REV. A. B. SIMPSON IS STILL AT HIS OLD JOB

Church Folk, Under His Exhortation, Throw Jewels in Collection Plates to Save the Heathen—Volunteers for Mission Fields

LANCASTER, Pa., July 22.—All records for contributions to the cause of missions were broken today at the closing exercises of the thirteenth annual convention of the Christian and Missionary Alliance for Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland and the district of Columbia, which has been held the past week at Rocky Springs.

Under the persuasive influence of the Rev. Dr. A. B. Simpson, of New York, more than $2,000 was raised, a large portion of it being in cash, while some of the more enthusiastic took jewelry from their persons and threw it into the collection plates.

Active missionary workers from the foreign fields gave their experiences and told of the great needs of funds to rescue the millions of heathens, and one of the speakers called for volunteers to work in the foreign climes. About a dozen young persons stood up and gave their names.

Following the exercises, which stirred the several thousand hearers, the annual missionary offering was taken up, under the direction of Dr. H. Sentz, the superintendent, Philadelphia and Pittsburgh branches responded with subscriptions of $5,000 each. Scranton came next with $3,000.

The Memories of eastern Pennsylvania, who are earnest supporters of the mission cause, gave $4,000. From Pittsburgh came an addition of $1,000, given by the negro branch, Lancaster city gave $800.

Cash offerings exceeded all previous collections and as the collectors passed through the great audience, the hats which they carried were filled with silver and greenbacks. The convention, closed tonight, when the address was made by the Rev. W. F. Meminger, held superintendent.

Scores of persons were converted during the convention, a number of the sick have been healed, and the prayers of the workers, and one convert, it is said, received the gift of tongues.

The Alliance members have great faith in the efficacy of prayer, and several times during the convention, and all night, they were seen praying fervently.

ROJESTVENSKY IS NOT DEAD

Russian of Same Name Died But Not the Admiral. The Commander at Tsu Shima Has a Chance to Learn What is Thought of Him.

BERLIN, July 21.—The announcement made Monday from Baden-Baden, Germany, that Vice Admiral Rojestvensky, who commanded the ill-fated Russian fleet that was annihilated by the Japanese in the battle of the Sea of Japan in May, 1905, had died there the night of July 19, from a heart trouble, is incorrect. A Russian, named Rojestvensky did die at Baden-Baden, but he was not the admiral.

The latter has had the rare opportunity of learning what people say about him after death. He will not find the press comment entirely complimentary.

DISABLED MINERS TO BECOME FARMERS

John Mitchell Going South to Buy Suitable Tract for Union

MOBILE, Ala., July 22.—From the coal-studded earth and the smoke-filled air of the Alleghenies are coming the disabled miners, members of the United Mine Workers of America, to spend their lives in the salubrious climate of the Gulf States. Here they are to cultivate the soil.

John Mitchell is due in Alabama this week. Some disabled and retired miners of the West and Mitchell's plan, it is said, is to buy land here to carry out this project further.

If the union should buy a large tract it could sell plots cheaply to the disabled miners, providing small farms where they could make profits on the investment of their savings.

GRETE BEIER BEHEADED FOR THE MURDER OF HER FIANCE

Attractive Young Girl Put Poison in Drink Which She Had Prepared, Then Shot Her Lover After Forging Letters Over His Name—Execution Was Private

PREIBERG, Saxony, July 22.—Grete Beier, the 18-year-old daughter of the Mayor of Freiberg, was beheaded last night some time between dark and dawn in punishment for the murder of this man to whom she was engaged to be married.

The executioner of this young woman reached the north side about noon. He carried a thin long box containing the axe with which he did his work, and brought with him also a handbag with a suit of evening clothes. The wearing of this garb is an official requirement of the scribe executioner. The preparations for the execution at the prison had been completed and the man did his work quickly and privately, and departed from Freiberg as quietly as he came.

