TWENTY-FIRST ANNUAL REPORT

OF THE

Colonial Church and School Society.

The Corresponding Committee have pleasure in presenting their Twenty-first Report of the work of the Society, in the Diocese of Montreal, inasmuch as each department seems to be fulfilling the design of the Society: promoting the glory of God and the spread of the Gospel.

The schools foster a love for the Word of God, by bringing the teachings of the Bible, in their mercy and love, before the minds of the teachers and the pupils, and the effect of this course is always visible, at the close of the Session, in the improved behaviour of those who have during the Session for the first time joined the schools.

The struggle in the Dominion, in the matter of education, will evidently be of a three-fold character, but chiefly between those who contend for a purely secular education, leaving religious teaching to the several Pastors—in other words leaving religion to take its chance, with a large number of the children—and those who contend for a purely denominational education, under the special charge of the clergy.

The third party is small but zealous, and determined to contend for a national education with the religion of the Bible as its basis and pervading all its superstructures.

The friends of the Bible will need to watch and work and pray.

ST. JOSEPH'S SUBURBS MISSION.

This has now become "the Rectory of St. Jude's," in charge of the Rev. A. Ramsay Macduff, who in zeal and faithfulness has already taken a prominent place amongst the clergy of the city. Mr. Macduff has during the past year held two full services in the Church, and a service in the Hospital on Sunday, besides opening the Sunday School. And in the week has organised various meetings held in the new school-room of the Church, and opened a Mission service on Thursday evening, in a school-room two miles further out.

This is a very satisfactory termination of the connection of the Society with this Mission. And the St. George's Young Men's Christian Association and the Society yield up their completed work, whose foundation they laid together, in the name of God, with deep gratitude for his prospering blessing.

The name of Mr. H. J. Mudge, the Superintendent of the Sunday School in this Mission, must ever be associated with its success.

HOSPITAL.

The Rev. A. R. Macduff's report will show the nature of the work in the Hospital; his connection therewith closed on the 1st January, 1874, and will be assumed by the Rev. J. G. Baylis, forthwith:

I entered on my duties as Chaplain to the Montreal General Hospital on the 8th of June last, and from that date until the 31st of December, held a Litany service every Sunday afternoon, and also a service on the afternoon of Christmas day. The attendance averaged about 20, although in the summer time, when many sailors were in Hospital, the numbers were greater. As a rule I went through the Women's wards every Wednesday afternoon, and the Men's wards every Saturday afternoon. The duties of my own Parish have made it necessary for me to resign my post at the Hospital, but I cannot do so without referring to the happiness of the work and also to its great importance, at the same time bearing testimony to the hearty co-operation and sympathy always extended to me by the officials and authorities of the Hospital. One of the visiting Governors was very kind in inviting patients to attend my service; while the Matron and House Steward assisted me in every possible way.

THE MODEL SCHOOLS AND INFANT SCHOOL,

NUMBERS FOR THE YEAR 1873:

The Committee have great pleasure in recognizing Principal Hicks' continued and gratuitous aid in watching over these schools, and append his full report:—

PRINCIPAL HICKS' REPORT.

At the close of another year the duty devolves upon me of presenting the Annual Report of the Schools of the Colonial Church and School Society which have been so long maintained in Montreal, now more than twenty years. I am glad to be able to state that, although much smaller in numbers at the present time than they were years ago, they still continue to be carried on with efficiency, and are doing a good work in training a considerable number of pupils for those duties which, in the ordinary course of time, they will be called upon to fulfil.

Since my last Report changes have been made in these schools which circumstances required, and every means have been taken that these may ultimately result in benefit to those who may be placed under our instruction.

Mr. Kneeland, who had charge of the Boys' School during the last year, resigned his post at the end of the period for which he was engaged, and at the present time is in the Normal School preparing himself for a higher diploma. During the time he had charge of the Boys' department he faithfully discharged his duty, and only left his situation that he might by study advance himself in his profession. The progress of education in Montreal has of late years opened to teachers situations which give an excellent remuneration for their services, and our intelligent young men are desirous of fitting themselves for these by the necessary course of study and training. After Mr. Kneeland left it became a matter for consideration whether the work of the schools might not be carried on without a male teacher. The great majority of the scholars in the Boys' department were very young, and easily managed, and it was decided, after carefully weighing all the circumstances, that it would be advisable to increase the staff of female teachers, to mix the older children of the Infants School with the younger scholars of the Boys' department, and in this way make a preparatory Boys' School, which might be easily carried on by a lady teacher. This arrangement has been carried out, and we have every reason to be satisfied with the result. We have consequently now in our schools two departments: the Girls' School, which was established when we began our work twenty years ago, and a preparatory Boys' School for children from seven years of age to nine; the whole under the superintendance of Miss Thornber.

The Girls' School, to which Miss Thornber's care is more especially directed, is in a very satisfactory condition. Last year two of the scholars of the school succeeded in obtaining diplomas from the McGill Normal School, and their names may be added to a long list of teachers who have been successfully prepared in the same department for the teaching profession.

