Dan Murphy's Ghost

And now it is said that Daniel Murphy's ghost haunts the little farm in Mars Hill where Mr. Murphy lived before he was chopped to death by his son. The house was burned down soon after the tragedy, and some people claim that a bolt of lightning came down out of the heavens out of a clear sky others more prosaic, that it was set on fire by some of the settlers in that vicinity to remove the land mark from the neighborhood. The superstitious ones say that the victim may be seen about the ruins of his home only on the nights when the shadows of the big full moon chase each other among the shadows of the forest trees near the place, and the young man returning home from a visit to his sweetheart in the small hours of the night has an uncanny feeling as he passes the place, and the shrill whoa, whoa, of the night owl is enough to raise the hair and send him home at a two-minute clip.

Speaker Edgar Dead.

Sir James Edgar, Canada's first speaker, died at his home, Bloor street, Toronto, last Monday. He had undergone a severe operation a few days before, but the doctors thought he would recover. A few days before his death, however, he began to sink rapidly.

Speaker Edgar is the sixteenth member of this parliament who has died since the election of 1896.

It is understood that Sir James Edgar died a poor man. His family will have nothing except his life insurance.

Pleasant Entertainment.

The entertainment which was given by the "Y" last Saturday evening was in every way a success. There were present about 60 young ladies. A short programme was given consisting of a piano solo by Miss Kelly, vocal solo by Miss Clara Johnston, duet by Misses Clara Matheson and Dora Thornton, and a very interesting 'talk' by Miss Lucas, which was addressed particularly to girls and was very instructive. The refreshments partaken of was ice cream and cake.

The Temiscouta Mill.

The new saw mill erected at Calhoun's on Lake Temiscouta, by Donald Fraser & Son of this city, is approaching completion, and will commence operations shortly. It is the intention of the Messrs. Fraser to run the mill day and night, and they expect to turn out fully 200,000 feet of deals, 200,000 shingles and 16,000 clapboards. They will employ upwards of 200 men.—Ex.

Remember Wednesday is Campbell & Nixon's SPECIAL bargain day, but they are prepared to give as good bargains every day in the week as can be got in town.

C. P. R. Officials.

A distinguished party of Canadian Pacific railway officials passed through the village by special train in charge of Conductor Shorten, on Thursday evening. The party included President Shaughnessy, Messrs. Timmerman, Bosworth, Lat, Sutherland, Patterson and Newcombe.

Diphtheria.

A little son of A. W. Estabrooks is very seriously ill of diphtheria and croup. Dr. Curtis is in attendance, and with the aid of antitoxin serum hopes to put the little fellow through. If this new remedy works as satisfactorily as in the case of the little Hallet child, all will be well.

Heavy Storms.

Last Thursday one of the most severe storms of the last few years struck Perth and Andover. It rained, hailed, lightened and the wind blew a hurricane. A big sheet of plate glass, 8x10 feet, in A. L. Green's window at Perth was smashed.

New School Books.

The Board of Education has decided to introduce a new series of school books known as "The New Brunswick Readers," for use beginning the next term. McMillans Vertical Writing Books have also been prescribed as an option with the present series.

Sundry Notes.

At Sawyer's mill in two days of this week they sawed 102,000 lathes which is considered good work.

Wesley Vanwart O. C., ex-mayor of Fredericton, was stricken with paralysis last Sunday and died early Tuesday morning.

Rev. G. B. Trafton will preach at the following places next Sunday: Waterville, 10.30 a.m.; Victoria Corner 3 p.m.; Peel 8 p.m.

Services tomorrow: Rev. J. B. Daggett, Free Baptist, at 10.45 a.m.; Rev. J. A. Sellars, Methodist, 7 p.m.; Rev. A. H. Hayward, Baptist, 10.30 p.m.; Sunday-schools all commence at 2.30 p.m.

Mr Thomas Bain was unanimously and apparently with the hearty goodwill of the House, elected speaker in the place of the late Sir James Edgar.

The Sunday School at Victoria Corner regaled themselves with a picnic last Thursday afternoon, after which there was a concert in the evening, held in the Free Baptist church, which was well filled. Quite a lengthy programme was given and was well received.

Proper Cochin Shape.

To comply with the wish of a gentleman I shall try to make the present cochin form as plain as possible to him, also to the many readers of the ADVERTISER.

