacked the modern light of step altogether, the only means of reaching the top being a sort of ladder which one swarmed down the side of the omnibus. The straw was laid down on top to help keep the passengers' feet warm. Of course, in those days the top of a bus was out of the question for women. The newer type of buses made a mid-summer when they came in, I remember."

With this change came two cent fares for the first time. Up to that time they had been six and eight cents, while any body out after eight o'clock on Sunday had to pay twelve cents for any distance. Apparently competition was just as keen in those days as it is today, keeping anything for Mr. Dicks remembers champions of the two big opposition companies holding their in Hyde Park on their respective meetings.

After seven years as bus conductor, Mr. Dicks became an inspector, and after that he never looked back. Slowly but surely he won a big position for himself in the omnibus world and today draws a salary representing four figures in pounds sterling. He became joint traffic adviser when the big amalgamation took place a year or two ago.

TERMS ARE SUCH AS TURKS CAN ACCEPT

Much skepticism had prevailed in Pera, the foreign quarter of Constantinople, both among members of the diplomatic corps and foreign residents. No one there believed the figure given by railroad employees and others in contact with the Turkish army, who declared that many thousands were stricken with the terrible disease. No reliable figures were obtainable from official sources and in the absence of these reports were regarded as grossly exaggerated.

The camp is situated at the side of a railway embankment thirty feet in height. A large open space like a village garden surrounds the camp. The camp is surrounded by better class houses two or three stories high, built in European style for San Stefano is the summer resort of many of the more wealthy foreign residents of Constantinople.

Two Ottoman soldiers were standing guard at the entrance to the camp, but they never made a motion. Their duty was to prevent those within the cordons from escaping and not to hinder other people from entering.

A massing picture was witnessed as the side of the railroad. The bodies which had been thrown from trains, lay as they had fallen some had stuck on top of the embankment. Others had rolled part of the way down. Some had reached the bottom. Some of the corpses lay stiffly alone. Others were in groups of three or four.

Around an one-story stable at the foot of the embankment, was a group of sixty dead and dying, lying close together on the slopes of a manure pile, which the sick men had found softer than the hard ground.

FOX HUNT IN DEPOT

A shipment of foxes was brought to the city today on the Montreal train from western Canada, being consigned to a fox-raiser in P. E. Island. They attracted much attention, but still greater interest was centered upon them when one of their number, tiring of the lonely confinement in a railway car made a leap for liberty a little before the C. P. R. pulled out for the east. The animal ran through the train shed and was followed by several men employed about the place. After a little it was captured near the door of the coachmen's stand by Chris Nisbigh who bore it back in triumph to its cage.

PARLIAMENT

The opening of parliament today finds Canada enjoying an abounding prosperity, which is the result of the long period of progressive Liberal government. Mr. Borden and his party have had but little to do since they came into power but dispose of the abounding revenue of the country.

The announcement of an exhibition deficit in Halifax creates no surprise in that city. They always have one, and accept it as a matter of course.

According to the story told by the St. Andrews Beacon it is time the law officers of the province took note of the fact that there is a new town on the map of New Brunswick, and that this town of Chamcook calls for some attention from them.

We all know now why the new Post office at St. John has not been built. The government did not desire to begin the erection of the new structure until it had spent a certain amount of its surplus in subsidizing the outer surface of the old one.

We have got past the stage where any citizen would ask why we should talk about sites for industries and assert that industries would not come to St. John. Those who insisted in former years that this city must become a great manufacturing centre are seeing their dreams come true.

The Imperial Home Re-Union Association of Ottawa has brought out a considerable number of families of immigrants this year, but the branch at Montreal has done still better. It got down to business last July and has already aided 107 men to bring out their families, the total number of persons being 432 of whom 177 were adults. The cost to the Association was $11,564, which will be repaid by those to whom the money was advanced.

The following is a paragraph from the Evening Times of December 5, 1911: "The extension of the street car lines across the Marsh bridge and out the road was promised last spring, but the summer passed without the work being undertaken, and now winter has set in and it is impossible to commence the extension before next spring, at the earliest. The new line, it has been set forth, would mean a great deal to many people, those who live in the section to be served by it, those who have been investing money in real estate in that vicinity and also the thousands who annually pass over the road on their way to the cemeteries to visit the graves of departed friends. To all these the delay has been a serious disappointment, and they have not been slow in complaining."

