EDWARD ALBERT, PRINCE OF WALES

Word comes from London that the Prince of Wales has left Buckingham Palace to join the battalion of the Grenadier Guards...

RICHARD HARDING DAVIS COMMENTS ON REMARKABLE TEMPER OF BRITISH PEOPLE

New York Correspondent Pays Striking Tribute to the Earnestness and Determination of Britain in Great War Crisis.

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—Richard Harding Davis, the New York Tribune's war correspondent, cables the following from London:

"On arriving in London what most impresses you is, in the English papers the absence of any news concerning any movement of the English navy and army."

"No interest at this time in any relative with any ship or regiment is permitted to outweigh the wishes of all for the success of all. This secrecy as to the present plans or whereabouts of any military unit is enforced, not only by the orders of the War Office, but also by the wishes of everyone."

"We know that England has declared war. In the papers we can read of the Red Cross societies, of funds patronized by the royal family for those who may be wounded, for those who may be left fatherless, for those who already have been left without support."

LIEGE IS NOT YET FALLEN

Reports of Today Show Land Fighting is Severe.

Belgium is Living Up to its Name as Buffer State.

PARIS, Aug. 14.—11.50 p.m.—An official statement issued to-day says:

The German troops were beaten yesterday at Diest and routed at Hasselt. They tried to resume the attack on the Belgian's southern flank and a German cavalry division charged.

The towns near Saale Pass are now entirely occupied by French troops, which yesterday took the neighboring plateau. The French artillery attacked the Germans rear and a fire greatly helped our infantry, which had a few wounded, but none killed.

PARIS, Aug. 15.—3.40 a.m.—The Brussels correspondent of the Havas Agency telegraphs that a company of Belgians infantry ambushed two companies of German cyclists at Vossenaich, northwest of Cuntich, at 10.30 o'clock Friday morning.

Train service has been suspended between Tiremont and Landin, as German forces are reported to be in that region.

AUSTRIANS FIGHT SERBS. LONDON, Aug. 15, 6.50 a.m.—The correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph Company at Nish, describing the same fighting, says that 400,000 Austrians made a concerted attack along the entire Serbian frontier, but were repulsed with heavy casualties.

A despatch to the Reuter Telegraph Company from Nish dated Aug. 13, and sent by way of Athens gives the Serbian account of the recent fighting on the frontier.

"About 400,000," says the War Office, "attacked the Serbians last night. A fierce battle extended all along the line. Finally the Austrians were repulsed with heavy casualties towards Tekia on the Roumanian frontier, and also repulsed from Belgrade where they had attempted to cross the Danube but though numerically superior, the enemy succeeded in crossing the Save. The Serbians are concentrating for a big engagement this evening. The chief of the Serbian general staff considers the fall of Sabac of no serious importance."

PARIS, Aug. 15, 10.50 a.m.—An official announcement to-day says the Belgian major in command of the forts surrounding Liege is still in command.

Lord Kitchener, England's famous general, is now Secretary of War and is directing the British war plans.

KAISER ANOTHER NERO BUT ROME IN FLAMES IS NOT ENOUGH FOR HIM

Whole Universe Must be Destroyed—Clemenceau, Wisest Man in All France Sizes Up the Great War Tragedy in Striking Manner.

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—The Tribune this morning prints the following cable from London:

"The Daily News correspondent says that while Paris has been waiting for further news of the rounding up of the German outposts, her citizens have been reading a remarkable article on the Kaiser, written by M. Clemenceau, the strongest and wisest man in the country, and one who usually says what France is thinking. Moreover, it is by chance Germany defeated the allies on the Belgian frontier and forced her way up the valleys of Sambre and middle Meuse, Clemenceau is the figure to whom all France would instinctively turn. After pointing out that France was not Bismarck or Moltke or such men of action as Napoleon never failed to have around, M. Clemenceau says:

"For twenty-five years William II. has made Europe live under the weight of a horrible nightmare. He has found sheer delight in keeping it in a state of perpetual anxiety over his boastful utterance of dry powder and sharpened sword. Five threats of war have been launched against us since 1875. At the same time he finds himself caught in the toils he had laid for us.

"He threatened the very springs of England's power, though she was more than pacific in her attitude towards him. For over forty years, thanks to him, the continent has had to join in a giddy race of armaments, drying up their sources of economic development and exposing our finances to a crisis which we shrink from discussing.

"We must have done with this crowned comedian, poet, musician, sailor, warrior, pastor, this commentator absorbed in reconciling the Hammurabi with the Bible and giving his opinion on every problem of philosophy, speaking of everything and saying nothing."

"M. Clemenceau sums up the Kaiser as 'another Nero, but Rome in flames is not sufficient for him. He demands the destruction of the universe.'"

Local Soldiers Go at Their Work Like Men.

Drilling Entered into With Earnestness of Purpose.

Brantford has done its duty as a unit of the Empire and to-day there is a volunteer company in the making which will truly add to the laurels already possessed by Brantford as the result of the illustrious conduct of those who have so splendidly represented the city in the Empire's battles of the past.

The order for mobilization came and 150 men were chosen who are now at the service of the Mother Country.

Within a week's time they will leave for the scene of activities, but as yet the date of their departure has not been settled. Twice a day the men muster for drill and they are rapidly becoming as efficient as any regulars.

Watching them return from an open parade, one could not help but be struck by the military appearance of all the volunteers, many of whom were raw material when they volunteered. They obeyed orders with despatch and had mastered the art of handling a rifle.

They were a cosmopolitan crowd, of all sorts and conditions of men. Some were grey, while others had the spring of life and youth in their walk. They were united in the common cause. There were laborers, mechanics, bank clerks and shop assistants all grouped together, a democratic whole. Officers here are in full number for all the militia which will be sent. The officers likely to accompany the Brantford contingent will be Captain Colquhoun, in charge provisionally, with Lieutenant T. P. Jones and Lieutenant Miller, also accompanying the group in their official capacity.

The number of men who enlist at the Armories continues to increase and last night the several more volunteers added to the list. The latter men appear to be men of the slightly older class. They have thought over the step and only decided recently. There are now over three hundred volunteers. Many of these men are already trained and need very little exercise before the initial run out. Some of the boys are members of the 38th Dufferin Rifles, but there is nothing to prevent them enlisting for active service if they so desire.

Brantford was asked for 1913 and that number was easily obtained and many were disappointed because they were not elected among those who are to be called soon.

4,500 ARE EN ROUTE

Big Exodus of Americans and Canadians from Old Land.

LONDON, Aug. 15, 12.20 p.m.—The departure of 4,500 Americans and Canadians from Liverpool to-day was followed by that of another thousand from Glasgow.

The carrying capacity of the vessels sailing for trans-Atlantic ports during the next 25 days is estimated at 60,000, or three times the number of Americans in the British Isles. While the number on the continent of Europe is not known, it is believed not to exceed 30,000, of whom a large number are returning by Dutch, Danish and Italian lines.

Many of the tourists in London who had booked passage on small vessels or had taken steerage berths are offering to sell their tickets to the American citizens' committee, as they prefer to make a later and more comfortable passage. The members of the committee say they fail to see the necessity for the despatch of transports in view of the new sailings which have been announced.

The Grampian sails to-morrow, the Arcadian, Andania and the Ancona August 18, and the Olympic August 19 and the Adriatic August 20. The British steamer Buffalo, which left July 25, has arrived at Hull.

The Appreciation of Diamonds

More and more diamonds are bought, sold and worn every year. And this is in spite of the fact that the tendency of diamond prices is steadily upward.

Which last fact makes the purchase of a good diamond a worth-while investment.

Our diamond display to-day is away above the average. We import our diamonds direct from the cutters and set them in our own workshop.

We are positive we can save you money.

SIDELIGHTS ON WAR FROM ALL QUARTERS

ANOTHER WAR PRIZE

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt, via London 12.15 p.m., Aug. 15.—The big new Austrian Lloyd Liner Marienbad captured today by a British warship near here while on the voyage from Bombay to Trieste. She was brought into port.

THIS LOOKS OMNIOUS
 VANCOUVER, B.C., Aug. 15.—Private advices received here by Japanese early this morning indicate there may be a call to arms within twenty-four hours. The editor of the local Japanese newspaper is in receipt of intelligence to this effect.

