

TWO TRAGEDIES STIR ST. STEPHEN

J. W. Densmore Drowned by Capsizing of Canoe on St. Croix Yesterday Afternoon.

Immense Crowd Follow Body of Galen Love to Grave--Particulars of Accident.

Special to The Standard. St. Stephen, Oct. 23.—A sad drowning accident occurred in the River just above here this afternoon. John Armstrong and John W. Densmore, both of Milltown, were in a rowboat just below the dam at the Union mills when the little craft was upset by the shifting of some ballast.

Mr. Densmore was about forty-eight years of age and unmarried but leaves an aged mother and an adopted daughter, a little orphan whom they took into their home about two years ago. He was prominently identified with the A. O. H., and was esteemed by a large circle of friends. He was employed as a loom fixer in the cotton mill.

The body was found this evening. It will be taken to Chamcook, near St. Andrews, on Tuesday for burial. Galen Love's Death.

All that was mortal of the late Galen Love was laid to rest in the rural cemetery this afternoon, the funeral procession being the largest that has been seen here for many years, all classes, creeds and conditions of men, women and young people uniting to pass a last tribute of esteem to a worthy young citizen.

Galen Love was the second son of Hugh and the late Rose Love, and was twenty-four years of age. When only sixteen years of age he played with the champion hockey team of the Thistle Athletic Association, and during the past summer had played with the Thistle baseball team, being the only local man retained on the team to the close of the season. He was a good athlete, a clean sport and a worthy young Canadian.

Only last Monday morning he left here for McAdam to enter the employ of the Canadian Pacific as a brakeman. He was on his second run and, Friday night, was with a freight train at Birchwood, forty miles north of Woodstock. The train was picking up cars at that station, and the first attempt to attach the engine to the cars was not successful. Mr. Seelye, an older brakeman, told young Love to go back into the caboose and that he would make the coupling.

The engine drew ahead, and for some unaccountable reason young Love attempted to cross the tracks between the engine and car. The engine came back sooner than he could have anticipated, caught the young man, a projection penetrating his body and causing instant death. When Mr. Seelye, who was on the tender of the engine, looked down to see why the coupling had not been made, he was horrified to see the young man, whom he thought was on his way to the caboose, pinned in the narrow space. When the train men made examination it was found that life was extinct.

The body was rolled in a blanket and placed in a car and, by order of Supt. King, all haste was made for Woodstock where an undertaker took charge of the body and it was brought here on the noon train Saturday and taken to his father's home. The event has deeply saddened the whole community, the casket being covered with flowers and the funeral, filled with beautiful floral tokens of esteem. No such attendance of men both young and old, has been seen at a similar service here in recent years.

Funeral Procession. The Thistle Athletic Association marched and with them were affiliated the Calais ball team, the Milltown and Union ball teams and the young men of the three towns generally. The pallbearers were Herb Maxwell, Alex. Reid, Jan. Green, Stanley Budd, Fred. Speedy and Earle Hyslop. The Maple Leaf band furnished music and over muddy streets and through a drizzling rain the solemn procession wound its way to the cemetery. Rev. S. Howard, pastor of the Methodist church conducted the services at the home and grave and they were deeply impressive. Sincere sympathy is extended to his father, brothers and sisters. The employes of the C. P. R. also attended in a body. The funeral of the late Hon. Geo. F. Hill will be held Monday afternoon.

BALLOONISTS ARE LOCATED IN QUEBEC WILDS

Only One Air Pilot Missing in Great Race From St. Louis—Party Lost For Two Days Thought Of Suicide.

ONE BALLOON COVERED OVER 1,200 MILES

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 23.—With the America II. Allan R. Hawley, pilot, and August Post, aid, still unaccounted for, the relative positions of the nine other balloons in the international race which started from here last Monday, were figured out tonight by Lieutenant Andrew Drew of the Missouri signal corps, and his hydrographic expert for the aero club of St. Louis.

Lieutenant Drew gives the distances travelled by three leading aeronauts unofficially as follows: Dusseldorf II. (Germany), Hans Gericke, pilot; S. F. Perkins, aid, landed at Kliskisnk, Quebec, Wednesday morning about 42 hours in air, distance about 1,100 miles.

Germany (Germany), Hugo Von Abercron, pilot; August Blankerta, aid, landed at Cococochie, Que., Wednesday morning, about 43 hours in air, distance about 1,040 miles. Helveta (Switzerland), Theodore Schack pilot; A. A. Armbruster, aid, landed near Ville Marie, Que., Wednesday, about 48 hours in air; distance about 850 miles.

Found by Hunter. Kliskisnk, Oct. 23.—The balloon Dusseldorf Second, landed on Wednesday afternoon 17 miles west of here after journeying 1245 miles from St. Louis and is probably the winner of the first prize. The party after landing found themselves unable to get out, but were lucky found by Guardian Bevin, of the Fish and Game Club, on his way up the Kliskisnk river.

Contemplated Suicide. Montreal, Que., Oct. 23.—A thrilling story was told today by August Blankertz, of Dusseldorf, Germany, who accompanied Capt. Hugo Von Abercron in the balloon Germania in the trip from St. Louis and who reached here yesterday. The party were lost for thirty-two hours in the north of the Transcontinental Railway at Cococochie, Que. It took them nearly two days after landing to reach a railway construction camp, and their plight at one time was so desperate that they were almost driven to suicide.

Cleared of Murder of St. John Man. Wm. Richards Acquitted at Sweetburg, P. Q., on Charge of Having Caused Death of Leonard Dougherty.

Sweetburg, Oct. 22.—The jury in the case of Wm. Richards, on trial here for the past two days on the charge of having murdered Leonard Dougherty, of St. John, N. B. July 24th last in a drunken brawl, returned a verdict of not guilty. Both men had been drinking heavily the night of the tragedy in a shack owned by the Missisquoi Marble Co., and a quarrel arose in which Richards it was alleged, struck Dougherty a blow which caused the man's death.

PANIC FELT OVER QUEBEC BYE-ELECTION

Ottawa, Oct. 23.—So serious is the political situation in Drummond-Arthabaska regarded by the government that Sir Wilfrid Laurier will go to Montreal tomorrow to confer with party leaders in the province of Quebec. The election is only ten days away. The premier will do some speaking in the constituency.

Senator Frost of Smith's Falls was taken suddenly ill at Rideau Club Saturday afternoon and removed to the hospital. Meat and fish standards have been adopted by order in council. They are of a highly technical nature and refer to constituent parts of meat and fish as well as of meat and fish products. The standards prescribe the chemical composition of lard, bacon, sausage and so forth.

Captain Sol at Halifax. Veteran Gloucester Skipper Sails Into Port With Cargo Of Mackerel Worth $3,000—Sails Again For Grounds.

Special to The Standard. Halifax, Oct. 23.—Captain Sol Jacobs, the veteran mackerel catcher of Gloucester, arrived in port Saturday night for shelter and spent today in Halifax. Captain Sol is not a frequent visitor to Halifax and his many friends along the waterfront were glad to see him. His schooner is the George, and is a trim looking craft.

Captain Jacobs reports having on board one hundred and fifteen barrels of mackerel valued at $3,000. Large schools of mackerel were seen off this port Friday, but the weather was so rough that it was impossible to lower the seines. After entering and clearing at the customs house, the George sailed again for the fishing grounds. Capt. J. A. McKeasy is agent for the owner.

WIND BOTHERS THE AVIATORS

JAMES GORDON BENNETT, Donor of Important Cup.

Only Birdmen Who Attempted To Fly at International Meet Came To Grief Yesterday—Frenchmen Dissatisfied.

New York, Oct. 23.—There were two smashups, no flights and 7,500 disappointed spectators at the second day of the international aviation meet at Belmont Park, Long Island. The wind was so veering that only two aviators, Grahame White and Moissant cared to dare it and both came to grief, though without personal injury. But much as the management regretted sending away a good crowd, it was more concerned with the dissatisfaction of the three French aviators entered for the Gordon Bennett race.