I have in former Reports spoken highly of the efficiency of Miss Thornber as a teacher, and the past has borne ample testimony to her fitness for the position she occupies. Miss Thornber was, at one time, a scholar in our Girls' School, was subsequently trained at the McGill Normal School, and since then has had some years of experience. Miss Hicks, whose care is mainly directed to the preparatory department for boys, is a trained teacher, and holds a Model School diploma from the McGill Normal School. She has had considerable practice in teaching, and the progress of the part of the school allotted to her care this Session has been in every respect satisfactory.

Miss McGarry and Miss Gaillard are the two assistants of the Schools; the former chiefly aiding in the Girls' department, and Miss Gaillard giving instruction in French to the whole of the scholars. I can speak in high terms of these young ladies. They have each a diploma from the Normal School, and have been regularly prepared for their duties.

The French language is now taught in all our English schools; and, indeed, there seems to be a desire on the part of the whole English-speaking population of Canada to give their children an opportunity of acquiring a language which is the mother tongue of so many in the Province of Quebec. I have had many opportunities of judging of the success of Miss Gaillard in her specialty, and I am sure she deserves all that may be said in her favor.

Although we have to some extent changed the arrangements of our school, there is one subject which in this respect we have not interfered with, and which we still consider the most important of all, and that is the religious instruction of our pupils.

Every Monday morning the school is opened with prayer by Dr. Bond, our Superintendent, the whole of the scholars being collected in one of our large rooms, and directly after a Bible lesson is given by the same gentleman, which is carefully prepared in order that it may reach the minds of our pupils from the youngest to the oldest. This is a feature in our course of instruction which especially distinguishes our school, which has been carried on from the time when we first began our work, and which I trust has been spiritually beneficial to those who have been under our care and guidance. I have been present at most of the Bible lessons, and have been much gratified by the attention of our pupils to instruction in those truths which are powerful to make them wise unto salvation.

The teachers of the school are still assisted in their work by the daily attendance of the Normal School students, and the progress of these young persons is materially advanced by that practice in teaching for which these schools were originally established. Since the opening of the Normal School, now nearly seventeen years, several hundreds of teachers in training have attended these schools for the purpose of fitting themselves for the teaching profession, and many of these, there is no doubt, reflect with pleasure on the benefit they received from the direction and counsel of our teachers. This should not be forgotten when estimating the advantages resulting from the Society's schools in Canada.

In my last report I called attention to the fact that twenty years had elapsed since the opening of our schools, and now another year is to be added to the number. This is a long period when devoted to any purpose, and it ought to produce results in due proportion to its length, and the extent of the means which have been used to obtain that purpose.

Let us hope that in this respect no one connected with these schools may be afraid to give an account of his stewardship! Our success has to a great extent depended upon our meeting with those to aid us who were possessed with that missionary spirit which the Society is so anxious to find in its agents. As far as this is concerned we have been highly favored.

To the devotedness of our Superintendent, the Very Rev. Dean Bond, we must also attribute our ability to carry out the views of the Parent Society when we began our work in education in this Province, and even at the present, when his daily duties leaves little time at his disposal, he still sets apart a portion for the benefit of our pupils. In connection with this, it must also be observed, as bearing upon the work of education which the Society was the first to begin here, that the pupils of the McGill Normal School belonging to the Church of England receive weekly religious instruction from our Superintendent—an arrangement which he has invariably carried out since the opening of that Institution.

In conclusion, I must again express my gratification at being enabled still to aid to some extent the Society's Schools in Canada, and I feel assured that our friends both in England and elsewhere will be pleased to hear that the schools in this Province, supported by the Society's aid, whether in the city or country, are conducted by teachers devoted to their profession, fully aware of the importance of the work they have to do, and above all, anxious for the spiritual welfare of those entrusted to their daily care and instruction.

NORMAL SCHOOL.

The Corresponding Committee, through their Secretary, have the right to give religious instruction in this school to the students belonging to the Church of England, and he has to report a most satisfactory class, well attended, and very intelligent.

The McGill Normal School is one of the most effective instruments in this Province for the promotion of general education. And the Institution has benefited greatly by Principal Hicks' long experience in education.

The students this year number 115, of which 32 are members of the Church of England.

COUNTRY SCHOOLS.

The country schools number 18, and contain 810 scholars. The schedule, with a few extracts from letters, will give an idea of the work of the Society in this part of the field.

From a Clergyman :—

Our school continues to give general satisfaction, and meets a want in our community not otherwise to be supplied. Miss S. has proved herself a thoroughly competent and successful teacher, and it is with great regret we part with her, now that she has finished her engagement, and is leaving us. I am afraid we shall have a struggle to keep up our school, as one of its best friends and most liberal supporters is about to remove to Montreal with his young family. A large convent is being erected in this village, and I have no doubt great inducements will be held out to induce the attendance of our young girls. But I trust we shall still be able to keep up our school, and that the Society will not refuse us the liberal aid we have hitherto enjoyed.

From another Clergyman :—

I visited and examined the school to-day, found the scholars making good progress in reading, spelling and writing. The teacher gives very much satisfaction to the parents.