It is announced that the builders of the new theatre on King Square are encroaching on the sidewalk with their ornamental pillars. The announcement is made after the building is well advanced and the pillars set up. Not long ago when a building in the north end was nearing completion it was discovered that the building laws or the fire laws were not being properly observed and it was necessary to make radical changes. It is perfectly fair to assume that there are cases where the building laws are not fully observed and attention is not called to the fact at all. Why should there not be an examination of building plans and a careful study of the whole case by a competent civil official before the erection of the building is begun? How much longer will the city be content with slipshod methods of manufacturing building law and inadequate inspection?

LIGHTER VEIN MAID AND MAN

She frowned and then straightway she smiled. This fellow completely beguiled. (What him like a kitten she played.) "I don't care," she said, "I'm not." She bid him to come and then to go. (Sing ho for the way of a maid!)

He swore that he loved and adored, So coaxed, and cajoled, and implored, (He couldn't discover her plan.) But then, when his patience was spent, He picked up his hat and he went. (Sing ho for the way of a man.)

HE SHOULD WORRY. The Manager—What is Tom Welthee's principal worry? The Secretary—Whether to ride down town in his 30-horsepower roadster or his $5,000 electric.

OBVIOUS REASON "My husband has deserted me and I want a warrant," announced the large lady. "What reason did he have for deserting you?" asked the prosecutor. "I don't want any lip from you, I want a warrant. I don't know what reason he had."

CAN WRITE OR ACT "He is not going to play baseball any more." "Well, there are always two great fields open to the eminent baseball star." "And they are?" "Literature and vaudeville."—Pittsburg Post.

KILLED HIS APPETITE "Brown spoiled a good dinner for me last evening." "How?" "I told me I was to be called on for a few remarks after I had eaten it."

THEN THE RECORD WAS BROKEN "She—'Just think, Henry, we've never over a cross word.'" "He—'No, Mame. Ain't I the patient case?'"

SWEET DISPOSITION Miss—"I think the violin is the sweetest instrument." Mr.—"It must be sweet to stand for all the abuse it gets."

BOWWOWS ON JOY. Mrs. Nukolin—"Pho has been so happy all day." Mrs. Leader—"He has." Mrs. Nukolin—"Yes, he seems to realize that we had our name in the society column."

AD LIBS. Henry—"The boss seems to like my variety, even at the office." James—"I notice that no two of his typists spell alike."

HORSE SENSE. "Does my automobile scare your horse?" asked the motorist in a rural road. "No," replied Farmer Courtesal. "He's the tamest, most intelligent animal you ever saw. When he makes him act that way is that he's trying to back around to be hitched up to your vehicle, 'cause he knows you're coming to need him."—Washington Star.

"My husband considered a very long time before he proposed to me; he was very careful." "Ah, it's always those careful people who get taken in!"

"Dear me," sighed the June bride. "I wish I knew what to get for Harry's supper tonight." "Don't you?" asked Mrs. Longtime. "I've thought and thought, and can't think of anything he'd like this hot weather."

"I'll tell you, then. When in doubt serve him cold boiled ham. That's what I always do."—Detroit Free Press.

MODERN PROBLEMS

Lecture Given Before Women's University Club in Ottawa (Ottawa Citizen)

The seating capacity of the Ottawa Normal School was fairly taxed on Saturday night when the University Women's Club and Ladies of Toronto, speak on Some Modern Problems. In a clear, logical and stimulating address, frequent reference was made to the power of the vote in municipal and parliamentary housekeeping.

One hundred years ago there were no huge cities; a greater proportion lived on the land, where each family raised and prepared its own food and clothing. The mistress of the household saw that the milk was clean, the eggs and vegetables fresh, the linen well woven. But collective industries sprung up, and the sphere of woman gradually narrowed. The larger house-keeping of the municipality took the place of the individual mistress. Milk trucks, cold storage trusts, regulated by men who had votes, took possession of the food of the people. The work the mother had done for love is now done for gain, hence we get impure milk, stale eggs, contaminated water, because there is more profit in such. But why are such things permitted? The power of the voter lies in the ballot he may cast, and milk trusts have votes; they must not be displeased. A woman has no voice in such matters. She whose first care is life, as man's is property, is excluded from the very work where most her interest lies, the work of seeing that everything which concerns the physical or moral welfare of the race is placed only in the fittest hands. To do this she must have equal rights with men to make the selection and enforce the regulations. It is the educated woman who has most influence today. She must see to it that the weaker ones are cared for—the charwoman, the mentally defective, the white slave, the sweated woman, the underpaid shop girl—what divinity is shown to any of these? The woman of small vision, too, the merely decorative type, other women must pay for her; she retards progress; her sons are weaklings.