Father Hears of Dr. Crippen. Aged Parent of Man Under Sentence of Death, Still Believes in His Innocence—Nearly Penniless.

Los Angeles, Calif., Oct. 23.—"My son is innocent, even though he stands convicted, and I believe his wife Belle Elmore is living somewhere in the United States." The tears streaming down his face, Myron A. Crippen, father of the physician sentenced yesterday in London to be hanged, made this statement when the news was broken to him here. It was apparent that the aged man has small hope of the course of the law being changed. In his hour of sorrow, however, he referred with pride to the early life of his son.

He said that as a child, "Harvey" had an unusual mind—that in his desire for music when his parents would not permit him to indulge his artistic taste, he made his own violin and that at an early age he had entered the office of a physician at San Jose California, and received the rudiment of a medical education which was completed at Ann Harbor, Mich.

RECIPROCITY NOT WANTED IN NEW BRUNSWICK

Premier Hazen Interviewed at Toronto, Says There is No Feeling in Favor in This Province.

Special to The Standard. Toronto, Oct. 23.—Premier J. D. Hazen, of New Brunswick took a firm stand against reciprocity in an interview today. "I can find no strong feeling in my own province nor anywhere else in Canada in favor of reciprocity with the United States," he said.

"In my own province there are a few natural products that we might derive benefit from, if a reduction in the tariff was secured, but we do not for a moment believe that the United States will be satisfied with reciprocity in natural products alone. They will demand more favorable conditions for their manufactures and the result of this could hardly fail to injure Canadian interests."

R.R. WRECK AT SOMERSWORTH

Frank Garland Killed And Severely Injured in Boston And Maine Smashup—Inquiry Behind Closed Doors.

Somersworth, N. H., Oct. 23.—An official investigation of the head-on collision here last night, which resulted in the death of one and injury to several was started today by the officials of the Boston and Maine Railroad. The wreckers, who worked the greater part of the night last night, made no effort to haul away the damaged engines or cars, but simply ran them onto a siding, where they might be viewed by the railroad officials.

Today William Merritt, Superintendent of the Portland Division of the road, and his assistant, Henry S. Cunnell, came here from Boston and spent considerable time in a personal inspection of the rolling stock and in viewing the scene of the accident, and its surroundings. Neither would make any statement.

Tomorrow the investigation will be taken up behind closed doors in the offices of the officials in Boston, and it is understood that several of the train's hands who were on one or other of the trains which collided, the White Mountain Express, and the Rollingsford-Somersworth local, have been asked to appear. Arrangements were completed today for the funeral of Frank Garland, the victim of the wreck. It will be held on Tuesday.

SEPARATION IS FEARED

CONFERENCE TO BE HELD LATER

SENSATIONAL BAPTIST REPLY TO FR. VAUGHAN

Ministers Making Report Of Grand Ligne Mission Board Ridicules Eucharistic Congress And Noted Priest.

ARE BAPTISTS THE ONLY PROTESTANTS?

Special to The Standard. Toronto, Oct. 23.—The Baptist convention of Ontario and Quebec received the report this morning of the Grande Ligne Mission Board. It was presented by Rev. Dr. E. J. Stobo, who ridiculed the Eucharistic Congress at Montreal. "I am not afraid of a man like Father Vaughan," said the speaker. "I fear rather the man who tries to minimize the differences between Romanist and Protestant."

"I am grateful to Father Vaughan," he went on, "for that sermon of his on the mass. He came out with the ultimatum 'worship the cracker or go to perdition.' We won't worship the cracker and by the grace of God and the sacrifice of Jesus Christ we will escape perdition."

"I have been told by friends in the Roman Catholic clergy that they regard the Baptists as the only logical Protestant sect, the others having derived a great deal of authority from the Church of Rome. The Roman Catholics fear the Baptists, but thank God we do not fear Rome. I think we already see signs of the real downfall of Romanism, so let us push the work of evangelization among our French Canadian brothers."

A. A. Ayer in seconding the report said he would like to see all the Protestants of Canada carry the open Bible through the streets of Montreal next year to offset the effects of the eucharistic procession this year.

PROSPERING ON C. P. R. FARMS

Sir Thomas Shaughnessy Waited Upon By Delegation Of English Farmers—Offers Cup For Competitor.

Calgary, Alta., Oct. 23.—During the visit of Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, president of the C. P. R., yesterday to Strathmore in the Irrigation block, he was waited upon by Hal. Carleton, chairman of the committee of the first English colony which was brought out last spring to occupy the C. P. R. ready made farms.

Mr. Carleton presented Sir Thomas with a unanimous resolution passed by the colony conveying their thanks for the many kindnesses that they had received at the hands of the C. P. R. and saying that having spent the first season on their farms they were eminently satisfied and felt certain that they were going to make successful and prosperous homes.

Sir Thomas Shaughnessy informed Mr. Carleton that he was prepared to give a handsome cup for competition in the colony next season, this cup to be presented to the colonist who had the best cultivated farm, the decision to be given by a committee of the colonists themselves. Mr. Carleton is leaving for Great Britain and is authorized by the colonists to convey a message to the farmers for Great Britain that they cannot do better than accept the invitation of the C. P. R. to come to Alberta and occupy ready made farms as it offers them a magnificent opportunity of becoming land owners at a low cost with every prospect of success.

1,000 R. R. MEN IN CONVENTION. Special Train Brought Over 500 From Boston To Portland, Me.—Addresses By Prominent Officials.

Portland, Me., Oct. 23.—A mass meeting of the railway employes and investors association held here was attended by 1,000 railroad men of eastern New England. Provincial Premiers Decide to Hold Further Consultation Before Presenting Case.

Hon. Messrs. Hazen and Haszard Bring Up Matter Federal Representation.

Special to The Standard. Toronto, Oct. 23.—The interprovincial conference which took place at the Parliament buildings today, is the forerunner of one to be held at which the provincial premiers will attend. Two premiers, Hon. J. D. Hazen, of New Brunswick and Hon. F. L. Haszard, of Prince Edward Island, were among the representatives who met Sir James P. Whitney and Hon. J. J. Foy today.

In addition to discussing the legal questions at issue between the provinces and the Dominion, the question of provincial representation in the House of Commons was also discussed. According to a statement given out this afternoon by E. Bayley, K. C., solicitor to the attorney general and who acted as secretary of the conference, "The question of the representation of the different provinces in the House of Commons was brought forward by the representatives present from the Maritime Provinces and their views were presented, argued and discussed."

"A further conference will probably take place at a future date when the premiers of the other provinces may be expected to be present."

Discuss Supreme Court. Much of the discussion today was upon the action of the supreme court in deciding that it would pass upon certain questions submitted to it by the federal government, matters in dispute between the federal and provincial governments.

This tribunal has held in spite of the objections of the provinces that it is competent to pass upon the questions though they arise under the British North America Act. The delegates discussed the advisability of appealing from the order of the Supreme Court upon this question raised as to its own jurisdiction.

DANGOR HAS 3 ROBBERIES

Two Women And a Man Held Up Late At Night And Robbed Of Varying Amounts—One Arrest.

Miss Emily Lee while on her way home late Saturday night was pursued by an unknown man and robbed of a handbag containing $5. The police have no clew whatever. STR. OKLAHOMA CALLS FOR HELP

Wireless Message First Received By Steamer Acushnet Then Picked Up By Other Vessels Making Search.

Nantucket, Mass., Oct. 23.—Wireless calls for help from the tank steamer Oklahoma were picked up last night by the revenue cutter Acushnet. The Acushnet being unable to get in further communication with the steamer, reported the matter with messages being flashed out in every direction by wireless operators on the Nantucket shoals lightship. The Oklahoma has not been located as yet.

The Oklahoma was picked up by a score of ships equipped with wireless as well as by several of the land stations, and general search is being conducted.

The Acushnet, which was in the vicinity of Woods Hole, put to sea as soon as she had reported picking up the message, and is following the usual ship channel to Newport in an effort to find some trace of the disabled steamer.

