The Law of Love. 2 KINGS, 4: 3.

Pour forth the oil-pour boldly forth ; It will not fail, until Thou failest vessels to provide Which it may largely fill,

Make channels for the streams of love, Where they may broadly run; And love has overflowing streams, To fill them every one.

But if at any time we cease Such channels to provide, The very founts of love for us Will soon be parched and dried.

For we must share, if we would keep That blessing from above ; Ceasing to give, we cease to have: Such is the law of love. -R. C. TRENCH.

Union Without Uniformity.

The different evangelical churches of the 19th century, uniting in the worship of God. are showing to the world that all who are in Christ Jesus are one in love to him and to erch other, and one in effort for the salvation of sinners, though they differ in minor visibility to the fact that there can be union Church of God is evidently one in all ages and places. Prospect of Establishing Christianity in Japan.

Rev. B. Jenkins writes to the Board from Shanghai, July 26, an interesting letter. He had just returned from a trip to Nippone, or he Japanese Empire:-

Accordingly, on the 15th June, (Wednesday,) by the advice of our colleagues, we embarked in the ship Mary and Louisa, o New York, for Japan. It took us till Satur day evening, the 18th, to get down the Yang-tsz river as far as the light ship, a dis Saturday evening we took our departure from the light-ship on the shores of China, while the unseen current had added two miles more every hour to her velocity, and the distance between the shores of the tw great Asiatic empires of China and Japanour hundred and twenty miles, was run over in the short space of thirty hours Not long after midnight, I well knew, from the con fused noise on deck, that we were somewha too close to land, and, hastening on deck found we were on a lee shore, so close tha a stone might be thrown against the land and then there were breakers ahead. The crew were huddled together, and so affright ed that they could scarcely obey orders The captain was cool, and instantly order ing on the mainsail, which for some time had been furled, and taking himself the helm, our gallant little ship darted past the jutting headland, while we all looked, trembling, at the huge rolling surf as it dashed turiously against the lofty and steep cliff, which promised us no deliverance if, perchance, we passed but a few feet nearer to it. For an instant there was relief; but then the breakers ahead are even worse than the danger passed. The captain gives up the heim, and hastens to the fore-rigging.

" Keep her away a point or two!" he cries; and in a few minutes we are scudding pass on the lee-side of the foaming breakers. The deliverance seems almost mircaulous; and again you hear the cheerful voices of all hands running over our hairbreadth escape. I speedily went below, not to hurry my wife ing a beautiful union among the Christians on deck to face the surging lash of the deep waves against the bold shore, nor the das union which has evinced itself to be genuine by its fruits of Christian concord (cilographia) the sunken rock, but to tell her of our pro and sympathy; and it is to these Christian the sunken rock, but to tell ner of our problems observing the same outward ceremonies, graces, as shown in this town, that I wish graces, and to quiet her with the assurance to draw the attention of your readers, in the that ere long, through their endeavors, in the that we are now standing out to sea again, away from the stormbeaten coast of Japan. For three days we beat up to windward, in order to weather Cape Gotto, and although it is but sixty miles off, we find it hard work penberg, at the mouth of the entrance to the that port, with Commissioner Townsend

Two large Russian gun boats, or rather three masted schooners propelled by steam screws, pass us by, bound over to the shores of China

About noon we dropped anchor in the Western part of Japan called Nagasaki, from which all foreigners except the Dutch have been excluded for more than two hundred years. We dropped anchor now amidst a fleet of more than twenty sail of foreign Walsh, was a fellow passenger with us, and Mobile and Tuskegee, Chunnenuggee Ridge and Savannah, and many other spots from Massachusetts to Louisiana. Mr. Waleh is one of the very first to establish an American bouse for trade in Japan, and is sure to get rich. But there is another American residing for a short time in Nagasaki, and his object is not the wealth of this world. I refer to the Rov. Mr. Liggies, of the American Protestant Episcopal Church. He had been for a year in China as a missionary; and had been of Parliament! What, in the name of to obtain a building for a residence near a October 15. Buddhistic temple, elevated above the heat use we could of the occasion to acquire information regarding missionary prospects in Japan. We feel grateful to Mr. Liggins for his polite attentions and hospitality, and regard him as a gentleman well fitted for he exceedingly delicate position he occupies-requiring as it does an uncomm share of prudence and perseverance.