SPLENDID GIFT
 OTTAWA, Ont., Aug. 15.—The Dominion Government has accepted the offer of a gift of 5,000 pounds of chocolate for the Canadian contingent and navy from the Cowan Company of Toronto.

Possibly few people realize the importance attached to chocolate in military circles, as an emergency food of unusual value. Practically every European soldier is compelled to carry a supply in his kit for emergency use in case of food shortages or unusual fatigue on forced marches.

STEAMERS SAIL
 YOKOHAMA, Aug. 15, 9.45 a.m.—Two British steamers sailed to-day one for Calcutta and the other for London. The captains expressed confidence of a safe passage.

COPENHAGEN, vi London, Aug. 15, 7 a.m.—Russian refugees from Germany deny a report that Germany is imprisoning Russians because of a threat alleged to have been made by the Emperor of Russia to send all Germans in Russia to Siberia.

THIS IS NEW WARFARE
 LONDON, Aug. 15, 12.10 p.m.—A despatch from Namur, Belgium, to The Times says a German aeroplane flew over the city last evening and dropped several bombs. Five men were wounded, one of them being horribly mangled by the explosion of the missiles.

ARE COMING BACK
 LIVERPOOL, Aug. 15, 12.10 p.m.—The sailing from this port to-day of the St. Louis the Campania and the Minnesota for New York and Montreal for Montreal, reduced the number of Americans and Canadians who had been stranded in England by 4,500.

The steamer St. Paul from New York arrived here yesterday.

RUSSIAN ACTIVITY
 ST. PETERSBURG, via London, Aug. 15, 1a.50 p.m.—The Russian general staff to-day announces that Russian troops have destroyed local railroad and telegraph lines in the province of East Prussia at eleven points between Schmaleningen, on the Russian frontier, and Tilsit.

German troops also have damaged some of the frontier roads. On Wednesday the 12th German Uhlans and the 90th Rifle Regiment, accompanied by artillery, were discovered on the German frontier, in the neighborhood of Kalisz, by the Russian troops. The Germans avoided coming into contact, retiring to the northwest.

COMMANDER IS DEAD
 LONDON, Aug. 15, 3.30 p.m.—A despatch from Brussels to the Exchange Telegraph Company, says the death of General Von Emmich, the German commander at Liege is confirmed. He is to be succeeded by Gen. Von Der Marwitz.

SENTENCE COMMUTED
 OTTAWA, Aug. 15.—The death sentence on Antonio Mastopietro, convicted of the murder by shooting of a fellow-Italian in Ottawa, has been commuted to life imprisonment. He was to have been executed on August 25. Judge Lennox recommended executive clemency.

MANIFESTO TO NATION
 COPENHAGEN Denmark via London, Aug. 15, 1.5 p.m.—The Berliner Tageblatt of August 12 which reached here to-day contains a manifesto to the German nation by General Stein of the German general staff, in which the public is cautioned against believing any statements except those given out by the general staff. It says: "In England and France falsehoods are being spread broadcast. You Germans have too much faith in your government to accept rumors too easily. The English accuse us of having suggested partition with Holland in exchange for her neutrality. Such charges are beneath contempt and demonstrate the righteousness of our cause and the wickedness of our enemies. 'You Germans also are spreading rumors of victories and defeats such as the German occupation of Belfort and the destruction of French regiments, wholesale. 'Everything will be published at the proper time and we have given our word that nothing shall be exaggerated and nothing minimized. Few except those who are experienced in warfare, can know or show with what difficulties victories are won.'

John P. Holland, inventor of the submarine which bears his name, died at Newark.

BREEZY BUDGET FROM BUSY PARIS

PARIS, Aug. 15.—The annual floral decoration of graves of decorated members of Count's Charity, No. 903, C. O. E., will be held to-morrow, (Sunday afternoon) and the members and visiting brethren will assemble at the Lodge Room at 8.30 and leave for the cemetery at 3 o'clock. Citizens' Band will be in attendance.

Rev. J. E. Tawkins, B.A., a former Paris boy, will conduct the services in the Baptist Church to-morrow.

A number of the Paris Bowlers returned yesterday, after participating in an interesting bowling tournament in Toronto. Owing to the rain, the game was not finished until Friday morning. In the semi-finals the game was won by Armitage's rink (Paris) by 13 shots to 12.

Mr. and Mrs. James Cook are celebrating their silver wedding anniversary this evening at their residence, Walnut street. Their many Paris friends extend hearty good wishes.

What might have been a serious accident occurred on the Brantford road Thursday afternoon. Two large automobiles were coming along at a good speed, one going to Brantford and one coming into Paris. Just at the curve of the road turning into each other, the two cars smashed into each other, as neither of the motorists noticed the approach of the other car in time. Fortunately no one was hurt, but one of the cars had to be towed to a garage for repairs, the front axle being broken.

A number of the Boy Scouts left to-day to enjoy camp life for a couple of weeks at Selkirk. Acting Scoutmaster W. B. Clark will be camp commander; Scoutmaster Earl Barker quartermaster, and Scoutmaster Edgar Harold is camp adjutant.

If conditions are favorable for an outdoor service to-morrow evening, the Methodist Church will hold their service in the King's Ward Park, opposite the church.

Yesterday Mr. Arthur E. Cullen was ordered to report to the Dufferin Rifles, he having been accepted and will sail with the first contingent for active service at the front. He was a Sergeant in the first battalion of Scots Guards in London, England. He went through the Boer War and carries two medals with four bars for engagements. His wife and family, will not be forgotten while in Paris, where they have lived for the three and a half years.

Miss Margaret Ryan has returned from a pleasant holiday in Stratford.

Miss Emma Featherston is spending a few days in Brantford during the Old Home Week.

Mrs. F. Burt of Honolulu, West Indies, has been the guest of Dr. and Miss Burt.

Mrs. Ryan and daughter, Miss Florence, are holidaying at Stratford. Mrs. Geo. Midgley has returned after a pleasant holiday with relatives in Buffalo, N.Y.

Mr. Howard Inksater has returned after a pleasant holiday in Toronto participating in the bowling tournament there.

Mrs. Geo. McFarlane, Miss Grace and Robert are visiting at St. Hyacinth, Que.

Mrs. Geo. Arnold and Miss Milly are holidaying at Toronto and Hamilton.

Mrs. Buscher, and children of Dundas are the guests of Mrs. T. Walton.

Paris mills are now working full time in many of the departments. The Penman firm received a capital order early this week for nearly 5000 dozen of men's underwear. This order was from the Dominion Government, and is a further gift from this country to the Imperial authorities in England for use among the troops. This will keep the Paris mills busy for awhile in rushing the order out. We understand that Mr. J. H. Fisher, M.P. interested himself with the military department at Ottawa in connection with the above.

A bad runaway took place yesterday at noon. A runaway horse and buggy collided with Donald Sinclair's wagon breaking the same and later, the horse crashed into the race bridge, wrecking the buggy and harness.

STILL SENDING ODE.
 OTTAWA, Aug. 14.—Messages sent out from Sayville, Long Island, to Carthage, Central America, and thence to the Carolina Islands in the South Pacific, from which point it is believed they are being cabled to Berlin, have been picked up by the military wireless station here. They are in the German code. The Canadian Government has taken the matter up with Washington, which placed an officer at the Sayville station, but notwithstanding this more code messages have been heard going out. The United States Government will again be appealed to.

OCCUPY SAALE PASS
 LONDON, Aug. 15.—A despatch to the Reuter Telegram Company from Paris, dated last midnight, says that an official communication announces that French troops occupy Saale Pass which commands the valley of the Bruche. The French artillery took the German position in the rear, which the communication says, "greatly facilitated our tasks. Our infantry had a number wounded but none killed."

THE SITUATION

It has, of course, been plain from the very inception, that the German plan is to get to Paris as speedily as possible, but the plucky Belgians have put a decided kink in what the Kaiser expected would be the first easy phase of the matter.

The way to the French capital in the war of 1870 was comparatively easy. The French troops were speedily demoralized, and Paris had no defences worth mentioning. Napoleon III. declared war on July 15th, and by September 10th the Germans had the French capital completely invested. There won't be any such quick business on this occasion. The French army has been splendidly built up and the men are full of enthusiasm, a feeling notably lacking on the last occasion when the two countries met in mortal combat. Moreover, Paris now possesses some of the best defences in Europe. If the Germans can get held back for any length of time, it would certainly seem to portend a short war. The Russians are always slow in effecting mobilization, mainly because of her large area, 8,400,000 square miles, or more than twice the size of Canada, and her lack of railway facilities. When her troops get massed, Germany will find herself in a very perilous condition.

