STRIKE SETTLED. At Triest, Austria-Hungary, the strikers here resumed work yesterday, their demands having been conceded. LABOR TROUBLES ELSEWHERE. The strike situation at Barcelona is becoming more grave. A state of siege has been proclaimed. The printers have tied up all the news-papers, and none of them is appearing. It is estimated that 40,000 men have struck at Barcelona, and serious rioting is reported there. The mob attempted to sack the market buildings, and stopped all street traffic. The factories and shops in the city have been closed. Groups of women, bearing banners, are taking a prominent part in the disturbance. Several battalions of trops are clearing the street. A dispatch from Rome says that at a great meeting of laborers held there it was decided to submit the question of a general strike to the vote of the various labor unions. After the adjournment of the meeting there were several clashes with the troops, and the cavalry finally charged, clearing the streets. During the rioting at Barcelona the troops fired on the mob, killing one person and wounding 24. An unconfirmed telegram received here gives the results of the charging and firing by the troops at 10 killed and 65 wounded.

To Whom His Eminence the Ruler of Persia Took a Strong

Paris, Feb. 18.-Emily Barnaby, a Cincinnati girl, has just arrived here from Tabreez, Persia, after a most extraordinary adventure. She was among a lot of beauties selected here two years ago, by the shah for various offices of his court and sent ahead to Teheran under escort to await his pleasure. Emily then was a destitute student of music and had applied to the recruiting Persian minister upon the advice of a friend, also an American, who had already accepted an engagement. Emily was duly presented to the shah, who gave a short, unintelligible order to his minister, and the latter told her

She left Paris three days later with nine other girls, mostly French, charge of two old English shrews who have been long attached to the shah's household. She remained at Teheran four months before she saw the sovereign, Then the two American girls were unexpectedly summoned at midnight and asked if they could entertain the Shah, who was troubled with sleeplessness. The potentate was found in his bed surrounded by a crowd of attendants, among whom was a physician, who spoke English. Emily's friend played the piano, while Emily sang and danced. The shah, at first languid, soon became interested.

The next day Emily alone was summoned. Before being introduced she was dressed in Oriental gauzes by the same two English shrews, who complimented her on the fact that the Shah had taken a great fancy to her. At the second interview the shah tried to express his fondness too medical men and nurses. warmly and Emily vigorously objected. When she finally broke down and cried, the shah's anger was mollified, and he ordered that she be taken to his apartment, after sending her a considerate message, accompanied with valuable presents. Thereafter she saw the shah almost daily, being his favorite entertainer. She says she learned to like the shah well except when a tender fit seized

Finally the shah grew ugly because of the girl's steadfast refusal to become a member of the royal harem, and she, following the advice of a French physician, ran away from the She hid in Teheran three palace. days, and then the physician's servant took her, disguised and veiled like an Oriental woman, to Tabreez, where she lived secretly with kind French nuns. Four months ago Emily married a French merchant, rich, handsome, and a Catholic convert. But the shah's emissaries finally locating her, she escaped, finding the country unsafe. The young couple joined a Russian caravan, reached the Black Sea, and sailed from Batoum for Marseilles aboard a Greek vessel, which stopped at Trebizond. There Emily's husband went ashore saying he would take such a short stroll. He never returned, and his wife does not know whether he was murdered or had deserted her. Being afraid to risk herself alone in a strange city, she continued her voyage, and finally reached Paris.

She tells the correspondent for the Chronicle she has most of her husband's wealth-jewels, quite a cargo of precious rugs, and more than $1,000,000 in money.

FLOODS IN CAPE COLONY

Result in the Drowning of 25 Persons.

Boer Commandant Kritzinger's Trial Began February 15.

The Boer Mission to the United States Said To Be Going to Arrange for Raising Funds.

Cape Town, Feb. 18 .- Unprecedented floods have occurred in the southwestern portion of Cape Colony, resulting in great destruction of houses, bridges and railroad property. Twenty-five persons have been drowned.

London, Feb. 17 .- The press censor in South Africa is evidently active, as the first intimation that the trial of Commandant Kritzinger, who was captured by Gen. French in December last, had commenced, came from the war secretary, Mr. Brodrick, in the House of Commons this afternoon. The secretary did not volunteer any details, but he informed a questioner that Lord Kitchener would certainly see that the Boer general had every facility for producing witnesses. It developed during Mr. Brodrick's answer that the trial began Feb. 15.

London, Feb. 17 .- A dispatch from General Kitchener to the war office states that during the past week 17 Boers were killed, 5 wounded, 107 captured and 138 surrendered. A number of rifles and a quantity of ammunition and stock were also captured.

THE BOER MISSION.

Paris, Feb. 18.-Dr. Leyds, European dent regarding the object of the mission to the United States of the Boer delegates, Messrs. Wessels and Wolmarens, who sailed for New York, from Boulogne, Feb. 14, on the steamer Rotterdam. He replied that they were merely going to America in response to an invitation from American pro-Boers, with the view of reaching an arrangement for the distribution of funds, and other assistance contributed by the people of the United States towards the Boer cause.

In other quarters the impression obtains that the journey is prompted by the developments of the Anglo-German controversy as to the attitude of the powers previous to the Spanish-American war, which, the members of the Boer delegation believe, has produced a change of sentiment in the United States towards Great Britain, on account of the pro-Spanish action attributed to Lord Pauncefote, the British ambassador at Washington, in April, 1898. The Boers hope to utilize this supposed revulsion of feeling in an endeavor to get the United States Government to modify its attitude towards mediation. A DYNAMITE CAMPAIGN. London, Tuesday, Feb. 18.-A disnatch to the Chronicle from Paris states that there is reason to believe that there is some truth in the recent rumors that an Irish revolutionary committee has been started in Paris to aid the Boer cause, with a dynamite campaign. Funds have already been supplied from sources which are known. The acting chief of the Irish-American committee has just returned from South Africa. A REPORT ON THE CAMPS. Another blue book was issued last night dealing with South African con-centration camps. The reports by Dr. Kendal Franks, who visited the various camps in the Transvaal and Orange Colony, are satisfactory on the Dr. Franks, however, reveals a deplorable state of affairs at the Mafeking camp, which has suffered much from an insufficient supply of Mr. Powell's Measure Re Municipal Coal Yards Sent to Committee.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Toronto, Feb. 17 .- The session this afternoon was short, and remarkable only for a question asked by Mr. John Lee, East Kent, who inquired of the ministry if the government intended making such changes in the arrangement of seats in the legislative chamber as would enable the members in all parts of the house to hear more distinctly the business coming up for

The premier felt that the acoustic properties of the council room were not what they should be, and hinted that something might be done to remedy the deficiency. He held out no hope, however, of any immediate changes being effected.