We find, in the first place, a more perfect system of espionage exercised by an almost omniscient government: and there be one subject more than another which they are averse to have brought before their people, it is the subject of Christianity. I am informed that, until a few years past, the Dutch, who alone were permitted among Western nations to hold tercourse with Japan, were required, on mitted to go through the streets of Nagasaki, trample publicly on the cross, as an evidence of their hatred of that symbol. The Dutch, too, had assisted the Japanese, in the early part of the seventeenth century, to massacre the few Portugese who remained alive in Japan. Some allowance should b made for the spirit of the age, and the uncompromising character of the professors the Romish faith; yet Protestantism mu with difficulty wipe away this foul blot. The position of the Dutch in Japan from 1639 to 1859 was little better than that prisoners. Confined in the little Desima, which was a mud-flat of a few acres, in the harbour of Nagasaki, walled round and filled in, so as to be above high-water-mark, there they contentedly abade for two centuries, for the miserab privilege of loading a few vessels annually with silks and crapes, copper and porcelain lacquerware and curios, and having no optunity of going off their islet, except of ew occasions when a commissioner was per mitted to go safely guarded, with a handful f followers, to the Capitol of Yeddo, to take the tribute of the King of Holland, and lay tat the feet of the Emperor. One valuable purpose it served, however, and that was, to how little Asiatic nations will grant until they are persuaded that Western nations have both the power and the will compel them to relax their grasp.

Britain's supremacy upon the ocean is all important. The local position we occupy, and the Had Mr. Colvin not passed at the time he did, colonies we possess, which are scattered throughout the world, and to which the sea is the great pathway, compel us to appreciate the urgent machine we have of ruling the waves. No other people have the same forcible reasons to urge to ntering into competition with us on that element, which is emphatically our own.

England won the position she now occupie after centuries of slow, but progressive, advance nent, and finds that, after reaching the highest innacle, the struggle to maintain her position more severe than ever it was to gain it. New rivals are entering on the field; and old ones were placed on a platform car. The chief reason of this state of things is, that France is anxious to manufacture sailors, and thus to have a large supply at any time in the event of war breaking out with any power; and she legislates with studied partiality to attain this object. Gentlemon,—I confess to have entertained a prejudice against Melodeons before having heard your instruments. But, by your new method of voicing, the monotonous, droning, buzzing sound, has been entirely cured, and in place of it a pure organ-line tone substituted. The action is prompt, and the tuning is really perfect. If your Melodeons receive the patronage they merit, they must come into very general use.

HAS the pleasure of informing the public, that his purchases for the Fall and Winter Trade are now completed, and that his Stock of DRY GOODS, SOOTS and SHOES, Stationbest thing I could do, which I did with no enec. I then made use of "which proved inefficient.

By this time my symptoms were pain in the head, morning, evening, and during the night, darting pains through the chest, burning in the palms of the hands, quick pulse, night ewests, difficulty of breathing etc., when fortunately I get hold of the "People's Pamphlet," in which I have the cases of Messra Blinn, Cone, and others, which induced me to try Perry Davis' Vegetable Pain Killer, and strange as it may appear, I derived more bonefit from the use of one twenty-five cent bottle than I had done from all other medicines. I have used four bottles of the Pain Killer, and am hearty and enjoy better health than I have heretofore done for a number of years. ery, &c., will compare favourably as to variety, quality and cheapaess with any in the market.

Scrofula, or King's Evil. is a constitutional disease, a corruption of the blood, by which this fluid becomes vitinted, weak, and poor. Being in the circulation, it pervades the whole body, and may burst out in disease on any part of it. No organ is free from its attacks, nor is there one which it may not destroy. The scrofulous taint is variously caused by mercurial disease, low living, disordered or unhealthy food, impure sir, fifth and filthy habits, the depressing vices, and, above all, by the venerual infection. Whatever be its origin, it is hereditary in the constitution, descending "from parents to children unto the third and fourth generation;" indeed, it seems to be the rod of Him who says, "I will visit the iniquities of the fathers upon their children." be the rod of Him who says, "I will visit the iniquities of the fathers upon their children."

Its effects commence by deposition from the blood of corrupt or nicerous matter, which, in the lungs, liver, and internal organs, is termed tubercles; in the glands, swellings; and on the surface, cruptions or sores. This foul corruption, which genders in the blood, depresses the energica of life, so that scrofulous constitutions not only suffer from scrofulous complaints, but they have far less power to withstand the attacks of other diseases; consequently, vast numbers perish by disorders which, although not scrofulous in their nature, are still rendered fotal by this taint in the system. Most of the consumption which decimates the human family has its origin directly in this scrofulous contamination; and many destructive diseases of the liver, kidneys, brain, and, indeed, of all the organs, arise from or are aggravated by the same cause. indneys, brain, and, indeed, of all the orgains, arise from or are aggravated by the same cause.

One quarter of all our people are scrofulous; their persons are invaded by this lurking infection, and their health is undermined by it. To cleanse it from the system we must renovate the blood by an alternitive medicine, and invigorate it by healthy food and exercise. Such a medicine we exercise in