Newport, R. I., Oct. 23.—Officials at the naval wireless station here were the first to be informed of the picking up of the S. O. S. call from the tank steamer Oklahoma by the Acushnet.

The Acushnet after trying in vain to establish a connection with the steamer, called for help notified Newport, and from here word was sent to the Nantucket Shoals lightship and other points, asking that efforts be made to pick up the Oklahoma.

New York, Oct. 23.—The steamship Oklahoma left Philadelphia on October 19, bound for Port Arthur, Texas, and was last heard from passing Cape Hatteras at 7 a. m. October 21.

Later.

Newport, R. I., Oct. 23.—Word reached the wireless station here that the steamer Oklahoma, which carries 45 men, was hundreds of miles away off Cape Hatteras.

The call for help was distinctly heard not only by the Acushnet, but by other vessels and the only explanation is that some "practical joker" sent out the call and signed the Oklahoma's signature.

FOSS REPLIES TO SEN. LODGE

Democratic Candidate in Massachusetts Has Warm Rejoinder For Boss Who Raises Issue Of Campaign Expenses

Boston, Oct. 23.—"If the expenses of my first congressional campaign were notorious Senator Lodge must have known it at the time, and it did not interfere at all with his coming into the district and publicly endorsing me on the stump, an endorsement, however, that cost me the election," says Eugene H. Foss, Democratic candidate for governor in a reply to Senator Lodge issued tonight.

The candidate referred to a former campaign for congress while a Republican.

Mr. Foss also says: "It is noticeable Mr. Lodge makes no reference to his buying in connection with the notorious Shaw-Gardner campaign, when his son-in-law defeated former state treasurer S. P. Shaw by a lavish use of money that the district attorney would not take official notice of that use of money unless forced to do so."

"Senator Lodge saw no harm in authorizing the expenditure, as chairman of the Republican state committee, of $70,000 for the election of a governor, but when Eugene Foss spends a little less than half of that amount it is different."

AVIATORS AT NEW YORK BOTHERED BY WIND

Alfred LeBlanc, the champion cross country flier of France, Emilie Auburn, his pupil, and the only aviator who finished with him in the recent Circuit de L'Est and Hubert Latham, all complain that the course is not laid out according to the rules of the Federation Internationale, and LeBlanc wrote to the Aero club of France ten days ago asking if the French team should compete. They expect instructions by cable tomorrow or the day after at the latest.

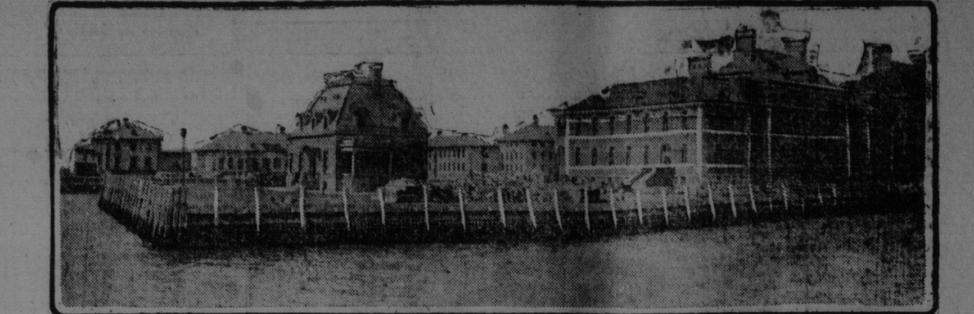

The other four Frenchmen here to compete for the altitude, distance and duration prizes are not affected, but the Gordon Bennett is the real letter event of the aeronautic calendar. It brought the International cup to the country, and with it, the second international meet in the history of aviation.

To have the French cracks default would rob the tournament of more than half its interest, and so far as its most important event is concerned, of all its competitive zest.

Almost a Gale.

When the bomb and bugle sounded for the first distance event, this afternoon, the official code signal gave the wind at from 20 to 25 miles an hour, and it was freshening every minute. The sky was clear and it was painfully cold. Four starters were announced, but after eight minutes delay only Graham White and Moissant came out. White chivvied his machine into the wind and rose cautiously. He needed all his caution, for even at a height of not more than forty feet, he pitched like a ship in a heavy storm, and alighting careened to one side.

Health Officers Make Determined Stand to Confine Cholera to This Island

DETENTION ISLAND, OFF NEW YORK, WHERE SUSPECTED CASES FROM THE STEAMSHIPS ARE HELD FOR OBSERVATION, THE LARGE BUILDING ON THE RIGHT IS THE HOSPITAL, BUILT BY THE UNITED STATES AT A COST OF $3,000,000 FOR THE SICK BABIES AND CHILDREN OF IMMIGRANTS.

(Charles N. Lurie.) Cholera in New York harbor—ocean liners held up and their passengers and crews quarantined—the scene he tells us, and a shiver of apprehension starts at the battery and quivers its way clean across to the Golden Gate. America realizes with a start its common mortality with the hordes of India and Asia and sends to its health officials appeals to save it from the scourge which has slain its thousands and its tens of thousands in Europe and Asia.

Not since 1892 when Asiatic cholera found its way to the port of New York from Hamburg, has the condition of foreign health held the attention of our officials to such an extent as it does at present. The reason is to be found in the spread of the cholera epidemic in Europe and Asia, affecting Russia, Italy, Germany and other countries.

It should be understood thoroughly that there is no real occasion for alarm in this country. Not only is the winter season approaching when the cholera bacillus hibernates, and loses its virulence to a great extent, but also our health officials are exerting themselves to the utmost to avert its spread in this country. "Hardest worked man in New York," is a recent description of Dr. Alvah Hunt Doty, health officer of the port of New York, and who is holding up every steamer on which the cholera germ might be harbored.

Vigilant Precautions Against Plague. The efforts of Dr. Doty to protect us from the cholera are ably seconded by those of the health officers of other ports, although, of course, if any danger exists it is most likely to manifest itself at New York. Especially careful are Dr. Doty's precautions in the cases of vessels clearing for this country from Naples and other infected cities. Experts from the marine hospital service are equally vigilant in foreign cities, keeping the American authorities fully advised of the progress and spread of the disease.

Cholera appeared in St. Petersburg some months ago," said Dr. Doty in a recent interview, "extra precautions were put in force at quarantine, because I felt that it would invade Italy and western Europe, and I acted on this presumption long before there was any record of cases outside of Russia."

The methods applied are not only exhaustive in that they include a thorough examination and inspection of persons, but there are also bacteriological examinations in all suspicious cases, and this applies particularly to all vessels from Mediterranean ports not from Italy alone. It is communicable only by the ingestion of food or drink infected with the cholera bacilli from the excretions or the vomit of sufferers. It is probably never communicated by contagion—that is, through the breath, perspiration or other emanation from the patient. In other words cholera can be contracted only by being swallowed.

As water is the most common medium of propagation of the disease and as this is fatal, it is imperative that the boiling of all water intended for human use is recommended by authorities on the disease. The efficacy of other means of prevention is greatly impaired if this simple precaution is neglected.

Spreads With Terrific Rapidity. Even with lying stress on the improbability of a cholera epidemic in this country, the health officers on the disease do not attempt to minimize its seriousness or the virulence of the infection. The possibility of having to handle a cholera epidemic is a nightmare to the health officers of the cities of America and Europe. The disease spreads and propagates itself with terrific rapidity. It is only a few months since the epidemic in Russia, yet recent official figures give 205,418 as the number of cases in the empire, with 95,963 deaths. It should be borne in mind that these figures are equally reliable for diagnosis before a vessel bearing the disease reaches an American port. Thus only a criminal concealment on the part of the ship's officers or crew negligence on the part of the health officers could account for the introduction of cholera into this country. Fortunately for us neither of these contingencies is likely to occur. The laws against concealment of disease on shipboard are stringent, and our health officers have high reputations for standing in their profession to maintain.