The Comb—Should be single, of medium size, low in front, beautifully rounded to the rear and divided into five even handsome points, the centre one being the highest. The notches should be moderately deep. Less than four or more than six points are not desirable. The comb should be firm of fine texture, stout at the base, perfectly erect and straight from point to rear, and free from any wrinkles or side sprigs. In color, bright red. The comb goes far toward the general make-up for beauty in a cochin. A bad comb often spoils the whole appearance. The well rounding of same from front to rear adds much to its beauty, as the square or flat form, either front or rear detracts. The perfect comb as described above sets like a crown on a perfect head.

The Head—Should be carried forward, rather small, medium in skull, flat across the crown, with a slight prominence over the eyes, the cranium well rounded, and the juncture with the neck well defined, deep in the face which should be of fine texture, smooth and bright red, with the cheek-bones high and the dew lap well developed. The head as a whole should look short, and have a neat appearance. A rough coarse head, or a smooth snake-shaped head cannot fill this description. The juncture of the head and neck when well defined, adds great beauty to the bird, as does a well developed dewlap. The flat crown and moderate prominence over the eyes, with a good showing of fine, upright feathers on either side of the comb makes a true Cochin head. A Brahma shaped head is not to be tolerated.

The Eyes—Should be of medium size and mild in expression. The present standard calls for "Bay Eyes." Personally I consider this an error, for such an eye is usually only found in Buff Cochins that are red in shade of color, or in White Cochins that have considerable yellow shading. The color of the eyes usually follows the color of the bird. (The first Cochins imported from China had red eyes and pencilled necks.)

The Wattles—Should be pendant, rather long and well rounded. In texture, fine, smooth, and thin. In color bright red. It is quite important that the wattles and ear-lobes be both fine in texture, and thin, for the reason that the thick, coarse formation will not hang in such graceful folds as the thinner ones.

Ear Lobes—Should be well developed, hanging about two-thirds as low as the wattles, of very fine texture, free from any discoloration which is very objectionable. In color, bright red (Early importations had white ear lobes.) Nothing shows the fineness in texture and the true color of the wattles and earlobes. The described form of same goes far towards the makeup of a beautiful head.

The Neck—Should be short, full, and well proportioned, handsomely carried from rear of head (this curve should begin at the juncture of head and neck) to back.

The Back of the Cochin—Is made up of the shoulders, back, and saddle. The shoulders across just under the hackle should be very broad and flat from point of wing bow, where the wing is well cupped, (full and round) it gives a very broad shoulder. The hackle should almost join the saddle of the male forming a short convex back. The saddle must be convexed from side to side. The sides should be well rounded and the plumage long and profuse, flowing over the tips of the wings. This formation helps to produce the true Cochin tail, when the feathers are long and the under fluff very abundant it forms a cushion about the tail and joins with the lesser sickles and coverts to hide from view the main tail feathers, the whole surmounted by the main sickle feathers that should flow gracefully over all. Now, if any one wishes to see a true Cochin as the above description if they will call at my poultry yard I think I can show them one. Next week if nothing happens, I will say something about Plymouth Rocks.

Yours in the interests of pure bred poultry.

Cheese Factory in Hartland

The farmers of Hartland and vicinity will kindly remember that Keith & Plummer will build or rent a cheese factory at or near this village and run it the full cheese season of each year, beginning A. D. 1900. After the cheese season is over, it will possibly be operated as a skimming station. Delivery waggons for milk will be put on the road early in the season, and it is to be hoped the farmers will be prepared with a large herd of milch cows as it will be a paying investment for them. With the co-operation of the farmers on the west side of the river a large amount of milk may reasonably be expected.

Having had quite an experience with cheese in the past, Keith & Plummer claim that they can handle it to better advantage than one not in the business.

The farmers of the United States have long needed a good work on swine, a practical concise and common-sense book without any padding or humbug about it. They have it in the form of No. 5 of The Biggle Books called Biggle Swine Book. It is profusely illustrated with photographs direct from life of the different breeds of hogs, etc., etc. Much attention is given to western and eastern practices, in the diseases of hogs especially to cholera, to feeding, breeding, butchering and the carving of meats for home use and market. There are 144 pages printed on the best paper and bound handsomely bound in cloth. Some breeders have thought it not possible to make a good photograph of a hog, but the score or more of handsome engravings made directly from photographs will go far to dispel this illusion. All the leading breeds are shown and briefly discussed in the text. See announcement of this and other Biggle Books in another column of this number of the ADVERTISER. The price is 50 cents, in c by mail; address the publisher, Wilmer Atkinson Co., Philadelphia.

ADMITTED THE BEST.

We have a good many unsolicited letters like this one from Mr. Grant:
CENTRAL SOUTHAMPTON, York, Co. 17, Dec. 1899.