Mr. Lee said the premier and the leader of the opposition should sit in the middle instead of at southern end of the respective sides. As for himself, he could hear practically nothing of what the chief speakers were saying. He might just as well be standing at the Niagara Falls. The government members had to trust to the Lord and Mr. Ross, and the opposition to Mr.

In answer to a question by Mr. H. Carscallen, Hon. Mr. Dryden, minister of Agriculture, said that there were four inspectors acting under the provisions of the factories act, three males and one female, and that the province was divided into three districts.

Mr. Powell's bill to authorize the establishment of municipal coal yards was opposed by the attorney-general, Hon. J. M. Gibson, who declared that its effect would be far-reaching, and that municipalities might after a while go into the baking and butcher business, or, in fact, into any trade, if they once started in that direction. The bill, however, was sent to committee. Mr. Mutrie's bill to amend the municipal act, so that the cost of constructing sewers should be levied on the districts they served, instead of by frontage, was also sent to the com-mittee, though Mr. Gibson was not sure that it would be an improvement on the present system. A second reading was given Mr. Carscallen's bill to enable corporations employing salaried solicitors to recover the costs in cases, and also to the bill to empower municipalities to revise the park estimates. Mr. Gibson opposed both measures.

aeronauts in the German army, and started to make a short experimental trip in the military balloon, taking Dr. Linke with him. A violent wind was blowing and carried the balloon away. In five hours, when near Antwerp, the balloon collapsed, and was swept across the River Scheldt, just above the masts of the vessels there. An anchor was the River Scheldt, just above the masts of the vessels there. An anchor was thrown out, but the cable broke. The balloon was then driven over the village of Zwyndrecht, followed by an excited crowd, watching the desperate efforts of the aeronauts.

Dr. Linke sprang from the balloon when at a height of fifteen feet.
Capt, von Siegfield tried to do likewise, but became entangled in the ropes and hung by his left foot. The balloon sped on for 200 yards, dragging him head downward. The peasants then secured the balloon with ropes, and found that Von Siegfield's head was shattered and his spine broken.

When catarrh affects the outside or covering skin it is called "eczema." The location of a spot or patch of eczema or skin catarrh may be at most any point covered by integument, by which name the ouside skin is called.

Eczema or catarrh of the integument usually takes a descriptive name from its regional manifestation, as palmar eczema if on the palm of the hand; facial eczema if on the face, etc., these names being extended to each part of the body covered by integument. This is said to be the regional name of eczema.

the skin, showing the catarrhal nature of the disease, just as in a catarrh of a mucous membrane there is an infiltration of its tissues. This fluid with which the eczematous skin is loaded oozes out, and drying on the surface forms scabs, crusts, scales, etc. Thus eczema gets another name, known as its "lesional name," from its external appearance, as "squamous eczema," where it seems covered with scales, etc.

Then eczema takes a third descriptive name, due to its intensity and duration, as: Acute, for a short but very severe attack; sub-acute, for a milder attack, and chronic, for a long drawn out or lingering eczema.

Thus one little patch of eczema may have several descriptive names attached

Thus one little patch of eczema may have several descriptive names attached to it, the regional name, the lesional name, and the name descriptive of its intensity. A patch of scaly eczema on the face might be described as "chronic squamous facial eczema"; and any other patch at any other location might receive as many but different descriptive names. as many but different descriptive flathes.

So it is with catarrh in a mucous membrane or the inside or lining skin. If in the lining of the nose it is called "nasal catarrh"; if in the lining of the tubes through which air is conveyed to the lining of some of the pelvic organs of women it is known as "leucorrhea," or more frequently as "female weakness."

Bear in mind that this is all catarrh, a systemic disease, finding vent in either the outside or covering skin (integument), or the inside or lining skin (mucous membrane), and you will not get confused, but readily see why one remy can cure these seemingly separate

If we can cure catarrh in the system we do away with all manifestations of it. Cure it in the system, and it needs no vent; there is nothing to come out. This is the correct and scientific way of treating catarrh.

For catarrh of the outside skin (eczema); for catarrh of the mucous membrane of the nose (nasal catarrh), necessitating blowing, hawking and spitting; for catarrh in the lining of the eustachian tubes, causing deafness and "head noises"; for catarrh of the windpipes leading to the lungs (bronchitis), giving rise to chronic coughs; for catarrh of the pelvic mucous surfaces, called "leucorrhea" and "female weakness"; for all kinds of catarrh, lurking in any nook or corner of the system, or manifesting or corner of the system, or manifesting itself in any tissue, organ or structure, there is no known remedy that equals Stuart's Catarrh Tablets. The Rev. L. E. Palmer, Baptist clergyman, of Ceresco, Mich., makes a statement of interest to all catarrh and grip sufferers. He says: "Stuart's Catarrh Tablets have certainly been a blessing to me. I have used them freely this fall to me. I have used them freely this fall and winter, and have found them a safe-guard against La Grippe and catarrhal troubles, from which I had suffered for years. Toledo O., Feb. 18.—Mrs. Charles Purdy has returned to Toledo from the Klondike with a fortune. During her four years' residence in the Klondike, besides keeping a boarding house and hotel, she bought and sold claims aggregating millions of dollars, and when she finally came away it was with over $1,000,000 in gold dust!

Purdy went on to Alaska, and from all Purdy went on to Alaska, and from all accounts prospered.

Besides looking after her business interests, she ran a hospital, where hundreds of destitute miners were admitted free of cost. One of her first lucky strikes was a third interest in a claim which she bought for a few hundred dollars, and when she sold out eight months later her net profit was $200,000. She still has large interests in the Klondike, and holds a partnership in half a dozen well paying mines.

TRACKING

Stanley Street Too Narrow to Allow It.

Motion to Initiate Tar Macadam on King Street Adopted by Council.

Tenders for Altering City Hall Will Be Called For, as No One Wants to Buy It-Ald. Cooper's Endeavor to Hamper the City Engineer a Failure.

The city council last night made 60 minutes' business spin out to consume nearly three hours. The proposal to double-track Stanley street was given a solar plexus blow. The city engineer was given entire control of his department, despite the fact that Ald. Cooper lifted up his voice and protested. The King street tar macadam pavement will be advertised on the initiative. Several communications concerning proposed legislation were dealt with summarily and referred to com-mittees. The remainder of the proceedings failed to rise above the dead level of monotony.