That the Kaiser deems himself to be a divine instrument is well known, and also the fact that the idea has been sedulously cultivated in the Fatherland that her people have a world mission. In this regard a writer says—

"The reflective simple German people have become the most militant, the most critical, the most powerful in arms and in aggregate brain power on the Continent. The German Emperor has pronounced Germany's future to lie 'on the seas,' and Germans are ready to follow, believing as in some revealed call of destiny.

"Germany's place in the world is thought by Germany to be controlled by two agencies—by geographical position and by the historical part she is destined to perform there.
 "In almost every public political utterance of the Emperor, of his ministers, ambassadors, soldiers, officials, professors or Pan-German agitators, who on all national and international questions, vie with one another in pyrotechnical display, the idea of a mission that Germany has to fulfill is illuminated. It is taught in the schools, accepted as a gospel by all save the social democracy."

The Kaiser thought that such a time had arrived, but he must by now realize that he sorely miscalculated, especially when he thought that John Bull and his overseas dominions would stand aside as spectators. He is in for a thorough trouncing, and the nations will, without any doubt, make a complete job of it. The world cannot afford to stand any longer for such a menace as the Kaiser has proved himself. It isn't all plain sailing, but the work has to be done.

NO NEED FOR A PANIC

The financial editor of Toronto Saturday Night has built up a deserved reputation for careful and excellent judgment. It is for this reason that the Courier reprints the following special article written by him—

"Investors and others should not become panicky over the fact that Europe is plunged into war. The vast amounts that the combatant nations have borrowed cannot be destroyed, but must remain in circulation. Gold will be hoarded by the powers for a time, as what any of them most dread is shortage of war funds. Germany has voted $1,250,000,000 to spend on this war, and Britain has appropriated $1,025,000,000 to finance its campaign. After a time much of this money must again be loosened, and put into general circulation. Part of it will flow to the United States, and be there available for purchase by Canada. The citizens of Canada will not, let us hope, be drawn directly into this war maelstrom. They will serve the Empire with their services, with their money and with their property, but it seems unlikely that the Dominion will be an actual scene of war. In one sense, therefore, Canada can stand aside and watch the march of events. Canadians can serve the Empire by keeping their business going, by introducing economies, and by eliminating waste of every description. It becomes now the duty of every active producer to redouble his efforts to create foodstuffs and the manufacturer of staples, instead of becoming panicky, should, with the co-operation of his bankers, see to it that his wheels do not stop running. Canada must, in a sense, feed herself and supply herself with Canadian-made utensils, clothing and other materials. More than this, she must be prepared to send all possible consignments of wheat, grains and domestic articles into Great Britain, and to France if she can reach that country. There need not necessarily be any destruction of capital in Canada—providing no armed horde sees fit to invade this Dominion, and the Munroe doctrine will no doubt see to that. Canada has to fight to keep her trade from going to pieces. If Britain clears the trade routes, there will be an insistent market for anything Canada can produce and send over in ships. Great Britain has made an ally of Russia in this instance, in order that the enormous food production of Russia will be available for British needs. The trade routes between Britain and Russia are infinitely shorter and more easy to police and keep open than are the trade routes between England and her far-off colonies. But despite this, Britain will look to the United States, Canada, Central and South America to provide her fighting population and her peaceful citizens with what they cannot really produce themselves. Also there will be a great demand for United States and Canadian money. The United States Government has been willing to all the gold it can safely conserve, both to cut short any possible panic occurring in that country, to act as a bulwark behind the banks and other financial institutions, and partially to serve as an investment fund. The United States has already loaned millions of dollars to the fighting powers. If the duration of the war is extended, more war loans will be floated by Britain, Russia, France, Germany and the remaining powers. More especially France must soon call home money. Loans from all the warring nations may in part, be offered to the United States and Canada. They will call for interest at a high rate, and the owners of capital in either the United States or Canada may thus transfer their holdings into the care of one or another of the great European powers, being assured that at the close of the war, the debtor nation will make every effort to pay off these liabilities. Already there are certain signs of what may be called distress in Canada. That is to say, some who have committed themselves to liabilities in the way of mortgage payments and the like, basing their ability to pay on their income in times of peace, now find their incomes cut down, if not wiped out. Under these conditions, many a conservative investor, who is in funds, and who has found his income from stocks or other investments reduced to a minimum, may be able to make land, stocks, mortgages or other purchases on such basis that when the last of the war clouds has dissipated, his total loss will be materially reduced. That is to say, he will lose in one direction and gain in another.

Also, it is not at all certain that this mammoth European war will be allowed to go to any great lengths. It has become the duty of Great Britain and the allies to crush the war spirit out of the Kaiser of Germany and his war-mad advisers. It is a curious situation—the peoples of the world have deep regard and respect for the ordinary German citizen. They regard as their real enemies the Kaiser and his Sovereign house. Once the German navy and army are humbled, the overseas trade elements will immediately begin to readjust themselves. Britain and her allies will make the campaign as short as it may be, provided they do not meet with great reverses which must prolong the end. More than fifty million dollars is now being spent in war each twenty-four hours, and if this huge waste is allowed to go on, many of the nations must necessarily bankrupt themselves. Therefore the leading bankers of the world will, after a time make every effort to put an end to hostilities. And, with the nations once more at peace, the wheels of Canada will turn night and day to try and furnish the unprecedented demand that will necessarily arise for the products of her factories, farms and all domestic trade establishments."

In Quebec married men offering their services have to show the written consent of the wife. It speaks well for French-Canadian women that thousands of such consents have been received by the authorities.
 The business-like way in which the British have taken hold has earned world-wide admiration. Napoleon used to sneer at them as "a nation of shop-keepers." They stored his army all right and will now help to do the same with Emperor William.
 Evidences are becoming more and more marked in the States of a cordial feeling towards Great Britain and her course in the present fight. Many of the people there are also for the first time commencing to realize what a grand bulwark John Bull is with regard to freedom and treaty obligations.

LIEGE NOT YET FALLEN

 Liege contradicts the rumors that they had surrendered. The battle is declared to be still going on. The official announcement adds that the conduct and courage of the soldiers and inhabitants of Liege have been exemplary as they realize that France has replied to the appeal of Belgium for aid.

German deserters, according to the official note, complain of the terrible hunger they have suffered. They are said to have declared that their rations consisted of one sausage and two spoonfuls of peas.
 Mrs. Sarah Wilson and Mrs. George Keppel have offered to establish a French-English hospital at Le Touquet or wherever the French Government considers it convenient. The establishment is to contain 2,000 beds and is to be kept up as long as the war lasts.

A RUSSIAN VICTORY
 LONDON, Aug. 15.—The French Minister of foreign affairs in telegraphing to the French embassy here to-day a summary of the various conflicts already which reports already have been published, gives official confirmation of a Russian victory over the Austrians on the River Linester. He says the fourth infantry regiment and the first cavalry regiment of the Austrian army were annihilated by the Russians.
 The French minister adds that the positions in upper Alsace at Liege, Belgium are unchanged and concludes:
 "In consequence of the universal outcry, the German Government has decided to remit to the former French ambassador at Berlin the $900 he had been compelled to pay for his journey back to France."

Good Order Here This Week
 Superintendent Callinan, head of the detective force of Niagara Falls, N.Y., says that for such an occasion as the Brantford Old Home Week, the city has passed through it very well indeed. He was in charge of the detective end of matters and was on the lookout for pickpockets of international repute. He did not see one, and with the cutting out of the rough stuff which was noticed on Tuesday, he found things working very smoothly.
 Mr. Callinan would not stand for the disguises then adopted by many local youths, such as moustaches, beards and such like, because that is the professional crooks best refuge. The few cases of pickpocketing reported, he says, are merely the work of incompetent novices, or the whole town would have been systematically gone through.
 Of fun and hilarity, he admits there was plenty, and very little horseplay. Brantford has decorously commemorated the Old Boys homecoming.

