Another Year Rolls By

This 31st day of December, 1924, ends the fiftieth year of my business association with Hartland. Of those who were in business here when I opened store about all "have gone to that bourne from whence no traveller returns." Many changes have taken place in Hartland since that time. The little village has passed into a prosperous town. During these fifty years, some thirty or forty firms have done business here, most of them retiring after short operations. But there are now good, well-conducted stores in the town where goods can be had at reasonable prices. Don't forget your old friend, who sold to your fathers and grandfathers.

Wishing all a prosperous and happy new year, I am

Sincerely Yours

John T. G. Carr

NEW YEAR'S SERVICES AT HARTLAND U. B. CHURCH

A real old-fashioned prayer meeting will be held at Baptist Church on Wednesday evening at 7.30. Let us make it a real family gathering.

At 11 o'clock there will be a watch night service. A brief address will be given, followed by testimonies. At one minute to twelve the Church bell will ring, bidding farewell to 1924, and welcoming 1925. The public is cordially invited to share in these services.

On Sunday, New Year's services will be held. In the morning the pastor will preach on the subject, "Going Forward," and in the evening the subject will be "Making Possible the Impossible." Special music will be provided for both services by the choir.

AN EXPLANATION

The Carleton Observer Limited, Hartland, N. B.

Dear Sirs:

After we had mailed you a copy of our letter to the Daily Gleaner under date of Dec. 24th, the price declined in Havana, and a cargo was sold at $2.30 per sack of No. 180, which left the shippers $4c per barrel after all charges were paid. We made the correction on the original copy to the Gleaner, but your copy had left our office and could not be changed.

Will you kindly publish this letter of explanation, otherwise the two articles will conflict.

Yours truly,

N. B. POTATO EXCHANGE LTD.

INTERESTING EVENT MONDAY EVENING

Other Townsmen also Honored
Guests at Dinner Given
At Riverside Hotel.

An event of great interest took place Monday evening when Mayor L. E. McFarland was host at a banquet given in honor of the Town Fathers and a number of other prominent citizens—twenty in all forming the party. The guests included, beside His Worship the Mayor, Councillors H. R. Nixon, C. W. McQuarrie, H. H. Hatfield, W. B. Nixon, M. W. White and A. Y. Dickinson; Town Clerk A. E. Plummer and Police Officer J. F. Murdock. The other invited gentlemen were Messrs. S. S. Miller, C. S. Baker, E. W. Laskey, R. B. Hagerman, J. E. McCollom, H. J. Alton, E. C. Morgan, F. A. Alton, R. L. York, C. Gordon Anslow and Rev. G. F. Bolster. All these gentlemen were present with the exception of S. S. Miller, H. H. Hatfield, C. G. Anslow, F. A. Alton and J. F. Murdock, who through various reasons were unable to be present.

The banquet was given at the Riverside Inn and Host Frank Plummer left nothing to be desired in the way of catering and all the guests did ample justice to a very fine full course turkey dinner which he provided. Seats were taken at the table at 8 o'clock and after the bountiful repast had been partaken of, Toastmaster E. C. Morgan arose proposing honors to His Majesty the King, which was heartily responded to by the singing of the National Anthem.

The next toast proposed was His Worship the Mayor. Mr. Morgan, in proposing this toast, gave in a very happy manner a brief life history of the Mayor up to date, saying some very complimentary things both of he and Mrs. McFarland. After the toast was drunk, followed by singing "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow." Mr. McFarland replied, thanking all present for the hearty manner in which the toast to him had been received. He said it afforded him great pleasure to be able to have for his guests the men that were before him. He stated that it was about two years since the town had first honored him by electing him Mayor, and he had felt that being elected for another term, he must have inspired the confidence of the townspeople to that extent. He felt highly honored and very grateful for the loyal support he had always received. He then went on taking up the public works that were carried out in the two years of his office. Space and time does not give opportunity to mention in detail Mr. McFarland's remarks along these lines. It would be good reading of a highly instructive nature if we could do so. However, we will enumerate the points he took up which were: Public Works in 1923. One of the first things accomplished and which was very much appreciated was procuring a hitching yard for horses. 2. Straightening the street at depot crossing and moving switch. 3. Moving stock yard to Deep Creek. 4. Lighting the bridge, taking the matter up with the Government. 5. The laying of 325 feet of sidewalk some of it being ten feet wide, also making crossings and culverts. 7. Making extension of 700 feet to main water pipe, and laying 300 feet sewer pipe from top of Burt's Hill to Hillcrest. Public Works in 1924: 1. Making contract with Hartland Electric Co., and taking up the rates with the Public Utilities Commission. 2. Making settlement between the Town and County. 3. The laying of 280 feet

CHRISTMAS CONCERT

A Christmas concert of a very high order was given by the members of the United Baptist Sunday School on Christmas night before an audience that filled the auditorium. Perhaps the outstanding feature of the program was the pageant representing the birth of Christ which was presented in four scenes by thirteen of the young men and women of the school. The visualization of the scenes surrounding the birth of Christ made a deep impression on all who witnessed them. Every number of the program was well rendered and thoroughly enjoyed by all.