The members present were Mayor Beck, Ald. Cooper, Dreaney, Jolly, Mc-Mechan, Campbell, Abram, Winnett, Stevely, Douglass and Beattle, and Acting City Clerk Bell.

COMMUNICATIONS. The following communications were received and dealt with:
W. H. Bartram wrote protesting against the action of the council in fixing certain taxes on the property, 531 Dundas street, owned by L. K.

to city treasurer. The Canadian Manufacturers' Association asked the co-operation of the London council to secure an amend-ment of the municipal act. Referred to No. 1 committee.

Fred H. Crabbe and 23 other residents of Stanley street petitioned against allowing the street railway to lay double tracks or a switch on that street. The matter was laid over till the reading of No. 2 committee's re-

The report of No. 3 committee was carried without discussion or amend-The first three clauses of the report of No. 2 committee passed without discussion. On the fourth clause, providing for application to be made to the Ontario Government for a grant in aid of repairing or remodeling the West London breakwater, and making a permanent structure, Ald. Cooper asked for information, and Ald. Winnett explained that as the city was already spending $1,000 per year on the breakwater, it might as well get the 25 per cent, which the government was willing to grant. The clause carried.

THAT TAR MACADAM, The clause recommending no further action towards constructing a paveratepayers, but that the proposed construction of a bituminous macadam pavement be advertised under the local improvement clauses of the municipal act on the initiative, brought Ald. McMechan to his feet. He moved in amendment that the latter part of the clause be struck out. The people of King street had had tar macadam thrust upon them all last year, they are not going to have it if they can help it. He advocated waiting till the frost is out of the ground so as to learn the condition of the tar macadam on Queen's avenue. Ald. McMechan read the opinion of Engineer Rust, of Toronto, that tar macadam was a good pavement for residential streets only, and said that as King street was subject to heavy traffic the pavement would not be suitable. Ald. Winnett, Dreaney and Cooper spoke strongly in favor of the pave-ment, and urged going on with the work. The amendment lost, Ald. Douglass called for the yeas and nays, which were given as follows: Yeas—Ald. Douglass, Winnett, Mc-

Mechan and Abram-4. Nays—Beattie, Stevely, Jolly, Dreaney, Cooper and Gerry—6. The clause providing for a temporary office in the city hall for the medical health officer, was carried.

NO DOUBLE TRACK. The next clause of the report was as follows: "That the London Street Railway Company be granted permission to lay double tracks on Stanley street, to enable them to operate the Springbank on the south side 8 feet 3 inches. It would be absurd, he said, to allow the additional track to be laid. In the vote which followed, seven voted against the laying of the track, and none voted for it. The matter of

Beattie explained for the infornation of the public generally that, although the city solicitor's opinion was that an anti-spitting by-law would not be legal, that did not imply that the company had not the right to prohibit spitting in their cars. ALD. COOPER AGGRIEVED. Ald. Beattie's motion to give the city engineer entire control of his department during 1902, and to make him responsible for all work and expenditure, as has been done for two years past provoked considerable discussion The most heated remarks were those of Ald. Cooper, who protested warmly

Ald. Stevely, Campbell, Winnett and others expressed themselves as in favor of the motion, citing the success of the system for the past two years. Mayor Beck expressed himself decidedly as being quite in accord with the proposed order of things. He favored the placing of responsibility on the heads of departments, and said that members who endeavored to belittle the idea were laboring under a wrong impression. Hamilton was fol-lowing London's lead in the matter, while Toronto was taking a still more advanced step, in forming an executive board, composed of the city engineers, the city solicitor, the city architect and other heads of depart-

Beaconsfield street was mentioned as an alternative route. In reply to a question from one of the aldermen, Manager Carr said that it would cost about $25,000 to put a street railway bridge across the river on the Wharncliffe road. The Montreal Star, referring to the opening of Parliament and several of the Legislatures exclaims, "Look out for squalls!" Hew so? Who is going to play the baby act in these piping days of Canadian peace, progress and prosperity?

Apples that sold here for 121/2 cents a peck last fall now bring 40c. This is a striking illustration of the profit that might be reaped by the careful cold storage of this fruit, the scarcity of which this winter has caused an enormous increase in its price.

W. F. Maclean, M.P., member for East York in a speech in the House of Commons strongly urged the nationalization of railways. This was his method of keeping them out of the hands of great American capitalists. Mr. Maclean surely cannot find fault with the position taken by Premier Ross and his colleagues, who have promoted the construction of the Temiscamingue and North Shore Railroad to be under Government ownership and control.

Unusual interest in Southwestern Ontario centers around the fact that Mr. Archibald Campbell again occupies his seat in the House of Commons. During his terms of membership for Kent he proved himself a capable representative. His speech, in moving the adoption of the address from the throne, showed a keen grasp of the facts in connection with Canada's progress during the past five years. His remarks were received with such enthusiasm and good cheer from his fellow members, as to prove him a valued member. During the election campaign of West York Mr. Campbell was assisted by Mr. W. S. Calvert, M. P. of West Middlesex, who is the Liberal Principal Grant on Prohibition.

One Conservative journal stated that Principal Grant simply supported the Government on this burning question, and hinted that the motives were interested. That kind of argument does not merit careful consideration. So far as we understand the matter, the principal of Queen's University merely stated what is pretty generally accepted, viz., that the Government, having promised to deal with this matter if it could be shown to be in the power of the Province, they were bound to fulfill that promise: and second, as it is important to have the voice of the people on the question in the actual form in which it can be dealt with now, it should be referred to the people. So far there is very large agreement. But Principal Grant goes further; though he has not yet given his plan for dealing with the liquor traffic, he sets forth an argument which certainly has many facts to support it, namely, that the larger the area embraced by prohibition the more difficult it is to carry it out. A man can prohibit the use of liquor by himself, and that when done for right motives is a noble form of prohibition. Prohibition is strictly observed in a great many families. There are many healthy happy homes where intoxicants are never used. In a township, also, where there is a large ma-Jority it can be pretty well observed. When it comes to a country, or large city, the matter is more difficult; and in the one case where it has been applied to a province it has been a dead failure. This, as we understand it, is in briefest form the Principal's argument. It does not admit that prohibition is successful except over a very small area. This is worth considering, though we suppose that prohibitionists look at it in exactly the opposite manner, and wish to have it tried over the largest possible area, viz., over the whole Dominion. That, however, is plainly impossible; so as the matter is thrust upon our own province, it should be carefully considered on all

Railways vs. Canals.