ARE DECEIVED
 German People Not Allowed to Hear of Any German Losses.
 [By Special Wire to The Courier.]
 PARIS, Aug. 14, 3.25 p.m.—An official communication issued to-day says that since the beginning of the war the German people has been systematically deceived by false news, circulated by a large German agency with the object of making Germans believe their troops had gained great advantages. It adds that there has been an absolute suppression of all news disadvantageous to the Germans.
 The French Government, it was stated, had decided to issue a daily news bulletin for distribution among the French troops. This would be composed of reports of field operations and of important events in France, the object being to create a strong link between the French soldiers in the field and their relatives.
 The decision to issue this bulletin was reached as a result of correspondence between Adolphe Essimy, French Minister of War and Premier Rene Viviani

PORTERHOUSE
 Oh, luscious steak, you seem to make my innards squirm with pleasure! Of all the meat that can't be beat, you are the pride and treasure. The cook has toiled with zest and broiled the steak just to my liking upon my plate I see it wait, magnificent and striking. The gods are kind, that we can find such meat in steers and cowses; all men with tanks should give them thanks for jinch-thick porterhouses. The doctor views my steak and chews the rag about my diet; "you beat the Turks," he cries; "your works will soon be in a riot. You ought to eat the wholesome beet, the turnip and the carrot, the bean and squash, so help me, Josh," he jabsbers, like a parrot. "That grub's too rich, 'twill give you itch, and mumps and yellow jaundis; it troubles makes, so cut out steaks, and chickens, ducks and ganders." But man will buy his health too high if he feeds like the horses, and lives on hay day after day, and browses where the gorse is. I'd rather eat the juicy meat of which no man is fonder, and ere BRUSSELS, via Paris Aug. 15. 1.35 a.m.—All the newspapers print in large type on their front pages a "warning to civilians," enjoining them to keep their doors and windows closed and in the event that a hamlet is occupied by German troops to evacuate it in order to give the Germans no opportunity of accusing non-combatants of firing upon them.

POLAND WILL GET FREEDOM FROM THE GERMANS

Grand Duke Says That the Accepted Hour is at Hand.

[By Special Wire to The Courier]
 LONDON, Aug. 15.—8 a.m. despatch to Reuter's Telegram company from St. Petersburg says Grand Duke Nicholas, commander-in-chief of the Russian army, has dressed a manifesto to Poland, appealing for the loyalty of the Polish people and promising them autonomy and independence.
 The manifesto reads:
 "The hour has sounded which the sacred dream of your fathers must realize. A hundred and fifty ago the living body of Poland torn to pieces, but her soul survived and she lived in hope that for Polish people would come an era of regeneration and reconciliation with Russia.
 The Russian army brings you solemn news of this reconciliation which effaces the frontiers, sets the Polish people, whom it unite jointly under the sceptre of the Russian Emperor. Under this sceptre land will be born again, free, a religion, her language and a nation.
 "Russia expects from you only loyalty to which history has you. With open heart and a broad hand extended, great Russia comes to meet you. She believes that the sword which struck her enemy Greunewald, is not yet rusted.
 "Russia from the shores of the Pacific Ocean to the North marches in arms. The dawn of life commences for you. In this hour dawn is seen the sign of the cross—the symbol of suffering and the resurrection of a people.

WINNING NUMBERS ARE ANNOUNCED AT ARMORIES

Industrial Exhibition Was Most Pronounced Success of the Week.

If any section of the Old Home Week was a success beyond all expectation, it was the Industrial Exhibition of Made-in-Brantford goods. Night after night the armories were filled with astonished Brantfordites and during the course of the week it is computed some 20,000 people visited the drill hall.

TATTOO WAS ATTENDED BY THOUSANDS

Military Display Last Evening Proved Fitting Wind-up to Old Home Week.

With the strains of the National Anthem played by five massed bands, before a crowd of over 4,000 people, in Agricultural Park at 10 o'clock last evening, Old Home Week was brought to a successful finish.

To say that the tattoo was a success is putting it mildly. It was that with all the superlatives one can think of added on. It was not only a success in itself, but it spelled the success of Old Home Week, for it is now certain, beyond all doubt, that financially the reunion has been a success.

Without the receipts of last night's performance the executive might have had to face a deficit, but the tattoo was the life-saver.

Never in the history of the city has such a big crowd assembled together at an outdoor evening performance. By 8 o'clock the reserved seats were all gone and the bleachers were rapidly filled up, and soon the crowd spread out on to the field and on to the dyke.

The track was completely filled with autos, of which there were hundreds. It was half-past 8 when the bands arrived heading a great line of automobiles. The only other body present outside of the bands was the drill corps, composed of 50 Old Boys, under command of ex-Mayor C. H. Hartman. Their arrival on the field was the signal for an outburst of great applause.

In the background the pieces for the fireworks display had been erected, while immediately in the foreground was a lighted square for the bands, of which there were six present—the 13th Regiment Band, Hamilton, under Bandmaster Robinson; the Galt Kilites, under Bandmaster Wm. Campbell; the Preston Silver Band, under Bandmaster J. Holland; the 38th Regiment Band, under Bandmaster Frank Johnson; the 25th Dragoons Band, under Bandmaster Dr. Peirce, and the Bugle Band of the 38th Regiment, under Bugle Master Sergeant James Mellor, which, by the way, is the best regimental bugle band in the Dominion of Canada, according to official standing.

As each band entered the field it was received with outbursts of applause. The scene was almost martial with the field lit up with a battle-field glow, while the Bang! Bang! of the big powder discharges made one think of the English and French troops perhaps encamped within the sound of the heavy German artillery.

The musical programme was commenced at once with the five bands massed together beneath the electric square. The massed selections were led by Bandmaster Frank Johnson of the Dufferin Rifles band and the first selection was "Gems of Old England," followed by the "Overture to William Tell." Although the bands were massed together without any previous practice their rendition of the "Overture to William Tell" was splendidly executed, especially the third part, illustrating the calm after the storm, in the Alps a fantasia of British, Irish and Scotch airs was loudly applauded.

The Bugle band then announced the march past. Each band and the old boys company under ex-Mayor C. H. Hartman, retiring to the left side of the grounds and the preceding by separate bodies in front of the grand stand, the bands playing their regimental march.

The drill by Hartman's Old Boys came first, F. S. Blain first announcing to the crowd that the corps at one time was the best drilled body of men in the Dominion and none of the boys had seen each other for twenty years. The drill then proceeded and it was a treat to see the company perform so accurately after such a long absence from the instruction of their old leader, Mr Hartman. Needless to say they were heartily applauded.

The bands then marched past, the stand the Bugle Band leading. Each band played its own regimental march, and as one band returned up the field it was honored by the other bands by all joining in with the march of the band. It was a stirring scene and one that aroused one's patriotism to a high pitch.

After each band had marched past they massed again and under Silver Bandmaster Holland of the Preston Silver Band they played "Oh Canada," "Rule Britannia" and other patriotic airs. Their mighty blasts from large powder shells announced the commencement of the fireworks display. The usual rockets and other fireworks were ignited first. The prettier displays followed and then the set pieces illustrating the Canadian emblem and the Union Jack fountains and stars; the latter displays were certainly very beautiful.

The National Anthem "God Save the King" played by the five massed bands concluded the evening's programme and also Old Home Week.

To W. Norman Andrews, chairman of the musical committee, and his fellow members, congratulations are due for the success of the final

TURKEY NOW HAS CRUISERS WHICH ESCAPED

Are in Charge of British Admiral, But They May Cause Lots of Trouble.

LONDON, Aug. 15, 3:05 a.m.—The Daily Mail states that the Cruisers Goeben and Breslau reported to have been purchased from Germany by Turkey have received Turkish names and will be placed under the command of Rear Admiral Arthur H. Limpus of the British Navy, who was sent to the Turkish Government.

The Mail says that Turkey does not intend to employ the warships against Russia and adds:

"There appears to be no doubt that their purchase is a direct contravention of international law, but the opinion is gaining ground in diplomatic circles that Turkey is the victim of a German trap to embroil her with the Triple Entente.

"Rear Admiral Limpus has been naval adviser to the Turkish Government since 1912."

May Be Navarino.

LONDON, Aug. 15, 3:20 a.m.—A despatch to the Morning Post from Constantinople which came by way of Paris says:

Serious internal troubles are expected here because the Young Turks, who dominate the government are dictating a pro-German policy, which is unpopular with a large part of the populace. The people in Constantinople are saying that the city may be the scene of a second battle of Navarino.