The following are the numbers on the program: Hymn 105; Exercise, The Game of Letters, Mrs. F. W. Allen's class; Recitation, Gordon Bolster; Exercise, The Pine Tree, Miss Glaysher's class; Reading, E. Dickinson; Pageant, The Birth of Christ, Exercise, Snow Fairies, Girls of Miss Hagerman's class; Solo, Elizabeth Hayward; Exercise, Friends in Need, Mr. Rideout's class; Reading, Miss Alice Keswick; Exercise, Old Grudge, Mrs. Cook's class; Exercise, Miss Trites' Class; Recitation, Alice Dickinson; Duett, Minnie and Muriel Cook; Exercise, Mrs. McFarland's class; Recitation, Dorothy Laskey; Exercise, Boys of Miss Hagerman's class; Exercise, Miss Kingston's class; Hymn. A Generous offering was received for missions.

HIGHGATE

Everett White was calling on Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Weston on Sunday evening.

Darold Stockford and Miss Julia Downey were calling on Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Clark Sunday evening.

Darold Stockford is engaged in hauling lathwood.

Miss Hilda Horton who has been spending a few weeks with her sister, Mrs. Thomas Clark, has returned to Cloverdale.

Eddie Weston has gone to the woods for Charlie Furlong. Miss Mary Gomey has returned home from Mars Hill.

Arch. McLean is very busy getting his winter's supply of wood.

Selvester Gomey and Wendell Stewart are engaged in the lumber woods for Beecher Stewart.

Joe Parsons was calling on Thos. Clark one day last week.

Robert Treacron has returned to the woods for Thomas Clark.

Willie Craig has also hired with Mr. Clark.

Jimmie Chalender and Miles Veasey are engaged in getting their winter wood.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTE ENTERTAINMENT

An entertainment will be given on Friday evening at 8 o'clock, January 2nd, under the auspices of the Hartland Women's Institute in the Assembly Hall of the new school building. There will be special music, and recitations, and Mr. A. Plummer will tell us of his trip abroad which will be most interesting. Admission for adults 45cts, for children 10cts. The proceeds will be used toward paying for the piano recently purchased for the school. We solicit a large patronage for this worthy object. 29-1c.

SWISS CAPITAL FOR CANADA

A Swiss Trade Commission recently visited Canada to look over the Dominion as a field for investments and business. As a result of this visit, one of its members has just invested $250,000 in Canadian securities, on behalf of the Zurich General Accident and Liability Insurance Co. It is said that other Swiss financial institutions are going to follow this example.

THE YEAR'S RECORD

New sales records were established in 1924, the growing popularity of Moire's products being directed particularly to the packaged chocolates, biscuits and cereals. Sales of the chocolates have now reached the point where they are in boxes as well as in bulk, the most popular brand in Canada.

In 1925 every effort will be made to beat this by making them, if at all possible, even better.

"Bring me a"

At the top are seen the chefs at work on the new train which operates between Montreal and Winnipeg over Canadian Pacific lines in 39 hours 45 minutes, daily. Below, a comfortable meal with a landscape changing many times with each course.

How would you like to be called upon to prepare a meal for 125 or more people in a kitchen 21 feet long and a little over 6 feet wide, in which four other than yourself were working, and in which all your stores and supplies were kept? You might consider it a fairly tall order, and yet day after day many men are doing this very same thing at least three times a day in the kitchens of the railway dining cars which render travelling hotel service across the continent. In addition to the space mentioned, the kitchen and dining room staff have only a pantry seven feet by six in which to work, yet who has not wondered at the seeming magic with which the waiters produce at very short notice the choicest of foods and drinks, cooked and garnished to tempt the most dainty appetite and appease the most hungry?

The key note of this remarkable service is, of course, system, and then training. Investigating, one finds that each class of food has its own refrigerator, and that each refrigerator and ice-well, each drawer and each of the innumerable lockers are so arranged as to permit of ready access with the minimum amount of lost motion. Everything has and is in its place, the separate refrigerators being provided in order to avoid absorption of odors from the pungent variety of foodstuffs by those of a more delicate quality. The cooking is done on a broiler in the case of steaks, fish and ham, etc., or on the large coal range. Dairy products and fruits are stored in the pantry where silver, glass-ware and crockery is kept.

The preparation of the menu card is done under the personal supervision of the superintendent and a full set of bills of fare covering all meals to be served on the run, are handed to the steward and chef. They make out a requisition for the necessary quantity of supplies, basing their estimate on the average travel, and all foodstuffs are checked and examined as to quality by the Chef personally as they are placed in the car, and put into the receptacles provided. Everything is then ready for the preparation of the meal. There is, however, a great deal of work to be done before the "first call" is made.

