CHAPTER XX.

Annabel's suspense at the house-keeper's address was so great that it overpowered indignation and left her mute. It was as if a curtain which kept her blind had suddenly been snatched away, letting in welcome light. Was it possible, she asked herself, that such a mistake could have grown while she was unaware? Could the secret fondness she felt for this unacknowledged son have been observed and misinterpreted as an illicit passion. Could she be thought to have forgotten her married dignity, and stooped to the folly of a lover?

The purest woman in the world could not have felt more bitterly hurt and wronged by such a suspicion than did she. Was it supposed she would be to her husband a second Madeline, would hazard for a toy like this the position she had achieved? What had she done to bring down on herself suspicion and censure? Surely she had been guarded from the first, careful to keep between herself and May the distance of strangers, and then to admit no more than the natural cordiality of hostess to guest. She had walked and talked with him now and then of an evening when he wished to consult her about his own affairs; and some half-dozen times there had passed between them such a kiss as a mother may give her son, but never this when there were eyes to see. Those kisses! they were few indeed from one who had borne a starved heart for years, and who must henceforward starve for ever; for when Harold went abroad it was little likely she and he would meet again on this side of the grave.

And during the last two months in which he had served Colonel Swayne as secretary at the Court, Harold's attention had been to Dulcie's society, not to hers; when he sought her it was to talk, not leave his things alone. He would not have them meddled with; they were convenient to his hand lying just so.

She must wait until night, and then he would surely sleep, for Dr. Gregson promised to call late in the evening and bring with him a composing draught. It was terrible to her thus to watch, aware that all the while behind his silence her husband was enduring grief which her fuller knowledge might assuage. The child was dead in the belief of all, and if she asserted that he lived she must meet the questions—How do you know? and Why has he been taken? Some excuse might be made when he was brought home again, but how could she explain the letter? The hours of that day trebled their length—Harold did not come, Vincy made no sign, her child was kept away from her she knew not where, perhaps treated with unkindness, breaking his heart for home and mother. She would have gone to the riverside, would have sought Harold openly, but for the charge of the sick-room, which held her fast. She could hardly yield her watch there to another; the patient seemed fretted by the presence of Margaret, and Mrs. Hartopp she would not summon, as she might have done a day ago.

Morning had given place to afternoon, and the afternoon was well advanced when word was brought to her that the clergyman Hungerford was below. He had been with the workers at the river, and still there was no success; the servant who brought the message asked Annabel if she would wish to see him before he went away.

She went to him in the hall, for he waited there—in too great a plight, as he said, to sit down in any room or to touch her hand. All he had to tell was the absence of result very gently spoken, for this was the mother who listened. Every likely place in the nearer reach had been tried, and tried again; they were beginning to hope there was mistake, and May was anxious she should know. The men were working farther down, at the weir where there were locks, and they would go on till dark. May would not leave them so long as a chance remained, and, if there should be discovery, she would immediately have word.

"I wanted to see Mr. May," said Annabel hesitatingly; she had grown almost afraid to say his name. "I have had a—a fresh idea since this morning, and it has helped me to hope a little. I thought of asking Mr. May about it. Will he be long?"

"He will stay till dark, and then he talked of going on to see the commissioners and ask for further powers. Is it anything I could undertake for you? I am at your service once I have been across to change."

RED.

It's the Red Blood Corpuscles that Proper Food Makes.

An Ohio woman says Grape-Nuts food gave her good red blood and restored the roses of youth to a complexion that had been muddy and blotchy. She says:

"For 10 years I had stomach trouble which produced a breaking out on my face. The doctors gave it a long Latin name, but their medicines failed to cure it. Along with this I had frequent headaches, nervousness and usually pain in my stomach after meals.

"I got disgusted with the drugs, stopped them and coffee off short, and quit eating everything but fruit and Grape-Nuts, with Postum for my table beverage.

"The headaches, stomach trouble and nervous weakness disappeared almost like magic, which showed that when the cause was removed and good food and drink used nature was ready to help.

"My blood was purified and my complexion became like a young girl's, while my weight was increased from 90 to 120 pounds in a few months—good, solid, firm flesh, where it used to be soft and flabby.

"I recommended Grape-Nuts and Postum to one of my friends, who was afflicted as I had been. She followed my advice, and in a short time was restored to complete health, and in about 8 months her weight increased from 109 to 148 pounds.