Those who believe that with the increase of railways would come the end of canals, do not find warrant for their views in the action of the French Chamber of Deputies. That body has just adopted a plan for a series of public works, involving the expenditure of 600,000,000 francs, of which no less a sum than 443,500,000 is for new canals. Probably the most important of these enterprises is the canal for Marseilles. That great and rich city menaced by Genoa, and after the completion of the Simplon tunnel there seems little doubt that much trade will be diverted from France to Itallan ports. To meet this rivalry, a canal from Marseilles to Arles, the Cette Canal, and the improvement of the Rhone Canal will be at once proceeded with. And none too soon, for the Simplon tunnel will be opened within eighteen months. The energy with which the French public men are entering into these enterprises proves that they are fully seized of the value of inland waterways as a check in keeping freight rates on railways down to that which is reasonable. Our own Dominion Government, in energetically magnificent system of inland rivers rived from these judicious expenditures are therefore not to be counted from the increase of traffic on the waters alone, but from the great influence which the existence of alternative routes for the carriage of freight to and from the mighty West has in moderating the duties of the common car-

> Glimpses From Ottawa Gallery.

[Special Correspondence.] Ottawa, Feb. 17.

Apropos of the acceptance of a seat on the Supreme Court Bench, by the Hon. David Mills, old habitues of the House recall with interest the occasion on which Mr. Mills gave one of his first important public addresses, and one which indicated the distinction he was afterwards to achieve. The scene was the riding and town of Bothwell; the year 1867. Our former townsman, Mr. David Glass, of London, was the Conservative candidate, or rather the candidate of the then Coalition Government. Hon, William Macdougall had come up from Ottawa to support Mr. Glass. Mr. Macdougall had joined the Coalition Government as a Liberal; but to the coalition George Brown, Alexander Mackenzie, Archibald McKellar, and other Reformers of the day, were strongly opposed.

Previously to the meeting, Mr. Mc-Dougall privately asked Mr. Mills where he stood in the contest. He said Mr. Glass was running in the interests of the then Government; but if Mr. Mills would promise to give an independent support to the Administration, he would not interfere; if not, Macdougall was there to support Mr. Glass. Mr. Mills said in reply that he was a Liberal, and was in favor of the policy of the Liberal party; that so far as the Government was concerned, there were many members to whom Mr. Macdougall himself had been previously opposed, and in whom he did not place confidence. Mr. Mills said that if the measures of the Government were satisfactory, he would, of course, not oppose such measures, but that he was certain the Conservative element would be dominant, and that he political undercurrents would run much as before.

At the public meeting, Mr. Macdougail attacked Mr. Mills for having been a student and graduate of a Mich-American" in his proclivities. Mr. Mills pointed out in his reply that Mr. Macdougall had been himself very much more Americanized. Mr. Mills laimed to be an English Liberal, of he school of Gladstone and Bright: and that, Canada having adopted the British system, it was important that study should be given to the federal system of the United States, and that Mr. Mills had endeavored to do. Mr. Macdougall, on the other hand, had attended a convention that had derided British parliamentary institutions and praised the superiority of the system of the State of New York.

Up to that time, in the town of Bothwell, feeling rather inclined to subordinate party discussion to the need of the t vn, the oil excitement had egun to wane, and there was a feelng in the town itself in favor of bringing out Mr. Octavius Prince as a canlidate: but the old party divisions vere awakened by the meeting, and all the old Liberals fell into line; so hat the meeting was decidedly in Mr. Mills' favor, and the references made o articles which had appeared in the North American newspaper, a former Toronto journal, in favor of American nstitutions, as against English, and which had also appeared in another Toronto journal during the time Mr. Macdougall was chief writer, made a strong impression against him, and all the Reformers in that section of the country became henceforward active and sympathetic supporters of Mr.

The riding of Bothwell, in that paricular election, consisted of portions of Kent and Lambton. Mr. Glass was defeated by Mr. Mills by a majority of 109. From 1867 till the summer of 896, a period of some thirty years, Mr. Mills continued to represent the onstituency. For one session and a ew weeks of another, however, the seat was illegally occupied by Mr. J. Hawkins. In 1882 the Bothwell ridding was gerrymandered. The townships of Orford and Howard, and the own of Ridgetown, being the section of country in which Mr. Mills resided, were added to the riding of West Elgin: and the township of Chatham and the town of Wallaceburg were to the riding of Both-On a strict party vote this well. change was designed to give his opponent a majority of 300; but a very considerable number of Conservatives, after 1882, always voted for Mr. Mills; so that his opponents did not profit to the extent they anticipated. Patronism, which was wholly American, and anti-British as to its political conceptions, was introduced from the United States, and became a disturbing factor. The P. P. A. organization also obtained a considerable hold on a part of the constituency; but notwithstanding these disturbing influences, Mr. Clancey, in the election of 1896, had only a majority of 58. In reality

he had not a majority at all, as there

> West York was given the place of honor in the debate on the address, the mover being Mr. Archibald Campbell. who captured the seat formerly held by the late Mr. Clarke Wallace. In speaking of the growth of the foreign trade of Canada within a few years, under the Laurier Government, he was able to quote the following astonishing figures: In the five years, under the Conservative regime, from 1891 to 1896, the foreign trade of Canada had grown from $218,384,934 to $239,250,960or nine per cent increase. In the following five Laurier years, from 1896 to 1901, Canada's foreign trade had grown from $239,250,960 to $386,900,000or 61 per cent increase! The Laurier Administration is a Government worth keeping in power.

At the Governor-General's drawingoom, held on Saturday night in the Senate Chamber, among those who attended in full canonical swallow-tail coat, expansive shirt-bosom, white tie. gold studs and white kid gloves, was Mr. Jabel Robinson, M.P. for West Elgin. He certainly looked well. But some critics are after him on the ground that, as a Granger of high degree, and one who has attained his osition partly by denouncing all the lummery and fuss of society and such vanities, and especially, to use one of is phrases, "the kid-gloved gentry," ne has acted inconsistently in listenng to the syren blandishments of ashion. Jabel Robinson's defenders eply, it was meet and proper the Grangers of Ontario should pay their espects to the Governor-General; that wallow-tails and white kid gloves were part of the prescribed costume: and that if a sword dangling between his legs had been also necessary, it would have been Mr. Robinson's ounden duty to rig up equal to the best of them. It is a pretty controersy as it stands. Those who are partly democratic, partly aristocratic, in their leanings, take a middle view. To denounce swallow-tail, and yet to wear one, might, they say, be conloned; but the sight of a horny-handed Granger making obeisance in white kid gloves is calculated, they aver, to cause many a worthy Granger in the gan university, and must therefore be back townships to sit up and wonder where he is at, and what the world is