The executioner is an anonymous person who was sent down here from Dresden on the announcement that the King of Saxony had refused to pardon Grete Beier for her crime. The personality of this young girl who came of a good family and her thoughtfully arranged murder of her fiancé, Herr Preffer, a rich young civil engineer attracted intentional attention. She was seemingly a happy and fair young girl. At her trial she admitted with the utmost simplicity that she visited her fiancé's house one evening, gave him a cyanide of potassium in a drink she mixed for him, and then swore she was sure of his death, shot him in the mouth with his own revolver.

She then dropped the weapon at the dead man's side, placed a forged will in her own favor on his desk, together with a note of good-bye also forged, saying that he feared to lose her love through the revelation of a dishonorable liaison. In addition to those papers, the young girl also left behind a package of forged letters purporting to come from a woman in Italy accusing Preffer of desertion and threatening to tell Grete everything. These forgeries were so skillfully done that they successfully deceived the police and coroner. Grete fled under suspicion a month after the crime through a love letter to an overboardy man hiding at what she had done. This letter was found when the man was arrested for a misdemeanor.

NAVAL CONFERENCE TO BE HELD AT NEWPORT

NEWPORT, R. I., July 22.—With the arrival of President Roosevelt here this morning, there will begin at the Naval War College on Coasters Harbor Island, the picturesque site of a number of naval institutions, overlooking the waters of Narragansett Bay, the most important conference of naval officers, affecting the future consideration of American battleships and cruisers in the history of naval fighting establishments. For several weeks two score of officers comprising the staff of the war college, the members of the summit conference and the personnel of the newly appointed 'battleship commission' have been struggling with plans for future battleships, without arriving at an agreement. Today a conference of more than 100 officers of the navy together with a large representation from the army, will be addressed by President Roosevelt. The president afterwards will participate in a discussion of the merits of the various plans with the officers and also will take up the criticisms that recently have been made upon American naval construction. Most of the discussion will be held in closed doors.

POLICE COURT.

In the police court this morning two drunks were fined the usual amount. Wm. Cook appeared with a bad eye, caused, he claimed, by John Henderson. Wm. Cook appeared with a bad eye, said that he was first assaulted. Cook went out, as he had the marks of the conflict as proof. So Henderson was fined $2.

Wm. Daley, P. McHugh, and Arthur Love were before the court for violation of the I. C. R. rules. Policemen Smith, of the I. C. R., swore that Daley and McHugh were inside the railing for coachmen, while the two coaches swore they were not. It was a case of direct contradiction, and some one must have been mistaken. The case was dismissed. A. Love admitted being a violator of the rules and was fined two dollars.

Frank Hopper, who yesterday pleaded not guilty to being drunk, changed his mind and pleaded guilty this morning. He informed the court that the only reason he had for pleading not guilty was that Policeman Belyea told him to do so. He was fined $8.

ROBERT A. MCINTYRE WILL ADDIT THE COUNTY BOOKS
The July meeting of the Municipal Council was held yesterday afternoon in the county court chambers and was expected occupied only a short time. The collectors of taxes were ordered to collect all taxes in arrears or, failing this, to issue executions. The matter of choosing the guarantee company for the new treasurer was left to a committee composed of Councilors Bullock and Baxter. There was some discussion on the amount the treasurer should be bonded for, but as it was decided at a prior meeting that it should be $10,000 the amount was not changed. Councilor Baxter reported that he had arranged with Robert A. McIntyre, who is at present in the city, to make an audit of the county books. It was also decided that County Secretary Vincent be authorized to sign and execute the deeds on the Sandy Point road. After a lengthy discussion it was decided to appoint a policeman for the March road between the One and Three Mills Houses. ORCHESTRA