"Our doctor, observing the effect of Grape-Nuts and Postum in our cases, declared, the other day, that he would hereafter prescribe these food products for gastritis." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs. "There are ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true and full of human interest."

QUALIFIED.

"Have you ever had any experience as a street car conductor?" asked the superintendent.

The applicant for a job hesitated. "Well—er—not exactly," he replied, "but I used to work in a sardine packing establishment."

Studiously concealing his delight, the superintendent engaged the man forthwith.

THE CAUSE OF SUICIDE.

German Authority Finds Ill-Health Seldom an Influence.

An article on the cause of suicides is summarized as follows in The Medical Record.

"The great majority of suicides are not persons physically ill, but individuals in good health and capable of 'making a living.' The reasons for suicides have been much discussed. Economists have decided that suicides in most cases depend not upon the individual wills, but upon certain external factors, such as the season of the year, the economic status, and the age of the individual.

"Psychiatrists have been led to consider suicides as insane persons. The latter view has lately formed much opposition. Von Oettingen sees in suicide a degeneration of will, making an individual a slave of some temporary circumstances or of his own passions. He thinks that not more than one-third of suicides are insane individuals. Massryk shows that many individuals who intend suicides and were prevented from carrying it out have proved to be mentally normal in later life.

"Brash thinks that most suicides are persons afflicted with mental or physical disease of some nature; he quotes many autopsies in proof of this. Gaupp and Stelzner have lately carefully examined all individuals sent to their clinics after unsuccessful attempts at suicide. In two hundred females Stelzner found sixty-five cases of melancholia, thirty-two cases of psychopathic constitution, thirty-one cases without any manifest psychic disturbances, twenty-four cases of acute paranoia, and eleven cases of epilepsy.

"Those figures show that normal individuals are rare among attempted suicides, and Gaupp's work confirms this conclusion. The great majority of suicides, however, are not frankly insane, but persons of psychopathic constitution.

"Hubner has found that suicides rise gradually in frequency in the spring and diminish toward the end of summer and the highest incidence occurs in the months of June and July. Both suicides and depressive insanities increase in incidence with increase in age."

MAKING SAFE INVESTMENTS

SOME FEATURES OF INVESTING IN MUNICIPAL BONDS.

Safety of This Form of Security, Deservedly Popular in Canada, is Very High Class—Danger only in Communities Where Population is Decreasing—Legal Investigation Necessary, But This Always Done by Purchasing Bond House—Western School Issues are Safe.

The articles contributed by "Investor" are for the sole purpose of guiding prospective investors, and, if possible, of saving them from losing money through placing it in "wild-cat" enterprises. The impartial and reliable character of the information may be relied upon. The writer of these articles and the publisher of this paper have no interests to serve in connection with this matter other than those of the reader.

By those who value safety above all other investment qualities, Canadian municipal bonds are held in very (and deservedly) high esteem. In all the history of Canada there have been so few cases of repudiation of municipal obligations that this danger—always present in the case of United States cities—may be entirely ignored.

The great safety of municipal bonds has naturally resulted in these returning a small yield, and so we have the securities of the City of Toronto selling to yield the investor less than four per cent.—a price well above that at which New York city bonds sell.

A municipal bond, however, cannot be purchased with safety by one entirely unacquainted with the bond business. The primary investigation into an issue of any municipality is, of course, to see whether or not the town or city has power to issue such bonds, and then it is necessary to determine whether all the necessary legal formulae have been followed in passing the necessary by-laws, etc. These investigations are usually carried on on behalf of the purchasers by a lawyer skilled in this sort of work, and are a very necessary feature in order to prevent loss; for were the bonds issued illegally it is quite possible that by the time they were due the mistake would have been discovered and then it would be illegal for the municipality to redeem them. Of course, in most instances, the necessary legal machinery would be operated to overcome this difficulty, but it might happen that in some cases the citizens would be glad of an excuse for not paying the bill. Hence the care always exercised. It is for this reason that in all circular advertisements of municipal bonds you will note, under each issue advertised, the words, "Legal opinion of a Lawyer," which means that the said lawyer has passed on the legality of the issue.