What is known to the medical man as the prophylaxis and to the layman as the prevention of cholera is added greatly by the nature of the disease and the method of its communication.

It is communicable only by the ingestion of food or drink infected with the cholera bacilli from the excretions or the vomit of sufferers. It is probably never communicated by contagion—that is, through the breath, perspiration or other emanation from the patient. In other words cholera can be contracted only by being swallowed.

As water is the most common medium of propagation of the disease and as this is fatal, it is imperative that the boiling of all water intended for human use is recommended by authorities on the disease. The efficacy of other means of prevention is greatly impaired if this simple precaution is neglected.

its way into Germany, Austria-Hungary, Turkey and Italy. The spread of the infection has put the other nations of Europe on their guard.

The terrible nature of the disease may be gained from the assertion, made on good authority, that of the nine cases about 50 per cent. die, while of those with subnormal temperature and other aggravated symptoms 90 per cent. prove mortal.

A great source of infection and one which the medical authorities of the world have been unable to combat successfully, is the annual pilgrimage of the Mohammedans to Mecca, the holy city, in Arabia. Since the time of Mohammed the city has been a centre of infection, it is said. The pilgrims are for the most part absolute and uncompromising fanatics, knowing little and caring less about sanitary precautions. Thus the disease is spread from the crowded cities of India to Mecca thence to the shores of the Mediterranean, thence to the cities from which steamers leave daily for America and for the cities of northern Europe. If we could wipe out the Mohammedan Mecca there would be no more cholera," says Dr. Doty.

This is only one method of infection of northern Europe, where the rules of sanitation are better known and more generally observed than here. Another prime cause of the spread of cholera in Europe is the carrying of the infection by the Russian army from Odessa, the great southern port of the Russian empire, situated on the Black Sea and thus in close proximity to the other sources of danger.

BROTHERHOOD HOLDS SUCCESSFUL MEETING

Exmouth Street Church Men's Union Hear Fine Address by Rev. W. W. Brewer—Growth of Movement.

Another large audience gathered in the body of the Exmouth street Methodist church Sunday afternoon to hear an address to the Brotherhood by H. A. Powell, K. C. Mr. Powell was called away from the city and his address was taken by Rev. W. W. Brewer. Mr. Brewer painted one of his masterly word pictures of Watts, the inventor of the steam engine, and the lesson to be drawn from his wonderful life.

J. King Kelley spoke on the extension of the Brotherhood movement in the old country—it was a new call to the service of man, and was becoming a power for good in bringing men together for mutual assistance and the uplift of the workmen. He had found men everywhere inclined to religion. The intelligent man who could talk religion had an audience almost in every hole and corner. A manly fellow could capture a crowd of men on smoking cars.

The leading feature of the brotherhood movement was to help the other fellow; to bring hope and help to those overworked and underpaid; to "down and out." It taught men that the almighty dollar had a limit to its purchasable power. It taught men that they could be real Christians whether they belonged to a church or no. It laid stress on doing good rather than mere lip Christianity.

Mr. Kelley urged the Exmouth street brotherhood to provide free baths in Glad Tidings Hall on Brunel street, and it is likely his suggestion will be adopted.

snaps, splinters went flying into the air. His whirling propeller had touched and both blades were smashed to splinters.

Moissant never got off the grounds, but his machine was much more badly hurt. The wind picked it out of the hands of his mechanicians and let it fall again. Both his machines were crumpled, his rudder broken and his crankshaft bent. White said his damage could be repaired in a couple of hours, Moissant hoped to have his machine repaired next Tuesday.

The Wright team, Hoxsey, Brookings and Johnson, were all willing and anxious to fly, but Wilber Wright's machine was so badly damaged that it was not on Sunday, and although the management pleaded with him, over the telephone, he remained obdurate.

REV. E. B. HOOPER SPEAKS ON TRAFALGAR

Chaplain of St. George's Society in Eloquent Sermon Last Evening—Dwells on Nobility of Nelson's Character.

At St. Paul's church last evening the rector, Rev. E. B. Hooper, preached an interesting sermon on Trafalgar Day, taking his text from Paul's Epistle to Timothy, "I have fought the good fight, I have finished the race, I have kept the faith."

The speaker gave an account of the historic events leading up to the great sea fight in Trafalgar Bay; showed what momentous consequences hung upon the outcome of the fight and pointed out the effects Nelson's last and greatest victory had upon the fate of England and the Empire. He referred at some length to the character and career of the great sailor, stating that his famous signal to the fleet, "England expects every man to do his duty," was the keynote of the nobler side of his character, as well as the secret of his success in the strenuous career he had chosen.

From the story of the great admiral he drew the lesson, "The lesson applicable to the present time, when the idea of duty tends to assume more importance in the minds of men than the old idea of rights."

Members of St. George's society met in their rooms and proceeded to the church in a body.

Has 96th Birthday.

Mrs. Anne Taylor McDougal, one of the oldest residents of the city, celebrated her 96th birthday on Saturday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. J. McDougal Hall, Charlotte street, and during the day many friends called and extended to her their best wishes and felicitations.

Mrs. J. McDougal Hall, Charlotte street, has a retentive memory and can tell many interesting incidents of the early days in this city. She is remarkably well preserved and spent her birthday as happily as many a younger woman, taking a keen interest in all around her. She is of Loyalist descent, and was born in Wickham, Kings county. Part of her life she spent in this city and the remainder at the old homestead. She has two children living at the present time, Mrs. J. McDougal Hall, secretary of the Associated Charities and Mrs. Anne Dunham, widow of the late D. E. Dunham. She has five grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren. The grandchildren are: Frank T. Dunham, of Rochester, N. Y.; Messrs. Norman, Fred and D. E. Dunham. She has five grandsons and nine great-grandsons. She has been a widow for over fifty years.

R. E. Murray, of the Department of Agriculture, is in the city for the purpose of inspecting the slaughter houses and other places from which meat is shipped, to see that they comply with the requirements of the recent amendments of the pure food laws.

AUTO PARTY FOUND N. D. ROADS THE BEST

J. S. Harding Home from Tour in N. S.—Noticed Improvement as Soon as He Crossed Border Into This Province.

On Saturday Mr. and Mrs. James S. Harding of Gormann street, arrived in Halifax after their week's automobile tour through Nova Scotia and New Brunswick.

Mr. Harding stated when seen by a Standard reporter that he was very much pleased with the roads that with but few exceptions the auto trip was a most enjoyable one. Taking the touring car they left on the D. A. R. steamer, Yarmouth for Digby and motored from Digby to Yarmouth on the same day. The next day they returned to Digby and proceeded to Annapolis thence through Kings county to Wolfville and thence to Windsor. From Windsor the car was taken along to Halifax. After a short stay in Halifax the run was made to Truro and thence to Parraboro. From Parraboro they went to Moncton and home to St. John.

When asked how he found the roads along the route Mr. Harding said that with the exception of a few days the weather was fine and with a few exceptions the roads were not too bad. In New Brunswick usually he found the roads superior to those in Nova Scotia.

In Yarmouth county, he said, the roads were all that could be desired. Through the valley the roads were very good, considering the material that they were made of. A road was constructed of sand. From Windsor to Mount Muncie the roads were fair, but from there to Bedford the roads were simply a disgrace.

Roads Bad Here.

At Truro Mr. Harding said that he was advised to take the road to Parraboro so as to avoid the mountains. The roads to Five Islands were very good, but from Five Islands into Parraboro it could hardly be called a road of any kind. From 15 to 17 miles of the road it was hardly anything more than water and mud holes and it did not have the appearance of having been touched for many years. There were many places handy where good material might have been procured for repairing. A commercial man told him of the party that he had been four and a half hours going 17 miles in a wagon owing to the bad state of the road.

From Parraboro to Amherst the roads were all right and from Amherst to Moncton the roads were fine. The road was splendid from Dorchester to Parraboro. The road was counted the best on the route. From Moncton to St. John the roads were first class with the exception of a small piece seven miles out of Petitcodiac which had evidently not been travelled much, for some years. From this to St. John the roads were excellent notwithstanding that this was a bad time of the year.