Stock has to be prepared for soup, poultry and fish cleaned, garnitures cut, vegetables cut and many other things. The Chef sees that everything possible is prepared ahead, but will not permit the preparation ahead of such items as require to be prepared as ordered. All broiled foodstuffs and such things as toast and eggs for instance must be prepared only as ordered.

As to the division of duties, the Chef prepares soups, sauces, cooks all roasts, fries and grills all meats and generally supervises the work of the kitchen staff. Second cook makes all pastry, puddings, cakes, muffins and coffee; third cook peels all vegetables and assists the second cook with the other work; fourth cook is a general utility man and does the washing of dishes, pots and pans. The fifth cook, sometimes called the pantryman cuts bread, butter and prepares salads, grape fruit, oranges, etc. This division of labor permits of the service of meals just as quickly as passengers can partake of them, and very often one kitchen staff in the Canadian Pacific dining car service will turn out nearly 400 meals in the course of one day.

AROOSTOOK

Aroostook, N. B., Dec. 21—On Thursday, December 18, a children's concert was given in the assembly hall of the Aroostook School by the children of all grades before a large assembly of parents and friends, a number being unable to gain admittance.

The following program was excellently rendered:

1. Chorus by the school, Hark the Herald Angels Sing.
2. Recitation, Johnny's Dream, Chellas Gains.
3. Motion Song, Grade 3.
4. Dialogue, Just 'fore Xmas, Grades VII and VIII.
5. Recitation, Christmas Greetings, Thelma Hatheway.
6. Exercise, Eva Walsh, Ruth Crandlemire, Molly Glew.
7. Dialogue, Trouble in Santa Claus Land, Grades 4 and 5.
8. Chorus, It Came Upon the Midnight Clear, School.
9. Exercise, Tooting Horns, Grades 2 and 3.
10. Dialogue, Squire Hawley's Christmas, Grade 4.
11. Motion Song, Silent Night, Grade 5.
12. Dialogue, Dickens' Christmas Carol, Advanced Dept.
13. Exercise, Good Night, Grade 1.

At the close of the concert, short speeches were made by Mrs. Manzer, Mr. R. A. McAdam, N. W. Walsh, R. W. Dommings, etc., highly eulogistic of the splendid work done by the teachers in training the children to give such a splendid concert, which went through without the slightest mistake and the different parts being admirably rendered.

School Report.

The following is the report of the school for the session, which shows some high percentages, both in attendance and grading and reflects the highest credit not only on the children but the teachers who had worked so hard to bring about such results. It is also worthy of note that not a single complaint was received by the trustees from any of the parents, and we are glad to announce that all three of that teachers are remaining for the next term.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL ITEMS

Centreville, N. B., Dec. 30—On Christmas night, the manager of the theatre secured for the pleasure of his patrons, "The Eternal City," the film version of one of Sir Hall Caine's immortal novels. All the settings and scenes were laid in and about old Rome, with the shadow of St. Peter's and the Coliseum over all. Many of the principal scenes were laid within the latter structure. The principals were Lionel Barrymore who as Prince Bonetti, was working for the dictatorship of Italy and the hand of the heroine, played by Barbara La Marr. Bert Lytell played the heroic role. On Saturday evening "The Eleventh Hour" in six reels, gave more real thrills than one should really see in one performance. Imagine all the thrills of the lengthy episodes of "Bride 13" packed into one picture and then some, and you get a faint idea of the lot of stuff the director worked into this film. The principals were Charles Jones and Shirley Mason. The two-reel comedy also shown on Saturday, was really the best bit of comedy we have seen for a long time. Read page 7 for immediate attractions.

Another of the town's oldest residents passed away on Tuesday evening in the person of William Reid. His health has been somewhat indifferent for some time, so that his death was not entirely unexpected. He retired early, summoned his wife, complained of feeling badly and expired before help could be summoned. He was about 78 years of age, and had spent all his life in and about Centreville. He retired from his farm below town some 20 years ago and since then has lived in the village. He leaves to mourn his widow and a brother James in Knoxford, besides a large number of nephews, nieces, cousins, etc. The funeral was held from his home on Christmas afternoon with services conducted by Rev. H. R. Bell. Interment was made in the Baptist Cemetery.

ABSORBING STORY WITH SEA SETTING

Thomas H. Ince precluded any possibilities of technical errors in the sea scenes of "Anna Christie", his latest production, by using the second mate of a Pacific liner as a technical advisor.

Lowell Wagner, brother of Joan Lowell, the film star, and formerly a mate on the old "China" of the China mail S. S. Company, assisted in the filming of the thrilling shots and seeing that everything was done "according to Hoyle," and the chart and compass. In addition he played a dangerous sailor "bit" which required expert swimming and fearlessness.

Young Lowell has been on the sea practically all his life, his father having been owner of a large vessel. He can rattle off words like "Jib stay," "cross trees," "fire chain," "spanker sheets" and "mizzen truck" with the oldest veteran seaman with complete understanding.

The absorbing sea story, with Blanche Sweet in the title role, is showing at the Neighborhood Theatre Saturday night.