Municipal bonds are secured by the taxable property in the municipality—they are, in fact, an indirect first lien upon such property. The interest and final repayment is met out of taxes, and the obligation of the municipal bond is legally enforceable before all other mortgages or other liens. It is this that makes the bond so safe, for it is only in the case of the utter destruction of a municipality, or its diminution in population to a vanishing point, that there is danger of loss. The only recent cases of this sort occurred when Campbellton, N. B., and Cochrane, Ont., were wiped out by fire. But the respective Provincial Governments stepped in and prevented loss to the bond holders by guaranteeing the interest for a sufficient time to enable those towns to get on their feet once more.

Therefore, as regards safety, the Canadian municipal bond that is legally issued, and, of course, for a proper purpose, stands in an exceptionally high plane, provided, of course, it is not issued by a community that is rapidly declining in population or—as in the case of a mining town—one in which this may occur at any time.

In the case of some western rural communities and growing towns and villages there is a strong tendency to over-estimate the town's future, so that there is possible a danger of over-valuing the property of the town, and so "boosting" its assessment. Moreover, many of these towns are in the mining camp stage—danger of being vacated by the population if something more promising turns up elsewhere. These issues, however, are small and seldom handled by reputable bond dealers, as bond dealers are very jealous of their reputations.

In the case of Western Canadian school districts the security is in no such possible danger. The security is farm land and the issue, like all municipal issues, is limited to a small proportion of the value of the taxable property. In the case of the school district bonds the limit of taxation is usually but a few cents an acre.

GILLETT'S PERFUMED LYE
CAUTION.

Put a strong glass on the label and examine it closely every time. Always look for the name "Gillett's."

Like all good articles, which are extensively advertised, Gillett's Lye is frequently and very closely imitated. In some instances the imitators have actually copied directions and other printed matter from our label word for word. Be wise, and refuse to purchase imitation articles for they are never satisfactory.

Insist On Getting Gillett's Lye
and decline to accept anything that looks to be an imitation or that is represented to be "just as good" or "better," or "the same thing." In our experience of over fifty years in business we have never known of an imitation article that has been a success, for imitators are not reliable people. At the best the "just as good" kinds are only trashy imitations, so decline them with thanks every time.

DRAGON FLAG IS LOWERED
Fuchow Taken---Growing Excitement in Forbidden City.

A despatch from Hong Kong, Kwangtung province, and the largest city in China, formally declared its independence at noon on Thursday, when the Dragon flag was lowered and a salute in honor of the new Government was fired. Canton is a manufacturing centre especially for silks, fireworks and wood and iron wares. The city's trade in 1908 exceeded $5,000,000. It has a good waterworks system, which was constructed by British engineers at a cost of over $1,500,000, and also an electric lighting system. The city has now a population of 1,900,000 and dates back 2,700 years.

A despatch from Amoy, China, says: The city of Fuchow, capital of Fokien province, is in the hands of the revolutionists. After taking it they wiped out the entire Manchuria district. The foreign settlements have not been disturbed, but fires have broken out in several sections of the native city, threatening its destruction. Fuchow is one of the most important cities in the south, having a population of 700,000. It is a great commercial centre, and the seat of a large arsenal, Government shipyards, a mint, a school of navigation and a large drydock.

A despatch from Pekin, says: The excitement is growing. The residents of the Forbidden City are taking in great quantities of rice and other stores. Fifteen hundred infantry and 500 cavalry of the Manchu First Division, who fled from Shikia, after the assassination of General Wu Lu Cheng, arrived here on Thursday and entered the city. The Legations consider that all hope for the Manchu dynasty has vanished.

BITTER ATTACK ON BRITAIN
Inflammatory References to Mr. Lloyd George's Morocco Speech.

A despatch from Berlin, says: German nation. We Germans will be ready to make whatever sacrifices are necessary." (Long applause.) The President of the Chamber had to beg the speaker to retain from their denials the question of amending the constitution in the direction of Ministerial responsibility. The speaker called out many sharp attacks upon Britain, where were greeted with applause by the house and galleries. The chief attack was made by Herr Von Heydebrand and was astonishingly bellicose. Referring to Chancellor Lloyd George's well-remembered speech, he said that Germany now knows where to find the enemy. "Germans," he continued, "are not accustomed to submit to such things. The German people will give a German answer to this English question. The Government will know what answer to give when the hour comes. When it comes is for the Government to say, but its duty is to decide for the honor of the

A great commotion ensued at the conclusion of Herr Von Heydebrand's speech.