Mr. and Mrs. Harding were delighted with the trip and the three weeks were greatly enjoyed.

Mineral Exhibit.

An exhibit which is particularly interesting and valuable to all who are interested in the natural resources of the province has been placed in position in the Natural History Society's museum and is now on view. It is composed of the minerals of the province in all their stages from the rough ore as it is dug from the earth to the finished product. The exhibit in its present stage only includes the minerals of the province but it is expected to make it thoroughly representative of all the resources of the mines, forests, fisheries and farms, and to show the lines in which this province most excels.

The sixty-third annual meeting of the Grand Division of the New Brunswick Sons of Temperance will be held in the Sons of Temperance Hall, in the West End, on Wednesday next, commencing at 7:30 o'clock in the evening. SUCCESSOR TO TUCKER CHOSEN

Dr. Gould of Jerusalem, Elected By Board To Position of Anglican Secretary Of Missions In Canada.

(Toronto Mail and Empire.) The special committee appointed to select a successor to Canon Tucker, as general secretary of the Church of England mission society, at the closing meeting of the board of management yesterday afternoon suggested two names, those of Rev. A. P. Shafiq, curate of the Church of St. James the Apostle in Montreal, and Rev. Dr. Gould, medical superintendent of the Church of England hospital in Jerusalem. After consideration and prayer for Divine guidance the ballot was cast and Dr. Gould was elected. A cable was sent last night informing him of the fact.

Upon the suggestion of the same committee it was decided to appoint an assistant field secretary, but the selection of a man was left over until next April, by which time it is hoped that Canon Tucker's successor will be able to give some assistance in making the choice.

Rupert's Land Self-Supporting. The apportionments of the $150,000 to be used for Canadian missions were drawn up, with not a few changes from last year. The most notable was the withdrawal of Rupert's Land from the list of missionary dioceses. Last year $7,000 was apportioned to this diocese and how it has become self-supporting.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Elizabeth McDevitt, a former resident of this city, who died in Lynn, will take place this morning at 8:30 o'clock from O'Neill's undertaking parlors to St. Peter's church where High Mass of Requiem will be sung by Rev. Fr. Holland. The interment will be in the old Catholic cemetery.

Physical Culture. Quartermaster Sergeant Lavole of the 10th Regiment is expected to arrive in the city today and during the winter will act as instructor in physical training for the public school teachers. Supt. Bridges when asked last evening said he had not had any exact information as to when the sergeant would be here. Capt. Borden, director of physical training for the schools of this province and the province of Nova Scotia, is in charge of the work and it is at his direction that Sergt. Lavole is to be sent here. Under a recent regulation of the board of education all teachers in public schools must be qualified to instruct their pupils in physical culture and it is for the purpose of this that Sergt. Lavole will be in the city during the winter.

FINE NEW WHARF AT BROWN'S FLATS

People of That Community Very Grateful for Attention of Hazen Government to Important Piece of Work.

Brown's Flats, Oct. 22.—Brown's Flats can now boast of having the best wharf on the St. John river, or in fact any river in the province. The contractor, and the originator of the plan both deserve much credit. The concrete work on the piers of the low water section have just been finished, thus making the completion of the entire contract.

The wharf is now about 70 feet wide and gives excellent accommodation to the public. It is a grade wharf, having a gradual slope from the water to the bank, and by running in along the side a steamer's deck may be put on a level with the wharf at its height of water. This is a great accommodation during the spring freshet, and two steamers may occupy the wharf at the same time—one on each side.

A large wharf of this description was much needed at Brown's Flats, as the old one would scarcely accommodate the large crowds landing there during "camp meetings" and through the tourist season.

The people of the community feel very grateful to the Hazen government for its outlay on this excellent piece of work.

The contractor is G. W. Palmer, of Palmer's Point, and the plan was originated by W. L. Belyea of Brown's Flats.

Crippen Will Pay Penalty for Crime

BELLE ELMORE THE VICTIM.

London Oct. 22.—Dr. Hawley. H. Crippen was today found guilty of having murdered his wife, known on the stage as Belle Elmore. The case was given to the jury at 2 1/2 o'clock and the deliberations lasted only thirty minutes. Crippen was found guilty and at once sentenced to death.

The trial moved quickly. It opened at 10.30 o'clock last Tuesday morning, and before the lunch hour the indictment had been read, the prisoner's plea taken, the jury drawn, the opening address of the prosecution made, and two witnesses examined. The case was considered of such importance that Lord Chief Justice Alverstone presided. Crippen's chief counsel was Alfred Tobin, a distinguished barrister.

Richard Muir led the prosecution. The crown based its case on the identification of the body found in the Crippen home as that of the physician's wife, and the fact that hyosine was found in the kidneys and it was proven that Crippen had purchased such a poison shortly before his wife disappeared. A motive was found in the unhappy life of the Crippens, and the Doctor's infatuation for Ethel Clara LeNeve. As Crippen has been convicted, Miss LeNeve will now be placed on trial as an accessory after the fact in the murder of Belle Elmore.

The defence rested its hopes on the belief that the prosecution could not identify the body as that of Crippen's wife. The Lord Chief Justice charged the jury that they must be convinced of the identification beyond a reasonable doubt. As he concluded, the jury retired. The jurors were out only half an hour, when they returned and reported that they had found Dr. Crippen guilty of the murder of his wife. Crippen thereupon was sentenced to death.

The trial was sensational in that it involved the most mysterious murder case with which the British courts have had to do in years. From the opening of the court room in the New Bailey had been crowded to its limited capacity, while thousands of persons sought admission in vain.

When the jury returned and announced that it had found the defendant guilty, Lord Chief Justice Alverstone asked the physician if he had anything to say. Crippen replied in a low voice, "I still persist my innocence. The Chief Justice then donned the black cap that has rested near him throughout the trial and pronounced the sentence of death. Addressing the condemned man, Lord Chief Justice Alverstone said:

"You have been convicted on evidence which can leave no doubt in the mind of any reasonable man that you cruelly murdered your wife and mutilated her body. I advise you to entertain no hope that you will escape the consequence of your crime. I implore you to make your peace with Almighty God."

When the Lord Chief Justice concluded, a policeman stepped forward and in the hush that had fallen over the court room led Crippen from the dock.

Crippen will be hanged. No date for the execution has been fixed, but it will be done probably within a month.

The trial of Miss Ethel Clara LeNeve as an accessory after the fact in the murder of Mrs. Crippen will begin next Tuesday.

sufrage meeting in Tremont Temple last December at which Mrs. Philip Snowden was given an ovation. The tense silence which gripped the auditorium melted away into the importance which was attached to her message and to the suspense which every listener felt lest the frail body be too weak to stand the strain imposed by the most wonderful brain and spirit of the century. It is small wonder that the yellow banners of the suffragists hung forlornly at half-mast. But, of course, the risk of having one's face disfigured for life is a small item as compared with the desirability of having a perfectly molded chin—even though the style in vogue may change another season. One imagines the results of this treatment. Picture Gladys returning from the beauty parlors resplendent in a charming chin with lips of vivid scarlet, and so on. Perhaps Gladys in the privacy of her own domicile is obliged to cook supper for hubby, leaning now and again over the hot stove at the steaming delicacies in preparation. To the uninitiated there arises a mental image of Gladys sitting down opposite her admiring husband at the dining table, with her dimple melted around under one ear, and a distinctly lopsided tilt to the point of the said perfectly molded chin. However, perhaps the experts found a non-meltable kind of wax that doesn't act in this naughty way. If so, we have no further excuse for visiting the wonders of Eden Musee. We shall have living wax works parading the streets right under our noses.

BUDGE FROM BOSTON GIRL

Pipers from Lunenburg Draw Little Kelley Out of Retirement—Banners at Half-Mast for Mrs. Howe.