Hartland, N. B., Wed., Dec. 31, 1934

WANTED: A NEW COUNCIL WITH FOLLOWING QUALIFICATIONS

The time is not far distant when the present town Council will be called upon to give an account of its stewardship for the year 1934, fast drawing to a close.

Although the citizens of the Town have not attended very faithfully the regular meetings of the council, nevertheless a good many have watched with keen interest the unfolding of the program of the present board. It can honestly be said that the board has faithfully discharged their duty to the citizens in many respects, where they have failed it has been due to lack of understanding and in these, charity must of course be used. The work of the present board in many respects has not been one strewn with roses, for in a number of instances it has been one of thorns instead. The coming into being of a new by-law affecting the water district has met a long felt want and has settled the question of the protection and improvement of the water supply in the town and water area. The council of 1932 opened up this question, the 1933 and 1934 councils have brought the matter to a successful conclusion. The council of 1932 also opened up the question of our responsibility to the County, and the following Councils have labored hard to settle this important question and at the present time they are well on the way to an amicable settlement. The details only remain to be worked out. Good work has been done on the roads and sidewalks; good order has been kept in the town and the poor, including the tramps, have not been neglected. The book-keeping system of the finance department has been improved by keeping the fire and water departments separate and distinct from the general, both in collections and disbursements, this meets the requirements of the law to a letter regarding this department, it being the first year in the history of the town that this has been possible although steps had previously been taken which has led up to this. When the audit is complete and all reports are in, no doubt we will have exceeded our budget in the general, to what extent we shall be informed at the annual meeting, suffice it to say that it is no doubt will not be too heavy. The incoming council, wherever they may be, will face the future with a record behind which will be well to emulate.

It is very easy to criticize unjustly, but wholesome criticism is good and we must not hush ourselves to sleep and think that any council is above criticism in some respects. If the citizens indicate an interest in this, the best men will not venture to assume the responsibility of leadership, and those less capable will be called upon to the office, which generally works to the detriment of the community. The incoming council should be made up of three experienced men plus three new ones who can be trained in the work. This always should be kept in mind in the best interests of the town, as there are always better men which are still unemployed by the outgoing council, which must be carefully considered by the incoming one and experience is necessary for their proper solution. The council should also be representative property holders who think well before they spend the people's money. There are a number of economies which the new board should consider, such as the locating of water on the hill and piping it into the reservoir, thus eliminating at least a thousand dollars a year of unnecessary expenditure in the fire and water dept. A patrol system of

SELF-EXPLANATORY

The following quotation taken from a letter from the Growers' Sales Agency, Limited, Winnipeg, which was addressed to a large potato dealer in this section:

"Replying to your wire of the 3rd, and also your favor of the 1st, regarding potatoes, would say that the market is using Minnesota as well as Manitoba's, which are laying in here around seventy to seventy-five cents per bushel and they are having wonderful success with the same."

In view of the foregoing citations coupled with the fact that the railways are doing their share of opening up the market by reason of freight rates to the West, why cannot our Government at Ottawa give us equal advantage with the American producer by bringing up the duty on U. S. importation of potatoes from 20c to 30c per bushel, thus stimulating trade between the East and West which is only fair to the east when it is considered that large quantities of flour are purchased from the West, an equal exchange of products would only be fair.

The following is taken from the Toronto Financial Post, the leading financial paper of Canada:

"The strong plea for protection made by some members of the Cape Breton deputation that waited on the Government recently, is almost certain to have its effect on tariff policy generally. During the last two or three years, the majority of the Liberals from the Maritime provinces have been favourable to making common cause with the Progressives in the tariff. While not prepared to go as far as some of the latter in reducing the tariff, they at least were sympathetic towards the views held by the westerners."

While theoretically these Maritime members may still hold to this attitude, still in practical measures they undoubtedly will be strongly influenced by their colleagues from Nova Scotia. It is generally recognized that unemployment is an unanswerable argument for a change in conditions and will certainly have its effect. So the impression grows stronger that there will not be a further reduction in the tariff for a while.

President Coolidge believed to have presided at International Livestock Exposition in Chicago, decision against reduction in sugar tariff. He said: "The American farmer must not be undersold at home by New Zealand mutton, Argentine beef, Canadian wheat, Danish butter, Bulgarian tobacco, Chinese eggs or Cuban sugar."

How to Purify the Blood

"Fifteen to thirty drops of Extract of Root, commonly called Mother Seltzer's Curative Syrup, may be taken in water with meals and at bedtime, for indigestion, constipation and bad blood. Persistence in this treatment will give an excellent result in nearly every case." Get the genuine at druggists.

our streets should be inaugurated instead of spending so much money each year in the distribution of gravel, conserving at every opportunity.

The watchword of the new council should be one of rigid economy, reducing taxation by balancing our budget, lay aside a sinking fund for a future seavange system, and invite capital to come into our town.

RATEPAYER.