Our servants teach us we must not only plan our work, but see that it is done; so, too, in parliamentary house-keeping. Should we, for example, be content with the present perfunctory inspection of the thousands of immigrants pouring into Canada, whose children will mingle with ours in school, who have lower standards, where three generations sleep in one room? What of child labor in our factories where foreign children know no English except to say "I am fourteen," when questioned? What of imported goods, such as artificial flowers, made off the premises of the seller under unsanitary conditions? These are some of the modern problems that women should have a voice in solving; that they could bring about perfection, but because they would assuredly lessen some of these evils.

Mrs. Sykes, president of the club, occupied the chair.

SOCIETY OF LONDON AND CONTINENT

Unconventional Princesses of Pless Not in Favor of The Kaiser

SKATING IS POPULAR

A Society Lady's Care For Supposed Poor and How She Was Imposed on—Wedding of Daughter of Earl Grey This Month

(Times Special Correspondence)

London, Nov. 9.—Princess Pless does not shake off the delicacy that the severe illness after the birth of her second boy left with her, and she will spend most of the winter on the Riviera, as she did last year.

Princess Pless is master of the hounds to the Kaiser, and every year on St. Hubert's Day—the patron saint of the huntmen and dogs—entertains the emperor at Furstentum. Some years ago, the princess, who is a thorough "madcap," introduced at these hunting parties, after the prime and proper Kaiser has taken his leave, of course, a new holiday that has become immensely popular with her guests.

Great were the rejoicings over the reopening of the Olympic Skating Club recently at Holland Park. There never is much going on during the "holidays" of course, but this year there is less than ever.

Among the most enthusiastic skaters were the two princesses, the Grand Duke Michael of Russia, who is settled in England, the Countess Zia and Nada. Hardly a day goes that they do not come up from Ken Wood, at Hampstead, to have a spin at Holland Park and they are always several names deep for partners for the tues.

There is more elaborate skating to be seen at Prince's of course, where the fellee disport themselves on real ice. Three duchesses were to be seen there lately—Her Grace of Bedford, who started the place, and the wearers of the Portland and the Westminster strawberry leaves. Of the men the Earl of Rockingham, with his mid-Victorian side whiskers, is the most regular skater; indeed, these dull days, he may generally be seen at one or the other of these places all the time, and is usually at home on the wheels and the blades.

Fashion's Lot. Fashion's latest whim is that women should carry a walking stick generally conjures up a picture of a figure straggling in a rickety bonnet and thick boots, tramping over muddy roads with a servicable implement in her hand to help her over awkward places. But the town stick is a very different affair. Made for ornament and use, it is of finely polished wood, or for the wealthy, of tortoiseshell, with elaborately carved or jeweled ends, and is carried with grace according to the taste of its owner.

Lady Anstetter was making a large purchase of these trifles the other day for Christmas presents. They were ebony, with plain gold crook handles, the handle of the fortunate owner being inscribed round the top of the stick in small diamonds. One or two special ones had also tiny watches at the end of the crook.

Lady Granard, whose charities among her poorer neighbors are so well known, told an amusing story the other day of two women who succeeded in "beating" her several years before she found them out. They were a mother and daughter to whom she had sent presents and clothes regularly for several years, believing them to be terribly poor. One day the daughter wrote a more than usually piteous letter saying she had been ill, and would so much like a little wool. Lady Granard, therefore, sent her a bottle of wool. More letters from the women, however, aroused Lady Granard's suspicions, so she requested the Charity Organization Society to investigate their case, and they reported that the women were poor, but that the daughter was not so.

They received no more wire after that, though Her Ladyship still continued to send them presents. The daughter died, and then the mother, and after the latter's death, there were found in the house three trunks full of clothes—most of them Lady Granard's, another full of household linen and sums of money amounting to $500.