Boston, Oct. 21.—"Listen to the band; ain't it grand?" exclaim Mayme and Sadie as they enter Paul Revere Hall. There is no doubt but that the famous 75th regiment band from Lunenburg, Nova Scotia, is making an effective and clamorous hit in Boston. The attractiveness of its music is perhaps best illustrated by the story of the little stowaway by the name of Kelly who was discovered on board the vessel which brought the Nova Scotians to this city. The lad had succeeded in escaping notice up to the time that the band struck up the popular air, "Has Anyone Here Seen Kelly?" This proved to be too much for him, and he crept up on deck as if to answer the inquiry, whereupon he was promptly pounced upon by the ship's officer. The bright red coats of the musicians make attractive spots of color as they pass up and down the streets in the vicinity of the big Mechanics' Exposition where they are drawing many lovers of music, who visit the exposition quite as much to hear the Canadian band as to see the exhibits.

"Julia Ward Howe is dead!" The shocked whisper which mechanically repeated the glaring newspaper headline and the rapidly withered newsboys' arms told the sorrow which was felt by men, women and children when America's and Boston's "grand old woman" was obliged to yield to the burden of her many and useful years. Today Boston's brilliant and noted men are speaking words of reverential eulogy of the remarkable woman whose life work is now over, while there is not a woman in the city, it is safe to say, but feels a sense of personal bereavement in the loss of this level-headed ardent supporter of women's causes. Many a Bostonian recalls the occasion of her last appearance before a large audience in this city, when she spoke bravely but eloquently at the

SAINT JOHN, MONDAY MORNING, OCTOBER 24, 1910

THE "NO GRAFT" ORGANS.

The Times on Saturday published under the heading of "Honesty in Public Life," "No Graft," "No Deals," which decorates its editorial columns, a reference to a recent interview with Mr. Pugsley by a representative of this journal, and characterized as "braven" our challenge to the minister and his dredging organs to point out any untruthful statements in our columns.

The Times is only able to allege in answer that the Standard republished an article from the Globe which contained what it calls "nasty insinuations" about an alleged secret agreement between the minister and Mr. Mayes, concerning the sale of the dredge. Both the Times and the Telegraph have been busy lately in representing the Globe as stating that there was a secret agreement respecting the sale of the dredge. This, the Globe has neither said nor insinuated.

The Standard knows that during the settlement of Mr. Mayes' case some understanding was reached regarding the Beaver. What that understanding was it has not been able to ascertain, as neither Mr. Mayes nor his counsel will make any statement on the subject. Is the Times so suspicious of the minister that it fears he may have introduced a secret factor into the settlement of which he is unwilling that the public should be made aware? We would advise the Times to disclose the true reasons for the settlement of the case.

That journal refers to the Standard as the "personal organ of the affidavit makers." Does it realize that the affidavits to which it refers have never yet been answered on oath by Mr. Pugsley, and that had Mr. Mayes' case proceeded to trial a leading feature would have been Mr. Pugsley's refusal to pay Mr. Mayes a balance of over $56,000 until he should pay to Mr. George McAvity a sum which he claimed? If the minister could answer the affidavits he had the chance of his life to do so, not on a political platform, or in the heat of a campaign, or in the columns of a grafter's organ, but in a Court of Justice under the sanction of an oath and with the opportunity of full cross-examination.

Mr. Mayes had brought Mr. George McAvity to court under a subpoena, and would probably have asked him to identify certain cheques aggregating nearly $36,000. Mr. McAvity might even have professed himself by the Central Railway inquiry to have been able to suggest for what name the letters "W. P." would stand.

All this and much more might have been put for that notable conference, from which his own lawyers were excluded, between the head of the greatest spending department in Canada and Mr. Mayes' counsel at which the minister agreed to pay nearly $10,000 to the man to whom he had so often and so publicly declared his department did not owe one cent.

"Honesty in Public Life." "No Graft." "No Deals."

"A PECULIAR CASE."

Following a brief review of the recent suit brought by Mr. Mayes in the Exchequer Court against the Department of Public Works, the Montreal Gazette pointedly suggests that Mr. Pugsley should be given an early opportunity of telling why a settlement was effected with Mr. Mayes on the basis of the payment of items in his claim which the department denied were owing.

"The settlement out of court of the suit brought by Contractor Mayes against the Dominion government," says the Gazette, "has provoked some pertinent criticism both in the Maritime Provinces and elsewhere. The facts are: Mr. Mayes had a dredging contract with the government. When finished, he demanded a sum of about $60,000, which the Department of Public Works refused to allow. Mr. Mayes brought suit.

"Included in the disputed amount was an item of $5,000. In reference to this item Mr. George McAvity was summoned as a witness. It is not necessary to once more relate the circumstances attending Mr. McAvity's reported connection with the dredging contract of Mr. Mayes. It is sufficient to say that the charge was openly made that when it was learned that Mr. McAvity had been summoned, Mr. Pugsley appeared in court, took the case into his own hands and settled it by agreeing to pay Mr. Mayes nearly $10,000 and costs, thus avoiding the examination of Mr. McAvity.

"Now, either one of two things has happened. Either Mr. Mayes was being denied payment of money to which he was lawfully entitled, and the department was wasting the money of the people in a senseless lawsuit, or Mr. Mayes has been given a large sum of money to which he was not entitled in order to avoid an awkward situation.

"There have been so many incidents of a somewhat similar nature in connection with the administration in New Brunswick that it would appear as if those concerned do not care what the public thinks and are becoming more and more insolent in their attitude towards its right to a proper administration of the country's affairs. Mr. Pugsley should be given an early opportunity of telling why Mr. Mayes was compelled to sue the government, and why, when he did sue, a settlement was effected with him on the basis of the payment of items in his claim which the department denied that it owed."

CANADIAN COPYRIGHT.

It is satisfactory to note that, as a result of negotiations with the Imperial government, Canada is now in a fair way to secure control over its own copyright in books, music and pictures. When the Imperial Parliament reassembles, a bill will be put through under which this important concession will be granted to the Dominion, thus disposing of a point upon which Canada's self-governing powers have been denied for many years. The British bill will repeal the Imperial act of 1842, and will adhere to the Berlin convention of two years ago with the proviso that Canada and each part of the Empire may adhere or not as each shall decide.

The Dominion Parliament, according to a statement by Hon. Sydney Fisher, will, at the coming session, be asked to pass a copyright act by which Canada will assume full control, the new law conforming as much as possible to the Berlin convention. In the United Kingdom the duration of copyright is the life of the author of the book and seven years, or forty-two years, whichever is the longer. The new British act will extend this period to life and fifty years. Mr. Fisher announces that Canada will probably adopt the extension.

The result of Canada's new status in regard to copyright, will be that the United States and other foreign applicants for Canadian copyrights will have to apply to Ottawa instead of to Stationers' Hall, London. Between Canada and the United Kingdom, the relations with regard to copyright will remain unchanged; though hereafter this will be by mutual consent and not by virtue of an Imperial statute only. A work copyrighted by a British author in the British Empire, either in the United Kingdom or in any dominion or colony possessing a copyright law, will become ipso facto copyright throughout the Empire.

The action now being taken is in line with the decision at a conference held between representatives of Canada, Australia, the Cape, New Zealand and Newfoundland and representatives of the foreign office, the India office, the colonial office and the board of trade after the Berlin convention. That conference arrived at unanimous conclusions as to the best methods of treating the question from the Imperial point of view, and it was decided that an act dealing with the essentials of Imperial copyright law should be passed by the Imperial Parliament, and that this act should be extended to all the British possessions.

BRITAIN'S WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION ACT.

A Blue Book recently issued by the British Home Office presents some interesting facts showing the benefit the people in Great Britain derive from the Workmen's Compensation Act, which was passed in 1906. Last year under this act compensation to the extent of £3,000,000 was paid in 3,341 cases of death, and in 332,612 cases of disablement. It is shown that the average payment in case of death was £154, and in case of disablement £5. 6s.