The English-French-Russian fleet destroyed the Turkish-Egyptian fleet in the harbor of Navarino a seaport of Greece, on October 20, 1827.

SEVERE PLIGHT

until 7.50, we got away from the Pension about four. Such a time. The crowds were terrible, but we had happened on a very decent driver, who did his best for us. We finally reached the station. Again a crowd to strike terror into your heart. I managed to get a porter; left Miss Murray to guard our hand bags, and set out to register our trunks. Again a fight. If I couldn't have spoken French I might have been there yet, but finally the deed was done. By this time we were both ready to drop. Could find no one to carry our bags. Every man you saw had been ordered to the front so we walked it seems miles in the station heavy suit case in one hand and heavy club bag in the other to try and find something to eat, but as we were successful we didn't mind. Next we had to force our way to the wicket; a dozen gates leading to the different trains; no one to tell you which was the one for the Havre; in fact no one knew. There we stood in that crowd trying to keep our bags near us for more than two hours but finally we found ourselves in the train, packed of course. Next to me in the compartment was a dear little French woman about 23. She was crying as if her heart would break. Her husband and two brothers had been ordered out, and her youngest sister was to go with the Red Cross. She was getting out of Paris to her parents in the country with just what she could carry with her. No trains would carry passengers the next day. Big notices to that effect were posted up. The trains were all taken by the state for the transportation of troops. To stay in Paris meant starvation to her and she simply had to leave.

In another corner was an old woman and her daughter. They had been living near the Alsace border, and all the women had been told to leave; their lives were not safe. So they, too, had left their little home, which they will probably never see again.

And so it was all through the train, just one mass of weeping people. Every station we passed was filled with soldiers all ready to leave. All along the line were soldiers, every bridge was guarded. It was certainly an experience, but a very unpleasant one at the time. There were three very nice young American girls in the compartment. They had had to get out at an hour's notice, leaving all their belongings behind them—but these were trifles. Finally we reached Havre, and all that crowd had to be driven over to the boat in busses. Everyone was thoughtful and kind, the men most willing to help the women. We still were uncertain whether the boat was for passenger service. How the people all got on board I don't know. There was not even a place to sit down. You may know the condition when I tell you I spent the night lying on the bare boards of the deck with my head on a suit case for a pillow. I didn't dare take off my hat, for there was a cold breeze. Fortunately I had my shawl straps with my big ulster and steamer rug, so I didn't catch cold. I couldn't change my position, for the space

Japan Will Declare War On Germany

[By Special Wire to The Courier.] PARIS, Aug. 15, 3:25 a.m.—The Petit Journal, the editor of which is Stephen Pichon, who was formerly minister of foreign affairs, says to-day that it learns on absolutely unimpeachable authority that Japan is resolved to declare war on Germany, and that official action probably will be taken to-day following the return of the Emperor to Tokio.

SAIL OUT QUIETLY

QUEBEC, Aug. 14.—No information is available since last night on the position or destination of steamships leaving the river or entering the straits or the gulf. The signal service of the marine department has been instructed to give no information whatever except to the military authorities, who now control the signal service. Fear of detection of ships through spies inflicting hostile battleships of the route of prize boats, caused this decision.

WANT TO ENLIST

PARIS, Aug. 15.—The Eavas Agency announces that the French foreign minister has received a petition from 335 subjects of the Duchy of Luxembourg to be permitted to enroll in the French army, as a protest against the German violation of the independence of their country.

around was filled with people doing just what I was doing. Miss M. sat all night on the doorstep about an inch wide and faced with brass. Fortunately it was a glorious night, and the sea was not rough.

About half-past three the sun began to rise, and the sky was magnificent. A little later, when it was getting light, a huge warship loomed in sight. Why our captain didn't understand the signals I don't know. I heard someone say, "He should be arrested," but I dare say the poor fellow was worried to death.

Next came a loud report—a cannon had been fired. Of course, the first thought was, "The Germans." But it was just to make our boat stop. Then orders came to cut down our wires. That was quite exciting. You see, orders were flashing about from the Admiralty, and our Marconi man might have intercepted them. From that time on we saw warships and torpedo boats incessantly. Then word was sent by signal from a man-of-war that the port of Southampton was mined. So of course we had to take a roundabout course. It is needless and impossible to go into detail, but it was between 1 and 2 in the afternoon when we landed at Southampton. Since noon of the day before I had had nothing but a cup of tea at the station. My head swam, and I was terrified I might faint. Lots of women did. Finally we got on our train and reached London and Miss M. a sorry sight, for neither of us had washed our faces nor combed our hair for 24 hours.

All London is in a panic to-day, trying to get passages home at once, but I think I will stay right where I am. The boats will be so overcrowded and the accommodations so poor and the accommodations so poor that I simply couldn't stand it. I can't take time to tell the Bennetts' experiences. I think they were worse than ours, as they left Paris a day later than we did. However, they, too, are stranded here, thankful to be safe, though they had to leave their two steamer trunks, a basket trunk and a hat box behind them. All that they had was their hand baggage, and goodness knows when they will ever get them again, probably never.

"I See Europe Drenched In Blood And Fire And Flame," Says Tolstoi

Remarkable Message Sent to Czar, Kaiser and King of England Predicting War Following Period of Intense Commercialism is Made Public by Niece of Author.

Count Leo Tolstoi, the Russian writer, prophesied the present European conflict a few months before he died. He foretold the Balkan trouble of 1912 the resultant international complications, and finally the world's struggle now in progress. Only one broad discrepancy is noticeable in the prophecy of the writer, that is the time set for the precipitation of the present war. Tolstoi thought it would occur in 1913.

The facts are contained in a letter sent the American Press by Countess Nastasia Tolstoi in January, 1913, in which it is explained how Tolstoi's prophecy came to be given to the world. The Countess says that when visiting the Czarina at Peterhoff Castle in October, 1910, she was presented to the Czar, who entrusted her with the mission which resulted in Tolstoi's remarkable prophecy being given to the world. Permission to publish the matter has been granted by the Czar.

His Majesty told her the Kaiser and the King of England desired to communicate directly with Count Leo Nicolaevitch Tolstoi.

Not being on very good terms with the count himself, the Czar, knowing the countess was Tolstoi's grand niece asked her to assist him.

"Tell him," said the Emperor "that if he will send me, through you, a friendly communication to the Kaiser and the King of England, I will forward it to them, but it must be something he has not yet published and which he shall never publish."

A week later, as she was visiting her uncle, the countess told Tolstoi of the emperor's request, and the following conversation took place.

Visions of War

"Strange! I would be happy if I could send His Majesty some kind of a communication, but I have spent my life writing for the people. I am not used to court conversations. Still I will consider the matter."

"Leo Nicolaevitch," I asked him, "have you no idea to express on exterior politics, no prophecy to make?"

"A good idea," he exclaimed. "I have had some strange experience which I cannot publish in fiction form. There is something which has been haunting my brain for the past two years—a thing the nature of which I cannot explain to you. I can't say it's a dream; it is like a vision I have when in my study. I don't believe in spirits and ghosts, but I have never been able to explain that strange obsession."

"Is it a vision?" I asked.

"Something like that, but very clear; the vision is so real that I could draw a picture of it."

"I think, moreover, I shall recall that vision now you are here. The difficulty is I am unable to write anything as long as the vision lasts."

"I would only be too happy to write as you dictate," I told him.

"All right, that will be quite satisfactory. I shall start right away. Here is a table with paper and a pencil."

Destinies of Humanity

In a few minutes I was ready with pencil and paper. My host sat back comfortably in his deep arm chair, covered his eyes with his hands and fell into a deep meditation. After about ten minutes as if awakening from a long sleep, he spoke slowly, with a cavernous voice, as follows:

"This is a revelation of things and events of an universal character which shall happen shortly. Their spiritual form is clear to my vision. I see floating over the destinies of the human race the figure of a naked woman. With her pose, her beauty, her smile, her jewels, make her a Super Venus."

"All nations are groping round her, they all try to attract her. But she flirts with each and all of them. Her name, 'COMMERCIALISM,' is written in diamonds and rubies in her hair."

"A sorceress, she is the cause of destruction. In her breath I hear sordid transactions, her voice has the sound of gold, and her beautiful eyes, full of envy, are as poison for the nations which shall succumb to her charms. And horror, she holds in her hands the three flaming torches which represent universal corruption."