Origin of Dollar

The dollar is, oddly enough, not an American coin; it is a German coin. That is, speaking historically. In the same sense, it is a Spanish coin, and, further, it has made the nearest approach to universal money of the world has known. The story of the dollar is a tale of many times and many lands. Dollars were first minted before Columbus has raised the money to fit out his ships to cross the Atlantic. Quite possibly, when he did raise that money, dollars were included in the contents of the sack. The Chinese trader in Canton knew and handled the big silver carewheels before the Pilgrims had sighted Plymouth Rock. Dollars were 300 years old when Congress adopted them for the national currency of the young United States, 133 years ago, says the New York Times. In the old days, the coin's birthplace, lay for many centuries within the German Empire. To-day Joachimsthal is no longer German. It passed from Germany to Austria more than a century ago, and it became in 1918 a part of the new nation of Czechoslovakia. It is a little old Bohemian hill town a few miles northeast of Carlsbad and a short distance from the Saxon frontier. The inhabitants of the place used, in the Middle Ages, to enrich their lords and masters by mining silver and nickel from the depths of the Erzgebirge. The feudal lord of the valley about 1486 was a certain Count Schlicht. Being supplied with silver bullion from his own mines, he coined money on his own account. Having some distinctly modern ideas, he believed in what people to-day call a standardized product. When he minted a batch of coins, he did not vary the composition of the metal that went into them. Though there might be many broken pewter spoons in the castle treasury, he put an honest amount of silver into every coin. The Count had the further happy idea of turning out a bigger silver coin than most of the other potentates then were striking.

The huge resulting demand must have found the Count wide awake and ready to do business, for in a few years his silver pieces, bearing a likeness of their maker charging in full armor on a caparisoned steed, began to pervade all the markets of Europe. They lost their name in their travels, however, and found a shorter one. People came to call them "Joachimsthalers," and then simply "thalers." These became "dalers" in parts of the Low Countries, "doldres" in Antwerp, and in Spain "dollars." Thus our dollar derives its name from the German word "thal," meaning "valley" or "dale," or "dale," and having no monetary significance whatever. There was no effective trademark law to protect the name. Before long other coiners of money began to pay tribute to the dollar's popularity by turning out dollars of their own. One of these competitors had a peculiar and undesired advantage. This was the Spanish monarch; he had acquired in Peru and Mexico the richest silver mines that the world had ever known. The Spanish colonial mints began early in the sixteenth century to coin silver pieces resembling the Joachimsthaler in weight and shape. These were the pieces of eight, justly popular with the freebooters who later preyed on the Spanish silver fleet. They had about the same quantity of silver as that maintained in the United States silver dollar until after the last war. Their name indicated that they were worth eight Spanish reales. For short, they were usually called pesos in Spanish lands. But elsewhere the name of the dollar clung to them.

The Spanish peso or dollar went everywhere. It worked its way up into the English colonies of North America. These suffered from an insufficiency of currency so great that in Virginia, for example, tobacco by the pound was used in place of cash. Spain, meanwhile, was turning loose a seemingly endless supply of coined silver, and this reached the moneyless portions of the New World. The English colonies, on account of their connection with the Mother Country, reckoned their finances in pounds and shillings, yet a traveller in Connecticut remarked, as early as 1704, that Spanish dollars were commonly used for considerable payments in cash. When Congress issued its paper currency to meet the cost of the Revolutionary War, it issued notes in denominations of the Spanish dollar. Spain thus supplied the standard coin of our first national currency. American continental currency came to grief after the Revolution, but the habit of the dollar grew more firmly fixed. Even so, the pound and the shilling remained the lawful money of Connecticut until 1796, several years after the adoption of the Constitution and the institution of Federal dollar coinage. The rivalry between sterling and the dollar ran high, but in the end the dollar won. It owed its success partly to the anti-English sentiment that followed the War of Independence.

Under various names in a number of countries the Spanish dollar or peso has survived the fall of the Spanish Empire. Many of these countries have, like the United States, provided against the depreciation of silver by changing to the gold basis. The pesos of Argentina and Venezuela and the gourde of Haiti have a value of 96 1/2 cents in our money. The Uruguayan peso is worth $1.03 1/2. Canada's dollar has the same value as the American. So has that of Newfoundland. Perhaps the most curious dollar of the lot, on account of its remote home, is the talari of Abyssinia. It preserves a modified form of the name that originated in Joachimsthal.

BATH

(Too late for last week.)

The Parishes of Kent and Wicklow are again united.

The River St. John has closed in and traffic is moving on the ice.

All the stores have been very busy of late, the Xmas goods are stocked in quantity, not forgetting the quality, and the Xmas spirit is very much in evidence.

A number of children have written to Santa, who never wrote before, and it is understood from headquarters that a large part of his annual distribution of good things, will be forwarded by motor truck and aeroplane, as the old sleigh will not begin to hold his new and up-to-date stock this year, which includes radio equipment.

All our young folks are arriving daily from points south, with every intention of enjoying all the favors of St. Nicholas.