VIENNA, July 22.—There was an extraordinary scene at the wedding of Princess Anale of Fuenstenberg, a member of one of Austria's historic houses and former Lieutenant Kocian, the handsome motor car agent, who eloped with her last May. The descendant of a good family and an ex-cavalry lieutenant, Kocian made the Princess' acquaintance at Carlsbad, and frequently took her for drives. After their flight the family intervened and a wedding was arranged. Narodi Lity, a Czech newspaper inimical to the Germans, gives the following details of the ceremony, which took place on Tuesday last in the castle chapel at Kammerburg: "All preparations were kept secret, as the family hoped, until the last moment to prevent the marriage. Kocian appeared just before the hour fixed at the gates by the back door and was conducted by the castle to a small room, where he put on the uniform of a lieutenant of Dragons. The mother of the bride attempted with tears and reproaches to persuade her to give up her lover, Prince Emil of Fuenstenberg, her brother, also made a determined effort to induce his sister to change her mind. After entering the chapel the mother made a final appeal, and the Princess, overcome, fell in a faint on the floor. When she recovered, however, she insisted on going through the ceremony, but she was so weak she had to be supported. Directly after the ceremony the young pair left for Prague. The Princess embraced her husband in the presence of the crowd assembled in front of the castle."

SASKATCHEWAN POLITICS.

The Legislature of Saskatchewan has been dissolved. Polling will take place on August 14th. There have been important changes in the government and system of government in this section of Canada during the past twenty years. For a long time, following the organization of the territories in 1882, the administration was in the hands of a coalition party, in which both Liberals and Conservatives worked together as members of the executive.

Upon his retirement from the territorial council, his place was taken by Mr. A. L. Sifton, who, however, was soon elevated to the bench, and by Mr. G. H. Y. Bulyea. Between them they divided the work formerly done by Mr. Ross. It will be noted that the Conservative premier, Mr. Haultain, still had as his strongest assistants two prominent Liberals. On Mr. Sifton's election, Mr. Bulyea assumed his duties, and Mr. W. Elliott took over the work abandoned by Mr. Bulyea. Mr. Elliott is a Conservative. There was no organized opposition in the territorial assembly, and party government was a thing unknown until the province of Saskatchewan was admitted to the federation. This was on Sept. 1st, 1905.

Mr. Walter Scott had for some years been the fourth member of the leading quartet in territorial affairs. He was president of the Liberal "C" of Regina and editor of that paper. He was always in close touch with Messrs. Ross, Haultain and Bulyea; his paper was in a sense the official organ of the government, and Mr. Scott was as intimately acquainted with the machinery of administration as was the premier himself. In 1905 he entered politics, as a candidate for the federal house in the Liberal interests, for Assiniboia West. He was elected and was re-elected in 1904 from the same constituency.

Mr. Van Winkle returned from his long sleep looking fresh as a daisy and made his way to the village barber shop, not only because he needed a haircut and shave, but also because he wished to catch up on the news. "Let me see," said he to the barber, "I've been asleep twenty years, haven't I?"

"No," replied the tonsorialist. "I've missed much." "Nope," was his standard pat. "Has Congress done anything yet?" "Not a thing." "Jerome done anything?" "Nope." "Panama canal built?" "Nope." "Bryan been elected?" "Nope." "Carnegie poor?" "Nope."

"Well, say," said Rip, rising up in the chair, "never mind shaving the other side of my face. I'm going back to sleep again."

Voyage Which Took Five Years Achieved in 610 B. C.—Translation Just Made.

LONDON, July 22.—Coinciding with the dawning triumph of aerial navigation comes the unearthing of a grand adventure of the world's first great navigator and explorer. His name was Ptolemy and he lived in Egypt 2,000 years before Columbus discovered America. His great exploit was the circumnavigation of Africa, a voyage more than three times as long as that of Columbus. It occupied him nearly five years.

BRITISH CATTLEMEN FEAR CANADIAN COMPETITION
This is Supposed to be the Real Reason for Not Removing the Cattle Embargo.

OTTAWA, July 22.—The statement of Sir Edward Strachey in the British Commons yesterday that the embargo against Canadian cattle would not be removed because of the prevalence of tuberculosis, anthrax, and other infectious diseases among cattle in this country is regarded by officials of the agriculture department here as a mere subterfuge. The diseases enumerated by the representative of the British Commons are common to cattle of all countries. Canadian cattle are no worse than British cattle in this respect. The reason originally given for the imposition of the embargo was the alleged presence of pleuro-pneumonia among Canadian cattle. The Canadian government has always and still maintains this disease does not exist in this country and has made repeated assurances to that effect to imperial authorities. The real reason for continuation of embargo in Britain is believed here to be the fear of Canadian competition among British cattlemen. The embargo is thus a disguised form of protection.