SHORTAGE OF MILK.
A despatch from Winnipeg says: A serious shortage of milk exists about the city. The Health and Food Department is advising farmers that they can make more money out of milk than they can out of wheat.

MONUMENT TO KING EDWARD
Sum of $60,000 Already Collected in Montreal.

A despatch from Montreal, says: At a meeting of the Board of Control on Thursday afternoon, a letter was read from Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, chairman of the committee, which is collecting funds for the erection of a monument to King Edward VII., stating that $60,000 had already been collected and suggesting a civic grant of $5,000. The board recommended such a grant.

WOLVES NEAR COCHRANE.
Section Boss of Transcontinental Was Visited.

A despatch from Cochrane, says: The work of the section boss on a matter of watching the track. The section boss, at eighty-four, about fourteen miles east of Cochrane, was visited in his shack by a pack of about twenty timber wolves, who killed his two dogs and devoured to the last ounce an old cache of meat left by the railroad contractors. He shot one with his rifle. The next day he had to climb a telegraph pole to escape the attentions of the same pack. The fact that there are no red deer in the country may account for the ferocity of the wolves.

The Business Hen.

The hen that is going to do the heavy laying the coming winter was hatched early last spring. During December and January pullets usually lay about four times as many eggs as an equal number of hens. One of the United States experiment stations made a year's laying test, beginning with pullets and one and two year old hens, giving each of the three lots equal advantages. The pullets laid about twice as many eggs as the two year old hens, while the second lot had a record about half-way between. In rare cases a hen may pay for her keeping after she is two years old.

Travelling Stones.

"Travelling stones," from the size of a pea to six inches in diameter, are found in Nevada. When distributed on a floor or other level surface, within two or three feet of one another, they immediately begin to travel toward a common centre, and there lie huddled like a clutch of eggs in a nest. A single stone removed to a distance of three and a half feet, upon being released, at once started with wonderful and somewhat comical celerity to join its fellows. These queer stones are found in a region that is comparatively level and little more than bare rock. Scattered over this barren region are little basins, from a few feet to a rod or two in diameter, and it is in the bottom of these that the rolling stones are found. The cause for the strange conduct of these stones is doubtless to be found in the material of which they are composed, which appears to be lodestone or magnetic iron ore.—Harpers Weekly.

Killing Geese.

Kill geese the same way as chickens and turkeys. Never kill more at a time than you can pick while they are still warm. The outside feathers should be removed first and the down is scalded so it will remove easily. The dry picked feathers should be hung up in a warm room to dry out thoroughly, and kept separate from those that are scalded off. Large feathers may be sold as quilts. In shipping, the carcasses should be packed in barrels or boxes with paper or straw between them to prevent bruising.

The Editor.

Most anyone can be an editor. All the editor has to do is to sit at the desk six days out of the week, four weeks out of the month and twelve months out of the year and "edit" such stuff as this: "Mrs. Brown, of Cactus Creek, let a can opener slip last week and cut herself in the pantry."

"A mischievous lad of Pinktown threw a stone and struck Mr. Pike in the ally last Tuesday."

"John Smith climbed on the roof of his house last week looking for a leak, and fell striking himself on the back porch."

"While Harld Doe was escorting Miss Winnifred Cappell from the church entertainment on Friday evening a savage dog attacked them, biting Mr. Doe on the public square."

"Mr. Isaiah Trimming was playing with a cat Friday when it scratched him on the back verandah."

Pete Evans, while harnessing his broncho 'Reciprocity,' on the 21st of Sept., last was kicked just south of his corn crib."

No Tears Shed.

When Columbus Schnitzler pulled out of the Flock Hill settlement on Thursday, last he didn't shed any tears over leaving the neighborhood, nor on other hand did his neighbors spill their grief around over his departure where Columbus could see it. On the contrary a connection of many years' duration was severed with dry eyes and, we believe, hostile feelings. The neighborhood has long been notorious for frowns, and Columbus has been in the thick of many a legal fray that has furnished work for the lawyers and grist for the courts. And so when his farm fell into the hands of his next door neighbor and old time legal adversary, it was not expected that much love would be lost or many favors interchanged between them. When Columbus therefore overstayed his time by one day on the property and the proprietor put a chain on the gate post as if threatening to keep him in, there was said to have been something like the dust of battle forming. But a good Samaritan happened along and formed a temporary truce between them, whereby Columbus was enabled to pass out with military honors to his new home near Carrigill.—Bruce Times.