BOSTON PAPER PRAISES PLAY

St. John Assured of Dramatic Treat in Opera House Tomorrow and Saturday

That a Butterfly on the Wheel has proved so successful is due in the main to the fact that one of the authors, Frances Nelson, now a member of parliament was formerly an actor, then a writer, then a dramatist, and then a politician. The collaborator, Edward G. Hemmings, is a fine one of the leading characters being splendidly presented, and the costuming most elaborate. A big audience should witness this fine play on its final presentation at the Shubert Theatre tonight.

This extraordinary dramatic triumph will be seen at the Opera House tomorrow evening and Saturday afternoon and evening.

DOWAGER.

AMUSEMENTS IN ST. JOHN: WHAT THE PLAYHOUSES OFFER

CARLETON'S NEW THEATRE. The new picture theatre in Carleton, to be called The Empress, will be opened on Monday next at 6.45 o'clock p.m. It was thought it might be possible to open tonight, but unforeseen delays in the new fittings has made postponement necessary.

The lower hall of the large City Hall building has been literally transformed. The floor has been graded, new lighting installed, picture curtain hung, modern operating booth erected, a brand new Underwriter's Model Edison motion picture machine put in position, an adequate heating plant provided, new chairs placed in convenient arrangement and floor coverings laid.

The new place will be warm, clean and easy of access and exit. The large doors have been changed to swing outwards, railings put up and draperies hung. Manager Smith proposes to make the Empress a home picture parlor for the Carleton people the year round, winterport rushes and other business influences will not be considered of paramount importance. The first consideration will always be a good clean, new programme for the West Side family folks. Pictures will be "first-run" service, not second-hand, and will therefore be new to all parts of the city.

The prices of admission will be five cents for about 275 seats, and ten cents for a special reservation of about 100 chairs. The outlay in making the Empress ready for a proper show has been considerable.

GREAT PICTURE AT NICKEL. Of all the features the Nickel has presented of a sporting character the present attraction—the Olympic Sports at Stockholm, Sweden, 1912—is by long odds the most interesting and delightful. To be transported from this familiar Canadian city to the strange and most engaging Swedish capital, there, to see the very floor of the world's athletes vying with one another for the classical laurel wreath of the ancient Greek sporting contests, as well as events of international popularity, is the suggestion, and indeed the actual photographic process, the watcher enjoys.

Nothing ever shown in the Nickel has surpassed this three-reel film by Pathé Brothers in photographic clearness and detail. It is as near perfect as it might seem possible to be. Each and every detail of the great world's most of runners, jumpers, divers, swimmers, cyclists, gymnasts, and all lines of sport, is caught by the unerring eyes of the motion picture camera and all the events are reproduced as if the watcher were enjoying a special box seat in the gigantic stadium.

Hundreds of thousands of people are watching the sports and those with the most restless eyes in evidence, make a brilliant setting for the field of contest. The most interesting parts of the whole $300 film was perhaps the section depicting the fancy marching of the various national contingents, including many ladies squads. Nothing prettier or better drilled could be imagined of a similar character. To miss seeing these Olympic sports on the curtain is to miss the best sporting picture of the new motion picture age, a treat that can be had today only. The Nickel yesterday was vinted the hearty thanks and commendations of numerous prominent citizens and people of standing in the various professions for bringing to this city an event of world importance in filmed fashion.

PINE BILL AT GEM. As had been fully expected, the programme given for the reopening of the Gem Theatre yesterday afforded pleasure to the great number who attended, and the feature production of "Monte Christo" in three reels by the Selig Company was particularly enjoyed. It was a magnificent presentation, beautifully staged and the acting was superior to the average standard motion picture productions. The most famous character was capably portrayed, while the other roles were handled with ability and cleverness as well. Careful attention was given to every little detail, and the presentation will long be remembered by those who witnessed it. It was a pleasure to all present to note the greater accommodation provided in the enlargement of the theatre, as there was practically twice as much seating room as formerly, a fact which was commented upon most favorably. The music last evening was distinctly artistic, and the programme by the increased orchestra was delightful, as was the singing of Miss Holcombe. The rural comedy, "Spoon Sam," brought many laughs and made up a well balanced show.