London and the Middlesexes are well to the fore in the House of Commons. Mr. Hyman has always had many riends at Ottawa, owing partly, no doubt, to his personal acceptability, but also to the fact that London has ever been a place of interest, politically, to the rest of Canada. The Member for London is usually on important committees, and it would create no surprise if the rumor proves correct that he may be made chairman of the Committee on Railways-in some respects the blue ribbon of committee

Then West Middlesex has the presige of being represented by the Chief Whip on the Government side, in the person of Mr. W. S. Calvert, M. P. The position of Chief Whip brings a public man into intimate relations with Ministers on the one hand and nembers on the other; and he has much to do with the smooth working of the legislative machinery. West Middlesex made no mistake when it gave its confidence to Mr. Calvert. As to the representation of South Middlesex, I make bold to say no man in Parliament is more respected than Malcolm McGugan, M.P. He belongs to that rank and file of the House who give important aid in the work of committees, who are listened to with attention whenever they speak, all too seldom, and who give a party solidity and strength years seems to have been chiefly in Manitoba, the Northwest and the Yuof the West; the institutions and ideas of Ontario are carried into the West; the surplus of Ontario's agricultural population goes into the West. This surplus agricultural population would have had to go somewhere, owing to the general use of agricultural machinery on the farm, making it possible now to do the work of the fields with fewer hands than in former times. These people bred in Old Ontario carry with them into the West friendliness to Ontario manufacturers and Ontario wholesalers, and form sentimental and business ties between Older Canada and the newer sections in the West.

Quebec grows by natural increase by looking well after colonization; by large families. The increase of French population is noticeable in Ontario as well as Quebec.

Old Country racial stock has for some years come but sparingly to Canada. Just now ought to be a good time to make a big push for more-Canada being at the moment much in the eye of the heart of the Empire.

The new foreign element is from the European continent, and also from the United States. From European countries recently have come mainly Galicians and Doukhobors. The former have already turned out well, becoining rapidly Canadianized. The latter have been here too short a time for a complete opinion to be formed, but it is believed time only is needed to turn them into useful and dependable citizens.

Citizens of the United States are coming over into Far Western Canada in surprisingly large numbers. They come for various reasons. The best lands of the United States have been taken up. The big wheat crops in Manitoba and the Northwest have been both advertisement and magnet Some wonder what the result of this particular influx may be, nationally. It will be for good. If we give then good government, they will be content; and United States farmer and capitalist equally will be interested in promoting good will and peace between the two countries.

The figures of the census are full of interest. There are substantial reasons for believing the next decennial census, and the next, and the next, will show great expansions of population. Twenty-five years from this date Can-

Toronto, Feb. 18.—The executive of the grand lodge, A. O. U. W., commenced its annual session here yesterday afternoon, preparatory to the general meeting, which opens on Wednesday morn-

If their recommendation is adopted by the convention, members of the A. O. U. WHAT ARE PILES?

Ask Scores of People Who Endure the Wretched Itching. Burning Sensations of Piles and Do Not Know the Nature of Their Disease or the Remedy to Apply.

Piles, or hemorroids, as they are sometimes called, are small tumors, which form in and about the orifice of the rectum. They are caused by an enlarged and inflamed condition of the veins, which are very numerous in this part of the body. Internal piles are situated along the veins which carry blood from the intestines to the liver; external piles, on the veins which surround the rectum.

Piles are of frequent occurrence among people who have a predisposition to rheumatism or gout-persons are subject to constin constipation and to obstruction in the passage of plood from the intestines, the most common cause of piles. Congestion of the rectum, bladder and uterine organs, ovarian tumors and nearly all diseases of the liver are followed by piles, and they are very liable to appear during pregnancy and immediately after child birth. In bleeding piles the hemorrhage is sometimes so profuse as to cause death, but protruding piles are probably more dreaded, because it is be-lieved that nothing short of a surgical operation will cure them. As a rule every form of piles becomes at times acutely inflamed, and extremely painful. The itching and burning usually increases at night, and the misery which many people endure is beyond

The magical power which Dr. Chase's Ointment has over each and every kind of piles gives it mastery over this disease, even in its chronic form, and it is not at all unusual to hear of it curing where cruel, expensive and dangerous operations have

There is no guesswork about Dr. Chase's Ointment as a cure for piles. It has been tried in the crucible of time, and gradually won its way into favor with the medical profession, as well as with the public in general. It has a wonderful soothing and healing effect, and wherever applied to burning, itching, inflamed skin, it affords almost instant relief, cooling the fires of disease and healing the raw, ulcer-

TORONTO SEED MARKET. Toronto, Feb. 17.—The absence of forcign demand and the dullness of the local market makes it difficult to give accurate quotations. Red clover is very dul, and local buyers will not give more than $4.50 to $4.60 for prime to choice. Alsike is in a little better demand, and is selling at outside points at $6.50 to $8. There is no timothy offering locally. A nominal quotation is $2.50 to $3.25. These prices are for average lots at outside points. They would be exceeded for very fine samples, and less would be obtained for lots of low grade.

Messrs. John Shaw & Sons, London, write on Feb. 3 that there is now a fair seasonable business passing in farm seeds seasonable business passing in farm seeds generally. The continued and unpre-cedented advance in white clover constitutes the most interesting feature of the moment. Extreme scarcity of fine seed the world over forms the basis of this remarkable speculative movement, under which values have now reached a point not touched for many years past. Secwhich values have now reached a point not touched for many years past. Secondary qualities of red seed are meanwhile dull and difficult of sale; but for alsike and trefoil there is a steady inquiry on former terms. Perennial and Italian rye grasses realize late rates. The demand for spring tares improves, and at figures favoring holders. Winter and at figures favoring holders. vetches are still wanted. As regards canary seed, although there are numerous and abundant statistical reasons for its getting dearer, this wayward article refuses to advance. White millet of excellent quality is now unusually cheap. Blue peas and haricot beans still move off slowly.

The Brand of Food That Dealers Sell Most of Is the Kind for You to Use.