Cat Ranch.

A "get rich quick" scheme of J. Rufus Wallingford, Chicago, strikes us as very amusing. Here is his plan: "We will start a cat ranch getting 1,000,000 cats. Each will have twelve kittens a year. Cat skins are worth 10 cents for white ones and 75 cents for black. They will average 30 cents each. There is 12,000,000 cat skins a year, a daily gross income of some $10,000. A man can skin 50 cats for $2.00 and it will take 100 men to operate the ranch, leaving our profit over $9,000 dollars a day. We will have to feed the cats. How? Start a rat ranch next door. Rats multiply four times as fast as cats. We will have therefore four rats a day for each cat, is plenty. How to feed the rats? Simply feed them them on the cat Lodies—a fourth of a cat per rat—amply sufficient. Thus you see the business will be self supporting and automatic all the way. The cats will eat the rats, and the rats will eat the cats, and we get the skins and the wealth."

Sure Signs

Of Kidney Trouble.

If your back is constantly aching and if you experience dull shooting pains, your kidneys are out of order. If your urine is thick and cloudy or your passages frequent scanty and painful, your kidneys and bladder are out of order. Neglect quickly brings on rheumatism, diabetes, lumbago sciatica and etc.

Mrs. John Wagner of 110 Hollis St., Halifax, N. S., says: "Dull shooting pains would catch me across the small part of my back and extend into my shoulders and neck, often causing me to suffer with severe headaches and spells of dizziness. Spots would dazle before my eyes and everything would turn black. I would fall to the floor and be unable to get up again without assistance. A friend told me of Booth's Kidney Pills and I began their use. The first box gave me relief and I am now well and strong."

All druggists sell Booth's Kidney Pills 50c. a box with a guarantee to relieve or your money back. They are the world's greatest specific for kidney and bladder trouble.

Fatal Accident in West.

Mr. George A. Marshall, son of Mr. John Marshall, of the 10th concession of Turnberry was accidentally killed at Gilbert Plains, Man. on Thursday last. He was driving a threshing engine for R. Young and got caught in the gearing of the engine. One of his legs were torn off and in five minutes he was dead. The deceased young man was in his 36th year and well-known to many of our readers and left here for the West a few weeks ago. The body was brought home and the funeral took place on Wednesday afternoon. To the bereaved will be extended the sincere sympathy of the community in their sudden bereavement.

Examinations Changed.

Because of the many complaints which were made last July in connection with the system of holding matriculation examination during that month, it has been decided that hereafter the examinations will be held a month earlier. Dr. John Seath, Superintendent of Education for the province, is notifying principals of schools that commencing next year, all matriculation examinations will be completed by the end of June. This news will be received with great relief by pupils, teachers and parents. The examinations this year were held during the very hottest part of July, and it is said that scores of young people failed to pass because of the excessive heat.

Economy.

Not long ago the American farmer was being generally reproved for his extravagance. The lectures seem to have been taken to heart. That is the conviction at any rate, of a member of the New York Stock Exchange, who was motoring in the country the other day. While he was waiting in a village a farmer drove up to a hitching-post and carefully muzzled his horse with a feeding bag. The farmer then went round to the back of his wagon and took out a chicken with a piece of string tied to one leg. With the string he fastened the chicken to the hitching-post, so that it could pick up the oats dropped from the horse's nose-bag.

Space Annihilated.

Not many years ago it was a very common thing to hear a man say—"I am from such and such a county." Who ever hears or speaks of counties nowadays? The passing of the oxteam and the coming of the horseless carriage have obliterated county lines. How long does a county last with a forty horse power automobile whizzing along the road? The 20th Century Limited trains almost as effectually dispose of state lines. When you can leave New York late in the afternoon and be in Chicago early the following morning, one city is little more than a suburb of the other. And if the aeroplane becomes a practical thing, what will become of the international lines? When a man can sit at his desk in Boston and talk to a man who is at his desk in Chicago, and close a business transaction without either man leaving his chair, each recognizing the other's voice, what matters it if there are three or four states separating their bodies? Their minds have met more quickly than could have been the case had they been in adjoining buildings twenty-five years ago. Electricity has emancipated the mind from the body, and given it wings. It is the mind, not the body, that does business. Think of it. By placing a wire to one's ear the mind and the voice can fly to a distant city, do business and return, and do this many times a day as occasion requires.