A CHINESE ROBINSON CRUSOE.
People who have not been to Hilo, the little seaport on the island of Hawaii, may not think it a matter of moment that the "wild Chinaman of Papeaokunika" is dead. Like many worthy folk Ah Chow did not have his name printed much in the newspapers until after he died; but that was the fall of the papers and not of Ah Chow.
They say down in Hilo—that Ah Chow came to the islands thirty years ago as a contract laborer on a sugar plantation. He evidently did not like being a contract laborer, for he fled from the plantation soon after his arrival and worked his way up to the almost inaccessible mountain crag of Papeaokunika. He had a little plateau had kept no animals; all the labor work of grubbing the jungle from his place had been done with his own hands.
Besides the vegetables that he sustained old Ah Chow the hermit had not lacked for fish, as bird snare and nets found in his hut and set about among the nearby trees showed. He had even fashioned out of bamboo a sort of sampan, or blowgun, such as is used by the natives of the Dutch East Indies, which will propel a dart several hundred feet.
Like another Robinson Crusoe Ah Chow had lived on his dizzy shelf of rock high above and even within sight of the civilization that spread out below him in plantation and village.
He was captured finally and examined. It was found that the wild Chinaman did not have leprosy and he was allowed to go back to his abode on the mountain.
From that day until the Chinaman's body was found a month ago, lying in a rude coffin of his own making, inside his hut, no man is known to have spoken with him and few had seen him. The tax-assessor and tax-collector gave him a wide berth; the man who owned the land which he had pre-empted made no attempt to eject him. He never came down off the mountain and neither white man nor Kanaka cared to go up to see him.
His body was stumbled upon by a stranger who had gone up the mountain without knowing that danger was popularly supposed to wait at the top for all intruders. When this stranger reported his find several men from the nearest plantation went up to the wild Chinaman's hut.
The body could not be removed, so a pile of wood was heaped about it and it was burned where it lay, with the hut which had for thirty years been the lonely hermitage of Ah Chow. The strange man must have known the

MRS. HERTHA AYRTON'S STUDY OF SEARCHLIGHTS

(As the result of careful scientific investigation and a vast amount of experimental work, Mrs. Hertha Ayrton, a brilliant electrician, has managed to determine the exact critical conditions under which the powerful electric arc required for searchlights remain absolutely steady and noiseless. The feat would have been sufficiently wide interest from a scientific point of view alone, but it is also bound to induce a great improvement in naval projector practice. The story of her achievement is popularly told in the following article.)

BY SPENCER HAWES, M.I.E.E. In the autumn session of 1884 of the Finsbury Technical College a young girl named Hertha Ayrton was introduced to the mathematics department by her father, who had already taken honors in mathematics at Girtton, and had shown an aptitude for scientific work by inventing a line-divider. At this time, rapid developments were taking place in the application of electricity to practical purposes, and they became of absorbing interest to the Girtton scholar.

Professor Ayrton to undertake the task of comparing various makes of searchlight carbons, and of investigating the cause of the strange behaviour of the arc when a strong current of electricity was applied to it. She had already taken honors in mathematics at Girtton, and had shown an aptitude for scientific work by inventing a line-divider.

THE LEADING AUTHORITY. Today Mrs. Ayrton enjoys a world-wide reputation as an electrical engineer and inventor. Her book on that subject, one of the standard works of reference of the electrical profession, was described by Professor Blondel, the distinguished French experimenter on the arc, as a "masterly treatise," of which "more than three-quarters consists of an account of her own work, the results of which frequently overturn in a most unexpected way conclusions which have been previously regarded as well established."