OPENING OF PARLIAMENT

Naval Policy Does Not Find Place in Speech From Throne

LIBERALS ARE READY

Promise of a Fighting Session—Navy Matter Not Coming Until After Debate on Address—Little Apparently Ready For House

Ottawa, Nov. 21.—The Duke of Connaught opened the twelfth parliament of Canada at three o'clock this afternoon. There is promise of an interesting session.

The main subjects of debate will centre around Canada's relations to the empire with special reference to naval defence, the tariff problem, involving the whole question of wider markets and reciprocal trade relations within the empire and with other countries, and provision on a large scale for the enlargement of the transportation needs of the growing dominion.

Liberal members of parliament, headed by the old chief, are ready for a fighting session and the attack will begin promptly with the debate on the address in the afternoon.

This Will Stop Your Cough in a Hurry

Save $2 by Making This Cough Syrup at Home.

This recipe makes 16 ounces of better cough syrup than you could buy ready made for $2.45. A few doses usually conquer the most obstinate cough—stops even whooping cough quickly.

Mix two cups of granulated sugar with one cup of warm water, and stir for 2 minutes. Put this mixture in a pint (16 cents) worth in a 16-ounce bottle; then add the Sugar Syrup. It has a pleasant taste and lasts a family a long time. Take a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours.

You can feel this take hold of a cough in a few minutes. It has a good tonic effect, braces up the appetite, and is slightly laxative, too, which is helpful. A handy remedy for hoarseness, croup, bronchitis, asthma and all throat and lung troubles.

The effect of pine on the membrane is well known. It is a powerful antiseptic and concentrated compound of Norwegian white pine extract, rich in ginkgol and all the natural healing pine elements. Other preparations will not work in this form.

This Pinex and Sugar Syrup recipe has already dispersed with the services of Sir George Murray who was brought out from England a few weeks ago to investigate the service conditions, and who had expected to make his investigation a thorough one by staying all winter.

SOME OF THE REASONS

Pleatous Production of Gold, Eased From Farm to City, Enormous Expenditure on Non-productive Armies and Navies, The Tariff

(Halifax Recorder.)

A most important report concerning the high cost of living and the causes thereof has been issued by the Ontario Tariff Commission.

The report is absolutely without bias, political or otherwise, and goes over the whole question pretty thoroughly. Though special attention was given to the city of Toronto, the facts and conclusions are almost equally applicable in any part of Canada.

JOHN P. CONDON 54 KING STREET

INQUIRY INTO DEATH OF PETER GLEASON

Miss Mallet and Brother on the Stand — Doctor's Opinion on Cause of Death

Dr. John McCarty said last night at the inquest into the death of Peter Gleason, who died early Monday morning in the home of Oliver Mallet, Milford, that in his opinion the death was the result of acute alcoholism, due to an overdose of liquor.

Coroner Quinlan presided, but the cross-examination of witnesses was done by G. Earle Logan. Belle and Oliver Mallet both gave evidence, and for the former, an interpreter, F. E. Light, had to be employed.

James Gleason, father of the deceased, and Michael, a brother, told of seeing Peter Gleason at five o'clock on Sunday afternoon. He had been in the house all day, and had not been drinking. He went for a walk after supper and never returned.

CASCARETS CLEANSE LIVER AND BOWELS

The Millions of Cascaret Users Never Have Headache, Constipation, Bloating or Sick Stomach

It is more necessary that you keep your bowels, liver and stomach clean, pure and fresh than it is to keep the rest of the organs of a large city free from obstruction.

Are you keeping clean inside with Cascarets? You're merely forcing a passageway every few days with salts, cathartic pills or castor oil. This is important.

Cascarets immediately cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the food and digested and fermenting food and food gases; take the excess bile from the liver; clean out of the system the constipated waste matter and poison in the intestines and bowels.

Enthusiastic Meeting Last Night—The Ward Representatives

An enthusiastic meeting of the Young Men's Liberal Club of the City and County of St. John took place last evening in the Liberal headquarters in the Pugsley building.

The attendance was unusually large and plans for the winter were discussed. A strong committee was selected to arrange for entertainments. It is likely that a smoker will be the form of the first social meeting, which will take place at an early date.

The election of officers resulted as follows: Horace A. Porter, president; Roy Skinner, first vice-president; William Knudsen, second vice-president; F. J. McDonald, third vice-president; A. B. Connor, fourth vice-president; W. J. Magee, secretary.