NERVES UNSTRUNG, WAS "DOWN AND OUT." Feels 10 Years Younger After Taking Morriscy's No. 14 Blood Tablets.

MONTREAL, P. Q., May 16, 1911. I was all run down and felt all out of sorts. My appetite was bad—my complexion sallow—my spirits low, and I didn't seem to have any ambition to do my ordinary household work. I was in this condition for about a year, although several physicians prescribed a tonic for me, and I tried several well advertised remedies, but all without success. About three months ago one of your booklets was left at my house and I read of the wonderful success of Dr. Morriscy and of the remarkable cures decided to try his No. 14 Tablets, and used one box, and before it was half gone I began to feel better, and it just finished the third box, and only I feel. My work is now a pleasure to me, and I feel 10 years younger. You and blood maker that I have heard of, will find yours the very best and most reliable.

Mrs. Anna Hafferty.

The above prescription is not a "Cure-All" or so-called patent medicine, and it cured thousands after other doctors failed.

The Female Wage-Earner.

Is it possible for a female wage-earner to save from her monthly wage an amount which in the aggregate will be sufficient to provide her with an income from the time her earning days are over? was recently the subject of an interesting discussion at a Women's Club, and the conclusion came go was, that if the wage-earner were earning less than $500 a year this would be extremely difficult. For the purpose of illustration, the period of accumulation was assumed to be from 23 to 60, and the amount required $6,000, in order to yield an income of $300 a year, which was considered to be the minimum amount on which she could maintain herself with comfort and respectability. All this may be quite true. But there is another plan of investment of which the ladies had evidently not heard, namely, the Canadian Government Annuities system, which is not only absolutely safe, but which will give a much larger return for a much smaller investment, and larger it may be said than any other plan available will give as a means of making provision for old age.

For example, if a woman of 23 were to deposit with the Government yearly the sum of $39.24 until she was 60, which she could do by weekly or monthly instalments if she preferred, or a total of $1451.08 only, the Government would pay her $300 a year or $75 every three months so long as she might live from and after 60. If she died before attaining that age, the total payments made with 3% compound interest would be refunded to her heirs. If she died at 58 they would receive $2425.77, or $1052.37 more than she had paid in up to that time.

If she had no one dependent upon her and was concerned about herself only, she could secure under the "B" plan the same quarterly income of $75 for an annual payment of $29.67, or for a total paid in of $1097.79,—a yearly return for life no matter how long that may be or nearly 30% of the sum invested.

Mark the enormous difference: on the one hand she would require at 60 a capital of $6000 invested at 5% to yield her an income of $300, with all the accompanying anxiety of making safe investments, while on the other hand she could provide the same income for about one-fifth of the purchase money spread in easy payments over the accumulating period. In ninety-nine cases out of one hundred she would not, having regard for the recurring temptation to use the money, have the capital at 60 which would be necessary to give the income. You have only to write (postage free) to the Superintendent of Canadian Government Annuities, Ottawa, to obtain full information in regard to this provident scheme.

Legal Question.

L. C., Bruce County—Qu.—I married a woman with three children, aged five, seven and fifteen. I am keeping the children and sending them to school. Their mother has a farm rented, for which she receives $170 a year. Can I claim the rent for the keep of the children?

Ans.—A man is not under any legal obligation to maintain the children of his wife by her former husband. The English Poor Law Enactment says:—Every man who shall marry a woman having a child or children at the time of such marriage, whether such child or children shall be legitimate or illegitimate, shall be liable to maintain such child or children." We have no similar enactment in force in Canada, but there are the provisions of the Criminal Code, which make it a punishable offence in any person to neglect to provide the necessities of life for those in his custody or under his control, if able or competent to do so, provided the life of such child is endangered, or his health injured by such neglect. In my own opinion it is the duty of the mother to maintain the children out of the rents received by her from the farm. You cannot compel her to give you the rents, but she must support her children, and neither she nor they can look to you for support.