Conflagration in 1914

"The first torch represents war, fanned in every town and every land by the courtisans."

"Patriotism flares up in an honest flame, which, however, is extinguished by the noise of cannon and rifle."

"The second torch is hypocrisy and bigotry. It sheds its light only on the temples and on the sacred altars. It breeds fanaticism."

"The third torch is that of law; dangerous foundation of legends and ancient traditions; law, which starts its ravages in the family bosom."

"The great conflagration shall be lighted in 1914 by the first torch in the countries situated in the southeast of Europe. A great calamity shall follow in 1913."

"I see in that year all Europe drenched in blood and in fire and flame. I hear the moans of the dying on the battlefields."

"But about 1915 a new Napoleon shall appear on the field of battle; he is a man whose military training is nearly nil, a writer or a journalist; but he shall hold in his hands until 1923 the destinies of all Europe."

"A new political era shall mark the end of the great calamity in the old world."

"There shall be no more kingdoms, no more empires, but the nations shall form a kind of united states of the nations."

"There shall be only four giants left, Anglo, Saxons, Latins, Slavs and Mongolians."

Two other prophecies follow and the Countess ends by saying:

"When the author had finished he rubbed his eyes and said, 'Have I slept Pardon me.'"

Warning to Three Monarchs

"After I had read the notes I had taken he listened very attentively and told me they were correct. Then at my request he signed the document I presented to him."

"I left the same day and informed the Czar I was ready to see him. I was received at the court and introduced into his study."

"I gave him the paper which he read with agitation after he had opened it very nervously."

"It is very interesting, said he. I shall keep a copy for myself and send a translation to both the Kaiser and the King of England. I shall keep the original in my private archives. I shall ask the Kaiser and the King of England not to make any comments, as I would not like to pass as an intermediary between them and that old man with seditious ideas."

"The Czar has often told me that those prophecies have made a very great impression upon the Kaiser."

EXPERTS THEORIZE ON WAR

WILL GO THE LIMIT

Some American Critics Who Think the Campaign Will be Long—Another Looks for a Short One.

Only the limit of human endurance and the financial resources of the great European powers are the limits which military experts here place upon the impending great struggle between the triple Alliance and the Triple Entente, says the New York Herald.

In discussing the military and naval aspects of this seemingly inevitable conflict, military experts here express their belief that the struggle will not be a short one. It would be a battle of resources rather than of preparedness. Victory is not expected to come repeatedly to the arms of one power, but the struggle on land would surge back and forth with success here for the allies of the alliance and then reverses elsewhere.

In Warsaw, which is really the most strategic position in a war between Germany and Russia, Russian has always maintained five or six army corps, and it is safe to calculate that there are fully that number there now, and most likely more.

Offensive Campaigning.

"Russia and Germany will most likely have as their objectives the heart of the foe's country. Germany's logical move against Russia would be directed with a view to taking Moscow and St. Petersburg. It is of course, a long way from the German frontier to Moscow, and the Russian mind. The Russians would undoubtedly seek to take Berlin. What the chances are of either power accomplishing these objectives it would be difficult to say.

"Austria's part in the conflict would be somewhat in doubt. She might assist Germany in a campaign directed against Moscow. Generally speaking the material of the Russian army is on a par with the Austrian but I should say that the Germans were superior to both. France excels in artillery. Austria had a tendency some years ago to cling to the old brass cannon and failed to provide modern artillery on account of the great cost. Germany has undoubtedly the best trained army. Her methods of training recruits are certainly wonderful. It is not long before the recruits have obtained the proficiency of a veteran."

"I look for France's first move to be an attack on Alsace and Lorraine, despite the fact that these provinces are well fortified, and it might seem foolhardy to wage war against an enemy so well entrenched."

British Troops at Home

"As for Great Britain, I think it should be kept in mind that her troops are for use at home and not on the Continent. England may be willing to finance a war on the Continent with troops of other powers, but she will not send her own troops there. Of course, at home, she will maintain a state of war, but British troops will not be seen on the Continent, despite all these preparations we hear about."

"Holland and Belgium are mobilizing for self-defence only. It is well that they do so. At that, I expect to see Belgium driven to the alternative of taking sides with either France

HOW THE SOLDIERS OF THE TSAR'S ARMY FIGHT THEIR OPPONENTS.

Russia. The officers of higher rank are not deficient in either skill or training and they are highly educated. There is, however, some lack of education on the part of the officers of lower rank. They are good fighters, but not sufficiently educated, and this might prove to be a handicap worth mentioning. Russia has all the munitions of war that are necessary within her own borders, such as food, animals and so forth.

"It should be remembered that the Russian railroads have a wider gauge than the German railroads; hence German cars and rolling stock are not available for use on the Russian rails. This is a military factor of importance."

"In Warsaw, which is really the most strategic position in a war between Germany and Russia, Russian has always maintained five or six army corps, and it is safe to calculate that there are fully that number there now, and most likely more."

or Germany for her own protection.

Mastery of Seas is Sought

"I find no naval expert here who is not convinced that the foreshadowed conflict would bring forth a clash between the combined fleets of the powers, which will give, for Teuton and for Britain and her allies, complete mastery of the seas. Mastery of the seas is to-day too essential an asset for a European power to forego. Despite the relative weakness of the German fleet, it is believed that it will meet the British fleet on open sea. I find that the Germans are given credit for assuming the aggressive in this engagement, although her strength as measured by the Dreadnought unit is but one keel to two of the British fleet."

"The national assumption of the layman that the German fleet may remain bottled up at Kiel and Wilhelmshaven under protection of the shore batteries is not credited by naval experts. Such a state of affairs would be no more satisfactory to Great Britain than it would be to Germany."

The Great Engagement

"The British fleet will probably approach Wilhelmshaven, but it would be difficult for it to make a torpedo attack against the German Dreadnoughts within the harbor. The Germans, therefore, are expected to begin actual operations with a night torpedo attack against the British fleet. This would be followed by a day torpedo attack and then the long distance duel of the Dreadnoughts would begin."

"In this engagement they would have the sight of the two greatest fighting units which the resources of great powers and the genius of man can create testing their strength in a battle that must bring victory for one and defeat for the other. Only the strategy will be modelled upon experience. All else will be the test of theories. The value of the Dreadnought unit in a fleet, the relative value of a torpedo attack upon these mammoth fighting machines, the value of armor, armor piercing and explosive shells, would all be tested for the first time in such an engagement."

Expects it to be Short.

"I do not believe such a European war will last more than a few weeks," said another expert. "The cost in lives, even in that short time, will be enormous, because of the perfection of the modern firearm. The material cost will be equally great and the crippling of business will affect the entire world for a quarter of a century.

BRAVES HAMMER GIANT HARD AND WIN ANOTHER

Boston Clips Off Another Margin by Beating New York, Who Find James Problem.

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—Boston chopped another game from New York's lead yesterday by outplaying the champions in all departments, the score being 7 to 3. The visitors pounded Tedstead and Demaree hard and clinched the game in the early innings. Connelly led their charge in five times up he hit a home run, a double, a single and a sacrifice fly, and drew a base on balls. The score: Boston... 022 021 000—7 11 2 New York... 010 000 101—3 7 2

Three Players Hurt.

BROOKLYN, Aug. 15.—Yesterday's game between Brooklyn and Philadelphia was a mixture of tragedy and comedy. Three players were badly injured, the two teams were badly hurt, pitchers came and went with remarkable frequency and the umpires were almost continually in trouble before Philadelphia finally beat Brooklyn in a ninth-innings finish by 3 to 2.

O'Mara broke his leg in two places in a collision with Killifer at the plate in the first inning. Daubert sprained his ankle sliding into second base and Ludrus hurt his kneecap by running into the iron railing of the grand stand going after a foul fly. The score: Philadelphia... 000 21302—8 13 7 Brooklyn... 032 100 100—7 12 4

Pirates Hit for Runs.

PITTSBURG, August 15.—Pittsburg defeated Cincinnati here yesterday by a score of 8 to 7. Although the home team made only seven hits off Pitches Douglass, Yungling and Schneider, the visitors' batted McQuilgan, O'Toole and Harmon for a total of 15 hits. The score: Cincinnati... 110 001 040—7 15 3 Pittsburgh... 004 040 008—8 7 2

Walter Merkins of Stratford, a Hydro-electric lineman, was instantly killed by picking up a live wire.