Careful investigation has disclosed the fact that some of our largest retail grocers keep in stock no less than twenty different brands of breakfast cereals. These grocers catering to the whims and fancies of a varied trade, acknowledge that only four of the twenty brands are good sellers, and that Malt Breakfast Food is the great leader with all casses of the people. The high position attained by Malt Breakfast Food in this country has been acquired in less than eighteen months. This proves most conclusive ly that as a breakfast dish, Malt Breakfast Food is giving entire satisfaction to old and young. The large number of letters of approval that manufacturers receive monthly from every section of the Dominion and Newfoundland telling of improved digestive vigor, stronger nerves, increase n weight and improvement in health, point to the fact that Malt Breakfast Food is a true health food. One trial makes it the favorite breakfast dish. Ask your grocer for it.

Now an Absolute Cure for Rheumatism Has Been Discovered-It Is No Experiment, Having Been Successfully Proven in Many of the Very Worst and Apparently Helpless Cases.

Sundridge, Ont., Feb. 17 .- Physicians and others who study the treatment and cure of disease have been greatly interested in the case of Mr. Wm. Doeg, a farmer living in Strong town-ship about four miles from here. Mr. Doeg had rheumatism so bad as to be a cripple for years and was com-pletely cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills. In order to verify the report he was visited at his home and the following signed statement of the facts secured: "For four years I suffered excruciating torture. I was scarcely an hour free from pain. The trouble commenced in my back where it often remained stationery for months, and so intense was the pain that I could not lie down or take rest, but had to sit night and day in a chair. "The pain would then move to other parts of my body, and when in my knees I was unable to walk and confined constantly to my room. to go about my work which I had not been able to do for over four years. "This was years ago and I have not since had the slightest return of the trouble. I have worked on the farm steadily ever since and have always felt strong and well.

OLD CUSTOMS OFFICER SUSPEND-ED. Buffalo, Feb. 18.—Charles W. Lewis, who for 26 years was employed by the Canadian Government in the customs house at Bridgeburg, Ont., has been suspended, and his dismissal from the service is said to be but a question of a few days. James Lawson, collector of customs for the port of Bridgeburg, says Lewis stole $1,900 in 1901, and that he has probably been misappropriating money at that rate for 20 years. The exact amount of Lewis's records from which the information could be obtained have been destroyed,

TO THOSE OF SEDENTARY OCCU-PATION.—Men who follow sedentary oc-cupations, which deprive them of fresh air and exercise are more prone to dis-orders of the liver and kidneys than those who lead active, outdoor lives. recent sermon, he said:
"In 1901 we found Theodore Roosevelt, 43 years of age, president of the greatest nation on earth, because he knows how to work. He sees that which is noble and good to do, and he does it. President Roosevelt also believes heartily in sport. He is not ashamed to acknowledge that he has hunted every kind of game to be found on this continent. Is this unmanly in the President of the United States? If so it was unmanly in the father of his country, for George Washington was an enthusiastic sportsman. If so, you will have to indict no less an intellec-tual person than Daniel Webster, who could spend all day fishing for trout, and at eve write a letter felicitating himself upon his luck.

totototocotototot But since in my case these considerations came too late, and love had proved himself conqueror, why, it might be asked, did not these two, if they were really in love, do as hundreds of others have done in their place—why did they not honestly make up their minds, poor as they were, to fight the battle of life brayely side, by side, and to hear all bravely side by side, and to bear all things for each other's sake until they had gained what the world calls victory? Yes, but I was living in a dream. I never thought of, nor realized, anything except that I loved and was loved. She had no friends to compel me to think of what was right or wrong wise or foolwhat was right or wrong, wise or fool-ish. There was no one to bring me to a pause with a sudden demand to know what were my "intentions"—that is the right form, I believe—and a man who is blindly in love is not very likely to ask himself his own. Who, indeed, shall give reasons for what he does or does not do n a dream? And what man who really oves ever has "intentions"?

One wet and miserable morning—do I not remember it well?—we had met in the gardens of the Tuilleries, which was an occasional place of rendezvous for us, as for many another pair of lovers. She Was looking marvelously beautiful, even for her; indeed, it is as I saw her then that I like best to think of her, and none the less that her beauty was increased by a slight shadow of sadness—in spite of which she made full amends for the absence of the sun.

Of course I told her so, but did not call a smile to her face. On the contrary, she, instead of heeding my words, gave me her hand to hold and began herself to speak.

"Oh, how shall I tell you what has hannered?" happened?"
Her tone was more than enough to alarm me too much to allow of my doing more than question her silently.
"Miss Raymond has just told me that she leaves Paris. What is to be done?
"That she leaves Paris!" I could only say, with a sinking heart, for I somehow felt a presentiment that this meant the end of my dream—that I must answer her question about what must be done.

"It is only too true. She is going back to England." to England."
Now, if I had been capable of looking forward at all, I should have known that this must have happened sooner or later. But then I had not been capable of looking forward. In my heart I had been fancying that the present was to last for ever; and so the news came upon me like a blow that made my heart stand still. That I must actually have turned That I must actually have turned pale and faint I could read in the sudden look of anxiety that filled her eyes.
"When did you hear this?" was all I could manage to say.

'Do not go. Remain here-be my I daresay that I spoke coldly and quietly; for words are always cold and tame when the heart is full. The tongue has a pride of its own; and when it cannot express all, it prefers to express nothing. But then, when the heart is full to overflowing, there is no need of words. Doubtless my eyes spoke for me —at all events, I looked with so much eagerness of anxiety as to see the "Yes" eagerness of anxiety as to see the "Yes" for which my soul longed hanging upon her lips. But it did not reach my ears. "Why do you wait to answer?" I went on, suddenly and quickly; are we not on, suddenly and quickly; are we not one already, in everything but in name? Surely Miss Raymond has no claim upon you now, when we belong to each other. Tell her, then, that you cannot go with her to England; that you cannot live in one land while your heart is in another. Have you not said so to me many times? As for a year or two of poverty, that shall be our pride! ACTED LIKE A CHARM. Mr. Geo. Grass, South Street, Aylmer, Ont., a stone and brickmason, well known in that town and vicinity, says: "For some fifteen years I have had trouble with my back and kidneys. It arose from my attempting to lift a very heavy stone and straining myself. I have tried all sorts of remedies in the hope of being eured, but obtained very little re-lief. My back would be so bad at times that it was with great pain and difficulty I could straighten up when I arose from my bed in the morning, and I suffered so my bed in the morning, and I surered so much that I had to give up my mason work altogether. I read a good deal about Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets and bought a supply from my druggist.

It is for your sake I ask you; if you wish me to be worthy of you, if you ever wish to be proud of me, you must give me the power, and you must give it now. Did I not tell you that you were my sun? and would you suddenly plunge me into darkness, when you might, with a word, make me all, I swear to you, that even you could wish me to be?"