Items of Interest

A peculiar situation has arisen in the township of Raleigh. Bailiff Dillon, of Tilbury attempted to make a seizure of the farm of a man named Freeman on Thanksgiving day, when he was attacked by a number of the women folks of the farm who drove him away with brooms and other emergency weapons. Bailiff Dillon now seeks to bring action for assault against the women, but it is understood in legal circles that the bailiff was a trespasser in the fact that he attempted to make the seizure on a public holiday, and in the event of such trespassing the owner of the property has a perfect right to eject the bailiff.

The first steps towards the incorporation of Berlin as a city were taken last week by Mayor Schmaltz in giving the necessary three months notice of application for a city charter. As the population is over 15,000 no special legislation will be required. It is proposed to hold a big celebration next summer in honor of the event.

WALKERTON.

Mr. Geo. Hudson, late editor of the Walkerton Telescope, and now proprietor of the Beamsville Express, was married last week to a popular young lady of Toronto, who formerly taught school at Hespeler.

Mr. Chas. Lemble, who was formerly associated with Mr. Jostin Steinmiller as proprietors of the flour mills at Otter Creek, left here last week with his wife to spend the winter in Berlin, prior to leaving in the Spring for the West, where he again purposes going into the milling business.

Chris. Schlorff who recently sold his 46 acre farm on the 11th con. Brant, to Mr. Joseph Monk, has purchased Mr. Taos. Reaburn's 100 acre farm on the same concession for $5500. Mr. Reaburn, we understand, purposes going West and locating at Peace River. Mr. Eph. and Ben. Rody of the 8th con. Brant have sold their 100 acre farm to their neighbor, Henry Hoffman, and will leave shortly for the West.

Mr. Wm. H. Legget, a prominent farmer of Brant and brother of Mr. John Legget, a former Walkerton school teacher, is leaving on Saturday next for Zion City, near Chicago, where he will do missionary work for the Dowieites. Mr. Legget is among the few in this section who became imbued with the doctrine of Alexander Dowie, and he has disposed of his splendid farm in Brant and is leaving to aid in the work and help spread the teaching of the late Zion City prophet.

Mr. Duncan McCallum, for many years tax-collector in Brant, and father of Mr. Malcolm McCallum, Clerk of the Township, died at his home in Brant on Wednesday of last week, after a long illness of stomach trouble. The deceased, who had passed the allotted span of three score and ten, was a native of Scotland and for many years an elder in the Malcolm Presbyterian church. His remains were interred in the Malcolm Presbyterian cemetery on Friday. An aged wife and a family of one son and two daughters survive him.

Mr. Robert Trench, of Teeswater, was in Mitchell for several days recently making arrangements for the erection of a skating and curling rink. His proposition was that he be given a bonus of $500. That amount has been raised by the citizens of that town by subscription. The rink will be 180x80 feet. A suitable lot has been purchased and the work will commence at once. Mitchell has plenty of material for both hockey and curling teams. Mr. Trench has built a rink at Teeswater and has another in course of erection at Brussels. He will have some 50 or 60 men at work on the construction of the rinks and expects to have them completed by winter.

A clergy of Bishop's Mills near Brockville, shot a partridge and in dressing it made the peculiar find of a live green snake in the intestines. The mouth of the reptile was lodged near the stomach, and it was apparently sustained by absorbing a share of the bird's daily food. The partridge was fat and in good condition, although the snake measured over two feet in length.

Martin Riepert bought the blacksmith business in the Schaab block from Mr. W. Perschbacher, and takes possession immediately.

A large number from here attended the funeral of Mrs. Rudolph Kaufmann in Carrick, on Saturday afternoon of last week.

Mr. John H. Chapman who moved with his family to Galt on Thanksgiving Day, was asphyxiated by gas from a coal stove. His wife and three-year-old child had a narrow escape. The body was brought to Clifford and interred in the Clifford cemetery on Sunday afternoon. A large number of friends from a distance attended the funeral. The deceased who was about 25 years of age, leaves a young widow and one child to mourn his loss. The sympathy of the whole community goes out to the bereaved widow.

HUNTINGFIELD.

(Too late for last issue.)

The farmers around here are experiencing difficulty in harvesting the root crop, owing to the wet weather.

A big shooting match is on for Thursday. A pleasant time is expected in the evening.

Mr. Albert Haskins' hand is improving slowly from an attack of blood poison.