Matthew Bohan is recovering from his illness and is in shape to welcome his daughters, the Misses Bohan from St. John.

The Misses Connors are also home on vacation.

Mr. MacFarlane, our principal, left for Fredericton after school closed.

The Knights of Pythias, the Women's Institute, and the ladies of the Hospital Aid have elected their officers for the next term.

The Knights have instituted another lodge at Juniper.

On Sunday evening, December 21, the young folks of the United Baptist Sunday School gave a program of special music and the usual exercises.

Boardman Wheeler of Wicklow, passed away after a long illness on December 20. The funeral service was conducted on Monday by Rev. G. Wasson with interment at Florenceville.

Perry DeMerchant, while employed in the lumber woods at Kilfoil, had the misfortune last week to badly smash a leg and was sent at once to the Fisher Hospital at Woodstock for surgical care.

The skating rink on the Craig Flat is nearing completion, and is expected to be opened to the public on Xmas eve at the latest.

We notice that the local lumbermen are busy laying in stores for their several camps, therefore it is reasonable to suppose that there will be considerable lumber cut around here this winter.

"Prelude is moving faster also and the prospect for the farmer is somewhat brighter than he at first expected."

T. W. Caldwell, M. P. and Sam Burlock were recently in town and vicinity, interviewing their constituents with an eye to the future.

John Fulton, wife and daughters went to Lowell, Mass., to attend the wedding of Freda Fulton formerly of this place, and will spend the Xmas season as her guest.

Bath has responded to the call for a donation for the inter-provincial home for young women, and other funds have been raised locally.

Newcomb Parker has rented his farm to Herbert Hay.

A VISIT TO THE NEW STORE IN HARTLAND

Have you been in? To those who have not I might say it will be to you a half hour or more of your time well spent to do so. I refer to the store in the Hagerman block, directly across Main street, facing the river bridge, and which is now occupied by the Yexxa-Malone Co. Ltd., grocers and patent medicine dealers, etc. In entering the store I was met by the manager, Mr. Dunphy, whose life-long experience in the business makes it easy for him to talk to you concerning anything in their line. When asked if there was anything I would like to have put up, I replied I had noticed something of a change in the appearance of the windows and came in to find out what was going on. "All right," said Mr. D., "we came to this town with the intention of doing business and are very much pleased with the reception we have received and the very generous patronage granted us since our advent to Hartland. You see," said Mr. Dunphy, "all roads lead to Hartland, and as we are a branch of a large business concern, and being jobbers as well, we will be able to wholesale as well as retail very many of our articles of merchandise. We have a great capacity here for handling goods which can be doubled with very small expense added. We have great reason to congratulate Hartland in having so good an advertising medium as The Observer, which, we believe, reaches nearly every home in the surrounding community." After being shown the Walker Bin show case, the elevator, and rear door entrances and passage way direct to the station, the visitor was constrained to exclaim, "Man, oh man, what a chance to do business." So after shaking hands with the manager and his assistants the pleasant and congenial Harry Carter, and wishing the new venture the success it deserves, and with a parting good day, I took the short cut to the station and was soon speeding towards home.

A VISITOR.

INTERESTING WEDDING AT KNOWLESVILLE

A marriage of unusual interest took place in the Knowlesville Church on Wednesday, December 24, at 8 o'clock in the evening, when William A. son of Edmund W. Spinnery, and Della Evelyn, only daughter of Rowland Kenney (deceased) were united in the bonds of holy matrimony. A large number of friends and well-wishers filled the church in order to witness the ceremony. The bride looked most becoming in a dress of white satin trimmed with lace and wearing satin slippers, and also the conventional wreath and veil trimmed with orange blossoms. She was unattended and carried a prayer book. The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. P. Haigh, rector, who spoke words of counsel to the newly married couple and also to the congregation assembled. Both bride and groom are well-known and highly respected in the district, and have a wide circle of friends. After the ceremony a dainty lunch was served at the home of the bride and the good wishes of admiring friends received. The young couple left on their wedding tour, visiting various towns in Maine, prior to taking up their residence in their new home at New Gloucester, Maine, where Mr. Spinnery has held a position for the past six months.

Here and There

A contract has been let in Alberta for the erection of fifty cottages for Hebrideans who are coming in the spring, on the main line of the Canadian Pacific Railway, between Edmonton and Red Deer, and on the Hardisty line, as far east as Stromer.

The dances, customs and folklore of Old Quebec are still alive and show no signs of decline. Thousands of persons recently witnessed a performance of these at the Monument National, Montreal, and joined heartily in the well-known choruses which have made the picturesque aspect of Quebec world-famous.

The piledriver Tarzan is rapidly nearing completion at the B.C. Marine, Vancouver, B.C., and will be ready for launching soon. This piledriver will be the largest in the world. It is being built for the Sydney Junkins Company for use in the construction of the new pier B-C for the Canadian Pacific Railway.