"To trust you?—for ever! But to wait? No—when there is no need—when you can come to me now. It is you that are not strong enough to trust me? Do you not believe that with you I can do all things—without, nothing? Angelique, I will not lose you, if I can help it, even for a day; for without you, a day would seem eternal. I have asked you for your own sake—I now ask you for mine. Stay with me—do not let us risk the good part of our lives lightly; nothing calls you of our lives lightly; nothing calls you away. Ah, Angelique, what can I say more than that I will live for you for ever—that you shall be proud of me, and that my life is in your hands?"

She had started when I first asked her to remain with me; and during the rest to remain with me; and during the rest of my appeal she had never raised her eyes. Now she gave a deep sigh, and I feit the hand, which I still held closely.

tremble; but instead of saying "Yes," she only answered: "But I must go now." And nothing more than this, in spite of all that I could say, could I obtain from her. Indeed, I must confess that from her. Indeed, I must confess that my own arguments were bad enough in all conscience. I could only promise her a life of poverty, to say the least of it. I could only endow her with the wealth of a future that had as yet given no tangible sign; and I could not justifiably—as any sensible person would hold—ask her to give up her life of comfort and luxury in order to live in some poor garret in the midst of my not very reputable theatrical surroundings, from which it must needs be not a few but a great many years before I could hope to emerge. I, conscious, at least, did not think it; but I must have known in my soul that I was doing wrong. But still. right or wrong for her to leave me and go to a land of which I knew nothing, where anything, for what I knew, might happen—where she might die, where she happen—where she might die, where she might forget me, where she would at least be surrounded by a new atmos-phere, by new scenes, by new faces, worst of all, by new admiration-thought was simply unbearable. She convinced me that it was from no want of affection that she withheld her consent; and our last words were vows of eternal faith and constancy, whatever might happen.
And so the first part of my dream

QUEEN'S DEFEATED MCGILL. The outcome was that Queen's retain the honor of styling themselves champions. The teams played superior hockey, Queen's having the advantage because of combination play in the forward line. McGill men were in splendid condition, whereas some of Queen's men played their first match of the season While many men were injured, the Buffalo, N. Y., Feb. 18 .- Referee Mc-Bride stopped the bout between Tom Couhig, of Dunkirk, and Curley Supples, of Buffalo, before the International A. C., at Fort Erie, last night, after 30 seconds' fighting, in the 17th round, and gave a decision in favor of Couhig. Supples had the better of the argument up to the 13th round, when Couhig put a hard left to the jaw and a right to the stomach, sending Supples to his knees. Couhig continued to play for the stomach with hard rights in the succeeding rounds, and when Supples came up for the 17th round it was evident that he was in distress. Couhie planted a hard left on the jaw and right to the stomach. Supples clinched and refused to break. The referee then stopped the bout and declared Couhig the winner. In the preliminary Warren Zurbeick was given the decision over George Saice at the end of the seventh round. Woodstock, Ont., Feb. 17 .- A remarkable case happened here recently and has caused not a little wonderment. Mrs. Wm. Rowe, of 311 Dundas street had been a sufferer from female weakness of the most stubborn type for over twelve years. Everything that seemed at all likely to help her had been tried, but she got no better Finally she began to read of ladies who had been cured of Female Trouble by Dodd's Kidney Pills. She says "The doctors told me I could never be cured. I had suffered for twelve years and had tried everything with no good result. At last I read of Dodd's Kidney Pills and began a treatment. They completely cured me.

I owe my life and health to Dodd's Kidney Pills, and to nothing else."

Household Necessities.

"I take my pen in hand to inform you of the great cure effected by your medicines. Some time ago my husband was taken down with lung fever. It came on him with a chill in the night. It happened I had a supply of the medicine in the house at the time. I rubbed his chest and back with the Radway's Ready Relief. I gave him a teaspoonful in a little hot water to drink, to help warm and stimulate him, and in about half an hour three of the Radway's Pills. By the time the doctor came the next morning he was much better. The doctor wanted to know what I had been doing. I told him. He said that was good; that they were good medicines. Another ease I had was with my little nephew. He was taken with the croup. I rubbed his chest, throat and back with the Ready Relief, gave him doses about an hour apart, followed it by a dose of pills. By the next day he was about all right. I have been using this medicine, with my family and neighbors, for about thirty years, and never knew it to fail. I would feel gratefully obliged to you to please forward me 'False and True,' for which I inclose stamp. You are at liberty to make use of this testimony as you may think proper. Yours respectfully.

MORRIS-WALKER. A quiet wedding was solemnized yesterday at the Askin Street Methodist Church, when Mr. John Morris, of Ingersoll, was married to Miss Ethel Walker, of Lawrence Station. Several intimate friends were present, and the ceremony was performed by Rev. J. W. Holmes. Subsequent to the cere-mony the couple repaired to the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. A. De Foo, where they partook of a wedding re-past. They left for western points, and will reside in Ingersoll on their MINISTERIAL ALLIANCE.

At the regular meeting of the Ministerial Alliance yesterday, the hospital committee reported that Rev. G. J. A. Thompson, who has been appointed hospital chaplain, would begin his work on the first of March. Mr. Thompson is removing to the city. The last Sunday of May will be observed as hospital Sunday in the city churches, and a special offering will be taken for hospital work. The question of a deliverance by the alliance on the present state of the prohibition question was referred to a committee. The paper of the day was read by Rev. George Bishop, who discussed "How to secure results from the preaching of the Gospel." The discussion which ensued was engaged in by nearly every clergyman present. BORN IN LCNDON TOWNSHIP. Port Huron Times: "The funeral of the late Mrs. Margaret Wilson was largely attended from the residence of her son, George E. Cooley, on South Military street, on Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Wilson was born in London township, May 6, 1841, and was married to Ezra Cooley, Feb. 22, 1866. Five children were born to them, three dying in their infancy. Mr. Cooley died of smallpox in Kimball township in February, 1884. In 1885 Mrs. Cooley was married to Robert Wilson, of Col-umbus township, who, with her sons George and Frank Cooley, her aged mother, four daughters and five sisters, survive her. Mr. and Mrs. Geo. AN INSTRUCTIVE LECTURE. A large number of members of the Woman's Morning Music Club gathered in the Normal School lecture room last evening to hear Principal Merchant speak on "Sound," in general and "Musical Sound" in particular. Mr. Merchant dealt with the matter in a clear and instructive manner. During the evening Mr. Merchant gave several practical experiments. A short musical programme was afterwards furnished by Mrs. Charles Blinn, whose singing so delighted the audience that they insisted on her reappearance. Miss Katherine Moore and Miss Raymond, who gave pleasing instrumental selections. Miss Carling moved a vote of thanks, which was carried unanimous-The evening's entertainment provboth enjoyable and instructive.