CONNELL BROS, Woodstock, N. B.,
Dear Sirs—As we are about through with this season's threshing and as I am aware you feel interested in the machinery you manufacture, no doubt it will be pleasing to you good reports of same. The TORNADO Threshing Machine manufactured by you that we bought from you in August last has proved to be the best Threshing Machine that has been in this section of the county. That is the unanimous verdict of every man that the machine has done work for. She has threshed for thirty men in this section, and men that never were satisfied before were more than pleased with the work the machine did; they were satisfied they got all their grain and well cleaned, even the women were pleased because they did not have a crew of men around several days threshing a small quantity of grain.

The Machine has threshed this season about ten thousand bushels of all kinds of grain and I am happy to inform you that there was not one thing broken about the machine, not as much as a tooth. She has thrashed over a bushel a minute, and with a suitable team, she will thresh 300 to 400 bushels a day. It is gratifying to me to congratulate you for perfecting and manufacturing the best two horse power Threshing Machine in the Dominion of Canada and also in the world.

Wishing you a Merry Christmas and a happy New Year, I remain,
Yours truly, (Signed) H. C. GRANT

HARTLAND - N. B. AUG. 5 1899.

We have to thank the people of Hartland and vicinity including many friends up river, for the very generous support given us for the last three years. We are pleased to note the steady growth of business and will earnestly strive to make the paper all its friends could hope for. But there still are many subscribers one and two years in arrears—and this in spite of the fact that payment is asked in advance. We cannot therefore be considered impertinent in asking each one of these to pay up at once. Expensive improvements about to be made, makes this imperative.

* * *

Now that the editor of this paper has the management of another office, it must not be imagined that less attention will be given to the ADVERTISER. The fact is that steady improvement in this journal will be the result. In a few weeks a large cylinder press is to be put in, and the paper will be enlarged to almost twice its present size. Constant additions are being made to the job department and all work sent to us will be promptly and satisfactorily done.

Ruskin on Women and War.

Mr. Ruskin at the close of a lecture on war made the following remarks to the ladies present: "Only by your command, or by your permission, can any war take place among us. And the real final reason for all the poverty, misery, and rage of battle through Europe is simply that you women, however good and religious, however self-sacrificing for those whom you love, are to selfish and too thoughtless to take pains for any creature out of your immediate circle. Let every christian woman who has conscience toward God vow that she will mourn for his fellow creatures.

Let every lady in the happy classes of civilized Europe simply vow that, while any cruel war proceeds, she will wear black—of mute's black—with no jewel, no ornament and I tell you again no war could last a week.

An Obituary Quilt.

A minister who recently preached for one of his friends was given the best bedroom to sleep in. Waking in the bright morning sunlight his attention was attracted by the odd pattern of the quilt which served as a counterpane on the bed. It was a patchwork quilt, made in large squares, and on every square was a lettering worked in black worsted.

In the square immediately before his eyes he read the words: 'Sacred to the memory of Solomon Tubbs. Died Oct 8, 1867.' In the next square was inscribed: In memory of Martha Philips Born June 11 1833 di d Jan 14 to 1867.

On every square was an obituary notice couched in a style similar to the first one read, and covered a time running from 1851 to 1867.

It appears the quilt was presented to the pastor's wife by the woman of her husband's congregation, and combined the utilities of a counterpane with the record of deaths in the parish for a term of sixteen years.

Philosophy of the Eyes.

Blue eyes are said to be the weakest. Uprturned eyes are typical of devotion. Wide open eyes are indicative of rashness. Side-glancing eyes are always to be distrusted.

Brown eyes are said by oculists to be the strongest.

Small eyes are commonly supposed to indicate cunning.

The proper distance between the eyes is the width of one eye.

The downcast eye has in all ages been typical of modesty.

People of melancholic temperament rarely have clear blue eyes.

Eyes with long sharp corners indicate great discernment and penetration.

The white of the eye showing beneath the iris is indicative of nobility of character.

Gray eyes turning green in anger or excitement are indicative of a choleric temperament.

When the upper lid covers half or more of the pupil the indication is of cool deliberation.

An eye the upper lid of which passes horizontally across the pupil indicates mental ability.

Unsteady eyes rapidly jerking from side to side, are frequently indicative of an unsettled mind.

It is said that the prevailing colors of eyes of patients of lunatic asylums are black and brown.

Eyes of any color with weak brows and long concave lashes are indicative of a weak constitution.

Eyes that are wide apart are said by physiognomists to indicate great intelligence and a tenacious memory.