Seven great groups of industries are dealt with in the return—mines, quarries, railways, factories, harbors and docks, constructional works, and shipping—and the total amount paid under the Act in these groups in 1909 was £2,274,238.

In cases of the twenty-four diseases included under the Act, compensation was paid in thirty-three deaths and 3,313 disablements. Of these, 82 per cent. occurred in mines—due mainly to nystagmus, heat hand, heat knee, and heat elbow—and of the remainder 497 were cases of lead poisoning.

Mining stands easily at the head of the list of dangerous trades, since the charge per head for compensation is 20s. 1d., whereas the average for the seven groups of industries is only 6s. 10d. per head. But how slight is the burden on the industry is shown by the fact that the charges amount only to eight-tenths of a penny per ton of coal raised.

Lead poisoning accounted for 351, anthrax 22, and chrome poisoning 23 cases. Fifty-two of the cases of compensation on account of lead poisoning occurred in the china and earthenware industry.

Only a small proportion of the claims are ever brought into court. Last year only 3,087 were finally settled by courts, and of these 2,457 were decided in favor of the workmen.

The baby's bath should not be too hot. On the other hand, it should not be too cold. If the baby screams, it is a sign that all is not right. In that case dip the hand quickly into the water to ascertain the temperature. The defect may then quickly be remedied. If too hot, add cold water; conversely, if too cold, add hot. Avoid the use of sand soap or of chemicals. Frequent baths should render such heroic treatment unnecessary. Great care should be exercised to keep the baby's face constantly above water. Enough may be swallowed in a few minutes by the little stranger to cause chronic billiousness.

French-Canadian children who are not taught English thoroughly are not given a fair show in a country where the language of business is English. At the same time it would conduce to harmony if a knowledge of French were more widely diffused among Canadians of British descent. Switzerland and Belgium are bilingual countries in which the spirit of nationality is intense, and the races live in perfect harmony.

The Standard's Old Reporter

As The Standard Old Reporter entered the corner store, his first impulse was to run for the police for it was apparent to his friend Harrigan that he was rarely disturbed. He was jumping about the store in a manner entirely foreign to any trait of character or mind he had exhibited before and which those who knew him as a steady hard working groceryman, who always paid for his goods, and took his discounts, would view with alarm.

"What's the matter with you," asked the old reporter.

"Come here," said Harrigan. "You're just mad, I've been waiting for you. Did you see what I write in 'the paper'? It says that Docther Pugsley is going to sow the Orange street dump wild roses and make it all nice for the tourists which will be landing in Courtenay Bay next week, or the week after or later than that. That's a great scheme and the wonder it is why we have not got on for so long without it. How did this town ever exist before they got hold of this man Pugsley. I ain't ben here meself very long, just a matter of 49 years or so, but I nite say such doin's as there is now. Sure before we got Pugsley the Courtenay Bay used to be for clams and sich but now it is for wharves and steamers, I don't know."

"Where did you see that?" asked the Old Reporter.

"Why, it's all here in the Telegraph and Times," said Harrigan, "an ye got ter believe what ye see in them. Ain't they the accredited organs of this Pugsley mon and don't they know about steamers and dredghin—sure we mustn't forget th' dredghin, and ain't they the only papers what has th' interests of this town at heart. Sure they say so themselves so it must be true. That Times New Reporter is niver tired of sayin' what a great mon this Pugsley is. What's the matter wid your own paper? Why don't ye fall in line an' do th' same thing. If ye and the heathen like ye had yer way this town would all be giv away and we'd have nothin'. Sure the dredghin had never been done in Courtenay Bay if we left it to sich as ye.

I near had a quarrel with Gregan th' shoemaker this mornin' over that very thing. He cam along and Ol rid to him the Times sayin' what a fine mon this Pugsley was an he says he nite say, 'Thwast's the date of that paper yer readin', says he. Says Ol, 'tis laast night's paper so it is.

Ol thought so, says he. What odds is that, says Ol. The pint is what it says not how old it is, this ain't no puzzle oim givin' ye. Phwy do ye interupt to ask the date av' says Ol.

"Oh nothin', says he, but ol was thinkin', says he.

Sure Ol didn't know ye cud think, says Ol. No wan can think here but Mather Pugsley and the Times New Reporter, says Ol, but as ye set sich store on it, what was ye thinkin'?

Oh, says he, Ol was thinkin' av the change that's cam over this paper, says he. Time was, a few years ago when they couldn't find words to express their affection for this man Pugsley, and thim such as they cud find went to print. Graft, graft, graft and thafe, was the mildest of thim. An' this same Times New Reporter, why he was the very mon that use to print in his paper that G. T. saint Gull Public and that this Pugsley was no more tellin' th' truth than that mon who was here a few months ago and sed there was no future for us. Sure the only mon thim that was any good was Mather Blair, and Pugsley was tryin his bist to git th' wrole town and giv it away.

Sure is it the same Pugsley, says Ol or is it another mon if the same name, but different charackter, says Ol.

'Tis the same, says he. Then where's th' change? says Ol. Has he cum out in church, or has he bin caught, and is thyrin' to do better? says Ol.

Sure is it, says he, but there was no dredghin in th' days when th' New Reporter and his frind of the Telegraph was roasin' Pugsley. Well, what's th' difference, says Ol. Ask the Times New Reporter, Ol pay day, says he and that's all Ol could git out av him.

Use for Churches

"Free light and heats for churches were all right, but we don't purpose to furnish free fuel to run all the fruit in the upper Ohio valley, and we shut down right in the middle of the coming season. This remark was made by an official of the Manufacturers' Heat and Light Company, of Pittsburg, U. S. A., when asked why his company had cut off the free gas from churches in Bellevue, Ben Avon and other Pittsburg suburbs. The gas company says that women of the congregations were in the habit of using the gas in the church basements for canning their fruits each summer and fall, thereby saving home gas bills and "preventing chattering up their own homes" as one put it.

Proposals

Some professional gentlemen certainly have the art of analysis down pretty fine. For example, a German statistician has calculated that in the case of proposals of marriage 36 per cent. of the suitors press the hand of their beloved, 24 per cent. conclude their speech with an embrace, 4 per cent. kiss the hair, 2 per cent. kiss the hand, 2 per cent. fall on their knees and 29 per cent. swallow nervously before they declare their passion. Ten per cent. open and close their mouths without being able to utter a single word and 2 per cent. make their proposals while standing on one foot. With regard to the women, on the other hand, 60 per cent. sink helpless into the lover's arms, for whose proposal they have been waiting, 20 per cent. blush and hide their faces, 1 per cent. swoon away, 4 per cent. gaze silently into the suitor's eyes and 1 per cent. run away to tell a stiff friend.

Athletics Are World's Ball Champions

Baker on the last lap scoring the first run of the first game between the Athletics and Cubs.

Cubs Snatched Only Victory of Series by Batting Rally in Extra Inning.

Finished Saturday Game With 4-3 Score--Sheppard and Schulte Heavy Batters.

Chicago, Oct. 22.—Nineteen thousand delirious enthusiasts saw the Chicago Nationals "come back" today and take the fourth game of the world's series from the Philadelphia Athletics 4 to 3, after a ninth inning tie and a tenth inning victory. The combat was one to live in history. It was anybody's game until the finish, when a double, an out and a single, put the winning run across the plate.

Up to Chicago's half of the ninth the score stood 3 to 2 in favor of the visitors. It looked as if the latter would perform the record-breaking feat of capturing four straight games in a world's series and take the pennant home with them. A number of Philadelphia visitors went so far as to make sleeping car reservations for tonight from a special agent on the grounds. As events turned out certain reservations from Chicago to Philadelphia were not occupied when the train pulled out.