Some time ago the Admiralty asked light purposes. But Mrs. Ayrton experiments showed that to obtain the maximum steadiness of the arc with the greatest amount of light, combined with complete silence and absolute fixity of the position of the arc relatively to the focus of the parabolic mirror—an essential condition if the beam of light has to be maintained perfectly parallel—every one of the conditions of the Admiralty specification had to be radically changed.

MANUFACTURING DIAMONDS FROM THE SUGAR BOWL.

The Lenoire Diamond imposture, which has been amusing France in particular, and adding to the gaiety of the nations in general, comes as a reminder that scientists have now been for some time on the border of discovering a practical method of manufacturing diamonds.

As far back as 1822 Gaunault, in Paris, thought he had solved the problem. He treated carburet of sulphur with pure phosphorus, and tiny sparkling morsels fell into his trembling hands. Alas! they turned out to be mere glassy particles stripped from his own lips.

Gagnard de Latour, and later on Despretz, continued the fascinating experiments.

It was a great blow to him when Marcellin Bertholot, the venerable solent and philosopher, proved that diamonds could not be diamonds at all.

Next came two English chemists, Hancoc and Marsden, illustrating the uncertainty of the chemist's work. Marsden did one day produce real diamonds, but could never afterwards repeat his success.

FOUND IN SUGAR BASIN. The great Bertholot himself then took up diamond making in his lonely tower ninety feet high, but ceased experimenting the moment Henri Moissan came into the field and announced humbly that he had found in his sugar basin the world's rarest gem.

Never was Koh-I-Noor examined by keen deniers more eagerly than the tiny gems made in Moissan's laboratory were inspected by France's savants. And they were diamonds—no doubt of it. They would cut ordinary specimens, which would vanish into thin air when subjected to great heat.

Moissan knew that all that was necessary to transmute worthless carbon into diamonds was vast heat and immense pressure.

HEAT AND PRESSURE. The inadequacy in both he attributed to the failures of predecessors in the same line of research. Their best efforts in the line of heat went up to a mere two thousand degrees. Electricity, he knew, would give heat almost equal to that of the sun. And so he went to work and produced an electric oven, giving heat almost inconceivable, up to eight thousand degrees Fahrenheit.

This heat, however, is only one essential; unless both heat and pressure in equal degree could be applied simultaneously, failure would result.

It occurred to the chemist to communicate the pressure by freezing the carbon in molten iron, and plunging it instantly into ice-cold water. In this way Moissan turned the carbon of sugar into diamonds, to the amazement of the world's scientists.

Fowler Company of the Knights of Pythias, thirty strong, in command of Capt. Gray will leave for Boston on the evening of Saturday, August 1st. They will travel in a special pullman car attached to the regular train. The company has been getting in some splendid work at drill of late under the direction of Capt. Gray and will be certain to make a good showing at the competition at the Hub—Fredericton Herald.

It is stated that the reason the vacant position of secretary to the Public Works Department was not filled at the recent meeting of the government is that the executive were unable to arrive at an agreement. There are a great many applicants for the job and each one is firmly of the opinion that he was the measure of power. Not being able to reach an agreement the matter had to stand over. It is said that our Minister is willing to take the job, merely for the sake of helping the government out of a hole.—Fredericton Herald.

The Red Cross liner Roseland, which arrived yesterday from St. John's, Nfld., brought two fishermen who had gone astray from their vessel on the banks and were picked up. They were Kenneth Knickle and Daniel Grest and they strayed away from the Lunenburg fishing schooner Muriel Young, and were picked up by the Catalina schooner Drummers Tax with their dory and landed at St. John's, being forwarded here by the commissioners. They brought their dory with them and left yesterday afternoon in a schooner for Lunenburg. They were adrift two days when picked up on the banks.—Echo.

THE GRAU CONCERTS HAVE BEEN ABANDONED

Difficulties as to Terms Result in the Engagement Here Being Cancelled.