Erected at the cost of $200,000, one of the handsomest marine terminals of the Canadian Pacific Railway was recently completed at Victoria, B.C. The terminal houses the general offices of the British Columbia Coast Service of the Canadian Pacific. The main building is 122 feet long, 54 feet wide and three storeys high, with a fourth storey erected centrally over the structure.

Russia will never again rival Canada as a wheat exporter, according to L. W. Lyde, Professor of Geography at London (England) University. He believes that grain growing in future lies with the Canadian farmer. Russia cannot properly supply its own needs. Pre-war export of wheat was purely artificial, drawn, not from a natural surplus, but from the needs of a very poor and ignorant peasantry.

A twenty per cent increase in the business over the Dominion Atlantic Railway, serving Nova Scotia, was the approximate summary of the summer's travel recently given by P. G. J. Comeau, General Traffic Agent of the line. This is attributable to the growing appreciation of the beauties of the Annapolis Valley and the charm of the Evangeline county among tourists everywhere.

An extensive programme is being prepared in connection with the winter sports activities of the Chateau Frontenac, the Canadian Pacific Railway's famous hotel at Quebec. E. Des Balleys, newly appointed sports director for the hotel, is planning the formation of the Frontenac Winter Club and the holding of competitions in curling, skiing, ski-joring, skating and other pastimes of the season.

Surprise packets in the shape of crates containing two lions, a male cub and a full grown female, constituted the most interesting shipment handled by the Montreal and Toronto offices of the Dominion Express Co. this year. The animals, exchanged for specimens of Canadian deer, recently arrived from Dublin and were dispatched over Canadian Pacific lines to their destination, the zoological gardens at Toronto. Needless to say, they were carefully handled.

Will Malcolm MacKenzie, who sent in a subscription to The Observer this week, please send his address so that we can credit him with the amount if an old subscriber; if a new one so that we may send the paper to him.

There has come to The Observer office from Rev. W. Burton Morgan, B. A., B. D., rector of St. Mary's Church, Russell, Ontario, a copy of the Church Almanac for 1925. Beside a colored Madonna picture this calendar contains a very nice picture of the Rev. gentleman himself.

Children Keep House

In the nursery of the Canadian Pacific S.S. Montclair. You might be content to lay upon the decks, but the young ones must have something to keep them out of mischief—hence their own special recreation quarter.

Otis Shaw and son, Andrew Shaw, of Florenceville, were in Hartland on Monday delivering an order of fine home grown flour to local merchants. They have first class seed wheat for sale, also which was field inspected and prize awarded.

A quiet wedding took place at the Rectory on the afternoon of Christmas Day, when Mr. Benjamin Stockford and Mrs. Grant were married. Mr. Stockford and his wife are both well known in the district and are receiving the good wishes of their many friends.

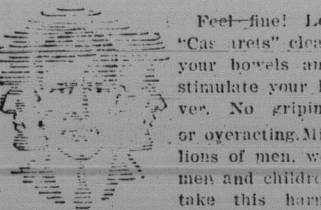

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Rourke and children returned on Monday from Seymour, Conn., where they have been visiting Mrs. Rourke's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Palmer. They also spent a few days in Boston and Portland on their way home.

Card of Thanks

We wish to express our thanks to our neighbors and friends for their many acts of kindness during the illness and death of our mother, and also for the beautiful flowers sent.

Where They Play Golf All the Year Round

Famed for a mild, equable climate, a scenic setting equalled to the choicest English beauty spots, a resemblance which has led to the appellation of "A Little Bit of Old England," and the up-to-dateness of a modern western city has combined to make Victoria, the Evergreen City, one of the principal tourist cities of the North Pacific coast throughout the entire year.

Victoria, which with its suburbs has a population of 60,000, is also the capital of British Columbia, the legislative buildings forming an attractive picture for the new arrival disembarking in the inner harbor.

The city, located on the southeast extremity of Vancouver Island, is practically in the same latitude as Montreal, Toronto, Winnipeg and other eastern cities, yet because of the warm Japan current that fringes British Columbia's coast, Victoria enjoys the year round a climate unsurpassed in the Dominion. The mean temperature in winter is 42 degrees and in summer 61. Coupled with this is an average yearly rainfall of only 27.45 inches, less than half the average precipitation on the adjacent mainland.

With this salubrious climate outdoor sports are possible the entire year, five or six golf courses being available in and around the city.

For the motorist, not only Victoria but the entire Vancouver Island provides drives of varying lengths into a territory that has been named a "Thousand Miles of Wonderland." Greatest of all these is the famous Malahat Mountain drive running north from Victoria and rising to more than 1,250 feet above the sea level, affording a view of sea and mountain unexcelled.

In and around Victoria are sufficient tourist attractions to keep the newcomer busy for many days. These include the Butchart sunken gardens, transformed within the last decade into a veritable fairyland of flowers, shrubs, lawns, roses, waterfalls and lake; the astrophysical observatory, the second largest telescope in the world, and 1,600

TIVEY-FULTON.