Frank Schulte stepped to the plate in the last of the ninth. On his eye and arm, largely depended the issue whether the Americans would be the world's champions tonight or whether the Nationals might still hope to repeat Boston's performance of coming from behind and winning four straight after three defeats. There was a prayerful silence—then something happened. The right fielder firmly smote the sphere and it did not stop rolling till it bumped against the right field fence and the batsman had become a potential base runner on the second sack. Chief Bender merely smiled and the smile broadened to a grin when Honan sacrificed the runner to third.

A Frantic Crowd.

But the crowd was fairly crazy with excitement. The roar of cheers was ear-splitting when Captain Chance came to the bat. The first ball pitched nipped him on the finger, but the umpire said he had walked into it and it served him right, or words to that effect. Chance hoped about, snapping the injured member for a moment, and then resumed his position, glaring in the direction of the still grinning Bender. He stepped into another one, but the result was different. With every muscle in his angry system tense, he caught the ball on the seam and slammed it to the farthest corner of the lot for a triple.

The gloom which had hung like a pall since Monday, flew away and in the sky of the fanatics appeared rainbows of hope and promise unbounded.

The devoted band of Philadelphia rooters remained passive and confident. The habit of being on the winning side had not deserted them. They acclaimed the Indian hurler when Zimmerman and Steinfield went out relieving Chance with what would have been the winning run, stranded on third. The game just possibly might have ended at this stage but for a sensational catch by Baker. Steinfield poked a foul into a left field box and although the occupants thereof were far from helpful the fast third baseman of the Philadelphia team leaned over and snatched the ball. But that is only one of the many in which the game abounded.

In The Tenth.

The Philadelphia came to bat in their half of the tenth, but with confidence. Archer smote a foul, however.

St. John Player Sustains Broken Collar Bone in Freak Game Won by Fredericton City 9-0—Many Injuries.

Fredericton, Oct. 23.—In a game marked by the large number of injuries to players and by the freak plays and accidents rather than good football, the Fredericton city team defeated U. N. B. on Saturday afternoon at the college field by a score of 9 to 0.

The U. N. B. team went on the field in a weakened condition with McKeay, Jennings, Vavasour and Jewell laid up and with Bender having a broken collar bone and Deedes with his leg so stiff that he could hardly walk or run.

The city players also suffered more or less on account of injuries and every few minutes there were one or more players laid out on the field. The Fredericton team's tries were scored by Brooks, Wandless and McKnight. All chances to convert the goals were failures.

Prof. Stephens of the U. N. B. acted as referee. The teams lined up as follows:

A commercial traveller who has considerable driving to do through the province told The Standard yesterday that he had just returned from a trip of several hundreds of miles and that all the roads he used were in better condition than for years. "All this talk about the Hazen government neglecting the roads is rot," said he, "I have used the roads of this province for the last ten years and never found them in better condition than they are now."

More Vandalism.
R. S. Low, of the Hassan Paving Company, lodged another complaint with the city authorities yesterday. On Saturday evening somebody of an enterprising turn of mind went for a walk on the new sidewalks on Germain street, and left the marks of his boots in a green portion of the concrete. The sergeant was obliged to call for assistance before he could convey the woman to the cells. This was the only arrest yesterday.

On Saturday there were six arrests made during the evening. Four of the number were charged with drunkenness while Olaf Olsen, aged 21 years, and Mathias Martensen, who is a couple of years older, were arrested for fighting together on Sheffield St. Martensen had $19 in his pocket and the other Norwegian had ten dollars. REV. F. M. YOUNG DIES IN BOSTON

Baptist Pastor at Parrsboro and Native of St. George Succumbed to Effects of Operation.

Elmer Young of the West Side received a telegram on Saturday night telling of the death in Boston of his brother Rev. Frederick M. Young, pastor of the Parrsboro Baptist church. Rev. Mr. Young went to Boston some days ago for a surgical operation and it was believed to have been successfully performed on Wednesday last. A letter received on Saturday said he was progressing favorably toward recovery and it was a distinct shock when this letter was followed a few hours later by a telegram telling of his death.

The deceased was 54 years of age and very well known in the provinces where he had been most successful in the work to which he was called. He was born in St. George, and educated in the University of New Brunswick, after which he went to Newton Theological Seminary and graduated with the degrees of Bachelor of Divinity. Since his graduation he has held several pastorates in the province of Nova Scotia, and has been most successful. He is survived by a widow and seven children. His oldest daughter is the wife of Mr. McNutt, train despatcher at Truro. He is also survived by a brother, Elmer Young, of the West Side, and a sister, Mrs. F. L. Lynott, of Richibucto.

D. BOYANER DROPS DEAD IN HIS HOME

Well-Known Jewish Optician Victim of Sudden Attack of Heart Failure Yesterday—A Much Respected Citizen.

Death came with startling suddenness yesterday to D. Boyaner the Lock street optician, when just at noon hour while he was walking across the floor in his home 73 High street, he was stricken with heart failure and falling expired almost immediately. Members of his family on seeing him sink down rushed to his assistance, but found that they could do nothing. Medical men summoned pronounced death due to heart disease.

The shock of Mr. Boyaner's death came with greater force owing to the fact that he had always enjoyed good health and had recently returned from a trip to New York, feeling much benefited by the change. He attended to his business as usual on Saturday, and spent yesterday morning conversing with his wife and family. He had risen to go from one room to another and had taken several steps when the summons came. He fell on one side and life appeared to be snuffed out by his sons. Dr. F. J. Hogan was hurriedly summoned, and Dr. G. A. B. Addy later arrived, but both agreed that death had been instantaneous, and that there was no need for medical aid.

Mr. Boyaner came to this city from Montreal twenty years ago, and since that time had conducted a successful business in optical goods, first in Main street, later in Dock street. He was a man of kindly disposition, a kind husband and father, and his death will be generally regretted.

He was a Freemason and a member of Court Loyalist, I. O. F. He took a prominent part in the organization of the Hazen Avenue temple, and was one of the first members.

The late Mr. Boyaner was 50 years of age. He is survived by his wife, four sons, Louis, Israel, Eli and Frank and two daughters, Bertha and Emma. The funeral will be held at 2.30 o'clock this afternoon from his late residence. The service in Hazen Avenue temple will be conducted by Rabbi Amdur.

BROKEN LIMB DUE TO BANANA PEEL

Mrs. James McCartney Severely Injured as Result of Someone's Thoughtlessness—Removed Home in Ambulance.

The thoughtlessness displayed in throwing a banana peel on the sidewalk was the cause of Mrs. James McCartney of 227 Main street being most severely injured on Saturday night.

It was about 8.30 o'clock when the lady was walking along the street, when she stepped on a peeling and was violently thrown to the sidewalk. She was unable to regain her feet and was carried to the office of Dr. W. F. Roberts on the corner of Douglas Avenue and Main street, where it was found that she had one of her limbs broken.

The injured member was attended to by the doctor and Mrs. McCartney was sent to her home in the ambulance.

W. H. ALLEN GUEST OF LIFE UNDERWRITERS

Organizer of Travellers' Life Insurance Entertained by Local Body at Clifton House Saturday—"Waste of Life."

The life underwriters association of New Brunswick gave a luncheon on Saturday in the Clifton House in honor of Geo. H. Allan, of Montreal. Mr. Allan was the first president of the life underwriters of Canada and has been a prominent life insurance agent all his life, having first carried the rate book at the age of 17.

Mr. Allan has lately organized the Travellers' Life Ins. Co. and his visit to these provinces is with a view of opening business here.

F. S. Bonnell, president of the L. N. of N. B., occupied the chair. After lunch, in a few well chosen words the chairman expressed the pleasure of the local association at having Mr. Allan as its guest. Mr. Allan after thanking the association for asking him to meet and address them, delivered a short but forceful speech on subjects of much interest to such a gathering.

During his remarks Mr. Allan emphasized the fact that the amount expended by the governments of Canada and the U. S. for the prevention of "waste of life" was very small in proportion to other expenditures. He pointed out how important it was that greater efforts should be made to prevent this waste as it would mean considerable saving to the life insurance companies and lower rates to the insured. A hearty vote of thanks was tendered Mr. Allan.