From an experienced Schoolmaster :—

Sunday-school is taught during summer, but not in winter. An effort is now being made to purchase school apparatus. I trust it will succeed.

From the Clergyman :—

The School at Berthier continues its work of good. The presence of pupils from French Parishes in remote parts of this Province is a marked feature as heretofore; fifty-seven young persons have come under the teaching and influence of the School during the last year.

BIBLE WOMAN'S MISSION.

The Committee have to report that they have lost the valuable services of Mrs. Laughlin, who has for some years been specially engaged in this Mission. In July last Mrs. Laughlin was appointed Matron to the House of Industry and Refuge in this city, and resigned her position as Bible woman to take this post.

Her Report, extending from 1st January to the end of July, shews that, in visiting the sick, finding strangers, and reading the Gospel from house to house, she has worked with her usual faithfulness and efficiency.

Following are some extracts from her Report :

Jan. 7.—Called upon Mrs. D. and Mrs. G. The latter is in very trying circumstances; her husband is not all that he ought to be, his evil practices are the cause of a great deal of trouble in the house.

Called upon Mrs. McK. and upon Mrs. E. The children of the latter have had the scarlet fever but they are getting better. She is ill with fatigue.

Jan. 8.—Called upon Mrs. F., she was ill with a severe cold; her husband is out of work.

Called upon Mrs. K., her husband intends to become a temperance man now that New Year is over.

Called upon Mrs. S., poor old woman she is looking very feeble and is full of complaints.

Jan. 9.—Called upon Mrs. S. and Mrs. H. The latter is very ill. I was able to say very little to her about her soul, she was so anxious to tell me about the ailments of her body.

Jan. 10.—Called upon Mrs. W., she said she was unable to get to Church, her babe requires all her attention.

Called upon Mrs. M. It takes all her husband earns to pay taxes and other expenses upon his house, so that they are unable to get clothes to come to Church.

Visited Mrs. C., some of her children are sick.

Jan. 16.—Called upon Mrs. W., she had got into some trouble by being in bad company. She told me she felt quite ashamed of herself. She paid dear for her experience.

Called upon Mrs. M., she was busy as usual. I left her some tracts, reminding her at the same time not to forget the one thing needful.

Called upon Mrs. C. I saw her poor old father, he had not the least recollection that he ever saw me before; he is so deaf it is very difficult to talk to him.

Saw Mrs. B., she is in bad health, her life is a very sad one; her youthful folly has embittered the rest of her life.

Jan. 20.—Called upon Mrs. H., she was very ill to-day, she endeavored to talk, I requested her not to do so. I represented the hopelessness of a sinner out of Christ, and the necessity of having our hope fixed upon a sure foundation. Read and prayed with her.

Feb. 3.—I attended the district meeting and called upon several families. I found that Mrs. S.'s husband had been very ill, but was better again.

Feb. 5.—Attended the Dorcas meeting and visited several families. I found Mrs. B. evidently sinking; her eldest boy suffering from neuralgia, the youngest threatened with blindness. I remarked that these afflictions did not rise out of the dust, God had an end to accomplish.

Feb. 15.—Called upon several. I found M. more calm to-day. Told her that her bereavement, though a very sad one, may be made a great blessing if she only prayed to God to sanctify it to her. Told her that she, being the oldest sister, should seek to exert a good influence over the rest of the family; she promised she would attend Sunday School regularly as soon as she got her mourning.

Feb. 17.—Called upon several families. Mrs. L. is in very poor health. I urged upon her the necessity of being born again; to live well is to die well; it is a great mistake to neglect your soul's interests until you think you are dying.

Feb. 25.—Called upon several families and attended the Dorcas.

Called upon Mrs. C., her eldest son is in the last stage of consumption. He was very attentive while I read and explained the Word. He told me he was resting his soul on Jesus.

Mrs. B. is very unwell, I am afraid her sickness will be unto death.

Feb. 27.—Called upon Mrs. R., she is very poorly; she spoke with warmth of Mrs. F.'s attention and kindness.

March. 4.—Attended the District meeting and called upon several families. Mrs. W. is very ill, she appears to be a good woman, but has a bad husband.

I found Mrs. B. very weak. I called upon Mrs. M., and asked her to do what she could for this poor sick creature, she promised she would.

March 17.—Called upon several families; Mrs. B. is getting worse. She was very much pleased when I asked her to let the young men have a room to hold a service in her house.

Called on Mrs. M., she is very poorly since her confinement ; she does not appear to have any thought beyond her present comfort.

I found Mr. T. at home ill with rheumatism. Like many others, his only thought seems to be what shall I eat, wherewithal shall I be clothed.

CONCLUSION.

With this Report Dean Bond closes his connection with the Corresponding Committee as their Secretary, and the Rev. J. G. Baylis assumes the post.

The late Secretary wishes to put on record his sense of the cordial and long continued support invariably afforded him, by money and prayer, on the part of the Corresponding Committee, enabling him to mature a system of education which has gradually borne fruit throughout the Diocese ; and now, in taking leave of the Committee as their Secretary, he solicits for Mr. Baylis the same support, convinced that they will find in Mr. Baylis one who will zealously watch over and work the institutions of the Society.