Mr. Frank J. Tivey of North Billerica, Mass., and Miss Freda F. Fulton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Fulton of Bath, N. B., were united in marriage Saturday evening at the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. Joseph H. Campbell, 39 Wilder street, Lowell, Mass.

The Episcopal double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Appleton Grannis, rector of St. Anne's church. The bride was attended by her aunt, Mrs. Campbell, as matron of honor, and Miss Bernice D. Fulton, sister of the bride as bridesmaid.

Mr. Herbert Tivey, brother of the bridegroom, was the best man. The ushers were Misses Muriel and Vera Fulton, cousins of the bride, and Messrs. Louis Croft and Ernest Moran of Billerica. The wedding march was played by Miss Gladys Fulton, cousin of the bride, and Mr. Claude Fulton sang "Oh, Promise Me" as the bridegroom.

The bride wore a gown of white georgette crepe and wore a veil caught with orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of white roses. The bridesmaid wore orchid chiffon crepe and carried a bouquet of yellow carnations. The matron of honor wore white satin crepe. The ribbon girls were Miss Nettie Fulton, cousin of the bride, and Miss Pearl Sayball. The former wore a dress of pink crepe, while the latter wore pink crepe de chine. The ring bearers were Phyllis Fulton, sister of the bride, who wore turquoise blue crepe and Mary Sayball, who wore pink crepe de chine. Following the ceremony a reception was held in honor of the bridal couple, refreshments being served by the Catering Company. The couple received many beautiful presents from friends and relatives. Mrs. Tivey has been employed as bookkeeper at the Merrimack Mills Company. She has been in Lowell and Mr. Tivey is an overseer of the Merrimack Mills Company of Lowell, Mass. The happy couple left during the evening for Franklin, where they will reside in the future. Mr. and Mrs. Tivey have a son, Mr. and Mrs. Tivey have a son, Mr. and Mrs. Tivey have a son.

MAYOR McFARLANE BANQUETS COUNCILLORS

A sidewalk on Main street, a building wall 30 feet long, averaging 5 1/2 feet high, 5. Turnpiking and graveling of School and Duff streets and building crossing at Morgan's Corner. Graveling most of streets, 6. A by-law was passed establishing the boundaries of our streets. We have 12 different streets and roads, totaling in length five miles. The placing of 15 small signs and five large signs on these several streets and roads. The Mayor then followed with suggestions of what work to good advantage might still be carried out.

First that a survey might be made back of the reservoir to find out if a supply of water could not be gotten to run into the reservoir to save pumping as he understood it cost $1150 to do the pumping. 2. To build a small lock-up. After discussing this above the Mayor went on to say that having a budget of $10,000 to run the town, his ambition was to make it do something worth while and lasting for the future.

He spoke very optimistically of the future of the town and drew attention to the fine school house we can boast. He closed his address with a plea for fostering more community spirit. He also added that he had a great deal more sympathy for a mayor and council than he ever had before, realizing the difficulties confronting those taking up public work.

He believed all present were his friends and felt that they had given him wholehearted support.

The next toast proposed by the toastmaster was Finance, which was responded to by M. W. White in a very able manner. He opened his remarks by hoping that the year 1925 will see as much improvement in the town as was seen in 1924. He took up the advantages of corporation which was, he said, in a sense not the need of following the preventive rather than the curative method.

Professions was proposed by E. A. Plummer and responded to by C. S. Baker who said he had learned for the first time what his calling in life was. It had been a question of debate, said the speaker, whether banking was a profession or a calling. He had learned tonight it was a profession. He pointed out it was necessary that the public have a clear understanding of the ministry of the bank in the life of the people. He said many times the bank operates along certain lines at a loss to itself, yet gladly does it for the benefit of the public.

A toast was next proposed to Vocational Education by M. W. White and was ably responded to by H. J. Alton who stated that vocational training would mean the particular education for some particular trade, occupation or calling. He pointed out that there had been an amazing loss from our schools, as the higher grades are reached. He said vocational training was trying to do something for this loss. He pointed out that vocational education has made steady progress and the work is still going forward.

Civil Service proposed by E. W. Laskey was responded to by Postmaster J. E. McCollum who traced the department of the postoffice in Grand Falls from early days when the postmaster distributed 15 letters as the total of his day's work. Today with its splendid up-to-date building, a postmaster and two assistants spend many hours in handling the mail of the public. Said the postoffice service had a motto which was to serve others.

He closed with a plea that the public might be more sympathetic to the officials in the difficult tasks that they sometimes have thrust upon them.

The Press was proposed by C. W. McQuarrie and as there was no representative present, and it was growing late, it was decided to let the press speak for itself.

Last but not least Our Home Town was proposed by R. B. Hagerman. This was responded to by E. C. Morgan in a most impressive manner. He started out in a facetious manner but ere long he had brought around with a considerable pathos, the sacredness of our home, of our home people, and of our own home town. He went on to show that there had been a number of very important persons that have taken a very enviable place in the world, one our town as they were born here. Closed by saying that all the great ones had left our town as witnesses, this representative body of men here tonight.
