PREFACE.

In offering this work to the public I feel that a few words of introduction are necessary in justice to myself. Owing to various causes (not controlled by me) it has been absolutely impossible to give numbers for every house. Where it has been practicable it has been done, and when omitted it has been for the very sufficient reason that no numbers existed. Through the courtesy of Mr. W. R. Bevitt, who has the contract for numbering the houses, as complete a list has been given as it is possible to fix for the present year. Where no numbers exist, the locality has been described as clearly as necessary conciseness permitted.

That the work should be absolutely free from errors and omissions is more than I can venture to hope, but I do maintain that where such exist they will be found in nearly every instance to be the fault of the people who supplied the details—not my fault, nor my agent's; as we can hardly be expected to know everybody, and were consequently mostly at the mercy of our informants.

I confidently expect that this Directory will be universally acknowledged to be the most complete that has ever been published in this Province, the introduction of Map and Street Key making it immeasurably superior to similar works, even in the large cities.

No trouble or expense has been spared in carrying out in its entirety my original programme, as set forth in the circular of 10th March last, and I venture to hope that the Advertisers and Business Men generally will concede that I have done them ample justice.

The expenses of publication having exceeded my original estimate, I am compelled to fix the selling price of the Book at two dollars—original subscribers, however, will have them at the contract price.

Thanking the business community for their support, and trusting to receive a renewal of their favors should I ever again come before them in a similar capacity,

I am, respectfully,

THE PUBLISHER.

ST. THOMAS.

ST. THOMAS, the capital of the County of Elgin, and one of the most flourishing of Canadian towns, is most beautifully situated on the banks of Kettle Creek, in the township of Yarmouth, and near the centre of the county. It is about seventeen miles south of the City of London, and eight miles distant from Port Stanley, the most important of the lake ports on the north shore of Lake Erie. The County of Elgin is justly considered to be one of the finest agricultural districts in the Province of Ontario, and St. Thomas is an important centre, where the farmer is always certain of a good market for the disposal of his produce of all descriptions.

The town stands on the elevated plateau of a peninsula, formed by the windings of Kettle Creek, and the scenery in the immediate neighborhood is very picturesque and beautiful, the views on all sides being very fine, consisting of gently undulating, well-cultivated land, with well-wooded patches interspersed.

The town was named after the late Colonel Thomas Talbot, to which the prefix of Saint was added, the reason for which addition, unless for the sake of euphony, it is not now easy to discover. The first settlement in the vicinity dates from about the year 1810, when a few families took up land—the earliest owners being the Drakes, Mandevilles, Rapelges, Garret Smith, and Mr. Curtis. Mr. Smith settled on Lot No. 1, on the north side of Talbot Road, and Mr. Curtis on Lot 2, the homestead of the latter being where the house formerly occupied by Mr. John Farley now stands, at the south-east corner of St. George and Curtis streets. Mr. Daniel Rapelge settled on Lot 1 south side of Talbot road, and built the first mill erected in St. Thomas on the site now occupied by the St. Thomas Mills, owned and worked by the Messrs. Turvill. Mr. Rapelge gave the land for the erection of the first Episcopal Church on Walnut street.

The first business opened in St. Thomas seems to have been that of the late Mr. James Hamilton (afterwards of London, and for many years Sheriff of Middlesex), who in 1817 opened a store at the bottom of the hill, near the creek, and soon afterwards took Mr. John Warren into partnership. Messrs. Bela Shaw and Lucius Bigelow were the next, and they were quickly followed by Messrs. Goodhue and Duncombe, and about the year 1824 the village began to assume some importance as a rising place. At that time all the buildings were on the Talbot Road, between where the Hutchinson House now stands and the creek at the foot of the hill. No other streets were open, and the present Stanley street existed merely as a corduroy road, winding along the banks of the creek towards Port Stanley, from whence all the supplies of merchandise were brought. In 1831 the late Mr. Thomas Lindop settled in the village; J. H. L. Begg and M. T. Moore in 1832, followed at intervals by others whose names are still prominent among the inhabitants of the town. Until the year 1852 the County of Elgin formed part of the County of Middlesex, but in that year an agitation, which had been commenced some time before, culminated in the formation of the present County of Elgin, a tract of about sixty miles long by a width varying from 12 to 25 miles, and comprising the townships of Aldborough, Dunwich, Southwold, Yarmouth, Malahide, South Dorchester and Bayham. The County was called Elgin out of compliment to the Earl of Elgin, Governor-General of Canada from 1847 to 1854, whose tact and energy during that period gained him the respect and admiration of all classes. The late Mr. David Parish represented St. Thomas as its first Reeve in the new County Council of Elgin, which met in the Town Hall, at St. Thomas, on the 15th day of April, 1852. When St. Thomas was incorporated in that year the inhabitants numbered only 1,200 souls, and the onward progress was only slow, the population being in 1861, 1,640; in 1866, 1,750; and it was not until the commencement of the two important railway undertakings, in 1870, that St. Thomas showed any mark of rapid progress. Since that period, however, the improvement has been both rapid and steady, without precedent in the history of any Canadian town.

In 1870, when the surveys for the construction of the Canada Southern and the Loop Line of the Great Western Railways were in progress, the number of inhabitants did not exceed 2,000, while in 1876 they had increased to nearly 6,000; in 1878 the number was 6,446, while the recent census just completed (May, 1879) shows that the present population numbers 7,217, a number which is being constantly augmented, as is evidenced by the fact that it is found to be nearly impossible to build houses with sufficient rapidity to meet the ever-increasing demand for accommodation.