A COFFEE SWORD

The Old Things Would "Bob Up."

Are you troubled with eczema, salt rheum, eruptions, boils or running sores? The troubles mentioned are common, and arise from a debility of the nervous system, which leaves the excretory organs so weak that they cannot remove the waste matter, and the noxious particles remain in the system carrying disease, instead of health, to every tissue of the body. For the various unsightly and hor-rible blood and skin diseases, Paine's Celery, Compound is the medicine re-commended and indorsed by our ablest medical practitioners. Its vitalizing, purifying effect upon the blood is un-equaled by any other medicine. Mr. D. McMahon, Peterboro, Ont., writes about this wonderful cure as follows: "I have great pleasure in testifying to the fact that Paine's Celery Compound has caused a remarkable change in my condition. I was troubled with a very bad type of eczema, on my face, and in patches over my body, for four years. I was under treatment of three doctors at different periods, and have also tried many remedies, but all proved useless. At last I bought a bottle of Paine's Celery Compound, and put in Iodide of Potassium, as recommended on the label. The one bottle did me so much good that I bought five bottles more, and now am happy to say that I am perfectly cured and completely free from the troublesome disease."

MISS GERRY DIED

Very general sympathy will be extended to Ald. Gerry and Mrs. Gerry over the great bereavement which came upon them this morning in the death of their fourth daughter, Verbena Pearl. The young lady, who was but 18 years of age, had been ill for a long period. She went to Muskoka last year in the hope that the bracing air of that district would benefit her health, but was compelled to return in a few weeks without having experienced any improvement. Miss Gerry was of a sweet, sunny disposition and her untimely death will cause profound sorrow among all who knew her. Besides her parents, four sisters and three brothers survive. The funeral will take place from her parents' home, 39 Craig street, on Thursday at 2:30 o'clock to Mount Pleasant Cemetery. Services will be conducted at the house at 2 o'clock. Why Remain Unsightly and Disfigured?

Coffee puts its sword into people first one place and then another. You may depend upon it, if you are a coffee drinker, and have ailments in some of the organs of the body, that coffee is doing its work. You may prove whether it is or not by leaving it off for ten days or two weeks, although it often takes from nine months to two years to recover from its effects.

Mr. J. W. Ashby, Mount Airy, N. C., says: "I was a coffee drinker for 25 years. About three years ago I suffered greatly with pains in the region of my heart and the pit of my stom-These pains appeared about the same time each day.
"I wondered if coffee might not be the fault, so began the test of leaving off coffee. The pains ceased, but when I began to use coffee again the same old pains would 'bob up.' I have now been using Postum for some time in place of coffee and am entirely cured of the old neuralgia of the stomach and heart. Respectfully."

Michael McMullen read in the newspapers of South American Kidney Cure, and when doctors tried hard and had failed to cure him, he, with the faith of a prophet commenced the use of this greatest of Kidney Specifics. In his own words:
"Gravel and Kidney Disease had been the bane of my life for eight years. Thanks to South American Kidney Cure to-day I am a well man. I wish I could have every kidney sufferer within the sound of my voice for long enough to tell it."

PREACHED ON PROHIBITION

The Parnell-Dean Steam Baking Rev. Dr. Sowerby Expressed Very Strong Opinions.

> Says Premier Would Have Achieved Triumph Had He Listened to Prohibitionists.

Sunday evening the Talbot Street Baptist Church was literally packed to overflowing to hear the Rev. Dr. Sowerby on "Prohibition and the Coming Vote." The vestibule, gallery stairs every available space for a chair, were occupied. The speaker took for his text, Esther, i., 8: "And the drinking was according to the law." In his introduction he gave his audience a peep at the social, political and moral status of Ancient Persia, and in doing so called their attention to the fact that the liquor traffic was in that day a legalized thing. He called attention to the great strides made by the world in discovery, science, invention, art, Ladies' education, etc., and then remarked that it had been really at a standstill in one gross particular; that Canadians are no further on in this direction than they were in Persia 2,500 years ago; that our governments to-day, for a consideration of money, li-cense that which is a bane to any country, and a curse to society. He called attention to the city police court as to its patrons and method of surdity. Dr. Sowerby then proceeded to say that it was the duty of all true citizens to say that it shall not be a legalized traffic. It should not be a question of party politics, nor should it be a mere question of wanting or not wanting prohibition, but supremely the welfare of the country.

"Two plebiscites have been already taken," said he; "why do we need unother? Will you answer?" "There are various reasons." continued the speaker, "why we should vote against liquor, including domestic, financial, moral and spiritual; the drinking man cannot provide for his family, pay his bills, and keep his wife and children from tears and rags. With the prohibition of this traffic, hard times will cease, as the huge disparity between the cost of controlling this traffic and the revenue clearly shows there would be a difference of at least $30,000,000 for bread, coal, etc. Then there is no greater source of immorality than this business, as our own city papers go to show. The computation tables of insurance companies show that the death rate is shockingly increased, and the Bible is very plain on the fact that no drunkard can enter heaven; yet we license this evil There is an awful responsibility resting upon every man, and Pilate cannot wash his hands, and say he will have nothing to do with it. This dirt cannot be washed off. You must take a "Prohibition does prohibit. If not, Fourth Daughter of Ald. and Mrs. Gerry tem? 1. Because prohibition does prohibit. 2. Because they would have you hibit. 2. Because they would have you be a partner in the business by casting your ballot in its favor.

"I maintain that no government, no individual, has any right to license an evil. Is prohibition wrong? What a mistake God made when he passed his prohibitory law on Mount Sinai, and sent it to the people by the hands of his prime minister! He did not demand a referendum. He passed his bill because it was for the good of his people.
"If the premier of this province would stand by such a measure, and even go down with it, it would be the most glorious triumph of his life. He would not remain down longer than the life of one parliament, because the people of this fair land would rally around him, and place him in the high-est position of trust. I am opposed to the referendum, and particularly to this one. If I were the premier of Ontario, I could pass the bill, and then easily defeat it by the terms of the referendum. It is simply a matter of simple arithmetic. "Let us stand by our guns and fight for the right; the country is not for the government, but the government for the country."

Much interest was manifest throughout the sermon. Before Dr. Sowerby left the church Sunday evening invita-