INTERNATIONAL

GRAYS MOVE UP

PROVIDENCE, Aug. 14.—Montreal held Providence close for seven innings yesterday when a wild throw by McGraynor and a muff by Deisinger put the game on ice. Score: Providence 6; Montreal 2.

The Prize Ring

Ottawa Journal: Carpentier owns the distinction of being the youngest fighter ever matched for a bona fide world's championship bout, being 20 years old last January. Sullivan was 24 when he beat Paddy Ryan, Corbett was 26 when he wore down that bloated hulk, John L. Fitzsimmons was 34 at the time he landed the famous solar plexus blow on Corbett at Carson City; Jeffries was 24 when he crashed through Fitzsimmons' middleweight guard for a knockout in the eleventh round at Coney Island; Marvin Hart was 26 when the retiring Jeff- Jeff for a $1000 bonus—crowned him with the championship laurels for beating Jack Rot; Tommy Burns was 25 when he trapped the ill-conditioned Hart into a battle at Los Angeles and won in 20 rounds, and Jack Johnson was 30 years of age when, after a chase all around the world, he finally cornered the title holder and stopped him in 14 rounds.

THREE PLAYERS GOING TO WAR.

Roy Campbell, Dick Stuart and McKinnon, three members of the London Lacrosse Club, will play their last game for London this afternoon in the final game with Brantford, as they have enlisted to go to the front with the first Canadian contingent. A victory over Brantford, who are going strong, will give the district championship to London. The team, which has a large following, is lucky to have substitutes to replace the three men who are going to war, as they will go into the semi-finals immediately.

WALTER JOHNSON STOPS FAST GOING MACKMEN

After Winning 24 Games Out of 26 Athletics Came Near Beating Washington Yesterday.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 15.—Washington broke Philadelphia's winning streak by winning yesterday's game 2 to 1. The home team had previously won seven games straight and 24 out of the previous 26 contests. Johnson was invincible in the pinches. Three times he closed an innings by fanning a batsman with a runner on second base, these batsmen being Collins, Baker and Bessler. Johnson also knocked a home run in the third inning. The score: Washington... 061 001 000—2 8 2 Philadelphia... 000 001 000—1 9 0

Use Six Pitchers.

BOSTON, Aug. 15.—Ineffective pitching and loose fielding, together with inability to hit in the pinches by the Bostonians gave New York another victory yesterday 7 to 6. Each team used three pitchers. The score: New York... 021 040 000—7 7 2 Boston... 400 001 001—6 11 4

Tigers Hit Nap Pitchers.

CLEVELAND, Aug. 15.—Detroit turned the tables on Cleveland yesterday winning 8 to 4. Steen was hit hard and driven from the box after having been a puzzle for four innings. Dauss was ineffective at the start but was steady the rest of the game, except in the seventh inning. A running catch by Cobb featured it out of two runs. The score: Detroit... 010 021 220—8 13 3 Cleveland... 101 000 200—4 9 5

Won in the Ninth

ST. LOUIS, August 15.—Chicago pounded Weiman in the ninth and beat St. Louis yesterday 6 to 4. The score: Chicago... 010 020 003—6 10 1 St. Louis... 013 000 000—4 8 2

Faber, Lathrop, Benz and Schalk; Weiman and Agnew.

Random Thoughts, These

Sam Lichtenstein, owner of the Montreal Internationals, has offered his ball park to the Canadian government for drilling purposes. Joe Birmingham, of the Naps, might go him one better by offering his team for army purposes. Two months ago When sporting scribes Desired to pull a jest. They wrote "When home boys play the Braves. The home boys get a rest?" But take the time to take a slant At those same Braves to-day, And listen to the Boston scribes relate their little lay.

THE LAY

But now the thing is changed around And teams that want a rest, Har better pass up the Boston Braves And get their rest out west.

YANKEES AGAIN DEFEATS SAINTS

Petes Trim Beavers Twice in One Day, London Lost to Senators.

BROWN CHECKS SAINTS

ERIE, August 15.—Eric won the second game of the series from St. Thomas yesterday by the score of 6 to 4. Buscher had hard sledding during the eighth inning he pitched. He was benched in the sixth when the Saints showed signs of a rally. Brown checked the rush by fanning two batters. Hughie was hit opportunely.

TWO FROM BEAVERS

TORONTO, August 15.—The Toronto Beavers lost two games to Peterboro at the Stadium yesterday before about 1,000 spectators, including many of the visiting Oddfellows. The home team had a lead in the first session, starting in the eighth inning. Then Hunt lost a long fly in the sun and Isaacs let his throw to head off a runner go through him. These misplays tossed the game to the Petes. The second game was a seven-innings incident, according to agreement, and neither side scored till the last round. A base on balls, Kelly's scratch hit, his stolen base and Scheller's Texas leaguer to the right field yielded two for the Petes. Killilea opened the Beavers' last chance with a single and Isaacs followed with a double. Snell was out on a grounder to third. Harkins' short fly scored one run. Palermo beat a scratch hit to third, but on the throw to the plate Isaacs, who raced home from second, was given out. It was close and Ike chased in the sixth for bad language when the umpire called Hunt out on strikes. Score: Toronto 4; Peterboro 5.

LONDON LOSES AGAIN

OTTAWA, Aug. 15.—Frank Kubat's clever pitching, backed up by timely hitting and the most sensational fielding ever witnessed at Lansdowne Park, pulled a game out of the fire for Ottawa yesterday. It was the second of the decisive series against Doc Reisling and his London Tecumseh, and the score, when a truce was finally declared, stood 8 to 3 in favor of Ottawa.

Brilliant Baseball

Brilliant baseball was again served up by the teams which are battling for supremacy in the Canadian league. Ottawa completely reversed the tables and showed a margin over London in every department of the game. The Tecumseh's mingled hits with Ottawa's misplays in the first game and gained a lead of 2 to 0. Things looked bad but Manager Shaughnessy rushed Kubat to the rescue and sent Pete Powers behind the bat, with the result that the champions at once rallied and soon secured a lead.

Beebe Relieves Reisling

Doc Reisling received such a serenade from the bats of the Ottawa sluggers that he applied the book to himself and gave way to Ben Beebe in the fourth. Beebe was likewise clouted to all portions of the field. Ottawa went ahead in the third and added four in the seventh. London only scored one run off Kubat and that they tallied when the Ottawa portside loosened up in the eighth.

Leaders Storm Umpires

Umpires Halligan and Freeman were in charge, and both had several stormy sessions. Halligan fell below his usual standard on balls and strikes arousing the anger of Manager Shaughnessy. He argued and was ordered back to the bench, being threatened with expulsion. In the ninth Manager Reisling jumped into a battle with Halligan, alleging that Smykal had switched the ball for Kubat's benefit. Reisling looked desperate enough to attack Halligan but the veteran ump pulled his watch and the London manager returned to the dug-out.

London... 200000010—3 9 2 Ottawa... 01300040X—8 12 2

Not Much Danger of Athletics or Giants Being Overtaken Now

Giving Leaders Only An Even Break for Remaining Games of the Season They Should Hold Their Grip to the End.

There may be some slight doubt in charge of the National league's representatives in the October classic. The Boston Braves are still engaged in their mad rush onward, and they may come a trifle nearer, but on the law of average it is reasonable to expect that the Giants will emerge from their present slump and play better ball which the Braves hardly carry the playing strength to keep up their phenomenal gait much further. The Cubs are fading and the Cardinals while holding on grimly, hardly seem capable of nosing out the other three clubs in the first division. Another dependable pitcher would add greatly to Boston's chances, as three men cannot be expected to go through the gruelling days of a closing campaign without a break. Three have been mainly responsible for the recent upfit, but double headers will be coming fast and one lame arm will throw the whole system out of gear. It may be argued that the Giants are moving along on three box men, but the seven-game handicap which the Giants have over the Braves, as well as on the other clubs, leaves considerable room for experimenting with uncertainties, while the teams in the rear must be careful of every slip.

If the Giants Break Even

The Giants, if they complete their full schedule, have fifty-eight more games to play and Boston has 57. Allowing them only as much as an even break over the remainder of the route McGraw's men would close the campaign with a total of eighty-six victories against sixty-eight defeats. To beat out the Giants under these conditions the Braves would have to win thirty-six of their remaining fifty-seven games, or travel at a clip for two months. This is about the same speed as the Athletics have been travelling all season while setting the pace in the American league and much faster than the Giants have been travelling all season while setting the pace in the National league race. The pace is somewhat slower than the Braves have been showing recently, but it is a little more than may reasonably be expected for them to continue. If the Giants should win two-thirds of their games the Braves to beat them would have to win forty-seven of their remaining fifty-seven games.