The value of the real and personal property in St. Thomas for the same period shows an equally rapid increase, for while the assessment of 1871 was only $510,000, in 1878 it had increased to $1,991,060, while for the present year the sum of $2,147,575 is returned, the actual value of course being considerably in excess of the assessed value. The most important and primary causes of this satisfactory progress of St. Thomas were, as has been mentioned, the construction of the Canada Southern and Air Line Railways. The latter, which is a loop line, extends from Glencoe, on the main line of the Great Western, to Fort Erie, and is a great saving of distance to be traversed between those two points, St. Thomas being the principal station on the line and the headquarters of the officials of this section of the road. The Canada Southern, one of the best constructed and equipped roads on the continent, traverses the entire County of Elgin, with the exception of the Township of Bayham, from east to west, while its principal offices, locomotive and carriage workshops and repairing departments are all located at St. Thomas, giving employment to a large number of workmen in all branches—a number which is likely to be increased. The passenger station is (with the single exception of the Union Station at Toronto) the finest in Canada, while the bridge which crosses Kettle Creek is the largest timber bridge in the Dominion, it being in extreme length 1,366 feet; height from water-line, 92 feet; and contains 1,070,672 feet of timber, B. M.; 77,636 lbs. wrought iron, 80,610 lbs. of cast iron, and was erected in the short period of five months. The London and Port Stanley Railway also passes through St. Thomas, placing the town in connection with the Main Lines of the Great Western and the Grand Trunk Railways at London, and during the season of navigation with the United States, a steamboat leaving Port Stanley thrice a week for Cleveland, etc. And here it will be proper to note that it is the ultimate intention of the Directors of the Credit Valley Railway to extend that line to St. Thomas, by which the railway facilities will be much increased, and the advantage of an independent competing route direct to the City of Toronto secured.

Although the town at present has not any very large manufacturing establishments, the great facilities for transport afforded by the railways are sure to lead to their establishment, and even now a careful reference to the Classified Business Directory, included in this volume, will disclose a very respectable list of factories and such other industries as would naturally be looked for in a town of such importance.

The most important step in the progress of St. Thomas, since the opening of the railways, has been the establishment of the Water-works for manufacturing purposes and fire extinction (the water is, unfortunately, unfit for domestic purposes), in 1874. The system adopted is that known as the Holly (or Waterous), and consists of a powerful engine and pumps, situate on Kettle Creek, and a system of piping, by which the water is conducted to various hydrants situated in suitable locations. The works cost about $25,000, and are very effective for the extinction of fire, while the Canada Southern workshops and other manufacturing establishments are plentifully supplied with water, the works being capable of supplying 1,500 gallons per minute. The Gas Works were erected in 1874 by a private company, at a cost of $65,000, and pay a good percentage on the outlay, there being about three miles of piping in use. The St. Thomas Street Railway is now in course of construction (June, 1879), and is expected to be completed for opening by the first day of July. This is also the work of an incorporated company.

BANKS AND BANKING.

St. Thomas contains three public banks, namely: branches of Molsons Bank, of Montreal; Merchants Bank of Canada, and the Imperial Bank; and three important Savings and Loan Societies, particulars of which will be found under their respective headings in the Miscellaneous Directory.

SCHOOLS.

The educational facilities of the town are exceptionally good, the public-school system comprising the High School, the Model Schools, and a Separate Ward School at the east end. The recent census shows the following numbers of school children between the ages of 5 and 16 years:—

	Males.	Females.
St. Andrew's Ward.....	65	53
St. Patrick's Ward.....	181	206
St. George's Ward.....	169	202
St. David's Ward.....	198	304
	613	765
Non-attendants.....	51	38
Total.....	664	803

Of the above, 173 are Roman Catholics.

The attendance at the schools during May (1879) was as follows:—

	Registered Attendance.	Average Attendance.
Ward School	345	292
Central (or Model) School.....	614	489
High School.....	190	162
Total.....	1,149	943

This indicates an increase over May, 1878, of 78 in the number enrolled, and 97 in the average attendance.

Full particulars of Masters and Teachers will be found in the Directory.

This year will see the completion of the "Alma College," for the Education of Young Ladies in the Higher Branches of Science, Literature and Art. The foundation-stone of the large building, which is now in course of erection at the end of Moore street, was laid on the 24th day of May, 1878, by the Hon. Adam Crooks, Minister of Education. The total cost of the College, when complete, will be about $50,000, and it is being erected in a style befitting the high public purpose to which it is devoted. It is constructed for the accommodation of one hundred resident pupils, while a much larger number can be taken as day pupils.

CHURCHES.

The number of the church buildings in the town is 17. Of these, three are Church of England (but since the erection of the new church on Wellington street two of them are not in use, except occasionally, for public worship); Methodists, three; Baptists, three (on the completion of their large brick church, now building on Centre-st., the two old buildings will be disposed of); Presbyterian, Roman Catholic, Bible Christian, Church of the Disciples, Reformed Episcopal, Congregationalists, Plymouth Brethren and Latter Day Saints, each one. (Full information of these will be found in the Directory, under the head of Churches and Pastors.)

The Town has an excellent Police Force, an efficient Fire Department, and is a Port of Entry, where a large amount of customs duties on imports is annually collected.