Eyes of which the whole of the iris is visible belong to erratic persons, often with a tendency towards insanity.

Wide open, staring eyes in weak countenances are indicative of jealousy, bigotry, intolerance and pertinacity without firmness.

Eyes placed close together in the head are said to indicate pettiness of disposition, jealousy, and a turn for fault-finding.

When the under arch of the upper eye-lid is a perfect semicircle it is indicative of goodness, but also of timidity, sometimes approaching cowardice.

All men of genius are said to have eyes clear, slow-moving and bright. This is the eye which indicates mental ability of some kind, it does not matter what.

Blue eyes are generally considered effeminate, but this is a mistake for blue eyes are found only among Caucasian nations, and the white nations rule the world.—Pearson's Weekly.

Light-weight Teas.

Our Local Packers Do Not Adopt That Kind of Competition.

A London tea firm was recently fined for weighing in the package, in putting up their packet teas. That is, a pound package did not contain a pound of tea. There was a complaint last year that some package teas offered on the provincial market only weighed a pound when the package was included.

To the GAZETTE this morning Mr. T. H. Estabrooks, the North Wharf Tea Importer and Blender, said that he believed all the blenders and packers in these provinces put a full pound of tea in every package. He had not heard of any case where they did not. The London incident he thought, was an evidence that it would be better for the provincial trade to buy package teas from St. John or Halifax packers. Then if there should at any time be a complaint, there would be less difficulty in getting matters straightened out. He held moreover, that the local packers, having a better knowledge of the market requirements here, ought to be in the best position to meet the wants of the trade, as to kind and quality of tea. As a matter of fact, London is becoming less and less a centre for the distribution of tea, which might account for the unfair competition of light-weight packages.

In recent years the business of direct importation, and blending and packing of teas, in cities like St. John and Halifax has grown rapidly. Mr. Estabrooks, for example, has the most modern machinery operated by electric power for blending and packing teas and his Red Rose Tea especially is a household word throughout the provinces.

Campbell & Nixon make a specialty of the above Tea.

Centreville Scintillations.

"Hope deferred makes the heart sick." We have wondered what has influenced Judge Vanwart from either confirming or raising the injunction on the jail building. It must be apparent to the most casual observer that those who interested themselves in the matter have put the county to needless expense, and they alone will take the blame, as those who are willing to build, won't be satisfied to allow $2 500 repairs put on the old trap, if that is the wish of the people but it will be false economy. Much like the way councils have managed heretofore.

Nervous Dyspepsia.

A Young Lady in Trenton Released from Suffering.

She Suffered Untold Agony from Stomach Troubles and Sick Headaches—Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Cured Her.

From the Courier, Trenton, Ont.

Some years ago we reported the case of Wm. Pickering, Trenton, being cured of locomotor ataxia. He was not able to move and was confined to his bed for weeks. Upon advice he tried Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and immediately obtained relief. He is still free from the terrible excruciating affection, and enjoys active, robust health. We have just learned of another positive cure through using Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. It is the case of Miss Cassie Way, who has been an acute sufferer from that common foe of humanity and the foundation for many other ills, dyspepsia. For nearly eight years Miss Way suffered untold agonies with sick headache and pains in the stomach. She tried several doctors without any material benefit. A year ago she came to live with a friend in Trenton, Mrs. W. L. Derbyshire, and was so reduced that she could not sit up an hour. She feared her trouble would drive her crazy. She was advised to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. She replied that she had used a box before and they had done her no good. It was urged that she could not hope for relief from one box and she commenced them again. She continued using the pills throughout the year with the result that she had completely recovered her health. Her appetite is good, she has gained flesh rapidly, and is able to attend to all her household duties. She voluntarily offers this testimony as a tribute of gratitude for the benefit she has derived with the hope that others suffering as she has, may be induced to try this health restoring remedy. Mrs. Derbyshire adds her testimony to the correctness of the statements of Miss Way. Allow me to add that for four or five years the editor of this paper has suffered from an itching rash that attacked all his joints and all the ointments within reach failed to banish it. He took Dr. Williams' Pink Pills last year and is nearly well.

Dyspepsia, rheumatism, sciatica, neuralgia, partial paralysis, locomotor ataxia, nervous headache, nervous prostration, kidney trouble and diseases depending upon humors in the blood, such as scrofula, chronic erysipelas, etc., all disappear before a fair treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They give a healthy glow to pale and sallow complexions and build up and renew the entire system. Sold by all dealers or sent postpaid at 50 cents a box or six boxes $2.50, by addressing the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont. Do not be persuaded to take some substitute.