Another thing in the Giants' favor to add to their present advantage in games won, is their batting strength. St. Louis, Chicago and Boston—the other first division clubs—rank some distance behind McGraw's men in batting strength. With their present lead, a harder hitting team and pitching that averages as high as any of the opponents, if not better, it does not seem likely that the Giants can be dislodged. In the American league the batting strength of the Athletics, coupled with their present lead, makes the task of overtaking them practically impossible.

In the National League

In the National league the Giants cannot let up to any such degree as the Athletics will find it possible to do, but there is every indication that John J. McGraw will again be in

PRETTY SOFT FOR WILLIE RITCHIE; HE LOST HIS TITLE, BUT MADE $67,000

Willie Ritchie, ex-lightweight champion of the world who lost the title to Freddy Welsh, has made nearly as much money in the past five months as Woodrow Wilson will get for being president of the United States for a whole year.

Some idea of the money perquisites the lightweight title brings to its lucky holder can be imagined when the figures for the contests that Ritchie took part in are looked over.

For his ten round battle with Ad Wolgast at Milwaukee, March 10 last, Willie received $15,708.

One month later, April 17, Ritchie boxed Tommy Murphy 20 rounds at Jim Coffroth's club in San Francisco, and his share was $15,302. Jumping to Milwaukee on May 26, he met Charley White in a no-decision ten-round battle and got $10,000 for his work.

His most recent battle was with Freddy Welsh for which he was given $15,000 win, lose, or draw. $10,000 for his right in the moving pictures taken of the bout and $1000 expenses.

Ritchie who isn't quite 24 years of age, has been boxing about three and one half years. In that short time he has accumulated a fortune estimated to be $100,000 to $150,000.

Speaking of the contest with Welsh in which he lost his title to the Britisher, he said, "I may never again be the lightweight champion of the world but there isn't any one who can convince me that I lost the honors in my bout with Welsh."

Ritchie's claim that Corri, the referee, was biased by the actions of the crowd, bears some weight when he explains the circumstances. "In this country when a referee gives a decision there are no wails and delays. After the bell rang, instead of Corri raising Welsh's hand he walked over near the side of the ring, turned around and pointed his hand. For a fraction of a second I thought he had given the decision to me. A moment later however I saw the crowd raise Welsh on their shoulders and I knew then that the verdict had been given against me."

Ritchie's next battle will likely be with Charley White before Jim Coffroth's club in San Francisco some time late in October. Willie has shown a preference for White who he thinks is one of the best lightweights in the world.

TURKEY BUYS WARSHIPS. LONDON, Aug. 13, 4:40 a.m.—The St. Petersburg correspondent of the Times says that much interest has been excited by the conferences recently held between the Japanese ambassador, Baron Mollath, and the Russian foreign minister, M. Sazonoff.

Two foreigners, chased by Angus Simpson of Red Hill, are alleged to have thrown powder into the Barton reservoir, at Hamilton, and dropped a bag containing sugar-of-lead.

RUSSIA'S FORCE LONDON, Aug. 14.—A despatch to the Central News from Rome says that according to reliable information from St. Petersburg, Russia has mobilized 2,000,000 men on the German and Austrian frontiers, half a million on the Turkish and Rumanian frontiers while 3,000,000 men are held in reserve.

SAILS FOR LIVERPOOL. NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—The American liner New York, with 365 passengers aboard, sailed to-day for Liverpool. No other vessel was due to leave port for Europe. The Cedric of the White Star line, which was to have sailed to-day, will sail sometime about midnight, probably early to-morrow morning.

GOD'S PEOPLE PERISH

"My People Are Destroyed For Lack of Knowledge"

KEY OF KNOWLEDGE BURIED

Jesus' Teachings Harmonized the Law and the Prophets—Jewish Doctors of Divinity Had Failed to Teach the Deep Things of the Law—Opposition to Bible Study—Common People Heard Jesus Gladly—Jewish People Typical of Spiritual Israel—Jewish Age Typical of Gospel Age—Jewish Harvest Typical of Gospel Harvest.

August 9.—The Photo-Drama of Creation continues to awaken deep interest in Bible study. Its orderly presentation of the world's masterpieces of sacred history deeply impresses the thoughtful spectator.

ly depicted. Pastor Russell preached to-day from the text, "Woe unto you, lawyers for ye have taken away the key of knowledge..."

In the New Testament the word lawyer has a very different meaning from our general usage.

Christian people to-day are so disengaged with their religion...

And is it not so to-day also? Are not many of the Lord's people...

As we have already shown, they cannot keep penne or asleep those who constitute "the very Elect"...

What a blessing it is that the churches of all the denominations need the Word of God—presented in the words of Jesus and the Apostles.

Alas! It is too true that the nominal Church of Christ is like a hospital, many of the patients are blind, deaf and dumb...

Not only were the Jewish people typical of Spiritual Israel, and their Age typical of this Age...

In our text Jesus charged the Jewish Doctors of Divinity with the responsibility of having taken away the Key of Knowledge...

heavy burdens upon the people, grievous to be borne, but you do not attempt to carry them yourselves. So it is to-day with the Jewish Rabbis...

Our Lord's words do not refer to a knowledge about God, but to a knowledge of God and His Son—a personal acquaintance with them.

But this knowledge of God which will bring a saintly face to salvation on the highest plane stands related to God's Word—the teachings of the Bible; for the Word is called His Truth; for the Word is called His Life...

Thus Jesus prayed for us, His followers, "Specifically them through Thy Truth; Thy Word is Truth..."

To this class our Lord says to-day, "As he said to His Jewish followers eighteen centuries ago, to you it is given to know the Mysteries of the Kingdom of God..."

The Key of Knowledge consists of the faithful study of the Word of God, with an honest purpose to know the things that are freely given unto us of God.

Everything designed to help Bible study, to get rid of the darkness of the creeds and superstitions of the past, is opposed—but not openly. The Doctors of Divinity of our day are proving themselves to be the antitypes of those addressed by Jesus in our text...

And is it not so to-day also? Are not many of the Lord's people hungry and thirsting for the Truth, and greatly perplexed and discouraged, going time after time to the religious teachers, they have received a stone instead of bread...

As we have already shown, they cannot keep penne or asleep those who constitute "the very Elect" nor can they keep knowledge from this class. Our Lord, speaking of this time, said that the deceptions should be such that they would deceive, if possible, "the very Elect"...

As it is any wonder that the Master prophesied respecting the unfaithfulness amongst His professed followers at this time, saying, "When the Son of Man cometh, shall He find the Faith upon the earth?"

Wedding Houses. In olden times certain towns and villages in England used to possess a wedding house, where poor couples after they had been wedded at church could entertain their friends at a small cost, the only outlay being the purchase of such provisions for their guests as they brought with them, and a house for the day being given a ticket to a proper destination.

Kind Hearted. "And did you enjoy your African trip, major? How did you like the savages?" "Oh, they were extremely kind hearted. They wanted to keep me there for dinner."—London Opinion.

Lesson VII.—Third Quarter, For Aug. 16, 1914.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Text of the Lesson, Matt. xxi, 33-46. Memory Verses, 42-44—Golden Text, Matt. xxi, 42—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

During these last days of the week preceding His crucifixion as He taught daily in the temple and went at night to the Mount of Olives He spoke many things in His farewell messages to this unbelieving nation.

He loves the whole world, and "whoever" means any one anywhere in the wide world (John iii, 16). He chose Israel to be a peculiar treasure unto Him above all people.

He has seen recently that Israel was compared to a vine and also to a fig tree and an olive tree, but the one thing always desired was fruit. Compare Ezek. xv and John xv.

His dealings with Israel and their treatment of Him were written for our benefit that we might avoid their failures and bear better fruit than they did (I Cor. x, 6-12; Rom. xv, 4). We have seen recently that Israel was compared to a vine and also to a fig tree and an olive tree...

Though it is seldom that the true proportions of a man's greatness are appreciable by his own countrymen and contemporaries, it is often possible to anticipate the verdict of history by that of more detached foreign observers.