The high class concerts which for some time have been advertised to be given at the Opera House on Thursday and Friday evenings will not take place. So far as can be learned, Robert Grau, under whose management the tour had been arranged, engaged the musicians for a number of concerts in the United States. When he planned to cross into Canada the musicians demanded better terms in their contracts. In view of the fact that Grau endeavored to bring here only three or four of the original list, and thus to keep down the cost, the Opera House management having advertised the full programme declined to accept anything less than the original number of artists, this policy being adopted in justice to the patrons of the house. Mr. Grau could not see his way clear to bringing the whole lot, and the contract has been cancelled. It is intimated that in the near future a high class concert will be given here by twenty-five members of the Worcester Glee Club.

HELP RECEIVED FOR THAT DESTITUTE FAMILY

A Number of Donations Sent to the Star and to Mrs. Hall—A Little More is Needed.

For the relief of the destitute family mentioned in the Star yesterday a number of contributions have been gratefully received, and will be applied by Mrs. Hall for the relief of those for whom they are intended. The great difficulty is in securing a house for the family. Mrs. Hall searched the town yesterday and this morning, but without success. She wants a small place of three or four rooms, but has so far been unable to find any suitable which could be paid for by the mother. Shelter for the family was arranged for last night. Mrs. Hall does not desire to ask too much, but wants sufficient funds and supplies to carry the family along until the mother is able to get to work, which will be in a short time. A few dollars more, some additional clothing, a stove and some fuel are still needed. The case is a deserving one.

Yesterday afternoon a delivery team left at the Star Office a large box of groceries, dishes and canned goods. The name of the sender was not given. Later in the evening two ladies called carrying large packages of clothing which they asked to have forwarded. In the afternoon Mr. J. N. Harvey sent down a cash donation; two citizens dropped into the office with more money, and when asked from whom it should be acknowledged said: "Call us two gentlemen from Verona." This morning a gift of two dollars from Mrs. Joseph Bell, Horsfield street, was gratefully received. The mail brought several other contributions, one from "A. Friend," another from "Working Man," and a third of two dollars from Mr. J. N. Rogers, 10 Charles street. Later in the forenoon another dollar was left in by a friend. Mrs. G. F. Smith sent to Mrs. Hall three dollars, Miss Ballmore one dollar, Mrs. John Surpee, two dollars, a friend, one dollar, clothing from friends, shortly before noon a large parcel evidently of clothing was delivered at the Star Office, and Mr. W. F. Hatheway sent groceries Mrs. Hall, Chief Justice Barker $2.00.

A gentleman brought in two dollars to the Star at noon.

THE GOVERNOR'S DAUGHTER

A Scotchman to the border bound cries:—"Motorman, just tarry!" And I'll give ye this nobby round up over the bridge to carry.

"Now, who be ye would cross St. Croix."

That dark and stormy water;
"Oh, I'm a cannie Scottish boy
And this, the Governor's daughter."

And since she left her father's house
I will ring up your "hair"
And take you to the other side
With quickness and great care.

Out spoke the hardy motorman
I will ring up your "hair"
And take you to the other side
With quickness and great care.

And after you and your true-love
Across the bridge I carry
A person can be quickly found
Before whom you can marry.

The car has left Canadian land
The Stars and Stripes before her
Guided by the intertid hand
That had so often bore her

Came to a stop they both stepped out
And sought the parson's lodging—
No time for missing or doubt
No thought of fraud or dodging.

The minister, he hide the knot
That hid him as one forever
Forth from that day and from that spot
Her and her coach man lover.

Back to her friends, the story told
They wrung their hands together
While down their cheeks big teardrops rolled
Like rain in stormy weather.

The message it was soon conveyed
Across the living wire
To lady fair and tender
Their hearts to burn like fire.

This "deep disgrace" must be wiped out
In blood of the offender—
A cannon turning up his snout
To lady fair and tender.

We feel that royalty's outraged
The King's rep-ras-en-tative
Will neither wrath nor tears assuage
Until he's caught the caltiff.

The " Windsor Uniform" is draped
Likewise the good broad sword
And yards of daisy flowing crepe
Adorn each hall and yard.

And address reigns in hall and hut
Of vassal and retainer
The doors are barred, the windows
shut
Even since the Scotchman gained her.
Butler's Journal.