Quite a number from around here attended the induction of Rev. Lemon at Clifford.

Miss Ruby Teskey returned home after a short visit with her sister, Mrs. J. Harris, of Vaughn Township.

Rev. McIntosh of Toronto occupied the pulpits of Belmore and McIntosh the last two Sundays. He gave us very profitable and instructive sermons.

A meeting was held in the Presbyterian church, Belmore, of the members of Belmore and McIntosh congregations on Monday last for the purpose of moderating a call to a minister but a call was not proceeded with owing to the fact that one of the candidates had accepted a call. It seems a difficult matter to get a minister for Belmore and McIntosh.

Paisley Young Man Held as Thief.

Chesterville, Ont., Nov. 13.—A daring case of impersonation and horse stealing was brought to light with the arrest at Ogdensburg, N. Y., of Charles McMahon, a young man from Paisley, Bruce county, Ontario. Magistrate J. P. Clements sent McMahon up to stand trial at the next assizes at Cornwall on a charge of horse-stealing, at a preliminary hearing here on Saturday.

On the night of November 8 a man representing himself to be George Markell, drove into Chesterville with a fine high-stepping horse and buggy. The same evening he disposed of the outfit to Lawrence Jordan, who later sold it to P. Ellis, another resident of this village. The next morning Ellis went to look over his purchase and was surprised to find that he had bought a very valuable animal for a small price. He at once called in Mr. Jordan, who also got suspicious, and stopped payment on the cheque he had issued to the so called Markell. The supposed Markell told Jordan to telephone to the village of Wales, where his identity could be proven. At Wales it was learned that Geo. Markell was a responsible farmer, and the money was then paid over for the horse.

Later the genuine Markell appeared looking for his horse, which had been stolen. The wires were immediately made use of, and the fugitive was arrested in Ogdensburg. He was brought to Chesterville and admitted his name was not Markell but Charles McMahon, with his home at Paisley. Arraigned before Magistrate Clements he pleaded not guilty, and was sent up for trial.

LIVE STOCK MARKETS TORONTO.

The railways reported 165 carloads at the City Market, comprising 2,838 cattle, 5,056 hogs, 1,810 sheep, and lambs and 225 calves.

The quality of the cattle was the same as has been offered for many weeks, only there were more than usual of the light, common, eastern stockers, and rough, grassy calves, which sold at low prices, and slow of sale at that.

All cattle approaching good quality sold readily at steady prices.

Butchers—George Rowntree bought for the Harris Abattoir Company 982 cattle, including 460 northwesterns, at the following prices: Butchers' steers and heifers, $5 25 to $6 05; cows, $3 50 to $6 10; canners, $2 50 to $3; bulls, $2 80 to $5 50.

Outside of those bought by Mr. Rowntree, there were many light cattle bought for butchers' purposes at $4 75.

Stockers and Feeders.—Feeders. 900 to 1100 lbs., sold at $4 50 to $5 30; stockers, 500 to 800 lbs., sold at from $2 85 to $4.

Milkers and springers.—There never was a better trade for milkers and springers, that is, for good to choice quality, which sold at $75 to $90, and one at $100. Medium cows sold at $30 to $60, and common at $40 to $45.

Veal calves.—There were a lot of eastern, rough, rubbishy, ill-bred stuff sold as calves that had been running in the orchard or bush lands, nothing but skin and bones, that sold at from $3 to $4 per cwt.; but veal calves ranged at from $5 to $8 per cwt.

Sheep and lambs.—Sheep were steady, at $3 to $3 75 per cwt., and lambs were a little stronger, at $5 25 to $5 65.

Hogs.—Mr. Harris quoted select, fed and watered at the market, at $6 85 per cwt.

Manitoba Potatoes.

Reversing the order of things Manitoba potatoes are now supplying the Toronto market. On Oct. 27 a carload arrived in Toronto, and were offered for sale out of store at $1 15 per bag, which is the lowest price Ontario potatoes are selling at. Manitoba has a big crop of potatoes this year. Those on sale, says a Toronto newspaper, were particularly fine specimens. More are expected to arrive during the season. In the meantime, Ontario potatoes are firm at just double the price they were a year ago.

Two young bulls fit for service, and females all ages, some young cows with calves at foot, and in calf again to Bright Lord—64421.
